BIG CELEBRATION ENJOYED BY IMMENSE CROWDS

Medals and Signet Rings Presented by Major-General Sir Sam Hughes

The official welcome home to the soldiers of Watford and vicinity was carried out according to program on August 20th, drawing together the largest crowd that ever assembled in Watford.

Arrangement had been made on a scale never heretofore attempted and were carried out to the letter to the satisfaction of all. Early in the day visitors began to arrive. Each train brought its quota, but the majority of the people came by auto from far and near. By one o'clock the Main street was blocked with people waiting to see the big parade to the park.

After the procession and the huge crowd had arrived at the Park the chairman of the celebration committee, Rev. J. C. Forster, welcomed Sir Sam Hughes. The returned soldiers and other visitors and introduced Mr. Karr, of London, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Military District No. 1, as chairman for the day who remarked that Watford's celebration and welcome to the returned men was second to none in the district. He had come unprepared to see such a splendid demonstration.

The afternoon speakers were Sir Sam Hughes, Dr. Martyn, M. P., and Rev. S. P. Irwin, B. A., and the evening speakers J. E. Armstrong, M. P., Sir Sam Hughes and Rev. A. C. Tiffin. At both gatherings the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice was duly honored, the immense crowd meanwhile standing with bared heads.

Sir Sam Hughes, who received an enthusiastic ovation, said he had received invitations for the day but decided to accept Watford's. He thanked the people for their kindly greeting and spoke of his previous visit to lay the corner stone of the drill hall. Watford, he said, occupied a warm place in his heart. He had been criticized in the early days of the war for sending citizen soldiers to the front so rapidly and with such short training, his accusers predicting that the men would be unprepared for the conflict and those who returned unfitted for citizenship. On the contrary wearing the uniform had added prestige to the men and they had come home good citizens and gentlemen and had trimmed the Hun to a finish. He paid a splendid tribute to the Canadian Corps and said that more than anything else the splendid physique of the Corps was largely due to the recruitments from the rural districts of the Dominion and that the spirit of the pioneers which made possible the development of this country to its present world importance lived again in these men in France. The town of Watford had one of the best military records in the country, and it had by its contribution helped to make Lambton's record as a county among the highest in respect of enlistments throughout the Dominion.

At the conclusion of his afternoon speech the Major-General, assisted by Reeve Lindsay of Brooke township, presented signet rings, furnished by The Invaluable Red Cross Society of the Sixth line, to the following veterans, residents of that community.

Mat. Cunningham and Sergt. W. D. Lamb were awarded medals for meritorious conduct. Corp. Cunningham received his but that for Sergt. Lamb failed to arrive in time. NOTES

The weather was perfect.
There is lots of pep in the old town yet.

The Parkhill orchestra furnished excellent music for the dance.
Those were solemn moments when the crowd stood with bared heads to do honor to our fallen heroes while the band played "Abide With Me."

The balloon ascension was one of the best attractions of the day. The young lady went up about 1000 feet before descending with the parachute.

Many of the visiting veterans failed to register, only seventy placing their names in the book. The committee regret that more did not sign.

All the surrounding towns sent large delegations and quite a few people were here from Detroit, Toronto, London, Sarnia and other distant points.

Sir Sam Hughes, J. E. Armstrong, M. P., and other distinguished guests were entertained at luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Swift, Ross Lawn.

The refreshment booths did a roaring trade. The day was hot and cool drinks were in great demand. The ice cream cone was in evidence everywhere.

Mr. Andrew Lucas, of Brooke, came in to see the sights and enjoy the day with the rest of the family. The old gentleman is 94 years old, but you would never suspect it.

The only item advertised on the program that was not pulled off was the tug of war between Warwick and Watford. The weather was too warm to stand the exertion.

The Toronto costumer who had his fancy dresses for hire in the Rogers Hotel building was not very well patronized, most of the masqueraders making their own costumes.

Between the grand stand and the platform there was seating capacity for about 1200 people, yet many had to stand. During the evening proceedings quite a few remained seated in their autos.

The Forest band gave some good music and plenty of it. Our Forest friends can justly be proud of their band boys and Bandmaster Dunlop's skill and ability in conducting the organization.

The war trophies received much attention, a constant stream of people examined them during the entire day, and some of the boys who had been in France willingly explained the use and workings of the different implements.

The day gave an opportunity for many re-unions of comrades and of families and the efforts of the managing committee were rewarded by the spontaneous way in which the crowds enjoyed the day.

Many of the private residences were artistically decorated, which helped to give a gala appearance, and some of the business firms spent considerable time and trouble in making their premises attractive. Some of the store windows were exceedingly well dressed.

The section of the grounds used for the platform proceedings was brilliantly illuminated by the Delco-Light system installed for the occasion by Mr. O. Spalding. The illumination was a revelation to those unacquainted with the system.

It is high time that the barbed wire fence around the platform was removed. When the lights were turned off for the fireworks there were several complaints of torn garments and lacerated cuticles. If it is necessary to have a fence in that spot plain wire should be substituted.

The afternoon baseball game was interesting and close and was watched by a large crowd. It was between the Strathroy Veterans and the Watford nine, the home team winning by a score of 6 to 4. In the morning the Alvinston Juniors defeated the Watford Juniors 7 to 4 in a five inning game.

In the platform attractions there was something to please everyone. The conjuring and sleight-of-hand tricks were skillfully done, the marionette dancers amusing, the comedian rough house stuff tickled the young people and the female impersonation was clever. This part of the program was superior to anything in the line ever presented here.

The aeroplane kept the people sky gazing all day. The aeronaut did not stint the flights and performed all the known stunts. Seventeen passengers were taken up, in time to make an ascent being Miss Sadie McKechners of Brooke and the last Mr. Rollie Doddie, who was taken to a height of 3,100 feet, looped the loop and got all the other thrills.

The committee made no mistake in engaging the War Veterans' Band. It is a splendid musical organization, as much at ease playing an operatic overture as a Southern melody, rag time or patriotic air. Bandmaster Wilson is an excellent conductor and his time is perfect. The members of the band have all seen service in France and if they fought as well as they can play the Hun got something to ponder.

It is regrettable to have to state that there are quite a few people who have little patriotism in their make up. A number of these sneaked into the park by way of the back fence, and in the evening others took in the whole proceedings from the outside of the fence. These spongers not only contribute fifty cents towards honoring the soldiers who have sacrificed so much for the public welfare. If the proceedings were worth seeing and hearing they were worth paying for. Probably all these, however, were "conscientious objectors."

The street decorations were extensive and exceedingly creditable to all concerned. Two evergreen arches entailed a lot of hard work to erect but made a fine showing. On Monday the decorating committee put up strings of flags across the streets from the station to the park which made a gay showing. Along the line of procession were numerous banners. A few of them read as follows:—
Welcome to our visitors
We are proud of Sir Sam Hughes
Long Live King George V.
Eat, Drink and Be Merry
The Town is Yours—Paint it Red or any old color
Hughes, the Father of Canada's Glorious Army
Soldiers, We are Proud of You

REMARKS HEARD IN THE CROWD
It's a bumper of a crowd.
Didn't that kid wagon look cute.
Cry, it was hot in the Armory.
The G. W. V. bunch is some band.
I've got confetti all down my back.
We won't forget this day in a hurry.
Gee, that airman can do some stunts.
Watford certainly does things right.
I would go up in the plane if I had the price.
There was something going on all the time.
This is the biggest crowd ever in the park.
That fellow had enough truck in that ag to fill a trunk.
I'd like to know how that conjurer does those tricks.
Watford should certainly be proud of its bunch of veterans.
I can't hear half what is said for the noise of that airplane.
The best procession of all those I've seen and I've been all over.
I thought fifty cents admission high, but I got my money's worth.
It is not usual to see so many preachers mixed up in a thing like this.
Isn't he a great jollier. (This refers to one of the guests of the day).
I wish they would peddle some ice cream cones through these seats.

That was a better platform performance than you see at the Western Fair.
I wish they would rip off those masks so that we could find out who they are.
The committee certainly gave all they advertised. You generally get about 50 per cent.
Did you ever see so many cars together at one time. There must be nearly a thousand of them.
I wouldn't drop from that balloon for a million dollars. She must have been about two miles high.
I wanted Sadie to come with me. She'll be sorry she didn't when I tell her about the big time we've had.

Monday next is Labor Day and a public holiday.
The Americans are the first to punish food profiteers. This is one war that they deserve credit for.
Potato tops make a fine showing but the crop seems to be a failure. The tubers so far dug are very small.
Edgar Prentiss arrived home from overseas on Tuesday of last week. He went over with the 67th Battery about a year ago.
The members of the Presbyterian church presented Mr. and Mrs. R. N. McKenzie with an address and hymn books at a social evening held at the Mansie.

The Merchants Bank management with their usual liberality, surprised their superannuated managers with a 33 per cent. increase in their pension. Col. Kinnard was notified of the increase last week.
The president and secretary of the East Lambton Agricultural Society canvassed the town on Tuesday for special prizes for the Fall Fair and secured a fine list, which will be published next week.
Peter Giesmer of Sarnia township was chosen by the West Lambton Conservatives as candidate for the Legislature at the Petrolia convention on the 20th.
Thos. Wilkie, conscientious objector, who some weeks ago with others of the same ilk preached nightly on the streets of Watford, was refused admission into the United States at Port Huron recently on the ground that he was likely to become a public charge.
Kenneth Johnston, of Buffalo, N.Y., son of the late Dr. T. G. Johnston, M. P., of Sarnia, has invented a grease lubricant composition which has been taken over by one of the largest oil companies in the states on payment of over $600,000 in royalties.
The farmers of Ontario are today enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity. Some idea of this may be gleaned from the fact that a traveller for law office supplies, on a trip up through Bruce and adjacent counties two weeks ago sold 1,700 Discharge of Mortgage forms in one week, which is as much as is usually sold by him in this particular territory in four years.
The directors of the Lambton Farmers' Insurance Company at their meeting held here two weeks ago decided to give $15 cash in special prizes at the East Lambton Fall Fair, as follows: For the best bushel of wheat, $5.00; best bushel of barley, $4.00; best bushel of oats, $3.00; and best bushel of potatoes $3.00. These prizes are liberal ones and will be worth competing for.
What is the use of being a Prince anyway? You can't go travelling unless you have a warship for a private hotel; you can't enter business, because you don't need the money; you can't take a hand in carving your own fortune, for it has all been done for you; you can't be a statesman, because it isn't allowed. What zest is there in life when ambition is taken out of it?
A meeting of the members of the 149th Overseas Battalion is called for Labor Day at Sarnia. A meeting of the members living in Watford was held on Aug. 13th and it was decided to hold an informal re-union of the battalion on Labor Day, when it is expected steps will be taken to form a permanent association or union of members, with branches at Watford, Forest, Petrolia and Sarnia. Arrangements are being made for the City Hall for the evening.
The re-organization of the 27th Lambton Rifle Regiment is now being considered, and the plans will shortly be announced. Like all other rural regiments, the Lambton unit finds itself with an overplus of officers, and many of these will probably have to hand in their resignations and go into the regimental reserves. Less trouble than existed before the war is anticipated in getting the regiment up to strength as an unusually large number of veterans wish to keep up their military connection, and have signified their intention of joining the militia. An eight company strength on the same establishment as before the war will probably be the suggested form of the organization.
The Methodist and Presbyterian congregations have united in services during the vacation of the pastors. These services commenced last Sunday, the morning service being held in the Presbyterian church and the evening in the Methodist. Next Sunday the order will be reversed and so on for four Sundays. Rev. Mr. Forster takes charge the first two Sundays and Rev. Mr. Tiffin is responsible for the second half time.
Word has been received here that George Shanks who was one of the first contingent to leave Watford for overseas in 1914, died in a military hospital in England from fever contracted in the trenches in France.

WATFORD bowlers succeeded in covering themselves with glory on Wednesday night of last week at Forest, when they defeated the Forest rink and brought home the silver cup donated by Mr. Tom. McGibbon, of Sarnia. The Watford line-up was: Skip, F. Rogers; third, F. Lovell; second, F. McIlveen; first, G. Harper. The cup is on exhibition in F. Lovell's window. The local bowlers have been challenged by Petrolia for the trophy and it is expected the game will be played here this week.

WORD was received late Saturday night that Mrs. Freeman Kersey had passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital, London, about 8 o'clock that evening. Mrs. Kersey had been under medical care for over a year. Last winter she was attacked with the influenza and was in hospital for a long time, undergoing several operations, but partly recovered her health this summer. A few days before her death, however, it was found necessary for her to undergo another operation, but her constitution being undermined by her previous lengthened illness her strength was insufficient to stand the strain. Mrs. Kersey was the second daughter of Mr. Henry Williamson, 4th line, Warwick. She was married Feb. 9th, 1914 and lived in Watford for a couple of years, when her husband sold out his business here and later on settled in Georgetown. She was a young lady of exceedingly pleasant disposition and made many friends who deeply regret her death. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereft husband and other relatives. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from her girlhood home, 4th line, to the Watford cemetery. The Rev. S. P. Irwin conducted the service assisted by Rev. E. H. Savers. There was a very large attendance.

The British Breed

[Toronto Times.]

A few weeks ago a British aeroplane achieved the first non-stop passage of the Atlantic. A monster British dirigible has now completed the first Europe-to-America flight ever accomplished by a lighter than air machine.

Great Britain is first in aerial navigation as for hundreds of years she has been first in the navigation of the sea. The ancient mother country never grows old.

Never in her long history extending over a thousand years did she show more vigor or resourcefulness than in the terrific conflict of the last five years. Taking into consideration all her contribution to the war on land and sea, she did more for the allied cause than any of her allies, perhaps more than all of them put together.

The British breed is a great breed and nowhere does it show finer or higher qualities than in the original home and cradle of the race.

Gumming About Taxes

The Wiarion Echo is of the opinion that too much attention is paid to taxes as a cause for gumbling. It says:

In Wiarion it costs a family of five who use four pounds of butter per week about $2, whereas it cost them five years ago 80 cents. This makes a difference of $62.40 per year, while the taxes may be about $10 for that household. No one hears anything about the cost of butter as enough to drive a man out of town, it is altogether on account of the taxes that it does not pay to live here. In 1914 if everyone in the family got two pair of shoes per year at $4 per pair, it then cost $40 per year for footwear. Now if they get two pair it will cost at least $80, an increase of $40, still the only thing we can find to complain about is the taxes. And so we may go through all the various items of household expense, which have increased from $500 to $1,000 per year or higher, according to our pace—still it is the $10 of additional taxes we most talk about. We should give the taxes a rest.

This may be a very good logic, but it will not put a stop to grumbling about the taxes. There is a psychological reason for it—in other words it is in human nature. The reason a man kicks so much about his tax bill is really not that it represents so large an amount of money, but that it means so much money that he doesn't have the fun of spending himself. A man may spend on perfectly useless things during a twelve-month a much larger sum than he pays in taxes and be quite cheerful about it; but present him with his tax bill, or his bill for church or lodge dues (especially if he is not a regular attendant), or for anything else of the kind, and he will grouch about it until he thinks he has got the value of his money in gouching. It is just the way we humans are built.—Ex.

Are You A Plodder?—Or A Plugger?

Plugging denotes energy, driving force, determination, and a will to conquer. Plodding is aimless, ambitionless and often hopeless. A Plugger is a man who pushes ahead—a Plodder is a man who trudges ahead. A Plugger is a man who gets what he wants by going after it. A Plodder is a man who never gets what he wants because he doesn't travel fast enough to catch up to it.

To the Plodder each morning begins another day. To the Plugger each morning begins a new day. See the difference? To the one each day is another eight or nine hours of grinding out work—of performing monotonous duties and filling in time. To the other each day opens a new vista of possibilities—chances to make good—of new ideas to put into practice—of more knowledge to be gained—of new opportunities for self-advancement and self-development.

It's the man of energy—the go-ahead fellow who strikes out and works his way up the hillsides, brushing aside the obstacles and clambering over the rocks, that the world delights to honor.—"The Packer," Toronto.

Counting Seconds

An easy method of counting seconds that is sufficiently accurate for photographic purposes is to repeat a phrase that it takes one second to pronounce. The majority of people will require one second of time to pronounce the words one hundred and one as rapidly as clear enunciation will permit. The last word of the second should always indicate the number of seconds that have been counted. Six seconds, for instance, should be counted one hundred and one, one hundred and two, one hundred and three, one hundred and four, one hundred and five, one hundred and six. Many who use this method can count from thirty to sixty seconds without varying more than one or two seconds from the time recorded by a watch.

Canada's Longest Tunnel

The longest railway tunnel on the American Continent is the Rogers Pass tunnel on the Rocky Mountain division of the Canadian Pacific line, which is five miles in length and runs under Mt. Macdonald, in the Selkirk range. It was constructed at a cost of more than $10,000,000. Previous to its being put through, the Hoosac tunnel on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, 4 1/2 miles in length, was the longest tunnel in America.

3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by a majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT to permit such sale?.....		X
4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT to permit such sale?.....		X

By the Ontario Temperance Act, sale and distribution of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes within the province were prohibited. For practically three years the province has experienced the good effects of this law. Its repeal would be a calamity. Any of the amendments would spoil it.

For the Temperance forces to win they must secure four "No" majorities. That is, a majority for "No" on EVERY question. The Temperance forces will be defeated if there is a majority for "Yes" on any of the questions. You must mark an X after each of the four questions, or your ballot is counted as spoiled.

A century of temperance progress in this province is at stake in the coming Referendum. The Ontario Referendum Committee earnestly and respectfully ask you to mark your X in the "No" column after each and every question, as indicated in the sample ballot reproduced herewith.

ELECTRIC THE Saver WASHER

THIS IS THE SAFE WAY TO DO YOUR WASHING

Many housewives prefer to keep the washing in the home. This is the safe and sanitary way. Clothes sent out to be washed are mixed with everybody's, and come in contact with contaminated linen. Also by keeping the washing in the home you can supervise it closely and often prevent the ruin of some delicate garment. Clothes last much longer when washed in the home.

With a Time Saver Electric Washer you can easily get all the washing done in your own home. It saves three whole hours on wash day and makes the day an easy one. Both washer and wringer are driven by electric power and run for 2c. an hour. It is moderate in price. It pays back its cost in a year in the saving of laundry bills or washer woman's wages. We have a machine in the store for you. Let us demonstrate it in your home. Phone or call.

GOVERNMENT WILL GRANT $1,500 TOWARDS WINTER FAIR BUILDING

Several weeks ago it was announced in the Guide-Advocate that Dr. J. B. Martyn, M. P. P., had interviewed the Minister of Agriculture regarding assistance in erecting a building to accommodate the various agricultural shows held in Lambton during the winter months, and that the Minister had promised to recommend a grant for this purpose. The following letter confirms the statement.

Ontario Department of Agriculture Office of the Minister.
Toronto, August 14th, 1919.
Dr. J. B. Martyn, M. P. P.,
Alvinston, Ont.

Dear Dr. Martyn:
I have given consideration to the statement submitted by you in favor of a grant for a Winter Fair Building for Lambton County for the joint uses of the Lambton County Corn and Seed Shows, Poultry Show and Dispersion Sale of Pure Bred Stock. I have followed with much interest the development of this and allied activities in Lambton County, and I am sure they have been of great assistance in the development of the County and in moulding the prosperity of their various members. I appreciate the interest which you have always shown in matters of this nature, and am glad to note that the work of the Department has also been of service in the development which has taken place. Except for the preliminary work which has always been carried on by these different Associations I would be inclined to regard the plans for a permanent Winter Fair Building as somewhat ambitious. The development which has already taken place, however, and the backing which the project is receiving locally makes it much more promising and reasonable. Under these circumstances I feel that the Government will be justified in assisting the project to the extent of a grant of $1,500, and I will have pleasure in recommending this at the next Session of the Legislature. It would, of course, be impossible to pay it before that time, but if the local Associations are in a position to go ahead in the meantime I have no doubt they will be able to arrange the financing satisfactorily with this assurance. The Department will be glad to keep in touch with the progress of your plans and may be able to assist with suggestions from time to time. Wishing you every success, I am,
Yours very truly,
GEORGE S. HENRY,
Minister of Agriculture.

FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES.—There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain, will cool the inflamed flesh and draw the pain as if by magic. It will take the ache out of a bruise and prevent the flesh from discoloring. It seems as if there was magic in it, so speedily does the injury disappear under treatment.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

UNITED FARMERS' CONVENTION

Mr. L. W. Oke Nominated for Legislature by U.F.O. of East Lambton

Harmony and enthusiasm pervaded the convention of the United Farmers of Lambton which was held in Taylor's Hall, Watford, Wednesday, August 20th, with practically every sub-division represented by four delegates, two ladies and two men.
The meeting was called to order by L. W. Oke, president of the East Lambton United Farmers, who conducted the proceedings in a very capable manner.
Mr. A. E. Vance, director of the U. F. O. for Lambton County, explained the organization and objects of the United Farmers Association. Mr. H. A. Gilroy, president of the Lambton County Co-operative Association, gave a history of that organization and its connection with the present movement. Mr. H. Darvill, president of United Farmers of Lambton, outlined the amalgamation of the two organizations and pointed out the necessity of being represented in the Provincial and Dominion Governments by farmers, after showing the relative representation at present of farmers and lawyers in our halls of legislation. Mr. A. Auld reported on the accomplishments of the Legislative committee and outlined the principles and operation of the recall. On a motion the convention unanimously endorsed the recall of representatives subject to the will of the electors. A motion in favor of financing the candidate's campaign was also adopted.
Nominations for candidates were then called for. Several prominent farmers, including one lady, Miss L. Ross, of Warwick, were placed in nomination by ballot. All withdrew excepting Messrs. J. S. McLean, Plympton; L. W. Oke, Brooke; H. Darvill, Brooke; N. Sitter, Rossanquet, and A. Auld of Warwick, whose names went before the convention. On the first ballot Mr. L. W. Oke was chosen as the standard bearer of the farmers of East Lambton. On motion of Mr. McLean and Mr. Darvill the nomination was made unanimous, bringing to a close one of the most optimistic conventions ever held in East Lambton.

PA'S ROYAL HAWAIIANS

Taylor's Lyceum, Monday, Sept. 1st.

Soloman Brothers have arranged the Canadian tour of the original Pa's Royal Hawaiian troupe of entertainers, who will open an engagement at Watford on Monday, Sept. 1st. This company is the most talented aggregation of native singers, dancers and instrumentalists that has ever appeared together as one attraction. The company came direct to this country from the Iolani Palace, Honolulu, bringing with them a reproduction of the Haleakala volcano to be used as a stage setting during the production of their performance. This scenic effect was produced regardless of cost and is probably the only one of its kind ever shown here. It is said to add effect to the turn of these clever artists. Music will be rendered on the various native instruments which has proven to be the rage in America. Princess Aluka, will sing Hawaiian songs and the dances arranged for this dainty little principal affords her ample opportunity of showing her talent.

Lovers of the fascinating music of a Hawaiian quintette will do well in seeing Pa's Royal Company which have scored huge successes in all of their performances both here and in Honolulu.

QUAINT AND FASCINATING, is the original Hawaiian music played on the instruments by the Pa's Royal Hawaiian, direct from the Iolani Palace, Honolulu.

THIS COMPANY consists of native men and women who sing, dance and play all of the Hawaiian musical instruments. Princess Aluka has been the rage in all appearances in song and dance numbers and she is regarded as one of the most promising artists from Hawaii. This dainty little princess is of royal blood and at present members of her family are very prominent in arranging native dances and manufacturing the famous instruments. The musical side of this entertainment has never been excelled. All of the popular hits of the American stage are rendered by these artists. Reserve your seat early to avoid the rush. Seats now on sale at Taylor's Drug Store.

LOVERS of music are to be found by the thousands in every country in the world and probably no other country is looked upon as producing artists who play more fascinating love melodies than the Hawaiians. Numerous theatrical companies have advertised having a company of real natives, but for first time in America Pa's Royal troupe of real Hawaiian singers, dancers and instrumentalists.

AMID scenes of grandeur the natives will be seen in a melange of song, dance and music. While the famous Haleakala Volcano scene is being shown, Princess Aluka, the South Sea Island Butterfly will dance a series of national and love dances. At different intervals the native orchestra will render popular and dreamy melodies on the instruments which they made themselves while lounging around the sea side of their homes in the Iolani Palace. According to advance notices dances and music used in the offering was arranged by the father who boasts of having gathered together the first troupe of natives sent to America to appear on the legitimate stage.

A DEPUTATION from the Petrolia School Board called on Mr. Shrapnell some days ago and made him a gratifying proposition to become supervising principal of the public schools of that town, to take effect at any time convenient to him. For over twenty years Mr. Shrapnell has been principal of the school here and during that period has made an enviable record. It is largely due to his thoroughness and perseverance that local Entrance candidates have been so successful, not only in passing the Entrance examinations but in continuing the higher grades of education, as the substantial foundation they received under his care fitted them to make quick headway in the lines of study they selected to pursue. It is to be hoped that the Watford Board of Education will endeavor to meet the offer of the Petrolia Board and thus retain Mr. Shrapnell's services, as Watford cannot afford to lose so efficient, painstaking and valuable a teacher and citizen if a few dollars increase in salary will induce him to remain.

A RECEPTION to returned soldiers was given by the Presbyterian Church last Thursday evening on the Manse lawn. After games, in which all took part, and a short musical program, presentations of morocco bound Bibles and Books of Praise were made to the men on the church honor roll by Rev. E. H. Sawers, assisted by Reeve Johnston. After a very enjoyable corn roast around a camp fire, an hour was spent hearing the soldiers sing the songs they sang in France and Belgium. The evening being an ideal one for an out-door gathering, both soldiers and others had a delightful time of pleasure and goodfellowship not soon to be forgotten. The following are the names of those being specially honored on this occasion:—W. D. Lamb, Lee Johnston, Chester Skillen, John Cameron Anderson, Edgar Prentis, Murray M. Forster, J. Murray Mitchell, Arthur McKercher, Fred Just, Vallee Auld, Verne Johnston, John Lamb, Lon Aylesworth, Romo Auld, Nelson Hood. This is the second reception to be held by this church. On the former occasion Bruce Trenouth, Frank Elliot and Wm. Bruce were honored.

The Ingersoll town council recently returned to fourteen motorists the amount of fines imposed on them because the tail lights of their cars were not burning, and at the same time the council expressed the hope that the police would be more reasonable in future. Nearly all the victims were from out of town, and the council thought a strict enforcement of the Motor Vehicles Act was not conducive to fostering the good will of the people who came into town on business. There must be some level-headed business men in the Ingersoll council.

MME. F. GAREAU

 "For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This, I refused to permit.
 I heard about 'Fruit-a-lives' and the wonderful results it was giving because this medicine is made from fruit juices, so I decided to try it.
 The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent—I am free of pain and swelling—and I give 'Fruit-a-lives' my warmest thanks."

The Gods of Mars

Now a score of one man air scouts were launching from the upper decks of the nearer vessel, and in a moment more were speeding in long, swift dives to the ground about us.

In another instant we were surrounded by armed sailors, and an officer stepped forward to address us when his eyes fell upon Carthoris.

With an expression of surprised pleasure he sprang forward and, placing his hand upon the boy's shoulder, called him by name.

"Carthoris, my prince!" he cried. "Kaor! Kaor! Hor Vastus greets the son of Dejah Thoris, princess of Hellum, and of her husband, John Carter. Where have you been, O my prince? All Hellum has been plunged in sorrow. Terrible have been the calamities that have befallen your great-grandfather's mighty nation since the fatal day that saw you leave our midst."

"Grieve not, my good Hor Vastus," cried Carthoris, "since I bring not back myself alone to cheer my mother's heart and the hearts of my beloved people, but also one whom all Barsoom loved best—her greatest warrior and her savior—John Carter, Prince of Hellum!"

Hor Vastus turned in the direction indicated by Carthoris, and as his eyes fell upon me he almost collapsed from sheer surprise.

"John Carter!" he exclaimed, and then a sudden troubled look came into his eyes. "My prince," he started, "where hast thou?"

And then he stopped, but I knew the question that his lips dared not frame. The loyal fellow would not be the one to force from mine a confession of the terrible truth that I had returned from the bosom of Iss, the river of mystery, back from the shore of the sea of Korus and the valley Dor.

"Ah, my prince," he continued, as though no thought had interrupted his greeting, "that you are back is sufficient, and let Hor Vastus' sword have the high honor of being first at thy feet."

With these words the noble fellow unbuckled his scabbard and flung his sword upon the ground before me.

Could you know the customs and the character of red Martians you would appreciate the depth of meaning that that simple act conveyed to me and to all about us who witnessed it.

The thing was equivalent to saying: "My sword, my body, my life, my soul, are yours, to do with as you wish. Until death and after death I look to you alone for authority for my every act. Be you right or wrong, your word shall be my only truth. Whoso raises his hand against you must answer to my sword."

It is the oath of fealty that men occasionally pay to a jeddak whose high character and chivalrous acts have inspired their enthusiastic love of his followers. Never had I known this high tribute paid to a lesser mortal.

There was but one response possible. I stooped and lifted the sword from the ground, raised the hilt to my lips, and then, stepping to Hor Vastus I buckled the weapon upon him with my own hands.

"Hor Vastus," I said, placing my hand upon his shoulder, "you know best the promptings of your own heart. That I shall need your sword I have little doubt, but accept from John Carter upon his sacred honor the assurance that he will never call upon you to draw this sword other than in the cause of truth, justice and righteousness."

"That I knew, my prince," he replied, "ere ever I threw my beloved blade at thy feet."

As we spoke other fliers came and went between the ground and the battleship, and presently a larger boat was launched from above, one capable of carrying a dozen persons perhaps, and dropped lightly near us. As she touched, an officer sprang from her deck to the ground and, advancing to Hor Vastus, saluted.

"Kantos Kan desires that this party whom we have met be brought immediately to the deck of the Xavarian," he said.

As we approached the little craft I looked about for the members of my party and for the first time noticed that Thuvia was not among them.

Immediately Hor Vastus dispatched a dozen air scouts in as many directions to search for her. It could not be possible that she had gone far from to accompany her. "Zat Arras was at Hellum when she disappeared. He commands this fleet, which has been searching for her since. No trace of her have we found, and I fear that it be a futile quest."

The first man to greet me was Kantos Kan himself. My old friend had won to the highest place in the navy of Hellum, but he was still to me the same brave comrade who had shared with me the privations of a Warhoon dungeon, the terrible atrocities of the great games and later the dangers of our search for Dejah Thoris within the hostile city of Zodanga.

Then I had been an unknown wanderer upon a strange planet and he a simple padwar in the navy of Hellum. Today he commanded all Hellum's great terrors of the skies, and I was a prince of the house of Tardos Mors, jeddak of Hellum.

He did not ask me where I had been. Like Hor Vastus, he, too, dreaded the truth and would not be the one to wrest a statement from me. That it must come some time he well knew, but until it came he seemed satisfied to but know that I was with him once more.

He greeted Carthoris and Tars Tarkas with the keenest delight, but he asked neither where he had been. He could scarcely keep his hands off the boy.

"You do not know, John Carter," he said to me, "how we of Hellum love this son of yours. It is as though all the great love we bore his noble father and his poor mother had been centered in him. When it became known that he was lost 10,000,000 people wept."

"What mean you, Kantos Kan," I whispered, "by 'his poor mother'?" for the words had seemed to carry a sinister meaning which I could not fathom.

"For a year," he said, "ever since Carthoris disappeared, Dejah Thoris has grieved and mourned for her lost boy. The blow of years ago when you did not return from the atmosphere plant was lessened to some extent by the duties of motherhood, for your son was born that very night.

 "That she suffered terribly then all Hellum knew, for did not all Hellum suffer with her the loss of her lord?
 "But with the boy gone there was nothing left, and after expedition upon expedition returned with the same hopeless tale of no clue as to his whereabouts our beloved princess drooped lower and lower until all who saw her felt that it could be but a matter of days ere she went to join her loved ones within the precincts of the valley Dor.
 "As a last resort Mors Kajak, her father, and Tardos Mors, her grandfather, took command of two mighty expeditions and a month ago sailed away to explore every inch of ground in the northern hemisphere of Barsoom.
 "For two weeks no word has come back from them, but rumors were rife that they had met with a terrible disaster and that all were dead.
 "About this time Zat Arras renewed his importunities for her hand in marriage. He has been forever after her since you disappeared.
 "She hated him and feared him, but with both her father and grandfather gone Zat Arras was very powerful, for he is still jed of Zodanga, to which Mors appointed him after you had refused the honor.
 "He had a secret audience with her six days ago. What took place none knows, but the next day Dejah Thoris had disappeared, and with her had gone a dozen of her household guard and body servants, including Sola, the green woman—Tars Tarkas' daughter, you recall.
 "No word left of their intentions, but it is always thus with those who go upon the voluntary pilgrimage from which none returns. We cannot think aught than that Dejah Thoris has sought the icy bosom of Iss and that her devoted servants have chosen

He Flung His Sword Upon the Ground Before Me.

CHAPTER X
 Under Arrest.

WHILE we talked Hor Vastus' fliers were turning to the Xavarian. Not one, however, had discovered a trace of Thuvia. I was much depressed over the news of Dejah Thoris' disappearance, and now there was added the further burden of apprehension concerning the fate of Thuvia.

I felt keen responsibility for the welfare of this girl, whom I believed to be the daughter of some proud Barsoomian house, and it had been my intention to make every effort to return her to her people.

I was about to ask Kantos Kan to prosecute a further search for her when a flier from the flagship of the fleet arrived at the Xavarian with an officer bearing a message to Kantos Kan from Arras.

My friend read the dispatch and then turned to me.

"Zat Arras commands me to bring our 'prisoners' before him. There is naught else to do. He is supreme in Hellum, yet it would be far more in keeping with chivalry and good taste were he to come hither and greet the savior of Barsoom with the honors that are his due."

I smiled.

"You know full well, my friend," I said, "that Zat Arras hates me. Nothing would please him better than to humiliate me and then kill me. He has an excellent excuse. Let us go and see if he has the courage to take advantage of it."

Summoning Carthoris and Tars Tarkas, we entered the small flier with Kantos Kan and Zat Arras' officer and in a moment were stepping to the deck of Zat Arras' flagship.

As we approached the jed of Zodanga no sign of greeting or recognition crossed his face. Not even to Carthoris did he vouchsafe a friendly word. His attitude was cold, haughty and uncompromising.

"Kaor, Zat Arras," I said in greeting, but he did not respond.

"Why were these prisoners not disarmed?" he asked of Kantos Kan.

"They are not prisoners, Zat Arras," replied the officer. "Two of them are of Hellum's most noble family. Tars Tarkas, jeddak of Thark, is Tardos Mors' best beloved ally. The other is a friend and companion of the Prince of Hellum. That is enough for me to know."

"It is not enough for me, however," retorted Zat Arras. "More must I hear from those who have taken the pilgrimage than their names. Where have you been, John Carter?"

"I have just come from the valley Dor," Zat Arras, I replied.

"Ah," he exclaimed in evident pleasure. "You do not deny it then? You have returned from the bosom of Iss?"

"I have come back from a land of false hope, from a valley of torture and death. With my companions I have escaped from the hideous clutches of lying fiends. I have come back to the Barsoom that I saved from a painless death again to save her, but this time from death in its most frightful form."

"Cease, blasphemer!" cried Zat Arras. "Hope not to save thy cowardly carcass by inventing horrid lies to—"

He got no further.

One does not call John Carter "coward" and "liar" thus lightly, and Zat Arras should have known it.

Before a hand could be raised to stop me I was at his side, and one hand grasped his throat.

"Come I from heaven or hell, Zat Arras, you will find me still the same John Carter that I have always been, nor did ever man call me such names and live—without apologizing."

And with that I commenced to bend him back across my knee and tighten my grip upon his throat.

"Seize him!" cried Zat Arras, and a dozen officers sprang forward to assist him.

Kantos Kan came close and whispered to me:

"Desist, I beg of you! It will but involve us all, for I cannot see these men lay hands upon you without aiding you. My officers and men will join me, and we shall have a mutiny then that may lead to revolution. For the sake of Tardos Mors and Hellum, desist!"

At his words I released Zat Arras and, turning my back upon him, walked toward the ship's rail.

"Come, Kantos Kan," I said, "the Prince of Hellum would return to the Xavarian."

FOUND GUILTY OF NEGLIGENCE

THREE YEARS' PUNISHMENT FOR MAN WHO ALLOWED A SERIOUS SITUATION TO DEVELOP.

Failure to take proper precautions has been responsible for many deaths, and is the cause of much suffering and hardship to-day.

Take the case of Wm. Dunn, 315 Gerrard St. East, Toronto, Ont. Mr. Dunn was a chronic rheumatic sufferer for ten years. Three years of that time he spent in bed suffering indescribable torture. Picture the joy of this man on finding that Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules were restoring him to normal health again. Here are a few extracts from his letter to us: "During the past ten years I have been laid up with Rheumatism. One attack confined me to my bed for a year, and a second attack left me helpless for seven years. After I had tried almost everything, a friend got me a box of T.R.C.'s, and a few doses convinced me that I had at last found the proper remedy for my trouble. T.R.C.'s improved my condition rapidly, and I feel that had it not been for T.R.C.'s I should have been laid up for years. T.R.C.'s are certainly wonder works. Try them."

Sole Agents for Watford, J. W. McLaren, Druggist, the Rexall Store, or if you live out of town mail $1.04 to the above address or to Templeton Limited, 112 King Street West, Toronto, and capsules will be sent postpaid.

None interfered. Zat Arras stood white and trembling amid his officers. Some there were who looked upon him with scorn and drew toward me, while one, a man long in the service and confidence of Tardos Mors, spoke to me in a low tone as I passed him.

"You may count my metal among your fighting men, John Carter," he said.

I thanked him and passed on. In silence we embarked and shortly after stepped once more upon the deck of the Xavarian. Fifteen minutes later we received orders from the flagship to proceed toward Hellum.

Our journey thither was uneventful. Carthoris and I were wrapped in the gloomiest of thoughts. Kantos Kan was somber in contemplation of the further calamity that might fall upon Hellum should Zat Arras attempt to follow the age old precedent that allotted a terrible death to fugitives from the valley Dor.

Xodar alone was care free. He could be no worse off in Hellum than elsewhere.

"Let us hope that we may at least go out with good red blood upon our blades," he said.

It was a simple wish and one most likely to be gratified.

Among the officers of the Xavarian I thought I could already note a division into factions ere we had reached Hellum. There were those who gathered about Carthoris and myself whenever the opportunity presented, while about an equal number held aloof from us.

They offered us only the most courteous treatment, but were evidently bound by their superstitious belief in the doctrine of Dor and Iss and Korus. I could not blame them, for I knew how strong a hold a creed, however ridiculous it may be, may gain upon an otherwise intelligent people.

By returning from Dor we had committed a sacrilege; by recounting our adventures there and stating the facts as they existed we had outraged the religion of their fathers. We were blasphemers, lying heretics.

Even those who still clung to us from personal love and loyalty, I think did so in the face of the fact that at heart they questioned our veracity—it is very hard to accept a new religion for an old, no matter how alluring the promises of the new may be. But to reject the old as a tissue of falsehoods without being offered anything in its stead is indeed a most difficult thing to ask of any people.

Kantos Kan would not talk of our experiences among the therns.

"It is enough," he said, "that I jeopardize my life here and hereafter by countenancing you at all. Do not ask me to add still further to my sins by listening to what I have always been taught was the rankest heresy."

I knew that sooner or later the time must come when our friends and enemies would be forced to declare themselves openly. When we reached

Death of Mr. Richard Roche

Mr. Richard Roche, of Winnipeg, died in the general hospital there on Monday, Aug. 11th after a somewhat lengthy illness. He was born in Warwick and was for a time a resident of Watford. He leaves to mourn his demise a widow, three daughters, one of whom is married, and four sons, two of whom have been overseas. He is survived by six brothers, William, David and Thomas of Watford, Michael J. of Forest, John, of Stratford, Charles, of Port Huron, and one sister, Mrs. O'Meara, of London.

The following notice regarding his death appeared in a recent issue of the Toronto Mail and Empire.

VETERAN DICK ROCHE DIES IN WINNIPEG

Richard Roche, Winnipeg's veteran horseman, and a man famous all over the harness racing world, is dead. Mr. Roche died at the General Hospital Monday night after a long illness which has extended over a period of nearly a year, but which did not become serious until June. He was 64 years of age.

Dick Roche was at one time one of the foremost drivers of America and his ability to pilot trotters and pacers past the winning post in front led to his engagement to drive horses in all parts of the world. He was one of the first outside drivers to compete in races in Russia, and his work there attracted the attention of some of the big horse owners of Austria and he later on drove many winners in the races in that country. He also took part in races in Germany, France and Great Britain.

Winnipeg horsemen probably know him better as a race official. He has been prominent here in the judges' box for the past fifteen years or more. He was the starter for the first races of the Winnipeg Driving Club and much of the success of the local matinee races are due to his sterling work. He also officiated as an official on the Western Canada racing circuit. As a driver and as an official he maintained a wonderful record for straight forwardness. He was never cautioned in a race himself for foul driving and when he became an official he expected the drivers to maintain a like record. He was not slow in spotting any evidence of crooked work in the racing game and by vigorous action soon convinced all that it would not be tolerated as long as he was presiding in the judges' box.

Although a strict official, Dick always made friends. He was known and respected by every horseman in America, Members of the Winnipeg Driving Club, headed by their president, Alex. Stewart, paid high tributes to his worth and his death is regretted by all.

"Wally" Roche, manager of the Catholic Club baseball team, is a son of the late Mr. Roche, as is also Frank Roche, who was also prominent in local baseball circles.

Marwick—Stinson

A pretty wedding took place on August 12 at the home of the bride's parents, Dresden, Ont., when Alice Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stinson, was united in marriage to Bruce D. Marwick, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marwick, Watford, Ont. Rev. J. Westell conducted the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white satin, draped with heavily beaded Georgette. She also wore a silk-embroidered veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Stinson, was prettily dressed in flesh-colored Georgette, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. Ward Zavitz acted as groomsmen. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Tom Stinson. After a dainty wedding dinner the happy couple left, amid showers of rice and confetti, for a motor trip through Muskoka and the Kawartha Lake district. On their return they will live in Merlin.

A quiet, but pretty marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Benner, Alvinston, on Saturday last, when their only daughter, Mary J. W., became the bride of Mr. Hugh N. McAlpine, of London. Rev. DuPlan of Ilberton performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends of the family.
