SOARED MORE THAN TWO MILES UP INTO THE SKY

"NED" CLARK MUCH ALIVE POLICE WERE IN ERROR

Man Found Frozen to Death Was Joseph O'Grady—Clark in Cells.

"Ned" Clark, veteran of the Northwest rebellion and combative enemy of the police, is not dead as reported yesterday morning, but was arrested yesterday afternoon for drunkenness in Simcoe-st. by Policeman Ough. Ned was able to remark as Mark Twain did once under similar circumstances that the reports of his death were grossly exaggerated.

So far from being dead was Ned that he was able to put up his customary battle with the constable before being dragged, defeated but still defiant to the Agnes-street station, where he spent the night in comfort far exceeding that of a slab in the morgue.

There are some sheepish policemen upon the force this day. When the body of a man was found frozen in an alley between 106 and 108 East Front-street and removed to the morgue in the patrol wagon, Policemen Kenny and Bustard, driver and escort, declared that the body was that of Ned Clark. Sergeant Pogue, Detective Taylor, Policemen Riley and Arrow-smith all went to the morgue and gazed upon the remains and declared that they were those of the redoubtable Ned, who has lifted more policemen and jolted more "chances" out of Magistrate Deane in his day than any other frequenter of the police court.

It now appears that he who is dead is Joseph O'Grady, who has been staying at the Workington's Home, 59 Frederick-street. He has a brother, a sergeant at the Royal Military College at Kingston. He was identified by a card given him at St. Michael's Hospital, where he had his hand crushed a few days ago. He was further identified by one Blasko, who also lives at the Workington's Home and who rode up from Montreal with him on the "blind baggage" a short time ago and was treated at St. Michael's Hospital at the same time as the dead man.

Rev. J. D. Morrow, on his way to further the building of Dale Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, had read of the death of Ned Clark, and was therefore much surprised to see Ned walking in Queen-street well and hearty, save for the presence of two badly blacked eyes by way of decoration. The reverend gentleman thought that he was witnessing a sure enough resurrection, but it was only a mistaken death.

Latham's Monoplane Wrecked. The gale which Hoxsey and his brethren of the Wright camp, Farmdale and Brookings, braved successfully, wrecked Latham's beautiful Antoinette machine completely. The Frenchman was among the aviators who answered the starting gun at 1 o'clock. For two hours and fifteen minutes he fought the wind, which blew directly off the ocean, six miles from the aviation field. Then an adverse current sent his aeroplane downward into a fence under the brow of a hill, and threw the aviator into a gully.

The Frenchman was unhurt, but his machine was a tangled mass of wires and silken fabric. The motor was the only part left intact, and Latham said that, having enough parts for three extra machines, he would build a new monoplane, and be in the air again before the end of the meet.

Not the Only High Flyer. Notwithstanding the high wind, Farmdale, driver of the "Baby" Wright, attained an altitude of 9225 feet, and went thru spectacular performances, apparently with ease. Telegraph certificates of the barograph reading of Hoxsey's record flight were sent to Clifford B. Harmon and J. K. Duffy, the president and secretary of the National Federation of Aero Clubs of America.

LOOKED ON WINE WHEN RED

Arrests for Drunkenness More Numerous Than Last Year.

Last year the bars closed at 7 o'clock in the evening on Christmas Day, it being Saturday, and many of them were closed the greater part of the day. This year they were open till 11 p.m., and open all of the time. This showed that the jag hunters had a better chance this year than last, for in the registers of the four main police stations the percentage of drunks was heavy on the side of the present year.

At the Court-street station there were 30 inebriated last night, while a year ago there were only 17. At Agnes-street last night 24 of the soured were housed, while last Christmas there were but 15. At Esther-street there were 10 last night, and 11 Christmas last. At the Wilton-ave. station there were 12 last night, but only half that number a year ago.

TRURO, N. S., Dec. 26.—(Special.)—As the Sydney express, crowded with the Christmas shoppers, chugged thru the yard today, the engine and three cars jumped the track at a point below Young-street crossing. No lives were lost. The engine and tender are caught over almost across the track and two cars following plowed up ground for about 50 yards, and both are lying almost on their sides.

WANNING, Dec. 26.—Fire broke out a second time in Donald Fraser & Co. of Montreal, on Rorie-st. to-night and completely gutted the four storey building. The first fire was got under control in about half an hour, but about 10.45 it was discovered that the fire had worked its way to the third floor, and a general alarm concentrated the brigade on the spot.

When the leading companies arrived, flames were leaping from all windows on the third floor, and they evidently had a good hold on the second and fourth floors.

The flames spread to the adjoining building, occupied by McAlister & Watts, wholesale stationers, but is likely to be confined to water and smoke.

At midnight, while the fire is not out, all danger of its spreading further seems at an end.

The building is valued at about $65,000.

CHRISTMAS IN TORONTO WAS QUIETLY OBSERVED

Fall of Snow Contributed to Festive Spirit—Tobogganing a Feature.

It was a quiet Christmas in Toronto, mostly marked by cordiality alone. The real Christmas evening on the day before, rather took the polish of the celebration of the "proclaimed" day, and the double opportunity of enjoying a Christmas dinner made people for the most part complain yesterday of languor after having "eaten too much."

What was lacking in an atmospheric respect on the real date was nearly overcome by the weather man, for the artificial date, and Christmas in Toronto was clothed like Christmas should be—in four inches of snow, by the time the people awoke. On account of the 25th falling on Sunday, the religious observances were all omitted yesterday, so the day was merely spent as a holiday. The snow was therefore, a godsend, and all that didn't stay in the house or make calls that necessitated staying in the house, went driving or skating, or tobogganing, or tobogganing. Every cutter in every liveliest in the city was hired and in use, and every toboggan hireable was put to service.

MASSEY HALL SERVICE

Large Audience Enjoyed Christmas Sketch Last Night.
At Massey Hall, Christmas night, the Christmas sketch of song and story, "His Birthday," given by Mme. K. Chatter-Morton and her pupils, was well received by the large audience. The solo rendered by Miss Reekie, "The Heavenly Song," was perfectly given, and Mr. George Campbell displayed a tenor voice of good quality and compass in "The Star of Bethlehem," while Mme. Morton's contralto voice in "Give Me Thine Heart," and in solo, "I Gave My Life for Thee," was at its best. The story of "His Birthday" was a sermon in itself and showed the wonderful power of a 3-year-old girl on two men, who had not been to church for years. Not only did the little girl get these two men to church on Christmas Day but the power of her story brought about a change for all time in them. Rev. J. M. Wilkinson's reading of the story was effectively noticeable on the large audience.

SHOT THRU WINDOW

Bullet Hit Woman, But Was Intended for Her Husband.
GREATLY COLO, Dec. 26.—Bending over the kitchen stove preparing the Christmas dinner yesterday, Mrs. Maggie Roberts was killed by a shot fired through the kitchen door at her home on Frederick, a neighboring coal mining camp, where a strike is in progress. The shot is believed to have been fired by her husband, who is a foreman of the Evans Mine, and where, it is said, the trouble started. Five miners are under arrest.

KIDDIES YMAS BANQUET WAS SPLENDID SUCCESS

It was a Noisy Gathering, Too, as Distinguished Speakers Found.

As the world goes people have different and divergent ideas about the religious significance of Christmas. But in one and all the heart of humanity is moved at the touch of the spirit of the Christ child, so it is that the story of the babe in the manger is the strong factor that draws men and women of all stations in life, together once a year, to fulfil the great philosophy of the Christmas, "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

Yesterday these men and women showed their work in St. Lawrence Avenue, when about five thousand youngsters of the city and all ages and climes of Toronto were treated to a feast of good things—a feast of edibles that filled their hungry mouths, a feast of music that gladdened their hearts. Long before the hour of 5.30 p.m. the boys crowded around the building, and also there was not a really starved-looking individual in the lot, they did not wait for the feast, they were fed.

It was a noisy gathering, too, as distinguished speakers found. The boys and girls of the city, and poets have said something about the cry of the lost soul, but it resembled every noise the world has hitherto heard when those five thousand youthful gourmands caused a riot of the tables piled high with tasteful viands. But it wasn't theirs to prey upon just then. His Honor Lieut.-Gov. Gibson, Sir James Wilton and Mayor Geary had something to say. They all told secret, and it was the same secret, "I was a boy once myself," said his honor. "I was a boy once myself," vouchsafed the high priest, "I was a boy once myself, whilpered the chief magistrate of the city. They all cheered.

Oratory Was Difficult.
Sir James gave the boys a practical talk. He spoke about the benefits of going to school, of the necessity for education, and of the opportunity for becoming good citizens.

It was a rare sight to see them eat. The boys formed up in double file and marched to the tables in rows of about six hundred. They had their fill and more—while standing. While one hand was serving the mouth, the other was doing the same duty for the pockets. It was a gorge of the youngsters knew it. A little lad from the ward said he had two brothers at home who could not come, so he wore a pair of trousers and a shirt and a hat. These were caught with strings at the bottom and the load he carried away with him would have done credit to a pedlar. Another said: "Chimlie, when you go to bed, beat it to the other gang and we'll come back. I have two more tickets left."

Goodman Arrested.
Former Employee of Bell Telephone Co. Accused of Theft of $1000.
Arrested on Saturday at Braddock, Pa. William H. Goodman, an employee of the Bell Telephone Co. at Newmarket, Ont., will be extradited to Canada upon a charge of stealing $1000 from the company. The arrest was effected after three weeks' diligent search by three detectives, and High Constable Ramsden was informed of the capture by Superintendent Captain Williams on Saturday. Goodman, who is 27 years of age, had charge of the pay sheets of the linemen, and it is alleged that he secured the money by falsifying these.

A Surprise for Mother.
From The Philadelphia Times.
They were lunching at the next table. He was pompous, kindly and 50; she was fair, slim and 20.
"Now, how much do you want, Bessie?" he was asking, pocketbook out.
"Oh, anything, dad; 15 or 20. Think it too foolish for a wife to give her husband a gift out of her own pocket, don't you?" she said.
"I think, thanks, dear."
"Of course, I will bring it to you with the rest and you can hang it on the tree," he bent forward with a sweet fishy smile.
"No, sir, you won't get any hint this year, will she, dad? Here, I'll write my idea on the back of this card—don't you dare look, mother." And she scribbled a satisfied, pleasant-faced woman opposite.
"Oh, I've thought that out," laughed the girl.
"Don't let me get a hint, now, Ethelbeth," her mother admonished, petulantly.
"No, my Christmas will be quite spoiled."

The Boy's Revenge.
Philadelphia Record.
A West Philadelphia youngster of 9 years was very anxious to stay up for Christmas. He loved the idea of the party of his sister one evening last week, but his parents, thinking that the boy would only be in the way, refused to let him, and tucked him off to bed after the church ceremony was over. He lay there, thinking of all the fun people were having downstairs, and as he brooded over his wrongs, a spirit of anarchy came into his heart. Arising from bed, he pulled a chair out to the middle of the room. By standing on it he could just reach the gas jet with his mouth. He turned the gas jet with all his strength. Soon he forced the gas back down the pipes, and as it receded one gas jet after another went out till the scene below that of a few minutes before had become a dimly illuminated, was plunged into darkness. As there was no electricity in the house the balance of the reception was held by candle light. After he had made sure that all the lights were out, the youngster crept out into the hall and fairly bubbled over with glee as he heard sounds of confusion which he had wrought. Then he crept back into bed serene in the thought that his revenge was complete.

AT THE THEATRES

At the Royal Alexandra

"The Dawn of a Tomorrow."

"The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the very name of Christmas, was the opinion of Dickens, and there is the same magic in this wonderful play by Mrs. Burnett which Gertrude Elliott (Mrs. Forbush Robertson) and her flawless company are presenting at the Royal Alexandra this week. There never was a play with the real effective spirit of Christmas so manifest in it, and one might almost attribute to Dickens the writing of many of the scenes, while one of them is almost entirely due to the "Tale of Two Cities." The whole play is real and strong. It makes a man feel that life is the greatest thing that could be imagined. It makes a woman feel as though she might help the world back into sunshine yet.

The scene which opens the drama, when three eminent doctors, at the very head of the medical profession, talk about their own uncertainties, is a delightful glimpse behind the scenes. "A good many of us to-day are thinking things we are not quite sure we understand," is the conclusion of the eminent man arrives at. "A man's calamities are not decrees of Providence. Ask me to believe that Providence interferes to add a poor fellow's brains and change him from a man into a broken idiot, and I will call that sacrilege," is the way he introduces the keynote of the play. "We hold in our own hands our own destinies, has been the thought of every prophet and saint, of every poet and philosopher since the flood."

The millionaire, Sir Oliver Holt, is a nervous wreck, on the verge of breakdown, and the doctors, the most hopeful of them leaves him a Bible, in the hope that a new vein of thought, a diversion of interest, anything to change the current of his preoccupations, may quicken him into new life. But nothing comes of that. Something more vital is needed. "When a man finds himself brought up standing by death, or fear, or anguish, he inevitably calls out 'My God, I wonder why it is?'" puzzles the doctor.

The play, without any goodness of standing-by death, or fear, or anguish, is an illustration of why it is, and "Glad," the part Miss Elliott made such a triumph of in England, is the means of showing how it is. New ideas are afloat in it.

The second scene of the play is now a proverbial piece of stagecraft. A London peasant for some time has looked into its cloudy depths and heard the sounds of a London slum rising out of its depths. What it reveals is "Glad" with her new philosophy. "Keep moving along as thinking of something else. That's the trick." There are millions of people pining to death for want of the lesson, and they should all see Gertrude Elliott as "Glad."

At the Princess

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

"Anyone who can see 'The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary' as presented on a return visit at the Princess Theatre this week and not laugh until their sides protest at the wonderful humor of Miss May Robson must be in bad straits as an unreformed Scrooge. Everyone who had the good-luck to see yesterday's performance applauded the highly humorous dialog that, combined with the splendid acting of the company, makes the play the success it is. True, in the first act there are a few serious touches, but for the most part the audience was in close touch with the many and changeable moods of the pretty, old-fashioned old maid.

The story is that of a maiden lady of means who resides in the country, and whose generosity is taken advantage of by a scapegrace young nephew, whom she adores in spite of frequent large damage bills that present themselves. Finally she disinherits him in a fit of her easily aroused anger, and he goes to the city to live with one of his college friends. In answer to a letter written by one of the nephew's chums, Aunt Mary forgives his offenses and hurries to the city, to fall by the wayside of metropolitan luxury, incidentally dropping more years than the average old maid ever admits having put on. A pretty romance, involving Jack, the young nephew, and Betty Burnett, his chum's sister, runs through the piece, enhancing the rollicking fun that is really its foundation.

May Robson has lost none of her vivacity and remarkable powers of facial expression thru her long run. Her face is rather young for the part, but in a manner in which she affects the feelings of the bachelor girl of long standing overcomes what would be a defect in her capable hands. Paul Decker, as Bob Mitchell takes everything possible out of his part, and no one wonders why Aunt Mary falls quite in love with him. Jack Storey as the nephew is very good and sings a couple of songs in a way that deserves the applause.

Faye Cusick is a pretty and capable actress, and is most satisfying in the role of Betty Burnett. Luchina, who cannot approve her mistress' new city manners, is well played by Nina Saville, and all the other parts are well sustained by competent players.

"The Light Eternal" should play to capacity business, all week, and especially at the matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

At the Grand

"The Light Eternal."

Much has been said of late, relative to the possible importation of the Passion Play of Oberammergau to this country, and of the likelihood of the at-home and church people accepting such an entertainment on a purely theatrical basis. The Passion Play originated in its present locality centuries ago, and embodied a penance for the assumed sins of the people after they had suffered a great national disaster, and in recompense of this contrition, would undoubtedly mean the loss of most of its religious fervor and obligation.

With the present religious drama, however, it is quite different. The line between the two seems to be delicately but distinctly drawn for liberal patronage is extended to plays of the latter type whenever they prove their merit, to be classed as sincere and intelligent portrayals of conditions past or present.

In the last dozen years the stage has seen almost as many successful dramatic productions as the Christian religion, and there is little doubt that each has done its share toward the general good of mankind, and that collectively they have aided greatly in the uplift of the stage.

The latest and what may be said to be one of the best is "The Light Eternal," which was witnessed by two large audiences at the Grand Christmas Day. Surely it is technical knowledge of the history of Christianity and sincerity of faith that is really its foundation.

Miss Eugenie Blair in the role of Princess Artemia gave a splendid portrayal of the role; and the work with the possessively applauded. Gen. A. Lessey as Marco Valerius, physically and artistically, was perfect in the role. In fact the whole cast gave a vivid interpretation of the various roles.

At the Star

"The Light Eternal."

Every seat in the Star Theatre was occupied during the two performances yesterday, when the management gave its patrons the usual Christmas treat. This year it was in the form of a specially fine production. "The Passing Parade," put on by the well-known Gordon and North Amusement Company, if you were there and did not laugh, it's not the fault of Sam Sidman and Dave Conroy, for they presented a most enthusiastically applauded. them to hope for their people the best that can happen for their people. As needed, with pleasure, the number of ladies distressed and pointed out the influence they had on the movement. He closed with the remark that the Jews and Christians differed in some methods of religion, yet there was one feeling which bound them all together—that of "Peace on Earth and Good will to all Men."

A Haven of Refuge. In thanking the city's representatives, Mr. De Sola stated that the Jews had not the faintest intention of being anything else but good citizens of their respective homes—countries. They were not striving to pack up their trunks to go. They were striving to find a home for Jews who needed homes. He could not call those homes where they hid in fear of being murdered. He said: "If we are to provide them with a land, what other land should it be than the land which the Almighty God granted us—Palestine?" The audience then rose and to show their loyalty to the British Empire, sang "God Save the King."

New Officers. Other officers elected were: Vice-presidents—Alexander Cash, Toronto; H. Brustein, Montreal; L. D. Holofren, Ottawa; Joseph Abramson, Kingston; M. Markus, Montreal; J. Singer, Toronto; treasurer, A. Levine, Montreal; corresponding secretary, Rev. Nathan Gordon, Montreal; recording secretary, J. S. Leo, Montreal; Hebrew secretary, S. Haskell, Montreal.

The thirty members of the council include these Toronto members: B. Stone, Miss Mary Landsberg, B. Nathanson, Mrs. H. Cohen, S. Kronick, L. M. Singer, Ellis Vinberg, I. Woolface, and J. Hamm.

Permanent members of council—Rev. Meloida De Sola, Montreal; Rev. Hirsch Cohen, Montreal; Rev. Dr. Herman Abramowitz, Montreal; Rev. Nathan Gordon, Montreal; Rev. J. Gordon, Montreal; Rev. I. Kanowitz, Winnipeg.

Concluded With Banquet. A gay assembly filled the Cosmopolitan Club room on Beverley-street last night, to enjoy the banquet which concluded the convention. Over 500 guests crowded into the dining hall, which was decorated with Jewish emblems, where a sumptuous feast was put before them, with wine all the way from Palestine as a tasty and interesting accessory. Near the close of the supper the orchestra struck up the familiar strains of the Jewish national anthem, and they crowded round resounded with the enthusiastic singing of the guests. The chairman and toastmaster was the Rev. Dr. Abramowitz of Montreal, and the following toasts were proposed and responded to as the close of the feast:

Municipal Campaign

The ratifiers of ward one will make no mistake if they elect J. W. Jackson, J.P., to the board of education for 1911. Mr. Jackson is centrally situated, living on Berkeley-avenue, in the old Norway district, and has a thorough grasp of the whole situation from Broadview-avenue to the eastern limits of the city. A man of good judgment, and time to devote to educational matters, he ought to be elected.

A candidate for the board of education who has developed very rapidly in strength since the opening of the municipal campaign, is Dr. Gilmour J. Steele, of 217 Broadview-avenue. Dr. Steele is a young, aggressive and withal splendid business man, and judged from all appearances, it looks as though this is his first entry into the educational arena, would be successful. Give Dr. Steele a friendly boost.

Controller Foster is identified with one of the big practical movements for the benefit of the citizens in having been the originator of the idea of a civic fruit market. The market, which is along without this necessary campaign, the citizens best know. Cities that have established them could not now do without them.

Controller Foster had a special committee appointed to deal with the question and the principle was approved by council. It has been steadily pushed along by Controller Foster and the property commissioners, and is now looking for a suitable site. It is at a stage where it must not be allowed to be shelved.

The fruit men are not tied up by the Grand Trunk Railway, and the hindrance to the fruit men is a hindrance to every citizen. Controller Foster has the whole situation in hand, and if for no other reason, should be elected to carry this project to completion. Controller Foster is sometimes regarded merely as a critic, but he has many constructive campaigns to his credit, and the civic fruit market is a most creditable one.

The electors of the first ward will make a distinct mistake if they fail to return Ald. Chisholm. He holds a long and creditable record in the city council, and as chairman of the important works committee this year, showed marked executive ability.

Dr. C. A. Hink, candidate for alderman in the second ward, is getting excellent support. He has a good knowledge of municipal affairs, and would make a capable representative, as he has progressive ideas. The vacancy in the ward could not be better filled.

W. H. Smith deserves re-election to the board of education on his year's record. He is offering himself in the fourth ward.

Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., was in the city yesterday en route to British Columbia. He will return east before Parliament reassembles after the Christmas holidays.

Note and Comment

Lacrosse is not included in the Olympic games of 1912 in Stockholm. Even such world-wide sports as rowing and Association football are only put down as probabilities. The scope of the English games in 1908 was the most comprehensive of any since the revival, and covered almost all forms of competitive sport.

President McCaffery states that the advent of Bradley and Phelps, not to mention other old-timers in his line-up, would not count against the coming of Toronto to Toronto. The last-named veteran, not inclined, in fact, Toronto may make a bid for the Cleveland cast-off.

They are touting Dick Rudolph, Frank Manueh (infielder) and Ed. Headrick (pitcher) as the recruits who will strengthen up Murphy McGraw's Giants to the championship-winning form of Rudolph, The New York Sunday Tribune said: "Dick Rudolph is a distinguished local product. He was born and brought up in the Bronx. After finishing the usual course in the New York City high school, he was drafted into the army and served in the trenches of the European war."

It was a fairly good year for harness racing, the popularity of the trotters and pacers being maintained in the Grand Circuit. The season was marked by the triumph of a trotting horse in Ulian, owned by C. K. Billings. At the North Randall track, in a right-hand race, the great trotter was driven a mile in 1:48, without a wind.

In response to Al Kaufman's challenge, Jack Johnson will meet him in a match with the California and will fight any time and place that Delaney's man makes. The big negro insists that a purse of not less than $50,000 must be hung on the boxing club in Paris, France, recently offered a $30,000 bonus to Johnson to fight him, but the heavyweight champion ridiculed the proposition.

Manufacturers of Bowling Alleys and Bowling Supplies. Sole agents in Canada for the celebrated "TIFCO" BOWLING BALL. This is the best on the market, because it never slips, never loses its shape, always rolls true, hooks and curves easily, does not become greasy, is absolutely guaranteed, is cheaper than any other reputable patent ball, and complies with all the rules and regulations of the A. B. C. All first-class alleys are putting these balls on. Try one on the alley, you'll see, and you'll never roll any other ball.

Annual Curling Games Between Club Officers

President Tom Rennie Defeats Vice-President Bob Davison at the Granite by 11 Shots.

The annual game between the President and Vice-President at the Granite Curling Club was played on Monday. There was a grand turnout of the members to take advantage of the splendid ice. Over eighty players participated in the games which were keenly contested, particularly that between the president, T. Rennie, and H. C. Davison, vice-president. The President won on the day's play by 11 shots.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—The new police regulation empowering the city physician to stop a boxing bout when he deems it necessary, was enforced for the first time here today at the National Athletic Club, when Phil McGovern of Brooklyn was prevented from continuing in his six-round match with Eddie O'Keefe of this city, after he had been knocked down in the fifth round. McGovern was knocked down by McGovern in the first and third rounds and the latter went to the floor in the third and fifth rounds.

Bill Lang in 12 R. Beats Jack Burns Papke Loses on Foul

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Bill Lang, the Australian pugilist, and Jack Burns of California met in a 10-round match at Olympia this afternoon. The referee, Eugene Corri, stopped the contest in the 11th round and declared Lang the winner. Burns fought gamely, but was outclassed. Lang, who was the first round, apparently did not head with him. There were 7000 spectators present.

The attendance at the first day's racing of the Toronto Driving Club's winter meet was possibly the largest that has been seen for many months. The program was grand stand, larger purses, and the effect, extra good racing. This should demonstrate to the lovers of the harness horse game that some good stakes could be opened, not only for winter racing, but for our great National Exhibition, and show the Toronto meet of the former cities in the Dominion, still can command the place she should in the harness horse world.

Now, with Margot Leonard having two heads and four legs, and second and silver King no better than fourth, while Sir Jais (by Bob Fitzsimmons, 2074), a good runner, was second in the two heats, there was some little time in the race, but they were got away to a nice trot, with Margot right in her place on the pole, and Sir Jais in second. The first half mile, which was trotted in 1:15, was fairly fast, but for a trotter, the pace was not very good. The second half mile was not much better, and the race was a disappointment, as he could never get to Margot Leonard, and the mare did the always had some left, and won as she pleased in 2:27-two time.

That was the end of the race, and the driver was very popular with the harness horsemen. The second race was the 2:15 trot, with six starters. Princess Eleanor, who was owned by R. J. Patterson's Empire Stable, was the pole, and was driven by Emily Morris, driven by Nat Ray, in third place.

Buffalo Man Wins Race At St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Dec. 26.—Gus Gressel of the Alma A. C., Buffalo, won the annual Martin electric 10-mile road race, which was held this afternoon. It was one of the most interesting since the recent was commenced seven years ago. A local man, Stuart Allan, of the Athletic Lacrosse Club of this city, finished second, and put up a game fight throughout the whole 10 miles in 1:11, about three minutes slower than the record time, made in 1907 by George Adams, who this year finished third. In all there were 41 entries, and of these 37 started.

James Corkery, I. C. A. C., Toronto, and Jimmy George of Beamsville, were entered, but failed to put in an appearance.
