THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

EVIDENTLY relieved of immediate anxiety about the situation before Verdun as a result of the regaining of Fort Douaumont from the French, the enemy felt free to proceed with his offensive against Italy yesterday and so he shifted the scene of the furious fighting from the Verdun region to the Tyrol. Rome reports that violent attacks with large effectives were repulsed by Italian troops and that the Italians even gained some ground in the face of the enemy. As before Verdun the slaughter of hostile troops in the Trentino has already been enormous.

As the enemy can no longer hope to achieve the breaking of the Italian line by a surprise blow, he is apparently committed here to an offensive like the offensive before Verdun, for by this time the Italians have collected a large reserve to feed the firing line and they will hardly be beaten while they have superior numbers in the field. So unless accident intervenes the contest will be long drawn out and will perhaps cease from common exhaustion. Thus it looks as if the Austrians were attempting, like the Germans, to forestall an offensive by forcing the western allies to exhaust their accumulation of shells. But the transfer of Lloyd George from the active supervision of the British munitions industry to the study of a domestic problem suggests that department is running smoothly at last. The allies in the west should no longer suffer from lack of shell.

In such lavish use of his troops in attempting to force an early decision in the west the enemy is being lured to play into the hands of the allies. Germany and Austria-Hungary can hardly afford to sacrifice many hundreds of thousands more of their sons against an enterprising enemy, but with the men who manage the terrible Teutonic war machine, it is world power or downfall, and they are mad enough to do anything desperate to gain their ends. In the late heavy fighting before Verdun a quarter of a million men came out of their trenches and had their ranks decimated by the French machinery. Perhaps for a century Germany and Austria will suffer from the terrible losses sustained in this war.

One motive that is probably inducing the Germans to fight so strenuously in the west is the attack of Britain and Russia on Turkey. They probably believe that France and Italy may also send contingents to fight the Turk, and they figure it out that by vigorous action in the west they may force the allies to retain all the troops possible in the main theatres

Auditor-General Silent on Tip Respecting Sale of Ammunition.

ACCOUNT STILL OPEN Final Adjustment With Admiralty Has Not Yet Been Made.

OTTAWA, May 25.—Auditor-General John Fraser was closely questioned by Mr. Hutchison, a member of the government, before the Davidson commission this afternoon on his attitude in opposing the sale of ammunition.

Mr. Fraser said that despite the evidence given by Mr. Lewis, he does not think that there would have been a final adjustment of the ammunition account with the admiralty, had he still disposed of the view expressed in his letter of April 8, that the ammunition had been at an advance of 21 per cent.

"Will it surprise you to hear that some thousands of dollars will have to be paid to adjust the account?" asked Mr. Hutchison.

"Yes, I would be, unless I know where the money came from," replied Mr. Fraser. "I would be glad to hear of it, but I do not know of it."

"You have said that you had heard of some contradictory statements that were being made in his mind until some proof is forthcoming as to which is right."

"The source is secret," replied Mr. Fraser. "I would be glad to hear of it, but I do not know of it."

"What did you mean when you said that Col. Allison's name was not in the transaction did not tend to ally suspicion?"

"Just what I said," replied Mr. Fraser, "who added that he had had number of other transactions between Allison and the government to deal with."

"Profit Effected." "Are there any others to be explained?" "Perhaps," replied Mr. Fraser, "but I have not had time to do so."

"Mr. Fraser said he had had time to do so," replied Mr. Fraser. "I would be glad to hear of it, but I do not know of it."

"Carvell's Name." "Mr. Fraser, in reply to further questions said he had sent the department to get shipping bills and information, but the official of this" department who made this request was told that the minister of militia had asked for the file a day before and the file was not available. He considered that the information he had received was reliable.

"Does not the name of your informant commence with a 'C' and he has a sick wife?" asked Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Fraser did not reply to the question. The reference was evidently to F. C. Carvell, M.P., whose wife is ill at Boston.

Questioned by Mr. Dewar, Mr. Fraser stated he had been informed that 30 extra thousand had been charged against the ammunition by Vickers' representative, Mr. Sears, on freight, sitting, and other items.

"The account wasn't closed," retorted Mr. Henderson.

Straws Dineen's Panamas Hats

OUR new Straws and Panamas have arrived. The assortment is complete for the season. The advance of the summer will bring out no newer styles of Men's Hats than we are showing with this first spell of the real summer weather.

Just the average run of prices prevail at Dineen's, but every Dineen hat is worth something more than its price. It is not a case of an ordinary hat for the ordinary price. The customer always buys a better hat for the money at Dineen's. We might be privileged to say that our two-fifty hats are worth three dollars, and apply this calculation throughout the list of prices, but we make no comparisons. We are, however, the exclusive agents for high-class imported hats that cannot be matched elsewhere in Toronto.

FOUR MORE BATTALIONS PROPOSED FOR HAMILTON

Rumor Says New Overseas Units Are to Be Raised in That City.

STRIKE STILL UNSETTLED

Officials Confident That Demands of the Men Will Be Eventually Granted.

HAMILTON, Friday, May 25.—According to reliable authorities, Hamilton will be commencing to raise four more overseas battalions. While the city has already made quite a magnificent showing, statistics of the recruiting league show that there are still between 5000 and 6000 eligible men in the city, enough to complete the four units proposed.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

to confront them. But considerable bodies of German troops have been despatched to Turkey and are posted at strategic points.

The chief incident in this second battle of Verdun yesterday was the delivery of a series of violent offensive attacks by the Germans against a small sector of the front line between the Hautmont Wood and the Thiessmont Wood, north of Verdun and east of the Meuse.

In Italy and the Tyrol the chief fighting was in the Lagarino Valley and in the Dolomites. There fierce and heavy attacks were launched against Col di Buolo last night and early this morning, and they were repulsed.

The Russians announce that their troops operating in the region of Kermanshah and Kasr-i-Shirin have effected a junction with the British forces on the Tigris River below Kut-el-Amara.

On the Tigris River below Kut-el-Amara the readjustment of the Turkish line has resulted in the gaining of a point of vantage by British artillery on the right bank of the river. From that spot it has been maintaining an effective fire against the Turkish lines of communication on the left bank of the stream.

The Turks claim that they have compelled Russian forces from Persia to cease their advance on Schakin in the vicinity of the Mesopotamian frontier. This probably indicates merely a temporary halt in the operations of the Russians.

IS NO MORE WELCOME GIFT THAN PAIR OF SOX

Mrs. Edmund Phillips Warmly Thanked for Donations to Leinesters.

The following letter, received by Mrs. Edmund Phillips, from Capt. Eric Phillips, 7th Battalion, Royal Leinesters, from the Hotel Victoria, London, where he has been on eight days' leave from the trenches, after weeks of having only two hours' sleep in the twenty-four, and his battalion having been bombed, his reference to 101 men is a figure of speech, as over 2000 pairs of socks have been sent through the bank of Montreal in New York.

"Dear Mrs. Phillips: I am unable to sufficiently thank you for the 101 pairs of socks which you have so kindly sent me, but I am sure that they will be most useful to me in the trenches. I am sure that you will be proud of me when I tell you that I am the more grateful and appreciative of the trouble to which you must have been put in order to send me these socks. I am sure that you will be proud of me when I tell you that I am the more grateful and appreciative of the trouble to which you must have been put in order to send me these socks.

BORDEN IS THREATENED WITH QUEBEC'S WRATH

Premier's Stand on Bilingual Question Makes Him a Target.

OTTAWA, May 25.—As an aftermath of the discussion in parliament on the question of bilingual schools, a number of anonymous letters are being received by the premier. They are threatening in their tone, and some of them assert that if some action is not taken, even before the privy council debate the issue, the Conservative party must accept the political consequences. The Quebec electioneers cite this as an evidence of what may be expected.

FELL TO DEATH

Halifax Man and Wife Plunged Over Cliff.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 25.—Early this morning the bodies of Matthew Lawton, 50, and his wife, Halifax, were found pinned beneath an overturned carriage in the outskirts of the city. The road at the point near which the bodies were found winds along a cliff, and the supposition is that the couple had become frightened and jumped over the cliff. The couple were returning from a holiday outing at the time.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., May 25.—Four lives were lost in a fire early today which destroyed the home of Joseph Charley, aged 6, and Agnes Charley, aged 5, and their three children. The youngest child, a boy of three, was badly burned. It is thought the fire started from an overheated stove.

Uncle Bryn Won Cup Rancher Outside Money

Favorites Win Four Races On O. J. C.'s Fifth Day

CLOSE FINISHES FEATURED FIFTH DAY OVER FAST TRACK AT WOODBINE PARK

Uncle Bryn, Bendel, Savilla and Aprisa a Neck and Less—Bendel Was the Long Shot to Land.

Go. M. Handley's Galvion four-year-old, s.c. Rancher, was impressively beaten in the race yesterday at Woodbine Park for the Connaught Cup, finishing outside the money, with no excuses. Smyth did his best he could with the big colt, and even had him in front on the rail coming home. Likely the time and import accounted for Rancher's defeat. The gold cup was handed by Lieut. Ross of Montreal, who stated that Democh was the fastest of the first and chief feature.

Four favorites, Savilla, Sweet Cohen, The Masquerader and Lida Michael, Bendel was a long shot and Uncle Bryn and Aprisa second and third outside the money.

The J. K. L. Rose Stable, real live issue in the Connaught Cup, which must last year in Montreal, instead of the mantle at Woodbine, as intended. First Democh was prominent, and when the gold cup was handed to him by Lieut. Ross, he was in front on the rail coming home. Likely the time and import accounted for Rancher's defeat.

The day was ideal for racing, fine and warm, and the track fast. The attendance was up to the standard. The Street Railway, Steeleschase, the Prince of Wales Handicap and a mile handicap were the chief features on today's card.

The best paying pools of yesterday were for No. 32, Bendel to win the first, and No. 33, King Hamburg third in the second race.

Pemphina was the pacemaker in the opening event for four furlongs, when Valant and Garnet passed her, the former only finishing. Next Bendel came on the outside and shot ahead of Garnet in the second race, leading the race, strongly played favorites, was off fat, followed by Uncle Bryn and Aprisa, second and third well behind.

A big field of one short of a dozen started in the third race, and when the gold cup was handed to him by Lieut. Ross, he was in front on the rail coming home. Likely the time and import accounted for Rancher's defeat.

The Stanley Gun Club held a most successful tournament on Victoria Day, the program consisting of 10 events of 15 targets each, 25 pairs of doubles, a long-range trophy, a merchandise event over the tower trap and a consolation prize of a handsome silver tea service donated by the Canadian Indians. The weather was ideal and some good scores were made, 41 stragles of 15 targets being made in the regular events of 15 targets. Messrs. Ely, Joslin and Jennings broke five straight of 15 each. Joslin and Jennings were tied for first and the prize was divided between them. The scores in this event were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Score. Includes names like N. Long, C. Schumacher, C. Harrison, M. Hughes, etc.

In this event six of the competitors cleared over nine feet, which is certainly a great showing. L. Burns was there with his great spring, he clearing over ten feet.

As usual, every man on the field tried this event, with the following result: R. Pierce, 7' 2"; D. Kettlewell, scratch, 34 3/4"; B. D. Hines, 7' 2"; C. Worley, 7' 2"; R. Scrimm, 7' 2"; A. Patterson, 7' 2"; W. Swartman, 7' 2"; A. Marrow, 7' 2";

Rails Lose Speculative Interest While Munitions Advance.

READING FALLS AGAIN Bethlehem Steel Leads 'War Brides' in Extent of Rise.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Transfer of speculative interest from investments to specialties assumed well defined proportions today, leading rails extending their declines, while munitions, shipping shares and miscellaneous stocks were generally active, but with few notable movements of the day.

Bethlehem Steel led the 'war brides' in extent of gain, showing more than its usual activity on advance of 1 1/2 points to 45 1/2.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

DON'T FAIL TO EAT AS YOU HOUSECLEAN

Regular Meals Is Even More Necessary at Such Times Than at Others.

CARELESSNESS IS TIRING Much Fatigue During Spring Work Is Caused by Want of Good Food.

A GOOD deal of the fatigue of housecleaning is caused by want of food. Many women get indifferent to a meal that has to be prepared for themselves alone, so they satisfy their appetites with a cup of tea or coffee. If anything that is left over, perhaps a bit of pie or bread and butter, snatched standing at the kitchen table. Then, when the family comes in, there is no regular meal to be had; and the mother is cross, worn out, and the whole atmosphere is storm-torn.

How much better it would be if the housewife would prepare her plan of campaign a few days ahead and see that the necessities are well provided, even a bit better stocked than usual, for these cleaning days are full of stress and labor. Not long ago I heard of a wise woman who made of the spring and autumn cleanings a festival, when the family had a special picnic, at which the favorite dishes were served, provided that they were of a kind that could be cooked ahead of time. Then there was a special stock of cookies and fruit laid in, and the father and children were consulted beforehand as to the changes to be made in the furnishings and decorations, and the whole business chattered over, not as if it was a loathsome, dreary, dusty duty, but as a chance to make over and brighten up and give pleasure all round.

We do not require to be erudite psychologists to see how that suggestion of pleasure in the undertaking made it go much more smoothly and every one—husband, children, which the upheaval was to come a breakfast that required little or no cooking with some lemon meringue, cereal, fruit, daintily sliced cold meat, rolls that were just reheated in the oven and coffee. The children's luncheon had been prepared the night before and with them in a luncheon for the mother; so there was practically no time to be lost in the early part of the day and yet there was an attractive meal.

Here is a menu that could be served with very little trouble and would be suitable after the strenuous day:

- Soup (any canned variety preferred).
- French Chicken Pot.
- Stringed Beans.
- Potato Loaf.
- Spinach.
- Strawberry Bayou.
- Small Cakes.
- Coffee.

For the French chicken pot you can use either a casserole or the fireless cooker. I had better give the directions for the use of the latter, as there seems to be some difficulty about it, while everyone who has a cooker can manage to adapt any recipe to its kindly instructions.

Put the chicken, trussed and prepared for boiling, breast downward into a large casserole; add the cleaned giblets, a pint of cold water, scraped and cleaned carrot, a small onion, a blade of mace and salt, cover closely and cook very gently for two hours, when the fowl will be quite tender.

Remove from the casserole and cut the bird into joints; arrange on a platter and replace together with the pieces of chicken. Light up an egg croquet and in the liquor about five minutes before serving, and the last thing before sending it to the table sprinkle in a tablespoonful of capers or of very finely chopped parsley.

The stringed beans can be cooked the day before and then, when required, reheat in the butter and a tablespoonful of water. Melt the butter, then stir in about an equal quantity of cream; heat, add the beans and stand them in the steam of the dish of boiling water on the stove so as to get really hot all thru.

Potato loaf can be altogether prepared the day before, and just heated up in the oven; for if you will require:

- Cold potatoes, one small onion, parsley and thyme, salt and pepper, butter or dripping.
- Mash the potatoes, boil the onion for 15 minutes; strain the onion together with the parsley and thyme. Melt the butter or dripping and mix all together, add salt and pepper. Heap on a baking tin, making an oblong mound, score with a fork and brush over with beaten egg. Bake until quite hot and brown on the outside, then slip on to a clean hot dish and serve.

FOR the bavarole you will need the following ingredients—One envelope gelatine, 1/2 cup cold water, yolks of eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 pint cream, 1/2 box strawberries, 1 pint milk.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water for five minutes, heat the milk. Mix the sugar and yolks of egg and add to the milk; stir until the mixture begins to thicken; then add the gelatine, stir until dissolved and then set aside to cool. Hull, wash, drain well, and mash the strawberries; rub them thru a sieve and mix with the cream. When the gelatine is cold and beginning to set add the strawberries and cream mixture in and put all into a mold lined with lady fingers, or strips of cold bread and butter, and chill in a refrigerator until firm on a glass dish and serve.

There are all kinds of small cakes, from very simple to a fine affair, served in little cases, to the plain old-fashioned cookies and one and all are good things to have on hand so as to make the strawberries and cream mixture in and put all into a mold lined with lady fingers, or strips of cold bread and butter, and chill in a refrigerator until firm on a glass dish and serve.

There are all kinds of small cakes, from very simple to a fine affair, served in little cases, to the plain old-fashioned cookies and one and all are good things to have on hand so as to make the strawberries and cream mixture in and put all into a mold lined with lady fingers, or strips of cold bread and butter, and chill in a refrigerator until firm on a glass dish and serve.

THE following is an old recipe and given for rather a larger quantity than most of the modern household require, but it is easy to halve or quarter:

Cream together 1 pound butter and 1/2 pound powdered sugar; then add 1 1/2 pound fine patent flour and eggs alternately, beating well between each addition. Lastly add 1/2 pound of guest done and pickled currants and the grated rind of one-half of a lemon. Bake in small tins in a fairly hot oven.

These French biscuits are extremely good, but a little troublesome to make. The recipe is taken from a very old cookery book of the last century.

Beat the yolks of three eggs, the weight of the eggs in flour, and equal quantity of powdered sugar; one ounce lemon peel, 9 eggs, Beat the whites of the egg to a stiff froth and then whip in the candied peel, chopped very extra finely; then add the yolks, beat in the sifted flour and sugar and lastly slip in the yolks of the eggs. Blend all together with a wooden spoon, then shape the biscuits with the spoon, drop them on a greased paper, shake some confectioner's sugar over them and bake in a very slow oven.

CANADIAN GIRL WIN SENIOR SCHOLARSHIPS

At the graduating exercises of the Johns Hopkins Training School for Nurses the senior year scholarship to pursue post-graduate study and spend a year in the Johns Hopkins Hospital or at the Teachers' College, New York, was awarded to Miss Lillian M. Hudson of Lyn, Ont.

Other Canadiana who graduated were: Miss Barbara Ross of Toronto, Miss Olive M. Hissie of Sarnia, Ont., Miss Mary F. Ross of Wyoming, Ont.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S WORK.

Red Cross workers of the Central Methodist Church, Bloor street, report a most successful year's work, having made and forwarded the following: 245 hospital shirts, 127 sheets, 70 pillow slips, 54 towels, 121 pairs socks, 1 pneumonia jacket, 69 bandages, 210 wash cloths, 3 Balacava caps, 100 lined Christmas stockings, 25 pairs wristlets, 20 scarfs, 49 pairs bed socks, 1 cholera belt, 8 pairs bedroom slippers, 135 insect arresters, 25 dressing gowns, 100 military bags, pyjama suits, totaling $955 articles. Cash receipts for purchasing raw material, $172.25; on hand, $1188.98; balance on hand, $284.35.

FORMER LEAP YEAR BABIES.

In 1904 The Toronto World inaugurated the presentation of a birthday mug to all babies born in Ontario on Feb. 29. The offer was repeated in 1908, again in 1912, and again in 1916. In this week's issue of The Sunday World there appears a group view of a number of leap year babies born previous to this year. These children are unique in that they have real birthday but once every four years, and for that reason their pictures will appear in this week's Sunday World.

Under each portrait are the name and address and the whole is assembled in an artistic layout. Never before, perhaps, has a similar picture appeared in a newspaper. See it in The Sunday World.

GRAVEST OF CRIMES

Baron Reading Emphasizes Seriousness—Counsel for Casement Are Nominated.

LONDON, May 25.—Sir Roger Casement and Daniel Bailey, his soldier confederate, were today indicted for high treason by a grand jury after a brief consideration of the evidence in their preliminary hearing.

In charging the grand jury, the Lord Chief Justice, Baron Reading, declared that high treason was "the gravest crime against English law." He directed careful consideration of the testimony presented at the Bow Street Police Court hearing, connecting the two conspirators with the Irish rebellion.

In explaining the law to the jury, the judge stated it was necessary to show that the defendants were guilty of the crime charged. He stated that Casement, as it stood, had six overt acts were mentioned.

The court nominated Arthur Sullivan of Dublin, and Artemus Jones, who appeared for the defence at the preliminary hearing, as counsel for Casement. It is understood that Professor J. H. Morgan, who took part in the defence at the preliminary hearing, also will appear, but under the statute only two attorneys can be nominated.

The jury also will appear for Bailey. The trial was fixed for June 26.

Dublin Little Interested. The Dublin press is not so much interested in the trial of Sir Roger Casement both in political and general circles. Casement was almost entirely unknown here before the war. Since then vague reports of his activities in Germany have been all that have reached the Irish public in spite of the fact that he was in touch with the leaders of the rebellion.

As an element in Irish politics, Casement had no existence. The impression of the secretaries of the Sinn Fein revolt, both in England and abroad, is not quite understood in this country.

ITALIANS WILL LAUNCH COUNTER-OFFENSIVE

Authorities Have Taken Necessary Steps for Defence.

ROME, May 25.—"The situation on the front along the high plateau of Arsoero will remain, but it is not alarming," says a semi-official announcement issued here today concerning the Austro-Hungarian attempt to widen the only line occupied on Italian territory.

The Italian authorities, it is added, have taken all necessary measures to prevent a further Austrian advance and are organizing a counter-offensive.

The civilian population which evacuated the districts of Arsoero and Alassio and the smaller neighboring villages is being taken care of by the government.

TWO WOMEN SERVING ON WINNIPEG SCHOOL BOARD

Mrs. Hample, Latest Successful Candidate, Defeated Two Men Opponents.

Winnipeg has now two women serving on its school board. Mrs. A. G. Hample is the name of the first successful candidate, who in an election of a few days ago defeated two men opponents, leading the poll by a majority of 242 votes. The votes of the three candidates with Mrs. Hample leading were 470, 228 and 197.

The successful woman candidate, in all but one vote, was supported by a number of women, who comprised a large portion of the vote. In fact, an agreement such as that between the candidates working hard for the honor.

M. J. Dixon, M.L.A., said that the women of Winnipeg were to be congratulated on the part they were playing in civic politics, and a hard-working supporter of Mrs. Hample, who took part in the election, said that nothing else while she is serving on the school board. The other woman trustee, Mrs. J. K. Brown, was elected at the last regular election.

CHUMMIE HILL A SUCCESS IN THE CHICKEN BUSINESS

The World has received a hen's egg, Plymouth Rock, which measures four inches long, the circumference being six inches.

Mr. Charles F. Hill says that it is the largest he has received from a hen, although they run always a good size. Hill, or "Chummie," as he is known to his friends, is able to do as well in the chicken line as in sports, in addition to his duties as manager of the Curtice Silk Co.

The dream of the suffragist has come true, as the pictures on the front page of this week's Illustrated section of The Sunday World will prove. There is a series of pictures showing women engaged in what was formerly exclusively men's employment, depicting a woman taking care of a ponderous machine; others in the uniform of private freemen, also as motor bus conductors, chauffeurs and farm workers. This week's Sunday World is for sale by all newsdealers everywhere at 2c a copy.

LLOYD GEORGE TO ACT AS MEDIATOR

Premier Asquith Appeals for Settlement of the Irish Question.

MUST BANISH STRIFE

Ireland's Loyalty as Whole Must Be Recognized by Empire.

not go into the conversations which were taking place between the members of the government and the Irish leaders, as they had not advanced far enough to be made public, he began by expressing the hope that the disappearance of martial law would be speedy and complete.

Referring to the sacrifices that Irishmen had made in behalf of the British Empire during the present war, Mr. Asquith said:

"Could we who represent Great Britain, or could they who represent Ireland, tolerate the prospect that when this war was over and when we had by our joint efforts and sacrifices—achieved our end and that here at home Irishmen should be arrayed against one another in the most bitter—internecine domestic strife? I say to the house of commons, to the country and to the empire that the thought is inconceivable. It can never be for it would mean confession of bankruptcy, not only of statesmanship, but of patriotism."

Hopes For Agreement. Referring to the home rule bill, Mr. Asquith said: "No one so far as I know has ever desired or contemplated the coercive application by one set of Irishmen against another. What is now in this great and domestic emergency of paramount importance is that if it be possible—and I hope it is possible—an agreement such as we thought in vain before the war should be arrived at between those representing different interests and parties in Ireland."

I believe, as I have already said, that in Ireland itself there is a deep and genuine desire to obtain such an agreement. The government—I speak for all my colleagues, and some of us, be it remembered in the past have taken the most diverse possible views in regard to the question of Irish government—are anxious and more than anxious to do everything in their power to facilitate such results.

Lloyd George Willing. "At the unanimous request of his colleagues, Mr. Lloyd George has undertaken to devote his time, his energy and his power to promotion of that result. He already has put himself in communication with the authorized representatives and exponents of the views of the different Irish parties, and if there be, as I believe there is, among the Irishmen no less than among the people of Great Britain, an honest and resolute desire to take advantage of this opportunity for the attainment of that which to us as a nation and as an empire, I do not hesitate to say is the greatest boon that we could possibly achieve, we cannot but hope that Lloyd George's mission of peace, reconciliation, and, if possible, unity, will not only carry with it the good wishes and ardent hopes of all members in every quarter of the house, but something more—the belief that such a result can, and ought to be attained.

Restore Order First. The premier said that the primary duty of the government was to restore order and prevent recurrence of the disturbances. At the same time there was cause for rejoicing in the overwhelming evidence that the great bulk of the Irish nation had no sympathy with the rebellion. Martial law was being continued as a precautionary measure, and Mr. Asquith hoped its disappearance would be speedy and complete.

For the time being the composition of the Irish executive must be provisional, Mr. Asquith said. He feared that debate at this moment might create an atmosphere unfavorable to the appeal he and his colleagues unanimously felt it was their duty to make.

Machinery Broken Down. "I went to Ireland to get a first-hand view of the situation," Mr. Asquith went on. "I visited and talked with a large number of those who have been arrested, and who were two main predominant impressions left in my mind: first, the breakdown of the executive machinery of the Irish Government; second, the strength, depth and universality of feeling in Ireland that we have now a unique opportunity for a new departure, for a settlement of the problem, tending desolation which unhappy and misguided men had sent out over a large area near Dublin, and I had full discussion with representative exponents of all schools of Irish opinion."

Redmond Disappointed. After the premier had concluded his speech, Mr. Redmond said that Mr. Asquith's solemn appeal that there should be silence even on military affairs in Ireland was a very severe test for him and his colleagues. He asserted things were going on in Ireland which they thought in ordinary circumstances ought to be discussed at the earliest possible moment. Nevertheless, he regarded the pro-

These pictures are unique for the reason that these children have but one real birthday every four years, viz. February 29th, and that it is probably the first time in history that a similar group were ever gotten together. They will occupy almost two pages of the art section. er's appeal as a test of the genuineness of their desire for a settlement of this problem, and he could not take the responsibility of not responding to it. All he could say further, was that if this new step on the part of the government—placed as it was in such a delicate and energetic hands—failed, he hoped and prayed it might not, the fault would not lie on any unreasonable conduct or action of his colleagues and himself.

Carson Also Willing. Speaking for the Independent Nationalists, Mr. O'Brien said he also felt he must bow to the appeal for silence, although he believed there would be profound disappointment in Ireland of this proceeding, as a proof of the continuance of the policy of organized suppression of free speech, which was responsible for three-fourths of the Irish struggle.

Sir Edward Carson expressed his readiness to respond to the appeal of the premier. Mr. Ginnell attempted to continue the discussion, but the speaker called the orders of the day.

Athletic Games for Women That May Make for Beauty

BY DR. LEONARD KERN HILSBURG

BEAUTY is both a result and a pursuit. Without health, it is only a temporary visitation...

Various Beneficial Games. One of the simple ways to court the gods of health is to help the teachers at the various playgrounds and school yards.

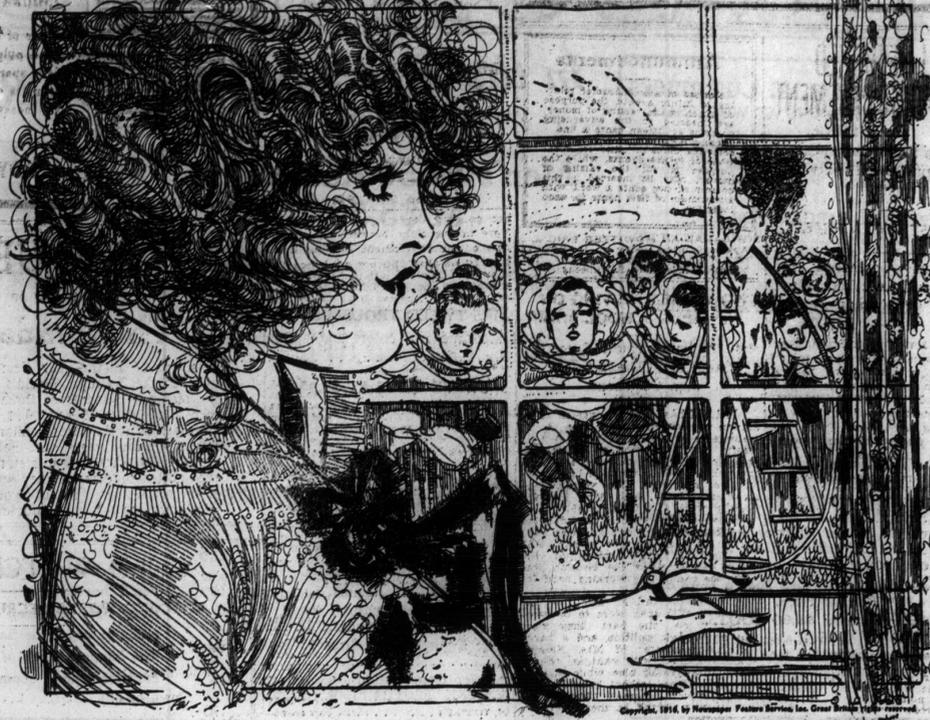

Rowing in a boat on a park lake, riding a bicycle or a horse, rumping in the country, sailing a small boat, driving a motor car, or especially track athletics all send the rich, red blood into the face.

Outdoor sports and games for women are unappreciated and unpopular. There is an unaccountable prejudice against track and field athletics for women, which, if it does not mar, diminishes the pleasure and beauty from manifesting the presence of Dr. Harry E. Stewart of Washington says that a proper stride in walking is an excellent exercise for women.

The running broad jump is also a good exercise for women. It must be remembered that the broad jump distance is obtained by a high jump sustained by the speed of a fast apron.

Other jumping exercises. The use of the arms to assist in raising the body in the air and in the body should be in a strong position with the feet well in front and with the knees well drawn up and kept up until you land on your feet.

CUPID'S GARDEN By Will Nies

It's only a short mental step from building an air castle surrounded by a wonderful garden, to imagining that garden filled with flowers, every one wearing a fanciful face. Of course, just what each PARTICULAR face will be depends—it depends on precisely as many different things as there are different thoughts and different wishes in the world.

But one thing is sure—the faces in your garden of dreams will be those that YOU love.

Little Stories Told in Homely Rhyme

The Dear Old Ash Can. I'm a young girl of 16, and have been in the habit of meeting a certain young man after he closes up his shop in the evening...

ADVICE TO GIRLS BY ANNIE LAURIE.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a young girl of 16, and have been in the habit of meeting a certain young man after he closes up his shop in the evening...

NELLIE: If this young man seems so willing to cancel his engagement with another girl, how are you to know that some day—very soon, perhaps—he might not grow tired of you and wish to cancel your engagement, too?

But whether it is this man or some other man, don't you think it would be much better not to wait for him at his shop, or even near his shop, in the evening? Why don't you ask him to call for you at your home?

LITTLE PET: How can you be in love with a "fellow" who don't you learn to say "young man" or "boy" whichever he is—whom you have never met? You know nothing at all about him, and it may be that he is just the sort of young man who never could make you happy even for a moment.

The first thing you should do is to make up your mind to put all thoughts of love away until you have grown old enough to receive your mother's permission to see your gentleman in person.

SOME ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS. Iris Blue: I did write an article on this subject some couple of weeks ago, and I am sorry to say it is impossible to repeat. Look thru the files in the office and you will discover the talk in question.

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D.

Fuzzy-headed Ageratum. Ageratum is one of the most annuals that anyone can plant in the garden. There are two varieties, the tall-growing sort, and the dwarf variety, quite frequently used as a border plant.

The first variety will grow as high as two feet, given suitable soil, weekly cultivating plenty of watering and a modicum of sun. While it is not by any means a shade-lover, it will do fairly well in shady corners.

The blossoms are a soft gray-blue, not lavender, not pale blue, not blue, but a gray-blue. They come out in "lout sprays" taken into the house for vases and the like will last without withering for many days, and when they do wither, they throw old gracefully. In the garden the blossoms are almost perpetual. Early May finds the plant sending out flowers, if you manage to transplant your seedlings soon enough, and late November finds the thick, compact plants covered with gray-blue. Not until the frosts have become quite hard will the plant decide to stop for the year.

This long blooming and late blooming habit makes Ageratum a most desirable plant, since we have not too many that prolong their flower time into the frosts. And everyone knows how hard it is to search thru dismantled beds and find never a blossom left from summer's work.

Several of my gardeners have told me that they have taken up the smallest specimens they could find, potted it and kept it in bloom until Christmas time. This I can well believe, because the plant is most loath to die.

Mary B., Spadina avenue: There was a short talk on the plant some days ago. The botanical name is Tradescantia virginiana, and the blossoms are three-petaled and royal blue.

Rose Rambler: The same question was asked me a day or two ago. There is no reason that I know of for your rambler dying down to the root, if you gave it a little protection. Well-rooted specimens—and you say yours is three years old—should send out new canes early each summer, and these you must not cut down if you desire many blossoms the succeeding year. Did you cut down those new canes? If you did not do so this year, your root may send up a couple of new canes in a few weeks, and would not decide to soon that the rose is really dead. Wait a while.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S STORY By ROSE WILDER LANE.

(Continued From Yesterday.) My tired little legs would hardly hold me up, and I stumbled in the steps. Unhappily, my feet were so sore that I did my best, panting with fear, and I could not dance. I stopped at last, and I heard against the door, and I reached for me, but as I struck back it was the barmaid, who held me, and after one look at her red cheeks, so bright as a sun, I began to cry. "Poor little dear, 'e's tired," she said, and she led me to Mr. Hawkins. "He shall have his bread and cheese and non-dancing."

CHAPTER V. In which he has an adventure with a cow, becomes a lawless fighter, of brandy-snaps, and confuses and humiliates an old farmer. I ran for a long time in the darkness, blindly not caring where I went, only that I should get away from Mr. Hawkins. The pounding of my heart and the plunging across fields and scrambled under gates in my mad flight, had no strength to go farther. I curled myself up as small a space as possible, close to the hedge, and lay there. It seemed to me that I was hidden and safe, and I was quite content as I went to sleep. Early in the morning I was awakened

Questions and Answers

WILSON: Would you publish Charlie Chaplin's birthday, giving day, month and year? Ans: First, Wilson, Mr. Chaplin has distinctively no birthday, giving day, month and year. He is a comedian, and he objects to being called Charlie, and that "Charlie" is his proper designation. He has never told us his birthday, although he turned 26 years old this spring.
