Wilfrid Said to Be Anxious to Have Ex-M.P. Resume His Former . Support.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.-(Special.)-What will be done with Henri Bourassa? exmember of the house of commons for Labelle, is a question that is much discussed in the lobbies these days.

The election in Labelle to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Bourassa's resignation to contest the Bellechasse by-election in opposition to Hon. Adelard Turgeon, a member of the Quebec Government, will be held on Dec. 30, and friends of the government and Mr. Bourassa are exerting themselves to bring the late member for Labelle back into the fold. It is even said that a conference was held in the office of the chief Liberal whip a few days ago and that Mr. Bourassa's terms were presented. Just what they are is not told, but on the government side there is a belief that a past was entered into to present Mr. Bourassa with his old seat and eventually a seat in the cabinet. The trouble, however, is to conform Bourassa's independent opin ions to the policy of the government wise enough to recognize Labelle's ex-member as a strong force in Quebec politics. No one believes the triumph of Turgeon over Bourassa in Bellechasse has extinguished the light of Sir Wilfrid's geon over Bourassa in Benedick Wilfrid's extinguished the light of Sir Wilfrid's extinguished the light of Sir Wilfrid's former supporter. Go into Quebec and you will find a tremendous sentiment favoring Bourassa and should be choose favoring Bourassa win a place in provincial affairs.

> 3d-To infuse into the men of the congregations the principle of giving towards the support of missions.

In Toronto, it is intended to raise a fund of $500,000, and it is hoped to interest those who do not generally take a part in such movements, not because they are selfish, but because they do not understand the great necessity of missionaries and their tremendous undertaking. It is partly to get these men interested that the movement is on foot. In the past the missions in foreign fields and in the Northwest have been supported almost entirely by Sunday schools and women. Now it is the aim to try and reverse things, and have the men become interested in the work, and perhaps some of the money that to-day is frivolously spent will find its way into the better cause.

To-day special meetings will be held, as follows: University Convocation Hall, 3 p.m.

Association Hall, 4.15. Parkdale Presbyterian Church, Dunn-avenue, 4.15.

St. Matthew's Anglican Church, First-avenue, 4.15. In the churches, special references will be made to the campaign. while, at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Bloor-street, Silas McBee of New York, editor of The Churchman, will give an address at 11 a. m.; and at St. James'-square Presbyterian Church, at 7 p. m., J. About forty per cent. of the entombed men are Americans.

All hope is gone that any of the men are still alive. Nearly 400 coffins reached Monongah to-day from Pittsburg and from West Virginal cities.

While only sixteen bodies have been recovered or brought out of the mine, with that over 75 bodies have been located.

C. W. Waston, president of the Consolidated Coal Company, said to-day:

"The accident was entirely unexpected. As yet we do not know the exact cause of the explosion, It might have resulted from a blown out shot igniting a pocket of gas. About 56 per cent. of the mine accidents of the country are caused in this manner. It is probable the present one resulted from the same cause. We will conduct a rigid investigation. Investigations, however, will not benefit the dead miners. Their families will be looked after. The company will bury all the dead."

All saloons in Monongah have been closed since the explosion, and the 6000 miners employed in other mines after the vicinity have suspended work and tendered their assistance to rescuing parties.

There are between 5000 and 5000 in habitants in the mining fown of Mcnongah, and it is doubtful if in this entire nonulation there are a score.

American state legislation has the qualities of its faults: that is, it is fantastic and experimental. No sane person who had ever been touched with the conception of political science as distinguished from electioneering and lobbying, would do the things that the states' legislatures do quite light-heartedly. And the very craziest of all their escapades is their present attempt to make the operations of a trust criminal.

Well, one morning I started, if possible, to find a moose. As I said, I was anxious to get one. The guide went with me until we struck a trail. It is only the experienced woodman and hunter who is able to say how old a track in the snow is, and so make a fairly correct guess how far a walking moose may be away.

"I made a good shot at one of the red deer I got. I paced it off and found I had brought it down at 207 yards with my 33-30 Winchester. We saw a good many deer and numerous trails. They were generally in pairs—as it is too early in the season for herding, or parking, as it is called. That is when they gather in herds for mutual help in breaking trails thru the snow, and probably for mutual defence. Bears SOME EDUCATED LIMERICKS.

BRIDGEBURG DEMANDS

International Bridge Company No Living Up to the Terms of Its Charter.

Bridgeburg, Ont., has lost patience with the International Bridge Company and the board of trade has sent to parliament, thru W. M. German, M.P., a request that the company be forced to show cause why they should not lose their charter. The question of the "dummy service" across the bridge has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the Grand Trunk and the Ontario Railway Commission.

The railway commissioners, however, after about three or four weeks' waiting, came to the conclusion that this was a case that was "out of their jurisdiction," inasmuch as it was a bridge company case, and, of course, they were purely "railway," and so the matter was stelved and the Grand Trunk

To show, however, that they were a little on the anxious seat during the progress of this controversy, it may be said that Bridgeburg was told by one of the G.T.R. officials, to make a long story short: "If you stop bringing this before the commissioners we will allow you to use your 'dummy' tickets on

On April 16, 1906, the council, board of trade and citizens generally met the G.T.R. representatives, Messrs. Cowan and Donald, with reference to a better "dummy" service. They heard Bridgeburg's complaint and promised to give an answer at an early date. To this day nothing has been heard from them. Grand Trunk's Statement.

The Grand Trunk, in its reply to the The Grand Trunk, in its reply to the railway commission, said, in part:
The International Bridge Company was incorporated in the year 1857, legislation to that end having been passed concurrently by the assembly of the State of New York and the legislative council and assembly of the late Province of Canada.

While it is true that the act provided that the bridge should be constructed as well for the passage of persons on foot and in carriages, as for the pas-sage of railway trains, the American act imposes no obligation in this respect, being simply permissive, and providing that the bridge might be so constructed. As no passage for foot constructed. As no passage for foot passengers or carriages was furnished, proceedings were instituted against the Bridge Company to enforce what was considered to be the requirements of its charter, and in 1881 the court of appeal for Ontario held that the court could not interfere, stating, among other reasons, that as the bridge extended beyond the limits of the province, only a part being therein, it would be unavailing for the court to give the public the right to pass over give the public the right to pass over that part of the bridge only which was within its jurisdiction.

Notwithstanding that there was no obligation to do so, the Grand Trunk has some time provided for the con-venience of the residents of Bridgeburg what is known as the "dummy service" across the bridge, charging only a rate sufficient to pay the expenses of operasufficient to pay the expenses of opera-tion and reasonable profit. On account of the great and constantly increasing traffic over the bridge, this "dummy service" has always been a source of great inconvenience and danger, and, as a fact, notwithstanding the precau-tions taken accidents have secured as tions taken, accidents have occurred on more than one occasion. At the present time several actions are pending against the Grand Trunk as the result of an accident which occurred a short time ago. What Bridgeburg Says.

The contention of the Bridgeburg Board of Trade is, in part, as follows: While the International Bridge Company is not given the power to operate the trains across the bridge, we main-tain that the International Bridge Company and the Grand Trunk Railway Company are virtually the same company, the same directors of the Interna-tional Bridge Company being with the Grand Trunk Railway Company. Section 14 of their charter, which I have before me, says: "The said bridge shall be as well for the passage of per-sons ON FOOT AND IN CARRIAGES

AND OTHERWISE AS FOR THE PAS. SAGE OF RAILWAY TRAINS, etc."
The International Bridge Company's position as we understand it is this: That notwithstanding that their charter calls for the performance of certain works beyond the boundaries of Can-ada, any order made by the court of your board of railway commissioners for compliance with terms of the charter beyond the boundaries of Canada could not be enforced.

Our position is this: That having accepted a charter they are bound by the terms of it to give or provide for the use of the bridge by passengers on foot, in carriages and otherwise. If the additional 'dummy service' asked for "would seriously interfere with the traffic," "would not compensate the company," "would be a source of great inconvenience to the company as well as dangerous," might we not then ask that this company be compelled to build their bridge according to the requirements of their charter? While the company's solicitor says that "fifteen to twenty-five passenger trains daily cross the bridge," which is true, the return fare across the bridge on these trains is 40c, half of which amount goes to the International Bridge Company, and the other half to the carrying railroad. Here we are with a population of 2000 o'clock we have no way of getting to and from Buffalo. This matter has re-peatedly been brought to the attention of the Grand Trunk Railway authorities, and while they have as repeatedly promised to give it their attention we have never had from them four proper hearings of our case.

Therefore, Bridgeburg says: Live up to the requirements of the charter and give us simply what we ask, viz., a amy service of every half hour during the day, commencing at 6 a.m., and hour after 7 p.m. till 12 p.m., Sunday included.

The marriage of Miss Irene Cameron, second daughter of the late Mr. Alexander Cameron of Collingwood, and Mrs. Cameron of Yorkville-avenue, to Mr. William Victor Clark of Carlawavenue, took place at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon very quietly at the mother's residence. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. Neil, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, under a wedding bell of chrysantherums, and smilax. The wedding huarches were played by Mrs. E. Milton Pedwell of Thornbury. The bride, who was unattended, was brought in and given away by her brother, Mr. Ewen Cameron, and was attired in ivory silk crepe de chene, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bridal bouquet of roses. Mr. Percy R. Brunskill was best man. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Clark left to spend their honeymoon across the line, the bride traveling in purple broadcloth smartly tailored and mink hat and furs. On their return they will take up their residence at 256 Havelock-street.

The Sweetes: Canadian Tale of Christmas

By the author of "St. Cuthbert's" and "The Undertow"-acknowledged the greatest master of tenderness and pathos among Canadian writers-shows the author at his best-in drawing character and painting life in the colors of tender love and pathos.

Robert E. Knowles' The Dawn at Shanty Bay

Like George Eliot's "Silas Marner"

it is a tale of how a strong man was "redeemed" by a little child.

Grips the Heart and Imagination with singular power, and if it brings the tears, in the end it dries the eyes with its delightful pictures of a home where love shines like the sun.

Sweetest Christmas Tale

vet written - short and simple as Dickens' "Christmas Carol," but eloquent and powerful.

Brief, accurate and complete reports of the daily happenings all over the world, and particularly of the Dominion of Canada, are found in its columns.

The sporting columns are recognized amongst athletes and pleasure-loving citizens as the any, and the superior in many respects of any other Canadian newspaper. The women of the household will be interested in the Woman's Magazine Section, which appears every morning and is edited by one of their sex in the person of Miss Laura E. Mc-Cully. The latest fashions and a pattern department are run in connection with this section, and the many thousands of women who avail themselves of the advantages offered demonstrates the popularity that has been achieved since it was introduced.

Politicians and Men of Affairs look for The Morning World as regularly as they take their breakfast. The out-of-the-ordinary view of public affairs, crisp and sometimes caustic criticism of the doings and the attitude of those in high places appeal to them.

The Dominion Parliament is now in session and the local legislature will meet in a few weeks. Good citizens who have the interests of their country at heart will be interested in the doings of both houses.

No medium will give a fairer, fuller or more independent report than The Toronto World, and this newspaper will be delivered to any address in the city or suburbs, or will be mailed on the first train each morning to outof-town readers, or can be obtained from any Newsboy, News Agent, and on all Railway Trains; and the price is only 25c per month, or 1c per copy.

Key Harbor, Ontario, Has Every Prospect of Becoming a Busy Port.

the freeze-up, the building of the ore docks, which are to be the foundation of the port, and from which the product of the Moose Mountain mines will be shipped to Cleveland and other American ports. The mines, thirty miles north of Sudbury, are already piling up ore for shipment as soon as the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway is able to carry it. The strong position of the Moose Mountain ore, owing to its high percentage of iron, is improved by the location of the mines. They are about the same distance from navigable water as the iron ranges back of Duluth, but are over five hundred miles nearer coal and smelters than Duluth will ever be.

The government steamer Bayfield has about completed the survey work for the harbor and its approaches. The entrance from Georgian Bay will be quite simple, only four ranges for the guidance of vessels being necessary, the last running straight into the dock. The buoys and lights are ready to be placed in position.

The six miles of grading from the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway, three miles south of French River, are almost finished, and the building at this end of a mile-long trestle will be begun immediately, on which trainloads of ore will be elevated, so that their contents may be dumped into pockets and transferred to a rubber belt conveyor running thru a tunnel cut out of the rock, and then elevated on another belt to a trestle skry feet above water level, where it will be held ready to be shot into the steamers lying alongside. The capacity of the dock plant will be 8000 tons per day of ten hours. The power-house is almost finished. Coal docks must also be built, and the transhipment of mineral alone must make Key Harbor a port of considerable magniture within a short time; and immediately the Canadian Northern connection with Ottawa is completed it will be the entrepot for all the Canadian Northern direct traffic between tide water and the west.

At the dock side there is 24 feet of water—more thim sufficient to carry the largest boats on the lakes, fo

The 43 Methodist congregations in the city and suburbs are aiming at doubling, at the very least, their last year's contributions. Some of these congregations, and the Metropolitan and Sherbournestreet Churches in particular, have undertaken to give $10,000 each. The Metropolitan last year contributed $4552, and Sherbourne-street $5348, while all the Methodist churches in Toronto gave to this fund last year something under $41,-000, and, as several outside congregations are included in this list, the total for the city will be about $40,000. Doubling this sum means, of course, $80,000; but if $125,-000 were considered to be a fair allotment to the Methodist body of the proposed half-million fund, it is clear that their gifts must be trebled. HE enormous price reductions we made on Men's Suits, Overcoats, Shoes, Furnishings, Hats, etc., have attracted the public of Toronto and surrounding country from all sides, and we were literally taken off our feet by the crowd of patrons which swept through our establishment since opening day of our $15,000 money-raising sale. A great many came from a distance of more than forty miles from Toronto. The overwhelming success of the opening day of our money-raising sacrifice sale so greatly exceeded our expectations that we have again had to double our force of sales people in order to wait upon the crowds.

There was a rumor on the street that our competitors had clubbed together and raised $15,000 for our use, with the understanding that we stop the sacrifice sale at once and not demoralize prices and profits right in the height of the season. We wish to say to the public and all who know us, that our word is as good as our bond, that we will not call the sale off until we have raised the desired $15,000 whether our competitors like it or not, it is our own loss and none of their mix, we own our own merchandise, and if we propose to sell it at half price to the public, that's our privilege. At the way the people carried away the suits and overcoats, underwear, hats, etc., since the opening day we expect to raise the desired amount of cash inside of ten days time. Every advertisement will be lived up to in every particular as we propose to remain in business after the sale is over and conduct our business on the same honorable basis that we have for past years. We have been told by our business associates that we are making a courageous effort, but what is courage, and what is loss to a man or merchant when he must realize a large sum of money quickly? This, in a nutshell, is why we are willing to sell $25,000 worth of clothing in order to raise $15,000, which we are forced to do inside of ten days time. While our loss is great quick action was absolutely necessary, and we have cut the clothing down to the lowest limit in order to sell the goods quickly. Extra sales people have been engaged and we hope to be able to serve all promptly.

Yours very truly,

To him, are perhaps best glimpsed in the following interview with the blind naturalist:

"It has seemed to me that the most impressive facts in the storehouse of nature are perceived or felt rather than seen with the eyes. Any farmer, for example, might have seen the flight of Rryant on that autumn afternoon, but only a poet could have perceived the great truth of God in nature, and the deep significance of the spring and fall interstanding heart is as important in nature study as a bright pair of eyes, and even more so.

"When you sit on the cushion of fragrant needles at the foot of the old pine and hold your breath doe you know that there is a jay's nest in the top of this old tree? But neither the pin needles nor the brown cones told me the secret. Do you not hear a soft call and the flutter of wings as the old jay flew away, and then a strident squak in a distant tree-top? Ten to one this jay is a thief who has dispossessed the rightful owner of the nest.

"What was that rustle in the thicket nest.

"What was that rustle in the thicket youder a rabbit or squirrel? Neither, for rabbits stay on the ground and squirrels do not climb anything as slender as witch hazel. It was a bird, trobably some vireo or thrush. How do I know the thicket is witch hazel? Why should I not? The most noticeable scent in the fragrance of the woods which the morning sun is steeping is the smell of witc's hazel.

"Did you hear the swish of a bough as it sprang back to its, accustomed place?" That was a squirrel. He likes to jump from the branches of one tree to another, making his way thru the woods without touching his dainty feet to Mother Earth. You did not see him? Walt till he sees you and what a scolding and barking he will set up because you have invaded his private domains. Listen! Now he is clattering away like a small fury. The jay will hear him and shout the news from his tree-top; 'Look out, two men in the woods—still sitting under the old pine.' The jay is a ousy tell-tale, and he has saved many a game bird in his time by his warnings.

"Had I not been given the keenest of vision for the first 14 years of my life, and had not those young eyes been ever alert for new impressions. I should have despaired of pursuing nature studies in after years. But in some, mysterious manner the sensitive ; lates exposed in my youth secured perfect pictures of each passing season and of a multitude of the varying aspects of nature. For 22 years these plates have remained in the dark room of the soul until to-day each film holds a picture of remarkable brilliancy and fidelity to detail. Only the slightest sound or scent is needed to slip the slide and throw the picture on the screen of my memory. The 'honk' of a wild gooss, for example, brings back to me with startling clearness that morning in the fog in the pasture, and again I see the flock rushing southward."—From The Outing Magazine for December.

If is a fact that if a doctor standing beside a sick bed announces that the disease is incurable and the patient hes to die he is committing a grievous mistake, even thinking such a thing communicates itself all too soon, but to say it aloud is to kill all hope.

Dear sufferer, if some one has told When we want to know the truth about anything we naturally go to some one who knows and understands what he is talking about, has proved for himself by actual demonstration, because "words without deeds are dead," and so this pen sketch is written from that source and is well called "facts from experience" the state of the state you, of course with no intentional wrong, you can never be well, turn to Science treatment in New York alone and thruout the United States the made. Aye! was ready and did prove there is only His law to live under. There is no mind in disease and no

a ract that these diseases are not incurable since even the most malignant of them have been healed and living witnesses are in Toronto. This may not be in accord with your present ideas. Never mind that these old ideas did not heal you when in pair year, neither is the science of any subject assumed in such a short time, but Jesus said, "If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, the works that I do shall ye do also," and, again, "If ye have faith the size of a grain of mustard seed, ye could say to this of mustard seed, ye could say to this of the science of any subject assumed in such a short time, al peace. What are our ills but mountains of sense?

Would be so." What are our ills but mountains of sense?

Jesus knew whereof He spoke. It was no idle doctrine He taught. Every word was freighted with meaning and understanding. It is a fact that the whole aim and object of Christian Scientists to-day and for the past forty years is to help suffering, blind hugh manity out of the darkness into the light; out of the seeming into the light; out of the seem good. This is not true. God is all at best is but a sickly one, full of good and only good He is the only giver. God is everywhere at all times at large and lack of knowledge where our the other day a lady was engaged in health and strength comes from. In-struct yourself anew, learn of God scientifically; all the phenomena of being explains itself as we study. "Understanding is a well spring of life to him that hath it." Throw out scholasticism and false theology and what happens? We, too, put up our heads, happens? We, too, put up our neads, expand the very lungs we thought were gone, breathe in the truth that is life and the life that is truth, and go on made over. Our Bible says, "Ye must be born again"; also, "Transferm the body by the renewing of the mind." Mrs. Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science its reverfounder of Christian Science, its rever-ed and beloved leader, says in Science ed and beloved leader, says in Science and Health with key to the Scriptures on page 425 "Correct material belief with spiritual understanding and spirit will form you anew." And again on page 228, "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters his heritage of freedom, his Cod given despirites over the man-conversation with a friend who said, "And so you are a Christian Scientist, but of course you do not believe they can do all they claim?" The lady answered, "You have come to the wrong person to hear anything against Christian Science. In the first place they do not claim to do anything themselves. 'It is the Father that worketh in me. He doeth the work.'" She continued to say, "I was healed after years of suffering from that worketh in me. He doeth the work." She continued to say, "I was healed after years of suffering from what was called tumor and I was pronounced incurable. They would not even operate, could not they said, and in two weeks' treatment in Christian Science I was every whit whole. My husband became interested, too, has given up liquor and tobacco, and harmony, instead of discord, reigns in our home and we know why it does and home and we know why it does and so to us it is to us a fact."

THERE'S NO POLITICS IN ATLANTIC ROUTE

Premier's Sharp Reply to Intimation From British Delegation.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.-E. B. Devlin, M. P., introduced to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day the deputation which had crossed the Atlantic to urge upon the Canadian Government the advantages of Blacksod Bay, on the west coast of Ireland, as the ideal terminus for the proposed all-red line between the United Kingdom and the colonies. The premier answered that the question was entirely technical, and that the duty of his government was not to decide what should be the British terminus of the proposed line, but only what would be in the best interests of Dr. Ambrose, M.P., one of the members of the deputation, had said that no project which did not take in Ireland could pass the British Parliament. He (Sir Wilfrid) would, however, deplore any political view being taken of the question in any way.

Haif-tones will be made from photos. Half-tones will be made from these and printed in the program. Great preparations are already being made for the C.B.A. tourney in February. It is estimated by the tournament committee that 200 five-men eams (and doubles and singles in proportion), which means altogether about 1000 individuals, will compete for honors. About 50 teams will come from the Thited States and the remaining 150 teams will be here from all parts of Canada. Entry lists, posters, etc., are now being prepared and will be mailed broadcast in a few days.

CONSUMERS' GAS LOWER. AT THE STOCK EXCHANGES

The decline in Consumers' Gas stock is attributed to expected decrease in the cost of electric light under municipal operation. If, as many suppose, the cost of lighting will be much more moderate with a municipal electric plant, it is suggested that this will mean a lessened demand for gas or a further reduction in the filuminant. The sale of a new block of gas stock this month is also a depressing feature of the security.

ADVANCE PREDICTED IN NIP.

Betterment in the general stock markets has served to improve sentiment in regard to mining stocks, and a sharp rally with a considerable revival in speculation in Cobalt issues is predicted by those in touch with the markets for these shares. Several attempts were made to break the price of Niplssing down to its par value of $5 during the New York panic, but the stock was too substantially held to admit of success. The regular quarterly dividend will be declared on Nipissing in a few days, and considerable new investment buying is reported in the stock. An enthuslastic Cobalter, discussing the stock this week, said: "You will see Nip. go back to $20 a share before long, and it is intrinsically cheap at the figure." Dec. 6. Dec. 7. Ask. Bid. Ask. SENTIMENT IMPROVING

Ore Shipments and Reported New Finds Are Proving Faverable to the Market.

World Office,
Saturday Evening, Dec. 7.
Cobalt stocks during the week have acted in a manner which gives rise to the opinion that very shortly the mining list will galvanize into activity and strength. The money situation is clearing, but better than that, sentiment, like a new moon, daily grows in strength, and before anyone is aware of it, a buil market will be in full swing. This is what the brokers say and can be taken what the brokers say and can be taken for what it is worth. There are many arguments in favor of a bull market. The ore snipments from week to weel are record breakers and reflect a wonderfully prosperous condition of things around the Cobalt camp. With the better feeling thruout the United States it is expected the smelter companies will come down off their perch and conduct the process of smelting ore within some restrictions. within sane restrictions. ... 12.90 12.97 12.87 12.90. World we are making this

At this price we shall make to your order for Monday and Tuesday only, a FINE BLACK BEAVER CLOTH OVERCOAT. We shall line it with twill serge, silk finish, and silk velvet collar. The cut can be either the long, loose back, the moderate length, with creased seam and vent in back, or the nobby short box coat. Any style you want. Our guarantee as to fit and quality goes with it.

This is a great bargain, and if you appreciate style, quality and good tailoring, you'll not lose an hour before you leave your order. We shall not repeat this offer, and furthermore, the goods are limited in quantity, and the regular price would be just about double this.

Nancy Hanks Back in Ole Kentuck.

A despatch from Lexington, Ky, drted Dec. 5, states that Nancy Hanks, once the world's champion trotter (2.04) and for many years one of the most wonderful trotting mares, has come back home to die.

She was bred by William Kenney, on his farm, which is now part of James B. Haggin's Elmendorf Stud, and was given her early speed lessons by the well-known Ben Kenney, who recently signed a contract to train the horses belonging to Hon, Jacob Rupert, proprietor of the Hudson River Stock Farm, Poughkeepsie.

N.Y. She is now located on the farm of John E. Madden, which is almost in sight of Elmendorf, and it is likely the old mare will end her days there. Edward and Joseph Madden, sons of John E., bought her at the recent Old Glory sale for $1500, where she was consigned by J. M. Johnson, the Massachusetts' breeder, who also sold Todd and many other noted horses at the same sale.

What the Reading Camp Association is Doing in Lumber and Construction Camps.

A few years ago the reading public was startled by the revelations of Jacob Riss, the well-known New York journalist and social worker, concerning "How the other half lives." For the moment the cultivated and well-to-da portion of society was shocked into an imaginative realization of the into an imaginative realization of the obe devised.

Out of this situation grew the Readunder-side of civilization. We were made aware that behind the trim lawns of civilization, there were many low and unhealthy swamps and fens, and that only a short distance away and that only a short distance away and the street multitudes of people and that only a short distance away from Easy-street multitudes of people were engaged in a daily stand-up fight for the chance to live. We had been accustomed to think of modern industry in the terms of coupons and dividends, but Mr. Riis made us think of it in the terms of human lives and of it in the terms of human lives and of it in the terms of human lives and the day and teach those who we were momentarily staggered by the price paid for prosperity in the United States.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is the Jacob Riis of the lumbering, mining, fishing and railroad construction camps. Beginning life as a missionary along the frontier of our industrial expansion, he had the eye to see that lumberers, he had the eye to see that lumberers, he had the eye to see that lumberers, miners and construction men needed something else than sermons. He discovered that they could never be effectively reached by the routine propaganda of the church. With increasing experience a sense of their bitter have special claims upon the whole proof gray upon him and stung him. nave special claims upon the mand stung him into the desire and finally the resolve to create some new gency to meet mines and forests and the men who that need Slowly a plan grew up in his mind and when he became convinced of its practicability he abandoned the presching ministry for the real loss real and when he became convinced of its practicability he abandoned the preaching ministry for the na less real and more statesmanlike ministry of the Reading Camp Association. For the last seven years Mr. Fitzpatrick has devoted himself with untiring fidelity and for very slight remuneration to this new practical Evangelism.

To understand the aims of the Reading Camp Association we must picture to ourselves the kind of life without two privacy of the individual home, without traditions from the past, without a body of social customs and sentiments, without disinterested persons and institutions, without refined amusements, without books, pictures and sentiments, without books, pictures and sentiments. Points Out Perils of Socialism and Speaks on Value of Imperial Preference

LONDON, Dec. 5.-Aston enjoys the distinction of being the first town in Labor club, and yesterday the spacious building erected at the Aston Cross was formally opened by Mr. Arthur Balfour, in the presence of a large and representative gathering of the Unionist party. One of the main objects of the promoters of the club is that it may be a strong political weapon in the fight against socialism in the borough.

Mr. Balfour, who was received with musical honors, said: I beg to thank In Canada we have generally felt that we knew how the other half lives and have congratulated ourselves that there was no material for a Jacob Riss to work up into a harrowing story. We have had little poverty in our cities until this year; our agriculture has been prosperous and our farm life for the most part free and happy; our mines and forests are becoming the envy of the world; from the Atlantic to the Pacific we have been a prosperous people and all classes have been receiving substantial justice. Thus have we thought of ourselves.

When first presented it seemed to musical honors, said: I beg to thank you, not merely for the terms in which this resolution has been conched, but even more for the obviously heartfelt enthusiasm by which it has on all sides been received. (Hear, hear) and if I am rightly informed this is a workingman's club, (Hear, hear) and with the assistance of a grant of $1000 from the Ontario government, Mr. Fitzpatrick has experimented with over 50 reading camps and last summer employed 19 students as teachers. Its worth as a going concern has been demonstrated. The ideal of the prophet has become embodied fact. The movement has enlisted the support of have an opportunity of saying a few have an opportunity of saying a few words to those who thus represent the great mass of the community, whom it is the first duty of every public man to serve. I observe that in the speeches of our opponents, and of even some of our opponents who should know something of what they are talk-ing about, and who are accustomed to measure their language, that we, the Unionist party, are represented as

It is far from easy to do this, for our minds are generally tion men live. It is far from easy to do this, for our minds are generally prepossessed from youth by the false then, should it not undertake to do the false then, should it not undertake to do most by their very name proclaim something permanently for its most to be sectional. The very however, is vastly different from the imagined thing, as real war is vastly different from the picture we are apt to form of it on review day. Imagine a world without women and children, without the privacy of the individual without the privacy of the individual and yet most fundamentally necessary labor? Must the state be content

My duty—the duty of every man in the party to which we belong—is a duty neither to workingmen nor to non-workingmen, neither to males nor females, nor to rich as against poor or poor as against rich; my duty is to the community as a whole (applause), which embraces all of these divisions in one indissoluble unity, and which embraces, not merely the comwhole humanitarian munity as we see it now living-the actual living units of this organiza-tion, but their children and their grand-children and their descendants Our duty is not merely to England, to the empire, in this year 1907; it is a duty which extends forward into DRAWS LARGE PROFITS the future, whose thoughts must be directed not merely to the interests of these passing units who for the mo-ment carry the destines of the empire in their hands; it is a duty which extends into the future, and which embraces all the future interests of the whole empire and of every unit and element composing that empire.

THE GIRLS OF GERMANY PEACE NOW REIGNS MUST LEARN COOKERY IN SOUTHERN REPUBLICS

Idea of the Empress, Who is Skilled Housewife, May Be Enforced

BERLIN, Dec. 6.-In the near future effect is likely to be given to the takes a keen interest in the practical education of German girls, that instruction in cooking and housekeeping should be made compulsory. The kaiserin is herself a skilled housewife, and has spared neither precept nor example in enforcing the necessity for a thoro knowledge by girls of household duties. The Prussian ministry of education has had under consideration takes a keen interest in the practical ly impossible scheme proposed by the socialists—the scheme, I mean, which substitutes for the individual enter-prise, energy and self-sacrifice which is the very root of industrial prosper-ity the bureaucratic arrangement of every man's life and every man's in-dustry and every man's earnings—I say that that ideal is one which not only will bring disaster upon the existing generation, but which will absolutely ruin, as I think, the whole future of the community. (Cheers). I do not believe that you can carry on the complicated—the inevitably complicated—work of modern production; I do no believe that you can regulate these in-ter-dependent industries, upon which a great community like Birmingham depends-industries complicated, I think, within the circuit and ambit of Birmingham itself, and of which Birmingham is partly a centre and partly depends upon the relation of this industrial centre and the whole world. (Hear, hear). I do not believe you can regulate that by any bureaucracy that can be arranged, be your bureaucrats who they may, be their capacity raised to the utmost limit which imagination can put upon human faculties, be the method of choosing them as per-fect as you like to imagine. (Hear, hear). It cannot be done in that way, and if the productive machine can only work on the existing system, broadly speaking, then does it not stand to reason that those who depend upon the result of production, namely, the whole community, irrespective of class or profession, must, in their different measures, suffer, and suffer in an augmenting degree, as the years go on and as the new system gradually brings in its full and inevitable harof poverty and disaster?" (Cheers).

Social reform (the right hon, gen-tleman continued) cost, and must cost, and had always cost, money. But the distinction between the policy of socia! reform and the policy of socialism was not a question of degree. It Mr. Balfour went on to remark that that those who were, as he was. strongly in fayor of social reform, held a doctrine which was halfway, as it were, towards socialism-which was a compromise between the extreme individualism of certain theorists and the consistent socialism of certain other theorists.

which completely filled Chalmers'
Presbyterian Church, gathered to hear the production of "Salvator" a Christmas oratoria by Mrs. Harvey, a Challestone Chalmers' Canadian composer. The music, while it is neither difficult nor heavy, has a Yuletide spirit about it which seemed to please the audience. Perhaps the best number in the oratorio is the baritone recitative, which was beautifully rendered on this occasion, "When Jesus Was Born in Betniehem." The choir, under the able guidance of Mr. Edmund Hardy, who presided at the organ, rendered their numbers with a finished style which showed careful training. A very pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of the composer, Mrs. Harvey, by the Rev. Mr. Macpherson. Mr. Hardy is to be congratulated on his excellent work, not only as chofrmaster, but as organist, in which capacity he delighted the audience with his musicianly playing. The assisting soloists were: Mrs. H. V. Parker, soprano, who sang in splendid voice, and Mr. Ernest Hazeldine, tenor, whose voice was heard to good auvantage and marks him as a singer of rare merit, also Mrs. A. C. Considering this is an age of specialization, it is not surprising that Mr. Damrosch should have made his greatest reputation as an interpreter of Wagner. He has won that reputation, not only as an orchestra leader, but thru his lectures and explanatory registed on the Wagner dramas. For but thru his lectures and explanatory recitals on the Wagner dramas. For that reason Dr. 'Ham, conductor of the National Chorus, has arranged with Mr. Damrosch that the orchestral numbers on the first evening's program, Monday, Dec. 16, be devoted to Wagner. The principal choral number is "The Death of Minnehaha," the most delightful of Coleridge Taylor's compositions. On Tuesday afternoon most delightful of Coleridge Taylor's compositions. On Tuesday afternoon there will be an orchestral matinee, in which a most attractive program will be presented. On Tuesday, Dec. 17, the principal choral work will be "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," by Sir Hubert Parry, presented for the first time here. The soloists are an exceptional attraction, being Francis Rogers, baritone; Kelly Cole, tenor, and Miss Helen Davies, soprano, who was heard to great advantage last year. The sale of seats for subscribers was opened on Thursday last, and shows a large list, and the sale for the general public begins to-morrow at Massey Hall.

speaking of the turf in England for 1907, one can better apply the queries, "Has racing kept its place as a national pastime?" and, second, "Has sufficient progress been made in the science of horse breeding to justify racing?" There is ample evidence to answer both questions in the anirmative. To the former one can say, "Yes, undoubtedly," but to the latter the simpler "yea" will suffice. Racing as a pastime has a stronger hold on the a pastime has a stronger hold on the community now than ever during the history of the sport. Despite the parrot cries of the "thin end of the wedge" in reference to assumed anti-legislation, the turf is on a firm and unshifting subsoil, and is, in addition, referenced by such a rampart of safeguarded by such a rampart of popularity that it is impregnable. There is no need to be timorous, even if the "Turf in danger," the "freedom of the people," and other catch cries at elections are unsettling to some susceptible minds. While we have suny skies, public holidays and unallenable heaths and downs, so long will the racing of horses remain a cherished pleasure of Englishmen. From the point of view, too, of keeping money in active circulation, its maintenance will be supported by those who have an interest in trade, and yet may not take an active inter-

While we have many good second rankers among handicap horses and crowds of them amid the juveniles of crowds of them amid the juveniles of the year, it is rather regrettable that we have so few good rising four-year-olds. In the front row are Wool Win-der, Galvani and Orby, if he can be trained, and that is about all. Those behind them, with few exceptions, are poor, and it might be a safe card next year to always give the preference to five-year-olds when they meet those of a year younger. One cannot give full praise to the two-year-olds, but reasoning out comparisons, it can be anticipated that 1903 will produce better three-year-olds all round than those agers there is "mostly much of a sameness;" but here and there among the honsecomers is an observer who has seen some of the old sights from a new point of view. Such a one is a young woman who stepped ashore the other day after a month in Scotland where, being a Bostonian, she found apecial interest in Glasgow, the Scottish city with which Boston is compared so frequently and in so many ways.

Of all things Glasgowegian—that's what things pertaining to Glasgow are called, by some freak of derivation—the most famous, perhaps, in this country is the street car system. The Glasgow tram has been held up as an example to the world, tho Mr. James Dalrymple, who operates the municipal tram system, returned the compliment by nominating Boston's local transportation service as the nearly ideal one when he came over here a couple of years ago as expert adviser to Mayor Dunne of Chicago. Every trolley rider will be interested in the impressions made on the young Boston woman by the to-storey trams so popular, apparently, in the British Isles.

Agility of Passengers.

"The thing that most impressed us in Glasgow," was the agility and lofty indifference to danger of its inhabitants, especially the women who must be—as an old guide in Verona said to the much contorted daughter of Herodias, on one of the church doors—very acrohatish' to entrust themselves to the top of those lolloping trams. Up to the time my husband and I, two wayfaring Yankees, landed on Scottish soil, the top of a tram had seemed to us a peculiarly desirable spot. COMBINED TENDER AND FLOATING DOCK

The other day there was launched at Kiel a very strange craft, the first of its kind, destined to serve as a combined tender and floating dock for sub-marines. It consists of two parallel hulls, firmly bound together. The tender will be provided with cranes capable of hoisting a weight of 500 tons from deep water. Submarines requiring assistance will be easily raised by the tender and repaired on board. It will have a speed of twelve knots, and is to be completed within six months.

In no case had the foundations shown signs of inefficiency, nor had any organic weakness been discovered in the structure itself. Interference with the subsoil was clearly not contemplated by Wren, and without it we might even now reduce to a minimum the cathedral's danger.

Lord Wolmer, writing in a 'varsity magazine, complains that the union at Oxford is almost too critical a house, and that several M.P.'s have said it is more difficult to address than the house of commons. And the reason: who had stepped out of the sheltered life, strong only in her untried honesty, life, strong only in her untried honesty, to become a hunted, harried thing, juggling with honor and "eputation, in her heart a half-formed fear that she might kill a man this night to gain her end? Lawson's Remedy.

By way of a remedy Lawson advises the president to at once appoint a board or committee of five or six men of unquestioned character and intelligence to "hold public court" on two questions:

1. The actual condition of the great banks and trust companies of the country; and—

2. Whether the controllers of the great industrial institutions, such as railroads, steel trusts, Amalgamated copper trusts, beef trusts, etc., and which are owned not by the few, but by the many, the hundreds of thousands of investors, shall turn over such control to new boards composed of representative public-spirited men.

"This board," Lawson says, "will give to all honest, sound and self-supporting institutions a non-counterfeitable stamp

Lawson asserts that the "system" has lost billions of dollars in addition to those it has been forced to acknowledge and that if the proposed moves to tide the country over the crisis are put in force it will enable them to shift the losses to innocent shoulders. He adds:

"Exposure must come, because the savings banks which have applied the 60 days' rule against withdrawals of deposits will, at the expiration of that time, be called upon for vast sums; because the great west and south, on account of this crisis, will awake to the fact that the proceeds of their harvests of wheat, corn and cotton, instead of being sent to them each year, have been "loan fed from them' by the eastern banks and trust companies, for the use of a monstrous system of stock gambling and pillaging of the people."

He says that the rottenness exposed did not represent one-twentieth of that which existed in the banks and trust companies and gives a number of instances of high financing.

Lightening His Brother's Load

In the work of the Reading Camp Association, an account of which, by Rev. R. J. Hutcheon, apears on another page, the public has need to express its warmest appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, which have resulted in uplifting the toilers in our lumber, railway construction and mining camps.

A few years ago this class of hard-working men knew nothing of the advantages of books, magazines, social gatherings and Christian influences thruout the long season of their labors.

They went into the camps in the autumn and until spring they passed their days in labor and their evenings in such limited pleasures as camps then gave. At best it was a barren existence, devoid of the finer influences of the home, womankind, education and the ministry of clergymen. The cheerless winter nights had to be spent in playing games of chance, in telling stories or in gambling.

When the springtime came these men of muscle and fearless disposition entered again the gaver, faster, freer life of cities and towns.

Leaving the woods with their pockets filled with money saved during the working months, they were subjected to all the temptations which plenty of ready cash, desires for good times and indolence can give. They invariably were unable to withstand the allurement. Vice overtook them and they spent their substance in reckless pleasures. into the camps, features which would promote the physical, mental and moral welfare of the workmen. He organized, practically unaided, his movement, and to-day the good he has accomplished is a high tribute to the man and his unselfish zeal.

It is not often men sacrifice so much for their fellows when no financial considerations are in sight.

Mr. Fitzpatrick took the initiative, and the camps in Ontario to-day present a vastly different aspect than when the scheme was first inaugurated Books and magazines are available, classes are held for those who wish to improve their minds and souls. Instead of cheerlessness has come

This year's report of the work done is another proof of Mr. Fitzpatrick's loyalty to his convictions.

Helping the Poor

Everyone who is impressed by the sight of poverty and suffering must think seriously about the approaching winter, and the hardships which hundreds of the poorer classes will have to bear.

The daily press during the past week has been calling the attention of the public to the sad cases of the Bulgarians, who were practically des titute in the east end. Thru the kindness of those who became interested in them, their misfortune was relieved.

This incident only serves to draw our attention to the poor everywhere. Toronto seems to be a centre to which men and women from all parts of Ontario gravitate when winter comes and they are thrown out of work. In addition, there are constantly arriving in the city large numbers of immigrants, who come with empty pockets and thin garments.

Whether wrongly induced by immigration agents to come to this country, or whether actuated by personal desires for improvement, is not the immediate question. Neither should it at first concern us as to why so many have turned their eyes cityward. The fact faces us that the needy are here. The duty of the public is plain.

The bright and merry festive season is nearly here. In a few days the wealthier citizens will be supping from a full cup of enjoyment and prosperity. Money will be lavished in gratifying desires of all kinds.

If the words of the Master have any meaning, "It is better to give than to receive," why should they not be applied by people to day who stand for all the principles of Christian religion and citizen charity? But, of all the millions of dollars possessed by the rich of our land, only scant offerings will be given for philanthropy, except by a few. The little lad on the street will have to look in the big shop window as he did in the time of Dickens, and sigh for the things his few pennies. won by toil in the cold, cannot buy. The father, out of work and bearing the burdens of a home, will have to take another walk around the crowded thorofares, only to return to his family, who crave for warmth

Canada, we all know, is a prosperous country. There are few poverty-stricken here, in comparison with several other lands, but nevertheless, thousands pass us by every day who would gladly work if they could get something to do. Human nature is often very cold and unsympathetic. There is little compassion shown those who are not sufficiently brilliant to gain good positions; to those who, thru habits they seem unable to abandon, fall below the standard of morality expected by society. But, casting all these considerations aside, it is still true that deeper pleasure comes from giving than from receiving. To help your brother, to make the poor and the sick happier, is to fulfil an obligation which the Saviour imposed upon

The poor who are in Toronto this winter are not poor by choice. Be lenient. If you can turn a little work their way, give them a cheery word now and then, or in any other way lighten the load on their backs, you will feel better for doing it.

dent of the University of Toronto and published in The Varsity, a college paper. We believe it merits still wider ecognition, and therefore reproduce it:

I say that there is nothing better, nothing higher, nothing more valuable as a gift from the Gods, than to be born here in Canada in these opening days of the twentieth century. Think of your wonderful heritage. Not since the beginning of human evolution, not down thru the long than to be born in this the new and good nation of the west. We owe much to the past, yes, but we live for the future. We are the people of the new birth, and the mighty heritage of northern nations. Out of the north. thru all the past eighty thousands of years, has come forth the type which has ruled and dominated the human race. Out of the north has come the warrior, the sage, the lawgiver of the nations. Out of the north has come the fibre and muscle, the sterling qualities and clear insight of the God-chosen peoples.

Let me announce to you your place in the evolution of man. Let me show you the vast vistas of the history to be. Let my words ring in your ears until the glorious sun of self-realization shall burst upon the night of old and effete forms and you see clearly your God-given position in the nations of man. Arise from your cradle, cease to be nursed and take your place in the world's work.

As each nation in the fulness of the days comes forth from the womb of time, Christ the All-Ruler gives it a function to perform, a duty to fulfil, a responsibility to carry. Tribes, cities, states, provinces, each have their place in the harmony of national duty. Men are born for their work and each takes his place in the plan of national progress. I say that nothing is left to chance, that Christ rules all. I state that in the civilizations of the past, so

> You, each one of you, divinely blessed and nobly born Canadians, have your place to fill. Did you think that Canada was less than other nations? Did you think she grew and now takes her place among the nations thru some fortuitous circumstance. Did you think, you Canadian, who read these lines, that you appeared in flesh by accident in this northern race with its wonderful heritage, and hardly found energy? Did you think your birth was free from law? Did you imagine that Christ appeared among men only once two thousand miles away, two thousand years ago. If you did I say you were wrong.

> You are Canadian, you are born to the best and goodliest heritage of man, and you are loved by Christ as an important individual with your own place which no one else can fill, in His mighty plan of renewing again the unity of mankind. Did you think you were unimportant to the race? You were wrong. No man is more important than you are if you do your duty, and develop your own capacity. Be a man, and fill your place with pride, as one chosen by Christ for marvelous birth into his newest nation. Worship Christ in your every-day life, in the building of your nation, I announce that He is weary of being shut up and stifled in churches.

> You are responsible for Canada, and Canada is responsible for the spreading of the principle of unity among all the nations. You and Canada, Canada and yourself, each dependent upon the uprightness and stamina of the other. Both are under the love and guidance of Christ, Think of your heritage. Arouse from sleep and prepare for the new day. Serve Christ in every action, and fear not the future. No birth among men is higher and nobler and truer, and finer and grander than that with which you a Canadian came into this world.—Charles Lazenby.

Parental Care Important Factor

Fathers do not hold congresses to consider the raising | the law permits, and avowedly for the purpose of having of children. It is not a sequence that a congress or convention of mothers to discuss the question is matter for esting. Sentiment and reason combine to give the mother a closer concern in the welfare of the child. It is in the natural order that women, mothers or childless, should be able to evoke ideas of general value when they meet to consider the state of the living material out of which. future citizenship is to be made. "The bearing and the rearing of a child is woman's wisdom.

Science will not permit us to forecast a country's progress without predicating the work done in preparing children for the burden of the adult state. The physical health, the mental training and the moral discipline are the chief factors of the child's welfare. Science has done more than bare statistics tell. The conquest of diphtheria has not only lowered the death rate. Innumerable children will be spared the weakness which is a consequence of severe disease. Prompt preventive measures and wholesome living eliminate the ancient necessity of a cycle of diseases-measles, scarlet fever, chickenpox and the restand permit a growth to healthy, vigorous maturity, undisturbed by the effects of febrile exhaustion

One of the great branches of the subject as yet unsolved academically is the extent to which centralized pubic authority shall take the place of parental care. Scientific thought sometimes tends to the Lacedaemonian theory that the child belongs to the state, and cannot be left to the indulgence and whims of parents. In crowded cities the poorer classes send the children to school as early as | Philadelphia Ledger.

them cared for, to the relief of the mother, rather than of insuring an acquaintance with the three "R's." The complete truth is that mothers of all classes welcome the opportunity of using teachers as nurses and governesses. Myriads are coming to think that the state, having at its command the resources of science and the advantage of organization on a large scale, can guard health, inculcate discipline and promote efficiency better than the busy, distracted, unskilled parent can do in the home.

There still remains the faith in home. Nothing of law and science can supplant the family group. Love is a power, association a cementing, strengthening, stimulating force. Scientific rules, the best of them, are narrow. They cannot furnish nutriment for the many sides of the human

Child study stops before that parting of ways. It cannot admit that public care is to crowd out home solidarity. Yet it holds fast to the conclusion that the child must have the best attention indicated by special knowledge. The science of child culture has not yet the courage of conviction, has not the conviction, to a degree which will demand a diminution of public measures for the perfection of manhood or a disregard of parental love and right of control.

While the decision is in abeyance, all people can unite on the sacredness of childhood's welfare, on the imperious command that it be studied and protected by every means that enlightenment can suggest or assiduous care apply.-

Essentials to Womanhood

There is a likelihood of Germany making it compulsory for girls to learn cookery and other household requirements. The empress herself service. She believes in a woman expelling in what is womanly and maintains that any girl who wishes to beet fulfil the require ments of wife and mother must know how to prepare meals and keep a se free from cobwebs.

This idea of the kaiserin has apparently permeated the German nation. Later, no doubt, legislation will enforce it in the schools. If this is done another evidence will have been given that the head of government in any land exerts a strong the indirect influence on the citizens. When the influence is for good the one who exerts it is a public benefactor.

In this age of materialism girls too frequently become convinced early in life that they need not learn the simple sciences of the home. They hope and believe that by some happy turn of circumstances a Prince Charming with all his pockets burdened with gold will come along and claim them. This good fortune will relieve them of prosaic duties and make life one long sweet poem with no other scenes than the most beautiful of the Romeo and Juliet type.

Dreams are pardonable, particularly in the young. Ambitions and success to some extent are built upon such slender foundations. But they should be largely confined to the dark night hours. The daytime is not for fancies which are as vacant as soap bubbles.

The age of youth is the daytime of our lives. If we dream it away the awakening will be tearful.

Girls and boys who are allowed to grow like weeds in a back garden, free from all restraint, from parental advice and control, and from the education which common-sense gives are spending the Maytime of their careers in dreams too idle for humanity.

With daughters, one of the most marked tendencies is that of romance. They delight to think that they will pass into realms of love and matrimony without experiencing any of the tedious domestic obligations of their mothers. With these sad misconceptions of real life and its seriousness, they enter womanhood. It is then that they begin to realize what a woman must know to be most a woman.

Few enter this stage well equipped with knowledge of the kitchen. They may be advanced in music, in song, in the silent arts of femininity. but they know nothing of the heavier sciences of the household. of them have a pronounced dislike for the dustpan, the oven, the dishclot and the washing board. This is indeed regrettable, considering how numerous are the men who want clean homes, well-cooked meals and white

The experience of the past teaches that while there is much transpiring that is romantic, much that is only pleasure, the average girl marries into modest conditions. Her rich Prince Charming is only a faithful mechanic, clerk, artist or business man. He has to work hard for his income and he has to pay coal, grocery and other bills whether there is money in

The girl who knows how to cook, to wash if necessary, to prepare meals and darn socks is the woman who possesses foremost qualities of a good wife. If she cannot do these things she gives little assistance, but much worry to her husband.

The Empress of Germany sets a good example. If one of her exalted position is a thoro housewife, girls of less social eminence should not hesitate to learn the science of domestic affairs.

Wanted: A Peace Sunday

ters in Canada to fall into line with the old country, by recognizing the Sunday preceding Christmas Day as Peace Sunday, delivering on that day sermons treating with the brotherhood of man and the consequent immorality of war, formed the subject of a letter the editor was good enough to publish way back in February

May I, accepting the invitation extended to readers to become correspondents, be allowed to renew the appeal?

Anti-Christian, inhuman, immoral, costly stupid-man's greatest stupidity—is war.

Moloch, ugly Satanic Moloch, murderer of men, ravisher of women, desolator of homes, with fiendish, devilish, insatiable lust for blood, universal ruin and misery, rules, aye, and menaces a twentieth century mankind, boasting its Christianity, enlightenment and progress.

He will rule, moreover, until the great public opinion, now but half awakened, rouses—omnipotent—acts, as a century ago. Then "the foulest fiend ever vomited forth from the mouth of hell" will, like slavedom, dissolve into mere memory, and posterity will marvel, not at Moloch's dissolution, but at the length of his reign!

Oh mankind! For how long will you tolerate this fiend of war-Is steel-fisted Mammon so little exacting that ye must needs strengther Moloch, adding fuel to the fire which even now scorches you, by yearly pouring more and more of the results of your hard labors into his alldevouring, rapacious maw?

The military and naval expenditure in Europe alone has increased by $250,000,000 during the past five years.

One hundred years ago the great public opinion was, as now, awakening; earnest, agitating humanitarians were shaking him—not too gently; a difficult task, but persistence triumphed. He awoke, donned emancipation raiment, and led the upholders of slavery—they not altogether willingly-to the altar of universal emancipation. Slavery was abolished! The overthrow of slavedom, a possibility once ridiculed, now, with the aid of the great public opinion, is a fact accomplished, and the many other revolutionary changes which have been brought about by an awakened, enlightened public opinion, impel the writer to again appeal to the ministers of Canada to recognize Peace Sunday, and so help on the work of awakening the sleeping giant. Public opinion now sleeps but lightly. for the prodding, the shaking, the hustling he is getting is terrific. All are joining in the awakening task-visible and invisible forces.

With the visible forces may be seen pacific sentiment uttening, treaty arranging kings, rulers and statesmen, four hundred or more peace societies working unceasingly thruout the whole of the world, an inter-parliamentary union with over 2000 members drawn, all of them, from the parliaments of the world; a second Hague conference just finished, and, most important, a third conference decided upon; an Anglo-French understanding; an Anglo-Russian understanding; an Anglo-German in the making; municipal, journalistic and commercial international visits and receptions, an equally extensive, far-reaching list of not directly visble forces might be given, but I will be content with suggesting two of the most important. Never has there been such huge financial and commercial interdependence as at the present day; never were nations so intertwined, or the effects of was so universally felt. Lastly, there is the cost of the war system itself; universal bankruptcy threatening, masses oppressing, progress hindering, self interest affecting, the cost of being prepared for war is destined to be one of the greatest factors of the awakening!

I do trust that the movement to emancipate mankind from the almost unbearable weight of an antiquated, barbarous, immoral war system, will receive the support of the churches in Canada and that Sunday, Dec. 22. next will witness the delivery of many sermons with texts: "Arbitration, Not War," "Peace on Earth, Goodwill Among Men."-J. EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

"I' INSTEAD OF "WE"—I know it is preading. Generally speaking the profamity or use the singular number when speaking of himself, and the selitor of this page may be credited with more nerve and cheek than he possesses if he violates the law of custom; but he is tired of using the phrase, "he editor of this page," and especiality of using "we" when we are alone on the job. An old friend of the editor writes a letter and wants to know whom do you mean by "we"? He putshalf a dozen questions, and one is "when do 'we' go to bed, as I see a light in your room after eleven o'clock." He is a great friend of the editors wife who, with his caughters, is spending the year abroad. Many of us would rather receive a present on our birthday than at any other time of the year, and it is this alone that prompts the editor to mention his birthday. Not having received a single present this year, he makes bold to ask his readers to send him a birthday gift, not for himself, but for his less fortunate younger brothers, the "newsboys"—the little chaps that stand on the corner of the streets these cold nights waiting to accommodate you with a paper. God bless them! What would we do without them? In regard to telephones and telegraphs the remarks of my hon, friend also have been just as inconclusive and just as elusive as his remarks about railway ownership. But, in order to do him no injustice I will quote what he said upor this part of his program: It has been demonstrated, said

e, in Great Britain, that telegraphs and telephones can be successfully operated in connection with the pos office department. I see no reason why a similar system should not cessfully in Canada. Few people realize that at the present time Canada owns and operates 6586 miles of telegraph lines. These lines reason that they have been established in thinly settled portions of the country where private en-terprise could find no adequate return. If we are prepared to invest national capital in thinly peopled and unremunerative localities, why should we hesitate in those portions of the country where opera-tions can be carried on at a profit? I do not forget the necessity that our great railways must be equipped with telegraph and telephone lines, nor do I forget the principle of justice to invested capial which I have already invoked Having regard to these considera-tions, our policy should include the establishment, after due investigation, of a great system of national telegraphs and telephones under conditions which shall be just to capital already invested in these

There appears to be prevalent in Canada an impression that the British postoffice reaps a handsome profit annually from the operation of the telegraph and services. There is no foundation for a belief of this kind. Mr. Sidney Buxton, in his last annual report as postmaster-general of the United Kingdom, admits that the net deficit in working the telegraphs for the year was £652,055, and that if interest on the capital be added the total deficit amounts ton further reports that during the year the number of messages handled, including free and gov-ernment messages, was 89,493,000. Dividing this into $4,495,870, it will be seen that there was an average less of a trifle over five cents on each and every one of these mes-sages. A service which produces results like these cannot be said to be on a paying basis. There is no guess work about the figures giv-They are the postmaster-general's and taken, as he gives them. from his annual report.

Then, as regards the telephon system. Mr. Buxton says have brought it out on an even basis the receipts should have been twenty per cent. greater and the expenditure no larger than it was. A telegraph department which

It was refreshing to hear my right hon. friend praise in such dulcet tones and with such lumino guage the Canadian Pacific Railway In times gone by I have listened to my right hon, friend when he was not so complimentary to that corporation and that railway. I have listened to conclave of good supporters, support-ers of himself, supporters of my right him when he denounced in every mood and tense the Canadian Pacific Rail-"Oh no, the corporations are the best hands to handle railways, not governit. To-day he is coming nearer to the measure of justice, and he has absolutely declared that the Canadian Pacific Railway is the great beneficent machine which has done more for the development of this Canada of ours than perhaps any one agency in the whole country. I agree with that. Nobody proposes to fight corporations in so far as corporations do their proper work, in so far as corporations treat the people that they serve in a just and reasonable way. it is an equally fair statement that there are regions and areas and directions in which government ownership in all these things may be put into proper execution. He finds fault with my hon, friend because he does not come out and say that he is going Mr. Foster: It might. Where is the ex-minister of railways?

tress had been so surprising, her advaluement had been so meteoric, so astounding and unexampled, that there seemed nothing left for this remarkable actress in the way of further accomplishment. But the prognosticators of the theatre had not taken into full account, evidently, the depth and beadth of this contravillative woman's breadth of this extraordinary woman's dramatic temperament. Zaza, com-dramatic temperament. Zaza, compared to the new creation, was a trifing achievement.

The possibilities of there being a great play in the career of Jeanette Vaudernier, otherwise the famous LaDu Barry, of the court of Louis XV. had long been uppermost in Mrs. Carter's mind. She had made an exhaustive study of the era of Louis XV., had delved deeply in the memoirs of that remarkable period, and the more she learned of Du Barry the deeper her interest grew. The actress war able to give a wonderful impersoration of this role; first, because she was possessed of the temperament suitable for the portrayal, and, secsuitable for the portrayal, and, sec ondly, for the reason that she had be-come so thoroly imbued with the char-acter that she felt and thought and dreamed Du Barry.

The production which Mr. Belasco made for this play established a new high-water mark in the staging of a play. As one writer said at the time "It is a truly remarkable work, and in contemplating it one is lost in admira-tion and wonder, for a more stupen-dcus production than this it would be difficult to imagine." It is in this production that Mrs. Carter appears when she is seen in this city during her present engagement. In the first act of "Du Barry" we find Jeanette Vau-bernier at first, afterward "La Du Barry" (Mrs. Carter) as the show girl in a millinery shop. There she makes an appointment with her young lover. Cosse Brissac, to go into the country with him the following day to pluck violets. In the interview she is spirited away by the arch-yillein. Court Du ed away by the arch-villain. Count Du Barry, and the Marquise du Quesney to be an inmate of the latter's gambling establishment. Here the plot is hatched to make her the mistress of King Louis XV., and into this the kind himself, having feasted his eyes upon the young girl's beauty, enters with perfect zest. It is soon that we see Jeanette, now the Countess Du Barry in order that she may be received at court, holding reception while she rests in bed. Custer's Last Fight. An interesting, as well as instruc-tive, melodrama is the attraction at the Majestic Theatre this week, opening with a matinee Monday, when "Custer's Last Fight," by Hal Reid, is to be seen for the first time in this city. Mr. Reid has woven a thrilling story of those dark days in the early west, and has taken as his theme that brave the rash Indian fighter, General Little Big Horn. A reproduction of this fight forms the climax to the last act. A company of forty people, in-cluding full-blooded Indians will interpret the play. The feading character is an exceedingly strong part—that of the world-famous government scout, Buffalo Bill, and his duel with Yellow Hand, the Cheyenne chief, is a most realistic piece of stage business. All the equipment used in the battle seene, as well as the cowboys horses and dogs, were loaned thru the kindness of Pawnee Bill (Colonel Gordon W. Little). In the history of the United States there, is no more interesting period than that which embraces the Indian wars in the western territory, and no more heroic figure than General George Aumstrong Custer. Brave to a fault a man who knew no fear, and a born leader of fighting men, he did not flinch when surrounded by overwhelm-ing hordes of red flends, and went down to defeat and death with his entire command. Another picturesque ci-aracter and rearless Indian fighter was Colonel William F. Cody, known to the world as Buffalo Bill. Around these two heroes of our country and Creater's leaf desponds at any despense. Custer's last desperate stand against the Indians on the Little Big Horn, this sensational drama of thrilling in-Pale faces, Indians, cowboys, scouts in all, together with horses, ponfes and dogs necessary to present the play, makes this one of the largest dramatic

A New Comedy Drama.

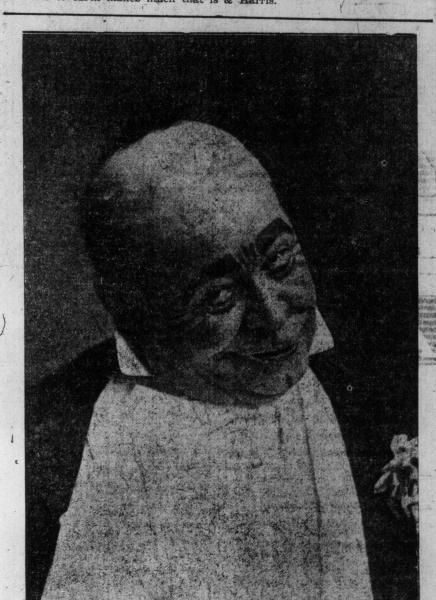

The latest theatrical discovery along the dramatic line, is from the pen of Howard Hall, who presents here for the first time, at the Grand next week, the powerful play "The Fatal Flower," with Mr. William Walcott, and Miss Florence Rossland in the leading roles! The theme of the play which Mr. Hall has recently discovered is that of a flower, well known in medical science, which means certain death to anyone who should inhale its fragrance. Woven around this theme is the old story, love, humor, pathos, blended in his peculiar and original style. And while there A New Comedy Drama. and original style. And while there may be "nothing new under the sun," certainly Mr. Hall has unfolded something for us, in the dramatic line, which we have never seen before.

ROYAL SHOOTING PARTY AT WINDSOR.

HUNTING IN ENGLAND IS ONE OF CHOICEST OF SPORTS.—THIS SHOWS WORLD FAMOUS QUORN PACK OUT IN GROUNDS OF LEICESTER.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford.

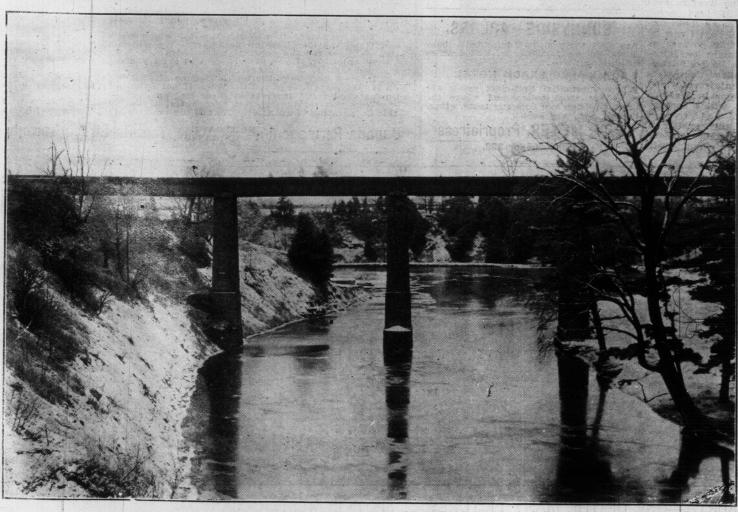

Royal Guests

England has been lavishly entertaining several royal visitors during the past few weeks. A reproduction on this page shows the royal shooting party at Windsor, shooting being one of the most enjoyable pastimes of their majesties. The group includes:

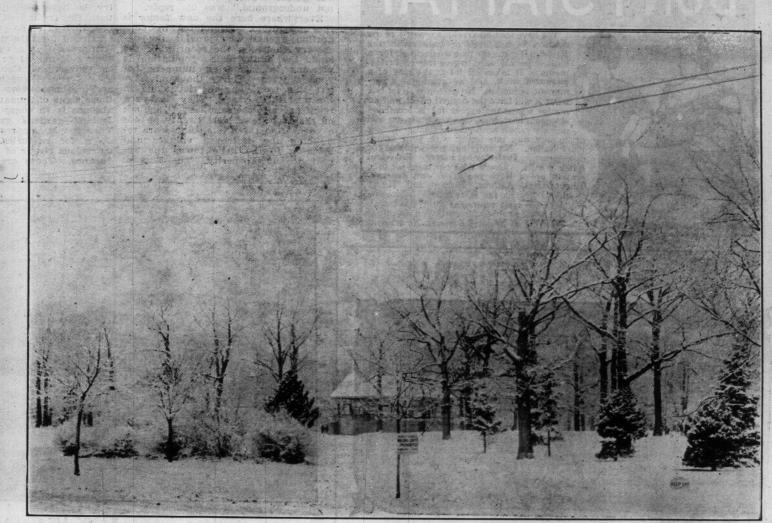

I. Count Paul Wolff Metternich, German ambassador to England; 2, Marchioness of Lansdowne; 3, Baron von Dem Knesebeck; 4, Mr. Halsey; 5, Captain Campbell; 6, Colonel Baron Marschall; 7, Colonel Hon, H. C. Legge; 8, H. R. H. Princers Victoria; 9, H. I. M the Kaiser; 10, H. M. the Queen; 11, Countess Van Keller; 12, Lady Alice Stanley; 13, Prince Christian; 14, Princess Patricia of Connaught; 15, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales; 16, Prince Arthur of Connaught; 17, Captain Welch; 18, Duchess of Argyll; 19, H. M. the King; 20, H. I. M. the Kaiserin; 21, H. R. H. the Princess of Wales; 22, H. R. H. Duchess of Connaught.

Lord Beresford and Sir Percy Scott are the two actors in the channel fleet signal incident which set naval circles gossiping in a lively manner. Sir Percy, it was claimed, gave a signal, when ordered to prepare for the reception of the Kaiser William of Germany, which was a mild form of ridicule for Admiral Beresford.

During an inquest in London on a bank official who died from injuries caused by a motor 'bus, Superintendent Arthur Basson of Scotland Yard, said that in 1906 183 motor 'buses were licensed in the metropolitan area, and 25 persons were killed by such 'buses. The jury returned a verdict of "accidental death," and asked the coroner to call the attention of the authorities to the necessity for restricting the speed of motor 'buses in the city.

Out of the plain, isolated and alone by the side of the lake, rises abruptly the double hill of Ochrida. Above are the vast ruins of a mediaeval castle; below the climbing streets of houses, incredibly picturesque, incredibly old, every one of which in England would be a show sight and guarded treasure. Here, so far from the railway, humam life has leaped backward to a region where all mobackward to a region where all modern discovery counts for nothing at all. The fishermen put out on to the lake in those unwieldly wooden craft which picture books have associated with the cave men or the ancient Britons. The narrow streets of the town, with the houses almost meeting over-head, exhibit the open, windowless shops, the artisans still engaged in their hand labor, weaving, beating out metal work, baking in the big ovens as in the bazaars of India, or in London of the Middle Ages. The children here, perhaps thru the Albanian blood, noticeably beautiful, follow the stranger in wondering crowds, and

And if the picturesqueness of the Middle Age abides, there abides also its insecurity. The foreign officer stationed here found articulate language weak to express his indignation with present affairs. Far away, in some remote universe, the machinery of reform creaked out paper constitutions. Here the old tragedies remained unchanged. The Albanians here plunder and murder the Christians. He praised, indeed, the ordinary Turkish peasant and the Turkish soldier. They were all right. "Brave gens" he called them. The evil came from three classes—the priest, the official and officer. "Cess witness to the methods of suppression which him Pasha pleases to the methods of suppression which Hilmi Pasha pleased un gouvernment inhumanitaire," he termed it. If the system of Ferdinard at Naples had been established in the "nom de Dieu," this was established in the "nom de Dieu," this was established in the "nom de diable." Everywhere here the new factor is the emigration. Stimulated by emigration agents who provide the necessary funds on the security of the land, the adult male population is pressing in increasing numbers beyond the sea. Thirty thousand have left this particular district alone in the past three years. They send oack remittances to the families left behind; on the average at least twenty pounds a year. By using a different color scheme and an entirely different combination of materials one can entirely change the appearance of this house at a very little addition to the cost. First, instead of siding, use a coat of rough cast cement on metal lath. Then simplify the millwork, letting all the rafters show, and stain all millwork a dark mission brown, staining the roof a very dark dull green. This would entirely change the house in appearance and make a very attractive cottage.

It is impossible to value such a collection, and it is hoped that the money will soon be forthcoming to build the provincial museum for Ontario

In course of conversation with Mr. Cunnelly he said that this collection represents only about one fifth of the articles secured. WHAT ABOUT OLD AGE? Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's re-turn to the strenuous life after a brief experience of that "labor and sorrow" which a man in his seventy-second year has authority to expect is surely one more rebuke to those who cavil at the stress and strain of modern ex-"What, sir," asked Dr. Johnson "would you know what it is to feel the evils of old age? Would you have the gout? Would you have decrepi-tude?"

with one's eye upon modern old age the doctor's half-cynical, half-pathetic questions sound oddly out of place. This is the day of old men. A strenuous old age folowing a strenuous youth is the fashion. "C.-B." is only one example out of many of the antiseptic effect of hard work properly combined with a common-sense rule of living. Doctors of medicine have been telling man and women to "vibrate" and live log; President Roosevelt tells them to "sweat and be saved."

Of the host of strenuous old men of to-day two come to memory first because their names have a topical interest. They are Sir John Hare, the actor, and Sir Charles Santley, the singer, two of the birthday knights. Neither, to be sure, is aged, but both are standing witnesses to the truth of the hard-work doctrine as a life-preserver. Sir Charles Wyndham is several years the senior of Sir Lohn Hare

There are certain men whom it is impossible to pass by in a connection such as this. They belong to the royal family of the aged. Such, in his day, was Gladstone. Such, in the present year, are Lord Strathcona and General Booth. That racy Americanism "Sweat of living. "My wife is in heaven, and I have no home, merely a place where I keep some furniture," are words which throw some light on one example of strenuous old age. Yet another grand old man who has killed the microbe of senility with the antiseptic of intense toil is Lord Avebury, the savant who "has a tender love for flowers, children, wasps, clerks and the rest of the smaller creation."

He is the prime minister's senior by two years, and has lived austerely all his life in the central turmoil of the world's busiest epoch. Of him one world's busiest epoch. Of him one might say, with Cicero, that "When a man hath led his former life quietly, uprightly, godly and laudably, his old age is very mild, pleasant and courteous. Such was the old age of Plato, who, in the eighty-first year of his age, died as he sat writing."

"It is not years that make age," said Sir Theodore Martin, the G. O. M. of English literature, now in his 92nd year. "Frivolous pursuits, base passions unsubdued, narrow selfishness, vacuity of mind, life with sordid aims or no aim at all these are the things. or no aim at all—these are the things that bring age upon the soul."

How body and soul may pass onward together in happy union until the end of the journey comes pectedly in sight has been delicately told by another octogenarian of strenuous life—Mr. Marston, the pub-

"In my particular case," he writes, "it seems to me that old age approached so gradually and with such stealthy steps that its approach has been im-perceptible, and it is only recently that I have found out, not so much after all by any grave change in my bodily activity as by the Anno Domini which tells me I was born nearly eighty-three years ago, and therefore must be old." Is modern old age, then, a failure?— H. M., in London Daily News.

STORIES ABOUT WARDS.

"If the 'arbitrator' is chosen to end the railway deadlock," says The London Chronicle, "there is no reason to dread that his decision would be' arbitrary,' tho the two words are very near relatives. An 'arbiter,' the Latin word which used to be more common as English than it is now, meant by derivation simply 'one who went to' something to examine it, and so at first a spectator or witness. Then, in Roman law, it assumed the technical sense of an umpire. But a 'judicium,' the legal decision in a case with regard to a definite sum of money, for instance, was distinguished from an 'arbitrium,' a legal decision as to an incertain sum, which had to be determined. Hence 'arbitrary,' acquired the sease of uncertain, capricious.

meaning "unfavorable star"—one of the many words that astrology has bequeathed to the English language. "Predominant," "ill-starred," "in the ascendant," are other instances, not to speak of the expression "My stars!" Even "influence" is really astrological, signifying the flowing in upon human affairs of the power of some

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

There are few national subjects so imperfectly understood as that of bird protection; and comparatively few readers who realize that the protection of birds is a subject of such wide importance. Most people look upon the movement as having no deeper significance than the worthy agitation of a group of enthusiasts, and to these I commend the statistics recently compiled by the entomologist of the agriculture department showing the annual loss of millions of dollars to the country's agriculture thru only the destructive work of insects. There is not a farmen or a land owner in America whose pocket is not directly affected by bird protection, for the very good reason that in no country in the world do insects impose a heavier tax on farm products; than in the United States; and birds are the most dependable as well as most active destroyers of insects. So you see the subject is one of the greatest general concern for every wild bird that is saved is a diligent and an intelligent "extra hand" added to the farmer's crop-making "help," at no cost to hom. The important role which agriculture fills in our country's resources and wealth and presperity I need not dwell upon, protection; and comparatively few portant role which agriculture fills in our country's resources and wealth and presperity I need not dwell upon, I am sure; the knowledge of it is in the mouth of every schoolboy. What I do wish to emphasize is, that in helping to protect the birds you are in reality working directly or indirectly according to your vocation, for the benefit of your ewa pocket, and on you for a husband."

The Boni Variety.

"You refuse me?" snapped the little count, twirling his waxed moustache. "I do," replied the sensible herress, coldly. "Poor girl!" "Yes, I would be a poor girl if I had you for a husband."

came, he was out of town, but I thought I would see if I could find the nest myself. So I made inspectior from tree to tree, and presently the female hummer began to fly about me anxiously. We played a game of hot and cold, until it became evident that the nest must be in a certain low apple tree which had many dead, lichen-covered branches. Some of these came down nearly to the ground, and for quite a while I stood by the tree, running my eyes along each branch in order, trying to make out the nest, while the female kept darting frantically at my head. It must have been nearly a quarter of an hour before I discovered that I was standing almost touching the nest with my hands, havdiscovered that I was standing almost touching the nest with my hands, having been looking right over it all the time. It contained two fresh ergs this being in the early part of June. The branch upon which it was built was completely overgrown with lichens, and the nest, being covered with them, too, was wonderfully disguised, tho there were no leaves to hide it.—From "Experiences with Humming-Birds," by H. K. Job, in The Outing Magazine for December.

BITS OF FUN.

An old lady, lauding up the Thames scenery, said to Whistler, "The whole trip along the river was like a series of your superb etchings."

"Yes," he replied, "nature is creeping up."

"So young Gotrox has taken a wife. What was her maiden name?"
"Her maiden aim seems to have been to marry Gotrox, and she proved an unusually good shot for a woman.

"What," she asked, "is your idea of a womanly woman?"
"One," he replied, "who takes the comb out of her back hair every little while and gives it two or three upward scrapes and then jabs it in again."

An old gentleman was about to take unto himself a fourth wife. Sobs were heard in an adjoining room, and a guest enquired what was the matter? "It's only Maria, the servant. She always cries when papa gets married!" said the son of the house.

"It seems strange," said the judge, "to see a maritime lawyer represent-"Not at all," replied the witty advocate; if your honor will glance over the record in this case, you will find that so far as his finances are concerned, my client is entirely at sea."

The home of the humming-bird is one of the most remarkable and artistic creations of all bird architecture It is a tiny, delicate cup, made of the rather slender branch, so deftly that it seems a part thereof. The saliva of the birds is used to compact and secure the material, and likewise to ccat the exterior with the gray-green lichens so generally found upon trees. This makes it so assimilate with the surroundings that it is a very difficult object to discover. And thereby hangs a tale. A gentleman had told me that, if I would call upon him, he would show me an occupied nest of a humming-bird in ρ his orchard. When I
