REPORT.

THE Halifax Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, in presenting this, their twelfth Annual Report, feel that the objects of this Society are so well known to the general public as to require but little explanation.

The chief aim of the Association is to afford relief to the needy poor, independent of color or creed, and to promote the moral welfare of those to whom it extends its helping hands; to relieve the poor, and at the same time to assist them in aiding themselves.

To save the funds of the Society from being wasted on those who are able and willing to work, a stone shed was established, which has now been in operation for some years, with what good results the appended report of its Superintendent, W. H. Neal, Esq., fully shows. The Association cannot repress a feeling of pride at the success with which this branch of relief has been attended, since from its very commencement it has been self-supporting, and has at the same time furnished our city with a large and much needed quantity of broken stone at a rate lower than it could be supplied even by the inmates of Rockhead.

The present winter sets in upon this community with a much larger number of men out of employment than at any previous period within the recollection of men now living. This is, no doubt, the result of the universal stagnation and depression in every branch of trade and industry. The announcement of this well known fact should alone be a sufficient appeal to those who have it in their power to aid the distressed.

The Association is indebted to the widely known liberality of the late William L. Black, for the handsome sum of Five Hundred Dollars.

This Association has also gratefully to acknowledge the generous bequest of Two Hundred Dollars, by the late Michael J. Cochran, Esq.

His Excellency, the Governor-General, has set an example of generosity to the wealthy in our midst, in his donation of Four Hundred Dollars for the benefit of the Poor of Halifax. Of this sum Fifty Dollars have been allotted to this Society for distribution.

Ever since its organization this Association has been supported almost entirely by voluntary contributions. Its next subscription list will need to be much larger than in former years, in order that it may be in its power to supply the wants of the destitute, whose numbers will this winter be largely increased.

That the citizens generally will respond to the call for relief to those who have not been equally blessed with themselves in the distribution of this world's goods, is the earnest prayer of all interested in this charitable work.

ABSTRACT OF THE FUNDAMENTAL RULES BY WHICH THE ASSOCIATION IS TO BE GOVERNED.

- 1. To consider each applicant for relief as entitled to charity until a careful examination proves the contrary.
- 2. To give relief only after a personal investigation of each case, by visitation and enquiry.
- 3. To relieve no one except through the visitor of the section in which the applicant lives.
- 4. To give necessary articles, and only what is immediately necessary.
  - 5. To give what is least susceptible of abuse.
- 6. To give only in small quantities, and in proportion only to immediate need; and of coarser quality than might be procured by labour, except in cases of sickness.
- 7. To give assistance at the right moment; not to prolong it beyond the duration of the necessity which calls for it; but to extend, restrict, and modify relief according to that necessity.
- 8. To require of each beneficiary abstinence from intoxicating liquors as a drink; of such as have young children of a proper age that they be kept at school, unless prevented by unavoidable circumstances; and that those of suitable years be apprenticed to some trade, or sent to service. The design being to make the poor parties to their own improvement and elevation, the wilful violation or disregard of these rules, shall debar them from further relief.
- 9. To give no aid to persons who, from infirmity, imbecility, old age or any other cause, are likely to continue unable to earn their own support, and consequently to be permanently dependent, except in extreme cases, for two or three days, or until they can be referred to the Commissioners of the poor, or to the Churches to which they belong.

10. To discontinue relief to all who manifest a purpose to depend on alms, rather than on their own exertions for support, and who further maintenance would be incompatible with their good and the objects of the Institution.

In all cases of want coming to the notice of the visitors, they will be expected to perform the same duties, although no application has been made. It shall be their duty, moreover, to render a written report of their labors, and also an account of their disbursements, to their respective committees, at the stated monthly meeting. No visitors neglecting these duties will be allowed to draw on the funds of the Association.

Most of the Rules will, doubtless, commend themselves at once to approval. As it respects others, the property of which may appear less obvious, the following explanations are offered.

In the 9th Rule, the permanently dependant are not regarded as proper subjects for relief, because, if they should continue to be relieved, the entire funds of the Association would soon be exhausted in the support of a permanent list; and its primary objects—the elevation of the moral and physical condition of the Poor—be defeated. Such persons should become a public charge, which is far preferable to reliance on incidental relief.

The 10th Rule refers to those who have become so pauperized in spirit by long-continued vagrancy or gratuitous relief, or so debased by other causes, that there is no hope of inciting them to self-support and to aid whom would encourage sin and indolence, and foster a great social evil.

The complaints of unrelieved applicants who have been sent to the Association should not be listened to, until they have produced a card from the visitor, for a card assigning the reason of refusal should always be given to the unrelieved applicants, which if produced, will show why he was not relieved; and, if unproduced, a proof that he has been attended to. In either case, the member will thus be made acquainted with the action of the visitior, and the reason for it.

to have been to, until they are assigning the unrelieved the was not been attended to acquainted it.

Two or three important results involved in the observance of the foregoing rules deserve notice. First, by refusing aid to the persons described, none are necessarily left to suffer. Even those who constantly persist in their vicious courses, and cannot be relieved without injury to them and the community, still have a recourse in the legal relief provided by the Commissioners of the Poor; so that all are cared for Second, the Association does not supersede existing charities, but so far as is practicable, makes them available for those for whom they are designed. Third, that it is governed by such humane and economical considerations as have most important moral and social bearings on the individuals concerned, and the public.

Visitors, in complying with the foregoing Rules, should carefully direct their attention to such particulars bearing on the different classes indicated therein, as will qualify them for an intelligent and judicious discharge of their highly important and responsible duties.

The attention of members is also called to the said Rules, and the co-operation with the visitors most earnestly solicited, for, without it, the great difficult work in which the Association is engaged cannot be effectually accomplished.

From the above returns, it will be seen, that about ninety-two men on an average, received employment daily at the Shed in breaking stone, while some ten or fifteen men, with their horses and carts, were found in work, hauling the seventy to eighty loads of stone used on an average every day. Most of the men employed have families depending upon them, and when the shed is crowded, a preference has always been given to those so situated. The average rate of wages earned by each man was about thirty-one cents per day; but some do not work continually, but only when nothing better is to be had. Fifty cents per day is regularly earned by many of the men who have worked in the shed previously, and after a little practicethis sum can be earned by almost any one so disposed.

I would again recommend that an application be again made to the City Council to have a separate appropriation made for the purpose of affording this employment to those wh tab tair she Woo a s with brown Asy prothe who are willing to avail themselves of it. Many very respectable men are (small as the wages seem) thus enabled to maintain themselves without applying for other aid. And if the shed is not kept open this winter, either by the Board of Works or your Association, full as the Poors' Asylum now is, a still greater number must be compelled to obtain shelter within its walls. There is no doubt the city can obtain broken stone at a cheaper rate than supplied at cost price by your Association, from the Penitentiary, Rockhead, and Poors' Asylum. But surely there is another side to this question of providing employment during the winter months-helping the poor to help themselves-than the saving to the city of some four or five hundred dollars, by only buying from these establishments. Better, much better, pay a fair rate for a portion of the broken stone required for the streets to honest working men outside of the prisons, than force men to become inmates, by their utter inability to obtain work,.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
