DR. McALLISTER IS CHEERED AT ROTHEASY.

Rothesay, Nov. 17.—A largely attended meeting was held last evening at Rothesay by the supporters of Dr. D. H. McAllister, the Liberal candidate for the constituency of Royal Albert Anderson.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES.

Sir George E. Foster was the chief speaker at the Conservative meeting last night in the hall at the New bridge in Granville, and stopped in front of the platform erected in the latter town for the speakers who were to take part in the formal opening of the bridge.

PROPOSAL FOR PEACE IN EAST

Well Defined Programme—Alliance Question—Treaty With Britain Not Vitrally Necessary Under Armament Proposal.

(By Hal T. Smith, Special to Montreal Gazette.) Washington, Nov. 15.—Japan has a well-defined programme for consideration for the Washington conference in connection with the effort to arrive at an international understanding contemplating the solution of Pacific and Far Eastern questions.

This programme has been worked out in rather elaborate detail and will soon be disclosed to the conference by Baron Kijuro Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, who will act as Tokyo's plenipotentiary.

The following is understood to be a correct outline of the main features of the position the Japanese delegation will assume relative to the Far Eastern problem.

1. The free and peaceful development of the commerce of Japan, the United States and other nations on the Pacific.

2. Support by all pacific means of the independence and of the integrity of China, and the prestige of equal opportunity and the open door for the commerce and industry of all nations in that country.

3. Withdrawal of Japan's forces from the leased territory of Kiao Chan in the province of Shantung on a basis which Japan hopes will be satisfactory to Great Britain and the United States and fair and acceptable to the Chinese.

4. Neither the annexation nor the protectorate over Manchuria but recognition of the principle of equal opportunity and the open door for the commerce and industry of all nations in that country.

Charlotteville Patriot.—"It is time for a change to Liberalism. The swing of victory is with us. The Tories know they are doomed. It is said that they have been offered to some prominent Tories recently that Meighen would not elect 75 supporters, but there were no more than 25."

Bishop Macdonald of the Roman Catholic church took part in a reception to the new pastor of a Presbyterian church in Victoria, B. C., and was one of the speakers. When such incidents become general, the reign of religious tolerance will supplant that of bigotry in the world, for the world's good.

The tributes paid last evening to Miss Frost, matriarch of the Protestant Orphanage for twenty-five years, were nobly deserved, and there are many persons, men and women, who have passed under her care, who join in heartfelt appreciation of her work.

Organization Call For Better Standards of Dress. Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—Resolutions urging legislation which would prohibit the sale of cigarettes to women and calling for a better standard of dress were adopted by the National Council of Women.

Other resolutions passed condemned the "endemic" and "epidemic" diseases of the cigarette, and urged that the National Council of Women should be organized to hold its next meeting in 1925 in Philadelphia.

It was announced that a memorial room in the Victory Memorial Building recently dedicated by President Harding at Washington last evening, was in honor of the memory of Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and May Wright Sewall, three of the founders of the National Council of Women, and Frances E. Willard and Rachel F. Avery, two of its earliest members.

It is natural to assume that certain pests belong in their deadly perfection, to modern times only. But such is not the case with mosquitoes, according to an expert of the department of agriculture, who is held to be the foremost authority on what is sometimes called the "New Jersey canary," his researches indicate that the inhabitants of ancient Greece were sometimes forced to abandon their dwellings to avoid the attacks of mosquitoes.

As the lower south discovered recently that it was a mistake to depend wholly upon cotton, so Cuba has learned that it is folly to pin all its fortunes to sugar and tobacco. Cuba imports almost annually 2,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar duty free, while Cuba should admit without duty American goods to the same value.

Ontario Gets Big Farm, Will Raise Tobacco. RIDGETOWN, Ont., Nov. 18.—The Ontario government has bought the 190-acre farm of A. D. Brien, live stock breeder, a figure understood to be $40,000, and will convert it into an experimental farm for development of spearmint, especially tobacco, for which this section of Ontario is becoming noted.

Engineer Meeting. A paper by Frank F. Vaughan on Electro-Therapeutics was given at the regular meeting of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada in the Orange hall last evening. Mr. Vaughan described the various uses to which electricity had been put in aiding the medical science, and there were illustrated by lantern slides.

A good-sized audience listened with interest to Rev. H. B. Clark last night in the Methodist church school room. Mr. Clark gave an amusing description of a trip and of his meetings with English and Welsh people. A number of slides were shown illustrating the beauty of Welsh scenery.

Under the amendment authorized yesterday the British manufacturer is only to be harassed to the extent of twenty per cent. of the total import price (plus the cost of Atlantic freight and customs duties) of the British makers of woollens, or more probably than the amount of the wage bill for the Canadian manufacturer.

The effort by the Ottawa authorities to eliminate competition in these lines, and to give the Canadian manufacturer a full monopoly, was made by regulation. The regulation required that an indication of the country of origin had to be woven into imported linoleums and carpets at intervals of every five yards.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Wood-Hatheway.
A pretty wedding took place in Old King's Chapel, Boston, on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 16, at 3 o'clock, when Miss Miriam D. M. Hatheway, of this city, was united in marriage to W. Miller Wood, formerly of Newport (R. I.), and now of this city. Mrs. Wood, sr., of Newport, mother of the groom, was present at the ceremony, also Mrs. and Mrs. W. Franklin Hatheway, of this city, parents of the bride; her sister, Miss Grace Hatheway, of Hopewell, Virginia, who attended as bridesmaid, and a few near relatives of the bride and groom. Rev. H. E. B. Speight, who officiated, read the old Episcopal service of King's Chapel, which has been used since early in the seventeenth century and which is both simple and impressive. This was followed by a short and very beautiful closing address to the bride and groom. The bride looked charming in a suit of pearl grey with plush trimmings. She wore a small plush hat to match, with flower trimmings of bronze and iron shades. Miss Grace Hatheway, as bridesmaid, also was gowned in grey and wore a toque with flowers of dahlia shades. After a short honeymoon spent in the vicinity of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will return to St. John and take up their residence in Leneston street. The good wishes of many friends are extended to them.

RECENT DEATHS

Miss Johanna Hassan.
At her residence, 14 Clarence street, West St. John, Miss Johanna Hassan, died yesterday at the age of eighty-two. She had been sick for quite a long time. Miss Hassan had been a life-long resident of Carleton and was born in St. John, of Belfast parents. She is survived by one sister, Miss Catherine Hassan, and three nieces, Mrs. F. L. Keane, Mrs. E. M. Penny and Mrs. Genevieve Ritchie, all of West St. John. The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at eight o'clock from her late residence to the Church of the Assumption for high mass of requiem.

REFUGE OF THE NEW POOR.

Dukes and Generals Have Their Suits Renovated.

London, Nov. 18.—We appear to have got beyond the day when it was a reproach to a boy at an elementary school to be wearing knickers made out of mother's old skirt.
According to the sartorial authority of the "Tailor and Cutter," the only people who appear to be busy in the tailoring world are those who turn suits, or, failing that, drastic treatment, renovate them to make them look like new.
As indicating the class of customers who patronize the repairing tailor in these times, when suits are worn to the bitter end, it is said that one has in his work-rooms garments to be turned or renovated belonging to doctors, solicitors and other professional men, while a firm specializing in the sartorial restoration business has on its books as customers the names of dukes, lords and generals.
The overcoat season is upon us, and thoughts, even as in pre-war days, go out to scheming methods of keeping the old suit alive until the spring fashion plates meet our eye.

Whether the repairing tailor is resping more than his after-holiday harvest is questioned, but there is no doubt that the demand for new clothing is small, in spite of the immense reductions that have been made in prices.

PLANS TO BEAT ST. LAWRENCE ICE JAMS BY HEATING WATER

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 18.—Experiments in heating the waters of the St. Lawrence River adjacent to power generating plants, for the purpose of eliminating interference by ice jams, are to be carried out by the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission. H. G. Acres, its engineer, made a statement to the International Joint Waterways Commission to that effect.
This statement was in answer to a prediction made yesterday by Hugh I. Cooper of New York that ice jams would prove a serious problem in the working out of proposed power development schemes. Mr. Acres was of the opinion the heating plant would obviate wholly the difficulty, which he pointed out, would have to be dealt with merely during the spring break-up of ice.

Our Stock of Christmas Blouses Offers a Charming Model for Each Occasion

The distinctive character of these smart blouses does away with the problem of what would be nice to give.

A touch of the Oriental is noticeable in a blouse of jade Canton crepe trimmed with black and gold beads.

A poppy red crepe meteor with black beads stands out in the crowd. A brown crepe-de-chine with sand inserts and jade beads is very attractive, while hand crocheted overblouses and smartorgette models in shades of tomato, henna and peacock are decidedly out of the ordinary. Paler and more conservative shades are also in evidence and feature sand, brown flesh, maize, Copernicus as well as plain black and white. These are tucked, beaded and lace trimmed in many charming ways.

Hand-made Blouses of finest voile, hemstitched, embroidered and lace trimmed are the daintiest things you could imagine.

FAMINE UNDER SOIL ROBBERY

Expert Says Germany, With but One-fifteenth of Area, Raises Six Times More Food Than U. S.— Gets Fertilizer from Air.

That the United States is threatened with a future when it will be unable to feed its population, but will be faced by famine conditions similar to those prevailing in the Orient, unless adequate steps are taken to restore the fertility of the soil, is the warning which was conveyed by C. H. McDowell in a recent address to the Chicago section of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. McDowell contrasted the fertilizer situation in this country with that in Germany, referring to the explosion of the huge chemical works at Oppau, where the Germans made fertilizers through the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen. Fifteen times as large as Germany, the United States, he pointed out, produces only the same amount of barley and not quite as much oats. Germany produces six times as many potatoes and twelve times as much rice as we do.

Germany, when the war broke out, had 6,000,000 farms, averaging fifteen acres, to our 6,840,000 farms, averaging 138 acres. Fifty per cent. more wheat, rye, barley, oats and potatoes were produced by these German farms than by our farms. And within the last thirty years Germany has raised her per capita yield from fifteen to twenty-nine bushels, while the United States increase is only one-fifteenth of the land area, Germany shows an agricultural efficiency about six times that of the United States.

Mr. McDowell says: "We of the United States have been a wasteful people. We have had too much land and have moved from state to state in search of more fertile spots and neglected to maintain the producing power of our conquered areas."

"Large populations and low crop yields do not go together. In this country our population is rapidly growing, and we must more fully utilize nature's stores in our future development. Our population is increasing and our lands at the same time are being depleted. Our ditches are all lined with the fertility of our farms that they were dug to drain. From our rivers we lose annually 600,000,000 tons of fertility, thereby diminishing productivity at a rapid rate. Our sewer pipes are taking from our farms 50,000,000 tons of fertility annually. The crops that are taken from the fields and never get back in any form, take 30,000,000 more tons of fertility from our lands each year."

The population of the United States will be more than doubled by the year 2000, according to Mr. McDowell, who cites the calculations of Edward M. East of Harvard, whom he also quotes as placing the ultimate population limit of this country at 197,000,000, according to our present methods of agriculture and rates of food and clothing consumption. The engineer and the chemist must co-operate, says Mr. McDowell, the engineer to prevent the erosion of the land and the desertification of woodlands, and the chemist to perfect new and improved fertilizer methods, preventing soil famine. Fertilizer From the Air.

"The progress made in the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen has opened unexpected supplies of this element," said the chemist. "For a long time . . . . . It has been considered that the three elements, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, were the only plant foods necessary to supply ordinary soil. . . . . However, . . . . . within the last few weeks it seems to have been definitely proved that the tobacco plant must have a certain amount of magnesium in its food supply in order that it may be properly cured."

"It is asserted that the super-excellence of the Hawaiian pineapples is due to the manganese present in the soils of the distant isles where the fruit grows. Are we then to believe that only these two plants are peculiarly susceptible to such conditions? Most of the experiment stations of the country are now studying the effect of sulphur, both elemental and in compounds. What a research field is open to the agriculturist and the chemist!"

"We could go on pointing out almost without end the problems that confront the scientist. Our agricultural science must be national; must be removed from politics and commercial influences. We must realize that as a nation we must get more from our soil."

Unless these vital problems are solved in the near future, concluded the speaker, coming generations will find their food supply restricted, either as to quantity or variety, to a point where degeneration of the race sets in, and there will be conditions here similar to those now obtaining in the Orient.

SCIENTISTS TO TEST THE SIGHT OF BEES

Experiments Expected to Have an Important Bearing on Natural Selection--Color Blindness at Issue.

A series of delicate experiments will soon be started by three eminent American scientists to discover whether bees and other insects are color-blind or not. The scientists who are now busy inventing devices for testing the vision of bees are Dr. F. E. Lutz, a biologist of the American museum of Natural History; Dr. J. Arthur Harris, an entomologist of the Carnegie Institution, and Prof. F. K. Hightmeyer and specialist in color vision. They form the Committee on the Biological Relations between Flowers and Insects of the National Research Council. Their tests of the sight of insects are expected to last for years and to establish just what a bee or a moth can see and what it cannot see. These years of elaborate experimentation have not been planned by the National Research Council and undertaken by three eminent scientists solely for the purpose of ascertaining a bee's optical equipment. A greater question lies behind. The controversy about the bee's sight, it is said, involves the validity of the whole theory of natural selection.

The evolution of man from the lower animals and the evolution of all plant and animal life from a primitive form of life originating on earth billions or hundreds of millions of years ago are almost universally believed by scientists, by the hypothesis that the evolution was brought about almost solely by the process of natural selection has come under attack recently from many quarters. This is where the bee's sight becomes important.

Theologians hold generally that the beautiful colors of the flowers were placed there by the Creator for the delight of man. The biologist has generally denied this, and argued that the colors are there because they attract the attention of bees. The visits of the bees result in carrying pollen from one flower to another, which fertilizes the seeds. Unless they receive the pollen the seeds do not grow.

The cumbersome phrase of natural selection in this case is intended to describe a process probably millions of years old, under which the flowers which most attracted the bees by their colors or scent were selected by greatest numbers, while those less attractive received fewer visits from the bees and tended to die off. In each generation the flowers which pleased the bees most would be "selected" to live.

These "selected" parents would have offspring, some brighter than themselves, some about the same as themselves and some less bright (that is, of colors which were less attractive to the bees, whose standards of brightness might differ greatly from ours). The action of the bees, tending to preserve the prettiest colors, would make each generation of flowers slightly lovelier than its predecessors, thus producing

Are Bees Color-Blind?

This theory has been accepted for many years, but recently it has been rudely shaken. Investigations in Germany and Belgium have made it doubtful whether a bee can tell one color from another, or whether the flowers which are gorgeous to human eyes have any power, by reason of their coloring to attract the attention of the bees at all. The results have so far been so uncertain, however, that the American scientists and institutions agreed that it was necessary to make a far-reaching study of the whole subject.

Initiating the Greek painter Zeuxis, who painted cherries so perfect that birds pecked them out of the canvas, the Belgian scientists, Plateau and Wrey, made artificial flowers and attempted to use them to deceive bees. The bees lit on Plateau's artificial flowers, but ignored Wrey's. Plateau arrived at the conclusion that bees could see colors, and Wrey asserted that they could not. The two men studied each other's work.

"The bees were not attracted by the colors of your flowers," asserted Wrey to Plateau, "but you used starch to stiffen the petals and the bees lit on them to eat the starch."

"That is not so," replied Plateau. "Further than that, the bees would have been attracted by your flowers, except that you made the mistake of coloring them with aniline dye. The odor of the dyes offended the delicate sense of smell of the bees, and they were driven off on that account."

Two Germans, von Hess and von Frisch, who are investigating the subject, tentatively hold contrary conclusions. One of the Germans placed bits of paper of various colors in a room, placed drops of honey on the blue spots and let bees fly into the room. He did this for day after day to accustom the bees to obtaining their honey from a blue background. Then one day, he set out the colored spots without placing honey on any of them. The bees did not fly to the blue spots, as would have been expected if they could distinguish that color and associate it with the sweet flavor. Their behavior here indicated that they were guided by smell alone. One of the German scientists concluded that the bees took no note of color at all, while another held that many colors did attract the attention of bees, but that blue did seem to make some impression on them.

If the colors of flowers have not been developed to insure their perpetuation by stimulating bees to pilferate their sweets, the scientist wants to know what they are there for. The religious explanation that they are there to cause the mortal being of man to rejoice, if not rejected by the biologist, is usually held for some explanation more susceptible of exact proof. Sir Oliver Lodge and many other scientists and the beauties of Nature were designed, regardless of the manner in which they are manufactured, for the benefit of the human soul, but this explanation is usually dismissed as "mystical" or "creationalist" philosophy, and as having no proper influence as a guide to the research man.

Dr. F. E. Lutz has pointed out that there are many organic objects which please the taste of man and for which no biological origin could be traced. "For instance," he said, "there are types of snails whose shells are beautiful in the hidden interior. As for the beauty of flowers, it may be that they have colors simply as by-products of the physiology of plants. I would not say, however, that this was through 'chance.'"

Biologists have attempted to account for the coloring of many insects or animals, as well as flowers, on the principle of "natural selection." The plumage of birds and the colors of fishes aid in courtship, mating and the increase of the species. Zebras, giraffes and thousands of types of animals, birds and insects, have camouflage or protective coloration which makes it difficult for their enemies to detect them at a distance. The curious coloring of the skunk is supposed to warn his enemies that he has developed a wicked art of self-defense, which grows inside the body of the skunk at the same time his colors blend with the twilight, so that the skunk makes a natural part of the skyline to the mice and insects on which he preys. The light of the lady slow-worm is her matrimonial advertisement.

While evolution explains thousands of these things, it has many hard nuts to crack. One thing hard to explain, for instance, is the beauty of the pearl, which grows inside the body of the oyster. The pearl is really the massed-up remains of a parasite which has invaded the shellfish and is elaborately buried by it in lustrous calcium carbonate, slightly different from the material of which the oyster makes its shell.

Arranging for Experiments.

Dr. Lutz and his associates spent two days in this city last week, outlining experiments to be suggested in a report to the National Research Council. These will include experiments as to the vision of the bee, wasp, moth, fly, and other insects, but primarily the bee.

The inquiry may have a valuable practical result. If it is found that the bee does not have color vision and is especially fond of a particular color, it may be possible by grafting to combine the bee's favorite color with rich honey-producing flowers which are not thoroughly exploited by the bee at present.

Dr. Lutz said that the preponderance today was that the bee cannot see red, but that it can see blue. It is thought possible, also, that the bee's vision may be adjusted so that he can see flowers which reflect ultra-violet rays, which are invisible to the human sight. Certain desert flowers are now believed to reflect ultra-violet light. One of the important parts of the inquiry will be to ascertain what other flowers, if any, reflect the ultra-violet rays, and whether these flowers make any special appeal to the bee. This will be done by concentrating light on the flowers through a spectroscopic and photographing it. While invisible to

The principal attack on the theory of natural selection in recent years has come from scientists who refused to admit that natural selection accounted for the development of certain organs and members which apparently had to undergo ages of development before they became useful. Natural selection, it is argued, could not cause feathers, which would be of no immediate value to a reptile, to grow on the reptile, because the feathers were to be of great value later when the reptile turned into a bird, when the reptile turned into a bird, the special instruments of insects, such as the ovipositor, which is a perfect hypodermic needle for burying eggs, and have been alleged recently to be equipment of a kind which could not be produced by natural selection, as the theory is commonly understood.

Home and Various Phases of Public Life.

Addresses at Methodist Episcopal Conference—Restore Home Standards—Criticism of "The New Feminism."

Detroit, Nov. 13.—A challenge to the church to assume the leadership in the home and in various phases of public life was sounded by speakers here yesterday at the National Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Bishop Howard H. Hughes of Boston, in summing up the results of the three-day meeting, declared work of the centenary movement had only begun.

"The present hour must be a new Calvary, where once again we will take up the burden of the Cross and Christianize the world," he said.

Declaring the American home is disintegrating under the influence of "the new feminism," Rev. Fred. W. Adams of Springfield, Mass., made a plea for changes in home life. "We do not want the old Puritanism to return," he said, "but we do desire that the standards in the home that prevailed during the country's infancy be remodeled to meet the needs of this day."

"The new feminism is drawing the best of our womanhood from marriage and motherhood, while loose morals on the permanence of marriage are being imported by Russian barefoot dancers. The hand that stops rocking the cradle begins to rock the boat of our family life."

LIBERAL CANDIDATES
GET FINE RECEPTION AT ALBERT MEETING

Albert, Nov. 17.—The splendid reception given at Hillsboro last evening to the Liberal candidates, Dr. Broderick and H. H. McLellan, was repeated at the Albert tonight in Oulton Hall here. The speakers got a splendid hearing, and it would be difficult to find a more absorbingly interested audience.

On motion of Alexander Rogers, ex-M.P., seconded by G. W. Newcomb, councillor, W. J. Carnwath was chosen chairman. Dr. Broderick, the first speaker, received great applause on rising to speak. After expressing his pleasure at being present to ask for support for the great Liberal party, he briefly referred to the election of 1917, where he was a candidate, saying that while there was a division in the Liberal ranks at that time now the party was united and all standing solidly behind the next premier of Canada, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. The speaker dealt at some length with the question of woman suffrage. In reference to the granting of votes to women, the speaker paid high tribute to Hon. Wm. Pugsley, the present lieutenant-governor, who made the first move in this direction.

The speaker made glowing reference to the Laurier regime, which he pronounced the golden era in Canadian history. Telling reference was made to the present government's action in diverting Canadian trade through the American port of Portland, and the speaker effectively showed up the so-called "National Liberal and Conservative" party as adopting largely the very policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in regard to reciprocity.

Taking up the question of the tariff, the speaker explained the difference between a tariff for revenue and high protection, and said he felt that this matter could safely be left in the hands of Hon. Mr. King.

Loud applause greeted the speaker as he dealt with the government's extravagance, which showed a high degree of autocracy, and, he considered, well warranted the using of this term. The C.

G. M. marine matter was handled forcibly and railway matters came in for straight from the shoulder treatment. A local and effective touch was given when the speaker spoke of the taking over of the Salisbury and Albert road with such an increase in freight rates that made a heavy burden on the people of this county. The candidate closed his splendidly delivered address by calling for the votes of the people, not for the candidates' personal interests, but for the great Liberal party and for him who had been schooled in the lessons of Liberalism by that great leader now gone, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

A Fine Reception.
E. J. Henneberry, of St. John, secretary of the Liberal Association, then spoke at some length.

H. H. McLellan received a great reception when he arose to speak, for which he thanked the audience in a few graceful words. In his introductory remarks he referred to the opinion he had that the Liberal party had courage enough to rise above all differences and assist to drive from power the government which on account of its sins of omission and commission had earned the disfavor of the people. The country wanted a change. Canada should be governed by those competent to do so and not by those working in favor of the big interests. The speaker dealt strikingly with the statement that the tariff was the sole issue today, and felt, he said, that those who made such a declaration must think the people were pretty easy marks.

The tariff matter was thoroughly dealt with and the claims of the government strongly criticised. Mr. McLellan referred to Hon. Mr. Baxter's reference at Hillsboro to Hon. R. B. Bennett, a former Albert boy, joining up with Hon. Mr. Meighen, the latter a protectionist. "What made Mr. Bennett, at one time a low tariff man, a protectionist now?" Mr. McLellan asked. Was it because of his wealth? Mr. McLellan vigorously assailed the government's railway policy which he said was simply a railway crime. The Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk matters were handled without gloves. The greatest crime of all, the speaker said, was the purchase by the government of the Grand Trunk, the gigantic wasting of the people's money which deserved the strongest condemnation. Intense interest was shown by the audience as the speaker brought fact after fact and a long array of figures to prove his points. The speaker cited the great contrast in the present wasteful railway policy with that of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. In statesmanlike and telling manner he dealt with broad national questions and condemned in vigorous language the premier's statement that the west owed nothing to the east, made to the St. John delegation at Ottawa.

Conservatives themselves believed, he said, that the government was doomed. The speaker, in closing, said that he wished the people of Albert would not consider this end of the constituency the tail of the dog, and he assured them that if he and his colleagues were elected and Hon. McKenzie King put in power every square inch of the county would have a square deal. In force and eloquence Mr. McLellan's address has seldom been equalled on an Albert platform. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

VENIOT CHALLENGES
BAXTER REGARDING PREMIER CLARK

St. George, Nov. 17.—Dr. C. C. Alexander presided at the first big political rally of this campaign in the Broadway theatre last night. Notwithstanding November weather at its worst, the hall was comfortably filled when the candidate, W. F. Todd, and Hon. P. J. Veniot, minister of public works, entered the hall.

Cheers and hand clapping greeted Mr. Todd who at once launched out in a speech that carried his audience back to the days of 1908. He dwelt in an able manner on the chief issues of the day, showing a grasp of the political conditions in Canada, truly gratifying to his admirers and well able to cause the many Conservatives present to think seriously. The debt, a staggering one, was dwelt on as was the apparent determination of the present government to make it worse. The tariff was treated briefly and conditions today compared with the golden era of Liberal rule. At the conclusion for the candidates remarks, cheers, genuine and prolonged, told the speaker his remarks were appreciated by his audience.

Hon. Mr. Veniot.

Hon. Mr. Veniot in opening thanked the chairman for the very flattering introduction given him by the chairman and told of the inception of the good roads campaign in New Brunswick. Taking up dominion issues he rapidly reviewed the conditions in Canada and pointed out the disasters that would follow the return to power of the present Ottawa administration.

Turning his attention to the Conservative leaders in New Brunswick the speaker quoted from the records of the New Brunswick legislature a vote of censure passed by the house on certain members of the Conservative party in New Brunswick, over the patriotic po-

MOST dealers in Canada acknowledge the good value and low cost-per-mile of Goodyear Tires and want to sell them.

Over 4,000 of the best dealers do sell them.

Even those dealers who have special inducements to sell other makes of tires admit that Goodyear Tires are today better than ever they were.

These dealers know that Goodyear quality is the soundest foundation on which to build a business and they welcome the visit of a Goodyear salesman.

New dealers are not added to the Goodyear organization haphazard. They are selected. They must have business ideals and a real desire to give heaping value to their customers. tatoes. Among others voicing their indignation was the present candidate of the Conservatives in Charlotte, Watson Grimmer. Was it consistent, the speaker asked, to follow the man today he had censured a short time ago?

The speaker told of the attitude of Mr. Baxter with respect to the memory of the lamented premier, Hon. George J. Clark, when the son of Charlottetown was closed in death, and dared Mr. Baxter to deny his words in his meeting here next week and offering to meet the substantial his statements.

Mr. Veniot was at his best and his remarks were impressive and received by the audience with cheers. On conclusion, Mr. Veniot gave a prophecy. Taking the counties of the province in order he predicted a fine Liberal victory in the province with Mr. Todd a winner in Charlottetown, and a well known Conservative remarked after the meeting: "He is right, Todd will carry Charlottetown."

The meeting closed with the national anthem. Music was furnished by Professor Watt and a full orchestra.

HARDING WROTE CONFERENCE BID ON HIS YACHT

Washington, Nov. 18.—The story of how the arms conference came into being has leaked out. It is said that early this fall, while President Harding was on one of his week-end cruises down the Potomac, he locked himself in his stateroom one evening, and a little later called to his room, one by one, some of the close friends in public life who had accompanied him on the cruise, and laid before them some written sheets. Astonished, they read an invitation to the committee to attend a conference on disarmament.

It was shown by the demonstrator that the wonderfully satisfactory results were due to the fact that "Wear-Ever" aluminum utensils take the heat more quickly, more evenly and hold it longer than other cooking wares, besides effecting a substantial saving in fuel.

PRINCESS MARY'S RABBITS

The corridors of Buckingham Palace were ever open to Nurse Bachus, who gave her free access to all parts of the establishment. Many titled gentlemen, ladies-in-waiting to the Queen and Princess Mary, were given treatment by Nurse Bachus, and Sir Charles Fitz-Williams, the King's Equerry, took great interest in the little hospital. Sir Frederick Stanley Hewitt, King George's surgeon-gynecologist, paid a high tribute to her skill.

WIDOW OF VICTORIA'S COACHMAN

Before her appointment to the staff hospital at Buckingham Palace, Nurse Bachus was a private nurse at Hampton Court Palace, where the pensioners of Buckingham Palace occupy charming apartments. #### BRITISH LABOR M. P.'S COMPLETE TOUR OF EGYPT

Caused Little Excitement and Met With No Unpleasant Incidents—Nationalist Invitation.

Caro, Egypt, October 22—(By mail)—A delegation of labor members of the British Parliament has just completed an unofficial tour of investigation in Egypt. It was headed by J. E. Swann, member of the House of Commons and a mining leader of Durham. The local press devoted columns daily to the activities of the mission, but it caused little excitement and there was no unfortunate incidents such as occurred in previous instances.

It is regarded as unfortunate in business circles here that the visit of the Swann Mission was personally conducted by the Nationalists Party. It came at the invitation of Saad Pasha Zagloul, president of the Nationalists. Business men feel that under such conditions the mission did not have the best opportunity to obtain a comprehensive view of conditions in Egypt. They also question whether the mission's attention to the study of the commercial and financial conditions in this country.

The extravagant hospitality of the Orientals is likely to make a visitor forget that the East, like the West, depends for its prosperity upon its commercial and financial machinery.

So far as known, the Swann Mission did not consult with the large foreign colonies here which handle the financial and commercial business of the country, which is so essential to its prosperity. With the exception of the growing and picking of the cotton crop which constitutes Egypt's greatest contribution to the world's raw products, all the other operations of spinning, pressing, financing, insuring, exporting and shipping of cotton are done by foreigners. These men feel that their views should be considered by any group which hopes to make an impartial study of the Egyptian question.

In view of the foregoing facts, foreign business in Egypt doubt whether the Swann Mission will have much influence upon the negotiations now resumed in London between the representatives of the British and Egyptian governments.

A still alarm was sent in about 7.40 o'clock last evening for a chimney fire in the house of Usher Miller on Alexandria street.

Hilton A. Belyea has secured the interest of Isaac Griffith in the Carleton open-air rink and intends to enlarge it to accommodate those who wish to try speed skating. The band room will be enlarged and there will be a check room where hot drinks will be served. At one end of the lot a public dump has been opened and it is hoped that a baseball field can be started next summer.

Mayor Schofield yesterday said that he intended to issue a warning to the unemployed of other sections of the country to stay away from St. John this winter. He understood the many were waiting for the waterfront to open with the intention of coming here. R. E. Armstrong said yesterday that sailors were beginning to drift into St. John, and that very few men were shipped at this port last season and probably there would be less chance this winter.

The opening night of the term of Alexandra Temple No. 6. T. of H. and T. was held last evening in Temple Hall. A programme for the coming winter was mapped out and officers elected. The committee appointed to arrange for a memorial service for the late D. I. Robinson was Hon. Dr. Roberts, Rev. Dr. Hutchison and S. E. Logan. The officers were installed by C. T. Green, grand templar, assisted by J. B. Eagles, grand usher, and W. L. Roberts, grand temple. They were as follows: W. L. Downey, Chief Templar, F. F. Duval, Vice-Templar, A. V. Cowan, Recorder, E. Hartshorn, Asst. Recorder, S. E. Logan, Fin. Recorder, F. P. Gallop, Treasurer, Chester McCouch, Usher, Charles Richardson, D. Fisher, H. W. Bromfield, Chaplain, A. L. Roberts, Sentinel, C. T. #### CAUGHT PRIMITIVE ANDEAN CATFISH

Scientist Tells of a Species so Old That it "Had Teeth but No Whiskers."

Chicago, Nov. 18—After a two days' session in the course of which scores of papers were read, covering subjects ranging from the measurement of enormous stars to the best methods of telling the ages of fresh water fishes, the Autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences concluded its sessions at the University of Chicago.

Professor C. H. Eigenmann in his paper on the fishes of South America said: "I caught one catfish so old that he had teeth and no whiskers. He was literally older than the hills. I discovered that in many instances the same kind of fresh water fishes live both sides of the Andes Mountains. As the fish are not mountain climbers, some people have asked me how I explained how they got over the mountains. The answer is simple. They didn't get over the mountains. The fish were there first, all in a happy family, swimming about the rovers on the plains. Then came the upheavals which made the mountains, and each group of fishes was broken up. Some went on one side and some on the other."

He knew the fish were primitive, he said, "because of the teeth of the catfish being part of the development of the catfish that they lose their teeth before they begin to lose whiskers."

Professor B. N. Besley read a paper on "the structure of the posterior lobe of the pituitary body which he explained was a small substance, about the size of a hazel-nut, tucked away in the middle of the skull, near the base of the brain.

"Despite the minute size of this organ," he said, "it is essential to life. Its removal would be followed almost instantly by death. It is associated chemically with astounding manifestations of growth. A disorder of the gland will produce gigantism in human beings. Extracts from this gland, injected into an animal, will cause a remarkable rise of blood pressure."

The posterior lobe, Professor Besley said, was lined with cysts containing a jellylike substance. "By tying a string around the duct," he continued, "you can dam up the secretion; but, despite our laboratory experiments, we know little about this substance, and speculations as to its functioning leads us only to the most fantastic theories."

"In the intermediary part we find a highly volatile which evaporates or disappears rapidly from the cell after death. This can be fixed, however, by precipitating agents; but the net result of our researches only shows that it is a new section as yet not chemically identified."

THRILLING RIDE ON AUTOMOBILE

Prohibition Officer Carried Down a Steep Hill and Smashed Into Electric Car.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 18—Officer Farrell of the city police had a thrilling experience and was carried down Clifton Hill and half-way across the bridge in an auto which smashed the vestibule of an International car.

Farrell saw the auto and was suspicious of its contents. Feeling the pockets of the occupant, Lawrence Phillip, he discovered a revolver, and getting on the running board of the auto, ordered him to drive to the Central police station. All went well until Centre street was reached when the prisoner, instead of turning up Centre street, swerved at full speed down the steep Clifton Hill, which goes to the river.

The prisoner then turned at the Upper Bridge, and, at fifty miles an hour, passed the Customs House, and in the middle of the bridge swerved into an International car, tearing the vestibule completely off.

By this time Farrell had climbed into the car and had hold of the prisoner, who put up a terrific struggle. With the assistance of railwaymen, he was held and captured. The street car was wrecked and could not proceed, while the automobile was a total wreck.

Behind the gun, a large quantity of bottles of whiskey was found in the car. A big lamp standard on the bridge was also demolished. The policeman, though badly shaken, clung like a terrier to his captive and was able to take him to the police station. Phillip was arraigned today on three charges, having liquor, carrying a gun, and reckless driving and remained until tomorrow.

BRITISH PLAN TREATY WITH PRINCE FEISAL

Paris, Nov. 18—Herbert A. L. Fisher, member of the council of the League of Nations of Great Britain, announced in yesterday's session of the council meeting here that Great Britain was preparing to negotiate a treaty with Prince Feisal, King of the Iraq region of Mesopotamia, defining the relations of the British government as mandatory power to the new kingdom.

The treaty, he said, will be based on the principles announced by the king himself in his accession speech, during the course of which he said the freedom of religion and worship and "the equity of commercial dealings with foreign countries" would be assured. The treaty will control the foreign relations of the Iraq region to the British government. The kingdom of Iraq, which includes virtually all of Mesopotamia, is one of the territories covered by the A class mandates, which are still to be approved by the league council, and concerning which the United States government recently notified the council that it must have a voice.

HISTORY OF N. S. CONSTITUENCIES

Kings County, the Home of Evangeline, Birthplace of Sir Robert Borden—Some New Men in the Field.

(Canadian Press.)

Antigonish-Guysboro forms the eastern extremity of the peninsula of Nova Scotia. 1892-1895, minister of justice in the cabinet, Antigonish, was the seat of Sir John Thompson, premier of Nova Scotia 1892-1895, minister of justice in the Macdonald and Abbott governments, Macdonald government in the same year 1886-1892, and prime minister of Canada that the then George Foster of New settled by the Acadians, were the forests primeval; here Evangeline, the mythical maiden immortalized by the New England bard, watched the turgid tides of the Basin of Blomidon. Later the people of British descent cut down the forests primeval and built ships which were famous on the ports of all the seas. More recently the inhabitants have replaced the forest primeval with extensive apple orchards.

Grand Pre, Kings county, was the birthplace of Sir Robert Borden, leader of the Canadian government during the war. When the Union government was formed in 1917, Sir Robert stood for his native county, being elected by a large majority. Kings also had a representative in the Laurier government—Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia. In the present election the candidates are H. W. Phinney, government, and Ernest Robinson, Liberal, both successful men new to federal politics.

Brunswick became minister of marine and fisheries, was generally regarded as the leader of the Conservative party after the fatal illness of Sir John A. Macdonald in 1891, during Sir John Abbott's brief tenure of the premiership, and until the time of his death, which occurred dramatically in Windsor Castle a few minutes after he had been summoned before Queen Victoria, and sworn in as Her Majesty's privy councillor.

The last representative of Antigonish-Guysboro in the federal house was John H. Sinclair, a barrister of New Glasgow, who was first elected in a by-election in 1908 and sat continuously until the dissolution of the last parliament. The candidates in the present contest are Walter McNeill, government, a young man who has built up a large shipping and lumbering business from small beginnings; C. F. McIsaac, Liberal, who is a veterinary surgeon, and D. A. McIsaac, United Farmer, who is a physician by profession and a nephew of the Liberal candidate.

Kings County, N. S. is a land of romance and poetry. Here, when first

Colchester county, N. S., has helped make political history. In the first confederation government formed by Sir John A. Macdonald in 1867, Adam George Archibald of Truro was secretary of state for the province, but in the general elections of that year he was beaten in Gloucester by A. W. McLellan, the Liberal leader. Though he had been one of the first to advocate confederation, Howe bitterly opposed the arrangements offered by Sir John A. Macdonald and accepted by Sir Charles Tupper, and after the elections which gave the anti-confederates seventeen out of eighty-eight seats and thirty-six out of thirty-eight seats in the provincial assembly, Howe held the province in the hollow of his hand and started a fight with the federal government for better terms for Nova Scotia, a fight in which McLellan played an important role. In 1869, Sir John A. Macdonald having offered the province more favorable terms, Howe accepted an appointment in the dominion government, and McLellan being made a senator and also one of the four commissioners appointed to build the Intercolonial Railway, resigned his seat. Archibald stood again for Colchester and was elected, but only by the exercise of all the influence possessed by McLellan, who was head of one of the big ship owning and shipbuilding firms of the province.

In 1870, Archibald was appointed first lieutenant-governor of the new Province of Manitoba.

In 1881, McLellan became president of the Canadian cabinet, and in the following year was appointed minister of marine and fisheries, when he resigned from the senate and was elected for Colchester.

Later, McLellan was appointed lieutenant-governor of the province, and, like several other Nova Scotia governors, died at the government house, Halifax.

The results of dominion general elections in Colchester since confederation follow:

In 1867, A. W. McLellan, L.; 1872, F. H. Pearsons, L.; in 1874 and 1878, Thos. McKay, C.; 1882 and 1887, A. W. McLellan, C.; 1891, W. A. Patterson, C.; 1896, W. D. Dinwiddie, C.; 1900, S. Gourlay, C.; 1904, F. A. Lawrence, L.; 1908, B. McCurdy, then head of the brokerage firm of F. B. McCurdy & Co., was elected by acclamation as a Conservative.

Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts Making Plea for Health of Child

Fredericton, Nov. 17.—(Special)—The New Brunswick School Trustees' convention this afternoon heard three addresses upon various topics connected with education at the present time, and afterward took the first step toward permanent organization by appointing a committee of fifteen, one from each county, which will report later upon the selection of officers and a permanent executive of six. A constitution and by-laws will be framed later.

Those who spoke this afternoon were Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, upon "The Scholar and His School-house;" Dr. B. C. Foster, of Fredericton, president of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association, on "The Function of the Teachers' Association in Educational Progress," and J. Stirling King, of Hartland, secretary of the Carleton county Trustees' Association, on "The Trustees' Association, or a New and Better Vision of Educational Progress."

Health Education
The fact that health education was not being carried out in the schools, the jails and the asylums, Hon. Dr. Roberts dealt with some of the conditions which showed that health education was not being carried out. Dealing with the requirements of the modern school-room, the speaker outlined the appliances which might be expected. He had been surprised to find in the school manual that scales and measuring rods should be in every school house. He did not know where to find them. They should exist nevertheless. They were connected with the important matter of under-nutrition of children. Hon. Mr. Roberts also referred to the condition of outhouses which frequently exists in connection with schools. His department had asked for a report on all railway outhouses in the province. The report had been surprising and improved conditions would follow. The same should be done with the schools. In that connection he urged that there be more frequent visits of trustees to the rural and other schools. Concluding his address, Hon. Dr. Roberts pointed out the responsibility of the school trustee for the coming generation.

County representatives were elected as follows:
Kings—P. F. Blanchett, Rothesay.
Queens—J. L. Allingham, Hartland.
Sunbury—Osman Sewell.
York—Dr. Robertson.
Carleton—J. Stirling King.
Victoria—William Cuffey, Wapske.
Albert—A. B. Leuder.
St. John—S. Bradshaw.
Madawaska—Mr. Belanger.
Kent—Mr. Jallet.
Westmorland—Le O'Hern.
Restigouche—F. M. Anderson, Campbellton.
Gloucester—Mr. Robichaud.
Charlotte—John P. Calder.
Northumberland—Dr. Nicholson.

The regular meeting of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs' Union, No. 661, was held last evening in their hall, 24 Paradise Row. The president, A. Kirkpatrick, was in the chair. Routine business was transacted. The meeting was attended by a large number of the members of the union.

HEAR ABOUT OUR OWN PROVINCE

Mrs. John A. McAvity gave the final lecture in the Ladies' Association of the Natural History Society's fall course yesterday afternoon in the Natural History rooms and greatly delighted a large audience with a most interesting travel talk on "Here and There in New Brunswick."

She showed in stereopticon views many of the beauty spots of the province and related much of the interesting history of New Brunswick, while also telling many little known facts concerning the natural features of the country. She was heartily thanked for a most enjoyable and memorable address.

Mrs. W. H. Shaw, the president of the association, before calling upon Mrs. McAvity, spoke in feeling terms of the great loss which the society had sustained in the death of its president, R. B. Emerson.

At the close of the lecture a presentation was made to William McIntosh, the curator of the museum, on behalf of the association by Mrs. Shaw as a slight token of appreciation of his assistance and of the work which he has done in scientific research. Mr. McIntosh, while taken completely by surprise, expressed his appreciation. A hearty vote of thanks extended to Mrs. McAvity was moved by Mrs. Harold Lawrence and seconded by Mrs. J. M. Lawrence.

UNIONISTS UPHOLD IRISH NEGOTIATIONS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Liverpool, Nov. 17.—By an overwhelming majority, the Unionist party in session here today endorsed, with certain reservations, the negotiations now in progress between the British government and the Irish representatives. This attitude was expressed by an amendment to a resolution moved by Col. John Gretton, member of parliament for Rutlandshire, calling upon the conference to resolve that no settlement of the Irish question was acceptable which did not respect absolutely the position acquired by Ulster through the creation of a northern parliament.

The amendment to the resolution expressed the earnest hope "that consistent with the supremacy of the crown, the security of the Empire, the pledges given to Ulster and the safeguarding of the interests of the minority in South Ireland, a solution to the Irish difficulties may be found in the conference now in progress, which will bring peace to Great Britain and Ireland and strength to the Empire."
General Gretton in moving his resolution and referring to a proposed amendment by Sir Lennox Worthington-Evans, secretary for war, wishing success to the Irish peace negotiations, said that the "watering down" of the motion would ultimately lead to the disintegration and destruction of the Conservative-Unionist party.
"We must accept the Irish conference as an accomplished fact," he said, "but it is a hopeless enterprise unless one side or the other is prepared to sacrifice something vital."
Colonel Martin Archer-Shee, Unionist member of parliament for Finsbury, seconding the Gretton motion, said that as soon as the negotiations broke down, as they surely would, the Conservatives must leave the coalition and set up a government which would really govern the country.
"I am sick and tired of a government that is carrying out a radical policy and which is led by a radical leader," he explained.

The Pythian Castle in Union street was the scene of a happy assembly last night when about 400 were present to enjoy a dance held by the St. John chapter of the Graduate Nurses Association. An excellent programme of twenty-two dances was provided by Jones' five-piece orchestra and dancing was continued until the early hours of the morning. Mrs. F. M. McKelvey was the general convener, assisted by Miss Maud Gaskin. Those attending were received by Miss Margaret Murdock, president of the New Brunswick chapter; Miss Lila Belding, president of the St. John chapter; Miss Emma Mitchell, president of the General Public hospital alumnae; Mrs. McKelvey and Miss Ella McGaffigan.

The refreshment table decorations were prettily arranged and most effective. Red roses in a silver basket, red carnations and red candles decorated the serving table and the side table had a silver candelabrum with red candles as a central ornament. Mrs. Leonard Dunlop and Miss Eva Smith were conveners for the refreshments. Replenishing was in charge of Miss McGaffigan. The Mrs. D. C. Malcolm and Mrs. F. T. TOURING HOCKEYIST CASE NEARS CRISIS
Rupture in Hockey Relations is Causing Much Ill-Feeling.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 18.—International hockey relations are nearing a crisis, and a rupture between the United States and Canadian authorities is believed to be among the possibilities. There is undoubtedly a good deal of strong feeling here on the subject of the Canadian governing body's attitude toward Veno and other so-called tourist players. The whole question is interestingly discussed in the Boston Traveller by E. K. Todd, a well-known writer on hockey. He says, among other things: "President W. H. Granger of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has stated that it is very likely that the players who came to Boston, many of whom are on the Westminister team roster, will be refused amateur cards. As far as can be learned it doesn't make a great deal of difference whether or not President Granger issues the cards, for the Boston Hockey promoters declare that under the United States Hockey Association rules the men are eligible. "President Granger apparently is not taking into consideration the American regulations. The new Canadian regulations, just adopted, by the way, may provide that the players must establish residence August 1, but the United States Hockey Association's rules do not conflict with the Canadian regulations. For instance, the eastern group of which Boston is a member, has been allowed until December 1 to register players. In other words, any non-professional hockey player is eligible for the Boston team providing he becomes a resident of the Hub before December 1.

"Just what the Canadian officials can do about the situation is a mystery. The players are here and eligible for competition in the U. S. A., and that's all the Boston promoters are worrying about. "Incidentally, Canada may lose even more of the stars, for Raymie Skilton is out of the city on a business trip and rather reliable reports have it that he has gone to Canada. "This trip has been reported several times this fall, but all Boston is a mystery, has been allowed until December 1 to register players. In other words, any non-professional hockey player is eligible for the Boston team providing he becomes a resident of the Hub before December 1.

KILL WILD BEASTS TO PROTECT CATTLE

U. S. Government Hunters Have Bagged 156,150 Predatory Animals in 6 Years.

Government hunters in the last six years have killed with trap and gun, 156,150 wild animals that roamed the western cattle ranges and preyed on live stock, according to a report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Listed the predatory animals which go to make up the kill total, the inventories of the six-year campaign are 406 bears, 17,442 bobcats and lynxes, 188,094 coyotes, 668 mountain lions and 3,639 wolves.

The bag of the government hunters varied from 200 to 600, and the kill of state employes engaged in co-operative campaigns. The total shows the number of scalps taken; it does not include the large number of animals killed by poison.

The figures given represent the government's activities during this line in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

The number of coyotes whose scalps have been taken by government hunters and in co-operative campaigns, Nevada leads with 27,178; Utah is second with 18,707; Texas, third, with 14,830; Idaho, fourth, with 14,454; Oregon fifth with 10,351, and Washington sixth with 9,681.

In six states the number of bobcats and lynxes disposed of during the six years runs into four figures: Nevada, 4,864; Utah, 2,660; Texas, 2,199; Oregon, 2,048; Idaho, 1,418, and New Mexico, 1,292.

Arizona and New Mexico account for nearly two-thirds of the total number of mountain lions killed, their totals being 285 and 170, respectively. In Utah seventy-one mountain lions were killed; in Oregon forty-three, Colorado thirty-six, California twenty-nine and Nevada twenty-four.

GRAND JURY SCORES HEEDLESS DRIVERS

Criticize Autoists as Showing Boorish and Selfish Spirit.

"We view with alarm the large number of deaths arising from accidents involving motor vehicles, and would strongly urge that some effort should be made to educate the public and drivers of motor vehicles to exercise much greater care, and for the latter especially to learn the prohibitions and enactments of the Ontario legislature which oblige or require the driver of a motor vehicle not to exceed twenty miles per hour," said the president of the grand jury delivered to Mr. Justice Mastrin in Toronto the other day.

The grand jury said they believed drivers of cars considered they were not responsible for accidents if they kept within the speed limit. In place of the "boorishness and selfishness" so often displayed by auto drivers toward the public, the grand jury recommended the display of a better spirit. They urged that all vehicles, including bicycles, be forced to carry lights after dusk.

"Your jurors are emphatically of the opinion that incarceration at the jail farm is no punishment," said the grand jury. They thought the jail farm might easily be made self-supporting. They

MARY MARY—Red hands, especially if they are inclined to chap, are very distressing. The best preventative I can recommend to you is CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM. Rub it thoroughly into your hands every night and morning and particularly after each washing of your hands, because it is the continuous washing incident to housework, which makes them chapped and get red. CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM will prevent both chapping and redness, and you will do well to use it. You will also be well advised to massage your face with it night and morning.
