TERMS OF ADMISSION.

No pupil will be admitted into the Primary Department under eleven years of age.

For admission into the Higher Department, the student must be prepared to pass an examination on the studies pursued in the Primary Department. An equivalent to these studies will be taken. The student will then be required, under direction of the Faculty, to make such a selection from the prescribed course of study as will form the best preparation for future life. The course is so arranged as to suit both students of Classics and Natural Sciences; while to secure thoroughness in the work undertaken, no student, under ordinary circumstances, will be permitted to take more than six, nor less than four of the studies prescribed. The course is also arranged so as to prepare for admission to the Law Society, or for matriculation in Arts, Law, or Medicine, in the University of Toronto. By omitting the Classics and higher Mathematics, young ladies will find the course of study interesting, thorough, and peculiarly adapted to their wants.

For admission to the Theological Department, candidates must be prepared to pass an examination on all the studies of the first year in the Higher Department, except French. They are also required to bring letters from their respective churches, either licensing them to preach, or approving of their studying for the ministry. Prior to full admission, they are required to submit to a Committee, chosen by the Trustees, a statement of their Christian experience and call to the ministry. Unless in very exceptional cases, every student for the ministry should take the full course of prescribed study; and those whose age and means will permit, are strongly recommended to take one or two additional years in the Literary Department, before entering the Junior Class of the Theological Department. The examinations for admission will be strict and thorough.

EXERCISES DURING THE YEAR.

Exercises in Dictation and Composition in the Primary Department.

Exercises in Declamation and Composition of Essays in the Higher Department.

Essays on prescribed subjects during the third year in the Higher Department.

Plans of sermons, and written sermons for criticism, during the last two years, in the Theological Department.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations of the Classes in all the Departments are held either at the close of the term, during which each study has been pursued, or at the end of the Academic year. The latter Examination comprises all the studies pursued during the previous three terms, and is conducted with the assistance of a Committee appointed for that purpose.

MERIT-ROLLS AND DIPLOMAS.

A daily record is kept by each of the Teachers of the recitation and deportment of every student in a class; and this, in connection with the terminal examination, decides the position of the student on the Merit-Roll made up at the close of every term. Diplomas will be granted to those students who have pursued a full course of study, either in the Literary or Theological Department, and have sustained good examinations thereon.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

All students are required to attend, twice every Lord's day, such church as their parents or guardians may prefer. There are two Prayer Meetings held weekly; and a Bible Class is taught by the Principal every Sabbath afternoon. Attendance at the Prayer Meetings and Bible Class is optional. All students are required to attend chapel prayers every morning.

SOCIETIES.

During the year, there have been two Societies connected with the Institute,—the Adelpian, a literary society, and the Judson Missionary Society. The Literary Society is composed entirely of male Students, and holds weekly meetings, at which the exercises consist of orations, essays, debates, and the reading of a manuscript periodical. The Missionary Society is composed of both males and females, and holds monthly meetings, at which lectures are delivered, and essays on topics of a missionary character are presented.

TERMS.

The Academic year commences about the middle of September, It is divided into three terms, two of 13 weeks each, and one of 14 weeks. The first term ends three days previous to Christmas, and is followed by a vacation of two weeks. The second term commences the second week of January, continues till the second week of April, and is followed by a vacation of one week. The third term commences about the middle of April, and continues till the middle of July.
