

THE HOME

Four
The amount of human misery endured by thousands of men and women, who are never really well. Headache, sickness, nervous depression, dislike of food, sinking sensations, with distressing dizziness and weakness, make life a daily misery to such sufferers. And the cause is indigestion—a stomach that starves the body, because it does not digest sufficient food to keep it well, and leaves the mind weak, irritable, depressed. To Seigel's Syrup brings a message of hope, brings the ready help to health, brings the quiet, strong sense of confidence which only health can give—health made and regained, through sound digestion. Take it daily after meals.

Price 50c a bottle. Sold everywhere.

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP

ANALYTICAL CHEMIST TELLS OF PATENT MEDICINES

A study in organic chemistry has made a study of many of the best-known patent medicines on the market, states that many have virtue, but as a rule people have to pay for a lot of unnecessary expense. The following is the recipe of a well-known secret preparation, and is known by authority to be one of the best stomach and liver tonics. It is prescribed by many of the best physicians.

This mixture cures constipation and biliousness. The recipe:—
Fluid Extract Cascara 1/2 oz.
Syrup Rhubarb 1/2 oz.
Compound Syrup Sassafras 1/2 oz.
Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

An eminent authority, who has made a careful and scientific study of the relative values of drugs, having a specific action on the kidneys, bladder, and liver, pronounces this an excellent combination.

You can buy the ingredients separately and mix at home. Cut this formula out and save it.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Cape Bald Breakwater, N. B." will be received at this office until 4:30 P. B., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

SMITH LAKE RESERVE

The up-town calamity howler is still at it. In the last issue it stated that Smith Lake must inevitably be abandoned, as the water therefrom is such that residents can hardly use it. What are the facts? On Saturday it was found that the water in the reservoir was very low and the outlet from Smith Lake, where some millions of gallons of water was stored, was opened, and let open until Monday. The flow from this reservoir was very great, and filled up the reservoir until it ran over the spillway.

Such a quantity of water flowed down the brook to the reservoir that it carried a small quantity of foreign matter which caused a slight discoloration to appear in the water on Monday, just such as would appear after a heavy rain, but this had entirely disappeared by Tuesday and now the water is as pure and sweet as it ever was.

If the town had not this Smith Lake reserve to fall back on at the present time the pressure on the mains would be very low, as only the natural flow of the stream would be available at this season owing to the continued cold weather, it is very little.

For the past six weeks water from Smith Lake reserve has been regularly sent, but only a small quantity has been allowed to flow out at a time. The Tribune is always ready to criticize because it is a grievance, and the editor is no doubt a very clever man, but let him endeavor to make a suggestion or two which would without great cost, give the town as efficient a water supply as that enjoyed today.

We believe that Campbellton has in the Smith Lake a most valuable property, and that no mistake was made in purchasing this.

We do not notice the Tribune raising its hands in holy horror because a certain gentleman has built a stable at the side of the brook, and that the said party has lately used a horse or horses about the brook and built a dam. All these circumstances no doubt had something to do with the slight contamination noticed in the water on Monday. Hereafter the town officials will see to it that the brook is not interfered with.

Five hundred school children in Texas have signed a petition asking the President not to kill any wild animals in Africa.

Investors are being admonished against excessive confidence in the prospectuses of aerial navigation companies. To lose money in the air is no more satisfactory than to sink it in a hole in the ground.

The value of the agricultural products of the United States during the year 1907 was two billion dollars more than in the year 1906, and the value of the products of the United States in 1907 was $1,000,000,000 more than in the year 1906.

It is surprising how our ideas of the relations of latitude and temperature are being upset by the exploration of Northern Canada. We have before us a picture showing a strawberry and raspberry garden at Fort Providence on Mackenzie river within the Arctic circle.

Nine executions are reported as having taken place in St. Petersburg one day last week, while 12 death sentences were passed. One of the prisoners condemned to death at Krasnodar was a man who had been sentenced to death for having driven to the place of execution. Although in chains the man ran over half a mile before he was overtaken and recaptured. He was subsequently hanged.

The Tory Opposition at Ottawa has been defeated by a large majority. The leader of the party whined the other day about "bribing" of constituencies and had just finished telling what an obnoxious thing he thought it was when he was reminded that his party tried to bribe whole provinces in the last general election. They attempted to bring the entire province of British Columbia under the Tory banner by using appeals, lying (statements, false promises and bogus telegrams. And while descending to such degrading tricks in the extreme West, that peripatetic politician, Mr. Foster, during his sojourn in the Garden of the Gulf, boldly promised to provide a tunnel between the island and the mainland, if his party were placed in power.

"Kicker" performances have again quoted about the "officer" northward and by way of Tory outcries against promises of public works on the eve of an election.

FEBRUARY CANADIAN

First place in the Canadian Magazine for February is given to an illustrated article entitled "Toronto, a City of History," by Horace Bushfield. The article sketches the history of Toronto, and shows its development architecturally. This is a good departure in magazine work in Canada, and it is hoped that the editor will look for articles dealing with some outstanding features of other Canadian cities. The number throughout is a creditable one. One feature is a splendid article by Robert E. Knowles, the well-known novelist, entitled "The Mystery of Lincoln," which is a welcome contribution in view of the Lincoln centenary. Mrs. Isabel Ecclestone MacKay, who is rapidly making a reputation in fiction as well as in poetry, contributed an excellent mystery story entitled "Through the Wall." Other contributions are: "Miss Waring's Engagement," a short story, by Richard Marsh; "A New Canadian History," a review by A. H. U. Colquhoun; "Dreadful the Beautiful," an illustrated article, by Charles T. Long; "The Sandhill King of Manitoba," a sketch by Roger Kingsmill; "Postal Reforms in 1781," by W. R. Givens; "Cup-Pates and Customs," by Phil Ives; "The Making of Sea-Face," a story, by Arthur P. McKinnel; "Peculiar Island," a story, by J. J. Bell; "Dr. A. S. Vogt," a sketch, by Katherine Hale; and verse by Geo. Herbert Clarke, James Lawler, Margaret O'Grady, Douglas Roberts, John Boyd and S. A. White.

I wonder why the bride is crying? remarked one of the guests at the wedding. Can it be because she is leaving home? No, I guess it isn't that, answered the bride's maid. She's in love with the fellow she married, and I guess she's crying because she feels sorry for him.

Beware of the man who is always boasting of his family tree. It's a chestnut.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is true, but not trivial. Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain. Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and drinking, sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry. Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

SMUGGLERS STILL EVADE CUSTOMS

Manage to Land Contraband Cargoes in Spite of Coast Guards.

WRECKERS ALSO

Not a few persons have been surprised to learn that, in spite of our elaborate system of customs officers and coast guards, smuggling is still carried on around our coasts, says the Saturday Journal. The bold smuggler has long been relegated to the gully old days and with him the blood-thirsty pirate of the high seas. But the smuggler is still very much in evidence, and all the greatest powers are obliged to maintain gunboats in out of the way seas to put down piracy as determined as any that preyed upon shipping in the stirring days of the Barbary confederacy. It seems only the other day the huge P. and O. liner China was in trouble in the Red Sea. Down swooped a flight of Arab dhow upon the helpless monster, like gulls on a stranded whale. Long before a gun boat could be summoned from Aden the rich prey was stripped of her Indian silks, opium, tobacco, tea, coffee and spices, with gold and silver, and passengers' baggage worth thousands of pounds. The pirates were then stripping the big Indianman of her copper fittings, and scuttling under main sail over to the Arabian coast, when the destroyer Viceroy came tearing down, so upon fire with her primary battery sinking and crippling practically all the buccanniers.

True, the once dreaded Saltee rocks no longer roam the sea, and the maritime blackmail paid for immunity to the Dey of Algiers and the Dey of Tunis is a thing of the past; yet it is not long since a heavily laden tramp broke her propeller shaft between Gibraltar and Tangier and drifted helplessly ashore near the foot of the Arjona Hills, at a point barely twenty miles from Gibraltar's stupendous fortress in Southern Spain. The rift pirates saw her coming. Boats were manned and armed and put off, and up the sides of the savages.

By the merest accident the lookout on Gibraltar saw the vessel's plight and heeded the crack of rifles. A sharp alarm was sounded and in a few minutes a 24 knot torpedo boat was unleashed from the dockyard. Within an hour the black low-hulled raider was only a pile of rot away from the wreck, yet by that time the pirates had looted her from stem to stern, had beaten and bound the master with all his officers and crew.

But, after all, what has been for ages—and will be for generations—the paradise of pirates is the southern coast of China. The capture of the British steamer Flaming just below Wu-chau, lends point indeed to the doings of the buccanniers of today. A big junk containing a hoard of savage and musk-hungry pirates drew alongside the steamer, which they knew was in need of hands for unloading. Thinking the place was theirs, the pirates stepped back upon the board, whereupon they disposed of themselves strategically all over the vessel and on a given signal from the leader flashed revolvers. Within a few minutes they had control of the vessel.

Not content with this, however, the pirates sighted another and still larger steamer. And with marvellous skill and audacity they manoeuvred their latest capture alongside and then reaped on board to loot their second prize. The Chantook was a bigger and faster ship than the Flaming, so the marauders transferred all their prisoners, wrecked the engines of the smaller vessel and then turned her adrift.

In the gathering dusk they sighted a third victim, the Chantook along side and leaped on board. This was a worse case, however, for the Russians were met by a terrible fusillade. They had boarded the cutter of a revenue commissioner, and eight soldiers were on board, armed with repeating rifles, for there was a valuable cargo to protect. A really fierce and determined battle ensued, and at last when quite dark, the cutter was forced back upon the Chantook, leaving seventeen dead and wounded behind them. The cutter, unable to follow them, was obliged to let them go on their way.

At 4 in the morning the buccanniers came upon the steamer Satvik, and boarded her, as usual. Naturally the crew were surprised and fell easy victims. They were beaten and bound all their property and cash seized, and after that the Satvik's machinery was crippled and the vessel turned loose. Finally the Chantook was run aground on a beach near Hong-chau, and the pirates made their escape in an ordinary mail-sailed junk, which was waiting for them, as if prearranged.

It was only in 1906 that the bark Troughon came floating into Hong Kong from Singapore, a pitiful wreck from centuries of many kinds. First she had been overtaken by a typhoon her masts wrenched out and bulwarks torn off. Her exhausted crew would not forsake her, however; they kept her afloat with the pumps, and rigged a sail on a jury mast that they might reach land. Yet in spite of all their previous suffering and the dangers awaited them here in the form of the pirates of Southern China, who know no mercy when possible loot is concerned. Two plantation owners came boldly alongside and poured a swarm of Celestial cut-throats on board the battered bark. Before the captain and mate could fire a shot two hundred pirates had overwhelmed the crew and lashed them to the splintered decks. Master and mate fought desperately for their ship, and even tried to blow her up, for she carried nearly a ton of gunpowder. But they in turn were overwhelmed, bound and thrown into the waterlogged hold, exhausted from loss of blood and in grave danger of drowning inside their own ship.

PRINTERS' INK BENEFICIAL TO TOWNS

Town Promotion Necessary to the of a Growigg Town.

GOOD ADVICE

It has often been stated that the merchants in the smaller towns can often do more distinctive advertising and secure greater proportionate returns than the merchants of the larger cities, says the Twin City Commercial Bulletin. But the chances in the smaller towns do not stop with the individual stores. The idea of promotion can be made a collective policy, which will eventually benefit the whole town. The small town business man has certain advantages over the city merchant. There is less competition for new ideas in his field, and less struggle than there is in the city to attain a profitable degree of success. Life in the smaller towns is so much more deliberate than in the large cities that a merchant who will show a reasonable amount of enterprise can get better results in proportion to his investment than can the city merchant.

This fact is also true when considering the chances of smaller towns in the town promotion game. In competition with the larger towns, the smaller towns are the first to plant the advertising seed in any community or section will naturally reap the greatest benefit from it. There are small towns everywhere that are broadening their trade zones by putting some of their advertising efforts into promoting their towns. These towns are the homes of the men who have realized that the prosperity of the town means the prosperity of every merchant and every business. And with marvellous skill and audacity they manoeuvred their latest capture alongside and then reaped on board to loot their second prize. The Chantook was a bigger and faster ship than the Flaming, so the marauders transferred all their prisoners, wrecked the engines of the smaller vessel and then turned her adrift.

is wide awake and thriving. The concern making a clean, fresh start has absolute confidence in the hardy town which offers a chance for any business to grow into a hale and hearty one.

It is just as necessary for the business man to get the good news of their town before the men of other towns, who are looking for more favorable conditions, as it is to advertise direct to the men who are most apt to be interested in these things.

Remember, merchants, can expand their business by getting into the town promotion game at the first. Every business man should make it a part of his business policy to aid in every possible way to do some good for his town. If he is not making the money out of a town that he thinks he should, then the more reason why he should get busy and boost his town.

WON PRIZES
Some months ago, the publishers of the Boys and Girls Own Annuals offered prizes to the school children of the Dominion, for the best copy of the picture on the cover of the Prize Practice Book to be done in ink or colored crayon. The original painting for the cover of the Prize Practice Book was the work of Mary H. Reid, a R. C. A. who is recognized as the leading Canadian artist in flower subjects. The Practice Book was on sale at the Baskin's for some time and quite a number of the school children availed themselves of the opportunity of securing a prize. As a result of the competition in the Campbellton school, the prize was awarded to John Gifford Bruce, Grade VI, and Gordon Pratt, Grade IV, the prize in each case being a Boys Own Annual for 1928.

WILLIAM ANDERSON'S DEATH
Mr. Wm. Anderson, who for many years was one of the active citizens of Campbellton and closely identified with its social, business and religious life, died on Saturday aged 82. He was superannuated as an officer of customs a few years ago, and has been confined to the house by ill health since then. He used to take a keen interest in water sports, and ended in a race of Chatham, the publication of the World began. He put up a racing rig on a custom house boat, and sailed a great race against larger craft. We mention this showing how, even as a man past middle life, he took a keen interest in the innocent outdoor recreations of his fellow citizens. He was a very active member of St. John's church and a model citizen in every respect. His only son, Robt. H., is manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in St. John. His daughters are Mrs. Rev. Dr. Fraser, Owen Sound; Mrs. J. S. Benson, Campbellton and Miss Katie. Funeral Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.—World.

THE SPROUL ESTATE
A meeting of the creditors of the late William Sproul of Campbellton, who was assigned on Dec. 28, 1928, took place at Dalhousie on Friday. The closing incidents of Mr. Sproul's life were very peculiar and his assignments only three days before his death constitutes an occurrence, which is as unique in the experience of even the oldest lawyers. His estate instead of being administered in the manner of the ordinary decedent's is accordingly being treated as that of a bankrupt. As the meeting of the creditors of the late William Sproul of this city, who was building for Mr. Sproul a large hotel, was represented by J. King Kelley, Mr. Kelly also appeared for other interests as did A. E. G. MacKenzie of Campbellton. It was decided to make James Kelly assignee of the estate instead of Sheriff Stewart. The hotel property now building on the old Royal-Commercial site, is to be held by the creditors, and the assignee has instructions not to sell. Mr. Corbett has a mechanic's lien on the building for $15,000. A concrete foundation has been built for the hotel and $1,700 worth of work has been done on it.—Sun.
