BIG ROW IN THE MILITIA DEPT. BRITISH EXPERT WILL RESIGN AFTER CLASH WITH COL. SAM

Similar Case to That Which Resulted in the Return of Lord Dundonald---General Mackenzie Succeeds General Lake.

Suggestions Made By Col. Hughes Did Not Meet With the Approval of British Expert and Much Bitterness Resulted.

Ottawa, May 20.—There has been a big row in the militia department and General C. G. MacKenzie, chief of staff, is going back to England. He and Col. Sam Hughes are separating with a good deal of bitterness.

It is understood that this is very much like the Dundonald incident.

A British Expert.

General MacKenzie is the expert the British war office sent to Canada to succeed General Lake as chief of staff and first officer on the Canadian Militia Council. The man who occupies this position is, under the Minister of Militia, responsible for the development and maintenance of the militia of Canada upon the most effective lines, and in as close conformity as possible with the system prevailing in Great Britain.

An Important Position.

The position is one of great importance and of great responsibility. As is well known Col. Sam Hughes is an all-round soldier, and is capable of giving effective attention to every department of the militia organization since taking office he has made a good many changes in the way of doing things at headquarters. One of the places to which he has given some attention has been that of chief of staff. It is understood that some of the suggestions made by Col. Hughes as minister of militia have not been well received by General MacKenzie as chief of staff.

Goes Back in the Fall.

As a consequence General MacKenzie some days ago offered his resignation to take effect next fall, near the time when his term would expire.

It is understood that Col. Hughes replied acknowledging the resignation, and suggesting that there was no need for delay, but that the resignation might as well take place at once.

Some Warm Comments.

This drew a reply from General MacKenzie which is said to contain some rather vigorous comments upon the manner in which Col. Hughes has interfered in the militia department at some points.

It is expected that the correspondence will be produced in the House of Commons within a few days, and it will show that Col. Sam Hughes has lost none of his capacity for emphatic expression.

Never Inspired Awe.

It is a notorious fact that British officers who have been sent out to run the Canadian forces, have never inspired awe in the mind of Col. Sam Hughes.

When the South African war broke out, Col. Hughes was in the midst of a hot controversy with Major-General Hutton, and went to Africa, where he performed such gallant service in spite of that British officer who attempted to keep him off the troopship which carried the first contingent to South Africa.

It is understood that in Africa Col. Hughes and General MacKenzie had their first meeting, and that there was some friction between them then.

COUGHS UP BIG LIZARD

Dundas Street Lady Has an Unusual and Unpleasant Experience.

SWALLOWED WITH WATER

Miss Lizzie Sherman, a lady of middle age, who resides in the Robinson Hall Chambers, 59 Dundas street, had on Sunday last the unusual and unpleasant experience of coughing up a large lizard, of a flat, somewhat frog-like shape. According to Miss Sherman's story, the lizard appeared to be of a two-headed species, and was several inches in width when flattened. Apparently it had not been thriving in its strange environment, and was little more than skin and fibre, else it could scarcely have escaped through a human throat without strangling the person afflicted with its presence.

Miss Sherman has been in ill-health for a long time, complaining especially of stomach trouble, and physicans visited had been unable to diagnose her case. On Sunday she was seized with a violent attack of sickness, which was only relieved when she vomited the lizard. She has an unpleasant impression that another of the repulsive creatures is still harbored in her stomach. Since Sunday, however, she has felt much improved in her health. She is of the opinion that she swallowed the lizard in an immature state while drinking water.

GIRL ADMITS FRAUD SCHEME.

Confesses to Magistrate She Used His Name to Collect From Public.

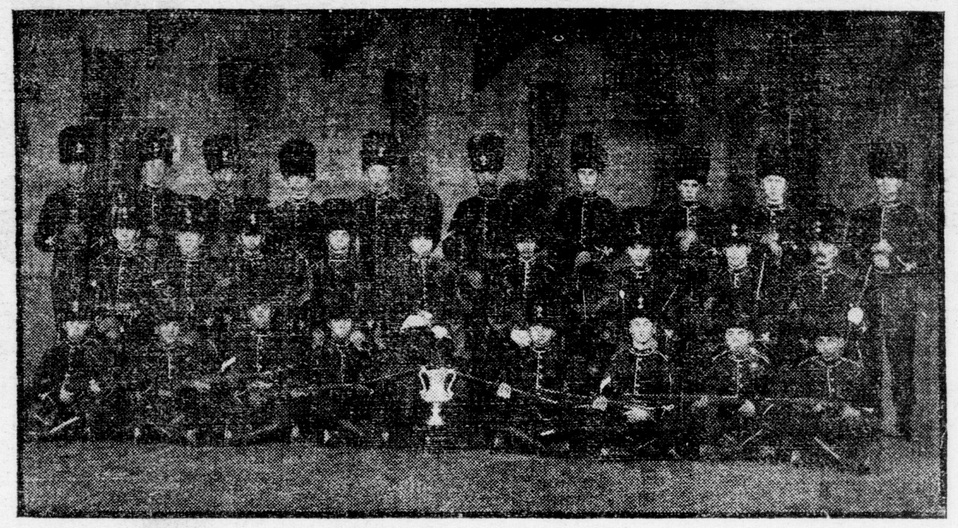

BUT GIVES GOOD EXCUSE

Shortly after being notified Monday afternoon that a young woman was using his name to collect money which she claimed was for the use of the Byron Sanatorium, Police Magistrate Judd put a constable on the case. The officer soon located the girl, for she was under 16 years, and on stopping her was informed that the magistrate had sent her out to collect the money. The constable took her to the police station, where she confessed to the magistrate, and handed over the money which she had collected.

She gave a reason for collecting the money, which the magistrate refused to divulge, but he claimed that it was such a good one that he decided not to prosecute. He sent for the girl's mother, and after informing her of her daughter's act allowed her to take the girl home.

Magistrate Judd will keep the money and anyone who subscribed on Monday and wishes to get it back can do so by applying at the police station.

Was It Wise to Fire the City Architect ?

LONDON HAS PAID OUT MANY TIMES HIS SALARY IN ARCHITECTS' FEES SINCE HE WAS REFUSED AN INCREASE

Schools, Hospital, Court House and Comfort Station All Have To Be Given to Other Members of Profession---Proper Charges Run Into Large Sum.

Since, in the wisdom of the mayor, the office of city architect was abolished, Mr. A. E. Nutter, who held that office, has made two or three times his increased salary from work that he has received from different civic boards.

In addition to this the city has paid thousands of dollars annually in fees to other architects, and in addition to that it has paid the salary of a building inspector, the duties of which office Mr. Nutter formerly performed.

Many Tasks for Architect.

During a year the city has many works which call for the services of a competent architect. There are schools or additions to schools to be planned, court houses to be repaired, city halls to be remodelled, and comfort stations to be built. The architect charges 5 per cent of the contract price.

The work of Mr. Nutter has found favor in the eyes of the board of education. The new Alexandra School was built while he was architect, and he has since been given other contracts. While Mr. Nutter would probably seek to avoid any publicity in the matter, feeling, no doubt, that his fortunes changed for the good when he was practically fired out of the quarters in the city hall, it is well for the citizens to hear the results.

The other architects have been receiving a good share of the business. The city had to pay out several hundred dollars for the plans of the comfort station, and the charge was only the prescribed charge. In the addition to the city hospital the amount of commission paid, quite a regular and fair commission, too, would add another large amount to the bills.

The Case of the Court House.

Then the court house. Mr. Nutter planned to repair it at a cost of $25,000, and there would not have been architect's fees to pay. After he had been railroaded out of the employ of the city because he asked for an increase of salary or for some other reason that did not come to the surface, the committee of the county council asked that his services be retained by the city and county to see the court house repair contract through to a finish.

His worship the mayor had a different idea about the matter. He did not have much faith in architects. When he was a boy he had known of a book that could be taken down to put all architects to rout. Accordingly he told the committee that as Mr. Nutter's assistant was still in the city's employ, and as there was a building inspector, it would not be necessary to employ an architect. Accordingly Mr. Nutter's plans were handed to the contractor or consigned to the waste paper basket. Mr. Nutter was off the job, and the job dragged along like pay day.

To Cost $60,000 Now.

But it came to pass that certain discoveries were made. The court house could not be repaired at such a figure as $25,000. More like $50,000 was required, and it has now come to $60,000.

The committee had a change of opinion just here, the result being that an architect was engaged to take hold of the work. It came to be generally agreed that the work could not proceed without a competent architect. Even the mayor agreed to this.

The dismissal of the city architect and failure to appoint a successor indicate business methods such as would not be tolerated in any business house in London, the mayor's store not excluded.

It is time for a few of the capable men in the city council to apply a few of the rules of ordinary business to the city's business.

NATIONAL HONOR OF THE JAPANESE IS NOW AT STAKE

General Regret Felt at Tokio Over Action of Governor Johnson.

Government Is Having a Hard Time Trying to Pacify Public Opinion.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, May 20.—The news that the California alien land bill had been signed by Governor Johnson was received here with regret, although it had been discounted in official and non-official circles. It was hoped up to the last moment, however, that Washington's intervention would prove successful. The newspapers published extra editions with the announcement that the bill had been signed.

The efforts of the Japanese Government are concentrated at present on pacifying public opinion. Since the death of the old Japanese emperor the authority of the Government has steadily diminished in resisting the growing influence of public opinion, and the spirit of democracy throughout the empire.

Thanked For Efforts.

The secretary of the United States embassy visited Baron Noboaki Makino, the Japanese foreign minister, today, and reiterated the determination of the United States Government to exert every effort in order to find a friendly and satisfactory solution of the question. He emphasized the fact that it was a Californian and not an American question, and thanked the Japanese Government for its friendliness, and for its attempts to restrain the excitable public opinion of Japan.

A prominent official said today: "The Japanese people feel that their national honor is involved. The present question will be solved peacefully, but what is needed to assure the permanency of our traditional friendship is a change of heart in some Americans toward the Japanese."

UP TO JAPAN NOW.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 20.—With the answer of the United States to its protest in hand, it is now up to the Japanese foreign office to take the next step in the negotiations over the California alien land act.

It is expected that the forthcoming rejoinder to Secretary Bryan will be strongly argumentive and calculated to result in the conduct of the future negotiations on a strictly legal basis.

As it is understood that the state department is looking to the Japanese Government or some Japanese citizen to test the new law by recourse to the United States courts, it may be significant of the drawing of another issue that the Japanese are believed to be reluctant to begin such a movement.

Relied on Government.

In his protest of May 9 to the state department, the Japanese ambassador is understood to have made it perfectly clear that Japan, finding it impossible to deal directly with the State of California was relying entirely upon the Federal Government to insure what he believes to be fair treatment for its subjects. Probably that contention will be extended to cover the legal test of the California land law, though the ordinary procedure in such cases would be to allow Japanese subject threatened with escheatment of his lands, to begin action by application for an injunction. Meanwhile, it is expected that several days will elapse before the Japanese rejoinder is received, in view of the fact that ten days were taken for the preparation and delivery of the American reply to the original protest.

Will Probated of Late W. J. Thompson Family to Divide

The will of the late William John Thompson, who died at his home in this city several weeks ago, has been probated in the surrogate court. Through the will his property, valued at $74,620.74, is distributed among the members of his family.

The business known as W. J. Thompson & Son is to be equally divided between his son George and daughter Minnie, with the exception of $5,000 bequeathed to his son Robert.

The building at Clarence and King streets now occupied by the Wright Hardware Company is to be sold, and the sons, Arthur and Frank, are to receive $4,000 from the proceeds, and $5,000 of the remainder is set aside for the purchase of a home for the widow during her lifetime.

The income from two double houses and one single house is set aside for the maintenance of the widow. The remainder of the estate, with the exception of the Cove property, which is bequeathed jointly to son George and daughter Minnie, is to be divided among the three daughters of the deceased—Minnie, Ida and Gertrude.

Small Newsies Are Barred From Street by the Regulations

Police Authorities of New Act for Protection of the Children.

Chief Williams received today a copy of the act recently passed for the protection of neglected children. Several of the sections of the act give the police power to take children, referred to as any boy or girl under 16 years and place them under the care of the Charities Organization. Section 16 of the act says that no girl under 16 years, and no boy under 10 years, shall engage in any street occupation, and gives the police power to order the arrest of any child found in any street occupation, or their parents or guardians. This will affect a number of newsboys who sell papers on the streets.

Section 17 says that no child shall loiter in any public place after 9 o'clock at night, or be in any public place after that time, unless accompanied by a parent, or guardian, or an adult person appointed by a parent or guardian, and sub-section 2 of section 17 says that any child found in public place after 9 o'clock, unless so accompanied, may be warned the first time by a constable or probation officer, or officer of any charitable organization, and if after such warning the child is still loitering about any public place it shall be taken home or to the nearest charitable organization. The act also provides a fine of $2 for the first offence, $3 for the second, and $5 for the third.

THREAT OF SUFFRAGETTES STIRS LITTLE SCOTCH TOWN

Special Guards All Night and All Day Keeping Close Watch to Prevent Destruction of the Famous St. Andrew's Golf Links.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 20.—This little town is almost in a state of siege as the result of threats uttered by the militant suffragettes that they will destroy the putting greens, and thus render play impossible in the world's amateur golf championship, which is to be competed for here next week.

The most intense excitement prevails among the townspeople who depend largely for their prosperity upon the golf links, while the members of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club also are extremely anxious. They and the citizens have organized a vigilance committee, whose members, together with 5,000 volunteers, will guard the greens night and day.

The genral anxiety becomes keener every day, as it is thought that the militant suffragettes may refrain from delivering their attack until the last moment, when it would be impossible to repair the damage. As it is understood that the women will use vitriol to destroy the greens, all the services stationed there have provided themselves with large umbrellas to prevent the corrosive fluid being thrown into their faces.

The River Tay routes by which the links are reached from Dundee, which is a hotbed of suffragism, are closely guarded and to make assurance doubly sure a powerful searchlight has been mounted on the railroad bridge, the light from which sweeps the links, the roads, and the river nightly.

BOY BURGLAR RAIDS STORE TAKES CASH AND CIGARS

South London Youth Has Disappeared, Following the Alleged Theft.

The local police are seeking the whereabouts of a South London lad who is alleged to have entered the grocery store of Mr. D. A. Brown, corner of Wharncliffe road and Byron avenue, last Friday evening and extracted $10 in silver from the till, and also took a box of cigars.

Mr. Brown closed the store at 7 o'clock and left for a drive about a quarter of an hour later, and when he returned shortly after 9 o'clock he noticed that someone had been in the store. He found that the till had been opened and the money taken as well as the cigars. Despite the efforts of the police to locate him he has not yet been found, but it is surmised that he has left for Detroit.

It is stated that the boy was accompanied by four or five other young lads, but they did not enter the store or receive any of the proceeds of the raid. Just before closing up for the night Mr. Brown had taken over $40 in bills from the till and placed the money in another part of the house. The thief managed to make his entrance through a window which he forced.

For British Columbia, Lieutenant-Governor Paterson, Sir Richard McBride and all the members of the cabinet will take part in the proceedings, while Washington will be officially represented by Governor Lister.

Many Brides-To-Be On Incoming Boat

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 20.—The Ascania, which arrived today from Southampton, brought fifty brides-to-be, most of whom were met and married by their fiancees during the afternoon. Already this season over 1,000 engaged women have been landed here, most of them marrying upon arrival, and setting out with their husbands for the West. Many of the husbands today objected very strongly to the high cost of marriage licenses in Quebec, $10.

SUNNY-HAIRED LITTLE ONE IN MOTHER'S ARMS SAVES LATTER FROM JAIL TERM

"Poor little baby!" That is what one would naturally think, or say, after witnessing a scene in police court this morning that was pathetic in the extreme.

A woman who bore every appearance of familiarity with the seamy side of life, was gathered in Monday by the police on a charge of being drunk. With her was her baby, a golden-haired girl of perhaps three years. It had spent the night in the cells, because the mother absolutely refused to be separated from it.

The woman, who has appeared in court on numerous occasions on charges of being drunk, has been doing well for ten months, having succeeded in keeping away from the police station in that time, but Monday while up town with the baby in her arms she fell from grace, and was taken to the station.

Asks For Another Chance.

In a pleading voice she asked for another chance this morning as she stood in front of the rostrum of justice, and the baby cooed and played with her cheeks, which had once been pretty, but had long since lost the bloom of youth.

The usual knot of spectators were surprised to see the women with a baby in her arms stand up to answer a charge of being drunk.

The woman keeps house for a man in the south end of the city, and several times the magistrate has threatened to take the child from her, but she loves it so much and pleads so hard that the court cannot find the heart to do so.

After warning the woman that if she appeared again he would send her to jail and take the child away from her, the magistrate allowed her to go.

ESSAADPASHA REPORTED DEAD

Turkish Commander Said To Have Been Assassinated at Tirana.

VENDETTA THE CAUSE

[Canadian Press.]

Vienna, May 20.—Reports of the murder of Essaad Pasha, who commanded the Turks at Scutari throughout the siege, have reached the Albanians at Trieste, according to a dispatch to the Reichspost from that city. The assassination is said to have taken place at Tirana, where Essaad Pasha marched with many thousands of Turkish troops after the evacuation of Scutari, and formed a provisional Albanian government.

It is thought the murder may be the result of a blood vendetta, and was carried out by relatives of General Hassan Riza Pasha, who preceded Essaad as commandant of Scutari, and whose death there was laid to the account of Essaad Pasha.

WANT BYLAW FOR TWO EXITS

Humane Society Will Move to Protect Horses in Cases of Fire

IN BOARDING STABLES

At the Humane Society this afternoon, a resolution will probably be drafted, and sent to the city council asking that body to pass a bylaw requiring more than one exit from livery and boarding-stables. Ex-Ald. Tancock stated today that in view of the recent destruction of a boarding stable on Ridout street by fire, in which thirteen horses were burned, he thought it cruelly negligent to keep animals in inflammable buildings with only one exit as was the case with the Ridout street stable. Other members of the Humane Society are of the same opinion, and the matter will be thoroughly discussed this afternoon. It is said that some of the local livery and boarding stables would be veritable torture-chambers for animals stabled in them if fire were to break out near the only exits provided.

Medical Health Officer of Militia Department to Decide Between London and Goderich.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., May 20. — The question of where the militia camp of No. 1 district will be held this year has been left to the medical health officers of the militia department, who will decide between London and Goderich on the basis of good water. The camp will go where pure water can best be obtained.

Col. Hodgins stated to The Advertiser today that the question had not yet been decided. He had received no official information from the militia department today.

SCORES LIBERALS FOR OBSTRUCTING THE NAVAL BILL

Premier Borden Defends His Policy at Big Meeting in Toronto.

Denies That He Ever Gave Any Pledge to the Nationalists.

Toronto, May 20.—Toronto gave Premier Borden a splendid reception last evening. His speech was an elaborate exposition of the naval policy. He scored the Liberals for trying to obstruct the Government in its effort to aid Britain, and declared that the amendment of Sir Wilfrid accepted the Government policy.

Mr. Borden failed in his desire for emphasis to recite the terms of that amendment, and went on to explain that the reason no attempt was made to man the proposed Dreadnoughts was that Canada was developing at such a rate that recruiting for the Niobe and Rainbow had not been a success. Other vocations were more remunerative.

People Must Decide.

"It is not a policy of contribution," he asserted. "It is a policy under which Canada shall build and own three great battleships and place them at the disposal of his majesty for the common defence of the Empire. (Cheers.) We desire to build a great naval organization of our own. If the people of Canada shall so decide at the next general election, these ships can be made part of that naval service before they ever could be put in commission. Therefore, the leader of the Opposition has not even the poor excuse of saying that this is inconsistent with the carrying out of his own proposal that this scheme should be indorsed by the people of Canada at the next general election."

Referring to an understanding with the Nationalists of Quebec regarding any naval policy, Mr. Borden took pains to emphasize, "I never gave any pledge, (cheers), I never made any pledge with regard to the naval policy of this Dominion except those that I made in Parliament or upon the public platform face to face with my countrymen, and when these gentlemen speak of an alliance with the Nationalists I want to tell you, as I have told the leader of the Opposition to his face and as I am prepared to tell him to his face again, that there is not one single proposal that the Nationalists have put forward that they did not learn from him."

Criticizes Liberals.

Further criticisms were made to the Liberal policy under the caption of a "neutral navy," and a picture was presented of Canada's merchant shipping being devastated by an enemy while a Government was sitting in Ottawa to ascertain if "Britain's quarrel was just."

Passing reference was made to the election, and Mr. Borden expressed regret that he had not acted in this direction earlier in the session.

The mention of the name of the Liberal chieftain was received with mingled cheers and jeers. The fact that Mr. Mark Irish, the chairman, had declared that the meeting was open to "every loyal British subject" did not deter Tory hotheads from voicing their partisan spleen towards the Liberal leader.

Premier's Speech.

Mr. Borden summarized the importance of Britain's predominance in naval matters to the status Canada holds today. Had it not been for the navy, he said, the Canada of today would have been an impossibility.

"I shall not weary you," he said, "with argument to prove that the present Government possessed an ample mandate for the proposals which we submitted to Parliament in December last. In 1910 I moved in the House of Commons a resolution that Canada should place at the disposal of the admiralty two battleships or armored cruisers of the most powerful type. In November of the same year I declared that if returned to power we would seek directly from the British Government and especially from the admiralty definite information as to the needs of the Empire in naval defence, and that if satisfied of the need we would appeal to Parliament, and if necessary to the people for immediate and effective aid. In the campaign of 1911 I made the same declaration in my opening speech in this province. No Government in Canada ever had a more specific and direct mandate for any purpose than that of the present administration to perform this manifest duty."

London Conference.

Mr. Borden then told of the conference in London and continued:

"I assert that it was the plain and obvious duty of the leader of the Opposition to have given immediately his cordial assent and approval to the temporary provisions which we thus proposed under conditions of urgency and upon considerations of duty that no fair-minded man can gainsay. It is my sincere conviction that in declining to take that course he made the greatest political mistake of his life. During the past two months many candid Liberals have sought to convince him of this.

"How did he meet our proposals? Not by any real desire to aid in meeting adequately conditions of gravity and urgency, but by a speech of the same controversial character as that with which he had introduced his own naval proposals in 1910. While the map of Europe was being transformed by one of the most remarkable wars of modern times, he was ready to give airy guarantees of universal peace as if he were the mouthpiece of all the chancelleries of the world. While so great a conflict was even then being waged in Europe, that no man could measure the gravity of impending developments which even within the past month have imperilled the peace of the world, he thought it consistent with his duty to prattle of bygone debates, to move indefinite and impracticable amendments and to commit his party to the same policy of indefinite delay and procrastination and evasion with which he had met every effort to bring about any real co-operation by Canada in the general naval defence of the King's Dominions.

Had No Excuse.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier had not even the poor excuse that our proposals were necessarily inconsistent with his own policy, because, as I have repeatedly pointed out, these ships cannot be put in commission in less than three years, and before that period shall have elapsed a general election will have been held, and the people of Canada will then have had the right and the opportunity of determining whether these ships shall form part of a naval organization such as he proposes.

"Our measure has been assailed on the ground that these ships are to be built in Great Britain. They are to be built in Great Britain simply for the reason that we have not in Canada the necessary facilities for their construction. To create all such facilities would entail an expenditure from fifty to seventy-five million dollars and the delay could not be estimated. Even assuming that businessmen could be induced to undertake such an expenditure, to what use would all this enormous aggregate of plant and machinery be applied? Is Canada to enter upon an extended and indefinite program of laying down two Dreadnoughts every year? We are not unsensible of the importance of encouraging the shipbuilding industry, but we do not believe that it can be successfully or permanently developed in that way. Arrangements have been made with the admiralty whereby orders shall be given by the Imperial Government for the construction in Canada of light cruisers and other small craft, so that the enterprise of shipbuilding may develop in this country from small beginnings and by ordinary businesslike methods.

"Then these gentlemen, who in all their fifteen years of power balked at every effective proposal, denounce us because, as they say, these ships are not to be manned by Canadians. There is not in the bill one line or one syllable which prevents Canadians from serving on board these ships. On the contrary, the admiralty have definitely declared, and I have so informed Parliament, that increased facilities will be provided for enabling Canadians to serve on each of these ships.

Recruiting Difficult.

The Premier spoke of the very great difficulty in obtaining recruits for the navy. Those who speak glibly about the immediate manning of these ships by Canadians signally fail to realize that the requisite training of officers seamen, engineers, artificers, and other ratings necessary for the efficient manning of such battleships would require from four to fifteen years, even if the men were immediately available. We have not the trained men, and we cannot have them for many years. Therefore, says Sir Wilfrid, let us obstruct the bill.

"Mark well the Liberal policy as contrasted with our own. I do not advocate, and I have never advocated, a policy of permanent money contributions.

"We propound no such policy, but purpose under urgent conditions to build, to own, to utilize for the common defence of this empire three battleships which will be in the fighting line in the day of peril. The Liberal policy vehemently opposes the appropriation of a single dollar for any such enterprise, but seeks to commit the country to an expenditure of one hundred and fifty millions at some indefinite time in the future for a 'neutrality' navy.

No Pledges Given.

The Premier stated that no pledges had been given to the Nationalists. "There is not a single Nationalist principle or doctrine in our policy," he said, "which was not proclaimed and adopted by the Quebec Liberals between 1891 and 1896.

"The Nationalist organs and speakers attack our naval measures incessantly and bitterly. They support Laurier's present policy of spending not a single dollar for any naval purpose until after an appeal to the people. One of the prominent Nationalists in the House of Commons vied with Sir Wilfrid for the honor of moving the six months' hoist. Sir Wilfrid won by a neck, but the Nationalist immediately arose and said that he seconded the motion.

Our policy aims at unity in the direction and control of the Empire's naval forces in time of war. Our policy aims at a just and reasonable voice and influence by the people of the overseas dominions in all matters of imperial concern. We have drawn one million people from the British Isles within the last ten years. Within those islands they have had a direct and important voice in matters of imperial moment. In Canada they have no such voice. There are fifteen million people in the great overseas dominions. Will these dominions be content with existing conditions when their numbers shall have increased to thirty millions or when they shall have surpassed the population of the British Isles. It is said that this proposal is reactionary and may impair our autonomy.

Canada's Development.

I maintain on the contrary that it is direct, legitimate and logical progress in the constitutional development of this Empire. Three-quarters of a century ago we became invested with the right of self-government. First the executive was made responsible to the representatives of the people in our Legislatures. We secured control of our revenues. We were intrusted with the administration of our public domain. Then we achieved complete control of our tariff and the right to negotiate commercial treaties directly and peculiarly affecting our own interests. In all these there has been a definite logical process of constitutional development brought about by the necessities of natural growth. In these matters Canada, not unnaturally took the initiative.

The Closure.

Mr. Borden justified the closure action by stating that it was the only available way to get on with business.

"Our opponents loudly boast that even if the naval service bill passes the House of Commons it is to meet short shrift in the Senate. Upon the probability or improbability of that result I venture to pronounce no opinion. For the present, however, I deprecate the assertion made in many Liberal quarters that the majority of the Canadian Senate is merely an echo of a discredited minority in the House of Commons, and that whenever Sir Wilfrid Laurier pulls the string the Liberal senators will dance as he desires. There are many men of high character and intelligence among the Liberal senators, and I entirely decline to believe that their action would be thus unworthily controlled. Otherwise I would be prepared to declare that the Canadian Senate as at present constituted had thoroughly outlived its usefulness, and that an immediate remedy must be sought and found. The Senate is an important part of our constitutional machinery, and is entitled to every respect, but it is not, never was, and never will be above the Canadian people.

Has Suspicions.

"Rumor has it that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has already decreed that the bill shall be assassinated in the Senate. Whether this rumor is well-founded I have no knowledge or opinion. Any such result would bring discouragement and dismay to every true friend of the Empire, but comfort and rejoicing to all its enemies. Sir George Ross, the Liberal leader in the Senate, although a strong partisan, is a sound imperialist. It is not through him that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will direct his operations, although he may be the formal instrument. A leading Liberal senator from Quebec is the real exponent and mouthpiece of Laurierism in the Senate, and if the blow comes through him it will fall from no unexpected quarter.

"I deprecate as much as any man the increasing tendency of the nations to arm themselves, whether on sea or land. May the day soon dawn when the great powers will realize that it is not only their manifest duty but their highest interest to settle all difference by the arbitrament of an international tribunal of unquestioned and absolute authority. I would regard any aid that I could bring to such a movement as the noblest purpose of my life. But in the meantime we have too much at stake to leave our trust unguarded. And I have submitted these proposals not only because they are urgently needed to assure the integrity and power of our Empire but also because the undiminished prestige and power of that Empire constitutes the most potent influence for the cause of peace throughout the world."

Had Weak AND Dizzy Spells.

Those feelings of weakness, those dizzy spells and "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes hopeless. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart, and invigorating the nerves.

Mrs. A. E. Martell, Rockdale, N.S., writes:—"I was troubled for a long time with my heart, had weak and dizzy spells, could not sleep, and would have to sit up the greater part of the night. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another, and after taking it I could sleep as well as before I was taken sick. They are the best medicine I ever heard of for heart or nerve trouble."

Price, 50 cents a box; 3 for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The barge Burmah, in tow of the Canadian steamer Simla, bound from Green Bay to Kingston, with a cargo of timber, went on Simmons' reef yesterday morning. The steamer released herself, and the wrecker Favorite went to the assistance of the barge and released it. Because of the reef being strewn with boulders, it is thought that considerable damage was sustained by both boats.

LONDON, TUESDAY, MAY 20.

MR. BORDEN IN TORONTO.

The "counter-demonstration" in Toronto duly came off according to program. It was well organized and successful. The crowd was large, the people shouted, the flags were waved, an electric Dreadnought flashed over the platform, and disappeared when the light was turned off. The audience was enthusiastic; even the cheers that greeted the mention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name did not materially dampen the jubilation.

It was a foregone conclusion. In Tory Toronto there is no difficulty about getting up a Tory crowd to cheer a Tory orator. If Mr. Borden had come with his original naval policy of 1909, when he joined with the Liberals in advocating a Canadian-built navy, he would have had the same applause. If he had been advocating Canadian independence, and separation from the Empire, it would have been the same thing. Enough to show that it was a Tory policy, in the interests of the Tory party, and enthusiasm would boil over.

When it came to the speaking there was nothing new. Mr. Borden's address was an echo of his parliamentary speeches. He did not say why he deserted his platform of 1909. He talked "emergency," but he did not say where it was, whether in the North Sea, as he had it six months ago, or in the Mediterranean, where Mr. Churchill has since located the proposed Malay-Canadian fleet. He denied any alliance with the anti-British Nationalists, though he did not deny that they were voting with him and sitting in his cabinet. He denied that his policy was one of continued contributions, but said nothing about his former announcement that a Canadian navy could not be built for 25 or 50 years. Finally, he warned the Senate that if it did not think as he did on this question its usefulness was gone, and he should proceed to reform it, the duty and usefulness of that body, of course, being to indorse all acts of a Conservative Government, and throw out all Liberal masures. We heard all that before.

Mr. Pelletier, the Postmaster-General, was there to speak for the Nationalists, which he did by declaring that they were all Liberals. It was an amusing exhibition. But he made no reference to the plea of his personal organ, L'Evenement, and the deputy speaker's organ, La Semaine, that the naval bill was only for its moral effect, and did not necessarily involve any actual expenditure. Mr. Hazen, the minister of marine, also spoke, but he did not say anything.

So it is all over. The shouting and the tumult dies, but the situation remains unchanged. It is still Borden and Imperial tribute, against Laurier and Canadian co-operation.

WIPING OUT A STAIN.

Volleys of cheering rang through the British House of Commons on May 7 when the Under-Secretary for India, Mr. Montagu, proudly announced that opium traffic between India and China was dead.

Seventy years ago Gladstone said: "I am in dread of the judgment of God upon England for our national iniquity towards China. Three times since then the House of Commons pronounced the continuance of the trade "morally indefensible." The origin of the problem was once described by Lord Morley in these words:

> "British subjects insisted on smuggling opium into China, in the teeth of the Chinese law. The British agent on the spot began war against China for protecting herself against these malpractices. There was no pretence that China was in the wrong, but war having begun, Great Britain felt bound to see it through, with the result that China was compelled to open four ports, to cede Hong Kong and to pay an indemnity of £600,000. So true is it that statesmen have no concern with paternosters, the Sermon on the Mount, or the vade mecum of the moralist."

This began a chapter in British history upon which all Christians must look back with shame and humiliation, but which is now happily closed. Mr. Montagu's announcement came as a pleasant surprise. A treaty with China in 1906 provided for the gradual extinction of the traffic, India retaining the right to send 16,580 chests of opium to China this year, 11,461 chests next year, 10,200 in 1915, and 5,100 in 1916, when the trade would cease. But the British and Indian Governments have now waived these rights, and not an ounce of the poppy will go to China this year, the Indian Government forfeiting £11,000,000 by the prohibition. Mr. Montagu said the decision had been prompted by the evidence of the sincerity of the Chinese Government in stamping out the growth of opium on Chinese soil. So long as China remained steadfast in the pursuit of her present policy, the Indian Government would not avail itself of its treaty rights. That China will persevere in well-doing was the confident expectation of Mr. Montagu, who said that China's suppression of opium was "an example of courage seldom paralleled in human history."

A TRIBUTE TO CANADA.

Congressman Campbell, of Kansas, pays Canada this high compliment:

"There is a difference of from 9 to 13 cents a bushel just across the road between Canada and North Dakota in the price of wheat. That is in favor of the American wheat grower, and is caused by the tariff. One of the reasons North Dakota came up the way it did in the last campaign was because of reciprocity with Canada, which put wheat on the free list.

"Let me say this, and then I must close: This era of high cost of living through which we have gone in the last fifteen years has marked an era of the best living that we have ever had. The price of things is a little high, but you have been able to buy the wheat and the meat of Kansas, and at the same time lay aside about $4,500,000,000 in the last fifteen years—put it into the savings banks of the United States, after you have paid this high cost of living.

"You, under free trade for your products and ours, will spend that money that you have laid away in the savings banks buying free wheat in Canada, and the money will go there, and they will buy the product of Canadian shoe factories, and the product of Canadian woolen mills, and the product of Canadian shops and factories engaged in the production of other things. Every dollar sent to Canada for wheat will be spent in Canada for the product of other industries and labor. Every dollar you send to Kansas, if you maintain the policy of protection for wheat, will be spent in the United States for the products of American industries, if you maintain a policy of a discriminating tariff."

Put this alongside any anti-reciprocity speech made in Canada, and you have the great international joke. Congressman Campbell elaborates it somewhat. The staple of anti-reciprocity oratory in the United States has been the pretended dread of the Canadian farmer. Mr. Campbell sees an equally dire figure in the Canadian manufacturer. Do Canadian farmers and manufacturers recognize themselves in the picture? Many of the former were bamboozled into the belief that they would be swamped by the wheat and the meat of Kansas over which Mr. Campbell stands guard against the Canadian destroyer. As for the Canadian manufacturers, was it not demonstrated to the satisfaction of most of them that duty-free American farm products would ruin them as well as the farmers?

Britain and Germany are getting together and the emergency is getting farther away.

Borden and the Empire!—Hamilton Spectator.

Why not Blondin and the Empire?

Mr. Borden's speech was cooked for Toronto consumption. Neither he nor any of his lieutenants would have served it up in Quebec. They have a different menu for that province.

Last year 139,000 Americans entered Canada. No Canadian fears the political consequences. Apparently these Americans would have been dangerous only if they had stayed at home and bought Canadian goods.

An outline of a Dreadnought in electric lights was one of the stage devices at the Borden meeting. It emphasized one aspect of imperial solidarity, namely, the unity of policy between Canada and Malaya.

The voting on the woman suffrage bill in the British House of Commons stood as follows:

	For.	Against.
Liberals	146	74
Nationalists	7	54
Healyites	6
Labor	34
Unionists	28	140
	221	268

If the women suffragists can't get a majority in a House of that complexion what hope would they have under a Unionist government?

"No; I'll plant only seeds; sticking potatoes into the ground looks like such a waste of good food."

CHAMPIONING THE FAIR SEX.

[Kingston Standard.]

It is all very well for men to grin at the tight looped-in dresses of women, but we can remember a time not so very long ago, when men wore skin tight trousers which had to be peeled off them by a friend, or else the owner had to sleep in them.

GOOD SHOOTING BY THE SEVENTH WELL REWARDED

Cups and Medals Presented During Parade at Armories Monday Night.

Colonel Hodgins Compliment t Corps on Fine Appearance at Church Parade.

A large number of spectators were present at the Armories Monday evening to witness the distribution of prizes and trophies won by members of the regiment at the annual rifle matches last fall.

The regiment, of which there was a good turnout, was drawn up in quarter column of companies facing the platform where were displayed the cups and medals, which were to be distributed. On the platform were: Col. W. D. Hodgins, commanding the division; Lieut.-Col. A. H. McDonnell and Major L. W. Shannon, representing the divisional staff, and a number of the officers' ladies, at whose hands the prize-winners received their trophies.

Address By Lieut.-Col. Campbell.

Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell delivered an address to the spectators, in which he explained the necessity of preparing for war in times of peace. He failed to see, he stated, the first rays of world peace, the dawn of which was being heralded in some quarters. He called upon the citizens to support the regiment, and any other corps having its headquarters in London, feeling assured that the men were giving up their time in preparing for their defence.

Col. Hodgins laid stress upon the importance of rifle shooting in the training of the modern soldier, and impressed upon the officers the necessity of setting a good example in this respect.

Compliments Corps.

He complimented the regiment upon its appearance at Sunday church parade, his only regret being that it was not three times as strong. Before leaving London, he hoped to see it as strong and efficient a corps as that which went to Ottawa under command of Lieut.-Col. Little. It was the best advertisement a city could have, and showed the spirit of true progressiveness. In concluding, he said, that there existed in the city a great deal of misapprehension and prejudice regarding military affairs which he hoped to see dispelled. Drunkenness was not found in militia camps to anything like the extent he had sometimes seen it at civilians' picnics.

The Prize-Winners.

The following prizes and trophies were distributed:

The Beck cup for the tyro making the highest score at 200 and 500 yards, won by Corp L. Day, of G Company, presented by Mrs. (Col.) Hodgins.

COUNCIL EXTENDS BELL FRANCHISE $3,000 A YEAR

And Ratifies the Purchase of Carts for the Collection of Garbage.

Capt. T. J. Murphy Appointed to Succeed Late Ex-Ald. Forristal on Revision Court.

The Bell Telephone offer of $3,000 eration of City Engineer Ashplant's report on local improvements, Monday night's session of the city council was very brief and very busy.

The Bell Telephone offer of $3,000 for the extension of their franchise was accepted, but the agreement was only fixed for one year. The amount of the offer is $1,000 less than last year. It was pointed out by Mayor Graham that the company, having firmly established itself in the city, enjoys a more independent position than ever. It is not expected that an exclusive franchise will be asked for at the expiration of the new agreement. The company provides the city with a municipal telephone service worth $560 a year.

Garbage Carts.

The purchase of twelve garbage carts at a cost of $53.75 each from the Bain Company of Woodstock was ratified by the council.

The city hall committee reported that the city clerk had been instructed to notify the tenants of the Spencer block to quit their tenancy on June 15th.

A. Platt and R. H. Gallup were appointed temporary clerks in the tax assessor's office at $9 a week. Mr. Caverhill will be engaged at a salary of $2 a day to assist Engineer A. N. Warfield, who is reporting on the Port Stanley Railroad.

Capt. Murphy Appointed.

Capt. T. J. Murphy was appointed a member of the court of revision to succeed the late ex-Ald. Forristal. The fees to be paid members of the court of revision were fixed at $50 a year.

A bylaw to issue $5,000 debentures for the purpose of providing additional funds for the Wharncliffe road bridge was passed.

STRONG COMPANY OPENS AT GRAND

Stanley Stock Co. Gives Fine Presentation of Thrilling Melodrama.

"BEWARE OF MEN" GOOD

Large Audience Last Night Was Delighted and Fascinated—New Play For End of Week.

"Beware of Men," a real, old-fashioned, regulation style melodrama, presented in a finely melodramatic manner of acting, by the Stanley Stock Company, thrilled and delighted a large audience at the Grand Monday night.

The company is a capable one. Mr. Arthur Stanley and Miss Ella Allen, whose names appear on the program as the stars, are extremely satisfactory exponents of the impressionistic style of acting, or at least expected, in a melodrama as typical as "Beware of Men." Evidences of versatility on their part were not lacking, giving good reason to believe that their work in the future programs of their present four-week engagement may be excellent. The plays to be presented range in variety and class from unalleviated melodrama to Goethe's "Faust."

Mr. Eadie, who plays the dual parts of Lem Haskins and Dicky Byrd has a naturalistic style of acting that is altogether pleasing, and rather surprising when met with in a melodrama. As Dicky Byrd in the dive scene he gets away with one of the best bits of acting in the performance.

Fine work is done by Mr. Davies as Silas Field, the old farmer, whose daughter "has brought dishonor on his house," and by Mr. Benson, who plays the Irish role of Michael Kerrigan. Mr. Baldwin, as the inevitable villain, plays that thankless part in a highly satisfctory manner

Mr. Allen, as Bill Taylor, the Bowery terror, whose part in the scheme of melodramatic justice it is to get shot in the rough-house scene in the tenderloin mission, plays his part admirably.

Mention should also be made of Miss Starr as Belinda Stebbins, and Miss Alliene as Winnie Stone.

A minor part that is played extremely well is that of Camille, taken by Miss Valentine.

Guards, policemen and hoboes give satisfactory support.

"Beware of Men" will be repeated tonight and twice on Wednesday. The latter part of the week the Stanley Stock Company will play 'A Soldier of Empire."

More Disputes, But Less Time Lost

Labor Troubles Had Big Effect on Business Last Month.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 20.—While the actual number of trade disputes in existence during April was greater than in the preceding month, and exceeded by twelve that of the corresponding month of last year, the number of working days lost to employes thereby was not as great as during April, 1912.

The industries most affected by disputes in April, according to the Labor Gazette, were mining, building and the clothing trades. The disputes of coal and metalliferous miners in British Columbia, previously begun, continued, as did also the strike of gold miners at Porcupine. The most serious disputes in the building trades involved painters at Winnipeg, and miscellaneous employes at Nelson, B. C. In the clothing trades more than 2,000 garment workers at Hamilton were thrown out of work by a dispute which lasted about two weeks.

Business conditions were considerably affected in Montreal and Toronto by short strikes of teamsters. Although more than twenty new disputes occurred during April a satisfactory feature was the fact that in nearly every case a settlement was soon reached, the majority of the disputes being strikes called to enforce demands for increased wages.

Tea-Table Talk

It always sounds so easy in the columns of the women's magazines, or in the "Helps to Housewives" books that push themselves upon the kitchen shelf in company with the cook book and the family doctor book. So easy and simply does it sound, in fact, that many a poor woman has in the innocence of her heart gone madly ahead, only to rue her attempt for weeks after. With you, my misguided sisters, let me sympathize deeply.

Wallpaper, Of Course.

"For goodness sake, what are you talking about? What is 'IT'?" I hear somebody ask in an exasperated tone. From your appearance, my dear, peevish lady, and the crease in the middle of your forehead, you are evidently one of the victims I have just been speaking of. Honest, now, didn't you undertake to paper your own bedroom or John's bedroom, or the den, this spring, after waiting vainly for several weeks for the paper-hangers? Didn't you, after reading your "Helps to Housewives" or whatever the name of your particular book may be, decide that you would surely wait no longer, but undertake the work yourself? And wasn't your determination strengthened when your husband's second cousin's wife, who called on you that very afternoon, declared that it was as easy as "eating one's dinner." One simply bought the paper, trimmed the "salvage" off, cut it into strips the right length, pasted it, and presto, it was on the wall in a trice! She ALWAYS did her own papering, your husband's second cousin's wife solemnly assured you, and there was no sense in paying a man to do it when the thing was so simply.

Pinky-Purple Paper.

I can almost see your hopeful animated countenance as you sat, a little later in the day, in the wallpaper store, and finally decided that the dainty pinky-purple morning-glory pattern would just be the thing for your room. Then, again, I have a picture of you the next morning, when, after mysteriously keeping your purpose a secret from all the members of your family you watch them off to their various pursuits, and commence, as unconscious as a spring lamb, upon your task.

Your room has already been cleared, we will assume. The "selvage" you cut the night before, after the others had retired, and now, with sleeves rolled to the elbow, you cheerfully measure your wall space for the first strip, open the roll upon the table, slash off two or three strips the desired length, and then—suddenly you discover that there is no paste made. In the unaccustomed excitement of the proceedings you had forgotten that entirely!

The Paste Is Lumpy.

Somewhat disconcerted, you weight down the strips of paper with your best Wedgewood vase which happens to stand near, and hasten to the kitchen, rejoicing in the fact that the gas range will soon heat the water for you. Then you consult your helpful book as to how paste is made. "The paste must be smooth and without lumps," the book says, but unfortunately neglects to tell you how this may be accomplished. The directions are also somewhat vague as to the quantity of flour to use. However, it can't really matter much, you think, so you proceed carefully and soon have a pailful of nice thick paste. Too thick, in fact, you discover after carrying it outdoors to cool, and there are quite a few lumps in it after all. Hurriedly, you add more hot water and beat until you are red in the face, but your best efforts only result in a sticky, clammy mass, that is most discouraging in appearance.

But you decide that it will have to do, and carry a portion of it back to your work-table, only to find that in your absence the cat has been investigating matters, and your beloved vase lies in fragments on the hardwood floor. Determined not to be disheartened by such minor details, you quickly apply a coat of paste to the top strip, hasten to the wall with it, and "slap," "slap" the first width is in place. "That don't look half bad," you assure yourself, patting the paper here and there in the endeavor to smooth out some lumpy places.

Those Exasperating Strips.

The next strip goes up quite as easily, but somehow the morning-glory pattern doesn't exactly match. You hastily loosen the width and try it again. The effect is a little better and you are forced to leave it. Fortunately you have started behind the door and it won't show much. The third strip loosens at the top whilst you are patting it in place at the bottom, and the pasty surface comes down onto your head and face with an unpleasant, slimy feeling. You are fearfully exasperated, but wiping your face with the corner of your apron you proceed. The paste is quite dry on the next width before you notice that in some mysterious way it is on the wall upside down. With a sigh you scrape it off and apply another. Then you look at the clock in dismay. The entire morning has fled! The family are coming home soon, and there is no dinner ready. Your arms ache. You have paste in your hair and on your face. There is a kink in the back of your neck—and only 5 strips put on the wall!

It is hard to keep the tears back when noon comes, and the family drop in one by one. You have prepared a hasty dinner, after shutting the door upon the scene of your misery. They shall know nothing of your trials, you determine, or of how foolish you were to believe that "housekeeping" book to say nothing of your husband's second cousin's wife.

But it is nearly the "last straw," when your husband genially turns to you as you pour his tea and remarks, "Well, cheer up, mother. At last you will get your room papered. Mr. Clipper telephoned me that he would be here this afternoon, and would put it on for you in a couple of hours, as the room is small!"

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

FASHION AND THE PETTICOAT.

If the petticoat goes on diminishing in fullness, length and fluffiness as it has done for the past few seasons, till it is now hardly a petticoat at all, but merely an apology for one the word can no longer be used as the symbol of femininity. Hitherto the petticoat has been a thing of frills and ruffles and softness and beauty but the up-to-date outer skirt has so diminished in width that there is positively no room within it for petticoats in the old sense of the word. So imperative is Fashion that there should be no fullness about the hips or the knees, that tights have been very generally substituted for petticoats, and when petticoats are used at all by smart dressers they are merely straight narrow unruffled slips made of soft silk, satin or crepe de chine.

Nevertheless, the love of the petticoat dies hard, and this truly feminine garment must of necessity be worn with summer frocks made of thin and sheer materials. But these up-to-date petticoats would undoubtedly scandalize the women who all their lives have never worn less than two substantial and full garments of cotton, moire, or silk, as occasion demanded.

The new petticoats are extremely narrow, and have for material the most deliciously soft silks, satins, and crepe de chines, while the wash petticoats are of batiste, finest cotton, and lawn. For the tailored skirt there are silk petticoats of light colors that make a very effective lining—as it were—for the tailored skirt. Those in green are particularly good looking, and the new colors, magneta, cerise, etc., are much in evidence. Shantung, plain and flowered, is capital material for one's petticoat, and foulard silks, so light and thin, have been much drawn upon for the colored underskirt.

For the petticoats for the light summer tub dresses, white is the only possible color, and of these there are legion, very narrow, well fitted to the figure, with or without ruffles or frills, but with lets of lace that make no outstanding effect at the hem. These skirts are ideal so far as the present fashions in skirts are concerned. One thinks regretfully of the billows and ruffles of lace of other years, but other times other fashions! So long as the outer skirt continues narrow so long must we conform to the narrow underskirt if we would have the outer skirt look well.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Tar Stain on Skirt.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you be kind enough to answer the following questions?

1. What will take tar stain out of a navy blue serge skirt?
2. Give recipe for macaroons?
3. Could you tell by my hand writing my disposition?

Thank you. VAN DUZY.

A.—1. Rub the spot with a very little clean lard; let it remain on for a short time, then scrub the stain with a brush dipped into warm soapy water, follow this by sponging with a lintless rag, moistened with alcohol, and press with a moderate iron.

2. Cocoanut Macaroons — Use one cup powdered sugar and one cup of grated cocoanut with the well-beaten whites of three eggs; when mixed, drop onto buttered paper from a teaspoon. Bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes.

3. Sorry, V. D., but I cannot.

How to Win Him.

Dear Miss Grey: As I am a constant reader of your column, and find them very helpful, I am going to ask you to assist a troublesome little Peggy.

1. Is there any way of preventing split ends from coming on your hair?
2. What will whiten a yellow neck?
3. Could you give me a recipe for dandelion wine?
4. Is there any harm in going to a ten-cent theatre every week?
5. Is talcum powder injurious to the skin?
6. I am 16 years, rather stout. How long should I wear my skirts?
7. If a girl were in love with a young man, and wished to win his affections, how would she win him without showing it?

Thanking you in advance, PEGGY.

A.—1. The hair splitting is usually a sign that the scalp is too dry, or out of condition in some way. Try clipping the ends, and commence a regular treatment of the scalp with a tonic, also massaging and brushing each night.

2. Make a paste of a handful of oatmeal and sufficient sour milk, adding also the juice of half a lemon. Cover the neck with this after washing in warm water with a good soap, and leave the paste on over night. Remove in the morning with tepid water. A couple of weeks' treatment should show good results.

3. Four quarts of dandelions, cover with four quarts boiling water; let stand three days; add peel of three oranges, and one lemon; boil fifteen minutes; drain and add juice of oranges and lemon to four pounds of sugar and one cup yeast; keep in warm room; strain again; let stand for three weeks; then bottle and it is ready to serve.

4. I see no harm in going occasionally. Like most of things the danger is in the excess.

5. Not if used in moderation, and if cleansed off each night with soap and warm water.

6. To within an inch of your shoe tops.

7. If you are referring to yourself, my dear, may I say that you are much too young to be "in love" with anybody. Had you asked your question of George Bernard Shaw, I have no doubt his answer would be that when a woman sets her mind on ony particular man, and enters the chase after him, he has no possible chance of escape. His fate is sealed. On the other hand writers of the Laura Jean Libbey type, or the author of the 'Elsie' books would probably say "just be your own sweet, adorable self. Be as nice and good and winsome as you can in his presence (no matter if you kick the cat the minute he is out of the door), learn to make for him the little dishes he likes best when he comes to tea, and get the habit of pinning pink roses in his buttonhole, especially on nights when the air is flower-scented and the moon shines romantically through the trees. While doing this it is also wise to let a wisp of golden hair float across the manly cheek. Such treatment is guaranteed to bring results." In the face of such advice as this, need I say more?

Destroying Aphides.

Dear Miss Grey: As you give such good advice to others, I thought I would ask a question.

1. I have a climbing rose bush, and I noticed today that all the new leaves are covered with little green flies or lice. Do you know of anything to kill them,
2. How should a climbing rose be cared for in winter, should it be taken down and tacked up again in spring?

Thanking you, A READER.

A.—These little aphides are very harmful to the life of any plant or shrub, and they seem to take a special delight in spoiling the "queen of flowers." Every effort should be made to destroy them as quickly as possible. Spraying the bushes with a weak kerosene emulsion is good, and it is also a wise idea to follow this with copious spraying of clear water twice a day for several days in order to entirely destroy the pests. Another spray which is recommended by florists and gardeners is made by boiling one quart soft soap in two quarts soft water, and before cooling add one pint paraffine. Dilute this mixture with soft water ten times its bulk, and spray. Other gardeners recommend the use of tobacco water.

2. Yes. After trailing the branches carefully along the ground in a sheltered place, cover the bush with strawy manure in the autumn, and dig this in around the roots early in spring.

Finds the Column Helpful.

Dear Miss Grey: I have found your column very helpful, so I take the privilege of asking a few questions.

1. What are the meanings of the names, Sadie, Ella, and Mae?
2. What keeps patent leather shoes from cracking, and what will take grease stain from tan shoes?
3. Is a girl too young at sixteen to go with boy friends?

I think the book Black Beth was inquiring for is "Her Ranson" or "Paid For."

Thanking you in advance, E. M.

A.—1. Sadie, from Sara, a princess; Ella, a contraction of Eleanor, light; Mae, diminutive of Mary, meaning unpleasant.

2. Patent leathers, like the weather, are very uncertain. One pair of shoes will wear out without cracking, while the next crack within a few weeks' time. I understand the trouble is in the preparation of the leather and if this is not done properly, nothing can remedy the tendency to crack. To rub with a little sweet oil from time to time helps to keep the leather soft and in good condition. Rub afterwards with a soft cloth.

Dip a piece of flannel into spirits of wine and rub the spot on the tan shoes, beginning at the outside and working towards the centre. Then polish with a good patent preparation.

3. Not too young to have boy companions to share her amusements or studies, but too young to think of any particular one in the capacity of a "beau."

Your hint about the book asked for by Black Beth is passed on to her.

Going to Business College.

Dear Miss Grey: Perhaps you will remember Bud, who wrote you not long ago. Well I am her sister. I have never written to you before. I am seventeen, five feet seven inches tall, and I wear my hair in a curl hanging down. Do you think I am to big?

2. I intend going to business college in September, do I need a high school education? I just went as far as the senior fourth.

3. Would you mind printing the birthday calendar for June 12?

Please answer immediately, DOT.

A.—1. If you are a "stay-at-home" girl it is quite all right to wear your hair in the manner you mention. When you begin to attend business college it would be better, perhaps to adopt some other style.

2. Many stenographers "make good" without a high school education, and I see no reason why you should not do the same. I should advise you to pay particular attention to English composition and grammar, and spelling. These have such important bearings upon the success of a typist. In your letter, now, I notice that you ask me "am I to big?" What do you think an employer would say to a stenographer who mispelled such a simple word as "too?" In business life, it is the care of these little things that counts for success.

3. I was obliged to make it a rule not to publish any more "birthday calendars" in this column, as they were asked for so frequently. Anyone is at liberty at any time to hunt up his or her fortune and character as revealed in this series, in The Advertiser files.

"'I Should Worry' NOT," Says Billie Burke.

I think the man who invented the slang phrase, "I should worry," almost deserves a Nobel prize.

The mere fact that almost everybody in North America is saying this little derisive sentence over and over to themselves daily is a sure sign that a great many of them will begin to understand that worry is the most foolish of all the unnecessary things with which women torture themselves. When you begin to worry just think over the matter carefully and see if what you are worrying about can be helped—if it can, go ahead and help it. If it can't be helped just say to yourself, "I should worry," and forget it.

There is nothing in this world so bad that worrying about it does not make it worse.

If we give in to it—the first thing we know we will be a slave to it.

And then good-bye to happiness forever.

"WOMAN'S DAY" IN RUSSIA.

At a number of meetings in celebration of "Woman's Day" in St. Petersburg, speeches by suffragists were rigorously prohibited by the Russian police. In spite of this, however, resolutions were adopted declaring the enfranchisement of women essential in order to remedy the misery of their condition in Russia.

The Ugly Duckling

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER II.

"Tchick, Tchick," said this little one as it tumbled out and opened its small eyes upon the big world for the first time.

Mother Duck looked at it and looked at it AND LOOKED at it.

Oh, it was SO ugly and so BIG and so AWKWARD-looking. Could it really belong to her?

"What can this last child of mine be?" thought the puzzled mother. "Is it a turkey-cock or what is it? Well, anyway, it is very big and very strong and not at all like any other child I ever had."

The next day the weather was very fine; the sun very bright and the pond very clear and inviting-looking. Mother Duck gathered her brood about her early and started for the water.

"Come on, children," she called. "Let's all go for a swim."

With a cluck, cluck, for invitation,

she glided in, and all the babies followed; yes, even the ugly one.

"H'm," said the Mother Duck, "then that isn't a turkey-cock. It holds its head beautifully. It sits so straight. I do believe it can swim better than my pretty children do."

The next tour was made into the duck-yard, where the old duck warned her children to beware of the big cat and the fowls and the hens.

"Now use your legs," she said. "Keep close to me and to each other and bow to that big duck over in the corner. She is the grand dame of the duck-yard, a real aristocrat."

As the little family paraded through the yard all the other inmates looked at it. They seemed of one mind and very well pleased until they caught sight of "Ugly," who was trailing along, alone, behind. Then, with one accord, they sent up a cry. "Oh, he's so ugly. What is he? Why is he? Who wants him? What's his name?" and no end of other unpleasant queries.

A duck flew at poor "Ugly" and pecked him. A hen trampled on his web feet; children laughed at him and the cat spat at him.

"My last child is not handsome," said the mother, looking sadly at "Ugly." "But he is big and strong and doesn't do anyone any harm." She scratched the duck's neck and smoothed his body, for she was his mother, you see.

All might yet have been well if the turkey-cock had not happened in just then. He was wild with anger when he saw the Ugly Duckling. He made such a fuss and noise that the poor thing could stand no more.

When they saw every one was against him, even his brothers and sisters behaved unkindly, saying, "May the cat take you, you ugly thing."

And at last the good mother, worn out with the cross sayings of her friends, flew into a momentary rage and said, "I wish that you were far away, Ugly!"

The poor, lonely duck turned and fled.

To-morrow we'll tell you where he went.

The Poets' Corner

BLOW, BUGLE, BLOW.

The splendor falls on castle walls,
And snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying,
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O hark, O hear! How thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O sweet and far from cliff and scar
The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying;
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O love, they die in yon rich sky,
They faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying,
And answer, echoes, answer, dying, dying, dying.

LONDON'S NEW SOUTHPAW HAD RED SOX AT HIS MERCY

Bobby Heck Pitched His First Game for Manager Deneau, and Brantford Could Do Nothing With Him Until the Ninth—He Deserved a Shut-Out.

[Special to he Advertiser.]

Brantford, Ont., May 19. — Bobby Heck, the new southpaw secured by Rube Deneau, broke into the Canadian League in grand style here today, winning his game under wraps by the score of 5 to 1. It was Heck's game, and all the way through he unfolded a beautiful assortment of curves, grand control, and behind him the Cockneys played with confidence. The three errors charged up were all excusable, and they did not figure in the scoring. At no time did the Red Sox look formidable.

Nelson Liked Heck.

When the game was over, President Nelson, of the Brantford club, declared that there would not be a better pitcher than Heck in the Canadian League this year. On the dope today, the prediction of the Red Sox boss looked good.

Linny Starts It as Usual.

London started in the first round, the value of Linneborn being fully evidenced. He drew a pass and went to second on a close play. Matteson's infield out put him on third, and it remained for Clickenger to bring him home with a stinging drive over second. In the third Heck drew a pass and Linneborn was safe on Tesch's error. Matteson's bunt filled the bases, with no one out. It remained for Bierbauer to drive two over with a corking single through short, while a third counter was put up when Louie came home on a wild pitch.

London added another in the fifth, when Linneborn scored his third run of the day on Clickenger's single. Matteson was caught at the plate attempting to score from second on the same hit. From the fifth on Donovan held the Cockneys safe, while Brantford could scarcely touch Heck's delivery. In the ninth, however, Deneau let Lamond's smash get away, and when Clickenger dropped Coose's fly in left, Lamond scored. This resulted with two out, and Heck was equal to the occasion with the next man.

Tesch Was Very Poor.

Shortstop Tesch, of Brantford, put up a very miserable exhibition today, and a general shake-up of the Red Sox is threatened. London looked all the way like a real ball team. Lefty Smith arrived here this afternoon and will be put in against Deneau's selection on Tuesday.

BERLIN BEAT LEE'S KOLTS

Hammered Three of Knotty's Pitchers Off the Mound for Total of 15 Runs—Both Teams Batted the Ball Hard.

Hamilton, May 19.—After overcoming an eight-run lead, the Kolts lost out to Berlin in the fatal ninth inning today, when Rose blew up. It was one of those real old-fashioned swat-fests that dragged through two hours and thirty-five minutes. Berlin got one across in the first session, two in the second, and five in the third, but the Kolts got to Kehoe in the fourth, and when he was yanked they had grabbed off five tallies. Bradshaw took up the firing for the visitors, but before he settled down the Kolts clouted in three more tallies.

Berlin came right back with two more, the Kolts tied it up again in their half of the seventh, and in the eighth shoved across the run that put them in the lead, the score standing 11 to 10 in the ninth. Tyson contributed two rank errors that were responsible for three runs.

Paquette started the heaving for Hamilton, but he had nothing but a glove, and Teed was shoved into the box. Walter was even worse than the Frenchman, and Rose was sent in to finish the game. Rose pitched winning ball until the ninth, when he quit cold.

NICHOLLS AND FURSSEDONN RELEASED BY LONDON CLUB

Manager Deneau Is Forced to Part With Them in Order to Get Under the Salary Limit—Players All Go Fishing at Brantford This Morning With "Peanuts" Cancella.

[BY JINX.]

Pitcher Herman Nicholls, and Pitcher, Outfielder and General Utility Man Harry Furssedonn, of the London Baseball Club, were released last evening by Manager Deneau. Both Nicholls and Furssedonn were left in this city yesterday when the club left for Brantford. They were notified of their release last evening. Manager Deneau apparently waited to see what his new southpaw, Bobby Heck, could do.

RUBE EXPLAINS.

The writer had a conversation with Rube over the telephone this morning. "Yes, I released Nicholls and Furssedonn last night," he said, in answer to the query. "I hated to let them go just yet, but I have to get under the salary limit, and somebody had to go. Nicholls had all kinds of stuff, and I would have liked to have given him a further trial, but he seemed lacking in nerve."

HECK LOOKS GOOD.

"How did this fellow, Heck, show up yesterday?" was asked.

"He pitched a nice game," said Rube. "He took his time and did not try to put too much on the ball. He deserved a shutout. We handed the Brantford club a run in the ninth."

"Do you think Heck will last the season?" was the neqt question.

WILL RELEASE TWO MORE.

"I wish I had two more like him," was the reply. "I will have to hand out a couple more releases before the week is out. It is my intention to cut down the pitching staff to three pitchers. I think that all these fellows need is to work more often. As soon as the hot weather comes I expect to have the best pitching staff in the league."

"FITZ" WILL WORK TODAY.

Manager Deneau, however, did not say just who he intended to keep. It is likely that Fitzpatrick will work against Brantford today. Lefty Smith, who arrived in Brantford yesterday from Baltimore, where he pitched all last season, will likely oppose London today, and Kane is banking on the southpaw to break his long string of defeats. However, if Fitzpatrick is right, and he should be right, the Red Sox will have to go some to win out.

WANTS SMITH TO WORK.

"I hope this fellow Smith works against us today," said Manager Deneau this morning. "I am anxious to put this team up against a good pitcher to see what they can do. I think that we can just about beat Mr. Smith or any other pitcher that the Brantford club has."

PLAYERS GO FISHING.

"How are all the boys feeling?" he was asked. "Pretty good," he replied. "They were all up bright and early this morning and have gone out fishing with "Peanuts" Cancella, the former Canadian League umpire. Cancella says there is some great fishing around here, and he knows all the good places. Every member of the club but myself went out with him about 8 o'clock, and I intend to join the bunch in a few minutes."

THE PARTING SHOT.

"Well, we wish you all kinds of good luck in today's game," was our parting shot, and just before we hung up the receiver we heard Rube's voice through the 'phone saying: "Well, we're going out to win, and expect to take at least two games on this trip. We will be back in London on Thursday, and then watch the pepper that this team will have. It is going to surprise you."

"Good-bye."

BIRDS TOOK LAST ONE FROM LEAFS

Johnny Lush Was Hammered in the Pinches, and Orioles Won Easily.

Toronto, May 20. — One need not try to give any alabaster alibis on the downfall of the Leafs before the Orioles yesterday at the Stadium, in the closing game of the series. Those Birds simply did everything they shouldn't do—that is, from a local standpoint—and when the last post was sounded Jack Dunn and his band of sluggers, boneheads, etc., had the long end of an 8 to 5 verdict. PITCHER HINDMARSH BEAT LUCAN NINE

Ailsa Craig Southpaw, Who Wanted Trial With London Club, Yielded Nine Hits to Irishmen.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Lucan, May 19.—The Lucan Junior Irish Nine went to Ailsa Craig Saturday and played a very exciting game of ball, but were defeated by the close score of 4 to 3. The Lucan boys led all the way through to the 8th inning, when the Craigites evened the score. In the ninth inning Lucan should have been credited with another run, as Walter Gibson stole home, and the Umpire was too far away to make an accurate decision,and as a result he called Gibson out. Both teams played very good ball. Ailsa Craig could only gather four hits off Carl O'Neil, while Lucan gathered nine healthy wallops off the southpaw, Hindmarsh, two of these hits being for extra bases—one a two-base hit and the other a three-bagger.

It is to be remembered that Hindmarsh is the pitcher whom Rube Deneau has been after for the London Canadian League team, consequently the Lucan Juniors didn't do too bad.

OTTAWA WON IN ONE INNING

Scored Ten Runs in Eighth After St. Thomas Had Lead of 7 to 1—Clements Batted to All Corners of the Lot After Pitching Good Ball.

Ottawa, May 19.—Ottawa pulled a sensational game out of the fire against St. Thomas at Lansdowne Park this afternoon. St. Thomas knocked Kubat out of the box in the seventh, and made the score 7 to 1.

In the eighth Ottawa went after Clements, who previously had held them to three hits. They batted the St. Thomas man unmercifully, and had ten runs across the plate before the third man was retired. Harris started the rally with a single, and the St. Thomas team went up in the air when Clements filled the bases. Shaughnessy doubled, and then the whole team batted around.

Shaughnessy took Kubat out in the eighth and substituted Ostermeyer, who gets credit for the win, although he gave one pass and forced the next man to pop up a fly. Renfer batted for Ostermeyer in the eventful eighth and singled, and Lill finished out the game. In the eighth the Ottawas got eight hits and ten runs off Clements Up to that time he had the Senators subdued. It was very cold, but a big crowd attended. They went wild when Ottawa came from behind and won out. Score:

ENGLISH POLO PLAYERS ARE IN FINE FETTLE

Defeated a Makeshift American Team in First Practice Game by a Score of 21 to 0.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 20.—The way the English polo players galloped through their first practice game in this country on the field of the Piping Rock Country Club on Long Island yesterday, defeating a make-shift quartette of American players, showed that both the Englishmen and their ponies are in fine fettle, despite their long journey from England. The score of the practice game was 21 goals to 0, the entire score being made by the English four in the last five periods.

Such a showing upon first appearance, and without observance of the regular team formation, convinced the critical spectators that Harry Payne Whitney and his American cup defenders have a most aggressive group of challengers to meet in the international cup matches next month.

The American mounts yesterday were distanced in every long gallop, despite the fact that only eighteen of the string of 42 ponies brought across the water, were used on the English side.

Attractions at the late meeting at Dallas are a couple of $5,000 purses for 2:14 trotters and 2:11 pacers.

POOR OLD PIRATES LOSE A TOUGH ONE

CUBS LOSE TO PHILLIES

Cincinnati Took One From Boston, While Brooklyn Beat St. Louis in Extra Innings.

New York, May 19.—New York defeated Pittsburg today in a hard-fought, 14-innings game by a score of 3 to 2. Camnitz and Marquard engaged in a wonderful pitchers' battle, but both gave way in extra innings to pinch hitters. Hendrix, who relieved Camnitz, allowed New York to tie the score in the twelfth and to win out in the fourteenth. The game was a tie until the twelfth, when Simon singled. Kelly ran for him and scored on a wild pitch, a single and a sacrifice fly. The Giants tied it again in their half on Herzog's double, a passed ball and Kelly's wild throw to third. They won out in the fourteenth, when Herzog and Myers singled with one out. Wagner threw out Herzog at the plate on Wilson's grounder, but Burns' long hit to left scored Cooper, who ran for Myers. [Canadian Press.]

Thomas was knocked down three times in the first round, the bell saving him the last time. After about one minute of the second round the referee, Dick Burke, raised White's hand and motioned Thomas to his corner.

MANAGER KEENAN SUSPENDS CY REIDY

Catcher Is Said to Have Called Joe Some Nice Names—Is Fined $50.

Berlin, Ont., May 19. — Cy Reidy, one of the catchers of the local Canadian League team, did not accompany Keenan's Krew to Hamilton today. Notice of suspension was received by Reidy previous to the team's departure, together with information that he was fined $50 for using harsh words and calling Berlin's manager a "drunkard." Reidy was not satisfied with being second catcher of the team. He expects to return to Detroit in a day or two. The fine imposed he considers a bluff.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Sluggish Bowels Cause Gases, Sourness and Food Fermentation.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

FALKENBERG'S EIGHTH.

Cleveland, May 19.—Pitcher Falkenburg won his eighth straight victory today at the expense of Washington, the score being 4 to 1. An error of judgment by First Baseman Johnston, who put a base runner out at first when he might have cut off Williams at the plate in the eighth inning, deprived Falkenburg of a shutout. Cashion was wild and ineffective in the first inning. Jackson killed a triple for McBride by a shoestring catch. Score:

FRANK CHANCE IN TROUBLE.

St. Louis, May 19.—New York won from St. Louis today by 8 to 6. St. Louis, it is said, will protest the game to President Johnston, of the American League on account of Manager Chance batting out of his turn in the eighth inning. St. Louis protested to Umpire Hildebrand after the inning, but he said it was too late. Chance batted for Fisher in the eighth and grounded out. When he came up the second time he batted in Derrick's place and singled, scoring two runs. The score:

Who's Who in Baseball

Daily Bulletin of Major League Players.

Eddie Plank seems to improve with age, for at 38 he is pitching better ball than ever before in his career. Frank Chance, after batting against Plank, recently declared he was the best southpaw that he ever faced.

Last season, Plank won 26 and lost 6 games with a team that finished third, while Marquard won 26 and lost 11 with a pennant winner. Still, there were no $100-a-week vaudeville offers waiting for Eddie; and it was just as well, as he would undoubtedly have turned them down. No white lights for him, but back to his Gettysburg farm.

New Heavyweight Champion May Be Crowned Tonight

[Canadian Press.]

San Francisco, May 20. — A new heavyweight champion of the world may be heralded here tonight, when "Gunboat" Smith, one-time idol of the United States navy and Jesse Willard, a product of Missouri, conclude their 20-round bout.

The two are the logical contenders for the title, which now is claimed by Luther McCarthy. It is probable that the winner of tonight's fight will be matched with McCarthy to determine finally who shall have the crown.

Gunner the Favorite.

Probably by reason of his introduction to the prize ring on the Pacific coast, and also because of achievements in the east, the "Gunner" for the past several days has been the favorite in the betting, and fight critics say he will go into the ring tonight with odds on him ruling up to 10 to 7 or better. Willard's big advantage is said to be his weight and size. He will have 50 pounds over the "Gunner." It will be Willard's first appearance before a San Francisco crowd.

An Important Bout.

Tonight's fight is regarded as the most important heavyweight affair that San Francisco has seen since July 4, 1907, when Tommy Burns startled the fight world by knocking out Bill Squires in less than a round. Bill Selig will referee the match tonight.

MAPLE LEAFS LOSE TO PETES

Manager Cook Used Up Three Pitchers in an Attempt To Stop White Caps but Failed To Do So—Anderson Released.

Guelph, Ont., May 19.—Guelph used up three pitchers today in an attempt to beat Peterboro, but were unsuccessful, the score being 11 to 5 in favor of the Petes. The weather was very unfavorable for baseball, a cold wind blowing a gale across the diamond. Peterboro also used two pitchers, but the Petes' hits were more opportune than the Leafs. Anderson was released by Manager Cook on Saturday. The score:

SONG OF THE DENEAU TRIBE.

We are coming, we are coming to the front in this old race,
And pretty soon you'll find us sitting up there in first place,
And those Saints from old St. Thomas and those Kolts from Hamilton,
Had better keep a look-out for we're coming on the run.

"My pitchers are suffering from cold in their arms," says Knotty Lee, but a look at the result of yesterday's game leads us to suspect that the cold is in their feet.

There was joy in St. Thomas when the first few innings of the game at Ottawa came in yesterday, but when those ten runs Ottawa scored were put up, even the town clock started running round the wrong way.

If anybody should ask us our opinion, we would say that there is a conspiracy in the Canadian League for the restraint of Amby Kane's team.

Mr. Reidy is fined $50 and suspended for calling Mr. Keenan a drunkard. This should provide Mr. Reidy with sober reflection.

Talking about ball clubs reminds us that once upon a time down in St. Thomas they thought they had a pennant-winner, but a cruel bunch of gents came along and scored ten runs off them in one inning.

Judging from the results of recent games, we have come to the conclusion that a safe lead in the Canadian League is one of those things the losing team has just before the other team wins the game.

THOSE TEN TALLIES.

There was a young gent named Clements,
Whose pitching was simply imments
But the Ottawa hitters got to his spitters,
And knocked a few slats off the fents.

A calm perusal of recent Canadian League scores has impressed us with the fact that it takes approximately 20 runs to win a ball game nowadays.

We were at a loss to account for the large score at Hamilton yesterday, but suddenly we revived and discovered that the Hamilton ball park is called the Cricket Field.

Once upon a time there was a Canadian League game in which the opposing teams went a whole inning without scoring a run. If you don't believe that one, we will tell you another.

VEST POCKET ESSAYS

SALT

BY GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Salt is a season. It is not as pleasant a season as summer, but it is a good deal more useful than winter. Salt is the universal habit of the world. Even the animals are slaves to it. An animal which would scorn whiskey would travel a hundred miles to lick a chunk of rock salt. If the greatest cook in the world were to prepare a banquet of nightingales' tongues and other extravagances and were to forget to add a nickel's worth of salt to the $10,000 worth of food, the guests would turn away sadly and order ham sandwiches at the nearest lunch counter.

Kerosene and coal are considerably necessary, but if any wicked trust magnate were to corner the salt supply of the earth and to sit on it until he got his price, he could be international king unless he got lynched first.

Salt is very plentiful. There are mountains of it in Kansas and underground lakes of it in Louisiana, Michigan and elsewhere. There are also several trillion tons of it in the ocean. Nobody knows who salted the oceans, but the guilty man not only spoiled an enormous quantity of drinking water, but wasted enough salt to build a mountain range. The idea of wasting all these materials to produce water which is good for nothing but bathing does not appeal to the modern conservationist.

Salt is also a great preservative. Meat can be kept for years by drying it with salt or packing it in brine, and fish are kept contented and unspoiled to be removed enough could be soaked out of the common or grocery codfish to supply mankind for several years. for long periods by the same method. If all the other salt in the world were

"Nobody knows who salted the ocean."

Salt is also useful when reading the modern newspaper, If a pinch of salt is taken after every war story or political prophecy or estimated flood losses, the reader will preserve his original intelligence to a remarkable degree.

ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT

BY LOUIS TRACY.

CHAPTER I.

Dusk.

"There, sonny—behold the city of your dreams! Good old New York, as per schedule. Gee, Ain't she great?"

The slim, self-possessed youth of twenty years hardly seemed to expect an answer; but the man addressed in this pert manner, though the senior of the pair by six years, felt that the emotion throbbing in his heart must be allowed to bubble forth lest he become hysterical.

"Old New York, do you call it?" he asked quietly. The tense restraint in his voice would perhaps have betrayed his mood to a more delicately tuned ear than his companion's, but young Howard Devar, heir of the Devar millions—son of "Vancouver" Devar, the Devar who fed millions on canned salmon, and was suspected of having cornered wheat at least once, thus woefully misapplying the parable of the loaves and fishes—had the wit to appreciate the significance of the question, deaf as he was to its note of longing, of adulation, of vibrant sentiment.

"Coelum non animum mutat, which, in good American, means that it is the same old city on the level, and only changes its sky-line," he chortled. "Bet you a five-spot to a nickel I'll walk blindfolded along Twenty-third street from the Hoboken Ferry any time of the day, and take the correct turn into Broadway, bar being run over by a taxi or street car at the crossings."

"I'll take the same odds and do that myself. How could any normal human being miss the rattle of the Sixth Avenue Elevated?"

Devar's forehead wrinkled with surprise.

"Hello, there! Hold on! How often have you told me that you had never seen New York since you were a baby?" he cried.

"Nor have I. Ten years ago, almost to a day, I sailed from Boston to Europe with my people, and I had never revisited New York after leaving it in infancy, though both my father and mother hailed from the Bronx."

"There's a cog missing somewhere, or my mental gear-box is out of shape."

"Not a bit of it. One may learn heaps of things from maps and books."

"Start right in then, and take an honors course, for behold in me a map and a book and a high-grade society index for the whole blessed little island of Manhattan."

"Thank you. What is that slender, column-like structure to the left of the Singer building?"

Devar gazed hard at the graceful tower indicated by his friend; then he laughed.

"Oh, you're uncanny, that's what you are," he said. "You've lived so long in the East that you've imbibed its tricks of occultism and necromancy. I suppose you have discovered in some way that that mushroom has sprung up since the old man sent me to Heidelberg?"

"I guessed it, I admit. It does not figure among the down-town sky-scrapers in the latest drawing available in London."

"And d'ye mean to tell me that you can pick out any of these top-notchers merely by studying a picture?"

"Yes. Probably you could do the same if you, like me, felt yourself a returned exile."

Young Devar awoke at last to the fact that his companion was brimming over with subdued excitement. Whether this arose from the intense nationalism of an expatriated American, or from some more subtle personal cause, he could not determine, but, being young, he was cynical. He looked at the strong, set face, the well-knit, sinewy figure, the purposeful hands gripping the fore-rail of the promenade deck; then he growled, with just the least spice of envy:

"Say, Curtis, old man, you ought to have a rare good time in New York."

"At any rate, I shall not suffer from lack of enthusiasm," came the quick retort.

Devar felt the spur, and his restless, birdlike eyes condescended to dwell for a few seconds in silence on the splendid panorama in front. The Lusitania had passed through the Narrows before the two young men had strolled along the upper deck to the vantage point of a gangway which made a half-circle round the commander's quarters. Already the statue of Liberty loomed majestically over the port bow, and the wide expanse of the Hudson River was framed by the wooded slopes of Staten Island, the low shores of New Jersey, and the heights of the Palisades. Somewhat to the right rose the imperial outlines of the newest New York, that wonderful city which, even in the memory of children, has raised itself hundreds of feet nearer the sky. A thin blue haze gave glamor to a delightful scene, glowing in the declining rays of a November sun. The gigantic strands of the Brooklyn bridge showed through it like some aerial path to a fabulous land, while, merging fast in the shadows, other, dim spectres told of even greater engineering marvels higher up the East River. A fleet of bustling vessels, for the most part ferryboats of every possible size and shape, scudded across the spacious waterways, and lent to the picture exactly that semblance of vitality, of energetic purpose, of relentless effort to be up and doing—whether the New Yorker was going home from his office or his wife was coming into town for dinner and a theatre—which one, at least, of the city's uncounted sons had confidently expected to find in it.

So John Delancy Curtis drew a deep breath that sounded almost like a sigh, but a pleasant smile illuminated his somewhat stern face as he turned to Devar and said:

"I am giving myself fourten days' free run of the town before I go west to visit some relatives. They live in Indiana, I believe. Bloomington, Monroe County, is the latest address I possess. Don't forget to ring me up tomorrow. You remember the hotel, the Central, in West Twenty-seventh street."

"Oh, forget it!" cried the other vexedly. "Why in the world are you burying yourself in that prehistoric shanty? Man alive, the Holland House is only a block away, and there are 'steen hotels of the right sort strung out along Fifth avenue, 'way up to Central Park."

"It's just a whim," broke in Curtis, who did not feel like explaining at the moment that he was choosing a quiet old inn in a side street because he had been born there. Nevertheless, his words held that ring of decision, of finality in judgment, which invariably forms part of the equipment of men who have lived in wildlands and lorded it over inferior races. Devar was vaguely conscious, and perhaps slightly resentful, of this compelling quality in his new-found crony. Oft-times it had quelled him for an instant during some stubbornly contested argument, though he raged at himself just as often for yielding to it, as if, forsooth, he were one of those patient, animal-like Chinese coolies of whose courage and endurance Curtis spoke so admiringly. Yet he was drawn to the man, and clung to his friendship.

"Right-o! I s'pose the place owns a telephone," he snickered, and then hurried away to finish packing. Curtis, whose belongings were locked and strapped hours ago, remained on deck and watched the preparations for bringing the great liner alongside the Cunard pier. When her engines wire stopped in midstream a number of fussy little stugs began nosing her round to starboard. It seemed a matter of sheer impossibility that these puny little creatures should move such a monster; but faith can move mountains, and in half an hour or less the tugs had moved the Lusitania to her allotted berth.

Meanwhile, in each wide arch of the customs shed, parterres of joyous faces grew momentarily more distinct. It was easy to discern the very instant when one or other eager group on shore recognized the features of relatives and friends on the ship. A frenzied waving of handkerchiefs, small flags, or umbrellas, an occosional wild whoop, a college cry or a rebel yell, would evoke similar demonstrations from the packed lines of onlookers fringing the lower decks. One fact was dominant—to the vast majority of the passengers this was home.

Suddenly Curtis found that he was the sole tenant of the open promenade. Everyone on board had hurried to the less exalted levels, the many to hail their loved ones, the few to watch that first unique demonstration to a new land which New York gives so generously. Somehow he had never felt himself more alone—not even by night in the solemn plains of Manchuria—and he threw off the feeling, almost with contempt. Was not this city his very own? Had he not a birthright in every stone of it, from pavement to loftiest pinnacle? This was his homecoming, too, more real, more literally complete, than in the case of any but the few brn New Yrkers who might figure among the two thousand passengers carried by the Lusitania.

TODAY'S RIDDLE

New Way to Banish All Hairy Growths

[Modes of Today.]

Many people will be interested in the new and simple treatment by which hair or fuzz can be permanently removed from the face, neck or arms. This consists in making a paste with plain powdered delatone and water and applying to hairy surface. After two or three minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every trace of hair has vanished. This is a painless, harmless method and seldom requires the second application to remove even a stubborn growth, and it is so simple to use that failure cannot result.

Straggly eyebrows can be made to grow thick and beautifully lustrous by rubbing pyroxin on frequently, and to make short, straight eyelashes come in long and silky, apply pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

ANNUAL RALLY OF EPWORTH LEAGUES; RECORD BREAKER

Methodist Young People of City Hold an Inspiring Gathering.

Ridout Street League Carries Off Trophy for Best Attendance —Stirring Addresses.

The annual rally of the Epworth Leagues of the Methodist churches of the city was held in Colborne Street Church on Monday evening, and was one of the largest ever held in this city. The main body of the church was crowded with the representatives of the leagues, and a large number of interested outsiders were seated in the gallery.

The president, Mr. John Showler, acted as chairman, and with him on the platform were Rev. D. McCamus, pastor of Colborne Street Church, and Rev. Dr. Dougall, of St. Thomas, the speaker of the evening. Each delegation from the different churches were grouped together and identified by means of banners. The leagues represented at the rally were First, Dundas Centre, Centennial, London Junction, Richmond Street North, Colborne Street, Askin, Ridout Street, Empress Avenue and Hill Street.

Trophy For Ridout.

A prominent feature of the program was the presentation of the trophy for the best attendance during the year to the Ridout Street League. Miss McKinnon, in accepting the prize, which was a check covering a delegate's expenses at the summer school, explained the methods followed by that league in securing large attendance at the meetings. President Showler stated that the prize had been won by hard work, as all the leagues in the city had made determined efforts to win it.

Miss McMechan, the corresponding secretary of the summer school, which will be held in Alma College, St. Thomas, from July 14 to 21, outlined the objects of the school, and also the program for the one to be held this summer. The school in past years had proved to be of great benefit to teachers in the Sunday schools, as well as to others interested in other branches of church work. The speakers who will address the meetings this year will be above the average, and it is expected that the meetings will prove to be more beneficial than those held in past years.

A Mission Address.

A brief address was given by Miss German, a returned missionary from the foreign fields. Miss German said that she had recently celebrated her seventh anniversary as a missionary, and that she had never regretted the step she had taken. She related several incidents of her work in the mission fields. She told the young people that they would never regret any work done for the church.

"Gather Up the Bread."

In a stirring address on "Gather Up the Bread," Rev. Dr. Dougall, of St. Thomas, emphasized the importance of utilizing the by-products and of economizing in the things we have. The speaker brought to the notice of the leaguers the importance of using their spare time to better advantage both to themselves and others. He referred to men who have become famous in literary, scientific and financial life who have attained success and fame through taking advantage of their spare moments to better fit themselves for their life work.

"It is in the rivalry of this age that the use of the fragments is of advantage, and one cannot be too careful as to the manner in which he spends his idle moments. Fathers and mothers do not worry about their children when they know that the younger generation are at work or school. It is after supper and before bed-time that the parents worry about the manner in which their children spend their time. It is between these hours that the young people who go bad commence their downward path. Store your atoms of energy and also learn to concentrate your thoughts on the one definite aim of your life."

The New Officers.

Mr. Charles Wortman announced the result of the election of officers as follows: President, Mr. John Showler (re-elected); vice-president, Miss Rose Merritt; secretary, Mr. E. Sproule, and treasurer, Miss Graham. In introducing the new officers, Rev. G. N. Hazen stated that during the time that he had occupied pulpits in the London district, three of the four new officers had been members of his churches.

At the conclusion of the program votes of thanks were tendered to the officers of Colborne Street Church, and the members and organist of the Colborne Street choir.

Threaten To Tie Up The Coast Shipping

Three Thousand Longshoremen Want Increase in Pay and Shorter Hours.

[Canadian Press.]

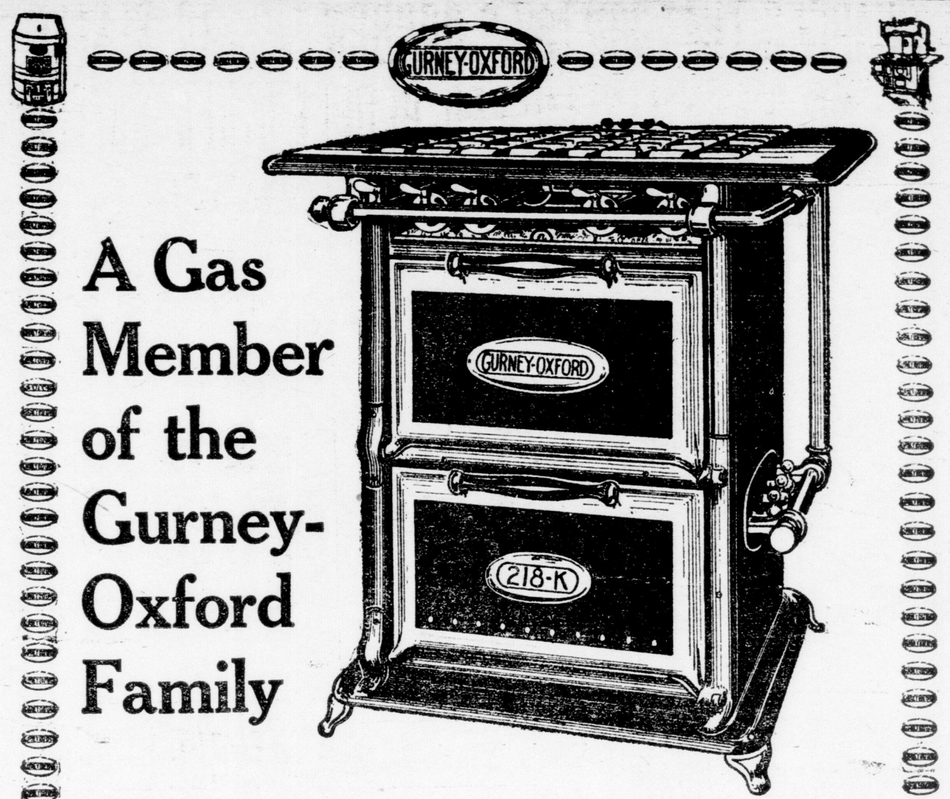

Philadelphia, May 20.—Threats to tie up shipping all along the Atlantic coast unless the longshoremen on strike here are granted their demands were made today by national organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World. Robert L. Warwick, secretary and treasuer of the National Industrial Union of Marine Transportation Workers, has arrived from New York and ordered the firemen, cooks, watertenders and coal haulers to leave their posts. He said that the firemen and longshoremen in New York had also been ordered out, and would refuse to handle freight consigned for this city. Similar orders, he said, would be issued in Baltimore and other points along the coast.

Nearly three thousand men are said to be on strike here. They demand 35 cents an hour for a ten-hour day; time and a half for work after 6 p.m.; double time for work on Sundays and holidays, and recognition of the union.

Western Trainmen Will Take a Strike Vote

[Canadian Press.]

San Francisco, May 20.—Strike ballots will be provided and a referendum vote will be taken by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to determine what action shall follow the refusal of managers of railroads operating east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River, to consider a 15 per cent raise in pay for conductors and brakemen. This was the substance of a statement given out last night by W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, which opened a three weeks' convention in this city yesterday.

A Gas Member of the Gurney-Oxford Family

In all the three generations that we have been making ranges we have never invited the criticism of Canadian women with greater confidence than this gas range warrants.

We have spared no thought in designing a sanitary effective range that attains the ideal of convenience, economy and cooking efficiency.

This is the big double oven type of range that meets every requirement in dainty and wholesome cooking.

A perfect system of double circulation from the two burners evenly heats both ovens with the maximum of cooking value and the minimum of gas consumption.

The ovens are constructed with double-lined drop doors that prevent any loss of heat, that have no springs to go out of order, and that close by a counter-balancing device.

There is sufficient space on each oven rack for four 9" pie plates.

The solid one-piece steel top of the range without loose shaky shelves is built with 5" larger cooking surface each way than other ranges.

The burners fitted with removable caps, the oven linings and racks, the porcelain trays, all piece by piece can be lifted out by hand and thoroughly cleaned —a wonderful sanitary arrangement.

We will be pleased to point out to you the exclusive sanitary and convenient features of this gas range that bakes to perfection and lasts a lifetime.

The Gourlay Responds

¶ Music-loving people who depend upon the sympathetic response of the piano, the delicacy of its touch, the sweetness of its tone—make the Gourlay their final choice.

¶ The inspiring tone of this instrument is far-reaching in its influence. The teacher feels the tingle of pleasure at the possibility to be able to execute the finest degree of tone control. The pupil is developed to a finer appreciation of the "ideal" in musical conceptions. The student is able to advance far into the broad field of difficult music when given a Gourlay medium for the sympathetic interpretation of the works of the great composers.

¶ Under the strain of constant use, the

holds its normal tone.

¶ The evening "musicale" by a member of the family circle relaxing around the fireside has a charm both for the performer and for the listeners—that is felt with infinite joy in the home that contains a Gourlay. The success of this piano is due entirely to the superior quality of every minute part of its thorough construction. No sacrifice is considered too great where quality is the issue.

¶ We shall be pleased to demonstrate the power and responsiveness of the Gourlay at any time in our showrooms.

CHARGES THAT PREMIER BORDEN DELIBERATELY MISLED PEOPLE

Ministers of Public Works and Railways Also Included in Accusations Made Before the Houseby Mr. William Chisholm.

Ottawa, May 19.—Charges that the Minister of Public Works, the Minister of Railways, the Prime Minister, and Conservative election workers participated in "a scheme calculated to deceive and mislead the electors of Antigonish County, N. S., during the provincial by-election of Jan. 16 to fill a vacancy caused by the elevation of Hon. Mr. Girroir to the Senate," were made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Mr. Wm. Chisholm, of Antigonish.

Mr. Chisholm noted that one week before the election there appeared in the local paper a copy of a letter from George Buskard, secretary of the Minister of Public Works, to Senator Girroir, telling of the amount of money to be placed in the supplementary estimates to be spent in Antigonish. In permitting that letter to go out from his department, Mr. Chisholm maintained, the minister had violated his duty as a minister of the crown and a privy councillor.

No Excuse.

"It will not lie in the minister's mouth to say, 'I did not write the letter, and my secretary did it without authority,'" said the Antigonish member. "If this were so, how is it the secretary was not dismissed? The very fact that he is retained gives the minister's sanction to the transaction. We have had the experience of the Donaldson case, where the minister sought to escape responsibility because the letters produced were signed by 'G. B.,' his secretary."

Mr. Chisholm showed that the estimates cited in the local paper amoutned to $16,000, or $81 for every vote polled on the by-election.

If the minister wants to give an antidote for the poison which the Conservative workers have had to drink, he will see to it that these promised works are provided for," he added.

Transportation Bait.

In connection with the same election, Mr. Chisholm charged that the people in that constituency had been given to understand that the Government intended to allow hay to be transported free over the I. C. Railway. A hay famine was on in the district at the time. A self-appointed committee of Conservative heelers had published notices to this effect in the local papers. Mr. Borden and Hon. Mr. Cochrane had both been asked in the House repeatedly, prior to the election. If the Government intended to transport hay free as per these notices. Both the Prime Minister and the Minister of Railways had evaded a reply until after the election, and then the freight charges were not lifted.

"There is little glory in that by-election when it is considered what base, despicable methods were resorted to," said the member for Antigonish. "One of Mr. Borden's pledges in his election manifesto was for pure elections. Is this a sample of election purity?"

Condoned the Offence.

Hon. "Bob" Rogers simply condoned the offence, blamed the sending of the letter on his secretary, and did not assume full and unapologetic responsibility therefor. He characterized the charge as "trivial." Then he accused Mr. Chisholm of having cast a reflection upon the good citizens of Antigonish as being susceptible to "being bought."

The honorable gentleman (Mr. Chisholm), he said, was entitled to congratulation for his own patience with himself. The only thing he had been able to do was to reflect upon the honor, honesty, and integrity of the electors of the county which had sent him to Parliament.

"I have too much confidence in the citizens of that community to venture to think that any letter from me would have the effect of purchasing any individual in that constituency," he said, in an injured tone. "The letter was written when I was in Winnipeg endeavoring to enjoy my Christmas holidays, and I had no knowledge of the letters, nor the fact that an election was taking place in Antigonish. Senator Girroir had made many requests for public works to be done in the district, and he wrote a letter concerning them when I happened to be away, and I consider that my secretary was right in replying as he did."

Bribery to Offer Money.

"I think the member for Antigonish has made a very strong case, and so far as I can read in the minister's answer, it is an absolutely undefended case," said Mr. D. D. Mackenzie, who replied, "I submit that it is bribery to offer in a letter that money will be spent in a community while an election is on, just as much as if the minister went from house to house giving money in the hand. What was the letter published for? Why did Senator Girroir ask for the letter? The minister knows that it was put up to him that an election was on."

"We have now a minister of the crown who cares nothing about the dignity of his office, and sends letters for the purpose of corrupting the electors of the country," he continued. "The minister has attempted to throw the reflection upon Mr. Chisholm as imputing that the people of his county could be bought. It is Senator Girroir and the minister himself who have thought they could be bought.

What May Be Expected.

"The minister's speech has given us a fair sample of the use to which the various grants to agriculture, etc., are to be put. Honorable members will be threatened with annihilation in their constituencies if they raise a voice against such measures. Their constituents will be told they voted against the expenditure of money in their ridings."

Mr. Mackenzie pressed home the point as to the purpose of the sending and publication of the remarkable letter. It looked to him, he stated, like an attempt at "robbery of the darkest and most high-handed character. Hon. Mr. Rogers was qualifying as the minister of elections rather than the minister of public works."

Foster Gives the Reason!

But it fell to the lot of the young Mr. Arthur De Wit Foster (King's, N. S.), to explain the whole matter. While the House was convulsed with laughter this loud-voiced young member explained that some Liberal had stated in some woodshed or corner-store in the presence of someone else that the Conservative Government was not going to do anything for Antigonish. It was to offset this libel—"this scurrilous, deceptive, lying and scandalous charge"—to use Mr. Foster's own language, that the letter was sent. "This was the reason," said he, amid renewed laughter, in which even Conservative members joined, "and it was a cogent and sufficient reason." Whereupon Mr. Foster seemed to realize something was wrong, and sat down, amid renewed smiling.

Defiance, Not Defence.

Mr. J. H. Sinclair of Guysborough, in concluding the debate, noted that Premier Borden's pre-election promises of purity in elections had so far been broken at every opportunity. He trenchantly reviewed the record of the Macdonald, Richelieu, Hochelaga, and Antigonish by-elections. The declaration of the Government "in defence" as given by the Minister of Public Works tonight, said Mr. Sinclair was simply a defiance of all regard for electoral purity and a cynical indifference.

Mr. Chisholm's motion of censure on the Minister of Public Works was declared "lost on division," and the House then went into supply on the estimates for agriculture.

JAMES H. MACKENZIE IS DEAD IN TORONTO

Native of St. Thomas Was Prominent in Banking Circles.

Toronto, May 19.—Toronto bankers lost one of their most popular colleagues today in the death of Mr. Jas. H. MacKenzie, assistant manager of the Toronto branch of the Imperial Bank. More than a week ago Mr. MacKenzie was forced to leave his desk on account of an attack of appendicitis, and since then, although every effort was made to curb the ailment, he has been confined to his home in the St. George apartments, passing away early this morning.

The late Mr. MacKenzie was born in St. Thomas 46 years ago, and in 1866 he entered the employ of the Imperial Bank as a junior clerk in the St. Thomas office. He was quickly advanced to more important positions, and eleven years ago he became assistant to Mr. O. F. Rice, the Toronto manager. His efficiency and geniality won him the reputation of being one of the most popular men in the service of the bank.

He was a member of the Toronto Golf Club, the Albany and the R. C. Y. C. He was also honorary treasurer of the Canadian Art Club, and in all matters of art, particularly as it was expressive of Canadian sentiment, he took a keen interest.

His wife, formerly a Miss Field, of Toronto, and a brother, Professor MacKenzie, of Toronto University, survive.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

HERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO ALL WHO FEEL AS IF THEIR VIGOR AND LIFE HAD ALL OOZED AWAY.

This Condition Can Be Quickly Cured By a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I did'nt digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, five for $1 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ENDED HIS LIFE

John R. Smith, of Plympton, Found Dead in the Woods.

Wyoming, May 19. — John R. Smith, a prosperous Plympton farmer, was found dead last evening in the woods in the rear of his farm, two miles from the village. His throat had been cut and a razor was lying near the body. Smith was in his 61st year.

He was seen on Sunday morning going to the woods, as was his custom, accompanied by his dog. His wife became uneasy when he did not return for dinner or tea, and reported to a neighbor, George Hartley, who discovered the body. The deed had evidently been committed in the forenoon.

Dr. Reed, coroner, drove out to the scene, but decided that an inquest was not necessary. The cause of the suicide is supposed to have been worry over the sale of his farm.

EYE PUT OUT

Piece of Steel Struck Samuel Rowe at St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, May 19. — Samuel B. Rowe, a cripple, lately arrived from Detroit, was standing in Talbot street in front of a shooting gallery today, when a piece of steel, supposed to have chipped off the target, struck him in the left eye, completely destroying the organ, which will have to be removed at once, to save the sight of the other. The man is about 55 years of age and supports himself by selling notions.

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives." He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 5, 1911.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for 'Fruit-a-tives,' I decided to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended 'Fruit-a-tives' to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly."

TERRIBLE TALES OF SUFFERING IN POLAR REGIONS

Leader and Starving Dogs Struggled On Alone for 22 Days.

Ninnis Fell Into a Crevasse and Was Never Seen Again.

London, May 19.—Captain John K. Davis, commander of Mawson's Antarctic ship Aurora, arrived in London, and in an interview gives fresh details of the sufferings of Mawson and his comrades, and the death of Lieut. Ninnis and Dr. Xavier Mertz, the Swiss scientist and ski-runner. Capt. Davis arrived off the base of the expedition in fearful weather, and learned by wireless that several of the party were missing. Davis waited for news of them with intense anxiety, for he had to go 1,500 miles along the coast to pick up Wild and his party before the sea froze and darkness set in.

Eighty-Mile Gale.

In this dilemma he decided after many days to push on to save Wild's party first. In spite of the terrific gales and blizzards blowing eighty miles an hour this was safely accomplished.

The ship was sailed back to the Mawson's headquarters after starting on a 1,500-mile voyage, and Davis was informed that Mawson struggled on alone after the death of Ninnis and Mertz. "We were not more than half a mile from Mawson when he returned," said Davis, "but we could not relieve him and his party. Mawson had gone out with Ninnis and Mertz, and 25 days after the little party had started Ninnis fell into an unfathomable crevasse together with a sledge full of provisions.

Was Never Found.

"The body was not recovered. For thirty-four days after this catastrophe Mawson and Mertz struggled across the plateau on the verge of starvation, until on Jan. 17, Mertz, too, succumbed, as a result of exposure and want of food. For a further twenty-two terrible days Mawson struggled on alone with a few starving dogs as his sole companions. That he did not go mad under such conditions was wonderful, and the account of his journey, when he tells it, will prove one of the greatest stories of Antarctic heroism."

More Money Needed.

At the urgent request of Mawson, signalled by wireless, Davis will come to England, and endeavor to obtain part of the money necessary owing to the extra season's work forced upon the explorers, who were compelled to remain in the Antarctic until Davis relieves them at the end of this year.

Mawson conducted the Australian expedition to the Antarctic regions.

To the Zam-Buk Co.

Dear Sirs,—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable.

How Zam-Buk Cures Burns.

Stoker Kingsnorth, of H.M. First Class Cruiser "Cochrane," says: "One day I fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but from the first, the burns took the wrong way, owing to a lot of coal dust and dirt from the pipe having got embedded in the flesh and setting up blood-poison.

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good for my arm. Indeed, I got worse, and I became alarmed at the spreading of the poison. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced; and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood-poison, festering sores, pimples eruptions, cuts, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box all druggists and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

King's Visit To Have Far-Reaching Result

Kaiser Made First Move Toward Establishing Better Relations.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 20. — A London cable to the Tribune says:

The Kaiser's graceful and unexpected act of clemency in pardoning the three Englishmen now undergoing sentence for espionage in Germany is the first outward indication of the approaching completion of an Anglo-German entente. In Berlin the Emperor's action is regarded as a compliment to the English nation.

Amnesty however, means far more than a personal act of courtesy from one sovereign to another. It helps confirm the report that King George's visit to Berlin, which is in one sense a purely family affair, will have far-reaching significance and will probably be followed by the public declaration that an Anglo-German understanding has been arrived at.

At the present moment it may be surmised with some confidence that what the two foreign offices are hoping for, among other things, is a settlement of the Bagdad Railway and Persian Gulf questions. There is little doubt that Viscount Morley of Blackburn's visit to Berlin had reference to thes matters. He is a likely emissary not merely as the Nestor of the British cabinet, carrying deserved weight in foreign affairs, but because as ex-secretary of state for India he was thoroueghly familiar with the Persian Gulf problem.

Cuba Looking For Period of Prosperity

[Canadian Press.]

Havana, May 20.—With the inauguration today of General Mario G. Menocal as president in succession to President Jose Miguel Gomez, and of Dr. Enrique Jose Varona as vice-president, the Cuban republic enters on a new phase of its existence in a spirit of high hopes for the preservation of peace and the establishment of prosperity of the island.

General Mario G. Menocal was born in 1838. His family soon removed to the United States where he was educated in the military college of Washington, and then at Cornell University, where he graduated as a civil engineer. Upon leaving Cornell he went with his uncle, Aniceto G. Menocal, chief engineering staff, which made the survey of the Nicarangua Canal, and worked with him. He returned to Cuba as an engineer for a French company. At Santa Cruz he joined the revolutionary force as a private, and rose rapidly until he became general of division.

Enriquo Jose Varona, the vice-president, was born in Camaguey, April 13, 1949, was graduated from the University of Havana, and is professor of philosophy and ethics in that institution.

President Menocal, on taking office, contents himself with the declaration that he will devote all his energies to giving the country a clean business administration, which will foster the industries of the island and develop its splendid resources, which will welcome foreign capital and immigration and maintain friendly relations with all nations.

Asking New Trial for Lieut. Charles Becker

[Canadian Press.]

Becker, the former New York city police lieutenant, who is under sentence of death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, has submitted to Judge Swann, of the court of general sessions, affidavits embracing 152 typewritten pages, as grounds for a new trial for his client. Judge Swann said he would refer the question to Supreme Court Justice Goff, before whom Becker was tried. The argument on the motion of Mr. Shay will come up before Justice Goff May 28.

Unusual Case For Police Court

Charge of Breaking the Alien Labor Law Is To Be Heard.

George Buck, the aged watchman of the rolling mills, who is alleged to have struck Thomas Cake on the head with an iron bar on the premises of the rolling mills Sunday afternoon, will appear before Magistrate Judd Thursday morning on a charge of assault and wounding preferred by the injured man.

The case was to have been tried Wednesday, but an alleged infraction of the alien labor law preferred against a local cigar manufacturer, who, it is said, hired several colored cigarmakers in New York City, is to be heard.

The case is the first of its kind to be aired in the local police court, and will likely occupy considerable of the court's time. It will also prove interesting, as evidence has to be taken and forwarded to the Attorney-General before permission to hear the case can be given to any magistrate.

H. M. FLAGLER DEAD

[Canadian Press.]

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 20. — Henry M. Flagler, aged 83, capitalist and railroad magnate, died at his winter home here today after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Flagler recently fell down a flight of steps in his home, and because of his advanced age his recovery had not been anticipated.

Was Fined $10 for Selling on Sunday

Case of John Morello, Which Stood Over Some Days, Finally Settled.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, May 20.—The case of John Morello, charged with having broken the law by selling on Sunday, was settled today by the defendant being found guilty and fined $10 and costs or one month in jail.

At last night's meeting of the council the bylaw proclaiming May 26 as a public holiday was rescinded, and Ingersoll will now observe Saturday as Victoria Day.

The council, in compliance with the request of a number of baseball players, decided to rent property on the north side of the river as a recreation ground. This was done last year as a result of the general complaint of many residing in the north that by the time they got home, had their suppers and got down to Victoria Park someone had the grounds and they were unable to practice.

An Enjoyable Meeting.

Few indeed have been the occasions on which the Epworth League of the Methodist Church have held more successful or enjoyable meetings than was the case last night. The visit by the members of the Salford League added interest to the regular meeting, and the attendance was large. A program in keeping with the occasion was furnished and proved to be of much interest to all participating. Following the program, refreshments were served, and the remainder of the evening spent in social intercourse.

That it is the intention of the local police to rigidly enforce the law since Ingersoll passed under local option is apparent from the steps that have already been taken. In addition to the case disposed of yesterday, which resulted in a fine of $20 and costs being imposed, action has been taken against another local man, the charge being that he was drunk on the street.

C. P. R. station agent, Mr. Jas. Enright, is visiting relatives and friends at Denver, Col. During his absence his place is being filled by Mr. Walter Badley, of Elmira.

Enjoyed Visit.

There was a large representation of St. Paul's Young People's Society at the meeting of the Baptist young people last evening. The joint meeting was very interesting, and the sociability made everyone happy.

It is expected there will be a large attendance or ratepayers at the public meeting to be held in the town hall Wednesday night for the discussion of the two bylaws to be voted on on May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Calder, of Chicago, are visiting relatives and friends in town.

HITS MERCHANTS

Deputation Protests Against Unfair Competition of Public Market.

[Canadian Press.]

Brandon, May 20. — That the now popular public market is "touching the spot" with regard to the high cost of living, was again evidenced when deputations of local butchers and bakers waited on the city council to protest against "unfair competition," claiming they cannot fight against farmers who sell produce without paying the heavy taxes to which the local tradespeople are subject. One butcher's sales fell off 50 per cent in one day, they declared. They received little sympathy, the council stating that they were not going to interfere with the farmers at all.

Both of the principals are popular and well-known, as was attested by the flattering serenade given by men, women and children.

DOCTOR SAID HE HAD DIABETES

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cleared Out Every Trace Of It.

That's Why Mr. David Heon, of Nicolet Co., Quebec, Is Recommending the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy to His Neighbors.

St. Wenceslas, Nicolet Co., Que., May 19.—(Special).—"I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills because the doctor told me I was threatened with diabetes. After taking ten boxes I was again examined by the doctor, and he told me that all trace of diabetes had disappeared."

This is the statement of Mr. David Heon, well-known and highly respected here, and he is only one of many in this neighborhood who have found a new lease of life in the great Canadian Kidney remedy.

It is cures such as this that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their reputation. They are now known from the Atlantic to the Pacific as the remedy that never fails to cure kidney disease, no matter where or in what form it is found.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure diseased kidneys. The reason they cure headache, dropsy, rheumatism, neuralgia, diabetes, urinary troubles and Bright's disease is that all of these are either diseases of the kidneys or are caused by disordered kidneys failing to do their work.

TODAY'S MARKET WAS UNUSUALLY SMALL

Farmers Holding Their Produce Back For the Holiday Market.

The attendance at the market today was not as large as is usually the case on Tuesdays on account of the farmers holding back their produce until Thursday, when the big market of the week will be held. A fairly large attendance is expected on Friday, as there will be no market on Saturday, Victoria Day.

Some fifteen to twenty loads of hay were sold during the day, but the prices were lower, and the demand dull on account of the general poor quality of the offerings. The large amount of poor hay was caused by the quick ripening of the hay during the hot spell last summer. The prices today ranged from $10 to $11 50 per ton, but the highest price was paid in but one or two cases, and the average prices were about $11 and $11 25 per ton.

No straw was sold today, although the demand was fairly keen.

The demand for oats was keen, but there were no changes in the prices, which ranged from $1 08 to $1 13 per cwt. Only five or six loads were sold.

The demand for dressed hogs was also keen, and there was a small advance in the prices. The average selling price was $13.00 per cwt., and in several cases the price was as high as $13 25 per cwt.

There were no changes in the prices of dairy produce and vegetables, although there was a fair supply of each on the square.

Want Stone Used on Welland Canal

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 20.—A large deputation of labor interests waited on the Minister of Railways and Canals today, asking that the material, or at least a portion of it, used in Welland Canal construction work be stone instead of cement.

The deputation was introduced by President J. C. Watters, of the Dominion Trades Congress, and included T. Izzard, of Toronto, fourth vice-president of the International Bricklayers and Stonemasons; I. Bainbridge, stonecutters' representative, Toronto; J. McCloud, of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario Conference of Bricklayers and Stonemasons; C. W. Anderson, Niagara Falls, and a number of local labor representatives.

Messrs. Izzard, Anderson and Bainbridge made a lengthy presentation of the case, Hon. Mr. Cochrane replying that it was a most moderate statement, but that he had to be guided largely by those in the Government's employ who had charge of the work. He promised to take the matter up at once with the cabinet.

Waitress Killed by Explosion in Stove

[Canadian Press.]

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 20.—The inquest on Jean Junior, who was instantly killed by the explosion of the waterfront in the kitchen range at the International Hotel, opened last night, and adjourned pending the arrival of experts from various parts of the province. The Toronto manufacturers of the range have instructed counsel here.

The body of the dead girl was removed to her home yesterday, and was followed by a wagonload of flowers, sent by the commercial travellers.

Some idea of the force of the explosion is gained from the fact that after the girl's body was removed it was discovered that one limb had been blown through a wooden partition. Other girls who were in the vicinity of the range had every stitch of clothing blown from their bodies, and in the case of the dead girl, even her shoes were blown off.

MOTORISTS TO REPAIR ROADS

Club Will Pay for Fixing Up of Bad Spots on Roads Near London.

EMBLEM BEING PREPARED

At a meeting of the London and Western Motor Club, held in the Tecumseh House on Monday evening, it was decided to fix up some of the bad roads leading into London at the expense of the club. A committee was formed and expect to have the worst roads fixed in a week or ten days. As all auto owners will benefit by the work of the club in regard to the roads, it was felt that every auto owner should become a member. Mr. Percy Braddon was instructed to prepare an emblem for the club, which all members will place on their cars. Mr. H. M. Graydon has been appointed solicitor for the club, and any member may consult him without cost regarding any accident with their automobiles. The president was asked to arrange with the executive of the Motor League for the best time to hold the meetings on May 31, whether afternoon or evening.

Paid Death Penalty For Killing Officer

John Baran, First Man Ever Hanged at Portage la Prairie.

[Canadian Press.]

Portage la Prairie, Man., May 20.—John Baran, who murdered Constable Rooke, was hanged at the jail here today by Hangman Ellis. His death was instantaneous. Baran maintained the utmost composure to the last, and made no statement. This was the first hanging in the history of this town.

Baran was indicted at the spring assizes at Portage la Prairie, before Justice Prendergast, for the murder of Constable Charles Cooke on Sunday, Jan. 26, 1913, in the rural municipality of Gilbert Plains, and the trial took place on March 6 and 7.

The crime was one in which there appeared to be no mitigating circumstances. Rooke went to Baran's shack, where he was living with a woman not his wife, and her baby, to arrest him for having refused to show cause why he did not support his wife and four children, who in the meantime were being supported by the townspeople of Dauphin. Rooke had not even a gun in his hand. Baran, who is a Galician, shot him through the door as he rattled the latch, because, as the condemned man told Judge Prendergast at the conclusion of the trial. "I was so frightened I didn't know what was coming to me, and the woman, she started to yell."

The little boy was waiting at the gate when the preacher rode up. "Are you Brother Jones?" the little boy asked, "Yes, my little man. Are you glad to see me?" 'You bet I am! Mamma'll cut the cake now."—Judge.

SELECT SITE FOR CHURCH

King St. Presbyterians Decide To Build at the Corner of Lyle and Dundas.

EDIFICE TO COST $25,000

The King Street Presbyterian Church congregation without a dissenting voice Monday night decided to build on the lot they already have purchased on the corner of Lyle and Dundas streets. The cost of the new building exclusive of a Sunday school, will be apportioned in the following manner:

King Street congregation	$10,000
Outside subscriptions	5,000
Debt	10,000
Total	$25,000

The Presbyterian Council met in the King Street Church on Monday evening to select a site for the new church which the congregation for some time has contemplated building. The committee in charge of the question reported in favor of the corner of English and Dundas streets instead of the site already purchased at the corner of Lyle and Dundas. The council favored the sale of the present church lot, on which a profit of about $1,000 can be realized. A discussion on the merits of various sites was held.

The Virtue of the Lead Packet.

The last process tea undergoes at the gardens is firing, to exhaust all moisture, as moisture is fatal to quality. The tea is then much drier than the air. It is then quickly placed in the air-tight lead packets, or lead-lined chests, which are soldered up and made airtight.
When chests of tea came into the possession of some dealers, they, unthinkingly, cut the lead open and leave the tea exposed to the moist air for weeks, while all the time, it is fast decaying. Remember tea, however preserved, decays with age, but it will lose more in a week exposed to the air, than in six months in a lead packet.
That is why "SALADA" Tea is sold only in sealed lead packets: its native purity and garden freshness are perfectly preserved.

SHAVE PRICES MAY NOT SOAR

Journeyman Barbers Said To Be Opposed to Fifteen Cent Rate.

SOME SHOPS STAND PAT

There is just a possibility that the recent action of the Master Barbers' Association in raising the price of shaves from ten to fifteen cents, will not have any affect on the general public after all the discussion. It is a well-known fact that there are more small shops in London than there are large ones, and the owners of those small shops, the majority of which are in the outlying districts and patronized by workingmen, are making a protest against the raise in price.

They contend that the matter has never been brought before the Journeymen Barbers' Union, and that until that body decides the price of shaves must be 15 cents, they are not bound to charge that price.

A number of the owners of the small shops are members of the union because they do not hire journeymen barbers, and as a result it is thought a motion to advance the price will be defeated in the union.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of West Williams, Held Big Celebration.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Parkhill, May 20. — Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of Main street south, on Saturday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. McDonald was raised in West Scotland, as was also Mrs. McDonald. At the age of 14 years Mr. McDonald came to Canada and settled in West Williams. On May 17, 1863, Miss Mary McIntyre became his bride, and they resided there until the last two years, when they moved to Parkhill.

The children—Mrs. Steve McCormick, Mrs. J. D. McPhee, Mrs. Donald McCormick, Mrs. D. C. Steele, all of West Williams; Mrs. Andrew Kullberg, of Chicago, and Mr. L. McDonald, of West Williams—along with their families, attended the big reunion.

Canadians in the Front Rank

Although Canadians feel a just and growing pride in being called the fairest flower that Britain possesses, yet how few of us are aware of the vast importance that Canada already holds on the map of the world. Mr. Vruemin, who is identified with a number of the largest business enterprises in the old land, and whose duty is to study and report on the development and financial aspect of the different trade routes of the world, has recently been through Canada on a tour of inspection, says that as a commercial port London will always hold first place, New York second from the advantage of its position as an Atlantic port, and as a Pacific coast port, along whose borders live about two-thirds of the peoples of the globe, Vancouver, with its unique distinction of being the largest of fresh water ports for ocean-going vessels to enter, and its immense natural resources, manufactories, agricultural outlook, railway facilities (no less than eight continental roads all heading for British Columbia), waterpowers, and the advantage of being so near the Panama Canal, must soon rise to third place as a world city, which position she will undoubtedly maintain for all time. When Old Vancouver, South Vancouver, New Westminster, Burnaby, Port Moody, Point Grey and Port Coquitlam are incorporated into Greater Vancouver, she will have a population about three-fourths as large as Toronto, with about half the territorial area. Coquitlam, having the advantages of level lands, affords superior advantages for great industrial enterprises, a large number of which are already located there, in addition to the great C. P. R. terminals and shops, which they purpose will be the finest of their kind on the continent. Any investments here cannot fail to be interesting to the investor, as Vancouver in a very few years will no doubt overstep the million mark, and will still be in its infancy.

COUNCIL DECIDES ON IMPROVEMENTS

Greater Part of City Engineer Ashplant's Report Was Passed.

SHELTER FOR DRAYMEN

Will Be Provided With Building South of Tracks, But Must Pay for a Telephone Themselves.

The city council on Monday night passed the greater part of the city engineer's report on local improvements, the discussion of the report being the chief consideration of the council session. Sidewalks in the new districts, on streets which have not yet been properly graded, will be further considered by the board of works before the council will authorize their construction.

Among the improvements which will be gone ahead with are:

A vitrified brick pavement on Horton street, from Ridout to Talbot, to cost $3,300.

An asphalt pavement on the same street from Talbot to Wellington, to cost $11,781.

A concrete curb on both sides of Horton street, from Talbot to Wellington, to case $1,305.

Gravel Roadways.

Gravel roadways will be laid on Eva street from Dundas to Florence, to cost $2,036; on Florence street, from Egerton to the interswitching tracks to cose $2,837; on Laura street, between the same limits, to cost $2,426.

Curbs will be laid on Colborne street from Queen's avenue to Dundas street, and on Adelaide street from Ada to Terrace street in Chelsea Green.

Cement walks will be laid on Dundas street, from old city limits to the interswitching tracks; on Westmorland street, from Oxford to Cambridge; on Riverview avenue, from Wharncliffe west; on Tecumseh avenue, 400 feet west from High; on Mary street, 350 feet east of Egerton; on Brydges street, from Egerton to Gore; on Adelaide street, from Ada to Terrace; on May street, from Smith to Oliver; on Nelson street, from Clarence to Wellington; on Sherwood avenue, west of Richmond.

Tile Sewers.

Tile sewers will be laid on Princess avenue from Dorinda to the old city limits; on Charlotte street, from Princess avenue to the old city limits; on Dorinda street, from Princess avenue to old city limits.

The question of sidewalks for Princess avenue, Charlotte street and Dorinda street, in the new annexed district, was referred back to No. 2 committee on the objection of Ald. Moore. He pointed out that these streets are in the new surveys and should be graded and gravelled for traffic before being accepted by the city. The construction of sidewalks, he claimed, would be a virtual taking over of the roadways.

An additional sanitary sewer will be constructed on Dundas street east from the old city limits to Ashland avenue, although there is already a sewer extending to the Dominion abattoir plant.

Lorne avenue will be opened up from the old city limits and Charlotte street, the council paying $250 of the cost and the remainder being assessed against the property benefiting.

On the complaint of Ald. Ashplant, City Clerk Baker will write to the chief of police asking that the law governing the speed of motorcycles be enforced.

Ald. Ashplant explained the situation of the local draymen. A shelter or building will be provided for them, south of the track, but they will have to install a telephone themselves if they wish one.

The tender of the Seagrave Company for a new motor fire truck was accepted by the council.

Walter Cox has dropped his stake horses down below 2:20 and reports are to the effect that they are in fine trim.

Why You Are Thin and How to Get Fat

Physician Prescribes Simple Tonic That You Can Mix at Home.

Thin people are generally nervous and high-strung, and it is this condition which prevents them from getting fat. This uncontrollable nervous energy not only manifests itself during the day, but all through the night. When the thin person is asleep his muscles continue to keep tense and drawn. While this condition exists the flesh tissues are being wasted away instead of rebuilt, and the thin person continues emaciated and nervous. You can immediately begin to overcome this condition and feel much better in a few days by getting from your druggist 2 oz. Tincture Cardamous Compound, 2 oz. Fluid Saltogyn, 2 oz. Elixir Calisaya and 2 oz. water, and taking two teaspoonfuls of this mixture 20 minutes before each meal. You will notice first an increase in your appetite, then an almost immediate improvement in your digestion. You will find that when you get up in the morning you will feel stronger, more cheerful and less nervous. Weigh yourself today, begin with this prescription today, then weigh yourself at the end of a week. It is almost certain that you will see a big increase—perhaps 5 to 10 pounds. And you'll feel five hundred per cent more like plunging into any task at hand. This simple prescription is inexpensive and absolutely harmless. 23u-y

Neuralgic Condition of the Nerves

In this age of nervous disorders neuralgia is fearfully common. The first thought is of neuralgia in the head or splitting headache, but neuralgia may affect any part of the body in which there are sensitive nerves.

The teeth are often blamed and extracted in error, when the cause of the trouble is in the impoverished condition of the blood and the starved nervous system.

While neuralgic pains are usually sharp and shooting, and consequently difficult to locate, the seat of trouble is usually sore and tender under pressure.

Neuralgia is pain, and as such is the symptom of a disease—nervous exhaustion. The nerves must be restored before cure can possibly be effected.

In many cases neuralgia is easily curable by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The patient is thin and bloodless and needs tonic treatment to form new, rich blood.

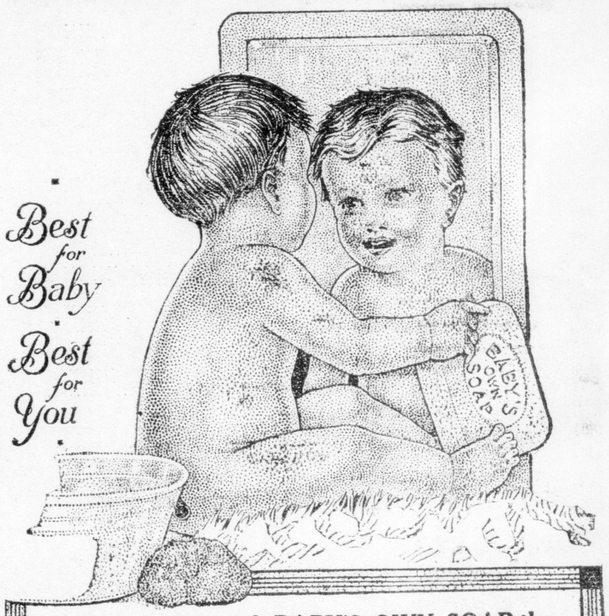

The application of cloths rung from hot water will afford relief from the suffering, and the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a few weeks will completely overcome the neuralgic condition.

Powerful drugs are to be avoided, because of their injurious effect in further weakening the nervous system. The Nerve Food cures by building up the feeble, wasted nerve cells, and for this reason is of lasting benefit.
