METHODISTS OF DISTRICT SCORE PUBLIC DANCING

London District Methodists Express Disfavor With School Board's Stand.

RESOLUTION CARRIED TO GO TO CONFERENCE

Various Memorials to Next General Conference Proposed and Debated.

That the controversy on the question of dancing in the collegiate has been by no means ended was evident at the afternoon session of the London District Conference in Dundas Center Methodist Church, Thursday, February 16, when the assembly expressed itself as looking with great disfavor upon the stand taken by the board of education on the matter. A resolution was passed to the effect that the conference go on record as strenuously opposed to public dancing in any form, whether in schools or otherwise.

A memorial was proposed for the general assembly that the official board which regulates the terms of pastoral office be empowered to extend to any congregation so desiring, the privilege of inviting a pastor to a second term of four years, making in total a term of eight years. At present, unless by special request, the limit of the term is four years, and it was felt by several delegates present that this term was not sufficient for the minister to make of himself an outstanding figure in the community. The eight-year term was considered particularly advantageous in rural districts.

Might See Results.
Rev. John Garbutt, of Dundas Center Methodist Church, claimed that if the term were lengthened, the pastor given opportunity of witnessing the results of any work which he commenced, instead of leaving before the work was finished for some one else to share either the better or worse conditions, the incentive toward greater effort would be more manifest.

The question of what would constitute a fair means of electing delegates to the general assembly came in for much discussion. Rev. George W. Dewey, of Empress avenue Methodist Church, claimed that many men who have been actively engaged in the work of the ministry for more than fifty years, have not yet had an opportunity of visiting the assembly in an official capacity. He referred particularly to those ministers who, while city churches are continually building up their congregations, have to deal with the shrinking population of rural districts, and yet are passed over when it comes to selecting delegates for the assembly.

Urges Fair Basis.
"Methodism will be put in the class division, the first thing we know," said Mr. Dewey. "We must be more careful to preserve democratic principles in our selections. At present the general conference is far from being representative."

It was decided that a memorial should be prepared, that in order to promote a more equitable representation one-half the ministerial delegates should be elected by ballot, according to the seniority of their years of service, and the other half elected by open ballot on the floor of the conference.

Fifty per cent of the laymen should be elected, taking the circuits in alphabetical order, and considering first those districts which have not as yet been represented in the general conference.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the annual conference be memorialized to consider that consolidation of all claims for ministerial salaries and the conference apportion to department funds in a complete budget.

UNUSUAL STORIES ABOUT UNUSUAL PEOPLE

Special to London Advertiser.

LONDON, England, Feb. 17.—Betty Dittmar, Norwegian girl, owes her life to her belief in dreams. She advertised for a position as traveling companion. A reply instructed her to come to the Bournemouth railway station where she would be met by her prospective employer.

The night before she left she dreamed she was met at a railway station by a man in a motor car who later tried to murder her.

Arriving at Bournemouth, she recognized it as the railway station of her dreams and returned to London.

The next day another girl, Irene Wilkins, went to Bournemouth to answer an advertisement offering employment. Later her dead body was found on a motor road leading from the station.

Handwriting of the letters to Miss Dittmar and Miss Wilkins was the same, police say.

CITY COUNCIL MAY HESITATE TO ADOPT PLAN

Objection Already Heard That Utilities Board Will Have Leading Voice.

LABOR MEN DISPLEASED WITH COMMISSION PLAN

Resentment Arises Over Ignoring Ald. Ashton in Arranging Conference.

It was predicted in well informed circles this morning that when the bylaw proposing a limited form of commission comes before the council, serious snags will be encountered.

The objection that is already being voiced is that the control of the commission will be more or less in the hands of the city utilities. The utilities commission and L. and P. S. Railway, with four out of ten votes.

The representation on the commission as the bylaw provides will be as follows: Council, board of health, library, board of education, police commission, hospital, utilities commission, London and P. S. Railway, parks board, playgrounds committee.

The latter four are the utilities and are closely interwoven with Sir Adam Beck's hydro project.

There are those who point to the hand of Sir Adam in the appointment of the London and Port Stanley Railway commission at the end of the year and in the forming of the city commission, indeed there are those who boldly assert that Mayor Cameron Wilson is playing into Sir Adam's hands.

It is said to be displeased with the early dictation of Sir Adam, as it is being openly charged that Sir Adam forced the dropping of John Colbert, who was labor's candidate for the railway commission.

The rumors of resentment first arose over the finance committee was invited to attend the conference, and that Ald. John Ashton, chairman of the council's big spending body, the board of works, was left off.

At the same time the parks board and playgrounds committee of the utilities commission were each given representation, and the bylaw proposed that each shall be represented on the commission.

Two Represent Council.
The bylaw gives the council but one representative, besides the mayor as chairman.

The parks board spends about a half of a mill in taxes and the playgrounds a similar amount. It grounds pointed out that at least three members of the utilities commission will be on the city commission. If the utilities wished to go further, said one official, it could name Commissioner Mitchell as the parks' board representative on the commission. Philip Pocock, could represent the London Railway.

The committee appointed at the first conference to draft a bylaw embodying the scheme of commission government met on Thursday afternoon and went carefully over the draft bylaw which had been prepared for their consideration, and accepted it for the most part, making but few minor changes.

Held Full Meeting.
The bylaw will be brought a full meeting of the representatives of the various bodies next week for approval, and will then have to go back to the various bodies for their individual approval.

The full details of the bylaw have been previously published. They provide for a commission of ten representatives with the mayor as chairman, to handle all legislative matters relating to civic government. The administrative work will be carried out by the different civic departments.

All estimates and expenditures must have the approval of the commission before they can be made. The bylaw also provides for the appointment of a finance commissioner, a few minor changes being made in the proposed duties of this official as they were outlined by the chamber of commerce.

WILL CALL CONFERENCE ABOUT GERMAN CABLES

Washington, Feb. 17.—An international conference to consider the allocation of former German cables in the Atlantic will be called in Washington next week, Acting Secretary of State Fletcher announced today.

Representatives of France, England, Italy, Japan and the United States will be asked to meet and determine the disposition of the three cable lines taken under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles.

LADY BECK LEAVES $60,000 ESTATE

The late Lady Beck, wife of Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, left an estate valued at $60,713.18, according to her last will and testament, filed for probate at the courthouse here.

Lady Beck died on October 17, 1921, in the Toronto General Hospital.

The entire estate, with the exception of $9,000 worth of jewelry, plate, clothing, etc., which goes to her daughter Marion, is left to Sir Adam.

Bonds were valued at $1,562.18, while bank and other stocks totalled $48,350.

London and Western Trust Co. stock was listed at $6,250, Beck Manufacturing Co. stock at $32,100, and London Rolling Mill stock at $10,000.

A life interest in an indenture of settlement drawn up in July, 1899, between Lady Beck, Sir Adam W. V. Patterson, E. H. Fleschfield and J. R. Kilgour, is left to Sir Adam as all the income from a trust fund left by her father, James Cuthbert Oatway.

The will was drawn up in England on February 23, 1920, and is witnessed by Inez Thomson, a nurse, and W. V. Patterson, a retired solicitor.

The Royal Trust Co. of Toronto, is executor and trustee.

WATER FRONT IN STOVE EXPLODES

Toronto, Feb. 17.—A water-front in a stove at the home of Mrs. R. Quilley blew out this morning and wrecked the stove. Mrs. Quilley was badly burned about the hands and body. Two children were having breakfast in the kitchen, but escaped injury.

There was a similar explosion at another Toronto residence but no body was hurt. These accidents followed abnormally cold weather here last night.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANNED AT INSTITUTE FOR DEAF

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The provincial government has under consideration the formation of a high school in connection with the school for the deaf at Belleville. There is no school in Canada where students can be qualified as teachers of the deaf. The system which has been in vogue is to take teachers of six or eight years experience in the regular public schools and have them instructed by the principal of the Belleville school until they are able to instruct the boys and girls who are deaf. The system is not sufficient for the needs. It is perhaps little known that nearly all the pupils who attend the school are usually termed deaf mutes, and are only mute because they have never heard anyone speak. They have perfect control of their vocal organs and are taught to speak at the Belleville school. Only six per cent of those who attend this school are unable to learn to talk.

TWO MEN DIE IN NEW JERSEY POWDER BLAST

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Feb. 17.—Two men were killed today when the dynamite packing house of the Atlas powder works at Landing, N.J., was destroyed by an explosion. The men killed were engaged in packing dynamite by hand for shipment.

SLEMIN CHARGES PERJURY IN CASE

Brantford Chief of Police Makes Sensational Statement.

CLAIMS HE HEARD THREAT

Counsel Declares That Head of Police Department Hopeless as Witness.

Brantford, Feb. 17.—At the resumed police probe this morning, W. A. Hollnake, K.C., was called in connection with a resolution of the Brant Law Library Association, asking the magistrate to set a definite time for holding police court. Magistrate Livingston had objected to it and it was officially decided to expunge it. This was not done, however.

Mr. Hollnake stated that no reflection on the magistrate had been intended. The lawyers wanted a definite time set so they would not lose time.

Chief Slemin recalled, said the man, McArthur, had committed perjury while testifying as to some checks in a liquor case. The chief had been instructed by the crown attorney to take out a warrant.

"Wasn't that done by those who were interested in getting Riddolls off?" asked Mr. Jennings, city counsel. The chief quickly answered that it was not. The chief reiterated that J. H. Spence had threatened to give McArthur five years if McArthur did not tell where his (Spence's) liquor was.

Claims He Heard Threat.
Chief Slemin said he had heard Mr. Spence threatened that he would run his son, Duff Slemin, out of the city. Spence's activities in these matters (the Spence burglary and aftermath) had caused all the trouble.

Mr. Jennings declared the chief to be "hopeless" as a witness. The chief denied that he had tried to influence Vincent Brennan, witness in the Cockshutt road robbery case. He believed that witness had been influenced.

Details of a search for liquor at the home of Fred McArthur in Brantford Township were furnished at Thursday morning's session of the police probe. Evidence was given by John H. Spence, customs collector, who was recalled by Mr. Hughes, counsel for the three suspended officers, and questioned.

W. M. McEwen, counsel for Louis Stander, appeared before the commission, and said that his client would not make any defence before the commission against any of the charges made against him during the inquiry. Mr. McEwen said that both Mr. Stander and Mrs. Stander would cease to act as court interpreters here.

It is believed the inquiry will occupy all next week.

Mr. McEwen also complained that his client, Louis Stander, had not been given official notice of the charges against him until Wednesday.

Denies Charges.
"I cannot understand why notices of these charges should not have been given weeks ago," stated McEwen. "Mr. Stander denies entirely."

PREVENT TRAGEDY AT MONTREAL FIRE

Montreal, Feb. 17.—The coolness of the staff and the excellent discipline of the 37 youngsters prevented what might have been a serious catastrophe when the children's home of the Ladies' Benevolent Society on Ontario street was burned down last night. When the fire broke out, the alarm was rung and the children alone and under the direction of their leaders left the building clad only in night attire and blankets, stepping into the snowy streets where the temperature registered 16 degrees below zero. This morning the youngsters were placed in temporary homes pending reconstruction of a home for them.

THEATRE PARTY ENDS JEWELLERS' CONVENTION

Quebec, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press)—The third annual convention of the Canadian Jewellers' Association was brought to a close here last night following a theatre party. In the afternoon sports were held on Dufferin Terrace and the prizes for the various contests were distributed at the Chateau Frontenac when the delegates returned from the theatre.

The new officers of the association are as follows: Honorary President, M. C. Ellis, Toronto; president, Thomas Rodden, Toronto; first vice-president, A. C. Skinner, Sherbrooke; second vice-president, Arthur Duquet, Quebec; honorary treasurer, James Ryrie, Toronto.

ONE BIG UNION LOSES DRUMHELLER MINERS

Calgary, Feb. 17.—Monarch Mine, Drumheller, belonging to the North American Collieries, Limited, the last stronghold of the One Big Union, passed under the jurisdiction of the United Mine Workers of America, District No. 18, last night, when officers for the newly-formed local were elected.

This mine operates about 250 men, and until recently they have strongly supported the O. B. U. movement.

William Rican, vice-president, and Robert Peacock, secretary of District No. 18, were invited to organize the mine last week, and as a result all the miners have agreed to the check-off and are now members of the international.

AHRENS LAWYER CLAIMS CROWN HAS WEAK CASE

R. L. Brackin Tells Jury Charge Against Ahrens Based On Suspicion.

DISPARAGES EVIDENCE SUBMITTED AT TRIAL

Declares Star Witness Played Role of Detective To Be "Big Fellow."

Kitchener, Feb. 17.—Suspicion and nothing but suspicion is the only point which the crown was able to produce in evidence against Carl Ahrens, according to the main contention of Defence Counsel Brackin in summing up on behalf of the prisoner at the resumption of the assizes this morning.

Counsel went carefully over every point of the evidence declaring that every step in the chain of evidence brought forward by the crown was nothing more than suspicion.

Brackin dwelt on Culligan's evidence, declaring it was the main foundation of the crown's case. He argued that Culligan's evidence plainly showed he was trying to play the part of a detective on the night of the tragedy in the hope of making a "big fellow" of himself.

Brackin started at 9 o'clock and continued up to the noon adjournment. Crown Attorney Waldron will sum up the crown's case this afternoon. It is not expected the jury will go out before 4:30.

Thursday's Evidence.
The taking of evidence was concluded Thursday afternoon at exactly 5 o'clock, when Crown Prosecutor Waldron finished the cross-examination of Mrs. H. C. Ahrens, mother of the accused.

The crown offered no rebuttal evidence.

The court resumed its sitting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and during the remainder of the hearing of witnesses, the defence scored heavily in favor of the accused.

That the defence was putting forth every effort to clear the name of a son of one of Kitchener's oldest and most highly-respected families was apparent by the fact that after hearing the evidence of several minor witnesses, Dr. Hagmeier of this city was put in the box to give expert evidence.

Contrary to general expectation, the defence did not put the prisoner in the box.

Dr. Hagmeier was the defence's strongest witness, as he testified that a person could fall from a boat into three feet of water and being unable to swim, could struggle underneath the water against the current and later be found upstream quite a distance from the original place of the fall. He stated that at one time in his life when he could not swim he fell into a small depth of water and struggled against the stream. When he was taken out, it was proven that he had not risen above the surface, but had struggled underneath for a number of feet upstream from the place where he fell in.

Would Die Quickly.
He stated that a person falling into water and not coming to the surface would die from within one and a half to two minutes. Asked by Justice Latchford if he would be surprised if his statement was contradicted by medical men, he declared he would be greatly surprised if it were contradicted by authorities on medicine and science. He maintained that a person only has a chance of living four minutes under water if he faints before submerging. He also maintained that after two minutes the chances of resuscitation by means of a lungmotor are practically nil.

Asked by the crown if he did not think the seal coat worn by Mrs. Ahrens when she fell into the river would tend to buoy up her body, he stated that he did not. He maintained that the coat would quickly soak up the water and would tend to hold her down. He declared that there was only one case on record where a person has lived longer than four minutes after falling suddenly into water, and that was a case where the person was revived after being in the water for fifteen minutes.

Maintains Contention.
Dr. Hagmeier was satisfied that Mrs. Ahrens could have fallen out of the boat and gone under the water without rising to the surface again. He was also satisfied that she could have struggled against the stream to the position in which she was found. He stated that scientific investigation and his own experience bore him out in this opinion. All efforts of the crown to bring the well-known physician and surgeon to a modification of his views in the matter were futile.

Dr. J. P. Honsberger, the coroner, who had charge of the inquest, was called by the defence. He stated that after hearing Carl Ahrens' story of the tragedy he declared there would be no necessity of an inquest.

Weds Second Hero

LADY ISABEL SCOTT.

LONDON, England, Feb. 17.—Lady Isabel Scott, widow of Captain R. F. Scott, who perished on a trip to the South Pole in 1913, it was announced today, will soon marry Lieut. Com. Hilton Young, a hero in the attempt to block the German submarines at Zebruge in 1918. He is now financial secretary of the British treasury. Lady Scott, a sculptor, is shown in the accompanying photograph.

THINK COLLEGIATE AT TOO LOW LEVEL

Critics Blame 1921 Board Members For Alleged Oversight.

Should it be an actual fact that the new collegiate institute is "sunk" at too great a distance in the ground, it is Trustee Bryden Campbell's opinion that the chairman and members of No. 3 committee of the 1921 board of education are equally responsible with the architect or anyone else involved.

"I don't like to censure any person," explained Trustee Campbell, Friday morning, "but it is my belief that when the 'level' was taken for the collegiate, Trustee Smith and his committee should have been on the spot. Some of them should have been present, and not have left the statement that he had been present when the 'levels' were taken. Architect L. A. Carrothers solved the question by pointing out that the contractor and himself only were present."

The claim has been advanced that the new collegiate should have been elevated. At the last meeting of No. 3 committee Trustee Smith, chairman of the present board, challenged the statement that he had been present when the "levels" were taken. Architect L. A. Carrothers solved the question by pointing out that the contractor and himself only were present.

"I am certainly opposed to a move to have another architect," Trustee J. B. Wright declared Friday. "I think that even should we have another, he would not be perfect. In any event it is my firm opinion that there has been too much criticism directed at him."

"I am certainly surprised at these different trustees 'kicking' and 'arguing' now after the schools are built. They had the plans and specifications at their disposal. Now they come around and complain after the buildings are up. I feel positive that the collegiate institute was built according to plan and furthermore every trustee had an equal opportunity to look it over and it would be only their duty to do so."

WILL DEVOTE SESSION TO GENERAL BUSINESS

Toronto, Feb. 17.—This afternoon's session of the provincial legislature is being devoted to general business and any motions previously introduced are being brought up. The debate on the speech from the throne has been adjourned until next Tuesday, when Hon. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, will be the first speaker.

DISALLOW APPEAL OF MRS. EMMA BERGDOLL

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—The appeals of Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, the mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy draft evader and her co-defendants from their convictions and sentences in federal court were dismissed in the United States court of appeals yesterday. Mrs. Bergdoll and four associates had been found guilty of conspiracy to assist Grover and his brother Erwin to evade military service. By the decision fines amounting to $23,000 paid by Mrs. Bergdoll and her co-defendants last year that their prison sentences might be remitted, will stand.

POLICE ACT ON WARRANT FROM U.S. OFFICIALS

Carolina Man Charged With Attempting To Kill and Assault.

INFORMATION LAID BY AMERICAN AUTHORITIES

Hamilton Detectives Fully Expected Further Action Would Be Taken.

Hamilton, Feb. 17.—Matthew Bullock, the negro who was held here for weeks at the request of the Norlina, N. C., authorities on a charge of inciting race riots, and who was released on order of the Dominion immigration authorities, was re-arrested this morning.

The order of the Canadian immigration authorities gave him permission to remain in Canada for three months.

When he was released he dropped out of sight, and it is said that he was in hiding for several weeks in Toronto.

Yesterday he apparently thought he was safe and appeared here, resuming work with the firm of contractors for whom he worked before his first arrest.

He apparently figured that the United States authorities had been so slow in demanding his extradition that they had dropped all efforts to secure his return to face trial in North Carolina.

Bullock was arrested on a United States extradition warrant, and charged with attempting to kill and assault at Norlina, N. C., in connection with race riots.

The information was laid by the United States authorities before County Judge Snider, who issued an extradition warrant for Bullock's arrest.

The information furnished to Judge Snider by the United States department of state, charges that Bullock attempted to murder Rabey Taylor of Norlina, N. C., in connection with race riots.

It develops that from the moment Matthew Bullock was released here the Carolina state authorities and the United States federal authorities have been assiduously at work on the case.

The local police were also aware of the fact that further action in the case was being pressed by the American authorities as far back as two weeks ago, but they could do nothing until all the formalities were completed and formal application for extradition had been made.

Absolute secrecy was essential in order that Bullock might not become alarmed and keep in hiding.

How perfectly this secrecy was maintained can be realized by the fact that yesterday Bullock returned to the city and announced that at the expiration of his permission to remain in Canada he was going to apply for an extension.

URGES AGAINST 'PAMPER' HABIT

Verne Buchanan of Ingersoll Addresses London Kiwanis Club.

ADVISES SELF-RELIANCE

Weekly Luncheon Is Featured by Unusually Good Program.

In a stirring address to members of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon in the "Toumeh House, Friday noon, Verne Buchanan, former mayor of Ingersoll, voiced a plea that parents of Canada cease to pamper their children, pointing out that in doing so they are endangering the future of the Dominion. The occasion was marked by a friendly visit of Ingersoll Kiwanians to this city as guests of the local club.

The Ingersoll Kiwanians appeared on the scene armed with an excellent array of talent, which provided the entertainment at the luncheon. In his opening remarks, Mr. Buchanan thanked the London Kiwanis Club for assistance rendered in forming a similar organization in Ingersoll. He paid tribute to the local club for initiating the underprivileged boys' movement, which, he asserted, has been accepted since as an objective for Kiwanis clubs in Ontario and Quebec.

Announcing his subject as "The Over-Privileged Boy and Girl and the Future of Canada," Kiwanian Buchanan compared conditions of the modern child with those of himself and fellow-Kiwanians. He humorously recalled to those present the days when "dad gave you a cent"; they gathered junk, bones and bottles in a bag in order to accumulate a few pennies for the 24th of May.

"You were taught in those days to work and economize," he said, "that was the essence of success. Now look at your kids. That is not cultivated in the boys of today, with expensive toys, skates and hockey sticks and dad's car to run around in at his expense. We are inculcating habits of extravagance."

"It is a serious matter. We realized that a dollar saved was a dollar earned. I would that my voice could go from one side of Canada to another, but I cannot, to impress upon parents that they are producing a race of weaklings conscious that dad has money, and that dad provided all the fun. This does not augur well for the future business of Canada."

"Let us get back to the simple ways," continued the speaker, "to the simple ways of living in the interests of this Canada of ours. Make our boys realize that they will get no thing without working for it, thereby producing a virile type of Canadians. Those boys who heroically fell in France have left us a responsibility which we are not assuming."

Urges Optimism. Regarding the future, Mr. Buchanan looked at the assets of Canada, including "one-half the water power of the world due to the foresight of your own Adam Beck," urged that optimism be adopted by Kiwanians. That spirit which brought Canada through the war would bring an era of prosperity to Canada if it were only assumed by the people.

"Let us remember our heritage and with the Kiwanian motto we build get some team work. Accept the responsibility that is ours and we shall one day see Canada emerge as the finest gem in the ring of nations." In his concluding remarks, Kiwanian Buchanan urged his audience to realize that they have business interests at the city hall at Ottawa.

"When I was mayor of Ingersoll I said: 'Only nuts are elected mayors of municipalities of Western Ontario,' but that does not apply to Cameron Wilson seated over there—or to myself," he concluded jovially, which statement brought down the house.

Program Furnished. Included in the Ingersoll contingent were several "Kiwanian Queens," who accompanied their husbands on the trip. They provided much of the entertainment. Miss Hilda McMillan, a graduate of a London musical institution and gold medal soloist for Canada, winning premier honors by her selections. Others from Ingersoll taking part in the musical program included: Miss Frank Robinson, Mrs. George Mason, and George Morrison; Arthur Ford, Percy Stoneman, and Reg Kidner, presidents of London, Ingersoll and St. Thomas Kiwanis Clubs almost caused a riot

London Maidens Shiver As Mercury Falls to 4 Below

Gay flappers who sallied forth during the past week with spring hats have found themselves to be a little previous and today shivered with the cold. For two or three days the temperature has been steadily dropping and reached the lowest point of the season on Thursday night.

Few pedestrians were abroad in the evening to enjoy the wintry weather. All who could kept to the warm seclusion of their homes. The sidewalks gave forth that ominous squeak, which is always indicative of cold weather, and spats and galoshes greatly justified their existence in protecting Milady's ankles.

Men men ruefully patted their freezing ears, and stretched their coat collars to the farthest extremity, meanwhile realizing the value when they attempted to sing "I'm as Wild as I Can Be."

During the luncheon Kiwanians W. Curran and Ernest Moore were elected to represent the club on the Western Fair Association directorate. Harry Wilson, of the Ingersoll Packing Company, acted as booster at the luncheon, donating the prizes, which were won by George Fraser and W. Howley. Dr. Hunt introduced several new members, pointing out that Kiwanis is an ideal to uphold Canada and to propagate world brotherhood.

Play Hockey Game. Kiwanians Robert Ramsay, Raymond Hutt and President Percy Stoneman of Ingersoll also spoke. President Arthur Ford, of the local club, announced that he is extending an invitation to St. Thomas Kiwanians for a similar visit here in the near future. He congratulated his fellow Kiwanians on the success of the luncheon, which proved to be the best and most attended in its history.

At the conclusion of the luncheon the Ingersoll contingent played a friendly hockey game with Londoners at the Westminster rink, while sons of Scotia among their number adjourned to the Thistle Club rink to satisfy a challenge for curling honors thrown out by London Kiwanians. The latter event will be followed by a banquet.

6,000,000 CHINESE FACE STARVATION

Shanghai, China, Feb. 17.—More than 6,000,000 people are facing starvation in the province of Kiangsu, in which Shanghai is located, and Chekiang and Anhwei, according to estimates compiled here. Unprecedented floods which wiped out 20 per cent of the rice crop in these districts are blamed for the food shortage.

WILL URGE TEACHERS TO PROTECT TEACHERS

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Hon. R. H. Gray, minister of education, stated today that the department did not plan any changes in connection with the system of handling examination papers as a result of the finding of Dr. J. H. Putnam that matriculation papers had been stolen previously to last summer's examination. The great importance of guarding papers previous to examinations would be impressed upon the officials into whose possession they would come, he said, and he hoped that would be sufficient to prevent any recurrence of thefts such as took place in this city last June.

WILL USE NEW ARENA AT NEXT TORONTO FAIR

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The annual report of the Canadian National Exhibition directors to be presented to the annual meeting next Wednesday, forecasts the use of the new arena and pure food building at next year's fair. The space in the latter has already been contracted for at 60 cents per foot for ten years, before the building is even finished. Machinery manufacturers are also taking steps to secure a new building.

CANADIAN FIRE LOSSES AMOUNT TO $3,597,500

Toronto, Feb. 17.—January fire losses in Canada, according to the Monetary Times, were: $3,597,500 compared with $2,897,200 in December and with $2,237,500 in January, 1921. Fire losses in Canada during the week ended February 15, are estimated at $1,568,450, compared with $356,500 the previous week.

of the much-ridiculed ear-puffs of the weaker sex.

Winter is with us in earnest once more and the shop-window displays of spring hats and suits seem strangely out of place. In fact they seem to inspire a most chilly feeling in most people who hurry past, bent on seeking a warmer spot.

However, the sportsman is appearing in the best of spirits. Skates and hockey sticks are to be met everywhere and curlers are rejoiced to find the ice in splendid condition once more.

The official registrations at the London weather bureau show that at some time during the night the mercury descended to 4 below zero, the coldest since January 1920.

ASK AMENDMENT OF LIQUOR LAW

Ontario Branch of Dominion Alliance Suggests Doctors Have Permits.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The request made by the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance that the provincial government amend the Ontario Temperance Act so that any physician before he could issue a prescription for more than 6 ounces of liquor must obtain a permit, has given rise to many expressions of opinion as to the effect it would have.

The points the officials of the alliance make is that this amendment would narrow down the number of doctors who would issue prescriptions and therefore it would be easier to regulate them. What they suggest is that any doctor who wishes may take out a permit to issue liquor prescriptions.

When he gets his permit he gets 100 numbered prescription blanks and would not be issued any more for three months. In this way there would be no danger, it is argued, of a doctor issuing more "scrips" than the law would allow because he would not have the blanks to make them out on. It would get away from the difficulty of disciplining doctors who are generous in prescribing whiskey.

The amendment would be a protection to such doctors as did not want to prescribe liquor to any extent because he could tell the patient he had no permit and therefore could not prescribe for more than six ounces. The alliance officials are inclined to think that would be sufficient for urgent medical needs.

Such a permit system is in vogue in the United States and statistics show that 72 per cent of the doctors do not bother taking out permits.

The government so far has not indicated whether it intends to act on this suggestion. Wellington Hay, Liberal leader, in his speech yesterday in the house questioned whether the attorney general had the right to limit the number of prescriptions a doctor could issue once he had been given the right to issue prescriptions.

FIND TESTATOR OF UNSOUND MIND.

New York, Feb. 17.—The will of Amos P. Eno, disposing of an estate of $3,000,000, largely to Columbia University and other public institutions here, was tonight declared invalid by a jury in surrogate's court, which found that the testator was of unsound mind when the instrument was executed on June 18, 1915.

The estate has increased since then, so that the distribution under the document now would have been approximately: Columbia University, $5,000,000 and $6,000,000; other institutions $3,000,000 and relatives $4,600,000.

STILL QUESTION MABEL NORMAND'S CHAUFFEUR

Los Angeles, Feb. 17.—Following a two-hour re-examination of William Davis, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, yesterday, investigators, police detectives, deputy sheriffs and others assigned to the task of trying to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, resumed their duties today with the announcement that they had made practically no further progress in the case as a result of quizzing Davis.

Though some of the investigators have eliminated Edward P. Sanders, former butler for Taylor, from any connection with the case, the search for the missing man has not been abandoned. Latest reports to the authorities here relating to him came from Hartford, Conn., where Sanders was said to have been known among navy sailors during 1919 as "Chief" Snyder. Another report received by police detectives working on the case was that the missing butler had fled to Mexico and had been seen in Chihuahua.

APPOINTS RECEIVER FOR BROKERS' FIRM

New York, Feb. 17.—Federal Judge Mand today appointed Robert P. Stephenson receiver of R. H. McMaster & Co., stock brokers, who were expelled yesterday from membership in the consolidated stock exchange yesterday for alleged violation of the rules.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed by employees of the firm, alleging liabilities of $700,000 and assets of only $80,000.

APPOINTS ARBITER TO REPRESENT COMPANY

Hamilton, Feb. 17.—The Dominion Power and Transmission Company having refused to name a representative for the conciliation board to investigate the wage dispute between the company and its employees, the minister of labor, Hon. James Murdock, has selected F. H. McGulgan, Toronto, to act for the company. Fred Bancroft, Toronto, is the choice of the men.

UNVEILS HONOR ROLL AT G. T. R.

Rev. W. Beattie Officiates at Memorial Services in Local Carshops.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO HEROES

Tablet Designed and Constructed by London Shopmen.

With a solemn memorial service the ceremonial of the unveiling and dedication of the honor roll of the G. T. R. carshops and Ontario lines was carried out in the large library of the carshops auditorium Thursday night.

The service opened with the hymn "Fight the Good Fight." This was followed by prayer lead by the Rev. Wm. Beattie of the First Presbyterian Church, who was in charge of the service, and who spoke at the unveiling.

A second hymn "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus" was then sung by the choir and the large gathering who were in attendance. Next came a reading of scripture which was followed by the minister, Psalm 124, being read beginning "If it had not been the Lord who was on our side how may Israel say."

"If it had not been the Lord who was on our side when men rose up against us."

"Then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us."

In addition to the second Psalm, the 124th Psalm was also read. Immediately previous to the unveiling and dedication a number of patriotic airs were played by the G. T. R. orchestra and an anthem was sung by the choir.

Loosened Unveiling Cord.

The cord that loosened the draped tablet of flags that hung over the memorial was drawn by Wm. Lyon of Toronto, whose son's name was inscribed on the honor roll.

A laurel wreath was hung directly beneath the memorial by William Woods.

Dr. Beattie in speaking on "Tribute to Our Heroes" recalled the vicissitudes of the men who, when the country had been in the throes of the great war, had enlisted and gone overseas.

He spoke of the trials through which they had passed and the days when they had dragged themselves from the trenches, mud bespattered, yet always cheerily singing, even though there came from the line only a few of the number that had gone in.

He praised the Christian fortitude of the soldiers. "Have you heart," he said, "the spirit that has paid tribute to these men and their splendid work."

Another anthem by the choir and the singing by all present, the hymn "For All the Saints" followed on the address of Dr. Beattie. The last of the service was the reading of the names of the fallen, which were read by Dr. Martin and P. G. Bert, the sounding on the bugles of the "Last Post" by buglers E. Vincent and Ed. Horner, and the benediction by Rev. Beattie.

Carved By Shopmen.

The memorial is in wood, carved by the men of the shops in two panels, each with a scroll with a number of names, and just above in gilt lettering the words, "Last We Forget."

R. Harvey, another carshop man, was the artist who inscribed the names on the scroll and who designed the accompanying illustrations.

The names inscribed on the memorial are: W. H. Newell, F. Coleman, A. Dust, W. Morrison, B. Wooley, J. H. Brindley, C. Doughty, A. Foster, H. G. Hill, G. Noble, P. Robinson, W. Turney, G. P. Walsh, P. W. Boyce, W. H. Draper, J. Harding, W. J. Beale, F. J. Cooke, W. E. Clouston, W. Clifford, S. Allen, H. Leatham, G. Matthews, W. C. A. Lyon, C. H. Bethel, J. J. Dodd, W. A. Warren, A. Benjamin, J. Drayson, J. Tomlin, Jose Edie, J. E. Croucher, F. Barton.

The officers of the carshops men's association and those in charge of the dedication were: Dr. C. Messeri, president; G. Fisher, first vice-president; J. Lewis, second vice-president; Committee, Jas. Fitzgerald, chairman; Geo. Barnaby, J. Spring, W. H. Butler, Chas. Barratt, secretary-treasurer.

SPECIAL MUSIC will feature the anniversary services at the Askin street Methodist Church, Sunday.

Dr. J. H. Smith, organist, acting as director of the musical service. Rev. Neo. T. Watts, B.D., will preach at the morning service and Rev. Capt. John Garbutt at the evening service.

LECTURER READY, AWAITING CLASS

The attitude of the executive of the Western University regarding the proposed classes of the workers' extension course is that it is ready to commence the lectures as soon as the first class has been arranged for. It is suggested by Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of the university, that as soon as a class of fifteen is secured the university will provide the lecturer on whatever subject the class may desire.

There will be no entrance fee charged whatever, and the lectures can be arranged so that those attending will not need text books at first, although arrangements can be made whereby those wishing books will be able to get them through the University at a reduced rate if enough are ordered.

Anyone who is a worker may attend, and that practically includes everybody. As soon as there are enough to form a class in any subject the authorities of the university have expressed themselves as willing to plan the necessary lectures.

An effort is being made now to start the first class on the study of "Industrial History."

URGES AMERICANS TO FILE RETURNS

Consul G. T. McTaggart Announces U. S. Agent Will Assist Taxpayers.

Special assistance will be rendered Americans in making out their income tax returns by a United States internal revenue agent at the office of the American consul, London, Ontario, until Feb. 23. After that date, the consul will assist, it was announced Thursday morning by Consul G. T. McTaggart.

If the American cannot conveniently come to the London consulate, application should be made to the London consulate for forms, and then sworn to before a notary public or other person entitled to hear oaths.

After completion the returns should be mailed to the United States collector of internal revenue for the United States district in which the American has his home or place of business.

The United States return covering the year 1921 should now be filed and must be in the hands of the proper United States internal revenue collector on or before March 15, 1922.

As specified below, American citizens returning though no part of their income is derived from the United States, are required to file a United States income tax return.

At any time, it is so desired the United States immigration inspectors at the border will require all Americans returning to, or visiting the United States, evidence of fulfillment of their income tax regulations.

Every single person, and every married person not living with husband or wife whose net yearly income was $1,000 or more, and every married person living with husband or wife whose yearly net income was $2,000 or more, or whose gross income was $2,000 or more, must file.

It is urgent, according to Consul McTaggart, that all American citizens file their tax, lest not doing so, they should lose their American citizenship, and says Consul McTaggart:

"It was not the intention of the framers of the United States income tax law to include provisions that would have a tendency to cause American residents abroad to give up their American citizenship."

HOLD SECOND OF ORGAN RECITALS

Choir of First Methodist Church Provides Excellent Program.

The second of a series of organ recitals was given at the First Methodist Church, Thursday night.

The recital was given at the splendidly new organ, assisted by Viggo Kihl, pianist, and Carman Leary, baritone. The recital opened with a fine rendition of Villiers Stanford's "Deum Laudamus in B flat," by the choir of the church, followed immediately by the "Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue (Louis Thiele) played by Mr. Jordan. Leary's "Ardorian Idyll" was another beautifully rendered number of Mr. Jordan's program.

Viggo Kihl brought the evening's entertainment to a close with sympathetic and clever renditions of the Beethoven "Rustlestein," "Turkish March," Mozart's "Minuet," and Chopin's Nocturne in F Sharp Major and Polonaise in A Flat. One of the happiest numbers of the whole program was the "Concerto in G Minor" (Mendelssohn) with Mrs. A. D. Jordan and Viggo Kihl as the artists.

The prelude to Paggiacchi (Ruggerio Leoncavallo) a vocal number, rendered exquisitely by Carmen Leary, baritone, gave a variety to a program which was good from beginning to end.

The next recital will be held on March 16, the soloist being Ferdinand Hillon, violinist. On April 18, Ruth Betner, contralto, and Thomas Martin, pianist, will be the assistant soloists. On May 11, Boris Hambourg, cellist of Toronto, will be the visiting artist.

SURPRISED AT APPOINTMENT

Justice Robert Fisher Declares Supreme Court Position Quite Unexpected.

CONTESTED BY ELECTION

Has Not Yet Received Official Notification of Elevation to Bench.

Speaking Friday morning regarding his appointment to the supreme court of Ontario, Robert G. Fisher of the firm of Meredith and Fisher, this city, who is now Hon. Justice R. G. Fisher, K.C., said that the news of his appointment came to him as more or less than a complete surprise.

Two weeks ago he had thought himself entirely improbable as successor to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Sir Glenholme Falconbridge.

Referring to his career as lawyer in London, Mr. Fisher said: "I was born in Hyde Park, Ontario, and brought up on the farm of my father, James Fisher, J.P., who formerly owned Meadow Farm."

Active in Politics.

"I was educated at Helmut College and Thompson's Private School, and have been connected with the firm in which I am now, ever since I began to practice."

"I have always taken an active part in politics in Middlesex and in 1913 contested the federal by-election in East Middlesex. At that time I cut the majority of the opposing party in two, which was considered, I think, at that time quite an achievement."

"I have always otherwise led a more or less quiet life. Living at my summer home, near to the city, called 'Sunnyside' on the north bank of the Thames, throughout the summer."

Justice Fisher married the daughter of W. R. Hobbs, Toronto, and niece of Col. T. S. Hobbs of this city.

No Official Word Yet.

In his wide practice, both private and public, the now Justice Fisher has gained for himself a reputation of being one of the most brilliant lawyers in the county.

No official word had reached Mr. Fisher Friday morning regarding the elevation to the bench, but when he found time, busy as he was receiving the congratulations of his friends, he dispatched several wires to Toronto concerning the appointment and asking when he would be expected to assume his new duties.

Town Topics.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them; otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 6:1.

THE fear of man brings a snare. By halting in our duty and giving back in time of trial, our hands grow weaker, our ears grow dull, so that when we look at the way of the righteous, it seems as though it was not for us.—John Woolman.

TOMORROW'S DOINGS.

SATURDAY—Local Liberals meet in Hyman Hall, 8 o'clock, to choose delegates to Ontario Liberal Convention.

London Branch Ontario Vegetable Growers, meets in Agricultural office.

G. H. POAD, of this city, was selected president of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, which met in Toronto Thursday.

EDUCATIONAL ANNIVERSARY will be celebrated at Colborne Street Methodist Church, Sunday, Feb. 19.

Rev. Dr. P. Louis Barber, the predecessor of Rev. Judson Kelly, the present pastor, and now of Victoria College, Toronto, will preach at the evening service.

R. H. COATES, Dominion statistician from Ottawa, who had complete charge of the recent decennial census of Canada, will speak at a joint luncheon the Canadian Club and the chamber of commerce, February 22, choosing as his topic "First Fruits From the 1921 Census." Although the compilation of returns is not yet complete Mr. Coates, who is acknowledged as an expert on government statistics, is now in a position to analyze in an interesting and informative manner, much of the large mass of facts and figures collected by the enumerators.

Obituaries

MRS. MARY LANG.

Mrs. Mary Lang, widow of the late James Lang, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Croden, 293 Central avenue, Friday, Mrs. Lang, who was 81 years old, had been a resident of London for many years.

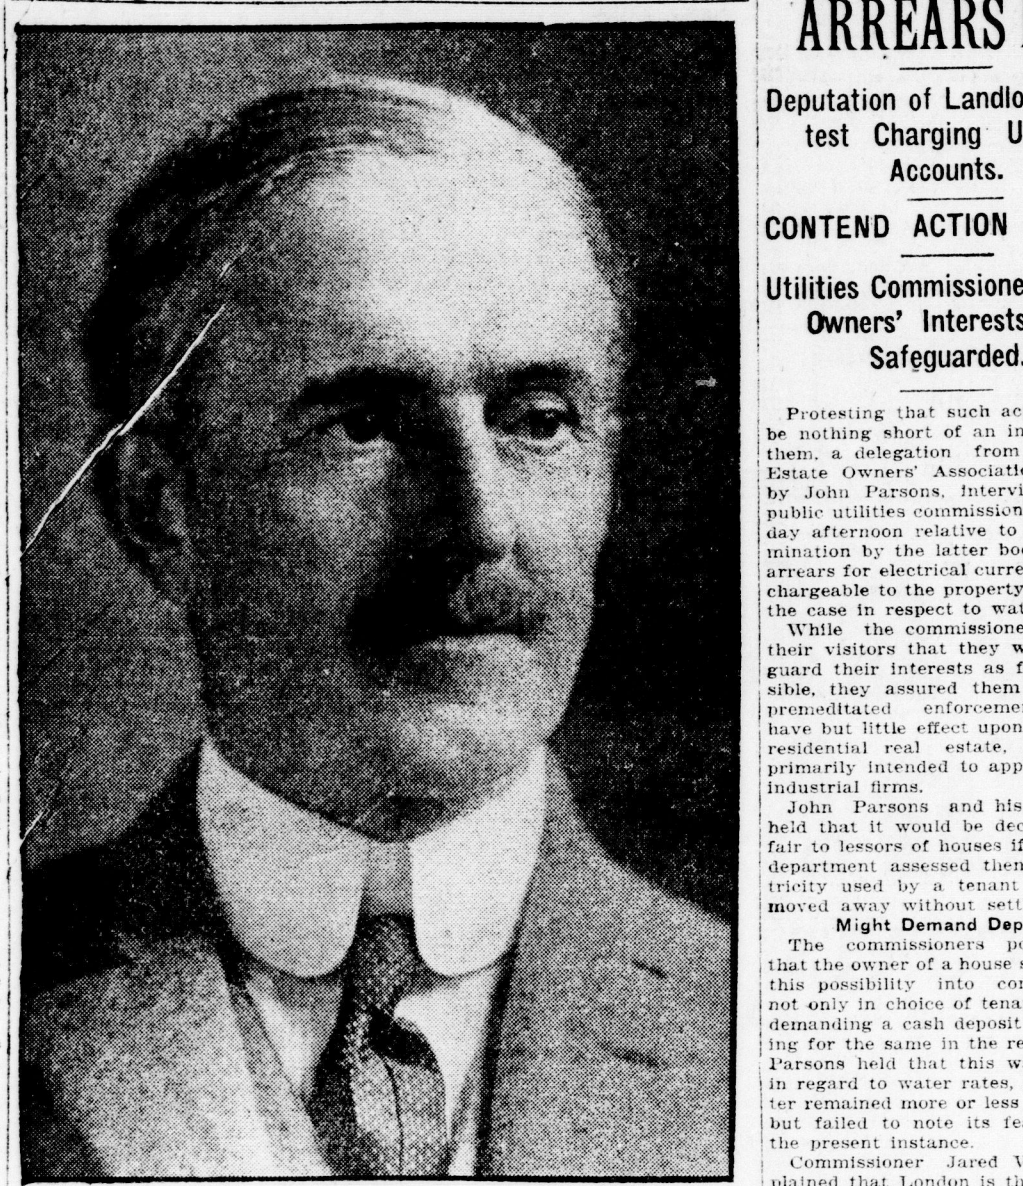

Although she had been in failing health for some months, death was entirely unexpected. She was a member of the Wellington Street Methodist Church. Mrs. Lang is survived by two brothers, Mrs. Dr. George H. McDonald of Neepawa, Manitoba, Mrs. J. A. Croden of 293 Central avenue, this city, and two sons, Arthur Wilton of Loredo, Texas, and Victor Lang of London.

The funeral will be held Sunday from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Croden. The services will be conducted by Rev. George T. Watts. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

Appointed Justice of Supreme Court

HON. ROBERT G. FISHER.

THE appointment of Robert G. Fisher, as Justice of the supreme court of Ontario, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, has been announced from Ottawa.

Hon. Justice Fisher is a well-known member of the Middlesex bar, and has been associated with the firm of Meredith & Fisher for years. He is a Liberal in politics, and a forceful speaker.

GIVES LECTURE ON SCENES IN OXFORD

Alma College Principal Speaks in Western Extension Course.

"The Gossipping Guide of Oxford" was the title of the illustrated lecture given by Principal P. S. Dobson of Alma College, St. Thomas, Thursday night under the auspices of the Western University extension department.

The lecturer prefaced his lecture with a few remarks concerning Oxford and the different colleges that made up the university. A district within a certain area in the city of Oxford was known as the university. It was not a number of buildings, as were seen in the universities on this side of the Atlantic, but consisted of an aggregation of colleges and halls in this certain area. To really know Oxford it was necessary to browse around for several weeks, because most of the places of interest had to be sought out, and even after a person had spent some three or four years in residence there, it was quite possible for them to stumble across things that reminded them of some historical or interesting. After having lived at Oxford for any period of time, and having attended any of the colleges, it would be impossible not to love it for the sake of its many historic connections.

Lantern Slides Shown.

The lantern slides used to show the various colleges, were much appreciated and were explained by the lecturer as to their points of interest and associations.

Slides were shown of nearly all the twenty-four colleges, with views of the chapels and libraries, and many amusing incidents related of former days.

Pictures of the ruins of the old walls of the city, covered with ivy, with the new college just built inside, with its magnificent chapel building, were some of the best of the collection. Christ Church, with its famous bell that rang every night to warn the students at 9 o'clock that it was time for them to be inside the confines of their college or boarding house or be fined, was among the rest.

Procession Explained.

The ceremony of the Bear's Head procession and its origin was explained by the lecturer, together with many other old-time customs that are only to be found at Oxford.

Several good slides were shown of the famous river where the Oxford men train for the celebrated boat races between Oxford and Cambridge. Some interesting pictures were exhibited of the famous Oxford press, where the Oxford Bibles are printed on the special India paper, which is made at the paper mill just outside the city by a secret process.

The lecture to be given next week is entitled "How Can We Revive Trade," by Professor Louis A. Wood of the Western University.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL PLEASES AUDIENCE

A musical festival of very high order was presented in the Ridout street Baptist Church Thursday night under the auspices of the Brotherhood of that church. Such well-known local artists as Luta Laymon-Durst, contralto; A. G. McCulloch, Scotch baritone; Dr. J. H. Smith, organist; Miss Gwendolyn Anthistle, reader; the Sunnington Quartet and the Hawaiian Players, contributed to the program, which was one giving enjoyment from beginning to end.

Mrs. Durst appeared most frequently throughout the concert and her rich contralto voice contributed not a little to the success of the evening. Her numbers were: "I Shall Meet You," and "Little Dandelion" (Sanderson), and "Hills of Donegal." Mr. McCulloch was also in excellent voice and was received with enthusiasm at each number, the first being "The Village Blacksmith" (Weiss) and the second "Sincerity" (Clarke).

Miss Gwendolyn Anthistle was met with great applause on her reading, "The Florist Shop," and other numbers equally entertaining. Not the least attractive of the evening's selections was Dr. J. H. Smith's organ solo, "Light Cavalry Overture" (Von Suppe), which opened the program. "Water Lilies," rendered by the Sunnington Quartet, was another outstanding number Thursday night.

The personnel of the quartet includes: Messrs. Callard, Robertson, Emery and Ball, the accompanist being Miss Deacon. Messrs. King were also two clever artists of the evening, giving most enjoyable banjo duets.

CONTEND ACTION UNFAIR

Utilities Commissioners Claim Owners' Interests Are Safeguarded.

Protesting that such action would be nothing short of an injustice to them, a delegation from the Real Estate Owners' Association, headed by John Parsons, interviewed the public utilities commissioners Thursday afternoon relative to the determination by the latter body that all arrears for electrical current shall be chargeable to the property, as is now the case in respect to water rates.

While the commissioners assured their visitors that they would safeguard their interests as far as possible, they assured them that the threatened enforcement would have but little effect upon owners of residential real estate, and was primarily intended to apply more to industrial firms.

John Parsons and his associates held that it would be decidedly unfair to lessors of houses if the hydro department assessed them for electricity used by a tenant who later moved away without settling for it.

Might Demand Deposit.

The commissioners pointed out that the owner of a house should take this possibility into consideration, not only in choice of tenants, but by demanding a cash deposit or providing for the same in the rental. Mr. Parsons held that this was possible in regard to water rates, as the latter remained more or less stationary, but failed to note its feasibility in the present instance.

Commissioner Jared Vining explained that London is the only city not conducting these affairs under the full provisions of the public utilities act. "We are now simply making an attempt," he said, "to get in line with the other municipalities, and it is up to this board to see that the citizens do not lose by unpaid bills."

"We could take the stand of the City Gas Company, and insist on leaving the 'bad' part of the debt, require the tenant to provide a surety to the commission."

"Bad" Payers Listed.

Commissioner Philip Pocock pointed out as another feature the fact that the hydro department was aware of the "bad" part of the debt, move from one place without paying for their service they could not receive it at another without settling the original bill.

Manager Buchanan explained that the commission's aim mostly was to insure payment by industrial concerns. "There have been a number of concerns," he stated, "that have come into the city and subsequently gone up in smoke, failing, of course, to settle our bill."

Oliver Eliwood, secretary of the department, pointed out that as a matter of fact, after twelve years of business there had not been as much as $1,000 in outstanding accounts. The commissioners considered this an excellent record. Less than $100 per annum.

Ed. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor Club, stated on Friday afternoon that a number of the 1922 auto markers were more or less defective as regards workmanship.

Mr. Bernard declared that point on some of the markers had already chipped off, marring the numbers. Any motorists who has markers that were not satisfactory should take them to Arthur Keene on King street where new sets would be issued, Mr. Bernard said.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSIE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

ACCEPTS CALL TO CHESLEY CHURCH

Major A. Graham has accepted the call to Chesley church, in the presbytery of Bruce, and will be inducted March 1.

Previous to his enlistment, Major Graham was in charge of Chalmers Presbyterian Church, London. On his return from overseas he was assigned to Winnipeg as senior chaplain, leaving that post to officiate as chaplain at Carling's Heights.

On leaving the army, Major Graham spent eight months as chaplain at Speedwell Hospital, Guelph and from there returned to Westminster Hospital, London, where he officiated until last September. It was stated by the moderator that the call bore a greater number of signatures than any ever received in the presbytery.

REVISE SALARIES OF CITY TEACHERS

Board of Education Completes Correction of Pay Schedule.

Salaries for London's public, collegiate and technical school teachers have now been completely revised, and will become effective without delay, it was stated, Friday morning. Incidentally, it is admitted that the maximum will not quite reach the expectations of the teachers as a body.

With Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice in the chair, the last private session of the salary committee of the board of education was held Thursday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock, and lasting until midnight.

On Monday next, at 4:30 p.m., the final report, concluded Thursday night and approved by the committee, will be submitted to the teachers themselves, following which the same will go to the board for official sanction.

"There will be no attempt to move in the dark," it was explained Friday morning. "Everything is to be fair and above board. We are calling for the delegation of teachers who waited upon us before to meet us Monday afternoon, when we'll submit our final opinion."

"We have done the best we can under prevailing conditions, as it is our desire that we shall have contented employees. That is only for the city's good. Frankly, however, we have been forced to set a maximum that will not measure up to what the teachers expected, but otherwise we believe that the scale will be considered very fair."

With the completion of the salary problem, the committee will now be enabled to complete their estimates in short order, and another special meeting of the board will take place after Monday.

UTILITIES TO SUE FOR COSTS

City Commissioners To Take Action Against Frank Whetter and W. Mitchell.

BILL FOR EXTENSIONS

Decide Wolsley Barracks Authorities To Pay For Rink Lighting.

Frank Whetter, clerk of the ninth division court, and W. E. Mitchell, property owners and landlords in the south-eastern section of the city, will feature in court proceedings unless they settle an alleged outstanding account with the public utilities commission.

Officials of the latter body stated Friday that the city solicitor would be instructed to take immediate action in the question. "Yes, we mean business," commented General Manager Buchanan, "and the general public is commencing to realize that we do. These bills will have to be paid."

The issue was thoroughly discussed at the regular meeting of the public utilities commission Thursday afternoon. It was brought to the attention of the members that Messrs. Whetter and Mitchell had failed to settle their bill for 1921 as per agreement.

Constructed an Extension.

It is claimed by the utilities officials that the waterworks department constructed an extension to supply water for houses owned and rented by the latter citizens with the agreement that the payment would be on a guaranteed revenue basis equal to 10 per cent of the cost of the extension. It is said that the agreement was adhered to in 1920, but not in 1921.

During Thursday's meeting the question arose as to whether the water should be shut off at once. Commissioner Vining pointed out, however, that such drastic action be withheld, as it would tend to create hardship for the tenants, who are in no wise involved in the case.

The city solicitor was instructed to place the account in the courts for collection.

SCORES ATTITUDE OF TASCHEREAU

John T. Foster Dislikes Premier's Stand Regarding Quebec Printers' Strike.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Declaring that Premier Taschereau's statement as conveyed in his telegram of yesterday that "the circumstances indicate that this movement has been chosen with design" was a deliberate attempt to make the public believe that we are trying to boss labor, John T. Foster, president-elect of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, at the meeting of that body here last night, scored the attitude of the premier in connection with the printers' strike at Quebec. A storm of protest greeted the reading of the premier's telegram. Mr. Foster said he thought the printers' pay of $24 a week was nothing like adequate pay for men with families, and found it strange that the premier should suddenly sit up and cry extortion. He contrasted the attitude of the premier with the one he had taken in connection with rents in Montreal against the extortionate nature of which he said Premier Taschereau had never protested.

HAY INSISTS ON SHOWDOWN IN HYDRO TANGLE

Blames Drury For Not Asserting Authority Over the Hydro Commission.

OPENS DEBATE ON REPLY TO SPEECH FROM THRONE

Declares Government Not Responsible For Huge Chippawa Expenditure.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Asserting that the time had come when there must be a showdown between the government and the hydro commission, Wellington Hay, leader of the Liberal group in the Provincial Legislature, this afternoon blamed the Drury government for not asserting its authority over the hydro commission when first it came into office.

He suggested a house committee to deal with the charges that appear to be between the government and the hydro commission largely as to the amount of money that had been required to complete the Chippawa project. The public ought to be satisfied that the money was reasonably expended, he said.

Mr. Hay's speech opened the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne, and he went carefully over the record of the government since it came into office.

His address occupied all the afternoon session, and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson will continue the debate tomorrow.

The Liberal leader claimed the admission that the present government had passed but little legislation directly benefitting the farmer indicated that it was unable to improve on the record of previous regimes in aiding agriculture. He promised that the Liberals would be ready to support any good measure the government would bring forward to aid this basic industry. He urged a system of farmers' banks.

Raps Liquor Condition.

In reference to liquor legislation, he agreed that the attorney-general had conscientiously endeavored to enforce the Ontario temperance act. In fact, he came to the conclusion from visits to Windsor that the Ontario government was far more anxious to protect the citizens of Detroit and neighboring localities from the evil of drink than were the officials of the United States. It seemed to him that while the provincial officers were doing their utmost to keep liquor from being rushed to the States, the officials on the other side of the border were not showing anything like the same energy.

The Liberal leader saw in the recent federal election figures indications that the farmer-labor government was losing its hold on the electors. He criticized the government for opposing the Liberals in North Oxford after the Conservatives had declined to enter the field.

Coming to matters affecting hydro and hydro-radials, the Liberal leader said that undoubtedly the province had undertaken large commitments on these accounts. And in connection with the administration of hydro affairs between the government and the commission he felt that most of the province realized that things had come to where a showdown was necessary.

"The early estimates for the building of this Chippawa scheme, as in the Sturgeon Falls development," he said, "are very much exceeded. So far as the Chippawa power is concerned the conditions are such that we as Liberals feel that the position we took from our leader in the house in the first session of the new government was the very course that the government apparently now have in view of taking."

Liberals Started Plan.
The Liberals, he said, had never been opposed to hydro; in fact they were the pioneers. He read the Liberal platform on the subject, and said that the Liberal party had stood by the one thing, that there should be electrical development, so far as radials are concerned, "when and at the proper time, and only then and at no other time."

"The Chippawa," he said, "has run into many millions of dollars. The government is faced today with a condition that I think they should have faced in 1919 when they came into power. They should have said to the hydro commission, 'You are a creation of the government; you are our servants.'"

Instead of taking that position, said Mr. Hay, they took a minister and put him on the board, and that was Sir Adam Beck.

"Are we as taxpayers in the province of Ontario," he asked, "to hold as entirely blameless the government who have permitted their very own board to go on and spend enormous amounts, and then come to the Legislature at last and say: 'We are through; the work is practically completed; we know it has cost more than it ought to have cost.'"

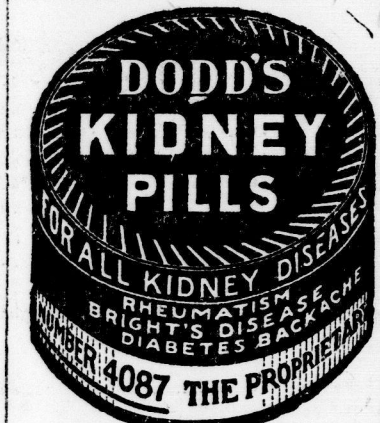

After reference to the stand taken by the Liberal leader at the last session, when an accounting was demanded and a reference to Hon. Mr. Carmichael's statement to the house, which Mr. Hay deemed insufficient, he said: "I do not wish to hold the government of the day responsible for the large expenditure on hydro-electric development."

"I do think that they must take some responsibility for allowing their commission, that could have been put out of office at once, to go on during the last 24 months expending large amounts of money without having assured themselves, as they appear not to have been satisfied, that that money was being wisely and judiciously expended."

that the smaller centers connected become absolutely residential. But if there is not law enough that will permit the municipalities to own and operate their electric roads, then I think this government ought, in all fairness, to say to these municipalities: "We have gone a long way, and now we will give you certain expensive information, and we will make the machinery so that you may build your own roads on your own responsibility and operate them."

DENY ELECTION IS DRURY PLAN

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—The report that the Drury government would spring a general election shortly after the present session closes was denied by government officials here tonight.

"Although this session may bring surprises which might possibly result in the government going to the country," one of the officials stated, "such a contingency has not yet been considered by the ministry, whose present intention is to carry on until their term of office has nearly expired."

CANADIAN DOLLAR HITS HIGH LEVEL

NEW YORK Feb. 16.—(By Canadian Press).—Further strength in Canadian exchange today made the Canadian dollar worth 96.43 cents, the highest price in over two years. One year ago Canadian dollars were selling in New York at 12 per cent discount.

While strength in sterling exchange is thought to have been primarily responsible for today's increase in the value of Canadian money, financial authorities attribute the steady recovery of the Canadian dollar mainly to the excellent trade conditions of the Dominion.

ROBERT FISHER APPOINTED TO SUPREME COURT

Prominent Member of Middlesex Bar To Succeed Late Glenholm Falconbridge.

TORY CANDIDATES CALLED TO OTTAWA BY MEIGHEN

Government May Order Bank Merger Inquiry Following Public Clamor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—Robert G. Fisher, of London, Ont., was tonight appointed to the supreme court of Ontario, in succession to the late Glenholm Falconbridge, and James A. Mulligan, K.C., of Sudbury, to the vacancy in the Carleton county court, created by the death of Judge Gunn.

Mr. Fisher is an outstanding member of the Middlesex bar, and a prominent Liberal. Born in 1862, in London Township, he engaged in the study of law in the office of Sir William Meredith, and later became a partner in the law firm of Meredith & Fisher, with which he still is connected.

Possessed of a keen intellect, Mr. Fisher will bring to the provincial bench a wide knowledge of law, a calm temperament and judicial mind. It was announced here today that the defeated and undefeated candidates of the Conservative party in the last general election will assemble at Ottawa on March 6 at the call of former Premier Arthur Meighen.

The purpose of the assembly is to discuss the future of the party and to approve for a temporary period at least the leadership of Mr. Meighen, the latter having already declared, in view of his disastrous defeat, that he will not continue in the position without further ratification.

Conservative senators will also be present at the gathering.

Defeated Outnumber Elected. The defeated will far outnumber those who secured election at the meeting.

From three provinces only, namely Ontario, New Brunswick and British Columbia, has Mr. Meighen any followers in the new house.

Under the circumstances, and in view of the terrible debacle which befell the party under Mr. Meighen's leadership, it is not expected that the caucus will be altogether unanimous, though it is believed that it will finally approve of his being appointed leader pending the holding of a national convention.

After the session it is proposed that there shall be a Conservative convention to which selected delegates from all the provinces shall come, and at which a permanent leader, whether Mr. Meighen or another, shall be chosen.

While there are those who do not believe in national conventions it is generally conceded that in the present case the holding of one is the only alternative, not only in view of the fact that only from three provinces is the Conservative party represented in the house, but because that party does not hold the reins of power in a single provincial legislature in the country.

Consider Bank Merger. The question of the merger of the Bank of Montreal and the Merchants Bank is one which is engaging the attention of the government, and particularly the minister of finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding, at the present time.

The shareholders of the "selling" bank have approved the amalgamation. Following that an agreement must be drawn up between the selling bank and the buying bank, and such agreement must be advertised for a certain length of time in the Canada Gazette, and in a certain number of newspapers. At the expiration of the time allotted action by the governor-in-council is called for.

Disclosures regarding the reasons for the depreciation of the reserve of the Merchants Bank, which depreciation is the cause of the merger movement, have aroused strong feeling and editorial writers of the east are thundering for a governmental investigation into the affairs of the selling bank with a view toward placing the blame for the present situation and toward pointing a moral for banks in the future to adhere to.

Oppose General Inquiry. It was understood tonight, however, that the government, while anxious to learn all the facts, is averse to a general inquiry, on the ground that such an inquiry might conceivably drag into the limelight firms whose affairs at the present time may not be in the best possible condition, but, which, given time might mend.

In this connection it is pointed out that the present is not the time for a governmental inquiry into financial affairs of any kind. That the proposed merger in the interests of the shareholders and depositors of the Merchants Bank and of the public generally is inevitable, and necessary is not doubted anywhere.

The question raised is as to whether the government, before approving the merger should institute an inquiry. It is, however, pointed out that if there is a general desire to place blame for the Merchants Bank situation, this can be done through the criminal courts. And in this connection any shareholder can bring action.

There is little doubt that the whole question will be brought up at the coming session of Parliament, and inasmuch as Sir Lomer Gouin is a director of the Bank of Montreal, which undertakes to absorb the Merchants Bank, the discussion may be interesting.

Revision of the bank act is due next year. Consideration of necessary revisions may be precipitated by the present situation.

DERAILS 7 CARS NEAR PEMBROKE

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—A broken rail is blamed for the derailment of seven cars of the Canadian National Transcontinental No. 2, near Pembroke, 120 miles west of here early today.

A statement issued by the company says no person was injured, and there was no damage to the equipment, all the cars remaining on the track.

NIGHT COUGHS

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep. The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition that they get no chance to heal. You will find in a remedy without an equal, for soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the breathing organs and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. John McKerny, Lower Montague, P. E. I., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness, and was so hoarse you could hardly hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised; got a bottle, and at once it gave me relief, and after using four my cough had all gone. Now I always keep 'Dr. Wood's' in the house, and shall recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

Is It Protection?

CANADIAN CATTLE men were disappointed to learn that the decision had been reached to maintain the British embargo against cattle from the Dominion.

There can be no other way of looking at this than in the light of a prohibitive measure against the cattle from Canada. It cannot be done on the pretence that they fear foot and mouth disease being brought in from Canada, as this country has a clean bill of health in this regard, which is in sharp contrast to conditions existing in the British cattle trade today.

Another remarkable feature of the case is that the government has definitely decided not to implement the promise made to the Canadian representatives at the Imperial conference of 1917—a pledge which Sir ARTHUR GRIFFITH-BOSCAGEN admitted had been given, when he announced to the House of Commons that the embargo would not be removed. And the secretary for agriculture, whose remarks contained a veiled suggestion that Canada should not meddle in affairs of Great Britain, should remember that this whole question was raised by the fact that for many years the embargo was maintained against Canadian cattle under the pretence that they had not a good bill of health—an unwarranted and absolutely unfair proceeding.

It may be that the move is for the purpose of pleasing the agricultural interests in Britain, rather than listening to the voice of the masses, who want the meat supply augmented and cheapened.

Canadians find the situation hard to understand, especially in view of the moves made here toward greater things in the way of preferential treatment of British-made imports.

Ex-O. A. C. Students.

IT IS with some justification that Ontario is referred to as the banner province of the Dominion, especially when it is considered that along with the largest population of any province in Canada, this province can boast of wonderful industrial development and a type of farming that is unequalled in the Dominion for its general average of production, combined with a due regard for the permanent upbuilding of the soil and a development of such important aspects of agriculture as dairying, stock raising, and the growth of intensive crop areas. In connection with this agricultural development, too little credit is given by most people to the influence of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, which since its inception in 1874, has steadily exerted a strong educational effect upon the agricultural practice of the province. Thousands of students have been turned out from this institution and many of them are now occupying the most important positions agriculturally in the gift of every Canadian province and almost every state in the Union to the south of us. Students have attended the O. A. C. from nearly every country in the world, and the impression that has been made upon them by their experience in Ontario is constantly shown by the fact that they frequently write back for inquiries as to recent developments along lines of organization here, or look to Guelph for some expert to take charge of important work, or as frequently happens, make special trips back to Ontario for the purpose of buying high-class live stock with which to improve the quality of their native stock. It is safe to say that no other agricultural teaching institution in the world has attained so universal a reputation for the quality of its graduates and for the general excellence of its combined influence upon agricultural practice and scientific progress.

This, perhaps more than anything else, has led the ex-students of the Ontario Agricultural College, residing in Ontario, to form the Provincial O. A. C. Alumni Association, which is to hold its first annual convention in London on March 10 and 11. We are informed by R. A. FINN, agricultural representative for Mid-Dessex, that there are hundreds of men in practically all walks of life who at some time or other have taken one of the regular courses at Guelph, and who are still interested in agricultural work of some kind, but who through carelessness have neglected to keep in touch with their alma mater. A great many of these men are now farming after taking perhaps a one or two-year course at Guelph, and it is one of the aims of the newly-formed association which was only organized last March, at Toronto, to bring as many of these men together as can be actively interested again in the welfare of the O. A. C. and the Ontario farmer. Much has already been done in this connection by the Alumni Association of Western Ontario, which was the first to be formed and which was directly responsible for the formation of the provincial organization. This association has already been instrumental in securing the establishment of an experimental farm at Ridgeway, and has also been able to instigate a move toward a reorganization of the extension forces of the Ontario Department of

THE UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE ABOUT THIS TIME O' YEAR.

Agriculture, with a view toward greater efficiency in service for the farmers of the province. It is expected that a large number of O.A.C. ex-students will come to London in March, where they will not only renew old acquaintances but will take steps toward constructive policies for the betterment of agriculture in Ontario.

Caution Needed.

THE Stratford Beacon believes that Ontario should have a pretty serious and well-reasoned think before it embarks on a wholesale scheme for radial construction. The Beacon claims that the "whole question of radials has been changed by the government ownership of the great trunk steam lines, whose revenue radial plans previously considered would undoubtedly impair, and likewise by the construction of a large cost of paved highways throughout the province. Particularly in the warmer months trucks on the highways will undoubtedly absorb a portion of the traffic which would otherwise go to the railways or radials, though just how great a factor they will be it is difficult yet to determine. In the government-owned roads, however, Canada has a transportation problem which has hitherto not been profitable. It would be folly to further handicap their possibility of becoming so by the construction of other public-owned roads which would divide a considerable portion of the revenue. This is not to say that radials have not their place and cannot be operated profitably and serve a genuine need in certain sections, yet the question nowadays must be approached by the broad consideration of the future of public-owned transportation system as a whole, and the ability of the people of the province to bear the financial burden of further extensive transportation schemes without assurance that such will be profitable and fulfill a needed service."

The Beacon makes a point that cannot be overlooked, viz., that Canada is right now faced with a railroad problem greater than any small nation ever had to deal with. As far as the credit of the people is concerned the Dominion problem of transportation and the Provincial problem is practically one and the same thing. The same people are interested in both, and they are not going to stand by and see one system pitted against the other, knowing that they are the people from whom the revenue for both is drawn, and on whom the financial responsibility of both is going to rest.

Then, too, as the Beacon suggests, there is the question of truck and automobile competition on the roads which Ontario is building at a very large outlay. When this plan gets more thoroughly developed, and travel by road is easy north and south, as well as east and west, there is going to be an increasing amount of motor traffic, and much of it is going to be taken from what would otherwise be revenue for steam or electric roads. This is a development that has already made progress, all that is necessary is to study the situation as we have it in London and district today. It is possible all winter to find trucks from neighboring towns and cities, at London warehouses and markets, bringing in and taking away their loads. This business used to belong to the steam roads, but it is gone for keeps, nor could it be won back by an electric service. The man on the truck does the whole service, eliminates the cartage necessary at both ends of the journey, and in the case of merchants, enables them to do business on a much smaller investment than they could possibly have got along with a few years ago, because they can now replace their stock quickly in small quantities. This form of doing business is growing, and it is going to be a great big factor in the future. Radial lines will have their place, no doubt, in the working out of our transportation problem. The best interests of the whole people would best be served by looking at our transportation needs as a whole, rather than having the National Railway system, owned by the people, find that one of its chief competitors is going to be another parallel radial system, owned by the same people.

Hot Lunches.

HOT LUNCHES at noon for school children cause new streaks of joy to crawl up and down the spine of the editor of the Chesley Enterprise. Thus he pens the following: "We notice in our exchanges that Baird's school in Brant Township is receiving a great deal of favorable comment these days for being the first to adopt the hot lunch system at the school noon hour. Huh! That hot lunch in No. 5 Brant is half a century behind U. S. S. No. 6 Elmdale and Sullivan, 2 1/2 miles north of Chesley, where we can remember seeing Jack Oswald, Jim Cruickshank, Bill Herriot, Charlie Kyle, Jack McKinnon, Bill Kidd, George Bell, Jack Armstrong, Bill McDonald and at least a score of others we could mention having a hot lunch at noon by thawing out their frozen lunch at the old box stove. But there was not as plentiful in those days as it is now and the boys of fifty years ago were satisfied with bread browned in pork gravy for their school dinners. Curled cakes baked in fat and golden syrup on the bread were looked on as real luxuries."

LITTLE 'TISERS

Now if Ireland could only manage to keep off the front page for a week or so!

THE ADVERTISER has concluded a very unpopular series of articles on the income tax situation. Unpopular because paying the piper is never as popular as having the dance.

The Ottawa Journal has this one: "A handkerchief bearing the letter 'S' has been found in the Taylor apartments at Hollywood. Boy, hand us the Ottawa Journal and turn to the letter 'S' till we see how many people there are in this city whom it may be necessary to hang."

All of which is most commendable, but where did the Journal get the idea that any person would be hanged?

In Hamilton a young girl went to an office, and while waiting, threw herself out of a window to her death. The circumstances indicate that the girl had gone through a particularly distressing experience. Too many of these cases pass without the cause being sifted to the bottom. It is not right that a girl should suffer mental torment, even to the point of self destruction, while another, perhaps equally guilty, goes free.

Winnipeg Free Press has an editorial headed "The Wild, Wild West." From that text it reads a lesson to the east showing the west is neither wild nor dangerous. The talk about "wild, wild west," you see, got its root in the east following the wholesale peddling of close-farm city lots of the west. Yes, brother, we bought a lot of them, and a lot of folks here have been wild about the wild west ever since.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is IMPECCABLE. It's pronounced im-peck-a-bull with accent on the second syllable. It means—faultless, free from error, free from defect, sinless. It comes from—Latin "in," not, and "peccare," to sin. It's used like this—"When you write a business letter, your English should be impeccable."

25 YEARS AGO TODAY
Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest.
As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1897.

FRIDAY, FEB. 17, 1897.
Weather—Mild, with light snow or rain at night.

The third annual meeting of the London branch of the National Council of Women was held yesterday at the "X" rooms, Dundas street. The president, Mrs. English, called the meeting to order. After the retiring president, Mrs. (Rev.) E. N. English, gave her address, Miss M. D. McDonald, the recording secretary, submitted her report, which was followed by the report of the treasurer, Miss A. E. Mackenzie.

Mrs. Jarvis and Mrs. (Rev.) Sage were appointed scrutineers, and the election of officers, which was not announced until the evening meeting, resulted as follows:
President—Mrs. Boomer.
First vice-president—Mrs. Gahan.
Second vice-president—Mrs. (Rev.) E. N. English.

Recording secretary—Miss D. M. McDonald.
Treasurer—Miss Mackenzie.
Several papers were then read, and delegates to the National Council were appointed: Mrs. Boomer, Mrs. Macbeth and Mrs. McLean; substitutes, Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. English, Miss Priddy, Miss Graydon and Miss Cannon.

The annual meeting of the Woodmen of the World commenced in their rooms in the Huron & Erie building this morning at 11 o'clock. The following officers were present: C. C. Hodgins, H. C. Lucas, W. H. Wilson, W. A. Buckner, H. A. L. N. C. Fitzgerald, H. C. and T. H. Luscombe, H. B. London, W. S. Harrison, H. P. Toronto, R. H. Blackmore, H. E. C. St. Thomas, G. M. Harris, H. S. Kincaid, W. G. McMillen, H. N. London, M. McGugan, H. M. Mount Brydges, J. E. Hill, H. M. St. Thomas, James Ferguson, H. M. Strathroy, D. Cinnamon, H. W. Oshawa, W. H. Storey, H. W. Acton, C. F. Height, Frome.

The delegates were the following: Thomas Meek, St. Thomas; John Rankin, Seaforth; James Winters, Hyde Park; George F. Morris, London; John Betts, Mount Brydges; G. H. Wilson, Woodstock; U. A. Buckner, London; R. A. Hill, New Durham; George H. Orange, Bothwell; R. T. Shoebottom, Ballymore; J. L. Crawford, Aylmer; Peter Bowey, Ilderton; Robert Bedgood, Thornedale; J. Dundas, Iona Station and Dr. W. M. English, London.

The reports presented were from the head council commander, C. C. Hodgins; the head clerk, W. C. Fitzgerald; the head banker, T. H. Luscombe.

Mrs. A. McIntosh of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Murray, Oxford street, Strathroy.

The 26th annual meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company was held at their office here on Wednesday at 3 p.m. The following shareholders were present, viz.: Messrs. John McClary, A. S. Emery, W. A. Gunn, A. M. Smart, Albion Parfitt, John G. Richter and others, the president, Mr. John McClary, in the chair, and the manager, Mr. William Bullen, acting as secretary. The reports were then read and adopted.

The retiring directors, Messrs. John McClary, A. S. Emery, William Bowman, William McDonough and W. A. Gunn, were elected for the ensuing year.

Messrs. George F. Jewell, F.C.A., and A. M. Smart were reappointed auditors for the ensuing year.

At a subsequent meeting of the board, Mr. John McClary was re-elected president and Mr. A. S. Emery vice-president.

A most successful concert was given in the Hamilton Road Methodist Church last evening in aid of the superannuation fund. The North street male quartet was the feature. Addresses were made by Mr. Joseph Brown (chairman) and Rev. Mr. Pedley. Recitations were also given by Mrs. Smith and Mr. A. M. Hunt.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL
How You Can Enjoy a Perfect Digestion

HE rate and the comfort of digestion is influenced by the proportion of protein, fat and carbohydrates eaten.

Water passes through the stomach very quickly. Carbohydrates tend to pass out of the stomach faster than proteins and proteins faster than fats.

Mixtures of protein and carbohydrate go faster than proteins alone, but more slowly than carbohydrates. Mixtures of protein and fat, on the other hand, go slower than either alone.

This retarding effect of fat is an advantage to some, a disadvantage to others. The healthy stomach finishes up its work quickly and often gives its possessor discomfort because of its insistence for more food before meal time.

Such people can eat fat foods that take a longer time to digest, especially if they lead an outdoor life.

Less vigorous persons with more sluggish digestions would find fatty foods delaying their digestions unduly. Hence we consider such foods hard to digest.

Most people can eat large amounts of carbohydrate foods with ease. There are some persons, however, in whose stomachs carbohydrates tend to ferment very easily, usually as a result of bad mastication, insufficiency of gastric acid or poor muscular activity of the stomach.

Such people need to eat less carbohydrate foods than others, and should rely more upon proteins and simple forms of fat for their body fuel.

In general, good digestion depends upon:

KEEPING the whole body in good condition by breathing fresh air.
TAKING suitable exercise;
CULTIVATING cheerfulness;
OBSERVING regular meal times and refraining from foods at other times;
AVOIDING food when greatly overworked or fatigued, or limiting it to simple, warm, fluid foods;
MASTICATING thoroughly so that food never goes down in large lumps;
PAYING some regard to the retarding effect of fat on digestion, and avoiding large amounts of very concentrated and irritating foods.

READ YOUR CHARACTER
(By Digby Phillips.)

NO. 127—SCURRYING FOOTSTEPS. Feet constitute one of the most interesting branches of the science of character reading, for feet reveal a lot aside from the indications of temperament which you get from their size, shape and general construction.

People may be able to control their facial expressions, their manners, speech and bearing, but the man or woman does not live who can conceal his or her character by a conscious control of all the significant little habits and actions; and, of course, head shapes and the size and structure of the body cannot be controlled either.

Feet tell their most significant stories when they are in action. It is the walk that is important.

For example, did you ever hear scurrying footsteps coming down a hall? Did you ever observe a man on the street with a rapid, but shuffling and slightly uncertain step? Did it ever occur to you that there you have the key to an important element in his character?

Such footsteps will nearly always find with a certain amount of apparent assurance. But the assurance is only apparent. You can puncture it easily. It is merely the bold front assumed by the timid yet sensitive disposition. It is the lion's mantle draped upon the reasons a considerable tendency to brag. Tomorrow—Flighty Writing. (Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.)

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Aura Lee defeated Granites in a Senior O. H. A. fixture here tonight by 4 goals to 2. Tonight's game was almost a reversal of Saturday night's contest, the winners turning in one of their best performances of the season, while the Church street aggregation did not look anything like the team that won on Saturday.

The Granites, as a whole, looked somewhat stale, and with the exception of Collett, Munro, Sullivan and Fox, did not give anything like the exhibition they did on the occasion of the first meeting.

SELKIRKS ELIMINATED.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—Winnipeg earned the right to play off with Brandon of the Manitoba senior hockey championship by defeating the Selkirk aggregation here tonight, 7 to 3.

ALLAN CUP GAMES
START MARCH 6.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Tentative dates for Allan Cup games were decided today as follows:
O. H. A. Intermediate champions play N. O. H. A. champions Monday, March 6.
Winner plays O. H. A. Senior champions Wednesday, March 8.
The winner of this game defends the Allan Cup against eastern and western champions.

Stop Worrying
About Kidneys

Prove in few minutes that your Backache is only Lumbago. Try St. Jacobs Oil.

"Kidneys cause backache? No! Listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica, or a strain, and the quickest relief is soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil. Rub it right on your painful back, and instead of the soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist, and limber up. A moment after it is applied, you'll wonder what became of the backache or lumbago pain.

Rub old, honest, St. Jacobs Oil whenever you have sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism or grains, as it is absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.—Advt.

WOMAN'S MUSIC CLUB HOLDS RECITAL.

The recital given Thursday afternoon in the Normal School by the London Woman's Music Club, assisted by Brantford artists, was a most enjoyable affair. The program was composed of several selections by Mr. Howard Fetherston, whose brilliant voice delighted the audience, especially in his last number "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak. Mr. Fetherston was accompanied by Mrs. Fetherston.

Miss Sanderson of Brantford proved to be a brilliant pianist, whose brilliancy was exhibited in her interpretation of Chopin's Polonaise, Op. 46, No. 12, also in her encore number by Chopin.

KOMOKA GIRLS' CLUB.

The Komoka Girls' Club held a meeting last night at the home of Miss Gurdia Foster. A program consisting of a trio by Misses Leota, Leona and Eva McIntyre, a reading by Miss Rhea Smith, instrumental by Miss Luce, was given. The Komoka Breeze, which proved very interesting, was read by Miss Gurdia Foster, and a paper on "Valentine Day and Its Origin" was given by Miss Laura Macdonald.

The Girls' Club is planning to hold a community meeting in the Komoka hall on Feb. 28, when an interesting program and a debate "Resolved that Eastern Canada offers better opportunities than Western Canada" will be given.

BEG YOUR PARDON.

Thursday The Advertiser received, and published in good faith, what purported to be a wedding announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Sharnan.

126 Briscoe street, announcing the engagement of their daughter, Marie to Thomas Hussey, 342 Colborne street. It transpires that the announcement was the work of one of the many practical jokers that continually beset a newspaper. In this case, in some way, it got by the usual safeguards. The announcement has no basis in fact.

Miss Audrey Farncombe has returned from Toronto.

Mrs. Choje of Detroit is a guest with Mrs. K. Dobbs, 343 Princess avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Aseltin of Toronto are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Towe, Princess avenue.

Mr. Arthur Nelles of Toronto will spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Nelles, Dufferin avenue.

A jolly and well-attended affair of Wednesday evening was the dance in Hyman Hall given by the A. Y. P. A. of St. Matthew's Church.

Among the guests present at the opening of the Ontario Legislature Tuesday were Mrs. Stanley Williams and Miss Hannah of London.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glassford have returned home from their wedding trip and have taken up their residence in the Alexandra Apartments.

The committee in charge of the Drama League ball this evening wish to deny the report that the dance has been cancelled. This report is entirely erroneous.

Mrs. G. H. Trace, formerly Miss Mable MacNeill, will receive for the first time since her marriage on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23, at her home in Queen's avenue.

Through an error the date given for the card party being held under the auspices of the Mothers' Unit of Sacred Heart School was Feb. 21, in place of Feb. 23.

Miss Mary Hendrie, daughter of Col. and Mrs. William Hendrie of Hamilton, is the guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith. She will be among the out-of-town guests at the Drama League ball this evening.

Bird Hats Now Are Popular

BY MARIAN HALE.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Birds again! Many a season has it been since we've seen such an array of beautiful feathered folk on our millinery!

Small birds of various materials are quite the smartest of trimmings for spring hats. Very swaggy is this large, swerving brimmed Idare hat with its black taffeta top accented with royal blue birds. These are leaving on Monday next to spend some time in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Previous to the annual meeting of the Janey Canuck Chapter, I. O. E., Thursday evening, a dinner party was held in Wong's Rose Room. The tables were attractive with spring flowers artistically arranged. Following dinner the members enjoyed a theatre party.

A play which has been endorsed by the Mothers' Clubs of the city as a suitable entertainment for children is "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which is being presented next week at the Majestic Theatre. On Saturday 50 patients of Westminster Hospital will be guests at the afternoon performance.

Proceeding the Drama League ball which takes place tonight in the Winter Gardens, a number of interesting dinner parties will take place. Among the hosts and hostesses are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brickenden, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shuttleworth, Mrs. Randle Brown, Mr. Stanley Meredith and others.

Miss Beth Pennington was the hostess of a delightful tea and shower Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Beatrice Seaborn. The tea table was attractive with spring flowers tastefully arranged, and was presided over by Mrs. Pennington and Miss Pennington.

The guests included Miss Green, Miss Anna Seaborn, Miss Mabelle Stuart, Miss Florence Stuart of Oakville, Miss Manigault, Miss Hilda Smith, Mrs. Vehay, Mrs. Beresford, Miss Ruth Robinson, Mrs. Hamilton Young, Mrs. E. Seaborn, Miss Gower, Miss Dona Waller, Miss Blanche Tancock, Miss Gladys Noyes, Mrs. Routledge, Mrs. McKenzie and Mrs. Orr.

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements. Other indications are constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthy action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

MAKES TEARS RUN.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites—This is my second letter to your cozy corner, and I enjoy your little column very much.

If any of the Boxites have any good readings or recitations for a bit of 17 I would be pleased to get one or two. I wrote before for some, but there weren't any in the Mail-Box, so I hope I will have better luck this time, although I received some good recipes from Cynthia before, and many thanks. I am very fond of reading, but don't get much time to read now. I will name a few of the good books that I have read: "Lena Rivers," "Tempest and Sunshine," "Oh, Money, Money," and "Mary Marie." I am very fond of sad stories. Something that will make the tears run down my cheeks. This is all for this time. Will inclose a note for S. C. H. also a good recipe for chapped hands. Hoping to receive recitations and many thanks.

Hand Lotion.
Half gill cologne and alcohol; 1/2 gill glycerine; 1-8 oz. gum tragacanth; 1 pint soft water. Put part water and gum on back of stove until nearly melted, add balance of water and other things. Put in large bottle and shake till perfectly mixed. One-half of this amount is enough to make at once as it spoils in hot weather.

LENA RIVERS.
I hope you receive some good recitations this time. Lena, in return for the remedy for chapped hands. Thank you for remembering our hospital fund.

WITH THE BRIDES

MAGUIRE—BROWN.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Centennial Methodist Church, when Hilda Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown, was married to Frederick C. Maguire, son of Mr. George Maguire, Ailsa Craig. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. M. Thompson. The wedding march was played by Miss Evelyn Atkinson, cousin of the groom, and during the ceremony Miss Nina Priddle sang very sweetly "The Crown." The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of white charmeuse, and a veil caught with orange blossoms, forming a Juliette cap, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Mr. Arthur Maguire, brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Marjorie Brown and Miss Jean Maguire acted as bridesmaids. Mrs. Brown wearing a gown of pale grey crepe, with hat and shoes to match and carrying pink roses, and Miss Maguire was gowned in shell-pink crepe, with a large black hat, and carried pink roses. Misses Ruby Brown and Irene Selway, frocked in little white dresses, and wearing Dutch caps, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, Woodman avenue, followed by dinner. The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of taupe georgette with a corsage of violets. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the bridesmaids mesh bags, to the best man a tie pin, and to the ushers, soloist and organist, pins.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire left on a honeymoon, which will be spent in Montreal, the bride traveling in a smart frock of henna crepe, heavily embroidered, and a hat to match, and a seal coat. Guests were present from Montreal, Toronto, Brantford, Ailsa Craig and Detroit.

CRAWFORD—SMITH.

A quiet wedding took place Wednesday at 4 o'clock in the Park Street Parsonage, Chatham, when Marguerite Smith was married to Mr. W. C. Crawford.

Best man, and Miss Hilda Smith was her sister's bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford will reside on the groom's farm, near Lakeshore.

STARTING FIRE.

When the fire starts slowly, burn a newspaper in the base of the chimney to warm the flue.

POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

CHAPTER XXIV—D'ARMENONVILLE

By Zoe Beckley.

THE smart restaurant called d'Armenonville, gay with striped awnings and little tables on porches and lawns, basks in a sunny woodland—a part of Paris' vast park. In a sun-dappled corner sat Polly, elbows on table, looking interestedly into the face of George Barry, a man-of-the-world.

He helped her to salar. Little smile-wrinkles were round his eyes. His hands were remarkably fine in shape and beautifully cared for without being what Polly called "fancy-work."

"Well, first of all," he said looking at her as though she were a painting in the salon, to be criticized with care, "you are honest. You show when you enjoy something—when you don't. You have a fresh, enthusiastic viewpoint. And you make up your own mind—don't take somebody's code for your ready-made. All these things, I fancy, are Canadian. The women I am accustomed to are—well, European."

"And a European woman wouldn't be hunching with you here in this way?"

"Oh, yes—but in a different spirit. She'd have some sort of motive behind it."

"Well, so have I," Polly laughed. "I'm having a tremendous adventure!"

"But you're not deceiving your husband. Or causing pain to your friend. Or planning an intrigue. Or trying to make a weary old gentleman wake up and lose his head like a callow boy! The Continental woman regards every man as a potential love-affair. To her, a forbidden love is like salt to an egg or the dash of tarragon in this excellent salad. Yet you pretty Canadians have an amazing way of being friends with a man."

"The European woman never dreams of such a situation. She learns every art of attraction. She gains things for herself by charming, wheedling, plotting, flatterer."

"And do you like it?" asked Polly. "Oh, it helps make life interesting."

His smile was disarming, his manner deferential. He was a handsome man of perhaps 32, with perfect clothes and a carefully preserved waistline. He had a way of ordering things without consulting Polly—and they were invariably the right things. He led the conversation, yet always seemed interested in what she said.

Just at the moment Polly began to feel it was time to go, he took an open taxi. She found it easy to talk to him on the way home, and when she left him, there remained with her a vague feeling of success and power.

THE SMOKE RING

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

The smoke fairies were glad to see them.

THE last place that Buskins took the Twins to, in the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air, was called Smoke Land.

"It's an entirely different kind of a place from Mistland," explained the little fairyman, "because, while the mist fairies are getting ready for adventures there will be no more adventures for the smoke fairies. All they can do is to dream about the adventures they have had. But they love to see you and entertain you with some of their doings."

Nancy and Nick and Buskins were in the little elevator, going up to the sky, and no sooner had Buskins finished his speech than they stopped at the place he had been talking about.

The smoke fairies were glad to see them and made room around the great fire where they were sitting, not a hot fire, but a bright, cheery one, which was magical.

A smoke ring was talking. "I'm out of a pipe," it said proudly, "out of a rich man's pipe. When I was born I was dizzy at first because I'd never been in the world before and I didn't know where I was; so I floated up as far as the mantelpiece and hung onto the corner for a minute until I got my bearings. After that I felt better and had time to look around. The room was beautifully furnished with velvet-carpeted floors and curtains and pictures, and the man with the pipe had on a silk dressing gown. He was reading a letter and frowning. Evidently he was displeased about something and I felt very bad. I was sorry that anyone should write anything that could make so fine a person unhappy."

"What could it be?" I was so curious that I nearly slid off my corner of the mantel shelf."

Arch Conspirator of World War Becomes a Man Without a Country!

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Ignatius T. T. Lincoln, international spy, is now a man without a country.

Erstwhile German spy, English clergyman, member of parliament, British censor, the arch conspirator is here today awaiting the action of the immigration authorities. He is charged with entering the United States surreptitiously. If found guilty he will be deported.

"I don't know where they can send me," he said. "I've been expelled by almost every power. But I am not worrying. I'll find a way out. I always do."

Meanwhile he is writing the story of his life.

"It sounds like fiction," he confessed. "But it is true. When finished it will leave other thrillers far in the shade. He laughed—considerably pleased with himself."

"I surely did make them step lively during the war. Sometimes it was the British; sometimes the Austrian. I didn't care much which."

"It was exciting for them, too. But their experiences never rivalled mine. They were on the wrong side of the game."

"But several times they got me."

Trapped in Germany.
"In May, 1920, I was working for the German monarchists. I had to get into Berlin on a secret mission. A warrant was out for my arrest. I took the chance—and was caught at the railroad station."

"I tried the usual method—bribery. But the secret service agent was young. He refused my advances. I was facing the prospect of 20 years in a German prison—possibly death."

"So I did some skillful talking. We stopped at a rest house. In a twinkling I jumped through a window, ran across the street with crowds at my heels and escaped. An hour later I was successfully hidden by friends."

"There is nothing as stimulating as playing politics in the big way. It is not much of an art here. But in Europe—"

He shrugged his shoulders.

Ignatius T. T. Lincoln, the international spy.

"I knew all the leaders—Premier Lloyd George, Bethmann-Hollweg, Ludendorff. And they respected me, too."

"I started going when I was 15. I ran away from home, became an editor and studied theology. On graduation from a Montreal seminary, I joined the Church of England and became curate of a parish in Kent."

"But I soon tired of the work. It was too monotonous. I wanted to be on the inside of things. So I went into politics and was elected to parliament as a Liberal."

"With the war came the chance I had always wanted—to get mixed up in international affairs."

"I then went to Rotterdam," he continued.

"I must have been shadowed. My visit was reported to the British war office and I had to skip to America."

Arrest and Escape.

Here he wrote a series of revelations which led to his arrest.

"Of course, I had worked for the Germans," said Lincoln, "and I didn't want to be sent back to England."

So he escaped from the custody of the United States marshal. After a month he was found and sent to England where he was confined in prison until the end of the war.

"I asked the government to revoke my British citizenship," Lincoln said. "As I had formerly given up my allegiance to Austria-Hungary, I became a citizen of no country."

He goes to see Kaiser.
He was then deported. He went to Amerongen to see former Kaiser Wilhelm. A few weeks later he had a new cause.

"I marched into Berlin at the head of the Kapp army," he added with gusto. "I was out there in front of the procession of soldiers, generals and counter-revolutionists. But the revolt failed and I went to Budapest."

He became involved in the sale of some secret documents to the Czechoslovakian government and was arrested for fraud.

"It took me three and a half months," Lincoln said smiling, "before I got out of the mess. But I was expelled. I went to Italy. There I did nothing. I wanted a chance to get into some quieter business. So I came on here. And now—"

"I'm in trouble again!"

Spare Time Jobs for Father—

MANY people bring umbrellas in, out of the rain, and stand them in the corner of a hallway or vestibule. It means a stream of water will be trickled across the floor shortly.

An ordinary brown bean pot will help you avoid this. Get the crock at any crockery store. Paint it a dark green and trim the upper outside edge in gilt. Stand it in the hallway to stick umbrellas in.

wisp of smoke rising for ahead from the green expanse.

"There's the fort, boys!" he cried.

X.

THE green of the wilderness dulled and burst into the yellow scarlet and the russet. This glory in turn faded and the leaves, like petals of withered flowers, began to drift to the earth.

Through the shower of them went Erskine and Firefly.

From his coonskin cap the bushy tail hung like a plume; his deerkin hunting-shirt, made by old Mother Sanders, was beaded and fringed—fringed across the breast, at the wrists, and at the hem, and girded by a belt from which the horned handle of a scalping-knife showed in front and the head of a tomahawk behind; his powder-horn swung under one shoulder and his bullet-pouch wadding, flint and steel, under the other; his long rifle across his saddle-bow. For food he carried only a little sack of salt, for his rifle would bring meat, and the forest would give him nuts and fruit.

On the fourth day he reached the river and swam it holding rifle and powder-horn above his head. On the seventh he was nearing the village where the sick chief lay, and when he caught sight of the teepees in a little creek bottom, he fired his rifle, and putting Firefly into a gallop and with his right hand high swept into the village.

The flaps of the chief's tent parted and his foster-mother started toward him with a sudden stream of tears and turned quickly back. The old chief's keen black eyes were waiting for her and he spoke before she could open her lips:

"White Arrow! It is well. Here—at once!"

Erskine had swung from his horse and followed. The old chief measured him from head to foot slowly and his face grew content.

"You must ride north soon to carry the white wampum and peace talk. And when you go you must hurry back, for when the sun is highest on the day after your return, my spirit will pass."

He turned his face and went back into sleep.

The lad saw an aged Indian emerge from one of two tents that sat apart on a little rise.

"Who is that?" he asked.

"The new prophet," said his foster-mother.

An armful of pine fagots was tossed on the blaze, and in a leap of light he saw the face of a woman at the other tent. Startled, he caught his mother by the wrist:

"And that?"

"A paleface. Kah-too bought her and adopted her but—the old woman gave a little guttural cluck of triumph—she dies tomorrow. Kah-too will burn her."

"Burn her?" burst out the boy.

"The palefaces have killed many of Kah-too's kin!"

A little later when he was passing near the white woman's tent a girl sat in front of it pounding corn in a mortar. She looked up at him and, staring, smiled. She had the skin of the half-breed, and he stopped, startled by that fact and her beauty—and went quickly on. He turned to find his foster-mother watching him.

"Who is that girl?" The old woman looked displeased.

"Daughter of the white woman."

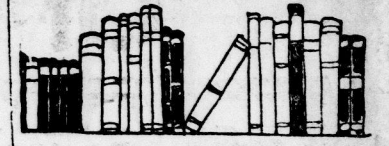

"What is her name?"

"Early Morn."

He would like to know more of those two, but the old Indian woman caught him by the arm:

"You will only make more trouble."

BOOKS

EDITED BY CABR.
THE MAGIC FLUTE. By G. L. Loeves Dickinson. New York: The Macmillan Company.

THE association of such a title with such an author at once plagues the reader's attention.

"What's too silly to be said can be sung," has always seemed to apply with special force to the text of Mozart's opera. And yet there is a charming symbolism latent in the characters of Schikander's libretto.

Perceiving this, Mr. Dickinson, one of the keenest of living English philosophers, has chosen the story as the ground-work of what terms a fantasia—partly in prose and partly in verse.

The hero, Tamino, represents the eternal spirit of youth in search of an ideal incarnate as a beautiful maiden, Pamina. Pamina is the daughter of Sarastro (Wisdom) and the Queen of Night (Passion), who are at odds for the possession of her.

As a child Pamina lived with her mother, but later went over to her father. The mother incites Tamino to win his innamorata by means of force, offering him the services of her general Monostatos. Their plot is frustrated by the merry and irresponsible Papageno, whose piping causes all the soldiers to dance off the scene. Tamino, consulting the oracle of his magic flute, which is independent of his will, receives the warning, "Leave her now or lose forever." Convinced that Pamina is not to be won in this way, the hero departs from her bower.

Going on alone toward the east in his search for truth, Tamino has a dialogue with a statue of Buddha, in which the statue affirms that what is true in his gospel is Selflessness and Love, what is false is Fight from Life. Proceeding still, the youth is deluged by a mountain deluge, but is led safely through by Pamina and the healing power of his flute. All of this is the ordeal by water—of Doubt, we may surmise.

At last Tamino arrives at the castle of Sarastro, where he is enrolled among the followers of "Imagination or Reason or Truth." His companions are the great philosophers, scientists and poets of old—with a few interesting omissions. Plato, it seems, fell under the domination of the Queen of Night, because in the end he preferred "religion to reason, authority to liberty, and the State to the individual," and Wordsworth's case was the same. Candide was not with his creator, Voltaire, because he lacked the sacred fire. The central doctrine of the society is the love of Truth, though the truth may never be known. As for Pamina, she is always "on before."

Mr. Dickinson's entire system is remarkably close to that of Al Ghazzali, the medieval Persian mystic, in whom "thirst for knowledge was like a second nature implanted by God." Al Ghazzali, also, believed in judging truth by its own standard, not by its sources. But the Persian notions the inexperienced reader of the dangers of philosophy. "A snake-charmer," he says, "will abstain from touching snakes in the presence of his young child, believing himself as clever as his father, will not fail to imitate him. Mr. Dickinson makes no such reservation in his volume, and we are therefore moved to make it for him.

He followed the flash of her eyes to the edge of the firelight where a young Indian stood watching and scowling:

"Who is that?"

"Black Wolf, son of Crooked Lightning."

Within the old chief caught faintly and the Indian woman motioned the lad to go within.

"Talk!" he commanded.

"I have been with my people," said the lad simply. "They are many and strong and rich. They have big houses of stone such as I have never seen and they plant more corn than all the Shawnees and Iroquois."

SLEEVES.

The sleeve is still the pet of the modiste and no sleeve is made quite like any other sleeve. They are men's sleeves, wide all the way down, and Chinese sleeves widening at the bottom. There are mitten sleeves and gauntlet sleeves which are detachable. There are sleeves which are slashed from shoulder to wrist, and sleeves made entirely of ribbon.

GIFTS THAT LAST

Top of World Still Remains 40 Miles Beyond Highest Flight of Man!

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—The "top of the world" still waits to be reached. Lieut. MacReady's record-breaking flight to a height of nearly eight miles left the "ceiling of the earth" still at least 40 miles away.

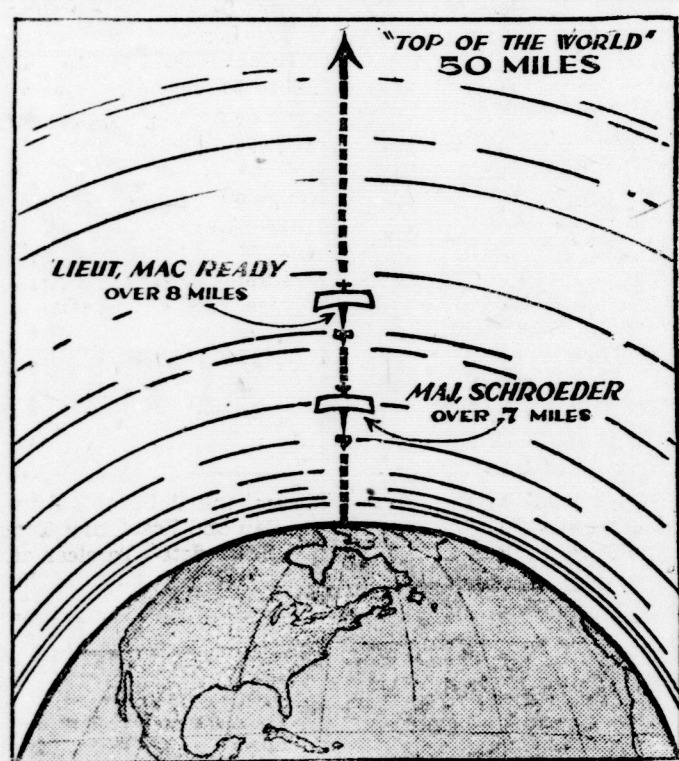

How near the aviator may come to what is practically the upper limit of the atmosphere layer surrounding the earth, we may not know in this generation. But the meteorologist and the astronomer tell us that both Major Schroeder after his flight of 38,150 feet and Lieut. MacReady after his 48,800 were speaking only figuratively when they spoke of having attained the "top of the earth."

The layer of atmosphere, many say, is at least 50 miles thick.

Aviators now have the means of taking sufficient oxygen along with them for their engines and for themselves, and the heat that keeps their bodies from freezing. They lack only denser air to fly upon at great heights. But this, of course, they will never have.

Yet there is another solution: the faster plane capable of rising still higher on an ever-thinning ocean of air.

It will be a problem forever increasingly difficult. The higher man rises, the thinner will be the air upon which he must depend for buoyancy.

Indeed the air gets thinner even in greater proportion than the increased height of the flight. For him four-fifths of the air.

From the surface of the earth where the total air pressure upon his body was 15 tons, he had risen to a height where the pressure was but three tons. And had he gone three times as high, he would have reduced the pressure to 80 pounds!

Any higher airplane flights than those that have been taken by these two men will have little scientific value. Their observations will give scarcely more information than that to be had from a balloon sent up with various pieces of recording apparatus.

But neither did the poles of the earth have great scientific interest. Yet men sought and attained them. And so long as the astronomer and the meteorologist make known the existence of an ocean of air beyond any called thus far, there will be a struggle to fathom its depth.

But for the present, that fathoming will be done only from observation and deduction to be made upon terra firma. Among the best of the methods that are used to determine the upper limit of the blanket of air about the earth is called the "twilight method."

Twilight has been defined as the time after sunset when day seems to be continued into the night because of the sunlight that still shines upon the upper air.

It has been determined that twilight lasts until the sun is about 18 degrees below the horizon, and with this as a known value and the radius of the earth given as 4,000 miles, it is not difficult to solve, by the methods of trigonometry, a right triangle that gives 48 miles as the height of the air still dense enough to reflect the twilight rays of the sun after it has set.

On the other hand, another method gives a different result. The presence of "shooting stars" in these winter nights, calculated often to be at a height of 200 miles, would seem to indicate that there must be air even at that height, for it is the friction of the air that heats the meteor as it rushes toward the earth.

Kitchener Proves Youth Must Be Served Against Warton Vets

GAIN 1-0 VERDICT IN PLAY-OFF AT LISTOWEL

Red Gildner Scored Lone Tally Half Way Through First Period—Rest a Herculean Struggle.

LISTOWEL, Feb. 16.—By defeating Warton Redmen by a score of 1 to 0 Kitchener O. H. A. Intermediate won the round. The deciding goal was scored by "Red" Gildner about the middle of the first period, and the Greenshirts managed to hold the Redmen for the remainder of the game. Special teams came from both places, bringing supporters, and over 2,000 paid admission. The game was full of thrills from beginning to end.

The first period opened at a lively pace, the Redmen carrying the battle into the Kitchener goal area, but were unsuccessful in getting any shots on Zuber. The Greenshirts followed with a series of rushes, which were successfully broken by the Redmen. The game was evenly matched until "Red" Gildner broke loose, and on an individual rush scored through the opposing defence and beat the nets giving Nimmo no change to save. For the rest of the period Warton did not attempt to pass Kitchener defence, but shot from outside, without results. Nimmo was kept continually on the jump, and blocked shot after shot.

The Redmen had most of the play in the second period, but Zuber, by breaking up a rush early in the period, saved the score.

Several penalties were handed out on both sides, and Warton checked hard towards the end of the period. Warton lay back, and Kitchener missed three chances in succession to tally, partly through bad luck, but chiefly through the brilliant work of Nimmo in the nets. Dad Ashley received a severe blow in the stomach from the end of a stick, but was able to continue.

In the third period again Warton had the best of the play, and missed many beautiful chances to even the score. Erb, for the Greenshirts, got his shoulder dislocated, but was able to continue. Kitchener towards the end of the period played a strictly defensive game.

Ruth and Yanks May Be Here in August.

THERE is every probability that Babe Ruth with his Yankees will be seen in action at Tecumseh Park during next August.

The Yanks have an off date in Detroit, and every effort will be made by the local club to get the big slugger to come to town after a stand here.

Ruth, of course, would be the big attraction, and if the deal clicks they'll have to string a cordon of traffic cops on a five-mile radius on the roads around London.

PRO SKATE HONORS WON

BY EVERETT MCGOWAN

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 16.—

Everett McGowan, St. Hubert, the American professional outdoor skating champion, won the title of champion of the world today.

McGowan, who is 34 years old, won the title by defeating a field of 170 competitors in the three-day meet, which ended today, and staff scored 160.

Edmund Lamy of Saranac Lake finished third with 109, and Bobby McLean of Chicago scored 50.

In winning the three-quarter mile race in 2 minutes 45 seconds, McGowan set a new world's record for the distance, clipping off two seconds from the time made by Lamy in 1919, when the Saranac-Lake veteran was an amateur.

At a recent meeting of a number of professional golf players in New York it was my very good fortune to hear this question thoroughly thrashed out.

A great many of the best players in the country do not agree with the statement that golf is the most difficult of all games to master.

Don't get the impression, the result that any games played this year in the Manufacturers' League at Westminster Rink last night from Standard Drug by the score of 3 to 2. The winning goal came in the last five seconds of play on some of the best combination of the night.

The fans were kept on edge the whole game, and when hockey was played it was of the best kind. Referee Barney Clark penalized Murray and let McKay stay on the ice. McKay got the puck from the face-off, and along with McClary, went through the Druggists' defence for the winning goal, McKay shooting.

McClarys had things all to themselves in their class with the Bell Telephone crew in the opening game. They defeated them by the score of 9 to 1. Andrews pulled some stuff during the game. He has always had a habit of skating around the back of his opponents' nets and scooping in the puck.

He hadn't many chances with Andrews to do this, but last night he had them, and took advantage of them. He got away with one of a dozen attempts. Jack Murray made many rushes. Three times he made them count. Stevens played his usual good game for the Bell men. He got a bad cut over his eye in the last period, when the point of a stick got him in the eye.

McClarys scored the only goal.

The Druggists got their goals in the first and second periods. Doherty got the first goal, but he was out of the game. Manning got the last at ten minutes of the second period on a rush.

McClarys brothers did the work for the London Motors. Andy got the first out of a scramble and Roy tied the score when he took a luck shot from center ice. Then Archie and McClary got the last.

McClary, a new man for the winners, proved to be just about the finest skater in the league. Last night was his first appearance with the team, and he showed great form. He was not penalized during the whole game. Critt and Granger played well for the Druggists. The former took the boards every time he got the puck, and generally got away with it, but had McLean to deal with.

McClary and Ray Baker, the goalies, were at their best, and kept the scores down.

BY BILLY EVANS.

Golf has generally been considered the hardest of all games to master.

Does such an impression do the game an injustice? Does that viewpoint tend to make the efforts of the beginner all the more difficult?

At a recent meeting of a number of professional golf players in New York it was my very good fortune to hear this question thoroughly thrashed out.

GOLF NOT AS HARD AS IT LOOKS

hit it properly. If he does that his body will assume its proper position at the finish of the swing.

The follow through idea is really considerable of a joke with most of the professionals. They know that if the eye is kept on the ball and the swing properly done until it meets the ball, that the rest will follow.

In golf, the proper swing is the thing. Far more important is to keep one's eye on the ball. Concentrate on hitting the ball in a proper manner. Don't take the eye off the ball to follow its flight before the ball actually comes into contact with it.

If a player gets into such a habit he isn't going to get many thrills out of his drives. The ball isn't going to go very far.

Keep Your Eye on the Ball.

The big thing is to hit the ball properly. What is done before the ball is hit is far more important than how your club and body looks when you finish. First hit the ball properly and do more, at the plate than the good right-hander.

By that I mean the left-hander thinks more of trying to place the ball, bunting when you least expect it, or waiting you out, to a far greater extent than the right-hander.

What I want to say is that the left-hander, while not harder to fool than the right-hander, has a tendency to play a little more baseball in an effort to outguess the pitcher.

The fact that a left-hander has a start to first on the right-hander is, probably, the cause of most of them resort to the bunt more than the right-hander.

What batter makes the most trouble for me?

That is rather hard to answer, because there are a lot of good hitters in the American League and I have met them all. I have made plenty of trouble for me.

Jack Fournier, formerly with the Cardinals, and now with the St. Louis Browns, was one of the best batters I have ever met.

Duffy Lewis, this Speaker, Derrill Pratt, Eddie Collins, and Frank Baker are a few others who always liked my stuff.

Friday night a contest will take place between Coleburn's and Durkin's rinks for the second prize.

British Statesmen of All Parties Attend Luncheon in London.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Arthur J. Balfour was officially welcomed home today from the Washington conference at a luncheon by the government and coalition members of both houses of Parliament.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, presiding at the luncheon, paid a striking tribute to Mr. Balfour, saying he had taken part in "one of the most notable contributions statesmanship has ever made for the sum of human peace and human happiness."

About 400 persons were present at the luncheon, including Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons; Lord Chancellor, Earl Curzon, the foreign secretary; Lord Lee of Fareham, who was also a member of the British delegation at Washington; the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Derby. Viscountess Astor was the only woman present.

The premier's reference to the Genoa economic conference brought forth stormy interruptions. The Socialists and communists hurled invective at the cabinet. The word "buffoon" was frequently heard. The Catholics, however, applauded Signor Bonomi. Thereupon the members of the extreme left rose against the Catholics shouting, "Shame upon you to applaud."

The pandemonium lasted five minutes. Signor Bonomi was given an ovation when he spoke in approval of the Washington conference.

Toward the close of his speech, Signor Bonomi alluded to the death of Pope Benedict. He said the events connected with the death of the pontiff once again had shown that the spiritual authority of the church could remain untrammelled within a free state.

ever having accepted any money to influence the course of justice." Replying to Mr. McEwen, Commissioner Gregory observed that the direct charges made against Stander would not involve any complicated defence.

"I regret that Mr. Stander does not propose to come here and appear in his own behalf, for I wish to give him every opportunity to put in his defence on every charge," the commissioner remarked. He added: "I don't think the reasons you have given, Mr. McEwen, are sufficient to justify Mr. Stander's decision."

John H. Spence, referring to the charge against Fred McArthur, who was under the influence of liquor while the police raid took place at his house, said he had spoken to the magistrate about McArthur's case, and there had been an adjournment of the case.

There had been another charge laid against McArthur by High County Constable Fred Kerr. This was for an alleged breach of the Ontario temperance act, the witness believed. He also referred to a charge of perjury, laid against McArthur by Chief Slemin.

Because of McArthur's conviction and fine of $200 for the liquor offence, thus making his home an illegal place for liquor, Mr. Spence said that he remembered advising McArthur to get rid of it.

New Tacks Were Clue.

Details of the search at Alfred Riddolls' house, 13 Mary street, were related by Mr. Spence, who told of the initial discovery that new tacks had been laid in the office on the floor in an upstairs room. Subsequently, some liquor was found, which witness identified as part of that which had been stolen from his house on Sept. 18. More liquor was later discovered in a downstairs room.

Mr. Spence told of seeing Mr. Riddolls, sen., at his house. The witness said: "This is a nice state of affairs for you to be in." Mr. Riddolls professed ignorance, saying: "I heard that your place was robbed, but I was away over the week-end."

Subsequently, Mr. Spence was asked by Mr. Hughes why he had allowed McArthur his liberty on bail after he had pleaded guilty to a charge. Mr. Spence said he did not consider this improper, referring Mr. Hughes to a similar case, where William Vandusen was involved.

Called Magistrate.

The perjury charge against McArthur was laid when the witness was out of town. On his return he called up Magistrate Livingston, saying that he would go bail for McArthur. Magistrate Livingston asked for a bond of $500 and this was promised. The bail bond, however, was taken out by Mr. Lyle, senior customs and excise clerk.

Subsequently, Mr. Spence went to Toronto and took the matter up with Gen. Elliott of the attorney-general's department, and the head of the provincial police, before whom he laid the complete details of the McArthur perjury charge.

Going into details on the perjury charge against McArthur, Mr. Spence said he believed that McArthur had been "framed" by the police. It was a case of "anything to get the man as long as they got him. These are the complete details of the McArthur perjury charge."

London, England, Feb. 17.—Domestic service is a skilled job and the opposite of a degrading occupation, declared Lady Astor, M.P., presiding at a conference of unemployment among women.

"When I listen to the anti-women members in the House of Commons," she added, "I rather long to go to them as a domestic. It would be such a wonderful chance of what the soldiers called 'learning 'em'."

MILLIONS FACE DEATH IN RUSSIA

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen Bares Horror of Soviet Famine On Return To London.

WARNS WORLD OF PERIL

Declares Great Granaries of Volga Region Must Be Replenished.

BY DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN.
Arctic Explorer.
Special to London Advertiser.
(Copyright, 1922).

LONDON, England, Feb. 16.—To come back to the land of plenty after being in famine-stricken Russia is like waking from a terrible nightmare.

The English people have been generous and prompt in aiding the Russian famine sufferers, but they can't possibly visualize the extent of the calamity.

The lands along the great River Volga, where famine followed drought, have an area and population approximately equal to that of all France.

Of these people the great number of 15 millions is directly menaced with death, and millions—no matter what frantic effort we make now—are doomed to die.

Every time the clock ticks dozens of wasted skeletons, that were once men and women and children, are toppling over dead.

More Desolate Than Arctic.

I am telling you what I have seen. When you enter the famine lands of Russia you enter the lands of terrible silence. The very birds have shunned this country of hunger. It conveys a greater sense of desolation than the Arctic ice fields.

In Buzuluk I saw a pile of frozen corpses lying in the cemetery awaiting burial. The weary grave-digger said to me they came by cartloads every day. They were picked up in the streets and alleys. They were found in hallways. Sometimes they were found in hovels, where every one in the family had succumbed.

What Donations Accomplish.

Every Canadian dollar, English pound sterling, every French franc spent now in supplying food, seed and agricultural implements to the Volga is fighting three things:

FIRST—The terrible famine of today.

SECOND—The chances of an even more terrible famine in the next winter.

THIRD—The plagues of disease that may arise in the Volga country and, sweeping across into happier Europe, Canada and the United States, decimate by thousands and tens of thousands.

Spotted typhus and cholera have already made their appearance in the Volga country.

The poor people can't help being dirty. They have no soap, no disinfectants, no drugs. And filth and famine together are prolific breeders. They sweep past frontier lines.

If the people of the world are cold and callous to the sufferings of starving Russia this winter, they may reap a terrible harvest of disease and death in their own homes next summer and fall.

Four months ago I begged the civilized nations of the world represented in the assembly of the League of Nations to do something.

Millions have died because my appeal fell on deaf ears.

We must send grain to keep the people alive, and we must send seed, tractors and tools, so that the survivors may do their sowing in the spring.

Unless we do this the great granary of Russia will become a depopulated desert. And Russia cannot recover. Russia cannot export food. Russia cannot become a market for the world's goods, until the Volga region has once more become a granary.

It is, therefore, not only charitable and wise and humane and Christian to act promptly, but it is also good business, it is good politics, and it is a matter of self-protection against epidemics of disease.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD

Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat Too.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed up because of nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief. Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffling. Cough fits. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Adv.

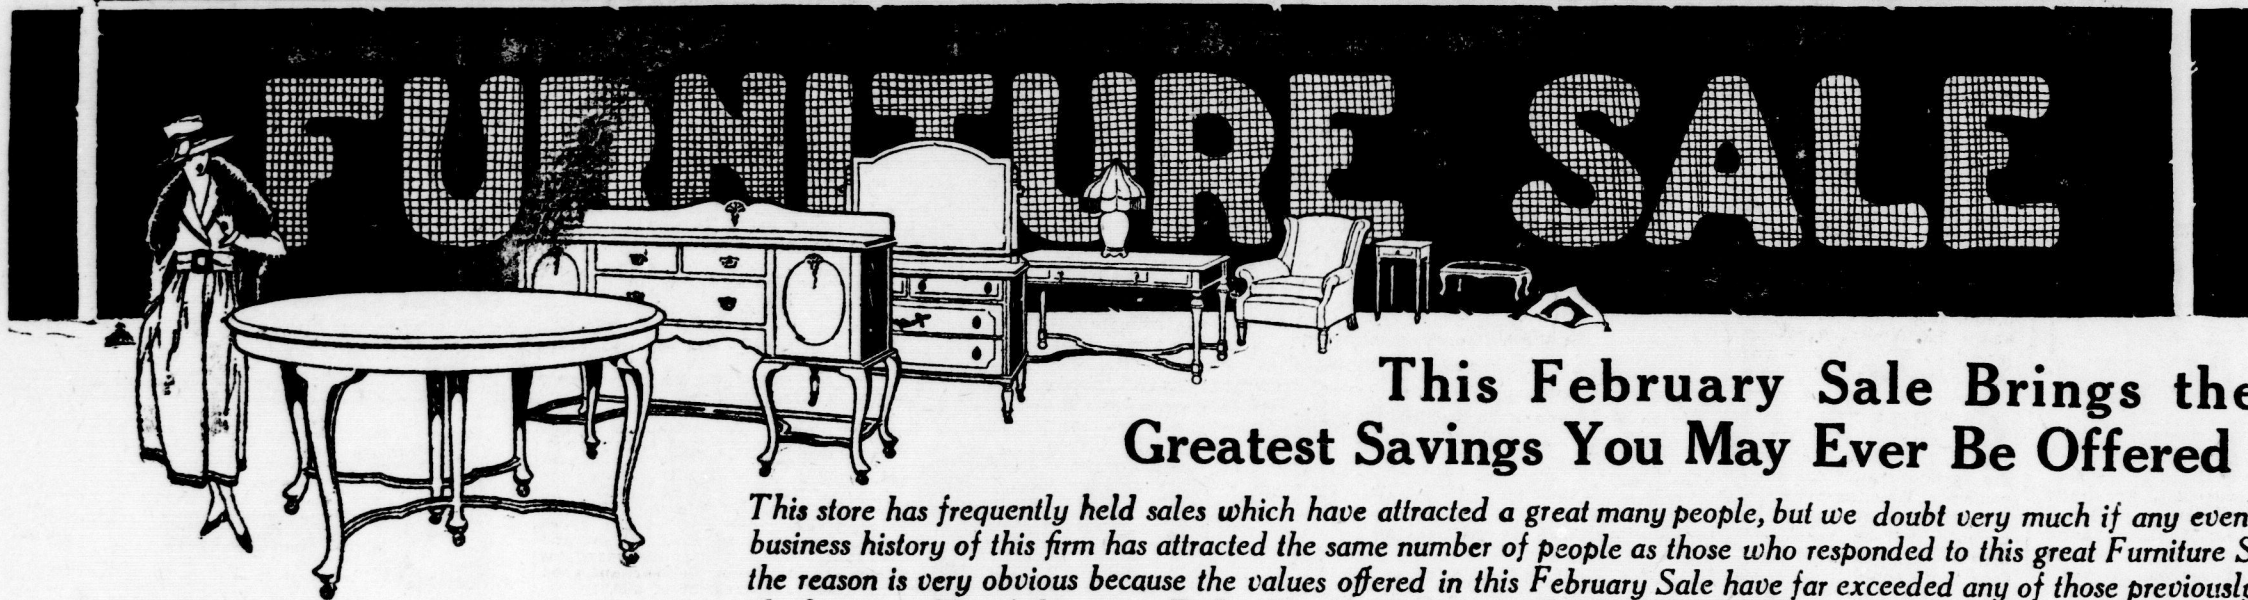

for sprains

aching muscles or stiffness which soothen follow the exertion of outdoor sports, prompt relief may be had by applying Absorbine, Jr. Stimulating to overtaxed muscles, soothing to aching joints, healing to sprains. Antiseptic, too, eliminating possible infection from cuts or scratches.

FEBRUARY

This February Sale Brings the Greatest Savings You May Ever Be Offered

This store has frequently held sales which have attracted a great many people, but we doubt very much if any event in the business history of this firm has attracted the same number of people as those who responded to this great Furniture Sale, and the reason is very obvious because the values offered in this February Sale have far exceeded any of those previously offered the buying public of this city. Right now, furniture is obtainable at what we believe will be the lowest prices at which furniture of similar type can be offered during the coming year. Prices are down to bed rock at the present time, and there doubtlessly will be an increase before many months have passed. Now is the logical time to buy furniture.

$240,000 BLAZE AT OWEN SOUND

Flames Wipe Out 3-Story Building Known As Kilburn Block.

TENANTS FLEE TO SAFETY
Cripple Carried From Top Floor by Comrades Who Smash Down Doors.

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 16.—Owen Sound tonight suffered the worst fire that has visited the city in years, when the big 3-story building on Second avenue, known as the Kilburn Block, was wiped out, the estimated loss being $240,000. The bulk of the damage was inflicted on the stock of W. T. Harris & Co., wholesale grocers, who occupied the entire ground floor of the building and a section of the upper floors, the stock being placed roughly at $200,000, while the building loss will be more than $40,000. The structure was owned by George Kilburn and W. E. Kilburn, barristers, who had offices in the building, and who lost all their records, as did the Empire Store Works, who also had an office on the upper floor.

Half Path of Flames.
The Kilburn Building, of which only the wall are standing tonight, was located in the heart of the business section and grave fears were felt that the flames would envelope adjoining buildings. The fire was discovered about 8:30 p.m., when a passerby noticed smoke issuing from the furnace-room. Although the firemen, under Chief McArthur, responded quickly to the alarm, the flames had spread so rapidly among the inflammable stock of the Harris Company that the flame-fighters were unable to enter the building. They devoted their efforts largely to saving the structure immediately adjoining, also owned by the Kilburns, and were successful.

Nine persons were tenants of the upper floors, but all made their escape. One of them, Hugh McDonald, a cripple, on the top floor, was carried out by two fellow-tenants, who had to smash their way through two doors to safety.

From the Tolton Mfg. Co., at manufacturer's prices, FREE, a pair of 50c guaranteed Braces with every pair of pants when asked for.

TAKES PLACE OF 'LIBERTY LEAGUE'

"Moderation League of Ontario" Obtains Provincial Charter.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—A new association has grown out of the Citizens' Liberty League, it being known as the "Moderation League of Ontario," and it has obtained a provincial charter, with power to form branches throughout Ontario.

The incorporators of the Moderation League were formerly the provincial committee of the Citizens' Liberty League, headed by I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., former president of the Liberty League, and are as follows: I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.; F. G. Osler, R. J. Christie, C. F. Paul, W. A. Watts, T. L. Monahan and Cyril D. Boyce.

They have resigned from the Citizens' Liberty League and started the new league because, as they state, "for some time it has been apparent that the aims of those in charge of the Toronto branch of the Citizens' Liberty League were not in accord with the provincial committee, and therefore it was thought best to incorporate an entirely new organization, founded on proper ethical and business lines."

The Moderation League states that it has in its possession a petition signed by nearly 250,000 voters, urging government control of liquor, and this will be presented to Premier Drury for action thereon.

The petition was circulated by the former provincial committee of the Citizens' Liberty League, that is, the directors of the new body.

One of them, Hugh McDonald, a cripple, on the top floor, was carried out by two fellow-tenants, who had to smash their way through two doors to safety.

Nine persons were tenants of the upper floors, but all made their escape.

BRITAIN WILLING TO HONOR LARKIN

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Apropos of speculation on the possibility of Peter C. Larkin, the new Canadian high commissioner, receiving a title, it has been learned from an authoritative source that such an honor will readily be extended if the Canadian government decides to recommend Mr. Larkin for such a distinction.

The initiative would rest with Canada, it is pointed out, for nobody here would attempt to controvert the declared wishes of the Dominion as represented in the resolution adopted in the Canadian House of Commons regarding the conferment of titular distinctions.

TO BOOST AUTO INSURANCE RATE

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—As a result of extraordinary losses experienced by insurance companies in this city last year, automobile insurance rates will be advanced one-third, March 1. For their protection a flat percentage rate will be charged on the same rate which is now charged for new cars, this rate to apply notwithstanding the age of the car.
