Rubber Bargains.

It's no trick to get cheap rubbers.

They are everywhere.

When the market is flooded every fall with the imperfect product of the rubber factories, sold at auction—

Then the cheap man buys his 69c. rubbers, and the wearer—well, he buys them as often as they wear out.

In the long run he pays three times as much, gets a poorer rubber service, and ruins his shoes because the cheap, ill-fitting rubbers chafe and spoil them.

Knowing these things, is there an intelligent man who would not pay

JURY PROFESSED IGNORANCE.

John Porter Came to His Death "at the Hands of the Parties Unknown."

Limon, Col., Nov. 19.—After being notified that some fragments of bones of a human being had been found on the prairie where John Porter was burned at the stake, Coroner Brown, and a jury summoned by him, gathered up the remains and held an inquest. The jury's verdict was to the effect that the remains were those of John Porter and that "death was at the hands of parties unknown." The remains were buried in a small box near the scene of the lynching.

CELLULOID SIDE COMBS.

Responsible for Portland Young Lady Losing Her Hair.

Portland, Me., Nov. 19.—A peculiar accident occurred in this village and from it a lesson may be learned. Miss Ethel Moe was sitting near the stove, leaning her head in her hand. In her hair were celluloid side-combs. They became ignited from the heat, which was not strong, and her luxuriant head of hair was destroyed. She received a number of serious burns, and her mother was quite seriously burned about the hand in attempting to extinguish the burning hair.

BOERS GETTING WEARY.

THEIR RESISTANCE RAPIDLY COLLAPSING—PRINCE TUAN REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN ARRESTED—THE CALL FOR ROSEBERRY.

London, Nov. 19.—The guerrilla warfare in South Africa, has become less formidable. The centres of hostile operations in Dutch territory may have multiplied, but the Boer commandoes are thinning out from death, illness and desertions. The skirmishes recorded daily by Lord Roberts are petty affairs in which scores of Boer combatants are engaged, where formerly there were thousands. General Kelly-Kenny, who commanded the Sixth division in the terrible march across the veldt, has been relieved from command at Bloemfontein, and General Hunter has taken his place. Either Lord Roberts or Lord Kitchener is picking out men who have special capacity for fighting the Boers. The new tactics seem effective. The scattered bands of Boers are constantly harried and allowed no rest. The lines of communication are strongly guarded and are not seriously menaced. The Boers are alert, but only able to operate on a small scale against outposts, and their cattle and horses are constantly taken from them and here and there small squads are killed, captured or taken prisoner. They have not had a single success in the last six weeks, and the sum of their losses is considerable. It is not strange that optimists are predicting the end of hostilities by the end of the year.

TIERED OF SOLDIERING.

A Wealthy Canadian Enlists in Glasgow and Then Deserts.

London, Nov. 19.—James Farlinger Thomson, of Ontario, was arrested on board the SS. Campania at Queenstown yesterday morning, just before she started on her westward voyage. He came to London last April on an extensive tour of England, Scotland and France, patronizing the best hotels. While in Glasgow he enlisted in the Royal Irish Regiment, and he had been stationed at Clonmel, but deserted and took passage for the United States. Thomson, who is said to be very wealthy, is the son of a Canadian merchant. The police landed him over to the military authorities.

PRINCE TUAN ARRESTED.

That is the Latest from China—Two Officials Condemned to Death.

London, Nov. 19.—A news agency despatch from Shanghai says Prince Tuan is under arrest at Nighisa, province of Shansi; that Governor Yu-Hsien, has been arrested at Pekin, near Sian-Fu, and that Sheng, the director of telegraphs and railroads, has memorialized the throne, denouncing Yu-Hsien. The despatch adds that an edict is expected condemning Yu-Hsien to death. A Tartar general and a Chinese officer have been condemned to death by the international commission for anti-foreign outrages.

STILL ACTIVE.

General Botha Establishes a Government.

Pretoria, Nov. 19.—The Boers are active. It alleged that Commandant Louis Botha has established a government at Rosendal, north of Middleburg, and that with the £150,000, which he has available, he is paying the fighting burghers a crown per day. Commandant Abel Erasmus is said to be at Oliphant's River, with 2,000 men, 1,000 wagons and 12,000 cattle. From Heidelberg it is reported that the Boers are compelling the burghers who had surrendered to take up arms again under pain of death.

ON FRIDAY NEXT.

Com Paul is Expected to Reach Paris, France.

Paris, Nov. 19.—Dr. Leyds and Delegates Wolmarans, Fischer and Wesels reached Paris Saturday. They held a consultation at the Hotel Scribe, where ex-President Kruger will stop. They leave in the morning for Marseilles. Mr. Kruger, they say, will land at 10 o'clock in the morning and will arrive in Paris next Friday. Final arrangements have been made for Mr. Kruger's reception at Marseilles. The ceremony of the landing has been reduced to a few words of welcome, the speeches being reserved for the banquet which will be given in honor of the ex-President of the Transvaal. Even if the President is not there, in any case the Boer officials will be present.

ALL WANT ROSEBERRY.

The Liberal Party of Great Britain United on Him.

London, November 19.—The Daily Chronicle announces that the invitation which Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, in his speech at Dundee Thursday, extended to Lord Rosebery to resume the leadership of the whole party, was made with the concurrence of its principal members. "It may be taken for granted," says the Daily Chronicle, "that this will be put in a shape still more formal and deliberate before the February sessions of parliament if not immediately, by the summoning of a meeting of the whole party for that purpose, and that he will receive an invitation from a party practically unanimous. That the advent of such a viable personality to the leadership of the Liberals will not be welcome to the Conservatives, who recognize that they have a difficult task to face in parliament, despite their big majority, is reflected in the comments of their organs on Lord Rosebery's address at Glasgow. The Standard and Morning Post both point out that though Lord Rosebery follows many others in indicating the difficulties confronting the nation, he has no advice to offer as to the remedy.

AUTUMN VESPER.

All gray and quiet ends the heavy day,
In listless languor hangs the smoky air;
Through leafless branches gleams a sullen glare
Plunged from the lowering sun—a parting ray.
Worn by the hours of hurry and delay,
Of feverish toil, and soul-tormenting care,
Lord, in this breathless twilight hour,
I bear
My weary, aching heart to Thee, and pray
Lord, show me strength for my infirmity;
In midst of change, let me the changeless know.
That toward the infinite my soul may grow,
And here, in time, hold fast eternity.
Open my eyes the invisible to see—
By faith to look beyond the false and low,
Letting Thy clear light on my darkness glow,
Illumine my soul with Thy divinity.

DEEPLY IN LOVE.

J. Hamilton Jaffray Would Wed
Mrs. Graves at a Minute's Notice

If Only She had her Divorce From the Husband, Now Pending in New York Courts.

New York, Nov. 17. — J. Hamilton Jaffray, co-respondent in the divorce suit begun by Robert Graves against his beautiful wife, declares that the divorce courts can't do their work too quickly.

"Any man, I believe, would be honored in marrying Mrs. Robert Graves," he said yesterday. "I said before, and I say it now, that I am ready to marry her, if she consents, within five minutes after she is divorced." "I would lay down my life for that woman," he added that he loved her as few women were ever loved.

J. Hamilton Jaffray, Jr., is young, rather short, and of good appearance. He is an amateur musician and hopes to win a career by his voice, which is a high baritone. Meanwhile he is living a life of leisure and enjoyment.

"I wish I were married to her this minute," he continued. "She's a lovely woman, and until this affair came up no one could ever say a word against her. As to what actually will happen you must ask her."

"What have I not stood on her account from Graves? Why, I gave me such a 'calling down' in the Grand Central station, as one man rarely gives another. But 'Bob' Graves is a fine fellow, from A to Z, I will acknowledge that. He's as good a man as there is in the world, and a word can be said against him."

"The loss of this suit means a stigma on her name," he suggested. "Oh, well, the stigma doesn't count," said Jaffray. "As soon as it is incurred she can efface it by taking my name."

"Asked whether his willingness to marry her was due merely to affection, or to a feeling of chivalry on his part, he said: 'It's simply because I love her. I don't take much stock in this chivalry business. When it comes to marrying a woman out of chivalry,' he added, with a laugh, 'I usually get out of the way.'

He said that he knew of Mrs. Graves and had seen her long before he met her, and he heard of her chiefly in a musical way. He loved her even before they met, he declared. "I'm sure you're not sorry, now that this trouble has resulted, that you ever formed a friendship with her?" he was asked.

"Well, that depends on what happens. If the result is simply that I've ruined a home, of course I am. But if it turns out well and she marries me, I shall be right glad of it. How long will that divorce proceeding take, anyway? Why can't they have it over with at once? I believe in getting through with these things."

WILLING TO BE HANGED

But he Would not Turn a Christian—The End of a Chinese Murderer.

New Westminster, B. C., Nov. 17. — Yip Luck, the Chinese murderer of Chief of Police Malins, of Stevenson, B. C., April, last, expiated his crime on the scaffold here Friday. In addition to a frank confession to two other murders in this province, he committed several robberies in the town. The last two days he seemed repentant, but declined to accept Christian baptism, when visited by two Methodist ministers yesterday. This morning he was cheerful; ate his breakfast at 6.30, but did not pray, as usual, telling the Chinese missionary he needed all his mind to brace himself for the end. This he met like a man. Unfortunately, he experienced 10 seconds of dreadful suspense when the official hangman, who is alleged to have taken a "bracer" too many, fumbled with the bolt, but the drop fell at 6.15 and the pulsation ceased 11 minutes later.

REMEMBRANCE.

In a lone bleak wood a wild rose grew,
No eye saw it, no mind ever knew,
But the flower was none the less as fair
As any that ever breathed the air.
It gazed up to the calm, cold sky
And shuddered to think it soon must die.
It languished, and its heart grew chill;
The curse of a reaper might well sigh kill,
But a passing breeze gave encouragement
And bore afar its delicate scent.
The breeze thus laden kissed a child
Who played in the meadow and, pausing, smiled.
The dear enchantment of that spot
The child, through a lifetime, never forgot.
The soul of the rose, with its last sweet breath,
Leaped forth to meet approaching death,
And gave to the breeze every crimson tinge;
'Twas all it had, for memory's sake.

No eye ever saw it, no mind ever guessed
The sweetness of its final rest.
How came I to know it? 'Twas told by the dew
How sweet is Remembrance, and I tell you.

WALK BLINDLY TO DEATH.

One of the Keenest Birds Is Often Deceived by His Visual Organ.

After trudging all day along the top of the mountain with no success at all, inasmuch as I had shot several times, but failed to bring down my game, I ran across an old hunter, J. W. Hyde.

After the usual greeting we seated ourselves on an old log to exchange notes. I put the question: "Why are the turkeys always on the run when I see them?"

The old man spit through his teeth, changed his position, laid his long, muzzled loading rifle on the ground, put the fourth portion of a plug of tobacco in his mouth and proceeded to tell me why the turkeys were always on the run when I see them:

"Of all the game I have ever hunted turkey is the most wonderful power of vision. I cannot tell just why this is. I have made a microscopic examination of the eyes of the hawk, eagle, fox, weasel and owl, but find no material difference in the lens and retina. The ciliary muscles and the iris are exactly the same, yet none of these keen visioned creatures can compare with the turkey in point of seeing. I remember the acuteness of sight displayed by one old gobbler. I had carefully concealed myself, and no part of my body was visible but the upper part of my head. A puff of wind slightly disturbed the brim of my hat. He saw it and immediately took to flight.

"On another occasion I was hunting in the mountains in Georgia. I was lying behind a log and was carefully hidden, all but the upper part of my face. A turkey was slowly coming in response to my call and was carefully watching for signs of danger. A mosquito was stinging me fearfully on the forehead. I raised my finger slowly to crush it, and as soon as the finger came within range of vision click went the turkey, and he was gone.

"Now, the most inexpressible thing in regard to hunting turkeys is that, with all their acuteness of sight, the surest way to get a shot is to sit down in an open place with your back against a tree, in full view, and, strange to say, they will walk up within ten steps without seeing you."

Just then we noticed that the sun was down. The old hunter invited me to spend the night at his camp, which I did and had a most pleasant time. Forest and Stream.

A Big Grasshopper.

A geographical expedition which set out for Australia, from Boston on an evening and marmalade tour had engaged a negro cook, who took great interest in everything he saw. While the party was en route a kangaroo broke out of the grass and made for the horizon with prodigious leaps, an event that interested the colored gentleman from the hub exceedingly.

"You all have pretty wide meadows hereabouts, I reckon," he said to the native who was guiding the party. "Not any larger than those of other countries," returned the guide most politely.

"Well, there must be mighty powerful high grass roundabouts, heh?" he insisted. "Not that I know of," replied the guide. "Why do you ask such odd questions?"

"Why, I'll tell you, boss. I was thinking of the mighty uncommon magnitude of them grasshoppers."

Knocks Their Shoes Off.
Strange as it may seem, people killed in a railroad wreck are generally bereft of their shoes by the shock. In commenting on this peculiarity an old railroad engineer said: "A man who is killed in a railroad accident seldom dies with his boots on. I don't know why this should be, but it is a fact. It is particularly true in the case of a man who is struck by an engine and killed. In nine cases out of ten, when the body is picked up, it will be found minus shoes. Even men wearing heavy top boots are not exempt from this strange rule. Why is it? I guess you'll have to ask somebody who is wiser than I am."

Try It.

One can hear better with the mouth open than shut, a fact which may be verified by stopping the ears while passing through a railway tunnel and alternately opening and shutting one's mouth. The increase in the volume of sound while the mouth is open must be experienced to be appreciated.

A Tremulous Moment.

Doctor—I'm afraid your husband doesn't get enough exercise.
Mrs. De Style—Well, he'll be exercised enough when my dressmaker sends in her bill.

The greatest number of races ever won by a jockey in one season was the 246 by Fred Archer, 1885.

An Irish philosopher says there is no blessing like health, especially when a fellow is sick.

It Has Happened

More than once that a child has been carried off by an eagle. When such a thing does happen the press rings with the story. There's not a line given by the press to the babies carried off daily by disease. It isn't the fact of the child being taken away that is startling or interesting, it's only when the method of taking off is novel that it excites interest. How many children die who might have been saved if the mother who bore them had been able to give them strength and vitality. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes healthy mothers and healthy children, strong enough to resist disease if they are attacked.

Sheridan, of this town, undertook to use of coal oil. The result was an explosion, and Mrs. Sheridan now lies at Vincennes de Paul Hospital, suffering from serious burns. She will probably recover.

Dougall, John Howard, James H.

hey, Thos. Primeau and John Donovan.

BLOOD POISONING KILLED HIM.

Bristol, Conn., Nov. 19.—William H.
Wright, general superintendent of a clock manufacturing of this town, who has been suffering from blood poisoning caused by cutting himself with a pocket knife with which he had been operating on an in-growing toe nail, is dead. He was 38 years old, and leaves a family.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED.

Every Sufferer From Catarrh Knows
That Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Douches do not Cure.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhalers cannot really cure catarrh, because this is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the nostrils, sometimes the emastachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of the stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

(A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.)

The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Eucalyptol, Gualucol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successfully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally of the stomach.

Unlike catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug whatever, and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.

"I know of few people who have suffered so much as I from catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, lotions, washes, and powders for months at a time with only slight relief and had no hope of cure.
I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure."

Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a box. From that time on, by my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved. I feel I can hear as well as ever.
They are a household necessity in my family.

Stuart's catarrh tablets are sold by druggists at 50c for complete treatment and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long looked for catarrh cure.

AT THE THEATRE.

Although the cast of "The Girl from Calcutta," the next attraction at the Grand,
is not as large as some that have been here this season, it is one of the most notable aggregations that have appeared here

best known ingenues on the American stage.
Mr. Bridgeland was for seven years a mem-

$10,000 FOR AN ARM.

Suit Commenced by a Railroad
Man of Sarnia.

Port Huron, Nov. 19.—William Carr,
a Sarnia railroad man, to-day commenced a $10,000 damage suit against The St. Clair Tunnel Company for the loss of an arm by being run over at the American summit of the tunnel in an attempt at making a flying switch of the van to a train that had just come through the tunnel.
The effort failed, the front wheels of the car taking one track and the hind wheels the other, Carr being thrown from the van by the bar, and the hind wheels passing over his arm.
Negligence of the company is charged for the reason that the flying switch, a violation of the company's rules, was attempted with the alleged consent of Supt. Begg, who was riding on the front of the car at the time.

CAN THEY MARRY?

Prince George and Princess Victoria of Wales Engaged

But the Rules of the Greek Church Stand in the Way of Their Marriage.

London, Nov. 19.—The announcement of the engagement of Prince George of Greece and Princess Victoria of Wales was a great surprise to England. There is a strong obstacle in the way, and that is no one has suggested a way to overcome, namely their blood relationship. For it is a hard and fast law of the Greek church that first cousins shall not marry. In the Catholic church a dispensation has sometimes been given with such an obstacle, in the Greek church, never.

Prince George's father is a Lutheran, but his children are all members of the orthodox church of their country. (And the prince is not likely to give up his religion, for he is governor-general of Greece, and such apostasy would make him intensely unpopular.) How the difficulty is to be overcome remains to be seen. It will probably result in the patriarch of Constantinople granting a dispensation, but this will be the first ever granted. In England, for George is the sort of man the British loves, big, handsome, athletic and good natured. He is poor, it is true, but not with the poverty of the German princes, on whom British princesses have so often been thrown away.

It is said that Queen Victoria is delighted. She is entertaining the young lovers at Windsor, and seeing that they have every opportunity of meeting alone without the restraint and formality with which royalty is always hedged about.

THE WORLD IS SMALL

How Two Canadians Who First Met in Capetown Stumbled On Each Other in London.

London Free Press.

It is true to say the world is small, but a recent incident in London is worth relating as bearing on the point. Some years ago Thomas Moffat left his native city and went to Cape Town, Africa, where he engaged in business. When the first Canadian contingent for the war left there was in the ranks a young named Victor Marantette, of Windsor. Among the visitors to the hospital at Cape Town was Moffat, and among the patients was Marantette. Being invalided home, Marantette came after an interval to visit some friends in this city. He was a stranger in London, and he accompanied the first man he met on Richmond street after leaving the depot.

"Can you tell me the way to Fullerton street?"

"Yes I can. (A pause). Is your name not Marantette?"

"Yes. (Another pause and a second glance.) And you are Tom Moffat who visited me in the hospital at Cape Town?"

A pause by night might have wondered why they shook hands so cordially.

THE GIRL SCREAMED

And This Frightened Burglar Ran Into a Policeman's Arms.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Miss Fawkes, a sixteen-year-old girl, residing with her parents at 88 Louise street, had an adventure with a burglar last night. She was awakened by a noise in her bedroom, and by the light from the window, which was open, saw a man groping about in the dark. She screamed for help, and the burglar rushed to the door and shut it in the father's face. As Mr. Fawkes tried to force it open the burglar struck him and stunned him. A policeman, attracted by the noise, caught the burglar, a big negro, named Smith, as he rushed from the building after the struggle. Fawkes was taken to the emergency hospital rather badly battered.

CLIMBING UPWARDS.

Morton Sheldon, who for several years was in the head offices of the Sutherland-Innes Co., and lately assistant cashier and second book-keeper with the Willis Creek Coal Co. of Detroit, spent Sunday with his parents on Harvey street. Mr. Sheldon left for Berryburg, West Virginia, today, where he has been appointed to the position of cashier for the mine and stores of the Willis Creek Coal Co. Some idea of the responsibility and importance of Mr. Sheldon's position may be gathered from the fact that he is under $10,000 bonds. Mr. Sheldon's many Chatham friends will be pleased to learn of his promotion, and all will join in wishing him success and prosperity during his residence in the south.

THE ARMY OF HEALTH.

The Army in the Philippines Insaluticant Compared With This One.

If all the people in the United States Canada and Great Britain, who make daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets could be assembled together it would make an army that would outnumber our army of one million thousand by at least five to one.

Men and women who are broken down in health are only a part of the thousands who use this popular preparation, the greater number are people who are in fair health, but who know that the way to keep well is to keep the digestion perfect and Stuart's Tablets as regularly as meal time comes round to insure good digestion and proper assimilation of food. Prevention is always better than cure and disease can find no foothold if the digestion is kept in good working order by the daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mr. Thomas Seale, Mayfield, Calif., says: "I have used and recommended Stuart's Tablets because there is nothing like them to keep the stomach right."

Miss Lelia Dwyer, 4627 Plummer St., Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "I wish everyone to know how grateful I am for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered for a long time and did not know what ailed me. I lost flesh and right along until one day I noticed an advertisement of these tablets, and immediately bought a 50-cent box at the drug store. I am only on one box and am gaining in flesh and color. I have at last found something that has reached my ailment."

Mrs. Del. Eldred, Sun Prairie, Wis., says: "I have taken Stuart's Tablets during the hot weather of the past summer. After ten days of constant dizziness, I went to our local physician, who said my liver was tormented. I had over heated myself for various reasons. He prescribed a course of medicine for two weeks without much improvement. I finally thought of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I had used long before for various ailments) and the first three tablets helped me.

They are easily the best of all around family medicine I ever used. The army of people who take Stuart's Tablets are mostly people in fairly good health, and who keep well by taking them regularly after meals. They contain no opiate, no cocaine, or any other harmful drugs, simply peptones and digestives which every weak stomach lacks. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere in United States, Canada and Great Britain.

BY THIS VICTORY

Chatham Tied the Glencoe Football Club.

Three Teams Still in the Race for the Walker Cup.

The Maple City Football Club is still a decided feature in the exciting struggle which is taking place this season for the Peninsular League championship.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather on Saturday a large throng of enthusiasts turned out to see the game. The Maple City team, which was a good round out of the Glencoe team in the protested semi-final game, ordered a replay at the recent meeting of the League Executive. The ground was soggy, with patches of snow here and there, the ball was heavy and slippery, and a drizzling rain fell during a portion of the game. But the enthusiasts who braved the elements—and there were many ladies among the number—were rewarded by witnessing a magnificent, clean, hard contest in which the best team came out victorious—and that best team was Chatham.

The winning of the first game by the cup holders was received with hearty plaudits and necessitated the playing of a second. After 22 minutes of hard playing, however, Referee McNeeney deemed it too dark to continue, and the latter contest terminated with no scoring. This leaves the three clubs—Chatham, Glencoe and Walkerville—tied for the championship honors.

At 2.46 the teams lined up as follows:—

CHATHAM.
Goal—Fred Sowerby.
Backs—J. W. Wilson and S. Courtney.
Halves—F. D. Laurie, P. Piggott and P. Miller.
Right Wing—H. W. Anderson and R. L. Cook.
Centre—Wm. Mowbray.
Left Wing—Max Fraser and Charles Bowers.

GLENCOE.
Goal—J. R. Scott.
Backs—D. A. Galbraith and A. J. Carter.
Halves—A. D. McAlpine, W. Johnson and D. J. McGugan.
Right Wing—J. A. Johnson and W. N. Harrison.
Centre—D. G. Galbraith.

The match was fiercely contested throughout, but the Chathams demonstrated that they were in the best condition and played a much faster game. The work of the local forward line was especially brilliant at times, and their fast combination runs proved very effective. Mowbray in centre contributed his best, and an excellent best it was, while the two wings vied with each other for speed and effect. On the half-back line Lau-

He played a magnificent game, pivoting the entire defence and giving confidence to the forward attacks. Piggott was in fine fettle and did very effective work. Miller, the new half, played his first game like a veteran and deserved all the praise bestowed on him. Wilson and Courtney played "cat and mouse" defence, and Sowerby in goal could not be beaten.

From the kick-off Glencoe took the initiative and worked the sphere down towards the end. Sowerby, however, saved, but the visitors continued their attack for several minutes. Then the play began to gravitate gradually towards the end and the local forwards commenced working and the entire team became aggressive. Several corners fell to Chatham but none were converted. By this time the forwards were on their metal and the Glencoe goal was in constant danger. Finally Bowers sent in a splendid centre, which Mowbray headed through an unbounded enthusiasm.

In the second half Chatham attacked even more strenuously and the Glencoes gradually fell back in defence of their own flag. The spectators saw the movement and gave vent to the most hearty applause, which further encouraged the wearers of the blue and white. "Score another!" cried Laurie as he fed the sphere up to the waiting forwards. The crowd caught his call and shouted their approval. Almost instantaneously the forwards started a brilliant combination rush. The ball shot from Cook to Anderson to Mowbray and out to Fraser. Max centred to Bowers, and the sturdy little left drove it on the goal with such force as to beat both Galbraith and Scott. The crowd shouldered Bowers and three cheers were tendered him.

On resuming Chatham again renewed the attack for a few moments and the whistle blew on the victory of two goals to nil.

THE SECOND STRUGGLE.
The second game started ten minutes later with no changes made on either team. Glencoe, refreshed by the short rest, made several determined rushes and Sowerby got away with a fine save. Wilson and Courtney worked the ball out, and once more the Chatham forwards took up the running. But darkness was falling and Referee McNeeney deemed it wise to call the game before any injuries were registered.

At the conclusion the victorious Chathams were accorded three ringing cheers by the enthusiastic crowd. The two teams also extended the customary send-offs and Referee McNeeney was similarly honored.

DISCUSS THE RESULT.
When interviewed by The Planet Saturday evening after the contest Manager Jas. R. Scott, of the Glencoe club, said: "We were up against it to-day. That's all I've got to say. But don't forget that Chatham hasn't won the cup already and Glencoe will be heard from yet. Chatham had the luck with them and the players had an 'on' day. Then they played a game that was brutal in its fierceness, too. The wretched weather and wet ground were also against Glencoe."

Frank D. Laurie, manager of the Chatham team, when interviewed, said: "Chatham won to-day because they played the best game and earned the victory. We are all pleased with the result, pleased because we have vindicated our playing reputation and pleased that we can thus express tangible appreciation of the interest and support accorded us by our citizens. For the team, I can say we are satisfied and happy over the victory, but I trust not inflated thereby."

Referee Wm. McDonald said: "It was certainly the finest League struggle of this season. Both teams played plucky, energetic and fast football, and neither has any reason to be at 'cat and mouse' defence, and Sowerby in goal could not be beaten."

On Saturday evening the members of the victorious football team and the officers of the Chatham club were entertained by John Smith to a sumptuous supper at Hall's cafe in honor of the result of the afternoon contest.

There were present, Robt. Gray, honorary president of the club, who presided; Dr. D. G. Fleming, honorary vice-president; John Piggott, president; G. P. Schofield, Dr. R. V. Bray, Arch. Park, R. Jones, W. C. McNaughton, F. D. Laurie, W. H. Brackin, R. L. Cook, J. W. Wilson, M. Sheldon, Wm. Mowbray, H. W. Anderson, C. Bowers, P. Miller, P. Piggott, F. Sowerby, M. Fraser, S. Courtney, S. Mercer and others.

At the conclusion of the excellent repast, provided on motion of Dr. Fleming, seconded by Mr. Laurie, a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Smith for his kindly generosity in thus entertaining the club.

Encouraging and congratulatory addresses were delivered by Robert Gray, John Piggott, Dr. Fleming, Dr. Bray, G. P. Schofield, Arch. Park, F. D. Laurie and others. Cheers for the club, its officers and Mr. Laurie, and the singing of the National Anthem brought a pleasant evening to a close.

Captain Wilson deserves much credit on the team's showing.
For defence work, commend us to Wilson and Courtney.
Sowerby still retains his record as the best goal custodian in the league. Glencoe missed! Goal-keeper Newey. Laurie was right when he said Chatham would win her games on the field.
A number of Glencoe rooters accompanied their team.
Hon. Pres. Robt. Gray—I congratulate the team and am honored in being an officer of the club. I saw a portion of the game and was proud of our showing and the gentlemanly conduct of the players.
President John Piggott—I predicted victory and am happy to unite in celebrating it.
Hon. Vice-President Dr. Fleming—The team have done themselves, their club and the city at large a service by their splendid showing to-day.
G. P. Schofield—I am proud of the Chatham Football Club and of the team as gentlemen amateurs. Professional sport may entertain me, but amateur exhibitions win my respect, admiration and enthusiasm.

Dr. R. V. Bray—All honor to the success of the Chatham team. I especially congratulate them because every player was a bona fide resident of our city. The glory was all Chatham's.

Vice-President Mowbray—We are happy in winning, and more so because our adversaries were such a good and strong team as the Glencoes proved themselves to be.

Arch. Park—I never took much interest in sports before, but the Football Club has won me over, and I am indeed pleased to extend congratulations.

Wm. McDonald, of Detroit, proved a model referee, his decisions at all times being prompt and unbiased. John Sowerby, of this city, acted most capably as goal umpire for Chatham and J. C. Elliott for Glencoe. The line judges were S. A. Mercer, Chatham, and Albert Ray, Glencoe.

There is no fault to be found with the hard persistent game of the vanquished club.

It's Your Nerves.

It's the Condition of Your Nerves That Either Makes Your Life a Round of Pleasure or a Useless Burden.

To many women life is one round of sickness, weakness and ill health. To attempt even the lightest household duties fatigues them. Many of the symptoms accompanying this state of decline are: a feeling of tiredness waking, faintness, dizziness, sinking feeling, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, loss of appetite, cold hands and feet, headache, dark circles under the eyes, pain in the back and side and all other accompaniments of a run down and weakened constitution.

All these symptoms and conditions are simply the result of a poor quality and defective circulation of the blood, with a wasting away of the nerve forces.

The Face Behind the Mask

A ROMANCE.

"There was one, in particular, possessed of even more devouring curiosity than the rest, a certain young countess of miraculous beauty, whom I need not describe, since you have her very image in Leonie. The Marquis de Montmorency, of a somewhat indomitable nature, loved her almost as much as he had done his mother, and she accepted him and they were married. She may have loved him, but still to this day I think it was more to discover the secret of La Masque than for any other cause. I loved my beautiful new mother too well to let her find it out; although from the day she entered our house as a bride, until that on which she lay on her deathbed, her whole aim, day and night, was its discovery. There seemed to be a fatality about my father's wives; for the beautiful Leonie lived scarcely longer than her predecessor, and she died, leaving three children—all born at one time—you know them well, and one of them you love. To my care she entrusted them on her deathbed; and she could have scarcely have entrusted them to worse; for, though I liked her, I most decidedly disliked them. They were lovely children—their lovely mother's image—and they were named Hubert, Leonie and Honore, or, as you know her, Miranda. Even my father did not care for them much; not even as much as he cared for me; and when he lay on his deathbed, one year later, I was left, young as I was, their sole guardian, and trustee of all his wealth. That wealth was not fairly divided; one-half being left to me and the other half to be shared equally between them; but, in my wicked ambition, I was not even satisfied with that. Some of you will remember that I resolved to be clear of these three stumbling blocks, and recompense myself for my other misfortunes by every indulgence boundless riches could bestow. So, in the night, I left my home, with an old and trusty servant, known to you as Prudence, and my unfortunate little brother and sisters. Strange to say, Prudence was attached to one of them, and neither of the rest—that one was Leonie, whom she resolved to keep and care for, and neither she nor I minded what became of the other two.

"From Paris we went to Dijon, where we dropped Hubert into the care of the convent door, with his name attached, and left him where he would be well taken care of, and no questions asked. With the other two we started for Calais, en route for England; and there Prudence got rid of Honore in a singular manner. A packet was about starting for the island of our destination, and she saw a strange looking little man carrying his luggage from the wharf into the boat. She had the infant in her arms, having carried it out for the identical purpose of getting rid of it, and, without more ado, she laid it down, unseen, among boxes and bundles, and, like Hagar, stood afar off to see what became of it. That ugly little man was the dwarf, and his amazement on finding it among his goods and chattels you may imagine; but he kept it, notwithstanding, though why, is best known to himself. A few weeks after that, we, too, came over, and Prudence took up her residence in a quiet little village a long way from London. Thus, you see, Sir Norman, how it comes about that we are so related, and the wrong I have done them all."

"You have, indeed," said Sir Norman, gravely, having listened, much shocked and displeased, at this open confession: "and to one of them it is beyond our power to atone. Do you know the life of misery to which she has been assigned?"

"I know it all, and have repented for it in my own heart, in dust and ashes! Even I, unlike all other earthly creatures as I am, have no conscience, and it has given me no rest night or day since. From that hour I have never lost sight of them; every sorrow they have undergone has been known to me, and added to my own; and yet I could not, or would not, undo what I had done. Leonie knows all now; and she will tell Hubert, since destiny has brought them together; and whether they will forgive me I know not. But yet they might, for they have long and happy lives before them, and we can forgive everything of the dead."

"But you are not dead," said Sir

Norman, "and there is repentance and pardon for all. Much as you have wronged them, they will forgive you; and heaven is not less merciful than they."

"They may, for I have striven to atone. In my house there are proofs and papers that will put them in possession of all, and more than all, they have lost. But life is a burden of torture I will bear no longer. The death of him who died for me this night is the crowning tragedy of my miserable life. And if my hour were not at hand, I should not have told you this."

"But you have not told me the fearful cause of so much guilt and suffering. What is behind that mask?"

"Be it so! The sky is growing red with day-dawn, and I shall never see the sun rise again, for I am already plague-struck."

The sweetest of all voices ceased. The white hands removed the mask and the floating coils of hair, and revealed to Sir Norman's horror-struck gaze the grisly face and head, and the hollow eye-sockets, the grinning mouth and fleshless cheeks of a skeleton!

He saw it but for one fearful instant—the next she had thrown up both arms, and leaped headlong into the loathly plague-pit. He saw her for a second or two, heaving and writhing in the putrid heap; and then the strong man reeled and fell with his face on the ground, not feigning, but sick unto death. Of all the dreadful things he had witnessed in his life, there was nothing so dreadful as this; of all the horror he had felt before, there was none so equal what he felt now. In his momentary delirium it seemed to him she was reaching her arms of bone to drag him in, and that the skeleton face was grinning at him on the edge of the awful pit. And covering his eyes with his hands, he sprang up and fled away.

CHAPTER XXII.

All this time, the attendant, George, had been sitting, very much at his ease, on horseback, looking after Sir Norman's charger, and admiring the beauties of sunrise. He had seen Sir Norman in conversation with a strange female, and not much liking his near proximity to the plague-pit, was rather impatient for it to come to an end; but when he saw the tragic manner in which he did end, his consternation was beyond all bounds. Sir Norman, in his horrified flight, would have passed him unnoticed, had not George arrested him by a loud shout.

"I beg your pardon, Sir Norman," he exclaimed, as that gentleman turned his distracted face; "but it seems to me you are running away. Here is your horse; and, allow me to say, unless we hurry we will scarcely meet the count by sunrise."

Sir Norman leaned against his horse and shaded his eyes with his hand, shuddering like one with an ague.

"Why did that woman leap into the plague-pit?" inquired George, looking at him curiously. "Was it not the sorceress, La Masque?"

"Yes, yes. Do not ask any questions now," replied Sir Norman, in a mothered voice, with an impatient wave of his hand.

"Whatever you please, sir," said George, with the flippancy of his class, "but still I must repeat, if you do not mount instantly we will be late, and my master, the count, is not one who brooks delay."

The young knight vaulted into the saddle without a word, and started off at a breakneck pace into the city. George, almost unable to keep up with him, followed, instead of leading, rather skeptical in his own mind whether or not he was riding after a moon-struck lunatic. He spoke twice he shouted out a sharp-toned inquiry as to whether he knew where he was going, and that they were taking the wrong road altogether; to all of which Sir Norman deemed not the slightest reply, but rode more and more recklessly on. There were but few people abroad at that hour; indeed, for that matter, the streets of London, in the dismal summer of 1665, were, comparatively speaking, always deserted; and the few now wandering their way homeward were tired physicians and plague nurses from the hospitals, and several hardy country folks, with more love of lucid than of solid, bending their steps with produce to the market-place. These people, sleepy and pallid in the gray haze of daylight, stared in astonishment after the two furious riders, and windows were thrown open and heads thrust out to see what the unusual thunder of horses' hoofs at that early hour meant. George followed dauntlessly on, determined to do it or die in the attempt; and if he had ever heard of the Flying Dutchman, would undoubtedly have come to the conclusion that he was just then following his tracks on dry land. But, unlike the hapless Vanderdecken, Sir Norman came to a halt; in it, and then he suddenly that his horse stood on his beam ends, and flourished his two fore limbs in the atmosphere. It was before La Masque's door; and Sir Norman was out of the saddle in a flash, and knocking like a postman with the handle of his whip on the door. The thundering revellie rang through the house, making it shake to its centre, and hurriedly brought to the door the anatomy who acted as guardian angel of the establishment.

"La Masque is not at home, and I cannot admit you," was his sharp salute.

"Then I shall take the trouble of admitting myself," said Sir Norman, sharply.

And without further ceremony, he pushed aside the skeleton and entered. But that outraged servant sprang in his path, indignant and amazed.

"No, sir, I cannot permit it! I do not know you; and it is against all orders to admit strangers in La Masque's absence."

"Bah, you old simpleton!" remarked Sir Norman, losing his customary respect for old age.

AFRAID OF BEING KISSED.
Clever Story of a Man, a Maid and an Iron Kettle.

Here is an ingenious Circassian story: A man was walking along one road and a woman along another. The roads finally united, and the man and the woman, reaching the junction at the same time, went on from there together. The man was carrying a large iron kettle on his back. In one hand he held by the leg a live chicken, in the other a cane, and he was leading a goat. Just as they were coming to a deep, dark ravine the woman said to the man:

"I am afraid to go through that dark ravine with you. It is a lonely place, and you might overpower me and kiss me by force."

"If you are afraid of that," said the man, "you shouldn't have walked with me at all. How can I possibly overcome you and kiss you by force when I have this great iron kettle on my back, a cane in one hand and a live chicken in the other and am leading a goat? I might as well be tied hand and foot."

"Yes," replied the woman, "but if you should stick your cane to the ground and tie the goat to it and turn the kettle bottom side up and put the chicken under it, then you might wickedly kiss me in spite of my resistance."

"Success to thy ingenuity, O woman!" said the man to himself. "I should never have thought of this expedient." And when they came to the ravine he stuck his cane into the ground and tied the goat to it, gave the chicken to the woman, saying, "Hold it while I cut some grass for the goat," and then, lowering the kettle from his shoulders, he wickedly kissed the woman, as she was afraid he would.—Stray Stories.

It is in vain for a man to rise early who has the reputation of lying in bed all morning.

WHY BUSINESS MEN FAIL.

A man's physique must be most powerful to stand the strain his business puts upon it. If the nerves are out of order, power of concentration gone, and heart unsteady, failure is pretty sure to come. Disease germs undermine the system.

POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE

Will destroy the germs by strengthening the organs of the body. It will prevent or stop the chemical combination of the disease germs with the animal cells of your system. That is the way Ozone acts. It nourishes the body with concentrated oxygen, nature's great life-giving principle.

A FILIPINO TRAGEDY

INSURGENT SHOT BY AMERICAN OFFICER PROVED TO BE HIS SON.

Was Stolen by a Chinese Nurse—Major Rockefeller's Son Joined Aguinaldo's Forces—The Two Met in a Hot Fight, and the Father Killed His Son, Learning the Truth Later—Stricken With Remorse, He Deserts.

How stranger is truth than fiction! For this is a true story, with a tragic ending—an ending that has made a gallant officer of the United States army a deserter and exile because of remorse, says the Columbus correspondent of The New York Journal.

Charles N. Rockefeller, a young New Yorker, enlisted as a private in a New York regiment at the outbreak of the civil war. In 1863 he was made a first lieutenant in the One Hundred and Seventy-ninth New York infantry, and for gallantry in action at Fort Blakely, Ala., on April 8, 1865, a medal of honor was awarded to him.

He was honorably mustered out in 1866, and business took him on a trip to Winona, Minn. There he wooed and won Miss Evangeline Regan. Lieutenant Rockefeller again joined the army as second lieutenant in the Ninth infantry. He was then stationed in Columbus, O., and always afterward called, Columbus his home.

A child was born—a boy. He was called Robert. When the little one was a year old, in 1870, Lieutenant Rockefeller was detailed on duty in Hong Kong, where he was, with his wife and baby, until 1872. While stationed at Hong Kong Lieutenant Rockefeller lived with his family at the International hotel. A Chinese nurse looked after the little boy.

In 1872 he arranged to sail for San Francisco. Two days before the date set for sailing the Chinese and the baby disappeared. Hong Kong was searched. Large rewards were offered, but no trace of nurse or child could be found. The broken-hearted young lieutenant and his wife were compelled to return to the United States without the little one. Mrs. Rockefeller died soon after her arrival in San Francisco, and the grief-stricken father rejoined his regiment.

He saw service with the Ninth in the Indian wars and in Cuba, and when his regiment was ordered to the Philippines in the spring of 1899 he went along. He was then a captain and was known throughout the army as a particularly daring soldier. Soon after his arrival at Manila was made a major and transferred to the Sixth infantry.

Major Rockefeller at the head of three companies of troops scouted the country around San Pedro. On one occasion a vicious stand was made by a body of insurgent troops led by a handsome and dashing young white man, who fought like a fiend. He charged right up to the American lines. Major Rockefeller shot him dead, and the insurgents fled. Major Rockefeller directed that the body be searched, and papers found revealed that he was Paul Stanhope of Hong Kong. A diary, written in English and giving details of the business career of the young fellow, was found in his blouse.

A month after the engagement he received a letter from Hong Kong, in response to one he had written nearly a year before. The letter was from the American consul and recited that in 1879 a white boy had been placed in the Jesuit college in Hong Kong by a Chinese woman, who said that he was 9 years old and that his name was Paul Yen. The name of the Chinese woman who had nursed the Rockefeller baby was Yen. In 1881 the boy was adopted by an English merchant in Hong Kong of the name of Henry Stanhope. He gave the boy his name and reared him well.

The young fellow was well known in Hong Kong as Paul Stanhope. He was of an adventurous disposition and some two years ago joined Aguinaldo's army. It was this young man that Major Rockefeller shot and killed in the engagement with the Filipinos.

When Major Rockefeller read the letter—it had been chasing him around the world for nearly a year—he realized that he had slain his own son. He dropped out of sight as mysteriously as the baby had dropped out of sight in Hong Kong. From Manila he made his way to China, and by devious routes to Santa Barbara, Honduras, where he intends to remain, according to a letter received a few days ago from him.

Ancient Cats.
A mummy cat is a very curious thing. Tons of these embalmed creatures were brought to England a few years ago to be ground into bone manure. What an unromantic ending after 4,000 years' mummification! Some of the cats were bound with the ears standing erect, others laid flat. The cloths were still adhering to the mummies, though in one shipload, supposed to contain 180,000 cats, only a few complete specimens could be found.

It is supposed that the cats were of the species known as Felis manul, a kind formerly found in North Africa, and probably tamed by the ancient Egyptians, from which we got our domesticated pussy.

As early as 1800 B. C. tablets record that cats were kept in the Egyptian temples as an object of worship; hence their conversion into mummies.

SHED SKIN 20 TIMES

Little Boy's Terrible Eczema. Mass of Sores from Head to Foot. Not an Inch of Body Unaffected. Skin Came off with Bandages. Screams Were Heart-Breaking. 3 Doctors & Institute no Avail. CURED BY CUTICURA.

My little boy broke out with an itching rash. I tried three doctors and medical colleges but he kept getting worse. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body unaffected. He was one mass of sores, and the stench was frightful. At the time I was induced to try CUTICURA remedy, he was soiled that I had to cut his hair all off, and put the CUTICURA (ointment) on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. In removing the bandages they would take the skin with them, and the poor child's screams were heart-breaking. I used CUTICURA RESOLVER for his blood, and a stronger and healthier boy never saw than he is to-day.

DR. W. W. WATSON, 428 Cook St., Chicago, Ill.

Nature "makes all things beautiful in their time." Every one of life's seasons, when life moves in Nature's line, has its own charm and beauty. Many women dread that period when they must experience change of life. They fear that face and form may suffer by the change, and that they may fail to please those whom they love. The value of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription in this crisis of woman's life lies in the fact that it assists Nature. Its use preserves the balance and buoyancy of the mind and sustains the physical powers. Many women have expressed their gratitude for the help and comfort given by "Favorite Prescription" in this trying period. Its benefits are not passing momentary, but permanent and mental happiness as well as physical strength.

All humble, meek, merciful, just, pious and devout acts are everywhere of one religion, and when death has taken off the mask, they will know one another, though the divers liveries they wear make them strangers.—Penn.

HE VERDICT.

The Oregon was built under too lucky a star to become a permanent ornament to a Chinatown—Pittsburgh Dispatch. Advice from Indians are to the effect that the Wabash got tired of hearing about its banks and left them.—New York Mail and Express.

Facilities to escape fire on board ship should be as accessible and practicable as the iron ladders and stairways on tenement houses. The laws of all nations should make sea doors compulsory.—New York Journal.

The system of hiring out convicts has been abandoned by Texas, Mississippi and Georgia, and the experiment has been made of employing them on farms owned by the state and devoted exclusively to cotton culture.—San Francisco Chronicle.

French generals have begun to resign. What is the world coming to? General Jamont has quit merely because the secretary of war interfered with his staff. Let Minister Andre keep it up. By doing this he may prove himself a friend of France.

As usual, the American marines were among the first of the "white devils" to be slain when the fighting began near Tien-tsin. The reckless bravery with which the American marines went forward to be killed is only paralleled by the effectiveness of the work he does and the amount of damage he inflicts upon the enemy.

It is announced that the American exhibit at the Paris exposition is to be awarded the gold medal, even over the French display. This is a triumph indeed for American manufacturers and will prove an eye opener to the French, who ridiculed the idea of Americans coming into competition with them, especially in silk.

THE DRESS MODEL.

Next to plaits, tucking and insertion bands, cording is perhaps the most fashionable feature of dress trimming for this summer season.

Pretty and novel effects are produced this season with the colored wash braids on suits for country wear, made of linen, pique, drill and duck.

The newest traveling costumes of summer weight cloth are trimmed with linen appliques, edged with a very narrow finish of cluny, or are merely corded.

Toile d'acier, the new open meshed veiling, made up over liberty silk or pique de soie, forms one of the smartest, most attractive and at the same time comfortable of the demidress toilets of the summer.

Cluny laces decorate both summer gowns and fine sheer lingerie. English court modistes and Parisian ateliers have used them prodigally on garments designed for garden parties, fetes, receptions and fashionable watering place wear.

Beautiful transparent wool toiles in cream or ivory white (especially those with a creased surface) are much used for afternoon teas and garden parties. Velvet or satin ribbon, silk lace or black and white striped or dotted silks are used variously for accessories.

Transparent materials continue to hold a very prominent place among summer "dress" toilets. Costly and beautiful gowns of India mull, Italian crepe, mousseline brillante, barge, grenadine, etamine, silk, mull, crepe royal, crepe de chine and wattle gauze are all greatly in evidence.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Italian blankets are very popular for portieres, couch covers and mantels. The inexpensive organadies make dainty bedspreads, but must be lined with a piece of solid color.

For a cunning match scratch cut a pig from sandpaper and fasten it to a piece of cardboard and write underneath the legend "Scratch My Back."

The various shades of denim, ornamented with white braid and medallions applied with white silk in fancy stitches, are very popular for sofa pillows.

Corduroy and denim make excellent draperies. The former is durable and fades less than most goods, and the latter comes in excellent shades and is inexpensive.

Huge green melons, oval shaped, in natural sizes and also of tinted velvet are prepared in pairs for uncommon head rests, tied together at the top with ribbons.

Black, embroidered in varying shades of coarse yellow silk with a lavish use of gold thread, makes a royally gorgeous pillow. Wide black ribbon, on which have been sewed rows of narrow yellow ribbon, forms the ruffle that finishes the edge.

If it turns out to be true that Alfred Austin's Making poem was translated into Chinese, there will be a sympathetic reaction in favor of the Boxers.—Boston Globe.

"Bathhouse" Coughlin at Kansas City is quoted as saying he is ready for everything "from soup to finger bowl." This shows the influence of the sinnerman's visit to the effects east.

SIBERIA.

The fear of Russia has abolished banishment to Siberia, with all its attendant train of horrors. By the time the world is a century or two older there may be quite a complete system of civilization reigning upon earth.—Baltimore American.

Siberia is no longer to be a penal colony, the synonym of exile and despair. The imperial decree abolishing the former status is not so much a witness to the czar's humanity as it is a tribute to the railroad and the pioneer.—New York Post.
