PONTIFICAL CEREMONIES

Papal Chapel the Chief Event in Celebration of the Pope's Jubilee.

Fully 50,000 People Estimated to Have Attended—Foreign Missions Present.

Rome, March 3.—The principal ceremony in the celebrations of the pontifical jubilee, the holding of the "papal chapel," was carried out in the basilica of St. Peter's this morning, with extraordinary pomp and in the presence of the pontiff and an assemblage estimated to have numbered fully 50,000 persons.

The "chapel" was held in the basilica to-day for the first time since 1870, such ceremonies having, in the meantime, occurred in the Sistine chapel of the vatican. Thirty cardinals, numerous archbishops and bishops, the members of the pontifical court, the special foreign missions sent by most countries, the members of the diplomatic corps and the Roman nobility, all in magnificent vestments or uniforms, participated in the ceremony and formed a striking spectacle. The pontifical guards, wearing their gala uniforms, were on duty on all sides.

The pope, who left his apartments at 10:30 a. m., was borne, in the sedia gestatoria, preceded by the pontifical court and surrounded by nobles, to the throne, amidst the acclamations of the vast assemblage. Cardinal Vannutelli intoned the mass, the pontifical choir chanted the Te Deum and his holiness pronounced the papal benediction, beyond which he did not participate in the service.

At 12:30 p. m., the pope returned to the vatican, receiving another ovation as he did so.

MAY BE LOST

British Steamer Thought to have Foundered With 21 Sailors on Board.

Halifax, March 3.—The British steamer Tiber, from Louisbourg, B. C., for Halifax, with a cargo of coal, is thought to have foundered with her captain and crew of 20 men. She left Louisbourg Wednesday afternoon and should have arrived here on Thursday night as the run is only 170 miles. To-day at the western entrance of Whitehead harbor fishermen picked up a steamer's house with pieces of deck plank attached and fishermen at Port Felix have secured a large wheel, articles of furniture and one side of a ship's boat. They also saw wreckage drifting about the bay. To-night the owners of the steamer received word from Goldboro, Guysboro county, that life buoys bearing the name "Tiber" had been found there.

The Tiber was on the route between Montreal, Charlottetown, Halifax and St. John and was commanded by Capt. Henry Boulanger. She was booked to go from here to Philadelphia. She was owned by Chas. Archibald, of Halifax, and Mr. Dobell, of Quebec, and was valued at $50,000.

FATAL COLLAPSE

Philadelphia, March 4.—A portion of a new addition to the Fidelity Trust Company's building on Chestnut street, in course of construction, collapsed to-day, killing two men and severely injuring two others. The dead—Daniel Maginnis, etonemason; George Wharton, aged 40 years, bricklayer. Injured—Charles Anderson, Rigger and Frank J. Borrie, mechanic. The men were terribly crushed by the tons of stone and brick which fell. The scaffolding, composed of heavy timbers erected over the pavement for the protection of pedestrians, was borne to the ground and the mass of debris was thrown half-way across the street.

THE MISSING LOTS

S. P. Davis, state controller, Carson City, Nevada, furnishes some additional information in regard to the nine lots purchased by Mrs. Pleasant in this city in 1858. The property was purchased from a man named Macrae. Her maiden name was Mary E. Smith. In 1858 she met John Brown in Chatham and here furnished money to start the Harper's Ferry insurrection.

Mr. Davis says:—"John Brown's daughter, Sarah Brown, whom I have met, and his son, Jason Brown, both tell me that their father was in Chatham in 1858 and there met a colored woman who advanced money for the purchase of arms and ammunition to free the slaves. They could not remember the woman's name."

DOWN TO DEATH

Passaic, N. J., March 3.—Six lives are known to have been lost in the flood last night. The old outwater bridge connecting Passaic with Outwaters Lane in Bergen county, went out, carrying with it six men, whose identity is unknown. The men were standing on the bridge watching the flood, when the structure parted in the middle and went down stream in fragments. There is still fear that the Erie bridge will go the way.

Numerous cases of suffering and distress are reported here. It is said that men are going about in boats robbing houses in the Wallington district. The river has somewhat subsided, and it's hoped the worst is over.

RONDEAU GETS COAL STATION

Contract is Let for a Big $50,000 Hoist to be Built Immediately.

Serious Blow to Port Stanley
Railway—London played fast and loose with Lease.

London Free Press.

President Frank Walker, of the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway Company, went east through here on the Eastern Flyer last night. A Free Press reporter interviewed him upon the important question of the extended lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway.

"No, the lease has not been signed," said Mr. Walker, when approached, "and I do not much care now if it never is. In fact, I may tell you our Board met this morning, and decided upon a course that will mean a loss to Port Stanley. The delay in the signing of the lease has been so long and so serious to us, instead of doing work we hoped to do on the London & Port Stanley Railroad in the way of storage places for coal, we are now making these arrangements at Rondeau. We have been considering for several days the advisability of placing an order for hoisting machinery. You know a very heavy and expensive kind of steel hoist is required for bundling coal. Well, our Board this morning decided to give an order for such a hoist, to cost $10,000 to $50,000 and to place it at Rondeau."

"What will be the result of that action?"

"Simply that coal will go via Rondeau instead of Port Stanley," said Mr. Walker. "He was evidently not pleased at the delay in closing the extended lease."

"Just consider how badly we have been treated," he said. "That lease was agreed upon in August last. I met your board and we decided every point. It was just as much an agreement as though you and I agreed on something to-night. It was a clearly understood business transaction, and we expected that it would be carried out. But it has been delayed, and delayed so long that these arrangements we had to make for our next season's coal business have gone to Rondeau instead of to Port Stanley. And it will be found a serious thing for the London & Port Stanley Railroad."

"But if the lease were signed within a few days now?"

"I do not care if the lease is never signed. It has been dilly-dallied so long I have lost patience."

"Do you know why the lease has not been signed?"

"I cannot understand why it is. No reason has been given to us. The only thing we can see is that new members are upon the Port Stanley Board who want to make political capital out of the matter; who want to bring themselves before the public. What I agreed to give for the lease last year was too much and I would not agree to it again; that is certain. I would not renew any such offer."

Regarding the possible sale of the J. E. & D. R. R., Mr. Walker said this must be a matter of utter indifference to London. It could not affect the situation in any particular. The new owners of the road would not be interested in shutting up Port Stanley.

"As I understand it," said Mr. Walker, "the Grand Trunk closed up Port Stanley, not because they disliked the business in itself, but for the purpose of getting the long haul from Montreal over their own road. The ultimate terminal of our road is Buffalo. There is no chance of our going to Montreal. So that we could not possibly be in the same condition as the Grand Trunk. There is no business we could wish to divert from Port Stanley. It would be to our certain interest to keep the road open. All our system of 223 miles is west of St. Thomas. A good deal of business

BIG SHORTAGE OF WAR HORSES

It has Crippled the British in Conduct of South African Struggle.

Commanders Continually Calling for Remounts—Now Sending 13,000 per Month

London, March 3.—The paper on the remount department in South Africa, which appeared to-day, is considered the strongest indictment of its own incapacity yet issued by the war office, and it will go far to explain to the public the reasons why the war has been so unduly protracted. This paper shows continual conflict throughout the war between the generals at the front, appealing for horses, and the officials of the war office who are endeavoring to limit the number of horses sent out.

After the disasters to Gen. Buller, the government first began an extensive purchase of remounts, and the strain caused chaos to reign in the remount department. After Paardeberg, Lord Roberts wired urgently for remounts, adding: "Without mobile forces I can do nothing in this country." Again on March 9, 1900, Lord Roberts repeated his appeal.

Lord Lansdowne, about this time, was pressing Lord Roberts to forecast the time when the supply of horses could be diminished.

The parliamentary paper sets forth complaints from the war office of the wastage of horses through the inefficiency of the remount department, and Mr. Brodick wired in November: "We cannot continue indefinitely to send from 10,000 to 12,000 remounts a month to be used up by column commanders in a few days."

In parliament to-day, Mr. Brodick announced that the government was still dispatching 13,000 remounts each month, and according to the Pretoria correspondent of the Times, remounts are still badly wanted in South Africa.

LAD HURT

Nasty Runaway Accident This Morning Injures the Plucky Young Driver.

A very exciting runaway occurred this morning about 11:25. Geo. Hardacre, son of Edward Hardacre, a lad of about 10 years, was driving the team of horses attached to the Chatham Steam Laundry rig down King street, when a knot in the rein got caught in the ring and would not pull through. The horses took advantage of the mishap and started to run. Starting about the Central Drug Store, there ran down King street, and only averted, running into the fountain by the jerking on the reins by the plucky young driver.

Down King street as far as Duke Street they went, going at full speed, on the rocky roads. They turned, or rather were turned by the driver, who still held on to the reins, again down Wellington street. The strain on the lad's arms was becoming too great for him, and near the old Erie & Huron station he turned them into the ditch at full speed. The rig was overturned the lad was thrown out and the horses drew the rig over him. He was taken to Dr. Tye's office, where, when examined, it was found that he was not seriously hurt. His back where the rig had been drawn over him, was badly bruised, but had it been a few inches higher his back would have been broken. As it is he will be laid up for some time. All who saw the runaway, state that the young fellow was one of the pluckiest they had ever seen.

THE MISSION

It is said, that the "Gospel of Jesus Christ" is the only remedy to reclaim and transform fallen humanity, and Mr. Murphy, now conducting special services in Christ Church, is a firm believer in that statement, hence, he never neglects to exalt Jesus of Nazareth as the mighty and all sufficient Saviour. Last night Mr. Murphy chose for his subject "Christ our Advocate" and illustrated the truths taught by referring to our courts of justice. He drew attention to the impressions usually made on the minds of visitors to our courts. If a case is being tried before a Judge and jury in which some one in whom we are much interested is involved, we are, he said, impressed with the scene. He then spoke of the last great judgment and showed the hopeless condition of all who rejected Christ as their Saviour and Advocate, and the safety of those who had placed their case in His hands. The necessity of securing, immediately, the proffered services of Him who is the mightiest advocate in the universe, the services of Him who has never lost a case, was urged upon all present. The solemn services were closed by a few moments spent in silent prayer.

THERE ARE OTHERS.
Briggs—I see a Wisconsin court has granted an injunction against a young man whose friends don't want him to get married.
Especk—I wish to heaven my friends had been so thoughtful.

Economy is the good genius whose presence guides the footsteps of every prosperous man.—Dr. Wise.

THE ELECTIONS

Toronto, March 3.—The Provincial elections will be held on Tuesday, June 3rd. Such was the statement made this morning by a strong and influential Liberal. He spoke as a man who knew what he was talking about, and declared the Government had fixed the date, but might not announce it for a short time. It has been generally conceded that the elections would be held in June. Holding them on June 3rd would suit Premier Ross, for he could then sail and be in England in plenty of time for the coronation ceremonies. When spoken to this morning several members of the Government side were reluctant, and their refusal to talk about the elections would lead one to the belief that the date had been settled definitely.

AIDING MANY LITTLE ONES

Much Good Work Being Accomplished by Children's Aid Society.

Memberships Increasing—Record of Past Month—Opportunity for Service.

A very successful meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday in Christ Church school room. There were present Mesdames Sheldon, Fraser, Manning, N. Massey, Drader, H. McDonald, E. R. Snook, Brady and Taff and Miss Eberts and D. S. Paterson, W. R. Baxter, J. W. Humphrey and Dr. R. V. Bray.

The executive officer reported for the past month 8 visits, 9 letters, 18 interviews, 6 cases reported, representing 9 children, 3 dealt with and 3 under consideration, 3 applications for children and one in home.

Accounts amounting to $5.84 were ordered paid and a donation acknowledged from S. S. No. 4, Howard. The advisability of holding a quarterly meeting in March was referred to a committee consisting of Mesdames, Fraser, Smith and Drader, Miss Eberts and Dr. Bray.

Fifty-seven new members were received during the month, bringing the total membership to 140. The various Sunday schools in town have generously decided to donate one Sunday's collection to the cause, while any cast-off clothing in good repair may be left with Mesdames Sheldon and Paterson.

TUESDAY, MARCH 4.

CHILDREN AND THE NEWSPAPER.

Miss Lillian Whiting writing on "The Life Beautiful" in Home and Flowers, says: "There is much discussion in the air as to whether children should be permitted to read the daily paper. There are schools in which reading and comment on the news of the hour is a part of the curriculum, and there are critics and advisers—even of so high an authority as that of Prof. Charles Elliott Norton, of Harvard University—who depreciate and even condemn familiarity with the daily press. 'Do read good literature,' these advisers say, in substance, 'and don't read, don't vitiate the taste with newspapers.' Yet, with all recognition of an undoubted element of truth in their counsel, the advice can hardly be seriously and literally accepted by the American citizen, or for the boys and girls who are soon to be citizens. The words of Jesus, 'I pray not that Thou shouldst take me out of the world, but shouldst keep me from the evil,' are the true guide. The daily press is by no means a fixed and invariable quality. It has its evil and its good, but the daily paper is the page of contemporary history, and no one can possibly afford to be ignorant of it. The finest and ablest thought in the world is to be met in the columns of the daily press, as well as much that should never be materialized in type to meet the eye. Train the child to read with a sense of selection. The columns that relate to Marconi's marvelous conquest over time and space, his advance into the realm of unseen forces harnessed for the use of man should not be ignored because on the same page is an equal amount of space devoted to some demoralizing and disreputable narration. The child has come into the world in which he is to live. He cannot be kept under glass. He must learn to discriminate between the fine and the coarse, between the noble and the ignoble, between the true and the false, as he goes on, and thus will the so strengthen his character as to forbid any entrance to evil influences."

GRAMMAR IN SCHOOLS.

The Hamilton Spectator in a timely article, says:—
The County Teachers' convention, just closed, like almost every gathering of educationists of recent years, left on record the proposition to do away with the teaching of grammar in the public schools, as it is now taught. Teachers have come to recognize the fact that the use of grammar in schools does not teach the boys and girls to speak and write the English language correctly. In the English language, in which irregularity is the regular thing, and the exception almost becomes the rule, the present mode of teaching does not produce good results. And to make things worse, the education department has allowed the grammar as taught in the schools to be made more and more elaborate, until it embraces many things which are absolutely useless to the boy or girl whose object is to learn to speak and write correctly.

Be the cause what it may, the fact is that the great bulk of the teachers in Ontario belong, so far as they can belong to any political party, to the Liberal section of the people. And, inasmuch as any suggestion of change in the curriculum is invariably accepted by such journals as the Hamilton Times as being direct attacks upon the education department and the government, teachers have been rather chary in recommending reforms which their experience has suggested. But, year by year, the teachers are gathering courage, and, like the Wentworth body, are putting their protests against existing evils on record.

We do not think that the teachers should be entirely entrusted with the duty of arranging the curriculum for the public schools. A good deal of the useless stuff now taught in schools has found its place in the curriculum by reason of the fact that the whole business was created by teachers—Hon. Mr. Ross at the head of them—for teachers. Practical business men, practical workers and practical men of all sorts would, had they opportunity, make a wonderful change in the list of subjects taught in the public schools and in the relative importance of these subjects. But, in respect of such subjects as grammar, the teachers are in a position to know the result of the study as it is now carried on, and can speak with authority—and we are glad to know that they are doing so.

The best system of education in the world will become a fairly good system after a while.

The Kaiser's mailed fist seems transformed into the Glad Hands these days.

Bulgaria should really become quite popular now as the scene of female missionary effort.

The rumor that Hon. Geo. W. Ross is to be next president of the Licensed Victuallers' association gains ground.

It seems that our old friend Major Maude is going to be the whole tip at the Niagara reception to Prince Hans.

Woe is upon us. The first batch of "poetry" struck the sanctum of this great home journal yesterday. And it hailed from North Buxton.

N. B.—The feelings of our esteemed readers have been respected.

Why is Hon. G. W. Ross like a harp struck by lightning?—Toronto World. Without dragging Mr. Ross into the business, responds the Hamilton Spec, it may be said that a harp struck by lightning is a blasted lyre.

The Paris-Temps jeers at the United States for making a fuss over the German Prince Henry. "Snobbery," it declares, is more pronounced in America than elsewhere. The Americans have a childish taste for artificial splendor with rank."

The paper believes, however, that the visit will offset the English advances to the United States.

If we were premier of Ontario, which, it isn't necessary to say, we are not, we would take the referendum in out of the chilly blast, until our good temperance friends quit snarling and got into line with the intention of making the vote a success.—Goderich Signal.

We have an impression that if our good temperance friends get into line the premier will be the subject removed.

Suppose Mr. Ross had loaded his referendum up the other way—made it necessary for the liquor men to poll more than half the number of votes cast at the general election, in order to prevent the law going into force!—Hamilton Spectator.

That would have been all right if Premier Ross had been sincere in his prohibition promises, but being a trimmer for votes Ross prefers to run chances of offending the prohibition vote rather than alienate the liquor vote. Experience has taught him that, with the able assistance of respectable confederates, it is easier to gold-brick the guileless temperance vote than the wide-awake gentlemen who read jags.

FROM HIS STANDPOINT.
"What are you going to have for dinner?" asked the new arrival at a country hotel.
"Well," answered the landlord, who had just come out of the kitchen, where he had been helping his wife, "it didn't look like we was going to have much of anything at first, but from the present looks of things we're going to have two drummers, three bicycle riders and a book agent."

The Majority of Homes and Families Have Heard the Joyful News That Paine's Celery Compound Makes Sick People Well and Strong.

A House-to-House Canvass would Show That Thousands Are Being Cured.

The people who have not heard in some way of Paine's Celery Compound and its wonderful triumphs over the diseases and ailments of life, cannot be counted as newspaper or magazine readers, nor are they among those who are in touch with the medical progressiveness of the times.

A house-to-house canvass, (if that were possible) of families where Paine's Celery Compound is being used during these early spring days, would disclose an enormous amount of evidence regarding the implicit confidence that is placed in this greatest of all spring medicines. It would show the enormous number of people who are being cured of such forms of nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, dyspepsia, indigestion, neuralgia, headaches, kidney and liver diseases.

Now is the time that Paine's Celery Compound, can show astonishing and happy results to the sick. Now that spring is with us, giving a promise of fine weather and new beauties, it should lend encouragement to the work of getting well and strong.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound for a few weeks will truly astonish every debilitated, weak and sickly man and woman. The change from a muddy and sallow complexion to a fresh, healthy color, with bright, sparkling eyes, unclouded brain, the enjoyment of refreshing sleep, clear, fresh blood coursing through the body will be the sure reward of every user of Paine's Celery Compound. Accept no substitute or imitation! See that the name Paine's is on wrapper and bottle.

Blessed is the peacemaker—to the man who is getting the worst of the scrap.

EVER FELT THAT DEATH WOULD BE WELCOME?

Mrs. Margaret Smith often did until Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gave her a new hope and cured her heart.

"I was for two years a great sufferer from heart trouble. At times I was confined to bed, at times my pain was so intense that I would have welcomed death with joy. I was attracted to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart by reading of one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. The Indian and the Northwest

A handsomely illustrated book just issued and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents per copy. Mailed postage prepaid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Earl Scott, who lives with his grandfather, Mr. Walker, on Cross street, is one of the most travelled people in Chatham. The lad is only 11 years old yet has been all over Ontario and a part of the United States. Saturday he wasn't home to either dinner or supper, so the grandfather asked the police to keep P. C. Tom Groves discovered the lad on King street about 10 o'clock and took him home. Yesterday morning the grandfather brought the boy over to the Police Station and the lad promised Judge Houston that he would go to school. The child is a bright little fellow and wide awake but his love for roaming is odd and gives his grandparents many unhappy hours.

Theatrical

A RUNAWAY GIRL.
Thursday evening.

Unquestionably the musical and comedy event of the theatrical season in this city, and the society event of our best class of music loving citizens, will be the occasion of the appearance of the Augustin Daly company in the production of "A Runaway Girl." Both names are familiar to the reading public—that of Augustin Daly as being the name of the foremost theatrical manager of America of his day, and that of "A Runaway Girl," as being the title of the most pronounced success that has ever been achieved by a musical comedy in London or America. In London it "ran" six hundred nights, in New York City three hundred nights. Some decided intrinsic merit must be attached to the play to create such success in two so widely different spheres. This, however, has been its record wherever produced. Originality, catchy music, witty and humorous dialogue, amusing comedy, pretty faces, handsome costumes, neat dances and elaborate and picturesque scenery are each and all entitled to their respective credit for the result. But over and above all these was the master hand, reduced and directed the play—that of Augustin Daly. His vast

"A New Woman."

Disease makes many a woman prematurely old. Dark-rimmed eyes, hollow cheeks and wasted form are accompanied by listlessness and loss of ambition. Home duties are a weariness, and social pleasures have no attraction.

One of the commonest expressions of women cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is this: "I have made a new woman of me." There's a world of meaning in the words. It means the sparkle brought back to the eyes; the complexion tinted with the rosy hue of healthy blood; the form rounded out anew. In graceful curves; the whole body radiant with health.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes new women of those prematurely aged by disease.

"Dr. Pierce's medicines are the best I have ever used," writes Mrs. C. Nelson, of Chatham, Ontario. "My health was badly run down when I consulted him by letter. My limbs were cold and my head hurt me continually. I was so nervous that the least thing would startle me almost into convulsions. I had palpitation of the heart so bad that I could scarcely walk sometimes. I felt utterly discouraged, but two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' made a new woman out of me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

experience, his knowledge of the public mind, his innate refinement and artistic sense and appreciation of all that is beautiful, enabled him to perceive that which is catchy and sparkling without being vulgar, laughable without being coarse, bright and witty without being risqué, and a keen sense of the extravagant comedy without giving a shadow of suggestion. It was this acute perception, and the possession of that instinctive craving for the artistic that gave him the ability to produce in "A Runaway Girl," the most delightful and refined

YOUNG MEN

They Furnished an Excellent Program at St. Andrew's Church last night.

The young men of St. Andrew's congregation entertained the ladies last evening in the Sunday school room of the church. The room was crowded and a very pleasant time was spent by everyone present. An excellent program of music and elocution was given and everything passed off in good style. The evening opened with a chairman's address from Jas. Innes. Mr. Innes makes a capital chairman and his short, witty speeches between each number on the program were immensely enjoyed.

The musical part of the program was good. Prof. Workman gave an excellent instrumental solo. H. Philp a clarinet solo, Rodger and Guy Philp a cornet and trombone duet, W. Wilcox a vocal solo and the St. Andrew's sextette gave a number of selections. Mr. Wilson received rounds of applause, but did not respond to the encore which was so heartily given him. This was the sextette's first appearance in public and they were given a hearty welcome. It is composed of W. H. Brackin, K. Coutsworth, H. C. Philp, M. Sheldon, R. L. Brackin and Garnet Brackin. A male sextette is something that has hitherto been unknown in Chatham and, as a result their singing was greatly appreciated. The clarinet solos of H. C. Philp and the duet by Rodger and Guy Philp were also very pleasing and greatly applauded.

At the conclusion of the first part of the program refreshments were served by the young men. Those who waited on the tables were J. Trotter, J. Fleming, A. E. Pikey, J. G. Kerr, W. Coltart, G. Brackin, H. Lamont, J. Innes, W. Mowbray, J. Glassford and Herb Rankin.

The following is the program in its entirety:

Chairman's Address—Jas. Innes.

A Cause of Headache

One Very Common Cause, Generally Overlooked.

Headache is a Common and Distressing Affliction and May Be Due to a Number of Causes.—The Principal Cause of Frontal Headache is Here Pointed Out.

Headache is a symptom, an indication of derangement of disease in some organ, and the cause of the headache is difficult to locate because so many diseases have headache as a prominent symptom: derangement of the stomach and liver, heart trouble, kidney disease, lung trouble, eye strain or ill fitting glasses, all produce headache, and if we could always locate the organ which is at fault the cure of obstinate headaches would be a much simpler matter.

However, for that form of headache called frontal headache, pain back of the eyes and in the forehead, the cause is now known to be catarrh of the head and throat; when the headache is located in the back of the head and neck it is often caused from catarrh of the stomach or liver.

At any rate, catarrh is the most common cause of such headaches and the cure of the catarrh causes a prompt disappearance of the headache. There is at present no treatment for catarrh so convenient and effective as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new internal remedy in tablet form, composed of antiseptics like eucalyptol, guaiacol and blood root, which act upon the blood and cause the elimination of the catarrhal poison from the system through the natural channels.

Miss Cora Ainsley, a prominent school teacher in one of our normal schools, speaks of her experience with catarrhal headaches and eulogizes Stuart's Catarrh Tablets as a cure for them. She says: "I suffered daily from severe frontal headache and pain in and back of the eyes, at times so intensely as to incapacitate me in my daily duties. I had suffered from catarrh, more or less for years, but never thought it was the cause of my headaches, but finally became convinced that such was the case because the headaches were always worse whenever I had a cold or fresh attack of catarrh. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets were highly recommended to me as a safe and pleasant catarrh cure, and after using a few fifty-cent boxes which I procured from my druggists I was surprised and delighted to find that both the catarrh and headaches had gone for good."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at fifty cents per package, under the guarantee of the proprietors that they contain absolutely no cocaine (found in so many catarrh cures), no opium (so common in cheap cough cures), nor any harmful drug. They contain simply the wholesome antiseptics necessary to destroy and drive from the system the germs of catarrhal disease.

Pleased With Quality

When you have to take medicine, the purest you can get is none too pure. It is unnecessary for us to say there are plenty of inferior drugs on the market—you know that. With us, everything is sacrificed for QUALITY. We are just as anxious as anyone else to make a profit, and a good one too, but quality always comes first and price is arranged accordingly.

Pickled Pigs' Feet

We sell them, and lots of them, too, and why shouldn't we, the very sight of them makes your mouth water.
They are as white as it is possible to make them and well cooked, and put up in a pickle that gives them that delicious flavor that no other pickled pigs feet seem to have. We bring them from the other side, from a factory that has a reputation all over the States for cleanliness and superior quality of the goods they turn out.
Try them. 3 lbs for 25c.

FOR FOUR HOURS' SLEEP.

Queer Club Formed by Some Chicago Men and Women.

Firm in their belief that sleep is a waste of time, a number of men and women of Chicago have organized themselves into a society which proposes to teach people that too great a part of their lives is spent in useless slumber.

The organization is called the Four Hour Sleep club, and the members are pledged to sleep but four hours a night. The members contend that sleeping in excess of that time is purely a habit—that is, nothing short of sinful in this day of luxury and progress. It is an addiction, they argue, as harmful and intemperate as the excessive use of intoxicants, tobacco or drugs.

Members of the club who have children are teaching them to observe the same restriction with regard to alleged overindulgence in nightly rest. Some claim that a child five years of age can be trained to do on four hours' sleep, but the majority is of the opinion that children should be allowed from six to eight hours, the amount decreasing as the child grows older.

The club has secured a large amount of literature on the subject, and the members quote abundance of authority to show that they are right in their contentions. They point to Napoleon and a number of the greatest generals, writers and thinkers of history, who are alleged to have taken four hours' sleep a night and less.

Mr. Gaul, the president of the club, says that it was through a natural aversion he has to sleep, as well as a realization of its wastefulness, that he was induced to abandon the "habit." His wife and child, six years old, also manage to live with the stunted rest, and all seem to enjoy good health and bright mental faculties.

The man who sleeps eight hours out of twenty-four and lives to be eighty-one years old has in reality lived but fifty-four years. Twenty-seven he has spent in this suspension of all the powers of the body and mind. On the other hand, the man who sleeps but four hours a night will have spent nearly sixty-eight years of real life if he attains the age of eighty-one years.

The Calendar Fed.

Each year the magnitude of calendar increases until now the banking institution, insurance company or business house that keeps up the custom of giving them away finds that the appropriation for this purpose is assuming alarming proportions. The most artistic effects are aimed at, and the cheap and tawdry affairs that used to pass muster would no longer be tolerated. Naturally the concerns presenting the calendars do not wish to be outdone by their competitors, and thus the standard of excellence in workmanship has now reached a high point. Some idea of how much money is expended in this way may be gained from the fact that a Philadelphia artist received the sum of $750 for twelve drawings to illustrate one of this year's calendars.

MR. MCPHAIL'S EVIDENCE

A Toronto Citizen to Whom Dr. Pitcher, the Famous Kidney Specialist, Has Brought the Sunshine of Good Health.

Toronto citizens have long since got tired of slow-acting, ineffectual remedies for kidney complaints.

Since Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have been introduced they have entirely superseded the pills and potions of former days.

They contain specific kidney remedies unknown to anyone outside of Dr. Pitcher.

W. G. MCPHAIL.

Just read what Mr. W. G. McPhail, 22 Mutual St., Toronto, has to say about them:

"I have been feeling very weak and sick for some time past, and came to the conclusion that my kidneys were out of order, as I was troubled with a pain across my back in the kidney region."

"I tried a great many different kinds of medicine, but did not seem to get any better."

"I heard of the good Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets were doing, and decided to try them. They have taken the pain out of my back and improved my health greatly in a very short time, and I can with confidence recommend these Tablets as being an excellent remedy for kidney troubles."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zim Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE STRANGER AND THE PRINCESS

BY SEWARD W. HOPKINS

Copyright, 1900, by Seward W. Hopkins.

CHAPTER VI.

A BOLD PLOT.

THE police of Paris at last believed that a plot of some kind existed, and measures were taken to protect the Prince of Denesla and his household while they should remain in Paris. The police also endeavored to unravel the mystery of Buckford's disappearance and the death of Monroe.

The solution of this mystery was found so late that in its own time it would be of no use to us, so well did the rascals of the Rue de Mont-Rouge cover their tracks.

It will therefore be necessary to use the privilege of the historian and relate in this chapter what happened to Buckford Wallace and how the American, Monroe, met his untimely death.

There never was a daredevil in Paris or out of it more ready for an adventure than Bob Monroe. Circumstances had led him to Paris while young. He was rich, well born and well liked. He married a Parisian woman and set up an elegant home in a quarter much frequented by Americans.

Marriage, of course, put an end to most of Bob's adventures. There was no more hunting big game in Asia, no potting African chiefs in the jungle, no tiger bating, no shooting the rapids in canoes, no crossing the Mediterranean in balloons.

But the old spirit was still in him, and in a good cause it was sure to come to the front.

And he thought he had found a good cause.

Monroe was sitting at his favorite window in the American club on the day he disappeared. A visitor was announced, and there came to him a well dressed man of respectable appearance and apparently a Parisian.

"Pardon, monsieur," said this man. "Have I the extreme pleasure of meeting M. Monroe, the American?"

"That is my name," said Monroe.

"What can I do for you?"

"Nothing for me, monsieur. I have come not to ask a favor, but to confer one."

"Good," said Monroe. "That will be a new experience. What are you about to do for me?"

"Monsieur sees fit to jest. But does monsieur read the police news of Paris?"

"No. I fear I am not up to such lofty literature."

"Then monsieur does not know that his friend and compatriot is under arrest on the charge of murder?"

Monroe became interested at once.

"My friend and fellow countryman? Whom do you mean?"

"The young artist. Is his name not M. Wallace?"

"Buckford Wallace arrested for murder? Impossible. He is as harmless as a kitten."

"True, I did not say he did the murder, monsieur. I said he was under arrest. Unfortunately, the circumstances do point to him as the culprit. He was taken in the very house with the murdered man. The police are desperate and will undoubtedly fasten the crime upon him. An innocent man, monsieur, will die for a crime another committed."

"Heaven! I will go to him at once. Has he counsel? Has the American minister been notified? When was he taken?"

"Be calm, monsieur. The American minister can do nothing. Pardon me for maintaining as a secret my own identity. I am closely connected with the police. A hint of what I am doing would result in my being found dead some morning in my bed. I came to you, monsieur, because I knew you were brave, shrewd and rich. Upon you, and you alone, depends the safety of this man."

There came to him a well dressed man, apparently a Parisian.

"How? I don't see why the representative of our country could not set him free at once."

The visitor laughed.

"You know, monsieur, that the course of law in Paris is slow and full of intricacies. An appeal to your minister would bring about a long diplomatic controversy. While that is going on poor M. Wallace will be found in his cell some morning dead. People are often found dead in Paris, monsieur."

"Heaven! You mean the police would murder him and call it suicide?"

"Yes, monsieur, to end the matter and prove his guilt."

Monroe spent a moment in deep study.

"I see you mean that I shall connive at his escape in some way. Where is he?"

"In the depot for the detention of accused criminals."

"Horror! I could never get him out of there."

"But I think if monsieur will follow what I tell him he can do it very easily."

"Well, proceed. Be as quick as you can. I am burning with impatience to go to the poor fellow."

"You shall, monsieur, and when you go you shall take him liberty."

The visitor then proceeded to give a clear story of the crime of which Buckford was charged. It is not necessary to repeat it here. Suffice to say that it was, in most respects, true.

"Now, monsieur, you will of course be surprised to know that your friend was in this disreputable quarter. He went there, monsieur, from the purest motives. He had overheard in some way a plot to kill a certain prince who is now in Paris, incognito. The real title of this prince is the Prince of Denesla, a small country in eastern Europe. The prince is now in Paris under the name of Count Rockmiller. He has with him his wife, Princess Margaret, and his sister, the Princess Marie Alexia."

"It was in the service of this family, monsieur, that your friend became involved in these difficulties. Now the Prince of Denesla is really a proud and cold hearted man, who cares nothing for the unfortunates he may cause to lose life or liberty. An appeal to him would be useless. The police, anxious and eager to show their alertness, will hurry the execution of your friend. They will stop his mouth so that the story of the plot they failed to unravel will not reach the prince. Nothing will save him, unless you are ready to accept the one chance open to you. It requires courage, skill, and a disregard for French law."

"I hold all law in respect," replied Monroe, "but this is something very disturbing. It is not law, but the abuse of law that we are talking of."

"Exactly," said the visitor with delight. "I have met M. Wallace a few times, and have followed this case carefully. I am convinced that he is no more guilty of the murder of M. de Bullion than I am. The unfortunate part of it is that we can prove nothing. The pocketbook is condemnatory evidence. He was taken in the very house. You see, monsieur?"

Monroe sniggered.

"Tell me what to do. If I can save him, I will."

"Good. It so happens that the magistrate who has charge of the case is M. Senecal, a good and worthy man. He is not prejudiced or cruel. There is connected with the household of the Prince of Denesla a young man about your age, height and appearance. His name is Bosso Duvally. He fills the position in Denesla of the captain of the prince's guard. In Paris he is a sort of high body servant to protect the prince. He has charge really of the entire establishment."

"Now, it is most fortunate that I am personally acquainted with the coachman of the prince—a worthy German, somewhat stolid and not overbright. He will stop his mouth so that the story of the plot they failed to unravel will not reach the prince. Nothing will save him, unless you are ready to accept the one chance open to you. It requires courage, skill, and a disregard for French law."

"You will also need a disguise including heavy whiskers and false hair."

"Having acquired these, you go in the equipage of the prince to the house of the magistrate, M. Senecal. You will present this card, which I was fortunate enough to obtain, bearing the name of Bosso Duvally. You see it bears the name simply and no hint of his position. It is used perhaps in his gallantries in Paris, and Senecal will undoubtedly be delighted at the visit. He will do anything for the prince. Tell him any story you make up, keeping to the facts I have stated."

"My plan is this: You, monsieur, will need two disguises. You will need a footman; take your own. You will then need a disguise exactly like the liver worn by the footman."

"You will also need a disguise including heavy whiskers and false hair."

"Having acquired these, you go in the equipage of the prince to the house of the magistrate, M. Senecal. You will present this card, which I was fortunate enough to obtain, bearing the name of Bosso Duvally. You see it bears the name simply and no hint of his position. It is used perhaps in his gallantries in Paris, and Senecal will undoubtedly be delighted at the visit. He will do anything for the prince. Tell him any story you make up, keeping to the facts I have stated."

"When the door was closed and the attendant out of hearing, Monroe tore the beard from his face."

"Hello, old fellow! Don't you know me?" he asked.

EASY FOR HIM.

"Well, my daughter," said the man with the round face, "has married a boy who, I think, will be able to send his name ringing down the corridors of time all right."

"I'm glad to hear that," his companion replied. "Let's see, whom did she marry?"

"A young fellow named Bell."

HIS ONLY LOVE.

McJigger—"What's the book your reading?"

Thingumbob—"It's the story of the only man the author ever loved."

McJigger—"Ah! it's by a woman, eh?"

Thingumbob—"No; by a man. It's his autobiography."

It sometimes happens that after gaining a foothold a man is unable to make headway.

Ask him for an order admitting you to the jail to see M. Wallace privately. He will give it to you to favor the prince.

"Having received the order, drive to the jail. On the way put on the footman's disguise and over that the other. You will be admitted to the cell of the prisoner. Tell him what awful danger he is in. Give him the outer disguise. Get him into the corridor. He then becomes sick. You, his footman, assist him to the waiting carriage. The coachman, who will be posted beforehand, will take you to a place where the prisoner can be hidden among friends till he can be got out of Paris. Is the plan clear to you, monsieur?"

"It is a bold one. I doubt if it succeeds. Prisoners cannot be taken out of the Palais de Justice at will."

"The Palais de Justice is as easily robbed of its victims as any other temple of oppression. I am sure the plan will succeed. Still, if monsieur fears to try it, then let the poor young man die a victim to the inefficiency of the Paris police."

Monroe's heart beat rapidly. He had never indulged in pranks that involved breaking laws. But here was a case which appealed to his sense of justice and fair play. If he could rescue his young countryman, then there would be time to employ detectives, trace the real murderer, and clear Wallace from suspicion. But to leave him there to die as this police agent said—it was horrible.

He sent for the papers of the last two days. He read the details of the arrest. He saw in every article a rabid hatred of the young prisoner because he was an American. At that time the spirit of enmity toward Americans was high in Paris. America had had the effrontery to thrash a sordid and racially nation having Latin blood. Therefore all Latin blood boiled at America.

Monroe made his decision.

"If I do not act, they will kill him in his cell, even if they have proof that he did not commit the murder," he said. "I will do what I can."

The police agent bowed. He wrote on a small piece of paper.

"Take that, monsieur. It is the address to which the German coachman will bring you."

Monroe took the paper, glanced at it and put it in his pocket.

"There is just one thing to be feared," he said. "Wallace is a peculiar chap. He is the soul of honor. Suppose he will not try to escape."

"There are such people, monsieur. They hold their faith with their enemies at the cost of their lives. I had just such a case once to which I played the role of rescuer. A young officer had been taken prisoner. He had given his parole not to escape. I found an opportunity for him to go and urged him. He refused because he had given his word. What did I do? Leave him to a cruel fate at the hand of a treacherous foe? No; I drugged him and carried him away by force. He was innocent, monsieur, and he was saved."

"I will think of it. When I go into a thing, I go in to win."

"Good! I will now hasten to my part, hoping that monsieur will find no difficulty in doing his."

"I thank you. I would be pleased to know your name. I must find a way to thank you truly a friend."

"Ah, not now, monsieur! I am, as I said, of the police. But if monsieur brings his friend to the address I gave him he will see me there, and then we will exchange confidences."

He was gone.

Monroe, seeing nothing and thinking of nothing but the rescue of Buckford Wallace from a certain death, hurried about making sundry purchases.

He sent to his house for a footman. This footman received strict orders, and the strictest of all was that, no matter what happened to Monroe, his mouth was to be kept sealed. Not a word of the escape of the prisoner was to leak out.

The footman's work consisted simply in sitting with the coachman, doing the usual footman's duty till the jail was reached and then taking himself off out of sight and going home alone.

At 3 in the afternoon the splendid equipage of the prince stopped at the club for Monroe. The footman, who had been waiting, informed Monroe, and the American managed to make his exit without exciting comment.

We have already seen the result of the visit to M. Senecal. We know that Monroe managed to gain admittance to the jail.

Now let us see what happened there. When the black bearded man entered the cell, Buckford was sitting disconsolately on a wooden stool thinking of the perilous situation he was in and the difficulty of getting out of it. He looked up, saw the bearded man and supposed he was the investigating magistrate.

"Hello, old fellow! Don't you know me?" he asked.

TRAINS LOST IN THE FLOODS

New York Officials Cannot Locate Missing Locomotives.

Not an Arrival Yesterday—Thrilling Experiences of the Passengers:

New York, March 3.—Not a western train entered the Grand Central station this afternoon or evening. All were stalled somewhere along the line or delayed by the floods. Nothing came down the Hudson river division except the local train. At the station it was said that not even a report of any trains due could be had because of the condition of the wires. The eastern express due at 8:45 o'clock this evening had not been heard of at 9 and the officials said they did not know where it was. The day express, due at 7 o'clock was not reported. The Chicago limited, at 6:30, and the southwestern limited due at 6, were in places the officials knew nothing about. There was no knowledge of where the New York & New England express, due at 2:55 in the afternoon, was. The Chicago express was due at 1:30, but no report of it had been received. There was not a word received of the condition or situation of the Empire state express, due at 10 to-night.

Hudson, N. Y., March 3.—High water in the Hudson river, and the forming of ice gorges above the city, south of Albany, have stopped railway traffic on the New York Central & Hudson River road. Four large passenger trains are stalled there in the flood, one being the Empire State express. The waters have risen so high about them that the cars are submerged to the roofs and heavy ice is pounding them hard, threatening demolition. A work train from Hudson, which went to the assistance of the others also is caught in the flood and during the night, the ice battering the cars while the water was up to the seats. They were finally rescued from their perilous position by rowboats and placed in a relief train which was sent here.

comes in by way of Port Stanley for the whole of it.

"But your present lease has years yet to run; then why did you decide to go to Rondeau with your coal business?"

"Our lease will be up in twelve years. We cannot be expected to rent so expensive a plant for twelve years."

It was now March, Mr. Walker said. The lease was made in August. Finally when it was drawn up, some new clauses were found to have been inserted. Rather than delay, he had agreed to allow these clauses to remain. Even with this, the matter had been delayed from time to time in a most unsatisfactory manner.

"By the way," the Lake Erie President went on, "your city auditor, Mr. Jewell, has been up at our office going over last season's operations. That was two or three weeks ago. He was unable to obtain all the information your Mayor wanted. He came back Friday last, and brought a young man with him, who finally, we discovered, was an auditor in the Grand Trunk offices in Montreal. I called Mr. Jewell into my office this morning, and explained to him that no Grand Trunk man could be allowed to examine our accounts. Why this thing should have been done, I do not know. It was not fair to us. Let the city employ any auditor they choose, but not some one in the employ of a competing line."

Mr. Walker did not believe any auditor accustomed to ordinary work could examine the accounts of a railroad company.

The Lake Erie President was bound for Toronto on Private business.

RECOLLECTIONS OF LOUIS RIEL

Capt. Boles Gives The Planet Most Interesting an Interview Thereon.

Had Charge of the Famous Prisoner While he was Awaiting Death.

The Riel rebellion of 1885, of which such a short account is given in the Canadian History, was a very interesting one and one which is well remembered by many of Chatham's citizens. Probably there is one man in the city who has more cause than any other to remember this uprising owing to the fact that he was one of the men who fought against the rebels. That man is Captain Gordon Boles, well known in the city, and a member of the Northwest Mounted Police at the time of the rebellion.

Captain Boles left Chatham for the Northwest in July, '84, and for two years served in the Northwest Mounted Police and served as a scout for the police during the whole of the Riel rebellion.

At the close of the rebellion he returned to Chatham, but went back again and acted as constable in charge of Riel during the whole of the trial, which lasted for about a week. In conversation with The Planet, Captain Boles said:

"The rebellion, as you know, was an uprising among the half-breeds in the Northwest. They had been engaged in putting down a railroad for the Canadian Government through the country, and because the Government were a little slow in recompensing them for their work they took up arms to force their rights. Riel, who, while a half-breed, was better educated than the most of them, was chosen as the man to lead them, but the war was mostly guerilla fighting as the half-breeds knew nothing about how to conduct a campaign. It resembled greatly the present war in South Africa.

"The first battle of the rebellion was fought on 26th March, 1885, and this practically opened the war. At this battle the fight was against the mounted police and the rebels. We came out of this fight with 16 wounded and 13 killed. We could not tell how much the other side suffered. The next battle, at Fish Creek, was fought between General Middleton and Riel, the regulars from the South having arrived at this time. After this battle the police were engaged chiefly in scout work. The other battle was that of Beatoche, where Middleton was successful. This battle practically closed the rebellion.

"Riel gave himself up in June, the rebellion having lasted for three months, and was taken to the Regina jail, where I had charge of him. It was fortunate indeed that the uprising started so early in the year as Riel, having once started the Indians on the war path, could not keep them in control. On account of the cold weather, however, they were not able to move as well as they could in the warmer part of the year. At Frog Lake and Fort Pitt, the murders and slaughters done by the Indians were simply horrible and he gained for these, besides inciting the Indians and half-breeds to rebel, that Riel was hanged.

TOO GREAT EXPENSE

Not the Reason

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and honest, especially to those who have realized the suffering incident to piles is it incredible that anyone who has been afflicted 25 and 30 years with the worst forms of protruding and bleeding piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation. This is rightfully viewed with dread, by all these afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that the cause is not removed.

The proprietors of Pyramid Pile Cure agree to forfeit one thousand dollars to anyone who will show a single published testimonial to be not genuine and unsolicited; this latter feature is most gratifying, inasmuch as those letters are written solely out of gratitude and with the hope that those who are afflicted as the writers have been may learn that relief is at hand, at a comparatively trifling expense. Pyramid Pile Cure is for sale by Druggists at fifty cents a package or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price.

Mr. Wm. Lichtenwalter, head of the largest printing house in Canton, O., says: "It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I can say I believe I am cured of protruding piles, after suffering more than twenty-five years. I have been in bed for two weeks at a time. I have not suffered in the least for over a year, and I used only three fifty-cent boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure. I advise every person suffering with this distressing and painful complaint to give this remedy a trial. I have every confidence in it." Write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on the causes and cure of piles. Tuesday March 4

Men's SPRING Clothing

What subject timelier in March than the choosing of new clothes? Every agency this store controls swings into line now to serve the man who wants smart spring toggery.

There's no roundabout-ness in this service. Imported and Canadian suitings alike make but one stop between mill and man,—the stop at our factory where skilled work transforms them into the finest garments in this wide Dominion. Couldn't serve you more directly unless we turned weavers and made the cloth ourselves. We'll do it if the makers ever fail us, but not while these royal fabrics come to us at fair prices.

Fair prices all round; equal treatment to every customer; and if you don't like your trade you can always trade back.

Quality Portraits

It is one of the easiest things in the world to "make a picture." It takes years of experience and a thorough knowledge of the business to make a "good one"—one that will be worth keeping. Between us, we have 30 years experience and learnt our business with one of the leading men in Canada. No work goes out of our hands unless it is "quality" work. We guarantee this.
