The Master's Presence.

Where shall we find the Master? Our yearning hearts entreat ; What service shall we render? How wash the sacred feet? woice speaks out from heaven, With power our souls to thrill, "Ye have the poor and needy : In them ye have Me still !"

Our feet spring up to duty; Our hands to tender care The highways and the hedges Reveal the Master there; The Master in his children, Disguised by grief and shame O, Christ, 'tis sweet to succour, Because they bear Thy name

We rather glean Thy harvest Than reap in earthly spoil; We haste to seek the warning, For love makes glad the toil : So weak are we and humble, The precious trust to hold, But as Thou lead'st our footstens We bring them to Thy fold.

We gather from Thy bounty, And in Thy name dispense; We lean our human weakness On Thy omnipotence; And when, discrowned and stricken, Thy royal form appears, We deem it highest worship To wash thy feet with tears.

O, ever-present Master! We find, where'er we tread, Such service for sweet ointment To pour upon Thy head; We bow with deep thank-giving That Thou our work wilt own : The joy is ours of serving, The praise is thine alone. -N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Missionary Contributions. We take the following from N. Y. Advocate and Journal: AN AVERAGE ONE DOLLAR PER MEMBER. We rather from what we hear abroad among both Pastors and principal members, and particularly from what we hear in the free conversation o the General Missonary Committee at its late ession, that there is a growing conviction in the Church that God is calling us to make a futher advance in missionary contributions up to an average of one dollar per member. This conviction partakes of an inspiration, and is fortified, and indeed increased, by the wonderful goodness of God is greatly increasing the number and the wealth of our people. Our Church has increased for several years at least 100,000 members a year. Probably there has been a corresponding increase in the congregations. The aggregate number of members is over twelve hundred thousand! During the conversation in the General Committee these facts were alluded to, and Bishop Morris said he had years ago made up his mind that the Church members were only properly educated. That education was in the hands of the Pastors, and if they said so one dollar a member could be in believing, who now praise God. I baptized fif-teen there. To-morrow I return there and hope million of dollars in the aggregate. Bishop Scott agreed with Bishop Morris, and thought that in part which the one had chosen the other had thrown away. Jesus was dealing alone with the thrown away. Jesus was dealing alone with the dollar a member, and over, would be reached. Bishop Baker signified his assent to the views of his colleagues who had preceded. Bishop Ames remarked that the weak place is regard to our contributions was not in the Churches, but in the Pastorate. Bishop Ciark did not see how we could retrograde in the matter of our collections. Bishop Kingsley claimed to have first enunciated the idea of one dollar

Mr. Bright at Court. In certain circles in London, conversation for the last few days has been all'about Mr. Bright's appearance at Court, which was attended by incidents of a very amusing character. Some years ago Lord Derby volunteered a remark, considered at the time highly gratuitous and offensive, to the effect that Mr. Bright could not be ' sent for' by the Queen as he would be a distasteful person at Court. A year or two afterwards Mr. Bright resented this in his own effective way in a speech he made at Birmingham in which he reminded Lord Derby that there were persons who stood on the steps of the throne without being able to add anything to the security of it by increasing the offsction of the people for it, and whose presence so near it was not a national advantage. We understand on Mr. Gladstone mentioning to Her Majesty that he intended, with her permission, to offer a seat in the Cabinet to the honorable member for Birminghem, the Queen was pleased to say it would afford her the greatest satisfaction if Mr. Bright should consent to serve the Crown-that she had read his speeches with great pleasure, and that she was under the greatest obligation to him for the many kind words he had spoken two years ago in a great meeting in St. James' Hall. When Mr. Bright went to Windsor to take the oaths of office. Her Majesty showed her delicate consideration for the great commoner in a very marked way. She sent Mr. Helps, Clerk of the Privy Council, to assure Mr. Bright, if it was more agreeable to his feeling to omit the ceremony of kneeling or kissing hands, he was quite at liberty to do so. Mr. Bright availed himself of this considerate permission, and was very kindly and cordially received by Her Majesty, who took occasion in the most marked manner to express her gratification at meeting him. It was afterwards intimated to Mr. Bright that Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal of Prussia expressed a desire that Mr. Bright should be preserted to her. This was done, and the Princess heartily assured Mr. Bright that she greatly desired to be acquainted with him-that she herself and all the members of the Royal family were greatly indebted to him for the way in which he had spoken of their It is five o'clock, and a great debate has been mother. Always love a story well. Once, far back in golden autumn, In the sunshine roamed a child. Seeking, ever seeking something, That should please her fancy wild Round about the house and garden Ran her little restless feet, Till she spies the barn in building But as yet 'twas incomplete.

Up, far up, she saw her father, On the roof, so high and tall. So up the ladder quickly climbed she, Never thinking she might fall.

When she gained the lofty station Very charming was the sight; Woods and fields, and brown old farm-house, All were bathed in golden light.

There she stood, all fearless, dreaming. Day-dreams that she loved so well. Wishing she were just a birdie, In the lofty trees to dwell.

And so earnest was she thinking, That her wishes gushed in song; When her father caught the murmur, Down to her he crept along.

Caught her by her russet garments; Clasped her to his trembling breast ; And perhaps a little moment, Thought he loved this child the best.

So he bore her down the ladder, Laid her on her mother's breast Safest place this side of heaven, For a little maid to rest!

Then he told the fearful story, To the trembling mother's ear, As she closer clasped her darling, In her gratitude and fear.

Years have passed, and now the maiden, In a home by heaven blest, Tells her little flock her story. As she lave them down to rest.

Kneeling, then she looks to heaven. With this earnest pleading cry, Bring me safely down, my Father, If I strive to climb too high."

Our visitors were represented by an accomplished young lady, whose parents had just arrived from town, and ours by myself, a ragged after night while my mother, with no other light than that produced by pine-knots, pronounced my lessons to me. The interest of the spectators was excited to the highest pitch as word after word was spelled by each. At length the young lady failed and I stood alone. Her teacher said she could not have understood the word. She declared she did; that the honor was mine and I richly deserved it.

The Mother's Last Gift: or the Value of a Single Penny. Thirty years ago there was seen to enter the city of London a lad about fourteen years of age. He was dressed in a dark frock, that hid his under apparel, and which appeared to have been made for a person evidently taller than the wearer. His boots were covered with dust from the high road. He had on an old hat with black band, which contrasted strangely with the color of the covering of his head. A small bundle, fastened to the end of a stick, and thrown over the shoulder, was the whole of his equipment. As he approached the Mansion House he paused to look at the building, and seated himself on the steps of one of the doors. He was about to rest awhile; but the coming in and going out of half-a-dozen persons, before Years ago, when I was a boy, it was customary he had time to finish untying his bundle made and is now to some extent among school dis-

Having taken from the bundle a large quanti always anticipated with great interest by the scholars, as at these times it was to be decided with great interest by the scholars, as at these times it was to be decided with a response apparitie he amused himself by with a ravenous appetite, he amused himself by who was the best speller. Occasionally one looking at the building before him with all the eager curiosty of one unaccustomed to seeing similar objects.

The appearance of the youth soon attracted my curiosity, and gently opening the door, I stood behind him without his being the least conscious of my presence. He now began rummaging his pockets, and after a deal of trouble brought out a roll of paper, which he openwere suspended, and at school and at home all ed. Aware of this peculiartiy of temper, there was no person I could recommend but Joseph; and after overcoming the repugnance of my partner, who was unwilling to be deprived of so valuable an assistant, Joseph was duly received into the firm of Richard, Fairbrothers & Co. Prosperity attended Joseph in this new undertaking, and never suffering a penny difference to appear in his transactions, he so completely won the confidence of his senior partner, that he left him the whole of his business, as he expressed it in his will, " even to the very last penny."

Have Courage to say no. You're starting to-day on life's journey, Along on the highway life; You'll meet with a thousand temptations; Each city with evil is rife. This world is a stage of excitement There's danger wherever you go. But if your are tempted in weakness,

Have courage, my boy, to say No. The syren's sweet song may allure. Beware of her cunning and art : Whenever you see her approaching, Be guarded and haste to depart. The billiard saloons are inviting,

Decked out in their tinsel and show; You may be invited to enter; Have courage, my boy, to say No The bright ruby wine may be offered-No matter how tempting it be,

From poison that stings like an adder, My boy, have the courage to fiee. The gambling halls are before you, Their lights, how they dance to and fro, If you should be tempted to enter. Think twice, even thrice, ere you go.

In courage alone lies your safety When you the long journey begin, And trust in a Heavenly Father Will keep you unspotted from sin. Temptations will go on increasing,

As streams from a rivulet flow. But if you are true to your manhood Have the courage, my boy, to say No.

Three Divisions.

Upon the temperance question the whole hi man family is divided into three divisions : First-Total Abstinence Division. Second-Moderate Drinkers's Division.

Third-Drunkard's Division. Of the third division, not less than fifty thou sand persons are annually consigned to a drunkarm's grave and a drunkard's eternity. If no recruits were furnished the third division, a few years would leave the world without a drunkard; but the ranks are kept full by the recruits furnished by the Moderare Drinkers' Division, not one recruit being furnished by the Iotal Abstinence Division

Every man and woman of our land must, o necessity, belong to one of these three division In the first division is perfect security; is either of the two other divisions there is dan ger and death.

ONE TO SIX BOXES ARE Warranted to effect a Positive Cure. DR. RADWAY'S ILL

ARE COMPOSED OF VEGETABLE EXTRACTS
PREPARED IN VACUO; Superior to all Purgative, Cathartic, or Alle tipe Medicines in general use, COATED WITH GUM. Whish renders them very convenient, and well adapted for children, and persons who have a distlike to take medicine, and especially pills. Another great superiority of Radway's Pills over all other pills in general see, is the fact of their wonderful medicinal strength, being highly concentrated. One to six of these pills will not more thoroughly, and cleanes the diffmentary canal, without preducing cramps, spasms, piles, tenemus, etc., than any other Pills or Purp. Medicine in use.

THE GREAT WANT SUPPLIED.

It is a well known fact that Physicians have long sought to discover a vegetable purgative as a substitute for Calomel, and that would cleanse the Alimentary Canal of all diseased and retained humors, as thoroughly as Lobelia will the stomach, without producing sickness at stomach, weakness, or irritation of the mucous membrane.

In Dr. Radway's Pills, this very important and essential principle is secured. A dose of two to six (according to the condition of the system) of Dr. Radway's Pills will produce all the positive alterative change-from a sluggish or torpid, to a healthy action of the Liver-as the phyician hopes to obtain by a dose of Blue Pills, or Calomel; and will as thoroughly cleanse the Stomach, and purge from the howels the diseased and retained humors
