JAMES A. BALDWIN, 27, of Montreal, was killed at noon today while at work on the demolition of the old C. P. R. Cantilever Bridge at the Reversing Falls.

The engineer of the crane said that when the cable controlling the boom parted, he was struck on the shoulder and knocked around so that he did not actually see Baldwin struck.

When he had stopped, the engine and looked out, he saw Baldwin lying under the boom. He rushed out and assisted by others, carried the injured man off to the hospital where he was taken to the hospital by the ambulance.

SKULL PIERCED. The superintendent had just gone out duty for his dinner and the foreman did not actually see the fall of the boom, being busy elsewhere.

FIRST ACCIDENT. The superintendent of the demolition crew remarked that it was very disappointing in that the work had been going on for so long and that with all the lifting of heavy steel beams, etc., there should have only been an accident at this late date.

Baldwin was the son of the engineer who brings the Saint John train from Montreal to Mesquite Bay.

"Use The Transcontinental"

"It Was Constructed on the Pledge That It Would Bring Trade to Maritime Ports; The Bargain Must Be Kept"

HALIFAX is awake to the immense importance of the grain traffic from the standpoint of the Maritimes, and is demanding that the Transcontinental be employed to bring the wheat and other traffic to Canadian ports.

The Halifax Herald, which has been a leader in the fight to secure justice for the Maritime Provinces, makes this question of the use of the Transcontinental the subject of a conspicuous first-page article, and brings many striking and effective arguments to bear in support of a real all-Canadian transportation policy.

ONE of a number of inalienable Maritime Rights, published from time to time in The Halifax Herald, is the following: "Canadian Trade Through Canadian Ports, and a complete recognition of the statutes and commitments of the Parliament of Canada guaranteeing this Canadian policy."

One of the most indefensible injustices worked at the expense of Maritime interests is that injustice through which a great share of the trade of Canada is diverted through the ports of another country. This is not only a gross injustice, it is a direct violation of the statutes and commitments of the Canadian Parliament.

As to freight rates, the National Transcontinental was built from Quebec to Moncton to give a shorter route and more accommodation for Canadian products to Canadian ports.

While never abandoning for a moment their just claim to fair rates over the Intercolonial, the people of the Maritimes demand that the Canadian Globe be edited editorially:

Mildram Declares That The Request is Justified

CASE ADJOURNED

Municipalities Solicitor Asks for More Time to Investigate Matter

THE hearing in the application of the New Brunswick Telephone Company for permission to issue $500,000 of new stock to pay for improvements and extensions in the plant of the company was taken up this morning by the Board of Public Utilities Commission, and, after some discussion, was adjourned until Friday morning at 10.30. During the hearing the question as to the best method of raising the amount of money required, and whether it would involve any addition to the rates, was raised.

GOT RELIEF FROM RHEUMATISM AT LAST

Spent more than $100 for remedies before help was found. How an obstinate case of rheumatism was given relief by a simple home treatment is told by a man in Los Angeles, California, who suffered for years with rheumatic pain in the feet and back. "I spent more than $100 for liniments and medicines in twenty-four years," he writes. Then I used Sloan's Liniment and it gave me complete relief. "And it is amazing—the quick, genuine comfort that Sloan's gives to even the most long-standing rheumatic aches. Sloan's doesn't just deaden pain—it helps your body to throw off the cause. No need to rub even. A little Sloan's patted lightly on—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood begins tingling through the aching places. Before you can believe it, the pain, swelling and stiffness are relieved. Try it! All druggists—35 cents."

SAINT JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 25, 1925.

A TRIUMPH FOR SAINT JOHN

The greatest winter sporting event in the world this year will be held in Saint John.

This city, famous as a home of skating champions, has drawn the big prize, for while the International Skating Union at its Pittsburgh meeting awarded championship events to New York, Detroit, Chicago and Pittsburgh, the award to Saint John includes the International World's outdoor amateur speed skating championship.

These things go by merit, not by favor. Saint John's skaters have brought this city under the spotlight in international sporting affairs, and have kept it there.

From the days of Hugh McCormick down to the present, the names of Saint John's skaters have been famous, and their flying feet have been seen in many foreign arenas.

And so we get the prize event, and it will bring, at the head of a wonderful brigade of performers, the skating marvel of the age, Thunberg, the Finn.

the same low grades as the Transcon tinental, and affords the C. N. R. the shortest route to winter tidewater. If the Transcontinental were being utilized as it should be in the interests of national transportation, the Valley line from Fredericton to Saint John would be handling so much traffic as to make it a productive asset.

Viscount Grey reminds the overseas Dominions that they "must not regard the treaties of Locarno as if they had no obligations in Europe whatever."

The City Council has taken prompt action in the matter of rebuilding the Casino city hall, which was destroyed by fire.

The police are showing commendable activity in ridding up professional beggars. They have found one wanderer who arrived in town already equipped with a list of local residents regarded as likely to respond to requests for money.

The professional beggars make it all the harder for the unfortunates who are really deserving of charity. The kind-hearted people who respond readily to appeals of which they do not know the merit, are yielding to a natural impulse, and charity is too fine a thing to be questioned.

Odds and Ends

Hills (Elizabeth Newport Hepburn in New York Times) Still contours against wild skies, Color that shifts and spills, Color that storms and eddies, Color that burns and glows, Now ruddy and hot and gay, Again as chill as a winter dawn, Cold-blue against colder gray.

I had forgotten the hills... Forgotten the stinging joy, Of leaping along a forest path, With the glee of a carefree boy Untouched by caution or grief, As wild as a wind from the sea, I had forgotten, in city streets, Such heady ecstasy.

I had forgotten the hills, Their rhythmic cadence and stir, Their rushing, chattering rills, Their splendor of sun and fir, Their strong, dark silences, And then the bright career Of autumn's sunshine on your cheek, Her red leaf on your dress.

I had forgotten the hills... But now I have come again To a land of sky and of brown etched trees, Far from the noise of men, Where the wanton autumn winds— Now loud, now soft and low— Over the solemn listening hills Their silver bugles blow.

Ha! Ha! When Winter Comes! (Manitoba Free Press) Pretty soon now you will see the little icicles hanging on the door-sills and on the horses' whiskers, and anybody else's whiskers who has whiskers. This means winter.

Picture. When the leaves are flying Across the azure sky, Autumn on the hill top Turns to say good-by; In her gold-red tunic, Like an Eastern queen, With untarnished courage In her wilding mien.—Bliss Carman.

Providing Employment. The people they left the land, the land, But they went on working hard; And the village green that had got mildred Turned up in the squire's back-yard; But twenty men of us all got work On a bit of his motor car; And we all became, with the world's acclaim, The marvellous mugs we are.—From K. K. Chesterton's "Ballad of St. Barbara and Other Verses."

The Best of Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

WHO TALKS MUCH MUST TALK IN VAIN.

WHEN the great naturalist Agassiz was to deliver his first lecture as a professor at Harvard he had grave doubts as to his ability to occupy the prescribed three-quarters of an hour.

In recalling the fact some years later, he said: "When I had spoken a half-hour, I had told them everything in the world I knew, everything. Then I began to repeat myself, and I have done nothing else ever since."

Everything has been said before, and said over and over again. One must agree with Gay: My tongue within my lips I rein; Who talks much must talk in vain.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL observed that a man must be a born leader or misleader of men, or must have been sent into the world unfurnished with that modulating and restraining balance-wheel which we call a sense of humor, who, in old age, has as strong a confidence in his opinions and in the necessity of bringing the universe in conformity with them as he had in youth.

Poems That Live

COTSWOLD LOVE

Blue skies are over Cotswold And April snows go by, The lasses turn their ribbons, For April in the sky, And April is the season When Sabbath girls are dressed, From Redbush to Campden, In all their silken best. An ankle is a marvel When first the buds are brown, And not a lass but knows it, From Stow to Gloucester town. And not a girl goes walking Along the Cotswold lanes But knows men's eyes in April Are quicker than their brains. It's little that it matters, So long as you're alive, If you're eighteen in April, Or rising sixty-five. When April comes to Amberly With skies of April blue, And Cotswold girls are bridling With slyly tilted shoe.—John Drinkwater.

Untrained Motorists. Daily Mail, London The fact is that while the majority of motorists are careful and skilful, an important minority are utterly ignorant of the rules of the road. In numerous cases accidents are due to the fact that the offending motorist knows practically nothing of the hobby which the large production of low-priced motor-cars has enabled him to adopt. A man is not allowed to play even in a football team until he has learned the rules of the game and an inexperienced motorist should understand that it is at his own peril that he ventures on the public roads until he has thoroughly learnt the significance of traffic signals and other rules for the protection of the public.

"Use The Transcontinental"

"It Was Constructed on the Pledge That It Would Bring Trade to Maritime Ports; The Bargain Must Be Kept"

Canadian Government and the Canadian railway authorities begin at once to give effect to the policy under which the National Transcontinental Railway was constructed.

THE question of Canadian Trade Through Canadian Ports was made the subject of a parliamentary inquiry which lasted over two sessions, and the Senate report, which was adopted on June 9, 1922, contained this positive statement:
"After all the sacrifices that Canada has made in building three transcontinental railways, it is IMPOSSIBLE that we should go on allowing our seaports to be deprived of their LEGITIMATE traffic, to obtain which our people have been and are being so heavily taxed."
Early this year the Federal Government published the report of the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission. Supplementary to the main report was a report on Transportation, signed by J. G. Scott, one of the Government's commissioners. Mr. Scott dealt at length with the subject of Canadian Trade for Canadian Ports; and, commenting on the Senate report, declared:
"It is the DUTY of the Government to do this, because it was on the DISTINCT PROMISE in Parliament, in 1904, that the Transcontinental would cheapen the rates of freight upon Western grain to Canadian seaports, that the people consented to the building of this railway, which has cost the country $160,000,000. It is a BREACH OF FAITH with the Eastern seaports to keep the rate of freight at such a figure as to prevent this being done, after the railway has proved its ability to do it, and to do it profitably."

That is the report of the Federal Government's own commissioner; to which he adds, that failure to do what he says should be done "means a distinct breach of faith, and would seem to be a contradiction of the intention of Parliament, as expressed in the Senate of 1904, and should be IMMEDIATELY REMEDIED."

THE Transcontinental has been constructed, it has cost the people a tremendous sum of money—what is being done to justify that huge outlay of public funds?
It is a notorious fact, and a blighting consequence, that the Transcontinental has NOT been put to the work for which it was constructed. Immediately St. Lawrence navigation closes, Canadian grain should come in great streams over the Transcontinental for shipment through Maritime ports. The road has been constructed for years—and for years Halifax has been passed by as an outlet for Canadian grain. So far as Canadian National Railways policy is concerned, Halifax is not on the national map; Canadian traffic pours through the ports of the United States.

Men who should know state that, due to the direct route of the road and its easy grades, the Transcontinental brings Winnipeg as near to Halifax as to Portland, Maine. The Federal Government's own commissioner declares that Canadian grain traffic should come over the Transcontinental to Maritime ports, "THE RAILWAY HAS PROVED ITS ABILITY TO DO IT, AND DO IT PROFITABLY."

WHAT is wrong, and what has been wrong all these years? Is there a DELIBERATE DISCRIMINATION against the ports of the Maritime Provinces? It would seem so.
We do not need to point to the beneficial results that would come from the use of the Transcontinental for this traffic. It would be of considerable and immediate benefit to the Maritimes. And we urge upon Maritime people, upon the Boards of Trade and other commercial organizations, upon the Maritime C. N. R. directors, railwaymen, port workers—and upon the Government of Canada and the executive of the C. N. R.—the need for prompt action.
This Canadian grain trade should come through the ports of Maritime Canada. It is Canadian policy; it is parliamentary commitment; it is one of the rights of the Maritimes.

MARITIME CASE IS COMMENTED UPON

Rest of Dominion Must Study Needs of East, Declares Joubert

MONTREAL, Nov. 24—"I was struck," said Paul Joubert, president of the Montreal Chamber De Commerce, giving his impressions of the national trade conference at Winnipeg from which he has just returned, "with the splendid spirit of co-operation and good-will that imbued the delegates from all provinces. The Maritimes were there well represented, and I think that we from the rest of Canada must study their problems with all the sincerity that we possess."
Of all the problems discussed at length, three momentous issues were introduced: the question of immigration, the case of the Maritimes, and the unification and greater development of Canadian trade and commerce, Mr. Joubert said.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21—The conference of the Boards of Trade of all the larger cities of Canada, held in Vancouver last week, is likely to prove one of the most important developments in Canadian affairs, in the opinion of D. B. Hanna, former president of the Canadian National Railways and a veteran railroader and financier, who is visiting at the coast.
Mr. Hanna was one of the representatives of the Toronto Board of Trade.

Weddings

Butler-Crawford.
St. Rose's church, Fairville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Catherine Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, of Orange street, Fairville, became the bride of Edward P. Butler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, of Saint John. Rev. William Mallette solemnized the marriage. Many relatives and friends attended. The bride looked charming in a dress of sandalwood colored flat crepe with trimmings of guipure lace, black picture hat with gold and matine trimmings, gold brocaded shoes and stockings to match, wearing a red fox fur and carrying a bouquet of opelia roses. Mrs. W. J. McInnis, her sister, was matron of honor, and wore a dress of navy blue georgette with old rose medallions and steel beaded trimmings, a black picture hat trimmed with silver and roses, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. John Butler, brother of the bridegroom, was the groom's man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. McInnis, and Robert Butler, cousin of the groom, sang "Ave Maria."
After the ceremony the bride party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding supper was prepared, with 50 guests present. The reception room was decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. In the dining room pink and white ribbon streamers extended from the chandelier to the nicely appointed tea table, on which were arranged vases of pink and white carnations and the bridal cakes. Mrs. Crawford, mother of the bride, received the guests. Mrs. Fred Duffy, Mrs. Joseph Flynn sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Annie McCarthy and Mrs. H. R. Baroccoli assisted in serving.

Both bride and groom are very popular and received many beautiful and costly gifts, which included silver, cut glass and linen, a substantial check from the bride's parents, also lovely gifts from the bride's friends in Boston. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial check.
The bride's traveling costume is of grey and brown with grey fox fur trimmings, and she wore a chic hat of cloche style. They will leave on the 7:15 train for a honeymoon trip to Montreal and Quebec, and on their return they will reside in Fairville. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. W. McInnis, Mrs. Joseph Flynn and Master Randall Flynn, of Boston. The bridegroom's gift to the matron of honor was a dinner ring and to the groom's man a gold signet ring.

Woman Loses Teeth Seeking Lost Beads

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 25—A string of pearl beads caused Mrs. G. B. Newman of this city about as bad an half hour as ever the ill-omened Hope diamond caused its unfortunate owners.
The string caught on the door as she was leaving the City Power and Light Company offices and the pearls were strewn over the sidewalk. In her anxiety to retrieve the beads she placed her handbag on the running board of an automobile parked at the curb. While Mrs. Newman was picking up beads the owner of the car drove off.
The bag contained her false teeth and the keys to her home so that pending its recovery she could neither eat nor sleep.

How Helpless We Are Against the Self-invited Friend Who Literally Eats Up Our Money—The Time-Killing Friend Who Devours Precious Working Hours—The Sociable Friend Who Swallows Up Our Home Life and the Morbid Friend Who Gnaws at Our Sympathies.

ONE of the greatest pests in the world is what I call the devouring friend," said a woman the other day. "She is a blood-thirsty capitalist, who gobbles you up alive, and you have no other way of protecting yourself against her because the sacred name of friendship bars the use of all the lethal weapons that you can use in defending yourself against other harts and social nuisances.

DOROTHY DIX

"Of course, the common or garden variety of devouring friend is the one who literally eats you out of house and home. She is a self-invited guest, who drops you a little note, saying that she is passing through your city, or that she has to have a little dental work done, or wants to consult a doctor, or do some shopping, and she does so fine to see her darling Susan and talk over old times, and will it be convenient for her to come and spend a few days with you? All of which being translated, simply means that she desires to graft a hotel bill off you.

"ANYWAY, she comes, and camps in your spare room by the week, because she always manages to string out the dental work, or the appointments with the doctor, or the milliner. She should worry. Furthermore, by hints and insinuations she inveigles your husband into taking her to places of amusement that you have not felt that you could afford, even when there were only two of you to pay for. And she runs your grocery bill up to the skies because she develops a taste for the most expensive food.

"And as you see her calmly consuming the price of your new dress you know exactly how a cornfield feels when a seven-year locust settles down on it, and gets into action.

"THEN there are the devouring friends who eat up your time. I am a busy woman. I cannot afford to waste a minute. Unfortunately for me I have a number of women friends who are rich and whose principal occupation in life is killing time. Now these women know perfectly well that I not only do all of my own housework, but that I make my children's clothes and that, if they kill a morning for me, they upset my whole schedule and make my work pile up upon me so that my labor is twice as hard.

"But does that keep them from interrupting me? Lord, no. Every time Maud has a spat with her mother-in-law she will drop over and spend a whole morning giving me all the harrowing details. Every time Lulu's husband gives her a new limousine I have to waste hours of my valuable time listening to a minute description of all its splendor. Every time Sallie and Susie want to be sympathized with, or want to brag about their children, they ruin the heart of a day's work by backing me up against a wall and making me listen. And a dozen times a day I am interrupted by women who call me up over the telephone to hold long and fruitless conversations about nothing.

"Yet there is no possible way to protect my precious time against these friends who eat it up. They are all charming women. They like me, and I like them. I want to retain their friendship, so I cannot shut my door in their faces when they come to see me. I can't ask them to leave when they stay too long. I can't ring off when they call me over the telephone. I can't even say 'damn' aloud no matter how much I am thinking it. But I know what the cynic meant when he said that if God would save him from his friends he would protect himself from his enemies.

"THEN there are the devouring friends who swallow up all of your home life. My husband's business is such that he has only one or two evenings at home a week. We would like to have these to ourselves to keep up our acquaintance or to go out on a little spree together. We have proclaimed this fact loudly and long to our friends, and we refuse every invitation that it is possible to get out of for those two sacred occasions. But it doesn't do a particle of good.

"Being an unusually charming and entertaining individual, my husband is regarded by my friends as a social tidbit—a particularly savory hors d'oeuvre, as it were—and they gobble up our evenings together without the slightest compunction. If we won't go to them, all right. They will come to us. So just about the time we are settling down for a real heart-to-heart talk here come the Smiths to pass a pleasant evening with us, or the Jones' descend upon us, and bear us off, shrieking and protesting, to listen to their new radio, or the Thompsons telephone that they are just coming over for a game of bridge.

"AND there are the other devouring friends who nibble away at our independence like a mouse at a cheese, until some day we suddenly wake up to the fact that our freedom is all gone. We haven't a vestige of liberty left. We dare not give a party and leave them out. We have to apologize to them for going to some other doctor than their doctor, or patronizing another dressmaker or milliner. We have to explain everything we do to them, and tag meekly along in their footsteps.

"And there are other devouring friends who gnaw constantly on your sympathies by telling us all of their troubles, and making us bear their burdens for them. They are ghosts who make us feed them our hearts, to satisfy their morbid appetite for pity.

"PERHAPS there is no way to get rid of devouring friends, but it certainly would add to the pleasures of life if we could sweet them as we do other household pests." DOROTHY DIX.

The Champion Goat Getter

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

GRAY, which has not been fashionable for several seasons, has returned this winter into its own.

We see numerous all-gray costumes, such as the gray coat above, worn with a hat of matching color. The woolen material is extremely soft and the banding is of gray squirrel.

The small hat is of fine gray felt with a cross of gunmetal ribbon placed flat against the front of the hat.

A Thought

Wherefore we ye spend money for that which is not bread, and your labor for that which satisfieth not—is. 55:2.

PLEASURE, when it is a man's chief purpose, disappoints itself; and the constant application to it palliates the faculty of enjoying it—Steele.

- Luncheon: Milk Toast; Peaches; Cake; Coffee
- Dinner: Escalloped Spare Ribs and Potatoes with Dressing; Cole Slaw, with Sour Cream Dressing; Baked Apples, with Marshmallows; Bread; Raspberry Jam

TODAY'S RECIPES

Escalloped Spareribs— Pare four medium sized potatoes, cut in slices, put on to boil in salted water just enough to cover, cook until almost done. Open can of roasted spare ribs, pour off brown gravy, add water from potatoes and a little flour to thicken. Put potatoes in glass baking dish with a dash of pepper, lay spare ribs on top of potatoes, pour gravy over all, put on lid and bake slowly three-quarters to one hour. Fresh spare ribs browned in oven can be used the same way. The dressing may be made of stale bread, soaked in cold water, the water squeezed out, add one egg, salt, pepper, minced onion, and a little gravy.

Apples With Marshmallows— Pare apples, cut in quarters, put in single layer in dripping pan, sprinkle with sugar and a little flour, put enough water in pan to keep from burning, bake until done. Take from oven, cut marshmallows up in small pieces, cover apples, put in oven and let brown and melt a minute. Lift out with pancake

DAILY MOVIE SERVICE
Valentino A Better Actor
In His Latest Picture

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

IN THE role of the dashing Cossack guardman in "The Eagle," Rudolph Valentino takes a new hold on popularity and secures his sometime threatened eminence as a dramatic screen personality.

There is in this presentation, directed by Clarence Brown, under the auspices of United Artists, less obvious effort to parade Rudy as a seductive male, and more concern to fit him properly into an engrossing story. The result is a more satisfactory product than any of the star's pictures since "Four Horsemen" and "Blood and Sand."

And "The Eagle" is addressed quite as much to men as to women, the hero being a sort of Russian Robin Hood, engaging in spirited dash and self-defensive intrigue to win his love and his hands despite the menace of an amorous Caesarine.

Valentino is none the less swanky and glamorous for having soft-pedaled his so-called "Latin Lover" appeal. He has never been more engaging than in his present pose and realia of guardman to a queen. And there is enough of courtship and kissing so that his repute in this respect will not wane.

Alice Joyce is another of the Hollywood stars to prove an actress can come back.

She was out of the game for two years, living at home as Mrs. James Hagan and devoting her time to the care of two daughters. Then she returned, and, after a short struggle, became more of a star than ever.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS
By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

One day the Twins went with their mother to the city to get some winter clothes.

Nick got a dark blue serge suit, some new white collars, and some very nice shirts. Also a lumber-jack plaid sweater coat, and a dark gray overcoat and cap to match.

Nancy got a dark blue jersey dress to be worn with plain white collars and cuffs, a green slicker, a tan wool sweater, and a brown felt hat with a silk rosette on the side.

Besides that they got new shoes and heavy ribbed stockings and gloves and other things.

With so much trying on and looking going from one store to another they got pretty tired.

Perhaps they weren't glad when lunch time came and their mother took them to a tea-room all decorated in yellow leaves, and yellow silk curtains and yellow light-shades!

But the smells were even better than the looks, and the food was still better than the smells. Mrs. Walton said they ate enough for coal-heavers, so it must be that buying new clothes is as hard work as heaving coal. But then, she may not have meant it exactly.

After lunch Nick said, "Mother, mayn't we go to the movies this afternoon?"

But Mrs. Walton shook her head. "No, dear! We are going to the International Exhibit."

"The what?" cried the Twins together in dismay. It certainly sounded dreadful.

Mrs. Walton laughed. "Oh, it isn't so bad as all that," she said. "The International Exhibit is a picture gallery. Some of the finest pictures in the world have been brought to America recently. They are only to be here for a few weeks, and I should like to see them today. I think you would enjoy them, too, children. After all, still pictures are quite as interesting as moving pictures and people do not pay enough attention to them."

"All right, Mother. We'll go," said Nancy and Nick. But they didn't want to go very much.

The picture galleries were miles long. It seemed to the children, when they finally arrived at the place. There was one large room and another, with their walls simply covered with big paintings in magnificent gold frames.

"My, they look as though they were real, don't they, Mother?" exclaimed Nancy.

A man in brass buttons and a blue cap heard her and stepping up he said: "If you would like to have a catalogue, Madam, you can get one at the desk in the corridor. It gives all the names."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Walton. "Children, you stay here until I come back. Sit down on this big leather seat and rest your poor little legs. I have to telephone to Nora anyway, and I may be gone a little while. Now stay here until I come. You'll be all right alone."

"I'll watch them," said Mister Blue Cap kindly. "There is hardly anyone here, so it won't hurt if we talk a bit. I'll tell them about the pictures."

Mrs. Walton went away and the Twins settled themselves on the comfortable big leather seat.

They were very, very tired. It felt fine to sit down again. Suddenly a peculiar thing happened!

With The Women of Today

AT THE 51st annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, held recently in Detroit, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was unanimously elected president. She was previously vice president and succeeds Miss Anna A. Gordon, who is president of the World W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Boole has worked for temperance and suffrage for a great many years. In 1920 she was the prohibition candidate for the senate from the state of New York. She was twice president of the New York state W. C. T. U., has been vice president of the national organization since 1914, and is treasurer of the world body. From 1903-9 Mrs. Boole was corresponding secretary of the Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church in the United States, and she is a trustee of Wooster College, Wooster, O., from which she holds the degree of A. M. and Ph. D. She is also a member of the D. A. R.

Van Wart, O., is Mrs. Boole's birthplace, and she is the daughter of the late Col. Isaac N. Alexander. She was married to William H. Boole in 1883, who died in 1914.

Your flower is the chrysanthemum.

Timely Views On World Topics

THE virtues of the Dawes plan were extolled by Dr. Karl Wirth, former chancellor of Germany, in Washington recently.

"The Dawes plan implies much more than mere financial arrangements. In its intention the plan provides a speedy rehabilitation of normal and sound economic conditions, not only in Europe, but in the whole world," he said.

"As far as the reparation question is concerned, peace has come to stay. That is to say, this problem has been removed from an atmosphere of misunderstanding and hatred and has been put on a basis where clear and sound reasoning and economic considerations alone are prevailing.

"Six years have passed, and what catastrophe, what misery and desperation has our old continent undergone!"

"You certainly understand, under such circumstances, how intensely our attention is fixed on the meeting of European statesmen which convened at Locarno, in Switzerland.

"The security compact as proposed by the German government is one of the most important steps in German foreign policy of the last 50 years. No time is to be lost to assure security and peace in Europe. We must now as your president said in his remarkable speech in Omaha, 'demolish racial antagonisms, fears, hatreds and suspicions and create an attitude of toleration in the public mind of the absolute of the peace.'

SEE-SAWING DOWN BROADWAY

MANY are the forms of graft on Broadway. The latest one to come to my attention concerns the cab attendants at night clubs. Frequently out-of-towners drive up to a midnight cabaret in a taxi and ask the attendant what sort of a dump the place is. As likely as not the attendant will answer, "This is the chess. Just a lot of cheepskates here. Take this card and go to the Blank club down the street. That's the liveliest spot in town and plenty to drink."

For every patron thus sent he receives a commission on the check.

YESTERDAY I went to the Pennsylvania Station to buy a railroad ticket. I took my place at the end of the shortest line I could find before the many windows. There were 17 ahead of me in that line. When I asked the ticket agent what the crush was about he told me that at least seven of every ten who had called at his window that morning were Florida-bound. Rail connection to Florida has reached such a state that it is necessary to make berth reservations two weeks and more in advance. The hegra to the southeast coast has started fully two months earlier this year than last.

Local railroad men tell me that the freight congestion is even more serious.

SPEAKING OF Florida, Steve Hanagan has P. S.'d me that at Miami Beach there is a hotel-hospital which has bath tubs equipped with adjustable platforms so that a man can lower or raise himself to the most comfortable degree of submersion. Also, as soon as a patient is registered he is psycho-analyzed and pictures appropriate to his personality are hung in the room to which he is assigned. That scheme holds great possibilities. It all depends on your imagination.

THE new Madison Square Garden which will be several miles from Madison Square, will open in a week or two with the traditional six-day bike race. That sport seems to me to be the most futile thing in the world. Man pedal a bicycle four in and hour out for six days, traversing a distance equal to a cross-continent tour. And when they finish they are just where they started.

JAMES W. DEAN.

Don't buy Water

When you buy Heinz Tomato Ketchup you pay for rich tomato substance—and not for water. Long patient cooking carries off the water in steam, leaving a full-bodied concentrated ketchup that tastes better and goes farther. Think of that next ketchup-buying time.

LION IS TRICKED BY AFRICAN NATIVE

Man Feigns Death and Animal is Shot By By-stander—None Injured

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 24.—A lioness raided the Tabora railway station. Two natives at the station caught the lioness by the animal, which rushed at them and "patted" one on the shoulder. One native fell down and feigned death while the other decamped. The animal sat down close to her victim and contemplated him with seeming bewilderment. A traffic inspector, seeing a rifle, fired a bullet into the stomach of the lioness. She jumped high and made ready to charge when a second bullet from the rifle entered her heart and killed her. The native then rose, suffering from nothing worse than fright.

WOMAN'S QUICK WIT ROUTS FIVE THIEVES

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25.—Five thieves were routed by Mrs. R. B. Wilson, wife of an American contractor here, through the ingenious use of a phonograph. Mrs. Wilson, who lives in an isolated section of the city, was alone late at night when to her alarm she heard footsteps outside. Peering from the window she discerned five men leap the wall enclosing the grounds and secret themselves in the shrubbery. Without a telephone and separated from her nearest neighbor by several hundred yards Mrs. Wilson at first was at a loss what to do. Then she remembered her phonograph. A moment later a strident male voice sounded through the house. The thieves took flight immediately.

FLORIDA'S SUICIDE RATE ON INCREASE Proportions Jump 28 Per Cent. Since Recent Prosperity Boom Started

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Florida's suicide rate since the recent prosperity boom started has increased 28 per cent over that existing 8 years ago while at the same time the general death rate showed a 25 per cent improvement during the same period. These facts were brought out in a comparative study of the effect of the Florida boom on the Florida death rate made by the Metropolitan Insurance Company. While suicides increased and the general death rate decreased, the general death rate in 1924 was only 2.2 per hundred thousand compared to 10.4 in 1916.

Artist Colony Votes For Postal Delivery

CARMEL, Cal., Nov. 25.—This seaside village, last refuge of art in California, soon is to have numbered streets, so that its painters and writers may be awakened from their dreams by the shrill sound of the postman's whistle.

In recent elections and referendums the artistic element defeated proposals for a city manager form of government, to straighten out and pave the streets and to install electric street lights. The petition for street numbers in order to get free delivery of mail, however, had only 64 names of persons opposing it, with 384 seeking the move. But true artists mourn what they fear is the opening wedge of "babbling."

Plans Submitted Do Not Include Estimate of Cost

Question of Bond Issue—Rebates Granted in Two Tax Matters

The City Council yesterday authorized a call for tenders for the restoration of the Carleton city hall on plans and specifications prepared by H. Claire Mott. The plans submitted to the council yesterday did not go into details as to what use would be made of the second floor nor was there any estimate of cost submitted.

Commissioner Frink pointed out that the work would call for a good sized bond issue and, before a bond could be authorized, there must be submitted an estimate of the cost of the work. He had discussed the matter with Mayor Potts and found that His Worship was not disposed to vote for any large bond issue for this work at the present time.

PLANS EXHIBITED.

Mr. Mott, who was present, exhibited the plans he had prepared. These call for a two storey and basement building with a hip roof. In the basement is provided a police guard room and cell, storage for the water and sewerage department and the heating plant.

On the ground floor there will be an auditorium capable of seating between 400 and 500 people, a number of rooms which can be used for various purposes and a kitchen and serving room in connection with the auditorium. The second floor layout had not yet been decided upon.

In order to strengthen the walls it had been decided to run a brick wall through the centre of the building.

The motion to authorize the call for tenders passed.

REBATES GRANTED.

The chairman of the Board of Assessors recommended that a rebate of $86.88 be made to Mrs. Edith Skinner and a rebate of $77.50 to the Tip Top Tailors, on their 1925 assessment. The recommendation was ordered carried out.

The appeal of T. L. Morrissey and C. D. O'By from the valuation of their property, Prince William street, was referred to the acting mayor to arrange for a hearing.

A communication from the C. N. R. asking when the berth at the potato shed would be ready for use was referred to Commissioner Bullock. The commissioner said he expected the berth would be ready in a day or two.

A letter from Belyea and Gilbert asking what disposition had been made of the appeal of the Imperial Oil Company against the assessment on the oil in the tanker "Sarnolite" was referred to the acting mayor for a report.

On motion of Commissioner Bullock the agreement with the Merchants' Advertising and Publishing Co. for the advertising privileges in the ferry, was renewed for one year from February 1, next.

CARD PARTIES WERE LARGELY ATTENDED

Card parties held last night were largely attended. There were about 40 tables of 45s at the card party in St. Patrick's Hall last night, held under the auspices of the Ladies' Society of the Assumption parish. The prize winners were as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. P. Keane; second, Mrs. William Tobin; consolation, Mrs. William Fox; gentlemen's, first, John White; second, Rev. J. J. Ryan; consolation, Roy Denison.

The prize winners at the card party in the Y. M. C. I. were as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. A. Trainor; second, Miss Nellie Callaghan; consolation, Miss F. Banford; gentlemen's, first, Albenie Robichaud; second, T. M. Burns; and consolation, Joseph Milan. The door prize was won by Miss Helen Leighton. The convener for the evening was Miss Catherine McCulloch.

BANQUET MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Thorne Lodge, I. O. G. T., 21 Years Old, Has Celebration

Addresses and Musical Numbers Pass Hours Pleasantly in Lodge Hall

The twenty-fifth anniversary of Thorne Lodge, No. 259, I. O. G. T., was celebrated last night by the members of the lodge with a banquet in the lodge hall to which about 75 members sat down. The hours passed very pleasantly. The hall had been nicely decorated by John T. Fitzgerald and the tables bore the colors of the order. Mrs. W. W. Brown was general convener for the banquet and was assisted by Mrs. Henry McEachern and Mrs. R. Hayes, who were replenishers, and Mrs. Charles McEachern and Mrs. J. D. McEachern, who poured tea and coffee. Those serving were Misses Marion Brown, Amy Hayes, Helen Wheaton, Eleanor Woods and Vella Gardiner.

J. H. Mackenzie, chief templar of the lodge, was in the chair, and was toastmaster. The first toast was that to the King, which was received with musical honors. The chairman then gave a short history of the lodge and the secretary read regrets from several out of town members who were unable to be present. Among these were Rev. Thomas Marshall, Fredericton; Rev. W. G. Y. Lane, Yarmouth; C. B. Weimore and Mr. and Mrs. Coste, Hampton, and Michael Kelly, St. Martins.

The toast to the lodge was proposed by Rev. A. L. Tedford and responded to by W. W. Brown. That to the district lodge was proposed by R. A. Brown and responded to by T. D. Owens.

Other numbers on the program included selections by the McEachern male quartette; solo, William McEachern and piano solo, Miss Mary Owens. Miss Marjorie Ricketts was accompanist for the evening.

BEACON LIGHT CLASS

The Beacon Light Class met last evening at the home of Mrs. James Spence, Milford, with the president, Mrs. W. E. Hann, in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. Spence, reported that the supper and sale held in the Pleasant Point hall had been very successful, the fancy work realizing $28 and the supper $34. This money will be used for repairs on the hall and for missionary work.

It was decided to hold a preserve and pickle shower for the children at the home, Garden street, next morning. The next meeting of the class will be held at the home of Miss Marjorie Henderson. A social hour was enjoyed and dainty refreshments served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Opal Gray. The guests of the evening were Mrs. Alonzo Craig.

SUCCESSFUL SUPPER

The Willing Workers of St. Phillip's church held a very successful supper last night at the residence of Mrs. Vincent Peters, 72 Chapel street, when a large number of patrons were served. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. M. Davis, Mrs. B. Treadwell, Mrs. A. Bristol, Mrs. M. Dixon, Mrs. V. Peters, Mrs. M. Lucas, Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. I. Gallen, Mrs. W. Hayes, Mrs. D. Hope and Miss M. Peters. Gramophone selections were enjoyed.

IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

"Who Pays" was the subject of an impressive address given last night by Evangelist John H. Wells in the Coburg street Christian church. Using the story of Achan's sin, which is told in 7th Joshua, he pointed the moral that no man can sin and not influence others for evil. The sinner always had to suffer himself and always caused others to suffer, Mr. Wells said. The lives of the righteous were an influence for good. Mr. Wells' subject tonight will be "Thoughtless Thinkers."

TOLD OF VISIT TO ROME

An interesting account of her recent pilgrimage to Rome was given last night by Miss Mary O'Brien in St. Peter's church basement, under the auspices of St. Elizabeth's Society. Mrs. James Quinn was in the chair and extended to Miss O'Brien a vote of thanks moved by Mrs. Margaret Corkery and seconded by Mrs. Louis Owens. A beautiful bouquet was presented to the speaker by Mrs. T. Burke. Rev. Fr. Kearney, C. S. R., gave a short address and solos were sung by Miss Julia McCarthy and Miss Lydia McCuskey. The accompanist for the evening was Mrs. Mary Quinnlan.

MONCTON TEAM WINS

The Westmorland lodge team was victorious last night in the debate between representatives of Moncton and Saint John Pythians in Moncton. The subject was: "Resolved, that public ownership and operation of public utilities would be better than private ownership and operation." The affirmative was upheld by the Moncton debaters and the negative by those from Saint John. After the debate a social hour was enjoyed and an address delivered by Capt. J. A. Mowry, Grand Chancellor.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

At a conference between the contractors for the vocational school and the committee appointed by the School Board, held yesterday afternoon, it was decided to complete the work by December 31 if possible.

Several marriages have been secured from England and are being made ready for winter fishing.

"ALL TANGLED-UP" IS WELL PRESENTED

Comedy is Excellently Played by Mission Church Dramatic Club

A very amusing comedy, "All Tangled Up," in three acts was given last night by members of the Mission Church Dramatic Club in the hall, Paradise row. The club was ably assisted by the Good Shepherd Church Orchestra of Fairville. Arthur Harris gave two enjoyable tenor solos and the orchestra played several appropriate numbers during intermissions. Mrs. Percy Logan, who was to have given a reading, was unable to attend, owing to illness.

IN THE CAST

Miss Hazel L. Peacock, as Mrs. Halliday, gave a good interpretation of a mother whose main idea in life was to get her daughter married early. Miss Charlotte O. Logan and Miss Frances P. Steves, of the younger generation in girls, were also very good indeed. Mr. R. W. S. Whitcomb, as Major Halliday, gave a fine performance as the father of a marriageable daughter who finds that his wife and daughter are running things without consulting him too much. J. Cedric, G. Taylor and J. Richard Shells were excellent in their roles as lovers of the girls. Ralph S. Horsman, as an undertaker mistaken for a famous and exceedingly dangerous French duellist, gave his audience much amusement by his lines and character-acting.

Harold G. Taylor, as O'Toole, the Halliday butler and old family-retainer, was excellent. He scored a well-deserved success, judged by the merit on the part of the audience.

The play was under the direction of Mrs. Harold G. Taylor and showed the result of good work by both cast and director. It also demonstrated the excellence of the talent from which the Dramatic Club can draw. An additional pleasure was for the cast to know that they were playing to a capacity house as they did last night. The performance will be repeated tonight.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked, and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients. It is known as Weyth's Sage & Sulphur Compound and can be obtained at all drug stores for only 75 cents a bottle.

While gray hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Uncertainty Regarding Re-

Effect on Market

BRAZILIAN SMELTERS
MONTREAL FEATURES

Few Price Variations With Balance of List Very Quiet

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Despite the uncertainty regarding the action of the New York Federal Reserve on the re-discount rate at the meeting late today, stock prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of the market. The rally in the industrials, which started late today, stock prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of the market. The rally in the industrials, which started late yesterday, was resumed with Peaceful Mining and Smelting opening 3/4 points higher, Chrysler 2 1/2, Dupont 2
and Radio Corporation, General Motors, General Railway Signal, and New York Central, a point or more.

the local stock market this morning, the former rising 1/4 to 7/8, and the latter 1/2 to 1 1/8. The balance of the list was extremely quiet, a decline of a point in Asbestos preferred to 115 and a gain of a point in St. Maurice Paper to 102, being the only price variations worth mentioning.

H. Price Webber Recalls Marriage of Queen Alexandra and Late King

Of a former Saint John man, H.
Price Webber, the Augusta, Me., Daily
Journal says, the late King and Queen
"Augusta has the distinction of having a resident who participated in the wedding festivities accorded the late Queen Alexandra at the time of her marriage to King Edward of England.
This resident is none other than our renowned friend, H. Price Webber.
"It was a day of great rejoicing, and in honor of the great event every town and city had a parade to welcome the Danish Princess to her new country. Mr. Webber was then a member of the Torquay Boys' Pipe and Drum Corps of the Artillery Band, which made a very pretty showing with its brilliant red uniforms and silver buttons and shakos with their large blue plumes. There were 40 members of this Drum Corps, of which Mr. Webber is the sole survivor. The music played was the Grand March from the opera Norma and a quickstep entitled All Things Love Thee, So Do I, specially composed in honor of the Queen's marriage."

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Just as the indications on Monday were for lower prices, the action of the market yesterday seemed to indicate that liquidation was now being taken. This market from the time started with a turbulent and there have been no precedents by which it could be judged it looks very much as though the reaction had gone far enough, and would not be surprised at a distinct change in trend in the next several days. There were several weak spots yesterday, but each time stocks came back. Each time the market looked as though it would break, enough buying came in to push prices right back again. We expect the best General Motors had declined far enough.
We look for a new advance in this stock and consequently one in Fisher-Body also. Pierce Arrow acts as though it would advance from its present Common, while making a new low yesterday, was well taken, as one large block was marketed. There is a trouble. We look for higher prices in it. There is a relatively large turnover in Rios and we look for it to become one of the market's strength.
Whenever there is general strength, in the rails, we still like C. & O., B. O., Ry. and N. C. Broad in Union and Cons. Gas are purchases in our opinion. In specialties we look for higher prices in American Ice.

Mr. J. BEATON

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—"More hard liquor was seized in October than in any previous month for the present year, indicating that the present effective work of the coastguard on the New England and New Jersey coast has diverted the smuggling of hard liquor over the Canadian border."

This disclosure of operations, and the official opinion deduced therefrom, form one of the parts of the summary of October business of the United States Customs Service, Vermont district, by Harry C. Whitehill, collector.

"Sixteen automobiles are now being operated by the Customs patrol along the Canadian border. The total expense of operating the patrol cars in October was $1,836.94, which included many permanent repairs to the patrol cars."

"October was an unusually productive month for Customs duties collected in the district. They exceeded those of September by 34.6 per cent, and September was better than the average. They show a gain over October, 1924, of 78.4 per cent. Total duties collected were $241,924.11."

MANY VEGETABLES.

"Total value of all importations was $9,107,872. In addition to the usual principal commodities, such as hay, cream and milk, and milk foods, there were large importations of potatoes, turnips, nickel and fresh meats."

"St. Albans also led in the amount of imports, and the total value of all importations. At this port $130,434.98 in duties was collected, and the value of the importations was $1,081,734. Newport did the next largest business in this respect."

INTERFERENCES ALL CLEARED UP

N. F. Nutter Reports on Power Systems in Saint John

Expert Says Future Attention by Both Concerns Will be Required

The report of N. F. Nutter, expert engaged by the Board of Public Utilities to supervise the work of clearing the interferences between the distribution systems of the New Brunswick Power Company and the Civic Power Commission, has been presented to the board. In commenting on the report the chairman, J. M. Trueman, said he felt that it was a highly satisfactory one and that Mr. Nutter had handled the problem in the best possible way.

Following the report: Saint John, N. B., November 21, 1925. Mr. J. M. Trueman, Chairman, New Brunswick Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities, Saint John, N. B.

Dear Sir,— On January 28 your board ordered that the Power Commission of the city of Saint John make such changes in its distribution system as were necessary to prevent dangers from contact between its wires and those of the New Brunswick Power Company. This order followed the report submitted by Mr. A. F. Baird, professor of electrical engineering, of the University of New Brunswick, in which he recommended certain revisions and changes in the distribution systems, for the purpose of eliminating the interferences and, consequently, the hazards which have existed for some time.

Following the board's order, representatives were assigned by the two respective parties, to accompany me, as your representative, in making a detailed inspection of all conflicting power lines in the city. While making this inspection, corrective measures were agreed upon and plans were drawn in the field showing just what work was to be done. These plans were blue printed and copies were supplied to the Power Commission and the New Brunswick Power Company. The plans consisted of 28 lines—some showing the various streets were shown thereon with symbols representing the poles of the two parties. This method was adopted in order to bring the decisions made at the time of the field inspection, also for use as a guide for the linemen, and as a permanent record for all concerned.

BOTH REPRESENTED.

As the work was to be done by the Power Commission, arrangements were made at the start for an employee of the New Brunswick Power Company to accompany the linemen of the Power Commission, in order to have both parties represented while the changes were being made. This arrangement was also advisable from a safety standpoint, on account of the handling of the high voltage wires of both parties.

I have checked over the work since it has been completed and find that it has been done in accordance with the plans. Your order to the Power Commission of the City of Saint John to clear the interferences has, therefore, been complied with.

In carrying on the work referred to in this report, the rules of the National Electrical Safety Code have been followed, so far as it is possible and practicable with conflicting lines.

I understand from you that the responsibility for the continuation of proper clearances will now rest with the two parties. This will require their future attention, directed over at the top from time to time, from one cause or another; wires sagging below their present levels; and changes and additions to the existing lines.

I wish to express my appreciation of the co-operation which both parties have extended to me in carrying on this work to its completion.

Respectfully submitted,
N. F. NUTTER.

Moncton Radio Good Last Night

Reception of CNRA, Moncton, radio last night was said to be the best, with isolated exceptions, since the station was established. From 10 o'clock until midnight a very fine concert was rendered by the CNRA orchestra and Walter Neale, tenor. During the announcements the studio manager said he received several complimentary messages from Saint John listeners, one of whom allowed him to listen to his own orchestra through the long distance telephone and he heard very plainly.

Before signing off the CNRA announcer warned his vast radio audience that all Christmas packages for the Old Country to be assured of delivery in plenty of time should be mailed via Saint John for the steamer that departs December 5. He gave explicit instructions about packaging, addressing and return addressing. It was a timely bit of advice and reached tens of thousands of people in a circle the diameter of which reaches half way across the continent.

JUDGE RESUMES INGLEWOOD CASE

Hearing of Claim for Damages in Hydro Development at Musquash

Montreal Engineer is on Witness Stand—Some Days Before Conclusion

The hearing before the special arbitrator, Mr. Justice LeBlanc, of the claim of the Inglewood Pulp and Paper Co., Ltd., a claim running into several hundred thousands of dollars, against the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for damages through expropriation of the company's property for the Musquash hydro-electric development, was resumed here this morning. Frederick B. Brown, Montreal engineer, went on the stand for cross-examination by Peter J. Hughes, K. C., Fredericton, chief counsel for the Commission. Mr. Brown's evidence was largely of a technical nature.

Through the death of Hon. William Pugsley during the postponement, which has run into more than a year, George H. Montgomery, K. C., prominent Montreal lawyer, is senior counsel for the company, and associated with him are Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., and H. A. Porter, with Mr. Hughes is J. D. P. Lewin, solicitor for the Commission.

IS CROSS-EXAMINED.

Mr. Brown, who had been the last witness when the hearing was postponed a year ago, went on the stand this morning for cross-examination by Mr. Hughes. His figure, worth 25,000,000 as a yearly output at Musquash, he said, would require the whole development of the storage area there, including the Inglewood holdings. If the company had gone ahead itself, it could practically develop the east branch without securing any other land. Regarding the west branch, he could not say definitely, in the absence of information.

QUESTION OF ENGINEERING.

Questioned regarding a report made by his late partner, Walter J. Francis, Montreal engineer, in which Mr. Francis charged that faulty engineering had taken place in the construction at Musquash, Mr. Brown said he could not say anything about that.

Dr. Taylor objected, saying he could not see where the Francis report had any bearing on this case. Dr. Taylor said that his client, the Canadian Pacific Railway, had engaged Mr. Francis at the time of the dam-sinking away at Musquash in 1923, to make a report on the construction work. The proper way, he said, would be to secure the consent of the C. P. R. to place this report in evidence.

Mr. Montgomery said he would like to call His Honor's attention to the fact that this report was made after the development had taken place, and would show little light on any attempt to value the site as a proposed development.

"Did you have this report before you?" asked Mr. Hughes of witness. "It was in the office," replied witness.

"You knew about it?" continued the Commission's counsel. "Yes, but it was not used in the estimates," replied Mr. Brown.

"What did you use in the estimates?" Mr. Hughes asked. "Many things," replied Mr. Brown.

After being asked a few questions in regard to his experience with other developments, cross-examination of the witness was completed.

On re-examination by Mr. Montgomery, he said he took the government records for his findings.

His Honor asked the witness what would be the capacity of the development on the Inglewood side alone, and the witness replied that on the east branch it would be about 1,500 continuous horsepower. He could not say anything regarding the west branch. The witness explained what was meant by "continuous" horsepower. This completed Mr. Brown's evidence.

LAST SOME DAYS.

The case is expected to last into next week as the company's side of the matter has not been completed yet and there remains the defence by the commission. Mr. Montgomery said this morning he had only about one hour of evidence to give engineering evidence and after that there probably would be evidence given by the owners. The commission lawyers expected to use Mr. Acres on the stand as well as R. S. Lee, Montreal engineer, who was present at this morning's session. The hearing was to continue this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Man of Self Respect

He's the chap who keeps his clothes as clean as his linen. He doesn't consider an occasional whisking really and truly keeps a suit clean. He doesn't call it clean simply because the dark dye hides dirt. He wants it to live up to his linen and to keep the fresher look that only Dry Cleaning brings about. Quick return delivery and modest cost.
