A NARROW ESCAPE.

One morning, when I went to look for my horse, he was nowhere to be found. I put the saddle on my head and tracked him for some miles; it was evident the beast had been travelling away in search of grass. At length, when about to give up in despair, having quite lost the track on stony ground, I came upon the marks quite fresh in a bit of swampy ground, and a few hundred yards further found him rolling in the mud of a nearly dry waterhole, as comfortable as possible. I put down the saddle and called him. At that moment I heard a loud roar and crash in a scrub behind me, and out rushed, at a terrific pace, a black bull, charging straight at me. I had only just time to throw myself on one side flat on the ground as he thundered by me. My next move was to scramble among a clump of trees—one of great size, the rest were more saplings. The bull, having missed his mark turning again, and first revenged himself by tossing my saddle up in the air, until fortunately, it lodged in some bushes; then having smelt me out, he commenced a circuit round the trees, stamping, pawing, and bellowing frightfully. With his red eyes and long sharp horns, he looked like a demon. I was quite unarmed, having broken my knife the day before; and my pistols were in my holsters. My only chance consisted in dodging him round the trees until he should be tired out. Deeply did I regret having left my faithful dog behind. The bull charged again, sometimes coming with such force against the tree that he fell on his knees; sometimes bending the saplings behind which I stood, until his horns a moment touched me. There was not a branch I could lay hold of to climb up.

How long this awful game lasted I know not; it seemed hours. After the first excitement passed off, weariness again took possession of me, and it required all the instinct of self preservation to keep me on my feet. Several times the bull left me for a few seconds, bellowing his malignant discontent, but before I could pass over to a better position he always came back at full speed. My eyes grew hot and misty, my knees trembled under me, I felt it impossible to hold out until dark. At length I grew desperate, determined to make a run for the opposite cover the moment the bull turned towards the waterhole again. I felt sure I was doomed, and thought of it until I grew indifferent. The bull seemed to know I was worn out and grew more fierce and rapid in his charges; but just when I was about to give up, I heard the rattle of a horse's hoof among the rocks above, and a shout that sounded welcome to my ears. Then came the barking of a dog and the loud reports of a stick-whip; but the bull with his eyes fixed on me, never moved. Up came a horseman at full speed; crack fell the lash on the black bull's hide; out spurted the blood in a long streak. The bull turned savagely to charge the horseman. The horse wheeled round just enough to baffle him—no more; again the lash descended, cutting like a long flexible razor; but the mad bull was not to be beaten off by a whip. He charged again and again; but he had met his match.—Right and left, as needed, the horse turned again and again. The stockman shouted something, leaped from his horse, and strode forward to meet the bull with an open knife between his teeth. As the beast lowered his head to charge, he seemed to catch him by the horns. There was a struggle, a cloud of dust, a stamping like two strong men wrestling; I could not see clearly; but the next moment the bull was on his back, the blood welling from his throat, his limbs quivering in death.—[Adventures in Australia.]

PLEASANT PARAGRAPHS.—No dust affects the eyes like gold dust, and no glasses like brandy glasses.

THE BOY WHO KEPT HIS PURPOSE.

"I would not be so mean," said George Ward to a boy, who stood by, while he put the candy he had just bought in his pocket. "You have no right to call me mean," replied Reuben Porter, "because I don't spend my money for candy."

"You never spend it for anything," continued George, tauntingly.

It was true. Reuben did not spend his money. Do you suppose it was because he loved it more than other boys do?

Reuben turned slowly away, meditating upon what had occurred. "I will not care for what he thinks," he at length said to himself; "I have four dollars now, and when I have sold my cabbages, I shall have another dollar. I shall soon have enough," and his heart bounded joyfully, his step recovered its elasticity, and his pace quickened, as the pleasant thought removed the sting which the accusation of meanness had inflicted on his sensitive spirit. Enough did not mean the same with Reuben as with grown people. It had a limit. He hastened cheerfully home, or to the place he called home. He had no father or mother there; but in their stead, kind and loving friends. Mr. Porter had died two years before, leaving a wife and four children without property to sustain them. Reuben was the eldest; and as he was old enough to assist in the labors of a farm, it was thought best that he should leave his mother. Mr. Johnson, a neighbor took him into his family, where he very soon became a great favorite.

There was one thing about the boy, however, that good Mrs. Johnson regarded as a great fault. It was what she called "a spirit of hoarding." She said she never gave him an orange or an apple, that he did not carry to his room, instead of eating it. Perhaps his sisters at home, or dear little brother Benny could tell what became of them.

Mrs. Johnson had noticed, too, in his drawer, a box, which was quite heavy with money. She did not believe he had bought so much as a fish-hook, since he had been in their family. If he should go on in this way he will grow up to be a miser. Mr. Johnson smiled at his wife's earnestness, and remarked that with such an example of generosity as Reuben had constantly before him, he would not believe the child was in much danger from the fault she feared. "It must be remembered," he said, "that Reuben has his own way to make in life. He must early learn to save, or he will always be poor. There are his mother and sisters, too, who need his aid."

In various ways Reuben added to his store. When the snow came, he made nice broad paths about the house, which so attracted the notice of a neighbor, that asked if he might be allowed to make paths for her. He rose early that he might have time for this extra work, and was well paid for his efforts. The box grew heavier from week to week. Reuben had almost enough.

One day there was a barrel of flour left at Mrs. Porter's. She thought there must be a mistake about it; but the man said he was directed at the store to take it to that house. Mrs. Porter went immediately to learn about it, and what was her surprise on finding her son had been the purchaser. How could he pay for a whole barrel of flour? "The money," said the merchant, "he brought in a box. It was in small bits, which took me some time to count, but there was enough."

The mother called, with a full heart, at Mrs. Johnson's, and related what had occurred. Reuben wondered why his mother should cry so. He thought she would be happy. He was sure he was. He had been thinking of that barrel of flour, and now he felt more like laughing than crying. Those tears noble boy, are not tears of sorrow, but of the deepest joy. You are more than repaid for your self-denial. You have persevered in your determination; you have resisted every temptation to deviate from the course which you marked out as right. You have borne meekly the charge of meanness so galling to your generous spirit, and now you receive your reward. You are happy, and so is your mother, and so are your kind friends Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

That night, Mr. Johnson remarked to his wife, as they sat together before the cheerful fire, that he had some idea of keeping the little miser and educating him. "A boy who could form such a purpose, and keep it, will in all probability make a useful man." After years proved the correctness of this conclusion. Reuben is now a man of intelligence and wealth. He is one whom the world delights to honor; but among his pleasantest memories, I doubt not, is that of the barrel of flour he bought for his beloved mother.—[Independent.]

From the London Punch.

OUR FRENCH FRIEND.

"It's coming is it?" quoth our John, "I've heard that talk before"—And then his eyes fell straight upon his stick behind the door. "I wonder if 'twould suit our friend (John's face was rather grim) For me to save his coming here. By going there to him."

"Because you know, old girl," says he, "I'm hearty, strong and hale, And I'd be all the better for A little bit of sail. I fancy, too, he thinks I'm not Quite sound in wind or limb, I've really half a thought, old girl, Of going there to him."

"Besides, you know, I shouldn't be A stranger to the way, I visited the spot before In Bonaparte's day. That very stick I took with me— It hasn't grown more slim; I swear, old gal, I'm half inclined To go across to him."

"I hate to give a gentleman More trouble than there's need, And crossing water makes Our Friend Uncommon cross indeed. And if, as these here letters say, To meet me is his whim, Why dang my buttons, Mother Bull, I'll go across to him."

"Mayhap he'd like to have a crack About old days gone by, Egypt, and Spain, and Trafalgar, If he would, so would I. About those days I rather think His memory's rather dim, And that's another reason, dame, Why I should go to him."

"There's Master Jack may mind the house, I'm glad he's bought a gun, If he don't keep you safe and sound He's not his father's son. So fill a mug, Our Friend's good health, Yes fill it to the brim: If he'll but say he means to come— By George, I'll go him."

FIRE PROOF WOOD.—A recipe for rendering wood fire proof is given in the London Builder, which is easily and cheaply prepared. It is as follows: Dissolve in cold water as much pearl ash as is capable of holding in solution, and wash or dash with it all the boards, wainscoting, timber, &c. Then diluting the same liquid with a little water, add to it such a portion of fine yellow clay as will make the mixture the consistency of common paint; stir in a small quantity of paper hanger's flour paste, to combine both the other substances. Give three coats of this mixture. When dry apply the following mixture: Put into a pot equal quantities of finely pulverized iron filings, brick dust and ashes; pour over them size or glue water; set the whole over a fire, and when warm stir them well together. With this liquid composition, or size, give one coat; and on its getting dry give a second coat. It resists fire for five hours, and prevents the wood from ever bursting into flames. It resists the ravages of fire so, as only to be reduced to coals or embers, without spreading the conflagration by additional flames. Twenty pounds of finely sifted yellow clay, a pound and a half of flour for making the paste, and one pound of pearl ash, are sufficient to prepare a square rod of deal boards.

By George, I'll go him."

SLIGHTLY PARODIED.

It was near midnight, towards the close of the afternoon, on a sultry morning in December, 18—, previous to the revolution of the last war, when the burning-moon was setting in the eastern sky, casting a brilliant shadow upon the gorgeous clouds which entirely obscured the firmament; and the unclouded sun was sending down its deep noon-day beams with an intensity of heat, like the shrieking of heavy thunder through the deep mountain gorges of the western prairies.

Lovely indeed, was the sound of such a spectacle to the feet of the weary traveler, for three feline monsters of the deep were just gathering together for the evening meal, and separating ere the sun was risen, for the sports of the chase and all things betokened a response too deep for utterance.

In the ensuing autumn, about two years previous to the above mentioned merry catastrophe, two pedestrians might have been seen riding upon horseback in a three wheeled carriage, up to the brow of a precipice under the side of a forest which had been cut down before the trees had begun to take root, and engaged in eating their evening dinner by the side of the road, in the arms of Morpheus. The eldest of the three gentlemen was accompanied by a young lady, of about fifty-three, and about two years younger than the other man, which latter gentleman was from the manner in which she addressed him evidently her eldest and youngest daughter.

The remainder of her dress consisted of two pair of pantaloons, neatly buttoned round the tops of her ears, and elegantly attached by a golden strap of unbroken silk, to the axletree of the middle aged gentleman's horse.

The third gentleman, last mentioned, was an old gentleman of about twenty-two, whose venerable features disclosed the livid hue of the Siberian negro. His bald head was profusely covered with long silver locks of a sandy jet, which he had evidently lost during a severe fit of sea-sickness caused from the next door neighbor, who resided several blocks from him in the country. He also was richly attired in the same manner as the lady, being clothed in a worn out frock coat which was secured by straps under his boots.

His feet were bare, and save his gloves, he had no garments to shield him from the balmy atmosphere. He had lost both arms just above the collar bone, and was constrained to wear crutches. This, added to his total blindness, rendered him an object of general admiration.

The Snake Stone.

On occasion, in March 1854, a friend of mine was riding, with some other civil officers of the Government, along a jungle path in the vicinity of Bittenne, when they saw one of Tamils, who were approaching them, suddenly dart into the forest and return, holding in both hands a cobra di capello, which he had seized by the head and tail. He called to his companion for assistance to place it in their covered basket, but in doing this, he handled it so ineptly that it seized him by the finger, and retained its hold for a few seconds, as if unable to retract its fangs. The blood flowed, and intense pain appeared to follow almost immediately; but with all expedition the friend of the sufferer undid his waistcloth and took from it two snake-stones each of the size of a small almond, intensely black and highly polished, though of an extremely light substance.—These he applied one to each wound inflicted by the teeth of the serpent, to which the stones attached themselves closely, the blood that oozed from the bites being rapidly imbibed by the porous texture of the article applied. The stones adhered tenaciously for three or four minutes, the wounded man's companion in the meanwhile rubbing his arm downwards from the shoulder towards the fingers. At length the snake-stones dropped off of their own accord; the suffering appeared to have subsided; he twisted his fingers till the joints cracked, and went on his way without concern.—[Tennant's Ceylon.]

The steamship, whose arrival at Portland was announced in our last, left Queenstown on the evening of the 8th inst., and arrived on the morning of the 18th, thus making one of the best passages of the season. It is stated that she made as high as 300 knots in one day.

THE CONGRESS.—The London Times regrets to learn that, after a full discussion by the Cabinet, it has been determined that Lord Palmerston shall not attend the Congress as the Plenipotentiary of England. The original plan, however, is to be carried out, and Lord Cowley will attend to explain, and, as far as possible, enforce the views of his government.

Heavy gales had again visited the English coast. The ship Canton, from Calcutta for London, was wrecked on the Sussex coast, and only two seamen saved. The Maltese bark Maribita, from Marseilles for London, went ashore on the Isle of Wight, and eleven of the crew were drowned. The schooner Sentinel, from Carnaroon, was ashore at the same place, with little hope of saving the crew.

Lord Palmerston had endorsed the volunteer movement so far as to join the Irish corps which was being enrolled in London. In the divorce case brought by Mr. James M. Bell, a wealthy London merchant, against his wife, on the ground of adultery with the Marquis of Anglesey, a verdict was given dissolving the marriage, and saddling the Marquis with £10,000 damages.

The official report of the recent inquiry into the loss of the Royal Charter has been published.—The report concludes by stating that, looking at all the circumstances of the case, it is one in which the loss of the ship can be charged to the fault of the master.—Only £14,000 of the gold on board had so far been recovered.

Signor Mortara whose child was abducted by the Roman Catholics has arrived in London, and has had an interview with several prominent promoters of the Mortara protest.

FRANCE.—All the London journals which contained the letter of the Prince de Joinville, denying the insinuations of Mr. Roebuck, had been seized at the Paris post office.

The letter of the Emperor to the Liverpool merchants was prominently commented on in the Paris journals. The Patrie considers it will contribute not a little to allay the uneasiness of the English people, and that in the history of the relations of France and England, it will remain a testimonial of the moderation and magnanimity of the Emperor.

The Paris correspondents of the London journals generally agree that, let the Emperor's intentions be what they may, his reply could not be otherwise than what it is, and that it proves nothing at all, and will convince no one.

It is stated that the French expedition to China will be the most complete and carefully calculated that ever left France. The cost is estimated at £6,000,000. The combined forces will amount to 30,000 men.

Orders have been issued that all seamen who may complete forty months' service on the 31st of December shall be immediately discharged and sent home.

ITALY.—The Turin journal announces that the British Ambassador at that Court is to be henceforth of the same rank as the English Ambassadors to the great powers. It is asserted that, since the resignation of Garibaldi, the Pontifical government has become much less tractable and less disposed to reforms.

The Tuscan Monitor announces that Buoncompagni will take the title of Governor General of the League of the Provinces of Central Italy.

MOROCCO.—The Gibraltar Chronicle of the 29th says: Private letters from the Spanish camp in Africa represent the action of the 25th as more serious, and the loss of the Spanish army much more considerable than the published accounts; 3 battalions were fearfully cut up in a hand to hand fight with the Moors.

In consequence of the destruction of the steamer Genova by the fire submarine cable, which was to have been placed across the Strait at Gibraltar, had been destroyed.

A Canadian bishop, finding after examining one of the candidates for holy orders, that he was grossly ignorant, refused to ordain him. "My lord!" said the disappointed aspirant, "there is no imputation upon my moral character—I have a due sense of religion, and I am a member of the Propaganda Society." "That I can easily believe," replied the bishop, "for you are a proper goose."

JAMES STEVENSON,

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

THE SHIPPING INTEREST.—The depressed condition of the shipping interest in Great Britain, is at present the subject of discussion, and at a recent meeting held in London by those interested in ships and commerce, the speakers dwelt upon the advantages which the repeal of the Navigation Law gave to the foreigner while he would not give the slightest benefit in return. The British shipowner demands from other nations what his own has conceded—in other words, reciprocity; and failing to obtain this, he would adopt the protectionist and give "measure for measure." The whole of those interested in the trade do not, however, agree as to the causes of the present depression. Mr. Mackay, an extensive Liverpool shipowner, in a letter addressed to one of the journals, says:

"The real cause of the present depression is overproduction. From 1852 to 1857 was a shipowner's paradise; everybody under the sun took to shipbuilding; in fact, the extension of the commercial navy of the world was only limited by their inability to build more. The necessity for this extraordinary increase in tonnage arose from the gold discoveries of Australia, the Crimean war, the Persian war, the Indian revolt, and also the great expansion in our imports of Eastern produce and guano. All this time our steam fleet was increasing, in equivalent ratio, and the sailing ships were made twice as big as they were before. Now, if the extraordinary character of the employment for ships had kept pace with the number that were built, we should not be in the miserable plight we are in to-day."

The writer then goes on to show that the cessation of the Russian war, the diminution of emigration, and the suppression of the Indian mutiny, all necessarily led to a diminished demand for shipping; and that this circumstance, following as it did upon a period of unprecedented activity, sufficiently explains the present suffering condition of the shipowners. He further goes on to show that there is another species of home competition at work, the extent of which is not generally known. "I find," he says, "that while steam tonnage in 1850 was only 104,460 tons, it was in 1855, 238,950 tons, and in 1858, 369,204 tons. Now taking one trade with another, I believe I am quite within the mark when I multiply this by four to represent it as doing the work of ordinary sailing vessels, and the result is that it equals 1,476,806 tons under canvas. Except for coals and brimstone the entire trade is carried on by steamers. All the valuable export freight to the United States is carried in the same way, as well as a large portion of that to Canada, the Brazil, California and the West India Islands. In fact, every day there is some new development of this service, which is displacing sailing ships, and forcing them into the markets of the wide world for employment."

There is no truth in the report respecting the addition of several battalions to the regiments of the line up to the 35th inclusive. The 26th (King's Own Borderers) is to have a second battalion, but the additional ten is an error.

Before the famine in 1846 and '47, and the succeeding pestilence and emigration, the population of Ireland was 9,000,000 souls. Now it numbers about 6,000,000.

There is a horse in the regiment of the 11th Hussars of the English army, which has attained the remarkable age of thirty years. By the horse register it is shown that he joined the army as a four year old on the 2d of October, 1833; was sent to the Crimea in 1854, and was present in all the actions, including Balaklava, in which that regiment was engaged, being one of the very few horses who survived the exposure of that winter. He is still, in 1859, in good health, and fit for duty.

Destruction of the Mexican Treaty.
LOSS OF EIGHTY VESSELS, AND SEVERAL LIVES.

Advices have been received from Constantinople to the 23rd. During the previous six days storms of unparalleled violence have prevailed in the Euxine Sea. All the vessels out at sea have been driven on shore, and about 80 vessels have been lost. The coast is strewn with wrecks, as well as hundreds of corpses. The inhabitants of these inhospitable shores have stripped the survivors from the wrecks of their property. Tug steamers have been sent to the Black Sea, in order to render some assistance in the recovery of property wrecked.

The Grand Vizier has given a very good reception to M. Lesseps.

Arrival of the Mexican Treaty.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 20.—The U. S. steamer Brooklyn has arrived here, bringing Mr. McLane, American Minister to Mexico, and his family. Mr. H. R. de la Renteria, Mr. McLane's Secretary of Legation, has also arrived, bearing with him the treaty with the Juarez government. It was ratified on the 14th inst., and provides for a perpetual right of way across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec from Rio Grande to Mazatlan, and from Guaymas to Arizona, without warehouses at the terminus of each transit. All goods between the Atlantic and Pacific States are to pass free of duty. Our troops, military stores and munitions of war, are to pass through Tehuantepec and Sonora to the same Mexican.

The neutrality of the Transit is to be guarded by both governments united, with entire consent. Mexico is to possess the right to protect the Transit and property by force. There is to be perfect religious freedom. No forced loans on our citizens are to be permitted. A Supplemental Convention permits intervention in Mexico to protect our citizens and enforce the treaty stipulations. In compensation for the release of duties on passing transits to the United States are to pay $4,000,000 $3,000,000 of which are to be received in payment of claims. The above is derived from authentic sources. Mr. De la Renteria started for Washington this evening.

A New Educational Scheme.

We learn from the American papers that a bill has passed one branch of the Legislature of Mississippi to reduce to slavery, on the 1st of July next, all free negroes who shall, at that date, be found within the limits of the State. Tennessee has passed a similar bill, and one or two other "fire-eating" States are about to follow their example. There are about 200,000 free negroes in the Southern States, and as this bill reduces them to slavery before they have time to leave, should all the States adopt it there would be raised a sum equal to $130,000,000. It is proposed to devote the proceeds to School purposes—not the education of the children of these poor negroes, but the children of the white people! As the churches out there are the mainstay of "the institution," it is supposed that they will come in for a share of the proceeds. The project is carried out, the Southern School fund will be much greater than the aggregate School fund of all the North.

THE SEIZURE OF BURGLAR'S TOOLS.

Yesterday we had the opportunity of announcing to the public at large that a number of Skeleton keys, etc., had been seized upon by the Detectives on their way from Quebec to this city. We saw the tools yesterday in the box, in which they had been despatched from Quebec to this city. On one side of the box was painted the name of "John Patterson, Arthur street, Quebec," and on the other "twelve pounds of chocolate." The box bore upon the top the direction, "Wm. Ennis, Esq., Calcutta Hotel, St. Paul street," forwarded by the British and American Express Company. Yesterday we published a description of the articles which had been discovered in the box in question. In addition, however, we may add that there was also a hand-vice, and a number of files. All the requirements for a wide spread series of burglaries were at hand, but fortunately the design itself was nipped in the bud. No fire-arms, however, were found in the box.—(Mont' Herald, Dec. 10.)

AN UGLY PICTURE FOR GOVERNOR WISE.—Dr. Colver, of Cincinnati, publishes a long letter addressed to Governor Wise in relation to the execution of John Brown. He says:

"The day that sees John Brown on the scaffold, sees your horizon obscured by a cloud that no sun shall ever chase from your skies. No matter with what scenes you may surround yourself, from that day the grappling iron of your doom will have fastened upon your soul. Thence onward, John Brown, with his calm, honest, loving, serene, and sorrowing face, is to be your companion. Waking or sleeping, at home or abroad, that strange man who could forget vengeance for the cruel murder of his own sons, in his compassion for the poor slave is to be your companion. You shall see that patient face in the sparkling cup of earthly pleasure. You shall hear the soft foot-fall of his gentle spirit around your domestic board, reminding you of the home you made desolate. And in that last lone hour to which we are all hastening, when the summons shall come which calls you to your last account, the voice of John Brown will strangely mingle with that summons."

St. Louis, Dec. 21.—The overland mail, with San Francisco dates of the 28th ult., passed Mallay's station at 12 o'clock last night and will be due here on Thursday night. The steamer Sierra Nevada was to leave San Francisco on the 28th ult. for Panama, to take the New York mails of Dec. 5.

The steamer Cortez reached San Francisco on the 26th, causing much rejoicing. A severe gale occurred on the 24th, flooding the streets, and causing much damage to the shipping in the harbor. The schooner Gen. Morgan was sunk, and several others were seriously injured.

A fire occurred in San Francisco on the 27th, destroying property to the amount of ten thousand dollars.

A slight shock of an earthquake was felt at San Francisco on the 25th.

Business at San Francisco was slow. Since the departure of the last mail no sales of importance had taken place.

A large amount of rain had fallen.

Some of the Indians on Lake Superior have formed a Temperance Society. It was formed on account of the defection of a chief in whom they placed implicit confidence, who indulged a little freely in the ardent, and while drunk spent a considerable sum of money intrusted to his care. The red men held an indignation meeting over it, and after a most emphatic series of grunts formed a self-protecting association, based on fundamental principles—that is the first Indian who got drunk was to be tied to a stump, and whipped with 25 lashes.

LATER FROM DR. LIVINGSTONE.—Professor Sedgwick has received a communication from Dr. Livingstone, dated "River Zambesi, East Africa, May 27." Dr. Livingstone reports the discovery of a real highland lake region, where the inhabitants cultivate cotton very extensively, while he adds "every one spins and weaves it."—Liverpool Paper.

The Standard.

ST. ANDREWS, DEC. 28, 1859.

The present number closes the 26th volume of the STANDARD, and we embrace the present opportunity of reminding our subscribers of their obligations to us. During last month, we sent out several bills, but have not received a title of them. We can assure them, that our paper is published at considerable expense and trouble—and it is nothing more than just—that we should be paid at least once a year; but we are sorry to announce that there are many of our patrons, we suppose they call themselves, who have not paid us a shilling for four or five years; the day of reckoning has come with them, what they would not do willingly they will be obliged to do after this through a third party. To those kind friends who cheered us on in our labors by paying punctually we tender our thanks, and assure them that no effort will be wanting on our part to merit a continuance of their esteem—not expense spared to render our humble sheet deserving of wider patronage. Notwithstanding the dullness of the times we have added considerably to our list of subscribers.

Ever our sheet appears again another year will be numbered with the things that were. Old fifty-nine will have passed away. Upon glancing at the year now so near closing what a lesson of instruction it teaches us—what changes have taken place. Alas! how many in our own small community, who twelve months ago—even a few weeks since, were in the enjoyment of health, and were the beloved of the family circle—have gone "to that undiscovered country."

"Friend after friend departs,
Who hath not lost a friend?"

With those of our own town, who, like ourselves, have lost a beloved child, we sincerely sympathize. Let us remember that "He who gave, has been pleased to take away." Let us be thankful for present and past mercies; and let us exercise those graces and practice those duties which as Christians we are bound to do.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—At a meeting of the inhabitants of Chamcook, called by the President of the Charlotte County Agricultural Society, on Wednesday evening the 21st December 1859, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers to the Society:

On motion of R. Stevenson, seconded by Henry Hitchings,

That Wm. Craig be Chairman,—who nominated A. Stevenson as Secretary.

Mr. Hitchings briefly addressed the meeting, stating the object for which it was convened.

Mr. R. Stevenson next addressed the meeting at some length, setting forth the necessity of the Farmers taking the management into their own hands, as many of the town members were getting tired of managing a Society for the benefit of Farmers, in which they take so little interest.

Mr. James Russell, jr. set forth many reasons why farmers should support the Society, and enumerated the benefits conferred on the district through its importations of Stock of different kinds, and alluded to the apathy, indifference and want of public spirit of farmers in regard to a society, in which they should feel a warm interest.

It was then moved by H. Hitchings and seconded by R. Stevenson,—That the subscription list be opened. Several farmers availed themselves of the opportunity, and added their names to the list.

Two other meetings for the same object, were held during last week, the first at Bay Side, and the second at Wauwig; several new subscribers were obtained, and an interest awakened in favor of the Society, which will result in its usefulness being extended. The members of the society are fortunate in having so zealous, indefatigable, and public spirited an officer, as Mr. Stevenson their President, to whose exertions chiefly, aided by one or two others, the addition of so many new names have been added to the list. We trust that the friends of the Society will attend at the annual meeting, and that an increased interest will be taken by the farmer in its proceedings. Why not form "Farmers Clubs" in adjoining districts, in connection with the Society. Much useful information might be obtained, and an interchange of opinions among farmers would take place, which it is believed would have a beneficial effect upon the Society's operations. Speed the Plough.

KING'S COLLEGE.—We have much pleasure in publishing the following official notice of the Registrar of King's College, and congratulate our young townsman, Mr. F. A. Morrison, on receiving his degree of B. A., with the addition of "honors":—

"At a Convocation held on Tuesday, the 20th Dec., inst., Sir James Carter, Chancellor, presiding, Mr. Frederick A. Morrison, Scholar and Librarian, was admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts. In compliance with the recommendation of the examiners on Monday, a prize of the value of £2 was presented to Mr. Morrison for proficiency in the Classics and in French."

MADRAS SCHOOL.—The Christmas examination of this school, under the charge of Miss Hooper, took place on Saturday last. There was a large number of visitors present, who seemed exceedingly pleased with the proceedings. The different classes were examined by the Rev. W. Q. Ketchum, in reading, spelling, arithmetic, geography, Scripture history, &c., &c., and all present were struck with the ready and intelligent manner in which the children acquitted themselves.

The school has only been in operation since the 25th July last, and owing to the prevalent illness many have been kept away for a time, and others prevented from coming to the school. The attendance therefore and the progress made were felt to be very satisfactory and encouraging, which, with the good order and cheerful demeanour of the children, reflect the highest credit on Miss Hooper. There is every reason to hope that this school will effect its object, and afford to many, (who might otherwise be deprived of such a blessing,) a sound religious education.

At the close of the proceedings, the children sang several hymns in a very pleasing manner.—Com.

The weather during the last few days has been intensely cold, with strong gales from the North West. The snow which fell on Monday afternoon, was so drifted yesterday as to block up the roads.

ORDINATION.—An Ordination was held by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, at Christ's Church Cathedral, Fredericton, on Sunday December 18, when the Rev. Randall E. Smith, B. A., of King's College, Windsor, N. S., was admitted to the order of Priesthood.

Dr. Patterson, is in Town, and may be found at Bradford's hotel.—See Adv.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—The December number of this chief of Magazines, has been received from Messrs. L. Scott & Co., and is freighted with the cream of gigantic literary production. The table of contents is as follows:

The Fight on the Poibo,
Love's Young Dream—nowadays,
Another Pleasant French Book,
Popular Literature—Prize Essays,
Mottey's Dutch Republic,
The National Gallery,
The Luck of Ladysmede—Part X.,
The Emperor and the Empire,
Fleets and Navies—England—Part III.

We have before mentioned that the Four British Reviews and Blackwood—are published by Messrs. Leonard & Co., New York, at the low price of $10 a year, and are fac-similes of the British editions which cost $31! It often happens that one article in these standard publications, is worth as much as the whole subscription. To borrow the language of a Reviewer, they "contain in a small compass, the thoughts, criticisms, and disquisitions of the ablest men of the age—that they condense into an article the sum and substance of many volumes, and the products of years of reflection or research." The present time is the most favorable, to subscribe.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for January, has reached us, and commences a new volume, which we trust will receive a large list of additional subscribers. The publishers, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields of Boston, spare no effort or expense to render the "Atlantic" entitled to extensive support. The prospectus for the Fifth Volume will be published in our next issue. The contents of the number received are:

Our Artists in Italy.
The Amber Gods.
Song of Nature.
Nemophily.
Substance and Shadow.
Through the Fields to Saint Peter's.

The Experienced of Samuel Absalom Fildbuster.

Roba di Roma.
Abdel-Hassan.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.
For Children Teething,
SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will ease your child, and relieve all the distresses of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation, and allaying ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is RELIABLE & HEALTHY TO YOUR INFANT.
I have put up and sold this article for ten years, and can say, it is considered the best of its kind, and we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues.
We speak in this matter after ten years' experience, and know, from our own experience, and from the experience of others, that it will almost instantly relieve the infant in almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.
This valuable prescription of one of the SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with successful success in THOUSANDS OF CASES.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the system, corrects acidity, and to the whole system, it relieves GRIPING AND WIND, and overcomes convulsions, which if not speedily remedied, lead in death. We believe it the most valuable remedy in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—no matter how severe, nor the prejudices of your suffering child, be SURE—YES, ALSO, to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.
None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.
Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effective alternative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power, as to afford an effective antidote for the disease Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—
SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERYTHROD AND GRAVELESE DISEASE, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLINDNESS, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, METEORICAL DISEASES, DRUPES, NEURASTHENIA OR THE DUCHENNE'S DYSPEPSIA, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYTHRAEAE, POAS ON ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.
This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which foster in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruption, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alternative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.
Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.
During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no extractive properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointments have followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irreproachable by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle, Six Bottles for $5.
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has won for itself such a reputation for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to repeat the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

The Great European Remedy.

Patented by Royal Letters Patent of England, and sanctioned by all the great Continental Colleges of Medicine.

DR DE ROOS' GUTTE VITE, or LIFE DROPS, are the great remedy for Spasmodics, Exhaustion, Nervousness, Debility, Aversion to and Incapacity for Society, Study or Business, Shaking of the Hands and Limbs, Indigestion, Flatulence, Shortness of Breath, Asthma, Consumptive Habits, Dimness of Sight, Dizziness, Pains in the Head, Eruptions, Sore Throat, Pains in the Bones, and all those diseases for which mercury, arsenic, &c., are too often employed, to the utter destruction of health. Their almost marvellous powers must be felt to be believed. Hundreds of apparently hopeless cases have been cured, and thousands almost miraculously relieved, when every thing else had failed; and they must sooner or later supersede all these questionable remedies which have hitherto been the sole reliance of English medical men.

Price 11s. and four times the quantity at 33s. per bottle, of the Agents below. The 25 packages containing twelve 11s. quantities, (by which £1 12s. are saved), will be sent from the Retailers, on receipt of the amount per draft on a London house or otherwise.

CAUTION.—Sufferers must guard against the recommendation of spurious or other medicines by unprincipled vendors, who thereby obtain a larger profit. The words "W. De Roos, London," are printed in White letters on the Stamp affixed to the above, by order of HER MAJESTY'S HONORABLE COMMISSIONERS, to protect the public against fraud, as without this none can be genuine, and to imitate which is felony.

At New, speedy, and most successful mode of treating Spasmodics, Nervous Debility and all Irregularities of the System. See the full particulars in the Author's Book, or post free from the Author for 1s.

THE MEDICAL ADVISER on decaying both mental and physical, arising from excesses, infection, climate, &c.; remarks upon the use of the Microscope, and the diseases of the Brain, and the diseases of the Nervous System, observations on Marriage, the prevention and removal of certain disqualifications; rules for self-treatment, &c. By WALTER DE ROOS, A. D. of the Ecole de Medecine, Paris; Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London; resident in Midwifery, &c. &c. 18, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London. Hours for Medical consultation daily from 1 till 4, Sun. day excepted.

beSOLD in Dublin by Berry, 162, Great Britain street; Edinburgh, Robinson, 11, Green-street; Glasgow, Love, Bookseller, and by all the Agents.

From long practical observation of the most serious cases in the various institutions of London and Paris for those diseases referred to in the above work, the Author has had some of the most successful facilities for acquiring that accuracy of diagnosis, and uniform success, which have characterized his practice for so many years in this country, in which the treatment of these diseases by medical men generally, and the attempts to cure by mercury, opium, arsenic, &c., have produced most distressing results. Lasting benefit in such cases can only be reasonably expected at the hands of the legally-qualified medical man who has the character to his credit, and the necessary qualifications, can confidence be safely extended. Dr. De Roos refers with pride to the numbers he has been instrumental in restoring to health and happiness; and to those who may be in need of such aid, he offers every assurance of speedy restoration.

Persons residing abroad can be successfully treated by correspondence, on sending a description of their case, with a Bank note, or Bill of Exchange, for £5, in order to have a packet of medicines sufficient to meet the exigencies of the case, sent out by next mail; thus avoiding unnecessary loss of valuable time, and much suffering which might otherwise occur.

Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Dislocation of the Kidneys and Bladder, Stricture, &c.

DR. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS are a well known safe and speedy remedy for the above dangerous complaints, Dislocation of the Kidneys, and all Disorders of the Urinary Organs generally. Possessing delicate properties, they agree with the most delicate stomach, improve the health, and in three days effect a cure when copious, cubens, and all such dangerous medicines have failed.

Agents below, or post free on receipt of the amount by Dr. DE ROOS, 10, Berners Street, Oxford-st., London.

The superiority of these celebrated Pills over every other kind of medicine, is so generally acknowledged, and the extraordinary demand for them without precedent.

Many there are, who, from natural diffidence, or fear of discovery, would silently bear their afflictions rather than apply to a medical man; they may reasonably expect relief. With the above Pills, the sufferer may without the knowledge of a second person, cure himself speedily, privately, and at the least possible expense.

Sold at Langley's Drug Store, Holli-street, Halifax, Nova Scotia; at Hamard, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island; Ward, New Office, Sydney, Cape Breton; Ashton, Richardson & Co., Mount Road, Madras; Hulse & Nephew, Agents; Freshair & Co., Penang and Kuching; Smith & Co., Singapore; Dodsworth & Co., Clark, Rome & Co., and Gawn & Co., Colombo and Candy; Lyman & Co., Montreal; Penrose & Co., 1, Military Square, Bombay; R.
