English ships were sent to demand its surrender and that the Chinese evacuate the place. The British then hoisted their flag, and the other flagships thereupon went thither and put up their respective flags over the forts." Washington, Oct. 3.-A feeling of buoyant optimism prevails among officials here today relative to the Chinese troubles that warrants the belief in the existence of a sound foundation, based on recent developments, in pending negotiations. It is evidently the conviction, officially that a rapprochement among the powers is near at

A Day at Dorchester's Famous Annual Fair.

The Institution Improves With Advancing Years-Yesterday's Results Fully Sustained the Show's Well-Earned and Enviable Reputation-The Crowd-The Races-The Prize

A straggling village is Dorchester, and yet imposing enough, as it stands high on one of the cliffs that rise on either side above the sleepy, shallow northern branch of the Thames. Comfort and contentment are bespoken by the cosy little homes that are seen there, and during all the year a certain appearance of calm and quiet rests about the quaint little place. A visitor might easily imagine that no occurrence could awaken it from the repose that is so apparent. But one event does change it, and the transformation is as complete as when the weak nittle stream that barely trickles over the stones at the base of the hill is changed by the thaws of springtime into a raging flood that strains the banks which hold it to its narrow channel, and surges onward to the city. The warmth of an awakening nature sends little bits of rivulets from all the tributary country down to the main stream, and the result is the forceful torrent.

In much the same way, with the quickening influences of congenial comradeship and the genuine fun that no one ever becomes too old to enjoy, the country all about Dorchester sends to the village on one day of each year its most beautiful daughters and its manliest sons, and the result is "Donnybrook," the most popular of all

Ontario's smaller country fairs.

Agricultural exhibitions without number have been founded during late years, only to flash into prominence and live for a while upon the fickle favor of a vacillating public, and then sputter out when a new plaything rose in view. Not so with "Donny-brook," however. For no small number of years—45, in fact—has it lived, and each year has strengthened its hold upon future success. Few fairs can boast of a similar record, merely simple accumulation of decades, would be unimportant were it not that every exhibition has entrenched "Donnybrook" more firmly in the hearts of Rawlins, Crumlin.

WONDERFULLY POPULAR. No one who was in Dorchester yesterday could have any doubt concern- Talbot; 2, D. Palmer. ing "Donnybrook's" wonderful popularity, nor could there be any hazy ideas about the causes of its popularity. By moontime the hotel barns were all fill- son: 2. A. every road for miles around, as the representatives of scores of villages and Palmer. hundreds of farms drove in to see the successor of Ireland's most famous show. The trains bore goodly numbers also, and when the show was going at A. Walters.
Its usual fast and happy gait the gathenormous number, and seemed larger still because of the rather cramped space in which they moved. A JOLLY COMPANY. No jollier crowd ever rubbed shoulders than that which bumped about the uneven grounds that "Donnybrook" calls its home. The "man who knows" once said that the best attraction it is possible to secure for a public place is a crowd. This theory would explain "Donnybrook's" popularity perhaps. But, to paraphrase an old saying, there are crowds and other crowds, and Rodgers. among them is one that expects too much, and is sore and grumpy when it doesn't get it. Well, that is not the "Donnybrook" crowd. Imagine its antithesis and you have the good-natured assortment of humanity that so thoroughly enjoyed itself yesterday.

A GREAT SUCCESS. Everything was favorable. The warm sun smiled down upon the scene from an unclouded sky, and the weather was perfect in all respects. The entries were most excellent. The various departments were well filled, and in quality as well as in quantity, they surpassed those of previous years. The finer departments were housed in the main building, where there was found a tempting array of fruits and other rticles of consumption; some beautibul ladies' work and several very credstable specimens of painting and drawing. The show of live stock was remarkably good and of especial excel-lence was the exhibit of poultry.

There was an abundance of oth : attractions; sideshows, with the a ways wonderful interiors and the megaphone-mouthed announcers; the wooden-headed darkey whom so many make futile efforts to knock out, and the ubiquitous "it's-an-honest-game" men. All these and many more, were present, and made their portion of the day's history.

THE ATTRACTIONS. The "Donnybrook" district is a good horse-loving country, whose women enjoy a spirited contest as much as their sweethearts and husbands. Seldom, if ever, are either disappointed, for the fair's races are famous for the vim with which they are run. Some speedy nags are entered, too, and a man or beast generally bobs up tho, by reason of some peculiarity, affords e desired amount of fun. Certain It is that no cheers are ever heartier than those that greet a winner as it speeds up from the stretch, and no laughs are more good-natured than those that fall upon the ears of a slow horse's owner. little excitement was occasioned once by a smashup, caused by two sulkies colliding. It subsided when the band that was in the ring began to play, which it kindly refrained from ng any oftener than was necessary. After the band had allayed the excitement of the sulkies' mixup, the crowd's interest was attracted from that to a young gentleman, Professor Dawe by name, who did things on a slack wire. The results of the races were as follows:

TOO NERVOUS

Many Pale, Weak Men and Women Find Themselves Daily Growing Weaker and Fast Approaching Nervous Collapse and Prostration - Their Only Hope Is In the Use of

NERVE UNHOE O

In sleep and rest alone can nature repair the daily waste of the body and store up the energies required for the duties of the day following. If the nerves are weak and exhausted, and you lie awake, longing for morning to come, you know that you will arise tired and worn out, and one day nearer to nervous collapse, nervous prostration or paralysis.

Sleeplessness, irritability, headache, neuralgia, loss of energy and ambition, confusion of the mental powers, and feelings of lassitude and despondency are among the indications of an exhausted nervous system.

The first thought is to take some opiate to induce sleep, a grave error, be played on neutral and physical wreck could warn you. There is no rest, no restoration in sleep, or rather unconsciousness, produced by opiates, and the deadening effect on the nerves merely bastens

The most natural and most thorough nerve restorative obtainable is that which is known as Dr. Chase's Nerve ing new, red corpuscles in the blood, and rekindling the vitality of the wasted nerve cells, gradually and perfectly restores new life and vigor to the weak and run-down system.

There is no guesswork, no experimenting, and no faith required when It is composed of the elements of nature, which go to form new nerve tissue, and can no more fail than can the laws of nature.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills) is no miracle worker. Though many cures brought about by its use were truly miraculous, it was after the treatment was used regularly and persistently for many weeks or months, as the case required. You can be absolutely assured of a restored and revitalized nervous system if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills) according to directions. The phenomenal growth in the strongest evidence of its wonderful merit. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2 50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. Imitators do not dare to reproduce the portrait and sig-1 nature of Dr. Chase, which are on every box of the genuine.

> A series of articles dealing with certain aspects of the Paris Exposition is now appearing in the Outlook. Among the authors of articles already published have been Mr. Robert Donald, of the London Municipal Journal, and Charles Wagner, the author of "Youth" and "Justice"—books which have done much to rouse France to a new moral sense and hope for the future. Mme. Blanc (Th. Benzon) writes on the "Woman's Side of the Exposition" in the Outlook for Sept. 20, while to the October magazine number of the Outlook, Dr. W. H. Tolman, secretary of the League for Social Service, contributes an illustrated article on "Social Economics in the Exposition." Among other articles to follow will be one on the "Pictorial Side of the Exposition," by the well-known artist and author, Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith, which will be illustrated from paintings made expressly for this purpose by Mr. Smith.

ARE NAUSEOUS

Coffee Is Bad Bnough, and Pine Lum ber Is Still Worse, But the Pumes From Warm, Moist Sugar Are Enough to Kill an Ordinary Man.

It was in one of the little river front eating houses in Brooklyn frequented by sailors from the coasters which are loading or unloading. A big, powerful sailor who looked as if he had never in his life known what it was to be sick for a day entered and took a chair opposite a longshoreman who had already ordered and was waiting for his dinner. As the sailor was looking over the bill of fare with that critical and hesitant eye that characterizes Jack ashore from a Mohawk Chief, W. Lucas ....... 2 long voyage with a discriminating sea appetite upon him, the waiter brought in a cup of steaming coffee and set it down before the longshoreman. As the odor of it reached the sailor's nostrils he bent upon the cup a gaze of concentrated disgust and hatred. Then he turned deadly pale, rose from his seat and staggered toward the door. "Been drinking a little too much for your tonnage, mate?" asked the proprietor, helping him to the door. "Haven't had a drop today." said the man huskily. "It's that coffee." "What's the matter with the coffee?" asked the proprietor angrily. "There ain't any better coffee than that on the river front."

"That's all right," replied the sailor with an effort, "but I just got in off a coffee ship this morning."

"Oh," said the preprietor comprehendingly. "If that's the case, I'll fix you off in the corner, where you'll be all right." A table was set for him far from the others, and there he ate his dinner in apparent peace. Now, ther was in the eating house a landsman of __ inquiring turn of mind who failed to understand the wherefore of all this, so he questioned the proprietor, who has been long on the river front and is himself a graduate from before the mast and has sailed in many waters of the world.

"Nothing queer about that," he said in response to the landsman's question. -"He's been out on a coffee ship; that's all. He won't want to see or smell coffee for weeks, let alone taste it." "Do they feed them nothing but coffee on the coffee ships?" asked the landsman in the innocence of his soul.

"Feed 'em? 'Tisn't the feed; it's the smell that knocks 'em. For a week or ten days it isn't bad; it fact, it's rather a pleasant smell, that of the green berry, but after that it begins to get on your mind. In damp weather, if it's a long voyage, it's something terrible.

"There's other cargoes," continued the ex-sailor, "that's just as bad. You might think guano was one of 'em, but it isn't. Guano's Rose of Sharon perfume compared to sugar. Didn't suppose there was any smell to sugar, eh? Well, you take it in a bowl and there ain't. But take a cargo of it and let it steam in a temperature of from 90 to 110, with plenty of damp to work it up, and I'd like to see what you'd think of it then. You get so mortal sick of the sweetness of it. which you smell and taste, too, with every breath, that you'd be glad to fill up with anything that would offset it, even If it was wormwood. I've seen the time I felt as if I could drink a gallon of vinegar flavored with lemon juice at a gulp. That voyage was a sufferer, sure enough We couldn't live between decks at all and we all herthed as near the stern rail as we could get and even put out the small boats when it was still and lay in them to get relief. "When provisions had to be got out of the hold, the cook went down with jute bagging tied over his nose and mouth to keep out the fumes, but after a couple of trips he fainted, and they sent me in. Two descents laid me out. I thought I was going to die. In my time I've seen folks that were tolerable seasick, but all they did was a maiden's sigh to my performances. If it wasn't convulsions, it was so mighty near it that I thought I was gone and felt like I couldn't go too quick to suit myself. They brought me around with lime juice, but it was weeks after landing before I wanted any sweetening in mine. "The fact is that in the tropics almost any cargo you have kind of tinges existence for you. Oil is pretty tough, particularly petroleum. A man'll dream of petroleum after he's associated with it for a month or so en shipboard. But pine lumber really takes the cake when it fairly gets into everything. I never happened to suffer much from that sort of cargo myself, but I saw a crew that came just as near death from too much pine resin as men can come and pull through.

"We were in port at Rio when a ship came in laden with pine lumber. More than that, the fool of a skipper had let somebody supply him with pine water butts. Well, the resin began to get into the water, and first they knew the crew was pretty well poisoned with it. Then they got so that they couldn't swallow the water at all, or if they did they couldn't hold it down a second. And there wasn't any other water aboard. They were in mighty great danger of dying of thirst with pleuty of water aboard just because the old man was new to that kind of voyaging. Rio happened to be the nearest port, and, though it was far out of their course, they put for it as the only chance of saving their lives. I'd hate to see again such a looking lot as they were. They were dried out like mummies and so weak that I don't see how they ever worked the ship at all. When they got in, we thought at first it was black smallpox, they were such fearful looking objects. When they did get sweet water again, they drank till I thought they'd burst, and how they did fight when we tried to get the pannikins away for fear they'd kill themselves! Some of 'em died in the hospital from the effects. I never shipped on a pine loaded ship after seeing that."

A Pain Remedy. For over fifty years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world.

The True Relief, Radway's Ready Relief

For Internal and External Use. In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Cloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chioral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shut up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these dangerous and ancertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, with-out entailing the least danger in either infant

It instantly stops the most exeruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

No matter how violent or exeruciating the pains the Rheumatic, Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crip-pled, Nervous, Neuralgio or prostrated with disease may suffer,

All Coming Home.

At last general election in the Dominion it was noteworthy that some of the Liberals who in 1878 broke away from their party, because they thought times were so bad that it was possible they could be improved by a change of government, came back and supported Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Very many more are in the present contest giving their adhesion to the Government of today and its policy, and more than one seat which was carried by Sir Charles Tuptest elect & Liberal because of these sweeping changes. A case in point is York, New Brunswick, where Mr. Foster, the ex-Finance Minister, went when he was driven from King's by the redoubtable Col. Domville. Today Mr. Foster is again on the hunt for another seat. He knows that he cannot be elected in York, so great is the turn over of the industrial classes in favor of the present Government, and he public, that there is not a constituency such cherished Conservative idols. In the Maritime Provinces to which he may turn for election and hope to get It without the struggle of his life, and probably not even then. The new era Is a bad one for the frigid politician, and he has more than the usual number of "moments of weakness."

The Changed Conditions.

The Opposition is making little impression upon the country in its attempt to convict the Government of inconsistency in their policy with regard to public expenditure. They are very prior to the election of 1896, denounced the Tory expenditure as unwarrantably high. Every newspaper reader is familiar with Sir Richard Cartwright's declaration at that time that an exunder the then conditions of Canada. What is Sir Richard's comment now upon that statement? He declared in structure. London the other day: "I thought so then, I think so still, and were the conditions the same, I would use my utmost exertions to cut down the expenditure: but Mr. Foster keeps back from the people whom he addresses these important facts, that at the time I considered an expenditure of $38,000,-000 excessive, at that moment we had a deficit of over four millions of dollars on the expenditure of the current year. He keeps back the fact that since that time the revenues of Canada have practically, to all intents and purposes, trebled, because at that moment all that we had to spend over and above our fixed charges was something like six or seven millions of dollars, while today the amount at our disposal, exclusive of our fixed charges, is something like twenty-one millions of dollars, three times the income at our disposal for all practical purposes that we possessed in 1895 and 1896. He keeps back the all-important fact, in my mind, that up to 1895 and 1896 the exodus of our people was practically unchecked, and the growth of the population in Canada had fallen below that of many old-established European kingdoms, while in the last four years we have every reason to believe that the growth of population has resumed its normal figure in Canada, and that we have added within those four years probably .500,000 people to the total population. So that if you choose to measure the burdens of the people by a per capita standard, our expenditure today would be-even for the self-same services that he purposed to ask $38,-300,000 for-found per head to be very considerably less than the expenditure which Mr. Foster himself proposed a matter of four years ago, deducting always all those additional charges, and which practically cost the people of Canada nothing whatever."

A Live Railway Company. Canadians are every day being brought to realize the fact that whatever the Grand Trunk Railway system sets its hand to do, that something is done well. Whether it be a magnificent project like the reconstruction of the Victoria Jubilee Bridge across the St. Lawrence at Montreal, the erection of a single arch bridge across the Niagara River, or the establishment of a new train service, the Grand Trunk Railway has proved itself the peer of any road on the continent in the designing and execution of its projects. Even its | Charles Tupper. advertising features have shown a steady development, until today this railway is an effective advertising agent for Canada in Great Britain and the United States. One of the most attractive booklets ever issued in Canada is the one being sent out by this railway as a souvenir of the opening of the Victoria Jubilee Bridge at Montreal. #### Canada is well satisfied with Laurier.

There is considerable hilarity over the numerous "claims" of Sir Charles Tupper. His latest is that he passed the alien labor law. This, as the Brockville Times points out, is nonsense. That law was not passed until the Laurier Government came into power, though the Conservative party was in power for eighteen long years. The late Government or Governments did not introduce an alien labor bill as a Government measure, but as a blind. Mr. George Taylor did so once or twice, and it was snuffed out. Sir Charles must think that Canadian people do not read the news of the day.

The conduct of the Opposition leader in having a policy in Quebec Province that "Sir Wilfrid Laurier is too British for him," and in Ontario that the Premier is "disloyal and not nearly British enough," calls up Abraham Lincoln's story of the two-faced candidate Total surplus for three years of for Congress, who, while really running as a Democrat, professed to the celebrated Republican President that he was the warmest friend he had ever had, "He reminds me," said Lincoln to Brown had. Household Economic Convention Discusses the Servant Girl Problem.

Toronto, Oct. 4 .- At yesterday afternoon's session of the National Household Economic Convention the "servan girl problem" came up for debate. It was remarked that as there are 100 typewriter girls seeking places for one cook, commercial education for girls be dropped out of the public school curriculum and cooking put in its place. Mrs. Helen Campbell, author of "Prisoners of Poverty," made a vigorous speech, saying the age was one of progress, and the domestic, after long years, was coming to her own. Those engaged in this work were going to rise in the social plane, possibly by the general adoption of the New Zealand system of domestic labor bureaus, graduated kages and other regulations, raising domestic service to the status of a trade. Mrs. Florence Kelly said her experience in Hull House, Chicago, had proved that the real objection to do-mestic service was that it separated girls from their own home life. Mrs. Sheiler, of New York, who ed the discussion, said simpler life in the American home and a better understanding as to hours of labor were the chief things required to restore domestic service to favor.

British Election Will Not Change Several Persons Hurt-One Killed the Complexion of the House.

Liberals Have Gained Ten Seats, Conservatives Seven.

British Have a Hard Tussle With Ashantees-Osman Pasha Flees From Constantinople.

London, Thursday, Oct. 4-2 a.m.-The results of yesterday's polling in the parliamentary general elections were less striking than those of Tuesday. The Conservative majorities still show increases in numerous contests, but in a less marked degree. On the other hand, the Liberals have gained additional seats. On the whole

WILL NOT BE MUCH CHANGE in the complexion of the new parliament. As matters stand now, out of 287 candidates returned the relative strength of parties is as follows:

Liberals (including Labor members).47 Nationalists ... 28
Altogether the Liberals have gained ten seats and the Conservatives seven.
Only one Conservative seat was gained yesterday, but it was a very important victory. In the Brightside division of Sheffield, an industrial constituency, held for ten years by the late Mr. Anthony J. Mundella, who was succeeded by Mr. Fred Madison, in 1897, the Madison majority of 183 was converted by Mr. J. F. Hope, Ministerialist into a Conservative Ministerialist, into a Conservative majority of 964.

At Derby the Liberals had a striking success, recovering there the two seats wrested in the general election of 1895 from Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt and Sir Thomas Roe, by Sir Henry Howe-Bemrose and Mr. Geoffrey Drage.

Yesterday's unopposed returns include Mr. William Wither Bramston Beach, Conservative, known as the father of the House of Commons, who has represented Andover since 1857; Mr. Joseph Austen Chamberlain, eidest son of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Liberal-Unionist, and Mr. John Dillon, the former chairman of the Irish parliamentary party.

The result of the election in the Merthyr Tydvil district of Wales was as follows: David A. Thomas, eral, 8,598; James Keir Hardie, Labor. 5,745; William Pritchard Morgan, Liberal, 4,004. The Labor party thus 5,745; gains a seat from the Liberals by the defeat of Mr. Morgan. Paris, Oct. 3.-Gen. Osman Pasha, a joist. near relative of the deceased Osman Pasha, the "hero of Plevna," arrived yesterday at Marseilles from Constantinople, whence he fled owing to the sultan's suspicions that he was engaged in conspiracy. He embarked surreptitiously on the steamer Bagdad, in order to rejoin his relative. Mahmoud Pasha, in Paris. It appears that a number of arrests have recently been made in connection with the alleged plot. THE VATICAN ROBBERY.

Rome, Oct. 4.—The Italian police have begun an investigation into the burglary at the Vatican, where thieves the other day forced a safe and carried off securities worth 357,000 lire, and 3,000 lire in silver. Four persons are under suspicion, and one was arrested this morning. The Tribuna says the Italian police warned the Vatican police in July of last year that a plan was on foot to commit some such robbery. It is believed that the stolen property does not belong, as was originally asserted, to the management of the apostolic palace, but is a part of the private funds of the pope.

HAD A HARD TUSSLE. London, Oct. 4 .- A dispatch to the Morning Post from Kumassie reports that heavy fighting took place last Sunday between Col. Willcock's column and the Ashantees at Abu Asu. 'After heavy firing," says the dispatch, the British column made an effectual attempt to charge the Ashantee positions, but was obliged to retire and to resume the rifle duel, while awaiting reinforcements. Eventually, after hard work, Col. Willcocks captured the positions and occupied the village Isansu without opposition. Subsequently the British carried three other villages at the point of the bayonet and burned them. Seventy Ashantees were killed. The British losses were Major Melliss and Capt. Luard, severely wounded; three officers slightly wounded, three men killed and 28 others wounded. A flying column of 800 men, with two guns, was sent Monday in pursuit of the enemy."

ANNUAL MEETING

The London Liberal Association Elect Officers-A Pleasant and Enthusi astic Occasion.

A largely-attended meeting was held last night at the Liberal headquarters, No. 386 Richmond street, for the purpose of holding the annual meeting and reorganizing the London Liberal Association. Judging by the enthusiasm which characterized the proceedings throughout, the Liberals of London will enter upon the campaign with full energy of purpose.

The chair was taken by Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, who briefly outlined the purposes for which the meeting was called. He then called for nominations for the office of president.

Mr. T. H. Purdom Q.C., moved, and Mr. J. B. McKillop seconded, the nomination of Mr. George C. Gibbons, Q.C., and his election was made unanimous. On rising to accept the office, Mr. Gibbons was received with hearty applause. In an address full of practical them God-speed on their journey. Gibbons was received with hearty apsuggestions, he said that this was a time for Liberals to do their duty as special stress on the necessity for perfect organization. and elsewhere.

The report of the poll at Westminster was: Mr. Burdett-Coutts, Conford was also partially buried, but leonard second vice-president; Dr. Cl. The following additional officers were Leonard, second vice-president; Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, third vice-president; W. J. Harvey, secretary-treasurer; executive committee, T. H. Purdom, Q.C., J. W. Little, Mayor Rumball, Daniel Regan, R. W. Bennet, J. W. Jones, Thomas Coffey, Ald. Brener, John Cameron, Hume Cronyn, John Camp-> to their number. It was decided to send twelve delegates from each division to the con-vention which will be held shortly at the call of the executive. A number of the leading Liberals present were then called upon, and they delivered brief, bright and pithy speeches. Mr. T. H. Purdom, Q.C., who was received with applause, said there never was a greater opportunity than now for a sweeping Liberal victory in the Dominion. Their great leader's reputation and their party's record were favorable to it. A fervid outburst of enthusiasm greeted Mr. Purdom's statement that London should send a practical business man to support the practical business administration in Ottawa. He believed they would be able to place before the electors of London a candidate whose ability and experience made him as effective a candidate, under the circumstance of fair play he could now be sure of, as could be found in all Canada. Mr. Purdom also dealt with the splendid administrative record of the government.

Mr. John Cameron said that with a perfect organization from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there was no reasonable doubt of the result of the coming con-flict in its national aspect. He referred to the three great classes into which voters might be divided, and which party workers should do well to keep in mind; first, the standbys, the staunch Liberals who are the backbone of the party; second, the somewhat neutral class, who were much influenced by the prosperity or otherwise of the country for the time being; third, the young men, a very important class to consider. He referred to the signficant fact that the manufacturers were now satisfied with the steady tariff policy and the trade rec-

OF THE HOUR ord of the Laurier administration.

Mayor Rumball said he had always kept politics out of municipal matters, and intended to do so; but when it came to Dominion or provincial political contests, he naturally took his place and share in the conflict side by side with his fellow-Liberals. There were a number of good possible candidates, any one of whom could be easily re-turned by the Liberals of London. Mr. Hume Cronyn emphasized the fact that perfect organization was imperative. There was no doubt of the result if the man they all had in their minds was the candidate. He compared the Conservatives' implied claim to the exclusive privilege of governing Canada, to the exploded theory of the divine right of kings. The Liberals have demonstrated that they can rule wisely and promote prosperity.

Mr. Philip Pocock, who was heartily received, placed on record his confidence that with the right man as candidate, and suitable organization, success would be assured

Mr. Frank Leonard was proud to be present as a Reformer. The enthusi-asm shown, if backed by corresponding effort, assured victory. Mr. J. W. Jones said the prospects were never brighter. All they had to do was take off their coats, go in, and

Mr. Thomas Coffey said he was with them heart and soul in the contest. Sir Charles Tupper did not seem to realize yet that he was out of power-(laughter)-but he would know it after the election.

Mr. Alex. Stuart, Q.C., echoed the conviction of the previous speakers. As an old campaigner, Mr. Stuart gave some admirable suggestions. The enthusiastic meeting adjourned cheers for the Queen and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Some Advice Anent Returning Soldiers.

There Should Be No Incitement to Excessive Drinking-Praise for the Volunteers.

London, Oct. 4 .- Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief of the forces, in a note to the public anent the return of the City Imperial Volunteers, asks all Englishman, while welcoming the men, not to offer them intoxicants. He mentions the fact that their employers on boy, who was recently sent to St. have kept their situations open for many of them, but others will have to seek work, and it is important that they should maintain their good record for steadiness and sobriety. He con-cludes as follows: "I trust that the greeting to the brave soldiers who are returning from the war will be something better than simply the incitement to excessive drinking, and that all will remember that whoever encourages them in this is really their worst enemy.'

"BOBS" PROUD OF THEM.

Pretoria, Oct. 4.-Lord Roberts reviewed the City of London Imperial Volunteers, who are on their way home, today. He told the men he was proud to be their honorary colonel. They had distinguished themselves in the field, and had marched 1,800 miles in four months. He referred to their losses in battle and from sickness, and said any regiment might be proud of their record. Lord Roberts said the regiment was allowed to return so early in consideration of the fact that their situations were being held open by their employers.

VALUE OF VOLUNTEERS. Speaking of soldiers, Gen. Roberts said he had always been a firm beilever in the value of volunteers. When he was commander-in-chief in India he was the first to utilize the services of the Calcutta volunteers on active duty, and the grand work of the City Inperial Regiment and other volunteers in the South African campaign had strengthened his belief in this direction. He told the men that on their arrival home they would get a grand reception from their fellow-country-men, and, doubtless, also from their fellow-countrywomen. carry home in their hearts to England the recollection of their experiences with their comrades. Miss Maud Hooper, City, United in Marriage to Mr. Lester E. Dell. of Omaha. Neb.

A charming house wedding took place this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hooper, 176 Horton street, when their only daughter, Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. Lester E. Dell, of Omaha, Neb. The decorations of the rooms were of a most artistic character, being composed of flowers and Canadian and American flags, intermingled. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the young couple were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. Johnston. The bride was attended by Miss Dur-kee, of Detroit, and Mr. W. B. Somerville, of Detroit, acted as groomsman. The bride was exquisitely attired in a castor broadcloth traveling Her dress, with large picture hat. bouquet was of white roses, while the bridesmaid carried red roses. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a dainty breakfast. Among the numerous handsome presents received by the bride was a magnificent silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ward. In Pennsylvania Coal Regions-Concessions Fail to Influence Strikers.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 4 .- The only incident of the morning in the Hazleton region worth mentioning was the march of about 200 mine workers from the Diamond in the northern part of the city to No. 40 shaft of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company in the eastern section of the town, where they expected to get more men to quit. Sheriff Harvey reasoned with the men, tell-ing them that if they placed a foot on private grounds he would be compelled to arrest them for trespasses. The strikers took the county official's advice and dispersed.

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 4.-Concessions announced yesterday by the Phila-delphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company were not sufficient to induce the striking mine workers of the Schuylkill region to return to the collieries today.

Gen. Corbin stated today that his information from the Panther Creek Valley was to the effect that all the coilleries there were working as usual, and no trouble was anticipated.

Addressed by Germany to the Powers

In Regard to the Emperor's Edict, Punishment of Certain Chinese Princes-Unity of Action.

Berlin, Oct. 4 .- An official of the foreign office informs the correspondent of the Associated Press that Germany is issuing a second note to the powers regarding the methods of securing punishment for those guilty of the outrages in China. This note is issued as a result of the edict of the Emperor of China beginning proceedings against Prince Tuan and others.

Berlin, Oct. 4.-The new German note is as follows: "The Emperor of China has addressed to the powers an edict, dated Sept. 25, in which he orders the punishment of a number of princes and dignitaries (mentioned by name), for having en-couraged the Boxers. On the assumption that the edict is genuine, the Gerarduous task-to acquire the scholar- man Government, in furtherance of the procedure proposed in its circular note of Sept. 17, has further proposed to the powers to come to an agreement to instruct their diplomatic representatives in China to examine and give their opinion on the following points: "First-Whether the list contained in the edict of persons to be punished is sufficient and correct. "Second-Whether the punishments proposed meet the case. "Third-In what way the powers can control the carrying out of the penalties imposed.

UNITY OF ACTION.

Washington, Oct. 4. - The United States Government has taken another decisive step in the development of the Chinese situation in a note delivered today by Secretary Hay to the German charge d'affaires. Baron Speck Von Sternberg. In the note favorable action by this government on Germany's latest suggestion concerning the punishment of Chinese criminals is expressed, and the announcement is made that the United States has already sent instructions to Minister Conger along the lines indicated. The instructions to Minister Conger are that he shall learn the names of the Chinese offenders who are to be punished: also whether the punishment to he administered is adequate to their offenses, and finally, whether the punishments are actually administered. The American note is considered most important in the establishment of complete unity of action between the United States and Germany.

MEDS' MERRY MIX-UP

Freshmen at the Medical School Get Their Bumps at the Hands of Second Year Men.

This morning the annual hustle and initiation of the freshmen at the Medical School by the second year men was enjoyed by the latter and endured by the former, with as much fortitude as they could command under the depressing circumstances. The freshmen were a stalwart crowd, and not disposed to yield easily to the prowess of the second year men. They put up a strong defense and a Herculean struggle ensued. It was twelve minutes before the last resistant was overpowered and consigned to the gloomy depths of "the hole," there to receive liberal deluges of water and volleys of firecrackers. When they had been incarcerated for a period judged sufficient for the chastening and humbling of their spirits, they were released in batches of four, led to the dissecting room, and there, with many weird and ghastly rites, initiated into the noble fraternity medical students, swearing by the sacred beard of the janitor, and many another horrid oath, to hereafter acknowledge humbly the superiority both physically and mentally - of the second year and senior students, and to accept such other conditions of freshmanship as were deemed needful. Then in peace and amity all adjourned to the lecture room, where an impromptu programme of songs, stories, speeches and graphophone selections was rendered. During the proceedings somebody-no one knows who-pulled the fire alarm box at the corner, and the central and East End sections of the brigade responded. Chief Roe and the fire laddies took in the situation. and good-humoredly accepted it, and they were roundly cheered as they drove off. Somebody-no one knows who-telephoned for the patrol wagon, and Driver Jack Robinson and P. Harry Down were quickly on the spot. were promptly informed that They they had been had for come-ons, and they, too, enjoyed the joke. The concert over, the merry students dispersed.

Developments of British Elections.

Nationalists and Conservatives Both Lose a Seat in Dublin-Ladies Take Part in the Campaign.

London, Oct. 4.-In the parliamentary elections now passing, Mr. F. R. Burnham, the famous American scout who was on Lord Roberts' staff in South Africa, has been assisting the canvas of Mr. F. G. Ricarde Seaver (Conservative) in Newington, West London. Many ladies are engaged in electioneering, some of them making speeches and doing other work very success-

The Primrose League has issued an adroit circular to the effect that 33,836 more marriages occurred during four years of Conservative administration than during the previous corresponding period of Liberal rule. The Conservatives hold Newcastle by enormously increased majorities, and Capt. Lambton, of the British cruiser Powerful, upon whom the Liberals counted to deal a crushing blow to the government, finds himself at the bottom of the poll.

NATIONALIST DEFEATED. Mr. James Lawrence Carew, Irish Nationalist, has been defeated in the College Green division of Dublin, which he represented in the last parliament, the opposition to him growing out of the fact that he attended a levee of the Duke of York. Mr. Carew's friends seized upon the opportunity of Mr. John Howard Parnell, brother of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, losing his seat at South Meath to put Mr. Carew forward without his knowledge for South Meath. SUMMING UP. The Conservatives have captured another seat, Sunderland, from the Liberals. The results of yesterday's elections, announced up to 1:52 p.m. today, show the total number of returns to date to be 309, as follows: Ministerialists, 220; Liberals, 54; Nationalists, 36.

A LADY'S PROTEST. The Countess of Waryick has intervened in behalf of a Liberal, Mr. J. U. Stevens, who is trying to oust Sir John Stone, Conservative, from East Birmingham. Her ladyship's telegram, which is placarded today, says: "I do not participate in party politics, but as an indignant protest against the slighting remarks of a minister of the crown on Labor representatives, and as a fellow-laborer in the great Labor cause, I ask you to convey to Counsellor Stevens my best hopes for his success. Lady Warwick referred to the remarks made by Mr. Chamberlain at Birmingham, Sept. 29, when he attacked the Labor members of parliament, none of whom, he said, in 25 years, had initiated legislation for the benefit of the working classes.

The Conservatives suffered defeat in the St. Stephen's Green division of Dublin, the polling being as follows: J. McCann, Independent Nationalist, 3,-431; Campbell, Conservative, 2,853.

LAURIER IN QUEBEC EAST

The Premiers of the Dominion and Quebec Honored.

Quebec, Oct. 3.-Quebec East was en fete tonight in honor of its representatives in the House of Commons and Legislative Assembly, the prime ministers respectively of the Dominion and of the Province of Quebec. Nothing could have been more enthusiastic than the reception accorded Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Premier Parent by their constituents this evening, and when Sir Wilfrid declared that in the coming elections he would be again a candidate for the votes of the electors of the division, he was cheered to the echo, and it was some time before the enthusiasm sufficiently subsided to enable him to continue his speech. No hall in Quebec would hold a quarter of the multitude of people that thronged to see the greatest Canadian of his time, and the addresses were delivered from the gallery of a house overlooking the mense square behind the Jacques Cartier market hall. So crowded were all the streets through which the procession escorting the two premiers passed, and so long the procession itself and the route followed, that it was 10 o'clock before the market square was reached by the end of the procession and the speechifying commenced.

When the procession arrived at the Jacques Cartier Hall at least 12,000 spectators were present. Sir Wilfrid was accompanied by Hon. Mr. Parent and several cabinet ministers, and both premiers met with an enthusiastic reception.

A Romance.

necessary to reprint several paragraphs to make the correction plain.]

It was piteous to see how old and worn his face seemed to grow when he was left alone. He slept, and in his sleep he went back to the dreams of his youth, for he murmured continu- had a sweet, clear soprano voice, wellally the one name that seemed to be engraved upon his heart, "Dolores;" while his daughter went to her room, knowing that she held the issue of their lives in her hands. She had promised to think of Lord Rhysworth's but her reasoning powers seemed to not collect her thoughts.

Since yesterday what a change had come over her life! Yesterday she was little more than a child, her girlish heart full of a beautiful love-dream, into which no sorrow, pain or care came-only yesterday; and now she was a woman, with a woman's doom of patient endurance and self-sacrifice hanging over her.

Before she could decide the question which troubled her, she must sit down and think over the events of her life. was when Lola de Ferras went to Ger-True, it had all been passed at White Cliffe; but it was not so devoid of interest as one might expect. She re-membered no other home-indeed, she had had no other; but she recalled some long, bright, happy years, when her fair gentle mother had taught her herself, because she loved her too well to intrust her to anyone else-calm, quiet years that had not a ripple on their surface. Her home had been a tranquil, well-ordered one; life had been smooth as a silent river on a summer day. But there were some scenes her memory that they would never die away; they came to her now. She remembered a fair summer day when she, with her mother, was sitting on the lawn, and the squire came to them full of eager interest in some news he had just heard. Wynchcombe Hall had been purchased by a French lady, a widow, Madame de Ferras, who had been exiled from France for political reasons. She had purchased the Wynchcombe property and had named the hall "Beaulieu." It was reported that she had one daughter and was possessed of ample means.

That will be very nice for Dolores,' Mrs. Cliefden had said. "I have often wished that she had a playmate," and the gentle lady was highly delighted the prospect.

Dolores could remember now, as her parents discussed the newcomers, she wondered in her childish mind what that young playmate would be like, never dreaming that on that day a new element would be brought into her life which would mar and blight it.

She recalled one day, when they went together-the squire, her mother and herself-to visit Madame de Ferras. Dolores remembered the stately, handsome matron with her courtly polished manner, and the startling, vivid beauty of her daughter Lola. Before her dusky beauty the complexions of English girls looked pale and delicate; for Lola de Ferras was gifted with unusual loveliness. She was three years older than Dolores, and there was every reason to belive that they would be friends. Madame de Ferras was delighted with her visitors; she made friends at once with fair and gentle Mrs. Cliefden, was most gracious to the squire, who was full of admiration for her, and charmed with Dolores.

"Why have they given you so sad a name, when you have so bright a face?" she asked. "'Dolores' means sorrow. Surely life will not be sorrowful for you?"

When she asked the question she looked at the mother; but the squire the only one who could have answered it-turned his head.

'Come and make friends with my daugher Lola," said madame, and Dolores remembered how they went out through the open French window to where the dark-haired, alender girl

"How faded she must look near me." The first thought of the English girl was that Lola de Ferras was beautiful after the fashion of the pictures which hung in the gallery at Desping Hurst. Madame left them to entertain each other, little dreaming that she had brought together the two who, of all the world, ought never to have known each other. Then followed other peaceful years, during which there was a constant ex-change of visits between the occupants of Beaulieu and White Cliffe. Child as she was, Dolores, with her delicate refined instinct, did not like Lola. The young French lady was very vain; and there was nothing that she delighted in so much as comparing herself with "You English girls are all so fair," she would say, with a contemptuous shrug of the shoulders. "You yourself, little Dolores, are like a snowdropso white. I like plenty of color, such as I have myself."

Then she would draw the golden hair through her brown fingers and laugh at the color and fineness.

"They call this golden in England?" she would say. "I call it the color of straw."

It was the same with everything; she would surpass Dolores where she could-in music, in dancing, in singing, in riding-and those pursuits in which she could not excel she abandoned at [The omission of a section of the once. Dolores had the correct eye of story in yesterday's issue makes it an artist; she could sketch magnificently and painted well. Lola laughed at her cleverness in these respects. "If you could be a painter like Ary trained, true and flexible; Lola had a melodious low contrakto. There was no comparison, she was always telling Dolores, between the two. Dolores had her own opinion, but did not care enough about the matter to express proposal, to see what she could do; it. Dolores had a dreamy, poetical, artistic nature, ideal and romanic. Lola have left her all at once, and she could was practical, worldly, and matter-of-

So it went on through the long many to school, and fair, gentle Mrs. Cliefden died, quietly and sweetly, as she had lived. She was greatly missed and mourned for by her daughter. No one knew what the squire felt; must have regretted her; for she had been a good wife to him. Her death made Dolores mistress of White Cliffe. She was still very young, but squire said she knew as much as most people and she could complete her ed-ucation by reading with him.

A few years later Lola returned from mer day. But there were some scenes dermany, and then the real rivalry of life began between the two girls. They were both beautiful. Dolores looked like a study by Greuze, Lola like a picture by Velasquez or Titian. Dolores was the type of fair English loveliness, Lola of dark luxuriant beauty.

Dolores remembered their first meeting after so many years. As Dolores was fully occupied, Lola went over to White Cliffe to see her. She started with surprise when she say that three years had changed her from a girl into a most lovely, graceful, and charming woman. She barely waited to exchange greetings before she expressed her opinion. "Dolores," she said, "you have grown up into something like a beauty: I never thought you would."

"For which part of your speech shall I thank you " laughed Dolores. But Lola was contemplating her with a critical eye.

"You are, well—I must say it—beau-tiful. Your hair shines like gold, and your face is like a flower. What lovely eyes! Surely, Dolores, you and I to-gether ought to do something."

"In what way?" asked Dolores. "We ought to make the county fa-mous, and bring the most eligible men in England hither. We ought to be always seen together; we should be excellent foils for each other."

"You are still your old self, Lola," laughed the English girl. "I have not though of such things."

"And I have thought of little else. We are not like other young ladies in the same position; there is no hope that we shall pass through the glories of a London season. My mother will not hear of a season in town and the squire

THE NEW BABY

Opens up a new world to the loving mother. If it is a strong, healthy baby that new world is a world of happiness. If it is a weak, fretful child the new world is full of anxiety. It has been proven in thousands of cases, that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes all the difference between strength and weakness in children. Healthy, happy mothers have healthy, happy children. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and promotes the eccretion of the nourishment necessary to the healthful feeding of the nursing child.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can say it is just what you advertise it to be," writes Mrs. Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardsville, Riley Co. Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and also that your 'Favorite Prescription' was 'one patent medicine' which he did have faith in. We now have a darling beby boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born. During this month he has gained three and one-half pounds. Have never given him one dose of medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Common Seuse Medical Adviser, in paper covers, sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only.

My dear mother spends all her time in lamenting the woes of la belle France, and gives no thought to the fact that she has a daughter to marry. So I shall take measures for helping "My dear Lola!" cried Dolores with a horrified air. "My dear Dolores!" mimicked Lola. "I have a fashion of saying what I think. I tell you honestly, the life of an old maid has no charm for me; in fact, I cannot bear the thought of it. I must marry well. I have found out the number of eligible men in the neighborhood; it is small - most lamentably small. First and foremost, indeed, one of the best matches in England, I should say, is Lord Rhysworth of Deeping Hurst. He is rather older than I care for; but one cannot have everything," she added with a sigh. is very rich, however, and Deeping Hurst is a magnificent place."

"You speak as though—as though -" And then Dolores paused, embarrassed.

"As though I could be mistress of Deeping Hurst if I chose. Well, Dolores, I am a firm believer in what Thackeray says about women and opportunity. Do you know Lord Rhysworth?"

"Yes, very well—better than anyone else in the neighborhood. He is papa's greatest and best friend." Lola's brilliant face was half-shadowed, half-laughing. "Is he so old as that?" asked Lola.

"No, he is not so old as papa, of course. He is very agreeable, and I "Do you?" interrogated Lola, with a peculiar accent. Miss Cliefden gave her dainty head a toss, and utterly ignored the look

"I shall do my best to captivate Lord Rhysworth," continued Lola. "I should like to live at Deeping Hurst." "You seem to leave love out of the question," observed Dolores. The other answered carelessly:

"I came home to marry, Dolores; what may follow I cannot help. I must go on with my list. Of course, you are acquainted with nearly all that happens; but have you heard the latest "I have not heard anything very interesting," replied Dolores.

"Nothing about Scarsdale Hall?" asked Lola.

"No, not a word," was the answer. "You know Scarsdale-you would not be wicked enough to say that you do "Yes, I know it. It is about five miles from Deeping Hurst; it is nearer to Beaulieu than Deeping." "Yes. Well, have you really heard no news of Scarsdale, or the handsome young baronet, my second hope after Lord Rhysworth? Sir Karl Allanmore has just purchased the whole of the property; and the Hall is being put into thorough repair for him. He is coming to life at Scarsdale. He has neither mother, wife,nor sister—quite unprotected, you see!" Dolores raised her hand with a gesture of unfelgned disapproval. "Do not talk to me in that way, Lola; I do not like it," she said, "You pervert the right order of thingswhich is, that women shall be woed, not wooers."

"Times are changed, Dolores. That was the custom once "And always will be," returned Dolores. "while women retain-"My dear, do not preach to me, it is all thrown away-completely and entirely thrown away. Let me tell you about the baronet, Sir Karl more. I fell in love with the name the moment I heard it, no matter what I may do with the owner. Mamma and I, of course, had a dispute over it. She said he must have German ancestors. I said that his proper name was Charles, and that he called himself Karl because it suited him. I feel that I am right."

"I am called Dolores, yet I am not Spanish," said Miss Cliefden, and Lola looked at her with a grim little smile. "Everyone wonders how you found your name, Dolores. But do let me tell you about my baronet. It is said that Sir Karl is one of the handsomest, most debonair young men in England, moderately rich, though by no means so wealthy as Lord Rhysworth, and everything that is most delightful,"

The Liberals Deserve to Win and They Will Win.

[Toronto Globe.] The Liberal workers in the city of Toronto are preparing for the coming contest with unwonted enthusiasm and vigor. The conditions now are entirely different to those under which they have been compelled to fight in previous contests. First, the electors, especially the wage earners, after four years' experience of Liberai government, with constant em-ployment, many having to work overtime, and in the enjoyment of better wages, cannot be stampeded into the Conservative camp by the bugaboo of stagnant trade, languishing industries and lack of employment, which they were for eighteen long years assured would follow the return of the Liberal party to power. In the second place the adoption of the one man one vote principle has eliminated from the lists the large non-resident vote, which it was in many cases impossible to locate, and equally impossible to check properly at the ballotbox. The coming contest will be fought between the actual residents in the constituencies. The general prosperity, which to a larger extent than ever before has been contributed to by the wise and sound fiscal policy of the government of the day, is also a factor which will weigh in favor of the Liberals. And lastly, not the least effective argument with the masses will be the judicious legislation of the government by which the infamous practice of "sweating" which existed to such a large extent in connection with contracts for various works under the Conservative Government, has been absolutely pro-The "fair wage" legislation under which a schedule is inserted in every government contract specifying the wages which the contractor must pay to each class of workmen, is another long step taken by the government towards improving the position of the wage-earners. Ail these are factors which in the large industrial centers will greatly strengthen the Liberal candidates and inspire the rank and file of the party with confidence as to the result when the election takes place.

for getting into boyish scrapes which is quite phenomenal. He accompanied his parents on their recent trip to Chicago, and some of his pranks caused no little comment. His most notable exploit was to lean so far out of the window of the Army building that he slipped and hung to the sill only by his toes. General Wheeler happened to see the toes just in time to rescue Willie from a fall of 75 feet, which would undoubtedly have ended the youngster's career. Willie is a favorite with the boys of Lincoln. As indicated by press reports from Chicago, he is a good swimmer. Recently he dived from the highest perch in the Natatorium, a distance of 50 feet, striking in 15 feet of water. In short, William, jr., is a typical, healthy, mischevious boy who can have more fun in a day with schemes of his own invention than a French of German lad of 12 can have in a wesk with the toyshops of Paris or Berlin at his disposal. His first experience in Chicago was with the elevator at the Auditorium. William became chummy with the conductor on his second trip upstairs. He confided that next to being the son of his father he would prefer being an elevator boy at the Auditorium. More questions were asked by him about the machinery than could be answered by the engineer of a battleship in a week. The elevator man was so bewildered that he surrendered the lever without William reached for Under the boy's guidance the car shot to the roof and rebounded two stories before it was again under control.

LATE DR. HENRY SIDGWICK.

Sketch of the Eminent British Philosopher and Moralist.

Dr. Henry Sidgwick, the eminent British philosopher and political economist, who has just passed away was only 62 years old, but accomplished much during the 20 years in which his name has been familiar to the public. Until 1870 Dr. Sidgwick was a fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge University, and lecturer until 1875. In 1883 he was appointed Knightsbridge professor of moral philosophy. That a teacher of moral philosophy should concern himself

Therefore Professor Sidewick's economic works bear recent dates-lis "Principles of Political Economy," 1883; his "Elements of Politics," 1891, and his "Practical Ethics," 1898. His other works, in which his theory of hedonism is developed, are "The Methods of Ethics" and "Outlines of the History of Ethics." He has contributed freely to current literature.

The Legation Quarter. As one enters Pekin by the arched eastern gate he comes at once upon Legation street, where are all the foreign compounds strung along fan unpaved slum of a thoroughfare" for nearly a mile. Miss Scidmore says of this quarter in her book on China: "The street is all gutter save where there are fragmentary attempts at a raised mudbank footwalk beside the house walls for use when the cartway between is too deep a mud slough. 'We are here on sufferance, under protest, you k ow,' say the meek and lowly dip smats. 'We must not offend Chinese prejudices.' Moreover, all the legations would not subscribe to an attempted improvement fund nor all unite in demanding that the Chinese should clean, light, pave and drain Lega-tion street. That jealousy of the great powers so ironically termed the 'concert of Europa' is as much to blame for this sanitary corner of Pekin as for affairs in Crete and Armenia."

-A prominent citizen makes a numsuggestions in connection with the site for the new armory at the corner of Waterloo and Dundas streets, on the south side. He thinks it would be a wise move for the city to turn over to the government the strip of land between the sidewalk and the line of residence, so that the armory could be built on a line with the sidewalk. The houses and places of business in the block are now some 30 feet back from the walk, and the intervening strip is owned by the city. He further suggests that the property owners concerned be given the option of purchasing the strip of land in front of their various properties if they so desire. The block would never be come a business block until such a move is made, and he considers it a detriment to property owners to be compelled to keep so far from the street line. The street is already suffi-ciently wide, so that the idea of mov-ing the kerb and sidewalk in and widening the road is out of the ques-tion. In his opinion the street would be greatly improved by such a move-THE FROEBEL SOCIETY.

THEORIES ABOUT CATARRY.

Poculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case; his plan was to eat nothing whatever for twentyfour hours, or presumably until the trouble had disappeared.

Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy, but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties. Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become fad, would make of us a nation of fasters; an army, emulating the example of the immortal Tanner, who achieved world-wide fame by fasting forty days. Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease, and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly over-eating, is a very common

Most people, however, are more inin the cause, and modern medical less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's. Gualacol is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of catarrh. Eucalyptol is another, which on account of its antiseptic properties, is very valuable, while many severe cases of chronic catarrh have been entirely cured by the sanguinara, or extract of blood root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable and convenient, and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is so apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of traveling men, because they can be carried in the pooket and used any time and in any quantity, being free from Cocaine, opiate or any poisonous drug.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours' time. For nasal catarrh they are far superior to any wash, lotion or ointment, the use of which is often as inconveni-

For coughs, colds, broncial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure where lotions, douches and inhalers make no impression what-

MR. LEROYLE

The Talented Actor Who Heads the Caste of "Other People's Money."

"Yes," I have had some queer experiences in my professional career," said Hennessy Leroyle, who appears at the London Opera House this evening. "I am still a young man, but have come in contact with some things out of the ordinary. A few years since I determined to come to the States from my home, Australia, and with a company of gentlemen, including a num-ber of players, on our way stopped at a number of comparatively unknown islands of the Pacific, embracing New Zealand, Marri Land, Fiji Islands, Samoan Islands, India, China, Africa and Honolulu. Incidentally, I held a commission from a Sydney paper to write up our experiences, and you may be assured my letters contained some spicy and novel reading. On several of the islands we gave entertainments for the natives, who seemed to enjoy them. We often penetrated to the interior, where in most instances our audiences appeared en masse, each of the different tribes accompanied by their king; their wardrobe consisted simply of a slight covering of long grass or reeds bunched together around the waist like a skirt dancer's skirt, and squatted themselves on the grass and took in the show, which was given on a temporary stage thrown up for the occasion."

"The absence of trifling conventional-ities made your experience somewhat unique, to say the least. Did you find it financially profitable?" asked the interrogator.

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Leroyle. "We were in receipt of quantities of the island products which we later converted into money. The chiefs were very hospitable, and personally I received as a special mark of favor, many curious and valuable gifts, which I still have and prize highly. We spent many weeks on the islands. On the whole, it was an experience I am far from regretting.'

Since Mr. Leroyle's arrival in America he has demonstrated his ability to please the civilized man as thoroughly as the dusky islanders. "Other People's Money" is the medium through which he displays his talent as a comedian. His tour has triumphantly vindicated the claim of art critics, that he is fast becoming recognized as one of the high class comedians on the American

Pte. Hessell Home.

Pte. Frank Hessel, of the First Canadian Regiment, arrived home from South Africa yesterday. He was given a splendid reception at the family residence on McAlpine avenue, South London. The house was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. Among others who welcomed him was his brother, Mr. E. Hessel, who came from Warren, Pa., to meet him. Pte. Hessell, went safely through the battle of Paardeberg and the capture of Bloemfentein, besides other smaller engagements. He was invalided at Winberg, where he suffered from enteric fever. Pte. Hessell brought to Sergt-Major Adams, of the police force, the Bible and other possessions of his son Pte. Adams, who died in Africa. A friend saved these articles although orders were to burn them, and Hessell carried them with him until yesterday. Needless to say, the sergeant-major was glad to have the little things his boy had at the time of his death, and he fully appreciated Hessell's thoughtfulness in bringing them to him.
