WARDEN WILL ASK FOR PRISON PROBE

Wants Investigation Into Condition Which Led to Prison Riot. Which Led to Prison Riot.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 17.—There will be a thorough investigation of Jackson Prison, not only concerning the recent riot and the events leading up to the shooting of John Eisy, but one that will cover the entire administration of Warden Simpson. Warden Simpson himself will ask for the investigation.

Friends of the warden declare that he has nothing that he wishes to conceal, and demands an investigation in order to clean up alleged erroneous statements.

has nothing that he wishes to conceal, and demands an investigation in order to clean up alleged erroneous statements attributed to him by outsiders. It is declared by those in position to know that dissatisfaction with Simpson was not the prime cause of the recent troubles at the prison. It is said that general laxness of discipline on the part of subordinates prompted the convicts to believe that they could secure greater freedom. The first crisis came when the employees of the binder twine plant struck several weeks ago. Some of the subordinate officers in the prison then urged upon Warden Simpson the advisability of granting the demands of the men, but the warden declared that such a policy would be suicidal, and refused to recede from this position.

When Deputy Warden Barnard resigned the convicts said that they had gained a victory, and there was a noticeable increase in the boldness of their conduct. It is said that their next step was to "get" the steward, who is unpepular with them, and that this was one of the contributing causes to the riot.

BANQUET JIM HILL

Head of the Great Northern Cele-brates His 74th Birthday. [Canadian Press.]

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—James J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern Railway, and long head of that transcontinental line and the Northern Pacific, was last evening the guest of honor at a banquet in honor of Mr. Hill's seventy-fourth birthday.

At the banquet table were 1,200 persons many of them pioneers of Minnesota and old/time co-workers with Mr. Hill. Guests were also present from the Pacific and Atlantic Pierce Butler, of this city, was toastmaster, and addresses were made by Mr. Hill and Archbishop John Ireland, a lifetime friend. The ban-quet was given to Mr. Hill by citi-zens of St. Paul and others of the Northwest.

The First Cup of the New Food Drink Instant Postum

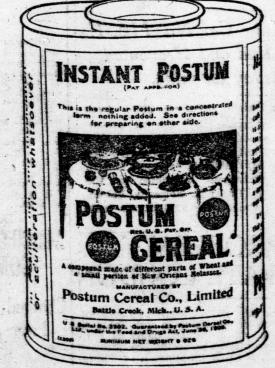

Will Decide Two Important Points

Satisfaction and Economy

Instant Postum has a delicious, snappy flavor, and it is absolutely free from "Caffeine," the drug in tea and coffee; which has proven harmful to many.

Instant Postum requires no boiling. Stir a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water; add cream and sugar to taste and INSTANTLY you have a rich food-drink that is palatable and healthful.

Many find this new beverage a delightful variation from their usual cup.

No Boiling--Made in the Cup

It saves time, money and worry to the busy housewife, and its delicious flavor makes it popular in the household.

Tins containing sufficient quantity for about 100 cups of Instant Postum cost 50 cents, at Grocers. Smaller tins at 30 cents make about 50 cups.

Tea and Coffee average about double that cost.

board shall take over the parochial schools maintained in this city by Reman Catholics is again being submitted to the Winnipeg public school

Following the amendment of the school act at the last session of the Legislature, it was expected that negotiations would be opened up with the school board with a view to having the matter adjusted in readiness the new school here. Hon, G. Coldwell, minister of education, made an appointment with the school board last April, presumably to talk the matter over, but the meeting was subsequently cancelled. Nothing subsequently cancelled. Nothing further was heard of the matter, and on Sept. 1 the public schools were re-opened without any request or demand being made on the board. References from the pulpits of Catholic churches by Fathers Portelance and Cherrier revealed, however, strong feeling in the matter by the minority.

Conferred With Board. Last week, however, Mr. Coldwell got busy, presumably as the result of from the minority. He asked for and obtained a conference with the school board. The meeting was informal, no minutes being kept, but there was a full attendance of members, and the solicitor for the board was also in attendance. Mr. Coldwell addressed the gathering at some length. He was careful to say that he did not want to be regarded as making any proposal to the board. discussing the whole situation in hope that some arrangement might be reached whereby the school board would undertake the education of the Catholic children of the city. Mr. Coldwell said he understood that the Catholics were willing to have the school board control these schools, appoint the teachers, enforce New York, Sept. 17.—The following its own regulations and subject them to its own inspection. The schools vere, he said, to be ordinary public schools in every sense, excepting, of

Roman Catholic pupils.

Effect Segregation. On this point considerable discusion ensued, Hon. Mr. Coldwell being asked how it was possible legally to have this segregation of pupils in view of the provision in the law of 1897 forbidding it. Mr. Coldwell would not say that the recent legislation repealed that section of the 1897 act, but maintained that the provisions of 1897 and 1912 would be so interreted as not to conflict. It is understood and public all over Canada by the ment that will help to bring home to course with those conspirators who that some members of the school disorganization of traffic on the C. course, that they would contain only

In the course of further discussion Mr. Coldwell said he understood it was the desire of the Catholics that the board should lease the buildings at present devoted to the education of Catholics, thus leaving the children undisturbed. The school board, it is understood will hold a caucus shortly to discuss the question, probably next week, and will then call an open meeting of the board at which the delegation of Catholic citizens will be received, At this meeting the whole matter will

Works Well in Halifax. The proposal is to establish in Winnipeg the system which is in op-Winnipeg the system which is in operation in Halifax and which is said to work well there. In brief, this is as follows: Catholics build the schools for their own children, and the school board leases the buildings and administers the schools.

The Marconi Company has entered into an arrangement with the Norwegian Government for the erection of high-power stations in Norway and in the school board leases the buildings and administers the schools.

From one of the parish priests of the city it is learned that no report of progress in the negotiations for the transfer of the parochial schools has yet been made to the committee in charge of the negotiations for the Catholic ratepayers. All the information concerning the value of the Catholic school property, the attend-ance, requested some time ago from the Catholic committee, has been forwarded with alacrity, and the com-mittee awaits with interest the outcome of the deliberations of the public school board.

Question of Garb. Some details of the rearrangement contemplated are of the utmost importance to the Catholics. It is certain that any schools in which the teachers wear religious garb will reno matter what arrangement is reached. A vigorous effort may be put forth by the Catholic committee to have these schools taken over as well as the others. No definite report is expected till the next meeting of the public school board,

INDICTED FOR MURDER

William Ferguson Charged With Kill ing on High Seas.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Detroit, Sept. 17.-The federal grand jury finished hearing it last case yester-day afternoon and returned 40 indictments, the largest ever returned by federal grand jury in Detroit. Of the 40 cases, eight were suppressed, 20 of them were for violation of the Mann act, two for smuggling Chinamen and two for violating the oleomargarine act. The most important one and the first one to be heard was that of William A. Ferguson, who was charged with murder on the high seas.

The penalty for murder on the high seas is hanging, and Ferguson may pay the penalty of his life, unless he is given executive clemency by the President There was a case some years ago when a man was indicted for murder on the high seas, and it was proved that the crime had been committed in Michigan waters, but the accused got off with a life sentence, and it is the opinion of many that Ferguson may be shown the same leniency. The two men indicted for Chinese smuggling are John Clysdale and Franklin L. Hargrave, both of

THIRTEEN KILLED IN WRECK NEAR LIVERPOOL

Express Engine Jumped Rails and Crashed Into Bridge Abutments.

[Canadian Press.] Liverpool, Sept. 17. - Thirteen persons were killed and fifty injured by the derailing this evening of the express from Chester to Liverpool at Ditton Junction, about eight miles from Liverpool. The train has passed over the long bridge spanning the Mersey and was running down the incline leading to the junction when at the cross-over points the engine jumped the rails and crashed into the buttress of a bridge spanning the

The coupling of the car next the engine parted and the train of nine cars sped on to the station. The leading car crashed into the platform with terrific force, and was wrecked. One car was overturned and caught fire. In spite of the efforts of a fire brigade it was soon consumed. Several bodies in this car were cremated, out some of the injured were rescued from windows. The engine-driver was crushed to death between the engine and tender, and the fireman had both legs broken. He was pinned under the locomotive for two hours. Hundreds of laborers and railway employees took part in the work of rescue, while the waitingrooms were turned into an emergency SUES MAYOR GAYNOR.

THE EAST MIDDLESEX VACANCY. The ink is not dry on the returning officer's advertisement announcing that the election protests in East Middlesex, both petition and cross-petition, are being withdrawn, when the local Conservative paper begins to It asserts that the seat was improperly and corruptly won by the late Robert Sutherland, and that the purity of Mr. Neely, the Conservative candidate in the contest, was so prohounced that the seat properly longs" to the Government.

Our contemporary would lead those not acquainted with the facts and the locality to imagine that much corruption was necessary and was practised to defeat Mr. Neely. Nothing could be further from the truth. The exwas meagre indeed. It is common knowledge that Mr. Neely's record had displeased many of the staunchest Conservatives in the riding, that intimate that these men did not take their stand upon principle, but yielded to drive them back into the party that Mr. Sutherland was elected by chised, corruption is to insult those Conservatives who supported him out of perfacts are known to the most casual observer in the riding.

This contest will be fought upon the temperance and moral questions put forward by Mr. Rowell, and upon the answers that Sir James Whitney has attempted thereto. One class that will be put to the test are those Conservatives who have for years declared that the Liberal claim of leading in the cause of temperance and other moral issues was only a pretense; that if the Liberals would adopt a radical and efficient temperance program and be in earnest about it, they would heartily support such Liberals, and such a policy. Will these Conservatives, now that Mr. Rowell has burned his bridges behind him, has allied himself with the temperance element of the community, get behind Mr. Rowell and his policies in real earnest, or will they "with one consent begin to make excuses?" These will be the real issues in East Middlesex, and they will warrant a

Why should we not get our wheat from Canada? Three Canadian provinces could raise 475,000,000 bushels and the year before last our total consumption of wheat was 271,000,000 bushels. The idea that Canada could not grow enough wheat for the empire was a bogey that would not frighten even a timid child in a dark lane. (Laughter.) If we obtained our wheat from Canada there would be no danger of famine or panic. Based, as the matter would be, upon an interchange of interests, we would make money by selling our manufactured goods Canada, and Canada would make money by selling her wheat to us, and both profits would yield revenue which could be used for Brit-ish Dreadnoughts. By imperial preference, therefore, the danger of starvation in war would be exorcised the basis of taxation throughout the empire would be broadened provide money for defence, and by means of one system of defence and one system of trade the empire would be united.-Right Hon. George Wyndham at Manchester.

Mr. Wyndham has the better of the argument if British free traders contend that Canada will not be able to supply in the near future all the wheat that Great Britain requires. Canada will soon have far more wheat to sell than Great Britain can possibly buy from her. That is the problem that faces this country, Mr. Wyndham's estimate of 475,000,000 bushels, as the potential capacity of the three prairie provinces of Canada, is egregiously under the mark. The yield this year is 200,000,000 bushels, with only a fraction of the wheat land under the plow. Britain imported last year about 200,000,000 bushels, and the amount will not rapidly grew. Australia, New Zealand and India are large exporters of wheat to the British is regulated and controlled by an Isles, and will share any favors that agreement or understanding among Canada may get from Mr. Wyndham's the various dealers therein, whereby the prices to the consumer are unduly party. It is improbable, too, that any enhanced and sustained and kept at tariff device can wholly exclude from excessive rates through illegal and Great Britain the wheat of Russia and other foreign countries which export grain and import British goods.

Plainly Canada will have to look elsewhere than to the British market to absorb her great and always growing surplus of wheat. That is where the economics of both the British tariff reformers and the Cana. dian opponents of reciprocity utterly fail. The former pretend that a tariff preference will relieve Canada of the necessity of looking to the American or other foreign markets. The latter blindly close their eyes to the necessity of finding other markets than Great Britain.

Canadians will note Mr. Wyndham's conception of Canada as an outlet for British manufactured goods, which are to be exchanged against Canadian wheat. It is a picture to tickle the eve of the British manufacturer and workman, but the Canadian opponents of reciprocity, whom Mr. Wyndham's party embrace as allies, are also the opponents of any extension of British competition in the Canadian market. The British tariff reformers show the Birtish people only one side of the

THE VOTE LAST SEPTEMBER. The official compilation of the election returns of September last shows that only 70 per cent, of the qualified electors voted. Of the 1,307,528 who cast their ballots, 669,567 voted for Conservative candidates, 625,096 for Liberals, and 12,865 for Socialists or independents. Thus the Conservatives his own law, his own court, his own polled only 44,471 more votes than the code of honor. penditure on Mr. Sutherland's behalf Liberals, or a little over two per cent. of the electorate; but the Conservatives have a 21 per cent. majority in the House of Commons.

These figures suggest the imperfec large numbers of them absolutely re- tion of the present system of reprefused and still refuse to follow Mr. sentation as a reflection of the popu-Neely's lead. For the party organ to lar will, as well as the difficult of improving on it. Professor Jackson's Ninth Book

By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Professor George Jackson, of Vic toria College, Toronto, has just published his ninth book. It is entitled The Preacher and the Modern Mind, and was originally delivered in London as the forty-second Fernley Lecture. Although the chapters in the book, such as "Doctrinal Preaching," "The Preacher and Miracles," "The Preacher's Style," and "The Preacher's Passion." are addressed to ministers, I fancy that the layman who is at all interested in the theological discussions of our day will find as much food for thought in this book as the man of the pulpit. Professor king. The constitutional monarch of Jackson wields such an easy style, is the present time comes nearer being a so successful in avoiding the technical jargon of his class, that any person of ordinary intelligence can follow his arguments. He has tried to write what he thinks is true and timely and helpful, and fair-minded readers will be inclined to concede that he has succeeded. His clarity of expression, his frankness in facing all the troublesome questions which demand an answer from the modern puipit, and his moderate temper are qualirod of iron. A king is bound by laws, ties which will go far to make this an extremely helpful and timely volume to young ministers and perplexed laymen.

> With regard to the truth of many of the views frankly stated by Professor Jackson there will, of course, be a wide difference of opinion. To many he will seem too conservative, to others too advanced along the bread road of radicalism. When we compare him with his contemporaries in the theological seminaries of today, we must come to the conclusion that Professor Jackson is on the side of the conservatives. For instance, while he would reject some of the miracles related in the Bible, while he says that we cannot claim for all the miracles that same degree of certainty that we can claim for some. he declares that, "In the case of the supreme Christian miracle, the Resurrection of Jesus Christ, the evidence is so full and varied as to warrant unwavering conviction. But the miracles of Old Testament history are attested by no such decisive proofs, and to insist on bracketing these with the miracles of Christ, and making them all stand or fall together, is to involve ourselves in hopeless confusion." Professor Jackson is also quite conservative in his affirmations regarding the person of Christ. He quotes with approval the Campbell, "Jesus Christ is the central fact of my spiritual life. I worship Him, I trust my soul to Him for time and for eternity." In such a creed he finds the root of the matter. and, as if trying to mollify those who will perhaps fiercely quarrel with many of the sayings in this book, the author deprecatingly adds, "And may not he who in sincerity and truth makes them (the words of Campbell) his own, justly ask his fellow-Christians to be patient with him while he works out as best he can, the theology that is implicit in them? So long as we give to Christ the place He claims, and which all the writers of the New Testament give to Him. faith must be free to find the forms through which it can best express itself." Or, in other words, nothing really matters so long as a Christian minister does not become a Unitar-

Whether the reader agrees with the author of this book in all his assertions or not, he will at least say that every paragraph is interesting. The chapters are all packed with good things, but Professor Jackson's vigorous plea for more doctrinal preaching in the modern pulpit has the charm of novelty. The Victoria professor does not sympathize with those who would reduce the church to "a huge philanthropical society." church exists to teach men the great doctrines of the Christian faith. The majority of ministers would be rather fearful in dealing with such topics as the Divinity of Christ, the Existence of God, the Trinity, Sin. and the Atonement, "but a little pulpit stiffening of that kind would be clear gain," says this author. "Brevity no doubt is good, and simplicity is better. But we cannot always be talk-A very pretty dance was held at ing to babes and beginners, and this Hotel Meneset last evening in honor demand that eventthing the last eventual that event demand that everything shall be made short and sweet and simple is the trigger. not to be yielded to. But this advocate of hard sermons hates dryness and unreality, and says there is no use in getting up have his ministerial brethren what they preach, preach with conviction and warmth and power. Why I say "unhappy victim" I scarcely know, unless it is due to that inane and helpless feeling experienced every time the writer has to purchase a new bonnet. Perhaps other women enjoy it better. Let us hope so.

The Feather Hats. "Oh," said Tess, with a nudge and giggle, "Look at this funny thing." It was funny, but upon a closer examination one began to like it. The hat was small and round, with a somewhat high crown, and the entire shape was composed of tiny, downy feathers, simulating the breast of a fowl. The colors were beautiful, being a blending of golden brown and raven's wing, and upon looking around we saw several of these quaint little hats in various tints, "They might look all right," ob-served Tess, eyeing them, with her head on one side, "but it would take a course, but then there are dozens of especially for the first time."

25 pounds of peaches and 12 pounds of sugar. (Rub the fuzz from the peaches with crash). In the preserving kettle place two and one-half quarts of vinegar with a handful of stick cinnamon, gradually adding the sugar until all is dissolved and boiling. Place the peaches, a few at a time, in this, and when they are done skim them out and place in a stone jar. Boil down the syrup a little longer. Then pour over the peaches and place a weight on them. In three days pour off the syrup and boil down until quite thick. By this time the peaches will have shrunk so that they will go into a two-gallon jar. Pour the thick syrup over them. Place a plate on top and tie down with heavy paper. Cloves may be used instead of cinnamon or a mixture of spices, as liked.

PEACH VINEGAR.

Use peaches which are over-ripe. Mash and mix with water in such quantity that the latter is strongly flavored. To each gallon of this add four ounces of brown sugar and a dessert spoon of yeast. Set the cask in the sun where the mixture will ferment.

has been a frequent visitor at Tecumsen Park during the summer, and she knows the strong points and weaknesses of every team in the Canadian League. Knowing this, the Hamilton Herald prevailed upon her to make a selection of an all-star Canadian League team without the assistance of her daddy. The team that Miss Keenan selected and what the Hamilton Herald says about her appear below:

There have been all-star Canadian League teams picked by the critics all season long that have met with favor and disfavor, just as the selections appealed to the fans, but a selection that is both novel and at the same time almost unbeatable has been made by Leone M. Keenan, the 13-year-old daughter of Jo Jo Keenan, the grand old man of the Hamilton ball team. Miss Keenan, being a daughter of a ball player, did not take kindly to making any selections in the

A Great Game. Some splendid games took place in each of the series, the match be tween Callander and Sabine in the semi-finals of the first series, being the most interesting ever played off in London. Sabine won out by the score of 41 to 40, counting the last point on a hair-breadth. Callander was behind, 39 to 30 at one time, but he drew up until the score stood 40 to 40. Interest was at fever heat at this stage, and the large crowd of spectators, together with the players, gathered around to see the finish. It was a splendid finish. [Canadian Press.]

Boston, Sept. 18.—The business end of baseball—in the form of arrangements for the games in this city of the coming world's championship baseball series—is having long innings at Fenway Park these days, while the Red Sox are on the road seeking to clinch their claim to the American League championship and the consequent right to contend for the blue ribbon of baseball. A force of nearly 100 clerks and carpenters is at work daily to complete the arrangements for accommodating between 30,000 and 35,000 persons at each of the games expected to be played here.

The carpenters are rearing temporary stands on every inch of available space. STRATHROY FAIR WAS A RECORD-BREAKER

Seven Thousand People Saw the Best Show Ever Held There.

[By Our Own Man.] Strathroy, Sept. 17.-Record crowds, splendid exhibits, and fine weather for most of the day, made the annual exhibition of the Strathroy Agricultural Society held here today, a greater success than ever before. The attendance is estimated at 7,000. The crowd was all in and had seen the biggest part of the show before a heavy shower commenced, and put an end to the

While the entries this year are peraps not quite so numerous as at the last fair, they are of uniformly high quality. Sheep and cattle showed the greatest falling off.

One of the judges said that the horses shown at Strathroy surpassed those shown at the Western Fair. The midway, always amusing and instructive, was a great feature, and all the shows did a great business. The negro, who allows baseballs to be thrown at his head, had a very unpleasant afternoon, as several professional hurlers located his curly pate frequently to the great delight of the Fine Horse Races.

The horse races were the feature of the afternoon, and the grandstand and the front inclosure were completely filled with spectators. The track was fast, and the horses in good condition and speedy. The 2:50 trial was especially close, but could not be finished on account of the rain.

The First Hussars' Band from London was engaged for the fair, and delighted everybody with their splendid programme. All well received.

It was the intention of the executive to hold a band concert this evening, but it was called off on account of the rain. the rain. The di-was also postponed. The display of fireworks The officers and directors of the fair were unanimous in saying that this was the best fair yet held.

"The fair this year has produced the best results we ever had," said Secre-tary David Evans to The Advertiser. 'Some of the classes were somewhat short of entries, but what there is a lack of in quantity is more than made up in quality, and the latter counts."

Useful, pretty and smart

are these improved knit coats

For driving or motoring-as for a hundred other outdoor enjoyments-you will be glad of your Pen-Angle Sweater Coat on windy days and chilly evenings. For, though they feel so fleecy to the touch and set so lightly on the body, they are warmth-giving indeed. Knit by the Pen-Angle process, from wools of the choicest; these useful garments possess a smartness and style not known to the usual knit coat. And they retain their shapely lines, because they are carefully shaped to fit snug to the figure. That shape stays in them because it is knit into them - the Pen-Angle way.

I went to several doctors and got medicine, which did me no good, and bought ointment, salves and patent medicines, bought ointment, salves and patent medicines, but none of them would cure my face and neck. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Ointment. I got one box, and it took the pimples away before I had it all used up. I can say it is a wonderful remedy. Any sufferer who has pimples should use Cuticura Ointment if they want a sure cure. I never hadrany soap equal to Cuticura Soap," (Signed) Aylmer Mathers, Parkhill, Ont., Dec. 24, 1910.

Sores All Over Baby's Body

"When my baby boy was six months old, his body was completely covered with large sores that seemed to itch and burn, and cause terrible suffering. The eruption began in pimples which would open and run, making large sores. His hair came, out and finger nails fell off, and the sores were over the entire body, causing little or no sleep for baby or myself. Great scabs would come off when I removed his shirt. We tried a great many remedies but nothing would help him, till a friend induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura foap and Ointment but a short time before I could see that he was improving, and in six weeks' time he was entirely cured. He had suffered about six weeks before we tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, although we had tried several other things and doctors too. I think the Cuticura Remedies will do all that is claimed for them, and a great deal more." (Signed) Mrs. Noble Tubman, Dodson, Mont., Jan 28, 1911. eruption began in pimples which would

"It's hould be the Higgins house."

"It's hould be," admitted Bartlett, "but it isn't."

Through the open door came the many noises of the summer night, the incessant hum of insects, the plaintive cry of the whippoor will, the strident chorus of the barn. A moth, fluttering around the dingy lamp, fell on the table with scorched wings, and Billy tenderly pushed it on a plate and carried it to the door.

"Why not eat here?" suggested the Watermelon, unimpressed by the aspect of the affair as it struck the others. "We can hunt for the Higginses afterward. They ought to be around somewhere, unless we're helplessly lost."

Henrietta smiled and took out the napkins she had laid back in the basket. "It won't take us long," she agreed. "We don't need to have any tea."

"No, "protested Bartlett, glancing at the door and listening for the crunch of wheels on the gravel without, "no, we must leave at once. We aren't lost. The Higginses' is probably the next house."

A Night's Lodging. The general hesitated. It was not lawful, not right. They had broken into another man's house and should leave at another man's house and should leave at once. But all his life he had lived by rules and regulations, followed life's blue book as persistently and as well as he did the auto blue book. Now he was lost, the blue book was gone, and there was an indefinable pleasure in letting go the rules and regulations that had governed him so long. In the warm June night, with the youthful, foolish Billy, and the irrespon-sible Waternelon the general's latent sible Watermelon, the general's latent criminal tendency came uppermost, that tendency in all of us once in a while to do wrong for the sake of the adventure in it, for the excitement and fascination, rather than for any material gain. In the experience of being in another man's house unknown and uninvited by the owner, of listening for the rattle of a wagon turning in at the gate, for the crunch of a foot on the gravel without, there was an exhibaration he had not known for years. He felt that a bold lawlessness which he had ever had and had always felt rather proudly was only kept under by the veneer of civilization, was rising in him, and that he was growing young again. Then we told the children to go to sleep, and went downstairs; but shortly afterwards we heard a bang like a squib going off, and the children screamed out again. They said a stream of sparks, seemed to come out of the candlestick, and something went off with a hang." Mr. Turner added that he detected a smell as of burned fireworks, and showed a fragment of burned paper which he had picked off the floor.

"We searched beneath the bed cupboard," he continued, "but could find no solution. The husband was trembling, and I felt a creepy sensation. The children were certain they had not got out of bed. A Striking Contrast

To appoint an individual executor means placing great responsibility in one person's honesty and ability.

To appoint this Company means employing the services of specialists with the capital and assets of the Company pledged to their honesty.

The contrast in the two qualities of service is obvious But the fees of the Company are less. We shall be glad to have you consult us about your will.

How to be Beautiful BY BERTON BRALEY

(As Explained by the Beauty Doctors). Each morning, when you first awake, Massage your face and head, Roll over fifty times and take A dozen eggs in bed; And after that, before you dress, Run swiftly round the room About two hundred times, no less-(This keeps one's youthful bloom.)

Use seven kinds of vaseline And eighteen sorts of paste To keep the epidermis clean And help reduce the waist, Drink orange juice and lemonade From dawn to late at night, The while a masseuse and a maid Are all the while in sight.

Relax at least ten hours a day, And exercise for ten. Sleep eight hours—that much anyway-Then exercise again. Don't read-it wrinkles up the eyes; Don't eat-it makes you fat; Don't laugh-all beauty hints advise Decidedly on that.

There are a dozen other tasks That one must always do, Like wearing rubber beauty masks And rubber corsets, too. No single minute can you spare For friends or love, maybe; But oh; consider, lady fair How beautiful you'll be.

London May Establish Separate Classes, Mr. Reid stated that he believed it was to the exhibition's advantage to take whatever means are necessary to attract the small farmer, and for London Exhibition he could say that they would be pleased to act on any suggestion that will result in the products of the average farms being brought out for competition. The proposal to establish classes for the small farmer which would separate his animals from those of recognized breed ers he believed was worthy the consideration of any exhibition. During our interview, which lasted several hours, Dundas street east, sustained o slight the probable advantages and disadinjury to his foot early Tuesday morn- vantages of such a step were discussed. and on parting Mr. Reid promised that the matter would be brought before the board of directors of the Western Fair when they next meet.

A few facts in connection with the exhibits at the London Fair may prove interesting, demonstrating as they do the laxity in competition and the manner in which the breeders and professionals nonopolize the entries. The Monopoly of the Breeders.

OPERATORS EXPECT TO GAIN INCREASE

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Reported to Have Wired to Settle Dispute.

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg. Sept. 18.-To conduct regotiations with the C. P. R. in regard to demands for higher wages. L. Quick, an international officer of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, arrived here this morning.

This is taken to indicate that negotiations have reached a critical point. The men contend that a ten per cent increase leaves them in a worse condition financially than five years ago, owing to the advances in living expenses, and Quick is said to be not adverse to a strike, unless the Canadian Pacific accedes to the Bidemands of the men. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is reports ed to have wired from the far west that concessions would be made, and a new settlement arrived at amicably;

Railway officials deny that the strike would paralyze the system, although they admit that it would to be serious. Telephone wires extend most from Fort William to the coast. The Canadian Pacific is said to be gathering non-union men at Port Arthur and elsewhere.

ENGINEER'S ILLNESS STOPS INVESTIGATION

Inquiry Will Go Over Til Next Week.

It was the intention of the special committee named by the city council recently to investigate the sidewalks laid on Dundas and Richmond streets by Mr. W. J. Anthistle to inspect the walks this morning for the purpose of discovering whether or not there were any bad spots, and to cut out sections of the walk. This would give them the depth of the top surface, and the nature of the filling underneath. The holes would not be very large, of course, unless a bad piece of work was discovered. If that were the case, the walk would be lifted, and further investigations made.

However, the illness of City Engin. eer Wright made it impossible to continue the investigation today. Ald. Richter will call the committee together early next week, if City Engineer Wright is better, and the walks will be thoroughly examined.

Financial Post Compares the Building Progress of the Canadian Cities.

JUMP IS SHOWN TO BE 32 PER CENT.

To the Month of August Building in This City Compares Very Favorably.

Figures received from the building nspectors in the various cities and towns throughout Canada by the Financial Post show that the month of August is far ahead of the same month last year with regard to the estimated value of permits granted for the erection of buildings. Fiftytwo municipalities are represented in the table below, and the grand total of permits issued during the past month is almost $20,000,000. In comparison with figures for the corresponding month of 1911, the totals show an aggregate increase of 56.8 per cent, which is an unusually large increase, especially when it is con-sidered that twenty-three out of forty-seven cities included in these totals are in Eastern Canada. In divisions, east and west, the west has, as would be expected, the percentage increase, namely, 64.3 per cent, but the east is well up to that mark with a 46.7 per cent increase. amounts to almost seven million dollars. On a rough calculation it is found that on a per capita basis three times as much building was projected during August in the west as in the east. The same is true of permits granted during the first eight months also.

In the matter of decreases western division has six, and eastern, five, but owing to the large decrease of over half a million by Montreal, the aggregate by the former is not so large as that shown by the latter. Outside of this large decline, by Montreal, and the failure of Winnipeg to keep up with the pace of last August by a quarter of a million dollars, the other decreases are small, and are not of great importance, as a longer period than one month is needed to give a fair rep-resentation of a city's building re-

Toronto Booms. The large increase made by the eastern cities last month is mainly due to a gain of almost two million dollars made by Toronto. Accountable for this is the large permit of Meeting Held to Make Further of Toronto gymnasium building, but outside of that, the gain is unusualy large. In fact, Toronto's increase s over 75 per cent of the total increase made by twenty-two other cities east of the Great Lakes.

A largely attended meeting was held quite a large number of good vances made over last year's last night in the Y. M. C. It has not yet been $429,000 by Fort William, and $324,definitely decided where the exhibition 000 by New Westminster. All these will be held, but in all probability it increases forcibly indicate the trend of building development in these western centres. There are several gratifying gains among the smaller eastern cities, such as $335,000 by Maisonneuve; dral, presided at the meeting and representatives of every Protestant $255,000 by Hamilton; $96,000 by St. Church in the city were present to Catharines; and $77.000 by Sydney. hear the scheme explained, and to ask In percentage increase St. Cathaquestions that would further enlighten rines holds the premier position for he workers. centage increase on the eight months second, St. Catharines third, and Edmonton fourth. With a few exceptions, among the eastern cities the percentage increases are above the 25 per cent, mark.

While the large gains made cities in the western provinces are gratifying and show that rapid and permanent development is going on there, yet the outstanding and most gratifying feature is the general good showing made by the older and ma-turer cities in the east. This is a most tangible proof that Canada's present period of prosperity is not confined to the newer sections, but is widespread from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coasts.
