TURKS IN FULL RETREAT IN PALESTINE WAR VETERANS TO HURL HIGH EXPLOSIVES TONIGHT

LONDON WAR VETERANS TO EXPOSE ATTEMPT TO "BUY THEM OFF" IS LATEST REPORT ON THE SITUATION

Affidavits Alleging Attempt at Bribery by Politicians Are Said to Have Been Prepared for Meeting To Be Held by Returned Soldiers Tonight--Every Member Is Wanted.

The Advertiser is informed on reliable authority that at the meeting of Great War Veterans' Association tonight affidavits will be produced stating that an attempt had been made in the last few days to "buy off" the soldiers so that they would withdraw their candidate from the political field. Soldiers have been definitely approached by those anxious to keep Col. Coles out of the contest.

TAKING AFFIDAVITS TODAY.

Unless unforeseen developments occur, this bombshell will be thrown into the somewhat lively political arena. The soldiers were busy this morning arranging their affidavits, and although Lieut. Col. Coles, the soldier candidate, would make no statement, he would not deny that such action was contemplated.

What form the alleged bribery is supposed to have taken is not known, but it is known that the attempt was unsuccessful and that the greatest resentment toward those endeavoring to practice the trick is felt among the veterans.

RALLYING EVERY MEMBER.

Every effort is being made to secure a full attendance of the 500 veterans who are members of the association, and the club rooms on Richmond street will be packed to the doors.

The association yesterday sent 1,000 copies of The Advertiser, containing reports of the attempt of the soldiers to get fair treatment at the hands of the Conservative organization, to their comrades in the trenches. The men at the front will be advised of the situation as it develops, and the soldiers believe it will be the best kind of campaign material for Col. Coles.

STANDING BY THEIR CANDIDATE.

"Col. Coles has placed his political future in our hands," said one veteran today. "He has acted the part of a soldier and a gentleman, and we mean to have him in the field. We have the most implicit faith in him, and he knows it, and will stand by us."

Chas. A. Hanson Inaugurated Lord Mayor of Old London.

London, Nov. 9.—The new lord mayor of London, Chas. A. Hanson, was inaugurated today with the usual ceremonies which, like all those since the outbreak of the war, were purely military. The procession through the streets was made up of naval and military detachments, including representatives from the dominions. Scattered throughout the parade were modern war machines, such as tanks and trophies captured from the Germans.

Charles A. Hanson was at one time a resident of this city.

ARREST ORDERS ISSUED UNDER M. S. A. TERMS

Men Who Fail to Report Can Be Apprehended.

NO WARRANTS NECESSARY

Those Who Voluntarily Surrender Will Be Classed as Defaulters

No warrants will be necessary for the arrest of the men in Class 1 who have ignored the provisions of the military service act, which called for them to either sign a report for service or enter a claim for exemption before November 10—tomorrow.

This is the purpose of an official order in English, which was received by Deputy Registrar W. E. Wismer today. This order, however, provides that all men who have not complied with the act, but who surrender voluntarily to civil or military authorities, are to be classed as "defaulters," and not as "deserters," as will be the charge against the men who have to be arrested.

Preparations are being made by the city police force for the enforcement of the act. The announcement made by Registrar Wismer follows:
Special Order in Council authorizes arrest, with or without warrant, on or after November 12, of those men who have not signed either a report for service or a claim for exemption, and who are, therefore, in default under the proclamation. For, as such, they are absentees without leave. Such men will be held in custody until they are taken to the military court.

On the other hand, men who surrender themselves voluntarily as defaulters are not to be prosecuted under the military act, but are to be delivered, by the civil police, into military custody.

Ringleaders, or those who have been contumaciously refusing to obey the proclamation, are to be at once arrested and prosecuted, wherever they may be found, on or after November 12.

Where defaulters surrender to the civil police, a report thereon will be made to the district officer commanding, who will provide necessary transportation.

W. E. WISMER,
Deputy Registrar under military service act for Military District No. 1.

SOCIALISTS TO RUN MAN AGAINST TIRPITZ

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Admiral von Tirpitz, former minister of marine, has been asked by a committee of the Conservative party to stand for election to the Reichstag in the vacant Saxon district of Bautzen-Kamens.

The Vorwaerts says that the party of the Left will regard such a candidacy as a provocation. It says they undoubtedly will contest the election if von Tirpitz runs, despite the political truce agreed upon to stand for election by the various parties not to oppose a candidate of the party in possession of the seat if vacated by death or otherwise during the war.

QUEBEC MEN WILL BE PLEDGED TO OFFER FOR MILITARY SERVICE IF SIR WILFRID IS RETURNED

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Nov. 9.—It is stated here that a pledging system is to be used in Quebec by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his lieutenants, which will bind a man accepting the pledge to offer himself for service in the event of Sir Wilfrid's election.

Many Quebec men are willing to enlist if they are assured that a government which can be trusted is in power, and if Quebec is certain that recruiting will be in the hands of capable military authorities rather than the professional politicians.

"Quebec alone will give 100,000 men to the cause in the event that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is in power," said a leading French-Canadian today. "They do not trust the influences that were linked with Bourassa in 1911, and since that time."

Quebec, Nov. 9.—The friends of Sir Wilfrid Laurier prepared today to give the Opposition leader one of the greatest demonstrations of sympathy and support of his political career at the great mass meeting at which he will open his election campaign in the Maritimes rink tonight.

The Maritime rink will accommodate some seven thousand people, but it was anticipated that twice that number would be on hand. An overflow meeting was thought to be a necessity.

The chair will be taken by Mayor Lavigne, and speeches will be delivered by Sir Lomer Gouin, premier of Quebec; Leon Gauthier, president of the Young Liberal Association; E. LaPointe, M.P. for Kamouraska; and probably Chas. March, M.P. for Bonaventure.

Surrounding Sir Wilfrid on the platform will be all the candidates for the federal seats in the Quebec district and delegates from every Liberal organization in cities and districts within 200 miles. It is in fact a great demonstration of the support of Sir Wilfrid with nomination papers for the federal seat in Quebec North when he rises to speak.

This morning Sir Wilfrid received the candidates from the Quebec district and talked over campaign organization matters with them.

WHEN WILL BRITISH BE WHIPPED? IS THE WAIL OF GERMAN POPULACE

Growing Impatience Over the Failure of Sub Campaign To Do the Job.

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Capt. Perschke, naval expert of the Berliner Tageblatt notes a growing impatience among Germans with the results of the submarine campaign registered in a swelling flood of letters demanding an answer to the question "when shall we have England beaten?" He throws cold water on the optimists and warns them against accepting as reliable figures on destroyed tonnage, including those apparently German and other statistical material. Capt. Perschke says that the 1917 harvest and the imports of grain the food problem can scarcely be solved, for the next six months at least, to make Great Britain inclined to conclude peace.

He holds that the submarine question for the British will not be "Can we continue the war?" but "Will it pay?"

SUCCESSFUL RAID IS REPORTED BY HAIG

MOYNIHAN TELLS AMERICANS THAT TASK IS GREAT

Germany Going Strong, and Will Require a Lot of Conquering.

IS NOW UP TO THE STATES
A Long War Predicted, and Americans Must Expect Heavy Casualties.

New York, Nov. 9.—America has sent an army of physicians and surgeons to the battlefields of Europe who are capable of leading and teaching in modern methods of surgery. Sir Berkeley Moynihan, senior consulting surgeon of the British army, told 5,000 physicians at a dinner given in his honor here last night by the New York state committee of the Council National Defence. Sir Berkeley told the Allies look to America to bring the war to an end and far more speedily than if they had been left to themselves.

A great duty rests upon American physicians and surgeons, Major Charles Mayo of Rochester, Minn., declared in recounting his experience in attending wounded. He urged the medical profession to give more time and thought to war problems.

"Germany is stronger today than ever before," Sir Berkeley said. "She says she can put in the field from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 fresh men every year. She is ruthless and implacable and most efficiently organized. Germany is going strong. She will not be conquered from within, she must be conquered from without by you and us."

"America must prepare herself for a war that is long. I will say for America that the war for her will have just begun when every man of military age will have offered his life to his country, when your souls and your honor have been offered, when you have mourned your honored dead by the hundreds of thousands."

NEW FINANCIAL POLICY BETWEEN U. S. AND JAPS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—The establishment of an open door financial policy between the United States and Japan is one of the chief objects of the visit of the Japanese imperial financial mission. That was revealed yesterday by the members of the mission at a closed session with St. Louis bankers.

This it was explained would involve changes in the statutes of a majority of the states, the probable formulation of a new agreement between the United States and Japan, and the establishment in many American cities of branches of the Bank of Japan.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—Leon Trotsky, president of the executive committee of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers and Workmen's Deputies, explained that the arrest of the ministers was not an act of vengeance or political repression. He said all the members of the Provisional Government would be tried for complicity in the Korniloff movement.

The political parties to which the Socialist ministers belonged have decided to turn over all the ministers, Socialists as well as others, for trial. In the meanwhile they are being held under domiciliary arrest.

TEMPERANCE ORATOR ENDS HIS CAMPAIGN WITH FINE RECITAL

Impersonates Characters With Whom Readings Deal.

CONDEMNS ALL LIQUOR

Moderate Drinking, He Says, Just Prepares for Something Worse.

E. Tennyson Smith, anti-liquor orator and evangelist, who has been conducting a revival conference campaign in the city, concluded his series of addresses at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium last night before a well-filled house.

Mr. Smith recited a variety of poems and readings illustrative of the pathetic, humorous and tragic phases of life, combining in the readings with pathos and realism much appreciated by the audience.

Impersonating practically every kind of character with whom he has come in contact during his campaign, Mr. Smith, the liquor question, Mr. Smith featured the men and women who have come under the influence of drink in most of his recitals. Impersonating people in all walks of life from the extreme poor to the very rich, Mr. Smith created interest throughout the evening that manifested itself in the applause which followed each of his readings.

The so-called "drinker" is preparing himself for something worse when he continues to indulge in the filthy liquor. Many men boast of the fact that they are nothing more than ordinary drinkers, but they never indulge in intoxicants. But it has been proved positively that the majority of drinkers develop from first indulging in liquor on a moderate scale. When a man decides to give up drink after having indulged only in a moderate form, he finds the ordeal very hard, and in the majority of cases, these men are completely fall in their intentions. Once the taste is acquired it requires a great deal of will to give up the stuff. After a man has become accustomed to drinking it is practically impossible to do without the help of God to dislodge it.

Mr. Smith gave a touching recital of poems, in which a bootlegger who had lived for many years in a hospital, owing to a congenital weakness, which was inherited from a drunkard father, dies. The old philosophy that the sins of the fathers are visited upon succeeding generations was strictly illustrated in the recital with the death of the child, while a relative is at the bedside imploring the boy not to give up. Concluding with the recital of a poem of John B. Gough on "Water," Mr. Smith said that water was the product of the greatest brewery in the world and mankind was created by Supreme Being. The white color and transparency of water manifests the purity which it represents. If water were substituted for liquor it would be the greatest blessing to mankind ever known. Water does not rob a mother's son of his manhood. It does not take away an ungodly reputation. It does not harm to mankind in any shape or form. No taste of whiskey can ever equal the great enjoyment derived from a glass of water when one is hot or thirsty; in fact, water is the emblem of material and metaphorically of all that is pure and good in the world.

Mrs. Tennyson Smith rendered songs and music for the occasion and was roundly applauded. The meeting was ended with a hymn after which Mr. Smith had thanked all those who were so generous in helping him in the late campaign.

London Travellers Win Praise From Maritime Hotelmen

Classed as Far Different From Others Whose "Service" Demands are High.

The following incident is related by a Londoner who recently returned from the Maritime Provinces: "I went into a hotel in the east and registered from London. I went upstairs, and didn't ask for any particular service, because everything seemed about all right. Then I went downstairs and chatted with the proprietor. "I always get on with you London travellers," said the hotelman. "But I cannot say the same thing for the travellers from (mentioning) a somewhat pompous Canadian misanthrope. When a man from that place comes in he first calls for ice water. Then he asks the boy to bring him a bag, and gives him a nickel. A little later there is a call for fresh towels. A few knocks for the employee, and demands for more service are heard, and when he is gone the maid almost invariably says, 'What man is 469 wiped his shoes on the towels, and spilled ink all over the carpet, and the new-papered wall.' And when the tablecloth was examined it was found that the—

NEW LOCAL MILITARY HOSPITAL ON O'DELL SITE WILL CONFORM TO STANDARDS OF COMMISSION

Official Announcement of Its Plan Declares That Nothing Will Be Forgotten in Effort to Minister to Wounded Soldiers.

Announcement is made by the Military Hospitals Commission that work is to begin at once erecting a convalescent home for returned soldiers at London. Provision will be made at once for 300 beds with capacity for expansion to 500 or more as required.

The site has been contributed by the London City Council. The area of about sixty acres lies immediately west of the London and Port Stanley Railway on the north side of Commissioners' road, just south of the city limits. The railway is to construct a siding from which supplies will be delivered direct to the building at the rear of the dining pavilion.

The Ontario Government is bearing a substantial portion of the cost of construction, under an agreement with the Military Hospitals Commission, by which the plan, when abandoned by the commission after the war, will revert to the city.

The plan and structural style of the for both. This service consists of linen room, nurses' room, bathroom, cloakroom, diet kitchen and an observation ward of two or three beds for sick cases. Each ward has a sunroom at the end, where the patients may sit and read or play cards in bright, cheerful surroundings.

The kitchen and dining-room will be located to the east in close contact with the stores building, alongside the London and Port Stanley Railway siding. They will be connected to the wards by a long corridor.

An expansion becomes necessary additional wings of 150 beds each can be added without interruption of the life of the institution, and the site has been laid out so that ultimate provision for 900 beds exists.

Vocational training and the recreational activities of the patients have not been overlooked, and a separate building will contain the facilities for this important feature of the life of a military institution will conform to the standards evolved by the works branch of the Military Hospitals Commission. There will be a central administration block, containing the office space for the clerical staff and a group of rooms arranged to contain treatment facilities, such as mechanical devices for re-education of disabled limbs, massage and electrical equipment and the numerous types of remedial baths. Standard types of all these classes of equipment have been adopted by the commission for use in its hospitals throughout the country, the units having been sought when the decision to standardize was made.

The 300-bed institution will consist of two-story wings east and west of the administration blocks and connected by a central corridor. Each wing will contain 150 beds, about twenty-five in each story. There will be one set of service rooms for each wing.

MILITIA OFFICERS OFFICIALLY ORDERED UNDER DRAFT CLAUSE

All in Class One Notified That They Must Register.

HAVE TO REPORT HERE

Adjutant General's Department Must Be Informed of What Course Taken.

All military officers, those attached to any unit of the active Canadian militia, in Military District No. 1, are being officially notified from district headquarters here that orders from Ottawa place them under the provisions of the military service act.

An official announcement to this effect was made by Lieut.-Col. W. G. Brown, acting assistant adjutant-general, today.

Every militia officer who is in Class I has been notified that he must either apply for exemption or report for service before Saturday unless he has already done so. Notices sent from headquarters to the officers stipulate three things. They order the officers to—

1—Apply for exemption or report for service under the military service act.

2—Note on the report or claim qualifications in the militia.

3—Report at once to the assistant adjutant's department at headquarters here, what course has been taken; that is, whether an exemption appeal has been entered or whether the officer has reported for service.

The order which calls for the notation on the registration card of the officers' militia qualifications is interpreted as meaning that there is a chance that the Class I men may be used as either officers or instructors in the draft army. Unofficially it is declared that their chances of holding commissions in the draft army are slim. It is pointed out that practically only returned officers or those who have been attached to some C. E. F. unit, either in Canada or overseas, are being given appointments. Unmarried qualified officers who have not gone overseas so far will stand but a slim chance of gaining a C. E. F. commission now, it is believed.

In camp orders today the following official notice appears. It is published for the information of all concerned that active militia officers who are within Class I are:

1st—To report for service or claim exemption as required by the military service act.

2nd—To endorse, on report or claim, the fact that they are qualified officers of the Canadian militia, giving unit.

3rd—Advise A. G. Militia District No. 1, that they have reported or claimed exemption as the case may be. A record will be kept in this office, in duplicate, of all information of this character so received.

VON PAYER IS SLATED FOR VICE-CHANCELLOR OF THE FATHERLAND

Amsterdam, Nov. 8.—Friedrich von Payer, a Progressive leader, has been designated as German vice-chancellor, according to a semi-official telegram received here from Berlin. It adds that the appointment of Herr Friedberg, leader of the National Liberals, as vice-president of the Prussian state ministry is considered probable.

There have been frequent reports during the last few days from London, Amsterdam and Copenhagen as to whether Herr von Payer and Friedberg would be appointed to the vice-chancellorship and vice-presidency respectively. Reports from Amsterdam and Copenhagen on Wednesday were to the effect that Herr Friedberg had refused the vice-presidency. Earlier it had been reported that Chancellor von Hertling would not designate anyone for the vice-chancellorship, but would leave the office vacant.

SERIES OF THEFTS MAY BE TRACED TO ST. THOMAS YOUTHS

Arthur Baker Is Held for Having Stolen Lambs.

IMPLICATES OTHERS

Police Believe Gang of Crooks May Have Directed Operations.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 8.—Arthur Baker, aged 13, has been arrested, charged with stealing six lambs from Alex. Lyle Jun. of Middlesex. The authorities traced the missing lambs to W. Paddon, a butcher in Yarmouth, who stated he purchased them from three boys.

thfts that have occurred in this vicinity in the past few weeks. He states that he with a number of other boys of whom he alleges, Harry Smeltzer and Clifford Berdan are two, have for several days been going to farmers near the city, and have been stealing sheep and other articles. They obtained, he says, from the Paddock Livery stables here, and made the robberies at night, returning at a late hour with the stolen goods, and delivering the sheep to W. Paddon, a butcher in the township of Yarmouth.

Became Suspicious. After a couple of visits, Mr. Paddon became suspicious, and told the youths that he would come in the day time, and sell the lambs to Alex. Lyle and Lyle, a farmer nearby reported to the police that he had seen the boys, and the thieves were traced to the Paddock Livery, and from there they were traced to Butcher Paddon's place.

Baker admitted to the police that he was in Ingersoll on Saturday last, and that on Sunday he returned to St. Thomas, and on Monday he was seen in his automobile on Sunday, and the machine was located on St. George street, a short distance from Berdan's home. It is believed that the car had been used by the youths to return from Ingersoll on Sunday, as there are no trains running on Sunday from that place.

Berdan and Smeltzer have disappeared, and the police are searching for them. Smeltzer and Baker have been in the police court before.

Had Three Stolen. Mr. Lyle also had two automobile tires stolen recently, and a number of others have reported the loss of automobile accessories, chickens and quantities of hay, oats and other articles. Mr. Lyle is believed to be one of the boys who were implicated in the robberies. The police believe the youths were in the employ of a gang of men who reaped the benefit of the thefts.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED AT PRESTON

PRESTON, Nov. 8.—At a meeting of the town council last night it was decided to raise the sidewalk outside the Kress House and bath-house on Main street to the level of the present street. Work is to be proceeded with at once.

The resolution was presented by the board of works and passed by the council. A sewer will be laid on Church street between Moor and Vine, and the town engineer was instructed to commence the work at once. The matter of a new jail has been discussed, and the council decided to ask for tenders on the remodeling of the basement of the town hall. The old jail at the rear of the hall has been declared unfit by the medical health officer.

SECOND TIME REPORTED IN CASUALTY LISTS FOR LONDON NEWSPAPERMAN

Advertiser Illustration

GUNNER LE ROY SCOTT, an Advertiser reporter, who is today officially listed as having been gassed.

Another member of The Advertiser editorial staff has been listed as a casualty. A message received by John Scott, 711 Main and street today, announces that his son, Gunner Leroy Scott, had been admitted to No. 3 Field Ambulance Depot on October 30, gassed.

This is the second time the young London soldier has been in the casualty list, he having been reported some months ago.

Gunner Scott was on The Advertiser editorial staff for some years, and enlisted in No. 5 Stationary Hospital here with Pte. Nelson (Bat) Minihick, another Advertiser reporter, and Sgt. Ed. Pickett, now a sergeant, being invalided back to England.

After the return of No. 3 to England and later to France, Gunner Scott succeeded in transferring to the 12th Battery, where under the command of his late Lieut.-Col. Woodman Leonard of this city. Shortly after his transfer he was in the casualty lists.

Letters from Gunner Scott, received by the Advertiser editorial staff, were as cheerful as ever. He was then in rest billets with the 12th Battery, and was enthusiastic about the life.

Before his enlistment, Gunner Scott was one of the most popular members of the editorial staff, having been in the newspaper game in this city for some years.

GRAND JURORS RECOMMEND PROCEEDING THOMPSON CASE AFTER INTERVIEW WITH MAN

In Official Presentment They Express Belief That Ends of Justice Can Best Be Served by New and Proper Trial for Woman Who Has Suffered Much for Niece.

In regard to the case of Miss Margaret Thompson, committed to jail on a judgment order for the production of her niece, after a long cross-examination with this party we are inclined to believe that she does not understand the seriousness of the charges which she has taken in refusing to comply with the requirements of the order above referred to. We understand she was in a proper frame of mind when this case was before the judge, and consequently her reasons for desiring to maintain possession of the child were never heard.

We fully realize that to maintain law and order in the land the statutes and laws as enacted by the legislature must be obeyed. However, in this case we feel that if Miss Thompson had availed herself of her rights and privileges when this case was being tried by the judge and her case properly placed before him she would not be in the position in which she is now placed. We are informed that the prisoner has practically taken in the entire case of the child in question, since infancy, and for some ten or twelve years has kept, clothed, maintained and otherwise cared for the child without receiving any assistance or financial support whatsoever from the father of the child.

In view of these apparent facts and also on account of the apparent "misunderstanding" or financial support to the consequence of her act we would recommend, if we are in order, that the case be again opened up and Miss Thompson be allowed to enter a defense to the action brought against her and be represented by legal counsel.

If this recommendation of the grand jury's whose presentment was submitted to Mr. Justice Middleton at this morning's session of the supreme court is acted upon, the case of Miss

"HE'S MY CANDIDATE," SAYS R. G. H. WRIGHT, TAKES CREDIT FOR BRINGING OUT MR. CRONYN

Brother-in-Law of Hon. N. W. Rowell Says He Struck at the Proper Moment and Swayed Convention for Unionist Candidate—Never Voted Liberal in Dom. Affairs.

B. G. H. Wright, head of the Associated Kin of Canada and a life-long Conservative, who declared that he had never cast a Liberal vote in his life so far as federal elections are concerned, takes credit to himself for the nomination of Hume Cronyn as the Unionist candidate in London. Mr. Wright is a brother-in-law of Hon. N. W. Rowell. In a statement to The Advertiser he declares by his efforts to what he calls a physiological moment he secured Mr. Cronyn's consent to run.

Urged Him to Run. "Mr. Cronyn was not anxious for the nomination," said Mr. Wright this morning. "He had been out of politics for several years and was rather reluctant to enter again. The withdrawal of Dr. Moore, Mr. Dennis and Mr. Elliot, I believe, acted rather as a damper on his spirits. I saw how matters stood and made a suggestion to Cronyn to let his name stand. I pointed out to him and to all present that he was the man we needed. What we want is statesmanship without politics, and I believe that Mr. Cronyn is the man to give us that."

BANKS UNITE TO AID INVESTORS OF SMALL SUMS IN GREAT LOAN

Will Lend on Securities Themselves to Victory Bond Subscribers.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The chartered banks of Canada have united in a plan to assist small investors in their subscriptions to Canada's Victory Loan. Action was taken through the Canadian Bankers' Association after conference between the heads of the various financial institutions. E. L. Pearce of Montreal, president of the association, has written to Sir Thomas White, minister of finance, the following letter:

"In order to encourage small investors to participate in Canada's forthcoming Victory loan, I am authorized to state that the chartered banks will lend in moderate amounts upon the pledge of the securities themselves to subscribers to the loan who have a reasonable certainty of repaying the advance in one year. The banks will advance up to 90 per cent of the amount subscribed, and the rate of interest will be 4 1/2 per cent per annum, with monthly or quarterly reduction payments, as may be arranged.

No Charge for Keeping.

"The banks will also accept from subscribers for safe-keeping, without charge, the interest coupons, and after the bonds themselves, to a reasonable amount for the term of one year."

This action on the part of the banks is about the most important that has been taken in connection with the Victory Loan. Through it tens of thousands of small investors will be able to subscribe for the bonds or to increase the subscriptions they already had in mind. The banks are also taking steps to make the subscription process easier and the success of the loan even more fully assured. The action of the banks in handling advances at the same rate as is being paid on the loan will be especially commended.

PERSONAL PLEA FOR EXEMPTION IS NEGLIGIBLE HERE

Practically No Cases Before Seven Local Tribunals Again Today.

MOTHER ACTS FOR SON

Makes Tearful Request That He Be Excluded From Military Service.

Leisure again predominated at the sessions of the city today. The aggregate number of applicants for exemption from military service was disposed of with exemption grants and the remainder held over for further consideration.

At Tribunal 138, at the East End Hall, Mrs. Jeanette Brown made a plea for her only son, Oswald Brown, who is a fireman on the Grand Trunk.

At Tribunal 137, at which Hume Elliot is chairman, enjoys the distinction of not having yet received an application for exemption.

At the tribunals two men appeared, one physically unfit and the other an alien. The physically unfit man submitted a medical history sheet which showed that he could not be eligible for the first draft, at any rate. He had been previously examined and rated in category B, and so will not be called until his class is required. The alien had been reported to the immigration authorities for the last two years, and so the tribunal could not deal with his case.

RUSSIA QUITTING.

WORST fears concerning Russia's part in the war seem likely to be realized. Temporarily, at least, the Maximalists are in power, and they have announced that immediate peace is their aim.

If Russia drops out the loss is serious. If she merely makes peace with the enemy without undertaking to supply the Teutons with produce of the land and factories, it will not be so bad; but, if she shows her resources open to the foe, it means a longer and sterner fight for the Allies before the end is reached.

It is to be feared Germany will take immediate advantage of the situation in Petrograd to rush some of her armies from the eastern front to reinforce those in the west, and on the Italian borders. She dare not take too many until she feels certain that Russia is eliminated as an active enemy, but some will go. This will probably cause some changes in the Allies' program, entailing more extensive help to Italy.

An interesting question will arise if Russia does make a separate peace, as to what is to become of the Russian forces on the western front. Many of these were landed in France, and, presumably, have been holding part of the line. Will they quit or will they continue to fight?

There is, of course, always a hope that better counsels may prevail, and that the pro-Allies in Russia may regain the upper hand, but it is not a hope upon which to stake much at present.

LIBERALISM FOR THE PEOPLE.

THOSE Liberals who still follow the banner of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, believing him to be the most capable man to bring Canada from a state of political chaos to a new unity, are realizing that for all time the Liberalism of the future must be a doctrine of the masses rather than of the classes.

Whatever the decision given by those entitled to vote at the polls, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has had the opportunity to express and to pledge himself for the most advanced program of social relief in the history of the nation. He declares for the control of foodstuffs and for the taking of excess war profits by the state. He strikes at the tariff fearlessly in the belief that the farmer must have assistance before the pressure on all consumers will be relieved. He would abolish the increase in tariff on British goods.

His war policy will no doubt involve an increase of pay to the soldiers, and this would not be just unless some form of bonus were arranged, so that the men who have been serving for their $1.10 a day would secure an amount to equal the increase. These soldiers or their dependents would have to share in any further grants for the purpose of giving the man at the front his just due. Sir Wilfrid has declared that the soldier and the sailor must have first consideration. In making his advanced platform, Sir Wilfrid Laurier placed everyone of the privaters and profiteers in the train of his opponents. The grafters and the job hunters will have nothing to expect from him. The man who wishes to make great war profits will not wish to see Laurier in power.

In the event of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's election the military service act will be far advanced. It would be next March before a victorious Laurier Government could assemble Parliament. Then for further reinforcements—and Sir Wilfrid recognizes the need of carrying Canada's battles much further—there will be a reference to the people. Such a referendum has never been opposed.

HONEST CONVICTIONS.

AT the meeting of a certain Liberal executive in Western Ontario the other night, a debate regarding the military service act was held. All but two of those present were in favor of enforced conscription, yet the two who objected to the conscripting of men without reference to the people had seen their only sons go into the forces. None of the others had sons at the front, possibly because they had no boys to send.

The lesson to be drawn is that objection to conscription does not mean that one Canadian is less loyal than another. It is the most vital subject upon which the Canadian people have ever come into conflict of opinion. Much is to be said for the equal service of all men in the nation's cause. Much is to be said for reference to the people. Men with sons at the front do not all support conscription, and many men with sons able to go will be found shouting loudly for it. It is the first attempt in the history of Canada since confederation to apply coercive methods to the individual. Those who take sides through conviction are to be commended and attended. Those who take sides through desire to avoid criticism are not to be commended. It is a time for men to search their hearts, and, as Rev. Dr. Clark said in a recent address, to be "decent fellows" themselves.

RUSSIA'S POSITION.

IT HAS BEEN SAID by some of the pacifists that the only salvation for democracy in Russia would be an early peace. But we are so sure that a peace with Germany would make for internal harmony and order in Russia? There are two or three things to consider.

In the first place the greatest bitterness subsists among the various Russian factions. One thing that keeps them from altogether flying at each other's throats is clearly the peril on the frontier from the Hun. If peace were made between Petrograd and Potsdam just now the lid would probably be lifted off hell in Russia.

Then again the jarring nation would be called upon to furnish food, etc., for the Huns. This would not only cause an ill-feeling in Russia that could not but foster the seeds of internal strife, but along with the initial defection would bring down on the Muscovites the wrath of the Allies, and probably an attack by Japan. No Government at Moscow could stand up under such circumstances. Anarchy, collapse and then German control would inevitably follow. Where, then, would be the Russian democracy? It is pretty plain that Russia has to choose between staying in the war, at least, and coming definitely under German rule. As a disunited, anarchic mob quailing before a Japanese onslaught, the Russians would have to submit to an even more thoroughgoing German yoke than has been imposed upon Austria or Bulgaria or Turkey. As the Tartars overwhelmed Russia in the thirteenth century, the Teutons would repeat the subjugation of the Slav, with a thoroughness never dreamed of by Jenghiz Khan.

BRITISH WAYS THE BEST WAYS.

EVERYONE has heard addresses in which speakers have held up the British for comparison with Germany from the standpoint of efficiency with the commendation given all to the Germans. We must, after the war, become more like the Germans in our all-effacing subservience to the state.

The Advertiser hasn't much sympathy with his line of thought. The call to affect German methods, even though their efficiency be wonderful, is apt to make one believe that there are those in every community who would be quite willing to have a common people closely tethered to authority.

Canada and Great Britain and her colonies had long been on their way, perhaps very slowly, toward that desired state when men to men should be brothers. The British countries were good countries in which to live. They will be better countries, spiritually, and materially, after the war. But they will not live as the Germans lived in order to build up a machine of slaughter. They will go on in the old ways largely, but with tremendous improvements socially, and with all the good things learned in the war adapted to the needs of everlasting peace. Today they are winning as a nation of peace-lovers become militant.

DOG IN THE MANGER POLICY.

IF THE hydro commission is unable to supply the demand for electrical power and light, private companies should be prevented by a power controller from giving their customers all they want or require, according to Sir Adam Beck's view of the case, as expressed in Toronto on Wednesday. He is quoted as saying that the hydro had strong competition in London, Brantford, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Welland and Dundas, so that in the larger communities in Western Ontario the hydro had competition. It would not be fair or reasonable, he thought, to expect that customers of the hydro should curtail the consumption of electrical energy while customers of privately-owned systems are allowed to go on and use as much power as they pleased. That was one reason why a power controller was needed.

Just what benefit would those manufacturers in London who have to curtail their hydro-electric consumption derive from the imposition of similar restrictions on those who use electricity power? Would they wish to be placed in the position of the dog in the manger?

Sir Adam's idea is, apparently, that the hydro-electric enterprise should be made a success and kept a success by suppression of all competition. When it fails to give service, other companies must be compelled to fail, too. But if this scheme is carried out, what is to be the effect on the consumers? They are to be ignored, as usual, by Sir Adam. Their businesses are to be ruined or injured in order that his vanity may not suffer.

The hydro-electric commission cannot supply the power it has undertaken to deliver, and is falling down on its contracts. Rather than carp and growl at companies which are continuing to do business on a business basis and to satisfy their customers, Sir Adam Beck ought to go to them and ask them to forget the past and help out the commission. He should be delighted that the consumers of the province are not wholly dependent on hydro, and that some are able to get all the power they need. If one grocer runs out of sugar he does not ask that the food controller stop others selling it, but goes to the others and gets some to supply his own customers.

It is more than difficult to see why Sir Adam still objects to and complains about competition when his concern has more business than it can handle.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Germans in front of Haig are like the pugilist who lies stiff after a knockout while the crowd yells at him to retaliate.

No more imports of strong liquor into the United States. The journey to France is likely to prove more popular than ever.

President Wilson will place all bakers under license and fix the price and weight of the standard loaf of bread. Now, then, Mr. Hanna, it's your move.

Sir Sam Hughes has publicly claimed Gen. Mewburn as "one of my boys," and the general promptly accepts this position and follows in Sir Sam's footsteps by declaring he was misquoted.

German businessmen are uttering warnings to the effect that Germany's foreign trade will be almost dead when peace comes, and its future dark. They have a real prophetic gift, and a profit in it.

One member of Hamilton's exemption tribunals says he will insist on all applicants appearing in person. Elsewhere this is being discouraged. There is a sad lack of system in the arrangements made.

THE NEED OF THE INDUSTRIAL POPULATION.

If Mr. Crothers is correctly reported, and there has never been any intention of replacing him with a labor man as minister of the department, something is wrong with the union manifesto promising "adequate consideration of the needs of the industrial population, the relations between capital and labor and the betterment of employment conditions."

THE WHITE SATIN GOWN.

By Hilda Morris.

Aunt Roberta had sent the white satin to Barbara's mother years before, when Barbara was only a child. Its shining white lengths, carefully folded in a sheet, had been laid away in the top drawer of the old mahogany highboy ever since Barbara could remember. Sometimes when she was very good, as a little girl, her mother would get the satin out to show to her, and when she grew older her mother promised that it should be hers for a wedding dress. When Barbara was in her teens, a slim, shy girl, with smooth, brown hair and bright cheeks, she used to steal to the highboy and look at the satin, stroking its folds and seeing visions. "Once she even took it out and draped it round her shoulders before the mirror, but she never told anyone of that."

Aunt Roberta had sent this rich gift to the little grey farm house, had been a very beautiful and wonderful person. She had not stayed at home and married one of the village boys or neighboring farmer, but she had gone away to a city. There she had worked at something until her prince came along and married her. The fact that she kept six servants and her carriage and her own money, and that she had married a man of rank, was not the reason that she had never told anyone of that.

She had not stayed at home and married one of the village boys or neighboring farmer, but she had gone away to a city. There she had worked at something until her prince came along and married her. The fact that she kept six servants and her carriage and her own money, and that she had married a man of rank, was not the reason that she had never told anyone of that.

bara's heart was beating so that she could not speak. "Barbara," he said at length, "why should things that happened five years ago make any difference to us? I don't suppose that you could care for me now; there may be some one else—but I can, at least be friends—and if you could."

His voice caught, and Barbara answered quickly. "There isn't anyone else," she said. "If he kissed her in the shade of the roadside elm, there was no one there to see, and Mrs. Gilman hardly knew she was there. She came in with Morgan Burns a few minutes later."

Mrs. Gilman was a wise mother, however. She withdrew to the dining-room, and listening to the rumble of Morgan's dream, as mothers do. "Perhaps it's just as well, after all, that Barbara made up that white satin," she reflected. "Perhaps—perhaps she will use it for a wedding dress, in spite of everything. She looks mighty pretty in it. I shouldn't wonder if she'd be married in it yet."

And so she was. For the prince had come back. "Barbara made up that white satin," she reflected. "Perhaps—perhaps she will use it for a wedding dress, in spite of everything. She looks mighty pretty in it. I shouldn't wonder if she'd be married in it yet."

Lovely White Skin!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

By all means, girls, prepare a lemon lotion to keep your skin flexible and young looking. You will soon realize that true loveliness does not mean the powdery look or waxen colorlessness of some hot-house flower, but is typified by the velvety softness of your skin, your peach-like complexion and rosy-white hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and hidden beauty of any skin, simply marvellous to smoothen rough, red hands.

MOTOR CLUB HELD SUCCESSFUL SMOKER AT INGERSOLL INN

Many Guests From Woodstock Attended Function Last Night.

INGERSOLL, Nov. 8.—The Ingersoll Motor Club held a very successful smoker at the Ingersoll Inn this evening. A number of the members of the Woodstock club were present and also Secretary Robertson of the Ontario Motor League, and Mr. McLean, deputy minister of highways for the Province of Ontario. The chair was occupied by E. A. Wilson, president of the Ingersoll club. A first class program was rendered, which included music by the Lombardo quartet of London. Apart from the social side, one of the main objects of the smoker was to discuss joint action on the part of the Ingersoll and Woodstock clubs to have the road between the two places improved.

Under the auspices of the Mission Circle a very pleasing patriotic and missionary play was presented in the school room of the Methodist Church this evening. In all about twenty-five took part in the performance which was most creditable and enjoyed by a large audience.

At their meeting next Monday evening the young people of St. James Church will listen to a debate of war-time interest, the subject being, "Resolved that the submarine is more effective in the present war than aircraft." The speakers will be William Bush and C. W. Riley Jun. for the affirmative, and W. C. Carthew and C. H. Foster for the negative.

The exemption tribunal for Ingersoll, composed of Lieut.-Col. T. R. Mayberry and J. C. Norworthy, held its first session today in the postoffice building to hear personal applications. Only two cases came before the tribunal, but it was learned that a number of applications were made at the postoffice in the usual way.

WOODSTOCK GETS FISH SUPPLY AFTER THIRD ATTEMPT

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 8.—Not until the third attempt was Woodstock successful in obtaining a supply of Government fish. A shipment promised some weeks ago failed to materialize because the lakes were too rough for the fishermen to go out, and a consignment which was to have reached here yesterday from Meaford also did not arrive. The explanation given today in a letter from the provincial fish director being that stormy weather prevented the boats from leaving. This afternoon, however, eight hundred pounds of trout was delivered to local dealers and by them will be distributed among the various fish dealers to be retailed to their customers tomorrow.

Mr. Theod. Drumbo, was acquitted in court today of a charge of offering for sale on the Drumbo market meat unit for food. The evidence showed that the defendant delivered to the Blenheim Farmers' Association a cow, which, when slaughtered, was condemned by the two inspectors of the association. The meat obtained a favorable report from Drumbo's veterinary surgeon and later offered the meat for sale at Drumbo. The fact that the Drumbo veterinary found the meat satisfactory was accepted by the crown attorney as sufficient reason for dismissing the action.

Arrangements have been made for the local Boy Scouts to help in "boosting" in Oxford Court in Oxford County by holding parades and by acting as messengers, etc., for the members of the campaign. They will hold their first parade on the market square on Monday afternoon, and application is being made to the board of education to proclaim a half-holiday on that day.

NEW YORK BUYERS CORNERING THE FISH

According to information given The Advertiser agents of big New York fish houses are busy at the leading fishing stations all along Lake Erie, and by offering the fishermen prices double what they have been getting are securing tons of fine fish which are being rushed across the border. BURGERS CHATTED WITH MAN ROBBED

GALT, Nov. 8.—As he approached his farm yesterday, John Marshall, a farmer of West River road, south of Galt, met two young men on the roadway, and talked with them, but he did not know at the time that these strangers had a short time previously burglarized his home, stealing $65 in money, a gold watch, a silver watch, a razor and a revolver. On discovering his loss, Mr. Marshall told word to the police of surrounding towns, but the thieves so far have made good their escape.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

VOTES FOR SOLDIERS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Could you give me information through your valuable paper on the following points:

1. In the coming election will a soldier who is in uniform, and who has not been overseas, have a vote?
2. Did not the soldiers' franchise act only give soldiers overseas a vote? Hence those at home will have no vote.
3. If a soldier who has not been overseas has no vote, then will all men between 20 and 34, who are soldiers absent on leave without pay, be disenfranchised?
4. If a conscript has a vote, will his family have a vote?

Thanking you in advance, I am, Sir, A. READER.

ITALIANS FIGHT SPLENDIDLY TO RETARD ADVANCE OF TEUTON HORDE

Valiant Detachments in Rear-guard Actions Spare Larger Units.

ENEMY CROSS LIVENZA

17,000 Cadorna Troops Are Cut Off From Tagliamento and Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—There has been no cessation in the retreat of the Italians across the Venetian Plains toward the new line of defence, on which it is supposed they will be able to make a stand. The invading Germans and Austro-Hungarians, the larger units of the Italian army, are fighting without respite, according to the Rome official communication, but considerable fighting has taken place in the hills of Vittorio and at other points in the North.

The Berlin war office says that on the Middle Tagliamento River Italian troops were forced back without aid against the invaders were captured. A general and 17,000 additional Italian troops were reported as captured, bringing the total prisoners since the retreat from the Isonzo basin to more than 30,000, according to Berlin. It is asserted also that in excess of 2,000 Italian soldiers have been taken into the hands of the Teutonic allies.

BULK OF ENEMY FAR BACK.
ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—The bulk of the Austro-German invading forces today presents a main frontage of about 30 miles back of and along the Tagliamento River, with reconnaissance parties thrust forward eight or ten miles west of the river for the purpose of feeling for the points of least resistance. This is producing detached detachments, but no battle in force has yet occurred.

The Livenza River, to which the Italian withdrawal is now progressing, is only one of a series of successive defensive parallels. The Italian army still has in reserve large bodies of troops, which, however, naturally feel the effects produced by the recent retreat of their main body. Large reinforcements at this moment, therefore, would render invaluable assistance in the opinion of the military authorities.

Slender Aspect.
The enemy territorial occupation in Eastern Friuli presents a slender aspect far beyond its military purpose. The Alps heretofore have been the traditional boundary between the northern Teutonic and the southern Latin races. The Austro-Germans recognize the Alpine boundary, except for their own forces.

Now, for the first time, the Teutonic forces are occupying territory in the Friuli plains, which are the easternmost part of Venetia, the age-long possessions among the Latins. Such an invasion strikes at the very heart of the principle of nationality, and also thrusts a Teutonic wedge southward along the Adriatic. This brings up the grave question of whether Germany will finally secure territorial lodgment, with ports and naval bases, on the Adriatic, thus realizing her aim to become a Mediterranean, as well as a North Sea power, unless the Italian turn back from the Friuli plains. This would seem to be a warning to the Allies that no time is to be lost in reinforcing.

GREAT REAR-GUARD FIGHTING.
ROME, Nov. 8.—Withdrawal of the Italian line was continued yesterday. The war office announced today. The larger units retired unmolested. The Italian troops fought numerous rear-guard actions, in the course of which they succeeded in holding up the Austro-German advance temporarily.

"Numerous engagements took place between the hills of Vittorio and the confluence of the Montebelluna and the Livenza, in the course of which our brave covering troops succeeded in delaying the enemy's advance. In spite of strenuous resistance on the part of the hostile machines, our aviators renewed the bombardment of enemy troops along the Tagliamento. Five enemy airplanes were brought down."

17,000 MORE PRISONERS.
BERLIN, via London, Nov. 8.—The supplementary report from headquarters today says that the Italian army, in Italy we are fighting our way forward in mountain and in plain. The frontiers of the Italian army have been crossed the Livenza River. Headquarters announced early today.

"Italian troops to the number of 17,000 were cut off from the Tagliamento and captured, the official statement adds. The total number of prisoners taken by the Austro-German forces is now more than 30,000. It is asserted that the bulk of the communication is broken."

Italian front: Our detachments, advancing on the mountain roads, have broken the resistance of the enemy rear guard. By an offensive movement our attacking columns cut off the retreat of the enemy troops still holding the line between the Tagliamento and the Livenza. The enemy is now being driven back toward the Tagliamento.

"Up to the present, 17,000 Italians, among them a general, with 30 guns have had to surrender."

STILL NO ATTACK TO RETAKE PASSOSCHENDALE.
Indications Are That Enemy Is Retreating an Assault.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, VIA LONDON, Nov. 8.—(By W. A. Willson, special correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—Hindenburg's orders to his troops to retake Passoschendale, at all costs, has not yet resulted in any enemy military action, according to the Canadian Press. Hindenburg and today have been exceptionally quiet, except for our artillery, which has been maintaining a harassing fire on all the routes of approaches to the centres of activity in the enemy zone. The Canadian Press says that the enemy has been preparing to run the gauntlet, but in the meantime the positions and preparing for all contingencies.

NINE BOILS KEPT COMING ON NECK ONE AFTER THE OTHER

Anyone who has ever suffered from boils knows how sick and miserable they make you feel.

When you think you are about cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your wretchedness. All the pusitizing and lancing you may do will not cure them and stop more coming.

Boils are simply bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the greatest blood purifier known. It cleanses the system and removes every particle of foul material from the blood, then never another boil comes and the cure is permanent.

Mr. Geo. Ayers, 349 Gloucester street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I wish to tell you what I know about your wonderful Burdock Blood Bitters. In the spring I suppose my system needed cleansing out, for I had nine boils come on my neck one after the other. I quickly got a bottle of B. B. B. and before it was half finished I felt a great change, and it certainly put an end to my boils. Otherwise I might have had a lot more. I recommend B. B. B. to all I can, for I know it to be a great remedy."

Swedish Minister Denounces Germany and Stirs Up Berlin

Declares Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine Must Be Restored.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 8.—Hjalmar Branting, Swedish minister of finance, and Socialist leader, is quoted by a newspaper correspondent as saying: "Peace will come through the triumph of democracy. Germany's regime cannot be reconciled with the spirit of our times. Belgium will be completely reinstated and reparations made. Alsace-Lorraine must be restored to France. The Colmar Gazette's semi-official Berlin correspondent, commenting on this, says: 'We expect the Swiss Government to explain whether Branting's words can be reconciled with true neutrality.'"

BOURASSA HAS TAGGED HIMSELF TO LAURIER

But Does Not Like Opposition Leader's (By Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Henri Bourassa has come out straight for Laurier in his paper, Le Devoir. In today's issue he says: "We ask nothing better than to assist Laurier in putting the government of national treason. We wish, however, that he would surround himself with men of high character, solid and high enough to prevent bribery and corruption. We wish to see a man of high character and high enough to prevent bribery and corruption. We wish to see a man of high character and high enough to prevent bribery and corruption."

FRENCH FLIES BOMB THREE ENEMY STATIONS

Objectives Reached at Thourout, Roulers and Lychterville.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The war announcement tonight reads: "Spirited artillery action occurred along the whole front north of the Aisne, in the sector south of Corbeny and in upper Alsace in the region of Reims."

On the night of November 6-7 our bombing aircraft dropped 2,000 kilos of explosives on the stations at Thourout, Roulers and Lychterville. All the objectives were reached. "Eastern theatre: Heavy artillery fighting in the region of Reims and north of Monastir. There were several explosions and heavy gunfire near the stations."

BARRISTER IS "FIT"; "FAKING" BAD EYES?

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—The special board appointed to examine a well-known Winnipeg lawyer, believed to have "faked" his eyesight at one of the four exemption boards he appeared at, has graded the barrister A2, it was learned today.

This means that he is fit for the infantry service. The first three boards he went to graded him A2, but his eyesight test before the fourth board resulted in his being graded C2.

SHE HAD SUFFERED FOR 20 LONG YEARS

Mrs. Morris Had Rheumatism So Bad She Couldn't Walk—Finds Relief at Last.

"Words can only partially describe the suffering I endured before I began taking Taniae," said Mrs. Mary Morris of 182 St. Johns road, Toronto, a few days ago.

"For twenty years," continued Mrs. Morris, "I have tried in vain to get relief from stomach trouble, kidney disease and rheumatism, and when I began taking Taniae I was a confirmed invalid. During all these years I haven't been able to eat without suffering afterwards. My stomach was all upset. I had no appetite. I simply had to force myself to eat, and then my food would sour and I would feel terrible. I suffered all the time from indigestion and was constantly belching up my food sour and undigested. My kidneys worried me nearly all the time, and during the past three years I developed rheumatism, which started first in my shoulders and arms and then got down into my lower limbs, and for more than two and a half years I have almost been an invalid. I was so crippled up that I couldn't walk. I couldn't even dress myself, and the misery was almost unbearable. Sometimes the pain was like a knife cutting in; then again it was a dull, throbbing pain, that seemed close to the bone. My legs would puff up and my joints were so stiff and hurt so I could hardly move them. At times I had cramps in my legs until they felt like they would all most draw double, and no one, unless they have suffered the same way, knows what I had to endure."

Well, I have spent lots of money for medicines of different kinds, but was never able to find anything to do me one bit of good. I had almost given up in despair, but Taniae has already done me a world of good, and I believe now I am going to get sound and well. I have just started on my third bottle of Taniae, and I can tell that I am improving every day. The rheumatism doesn't bother me anything like it did, and I feel stronger and more vigorous than I have in a long time. While I haven't taken Taniae long enough to say it has done wonders for me, I can say it is doing me good, and that's more than I can say for any other medicine I ever took. I am certainly well pleased with the results I have gotten from Taniae, so far, and I'm going to keep on taking it, as I believe my relief will soon be complete."

Taniae is sold in London by Standard Drug Ltd., under the direction of a special representative, and by a established agency in every town.

'Made In Germany' After the War

HARVEST OF HATE TO REAP.

[By Frank Fox.]

Those who hope that a long term of world-wide peace will follow the present war and heal some of its wounds; who can see a little beyond the national hatreds of today and recognize that it would hardly be a happy future for humanity if one great human race were hopelessly prostrate after the war, are disturbed chiefly by one phenomenon of the struggle—the apparently deliberate aim of the German naval and military authorities to set the whole world against Germany. What is the purpose of it? Into what momentary madness has the ordinarily philosophic German mind been plunged to elect thus to become an island among nations its best against every man, every man's hand against it? Unless it is the collection of enemies just for the sake of enmity, there can be no reason in a policy which has set up in arms against Germany most of Europe, all of Australasia; which has reduced the neutral world to Spain, Holland, Denmark, Scandinavia, and some of the smaller South American states; and not all of those well-affected toward a power which has made the destruction of neutral lives and neutral property part of its program.

Reason is obscure. The reason for such a policy it is hopeless to search for. The result of it is easy to foresee unless a prompt policy of conciliation brings Germany once again into the orbit of a possibly friendly world. The result must be the economic ruin of Germany, which has built up her greatness by a world trade founded not so much on the richness of German soil but on the genius of the German people for organization and scientific production. Germany before the war was a great importer of raw materials and a great exporter of manufactured goods. Consequently she was, to a greater extent than any other power dependent on the goodwill of the outside world to give her genius full scope. All over the world the agents of German industry bought raw material in competition with other nations, very often beating in friendly rivalry the agents of other nations on their own territory. Similarly German-manufactured goods penetrated into every market, very often climbing high tariff barriers to compete successfully with a "protected" local product.

How Germany Gained. Competitors did not enjoy being beaten in this way. But they had to make the best of it. To a limited extent they could hinder the progress of German trade with tariff restrictions. But between friendly nations, with the world at peace, there was an obvious limit to such restrictions. They had to observe some equality of treatment between nations. And no restrictions which observed any kind of fair play could keep back the progress of German trade. To give a concrete instance from a British source, the year 1913-14, the next complete trade figures, Australia, in the quinquennium 1908-12, Australia bought on an average of £2,155,868 worth of goods from Germany, the next quinquennium an average of £2,155,868 worth, the next an average of £2,155,868, the next an average of £2,155,868. In 1913 Australia bought of German manufactures £2,956,834. Steady, irresistible progress, in spite of the fact that Australia and British industries as far as she could, Germany had to restrict her exports to this particular market. Germany beat all European competitors, having eight times the market, say, of France.

Lossing Ground. In Great Britain, the success of German competition was at first attributed to the fact that "German goods were cheaper because they were inferior and got away by passing themselves off as British goods." In consequence there was the "Made in Germany" legislation. Germany soon had to be labeled to show their country of origin. But that proved of advantage rather than disadvantage to the German manufacturer. People bought the article which was best at the price, and "Made in Germany" goods continued to find wider and wider markets.

But after this war, unless there is a prompt and complete change of heart shown by the German naval and military authorities, what chance of the goodwill of the outside world will the German commercial agent have? Will he meet goodwill when he comes to buy raw materials? Will the "Made in Germany" label help goods to a sale? The German Government is sowing to reap a harvest of hate with its devastations of occupied territories and its unlimited submarine warfare. All the world is being taught to believe that the German is ruthless. In every corner of the world there are families mourning the loss of some member killed by a German submarine, traders vexed by loss of cargo or ship. Germany, to put it plainly, is getting all the outside world into the habit of hating her. It is becoming with the passage of time more than a mood, an actual habit. Again the question, what chance will German skill and German industry have after the war if Germany's rulers persist in giving this harvest of hate? "He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity; and the rod of his anger shall fail."

Made His Will, Went "Over Top" and Was Killed

Pte. Fred Flannery Hurriedly Scribbled Directions Before Starting Attack.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—The last will and testament of Pte. Fred Flannery, who enlisted in the Victoria Rifles at Montreal, and was killed in France on July 28, this year, was admitted to probate here today, Flannery having been resident of Detroit, and the legatee residing in this city. The will was written in pencil on a perforated sheet of paper provided for that purpose in the little "vest pocket manual" carried by every soldier. Flannery had hurriedly scribbled it a few minutes before he went "over the top," and its legality will not be questioned. He bequeathed his property, real and personal, the whole valued at a few thousand dollars to his two nephews, F. D. Carbery and Francis J. Carbery.

ARE OPEN EVENINGS. GALT, Nov. 8.—To accommodate the rising tide of inquiries for service on December 10, the local post-office is being kept open in the evening now for the balance of the week to receive applications for exemption or reports for service. The two local exemption tribunals opened at the city hall today. The police court and council chamber are being used. Few men applied at the armories today for medical examination.

WOUNDED SECOND TIME. TILSONBURG, Nov. 8.—W. J. Sandham has received official notice that his son, Pte. John Sandham, has been admitted to the military hospital in Brighton, England, with a gunshot wound in the right shoulder. This is the second time he has been a casualty. He had been gassed a few weeks ago. He enlisted in London last February in the Army Service Corps, and is only 17 years old.

REPORTING SLOWLY. BRANTFORD, Nov. 8.—With only three days to go to the young men of Brantford in large numbers are still putting off reporting under the military service act. In the past 24 hours but 59 reported, all claiming exemption. To date 758 have reported, with 31 willing to serve. The G. T. R. has sit in exemption claims for 10 employees scattered along the line as far as Bridgeburg.

500 WANT EXEMPTION. GALT, Nov. 8.—But two personal applications for exemption were received by local tribunals today. However, a number of inquiries were received from foreigners as to their standing. J. R. Blake and W. Philip are sitting in the police court today, and J. H. Hancock and R. MacGregor in the mayor's office. Over 500 applications for exemption have been made at the postoffice.

CHARGE DISMISSED. WINDSOR, Nov. 8.—Charges of misappropriating military funds preferred against Capt. Richard Gauvin of Montreal by Alonso Payne, a special investigator for the Canadian Militia Department, were dismissed today by Magistrate Leggett in the police court. It was alleged that Capt. Gauvin, who was in charge of the recruiting battalion of Detroit, Belgium, received the pay checks for the members of the unit and converted the proceeds to his own use after inducing the soldiers to endorse them. Capt. Gauvin, however, will face other charges when the jury sittings of the Ontario supreme court open at Sandwich. He was committed for trial two weeks ago by Magistrate Leggett. Barrister Kerby, acting for Gauvin, has obtained bail for his client, the court accepting a cash deposit of $1,500.

TROTSKY RAN PAPER IN NEW YORK FOR A WHILE THIS YEAR

Leader in Present Russian Rebellion Has Career.

TWICE SENT TO SIBERIA

Was Running Newspaper in Berlin When War Broke Out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Leon Trotsky, president of the central executive committee of the Petrograd council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, was the editor for a few months this year of the Novi Mir (New World), Russian revolutionary paper published in this city. He arrived in New York on January 15 last from Spain, and remained here until the overthrow of the emperor, when he went to Russia. While here he was prominent in radical circles on the east side.

Persons who knew him in this city declare that he established a paper in Russia more than fifteen years ago. Because of his revolutionary tendencies he was often in trouble. He was sent to Siberia in 1905 and in 1912 for participation in revolutionary plots. After his release the second time he went to Berlin, where he started a newspaper, but when the war broke out he was ordered to leave.

He lived a short time in Switzerland, then went to Paris and started a newspaper advocating peace. The Russian ambassador had his paper suppressed and he fled to Spain, where he was promptly arrested. After his release he came to the United States with his wife and two sons. The immigration authorities permitted him to land when he declared that he was not a revolutionist, but a disciple of Karl Marx and desired to bring concord among the nations.

AUSTRALIAN PAPERS OUT FOR CONSCRIPTION

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 8.—The newspapers warmly applauded the government's decision to take another referendum on conscription, but deplore the delay which it involves. "The newspapers declare that the government should stake its existence and the life of the Parliament on the success of the appeal. It is stated that the soldiers at the front will again have the vote. The official labor party, which bitterly opposed the last referendum, is not able to fight strongly against the coming referendum owing to lack of funds."

Over $20,000,000 have been subscribed to the Liberty loan.

Troops Guarding Grain Elevators and Detroit Docks

No Chances Being Taken on Hun Spies Burning Supplies.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—A detachment of state troops, the exact number not being made public, will arrive in Detroit early Friday morning, under command of Col. R. V. Van Dusen, and at once will go on guard duty at various points in the city, such as stockpiles, grain elevators, food warehouses and docks.

The order for the soldiers to move was issued late this afternoon by Governor Bleeker, upon certain recommendations made to him by telegraph by United States Marshal Hendrick.

No information is obtainable as to the reason for rushing troops here, but it is believed state authorities intend to prevent as far as possible any repetition of the work of spies, and incendiaries such as have been reported recently from various Atlantic seaports such as Baltimore, Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

MACHINE GUNNERS RIDDLE GERMANS WHO TRY TO FLEE

Heavy Casualties Inflicted on Foe North of Fresno.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The war office communication, issued tonight, says: "A successful raid, in which we captured 81 prisoners and a machine gun, was carried out at noon today by East Yorkshire troops north of Fresno. The hostile garrison was caught by machine gun fire while endeavoring to escape from our artillery barrage, and many casualties were inflicted. In the course of the raid the enemy's support troops attempted an advance, but were engaged with a direct machine gun fire and also suffered heavily."

"On the battlefield the enemy's artillery has been active in the neighborhood of Paschendale."

BRAZILIAN SENATE IS STRONG FOR REPRISALS

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 8.—The measures recommended by the president with reference to reprisals against Germany, and adopted by the Chamber yesterday, were subject of much discussion today in the Senate, which seemed disposed to substitute for the Chamber's resolution another authorizing the government to take against the person and property of enemy residents all measures justified by national defense and by reprisals of war, without specifying the measures.

The Chamber approved general martial law, but the Senate favors martial law in the coast states only.

246,000 REGISTERED TO WEDNESDAY NIGHT THROUGHOUT CANADA

Of This Number, 228,000 Are Seeking Exemption.

QUEBEC PERCENTAGE HIGH

Over 46 Per Cent of Total Eligibles Are Recorded in French Province.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—At the present rate of progress there is no reason to suppose that there will be any difficulty Saturday evening in registering all men who come into Class 1 under the military service act. This statement was made this afternoon by an officer connected with the military service council. He explained that though the figures given out seemed to indicate that a large percentage of men in Canada belonging to Class 1 had neither reported for service or applied for exemption, the figures were sometimes from one to three days behind the actual registration. The reports for service or claims for exemption as the case may be are made through the postoffices throughout the country. The postmasters send them to the assistant postoffice inspectors who forward them to the registrars. After passing through the hands of the registrars they are sent into the military service board here and finally issued to the press.

Approximately 246,000 registrations had been recorded at the office of the military service council up to last night and of these approximately 228,000 were claims for exemption, while about 18,000 were reports for service. The total of registrations in the province of Quebec yesterday was very high.

Following are the figures of registration throughout Canada on Wednesday, the latest which have been received here. No figures were available from St. John or Vancouver districts.

OHIO "WETS" HOLD LEAD.
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 8.—At the close of the second day of the prohibition election in Ohio the result was still in doubt, but with complete returns from the 88 counties, 67 of which had turned in official reports, the wets were leading by a majority of 3,643 on the face of the returns.

GERMAN OFFICERS WHO MADE ESCAPE REARRESTED IN U.S.

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 8.—Lieut. Hans Beeg and Lieut. Loeschner, who escaped from Fort McPherson, Ga., October 22, were arrested this afternoon by customs inspectors at a point six miles below Laredo, near the Rio Grande. They were turned over to military authorities.

BORDEN'S MANIFESTO DELAYED.
OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—No date has been fixed for Sir Robert Borden's Halifax meeting. The prime minister now expects to leave for Halifax on Saturday evening.

His second election manifesto has not yet been issued. It was intimated today that it is not likely to be out before Monday.

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND DROPSY.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, they cannot filter out and cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. These follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilblains and rheumatism. In some people, and in some cases, these troubles are sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric." Send for trial package.

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and insurance companies examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever sent a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Consulting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

KNOW YOURSELF!
Read all about yourself, your system, physiology, anatomy, hygiene, simple home cures, etc., in the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of 1000 pages, sent to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 50 cents in one-cent stamps for a cloth-bound copy. Customs prepaid.

AN ALLEGED PRIEST CONVICTED; ACTIVE IN SINN FEIN WORK

Liverpool Authorities Sentence "Father Daly" to Three Months.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 8.—Father Michael Daly, who has been for two years in the United States, and who arrived here recently from New York, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for having in his possession a code by which the communication of naval and military information was possible. He was also charged with having two letters for conveyance into the United Kingdom, and with making a false declaration to an alien officer. Father Daly said the code had been given to him in the United States by a Father Murphy, who was interested in the Sinn Fein movement, and who requested Father Daly to use it to send news concerning Ireland.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The official Catholic directory gives the name of only one Rev. Michael Daly in the New York Diocese, and he is the assistant rector of St. Luke's Church in this city. It was said at the church tonight that Father Daly is in this city.

SIX WOMEN KILLED WHEN FOUR-STORY BUILDING COLLAPSES

Heavy Machinery Crashes From Top Floor Into Basement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Six women were killed when a four-story building in Brooklyn, which the authorities say was condemned twenty years ago as unsafe, collapsed today. Fire followed the explosion of an ammonia tank in the basement of the building. Heavy machinery stored on the top floor is believed to have caused the collapse. The coroner, after a preliminary investigation, ordered the arrest of Fred C. Babcock, manager of the Decatur Mercantile Company, one of the tenants of the building, on a charge of culpable negligence. He will be held under $5,000 bail pending an inquest.

The building, a four-story structure, was owned by the Johnnie Steamship Provision Company, and was located within a block of the recent $2,000,000 warehouse fire in Brooklyn. Heavy machinery, located on the upper floors, is believed responsible for the collapse of the building. It dropped to the cellar, causing the explosion of an ammonia tank. About 3,500 bags of beans, destined for the American forces in France, were ruined.

STAND BY LAURIER.
VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 8.—The Central Liberal Association tonight refused to take part in any further arrangements for a joint convention to nominate a candidate. The association decided to call a convention of its own next week, at which a straight Laurier Liberal candidate will be nominated. A resolution was passed endorsing the principles of the Laurier manifesto, denouncing Union government, and after debate, a clause was added favoring the conscription of men and money.

Although a number of the leading Liberals expressed disapproval of the association's attitude and announced their intention of throwing in their lot with the Unionists, the great bulk of the party who are members of the association were definite in their support of Sir

GRAIN ONCE MORE MARKET FEATURE.

Oats Coming In With Unusual Briskness.

Grain again featured the offerings of the market this morning. Other kinds of produce were scarce, particularly vegetables. A few potatoes were secured by marketers, but with the exception of this vegetable no other kind was offered.

Hay continues to be brisk and sells at an unchanged price. Although the number of loads appearing on the square daily is large the demand for them keeps up with the price. A few loads of straw appeared and sold at $8 a ton. The demand for straw is poor, and if a few more loads are offered the price will not doubt drop. Live hogs remain firm at $18, and dressed porkers sell from $21 to $22 per cwt. Tomorrow will be the big market day of the week, and a good variety of produce is expected. According to hog buyers the probability of no advance in hog prices after Christmas is great.

Every year a decrease in pork prices is registered in the fall and a substantial jump is recorded about the first of the new year. The jump is generally about $1 and sometimes $2, so it can be expected that hogs will sell at $17 to $18.

Potatoes also follow this custom of advancing with the cold weather. At present prices are about $1.50 a bushel, and when an exceptional crop of potatoes is enjoyed the opposite condition prevails, but as a rule potatoes advance during the winter. Owing to the fact that many farmers are holding a higher price it is quite possible that a surplus will be seen on the market instead of a small offering.

Oats are sought by a small circle of purchasers every morning, and during the past week have been coming in with an unusual briskness. The price of oats of all grades is $2.10 and the better quality at an advance of 5c. Barley and wheat seldom appear for sale on the square, and a straight price for these grains cannot be secured.

Butcher's meat have remained unchanged for some months, and no drastic advance is expected until after the new year, when many of the varieties of meat will be expected, advance with the price of hogs.

Butter and eggs are scarce and firm. New oats, per cwt., $2.10 to $2.15.

NOT NECESSARY FOR WOMEN TO REGISTER

Deputy Returning Officer R. A. Bayly has given the following to The Advertiser:

"The impression seems to have been created among the women voters in the city that it is necessary for them to register (as required by the provincial act) in order that they may be on the voters' list, and have a vote at the coming Dominion election. This is not correct, as no registration is necessary. The voters' lists are compiled by an enumerator in each subdivision, who goes from house to house making up the list.

"All voters, men and women, will be placed on the lists, and no proceeding by the voter is necessary except to see that he or she is not missed by the enumerator."

ELECTED OFFICERS.

SERBIANS SOON BACK IN HOMES HUNS WRECKED

Little Army Waiting Now To Strike Back at Oppressors, Says Gifted Speaker.

TOUCHES CITY AUDIENCE

Speaking to Woman's Canadian Club, Miss Losanitch Tells of Hope of Victory.

"I am sorry I do not stand before you under happier circumstances. Our youth and our hope of Serbia have been buried in Montenegro, our people scattered and our country under Austrian and Bulgarian rule. It was not at all the physical fatigue and suffering that our refugees minded as they fled across the mountains and rocks of famine-stricken Albania and Montenegro in the bitter cold. It was the idea that they were leaving their country that was crushing them. The foregoers were words spoken by Miss Helen Losanitch, most winsome and charming of Serbian women, as she stood for a second time before a London audience in the Normal School yesterday afternoon to make an appeal on behalf of her stricken people. With all the tragic gloom of the picture which Miss Losanitch had to present, there were relieving touches of light, gleams shot through of dauntless courage and faith in ultimate victory.

Hope Survives Will.
Hope has been deferred, but it has survived horror and hardship and the loss of country for the time being. The speaker voiced the faith of her people that some day Serbians will dwell again on their native soil, the enemy, factually driven from their gates and Serbs who have been under the yoke of other nations such as Austrians and more a free and united people. Three hundred and thirty Serbians, boys and girls, are at the present time in England in schools, technical schools, colleges and universities, being educated in English ways to be prepared for the reconstruction of Serbia in the glad days coming, when there shall be no more war.

A year ago last winter, when Miss Losanitch paid her first visit to London and made so touching an appeal on behalf of Serbian relief that hundreds of dollars were subscribed and cases upon cases of clothing made and sent overseas for the Serbian orphans and refugees, the story she brought was of a Serbia, scarcely touched by the Turkish and Bulgarian wars, invaded by hordes of Austrians and Hungarians, but twice of atrocities committed by an enemy that did not stop at crucifixion, burning alive, cutting babies in half before the very eyes of their mothers. She told the story of the diabolical Hunnish plot to exterminate the Serbs, spreading the dread germs of typhus, which carried off between 250,000 and 300,000 of the inhabitants, leaving behind thousands upon thousands of starving, helpless orphans.

Back to Our Land Soon.
Interviewed was the story of Red Cross work in Serbia. The army at the time was waiting to strike back and soon, very soon, the belief was expressed that Serbian people would be back in their own country and the enemy effectually driven out. After the backs of the enemy and suffering, unspeakable hope was still high and courage undimmed. Miss Losanitch touched upon again Thursday, but history has been making in the past year and a half, and emphasis was laid on more recent developments. Her story dealt primarily with a scattered Serbian people, the remnant of the noble army fighting side by side with the Allies in Macedonia, the country itself in its hands and under the rule of Austrians and Bulgarians.

The story was told of the flight of appalling suffering of the refugees through Albania and Montenegro to the sea, of the retreat of the army of 30,000 boys between 9 and 14 and 15, ordered away from the government, and only some 5,000 reaching the sea, the others dropping by the way.

Pictures were drawn in conclusion of the benefit work in the refugee camps in Corsica, Southern France and Algeria, Tunisia and England, and the provision being made for Serbian prisoners of war in Germany through the Serbian Relief fund in London, England.

Afraid to Go to Sleep.
Describing the flight of the Serbian refugees before the oncoming hordes of the enemy, Miss Losanitch said: "It was bitterly cold weather when the night started toward the sea. My father, who is over seventy, and my mother, now 60, were fifteen days on the road, they mother walking most of the time. They were obliged to camp out of doors at night, and it was so bitterly cold they presently did not dare to go to sleep. Many went asleep and never awakened. Soldiers, little children, their bodies lay where they had fallen, because it was impossible to dig graves. Sometimes it was necessary to pay $1.50 or $2 for a loaf of bread, too bitter and mouldy to eat."

One night the father and mother, the mother by the way, formerly an ambassador to the Court of St. James, and a minister of the crown in Serbia, were fortunate enough to find shelter in a hut. Looking out next morning they discovered there had been a terrible snowstorm in the night, to which whole families were exposed without shelter. Yet an after-noon report to sympathy.

It is not physical fatigue we mind, but the idea of leaving our country, that is crushing us little by little."
Serbia, as well as Belgium, has witnessed efficiency in the vandalism of the enemy. Men who knew values apparently were engaged in looting the homes. Pictures were carefully not from frames. Anything valuable which it was necessary to leave behind was ruthlessly incinerated. A friend of Miss Losanitch who was unable to get away from Serbia with her two children took refuge for a time in the south, returning later to her ruined home. All her belongings, including her husband's watch and chain and preserved strawberries had been taken and plinned all over them.

"It takes time to think up these wonderful inventions," commented the speaker.

UTILITIES BOARD TO DO ALL PLUMBING BY DAY LABOR PLAN

Commissioner Mitchell Claims Mistakes in Estimates.

Installation of plumbing and heating fixtures in the new public utilities building will be done by day labor. Fixtures will be purchased from the Motz Inc. This was decided at a meeting of the utilities commission Thursday afternoon.

F. G. Mitchell claimed that there were mistakes in the estimate drawn up by General Manager E. V. Buchanan, and that the material could not be bought at the prices quoted. Mr. Buchanan had been obtained quite recently, and had been verified.

"We do the work for $3,800," said Chairman Philip Pocock. "And I have the authority of an architect in addition to that." Further discussion of whether tenders should be obtained for the material or whether the general manager should be empowered to purchase the necessary fixtures ended at the motion that the job be done by day labor, under the supervision of the general manager, at the price quoted.

The proposition contained between the Motz Inc. and the City of London and the city in regard to natural gas supplies was read and will be sent to the city council for approval. As a protection to the city, if that body gives its approval, it is that the agreement will be accepted.

Permission was granted to the Retirees' Association to use the check room at the Victoria Park skating rink this winter for their association's benefit.

OFFICERS ORDERED TO RETURN SALUTES OF N.C.O.'S AND MEN
All Ranks Reminded of Necessity of Saluting.

Camp orders again draw attention of all ranks in this military district to the absolute necessity of paying special attention to the question of saluting. It urges every officer, N. C. O. and man to take special pride in observing strictly the regulations with reference to saluting. There is no quicker way of estimating the standard of military discipline in any unit or organization, or in any individual, than by the degree of accuracy and smartness with which the regulations regarding saluting are observed, the order states.

"Officers should be especially careful, not only in saluting their seniors in rank, but also in returning the salutes of N. C. O.'s and men." The order continues: "Careless saluting on the part of officers is a bad example to set the men, and is conducive to slackness in discipline. The difficulty at present in the matter of saluting seems to be that the non-commissioned officers and men of the various units in camp are not sufficiently instructed. The commanding must immediately take steps to rectify this defect."

"SWEET TOOTH" OF BOYS AT FRONT BEING FILLED

Rush for Candies for Overseas Swamps Local Stores.
The sweetest places on earth this Christmas should be those portions of the front line trenches where London and Canadian candy shops have been swamped with orders for overseas. Over a million pounds for overseas has been a output of one concern along this line. The candy makers of the festive bonbon are unanimous in the statement that this has been the best year yet experienced. The soldiers are apparently strong for a cocotte.

Names of "Lonelies."

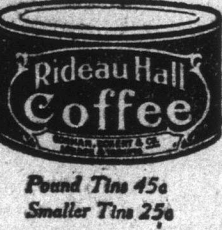

In the past fortnight Miss Grey has been unusually busy sending out the names of lonely lads on overseas service to the many Advertiser readers who desired to remember these with a box of "goodies from home" for Christmas. Sunday school classes, Epworth League, girls' social clubs, patriotic societies, Women's Institutes, and many other organizations have desired addresses, in addition to scores of individuals.

To each and all Miss Grey has tried to send out names as requested. From various sources the addresses of "lonelies" have been received, and Miss Grey wishes to assure all who wrote her of friends in the trenches or in England that their names were faithfully given out, and each should be assured, not only of one Christmas remembrance, but of several. After November 10 Miss Grey cannot mail additional names and addresses to insure parcels being sent by the 15th (the date of the closing Christmas mail for overseas).

Constipation Relieved by Food

MAN was provided with the weapon to fight constipation right in his food. The weapon is the natural waste in the cereals. Any doctor will tell you that the long muscular digestive tube is precisely designed to be incited to action by means of waste, and not by irritating drugs.

Dr. Jackson's

Roman Meal

Is an entirely drugless, full-nutrition food with the proper amount of natural waste. It positively relieves constipation or we return your money.

Roman Meal is composed of entire berries of wheat and rye with wheat bran and flax seed (rendered absolutely tasteless and odorless by electricity).

Roman Meal is different from ordinary bran-foods. The irritating effect of bran used alone, which may cause intestinal are needed. It is the opposite of the highly milled cereal foods and flours which are robbed of their precious blood regulating salines, also indispensable food elements known as "vitamines." The United States Government's Health Service will send you a most interesting booklet written by three well-known scientists. Their experiments show the importance of full-nutrition foods.

Just write a letter and ask for booklet entitled, "Read as a Food." Enclose five cents and address your letter "Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C."

When you have read this booklet you will realize how precious Roman Meal, the whole grain, full-nutrition food will be to you. At all grocers.

YPRES-MENIN ROAD.

A cloud of dust along the poplar road:
A grey-green mist like sunrise o'er the slums;
The rhythmic tread of countless marching feet,
And—as I watch—the German army comes.

File after file, rank upon rank they pass,
A never-ending fog of gun and lance,
Down the white metalled highway from the North.
The conqueror pours his legions into France.

Three years have passed, and on this very road
Once more I hear the measured roll of drums;
Again the grey-green columns moving North,
And, in the South, the roar of friendly guns.

—G. Trevor.

A contemporary, as you might say, on a Berlin exchange, was a trifle loud in his uproarious merriment over the first batch of American troops captured. War, in this respect, is more than a lot like sport. The early trumps, as the season opens, isn't always in evidence by July and August—and very rarely any part of it remains at the finish. And in either game the ultimate cackle is the only one that counts.

$150,000 MORE

No one is looking for any sport exploitation just at this juncture. No one is considering any championship.

But when an event can be arranged whereby 30,000 or 40,000 people will be willing to pay out $100,000 for the cause of army equipment or other needs not covered by the set fund that should be very well worth while. It would be easily possible to collect this amount from an Army-Navy game at the Polo Grounds.

It would be possible to collect almost this amount by a Michigan-Chicago game at Chicago.

As things go now, any amount of extra work is required by a large number of people to collect even a portion of this total. It would seem, therefore, under the conditions now prevailing, that the two games might be arranged.

There will be those who may complain that any big football game just now would be in bad taste.

Nothing that is honorable could be in bad taste now that might easily add $150,000 to such a fund—a fund that could be used to purchase athletic equipment, and also to provide smokes for the big American army now swinging into action.

THE COMPLETE ROSTER.

If anyone should ever glance through the roster of sport he could find an easy answer as to how many capable fighting men Uncle Samuel can put into the field.

This roster of sport, using an estimate, shows that at least 10,000,000 men between the ages of twenty and forty could be called on and that most of these have been trained and conditioned by some variety of game.

A few days ago we were talking with a major of infantry, now stationed at one of the camps for drafted men. He was astounded at the rapid development of the recruits and the quick way they picked up the new game. For most of this he gave credit to some sort of sport that made not only for an increased physical development, but also for a better knack in general at tackling a new game.

SAY 8 PER CENT?

Many are called—but, after the call
How many keep their eyes on the ball?
—L. L. T.

Re-editing an old adage, when things begin to look blackest, there is usually a flash of light ahead. Not always—but the average is far beyond the best average of even Ty Cobb.

Western University rugby team is fast getting into shape for their game with the Guelph Argos at Guelph on Saturday.

Kingswood will not be in the game. He is still out with the twisted ankle sustained in last Saturday's bout. That will leave a bad hole in the Varsity line. Art Brickenden will be back in the game. His shoulder is all right again. With Kingswood out, the locals will need Brickenden.

The Londoners are confident of winning at Guelph. The first game they had a whole lot of good. They have been working hard at signal practice during the week. This was one of their weak points on Saturday.

Ruth Mainheet, 2:08½, will be raced by Tommy Murphy next season on the big rings. She was quite a bright spot during the past year.

Sir Thomas Lipton may yet purchase the old racing yacht America. The present owners are willing to sell providing Sir Thomas agrees to keep it at a museum or maintained as a yacht. The job.

America won the first international cup races, which since that time have been known as the America's cup races.

Sarnia looks as if it may put a real fast squad on ice this winter. With Dwyer in goal; Halpin, McCart or Granary for defence; Rose, Hillman, Schumaker or Adams on the forward line, their chances look pretty good.

Col. Jacob Ruppert of the New York Americans will attend his first minor league meeting in Louisville next week, where he will hold a conference with Manager Huggins and his scouts. From Kentucky they will journey to Chicago, where Huggins will be formally introduced as an American League at the meeting of the American League in that city.

Combie Mack is reported to have said that if a short season is decided on he will not take his club to Florida for training, but will get his hopefuls into shape at home. Mack says that if the season does not open until May, then April will be fine time for training at home.

Comiskey of the Sox is said to have remarked that he is not in favor of a spring tour of his club with the Giants as he stated that this may mean that many fans who hoped to see the top-notchers in action in the spring will be disappointed.

Since Comiskey apparently doesn't want a pre-season series, McCraw may try to hook up with the Tigers again. The series last spring went off in great style, and had not Ty Cobb and Charlie Herzog had a scrap, it would have been a great success.

Southpaw Wilber Cooper of the Pirates is making a living selling life insurance this winter. He had expected to go to Florida, but the insurance offer was too good to be turned down. Cooper is said to be making good at the job.

JESS WILLARD NOT BIT LIKE OTHER CHAMPIONS

Isn't Inclined to Appear in Frolic Bouts as Predecessors Did —Cannot Easily Forget Jibes of Fans When He Started His Career.

Now that the circus season is over and Jess Willard has nothing to occupy his time he might pay a little attention to ring affairs for a change. There is no demand for a championship match that calls for a $50,000 purse, as none of the champions prospective opponents looms large enough upon the horizon to make it worth a promoter's while to stage such a contest. But there seems to be no particular reason why Willard should not do a little exhibition boxing for a percentage of whatever he can draw at the gate.

All the other heavyweight champions were willing to take on the small fry without making any fuss about it when there were no big matches in sight. In between his championship fights, John L. Sullivan, meeting all comers, Jim Corbett made no bones about polishing the second raters here and there, while Fitzsimmons and Jeffries frequently donned the gloves against all comers, although always carefully to insist upon his price—$30,000.

Willard is the first heavyweight champion to refuse to show himself in action unless paid a small fortune for the stunt.

According to the majority of fight experts, Willard outclasses even the best of the contenders so far that a match would be no contest. If that is the case, he should be willing to box a few rounds here and there, if only to let the sporting public know that he is alive.

The general impression is that Willard has grown so fat and soft that it would take several weeks of hard training to make him fit for an exhibition bout, and the case is not the case.

One reason why Willard keeps himself so exclusive is that he has a real dislike for anything that resembles fighting. If he had anything of the pride of position and natural love of combat that old Bob Fitzsimmons and all the other champions had, he would not mind being in the ring.

FIELDER JONES NOT EXPECTED TO BOSS BROWNS NEXT YEAR

Said To Be Discouraged at Failure to Land Club in Top-Liners.

MAY RETIRE FROM GAME

Has Had Unpleasant Time During Past Season—Many After Job.

From a source quite adjacent to Fielder Jones it was learned that the manager of the St. Louis Browns does not expect to return next year to the task of bossing the Mount City outfit.

While no official announcement has been made of Jones' intention to retire again from baseball and it probably will be officially denied, it is known that President Ball of the Browns is aware of his manager's sentiments regarding the situation and

SAYS LEONARD IS REAL CHAMP

Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, thinks Benny Leonard is the best lightweight titleholder that class ever had.

Here's what he remarked after their recent meeting in New York:

"I never was hit so hard and so often before, and with both hands. Leonard is without question the greatest little man I ever met. I don't see how they are going to beat him, and they won't so long as he lives that early to bed, early to rise! life. He's a great boy."

tember when he charged some of his best players were not giving their best service to Manager Jones, caused the manager considerable mental anguish and was one of the determining causes of his decision to retire at the end of the season. The resulting suits brought in court by two of the players against President Ball also made it difficult for both Jones and the players to remain on the same team. The announcement that the two players would not be sold or traded was a practical admission that Manager Jones would not return. It was a severe blow to Jones' pride when the Federal League blew up. He has always been opposed to this method of organized baseball in operating the national sport, and invariably has allied himself with any independent movement. When the American League was at war with the National Jones was with the Brooklyn team and accepted the chance to break away and join the White Sox as a personal protest against conditions in the old organization.

Nailing a Lie—Cold!

WE have read letters from Chalmers Distributors in which they have stated that competitors were saying to present owners of Chalmers cars and to prospective buyers, generally, that the manufacture of Chalmers cars would be discontinued.

There are thirty (30) automobile companies in the United States recognized by the general trade that manufacture and sell Touring Cars and Roadsters at retail prices in Canada between $1,500 and $2,000. We haven't heard that all of these companies, or any one of them, were going to discontinue production or quit business. Why, then, should the Chalmers, with a better car than many others in this class of 30 manufacturers, stop production?

WE MAKE A PROPHECY, and will authorize our Distributors to back it up with $200,000 of our money; that the Chalmers Company under the Maxwell Management, will stand ahead of 15 of these companies in production in 1918, and the Chalmers Company will stand ahead of 20 of these companies in production in 1919. This doesn't look as though we expected to discontinue making Chalmers Cars.

The reason some people are trying to disturb the present Chalmers owners is to scare them about service as to get a better "trade-in" on their Chalmers.

The reason for circulating such a story generally would be to prevent the prospective purchaser from inspecting a Chalmers car, because if a prospective buyer of an automobile will look at and ride in the present Chalmers models he will be very apt to buy one. It is the best car selling at $1785 in Canada that we know of.

This is one reason why Chalmers cars will continue to be made, not only in 1918, but in 1919, 1920 and other years.

Another reason is that the Maxwell organization has told the general Public that Chalmers cars would be produced in larger quantities than ever before and we have a way of making good with the public on sales and production.

Supply of Race Horses Reported Steadily Waning

Advent of "Flivver" Is Given as Cause of Decrease in Racing Flesh.

The harness horse racing season is now at an end, and nearly all the horses that have been raced during the last season are back in winter quarters eating the highest-priced winter oats their owners have ever settled for. Despite the war and other conditions, the season has been a prosperous one; but one cannot but help wonder where the future supply of race horses is to come from, for the supply is steadily diminishing. Many road horses that showed speed between the shafts on the pikes formerly became race horses, but now there are mighty few good buggy horses to be found in the rural districts owing to the invasion of the "flivver" while in the cities they are scarce.

ALLIES LOOK TO CANADA TO MEET GERMAN THREAT OF STARVATION.

Lord Rhondda, British food controller, has sent the following message to the Hon. W. J. Hanna:

"We look to the resources of Canada for an answer that will shatter Germany's threat of starvation. In this time of stress it is vital that the United Kingdom and the Allies in Europe obtain from Canada foodstuffs in far larger quantities than under peace conditions. This must necessarily entail effort and far-reaching economy, with their attendant sacrifice on the part of the Canadians."

THOSE INCONSISTENT WAR MENUS.

Talking of food conservation (and everybody is always talking on the subject some place or another these days), a reader has drawn attention to the efforts of the food controller to educate the women of Canada along these lines through the war menus sent out for publication in the daily press. The alleged object is to instruct in the saving of wheat, beef and bacon, and presumably, to give first aid suggestions along general thrift lines. Consistency has been called a "jewel." Apparently the educational department of the office of the Canadian food controller isn't bawling in jewels these times. For example, while urging the saving of wheat, beef and bacon, in some form appeared on the menus three days last week. There was beef loaf for Sunday; for Tuesday, a "beefless day," there was baked beef heart, and on Wednesday, beef stew with dumplings. Now, was the beef stew with dumplings supposed to be made from the leftovers of the beef heart of the day before? If so, why wasn't it put in plain English instead of making it appear that a trip should be made to the butcher's for a fresh piece of beef?

Monday had a roast mutton dinner, but the whole five days following, there wasn't a single mention of what was to be done with the slices and scraps of the mutton that doubtless would be left over.

Exceedingly nice judgment is required to choose so exactly a roast that every last morsel will be used up at one meal. Surely the leftover mutton in the household closely following the food control suggestions wouldn't be supposed to go into the garbage can!

About the only thing to indicate that leftovers are recognized in the Dominion conservation kitchen is the fact that fried oatmeal mush was expected to form a breakfast dish on Tuesday, after cornmeal porridge had been a breakfast staple on Monday. Then a fish chowder recipe was given for the heavy protein portion of Saturday's dinner. Thursday's dinner menu calls for baked haddock, and Friday's for broiled finnan haddie. Probably the "remnants" of haddock and haddock, broiled and baked, were to be shaken together to make up the required cupful for the chowder. But it does seem to be rather too much of a muchness to have fish three days' hand running! Two should have been sufficient. Four wouldn't have been objectionable, had they been better distributed. That educational department evidently requires more imagination mixed up with its science. Corn flakes (presumably in 20-pound packages), were allowed on Sunday morning, and bacon twice for breakfast, once with liver and once "en solo." Plenty of opportunity was afforded for using up those potatoes grown in backyards and on vacant lots—though it was rather hard on the districts where potatoes are scarce.

Friday, for example, started out with fried potatoes for breakfast, followed by potato soup for luncheon and baked potatoes for dinner. Talking of flour economy, the ginger pudding suggested for Friday's dinner called for 2 1/2 cups of flour. Wednesday's luncheon menu was topped off with oat cakes with date filling, 3 cups of flour, and no less, 3 cups of oatmeal, 1 cup of sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup beef drippings (probably left over from the week before), with some more ingredients. A filling for this was to be made with ONE POUND of dates (22 or 23 cents a pound), 1/4 cup sugar and the juice of a lemon. (Good thing sugar is plentiful). After the cookies appeared on the table for that one meal they aren't mentioned again, and that was only mid-day on Wednesday. It is to be hoped they are packed in a can or jar where they will keep in good condition until the education department of the food controller thinks it is due time for them to be resurrected.

It may be no joke even for domestic science experts to plan war menus for a whole nation. Still it does seem that almost any woman with some knowledge and experience concerning housekeeping should be able to make meals dove-tail better, and at the same time get just as good, if not better, results in conserving beef, bacon and flour.

"STRICTLY CASH" TO REDUCE H. C. OF L.

Still another way has come to light of reducing the cost of doing business for retail vendors of eatables, and consequently reducing the cost of necessities to consumers. This method is by doing business on a strictly cash basis. Some firms in London are already doing business in this way. Complicated bookkeeping, sending out bills, and losses through non-payment have thus been abolished. Does the consumer derive any benefit? One butcher who does a strictly cash business sells bacon, for example, at six, seven, eight or nine cents a pound less than it can be bought other places, according to the place you buy it. Credit would be absolutely refused by him should it be asked, because he has abolished the equipment for running that kind of a business. He doesn't even give a receipted bill to the customer. It isn't necessary. It is taken for granted that the goods are paid for or they wouldn't be taken away from his shop. One item on which he saves, he doesn't require any bill heads.

While individual cases can be found here and there in London of business run in that manner, butchers and butchicks of a western city, Brandon, Man., recently held a conference, and decided to abolish the credit system in a large majority of the retail merchants' stores on and after December 1st. The idea in so doing is that in abolishing the credit system the merchants will avoid a great deal of unnecessary worry, the cost of carrying on business will be considerably reduced, with the result that the consumers will be given better service and obtain their food supply at a reduced price to what they are paying at present.

Since the cry is heard on all sides about hardship in making ends meet, owing to the high cost of living, surely some such move would be welcomed in London. True, many of the housewives in the past have found it easier to keep their family accounts by settling grocery and butcher bills monthly, just as they do their gas and electric light bills. Still, if it means a little "easier money," a little better provision for the family wants, or something to lay aside for a rainy day or to give to a worthy object sorely in need, it would be well worth the extra trouble of always paying cash and personally seeing what was ordered. City women might follow the advice given last week by Jane Wiggins, and make a point of giving orders to cover the week or half week, just as if they were summering on an island or living in the country. Ever so many country sisters do not see the inside of stores once in two weeks or perhaps once a month. They are exceedingly careful about making up the lists to cover the family necessities. They realize the seriousness of running out of pepper, salt, mustard or baking powder with the nearest grocery five miles away. Many city housewives, no doubt, run their business so systematically that the "desire for order" encouraged by the accessibility of the financial standing of the known to them. It wouldn't be much change from the present appointed order for them to obtain their groceries by making one trip a week. Of course, meat is another story. But the households are not so very numerous where someone does not go downtown or past the butcher shop or fish market daily who could drop in and pay cash.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE AND LIFE CONSERVATION.

Child welfare is to be given a prominent place in the program of the annual convention of the Western Ontario Women's Institute to be held in the city next week, according to a prominent institute officer and worker.

One morning of the convention is to be devoted to discussion and a question drawn from the subject of child welfare. It is a phase of child welfare that will be considered during the forenoon. It has been further stated to the editor of this department that some revolutionary resolutions are to be brought in which deal with the question of equally good chances in starting out on life's journey for children of all parents, whatever the financial standing of the parents. The idea is to bring to the attention of the Government the importance of proper medical attendance for all mothers, irrespective of their means, both in order to conserve the life and strength of the mothers, and of the children who are to be the citizenship of a state depleted by the ravages of war. A woman whose name is well known in connection with Women's Institute work throughout this province, and the Dominion, in fact, said regarding this subject a few days ago: "If this matter of proper medical attendance were taken in hand by the state, because it is such a great economic question that most seriously affects the state, and if the same service were available for women both rich and poor, it would take away the feature that would be objectionable to the woman who really feels she cannot afford to pay for proper attendance, but has too much self-respect to accept what she considers 'charity.' There would be no charity about a provision that applied irrespective of ability or non-ability to pay, but simply as service from the state, rendered compulsory as are laws of quarantine and so on for the best interests of the public and the state. Of course, 'special comforts' could be purely a matter of individual wish or ability to pay for them, but so far as essentials of care are concerned I personally believe my experience in outlying districts of care of the country that this should be made a question of state responsibility."

THOSE "CHILDREN'S DISEASES."

Dr. H. W. Hill, London's medical officer of health, is to address the Western Ontario Women's Institute convention next week on the subject of "Communicable Diseases." He will doubtless impress on the army of homemakers who attend the convention the fallacy of making light of so-called "children's diseases," measles, mumps, whooping cough, etc. One doesn't need to be a prophet to foresee that he will urge the importance of proper quarantine and say some very pointed things about the need of thoroughly awakening the public conscience along these lines. In connection with the subject of "Communicable Diseases," the following are statements made by an eminent American scientist, professor of public health in the medical college of one of the leading universities of the United States:

"Remember how serious in the aggregate are the so-called children's diseases with which familiarity has bred a somewhat dangerous contempt in the popular mind. In New Haven, the average death rate for the past five years has been 15.6 per 100,000 for typhoid; 10.8 for measles; 8.6 for whooping cough; 5.2 for scarlet fever. The typhoid rate is decreasing year by year. Measles and whooping cough are public health problems of considerable seriousness.

"The second point to be emphasized is the particular danger of these maladies in the earlier years of life. The fatality of whooping cough is five times as great under one year of age as over five; the fatality of scarlet fever ten times as great; the fatality of measles twenty times as great. Special effort should, therefore, be made to protect young children from infection, and this is one reason why schools should never be closed during epidemics, if the services of a public health nurse are available.

"The most effective thing that can be done under such conditions is to make a careful examination of all school children every morning for the detection of the disease in its early stages, and to secure by home instruction the greatest possible precautions against exposure of infants to infection.

"In early stages the infective agent is most virulent and most abundant in discharges."
