70,000 ARMENIANS IN ADANA ARE FACING STARVATION; CITY IS CUT OFF BY TURKISH NATIONALISTS

Bonar Law, in Reply To Question in House of Commons As To Britain's Attitude, Declares That There Is a Limit To Intervention by British—The French Government Is Aware of Situation.

London, July 28.—The city of Adana in Asia Minor, with a population of 70,000 Christians and 10,000 Moslems, is entirely cut off from the outside world by the Turkish Nationalists, and is on the verge of starvation, according to an official dispatch received by the Armenian bureau from Larnaca, Cyprus, under Saturday's date.

The dispatch says the city has food for only a few days and that communication is impossible except by aeroplane.

This dispatch was called to the attention of the House of Commons today. Mr. Bonar Law, replying to questions, said the government's latest information was that Adana was very hard pressed, but he pointed out that Adana was in the French zone, and that the French were alive to the situation. He added that the British were very sympathetic with the Armenians, but there was a limit to the possibility of British intervention.

GREEKS CARRYING ON BLOODLESS WAR AGAINST TURKS

Athens, July 28—Greek military operations have been relatively bloodless, but successful, because of the rapidity of the Greek movement. They seem to appear at the right time and place with overwhelming forces, causing the morale of the Turks to break both in the Asia-Minor and Thracian campaigns.

When the Greeks debarked at Rodosto a week ago, the soldiers throwing themselves into the sea the quicker to get ashore, the Turkish commander of the fifty-fifth division is reported to have telephoned the Nationalist commander at Adrianople, Col. Jafar Tayar: "I cannot hold out. My soldiers are running away like chickens."

Greek troops operating in Thrace total 50,000. Those in the Asia-Minor campaign 90,000. They are well equipped and experienced soldiers. It is estimated there were as few as 100 casualties among the Turks and Greeks in Thrace, but a few thousand have been reported in the Asia-Minor campaign.

CANADIAN TEACHERS TO ASK FOR DOUBLE AMOUNT PAID IN 1914

Calgary, July 28.—The newly-organized Canada Teachers' Federation has decided, by unanimous vote, to inaugurate a campaign to double the 1914 basis of salaries for teachers. Agreement that there shall be no underbidding by Ontario teachers was given by Miss Arbuthnot of Toronto.

The conference in session here indorsed the principle of cumulative sick pay. Creation of boards of reference to decide disputes between school boards and teachers was urged, the board to consist of one member of the alliance, one of the schoolboard and a third mutually agreed on.

The eldest son of King George is here shown shaking hands with Maori women at Rotorua, Australia. The prince said the reception given him by the Maori chiefs was the finest he had ever witnessed. The barefooted Maori maiden seems particularly pleased with herself after shaking hands with the prince, but his highness is evidently perturbed at meeting these strangely garbed maidens. —British and Colonial Press Photo.

SPRACKLIN WILL RETAIN PULPIT, WITH ASSISTANT

Sandwich Minister Will Act Also As Provincial License Inspector.

MAY LAY A CHARGE

Sandwich Constable May Be Prosecuted Under the O. T. A.

Toronto, July 28.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin will remain in the pulpit of his present church, and an assistant will be named to assist him in his pastoral duties, following his appointment as provincial license inspector.

MINISTER MAY LAY A CHARGE AGAINST SANDWICH CONSTABLE

Windsor, July 28.—Subsection A of section 64 of the Ontario temperance act reads: "Every inspector, policeman, or constable, neglecting or refusing to carry out and enforce the act shall incur a penalty of $10 and may be summarily dismissed from office."

"In view of the fact that the investigation into my charges, which will be conducted by the police commission of Sandwich town council tomorrow morning is absolutely unsatisfactory from my standpoint, I am seriously considering the advisability of laying information against Aloys Master, chief constable of Sandwich, under subsection 2, of section 64 of the O. T. A.," said Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin this morning when asked about his attitude in regard to the probe which is to be opened tomorrow by the police committee of the county town.

"I said I would not take witnesses before such a tribunal, and I meant it," continued the minister. "I weighed my statement well that night before making it. What I told the council on the night of its last memorable meeting still stands as far as I am concerned."

As the result of violations of the O. T. A. act, Judge Smith this morning ordered Shore Acres to be closed October 15.

Gram of Radium Valued at $120,000 Will Be Used In Cancer Research

Washington, July 28.—One gram of radium, valued at $120,000, but sealed in a tiny lead tube for vest pocket carriage, was delivered yesterday by the United States Bureau of Standards to Arthur Roeder, a representative of the New York State Institute for Malignant Diseases.

Tested by the bureau, which certified as to its exact weight, it is said to represent the largest single sale of the element, and was the largest amount ever brought to Washington for certification. It will be used for cancer research at the state's institute, and is part of a total quantity of 2¾ grams acquired for the purpose.

The gram of radium constitutes the total amount extracted from 125 tons of ore, which was reduced by the Radio Chemical Corporation at Orange, N. J.

OVERSEAS DELEGATES APPRECIATE HEARTY WELCOME AT HALIFAX

Lord Burnham Declares British Editors Delighted With Visit.

SEE FOR THEMSELVES

Dominion's Glories Have Too Long Been Overlooked, Says Chairman.

Halifax, July 28.—By the Canadian Press.—"We have come to recognize that not only is Canada thinking and speaking today ahead of Europe, but she is thinking and speaking ahead of herself," said Lord Burnham today, in acknowledging the welcome Halifax and the province of Nova Scotia tendered the overseas delegates to the Imperial Press Conference.

"It is because we believe that you will continue to think and speak ahead of yourself that we are so glad to be here today," concluded the chairman of the conference.

Speaking in the historic legislative chambers of the House, Lord Burnham replied to the formal welcome expressed by His Honor MacCallum Grant, lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, congratulating the province on the great part it had played in the life of Canada, practically laying the foundations of federation and the growth of national life, based on the "two great types of civilization, the varied and complimentary qualities of both races having made for the prosperity and strength of the Dominion."

Lord Burnham reiterated that the conference was not in Canada for "propaganda," but that the delegates had come to see Canada for themselves and were convinced that they would not go away disappointed. To the Maritime Provinces he suggested that it was not true so much that Europe and the press had overlooked them to the benefit of other parts of the Dominion, but that the people of the Maritime Provinces had overlooked themselves, not doing themselves justice in the eyes of those Europeans who would like to make their homes and interests in Canada.

HEATING ONT. HOMES BY HYDRO POWER NOT FEASIBLE, DECLARES SIR ADAM BECK; IS TOO COSTLY

Former London Member in Legislature Says Winter Load Would Be Too Great and Current Required Would Not Be Available—Present Electrical Devices Would Not Permit General Use of Electrictiy For Heating.

Toronto, July 28.—Sir Adam Beck, the apostle of hydro-electric power in Ontario, is not very optimistic about heating houses by electricity at a low cost, as Professor J. W. Dorsay of Winnipeg could claim it is possible.

Sir Adam, when seen today in regard to the matter, declared that the cost would be greater than that of coal, according to known heating devices of an electrical nature. He did not think that it would be feasible under existing conditions.

"There are three objections," said Sir Adam. The first is that electric heating of houses would mean only a winter load of power, and winter is the time of the peak, anyway.

"The second objection is that the amount of power needed would be much greater than that available.

"The third is that it would be more costly. If the power could be taken at night and stored so that it could be used during the daytime that would make a great difference.

"If there is any gleam of hope for electric heating of homes, and it can be shown to be practicable at lower cost than coal, we will throw up our hats and welcome it," said Mr. P. W. Ellis, chairman of the local hydro commission.

"But a prominent electrical man said that it would take 2,000,000 horsepower to heat Toronto. There are 100,000 buildings that would have to be heated, and the need would be about 20 horsepower to the average building," he said. "And where are you going to get the power? We can't get enough for industrial purposes now."

HOUSING COMMISSION WILL ASK FOR ADDITIONAL $400,000

London's Appropriation To Be Almost a Million, With New Request—Money Is Needed To Complete Work Already Under Way.

Negotiations which will place London's appropriation on housing close to the million-dollar mark will be commenced with the provincial commission at Toronto Friday by Chairman E. R. Dennis and J. W. Cunliffe of the local commission. The first appropriation of $400,000 has been expended and another loan of the same amount will now be negotiated.

The first loan was made up largely of money supplied by the Dominion Government, and an interest rate of only 5 per cent was placed on it. The money is now being loaned by the Province Government. The city will be authorized to sell debentures which the province will lindorse. The current rate of interest will have to be paid on this. The money obtained will be used on the more expensive houses which the commission is building, as it is felt that the purchasers if these are better able to bear the higher interest rate.

The first appropriation while not actually expended is required for completing the program under way. The city council has formally made application for the second appropriation, and it only remains for the housing commission to clear up the details before it is obtained

RIVER WATER MAY BE USED IF CHLORINATED

North Branch Supply Better Than South, Says Dr. Hill.

That properly chlorinated and purified, the water of the north branch of the Thames could be safely used to supplement London's supply of spring water, is the opinion of Dr. H W Hill, recently returned as head of the London Institute of Public Health

The water of the north branch is undoubtedly purer than the water of the south branch, says Dr Hill, but it should not be used without purification. All tests which have been made of the water of the north branch show the necessity for purification. Any lake water near habitation would just as much require purification. The river water needs chlorination. At times it would need filtration.

The Ohio River at Louisville is a peculiar chocolate color due to clay deposits. Filtration removes from the water used by the city of Louisville sometimes a great many tons of sediment in a single day. Previously Louisville was drinking this muddy beverage in its pristine natural state, and some of the old residents at first objected to the flavorless condition of filtered water.

TASCHEREAU REGRETS QUEBEC'S ISOLATION

Premier Says That Present Condition Should Be Remedied.

Quebec, July 28.—Discussing Quebec's position in Canadian affairs at the banquet tendered him by his supporters at the Chateau Frontenac last night, the new premier of Quebec, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, said: "Since Quebec is so necessary to confederation, is it not deplorable to note its isolation from the federal arena?

"Some people see benefit in this isolation; others regret it; and I am of the latter class. We did not go into confederation to form a band apart, and, like new Robinson Crusoes, to live alone and separated on our own island.

"It is not for me to discuss the causes of this isolation. But it exists. It is very real. Quebec is not the only one to suffer thereby; all the country feels the effects of this isolation, and I will welcome the day when our province will take the place in the Canadian household which it merits by reason of its riches, its geographical position and all its other elements of greatness."

Mr. Taschereau outlined his policy, as follows: To take advantage for the province of its great richness in forests, asbestos and water power.

CANADA TO HAVE GOOD CROPS IF FAVORABLE WEATHER PREVAILS

New York, July 28.—(By the Canadian Press).—The Wall Street Journal this morning prints a summary of crop conditions in Canada taken from a report issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce and adds this comment:

"There has been considerable contradiction and conflict in the crop reports coming out of Canada this season. But, reading this report of the bank, in connection with the bureau of statistic, extent of acreage, the official reports of the provinces, and those of at least one reliable crop expert, in connection with the news of good rains, Canada seems assured a large production of crops provided there may be a few weeks of fairly favorable weather. The condition thus far is unusually good."

The trip is for the purpose of mapping out a regular aerial mail route which is scheduled to open the first week in September.

MAYOR LITTLE NEARLY KILLED

Unknown Speeder Crashed Into His Car On Springbank Road.

County police are endeavoring to locate the driver of an automobile which struck Mayor Little's car on the north Springbank road Monday night. The city's chief magistrate had a narrow escape from death, according to reports of the occurrence, and his car was wrecked.

The accident took place following the council meeting Monday night. The mayor was driving out to his farm in Delaware Township by way of the north road. At the point where the accident occurred he slowed down his car almost to a standstill and almost immediately afterwards was "side-swiped" by a big touring car travelling at an excessive rate of speed. The identity of the driver of the car had not become known today.

Although the mayor was badly shaken up he was not injured. He remained at home Tuesday, but assumed his official duties again today.

NEW ENGLAND STATES TO GET 1,250,000 TONS MONTH TO AVERT FUEL FAMINE

Washington, July 28.—Adequate orders have been issued, members of the interstate commerce commission believed today to relieve the coal shortage in New England. Beginning next Monday, under priority orders promulgated yesterday by the commission, coal will be moved through five Atlantic ports to New England consignees at the rate of 1,250,000 tons a month. Coal dealers were agreed that if shipments were maintained at this level a fuel famine would be averted.

Orders of the interstate commerce commission include provisions for an embargo against tidewater shipments until daily consignments to New England are filled. This restriction, coal operators declared, practically will shut off export of coal.

MANITOBA MAY HAVE FARMER-INDEPENDENT POLITICAL PARTY

Winnipeg, July 28.—After a conference lasting several hours yesterday, which was attended by the farmer and independent members elected to the Manitoba Legislature and, and labor members with defined Conservative affiliations in the past, the only announcement made was that a chairman and secretary had been elected, and that another meeting would be held on August 12. The announcement was made by A. R. Boiven, who stated that he had been chosen chairman. Whether these elections were to be taken that the conference had decided definitely upon the formation of a farmer-independent party in the Legislative Assembly, he did not say.

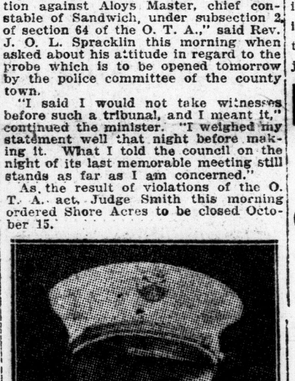

PROTEST TO JAPAN AS RESULT OF DECISION TO OCCUPY SAGHALIN

Tokio, July 28.—(By the Associated Press).—According to the Nichi Nichi, the Japanese Government has received an inquiry partaking of the nature of a protest, from "a certain country" in connection with Japan's notifications to the powers of Japan's intention to occupy Saghalin, Manchuria, stationing troops in Khabarovsk and elsewhere.

Viscount Uchida, foreign minister, has submitted the inquiry to the cabinet, which later will go into special session with the diplomatic advisory council to discuss the subject.

RICHARD SANDERS IS ASSISTANT INSPECTOR

Appointment Has Been Approved by the Board of Health.

Increased activity in sanitary inspection of the city is being shown by the board of health and Richard Sanders has been appointed assistant sanitary inspector in order that the work may be carried out more efficiently. His appointment has been considered for some time, and has now been finally approved by the board.

He will be an assistant to James Lutman, the chief sanitary inspector. J. W. Scott, the other assistant in this department, has been ill for some weeks.

Mr. Sanders was formerly an inspector for the Children's Aid Society, and lately has been connected with the collection department of The Advertiser.

SYRIAN GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS ALL TERMS

Prince Feisal's Reign Is At an End.

Beirut, Syria, July 28.—The French entry into Damascus, effected on Sunday, was marked by acceptance on the part of the new Sheriffian Government of the conditions laid down by Gen. Gouraud, the French commander, involving chiefly immediate disarmament and the end of the reign of Prince Feisal, who has been invited to leave the country.

Aleppo was occupied by the French on July 23.

AUSTRALIANS ENTER PROTEST WITH VATICAN AS RESULT OF ARCHBISHOP MANNIX'S VIEWS

Rome, July 28.—Strong remonstrances from Australia on the utterances in the United States of Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix of Melbourne, have been received by the Vatican. The protests state that the archbishop's assertions do not represent the feeling prevalent in Australia, and ask that some tangible public declaration be made in order to protect the loyalty of the large majority of the Australian population.

ARCHBISHOP DETERMINED.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 28.—Despite the announcement by Premier Lloyd George that he would not be permitted to land on the British Isles, Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix of Australia declared here last night that he would sail for Queenstown on July 31.

"Nothing but physical force will prevent me from going on board the steamship Baltic at the appointed time," he said. "I do not mean to alter my plans by reason of threats as to what may happen to me if I land in Ireland."

RISQUE JOKES TO BE BANNED

Censorship Will Be Extended To Vaudeville Stage Shortly.

Censorship of fall fair exhibitions by the provincial police department will be extended to include vaudeville performances, according to a statement made to The Advertiser today by Dr. H. A. Stevenson, who has just returned from a conference with members of the Government at Toronto.

"We are going to see that vaudeville is brought up to a higher standard. There is not much objection to most of what is seen on the vaudeville stage —it is chiefly to what is said," he asserted. "The department is going to make sure that double entendre jokes, questionable songs and suggestive matter of all kinds is eliminated. War is going to be waged particularly on the jokes about the married state.

"The department feels that humor along this line has been carried too far, and is hitting at the very roots of home life. We cannot expect our young people to have any respect for the sacred rites of matrimony when they are continually held up to ridicule in our theatres. It is too sacred a matter for the badinage of the stage. There are plenty of other lines along which the jokesmiths can exert themselves."

MURDER VICTIM WILL BE BURIED IN POTTER'S FIELD IN NEW YORK

New York, July 28.—Mrs. Leo Trumbull, wife of a Detroit policeman, today at the Bellevue morgue identified the body of the young woman found in a trunk in the American Railway Express Company warehouse here last week, as that of Mrs. Eugene Leroy.

New York, July 28.—Leo Trumbull, a Detroit policeman, and his wife were here today to make the formal legal identification of the body of the young woman found in a trunk here last week as that of Mrs. Eugene Leroy.

Officials said there was no doubt as to the identity, the purpose of the visit to the morgue being simply a legal formality in building up a case against the murderer.

The body probably will be buried in Potters' Field here after identification has been completed.

POLICE INVESTIGATING.

Detroit, Mich., July 28.—Detroit police today awaited developments in several cities in connection with the sending from here to New York of a trunk containing the mutilated body of a woman. Search for Eugene Leroy, husband of the murdered woman, was being continued in all parts of the country. Detectives from Detroit were investigating various angles of the case in several states.

SUSPECT IS HELD.

Lawrence, Kas., July 28.—A man answering the description of Eugene Leroy of Detroit, sought in connection with the murder of a woman whose body was shipped in a trunk from Detroit to New York City, is being held by the police here. The man was working with a threshing crew. He gave the name of Dillard Ashley of Sadler, Ky., and said he had an army discharge and identification at Omaha.

5,000 MEN IDLE DUE TO FUEL SHORTAGE

Gary, Ind., July 28.—As a result of the fuel shortage, 5,000 men here are idle, it was reported today. One big plant is out of commission, and several others are operating only intermittently.

MAY SEND 2,000 BACK TO SCHOOL

Expected That New Act Will Be Enforced Next Term.

London's board of education may face the task of accommodating 2,000 more pupils than expected in September, if assent is given to the adolescent school act before that time. No official notification has been received by the secretary, but the general belief is that the act will come into force very soon.

Trustee Thomas Rowe stated that the board had not received any notification lately, but was holding itself in readiness to deal with the situation.

"Dr. F. W. Merchant, on his last visit to the city, warned us that we would have to prepare for a considerably increased attendance, but he was unable to give us the exact date when the act would become effective," said Mr. Rowe.

The new act provides that everyone must attend school until the age of 16. This means that many boys and girls who have been working will have to go back to school.

DRUNKEN MEN DRIVE OFFICIALS INTO SEA

Inspector Coates and Son of New Brunswick Believed To Have Been Drowned.

Moncton, N. B., July 28.—Word was received early this morning to the effect that last night Inspector Coates, his son and Constable Beverly Coates, went by car to St. Edward's, six miles from Buctousch, to attend a wedding, where it was suspected some liquor would be found. Towards midnight Constable Coates returned to town in a badly injured condition, and said a fight had taken place between the inspector's party and a number of men at the wedding. In the fracas the attacking party demolished the car, in which the officers of the law had arrived on the scene, and claimed they would kill or drown them. When Constable Coates was able to escape, he says, the other members of the party had been driven into the sea and were standing in the water up to their necks.

The constable fears the inspector and his son have been killed or drowned by the residents.

I. F. HELLMUTH TO BE CHIEF COUNSEL

Toronto, July 28.—It is announced officially today that I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., will be chief counsel for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission in the inquiry before the Sutherland royal commission on hydro radials in Ontario. It is expected that Kenneth B. MacLaren, returned officer of the 19th Battalion, C. E. F., will be appoined secretary of the royal commission.

LIBERAL VICTORY IN NOVA SCOTIA WAS EXPECTED

Political Leaders At Ottawa Not Much Surprised.

FARMERS SUCCESSFUL

Hon. F. B. McCurdy To Contest Seat Where Agriculturists' Candidate Won.

Ottawa, July 28.—Canadian Press.—Election returns from Nova Scotia has not occasioned much surprise at the federal capital. The return to power of the Murray Government was expected by practically all the political prophets, but the results in some of the constituencies occasioned surprise. The surprises include the defeat of Hon. E. H. Armstrong, commissioner of public works; Hon. H. H. Wickwire, minister of highways, and W. L. Hall, the Conservative leader, who went down in Queens County.

The election of two farmers in Colchester County was also unexpected, and the news was received with considerable interest, because it is in this constituency that Hon. F. B. McCurdy, the new federal minister of public works, will present himself for re-election within the next six weeks. Government supporters last night asserted that despite the success of the farmer candidates in the provincial contest the new minister will not experience much difficulty in securing the indorsation of the majority of the voters of Colchester. While the election of four labor candidates in Cape Breton County occasioned little surprise here the defeat of Col. Ralston, D.S.O., who headed the Liberal ticket, was not anticipated.

The result of the election probably means that the Liberals, who have been in power in Nova Scotia continuously since 1882, will pass the forty-year mark in power before there is another provincial contest. This easily constitutes the record for Canada. It also means that Premier Murray, who has been at the head of the Nova Scotia Government since he succeeded Hon. W. S. Fielding on July 22, 1896, a period of 24 years, holds the long distance record as a provincial premier.

ORGANIZATION WAS A BIG FACTOR IN LIBERALS' CAMPAIGN

Halifax, N. S., July 28.—The Halifax Herald, commenting on the Nova Scotian election, says editorially this morning:

"The return of the Murray Government is not a surprise, and many reasons can be adduced for the defeat of the Opposition, but the principal of these lies undoubtedly in the thorough organization at the command of the Liberal party for their campaign.

"For months before it had even been hinted that an election was projected, employees of the government had been systematically and vigorously organizing in even the most remote provincial districts.

"The Conservative leaders, on the other hand, were totally unorganized. They were taken completely by surprise when the date of the election was announced, their organization had advanced to little better when the polls opened yesterday morning. Since the last election they have not kept in touch with the electorate, and during the sessions of the House they have furnished little campaign material of value."

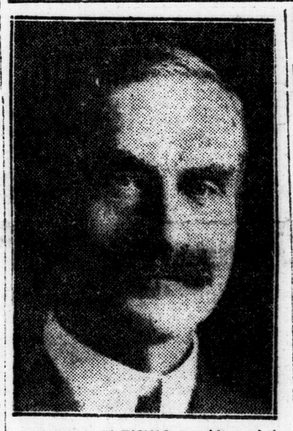

NOVA SCOTIA PREMIER REGRETS DEFEAT OF HON. E. H. ARMSTRONG

Halifax, July 28.—Premier Murray expressed deep regret at the defeat of Hon. E. H. Armstrong, whom he eulogized as one of the ablest men in the Legislature, and one of the best

URGES COAL CONFISCATION.

St. Louis, July 28.—Appointment of a fuel conservator here with authority to confiscate and distribute coal belonging to the railroads in order to meet the shortage occasioned by the strike in the Illinois fields, will be urged upon President Wilson, Mayor W. Kiel announced today.

OSCAR E. FLEMING, president of the Deep Waterways and Power Association of Canada, who declared at the Tidewater Congress in Detroit that the projected deep water route from the lakes to the Atlantic would cement more firmly the friendship between United States and Canada.

DOMINION GOVT. NOT TO DEMAND ONTARIO'S GUARANTEE ON BONDS

Sir Adam Beck Non-Committal On Report Concerning Acquisition of Right-of-Way.

Toronto, July 28.—It is learned here on good authority that Premier Meighen has given sufficient assurance that the Dominion Government will not insist that the Province of Ontario must guarantee the bonds to be given in payment of a portion of the Canadian National Railway system, which Sir Adam Beck proposes to acquire as a part of the hydro-radial system.

Sir Adam Beck, when asked if Premier Meighen had agreed to take hydro bonds without the provincial guarantee, said: "I don't think so. Mr. Hannigan has received two letters from Ottawa acknowledging requests for such action, but I think only consideration was promised.

When asked whether it was true that the hydro commission was going ahead with the purchasing of a radial right-of-way near St. Catharines, Sir Adam replied: "If I said so, it's true. The newspapers say so."

The hydro knight did not care to say whether the Government had taken any notice of the newspaper reports about right-of-ways, in view of the premier's statement that, pending the work of the commission of inquiry, all radial action would be stayed.

"You are only making trouble," he said. "I cannot tell you what I will do."

MANY ENTER APPEALS AGAINST DECISIONS OF ONT. MAGISTRATES

Cases Tried in the Provincial Courts To Be Reviewed.

Toronto, July 28.—Twenty-five appeals from decisions of magistrates in O. T. A. cases throughout the province are pending. They are applications to have convictions quashed on various grounds, mostly because of alleged lack of evidence. Five of the applications are listed for hearing before Mr. Justice Lennox at Osgoode Hall tomorrow morning, all of them out-of-town cases. The attorney-general's department is opposing every application.

LETTER-CARRIERS WILL PROTEST

Local Men To Take Similar Action To Toronto Posties.

London letter carriers will follow the example of the Toronto postmen, who met last night, by calling a meeting of protest here just as soon as the checks for the so-called increases in pay are received. The London men have not yet received their checks, but it may be presumed they will be quite unsatisfactory, from the schedule followed in Toronto, and similar protest will be made by the London men.

According to the local letter carriers, there are so many "jokers" in the new provisions that some of the men actually will not receive any increase. The Government has announced what looks like a $200 increase to the men, but in many cases it will work out, because of the many "jokers" in the schedule, to from $2 to $8 yearly increase. One carrier, who has worked eleven years on local routes, stated that it will be two years yet before, under the artful red tape restricting the increases, he will receive the maximum offered.

Many Americans Regret Failure Of Shamrock To Win

New York Papers Pay Tribute To Sir Thomas Lipton's Sportsmanship.

New York, July 27.—Commenting on the result of the America's Cup series the New York papers pay a tribute to the sportsmanship of Sir Thomas Lipton. The Times says:

"There was a general feeling, especially when it looked as if the Shamrock would be the victor, that it would be just as well if the cup were taken to British waters to be raced for there. This would have broken the long monotony of American winning. It would also have meant the satisfaction of giving to Sir Thomas his reward for his pertinacious and gallant attempts to win the cup.

"It will now be hoped, however, in this country, as well as in England that in future the stipulations governing the races will be such as to match the rival yachts more evenly, and also to insure that they are fit to sail in any wind or weather. All that is left is to say heartily to Sir Thomas Lipton 'Better luck next time.'"

GAS COMPANY GIVEN POWER TO FIX PIPE TO OXFORD BRIDGE

Permission of No. 2 Committee Asked Because Pressure Unsatisfactory.

ALDERMEN OBJECT

City Engineer Says Unnecessary Weight Added To Structure.

Oxford street bridge may come into the same prominence as the Ridout street bridge as the result of a decision by No. 2 committee of the city council last night to permit the City Gas Company to attach a four-inch steel gas pipe to it, contrary to the recommendation of City Engineer Brazier.

The company asked permission to do the work because of the unsatisfactory state of the gas pressure in West London. They claimed that it was impossible to get further supplies to that section without crossing the river at this point. The city engineer said that the pipe would add a weight of from 1,200 to $1,400 pounds to each span, and while it would not make the bridge unsafe, it would put an extra strain on it which it was not meant to bear.

Aldermen Opposed.

Aldermen Watkinson and Drake were opposed to allowing the work. Ald. Drake said that it was the people of West London who should be considered, and not the Gas Company. Ald. Seabrook agreed with him. "They had street cars over there before we did, and were more progressive in every way, but they have been held back ever since they joined the city," he declared. Ald. W. A. Wilson also favored the work being done, and as Ald. Ashton did not vote, the proposal was adopted.

Ald. Drake moved that the taking over of Bedford street by the city be recommended to the council. A deputation which had previously appeared before No. 1 committee stated that there were no lights on the street. The engineer explained that the street had been opened up by real estage agents on private property, and had never been taken over by the city. If lights were installed the city would be liable for damages for accidents occurring on the street, which is not in good condition. He did not favor taking it over unless the street was graded properly. Ald. Drake moved that this be done.

Build Walk.

It was decided to build a cinder walk on Barker street to St. Peter's Cemetery at a cost of $250. The city engineer stated that a cement walk would cost $1,223. It was felt that this would be too great an expense to the property owners who do not want the walk. The cinder walk will be paid for out of the general rate.

The Provincial Board of Health, writing in regard to the plumbing by-law, suggested that the one being considered by the provincial board be adopted by the city, and that no attempt be made to draw up a new one. It was decided to lay the matter over until the next meeting and to ask Ald. Cunningham, who took a keen interest in the revision of the bylaw, to be present. The provincial bylaw does not provide for simplified plumbing, and requires more venting than the local proposed bylaw. Ald. Drake said he would move to drop the whole matter of plumbing inspection if the provincial authorities insisted on their bylaw. "It is all red tape," he said. "The ordinary man can't afford the plumbing they require."

Sewer Contract.

Contract for sewers in Knollwood Park was awarded to John Murphy at $23,501.

Ald. Seabrook stated that he was going to make inquiries regarding the responsibility for cleaning up the downtown district. "There is a vile accumulation of garbage and fire traps behind some of the principal buildings in the business district," he declared. "They are a menace to the public health and a fire menace as well."

Ald. Drake thought that the fire chief should see that these were cleaned up. City Engineer Brazier said that if it was decided that they were a fire menace that the fire chief would be responsible, but that if they were declared a public nuisance the matter would come under the jurisdiction of the board of health.

CANCER SERUM NOT READY FOR USE YET

Dr. Hill Communicates With Discoverer With View To Holding Clinics.

The much-discussed new serum for the cure of cancer is not yet available for general use in the treatment of this disease, Dr. T. G. Glover, of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, the discoverer of the serum, has written to Dr. H. W. Hill, of the London Institute of Public Health.

With a view to holding clinics in London, Dr. Hill wrote to Dr. Clover, but has received a reply to the effect that the serum is not yet for use outside of St. Michael's Hospital. He adds in his communication that a report on the results of the use of the new serum will be published later.

Dr. Glover does not state his reason for withholding the serum from distribution at present, and it is not known here whether the supply is inadequate to meet the demand for the serum, or whether the results of the experiments with it do not yet warrant it being supplied to other physicians and institutes.

REFUSED PASSPORTS TO ENTER PALESTINE

Unsettled Conditions Result in Return of Jacob Agranove.

Because of unsettled conditions in Palestine and the surrounding countries, Jacob Agranove, the first London Jew, or as far as it is known, the first Canadian Jew to attempt to return to the land of his forefathers, has been refused passports by the British consul in New York. According to the consul no one will be allowed to enter Palestine until the trouble with Turkey and Syria has been settled.

Mr. Agranove left this city on July 10 for New York, where he had booked passage on the steamer Rotterdam for France. He was to have sailed from Marseilles by way of Greece to Palestine, where he intended to take up a tract of land. On reaching New York he learned that the British Government which holds a mandate over the Holy Land, was refusing admittance to that country for at least six months.

With his son Pincus, who left this city with him, Mr. Agranove returned to Buffalo, where he is now visiting. He will return to this city in the near future, and will remain here until he has been notified by the consul that the coast is clear.

JAMES ROCKWOOD DIES

Resident of London for Fifty Years—Separate School Employee.

James Rockwood, 586 King street, a resident of London for the past 50 years, and an employee of the separate school board during half that period, died in St. Joseph's Hospital on Tuesday. Deceased was 63 years of age.

For years he was caretaker of St. Peter's Separate School, and during that time won hosts of friends, being well-liked by many Londoners who received their early education there.

Besides his wife, Mary Rockwood, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert Donohue and Mrs. Edward Harding, both of the city, and Miss Ord, at home; two sons, James of this city, and Frank of St. Peter's Seminary; one brother, C. Rockwood, Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Hutchins, both of New York.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. Requiem high mass will be sung in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Gordon Angus Alleged to Have Taken Auto Brought From Windsor.

Gordon Angus was brought back from Windsor by Detective Harry Down last night, charged with the theft of an auto, which was alleged to have been taken from in front of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church about a year ago, and which was said to have been the property of Dr. Angus Graham. The Windsor authorities were said to have held Angus in Windsor and then notified the police department here.

A young citizen was arrested and charged with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling last night. Three men charged with being intoxicated were also taken to the police station.

All of the above five will appear in court this morning.

BUYERS PAYING $200 FOR HEAVY HORSES TO SHIP TO SCOTLAND

One Carload Has Gone and More Animals Are Needed.

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture.

Fall wheat harvesting is general in most parts of the province. The new grain is described as being a fairly good sample. Norfolk, Brant, Wentworth and Peel report the Hessian fly as having done injury to the fields. Kent, which has cut the major portion of its fall wheat acreage, fears that if wet weather continues some of the grain may start in the shock.

Many summer fallows and meadows have been already plowed for the new fall wheat. Welland predicts that the next acreage of that crop will be fully 10 per cent more than that put in last fall. Lambton states that many acres of clover land just cut have been turned under and worked for a seed bed for fall wheat, largely owing to the use of the tractor.

Look Promising.

Spring grains, taking the province over, are regarded as looking promising. In some counties both barley and oats are beginning to turn, and are giving indications of good heading. Some fears are expressed that owing to rank growth much of the straw is rather too soft to stand up well against rough weather. Victoria complains of injury to spring wheat by the Hessian fly, and Lennox and Addington speaks of smut in oats. Referring to serious injury to the standing crops by Friday night's heavy rainstorm, Welland states that some grain fields were practically flattened to the ground as though a land roller had been run over them.

Some of the hay crop is still out, owing to catchy weather. New hay has been selling at prices ranging from $22 to $30. The second crop of clover has received a good start.

Lacks Cultivation.

Much of the corn has lacked cultivation during the last three or four weeks, owing to frequent rains and the rush of other work on the finer days. This, with the comparatively cool weather prevailing, has made the fields to look somewhat backward. The crop, however, has a good deal of growing time before it yet.

The Lennox and Addington representative tells of a farmer in that county who has disposed of 280 bushels of potatoes (Early Wiseman), the product of one acre, or $980 for the lot. The Port Arthur representative anticipates a comparatively light yield, and says that blackleg is showing up badly in places.

The raspberry cane-borer is reported to be doing injury as far east as the county of Victoria.

Grasshoppers are said to be very numerous in the county of Grey, and a number of farmers there are using the Kansas grasshopper mixture.

Welland and Lambton speak of less cattle being on hand, but all reports are to the effect that excellent pastures are keeping both beef and dairy cattle in fine condition, and that the milk supply is generous for the season. Good vealing calves are selling around 13 cents a pound.

Hogs are in strong demand, prices going as high as $20.25 per cwt.

Horse buyers are in the county of Grey looking for heavy specimens to send to Scotland. One carload has gone and more are needed. Good animals have brought $200.

MANY NEW FEATURES IN BIG SHOWS AT PARK NEXT WEEK

Twenty-Five Tented Attractions and Five Riding Devices.

Under the auspices of the London Trades and Labor Council, Polack Bros.' "World at Home" Shows will open a week's engagement in Queen's Park, next Monday, August 2. These shows include 25 tented attractions, five riding devices and many concessions and frets. Thirty-two railway cars are required to transport the big show and all its paraphernalia.

A special effort has been made by Polack Bros., to provide something really new and they have been particularly successful in two of their mechanical and riding devices. "Over the Falls," a big sensational, riding device, is being shown by them for the first time outside of Coney Island, New York. The "Frolic" is another beautiful and elaborate riding device which is delighting old and young wherever it appears.

The aim of the Polack shows is to prove annually that there is something new under the sun, and that there is one big traveling carnival that actually and literally is bigger and better with each succeeding year.

The carnival will open early on Monday, and will continue until Saturday evening following.

ONLY FOUR CASES

Rumor Regarding Typhoid Fever Outbreak Without Foundation.

Rumors that a number of cases of typhoid fever had developed in the city were officially denied today by Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health. He also denied another current report that a number of suspected cases are under observation.

"Only four cases have been reported in the last three weeks. It so happened that all were reported at the same time, but there was no indication of any serious outbreak. One of the cases was a railroadman who came from Sarnia, another was a taxi-driver who is out of the city a good deal, and the other two people came from Toronto recently. There was another case which may have developed locally, but as the man was a foreigner we were not able to get the entire history of the case. I know of one case under observation."

PLAN TO SPEND $250,000 FOR SEWAGE PLANT

Will Likely Mean Start of a Sanitary System For West London.

Proposals to build a sewage-disposal plant, replacing the present sewage beds, as forecasted by The Advertiser, have now come to a head. City Engineer Brazier has been instructed to interview the provincial board of health in regard to details of the plans.

The plant will take care of the sewage from most of the city, and will cost at least $250,000 to build. Its construction likely will mean a commencement of a sanitary sewerage system for West London. No sewers have been laid there because there is no outlet for them, but if a new plant is built, the system can be connected with this and pumps can be installed for pumping the sewage from the lower level of that part of the city. Plans for the system will be drawn up immediately by the city engineering department.

Work will be commenced as soon as possible and it is hoped that the disposal plant will be ready by the time this work is completed. A disposal plant of the type which it is proposed to build already exists in the city, being located near the south branch of the river. This drains only a comparatively small section. The new plant likely would be located somewhere in the vicinity of the present sewage beds west of the city on the main branch of the river.

Definite decision to undertake the work may result in the public utilities commission taking immediate action to build a new dam at Springbank. While it is claimed that 2,000-horsepower would be developed, the increase in the scenic beauty of the river is urged as one of the chief reasons why it should be built. It was claimed that this would be largely counteracted if raw sewage was poured into the river.

MAJOR FRANK SPRY ELECTED PRESIDENT

Army and Navy Veterans Choose New Set of Officers.

At a well attended meeting of the local Army and Navy Veterans held last night, Major Frank M. Spry was elected president for the current year by acclamation. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing members to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of officers at the last general meeting. The election last night were all by acclamation, and of the retiring officers the secretary and treasurer were returned re-elected. A new office was created last night, namely, that of honorary treasurer, Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore being selected.

In addition to officers above named, Capt. Fred A. Taylor was elected first vice-president, while Capt. E. M. Cartmer was declared second vice-president. The secretary and treasurer returned to office were John A. Glennie and E. H. Davies, respectively. John D. Jacobs was named sergeant-at-arms.

During the meeting Comrade (Rev.) W. G. Hirst gave an enthusiastic address on the Meadowbrook Farm project, describing the farm itself as one of the beauty spots of this part of the province. He is secretary of the local committee in connection with the purchase of the property, and has been appointed on the provisional board of management.

PRE-NATAL CLINICS ARE HELPING CHECK INFANT MORTALITY

London Is First City in Canada To Hold Them.

London holds the distinction of being the first place in Canada, if not in all North America, where pre-natal clinics have been established. These clinics where prospective mothers may secure advice and treatment, are absolutely free and are being held since last January by Dr. Robert Ferguson, head of the department of obstetrics at the Western University Medical college, at Victoria Hospital every Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The clinics will be continued all through the summer. The Child Welfare Nurses, the Victorian Order of Nurses, and the Social Service nurses are co-operating to make the clinics a success, but so far not as many expectant mothers have taken advantage of the instruction available as might be desired.

Free Treatment.

Free treatment in the hospital or at their home, with free medical and nursing attendance, is provided for mothers attending the clinics, who are unable to themselves pay for the attention and care they should have.

Infant mortality figures are highest nearest birth. Fewer children die in their second week of life than in the first week. Fewer die in their second month than in the first month.

Similarly the dangers of mortality are decreased very much for the child that lives through its first year. Medical men claim that if the mothers during the period of pregnancy would insure themselves proper care and treatment, infant mortality in the first days of life in the outer world would be greatly reduced, and dangers of the death of the child before birth, or of the mother during childbirth, would be greatly lessened.

It is estimated that last year about 25,000 women in the United States died during childbirth. A very large proportion of these deaths could have been avoided had the mothers received competent medical attention and treatment during the months preceding.

DENY THAT BERRIES ARE BEING EXPORTED

Fruit Growers Say the Hot Weather and Cane Borer Shortened Crop.

Local fruit growers when interviewed on the market regarding the statements recently made by Thomas Shaw, a local grocer, declared without exception, that they had sold no berries for export to the United States, and that every berry grown was sold either on the market square to the householder or sold direct to the stores.

"The grocers laughed at me when I told them this spring that raspberries would not be as heavy a crop this year as last," said one fruit grower.

Few Young Canes.

"As matter of fact the bushes did not throw the young canes last year that they did the year before, owing to the hot dry weather. The cane-borer and the extremely severe winter were also responsible for this year's lighter yield, but what is the use of making these statements before the season opens? The buyers merely smile and tell you that the crop is bigger than ever and that you are merely trying to boost prices.

"My own patch will be over 3,000 boxes short of what we picked last year, and if it had not been for the frequent rains it would have been a lot worse.

Had No Offers.

"I don't think that berries are being exported. I have had no offers from outside buyers, and have been bringing in just as many berries as any of the other growers."

"What are the prospects for next year?" was asked.

"As far as we can tell now, the crop will be larger," was the reply. "The heavy rains during the last part of June and early July have brought on the canes that will produce next year's berries wonderfully. If nothing happens we will have a much larger crop in 1921."

BOARD OF EDUCATION MUST PAY THE SALES TAX

Ingersoll Board Faced By Problem Created by New Regulations.

INGERSOLL, July 27.—In a letter to the board of education it is pointed out by the Canadian Contractors and Builders, Limited, who are constructing the new $180,000 central school, that under the government tax regulations they are considered manufacturers and would be liable for the sales tax on the material at present entering into the construction of the building. They further state that they took the matter up with the provincial authorities, and in view of the sales tax coming into effect after the contract was entered into were informed that the tax would be collected from the board of education. The board referred the matter to the building committee.

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Verschoyle, Sunday evening an impressive memorial service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. M. In the service the pastor was ably assisted by Lieut.-Col. Thomas Gibson of Toronto, and Rev. George W. Wood of Ingersoll. The tablet was erected to the memory of the following soldiers: Albert E. Barry, Samuel Young, M. F. Lubbock and Oscar Silverthorne.

DOCTOR IS FINED $25 FOR DRIVING AUTO WHILE INTOXICATED

Admits Having Drinks, But Says He Was Not Drunk.

Convicted on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated a local physician was fined $25 and costs in police court today. He pleaded not guilty, but admitted that he had a few drinks before driving his car last night. Constable William Middaugh testified that he saw accused in an auto proceeding south on Clarence street about midnight, and when south of Horton he turned around and came back, stopping opposite a house, where he got out and went up to the residence. He was drunk at the time, and came back to his car, which he was about to start when arrested. He stated that the doctor seemed to have no difficulty in keeping his car to the road when driving.

Asked what indications of the doctor being intoxicated were seen, the constable replied: "He talked boisterously, smelled of liquor, and could hardly walk."

Acting Sergt. of Police Roy Monteith corroborated the previous witness, and stated that when the prisoner approached the house he shouted, "This is Doctor ——, so loud that you could hear him half a block away. He could not stand steady and smelled of liquor."

"The smell does not necessarily say that a man is drunk," commented Albert Judd, counsel for the doctor. The constables admitted that the doctor offered to start his car for them after he was placed in the police auto.

In his own defence the doctor stated that he backed his car out of a local garage about 11:30 p.m., and admitted being on Clarence street, and turning around as sworn to by the constables.

"I absolutely was not intoxicated," he declared, "although I had a few drinks. Anyone who drives a car knows that a person is a little unsteady getting out of a car."

Inspector Birrell asked if it was a professional call was ruled out of order by the court.

A witness for the defence stated on the stand that he went out with the doctor, and was with him when arrested. "He handled the car all right, and was not absolutely drunk," said the witness.

"This is the strongest witness for the defence," said the magistrate, "and I do not think a man staggers when he gets out of an auto. This doctor admits that he was convicted on a similar charge about two months ago."

PAVE COLBORNE ST. FROM KING TO YORK

Will Form Important Link in Connecting Two Thoroughfares.

Largely through the efforts of Dr. H. A. Stevenson, No. 2 committee of the city council has decided to include in its program Colborne street from King to York street. Dr. Stevenson noticed the need for a pavement in this vicinity because of the Alexandra school. It will form a link between the two thoroughfares, which are now paved throughout almost their entire length.

The committee has also decided to pave Kent street from Richmond to Clarence street

Several minor changes in pavements to eliminate dangerous corners have been authorized. The radius of the corner of Yale and Harvard streets will be increased from three to sixteen feet, eliminating the sharp turn which now exists. This will cost $286. A similar operation will be performed on the corners of Adelaide and King street. These will be rounded, increasing the radius from five to eighteen feet at a cost of $935. A change of this kind is already under way at Elmwood avenue and the Wortley road and has proved highly successful.

WANT WALK RAISED

Lorne Avenue Residents Have Signed a Petition.

Ald. C. G. Moorhead will make efforts to have the sidewalk on the north side of Lorne avenue raised to prevent water flooding the front lawns in this vicinity. A number of residents of the street has signed a petition to this effect, but about nine others have not done so. The work will be done without cost to them, but it will be necessary for them to agree to raise their private sidewalks to the same level and to relieve the city from any responsibility in this regard.

With Aldermen W. A. Wilson and E. R. Seabrook, Ald. Moorhead will also interview the city solicitor to see if a pavement cannot be constructed on Adelaide street in spite of the car tracks being there. He wishes to see if the work can be charged against the expiration of the franchise.

HELD FOR THEFT

Gordon Angus, Brought Here From Windsor, Is Released on Bail.

Arrested in Windsor yesterday on a charge of stealing an auto from Dr. Angus Graham here on January 5, 1919, Gordon Angus, who has been missing from London since that date, appeared in police court today, and through his solicitor, W. R. Meredith, elected summary trial. He was bailed at $2,000 to appear for trial a week from Thursday, two sureties of $1,000 each being required by the crown.

Prisoner's counsel admitted that his client left the country, but declared such action was not done to avoid the offence. Angus, whose home is in London, is alleged to have purloined the car, while it was parked in front of St. Andrew's Church here, and in company with an unknown girl took it to the Asylum sideroad, north of the city, where it was abandoned in a damaged condition. The car was valued at $1,000.

VETERANS PLAN TO DISCUSS GRATUITY

May Decide Not To Accept It in a Lump Sum.

It will be recommended to the members at the meeting of the Central Veterans' Council in the armories on Thursday evening that they do not accept their gratuity in a lump sum. This, it is thought, will be the main topic under discussion. The $10,000 bonds given by board of commerce for their housing commission will be discussed also, but the gratuity question promises to cause considerable debate.

LOCAL NEWS

LITTLE SICKNESS HERE.—Measles is still the most prevalent contagious disease in the city. During the last week there were ten cases reported to the board of health. Two of diphtheria, and one suspect, four of mumps, four of typhoid fever and one of whooping cough were also reported.

SUES FOR BILL.—Through his solicitors, Ivey, Elliott & Ivey, of this city, S. G. Amero has issued a writ in the county court here against the Adanac Footwear Company of Toronto, and the Aylmer Shoe Company, the defendants as acceptor and indorser respectively of a bill of exchange, amounting to $416.61.

TO START SOON.—Some time ago the London Methodist conference decided to build a Methodist mission in the district of Ealing, Hyatt Avenue being the nearest Sunday school, which is almost one and a half miles from the Ealing district. Three large lots have just been purchased by the conference directly opposite the Ealing school. The lots have 110 feet frontage, and building will be commenced almost immediately.

CARS COLLIDED.—Traffic on Dundas street, between Richmond and Clarence, was held up for some time about noon today when E. V. Buchanan coupe and a sedan belonging to George M. Reid collided. Mr. Reid's car was pulling away from The Advertiser office when a small boy on a wheel rode in front of it. He applied the brakes, but Mr. Buchanan was so close to him that the bumper of his car rode the traction-tread tire of Mr. Reid's car up under the fender. In order to separate the cars the bumper of Mr. Buchanan's car had to be removed.

WRIT ISSUED.—Elliot & Moss of Glencoe, acting for Mary and Howard Watterworth of Mosa Township, have issued a writ in the supreme court here against Henry G. Moore, a Mosa farmer, for damages for obstructing a road or right-of-way on a range north of the Longwoods road in Mosa Township, reserved for a road by James W. Watterworth in a certain conveyance to Elijah Watterworth, dated April 1, 1878, and for an injunction restraining defendant from obstructing said right-of-way. Further, the writ asks for a mandamus commanding defendant to remove from said road all fences, gates, buildings, or other obstructions placed thereon by him.

FRIDAY LECTURES.—Various entertainments have been held for the summer school students at Western University this season, but the one perhaps most appreciated by the students has been the series of lectures given every Friday afternoon by members of the faculty of the university or by out-of-town professors on subjects not usually included in the lectures given during the year. Dr. J. D. Barnett, who presented his library to the Western University, will give the lecture of Friday afternoon, this week, which promises to be interesting, dealing with "Why the Pilgrim's Progress Never Yet Got Into the Movies." On Saturday morning the club known as the Saturday Morning Club, will take the summer students through the D. S. Perrin factory. Last week the Public Health Institute was visited.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

Man Who Said He Had Explosives Must Get Out of Town.

John Kierman of Toronto, who when arrested on a charge of vagrancy here recently informed Constable Louis McCaughey that he had enough explosives to blow up the whole Dominion of Canada cached near here, was allowed to go in police court today on condition that he shake the dust of London from his feet at once. Kierman would not divulge the whereabouts of his cache, and a constable was deputed by the court to escort him to the city limits and wish him godspeed on his journey.

GUMDROPS NOW USED TO STOP OIL CANS

Columbus, Ind., July 25.—By Associated Press.—The gumdrop has replaced the potato as a stopper on the oil can in Columbus. Grocers no longer can afford to let even the smallest spud go for that use when they are selling for 12½ cents per pound.

A local grocer introduced the gumdrop as a stopper here recently when he prevented a customer from helping himself to a potato for that purpose. The candy was much cheaper, he said.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

Father Blank could not keep this to himself. It seems that recently a young couple, desirous of marrying, came to him for advice and to arrange for the ceremony. "But I should think," protested the priest, "that John had better speak to your mother about this first." "Not on your life," cried the would-be bride. "Mother's a widow."

SGT. TOM NOONAN WAS SHOCKED BY GIRL'S LANGUAGE

"Never Heard Anything Like It," He Told Magistrate.

John McGuire of Philadelphia and Agnes Parish of Cleveland were allowed their freedom in police court today on suspended sentence following charges of disorderly conduct preferred against them by the police. Sergt. Thomas Noonan testified that he met them last night on York street. McGuire informed him that he was going to the Harrison House to get a room for the girl. Later investigation revealed the fact that the pair had registered as man and wife at the hotel and upon the proprietor being notified he ordered their arrest.

"She used the most frightful language when arrested," said Sergt. Noonan. "I never heard anything like it in my life, not even from a man."

Constable Last corroborated the previous witness. The female in the case informed the court that she was ill last night and wished accused to stay with her. "He is my common law husband in the States," she declared.

Not Wanted Here.

"You seem to think this thing a joke," said Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon. "You are the kind of people that we do not want here. Since you have money, I will suspend sentence on condition that you leave town."

James Ivanoff, proprietor of a Clarence street poolroom was fined $10 and costs, because he allowed frequenters of his establishment to play there after 11 p.m.

"Didn't I tell you that if you kept on you would lose your license?" inquired the magistrate.

William Left appeared charged with allowing a horse to run at large, but when he explained that the horse escaped from his stable and evaded capture, he was dismissed with a warning to be careful in future.

Charged by his wife, Caroline Hunt, with using abusive language toward her, Albert E. Hunt failed to answer his name in court today. However, as the complainant did not appear, the case was adjourned for three days and reconciliations may be in order in the meantime.

A local juvenile who has been in jail on remand for two weeks on a charge of theft was allowed his freedom to appear in four weeks, giving his own bail of $100. Accused was given this opportunity following a strong plea for leniency voiced by Rev. H. B. Ashby. The youth was captured in a local store, and later pleaded guilty to charges of shoplifting, and was convicted on a second charge preferred by a local haberdasher.

HAVING BOTTLE COST HOULDEN $200

"I Don't Know," Was Only Answer Accused Would Give Court.

William Houlden, 658 Piccadilly street, pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of unlawfully having liquor in his possession and was fined $200 and costs, with the option of three months in jail.

"What is the evidence in the case?" asked the court.

"I pleaded guilty," said accused, who was reticent regarding the circumstances surrounding his arrest.

Constable Meyers testified that he saw Houlden come out from local cafe Tuesday night and enter an auto, remove a bottle from his pocket and slip it in the seat. He arrested him. The bottle was produced in court as evidence.

"What is in it?" asked the court.

"I don't know," replied the prisoner, "I was drunk."

"Is it pure alcohol?"

"I don't know, I was drunk."

"Where did you get it?"

"I don't know I was drunk," repeated the accused for the third time, reversing the usual procedure in police court by attempting to convince the magistrate that he was intoxicated, although the constable swore that he was sober when arrested.

Two bona fide drunks contributed $10 and costs each.

CANADIAN FARMERS MAY GO TO MEXICO

Commission Interviews President Huerta and Receives Promise of Co-operation.

Mexico City, July 28.—President de la Huerta today received a Canadian agricultural commission with which he conferred concerning a project to bring 10,000 Canadian farmers to the state of Coahuila. The commission received from the president all kinds of guarantees and encouragement.

STEEL DELIVERIES ARE UNSATISFACTORY

Large Amount of Money Easily Tied Up Now in Getting Supplies.

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets this week, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment:

It is taking an increasingly large amount of money to carry on business in some sections of the steel and iron world, as well as in the machine tool trade. Right now the steel warehouses of Canada face a position that gives them the option of sitting back and waiting until mill shipments come in, or going out and paying a high price for material they can procure at once. The firms that are carrying on under the latter conditions take on a greater risk with every purchase they make, for their only safe course is to get the material in and sell it at once before there is a chance of decline in prices. Many of these places have material on order, but not delivered, at 2.62 cents per pound, while they are paying 8c cents per pound for shipments which they can get inside of a week or two.

Deliveries at best are very poor, and show no indication of being influenced by the talked-of improvement.

A reduction was made during the week by makers of high-speed drills in Canada, amounting to 10 per cent. This equalizes prices to some extent, and also brings the Canadian price on a level with the figures that are quoted by old country firms doing business here, and which have been the means of losing quite a few orders for the Canadian trade.

There is nothing brisk in the machine tool trade. Some of the houses are going as far as to quote spot delivery on a large number of their lines, which is quite a change from the extended schedule that has been in force for many months. The New York market is dull, and it is expected that should this continue, some of the makers will be out looking for business, signifying a return to something near normal conditions.

Scrap markets are stagnant at Canadian points. Dealers are not anxious to buy; in fact, in many lines they are out of the market.

BRINGS BRIDE FROM HONG-KONG

TUNG SING.

MRS. TUNG SING.

Chinese Do Not Want Old Monarchy Back Again

Tung Sing, Just Back From Hong Kong With His Bride, Tells of Conditions—National Unity Is Coming in Time, He Says.

Returning to London after seven months' absence, Tung Sing, proprietor of the Belvedere Cafe, Dundas street, was accompanied last week by his charming and talented bride, formerly Wong Sui Lan, daughter of a prominent and ancient Chinese family of Hong-Kong. Her uncle, Dr. Ten Hawk, is a leading physician of the city, and is a graduate of Cornell and other American universities. Her mother also resides in Hong-Kong.

While in China, Tung Sing visited also his aged mother, who is living in a little village called Mow Boo, in Canton Province.

Tung Sing and his pretty bride were married in the Union Christian Church at Hong-Kong, an American clergyman officiating. The wedding was attended by relatives and the school friends of Mrs. Sing, who was educated at the American Baptist College located there.

Although a Baptist, as is her husband, Mrs. Sing last Sunday attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday school and greatly assisted in teaching the Chinese classes studying English there. Possessing a very fair knowledge of English, and grammatically accurate in what she has mastered of the difficult English language, Mrs. Sing was able to explain to the class in their native Chinese some of the idiosyncracies of English, beyond the power of a teacher knowing only English to explain.

Tung Sing was not inclined to make much comment on Chinese national and social problems today. Practically all classes are thoroughly accustomed to the republican form of government now, and none want the old monarchical form back again. However, the northern and southern provinces are not yet very united in spirit, but Mr. Sing thinks that a national spirit of unity will develop in time.

LOST HER PURSE.

Considerable excitement was caused at the G. T. R. station and the L. H. and B. train was held up for five minutes Tuesday afternoon, when a woman lost her purse. She was sure that someone on the train had stolen it, and insisted that the train crew search everybody.

When the crew refused to do anything she told her troubles and her opinion of the trainmen to Constable Robert Logan. Just as that official was about to adopt strenuous methods to recover the property, the woman suddenly remembered that she might have left the purse on a street car. She was forced to remain in the city overnight, much to the relief of the crew.

SPENT AN HOUR HERE.

Vice-President A. D. MacTier of the C. P. R., motored to London this city today, arriving here at 10 o'clock. He left one hour later by train for Windsor. Mr. MacTier will return to London tomorrow to attend the C. P. R. picnic. Several other officials from Montreal and Toronto will be here also.

EXPECT 5,000 AT PICNIC.

Over 5,000 people from every point between Windsor and Toronto, and Goderich and this city are expected to invade Springbank Park tomorrow on the occasion of the annual picnic of the employees of the London division of the C. P. R. Special Springbank cars will meet every train arriving in this city up to 1:20 in the afternoon. Other cars will be run from different points throughout the city.

Many surprises are promised at the park, according to the committee. The C. P. R. baseball team will play the C. P. R. team of this city at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, after which a long list of sports will be run. In the evening a dance will be held in the pavilion. A special train will leave this city at 10:30 for Goderich, via Guelph Junction.

SEEKING HIS BROTHER.

Alarmed because his brother George, whom he has not seen for over fifty years, has not arrived in Delhi, Ont., although he sailed from England on July 9, E. Neale of that town, has asked the officials of the G. T. R. to help find the missing man. The matter has been referred to the officials in London, who are endeavoring to locate the man.

Because of the great length of time since he saw his brother, E. Neale could not give a description of the man outside of the fact that he is 67 years of age. To add mystery to the disappearance the missing man's luggage arrived at its destination on July 22.

HARVESTERS' EXCURSIONS.

The first G. T. R. harvesters' excursions from the districts lying to the west, north, and south of Toronto, to the west will be run on August 11 and 18. The trains will leave the Union Station in Toronto at 9:30 p.m., and will run from there over the Canadian National lines. Special cars are to be provided for women and families.

OFF TO PULL FLAX.

The local G. T. R. station became a regular tepee on Tuesday afternoon, when crowds of Indians gathered there to await the London, Huron and Bruce train. They were en route to eHnsall, where they have been employed to pull flax.

By way of variety several Mexicans loitered about the platform this morning. They were berry-pickers from the vicinity of Chatham.

VETERANS ANXIOUS TO PROVIDE PROGRAM

Trying To Make Arrangements For Special Day At Fair.

London war veterans are anxious to provide one of the afternoon programs at the Western Fair this year, following the example of the Toronto veterans, who are to have a gala day during the Canadian National Exhibition.

J. W. Cunliffe, local G. W. V. A. secretary, told The Advertiser today that the association will do all it can to get the fair board to set aside one afternoon on the program for the veterans to provide the entertainment. With the assistance of a small grant from the city, the London veterans feel prepared to offer an attraction quite out of the ordinary. M. Cunliffe is going to Toronto tomorrow to familiarize himself with the Toronto plans.

The city of Toronto is giving the veterans there $18,000, and they are providing exhibitions of active warfare, trench life, patriotic tableaux representing the allied nations, and other scenic and drill attractions.

A special meeting of the London veterans will be called on Mr. Cunliffe's return to further discuss the proposition.

ONTARIO CIVIL SERVANTS TO GET HIGHER SALARIES

Toronto, July 28.—The reclassification of the Ontario civil service will be practically completed this week, the general tendency being towards increasing salaries. Any changes made will, however, only be for the present year, and next year the whole service will again be considered and promotions are to be made in 1921 and increases in salary granted on merits. This year an effort is being made to secure for civil servants a wage sufficient to meet the high cost of living.

SUICIDE WAS VETERAN.

Quebec, July 28.—By Canadian Press.—It has been learned here that James Amos Giles, of Sawyerville, Ont., who lost his life by drowning when he jumped from the steamer Scandinavian at Grosse Isle on Tuesday last, was one of the original members of the 16th Battalion, C. E. F., and had distinguished himself at the front. He was one of a family of ten brothers, all of whom had fought in the war. Three of them were killed, four wounded, while James, who was drowned at Grosse Isle last week, had been suffering from severe shellshock. The other two brothers had come through unscathed.

—Factory Inspector Harry Clarke, who has been spending his holidays in the city, left today for Toronto and will motor via St. Thomas, Woodstock and Galt.

ALLEGES CURTIN WAS TREATED HARSHLY

Secretary of War Veterans Is Looking Into Case.

Allegations that Turnkey McLeod of the local jail struck a prisoner with a razor strop, and that he ate another prisoner's porridge, were made today by Secretary J. W. Cunliffe of the G. W. V. A. on information given to him by a returned man who spent some days in the jail for a minor offence.

Mr. Cunliffe stated that according to his information, Daniel Curtin, a returned man, who was found wandering near Lucan in a nude state Monday, was treated most harshly. When Curtin refused to put on his clothes at the jail, Mr. Cunliffe's informant alleges that Turnkey McLeod brought a razor strop and struck him over the bare back three times.

On Sunday morning the same man alleges that Turnkey McLeod ate a dish of porridge which was intended for one of the prisoners. The man is said to have been working in the kitchen and to have put some butter on his bread.

"Curtin's case is, I think, one of the worst I have heard of," said Mr. Cunliffe. "Maybe the man needed to be handled firmly, but I do not think that kind of treatment was necessary."

ONTARIO ARCHITECTS WILL MEET HERE

Two Hundred Coming for Annual Convention, August 30 and 31.

Two hundred prominent architects from all parts of the province will be in the city Monday and Tuesday, August 30 and 31, to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Architects. A committee is hard at work now on plans for their reception. Present arrangements include business sessions at the Tecumseh House, and a banquet at Port Stanley.

Three new members will be elected to the council of the organization in place of W. R. Gregg, Charles E. Langley and Herbert E. Moore.

John M. Watt, well known in local building circles, will retain his position as councillor, together with R. B. McGiffin, Colbourne P. Meredith, R. K. Shepard, Gordon West and Frank Wickson.

SAYS NURSE IS NOT REINSTATED

Dr. Alexander Denies Story Regarding Girl At Guelph.

"Nurse Pollock has not been reinstated," said Dr. N. B. Alexander, medical head of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment in this district, when interviewed today concerning a report that the investigation which the Great War Veterans' Association has demanded concerning Speedwell Hospital affairs at Guelph, would not be proceeded with, but that Nursing Sister Pollock had been reinstated and sent back to Guelph.

Nurse Pollock was discharged some time ago for refusing to work in the diet kitchen, and the other nurses went on strike in sympathy with her.

"Is she going to be reinstated?" Dr. Alexander was asked. "Not to my knowledge," he replied.

Asked further whether the investigation the war veterans asked for was being made, or would be made, Dr. Alexander again replied that he was not aware of any investigation being under way. It was, however, a matter for the head office of the department at Ottawa to decide whether an investigation was called for, he added.

Secretary J. W. Cunliffe of the local command of the G. W. V. A. understood that Nursing Sister Pollock was being reinstated. He said that the war veterans desire an investigation to be made, whether the discharged nurse is reinstated or not.

CHANGING MARKERS BRINGS $20 FINE

Local Man Guilty Under a Charge Laid by Inspector.

Today was auto day at police court, several motorists contributing to the Carling street coffers for infringements of the law. W. H. Northmore was charged by Provincial Inspector W. Passmore with unlawfully changing markers from one auto to another and was fined $20 and costs for the offence. "I did not try to pull anything over," said accused. "I was waiting to get a license, but did not have time." The court characterized his case as "flagrant."

Fred G. Burton, assessed a similar amount for the same offence, pleaded that he was ignorant of the law covering same. "You should not own a car when you don't know what the regulations are," commented Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon.

In fining James Lofthouse, whom Burton admitted trading markers with Magistrate Graydon said: "I have got no sympathy with you." He paid $20 and costs with the other pair.

Alfred Ollson was charged with speeding at 4:30 p.m., instead of in the morning, by mistake, but admitted to the court that the latter charge was correct. He stated that he bought a new truck, and in Inspector Birrell's opinion he was trying it out. "We will reward you for your honesty," said the court, "and give you a certificate, not fine you. If you drive fast you will shake your new truck to pieces. It must be a good one to go so fast."

J. C. Johnson paid $5 and costs for speeding, although he stoutly denied the charge. Breaches of city bylaws cost Fred Steers, Harry Paddell, William Packinson and Robert Fox $2 each.

PREMIER'S DECISION SHARPLY CRITICIZED BY LONDON PRESS

Plan of Lloyd George and Millerand Meets With Editorial Disapproval.

London, July 28.—The decision reached by Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George at the Boulogne conference yesterday—to stand by the original plan for a peace conference with the Russian soviets, and that the London conference, which the soviet demanded, could not take place unless the Bolsheviki reversed their present attitude and agreed to discuss at the conference, peace with Poland, with all qualified representatives in attendance—receives no enthusiastic indorsement by the London press.

By the anti-Bolshevik papers it is denounced, one of them saying: "It will bring nearer that diplomatic recognition of the soviet government which we especially detest and dread."

Premier Lloyd George, whom these papers regard as anxious to establish relations with the soviet, is sharply criticized, as one of them puts it, "for surrendering to the Bolsheviki and creating by his policy a very serious situation."

TURKS OFFERED BUT SLIGHT DEFENCE OF ADRIANOPLE CITY

Greek Troops Entirely Surrounded Place.

Constantinople, July 27.—By the Associated Press.—Before the Greeks entered Adrianople Sunday they completely surrounded the city. Sustained attacks began Saturday night, and resulted in the capture of the city within 24 hours. The resistance offered by the defenders was slight and proved inefficient, Col. Jafar Tayar, commander of the Turkish Nationalist forces holding the city, attempted to get a 24-hour cessation of hostilities on Saturday, promising to evacuate the city. The Greeks, however, refused this offer and continued the encircling movement, which practically cut off the Turks and made possible the capture of many prisoners and quantities of munitions.

GERMANY DESIRES TO BE REPRESENTED AT ALLIED MEETING

Dr. Simons Considers That a Delegate Should Attend London Conference.

Berlin, July 28.—That Germany should be represented in the proposed conference between Allied and soviet representatives at London was the opinion expressed to the Reichstag yesterday by Dr. Walter Simons, German foreign secretary. He declared it would be a mistake for the Allies to proceed without Germany.

TAXICABS' FLEETS BATTLE IN CHICAGO

Yellow and Checkered Cars Have West Side War.

Chicago, July 28.—A battle between fleets of taxicabs, in which the vehicles were manoeuvred according to the best strategy of tank warfare, while their drivers fired hundreds of shots at each other, raged through the early morning on the streets of Chicago's west side today.

The battle was the result of long standing differences between drivers of the Yellow Cab Company and the Checker Taxi Company, a rival concern.

For hours the battling drivers played every trick of mobile warfare against each other that they could think of. Strings of yellow cabs in line rushed past the headquarters of the Checker Company at breakneck speed, emptying revolver broadsides into the latter's offices. Rallying, the black and white checkered cabs of the attacked concern dashed out en masse and ripped into the yellows for counter-attacks, according to the best tactics of shock action.

While these major engagements were being fought, numerous individual battles were fought by drivers, who, racing their taxicabs hub to hub, emptied their pistols at each other at close range.

The battle started in a bit of flat skirmishing, in which two South Side drivers of the rival concerns were engaged. The engagement then moved to the West Side sector, and became general.

So far as the police could learn there were no casualties. Three of the drivers were arrested.

LIBERAL VICTORY

administrators Nova Scotia ever had. He also deplored the defeat of Col. Ralston and D. A. Cameron, the two young men of brilliant qualities and devoted to duty. "I am naturally highly pleased at the victory the Liberal party has won," he said last night. "I accept, not exultingly, the verdict of an honest electorate."

MURRAY WILL HAVE STRAIGHT MAJORITY OF 17 IN THE HOUSE

Halifax, July 28.—Winning thirty seats in a House of forty-three, the Liberal Government, under the leadership of Premier George H. Murray, was returned to power with a clear majority of seventeen over farmers, labor and Conservatives, in the election held throughout Nova Scotia yesterday. The farmers elected seven candidates, labor five and Conservatives one. The last House of Assembly was composed of thirty-two Liberals and eleven Conservatives. Among the more prominent candidates defeated are Hon. E. H. Remson, commissioner of public works and mines, one of two Liberal candidates in Yarmouth; Lieut.-Col. J. L. Ralston, C.M.G., one of three Liberal candidates in Cumberland, and W. L. Hall, leader of the Opposition, one of two Conservative candidates in Queens. Mrs. R. W. Rogers, one of two women candidates in the field for the first time in Nova Scotia, led the defeated Conservative ticket in Cumberland, and Mrs. J. M. Donaldson, the other one of two labor candidates in Pictou, footed the poll in her constituency.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, addressing an impromptu meeting last night, said that the victory had been one for good government as well as for the Liberal party, and he was certain that some Conservatives had had a part in the matter. Mr. Fielding stated that among the salient features of the campaign in his judgment was the return of all five Liberals in Halifax. He confessed that the struggle in Halifax had given him some moments of anxiety. He felt that the election of but a single straight Conservative indicated that the old Conservative party, which had included many great and good men, had been almost annihilated. Whatever dissent there had been to the Liberals was composed of labor and farmers.

Up to a late hour this morning complete returns were still lacking from the counties of Cape Breton, Antigonish, Pictou and Halifax.

GOOD RECORD WAS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR MURRAY'S RETURN

Brantford, July 28.—The Brantford Expositor, Independent Liberal, says:

"The expected has happened in Nova Scotia. The Murray Government, after a record of 34 years of office, has been again returned to power by a decided majority, thus escaping the fate of the Hearst Government in Ontario and the Norris Government in Manitoba. This is due to the exceptionally good record of the Government, and to the fact that the labor and the farmer movements in the blue nose province are not yet strong enough to overthrow the existing order of things, although exhibiting sufficient strength to obtain a small minority in the Legislature as a result of yesterday's polling.

Thus the Murray Government is entrenched in power for another four years. The most noticeable feature of the contest, however, was the almost total annihilation of the Conservative party and the significance to be attached thereto in view of a possible general election for the Dominion in the near future.

ENGINEER DECLARES "IT HAS NO EQUAL"

Joseph Legare Had Begun to Think He Would Never Regain His Health—Now Well and Strong.

Still another well-known Quebec man comes forward and adds his voice to the thousands who have already given their indorsement to the remarkable merits of Tanlac. This time it is Joseph Legare, electrical engineer, who holds the responsible position of foreman of all electricians with the Bell Telephone Company, in whose employ he has been for the past twenty-three years. Mr. Legare, who resides at 109 Boisseau street, Quebec, is a well-known and highly respected citizen, and has one of the largest and most interesting families in Quebec, being the father of twenty-seven children. In relating his experience with the medicine, he said:

"About seven years ago my liver and stomach got out of order, and I've been in a bad state of health ever since; not ill enough to have to give up my work, but never feeling up to the mark, and in a general rundown condition. I felt weak and tired all the time, and my work seemed too much for me. I was continually constipated and always had to be taking pills of some sort, and as a result my whole system got upset. I had frequent spells of dizziness and my nerves were 'on edge' all the time. I had begun to take a gloomy view of the outlook and to get very despondent.

"When I saw so many well-known people coming forward with statements in the papers about the benefits they had derived from Tanlac, I decided to try it. The first bottle did me so much good that I continued with it, and I found it doing me good right along. It regulated my liver and put my stomach in good shape, so that I am not bothered with indigestion any more. I soon had an appetite like a bear, and am no longer troubled with constipation. I am now full of strength and energy and my work is a pleasure instead of a drudgery. I consider Tanlac the best of all medicines to build up the whole system, and I am glad to tell of my experience for the benefit of others."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL OPENS WAR ON THE ESSEX RUM-RUNNERS

Attorney-General and Secretary Nixon Unite Forces of Two Departments To Clean Up Situation—Crown Attorneys and Provincial Police To Share Responsibilities.

TORONTO, July 27.—Attorney-General W. E. Raney has declared war on the rum-runners and bootleggers in the Windsor and Essex districts, and in co-operation with Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary, has started to clean up a situation that has been growing into a scandal and disgrace. Law officers must now fight illegal liquor business as they fight other crime, and local and provincial officers must chase down whiskey-runners as they would a murderer. This is the edict issued tonight by the attorney-general.

In this connection Provincial Secretary Nixon tonight announced that the provincial police force in Essex has been increased from ten men to fourteen. Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, the "fighting parson," of Sandwich, who for some time fought the illegal liquor traffic almost alone, has been appointed provincial license inspector, and his duties will commence at once.

Hon. Mr. Raney issued a statement tonight bearing on the campaign just begun. It is as follows:

Situation Difficult.

"The situation created by the outlaw rum-runners is difficult. But this is not a sufficient explanation for conditions in certain localities. The fact is that under the stress put upon it the system has broken down in some of the border counties and is not fully effective in others. One of the difficulties has been the dual control in the administration of the law. The magistrates, crown attorneys and provincial police are in the department of the attorney-general, whilst the license inspectors and provincial license officials are under the control of the license board, which is in the department of the provincial secretary. Under the statute and the system as heretofore administered, the crown attorneys and provincial police have not considered themselves charged with special responsibility for the enforcement of the Ontario temperance act, which has been left for the most part to the license board officials, local police and constables.

Refusal of Police.

"Another difficulty has been the neglect and in some cases the refusal in direct violation of the statute and of their oaths of office of local police and constables to enforce the law. And the neglect has not been confined to local officials. I am satisfied in some few localities the license inspectors have not made and are not now making an earnest attempt to enforce the law. This last remark does not apply to Windsor.

"Unfortunately some magistrates are disposed to administer the law as though it were a licensing system. Where the maximum fine permitted by the act amounts to only a fraction of the profits on a given transaction, it is obvious that a fine will be no effective deterrent.

Change in System.

"The system will be changed. Crown attorneys and provincial police officers will be charged with the same responsibility for the enforcement of the Ontario temperance act as for the enforcement of the criminal code. And they will be held responsible for non-enforcement and instructed to prosecute under the act local constables or policemen who neglect or refuse to enforce it. Magistrates have been informed that they will be expected to administer the law of last session which gave them the option of imposing imprisonment for first offences. There ought, in my view, to be no hesitation on the part of magistrates in sending every convicted rum-runner to jail for the full term permitted by the statute."

AUTHOR OF CHARGES.

WINDSOR, July 27.—The latest development in the liquor traffic situation on the border came today, when it was announced definitely that Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of the Sandwich Methodist Church, and author of charges of the illegal sale of whiskey, immoral conditions and negligence on the part of the police department and the police committee that practically amounted to protection, which stirred up governmental officials to give battle to rum runners, would be appointed a provincial license inspector by Attorney-General Raney.

Side-Tracked.

Following the refusal of the fighting parson to appear personally and bring his witnesses to submit evidence before the police committee of the town which is to open the probe on Thursday morning to hear charges and conduct an investigation directly bearing on its own conduct, it was generally conceded here that the matter had been diplomatically sidetracked.

A Different Aspect.

With the appointment of Mr. Spracklin to an official position operating under direct instructions from the Government, however, the situation assumes a totally different aspect. Charges hitherto made from the outside and productive of little result, with the exception of temporarily, forcing an open observance of the law, will now be backed up by authorized legal and court action which, it is hoped, will aid materially in the move for a general clean-up on the border.

Drastic Measures.

It became known today that the most drastic measures possible are contemplated by the Ontario License Commission toward a bettterment of the local situation, while no actual plans were specifically defined. Vice-Chairman Dingman of the board intimated that charges would be laid against a number of police officials in the various border municipalities for being knowingly negligent in their duty.

Peremptory Orders.

It is understood also, on well-based authority, that peremptory instructions are to be issued to Magistrate Miers and other presiding officials in neighboring police courts in the county that the maximum penalty, including imposition of both fine and prison term, must be meted out in convictions in the future, in accordance with the recent amendment to the Ontario temperance act.

It is a well-known fact locally and in Toronto that the attorney-general is greatly displeased with the manner in which convictions have been dealt with, following a circular letter sent to the Essex County magistrate a month ago.

WILL NOT CUT OFF GAS SUPPLY ON AUGUST 1ST

Hon. Harry Mills Informs the Windsor Mayor To This Effect.

WINDSOR, July 27.—Gas for the municipalities in Essex and Kent Counties, threatened with a suspension of service on August 1, will not be cut off in spite of the threat of the Union Natural Gas Company of Chatham, according to information given Acting Mayor Howell over long-distance telephone tonight by Hon. Harry Mills, minister of lands, forests and mines, in the Drury cabinet.

Cutting off the supply had been threatened by the Windsor Gas Company, which furnished the fuel for the border cities, unless the present rate of 30 cents per 1,000 cubic feet was increased to $1 by the end of the present month.

As soon as possible, the minister stated, a conference will be summoned of representatives of Western Ontario municipalities using natural gas, and of the companies to decided upon an equitable rate if it is determined a change from the existing schedule is necessary.

This action of the Government gives the cities of the two counties a chance to stand up for their rights, which is exactly what the mayors and reeves who went to Toronto recently and presented a petition asked for, declared Acting Mayor Howell tonight in discussing the new development.

Clayworkers Agree.

Owing to the shortness of the season for manufacturing clay products, and the price of coal, the clayworkers of Western Ontario have agreed to pay an increased price of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for natural gas. This announcement was made last night by Calvin S. Parker of London, who is chairman of the fuel committee of the Western Ontario Clayworkers' Association. The company wanted 50 cents at first.

The gas situation in Kent County has been the source of much trouble among the municipalities, it was said, but the municipalities were not the only gas customers who were involved, for the clayworkers were informed by the Union Natural Gas Company that unless they agreed to pay 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet the supply would be cut off. They were also to surrender all rights which they held under various franchises and agreements, Mr. Parker said.

Fuel Committee.

As a result the clayworkers formed a permanent fuel committee and selected Mr. Parker as its chairman. The body was to have power to deal with the fuel situation, and had as its duty the arranging of coal, wood and gas supplies for the clayworkers.

After the Union Natural Gas Company had threatened to cut off the supply, Mr. Parker went to see Hon. Harry Mills, minister of mines, at Toronto, who offered to give him an interview, he stated, at the time Vice-President Little of the company, whose residence is in Buffalo, arrived there. The matter was discussed thoroughly, and Mr. Parker agreed to the increase.

The Union Natural Gas Company has yet to arrange with the Petrol Oil and Gas Company the price of transmitting the gas over the former's lines.

Previous Prices.

Prior to the agreement made at Toronto, some of the clayworkers were paying 15 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, others 20 cents, and some as much as 30 cents.

Mr. Parker considered the new price a fair one compared to the inflated price of coal. "Gas at 40 cents is equal to coal at $12 per ton, and gas at 50 cents is equal to coal at $15 per ton," said the clayworkers' representative.

Following is his statement of what occurred before the company threatened to cut off the supply:

The clayworkers contracted for gas from some wells which were not under franchise. These wells were known as "wet" ones (ones from which oil as well as gas is secured). At this time Gas Commissioner Estlin of Chatham issued his order No. 9, which stated that the Petrol Oil and Gas Company was to obtain the gas and the Union Natural Gas Company was to receive it into its lines. In view of the fact that the wells were not under franchise he issued temporary permits to the clayworkers to use a portion of this gas in the burning of drain tile, because of the need for production which had been created as a result of the drainage work which was being done by the farmers of the district. This gas formerly was allowed to escape into the atmosphere.

While in Chatham a few days ago Mr. Parker talked with the Hon. Manning Doherty, who, he stated, was determined to make the gas company live up to its agreements and franchises.

BLENHEIM

BLENHEIM, July 27.—Rev. J. C. McCrackin, Anglican minister, had two funerals to attend Sunday afternoon. The funeral of the late Joseph Millington was largely attended. The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends and the Sons of England both took part in the ceremony. A number of war veterans also attended, the deceased having been among those who enlisted for overseas service. Deceased is survived by his mother and two brothers, George and John, both of town.

The funeral of Joseph Buchanan of South Harwich, who was killed by lightning, was one of the largest seen here for a long time. Deceased was 63 years of age and had always lived in Harwich, having been raised in the neighborhood. He is survived by four daughters, Winnifred, Mabel, Josephine and Beulah, two sisters, Mrs. Cyrus Craig and Mrs William Craig, two brothers, Charles and Samuel of Harwich.

PREMIERS STAND BY ORIGINAL PLAN TO MEET SOVIETS

Lloyd George and Millerand Insist On Peace Conference.

BOULOGNE, July 27.—Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand determined at their conference this afternoon to stand by the original plan for a peace conference with the Russian Soviets. They also outlined the execution of the financial parts of the coal arrangement with Germany.

Mr. Lloyd George accepted in the main M. Millerand's views and it was decided Great Britain should reply to the soviet demand for an international conference, that it could not take place unless the Bolsheviki reversed their present attitude and agreed to discuss thereat peace with Poland, and that all qualified representatives of Russia and the border states should attend.

Should Moscow accept these conditions then M. Millerand will be consulted by Great Britain and he will lay down the conditions necessary for recognition of the soviets. This attitude is taken to insure Poland not being overwhelmed by facing the Bolsheviki alone in the negotiations.

Advances to Germany.

Regarding the advances to Germany agreed upon at Spa in the coal agreement it was determined that Germany should deliver to the reparations commission by September 1, 1920, German treasury bonds to the value of 60,000 gold marks, bearing 6 per cent interest and maturing May 1, 1921, which may be sold or used as collateral, with or without the Allies' indorsement, as a means for the reparations commission realizing upon them.

After September 1 Germany shall deliver to the commission similar bonds corresponding to the advances France is to make for fulfillment of the promised coal deliveries. In this way France will be relieved of the burden through a simple banking operation. To establish quickly the amount of advances France is to make to Germany, the reparations commission can fix 40 gold marks per ton provisionally, the amount to be adjusted later.

Charged With Execution.

The reparations commission will be charged with the entire execution of the Spa agreement so far as concerns coal deliveries and allied advances to Germany on account of the coal deliveries.

Pleasure was expressed at the decisions taken which were in accordance with the French views. The plan for the financial arrangement was presented by M. Francois Marshal.

The conference was held at the Imperial Hotel, instead of the district government building as planned. The premiers began their conversations after lunching together, continuing until 5:30 o'clock. Afterwards the premiers took tea together, then the British representatives left for England on a warship, Premier Millerand and the French party returned to Paris tonight.

SAYS SEPARATE PEACE IMPOSSIBLE.

LONDON, July 27.—Mr. Lloyd George, before leaving Boulogne, informed the Reuter correspondent that a complete agreement had been reached on all points. It had been decided, subject to Italy's approval, to send a reply to Russia, saying that certain things must be made clear before the Allies will attend to the proposed conference. Poland and other border states must participate in the conference, whose primary object is to establish the peace of Europe. Then the conference could discuss the questions between Russia and the Allies with a view of establishing normal relations.

If the Soviet replies that it could only make peace separately, the conference will fall to the ground, according to Mr. Lloyd George. If the Soviet complies, the conference can meet within a month.

The British prime minister added that Premier Millerand and he agree that a good piece of work was done at Boulogne today.

FACTORY SITE COST $20,625.

BRANTFORD, July 27.—At a special meeting of the city council this afternoon the proposed sale of 16½ acres of waterworks land to the A. C. Spark Plug Company, which desires to provide for extensions to its newly erected plans was approved, the sale price to be $1,250 an acre.

No action was taken on Ald. Ryerson's suggestion that Brantford secure an additional block of hydro power, even if it were higher in price than the present Falls generated supply.

Despondent Women

A prominent writer claims that "women are naturally despondent," but often mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, backache, headaches, sleeplessness, and consequent despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes to the root of this trouble, it gives tone and strength to the system and restores women to a normal, healthy condition.

Liquid silmerine is so pure and harmless there is not the slightest danger of spotting the scalp or streaking the hair and it leaves no sticky or greasy trace. It will also be appreciated as a beneficial dressing, as it keeps the hair so soft silky and lustrous.—Advt.

DYSPEPTICS QUIT STOMACH DRUGGING

A physician says that in most cases of stomach trouble there is really no disease of the stomach at all, but just too much acid. Excessive acid prevents natural digestion, causes sour stomach, fermentation of food, and this upsets the liver and intestines and causes nervousness, weakness, sleeplessness, and "blues."

Quit stomach drugs and artificial digestents. Simply take a teaspoonful or four tablets of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia in a glass of hot water after meals to neutralize the excessive acidity and you will be all right.

It works fine. You can eat what you want and sleep all night—no more walking the floor at three and four o'clock in the morning and suffering from extreme weakness and nervousness all the next day. Bisurated Magnesia is for sale by all druggists in powder or tablet form. Try this plan for three weeks.—Advt.

SAYS MEIGHEN HARD-SHELLED TYPE OF TORY

Aylesworth Tells Toronto Liberals of the Premier's Autocratic Views.

REFERS TO ELECTION

Former Minister of Justice States Farmers Should Have a Chance.

TORONTO, July 27.—Sir Alan Aylesworth, former minister of justice, addressing a gathering of members of the Liberal executives of Toronto and York County ridings tonight, declared that Hon. Arthur Meighen, the new premier of Canada, was a "dyed-in-the-wool, hard-shelled Tory of the old school, who thought the few were qualified to govern and the majority to be governed."

The present Dominion Government, Sir Alan predicted, would go down to bitter and ignominious defeat when it went to the country.

While deprecating government by any class, Sir Alan Aylesworth said he was in favor of giving the farmers a chance. However, he doubted that, if they won in the next Dominion general elections, the farmers would better themselves or the country.

The meeting of Liberals tonight was primarily for the purpose of appointing committees to arrange for a big Liberal picnic to be held at Hanlan's Point on Saturday, August 14, when Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader in the Dominion, will be present and deliver an address.

STATEMENT OF SIR ADAM RE BRIDGE AT PORT IS DENIED

Prominent Villagers of Port Take Up Defence of Reeve Cornell.

ST. THOMAS, July 27.—The statement made by Sir Adam Beck at a recent meeting of the London Railway Commission that there was a selfish motive on the part of Reeve Cornell of Port Stanley in suggesting the construction of a jackknife bridge over the upper part of the harbor is contradicted by many prominent people of the village.

It was hinted at the meeting of the commission that Reeve Cornell was using his influence as head of the municipality to make a sale of landed interests on the west side of the upper harbor. This is denied, as Reeve Cornell was willing to dispose of the parcel to the government engineers at $600 a lot before a decision was reached as to the building of the bridge.

The commission, the villagers say, fear if a jackknife bridge be put up they will be compelled to install guards at the railway crossing. The viaduct bridge favored by Sir Adam would mean an expenditure of some hundreds of thousand dollars extra. The trestle work would have to be extended as far back as the garage which would mean the purchase of high-figured holdings between the creek and that building.

INJUNCTION ISSUED; BLENHEIM COUNCIL DECIDES TO FIGHT

Threat of Gas Company To Cut Off Supply Brings Action.

BLENHEIM, July 27.—Solicitor R. L. Gosnell of town has been given instructions by the mayor and council to issue an injunction to prevent the Union Natural Gas Company from shutting off the gas supply on August 1, as threatened. Very few local customers have signed the agreements for higher gas, and the company declares the gas will be shut off from those who did not sign up. The minister of mines has been appealed to by the town authorities, and the situation is acute. If the gas is shut off no other fuel is available.

SEARCH FOR AUTOS LOST FROM FERRY NOW ABANDONED

Work Cost Company $500 a Day—Cars Cost $3,750.

WINDSOR, July 27.—Search for two Hupmobile automobiles which went overboard a few days ago from a Walkerville ferry boat while being transported from Detroit for shipment through Canada to Eastern points in the United States, was abandoned today. The truck on which the two machines crated were being brought across lurched against the side of the boat, throwing the contents overboard. Engaging tugs and divers cost the company over $500 daily, and as the cars were only valued at $3,750 and in view of the powerful current of the river, the search was finally given up today, when no results were forthcoming.

NATIONAL LINES OF CANADA WILL PAY U. S. AWARD

Reid Formally Announces That Railways Will Increase Wages.

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Canadian Press.)—The Canadian National Lines will accept the schedule of wages for railwaymen granted by the American Railway Board, Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, formally announced at a banquet given in his honor this afternoon.

"This would mean increasing the railway deficits from about forty-seven millions to seventy millions of dollars, which must be met by increasing passenger and freight rates," he said.

If the Canadian Pacific Railway accepts the award, he said, it would mean paying no dividends to shareholders until conditions are adjusted.

ST. THOMAS, July 27.—The official permit has at last reached the mayor from the Dominion and Provincial Railway Boards to have the one-man cars go into commission, and tomorrow will see the inauguration of the system.

The provincial secretary has also advised the municipal council that St. Thomas may now run its street cars on Sunday, providing the assent of a majority of the ratepayers is secured. The city solicitor has advised that a plebiscite cannot be taken until the January elections, the act forbidding any intervening election for such a purpose.

Peterboro, another city coming under the amended section, is now holding a poll on the question of Sunday cars, without regard to the direction of the Legislature. Similar movement was asked of the council by many people some weeks ago, but was refused.

MRS. MANSFIELD HAS ESCAPED FROM TURKS

PARIS, July 25.—Mrs. Richand Mansfield, widow of the American actor, and Colin Clements of New York, poet and playwright, have returned to Paris after being held prisoners by the Turkish Nationalists at Urfa, Mesopotamia, for three months. They have been doing relief work among the Armenians for the past year. They escaped to Jerablus, on the Euphrates, and from there were taken to Aleppo by friendly Arabs.

MASSEY SAYS NAVY MUST BE SUPREME

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 25. — By the Associated Press.—Premier Wellington F. Massey declared in a speech at an entertainment given by the Savage Club for the Prince of Wales that the British navy "must be supreme at all costs."

"I was one of those who at Paris thought the league of nations would in a few years be strong enough to exercise a profound influence in preventing war," he continued. "I must admit now that the league of nations is a great disappointment. We look around and see two great powers, Japan and the United States, building bigger and more powerful ships than ever. Those powers clearly do not believe that the league of nations can end war.

"It would be calamitous if when war comes other nations should possess more numerous and more powerful ships than Great Britain, whose empire depends on her sea power."

GERMANS FEAR NEGRO TROOPS

Object To 50,000 African Soldiers On Duty Across the Rhine.

Paris, July 22.—Hugo Stinnes is a German of the type that has made Germany disliked. He is unpopular in his own country. His tone at the Spa conference embarrassed his colleagues, and almost led to a break in the all-important gathering.

Nevertheless, he is a man of courage and he mentioned in passing a subject that should be before the conference, which, so far as the public knows, has not been brought up. This is the employment of French African troops in the army of occupation in Germany.

Savage Native Troops.

This is more than a bitterness to the Germans. It is a terror. These troops are not as our negroes, brought up amid American institutions and speaking our language. They range in cultural level from savages to barbarians, being reared in native villages and speaking a language understood by few white men, except their own officers.

Military discipline is their only civilization. The result is as expected from troops of this type quartered among a virtually defenceless people. Crimes of violence including a large percentage of the crimes against women, abound.

Germany has protested, but evidently in vain. The subject has been brought up in the national assembly for explanation.

According to the Germans, there are 50,000 colored troops in Germany, including two regiments of Senegalese, a regiment of Madagascar troops, and some sixteen regiments of North African troops.

"Their acts of violence," he says, "the murder of harmless citizens, the assaults on women, girls and boys, the gigantic growth of prostitution, the establishing of brothels in even the smallest towns, and the rapid growth of venereal disease of the worst sort expose a French policy against Germany which one can only characterize as a ruthless warfare in the midst of peace, a warfare which, if it has not as its purpose, certainly will have the result that the body of the German people, on the western border, will be lastingly corrupted."

Prefer French Soldiers.

The French had told him, he said, that these troops were used because they were more highly disciplined than white French troops, but he had answered that he would prefer less disciplined troops so long as they were white Frenchmen.

Light is shed on the cause of keeping African troops in Germany by opinions hazarded in England. The British, while unwilling to dictate or even to suggest to the French, do not relish the presence of black troops. Imperial considerations, naturally, influence the British view.

The outspoken opinion of Englishmen, however, is that the French fear the influence of the ideas of the Independent Socialists and the Communists, who are very strong in the occupied territory, and dare not risk the morale of their own soldiers by contact. The French fraternize very freely with the German population. There is a great deal of unrest in France, and it is possible that the army is a good seedbed for the ideas of Lenine.

The Africans, shunned by the population and unable to speak the language, are immune, even if they had enough political education to grasp ideas. For this reason, it is currently believed, the French keep them in occupation.

Other Nations Protest.

Protests against the use of black troops have come from America, England, Switzerland and from the Scandinavian countries. Dr. Koester said, but being evidently from other than government sources, have had little influence. Of the degree of aversion with which the Germans regard these troops, he said:

"If the German people were not so torn by economic ills, these troops ruling in the occupied territory would not be so quietly borne. If the German people were not worn out in soul, the events in the west would wake a different echo."

In every other thing, the Germans, evading, dodging and intriguing, have taken the impositions of the victors with a certain philosophic calm. Only the presence of the Senegalese has made any responsible Germon official even hint at fight.

DEFENDERS OF DYER.

During the insurgent movement in the Punjab in 1919, General Dyer, the officer in command of that district, had troops fire into a mob of Indian demonstrants. Several hundred of the rioters were killed. One year later the British Government compelled by popular demand ordered an investigation of the affair. As a result of this inquiry made by a parliamentary body known as the Hunter committee, Dyer was found to have "needlessly prolonged the firing." Following this finding Dyer was removed from his command and retired from the army. Dyer was not wanting for defenders, but the inquiry seemed to establish the charge that he had been unnecessarily brutal and cruel. There are good reasons now, however, to believe that he was not altogether unjustified in taking drastic measures. A prominent Catholic prelate, who has just returned to England from India, and who is well acquainted with all the incidents leading up to and about the Armitsrar affair, declares emphatically that Dyer was fully justified in his act. He maintains that if the mob had not been handled with the greatest severity, if the small force of British and native soldiers had been overcome, within a few days the entire north of India, would have been in active revolt and every European, man, woman and child, slaughtered. Following this churchman's opinion, which must be taken seriously, a writer in the Empire Review, Colonel Yates, member of Parliament and an army officer, states that Dyer "saved the Empire" by his prompt putting down of the rebellion. As well he charges that the Hunter committee ignored or did not take into consideration certain facts that clear Dyer of the cruelty and brutality charges. Some of these were: Public gatherings had been forbidden at Armitsrar under the martial law that had been established. General Dyer had only fifty men to face a mob of twenty thousand. Had the rioters defeated this force they would have reached several hundred British women and children who had been hastily crowded behind barricades. The maddened mob made several attempts to reach Dyer's force, only fifty feet distant, and only continual firing could stop these rushes. Col. Yates concludes his defence of Dyer as follows:

> As to General Dyer, we must not forget that when he marched his fifty Indian soldiers into the Jallianwala Bagh he had before his mind not only the dastardly murders and outrages of the 10th April, but also the fate of the 130 British women and children herded up behind the four mud walls of the old fort, the desperate endeavors of the mob to cut communications, both by rail and telegraph, the brutal murders at Kasur near by, and the murderous frenzy that was spreading throughout the Punjab. Never since the Mutiny of 1857 had mobs in India risen to murder and outrage, the destruction of Government buildings, the cutting of railways and telegraphs, and the general massacre of British men, women and children in places far apart from each other practically on one and the same day. The map at the end of the committee's report shows the red mark indicating disorders extending all the way from Calcutta on the East to the Northwest Frontier Province, and from there right down through the Punjab and Gujerat to Bombay on the West, as well as in various other places in the interior. Never had such a thing been known before: and to suppose, as the committee would lead us to suppose, that this simultaneous outbreak was not part of a prearranged conspiracy is to suppose the ridiculous.

"Monster" has been applied to General Dyer in the hot controversy that has raged around the Armitsrar affair, but there is a grave question to say the least, whether it is justified. The further discussion of the matter which is to take place in the British Commons should prove interesting.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM.

Goldwin Smith said somewhere that memory and dreams are two mysteries that are apt to disconcert the materialist. Dreams and books are to Wordsworth's mind "each a world." There is no doubt some relation between the spheres of dreams and art, possibly even an identity in some measure can be made out.

An "abysmal" or racial or buried self seems at work in dream as in the artist's imagination. The binding laws of nature are dissolved and we move with adventurous freedom on free wings of our own. Nearly all dreams are happy and mildly exciting, and there is no end to their infinite variety.

Those who boast never or seldom to dream miss a large part of life. They may be physically more normal, perhaps, but the dreamer who closes his eyes on day's rather fixed routine enters the "perilous seas and fairy lands forlorn," where for one shock there are a hundred happy endings and all manner of lively chances by the way. It is interesting that dreams, like memory, prefer the pleasant to the unpleasant. Even mishaps become a pleasure to recall in memory, and dreams will turn death and loss into life and love. In dreams lost chords, if they were beautiful, come back to mind. "There shall be no lost good" in memory, though it be buried deeper than waking consciousness can reach.

The trick dreams have of reviving the dead made savages believe in a future life of the soul. The soul actually conversed with the surviving dead in dreams. And as the spirit moves insubstantially, shadowily, in sleep, the future world was conceived as inhabited by shades. "Mere shades," cried the earthborn longing for the flesh and ignoring the lightness and freedom of the spirit life. Homer makes a Greek hero in Hades tell Ulysses that he would rather be a live slave on earth than reign a king in Hades over the ghosts. But the barbarian thought more usually of the happy hunting ground or the heavenly houris that await spirits emancipated from the body; paradise was to be a dream in its undistrubed happiness and dreams here were a foretaste of that bliss.

In the old English language "dream" had often the meaning of joy. The tendency of memory and dreams to retain only the pleasantness of experience or turn even sour things to sweet seems to come out of some basic condition of life. Wordsworth was right that Nature's heart is essentially joy. The kingdom of heaven that is within us, the happy and healthy state of spirit, the sense of a noble and honorable state, the ideal element "what I aspired to be," is the true and permanent of our life, our aboriginal self, as Emerson would say, that which expresses beauty in art or joy in memory or dreams. It is the exerlasting that selects its own delight in our adventures among the fields of sleep.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Fire Chief Kenlon of New York is peeved over the action of the executive of the International Fire Chiefs' Association in naming another than his selection to lead the religious exercises with which the convention at Toronto opened. He bawls, "I am an American citizen and have rights no man may trample on." What has that to do with the incident? Nobody was attempting to interfere with his sacred rights as a citizen of our big and friendly neighbor state. That sort of talk is the sheerest flapdoodle. Much more of it and the public will begin to think New York's fiery fire fighter is a false alarm.

The Farmers' Vote in Ontario in 1919.

The Farmers' Sun of December 3, 1919 published the following:

The following table shows the number of candidates elected, and total votes polled (in all ridings) to by each organization represented in the late provincial election:

	Candidates Elected.	Votes Polled.
Liberals	29	336,715
Conservatives	25	385,796
Farmers	45	256,874
Laborites	11	127,096
Independents	1	46,086
Totals	111	1,153,567

Four Conservatives were elected by acclamation, but in the above it is presumed the Sun took past elections into consideration, so in a general way the table is correct. In an editorial in the Sun of the above date the results are dealt with in a more striking manner, as follows:

"Although the Conservatives polled more votes in the late election than either the Liberal or U. F. O., the Conservatives elected fewer candidates than either of the other organizations named. On the other hand, the United Farmers polled fewer votes per candidate elected than any other organization in the field. The Conservatives polled over 15,000 votes per candidate elected; the Liberals nearly 12,000; the Labor party over 11,000; the one Independent upward of 46,000, and the U. F. O. less than 6,000."

Liberals May Claim Half of Total Vote Cast in the Ontario Provincial Elections, 1919.

In the above calculations it should be borne in mind that the Liberals withdrew candidates, or decided not to nominate, in 39 ridings, four of which went by acclamation to the Conservatives, so that the opposition vote was not divided, and in 35 ridings it may be said the Liberal vote was polled for either the Farmer candidate or the Labor candidate or the Independent candidate. It is a safe and moderate estimate to say that at the very least one-third of the votes noted in the above table as having been cast for the Farmers, Labor and Independent was Liberal. The total to these three bodies is 429,956, and one-third of this is 143,318. This, added to 336,715, makes a total Liberal vote of 480,033, and reduces the combined Farmer, Labor and Independent votes to 286,636 out of a total of 1,153,567, or less than one-fourth of the total vote. The hundred odd Conservative or government candidates polled but few over one-third of the grand total vote, so there is no doubt of their defeat. It was a collapse. In 1894 the Mowat Government (Liberal) contested almost all the seats, and firmly proclaimed and maintained its own policy, and although the Patrons had a lodge membership of 200,000, they elected by 17 members to the House. In 1919 the U. F. O. had but 48,000 club members, but they elected 45 members, clearly showing the effect of the Liberals leaving the field to them in about 30 ridings.

The Toronto Globe, in its issue of Wednesday, January 7, 1920, published the following:

"An analysis of the voting at the last provincial election has been made by the Ontario Reform Association, which furnishes some illuminating information.

"The Conservatives contested 107 seats, and had 4 acclamations and polled 391,278 votes.

"The Liberals contested 72 seats, and polled 333,550 votes.

"The U. F. O. contested 68 seats and polled 258,090 votes.

"Labor contested 24 seats, and polled 131,394 votes.

"Independents ran in 17 seats, and polled 56,256 votes.

"The total vote polled was 1,170,569. In 1914 the Liberals polled 70,130 votes in ridings which at the last election were not contested, while the Conservatives in 1914 polled 31,384 votes in ridings which were not contested at the last election, including four in which acclamations occurred."

Ontario is experimenting as to how a government supported by one-third of the popular vote may be conducted.

Could Have Been a Real Coalition.

These figures, in the main, conform to the figures given in the Farmers' Sun. They clearly show that if the Liberals had contested twenty more seats than they did, they would have elected the largest group, but instead of that they chose to show a more than friendly spirit towards other progressive elements (and did not nominate in 39 seats), with the result of sure defeat to the government. A real coalition would have embodied the Labor Party and other independents.

Union government is a government composed of individuals representing themselves only, whilst a coalition government on the other hand is composed of men who enter the coalition with the advice, consent and approval of their (political) parties, supporters or followers.

The government formed at Ottawa in 1917, composed of Conservatives, Nationalists and Liberals, was a union government—none of the individuals entering into its formation had the sanction or approval of a party. The provincial government formed in Ontario in the fall of 1919 was a coalition of United Farmers and Labor men, for at the formation of the government the (party) supporters of the members of the government agreed to its formation.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

A Detective Story by J. S. Fletcher.

Copyright 1920, Fred A. Knopf.
Copyright, 1920, by the Public Ledger Company.

"I think this may be a convenient opportunity for Mr. Aylmore to give the explanation he offered a few minutes ago," he said. "Do you suggest anything?"

"I suggest, sir, that if Mr. Aylmore desires to give any explanation he should return to the witness box and submit himself to examination again on his oath," replied the counsel. "The matter is in your hands."

The coroner turned to Aylmore.

"Do you object to that?" he asked.

Aylmore stepped boldly forward and into the box.

"I object to nothing," he said in clear tones, "except to being asked to reply to questions about matters of the past which have not and cannot have anything to do with this case. Ask me what questions you like, arising out of the evidence of the last two witnesses, and I will answer them so far as I see myself justified in doing so. As me questions about matters of twenty years ago, and I shall answer them or not, as I see fit. And I may as well soy that I willl take all the consequences of my silence or my speech."

The Treasury counsel rose again.

"Very well, Mr. Aylmore," he said. "I will put certain questions to you. You heard the evidence of David Lyell?"

"I did."

"Was that quite true as regards yourself?"

"Quite true—absolutely true."

"And you heard that of the last witness? Was that also true?"

"Equally true."

"Then you admit that the evidence you gave this morning, before these witnesses came on the scene, was not true?"

"No, I do not! Most emphatically I do not. It was true."

"True?" You told me, on oath, that you parted from John Marbury on Waterloo bridge!"

"Pardon me, I said nothing of the sort. I said that from the Anglo-Orient Hotel we strolled across Waterloo bridge, and that shortly afterward we parted—I did not say where we parted. I see there is a shorthand writer here who is taking everything down—ask him if that is not exactly what I said."

A reference to the stenographer proved Aylmore to be right, and the Treasury counsel showed plain annoyance.

"Well, at any rate, you so phrased your answer that nine persons out of ten would have understood that you parted from Marbury in the open streets after crossing Waterloo bridge," he said. "Now——"

Aylmore smiled.

"I am not responsible for the understanding of nine people out of ten any more than I am for your understanding," he said with a sneer. "I said what I now repeat—Marbuy and I walked across Waterloo bridge, and shortly afterward we parted. I told you the truth."

"Indeed! Perhaps you will continue to tell us the truth! Since you have admitted the evidence of the last two witnesses is absolutely correct, perhaps you will tell us exactly where you and Marbury did part?"

"I will—willingly. We parted at the door of my chambers in Fountain Court."

"Then—to reiterate—it was you who took Marbury into the Temple that night?"

"It was certainly I who took Marbury into the Temple that night."

There was another murmur among the crowded benches. Here at any rate was fact—solid, substantial fact. And Spargo began to see a possible course of events which he had not anticipated.

"That is a candid admission, Mr. Aylmore. I suppose you see a certain danger to yourself in making it?"

"I need not say whether I do or I do not. I have made it."

"Very good. Why did you not make it before?"

"For my own reasons. I told you as much as I considered necessary for the purpose of this inquiry. I have virtually altered nothing now. I asked to be allowed to make a statement, to give an explanation, as soon as Mr. Lyell had left this box; but I was not allowed to do so. I am willing to make it now."

"Make it, then."

"It is simply this," said Aylmore, turning to the coroner. "I have found it convenient, during the past three years, to rent a simple set of chambers in the Temple, where I could occasionally—very occasionally, as a rule—go late at night. I also found it convenient, for my own reasons—with which, I think, no one has anything to do—to rent those chambers under the name of Mr. Anderson. It was to my chambers that Marbury accompanied me for a few moments on the midnight with which we are dealing. He was not in them more than five minutes at the very outside; I parted from him at my outer door, and I understood that he would leave the Temple by the way we had entered, and would drive or walk straight back to his hotel. That is the whole truth. I wish to add that I ought perhaps to have told all this at first. I had reasons for not doing so. I told what I considered necessary, that I parted from Marbury, leaving him well and alive, soon after midnight."

"What reasons were or are they which prevented you from telling all this at first?" asked the Treasury counsel.

"Reasons which are private to me."

"Will you tell them to the court?"

"No."

"Then will you tell us why Marbury went with you to the chambers in Fountain Court which you tenant under the name of Anderson?"

"Yes. To fetch a document which I had in my keeping, and had kept for him for twenty years or more."

"A document of importance?"

"Of very great importance.

"He would have had it on him when he was—as we believe he was—murdered and robbed?"

"He had it on him when he left me."

"Will you tell us what it was?"

"Certainly not."

"In fact, you won't tell us any more than you choose to tell?"

"I have told you all I can of the events of that night."

"Then I am going to ask you a very pertinent question. Is it not a fact that you know a great deal more about John Marbury than you have told this court?"

"That I shall not answer?"

"Is it not a fact that you could, if you would, tell this court more about John Marbury and your acquaintanceship with him twenty years ago?"

"I also decline to answer that."

The Treasury counsel made a little movement of his shoulders and turned to the coroner.

"I should suggest, sir, that you adjourn this inquiry," he said quietly.

"For a week," assented the coroner, turning to the jury.

The crowd surged out of the court, chattering, murmuring, exclaiming — spectators, witnesses, jurymen, reporters, legal folk, police folk, all mixed up together. And Spargo, elbowing his own way out, and busily reckoning up the value of the new complexions put on everything by the day's work, suddenly felt a hand laid on his arm. Turning, he found himself gazing at Jessie Aylmore.

CHAPTER XIV.
The Silver Ticket.

With a sudden instinct of protection, Spargo drew aside from the struggling crowd and within a moment had led her into a quiet by-street. He looked down at her as she stood recovering her breath.

"Yes?" he said, quietly.

Jessie Aylmore looked up at him, smiling faintly.

"I want to speak to you," she said. "I must speak to you."

"Yes," said Spargo. "But the others? Your sister—Breton?"

"I left them on purpose to speak to you," she answered. "They knew I did. I am well accustomed to looking after myself."

Spargo moved down the by-street, motioning his companion to move with him.

"Tea," he said, "is what you want. I knew a queer, old-fashioned place close by here where you can get the best China tea in London. Come and have some."

Poetry and Jest

SOME PERTINENT QUERIES.

[The Glasgow Rotary Club Gazette.]

What sort of Rotarian, friend, are you?
Can you lift as much as you weigh?
Are you doing your share of the work to do
Or just "catching a ride on the sleigh?"
Are you standing up on your own two feet,
Or hunting around for a nice, soft seat?

Is your citizenship of a rose-scent sort,
Bound up with a silken string,
Or are you of solid iron and blood,
With a zest for the hardest thing?
Are you corseted tight by an outworn creed,
Or fighting for freedom wherever there's need?

Come, out with it, friend; give the devil his due;
Have you filled your place at the front?
Are you sulking to rear with the cowardly few,
Or bearing the battle's brunt?
Oh, a man who is honest and unafraid
Is as fine a thing as God has made.

INSTEAD OF CHOIRS.

[Quebec Telegraph.]

A London church has a gramophone instead of a human soloist in its choir. The idea may be extended, as almost any choir committee could get along with a choir composed of gramophones, which would not talk back and could not whisper during prayers, and would not fight at the Friday evening practice.

TO FRANCE.

[Canon Scott.]

What is the gift we have given thee, Sister?
What is the trust we have laid in thy hand?
Hearts of our bravest, our best and our dearest,—
Blood of our blood we have sown in thy land.

What for all time will the harvest be, Sister?
What will spring up from the seed that is sown?
Freedom and peace and goodwill among nations,
Love that will bind us with love all our own.

Bright is the path that is opening before us,
Upward and onward it mounts through the night;
Sword shall not sever the bonds that unite us,
Leading the world to the fulness of light.

Sorrow hath made thee more beautiful, Sister,
Nobler and purer than ever before:
We who are chastened by sorrow and anguish
Hail thee as Sister and Queen evermore.

HIS REMEDY.

Sir Oliver Lodge at a dinner in Boston was asked for his opinion of Christian Science.

"Well," he said, "Christian Science, instead of trying to remove a disease, ignores—but let me illustrate my meaning with a story.

"A man in a crowded street car sat with his eyes closed. The conductor reaching him said:

"'Wake up, please.'

"The man opened his eyes and smiled.

"'I wasn't asleep,' he said, 'but I hate to see the women standing.'"

A WITHERED ROSE.

[Robert Leslie Bellem, in the New York Evening Post.]

Within a quaint old book-shop, whose low eaves
Seemed to protect it in a pleasant doze,
I bought a well-worn book, and 'twixt its leaves
I found, as though entombed, a withered rose.

A faded bloom, pressed in a time-stained book,
Its fragrance spent; but still a faint perfume
Seemed to arise from out its modest nook
And fill with ghosts the dimness of my room.

What dead romance was here? Perhaps a maid
Had left a symbol for her suitor bold;
Or was it but a token, left to fade,
Of blighted hopes, of love that had grown cold?

The dead ghosts mocked me, for no moral delves
Into the Unseen, which no human knows;
So sad of heart, I placed upon my shelves
The book, between its leaves the withered rose.

HIS FAVORITE.

The rector was discussing the Parables with a small boy, and said he assumed, of course, that the boy had heard of the Parables.

"Yes, sir," answered the boy.

"Good," exclaimed Dr. Durrell. "Now, which of them do you like best?"

The boy considered, and then replied:

"I like the one where somebody loafs and fishes."

THE EARTH AND MAN.

[Stopford Augustus Brooke.]

A little sun, a little rain,
A soft wind blowing from the west—
And woods and fields are sweet again,
And warmth within the mountain's breast.

So simple is the earth we tread.
So quick with love and life her frame:
Ten thousand years have dawned and fled,
And still her magic is the same.

A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream—
And life as dry as desert dust
Is fresher than a mountain stream.

So simple is the heart of man.
So ready for new hope and joy:
Ten thousand years since it began
Have left it younger than a boy.

A CONCISE ENDING.

A little boy had labored long at the task of writing an original story. He had written: "Once upon a time a man came to a town with a bear in a cage. The little boys in the town threw stones at the bear. The man grew very angry, and said: "If you don't stop throwing stones at my bear I'll open the door of his cage and he'll come out and eat you up!"

The little boy, growing tired, finished his story as follows: "And so they did, and the man did, and the bear did!"

LOW TIDED.

[Lois Whittlesey.]

On what far shore break now those mighty waves
Of courage, faith, impassioned loyalty,
That surged around us like a mighty sea,
A few short months ago? The tide which laves
The lands with blessing, and a nation saves
From low, self-seeking and vain sophistry,
Has gone far out; hopes, like the sea's breath, free
And vigor bearing, die. How the land craves
Once more the flood-tide of the joy it knew,
When honor was of every thought the crest,
When valor was the breath that stirred the soul!
And yet despair not; ocean shall renew
Health and delight to land, at God's behest—
Truth, with regathered strength, shall backward roll!

TESTED IN ENGLISH.

[Answers.]

"There isn't much I don't know about the English language," boasted the long-haired man in the club.

"I'll test you," replied a friend. "I'll dictate a paragraph to you."

With an assured air, the boaster seized the pencil, but his jaw dropped as he heard the following: "As Hugh Hughes was hewing a yule log from a yew tree, a man dressed in clothes of a dark hue came up to Hugh and said: 'Have you seen my ewes?' 'If you will wait until I hew this yew tree, I will go with you anywhere in Europe to look for your ewes,' said Hughes."

A ONE-NIGHT STAND.

[London Answers.]

Mr. Ponderby had made a fortune during the war, and acquired also a lengthy waist measurement.

He was now striving to get a place in society, and, with that end in view, volunteered to provide all the funds necessary for a local theatrical performance for charity.

The glee of the committee was, however, tempered when they learned that his one stipulation was that he himself must have a part in the play.

"Why, he never can remember where his h's ought to go!" wept one lady, in despair.

But Ponderby stood firm, and at last the committee gave way. They arranged that he should appear, with second act, and just exclaim, with dramatic brevity, the word "Silence."

The great day arrived, and Ponderby was in a state of nerves, but all went well until the second act, when he was due to appear. With trembling lips and beads of perspiration on his forehead, he strode onto the stage, held up one beefy hand, and loudly exclaimed:

"Ush!"

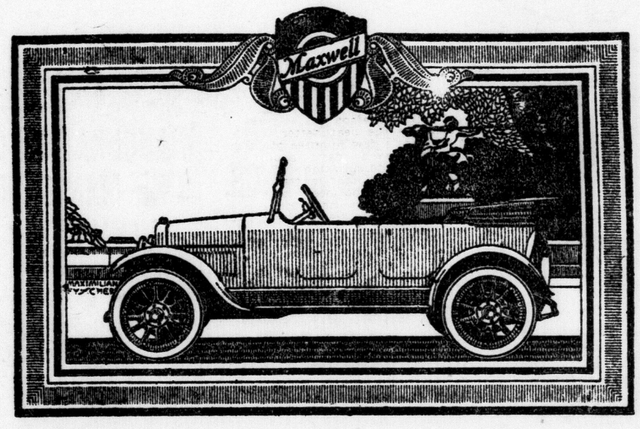

NUMEROUS ARABS.

"An Arab," says a traveler, "laughs at the idea of giving a seat up to a woman," and we have lots of chaps who have a streak of Arab in their make-up, and so sit still no matter how many women stand.

The Thrift of a

MAXWELL

comes from its special steels

Nearly 400,000 owners know well how thrifty a Maxwell really is.

Men in the trade in selling other cars often use the expression "as thrifty as a Maxwell."

Special steels are the underlying cause of Maxwell's thrift.

These are steels made to Maxwell's own formulae, after years of tests, analysis and study, which make possible the ideal construction of great strength and light weight.

They give a Maxwell the ability to stand wear, strain, twists and jolts that other cars much larger and heavier would have difficulty to resist.

But they make a Maxwell light. They eliminate useless weight; they ease the burden of the engine, and thus gas, oil and tires render long mileage results.

Hence, the ever-growing respect and admiration for Maxwell the world over; and its consequent fast growing numbers. Nearly 400,000 in use to-day; a year hence 500,000.

SCANDRETT—DREW.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday, July 17, at the home of the bride's parents, when Vera P., daughter of Rev. N. D. and Mrs. Drew, 10 St. George street, became the bride of W. B. Scandrett, son of Mrs. Scandrett, 368 Princess avenue, the bride's father officiating. The bride, who was unattended, was charming in a gown of white satin and carried a beautiful bouquet. After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Scandrett left for a short honeymoon amid showers of confetti and good wishes.

TUFTS—BALL.

The home of Mrs. M. J. Ball, 788 Lorne avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, July 20, when her youngest daughter, Beatrice Blanche, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward G. Tufts, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. T. Ferguson of Centennial Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. L. W. Wickett. The bride was very charming in her wedding gown of white satin and georgette with veil, the bridesmaid, Miss Edna Watkin, being attired in pale green georgette, with hat to match. Little Miss Mary Ball and Dorothy Findlay, nieces of the bride, made very dainty flower girls. Mr. Rundall Lewis of Yarmouth, N. S., was the groomsman, and out-of-town guests were also present from Montreal, Quebec and Vancouver. After the wedding breakfast the young couple left by motor for Kingsville. On their return they will take up their residence in this city.

BILLINGS—BRETT.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Brett of Westham, London, Eng., and Fred Billings, son of Councillor George and Mrs. Billings of Tilbury, was solemnized at St. Andrew's Church on Monday morning by the rector, Rev. T. Dobson. The bride, who looked charming in a gown of white with tulle veil and coronet of orange blossoms, was given in marriage by Mr. Frank Mowat, the groom's brother-in-law, in the absence of her father.

Miss Mabel Hoskins of Chatham attended the bride, wearing a dainty pale blue gown and broad brimmed lace straw hat. The marriage ritual was read in full and throughout the wedding march from Lohengrin was played softly by the church organist. The groom was supported by Mr. Frank Hurst of Detroit. As the bridal party returned to their car three little girls, Jean Dobson, Frances Powell and Madeline Challis strewed flowers in their pathway. At noon about 30 guests sat down to a dainty breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, and the afternoon was enjoyably spent in social converse. The only out-of-town guests, besides the attendants were Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Morgan of Raleigh. Mr. and Mrs Billings left on the evening train for Detroit and on their return will reside with the groom's parents.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Abiding the Heat.

Infants suffer seriously and in many cases fatally from the intense heat of summer. Many mothers keep babies clothed with hot wool shirts and even additional swathings of woolen bands throughout the dogdays—lest the unfortunate little ones "take cold"—and if a glimmering of common sense does prompt the removal of these sweltering garments the Sairey Gamps never fail to nip the impulse with their dire superstitions. It seems strange that while philanthropic organizations are spending money to provide retreats where infants may be kept cool in the hot mid-summer weather, unenlightened mothers everywhere are deliberately striving to keep their babies warm in such weather. The mounting death rate among infants in hot weather is chiefly due to improper keeping and preparation of the food, of course, but the mere heat contributes much toward the sad totals.

In very hot weather babies should have a tepid bath or a cool bath every morning and every evening, and if possible another in the middle of the day. They should wear no stockings, and at night they should wear only a cotton diaper and a cotton nighty. In the heat of the day a diaper is plenty of clothing for an infant to wear when awake, set off with a happy smile.

Water in unlimited quantities should be given all babies in hot weather, and the water should be pleasingly cool, not warm. It is better to give water from a spoon or cup, though a very young infant may take it from the bottle. No fear of giving too much. No fear of giving it too often. A healthy infant may take water at any time, even directly before or after ordinary feedings. Indeed it is often advisable to dilute the baby's food with pure water for a few days in extremely warm weather.

Children running about should be permitted to go barefoot, north of Mason's and Dixon's line, and below the line they should wear shoes, not sandals, to prevent "ground itch" or "due itch" or "toe itch," which is the skin trouble produced by the invasion of the system by hookworm larvae. Aside from the chance of hookworm infestation in regions where the ground is polluted, every possible argument favors the very healthful habit of going barefoot.

Adults abide the heat better if they put in at least a few minutes of strenuous exercise each day, enough to bring on free perspiration. Clothing should not only be light in weight and color, but it should be loose. Anything tight, such as a belt, neckband, shoes or garters, will increase discomfort from the heat.

The diet has much to do with heat endurance. In hot weather most people have a natural repugnance to fats. But too many indulge freely in foods rich in protein material, and protein, even more than fat, exciter metabolism and produces much useless heat. Therefore the diet for one who suffers with summer heat should be largely carbohydrates—fresh fruits, vegetables, green salads, relishes—and a minimum of meat, egg, beans, peas, nuts and other foods rich in protein material. Contrary to the common notion, carbohydrates are fully as sustaining and give a worker as much energy as meat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

For Sweaty Feet.

Please tell me what to use for sweaty feet.—V. H.

Answer—Avoid washing the feet, and when you do wash them use only cold water. Freely sprinkle inside the stockings and inside the shoes with powdered alum every day for a few days.

At Forty.

I am forty years old and have never married. Would I be likely to have children if I should now marry a man aged 38 years?—C. R.

Answer—Yes. A woman who has taken care of her health is at her best at forty.

These Darn Proofreaders.

Some time ago you recommended jesma or jasma oil for the scalp. You said it is used by the Persians and the Hindoos. Was it jesma or jasma? I am unable to find it or to find a druggist who knows what it is.—H. J. G.

Answer—Between the proofreaders and those who pie my stuff, I do say a good many foolish things. It is getting so that I have to be feeling pretty reckless before I venture to give a formula or anything like that here. I never know what the pie men and the proof girls have up their sleeves for me, until they pull it. It is a wonder somebody hasn't shot me long before this. What is suggested was sesame oil, which is also known as teel oil and benne oil. I mentioned that it was used by the ancient Persians and Egyptians and is still used by the modern Arabs to anoint the skin. The preparation suggested was five grains of powdered benzoin (don't change this to pumiced benzine), digested for three hours in one ounce of sesame oil over a water bath, filtered, cooled, and three drops of absolute alcohol added. A few drops of this rubbed into the scalp or skin daily will keep it in good condition if too dry.

A Record.

I believe I have the record in the case of operation for rupture. I was operated on for right inguinal hernia May 3. I was up and dressed and walking about on May 7. I left the hospital on May 13 and was back at work June 7, just five weeks after my operation. Some people tell me I ought to do no work for three months. How about it? I feel fine and have no trouble with the scar.—W. H. J.

Answer—Your doctor evidently knows his business, and it is generally best to consider what "some people" say as humor. Some successful surgeons nowadays get their patients out of bed and exercising again much earlier than was formerly deemed advisable.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

JOYCE.

In one particular era in feminine nomenclature, names of gladness figured prominently. Joyce is one of those. It is not extraordinarily popular and it is not nearly so pretty as its French equivalent Jocelyn. It signifies sportive or merry.

Etymologists tell us that it comes from the French joie, which was meant to express an inarticulate shout of ecstasy. The original cry is preserved in the Swiss jodel or shout of the mountaineers. A number of feminine names have come from this happy source—among them the well-known Joy. Jadoca (which is frequent in Wales), and Jacosa, still in common usage among the English.

Joyce came directly from this latter name. France took it, but found it too British, and evolved the musical Jocelyn.

The emerald is Joyce's talismanic stone. It is the gem of youth and springtime and hope. It is said to preserve for her the joyful legacy which her name implies. Thursday is her lucky day and four her lucky number.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

TEETHING.

It is very hard work to be a baby. We have only to watch one to realize that. The little creature is so utterly at the mercy of his surroundings, and has so much to accomplish in a year. His brain has to grow more than in all the rest of his life; he has to get hair and teeth, and learn to use all the parts of his undeveloped body. But probably getting his teeth causes him more immediate concern than anything else.

Normally, teeth should appear from the fourth to the ninth month. There are 20 in the first set, and the first to appear are the lower central incisors. If no teeth have appeared by the end of the ninth month, a physician should be consulted, for something is wrong, though it may be no more than that the baby is not properly nourished, and a change in his food will put him right.

If a baby has much trouble teething, with pain, fever and indigestion, it is not because teething is a sort of disease that must be lived through, but because the baby is not so strong as he ought to be. His food or other living conditions are not right, and do not give him a fair chance.

Pacifiers and most other devices for teething babies are miserable things, usually dirty, and germ laden, and injurious to the gums, often making them tough so that teething is actually more painful than it would have been. Neither should a baby be allowed to form the thumb-sucking habit. Tie his fist up in a little bag or dip his thumb into a solution of quinine or aloes, if the habit is formed. Feed your baby properly, keep his mouth clean, and throw away the pacifier.

A very hard cracker, of the "educator" kind, too big for the baby to swallow, too hard for him to get anything from, may be given him to bite on.

If a baby's gums are badly swollen and he suffers, it may be wise to let a doctor lance them.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Think there is no light of day,
With the loved one gone away,
Use in life, nor pleasure more,
By the hearth or out of door—
Since all things begin and end
But to glad the little friend,
And all gladness is forgot
Where the little friend is not.
—Bliss Carman.

From Louisiana Cousin.

Dear Miss Grey,—Is it against the few commandments of the Mail-Box to use a pencil? If it is, please forgive me, as I am propped up on pillows and have a hard time to keep ink in safe places, but I was so anxious to get a little help.

Can any reader send some tried and true recipe for canning string beans? We have lots in our garden, and I have eaten other people's beans in different ways of canning, and they were delicious.

Here is my mite for your fund. My, what such a place would have meant to our family a number of years ago, as my only brother had a "clubfoot" and had to submit to the old-fashioned barbarous knife, when now treatments, bandaging and shoes can often help the deformity.

You will get another mite from me again when I get on my own feet and resources, as I am heart and soul for the S. C. H.

Did anyone try my cold vinegar pickle or carrot marmalade recipe I sent last fall?

Best regards to all readers and hoping to hear about beans soon. I remain A LOUISIANA COUSIN.

Ans—Indeed, pencil writing like yours is beautiful. I often think one is less stilted with a pencil don't you? Thank you for hospital dime and your words in its behalf. Here is an approved method of canning beans:

Canned Beans.

String and blanch five minutes. By blanching is meant covering with boiling water, boiling five miuntes to remove objectionable flavors and aid in sterilization. Add to each quart jar one level teaspoonful of salt and fill with boiling water. Cover, but do not screw down. Put into boiler of water the same heat as jars. Bring water to boiling point and boil gently for 90 minutes then screw down covers. Remove from boiler and turn upside down until cold.

BONBONS.

Suggestions for summer bonbons are welcome in the days and evenings of casual visitors or veranda entertaining on summer evenings. If any of the Boxites care to add to the following list we should be glad to hear from them.

Irish Fudge.

One medium-sized potato baked, butter the size of an egg, half a cup of walnut meats chopped, one and a half to two pounds icing sugar, half can of cocoa. Beat potato and butter till quite creamy, add nuts, then add gradually cocoa and sugar. Knead well until it will mold. When firm pack in deep dish.

Lemon Creams.

Grate the rind of a lemon into a bowl, add the strained lemon juice, a pinch of tartaric acid and sufficient sifted confectioner's sugar to mold into small balls. Press into flat cakes. Orange creams may be made the same way by substituting orange for lemon.

Walnut Delights.

Flavor some almond paste with strong coffee or vanilla, form into neat balls and press them into oval flat cakes; carefully crack some walnuts, and taking care not to break the kernels, put half a walnut on each side of the cream and press them firmly into it. Dip in beaten white of an egg and roll in colored sugar.

Stuffed Dates.

Cream icing sugar and butter and add flavoring. Remove stones from dates and press a ball of prepared cream in centre. Roll finished candy in fruit or granulated sugar.

Sea Foam.

Two and one-half cups sugar (granulated), ½ cup corn syrup, 1 cup water, white of two eggs and 1 cup walnuts. Mix sugar, water and syrup and boil until it forms a firm ball in cold water. Have eggs beaten stiff, and pour half the mixture over eggs, beating constantly. Return the remaining half to stove and boil it until it forms a hard ball in water. Pour slowly into first half, beating till ready to drop on buttered pans. Add flavoring and walnuts before dropping. Avoid getting mixture too stiff, as it is nicer if creamy.

Maple Cream.

Two cups brown sugar, ½ cup milk, butter the size of an egg. Boil until bubbles are thick, then add flavoring and beat in a pan of cold water until the right consistency for creamy squares.

HAVE YOU TRIED——?

Blueberry Pudding.

One cup molasses, one teaspoonful soda dissolved in hot water, one well-beaten egg, one and a half cups flour, one pint of blueberries sifted in flour. Bake in moderate oven. Serve with sauce.

Date Bread.

One cup brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, one and a half cups sour milk, one teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful salt, half a cup shelled walnuts, one pound dates, one cup white flour and sufficient graham flour to make a stiff dough. Let raise 20 minutes.

Maple Walnut Tapioca.

Heat one pint milk, stir in carefully two cups minute tapioca; cook 15 minuptes, then add the well-beaten yokes of two eggs and a pinch of salt, but no sugar; stir for three minutes, then let cool; take two-thirds cup of maple syrup and beat into the cool tapioca; add one cup broken walnut meats. Serve with whipped cream and sprinkle with walnuts.

Ginger Cookies.

One cup syrup, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon soda dissolved in ½ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1 cup of butter or dripping, a little salt. Use as little flour as possible to roll thin. Have your oven hot to start with.—Tierrah Tenrub.

Salad Dressing.

One teaspoon mustard, 6 tablespoons of yellow sugar, butter size of a large egg, pinch of salt, ½ cup sweet milk, 2 eggs, 2 large teaspoons flour, ¾ cup of vinegar, fill cup with water.—T. Tenrub.

Canned Corn.

Nine cups corn cut from the cob, ½ cup salt, ½ cup sugar (granulated), cover with cold water. Let boil for ten minutes. Take from fire and seal. When you are ready to us it fresh a little. I have kept it for two years, and it was very nice.—Teirrah Tenrub.

Eczema Cure.

Dear Miss Grey,—I noticed in the Wednesday, July 21, Advertiser, where Elizabeth Ann would like to get a cure for eczema. I am sending a cure and if it is against your rules to publish it in the paper, perhaps you have her address and can send it on to her. I know it is all right, as we have tried it in our home. Take equal parts "in measure" of glycerine, witch hazel and strong cider vinegar. Mix and apply once or twice daily. She must not look for a cure in a day.—MRS. M. R.

MADE IN CANADA

COOTIE AND CHINK MEET THEIR MATCH.

Cootie and Chink were conceited little dogs. Chink would not have been so conceited if it had not been for Cootie, but you see Cootie had made him her pal, and because she was such a famous little dog and had won so many prizes he thought himself lucky to be chosen for her playmate, and straightway began to put on airs. Cootie could not help being conceited. From the time she was a little puppy she had been made such a fuss over, and had been called such a lovely dog, she had begun to look upon herself as wonderful indeed.

Now, Cootie and Chink had not really meant to be mean, but they had put on so many airs, all the little puppies in the kennel had learned to fear them. Once when a little puppy had tried to get familiar and chewed Chink's ear while he was sleeping, Chink had given him a good shaking, and then once when another little puppy had tried to take Cootie's ball away from her she had growled fiercely; so from that time on all the puppies in the kennel kept their distance when Cootie and Chink were let out for a run.

So it was that Cootie and Chink had to go out in search of play for they were young dogs and liked fun. Of course if their master had known he would not have let them run up the road, but he was not there and someone had left the gate open. Away they went lickety-pelt.

"Let's chase that hen," said Chink, as he caught sight of a thin, scraggily-looking white hen, just up the road.

"But, is it right?" asked Cootie, for she was a cautious little dog.

"It's only a hen, and it's such fun seeing them run. See who'll catch her first," and like a shot Chink was off. But Chink was fat, and Cootie was slim so she soon was first in the race to catch the hen. What a cackling the white hen set up. Her wings fluttered as she ran as fast as she could, and with every flutter of her wings her cries seemed to get louder. Cootie was so excited when she caught up to the white hen, she dug her teeth into the soft feather almost before she knew it.

Chink was right behind her, and he caught hold of the old hen on the other side. There was a rip and another shriek from the hen and then she was away, while Chink and Cootie were left behind with a mouthful of feathers for their pains. What ticklish things the feathers were, and while the dogs choked and gulped to free their lips from them, the old white hen had made her escape—even though she had been stripped of nearly all her clothing.

"To think that we let a stupid hen get away from us," Chink cried in disgust, when he was free of the feathers. "Why, I could catch a hundred hens!"

"I didn't see you catch that one. I caught her myself," Cootie replied sharply.

"Just let another hen come and see what happens," Chink boasted.

At that very minute another white fowl appeared, but it was not a hen. No, indeed! It was the old rooster, and when he caught sight of Chink and Cootie he bolted right at them. Chink and Cootie were so surprised they just stood there an gasped, but when Mr. Rooster opened up his wings and pounced upon them they tried to flee. But if they could run so could the rooster. He flew onto Chink's back and picked him unmercifully on the head. Then he flew over to Cootie and banged her with his wings until her head ached and she could hardly see. Just for a minute the rooster stopped to rest, and then how Cootie and Chink did run. They were still running when they arrived home, panting and exhausted. They looked back just in time to see Mr. Rooster perched on a fence and crowing lustily.

Of course all the little pups had seen what had happened, so Cootie and Chink could no longer put on airs. For dogs who could be frightened by a rooster weren't much to be feared, were they?

Knotty Guided His Clan Through Bullard's Shoots For a Double Victory.

HAMILTON, July 27.—Hamilton split today's double bill with Bay City, winning the first game by 3 to 2 and losing the second by 6 to 3. The clubs battled to the last put-out for the first contest, the Tigers winning out with two out in the ninth. Reilly, who pitched the second game, was apple-pie for the Wolves, and he only lasted for four innings. He was hit hard in the first inning, when the visitors got four runs. Grimm's homer in the first game was the day's feature. In the second game the Tigers came within one of tieing up the score, despite the Wolves' four-run start, but the visitors forged ahead in the next inning and again increased their lead by two runs. KEEP IT UP, KNOTTY.

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 27. — Brantford won both games of a double-header here today against Battle Creek, the first game 4 to 1 and the second 7 to 3. Winslow notched his seventh straight game for the Sox, pitching very effectively. Bullard pitched both games for Battle Creek, and was hit hard in the second game, in which Johnny Murphy starred with two doubles and a triple. Winslow's hitting was a big factor in his victory. Hooker's home run was the Custers' only tally of the game.

Tribe Given One Game and Grabbed Next in a Rally

Aces Forfeit First Game in Sixth, With Score Tied, Two Down and Two On, When in Dispute—London Grabs Needed Two in Quick Rally in Seventh of Second.

The first game of yesterday's twin presentation over at Tecumseh Park was presented to London by the Aces over the forfeit route in the sixth inning, and the second one grabbed by the Tecs 2 to 1 in the seventh and last frame, in a great rally.

Umpire O'Hearne gave the game to London when Saginaw, in disputing Pittenger's slide to the plate with the tieing run, overlooked the warnings of the umps and exceeded the time allowance in arguing. The score was three all and two men were on the bases with two out, the logical climax to a great pitching duel between Thomas and Shriver, with honors in favor of the London southpaw.

Manager Wetzel had already protested the game when the umpire in the Saginaw half of the troublesome inning had ordered the players out on the field after they trotted in, thinking that the fly which Kuhn had caught and only held long enough to make it a caught ball before he dropped it, was the third out. The ump's back was turned just as the incident occurred, and when his attention was called to Kuhn's dropping the ball he ordered the London team back to the field, and there was nothing to do but charge Kuhn with an error. One run had been scored in that frame, but as Pike came in with the second as the result of Witry's bad peg to second on Hegedorn, who should have been the third out, Buzz protested the game. The second fracas, which gave the game to London, was humorous, as Pittenger, thinking that he was called out by the umps as he slid into the plate with the tie-up in his soes, slapped O'Hearne a bit too hard and familiarly on the back, with the result that he was banished from the game. It goes down as a 9 to 0 win for the Tribe, but if it hadn't been marred by the rumblings, it had all the earmarks of being one of the best games yet staged this year.

Both Shriver and Thomas put on a continued-in-our-next performance in the box, but in the second pastime Shriver had much the best of the argument, though he got the wrong answer at the wrong time. From the second to the fifth inning Thomas was found for a pair of hits in each frame, while Shriver only allowed one hit until the seventh. Thomas, though he was being hit, had some fine work done before him on the bags, as shown by the fact that only in the third frame when the Aces shoved over one run did more than four Aces face the Londoner. In that frame, McDaniels on third because of Witry's bad peg, slipped in home on Malmquest's sacrifice fly to centre. The Aces threatened before and after that, and until the fifth seemed dangerous, but in the sixth and seventh Thomas retired them one, two, three.

The Londoners were not making any baseball history at the early stages during the second game in an offensive way, and things didn't look any too promising in the sixth, when Kuhn, the first man up, fouled out, McDaniels making a nice catch of a high, hard one. Shriver ascended just long enough to pass Witry and Crichlow poked a single through short, which got Delotelle, running for Witry, down to second. Then Pittenger's sizzler along the third base line into left field came, scoring Delotelle and putting Crich on third. Bill Dowling put the game on ice by laying down one of the nicest bunts seen at the ball yard this season, and Crichlow slipped in with the second run.

CRACK SHOTS OF 15 NATIONS STACK UP AGAINST CANUCKS

Best Army and Civilian Shots Compete With Chosen Weapons—No Telescopic Sights.

Antwerp, July 28.—Canadian marksmen are in competition with the pick of the sharpshooters of fifteen other nations in the Olympic target shooting events, which opened today at Camp Beverloo, about 30 miles from Antwerp, in the direction of the German frontier.

The marksmanship title of the world is at stake in these contests, and the best army and civilian shots, with army rifles, pistols and carbines, drawn from all corners of the earth, are competing with their chosen weapons.

The events will continue until August 4. The individual matches for rifle, pistol and carbine, are open to five competitors from each nation, and the team events to teams of five men, with two possible substitutes, with the exception of the team shooting at 300 meters, with carbines or any other arm chosen, wherein the teams will include six men, with the possible substitutes.

In the individual events in each competition the gilt Olympic Medal and bronze statuette is to be awarded the winner, silver medal to second-prize winner and bronze to the third man, while in the team events, diplomas and gilt medals go to each member of the winning team, silver medals to each of the second and bronze medals to each of the third.

With the exception of prohibiting use of telescopic sights, there are hardly any restrictions on individual preference as to ammunition and methods of firing.

The teams are living at the Belgian army camp during the meet.

Regina, Sask., July 28.—Regina's soccer team defeated Ceylond here last evening 6 to 0 in a game to decide the provincial championship and the right to play for the Connaught cup in Winnipeg.

AN ENTHUSIAST

William H. Bisset, secretary of the London City Soccer League, was brought up among the Scottish highlands and many healthful games. He has had a strenuous football life, both in the executive positions and on the field.

During his early days in the game Mr. Bisset was one of the best custodians in the north of Scotland, making his start as a member of the junior Renton team, which at that time held the junior championship. During his term with this team Mr Bisset had a fall which incapacitated him as far as playing was concerned. Before being retired, however, he was the possessor of six championship medals.

As soon as Mr. Bisset had recovered from his fall he started to take an active part in the executive work of the teams, and finally became the youngest president that the Aberdeen City Leagues had ever known. He evidently believed in making a start while young, as he also became the youngest referee and critic in the northern part of the country.

When Mr. Bisset came to this country in 1902 he dropped football until his enlistment in the 149th Battalion in 1916, when he took charge of the regiment's team, which gave a good account of itself in this part of the country.

On his return from overseas Mr. Bisset again took a great interest in sport, finally taking the secretaryship of the City League, on which he has spent much of his time, making it one of the finest and most harmonious gatherings of soccerites in the country.

MILLIE IRWIN WINS OVER FAVORITE BY A WEIRD ACCIDENT

Favonsan Takes 2:20 Trot For Two-Year-Olds in Straight Heats.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 27. — Favorites did not fare well today on the second afternoon's card, incident to the midsummer grand circuit meeting.

Royal Palm, heavy favorite in the auction pools, selling for $400 in a ticket totalling $1,135, made a break at the half-mile post in the first heat and was distanced. Millie Irwin, a third choice, won the heat from the large party of fifteen starters. She, with Alta Donovan, were about equal favorites at the start of the second heat, but Alta won in a nice stretch drive. Just as she slackened up after passing the wire she cut her tendons in the left front leg severely and had to be drawn. Millie Irwin then won the third heat and the race, when Arion McKinney broke one hundred feet from the finish. Alta Donovan will be unable to race any more this season.

Favonian won the 2:20 trot for two-year-olds in straight heats, Jane Volo, the original favorite, being forced to accept third money. George Volo, a second choice, defeated a good field in the 2:10 pace in straight heats, including Hazel Kuerstner, a well-played favorite.

Charley Rex made one of his weird breaks the first heat of the 2:05 trot, the Neil House stake, and Murphy was busy getting him inside the flag. He finished last in the small field of three starters, Don de Lopez winning the heat. Baron Cegantle slipped through and paid $59.60 on a $2 mutuel ticket, as he won the second heat from Charley Rex who then went on and won the third heat. In the fourth heat Baron Cegantle took advantage of Charley Rex's usual break and captured the deciding heat and the race.

Schedule Gives Vehics Great Chance To Upset Flag Dope

In August Flinters, in Great Stride, Battle Weaker Michigan Clubs, While Three Canadian Leaders Nibble at Each Other.

Baseball schedules provide for about everything in a season, except the diet of the players, but the present Michigan-Ontario schedule is holding open some unforeseen possibilities, or will by the end of the week, when the Michigan clubs return to play with one another for practically a whole month, while the Canuck teams battle amongst themselves on this side.

Flint looms up as the villain of the piece, with Brantford, London and Hamilton as the little Red Riding Hoods.

Standing Shows.

The standing shows the last named three to be fairly even during the last several weeks, and with a fair prospect of continuing along the same gait the rest of the season. The standing also shows that Flint has moved up, playing against the league leaders, and fattening at the expense of Kitchener, who incidentally are coming right along at a fairly decent stride.

Now what is likely to happen with the three league leaders gobbling each other up and Flint allowed to run loose in Michigan against admittedly weaker clubs, may be better imagined than described.

President Maines admits the likelihood of such a situation presenting itself, but also admits that there is no help for it at this late date. Of course it may not happen, but on the records of the past few weeks it looks very much as if Flint is perched in a very good position in fourth place to slip in through wins over her Michigan sister clubs into third, then second, and horror of horrors, first place, while the Tecs, Hams and Sox nibble at each other, and tumble the standings.

Hard Fight.

As the three Canadian clubs stand at present it will be a fight for every game and a battle for the odd game of every series.

Something similar happened last year and it looks very much like a repeat. On the dope, it should happen, but one of the grand things about baseball, in this case at least, is the uncertainties.

STRATFORD GOES AGAINST SARNIA IN SEMI-FINALS

The St. Thomas Rovers Were Beaten By the Classic City Crew Last Night by 2 to 1 in Hard Game.

WOODSTOCK, July 27.—Stratford defeated St. Thomas Rovers here tonight by 2 to 1 in the play-off to decide the championship of the Western Football Association senior group No. 2. The winners had the better team and deserved to win. The forwards were fast and strong kickers, while the defence was always in the way of the Rovers' rushes. A long kick from the right wing netted the only goal of the first half for Stratford. St. Thomas evened up early in the second on a shot from close in following a scrimmage. One minute later the Classic City scored the winning goal after working the ball from one end of the field to the other. The winners now meet Sarnia in the semi-finals for the championship. The line-up:

MINT PATTER

The Aces varied the program by talking themselves out of one game and just being ordinarily beaten out of the other.

* * *

'Tisn't very often the double steal gets home, but it got the Aces' second run of the first game. There was nothing much that could have been done about it.

* * *

With Shay at bat in the frolicsome sixth and Neitzke waiting, chances are the Tecs would have gained a one-run margin right at that point. The fans would have been a lot better pleased if O'Hearne had reversed his decision that time and allowed the game to proceed.

* * *

Pittenger looked rather shamefaced when he came out first time in the second game. He and O'Hearne, however, were pleasant about it.

* * *

Purcell, usually as mild in all things as he is when at the plate, thought up "Skunk" as a nice name for a fan in the stands in the third, and President Maines, hearing the pleasantry, assessed him ten gold eagle beanos in American money and told him to "keep the exchange."

* * *

President Maines is going to fine them American money on Canadian pay.

* * *

Neitzke's throw to the plate to catch Hegedorn coming in on Fisse's single was a perfect one, hardly an inch out of line.

* * *

Pike, though he isn't the most amiable cuss in the world, does make a good play every so often, and he pulled one of them yesterday, when he made a one-hand stab of Crichlow's grounder in the fifth of the second game.

* * *

Malmquest, the loan from Hamilton, certainly bolstered up the Aces' infield, and they looked much better.

* * *

The cripples from yesterday's game, Calbert and Manager "Red" McKee, were both at the games. Calbert has a mighty sore leg, but McKee's arm will be better in a few days.

* * *

Umpire O'Hearne looked good again yesterday, though it was a day of close and hard decisions. When announcing for the second game he forgot to remove his hat, and being reminded by a fan, bowed his apologies and doffed the lid. It was a nice little twist to the affair of a few minutes before, and baseball didn't look so "ruffnek" as a result.

* * *

Only 50 men faced Ad Thomas in thirteen innings of hurling, making it about three men and Walter Shay each frame.

* * *

In the third of the second game the Londoners went out to short, to centre, to left, making them look as if they were stopped trying to fill a straight.

* * *

Shag seems to be taking another spell of bolstering his hard-worked team.

* * *

The latest addition is to be Harry Shriver of the Aces, according to rumors and semi-official reports that are being circulated.

RESOLUTE'S VICTORY LEAVES YACHT CUP WITH AMERICA

Defender Gives Shamrock Worst Drubbing of the 1920 Regatta in Final Race, Winning Without Time Allowance—Best Boat Won, Declares Lipton At End of Race.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 27.—Defender Resolute gave the challenger, Shamrock IV, the worst drubbing of the 1920 regatta in the final race of the series today, winning boat-for-boat 13 minutes and 45 seconds—and the America's famous yachting cup remains in the United States.

Overcoming a 40-second lead and the advantage of a windward berth which Shamrock had taken at the start, the defender held a lead of 4 minutes and 8 seconds at the half-way stake of the 30-mile course and crossed the finish line 13 minutes and 5 seconds ahead. Including her handicap of 6 minutes and 40 seconds, Resolute won by 18 minutes and 45 seconds.

Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the green challenger, voiced what appeared to be the unanimous verdict of yachtsmen who had seen the five races when he declared tonight that "the best boat won."

As the challenger crossed the mark her British crew let out three ringing cheers for the victor, and the conquerors responded with lusty cheers for Shamrock and her crew.

For Fourth Effort.

Sir Thomas, who built the challenger in his fourth effort to lift the bottomless old pewter mug that is the America's Cup and take it back to its original home in England, turned away from his humble sailing beauty and sent his steam yacht Victoria full speed ahead to overtake and congratulate the Resolute commander and crew. He returned just in time to see Shamrock cross the line. His action elicited a salvo of cheers from those on board the spectator craft, and Sir Thomas responded as jauntily as if he had not seen his own fondest hope once more baffled.

Announced Immediately.

Sir Thomas annouunced immediately after the race that he would build a new challenger and come across again in 1922 to have another try at lifting the America's cup, provided some other yachtsman did not challenge and win the cup sooner.

"I was beaten by a better boat," he said. "I have no complaint to make, but I am greatly disappointed."

At noon it looked as if all hands would have to come out the following day, and it was not until half an hour before the expiration of the waiting period that a breeze finally came in from the south-southwest. The committee promptly seized upon the three-knot zephyr to start the yachts for the windward mark. Shamrock won all the honors of the start. Resolute started in a very bad pocket underneath Shamrock, and the green boat had everything her own way for the first fifteen minutes. The wind was scarcely more than three knots at the start, and both yachts failed to reach the line before the handicap limit of two minutes expired.

Was First to Cross.

Shamrock was the first to cross, followed 40 seconds later by the defender. Both crossed to the starboard tack, and Shamrock being 50 yards to windward immediately tacked to port. Resolute followed, and to the surprise of all, began to fall off to leeward. The yachts had not been sailing ten minutes before a tow of barges loomed up ahead. Resolute had to tack to avoid them, but for some reason Shamrock, instead of tacking also and following the old adage, "Always keep between your opponent and the mark," kept on, and Resolute, having her wind free, held off shore and kept clear of Shamrock thereafter. Shamrock was evidently heading for a better draft of air under the Jersey shore, but she failed to find it, while Resolute picked up a favorable slant off shore.

Still an hour after the start Shamrock was well in the lead and seemed able to head a couple of points nearer the wind.

Then Resolute began to pick up her heels and fore-reach her opponent. Captain Adams tacked twice before he succeeded in getting across Shamrock's bow, but he finally landed, and after that the race, as between the two boats, was over.

Summary:

Fifth international cup race:

Fifteen miles to windward and return.

CATHOLIC JOURNALS WATCH NEW PLAN OF RELIGIOUS TEACHING

Teachers of Shuringia Would Do Away With Bible Study.

BERLIN, July 27. — Catholic newspapers are watching with growing concern a movement to introduce a new system of religious instruction in German schools. Heretofore such instruction has been based on the old and new testaments.

The new plan, which was evolved by teachers of Meiningen and recently indorsed by the teachers' association of Thuriniga, where Protestants are in the majority would do away with the Bible study. Instead, children during their first four years in school would be instructed in German fairy tales and myths, Robinson Crusoe and the history of the child Jesus. In the last four years the instruction would have to do with the worship of God by ancient peoples, the life and teachings of Jesus, and the worship of God in Germany. More and more, the Thuringia teachers agreed, German myths and poetry should replace in the schools the Old Testament.

"By no stretch of the imagination," comments Germania, the organ of the Centre (Catholic) party, "can this be called religious instruction. It is thoroughly in accord with the well-known tendencies of radical teachers. Catholics must follow this movement with close attention, for it threatens to invade their own schools."

PRINCE WAS GIVEN MANY WHALES' TEETH

SYDNEY, Australia, July 27.—When the Prince of Wales was in the Fiji Islands, en route from Honolulu to New Zealand and Australia, upon the warship Renown, the Fijians presented him with many whales' teeth. These are so valuable, according to native standards, as practically to be the gold reserve of the islands. The prince also received as gifts many handsome native mats.

GREEKS CAPTURE TURK GENERAL WITH ALL STAFF

King Alexander Given Demonstration On Entering Adrianople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 27.—(Associated Press.)—Col. Jafar Tayar, Turkish Nationalist commander at Adrianople, and his entire staff were captured by the Greeks when the latter entered Adrianople. Consequently Nationalist resistance in Thrace virtually has ended, as there is no other important Turkish leader there.

Sweeping Thrace clean of Nationalist bands is considered easy for the Greeks, who control all the strategic railway points, having taken Kirk-Kilisseh yesterday. It is expected regular operation of trains will be resumed within a week.

King Alexander of Greece was given a great demonstration on entering Adrianople yesterday. The city was slightly damage by shell fire.

RUTHVEN

RUTHVEN, July 27.—One of the busiest spots in the whole Dominion of Canada is right in this district; and it is going on almost night and day. Crops of all kinds are ripening in such good shape and so fast that all our boys are doing wonders in keeping even with the big rush.

More than 2,000 baskets of early ripe tomatoes are being shipped from the station here every evening, and the shipments will be doubled in a few days. A fine sample of cucumbers is being sent to the markets from here, and some fancy prices have been received for them.

Early cabbage are going forward in large lots, and altogether everything in the line of crops of all kinds all over the whole section is a winner.

The corn crop is a big one, and it is prophesied the yield will be the largest this fall that has been seen here in many years. The second crop of alfalfa will be cut this week and will fill many of the large barns to the roof. Early and late potatoes are also on the list, and some fine samples have already been put on the markets at fancy prices.

GRAIN.

Chicago, July 18.—Opening: Wheat—December, $2 41; March, $2 42.

Corn—September, $1 41; December, $1 25½.

Oats—September, 70c.

Chicago, July 28.—Absence of selling pressure allowed the wheat market to rally somewhat today from the severe breaks of yesterday and the day before. Trading, however, appeared to be confined mostly to scattered shorts. The volume of trade was so light, on the whole, as nearly to rob the market of interest. Opening prices, which ranged from 2½c to 6c higher, were followed by a moderate general reaction.

Liquidation in corn, as well as in wheat, seemed today to have reached an end for the time being. Commission house buying was fairly active. After opening at 1⅝c off to 2¼c advance, the market ascended all around and then steadied at about 1c over yesterday's finish.

Oats sympathized with the strength of other grain. The market opened ⅛c to 2⅛c higher for September at 69⅛@ 70c, hardened a little more, and then tended to sag.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 28—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Losses and gains were about equally distributed at the hesitant opening of today's stock market. Sentiment was more cheerful, however, yesterday's late decline in the rate for call money offering hope of further ease. Features at the outset included Crucible Steel, Studebaker and Central Leather at recessions of 1 to 2 points, and American Woolen, Vanadium Steel and Houston Oil at advances of liberal fractions to a full point. United States Steel was unquoted at the outset, finally opening at a loss of almost 1 point. Preliminary quotations for exchange on London were lower.

Noon.—Dealings during the morning were less by half than those of the previous session, but the tendency, except for leather issues, was mainly upward after the first brief period of uncertainty. United States Steel made full recovery, and the oils, motors and associated specialties were run up sharply at the expense of the short interest. Among the reassuring features was the declaration of the regular Delaware and Hudson dividend, concerning which there had been some misgivings. Further encouragement was found in the 8 per cent opening rate for demand loans.

1:30 p.m.—Selling for profits caused a moderate setback at midday, especially among steels and equipments. There was also a renewal of pressure against low-priced motors and kindred issues, notably the leather groups. Call money was in free supply at the initial rate.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, July 18.—Short monopolized the trading in speculative issues on the Toronto exchange this morning, and with further liquidation on the New York market it was not long before the depression became general, although price changes in many of the less active stocks were slight and unimportant. Atlantic Sugar suffered the most severe setback, and a large part of the gain established during the past week was wiped out. Opening at 151, the stock sold down to 145, this figure representing a loss from last night of 7½ points. Spanish River lost 2¼ points in the tumble, while Steel of Canada, Mackay, Twin City and Quebec Railway all suffered relapses ranging from fractions to 2 points. Among the unlisted issues Brompton sold down to 71¼, Abitibi to 80¾, and Laurentide to 115.

COOLIDGE CHOOSES WIFE'S CLOTHES

Governor's Taste Excellent, Says Spouse.

Boston, July 27.—Should a husband choose his wife's clothes? This question is being widely discussed since Mrs. Calvin Coolidge let it out that the Republican nominee for vice-president selects all her clothes.

Mrs. Coolidge, with smiling reassurance, explained: "Oh, yes, every dress I wear and every suit, the governor picks out. This way—on his walks he always looks into all the shop windows. When he sees what he likes he always jots it down. Then at night I am advised: 'I saw something very fetching in the lines of a dress in such a shop. Guess you better go get it,' says the governor to me.

"So I go and find the dress mentioned and I get it. Nothing could be simpler."

The governor's wife, with the girlish enthusiasm that is hers, genuine, simple, sincere, laughed.

"There is just one drawback to this method of choosing my wardrobe," said she, "and that is the hats. The governor seldom notices hats, or else they are less seldom displayed in the windows, so we have to go hat-hunting together. That's the way I get them all. I would never consider a hat unless first it had passed his approval."

Which is an easy way of getting your clothes, at that, particularly when you are as much in love with your husband as pleasant as Mrs. Coolidge.

SARNIA'S HOUSING PLANS ARE OFFICIALLY APPROVED

SARNIA, July 27.—The city council will take another step towards coping with the housing situation here, when they conclude the readings and finally adopt a bylaw to provide for the borrowing of $200,000 under section 4, subsection 1, of the municipal housing act of 1920, following the receipt of a communication from the director of municipal affairs approving of the loan.

FIRE LOSS $11,876.

The fire loss in Sarnia for the quarter ending June 30 was much greater than the loss during the first quarter of the year, according to Chief Batty's report to the council last night, which recorded 27 alarms, 17 fires, 4 false alarms, 5 grass fires, a total of 5 more than in the first quarter. The fire loss was placed at $11,875.85, $10,985 more than during the first three months of the year.

STOLE A HORSE.

Discharged on a charge of obtaining by false pretences, a spring wagon, the property of Charles Lossing, Milton Ramsey, giving his age as 17, was, however, sentenced to an indeterminate period of not less than one year and not more than two years, less one day in the provincial reformatory on a charge of stealing a horse, the property of George Dorser of Westminster Township, Middlesex County.

PIECE OF STRING AND POKER PROVIDE MEANS OF ESCAPE

BLENHEIM, July 27.—The young lad, Tift, who made a daring escape from the lockup here a week ago, and put consternation into the constables in charge, who declare they left him securely behind the iron-barred door with a brand new Yale lock on the outside, has revealed the secret of his escape, which, to say the least, shows an ingenuity and a brain which cannot but command of those who believe his story, admiration for his skill.

He states that in his pocket, when he was put in the cell, was a piece of common cord, and just outside the cell door about four or five feet away stood a common iron stove poker about three feet long with a small hand loop formed at one end and a right angle sharp-pointed bend at the other. The lad conceived the idea that with the string he might secure the poker, so with a button off his clothes fastened on the end of it he began throwing out the string through the bars of the cell door, retaining one end in his hand.

He finally succeeded in getting the string over the poker, drew it to the cell door, and then made use of it to break the lock, which he did by getting his hand through the bars and the loop of the poker over the lock. When he had succeeded in getting the poker in this position it took but a small pull downward to break the lock. The boy's story seems quite plausible, as the poker was found where he says it was after he had related his story.

IN MEMORIAM.

DRAPER—In loving memory of my beloved husband, Alfred J. Draper, aged 29, who departed this life four years ago today, July 28, 1916.

I often sit and think when I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing that grief can call its own;
What peaceful hours we once enjoyed, how sweet their memory still,
But they can leave an aching void this world can never fill;
His memory still is very dear, for oft is shed a silent tear,
A bitter grief, a shock severe, to part with one we loved so dear.
b —Deeply Mourned by His Wife.

GRIFFITH—In loving memory of Richard Griffith, husband of Bee Griffith, who passed away a year ago today, July 28, 1919:

This day brings back sad memories
Of one who's gone to rest;
The one who thinks of him today
Is the one who loved him best.
No one knows how I miss him,
None but aching hearts can tell;
Earth has lost him, heaven has found him,
Jesus doeth all things well.

SOVIET DENIES IT IS ART'S FOE

Spokesman Says World Would Be Surprised If It Only Knew Truth.

Moscow, July 27.—"The essence of our work in the field of art is to preserve the classics, the masterpieces of the past, and to bring them close to the masses of the present," Commissar for Education Lunarcharsky, from whose department all work of the sort is directed, said today.

"The task of the department is to preserve all real art, removing from the theatre cheap plays, light work, but retaining there and in the galleries all the true art of the past and making it possible for the masses to study and understand. When we have completed this task, our effort will be concentrated on a second, in which we are already making beginnings the development of a new proletarian art, under the changed forms and conditions of society.

Denies Foreign Tales.

"According to your American press, and the English and French press as well, we have destroyed museums and art galleries. In the moment of revolt, perhaps, there were some thefts or destruction in districts far distant from the capital. But the foreigner who knew Russian galleries before the revolution will be surprised to find the art wealth which fills them now. We have taken every collection, which formerly was closed to public view, except those which were better preserved intact in galleries once private, now open to the public, and placed them in museums where they are open to the masses.

"Take, for instance, the collections at Gatchina, what there is left of them, after the looting by the northwest army is an example. The czar's palace at Czarski Selo (Czar's village, now known as Children's village) remains as he occupied it. There are the old masters and the new paintings which show the steady deterioration of art taste from the time of Elizabeth to the present. The better collections in the homes of some of the nobles' villas which contained pictures of undying worth—remain as they were.

"The art of the churches belongs to the congregations, but special historical examples have been removed to the galleries and museums for better preservation. The selection of these pieces is done by a special committee to preserve ancient art.

FRANCE BEGINS BUILDING ANEW

Marked Progress Made in the Task of Restoring War-Torn Provinces of North.

Paris, July 27.—"Never in the whole course of the ages has any country had so many deaths to mourn, so many wounds to heal. Never has a government been confronted with so gigantic a heap of ruins. And never has a people faced with greater courage the formidable obstacles that stand before the French people in their task of reconstruction."

So Emile Ogier, minister of liberated regions, voiced for me the French Government's feeling about the stupendous job upon which it has been engaged since the armistice—the job of rebuilding thousands upon thousands of cities, towns, villages, factories, farms, railroads, bridges and roads destroyed by the war in Northern France.

Work Begun in Earnest.

Because France, when hostilities ceased, was very weary, very eager for a breathing spell of repose after her long agony of war, her people were disinclined to plunge immediately into the heart-breaking labor of reconstruction. The armistice meant for them a victory which they had sacrificed more than any other nation to attain. Their first desire, naturally enough, was to celebrate—and to take things easy for a while.

They felt, moreover, that it was up to Germany to repair the damages done their northern departments; of this they were assured by their statesmen. And some months passed before either the government or public opinion realized that while Germany would be compelled eventually to foot the bill, the capital and labor immediately required would have to be provided by France.

Today the liberated regions, as the north is officially styled, are alive again. The energy of constructive endeavor pulsates through these erstwhile moribund provinces. For many months past French industry and French brains have been strenuously engaged—without brass band accompaniment, be it said—in setting this very important wing of the French house in order. And the progress that has been made is almost as prodigious as France's recovery from her defeat of 1871.

Prodigious Progress Made.

A little more than a year—to let the figures mentioned by M. Ogier talk—the French government has put a roof over the heads of 874,100 of these refugees, who on armistice day were scattered all over the country, recipients of temporary hospitality offered by charitable individuals and institutions.

Of the damaged houses, 297,277 were razed to the ground, while of 277,500 enough remained to permit of their being rebuilt. To replace the former, 28,500 wooden hutments, 28,200 small wooden cabins and 16,500 cottages constructed of more durable material, or 73,500 habitations, many of them housing several families apiece, have been built. In the same period 185,600, or about two-thirds of the repairable houses, have been rehabilitated.

Of a total surface of 3,950,000 hectares of land that had suffered destruction to a greater or less extent, 3,339,000 hectares have been freed of unexploded projectiles, 2,780,000 have been cleared of trenches and barbed wire, and 1,650,000 have been plowed and sown. The trenches which required filling in alone aggregated close to 900,000,000 cubic feet, while the area covered by barbed wire totalled nearly 1,000,000,000 square feet.

Mill Wheels Again Turn.

Well over two-thirds—2,627 to be exact—of the 3,508 industrial establishments employing over 20 workers that were wholly or partly wrecked, have been restored. Thereby employment has been forthcoming for 257,874 of the 679,000 persons who formerly worked in the damaged factories. Incidentally, French production of cotton, linen, woolens, and sugar has been considerably increased.

To defray the cost of materials for reconstruction, tools and house furnishings, the French Government spent in 1918 110,977,000 francs, in 1919 1,071,423,000 francs, and thus far this year 54,126,542 francs.

COURTESY IS COMMON COMMODITY IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 27.—Courtesy is a common commodity in Mexico. No Mexican is too poor to afford it.

The roughest soldier will not pass one in a narrow corridor without saying "Con permiso" or "dispensme," which are Spanish expressions equivalent to "excuse me." The same phrase is invariably used when one person takes leave of another, to which the answer invariably is "Pase Vd."

Upon giving a new acquaintance one's address, it is customary to say "At number —— street is your home (or office)," the implication being that the new friend is to consider one's home his own.

Persons introduced to each other, when their respective names are pronounced, say, "Your servant, sir," or "Juan Garcia, for the purpose of serving you, sir."

When taking leave of each other formal acquaintances who wish to continue relations with each other say, "I remain at (or I offer myself to) your service."

Observance of these forms, which a Mexican rarely disregards, is a valuable aid to a stranger who wishes to establish profitable commercial or pleasant social relations in Mexico.

PASTOR DISCONTINUES "LADIES," "GENTLEMEN"

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 27.—The use of the words "ladies" and "gentlemen" is to be discontinued in the parish so far as he is concerned, says the Rev. Bruce Cornford in his parish magazine.

"The words have now absolutely no meaning," he writes. "Foolish class distinction should have no place in the church. Even the Master called his mother 'woman,' while no one would insult St. Peter by calling him gentleman. The parochial council consists of men and women."

ABOUT 100 MEN FLY QUITE REGULARLY TO BUSINESS FROM HOME

Number of Itinerant Aerial "Taxi-Drivers" Is Placed At 300.

DEMAND IS INCREASING

Does Not Equal Supply, Says Report Made to Manufacturers' Aircraft Association.

New York, July 27.—About 100 businessmen, scattered throughout the United States, more or less regularly fly in aeroplanes between their homes in the country, at the mountains or the shore to their city offices, according to an estimate of the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association. The number of itinerant aerial "taxi-drivers" who carry passengers on short but remunerative flights is placed at some 300.

"There is a steadily increasing demand for aircraft of the commercial type," says a report made to the association. "But, contrary to some published reports, the demand does not equal the supply. Factories now in operation in the United States could construct ten times the number of aircraft which optimists estimate would be required this year.

A trip through the country taken by representatives of the association revealed some interesting uses to which aircraft are being put. "In Seattle during the tourist season," the investigators reported, "a passenger aeroplane makes daily runs over and around Mount Rainier, flying at 20,000 feet, some 5,000 feet above the mountain.

"At the Santa Barbara seaside resort a flying boat is in daily operation over the channel, two of its most interesting passengers during the early part of this year having been the King and Queen of Belgium. Regular flights are being conducted over Southern California with a baby blimp.

"There is considerable agitation for an extension of the aerial forest patrol of California, which has been instrumental in protecting life and property from fire loss. The California Rice Growers' Association, which last year established a service patterned after the forest patrol over 16,000 acres of rice lands, has enlarged this service to guard double that acreage.

"Two flying boats are being used for transporting supplies from Seattle to a mining company in British Columbia."

EUROPE PREPARES FOR U. S. TOURISTS

British Auto Association Gets Routes and Service Ready For Visitors.

Detroit, July 27.—Among the thousands of American tourists who are now flocking to Europe from all parts of the United States are large numbers of motorists, many of whom are taking their own cars. These travelers will find that every courtesy is being extended to them by countries that are now catering to tourists. All restrictions on motor travel have been lifted by the French Government, while other countries have been equally considerate. Moreover, the roads have been put in good condition, and many of them are even better than before the war. Belgium alone has spent over 16,000,000 francs on the remaking of the public highways.

For the benefit of American tourists who contemplate visiting Europe, E. H. Wakefield, manager of the foreign department of the Automobile Club of America, has this to say at the present time:

"On the whole, there is no serious reason why American motorists should not visit Europe for touring purposes this season. While they must be prepared for expenses amounting to about double the rates which existed before the war, yet owing to the present state of exchange, which is greatly in our favor, the cost of travel, in most cases, is not so high as in this country. As regards food, practically nothing in the way of discomfort need be feared."

Elaborate plans have been made by the Automobile Association of Great Britain for the reception and guidance of American auto tourists. If notified in advance, the association will have its agents meet them on landing in England and furnish them with all possible assistance, whether they are visiting Great Britain only or the continent as well. They will be aided in the unloading of their cars and how to obtain driving licenses in England and abroad.

The tourist from the United States will be furnished with type-written details of any route he may select, and printed information regarding the roads, hotels and places of interest; on the continent special guidance will be given to the battlefields.

American motorists visiting any European country would, in the ordinary way, first have to pay the customs dues on their cars. In France, for example, the duty is 45 per cent of the car; in other countries it varies. In Great Britain the import duty on the automobile is 33 1-3 per cent on the declared value of the vehicle, and this amount must be deposited with the customs authorities. By arrangement made with various European governments, however, the British Automobile Association has devised a system whereby instead of depositing the amount of the duty the motorist gives the association a banker's indemnity for the required sum on an English bank, and the association then accepts all responsibility. When the tourist returns home the full amount is returned to him.

In the case of tourists going from England to the continent the association has been authorized by several European governments to issue international passes which enable holders to proceed immediately on their way as soon as their papers have been examined by the customs authorities. In the absence of these passes long and irritating delays would often be experienced in entering and leaving various countries.

The British Automobile Association is also having special motoring maps prepared, not only of Great Britain but of the continent, and through its agencies in every country it is prepared to take charge of repairs and to supply tires, spare parts and other necessaries. The association has offices in all the larger continental cities, and the staffs at these places are at the disposal of all American motorists as readily as are the association's staffs in Great Britain.

At The Theaters

PORT STANLEY BEACH MOVIES.

Adventure and romance play a merry game of tag in "The Prince and Betty," in which William Desmond is starred at Port Stanley Beach last time tonight. Robert Thornby has given this picturization of Pelham Grenville Wodehouse's novel admirable direction and settings.

Big Bill Desmond is thoroughly at home in the role of the cheerfully penniless American who one day finds himself sailing for the Island of Mervo to become its Prince Royal. What he doesn't know until his arrival is that a daring promoter has bribed the President of Mervo to decamp while he stages a friendly little revolution and puts the prince on the throne.

The reason for all this is that the promoter wants to attract people to his casino, which he desires to make a dangerous rival of Monte Carlo. The prince's romance hits a snag when Betty, the American girl the hero loves, arrives upon the scene and snubs him for being an advertisement for a gamblig house. The prince, however, believes in the "happy ending" and brings the story right-about-face in a thrilling and satisfactory manner.

A comic and Pathe News are included in the program.

TOM MOORE'S FAMOUS SMILE GOES OVER STRONG AT ALLEN'S.

Tom Moore's famous smile goes over just as strong as ever in his new romantic comedy, "The Great Accident," at the Allen, which is shown for the last time today. The politicians thought they were playing a great joke on he and his father when electing him to the mayor's chair, but he showed them just what a smashing fight for big stakes meant. Maurice Poure's violin solo, 'Cavatenne," goes over splendidly, and the organ solo by Mr. Ireland calls for repeated encores. A Christie comedy and Allen News picture form part of the excellent program.

There never was a picture like Mabel Normand's new comedy romance of the Orient, "The Slim Princess," which comes to the Allen tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. A one hundred pound heroine, born in a country where only fat women are loved, possesses many devices for winning a hubby, until a young American sees her beauty, and amidst bloodstirring and laughable adventures rescues her from her predicament and live happily every after. b

AT LOEW'S.

Oh Boy! Some Stunts In This "Love Expert."

Choosing a semi-blind man as the mate for an old maid, and a paralyzed woman with an ear-trumpet to be the bride of her elderly father, were among the achievements of Babs Hardcastle, played by Constance Talmadge in "The Love Expert," the Emerson-Loos screen comedy, which is being shown at Loew's for the last time today. But these were only a few of the triumphs of the love expert, who conducted experiments from Boston to Florida.

A fine bill of vaudeville, the Loew Pictorial and a rattling comic complete the bill. b

"WHITE LIES" TO END ENGAGEMENT TONIGHT.

After a very successful run, "White Lies," the William Fox production featuring Gladys Brockwell, closes tonight at the Patricia Theatre. The scenes in this forceful drama of deceit, suffering, sacrifice and love, are laid at a noted French chateau. The story is from Charles Reade's novel.

PREVENT TRAIN WITH SOLDIERS FROM LEAVING

Sinn Fein Crowd Blocks Departure of Trains at Letterkenny.

TROOPS WITHOUT FOOD

Soldiers in Desperate Straits at Dungloe, as Consignments Raided.

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, July 27.—Several hundred Sinn Feiners last night successfully blocked the running of a mixed passenger and goods train through Letterkenny because it was carrying a dozen armed soldiers and food for the military barracks at Dungloe.

No actual fighting took place, but the crowd was so hostile that it was decided not to proceed with the train, and the 200 passengers were obliged to sit around the station all night. The soldiers were taken to the police barracks to avoid the crowd.

Conditions quieted after three hours. Meanwhile, the troops at Dungleo were in desperate straits for food, the Sinn Fein inhabitants refusing to supply it and trains with consignments being raided. The troops have been without proper food for many days.

ONE SOLDIER KILLED.

CORK, July 27.—One soldier killed, two constables wounded and a courthouse burned were the results of disturbances in various places in this section in the last 24 hours. The soldier, who was a lance-corporal, attached to a regiment at Bandon, was shot dead mysteriously this morning. The two constables were ambushed and seriously wounded by bullets at Lixnaw, North Kerry, last night, when also the Borrisokane courthouse was destroyed by fire.

INDEPENDENTS AND FARMERS PLEDGED SUPPORT TO NORRIS

Manitoba Members in Caucus Vote Confidence in Liberal Government.

[Special To The Advertiser.].

WINNIPEG, July 27.—The Norris Government tonight received pledges of support from enough Farmer and Independent members to enable it to "carry on" successfully, according to William McKinnel, Independent member for Rockwood, who presided at a caucus of Farmer-Independent members held at the Royal Alexandra Hotel this evening. Two things happened. A Farmer-Independent group was formed and a House leader elected. A vote of confidence in the Norris Government with pledges of support on all general policies was passed.

"You see, Farmers and Independents are not against the Government on policy," explained McKinnel. "We agree with them on most matters. We do not run against the Government, rather against particular Government members whom we defeated in our constituencies. Personally, I do not know anything in which my policy would be different from the Government's but it is best for cohesive purposes that I should be a member of a strong Independent group. I expect that our stand will be in the nature of friendly criticism to the Government. We will not accept offices because we wish to maintain our independence," he said.

SANDWICH POSTMASTER, WITH 27 YEARS SERVICE, ONLY PAID $145 A MONTH

Married, Five Children and an Assistant to Provide For.

WINDSOR, July 27.—After 27 years in the service of the postal department of the Government, fifteen years of which were associated with the Windsor postoffice, Postmaster Charlton of Sandwich today served notice on the Government of his intention to resign his post unless assistance in the performance of his duties is provided immediately.

At the present time Charlton, a married man with a family of five children, draws a salary of $145 a month, which he claims is totally insufficient to provide for his own needs as well as an assistant, which he must hire himself if required.

While the postoffice revenue in the town has trebled within the past two years, the salary has been increased only $5 a month.

THREE RUM-RUNNERS ARRESTED AT MIDNIGHT

One Remanded, One Fined $1,500, and One Given Suspended Sentence.

WINDSOR, July 27.—Midnight vigilance by Provincial License Inspectors O'Connor and Sykes was rewarded by the apprehension of Fred Chappus of Petite Cote, Adolphus Vigneux, driver, and Henry Drouillard, all involved in a liquor transaction, as a result of which all appeared in Windsor police court today. The first named faced the possibility of a heavy prison term and a fine, it being his second offence. Vigneaux, the driver, on account of his previous record, was allowed to go on suspended sentence, it being his first offence. Drouillard was fined $1,500, and his liquor, which was being conveyed by the driver to Chappus' home, was confiscated. Chappus is charged with procuring the liquor for resale. Sentence in his case has been suspended for eight days.

TILBURY AND ESSEX MEET

TILBURY, July 27.—On Thursday afternoon of this week the Tilbury Essex County League team will meet the Essex town aggregation on Memorial Park, when the keenest contest of the season is anticipated. The Essex team has not lost a game so far in the league schedule, and as this is the first time these two teams have met, the game on Thursday is the talk of baseball fans throughout this countryside. Tilbury will present practically the same line-up that defeated the Merlin team, the leaders of Kent County League, in an exhibition game last Monday evening.

FARMER AND SON KILLED WHEN FLIER CRASHES INTO AUTO

OTTAWA, July 27.—Thomas Blaney, a prosperous farmer near Maxville, and his son William, aged 14, were killed, and his wife, one son, and a nephew seriously injured, when a motor car in which they were driving was hit by the Montreal-Ottawa C. N. R. flier two miles east of Maxville, at Donald Allan Cameron's crossing at 8 o'clock this evening.

The three survivors were brought to Ottawa on the train which hit them, and are now in St. Luke's Hospital. While all are seriously injured, it is expected they will recover.

Mr. Blaney's party were on the way to attend an Orange social, a few miles away, at Dunvegan.

PROTEST AGAINST CONNECTING WELLS WITH WATERWORKS

Kitchener Citizens Claim That Wells Are Served by Sewer Beds.

KITCHENER, July 27.—Protest is being made to the proposed plan to connect the Bridgeport wells with the local waterworks on the ground that the Bridgeport wells are fed from the waterloo Town sewer beds.

Superintendent Pequegnat says he is not alarmed over the protest, and declares that, while it is not without some grounds, the water commission will not use the wells until such time as the possibility of contamination has been thoroughly investigated, and the permission of the provincial board of health obtained.

John Segal, aged 19, died at his home this morning following a lingering illness. He is survived by his widowed mother, two sisters, and two brothers.

INJUNCTION MAY BE ISSUED AGAINST THE WINDSOR GAS CO.

Acting Mayor Howell Intimates Course of Action To Be Taken.

WINDSOR, July 27.—With but one week remaining before August 1, when the Union Gas Company of Chatham has threatened to cut off the gas to the border cities unless an increase in rates of from 30 cents to $1 per 1,000 cubic feet is granted by the councils, Mayor Winter, who has been confined to his home following an attack of appendicitis and a recent operation, did not return to his office this morning as expected to take charge of the fight for the municipality, an unexpected relapse preventing him from carrying out his original intention of resuming control again today.

THE ONLY HOPE.

That the only hope of the municipalities affected, now rests with the Hon. Harry Mills, minister of lands, forests and mines, to whom an appeal was addressed some time ago to take action in the matter, was intimated today by Acting Mayor Howell, who declared he doubted if the company would carry out its intentions as expressed in the ultimatum delivered some weeks ago, in spite of the assertions of President Pinckard of the Windsor Gas Company, that the supply would be cut off.

The acting mayor also intimated today the possibility of legal action to secure an injunction preventing the company from carrying out its intentions, if necessary.

CLANDEBOYE

CLANDEBOYE, July 27.—The Bible Society union service was held in the Methodist Church, Clandeboye, on Sunday, July 25. The claims and aims of the society were clearly presented in an interesting address by Mr. Bowen.

John Carter, Loverna, Sask., and his family are visiting relatives and friends in Ontario and Michigan. Fortunately for Mr. Carter, his district is not near the scene of the recent cyclone in Saskatchewan.

The wheat fields are doing double duty in production this summer, since, besides, a good crop of grain, they are now furnishing a crop of snow-white delectable mushrooms.

COWS IN CITY PARK CAUSE OF DISCUSSION BY NO. 3 COMMITTEE

Piano Agent Admits He Drove Auto at 30 Miles an Hour.

MAGISTRATE LOSES GIN

Party of Drunks Play at Highwayman Game Without Success.

ST. THOMAS, July 27.—Are the cows of local residents provided with pasture at the park, was asked by a member of No. 3 committee at a meeting tonight, and if they were looked after by an employee of the city. The alderman had been so informed, and he objected to the city becoming the caretaker of cows to be used for private purposes. The alderman was told that the charge was true with certain reservations.

The admission suggested a resolution which directed the late Superintendent Folland to remove all cows and other of his property from the park by September 5, and that he receive $60 a month while in the employ of the city.

G. W. V. A. CARNIVAL.

The local G. W. V. A. asked for permission to put on a carnival from August 9 to 14. The application was granted.

Harry Davis, secretary of the Central Methodist Church Sunday School, wrote protesting against the discourteous treatment shown the children by the superintendent of the park at their recent picnic. It was claimed by the superintendent that the little ones injured the trees when playing baseball, and he ordered the children to the Pinafore diamond.

The officer of the Sunday school objected to the orders of Mr. Clark. He thought they might be left unmolested.

Chairman Butler stated that the superintendent has instructions, and if he saw any damage being done he must stop it. Outside of that the superintendent must not interfere with the children.

Inspector Shaw reported that the market lane leading to the market from Horton street is in bad condition. The lavatory door is broken, and the space at the rear of the shed is obstructed with old junk.

Chairman Rowley, representing the M. C. R. picnic committee, asked for a greasy pole, a boat, ropes, and a dressing room for lady swimmers on the day of the demonstration. They will be provided.

PROHIBIT DUMPING IN RAVINES.

Chairman Hookway of the board of health will direct the board at its next meeting to prohibit the garbage department from using the ravines in and about the city as dumping grounds for the refuse and other insanitary material gathered on their daily rounds from residences, hotels and other sources. The prohibition will place the garbage department in a quandary as to finding a location for their unsavory collections. The dumping of the stuff in the adjoining municipalities may also bring a protest from the township board. The city council may refuse the order of the local board.

AN INVOLUNTARY CONFESSION.

A plano agent was fined $5 and $5 costs today by the county magistrate for speeding his auto on the gravel road. The agent was convicted on his own admission. In making comparisons of the liberty given to drivers on the Hamilton and Toronto pike, which, according to the agent, is 30 miles an hour. The agent endeavored to better his record with the squire by confessing he never went above 30.

"But 25 miles in Elgin is the limit," warned the squire. "Well, well, well, now," soliloquized the agent. Ten dollars, and "don't do it no more," replied his worship.

LIEUT. PICKETT LUNCHED.

A luncheon given Lieut. T. L. Pickett, R.N.V.R., by the members of the St. Thomas branch of the Navy League today at the Grand Central, permitted Lieut. Pickett to outline the work of the league and show in detail the benefit to be derived from the organization. A representative gathering was present and included Judge C. W. Colter, Mesdames Dunsmore and D. W. Newcombe of the I. O. D. E., Mesdames J. C. Tanner, H. S. Black, Trustee Mrs. J. McCully of the Mothers' Club, and F. E. Bennett. Committees will be formed to canvass the districts to be set apart in the city.

DRUNKEN HIGHWAYMEN.

Acting on information received from an auto party on the way to Aylmer, four young men will be summoned for being drunk, with an auto in the ditch on Sunday evening last. The informant and another also claim they were held up by a drunken party on the way east and their money and valuables ordered to be handed over. The demand was passed off as a joke, but the doctor and other occupants of the car put on more steam and got out of the latitude of the highwaymen. The number of the ditched auto was taken and the authorities have got the name of the owner.

NO RESPECTOR OF PERSONS.

Robbing the cellar of an everyday citizen of his Irish and Scotch is now of no little moment, but cleaning up the basement of every bottle in sight and that the property of a reverend magistrate is what happened in Port Burwell a night or so ago. The medicine was gin and had been purchased for one's health sake, but when his worship went down stairs to get his morning thimbleful, not a bottle was left. The trial of a couple of young men at Port Burwell on Thursday may reveal the identity of the worst of purloiners.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Rev. Mr. Rogers, formerly of the First Methodist Church, St. Ann's Place, has consented to preside over the religious exercises of the Fire Chiefs' Convention here, next week.

The St. Thomas Chapter, I. O. D. E., will have a refreshment booth in the park on the date of the M. C. R. picnic. Proceeds for the war memorial fund.

Grand Secretary W. M. Logan of the Masonic Grand Lodge, who has been on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Becker, Elizebeth street, was entertained by several of the local brethren during his stay, to a luncheon at the Cafeteria and an auto excursion to the countryside.

Trial of a drunk takes Conny Magistrate Hunt to West Lorge tomorrow morning.

TUG SEIZED AT WINDSOR FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE CUSTOMS REGULATIONS

First Seizure Made In Fight Against Smuggling of Liquor.

WINDSOR, July 27.—After working silently but thoroughly for a considerable time, Collector of Customs Montreuil has seized the tug, Samuel J. Dark, for violations of the customs regulations. Warning had repeatedly been given that all owners of craft engaged in smuggling liquor between Canada and the United States along this part of the frontier were liable to punishment under the customs act, but the first decisive action has come in the seizure of the Samuel J. Dark, which was, however, released to its owners upon the payment of a deposit of $1,200.

CLAIM COMPENSATION.

LONDON, July 25.—The total amount of claims for compensation for malicious destruction of property in Ireland lodged in the period from January 1 to May 31, 1920, was £2,718,661.

WINDSOR IS DUMPING GROUND OF GAMBLING OUTFITS, SAY PASTORS

Rev. H. W. Crewes and Rev. H. N. Paulin Attack Border Race Tracks.

BLOODED HORSE A RUSE

General-Purpose Horse Worth More Than the Race Horse.

WINDSOR, July 27—"Windsor today is the dumping ground of gambling outfits and you know it! Race track betting has been prohibited in New York state, in other parts of the Union, and even in California, and now the men who follow the races are coming over the border in thousands to this country of ours. There is a protest in the minds of the people as a result of the scenes that have taken place here since the beginning of the racing season," declared the Rev. H. W. Crewes of the Central Methodist Church in a stern indictment of gambling in the course of an arraignment of all games of chance, during a virile sermon to a large audience, which packed the church on Sunday night.

The pastor scourged all forms of gambling, with special emphasis on race tracks, the stock market and "social gambling."

ONLY PART OF EQUIPMENT.

"It is claimed," he said, "that without the race track the thoroughbred horse will pass out of existence and without betting the race track cannot exist. To my mind the general purpose horse in these days of improved transportation methods is worth much more to us than the blooded horse, which is simply a part of the equipment used in this form of practice. This talk about the blooded horse is only an excuse for persons who wish to explain the gigantic gambling scheme that draws the crowds."

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

The attack of racing at local plants, however, was not limited to one pulpit. Rev. H. M. Paulin pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, deplored the high percentage of Windsor people participating in gambling at the three Windsor tracks.

"Betting," he said, "is an attempt to get something for nothing. The winner takes money from somebody else who gets nothing for what he has spent. It is wicked to try to get money without giving value received for it."

FIFTY-FIVE BUSHELS TO THE ACRE IS ESTIMATE OF OXFORD'S OAT CROP

WOODSTOCK, July 27.—A careful estimate of the oat crop in Oxford County bears out the prediction made some time ago that this year's crop would prove a record-breaker. The oats are fully five feet in height in some places, entirely free of rust or smut, and are in the early stages of ripening, the heads being heavily laden with plump, perfectly shaped grain. Speaking from long experience one farmer said that many fields will run at least 55 bushels to the acre. If the weather continues fine and warm some of the earlier varieties of oats and mixed grain will be ready for the binder during the first week of August. It is estimated that the Oxford oat and mixed grain crop this year will aggregate close to 5,000,000 bushels.

SEVENTY-SIX VETERANS FOR EXEMPTION FROM TAXES

Chatham to Hold Big Celebration Civic Holiday, August 2.

CHATHAM, July 27.—The names of 76 returned soldiers were submitted at the regular meeting of the city council last evening for exemption from taxes. The finance committee of the council will investigate.

Tentative plans have been completed for the monster celebration that will be held in this city on Civic Holiday, August 5. Strong committees of prominent citizens and members of the chamber of commerce have been flooding Western Ontario with advertising matter. Seven bands will aid in the monster tattoo and pyrotechnic displays which will take place in the evening.

Rev. Father Prosper, for two years pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church here, leaves at the end of this week for Cincinnati, Ohio, to take up other work. It is reported Rev. Father Solanus, O. F. M., a former Presbyterian Church at that place.

Co-operative committee of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches met in this city yesterday and decided to unite the churches of these denominations in the towns of Tilbury and Bothwell, if the people in these churches would agree. A committee was appointed to visit the different congregations and report on the matter.

GOES TO EDMONTON.

Rev. Dr. Dickie, for several years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in this city, leaves this week for Edmonton, Alta., to take charge of the Presbyterian Church at that place.

Co-operative committee of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches met in this city yesterday and decided to Mr. Aylesworth had previously accepted the principalship of Chesley Public School, but cancelled this in favor of the Owen Sound position. The appointment is to fill the vacancy left by the death of H. Andrews, who was here for three years.
