RENOVATION WAS NEEDED

The Old Town Hall Was In A Very Delapidated Condition

FULL OF DISEASE GERMS

Gallagher & Son's workmen and McKenzie's brick men commenced the work of tearing out the interior of the old City Hall building this morning. The butcher's and other occupants have moved into other portions of the Market building.

The need of renovation to the hall is strikingly apparent to anyone who pays it a visit. The interior is filled with old junk and filth that has been there for years, and the general condition of the walls and different rooms would be a standing disgrace to any up-to-date city. The stench is so great that it is almost impossible to remain in the building for any length of time. The place must be full of disease germs, and for years it has been alive with rats, mice and vermin of all descriptions. When a Planet reporter called this morning there was filth on the floor almost half a foot deep, and one is surprised to learn that there is such a desolate and neglected looking building situated right in the heart of Chatham's business centre.

These disgraceful conditions will now be done away with and the hall will be fitted up in shape that will be a credit to Chatham. The building is one of the oldest in the city, and the massive timbers used in its construction are a marvel to the workmen of today. Upstairs ceiling beams and sills were used which could hardly be procured today. Some of these hewed timbers are almost three feet thick, and they are as sound as the day they were put in the building. The auditorium upstairs is now being cleared of the debris with which it has been filled for years. This said that walls have crumbled, and if they had tongues, what a tale those old walls could tell! It was here that the old Town Councils once held forth, and passed upon the various matters which came before them, and it was here also that justice was once meted out.

With the renovation of the old Town Hall, one of the last of Chatham's old landmarks passes into oblivion, and no enterprising citizen or lover of cleanliness should regret the renovation of this ancient pile, which has gradually degenerated into a mass of useless ruins and filth.

BUILDING PERMITS

The following building permits have been recently issued by Fire Marshall Pritchard:

No. 130—D. J. O'Keefe, to erect a one-story frame building, on lot 25 east side of Baxter St. Cost $250.

No. 131—M. D. Ross, to erect a one-story frame building, on lots 75 and 76, Spencer Survey, west side of Raleigh St. Cost $3,000.

No. 132—George W. Raymond, to erect one and one-half story frame building on lot 42, east side of Delaware Ave. Cost $1,300.

LO THE POOR UMPIRE

The Highgate Monitor hands out the following complimentary references to a Chatham umpire who refereed a baseball game in Highgate on the town's civic holiday:

In the afternoon the most uninteresting feature was the umpire's decisions. He was from Chatham, and displayed oceanic gall by taking the position of umpire. His decisions, to say the least, were rank, and were not worthy of an eight year old boy. How such people can raise the nerve to umpire a game is simply amazing.

The game was full of errors, and not to prolong this agony, the score was 11 to 2, when the visitors ran to catch their train.

DEATH'S CALL

Mrs. Emma Cummings, wife of Township Treasurer Hugh Cummings, passed away yesterday morning at St. Joseph's hospital, after a short illness. The deceased lady recently underwent a critical operation. The late Mrs. Cummings was aged 46 years and 6 months, and she leaves a husband and a growing family consisting of four sons and three daughters to mourn her loss. The husband of the deceased is an ex-Reeve of the Township of Chatham.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at one o'clock, from her late residence, corner of the Town Line and tenth concession, to Maple Leaf Cemetery.

LIFE-LIKE.

How life-like are the waves of the sea! Yes. They come to the beach in great style and go away broke.

A ROW OVER LAND

A Detective Has Been Called In To Settle Dispute Between Two Farmers

Leamington, Aug. 25.—The purchase and fitting up of Bluff Park, a beautiful spot on the shore of Lake Erie, about two miles from Leamington, promises to lead to expensive litigation and criminal action against Thos. Rowley, a prominent farmer and nurseryman.

Mr. Rowley is now the owner of the old Malatt farm, located at the lake end of the Merse-Gafield townline. The land forming the park originally belonged to this farm, but has been used by Mr. Rowley for several years. Lately the park has been acquired by a local company of farmers and Leamington people, who commenced to fit up the place in a becoming manner. The company's first act was to mark the boundary line between their land and that of Mr. Rowley. This was done by a surveyor in the face of considerable objections from Mr. Rowley.

The next day five large shade trees on the park land were cut down or girdled. Most people knew, or thought they knew, who the culprit was, but owing to lack of evidence, nothing was done.

Finally a detective has been called in to endeavor to discover the perpetrator. A confession is alleged to have been obtained, and an attempt at settlement is talked of.

BERLINITES INDIGNANT

The Berlin Telegraph reports the imputations cast by the Galt Reformer as to the alleged large amount of liquor guzzling at the Berlin Old Boy's Reunion, says the Reformer does not know what it is talking about, that the general verdict was that the Berlin Reunion was one of the most enjoyable and orderly of such events known, and adds:

"What are the facts in connection with the celebration. It is estimated that between 18,000 and 25,000 people, including the citizens of Berlin and Waterloo, were in Berlin during each of the three days. The police force of ten men only had occasion to arrest seven drunks during the entire celebration, and, we are informed, four of these were from Galt. There was not a case of pocket-picking committed in Berlin, that was reported to the police, and as far as is known there was only one bar-room fight."

OPERA HOUSE IMPROVED

The Brisco Opera House was reopened Saturday evening with the farce-comedy, Just Struck Town. On account of the humidity of the weather the turnout was not large.

Brisco Bros. deserve to be complimented on the improvements they are making to their play house, which has undergone some costly renovating. Many needed improvements have been made to the stage and vicinity, and the theatre proper is at present undergoing repairs and is at present repainted. The appearance of the fine, fire-proof curtain was the subject of many complimentary remarks Saturday evening. A new scene sets off the centre, which is surrounded with fancy and attractive advertisements, the work of Mr. Tinto. The dressing rooms to the rear are also undergoing renovation.

Just Struck Town dragged a little at the beginning, but made up for it in the last two acts, whenever replete with laughable situations. The company carry quite an amount of good scenery, and the different roles are all well taken.

ADRIFT IN LAKE

Petrolia, August 25.—A sailboat accident occurred on Thursday in the vicinity of Port Frank on Lake Huron, which fortunately did not result disastrously.

Mr. Colin G. Moncrieff, of Petrolia, was out sailing with two young boys, when a storm came up and the boat was capsized, owing to the rudder breaking and allowing the boat to be swamped in the trough of the sea. They were all good swimmers and managed to clamber up on the bottom of the upturned boat, where they drifted for some time calling lustily for help.

Their cries were finally heard by Mr. McDonald, who put out to them in a rowboat and brought them all safely to shore.

A PIONEER GONE

Isaac Jeffs, brother of John Jeffs, treasurer of the township of Camden, who lives on the fifth concession, passed away Saturday morning, at the age of 60 years.

Deceased has been a resident of the township of Camden for the past 30 years, and has been ill for about two months. He was born in Hastings. He leaves a widow and one son and two daughters to mourn his loss. The children are Charles, at home, and Mrs. G. A. Miller, of Dresden, and Mrs. Aitken, of Port Lambton.

FIRE DESTROYS RATHBURN DOCKS

Eighteen Houses In Deseronto Ablaze—Town Is Threatened

RAGED FOR NINE HOURS

Deseronto, Aug. 27.—In a fire which raged here from 4:45 Saturday afternoon to 2 o'clock Sunday morning the Rennie dock of the Rathbun Co. with sheds and thousands of feet of lumber, and a large amount of cordwood were burned.

Eighteen houses were more or less damaged, three of them entirely destroyed, and St. Mark's Episcopal Church was also slightly damaged. The fire originated at the big trestle shed dock owned by the Rathbun Co., and inside of few minutes the whole structure was a mass of flames.

There was a strong south wind blowing towards the town and it was soon evident that everything was doomed if aid was not procured at once.

Two fire engines and crews were brought from Napanee and every person available was pressed into service to help keep down the blaze.

The big trestle, refuse boilers, thousands of feet of lumber and cords of hardwood, and fourteen dump cars belonging to the Rathbun Co., and three houses were entirely destroyed.

The wind shifted towards the bay, and the fire was apparently under control, but later in the evening the wind veered again, and carried the sparks in the direction of the town.

These sparks ignited 18 houses and the English Church, but the good work of the firemen saved most of the buildings.

How the fire originated is a mystery. This is first serious fire that has taken place since 1896, when the whole town was wiped out, the fire at that time starting from a fire cracker.

INTO THE RAPIDS

Reckless Niagara Bather Drowns in the "Swift Drift."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Toesing about in the whirlpool of the lower Niagara River is the body of Martin Kane of this city. Riding bottom up-wards on the water is the boat in which he sat as he was swept into the rapids.

Kane was drowned Saturday morning while in bathing with a companion, Gerald McGraw. Both were employees of the New York Central Railroad Co. They worked nights and Saturday morning on their way home went down to the old Maid of the Mist landing for a swim.

They went out in a small boat, and in sporting in the water did not note the fact that they had been carried down stream dangerously close to "Swift Drift," where the rapids begin.

Both got into the boat and tried to paddle ashore. The current was too great.

On Kane's suggestion they leaped into the water to swim for it. McGraw made the American shore in an exhausted condition, but Kane failed, and went through the rapids to his death.

McGraw is prostrated. Both men were of the same age, 24 years. Kane leaves a sister and a brother in Buffalo.

SUSPENDED IN AIR

Nine-Year-Old Girl's Hair and Cheek Torn Off.

Hastings, Aug. 27.—An appalling accident took place near Ryckman's Corners, about four miles from here, on Saturday afternoon, when Edna Myers, nine years old, had her scalp and a portion of her cheek torn off as a result of her hair becoming twisted around the shaft of a windmill.

The youngster was playing about a barn on the farm on which her father worked and got too near the shaft which was revolving at a high rate of speed, when her hair catching, she was suspended in the air.

Her cries brought assistance, and after being taken from her perilous position she was brought to the city hospital where Dr. Cummings performed an operation on her in an endeavor to graft the flesh on.

The child's father and several of the patients in the hospital consented to have flesh taken from their bodies for the purpose of grafting. The youngster's condition is serious, but it is possible that she may recover. At any rate it is expected she will linger for some time.

Killed at Port Perry. Port Perry, Aug. 27.—Watson Hodgson, an old resident of Port Perry, aged about 75 years, was killed Saturday by the G. T. R. train. He was driving into town from the country and attempted to cross the track at Kallit's crossing ahead of the 11:30 express. The train struck the buggy and the old man was thrown against telegraph post, striking his head, which was badly cut, death being instantaneous.

BEHIND THE TIMES

"Lawn bowling in Canada is just 100 years behind the times," declared Vice-Captain John C. Hunter, of the British Bowling team, Friday. "This is particularly true of the style of Greens in vogue in this country. As yet I have not come across a single green that we consider fit to bowl on in the old country."

"The greens in Canada are not built right. In Europe we have a slope of more than four inches from the centre of the green. The green is first packed down to hard soil and then this slope is built up with layers of clinkers and sand so no worms can work their way through. The sod is made of sea grass, and is cut with a hand scythe almost to the roots in order to make it heavy and fine."

"Another thing that handicaps Canadian bowlers is the obsolete style of guard play in vogue in this country. This system of play has been discarded in the old country as out of date."

QUEBEC BRIDGE AGAIN.

A new Quebec Bridge question has come up. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Parent have been consulting at Quebec and it seems certain that Parliament will be asked to guarantee more money for this structure.

Mr. Parent, who is now chairman of the Transcontinental Construction Commission, was the head of the Bridge Company. At first he got a subsidy voted and submitted estimates of cost. Later the Government guaranteed bonds to the extent of $7,000,000 which was much more than the original estimate of the cost of the bridge. Now it appears that more money is wanted, and the Government must find it. Mr. Parent's company, which has privilege of building the bridge and which will hand it over on profitable terms for the use of the Transcontinental, does not appear to be putting much money into the enterprise. It is all paid for with the Canadian guaranteed bonds and subsidies while all the profits go to the nominat stockholders.

SALARIES MUST GO UP.

In commenting upon a subject which has been the topic of several discussions in this journal recently, the Galt Reformer has the following to say:

"The call of the West has been answered by several of Galt's school teachers, and recently two of the very best have gone to Alberta after having taught here for many years.

"The reason for their leaving was wholly a question of remuneration. Like the rest of the school boards of Ontario, the paying of better salaries to teachers must be considered.

"The West schools offer flattering inducements and there are many teachers who are content to forsake the conveniences of the East for less attractive but more remunerative positions in the West.

"Teachers' salaries in Ontario are notoriously low and it is for this reason that the profession has not attracted such large numbers to its ranks as it did ten or fifteen years ago.

"The salaries must go up. If the public is interested in having the best men and women instructing its children the public must be willing to pay the price which will bring the brighter minds into the profession."

A COSTLY ELECTION.

It is doubtless annoying to Ministers and their leading supporters that the one Nova Scotia member unseated for corrupt practices is the Minister of Finance. But it is well known that several other members would have gone the same way if they had not managed to escape trial, either by evading service altogether or by tactics which resulted in the dismissal of the petitions on technical grounds.

Mr. Fielding's election was perhaps not more corrupt than that of some of his Nova Scotia associates, the Halifax members for instance. But people may dismiss from their minds any impression that Mr. Fielding either obtained or expected a pure election. The constituency of Shelburne and Queens has received at least its full proportion of the campaign fund and it is well known that the Nova Scotia campaign fund both in 1900 and 1904 was very large.

It appears from Mr. Fielding's own evidence that the appropriation for his constituency in 1900 was found inadequate. The politician, who represents Queen's County in the Nova Scotia Legislature, demanded more money after the election was over to pay the campaign bills. Mr. Fielding says he objected to the payment. He was no doubt surprised to find that more was needed than had been allotted the riding in the first place. But he admits that he paid the money.

STICKS IN THE STOMACH

Feeling That Often Comes to People With Weak Digestion.

A poor sufferer from indigestion once said that his stomach felt as though it was filled with sticks and as though some of them were on fire and burning him up inside.

When the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are weakened and do not act properly, the symptoms of ill-health that follow are many and varied. There is often a feeling of heaviness in the stomach, there is distress and nervousness, dizziness, nausea, nervous and sick headaches, inability to sleep well, pains in the side and limbs, specks before the eyes and a general peevish, irritable condition.

All these troubles are the direct result of indigestion. Cure this by strengthening the stomach and digestive system with Mi-on-a stomach tablets and your symptoms of ill-health will vanish like dew before the morning sun. Life will be joyous, and digestion will be so natural that you will forget you have a stomach. Mi-on-a stomach tablets cost but 50c a box and are sold under an absolute guarantee that they will be successful in every case where used according to directions, or money will be refunded.

Symptoms.

A physician was talking about his patient's symptoms.

"Young, strong people don't give me enough symptoms when they are ill," he said, "but the middle aged and the aged give me too many. Thinking about their health all the time, studying their condition all the time, the aged and the middle aged discover a symptom in every muscle, in every organ, in every limb. Thus they confuse me."

"The average sufferer of fifty or so will pour upon my head a deluge of symptoms like this:

"Well, doctor, I'm miserable all over, feverish one minute, freezing the next. I've a gnawing pain in my hip and side and back and an all over sensation in the stomach, with a shooting, neuralgic headache over the left eye. I have a queer taste in my mouth, a 'disinfectant' when I stoop over and a dull ache up and down the right side, along with a kind of numbness. I cough a lot, my throat's sore, and I've the carache. Appetite's fair, but not what it should be. I have a feeling of lassitude, and I'm very weak. These are only a few of my main symptoms. To proceed, etc."—Exchange.

An Unsettled Spirit.
A contented spirit was Mrs. Snow's, so contented that at times her neighbors found it trying and took an unrighteous satisfaction in presenting any small thorns which might prick through her comfort.

"No, my angle hasn't the measles," said Mrs. Snow one day. "Well, perhaps it seems strange she should escape the epidemic, but my children are unusually fortunate always in those respects. Of course I take the best of care of them, and, then, they inherit a tendency to throw off any germs. I anticipate no illness with angle."

In spite of this the redoubtable angle came down with measles a week later, and the inquiring friend again approached Mrs. Snow.

"Yes, dear angle has the measles at last," said the contented mother. "Now, most of the other children are well, and as the doctor has plenty of time to attend to her it really seemed an opportunity for angle. I don't suppose there ever was a child on whom they came over more beautifully than on angle. I tell the doctor I think he may well be proud of his little patient."—Youth's Companion.

—When a woman suffers from depressing weakness, she then keenly realizes how helpless—how thoroughly worthless she is. Dr. Shoop has brought relief to thousands of such women. He reaches diseases peculiar to women in two direct, specific ways—a local treatment known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Night Cure, and a constitutional or internal prescription called Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is applied locally, and at night. It works while you sleep. It reduces inflammation, it stops discharges, it breaks, it soothes, it comforts, it cures.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative (tablet or liquid form) is a constitutional, nerve tissue, tonic. It brings renewed strength, lasting ambition and vigor to weak, lifeless women.

These two remedies, taken together, have an irresistible, positive helpful power. Try them a month and see.

The Atmosphere.
Even if it were possible for man to live without breathing air he could not exist on earth if it were without an atmosphere. Plants derive carbon, the most important element of their food, from the air, and without plants there could be no food for animals and therefore no human beings. Water also comes from the atmosphere, but if there were no water there could be neither plants nor animals. If food and water could be supplied in some other way the world would still be uninhabitable by plants and animals owing to the severity of the cold. Without an atmosphere there would be no winds and consequently no waves or ocean currents. The sea—if we may suppose one to have been supplied by some unknown cause—would be a stagnant pool, uninhabitable by seaweed or fish.

DOCTORS CHANGE THEIR METHODS.

Years ago they fought catarrh by internal dosing. They saw this ruined the stomach and changed to the osmotic air cure, better known as "Catarrhose." This treatment is sure to cure. It goes to the source of the disease; it destroys the causes that maintain catarrh and even in the worst cases permanent cure is guaranteed. Failure with Catarrhose is impossible. Antiseptic, healing and far-reaching, it's bound to cure every time. Endorsed by more than twenty thousand physicians in America alone and sold in 25c. and $1.00 sizes by all dealers.

A CHEMICAL JUBILEE.

Coal-Tar Color Discoverer Honored By Notable Experimentalists of England and Continent.

Fifty years ago William Perkin, an English lad not out of his teens, was experimenting with coal tar in order to discover a method by which quinine might be made. As he worked he separated from the mass a substance that later experiments proved to be a kind of lilac dye. This he called mauveine sulfate, and from it the color mauve is secured. If the discovery was made by the same kind of magnificent accident that led Christopher Columbus to America the boy realized instantly its importance.

The Celebration.
A few days ago Sir William Perkin sat in the Royal Institute of London surrounded by some of the most noted experimental chemists of England and the Continent. The coal-tar color jubilee, the gathering was called, and its purpose was to commemorate the discovery of the dyes and do honor to the great chemist whose investigations gave them to the world. A portrait of Sir William and a statue were presented to him, both to become the property of the nation after his death.

A considerable sum of money also was raised in honor of the event, to constitute the Perkin fund for the encouragement of chemical research. From all quarters came congratulations, tributes, honors and degrees for Sir William Perkin, and perhaps for the first time he was made to appreciate the size of the debt the chemical and manufacturing world owes him.

A Classical Hall.
A wealth of historic association is attached to the room where the presentations were made. There it was that Faraday discovered the hydrocarbon benzene in 1825, and before the speakers, as though to stimulate their eloquence, lay on a table the original specimen of benzene, discovered 81 years ago. There Davy and Tyndall worked and Hofmann lectured. Speaking of Faraday, Sir William said that he remembered as a boy writing to ask for a ticket that would admit him to his own lectures. Faraday was about to deliver on electricity. Back came the order, written in the great man's own hand, in less than half a dozen years the enthusiastic schoolboy was to read a paper on "Coloring Matter Derived From Coal Tar."

And Faraday was to sit and listen to him. Between the discovery of benzene and mauveine sulfate there was an intimate connection, for benzene was the initial product for the production of aniline. Bishop Berkeley, who worked two centuries ago, recognized by Sir Henry as a scientific ancestor. He was a greatly indebted. He also had the most generous compliments to Hofmann, Cahours, Pasteur, Berthelot and Wurtz.

His Father's Trust.

Sir William's speech was notable for its modesty. He declared that his greatest regret was that his father and brother were not living to stand beside him, and share with him the honors of the occasion. They deserved it as much as he did. He was a boy of 18 when the discovery was made, and apart from chemistry, knew no more than another 18-year-old boy. His youth was a tremendous handicap when he sought for financial backing to turn his discoveries to commercial account. His father, however, risked all his savings in the new venture, and the firm that manufactured the first aniline dyes was Perkin and Sons, a brother having also joined the enterprise. A youth of 18, William had never been inside a chemical works. The raw materials had to be got together, the processes of manufacture devised, special apparatus designed, and when the dye was made the right way of using it had to be found out. Sir William realized that his father and brother lived long enough to see their confidence rewarded, and the undertaking a financial success, as well as a recognized scientific triumph.

A Benefit to Germany.
When the mauve dye was discovered the silk dyers took to it readily, but the manufacturers of calico and cotton did not, until Frenchmen led the way. The silk dyers realized their mistake and quickly rectified it, but what must be said about the aniline dye industry itself? Discovered by an Englishman in a land where it should have found its greatest market, it was only a few years until the war began was transplanted to Germany. The German chemists at the jubilee admitted the debt their country owed to Perkin. One of them said that he and his colleagues were gardeners in a beautiful domain planted by the English scientist fifty years ago. Prof. Armstrong, writing to the Times, says:

"During the last quarter of a century the color industry has certainly been the mainstay of the German universities; a great army of workmen, fed by accomplished, highly-trained foremen, has been engaged in its service; and engineering appliances of the most refined character have been introduced into the works. It is probably safe to assert that no other industry requires the same amount of insight and grasp of principle, and that no other industry deserves so fully to be termed a scientific industry—in point of fact the modern color works is nothing more nor less than a scientific laboratory on a large scale, conducted with commercial ends in view, the color manufacturer having to deal with the most recalcitrant of scientific problems."

It is a pleasure to know that Sir William Perkin is alive to hear his praises sung. After 20 years spent in successful technical work, he returned to pure science and gave to the chemical world those fruitful methods known as Perkin's Reaction. The goal toward which he was passing when he made the discovery of mauve has never been reached, nor would it be of more than casual scientific interest should it ever be attained, for the Dutch have carried the cultivation of cinchona bark to such a degree of perfection that the artificial manufacture of quinine would never be a commercial success. The only regret proper to this occasion is that England was not the greatest gainer by a great Englishman's work.

An M. P. But Not a Voter.

It is strange for people on this side of the Atlantic—with its registration of voters in Ontario and Manitoba and its recording of all qualified to vote across the border—to read in The London Daily Chronicle that although Mr. Austen Chamberlain has been a member of the House of Commons at Westminster since 1892, he has not been an elector after his marriage a few days ago, when he became a householder on his own account, and thus qualified to exercise the Parliamentary franchise. Hitherto, although an M. P., he could not legally enter a polling place. The fact was once utilized by his father to illustrate some of the anomalies and absurdities of our electoral system. "Let me take a concrete case. I have a son. He does me the honor to dwell under my roof. He is legally qualified to occupy a seat in this House, but the law will not permit him to vote in any election of a member of this House." And that son was Chancellor of the Exchequer, and controlled all the manifold strings of John Bull's purse. Yet he could not vote at a Parliamentary election!

A Davitt Story.

The Tribune of London in speaking of Michael Davitt gives this characteristic story of the Irish patriot while in prison: "This high strung and keenly intelligent man was put to a task for which he was physically unfitted, that of pulling trolley loads of stone through the quarry, and many a time a poor wretched criminal, sympathizing with the one armed man, would give an extra pull to spare his disabled chum. A few months ago Davitt was passing down Ludgate Hill and was startled to see this Christian criminal selling pennyworths at the curb. Needless to say, Davitt bought his whole stock and a day or two later set him up in business with a new and better stock. 'I have kept straight, Mr. Davitt, so help me, God,' the poor fellow protested."

Lord Chancellor and Motorists.

Sitting in the Court of Appeal at the law courts, and giving judgment in a matter which arose out of personal injuries inflicted on a cyclist by a motor-car, the Lord Chancellor said it was desirable that drivers of motor-cars, as well as of other vehicles, should realize that not only able-bodied people, but deaf, blind and nervous people, decrepit, old people and children, were quite as much entitled to the use of his highway as they, and that if anyone thought proper so to drive that there was no chance left of averting serious consequences, and a mistake of judgment or miscalculation be made by a wayfarer, the driver would have to pay for it in damages.

PLAINT OF THE SIWASH

REASON WHY CHIEFS WILL SEEK TO SEE THE KING.

The White Man Has Broken Faith by Encroaching on the Indian Lands and the Tribesmen Want Redress—Chinook Address of Farewell Spoken by City Comptroller Gibson of Vancouver.

"Mayor Buscombe myu slo tum tum halo chaco wawa klahowya yaka Siwash tikkum. Yaka wawa nika wawa mika tighes. King Edward pettoch koway lita mika. Tighes yaka wawa klahowya, klahowya, yaka wawa kops canim kops mittit illahee."

In these words Mr. Gibson, City Comptroller of Vancouver, wished ben voyage to the two Indian chiefs and their interpreter who are now on their way to London, England, their object being to see King Edward and "lay at the foot of the throne" their grievances against the white men, "who have taken away their lands and interfered with the fishing and hunting rights which their fathers enjoyed." A free translation of Mr. Gibson's Chinook address is:

"Mayor Buscombe's heart is grieved because he could not be at the station to say good-bye to his Siwash friends. He hoped King Edward would grant their wishes. He wished them a pleasant journey and a safe return in the big canoe to their own homes."

No Forked Tongue Has Joe. The Indian chiefs hoped to reach London by the end of July. It was their intention to stop off at Kamloops where a big pow-wow was to be held, and where another chief may join them. If time permits they desire to wait on the Great White Chief Laurier at Ottawa.

Chief Joe Capilano is the head of the deputation, and with him is Chief Charley of the famous fighting Cowichan.

Chief Joe always speaks with a straight tongue, and he will not mince his language when he sees the King at Buckingham Palace. As King Edward cannot be expected to understand Chinook, an interpreter, August, of the Coghlan tribe, is with him and Chief Louis of Kamloops is expected to be of the party.

"I go to see the King in England," said Chief Joe as he was entraining. "I will speak to him of what his Indian subjects want. I will tell you what some back what he says. I will tell you his hand is loyalty for you. He is the son of the Indians and the whites. Under him all are one big family. When I see the King I will tell him that his subjects are all faithful in British Columbia. I will tell you all what the King says when I get back."

Pictureque at Any Rate.

"God Save the King" then struck up the Indian drum and pipe band, which was at the station to see the chiefs upon his way to the far city across the great ocean and the vast sea. A strange sight was presented at the station. Chief Joe was in kingly costume. A great fur hat of moose skin, nearly a foot high with the tail dangling down his back was as unobtrusive as a feather. He had been a panama, yet the day was his hottest thus far this summer. A woven reed blanket fell below his knees and almost put out of sight the ready-made white man's trousers.

The Whites Indicted.

"The whites are crowding us out, they are taking away our heritage." That is the burden of the address which the chiefs will present to the King. Missionaries have put the document in formal style so that it starts out thus: "May it please your Majesty. Perhaps we are among the most remote of your Majesty's subjects, yet we give place to none in our loyalty and devotion to your Majesty's person and to the British Crown. Our home is beyond the great Atlantic Ocean, beyond the vast island seas of Canada, beyond the vast wheat-growing prairies of Manitoba, beyond the majestic Rocky Mountains, away on the shores of the Pacific Ocean. We bring greetings to your Majesty from thousands of true and loyal hearts, from the Indians and the whites, and from the people of our country, and it is because of our love to your Majesty, coupled with the desire to live in harmony with the white people who are filling up our country, that we appeal to your Majesty in person."

No Treaty Indians in B. C.

The address proceeds to point out that there are no treaty Indians in British Columbia, such as there are in other provinces of Canada. Here the Indian title has never been extinguished.

"Many years ago," it proceeds, "St. James Douglas came to our country and told us he had been sent by her Majesty, the late Queen Victoria, whom we learned to love like a mother, and whom we continue to mourn. St. James told us that large numbers of white people would come to our country and in order to prevent trouble, he designated large tracts of land for our use and told us that if any white people encroached on those lands he would remove them, which he did, and that we should receive remuneration for other lands settled upon by the white people, but when we asked for anything, we were refused. But when Sir James was no longer Governor, white settlers upon our lands and titles were issued to them by the British Columbia Government."

Have No Phil.

The Indians naively add that, being without votes, they can get no redress, so they trust his Majesty's ear will be open to their cry. They point out that at one time the whites were glad to employ them, but now Chinese and Japanese take their places in the labor market.

"We know how to work as well as the white man," they say, "we have our families to keep as well as the white man, then why should we not have the same privileges as the white man?" This is no doubt a reference to the fact that it is illegal for Indians to drink intoxicating liquors. The Indians ask the King to "send a good man, or some good men to British Columbia who will see and hear and take a report to your Majesty. We leave ourselves in your Majesty's hands and trust we may be able to return to our people with good news."

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is poisoned with poisons which come from indigestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of his native roots as medicinal agents, and he went to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a class of any other. This fact puts it in a class of its own, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The Golden Medical Discovery cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowels and all morbid affections of the system. It is a powerful purgative, and what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

The Babu Bargainer.

A Calcutta man advertised for sale a shotgun "specially suited for snipe shooting." A Babu made him the following offer:

"Honorable Sir, re Gun.—I have the distinction to reply to you in the Statesman paper of Sunday date, and would ask you to lend me the gun for a careful inspection, and if I find it gives satisfaction, I shall come to terms with a very reasonable offer. I will try some bigger games than the snipe to prove that it is a real hard hitter. I presume it would be safe to try conclusions with against the tiger, the leopard, the panther, and such like jungle denizens of India. I have the honor to be, sir, your humble servant, G. W. C. (B.A.)."

Author's Joke.

An author paying his first visit to a married acquaintance, asked the name of a sprightly little girl whose winning ways had attracted his attention.

"We call her Ella," said the child's mother.

"That is a good name," remarked the author. "It has been made classic by Charles Lamb."

"Well, to tell the truth," explained the lady, "her name is Cornelia, but it's easier to call her Ella."

"I see," the caller rejoined. "It is the painless extraction of a corn!"—London Tit-Bits.

Black Men in Persia.

Old inscriptions and carvings have shown that there existed in ancient Persia members of a race of black skinned men who possessed features resembling those of Africans. The origin of these people as well as their appearance in modern times has furnished puzzling questions for ethnologists. Some have supposed that in prehistoric times the greater part of southern Asia was occupied by a primitive black race of which only vestiges remained when the empires of Babylonia and Assyria arose.

Charming Fancy Work Apron—Covers of Dotted Muslin.

All the shops show fancy work aprons in these warm weather fancy working days. Some of them are exquisite scraps of lace and lawn, with generous pockets for silks, scissors, etc., so that the wearer does not have to have a working at hand.

One of the daintiest materials for covers and fancy chemises is dotted muslin, if one is inclined to put any fancy work or embroidery into these garments. The white dots form an excellent and easy background on which to work. One of the most effective ways is to embroider the dots of the front in an inverted pyramid.

The woman who buys a smart belt and blouse and hat can look extremely modish in the plainest and least pretentious of frocks. It pays to give a somewhat high price for ready made accessories, because through this outlay an effect may be obtained that would cost much more if secured by employing an expensive dressmaker.

Very smart are the new waistcoats and sleeve cuffs of chambray leather delicately and closely embroidered in Persian patterns, so that they look like antique rugs of the finest description.

The leather does not show, but a resemblance of it is noticeable in the cloth used for the remainder of the gown. It is called nankin and is just the soft shade of yellow used for men's breeches in the old days. With a corset-like gown of nankin cloth a bolero of Persian embroidery executed in soft gray, pink and blue shades is lovely and becoming to the wearer.

The hat pictured is exquisite for wear at a garden party. It is of white malines shirred over cords. The crown is composed of tiny frills of lace. Pink roses are arranged bandeau fashion in front and the strings are of black velvet.

All Black Hats in Vogue Again—Pink and Blue Hydrangeas Trim Hats.

Plenty of all black hats are worn this summer even with white costumes or with pastel creations that have set the world of fashion by the ears. The all black hat fits so absolutely into its former place that it is a great wonder it has been deposited for so long.

A new flower for millinery decoration threatens the popularity of the rose—the hydrangea in the natural pink and blue tints that remind one of delicate cloud tints in a beautiful sunset.

YOUNG MAN FOOLS POLICE

He Gets Major Coogan Investigating Holdup That Didn't Occur

HE IS OFF IN HIS HEAD

The Police authorities were aroused Saturday evening by the report that the two young McNaughton girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNaughton, of Harwich, were held up while returning home from town about eight o'clock.

The details of the report were that the two young girls, who are students at the Collegiate Institute, had been in the city Saturday and had made some purchases. While driving along a country road, near Frank Wilson's corner, they were stopped by a couple of men, and told to hold up their hands. They were thoroughly frightened and did as they were told. The men then proceeded to rob them. They took their watches, and all the money out of their purses, and also took the groceries the girls were taking home.

They threw the empty purses back in the buggy and made good their escape. The men were described as tough looking characters, poorly dressed and mean looking.

It was said that a young man named Terrington, who is supposed to have given the information, was returning home from Wilson's at the time and heard the girls screaming. He was on a wheel, and went to their assistance at once. When the men saw Terrington coming they ran away towards the G. T. R. railroad track. Terrington left the girls to go home alone, and came to town to notify the police.

Several conjectures were made as to who the men could be. It was remembered that four men were arrested in Brantford on Friday evening for this same sort of work, and that two of them got away. It was thought that these two men were the two who got away.

Mike Wilson was telephoned to, and told of the supposed hold-up, and as he had two relatives on the road on their way home at the time, he hit upon his horse and came to meet them. Two desperate looking characters had called at his home on Saturday afternoon, and he thought that the two supposed robbers were the same men, and he felt that he could identify them.

Major Coogan, Kent County's High Constable, hired a rig yesterday and drove out to McNaughton's place in Harwich, and found that the McNaughton girls had had no such experience. They had driven into the city on Saturday evening with a friend, and had gone to Wallaceburg, so that they could not have been held up coming back from town.

The young man Terrington, at this point began to waver in his story, and got considerably mixed up. He began talking of some incident at Bridge End. A visit to M. Wilson's revealed the information that the young man Terrington is not reliable when it comes to relating stories of this character, and is rather off in his head at times. The only conclusion the Major could come to was that the young man had come to the whole business, and he had to come back to the city without any information to work on.

The report has raised considerable excitement in the township of Harwich, and the result has been that there is a great many in the whole district who will venture out after dark, alone. Terrington had his facts so straight that every one was taken in with his story. There were quite a number relieved when they found out that the story of the holdup was not true.

CANADA'S INTERESTS FIRST.

Strathcona Thinks Reorganization of "High Jesters" Will Be Unnecessary.

London, Aug. 27.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Strathcona informed the representative of The Standard that he did not think the reorganization of the joint high commission would be necessary.

"From what I know the imperial Government is anxious that all outstanding disputes should be settled, as is the Dominion Government; and the Canadian people may rest assured no action will be taken on this side that does not consider their best interests. Any action Lord Elgin may take will be based on the view of those best qualified to represent the interests of Canada."

Use But Little Alcohol.

London, Aug. 27.—The resident medical officer of University College Hospital says the amount of alcohol prescribed by hospital doctors is steadily diminishing in quantity. The official of Guy's Hospital says in 1905, when there was 5,624 in-patients, the expenditure for malt liquor was only £9. In 1896, with 6,500 in-patients the expenditure was £17. At one time beer was considered an ordinary part of a patient's diet. That idea now has quite disappeared.

Potato Blight in Ireland.

London, Aug. 27.—The Manchester Guardian's Dublin correspondent confirms the report of potato blight in Western Ireland. There is no doubt that the ravages are serious and widespread. The blight was first noticed in the Moycullen district, and in Galway. The disease has struck the crop everywhere during the severe rains of the last fortnight.

GENERAL MIN ASSASSINATED

WAS KILLED INSTANTLY

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Gen. Min, commander of the Semenovskiy Guard regiment, who suppressed the riots at Moscow last December, was assassinated at Peterhof last night.

Gen. Min was at the railway station with his family when he was killed.

The deed was committed by a young girl, who fired five revolver shots into his back, killing him instantly.

Madame Min seized the assassin by the hand and held her until the police arrived. After her arrest the girl showed the police a bomb lying in the station, telling them to beware.

On July 18 last it was reported that some of the soldiers of the Semenovskiy Guard at Krasnaya-Selo had served notice on Gen. Min that they intended to kill him at the first opportunity for forcing the police to murder their fellow-citizens in the Moscow revolt and that Min, in fear of his life, had fled the camp.

This Bomb Was Premature.

Odessa, Aug. 27.—Late Saturday evening a girl dropped a bomb in the Nicholas Boulevard, 50 paces from the palace of Governor-General Kaulbars.

No one was injured except the girl who dropped the bomb, whose hand was shattered.

It is supposed the bomb accidentally fell from her hand before she had reached the entrance to the palace.

Russian Train Robbery.

Moscow, Aug. 27.—Twelve armed men Saturday held up the Ivanovo passenger train, about fifty miles from here, and robbed the railway cashier of $2,500 and escaped to the forest. Subsequently two of the robbers were arrested.

Preston Appeals.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—An appeal in the Port Arthur and Rainy River election case will be taken by W. A. Preston (Liberal). He protests against Judge Teetzel striking out the votes cast by aliens and infants (those under 21), who were on the voters' list. The election trial is due at Port Arthur Oct. 8, and the appeal will probably be heard during the first sitting of the Court of Appeal, which begins on Sept. 17.

The Halleybury Fire Inquest.

Halleybury, Aug. 27.—Investigation into the cause of the recent fire here was continued Saturday, and, though carried on well through the day, very little new evidence was brought out. The court adjourned, till Sept. 14, to give the authorities time to collect more evidence.

Sergt. E. J. Bowen Dead.

Belleville, Aug. 27.—Sergt. E. J. Bowen, for twenty-one years a member of the old 100th Canadian Regiment, and who was with it in Malta, Gibraltar and other places, is dead, at Frankford. He was also a veteran of the Northwest rebellion.

Depositors Are Paid $150,000.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—More than $150,000 was paid to depositors in the Standard Bank Saturday on the 20 per cent. dividend, first disbursements of which were made Friday. About 1,600 persons passed through the doors.

Cabinet Meeting To-Day.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has returned to the city from Quebec. An important meeting of the Cabinet will be held to-day.

Injured in Fight, Dies.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Thomas Oulette died yesterday as a result of being knocked down in a fight with Napoleon Beyer a week ago.

Second Victim Is Dead.

St. Thomas, Aug. 27.—Alexander Wiley, the C. P. R. baggage man, who was injured in the Wabash and C. P. R. collision Friday, died yesterday morning at the Amasa Wood Hospital. He was born near Gilmara, Ont. 59 years ago, residing in St. Thomas 26 years. Mr. Wiley leaves a widow, one daughter and one son, until lately a brakeman on the M. C. R.

Hamilton Carmen to Strike.

Hamilton, Aug. 27.—Everybody will walk in Hamilton on Tuesday, at least that was the general opinion expressed on the streets yesterday. Although the Electric Railway employees have conceded nearly every point so far in order to avert a strike there is every indication that at the meeting of the men to-night they will go no farther, but will stand by their guns, and if the company does not take some action in the way of a settlement in the meantime a strike will be declared, and not a car will move out of the yards until union operation on Tuesday morning.

The public, which is with the men, is becoming rather annoyed at the slowness of the union in taking some action.

The impression has gone abroad in some quarters that the new law affecting the salaries of rural school teachers takes effect at once. This is a mistake; it does not go into operation until the 1st of January next. The increased township grants will have to be levied this year, however, giving the school boards an opportunity to improve the accommodation and equipment of their schools with the extra income for this year.

Commenting on the statement of an eastern paper that salaries of $100 per annum are not uncommon for school teachers in the Province of Quebec, the Chatham Record-Herald says: "The jockeys and bill players down there. This is hitting too high in the social scale. Why not ask how much the wash-lady gets for her skilled labor? In Windsor no member of her haughty guild will touch a washboard short of $1.25 for a day of six hours—Windsor Ex."

A Peterboro medical man is an authority for the statement that the style of wearing short sleeves is one of the worst fads for the followers of fashion which has ever been adopted. He says: "There is nothing that will cause the hair on any part of the body, to grow as quickly as will exposure to the sun and wind. In hot climates savages wear not hats, and the hair is most luxuriant. Short girls that are now wearing short sleeves, simply to be in the fashion, will regret it in a couple of years when they see long hair growing on their arms."

WABASH STRIKES C.P.R.

Fatal Side-On Collision a Mile From St. Thomas.

John McKay, St. Thomas, Engineer C. P. R. Train, Is Dead From Scalds—Alex. Wiley, St. Thomas, Baggage-man C. P. R., Badly Crushed, and S. Patterson, Toronto Junction, C. P. R. Fireman, Scalded.

St. Thomas, Aug. 25.—A side-on collision took place at 6:20 yesterday morning between the C. P. R. passenger train as it was leaving for Toronto and a Wabash passenger train coming west into the city at a crossing protected only by semaphores just outside the city limits, one mile and a half from the C. P. R. station.

The passengers, numbering between 300 and 400, all escaped injury. The engineer, John McKay, of the C. P. R., died within an hour after being taken out of the wreck, being terribly scalded.

Alex. Wiley, baggage man of the C. P. R. train, is fatally injured, his head being terribly crushed. He is not expected to recover.

S. Patterson, C. P. R. fireman, is also terribly scalded, and is not likely to live.

The engineer and fireman of the Wabash escaped injury.

Railways Dispute Blame.
The officials of the C. P. R. claim they had the right of way, and the semaphore was against the Wabash passenger train. The Wabash claim the fault lies with the C. P. R.

The Wabash engine struck the C. P. R. between the cab and tender, and both engines are total wrecks. The escape of the passengers was miraculous.

The C. P. R. conductor, Peter Stewart, received an injury to his head, and is badly shaken up. Manse Bridge, Dominion express messenger on the C. P. R. train, escaped injury by holding on to a rope in the car.

John McKay was 32 years of age, and only lately came here from London. He leaves a wife and two children. Alex. Wiley was 60 years of age, and he used to be conductor on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad. He was an old employee of the C. P. R.

Later—Mansfield, Bridge of St. Thomas, Dominion express messenger, who was supposed to have escaped injury and helped to rescue the other injured men, suddenly became delirious and on being examined found his back and side were severely injured.

James Potts, Wabash fireman, St. Thomas, had both wrists badly sprained.

Peter Stewart, the veteran C. P. R. conductor of St. Thomas, has slight injuries to left hip and arm and a bruise on the forehead.

The signal man at the diamond, Wm. Hall, bears out the C. P. R. crew story that they had the right-of-way, and the signal was against the Wabash.

An inquest was opened at the Court House before Coroner Luton, who empaneled a jury, viewed the remains of the dead engineer, John McKay, of Toronto Junction, and adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Ottawa Man Killed.
Cornwall, Aug. 25.—The man whose terribly mutilated remains were found on the G. T. R. between Summersville and Lanark on Thursday morning, has been identified as John Cavanaugh of Ottawa. Mrs. Cavanaugh, who is left with three small children, recognized the remains.

Arm Caught Between Rollers.
Toronto, Aug. 25.—D. P. Dwyer, 43 Yorkville avenue, an employee of Smith Bros., 210 East Front street, had his arm badly lacerated and broken yesterday afternoon. He was working at a carding machine, and the arm caught between the rollers. He was taken to the General.

WANTS FIELDING'S ANSWER.
Council For Petitioner Appeals to the Supreme Court.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 25.—In the Fielding election case, the counsel for the petitioner has given notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the ruling of the election court, excusing Mr. Fielding from answering questions put for the purpose of securing evidence to prove the personal charges against the respondent.

The question was as to the amount of money which Mr. Fielding had admitted he paid Hon. E. M. Farrell in connection with the election of 1900, and the election court upheld him in his refusal to answer. It is from this ruling that the appeal is taken.

SENATOR LOVITT COMMITTED.
Hearing of President of Defunct Yarmouth Bank Concluded.

Yarmouth, Aug. 25.—The preliminary examination of Senator Lovitt and Samuel A. Crowell, president and vice-president respectively of the defunct Bank of Yarmouth, who were charged by J. Lyons Hatfield, a shareholder, with making false returns to the Government, was concluded yesterday.

Both defendants were committed for trial in the High Court. The evidence showed $352,000 of past due debts returned as current loans.

Italian Uses a Knife.
Toronto, Aug. 25.—The Italian and his knife got busy shortly after midnight at Simcoe and Queen streets. Tony Genetto, 322 West Adelaide street, was there with his pushcart. Harry Roseman, 193 West Adelaide street, came along, and purchased 5 cents' worth of peaches. While Genetto was counting off the fruit, Roseman took a peach off the cart and started to eat it. This angered Genetto, who drew a knife and opened it with his teeth. Roseman ran a few feet and was caught by the Italian and stabbed in the left side. Both were mixed up on the pavement when E. C. Wilson came along and placed them both under arrest.

GALE AT THE RANGES.

Still O. R. A. Men Made Some Very Good Shooting.
Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Aug. 25.—A young gale frolicked on the ranges nearly all day of the last matches of the Ontario Rifle Association this year, yesterday, but there was remarkable shooting considering the conditions.

The Gzowski match, which was the last one, provided the spectacular feature. It is a skirmishing and quick-firing competition, covering nearly all distances on the ranges, and is named after the late Col. Stanislaw Gzowski. The teams went in two relays and the result showed the 13th Regiment of Hamilton in front, with 44 points. The first team of the Grenadiers was next, followed by the Queens' Own and a tie between the Ottawa Foot Guards and the fifth team of the Grenadiers.

The militia aggregate goes to Corp. McGregor G.G.B.G., 345 points, with Sergt. Armstrong, next at 342.

The team prizes in the Tait-Brassey match will not be announced till to-day, as they are very close and the statistical officers had to go over them again.

Sergt. P. Armstrong, R.G., won the "all-comers" aggregate with a score of 252, and secures the O. R. A. silver medal. Staff-Sergt. Simpson won the Lord Tennyson match.

25 KILLED; 109 WOUNDED.

Official Aftermath of the Attempt on Alfonso's Life.
Madrid, Aug. 25.—The newspapers of this city Thursday printed the report of the examining magistrate in the case of the coronation bomb throwing.

The police maintain the charges against Senor Ferrer, director of the model school of Barcelona, and Hamino, who assisted in the escape of Morales.

To persons who suffered damage to property by the explosion the magistrate awards $3,970 damages.

The report of the magistrate adds that by the explosion twenty-five persons were killed and 109 wounded, of which latter number fourteen are still convalescing.

The report says that the evidence proves that Morales sent bombs from Barcelona to Paris to be used in an attempt on the life of King Alfonso while he was in the latter city.

REUBEN DOWD WRECKED.

Gale Drove Her Ashore at Toronto Island—A Heroic Rescue.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Brought in by her crew, who had been bravely rescued by a volunteer life-saving crew, the coal schooner Reuben Dowd lay all yesterday off Ward's Island, wedged deeply in the sandbar just west of the eastern gap, to be pounded and battered to pieces, 400 yards from shore by the relentless fury of the ponderous waves. She is now a total loss.

Gale Snaps Big Cables.
The gale which drove the Dowd aground also carried the gigantic clam-shell dredge of Mr. J. Haney, the contractor, before it, snapping two of her big steel anchoring cables and dragging at the ends of those remaining, two huge rocks, estimated to weigh 5 tons each, and landing her among the boulders alongside of the breakwater which protects the south shore of Ward's Island.

Driven Ashore at 4 a. m.
The Reuben Dowd was driven ashore and wrecked on the island about two hundred feet west of the eastern channel about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in probably the fiercest gale that has swept over Lake Ontario this season.

The Dowd was on her way up from Fair Haven and had a cargo of 725 tons of hard coal for the Conger Coal Co. The schooner is a complete loss. She was jointly owned by Capt. Joyce, the master of the vessel, and the Conger Coal Co. She was valued at $15,000 and the cargo at about $4,000. It may be possible to save much of the latter.

A heavy sea was running, and for over four hours the occupants of the schooner had a thrilling experience in the rigging or other parts of the vessel not directly exposed, and there they remained, combating exhaustion until the rescuers arrived.

The Rescue.
The plight of the Dowd was watched by many island residents, among whom was Capt. Ward, and the Government lifeboat was manned by Capt. Ward, his sons, F. and E. Ward, William, Thomas and Harry Ramsden, John Montgomery and Thomas and Hector McDonald. Then all their experience and ingenuity were brought into play, and they finally succeeded in their nifty mission.

The captain of the schooner, who was taken off first, then his 15-year old son; and three men of the crew followed, and the captain was last. It took three-quarters of an hour to get the seven aboard, with a few personal effects. The rescued ones were taken over by the launch Lillian and transported across the bay.

Those rescued were Capt. John Joyce, Bronte; Mrs. Joyce, cook; J. W. Joyce, captain's son; A. Hinton, mate of South Bay; Harry Williamson, seaman; William Smithson and A. Pearson, Toronto.

Three May Be Drowned.
Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 25.—It is feared that Mr. and Mrs. George Dewitt of New York, and R. W. Wenden of Cape Vincent were drowned Thursday night during a squall on Lake Ontario. Mr. Dewitt, who is a broker in New York, and wife have been stopping in Cape Vincent for the past two weeks, and had not returned home from their wedding journey.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.
Halleybury, Merchant Questioned Pointedly Concerning the Blaze.

Halleybury, Aug. 25.—The evidence brought out yesterday in the investigation of the big Halleybury fire goes to show that the fire originated in a very suspicious manner. The first witness called, J. A. Deservau, said he met a man running from a lane in rear of the Atkinson block. He looked as though he was in a hurry to get away. This was about ten minutes before the fire was discovered.

Mr. Myles, Dr. Jackson, Mr. Brydan and P. Roberts, testified that they noticed a small fire under the warehouse of McCabe & Stinson's at about half-past eleven in the evening, and had put it out, and Dr. Jackson further stated the fire broke out almost in that identical place about 3 a. m. and had gained considerable headway before anyone saw it, and the alarm was raised.

Assigned Since Fire.
W. H. Stinson of McCabe & Stinson was afterwards called, and admitted that their business was in a bad way, and that they had tried to sell out to different parties. The bank had shut down, and the owners had had to be returned during July, though expenses had considerably exceeded the business done, so that they were practically running at a loss, and since the fire they had made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors.

Several other witnesses were called, but nothing further of any account was brought out.

The investigation was adjourned till to-day at 9 o'clock.

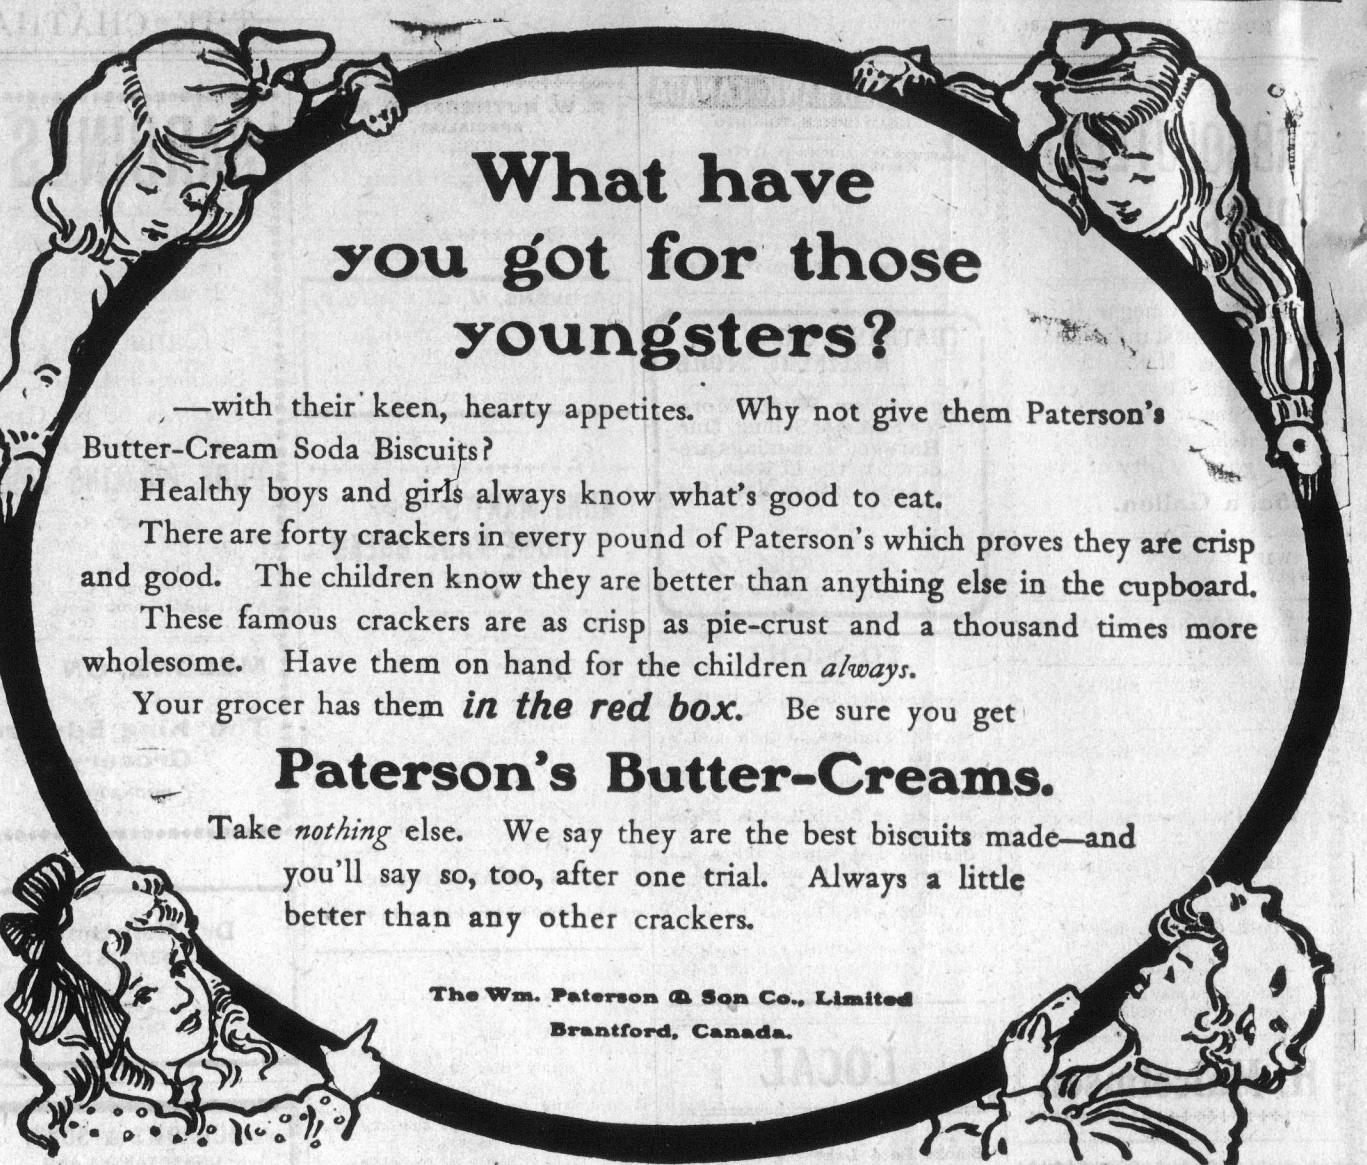

SMOKE CHAUS WRECK.
Sugar Laden Ship Runs Ashore on British Columbia Coast.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 25.—Bush fires, raging both on Vancouver Island, the smaller islands of the Gulf of Georgia and the adjacent mainland, are working incalculable loss in timber and rendering navigation both difficult and dangerous, especially between Nanaimo and Vancouver.

The Watt line steamship Twickenham, of 2,538 tons, laden with raw sugar from Java for the Vancouver refinery, in a dense fog yesterday morning ran on a bad line of rocks extending out from Sea Juan Island, where she still hangs in a dangerous position. The accident occurred at high tide and it is feared the ship will break before she can be lightened.

Completed Wireless Stations.
London, Aug. 25.—(C. A. P.)—Signor Marconi, interviewed prior to his departure for Canada, stated that the Clifton Wireless Station, South Ireland, would be completed in December. The one at Cape Breton would also soon be completed, and from these stations it would be possible to send messages across the Atlantic.

Blaze In Toronto Junction.
Toronto Junction, Aug. 25.—Yesterday afternoon six houses on Edmond street were damaged by fire to the extent of $10,000, with losses to contents placed at about $2,500.

MAY BE MURDER.

Glouce Bay Jury Will Investigate Death of Twin Infants.
Glouce Bay, N. S., Aug. 24.—Two infants disappeared mysteriously from here on Tuesday, and their mother, named McKenzie, whose husband is in parts unknown, said the children had died, when she had taken them away with her on a berry picnic excursion.

The chief of police investigated and the woman confessed to having burned them near Long Beach, Port Morien.

Accompanied by officers, she indicated the place, and a warrant for disinterment being issued, the remains were taken up and a jury empaneled.

Medical examination as to whether they met with a violent death or not is somewhat inconclusive. Blood had flowed from the nostrils of one. They were about three or four weeks old.

An inquest will be held this evening.

Dysentery

Is a form of diarrhoea, and consists of copious and frequent liquid discharges from the bowels, accompanied by painful straining sensations. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a specific for diarrhoea, dysentery, and all summer complaints, and has been a well-known remedy for 60 years. You are not taking a new and untried remedy when you use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. M. A. SUMMERFIELD, Canboro, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my family for years, and have always found it a wonderful remedy for Diarrhoea and Dysentery. I know of a great many others who have used it with the most satisfactory results."

REFUSE ALL SUBSTITUTES. THEY'RE DANGEROUS.

A "How to" Graduate.
"Now, my dear," said the young husband after the cook had left in wrath, "I will go and get a nice rib roast and some potatoes and things, and I know you can prepare a dinner that will be fit for a king."

"I could get up a luncheon, darling, but not a dinner."

"Why, you took first prize at cooking school?"

"Yes, but I only studied the branches that taught how to get up a dainty luncheon from the cold meats and scraps of yesterday's dinner. Oh, I'll tell you! You go somewhere and get some scraps and I'll make the dearest croquettes you ever tasted."—Judge.

Perhaps, the Worst.
One of the most distressing things one can suffer from is bladder trouble. Its nature, often, causes people to silently suffer.

We don't ask you to tell us of the irritation, the catarrh, the scalding—we only say, you will be prudent in trying Bu-Ju, the Gentle Kidney Pill.

Kidney troubles do not stand still. Unless steps are taken, worse will ensue. You take no chances in trying Bu-Ju. Should it fail, you can have your money back—but it won't fail. Only three cents a day.

Champion Bigamist Convicted.

England can boast of a bigamist who is the present day champion in the quick marriage line. Albert Capper is his name. He was born in the west of England, and left an orphan when a young child. He was sent to an orphanage, and from there drafted into the local workhouse, where he was taught bootmaking. But he hungered for the outside world and soon made his escape.

He enlisted in the army and joined the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. His time was up in 1893 and he left the army unmarried, a good looking man of 25 and with a few pounds in his pocket. He immediately married a young Irish girl, a servant in an officer's house at Aldershot. He had spent all her savings in three months and two weeks of hunger and want satisfied his wife. So she ran away with a man better off in the world's goods.

Capper threatened to be revenged and began revenge on the whole sex. Before the year was out he had married another girl. He lived with her for a year and then disappeared and married another woman with a little money. For a considerable time Capper lived in idleness on this third wife's money, then in turn she was deserted and he married a fourth.

Then each year he kept on the merry marriage game until he had eight wives, all living and distributed all over England. A widow was his downfall. She was very religious, had a snug little home and was good-looking. Capper boarded in her house, joined the church and also became very religious. Then the widow married him. He deserted her in five months. Soon after she engaged a new cook. This motherly woman recognized a photograph of Capper on her mistress's mantelpiece. It was the latest wedding photo. She sent the photo to her daughter in London, and the daughter recognized Capper as the man she married in London in 1903. The police by circulation-photo system soon tracked the arch-bigamist to a town in North Wales and nabbed him on the eve of his ninth wedding.

When the story got out the deserted wives promptly turned up and were all in court when the Lord Chief Justice sentenced their husband to ten years' penal servitude.

Cyclist Falls 2,000 Feet.
A terrible accident occurred recently at the Gorge of Aa, a favorite excursion rendezvous, near Sarnen, in the Canton of Obwald.

A Swiss, named Rothlin, delayed his return journey to Sarnen from the Melchthal Valley, which he had been visiting on his bicycle, and was overtaken by the night. In the darkness he lost his way, and rode out on the road which leads to the gorge and ended abruptly at a precipice nearly 2,000 feet in depth.

Rothlin, who must have been going a good pace, crashed through the wooden barrier at the end of the road, and was flung with his machine into space.

Next morning the body, which was unrecognizable, was recovered from the gorge. The victim leaves a widow and large family.

A Diplomat.
Sir Thomas Henry Sanderson, who recently retired from public life, had been permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the British Administration for a number of years. His chief characteristic was ever present caution as to committing himself to a positive statement. He always declared that the essential qualifications for a young man entering into diplomatic career was "the ability to remember all he hears and the sense to keep it to himself." A standing joke among those intimate with the Under Secretary was that he never answered the simplest remark without carefully turning it over in his mind and examining it in all its bearings.

BOMB DOES DEADLY WORK

The Death Dealing Missile Thrown in Premier Stolypin's House

THIRTY WERE KILLED

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Twenty-eight persons are dead and 30 others wounded as the result of the dastardly attempt to assassinate Premier Stolypin with a bomb while he was holding a public reception at his country house at Aptekersky Island. The Premier was slightly wounded on the face and neck by flying splinters.

Among the dead are:

The Premier's 15-year-old daughter, who had both legs broken by the explosion and subsequently succumbed to her injuries.

Gen. Zamaetin, the Premier's personal secretary.

M. Khovostev, former Governor of the Province of Penza.

Col. Federoff, chief of the Premier's personal guards.

Prince Nakladge.

Court Chamberlain Davidoff.

Court Chamberlain Veroln.

Aide Doubasoff, and

Four women and two children; a police officer and several guards and servants.

The wounded include M. Stolypin's three-year-old son, who is seriously, though not fatally injured, and a number of persons prominent in the social and official worlds.

Two conspirators killed, two wounded. Of the four conspirators who engineered the outrage, two were killed with their victims, while the third, who acted as coachman for the party, and the fourth, who remained inside the carriage, were badly wounded, and now are in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress.

Whether the assassins, who entered the crowded reception hall, threw the bomb or accidentally dropped it probably never will be known as all the immediate eye-witnesses were killed.

The tremendous force of the explosion absolutely blew out the front of the Premier's residence and carried away the ceilings above, and the floors beneath and the walls of the adjoining rooms.

Persons literally were blown to pieces. Those who were not killed instantly were horribly maimed or mangled and all the others present were prostrated by the shock.

Miraculous Escape.

The Premier's escape was miraculous, for only a moment before the explosion he had stepped inside his study at the rear of the salon to speak to Prince Shakhovskiy. Although he was not slightly injured, he is completely prostrated by the calamity.

Later details show that the authors of the outrage drove up to the Premier's residence after the list of visitors had been closed. The servants refused them admission, after which they attempted to force an entry to the house.

A struggle ensued at the entrance to the anteroom adjoining the reception room, and during the course of which the terrorists disguised as a gendarme dropped a bomb, which exploded, destroying the anteroom, the adjoining guardroom, part of the reception room, and also the balcony of the first floor.

The Premier, who was receiving visitors in a private room, was not injured, his daughter and son, who were sitting in the balcony, were wounded. The principal loss of life occurred in the anteroom.

Came From Moscow.

As a result of the enquiry it was learned Saturday night that the man who threw the bomb came here from Moscow via Wladivostok. He declared in Muravskaya street, and Saturday hired a carriage in which they visited one of the open air summer theatres prior to going to Premier Stolypin's.

The chief of the assassins, whose body is now guarded by troops, is apparently about 25 years of age. He wore a brand new uniform, beneath which he had on a civilian vest of very dirty linen.

Two or Three Explosions.

At the moment of the explosion, M. Stolypin was closeted with two marshals of the nobility, who declare that there were two or three explosions.

M. Stolypin's first question was for the members of the family. He himself freed his children from the pile of debris with which they were covered. Later in the evening he visited them twice in the hospital.

The havoc wrought by the explosion is indescribable. Bodies were so torn or mangled as to make identification impossible, some of them headless, armless or legless lying among the blood dripping wreckage.

Bodies Converted Into Public.

When the Associated Press Saturday evening succeeded in securing permission to pass the cavalry guarding the approaches to the house, the dead and wounded already had been removed to a neighboring hospital, but by the light of flaring torches the police still were picking out from the wreckage bits of flesh and placing them on towels for transportation by ambulance to the morgue.

At the hospital the correspondent saw frantic attendants trying to arrange the shattered bodies into some semblance of human form for identification by weeping and wailing relatives outside.

The terrorist who carried the explosive into the house was literally converted into pulp by the force of the explosion. Inside the gendarme officers' coat, which he had on, was found the death sentence of Premier Stolypin that he had tried to execute.

The police refuse to make public the contents of this document. What was left of the revolutionists three revolvers, two of them automatic pistols, were found.

A Dynamite Bomb.

According to statements of the survivors, none of the overpowering fumes accompanying the explosion, whether of dynamite or picric acid, were noticed after the explosion, and it is thought the bomb was charged with camphor and dynamite, which are extensively used in loading the revolutionists' bombs, and which explosive was employed in the assassination of Alexander II. Among its advantages is the fact that it is safer to handle than ordinary dynamite, and it is also more powerful.

The tragedy created a tremendous sensation here, and extra editions of the newspapers were sold in the streets until midnight. In the clubs where officials and officers gather the most intense indignation prevails, and the prediction was freely made that the revolutionists would pay dearly for such senseless crimes, and no doubt was entertained that their only effect would be to drive the Government to more severe methods of repression.

Part of War of Retaliation.

From information obtained from the revolutionary sources, it is certain that the crime was committed by the fighting organization of the Social Revolutionists in retaliation for the war which the Government has been waging against them. Since M. Stolypin's accession to the Premiership over 1,000 of their numbers have been arrested, 400 in St. Petersburg alone, and many of these have been deported.

To fight this crusade the fighting organization, which is composed of a wing known as the "Makhists," and who believe in setting up a purely socialist state upon the ruins of the autocracy, have deliberately entered upon a duel with the Government, such as that which characterized the famous fight of the Nihilists in the late seventies, and which ended in the assassination of Emperor Alexander II. All the members of the organization had due notice that Saturday's attempt on the Premier would be made and went into hiding.

Was Saved 10 Days Before.

It has become known that an attempt upon M. Stolypin was frustrated ten days ago by the discovery of the beginning of a subterranean passage from the wall of the Grenadier Church adjoining his residence. The mining of palaces and residences formerly was a favorite method of the Nihilists, but has not been used of recent years.

Emperor Nicholas, when apprised of Saturday's disaster, sent his personal congratulations to Premier Stolypin on his escape, and the Cabinet Ministers and many members of the diplomatic corps tendered expressions of sympathy.

News received here from Peterhof is to the effect that feeling runs high against the revolutionaries in court circles.

When M. Stolypin accepted the Premiership, he was perfectly conscious of his personal danger. One of his remarks at a recent interview was: "I have no doubt that attempts will be made upon my life, but I shall not be deterred from my duty, and I shall be restored and stability established in Russia before they are successful."

PALMA'S CALL TO ARMS

Havana, Aug. 27.—A despatch received here from Las Cruces, Santa Clara Province, says the mayor, the police, nearly all the councilmen and officials of the town, together with all the rural guards stationed there, and 300 citizens, have joined the insurgents.

Senator Prias of Cienfuegos has received a telegram reporting a similar state of affairs at Trinidad.

Where Guerra's Force Is.

The force under Guerra is concentrating among the Bolondron hills between San Juan de Mariluz and Guanica, in Pinar del Rio Province. In the meanwhile hundreds of families accounted to be friends of Guerra peacefully are working their rice and tobacco fields in that region. The inhabitants of the district who have not belittled inhumanities do not appear to care whether Guerra or Col. Avalos, the commander of the rural guards, eventually prevails.

Rodriguez says he is not aware of the exact numerical strength of Guerra's force, but he does not believe it totals anything like 2,000 men. He apparently is confident that the present campaign will result in disaster to Guerra.

No Rovers.

The Government has not suffered a reverse of any consequences, and Saturday it chronicled further victories. The principal of these came as a result of an attack by 150 mounted rural guards under Major Gomez upon Remoso's band of 200 insurgents at Cascasale, near Santa Rosa. This engagement came at the end of a three days' pursuit of the enemy.

A force brought the Government forces suddenly upon the revolutionists. After the first exchange of shots the rural guards chased the enemy, who dispersed and fled and inflicted severe punishment with machetes. A report of this occurrence, received by Gen. Rodriguez Saturday night, says at least twenty of the revolutionists were killed or wounded.

Palma's Call to Arms.

Havana, Aug. 27.—President Palma has officially called for volunteers to compose a national militia of infantry and cavalry and to co-operate with the Government forces under the command of the chief of the rural guards.

The pay of chiefs of battalions and regiments will be $200 a month, adjutants $125 a month, captains $100 a month, and soldiers $2 a day.

All volunteers disabled will receive full pay during the period of disturbance, and in the event of their death the money will go to their dependent heirs.

Shipment of Arms.

New York, Aug. 27.—Arms and ammunition for the Cuban Government were shipped from this city Saturday for Havana on board the Ward line steamship Mexico. The steamer had stowed away in her hold 15,000 Remington repeating rifles, 800,000 rounds of ammunition and six gatling rapid fire guns for the use of President Palma's forces.

The steamer Kansas, which will sail next Thursday, will carry 3,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 5,000 Remingtons for the Cuban Government.

The Associated Press is informed that the Government had decided to issue Sunday an amnesty of thirty days, under which those persons now bearing arms who return peacefully to their homes will be pardoned.

CLAIM $25,000 DAMAGE.

Writes Alleged High Constable Bargained For Arrest.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Writes claiming $25,000 damages for false arrest will be issued to-day against Henry Peppier of Hanover and High Constable Patrick Heffernan of Walkerton, and possibly others. This action is taken by R. L. Henderson as a result of the court proceedings at Walkerton on Friday in the charges brought by Peppier of theft and false pretences. It is claimed that Peppier and Heffernan connived to use the criminal courts as a means to secure the return of certain moneys.

Peppier is said to have made admissions which implicate Heffernan in illegal proceedings. According to his evidence, he had mentioned to the high constable that he had invested his money in the bearings company, but that he was afraid he was going to lose on his investment. Then Heffernan is alleged to have replied: "Well, you put it in my hands and we will get your money back." The understanding is that he was to secure a consideration if Peppier was successful. Peppier said he did not want Henderson punished; he simply wanted his $1,300 back.

A conductor whose first name was Dennis was suspected of not turning in all the money paid him for transportation, and a man from the office was detailed to watch him for a trip or two. Whether from forgetfulness or rush of business, the nickel paid by the company's man was not rung up. That was all the evidence needed, so the inspector arose to get off the car. Passing through the door, he tendered the conductor a fare.

"Why," exclaimed that individual, "sure an' you paid me onct!" "I know," assented the inspector, "but this nickel is for the company. I'm an inspector." And Dennis knew what his name was.
