

HOW BRAVE MEN DIED

Further Details of the Disaster to the Scott Expedition--The Manly Yet Pathetic Appeal Left by the Dying Leader--One Man Walked Out to His Death in Order Not to Further Trouble Companions--Premier Asquith Refers to the Solemn Event in the British House of Commons.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Feb. 11.—A number of details of the disaster in which Captain Scott and four of his men perished in the antarctic are brought here in special despatches of The Central News Services. Captain Oates evidently set out from the tent in which the four men had all but succumbed to starvation and exhaustion to brave death alone in the blizzard, which had overwhelmed them.

After a brave struggle for weeks with his hands frost bitten, Oates declared to his comrades that he was going to set out in the storm and didn't know when he would come back. He left the tent and he was never seen again. He evidently knew he was setting out to meet his death alone.

The others later tried to push on, but were forced into camp again on the 21st of March after nine days struggle in the blizzard. Food and fuel were both exhausted.

Probably realizing that his party was doomed Captain Scott entered in his diary four days later, on the 23rd of March, "a message to the public. In this he declared that the disaster was not due to faulty organization, but to misfortune. He said nobody in the world could expect to successfully encounter temperatures and storms as they had met on the barrier, which so retarded their progress. When they arrived within eleven miles of One Ton Depot they only had fuel for one hot meal and food for two days.

The doomed explorer wrote apologetically in his "rough notes." He said these "rough notes" must tell the tale. He appealed to his countrymen for the care of those dependent upon the perishing explorers.

According to the special despatches, the Terra Nova Relief party which found the bodies, read a simple burial rite over the bodies. A cairn was erected over the bodies. The relief expedition then set out in search for the body of Captain Oates, but although they covered over twenty miles, they discovered no trace of his body. It was with difficulty that the party brought back all of the records, including Amundsen's letter to the King of Norway, and a large quantity of geological specimens.

March 25, 1912, the date of Captain Scott's last message to the public is believed to have been written only four days before death overtook the party.

Premier Asquith Speaks (Courier Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The tragedy of Captain Robert F. Scott's antarctic expedition was referred to today in the House of Commons by Premier Asquith. Speaking with evident emotion he said: "We all at this moment are under the deep depression created by the reading of the last message to the world left by Captain Scott, one of the most moving and pathetic utterances in the annals of discovery. We can only say that his last appeal will not fall on deaf ears."

"In the annals of discovery it is the message of a brave enduring man in the face of the most tragic end to a career of self sacrifice and devotion to the service of his country. We can only say that his last appeal will not fall on deaf ears."

The Premier, who was so deeply moved that his words were almost inaudible, added that the only official information in the hands of the government was that contained in a brief telegram received to-day from Lieut. E. R. C. Evans of the Royal navy, who was second in command of the ill-fated expedition. The message read: "I regret to announce the death of Captain Scott and Petty Officer Evans on March 29 and Feb. 17, 1912, respectively."

Mr. Asquith's statement indicates that the British Government will take care of the dependents of the dead members of the expedition. Otherwise a Mansion House fund will be opened.

Of the five explorers who perished, Capt. Scott, Dr. Edward A. Wilson and Petty Officer E. Evans were married. Capt. J. E. G. Oates and Lieut. H. R. Bowers were single. The merchants and shipowners of Cardiff, from which went the polar ship, Terra Nova, sailed for the antarctic, are arranging to erect in their city a statue of Capt. Scott.

A Good Pension
Mrs. Scott is assured of a good pension from the British Government. A memorial service for Capt. Scott and his companions is to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday.

Many flags in all parts of London are flying to-day at half-mast.

Telegrams of Regret
Telegrams from all parts record the profound regret, mingled with pride, throughout the British Empire, while messages of sympathy have reached the government in considerable numbers from foreign states.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The following cable message was sent by the Peary Arctic Club to-day to the Royal Geographical Society of London:

"Heartfelt sympathy in heroic death of Captain Scott and his comrades. Their names will be in the southern cross of anti-Arctic exploration."

HEAVY LOSS

Is Sustained by the Turks--The Bulgarians are Now Putting up Very Strong Embankments

(Courier Leased Wire.)

SOFIA, Feb. 11.—The Turkish army in the Peninsula of Gallipoli lost between 5,000 and 6,000 men and 50 officers during the fighting at Bulair, according to a semi-official report issued here to-day. Several thousands of Turkish soldiers fell in a battle before Tchatalja lines on Feb. 9 and thousands more at Charkei to the southwest of Rodosto.

The report says that the Bulgarian army have repulsed several Turkish attacks along the Tchatalja lines, except on the extreme right flank where they were exposed to the convergent fire from the Turkish warships in the Sea of Marmara and the Gulf of Buyuk Chekmedje retired to fresh positions over six miles to the rear.

The losses of the Bulgarians were insignificant while those of the Turks amounted to several thousand men, mainly due to the excellently directed Bulgarian shell fire.

The report continues: "The Bulgarians are entrenching their positions in front of Bulair. Armed men have been sent but to clear the field of battle of the dead bodies of Turkish soldiers, which number from 5,000 to 6,000. It is believed that the number of wounded Turks must be more than double as great.

"The Turkish warships shelled the Bulgarian left flank all day, but only killed one and slightly wounded another Bulgarian soldier.

"The Turkish troops which descended upon Charkei, near the port of Rodosto, on Saturday and Sunday were almost surrounded by the Bulgarian army and were compelled to retire hastily under the protection of the Turkish warships to their transports lying off the coast rear.

"The Bulgarian infantry on the shore kept up a deadly fire on the small boats loaded with Turkish troops inflicting losses amounting to several thousand men. The Bulgarian losses in the whole affair did not exceed 100 killed and wounded."

DISMISSED ACTION. (Courier Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—Chief Justice Falconbridge dismissed the action of Wm. J. Hoodless and wife against Michael D. Smith and his wife. The action was to restrain Smith from erecting a store on the northeast corner of Sophia and Main streets, Hamilton. The building was said to be a breach of the building restrictions which according to the plaintiff called for a dwelling to be built not less than six feet back from the Sophia street frontage. The defendant observed the distance from Sophia street, but chose to erect a store.

DAMAGED RUDDER. (Courier Leased Wire.)

SARNIA, Ont., Feb. 11.—The big Pere Marquette car ferry International running between Sarnia and Port Huron put her rudder out of commission yesterday breaking the ice on St. Clair river. The Pere Marquette yards at Port Huron are crowded to their full capacity with shipments of freight consigned for Canada, and it may be several days before the service is again established. The accident has seriously tied up the Canadian business of the road.

LAKE ERIE AND NORTHERN

The Question of the Route is Taken up at a Special Meeting of the City Council--Resolution Passed Opposing the Course of the Road as at Present Outlined Between Brantford and Galt.

A special meeting of the City Council was held in the council chamber last night for the purpose of considering plans for the proposed Lake Erie and Northern Railway. Mayor Hartman and all the aldermen were present. City Clerk Leonard, City Solicitor Henderson, City Engineer Jones, County Clerk A. E. Watts and George Matthews of the Parks Board. After a lot of discussion it was decided on a motion moved by Ald. McEwen seconded by Ald. S.

Suddaby to lay the whole matter before the Board of Dominion Railway Commissioners, and a committee from the City Council was appointed to appear before the Railway Commission.

City Clerk Leonard read letters from the City Solicitors in reference to the proposed route which have hitherto been published in the columns of the Courier, also a letter replying to the same from Mr. W. P. Kellett, manager of the Railway Co.

which had likewise been published. Ald. Hollinrake stated that the Railway Committee held a meeting in the afternoon at which were present the members of the committee also Messrs. Kellett and W. S. Brewster, M. P. P., representing the railway.

Committee of the Whole. It was moved by Ald. Hollinrake seconded by Ald. Minshall—that this Council go into committee of the whole to discuss the proposed route. Continued on Page Seven.

BANDITS TRIAL

Is Attracting Much Attention in France--The Seventh Day of the Enquiry Has Been Reached.

(Courier Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A cable to The Tribune from Paris says: The seventh day of the bandits' trial was occupied with the examination of witnesses.

Contradictory evidence was produced in an effort to establish that Dieudonne was not left-handed, the object of Dieudonne's advocate being to discredit the statement made by the cabby that Dieudonne held the revolver in his left hand when he discharged it at him. Court adjourned after hearing a string of witnesses for the prosecution, whose statements whenever they incriminated any of the prisoners, were promptly and energetically denied point blank.

Callenfin, for instance interrupted three times the witness, Mlle. Josephine Bellot, with the exclamation, "you lie," and "you are a liar." The journal L'Anarchy, which served as the organ of the Bonnot bandit band, is being proceeded against criminally for libelling members of the jury and publishing their names and addresses, and urging all patriotic anarchists to mete out severe punishment for the jurors and their families in case they should find the prisoners guilty.

AMUNDSEN

Makes Known the Details of His Proposed Trip to North Pole--Talks of Five Years of Drifting

(Courier Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, made public further details of his projected North Pole trip in a statement at Madison, Wis., last night.

"From San Francisco the Fram will sail north," he said, "heading for Behring Straits, and in the break-up of the ice beyond that next spring I shall push on as far as the drifting ice allows as possible. When we can get no further we shall establish ourselves, protect the ship by building an ice wall high around it and settle down for our five years drifting."

We shall be equipped with a high power wireless plant and with the peculiar Arctic adaptability to the etheric vibration we can doubtless maintain communication with the United States Government stations in Alaska for sometime possibly two years."

"Should the drift not carry us directly to the Pole, it would be a great disappointment, but to guard against this I may take an aeroplane along. I know nothing of any sort of aviation, but when my desire becomes known, I hope some birdman will volunteer to accompany the Fram to make the final dash to the North Pole with me."

ander Turner, another of Hamilton's pioneer business men, died at his home here early to-day, aged 82 years. Deceased was a native of Scotland, and came to Canada in 1850 and was with George Ewart and Company of Toronto for a couple of years, later identifying himself with the wholesale grocery business of Jas. Turner and Company, of which he was head for many years. He was also one of the original incorporators of the Hamilton Provident and Loan Co.,

and President of the Company for 11 years. He served for many years on the board of education, and held the office of president and was also prominent in Masonic circles. Besides a widow he is survived by the following children: Mrs. Charles Tingling, Montreal; John A. Hamilton; Mrs. Murray Hendrie, High River, Alberta; and Mrs. H. A. Burridge of this city. Mr. Turner was a staunch Conservative, and a brother of the late Senator Turner.

THAT BANQUET

All the indications point to an abounding success for the Conservative banquet on Friday night next.

A very large number of tickets have been sold, and applications are still coming in.

It is going to prove a big and a memorable event without any question, and no doubt you will be there.

MISCHIEF MAKER FIELDING

Not content with seeking to make interminable trouble for Canada, and to cause her to become "an adjunct" of the United States, in connection with his reciprocity blow at the Empire, Hon. Mr. Fielding is now in England contributing a series of articles to leading papers in an effort to show that Johnny Canuck did not know what he was doing when he so emphatically turned down that deal.

Fielding stood next to Laurier and was regarded as his successor in the Liberal leadership, yet when the Laurierites were licked, there was no effort on the part of Liberals to find a seat for him, as for instance, in the case of Graham.

That incident in itself is sufficient to show that in the hearts of a vast majority of Brits, there was secret rejoicing over the fall of the reciprocity disaster maker.

While he is trying to tell, John

THESE OLD PEOPLE OWE THEIR HEALTH

To The Wonderful Powers Of "Fruit-a-lives"

Mr. N. JOUBERT OF GRANDE LIGNE, P. Q., says: "For more than 10 years, I suffered with Constipation and Piles. I tried many remedies, but none did me good. After taking four boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives', I am well. I am now over 80 years of age!"

Mr. Wm. PITT, general store-keeper at SHAWAN, ONT., writes:—"I am 67 years of age and long suffered tortures from Headaches, due to Stomach Troubles. I was advised to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did so and they completely cured me."

Mr. Wm. PARSONS OF OTTAVILLE, ONT., says:—"I am 79 years old and a great believer in 'Fruit-a-lives'. I took a box, & for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa."

Bull things, Mr. Fielding should also explain how it was that while Finance Minister, he accepted a purse of $100,000.

THE SCOTT TRAGEDY.

The story of the disaster which befell Capt. Scott and four other members of his party when they were returning from the South Pole, makes magnificent reading from an heroic standpoint, but serves to add just one more sad chapter to the terrible toll of splendid lives in connection with polar expeditions.

What could be more pitiful than the story of Capt. Oates of the Inniskilling Dragoons whose feet and hands were badly frozen, and who hoped finally to go to sleep and not awake. He did awake; and then he remarked: "I am just going outside and may be some time," and then he bravely stepped out into the blizzard knowing that it meant certain death but anxious not to further burden his associates.

Or what more heart rending spectacle than that of Scott, who knowing that the four of them were facing the end, continued to write and utter the plea: "These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but surely, surely, a great, rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent on us are properly provided for." Maybe this polar exploration business should be stopped. Such trips cannot be taken except at vast expense, and if contributions ceased they would. Even if the North and South poles favored the location of diamonds, or gold, or silver, or coal what would be the use?

Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian discoverer of the South Pole, has demonstrated, so to speak, that it is only possible to touch the pole a la tag and then scurry back again. Scott sought to stay for observation purposes and he and his companions are no more.

To add to the sadness of it all, the men who go on such ventures are the pick of the best, and the truest and the bravest of their kind. Scott had more than seven thousand applicants from whom to choose his little party of fifty, and other explorers have had a like experience.

The polar regions should be left alone to the bears and the walruses and Penguins; there are big things for fine men to do with some certainty of success, without bothering any more with regions with reference to which the most minute knowledge does not prove of the slightest practical value.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Toronto Globe says that over in the Old Land Hon. Mr. Fielding is issuing the "voice of reason." What the organ really means is the voice of a badly licked and sorely disgruntled man.

In Mexico when the people wake up and find that there isn't some revolution or the other on hand, they feel that they have been contemptuously treated.

The suffragettes who destroyed plants in Kew gardens followed that up as a natural sequence by attacking the windows of club billiard rooms.

There is one beautiful feature of the visit of the Duke of Connaught to this city; he does not pass by the City Hall.

THE FIRST BAPTIST

The attendance at the services Sunday was large, and in the morning the pastor spoke on fruitbearing and how to insure it in the Christian life. The necessity of spirituality, of faith, and of endeavor were all emphasized. The new financial scheme for the year was also emphasized.

Mr. George Goodwin introduced the subject and carefully explained the plans of the financial committee for the year. An effort will be made to secure a pledge for each week for both home expenses and missions for the coming year. Mr. E. Mealing sang "The Better Land" by Cowen, an excellent voice. There were 388 present in the Sunday School at 3 p.m. In the evening the large audience filled the church and an inspiring service was enjoyed by all present.

The pastor preached on "What kind of a church a man should join," second in the present series on "Men and the Church." The music was excellent. The choir sang "The choir angelic." Miss Hutchinson sang "There is a green hill far away." The male quartette composed of Evers, Hills, Russell and Wright sang "Nearer to Thee" by Tenney in excellent union. Three young men were baptized during the service. At the Sunday School and at the evening service more than 500 joined the League of Worship, pledging their attendance when possible at least one of the preaching services on Sunday. An effort will be made to reach the 1000 mark. Next Sunday evening will be observed as "Men's Night" when a special musical service will be carried out as arranged by the pastor and Mr. Wright.

Mr. Brands Farmer of Toronto, assistant teacher to Jan Hambourg, the eminent Russian violinist will play two selections. Mr. Earl Ludlow, baritone of Toronto, will sing "Face to Face" by Johnson and "Fear ye not O Israel" by Buck. The pastor will speak on "Should Smith Join the Church?" Mr. Goodwin will assist the pastor in the service.

CITY NEWS

Probs. Strong west and northwest winds, becoming colder to-night. Wednesday—Fresh northwest winds, fair and decidedly colder.

Separate School. W. B. Schuler, secretary of the Separate School board has written the City Clerk, stating that their board will require five thousand dollars to run their affairs this year.

Wet and Dry Map. Ben. H. Spence of the Dominion Alliance has written the City Clerk requesting information regarding the number of liquor licenses granted in the city. He states that the alliance are getting out a new "wet and dry" map of the province of Ontario.

Leading Man. Mr. Hogan of the Court House has received a letter from his son Gus, who is now one of the leading men with Eric Marks and Co. The company has been touring the Mar-time provinces and is now returning to Ontario.

Curling. Two rinks of Brantford Curlers are in Toronto competing for the Ontario Tankard. The rinks are
Dr. Gamble, J. Brown, W. Lahey, J.
Ogilvie (skip) Dr. Wiley, P. H.
Watson, H. Howie, J. C. Spence, (skip).

Y. M. C. A. To-night the Triangles will play the return game, with the "Climbers" of Hamilton. This should be a very fast game of basketball, as the "Climbers" are very fast, and those who have been watching the Triangles lately are aware of the speed of that aggregation.

Surprise Party. Mr. Lloyd Moore was given a surprise party at his home, 50 Victoria St. last night. When the "Scribe" reached his home after attending a meeting last night he was agreeably surprised to find that about forty of his young friends had taken possession of his home and were anxiously awaiting his return. A jolly time was spent in music, games, etc.

Royal Templars Protest. Thomas Williams, Recording Secretary of Brantford Council No. 24, of the Royal Templars of Temperance has sent a communication to the Mayor and City Council protesting vigorously against the addition of any licenses being granted in the city. They take the stand in view of the fact that there is a rumor that one of the hotels which was cut off may be granted a license again.

Parson Marsh. There were very few vacant chairs at the meeting of Christians at the Conservatory of Music. An appreciative audience, embracing many of the best known Christian workers in the city, listened to a discourse by Pastor Marsh. His subject was along the line of prophetic Scripture, of which Mr. Marsh is a well known exponent. To-night the discourse (D.V.)
will continue along the same lines.

Obituary. The many friends will learn with sincere regret of the death of Mrs.
Geo. Dennis, which occurred on Friday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. Silverthorne, 29 Walter-street. The deceased slept peacefully away after the duration of many years of suffering which she bore with great Christian patience. She leaves to mourn her loss a sorrowing husband and two sisters, to which the sympathy of the whole commu-ity is extended.

Fire. What might have been a very serious fire, had it not been discovered or noticed by a man going to work, occurred at Hampel's box factory this morning at five o'clock. An alarm was sent in from box 31, and when the men arrived the whole bottom floor appeared to be in flames. There was no oxygen for the flames to feed on, and as a result, the fire did not gain much headway. The firemen state, however, that in another ten minutes the whole place would have been in flames. It is supposed to have been caused by the gas engine.

Library Board. E. D. Henwood, secretary of the

the System

It is not only disagreeable, but positively alarming to be getting thinner and weaker from day to day.
This indicates that the digestive system is failing to supply the nourishment required to maintain health and strength.
You must resort to other means of restoring strength, and in this connection there is nothing like Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food to form new,
rich blood, revitalize the wasted nerves and restore to the digestive system its natural functions.
Mr. Fred Carstens, Farmer, Laird, Sask., writes: "I was very thin and nervous, and as I was continually growing worse, decided to give Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food a trial. I would suffer from headaches and indigestion, was easily worried and excited and felt generally run down. The benefit obtained from this food cure has been very marked, and I recommend it with the greatest confidence to persons who are thin, weak and nervous."

PIONEER OF SHORTHAND

ISAAC PITMAN CENTENARY HAS JUST BEEN CELEBRATED.

The inventor of the widely-known System of Stenography Brought Out His New Idea When Queen Victoria Ascended the Throne—Was Trained as a Teacher and Was an Omnivorous Reader.

The centenary of the birth of Isaac Pitman fell on January 4th, and the event recalled stimulating memories of the man and his work among old photographers, and to many young ones it was an opportunity of sharing in a celebration of interest throughout the English-speaking world and beyond it, says Alfred Kingston, who was closely associated with the celebrated Englishman.

Outside a small circle, Isaac Pitman, the inventor of a system of shorthand now in world-wide use would never have been very well known, so busy was he at his desk from 6 a.m. till 10 p.m., but for that marvellous faculty of his for "talking on paper," as he described his shorthand correspondence. It was largely through this channel, in an intercourse extending over a number of years, that I learned to know Isaac Pitman best, for it was in that way that he revealed himself and the motives and methods which prompted and characterized his almost super-human industry.

But, whether through occasional opportunities for personal contact, or through the medium of his shorthand letter-writing, I think one may safely say that the impression you formed of him was always, first and foremost, his unrivaled capacity for work—scrupulously accurate, effective, and convincing work. If the world regarded him as a dreamer, he saw the practical point at which his work touched the work of the world. How intensely Isaac Pitman saw by faith what that contact was going to be in the future I am reminded by a pile of his stimulating letters which are now before me as I write. But of these more presently.

This is not the place for a biography of Isaac Pitman; the story of his career is admirably told in the "Life" of Sir Isaac, by Mr. Alfred Baker. It must suffice here to say that Isaac Pitman was one of a family of eleven children, born to Samuel Pitman, a cloth factory overseer of Trowbridge, Wiltshire, in which town Isaac was born, that he was trained for a teaching profession at the Borough Road Training College; that as a youth he read all the books he could get, including Walker's Dictionary from cover to cover, writing out 2,000 words of the pronunciation of which he had a doubt—not a bad preparation for the future invention of a system of shorthand which was to revolutionize the basis and practice of the art.

"With the instinctive love of knowledge common to all boys," he wrote later in life, "I began to study shorthand. I thought it would be a great advantage to write six times as fast as I had been accustomed to, and I borrowed a book, read it through, copied the alphabet and arbitrary words, and have written shorthand ever since."

It was Harding's edition of Taylor's system that he first learned, and he had not practiced it long before he was seized with a passion for teaching it to everybody else, and, in order to popularize its use in schools, he prepared a text-book and submitted it to Mr. Samuel Bagster, the London publisher, to whom he had done a notable service by revising the whole of the marginal references in "Bagster's Comprehensive Bible."

And here came in one of those little accidents which have played their part in the romance of invention. Samuel Bagster, the publisher, showed Isaac Pitman's manuscript to a professional reporter, who gave this advice:

"The system Mr. Pitman has sent you is already on the market. If he will compile a new system I think you will be more likely to succeed in your object of popularizing shorthand; there will be novelty about it."

To that unknown reporter the world owes a debt of gratitude, for his suggestion set Isaac Pitman on one of the high roads to the invention of phonography. That little electric spark fired a whole train of inventive genius, and straightway the young teacher, now back in the West of England from his first post as a teacher in Lincolnshire, set about the examination of fifty systems of shorthand and the making of shorthand alphabets, on an entirely new line, of the analysis of spoken words and the writing of "one sign for one sound."

This was in 1837, of which period Isaac Pitman afterwards wrote: "I recollect one day in particular—the day of Her Majesty's Accession. Throughout my few weeks' holiday I did nothing but make shorthand alphabets and write with them, and on that day I did not even feel tempted to participate in the general festivities; not that I loved Her Majesty less than other people, but because at that time I loved phonography more."

When the alphabets were wrought out there was the engraving to consider, and we got this little romantic picture of Isaac Pitman's thoroughness in all that he did:

"To ensure accuracy in the engraving of the shorthand signs, before the railway to Bristol (from Bath) was opened I used to start off every Saturday morning and walk to Bristol, a distance of eleven miles, in order that I might see by the engraver while he worked and see that the signs were correctly made."

An Omnivorous Stomach. In the stomach of a crocodile which was shot by Mr. Wells on the Merugan estate, Madras, were found a python thirteen feet long, two tobacco pipes, a number of pieces of whisky bottles and a pair of trousers.

Brant Avenue Church Brotherhood.

The Brant Avenue Church Brotherhood were at home to the Colborne St. Brotherhood in the School room last night at which there was a very large attendance. The principal event of the evening was a debate between three members of each church, the subject being: "Resolved that the pulpit exercises a stronger influence for good than the press." The affirmative was upheld by the Colborne St. men, represented by Messrs. Macklin, Bulman and Milman, and the negative by the Brant Avenue men, represented by Messrs. Tolmison, Britton and Rowe. The judges, Messrs. Leeming, Johnson and Hughes after due consideration, gave their decision in favor of the affirmative. Rev. Mr. Loville officiated as chairman of the evening. After the debate Rev. Mr. Holling of Colborne St. Church rendered a couple of solos.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, Send for circulars, free.

HEADACHY, BILIOUS, UPSET? "CASCARETS."

BILIOUS, THROBBING HEAD-ACHE, MEANS BOWELS ARE CLOGGED AND LIVER STAGNANT.

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A recent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

WE WILL SHOW YOU HOW!

If you have ideas—if you can THINK—We will show you the secrets of this fascinating new profession. Positively no experience or literary excellence necessary. No "flowery language" is wanted.

The demand for photoplays is practically unlimited. The big film manufacturers are "moving heaven and earth" in their attempts to get enough good plots to supply the ever-increasing demand. They are offering $100, and more, for single scenarios or written ideas.

Nearly all the big film companies, the buyers of photoplays, are located in or near NEW YORK CITY. Being right on the spot, and knowing at all times just what sort of plots are wanted by the producers, our SALES DEPARTMENT has a tremendous advantage over agencies situated in distant cities.

We have received many letters from the big film manufacturers, such as VITAGRAPH, EDISON, ESSANAY, LUBIN, SOLAX, IMP. REX, RELIANCE, CHAMPION, COMET, MELIES, ETC., urging us to send photoplays to them. We want more writers and we'll gladly teach you the secrets of success.

We are selling photoplays written by people who "never before wrote a line for Publication."

history of the Battle of Stoney Creek. The competition is open to all residents of Wentworth County only and closes on May the 1st, 1913.

Mr. Bert Boddy, who with two or three of his college friends spent the week end in town, celebrated his 21st birthday on Saturday, when a jolly little stag party of his boy friends was entertained in honor of the event on Saturday evening at his home on Nelson street.

Invitations have been issued by His Worship the Mayor to members of the civic committee for the reception of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught. The event will take place in the Ladies Waiting room at the T. H. and B. station. The cards are surmounted by the raised Coat of Arms of the City of Brantford in gold. To the uninitiated, it might be explained that said coat of arms consists of a shield with a beaver in the centre and the figures of an Indian on one side with a bow in his hand and of a settler on the other with an axe in hand. Above there is the maple leaf and underneath the words "Industria et Perseverantia" (Industry and Perseverance).

The invitations issued on behalf of the Six Nation Chiefs by Chief Elliott, Secretary of the Reception Committee are also very neat. They are surmounted by the Royal Coat of Arms, also in gold.

A delegation from the local Council of Women, attended the separate Court, which has just been inaugurated in Toronto for trying all cases against women and children brought up for trial—a movement which has been agitated for some years, but has now only been permitted, Toronto being practically the first Canadian City to adopt such methods.

LAUGHTER LINES.

More Fitting.
A young lady and her fiancé were waiting for a street car. After several cars had passed and they were unable to get aboard the young man became impatient. He waved frantically at the next car as it bore in sight, then leaped upon the platform and said in a pleading voice: "Come on, Helen; we can manage to squeeze in here, can't we?"

Mummy's Experiment.
Little Rastus was becoming very objectionable in school, because his wool was growing longer and longer far beyond the cutting stage. The teacher tried hinting to no purpose and then told him outright to have his hair cut, giving him a quarter for the purpose.

Rastus broke out crying and said:
"No, Ma'am, I dassn't hab it cut. My mummy she wants a new switch and she's a-growin' it on be."

The Deepening Influence of Travel.
"I tell you," said the globe-trotter, "travel is a great thing. If there is anything in a man travel will bring it out."
"Yes," said his pale, newly landed friend, "especially ocean travel."

Doris Couldn't Draw It.
As a slight diversion the teacher suggested that each child in the class draw a picture from which she could guess what the child wanted to be when grown. All sorts of articles were illustrated: books for bookkeepers, hats for milliners, etc. One little girl, however, had a blank sheet.

"Why, Doris, don't you want to be anything when you are grown?"

"Yessum," said Doris; "I want to be married, but I don't know how to draw it."

A NEW WAY TO PREVENT RUN IN HOSIERY.

Some beneficent manufacturing man whose business is silk stockings has devised a way—evidently to the detriment of his own profits—to keep silk hose from running into Jacob's ladders at the top. Three sets of buttonholes are worked in the top of the stockings and through these buttonholes the garters may be fastened—or ribbon loops, if the stockings are not long enough for the garters to reach the upper set of buttonholes. The manufacturers claim that runs which are the result of garter strain will be entirely unknown to the happy possessors of these stockings.

Men must read for amusement as well as for knowledge.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Women Marketing.

Appropos of the high cost of living, Mrs. Julian Heath, head of the New York Housewives' League tells of a personal experience that is somewhat enlightening. Being a housewife herself, she went in quest of eggs. She saw some marked "strictly fresh," and an exorbitant price card thereon. She inspected them thoroughly and then said to the dealer: "These are storage eggs, and the result is that the Housewives' League is doing things. This woman and her associates having proven that it is quite possible to get things much cheaper and make the burden of housekeeping much lighter by being absolute mistress of your own dollar, and personal marketing is the surest way of saving."

The Housewives' League of the United States are working for specific objects, and in their capacity as housekeepers have resolved to act as follows:

To insist upon full weights and measures.
To insist upon cleanliness in the handling of food.
To protest against the exposure of all food to contamination from dirt, flies and other infection, and to refuse to purchase such food.

To refuse, as far as possible, to purchase cold storage poultry, fish, butter, eggs, etc., which have been held to the detriment of condition or for the advancement of price.

To make personal investigation into the sanitary conditions of market, grocery, bakery, dairy, laundry and confectionery stores.

This program should appeal to every woman striving to safeguard the well being of her household, and along these lines no woman need be idle, as she can have a personal share in this necessary work, whether a member of any league or not.

IN THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Tuxedos for Women.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The smartly dressed American woman who would like to have her spring gown in the best and most serviceable style will have the suit coat from 24 to 28 inches long, and it is warranted not go out of fashion too soon. The National Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers' Association, at its annual convention, advocates that length of coat.

One of the smartest and most attractive of the walking suits of this season was made as much like the man's Tuxedo as possible. The skirt was plain and close fitting, a yard and a quarter around the feet. It was strapped with braid down the sides, a broad band of braid inside the narrower ones. The coat was the shape of the man's Tuxedo with a black satin collar. There were plain dark buttons, and inside the coat was worn a little close-fitting, double-breasted waist-coat of white silk. Maltese with two rows of buttons. A made velvet rose. American Beauty color, was on the lapel of the coat. A soft satin belt finished the skirt, fastened with a harness buckle of gilt.

The old-time pinhead check in black and white was there in an afternoon suit, but carrying itself with an air of "chiffon moire," the moire or watered effect over the check.

A tailor suit of bluegrey Bedford cord had a vest effect, made ingeniously with two bands of white piping crossed in front, set with small pearl buttons, showing at the edge of the coat as it was fastened, giving the appearance of a vest. With the roset open the ends of these bands are tucked into the belt like bretelles.

A rug coat is smart. It is made in one piece of a single travelling coat rug. It is worn differently for different purposes. For the steamer chair the arms are pushed through the openings, which fasten snugly to the wrist and it is buttoned close around the neck in the back, and there is not a crevice for the sharp ocean breezes to creep through. In the automobile, doubled the plain side out, it is a lap robe or it goes on like a regular coat, buttoning across the front just below the waist line, which gives it a smart effect. It is worn with a plaid lapel out or the ends go in, making it double thickness across the chest.

PARIS

(From our own correspondent.)

The Stratford Basketball team is due to play at the "Y" here to-night. The Paris boys are going to put up a hard fight and they are all in good condition. This promises to be a hotly contested game as they need this one to win the district.

Monday morning proved to be about the coldest this season. The wind was very sharp and the thermometer registered six below zero.

The Boy Scouts are preparing for the final examination, which will be made to-night by Commissioner H. G. Hammond, of Toronto. Commissioners Sikes of Woodstock and Gibson of Ingersoll will also be present. The Scouts are hard at work and if successful they will be the King's Troops of Canada.

The people are starting to put in their store of ice this week. The open winter has kept them back somewhat, but there seems to be plenty of the "hard water" on hand now.

Sergeant Spalding still continues to instruct the young men in the arts in the officers' gallery; the armouries and Wednesday evenings. The turnout was small last night, but he expects better attendance in the future.

Lake Erie and Northern City Council

Mayor Hartman called upon Ald. Spence to take the chair. Ald. Hollinrake then asked Mr. Brewster to state the company's case. He said he would like to have the City Council approve of the company's route; that the matter would be laid before the Dominion Railway board at Ottawa, and he would like to have the Council come to an agreement in regard to the same and sanction their proposed route. He said their general plan had been approved by the higher authorities some time ago. Mr. Brewster then presented the plans of the proposed route.

Ald. Spence called upon City Engineer T. Harry Jones to give his report in reference to the route. Mr. Jones read a very lengthy report which he had prepared. Mr. Jones in his report condemned the proposed route along the river front passing the Terrace which was afterwards upheld by the unanimous vote of the Council. Mr. Jones reported that an alternate route on the west side of the river was feasible and he considered it a much better and cheaper route, besides it would not be as likely to injure the Terrace. The City Engineer at some length outlined the alternate line on the opposite side of the river, the same to cross a bridge to be erected between Lorne Bridge and the G. T. R. bridge; the line then to run through West Brantford along the river bank to a point behind the Cordage Co., then crossing the river to the east side a little farther up. This, he said, would necessitate the building of another bridge. This portion of the route, Mr. Jones thought could be built for $395,550, while the eastern route, with the raising of Lorne Bridge and the erection of a new retaining wall would cost $407,000. Thus the west route would be better and less costly.

Discussion. Discussion on the matter then took place, nearly all the aldermen having something to say against the road to run along in front of the Terrace.

Ald. Ryerson objected to the railway being allowed the river front route, as did Ald. Charlton. The latter proposed to have the railway build a tunnel under the river, and complimented the city engineer on his report of the alternate route.

Ald. McFarland was opposed to the road running along in front of the Terrace and also objected to the raising of Lorne bridge. He referred to the railway becoming a steam road in the future and was in favor of the river route.

Mr. Kellett said that Lorne Bridge would be made perfectly safe. If the bridge falls down when under construction the company would then present the city with a new one.

Ald. McEwen also protested against the allowing of the road to run along the Terrace. In his opinion the road along the Terrace would be a bad thing for Brantford and a costly mistake indeed.

Ald. Suddaby did not approve of the raising of Lorne Bridge. He also referred to the inadvisability of having a steam road run under Lorne bridge; also to the narrowing of the channel of the river. Mr. Suddaby said he was sorry the city should have nothing to say in the matter.

Ald. Suddaby got his dander up, and with eyes flashing, said: Is it to be a steam road? Will it be a C.P.R. road?
Mr. Kellett replied that the C.P.R. could have it to-morrow if they paid the price. Mr. Kellett continuing said that they had a good working agreement with the C.P.R.

Aldermen Ryerson, Charlton and McFarland referred to it as a C.P.R. steam road.
Ald. Pitcher said that Brantford wanted the road, and if it was possible to build it on the west side of the river by all means do so, but if not, build it anyway.

Ald. Spence was also against the route running along the Terrace, but said if the road was built on the west side of the river the Holmedale section would get no railway connection which they were promised years ago and were entitled to. He was greatly in favor of something being done for the Holmedale, as was Ald. Suddaby, Pitcher, Hollinrake and McEwen.

Ald. Spence stated that he considered that influence outside of the city was being brought to bear to buck the proposed line after it leaves the city limits. "We hold in regard to those outside of the limits, but we must first consider our interests," said Ald. Spence. "As for the Grand Trunk switch into the Holmedale, that has been on paper only for years, and it looks as if it might be. We owe railway connection promised to those people and to the Benmans; if they would locate a branch factory there."

City Solicitor Henderson stated that he would like the council to pass a resolution recommending what action the city should take in the matter and what position he should take in regard to the route when it comes before the Railway Commissioners.
Moved by Ald. McEwen, seconded by Ald. Suddaby, "That the council is irrevocably opposed to the route of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway as proposed and filed, and that the Mayor, the City Solicitor, Chairman of the Railway Committee and Ald. Suddaby be instructed to appear before the Board of Railway Commissioners and oppose said application.
An amendment was then put before the council as follows:
Moved by Ald. Hollinrake, seconded by Ald. Broadbent, that this council approve the route of the L. E. and N. Ry., except that part which goes in front of the Jubilee Terrace.
The amendment was lost, and the original motion passed. The council then adjourned.

Spence was also against the route running along the Terrace, but said if the road was built on the west side of the river the Holmedale section would get no railway connection which they were promised years ago and were entitled to. He was greatly in favor of something being done for the Holmedale, as was Ald. Suddaby, Pitcher, Hollinrake and McEwen.

Ald. Spence stated that he considered that influence outside of the city was being brought to bear to buck the proposed line after it leaves the city limits. "We hold in regard to those outside of the limits, but we must first consider our interests," said Ald. Spence. "As for the Grand Trunk switch into the Holmedale, that has been on paper only for years, and it looks as if it might be. We owe railway connection promised to those people and to the Benmans; if they would locate a branch factory there."

City Solicitor Henderson stated that he would like the council to pass a resolution recommending what action the city should take in the matter and what position he should take in regard to the route when it comes before the Railway Commissioners.
Moved by Ald. McEwen, seconded by Ald. Suddaby, "That the council is irrevocably opposed to the route of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway as proposed and filed, and that the Mayor, the City Solicitor, Chairman of the Railway Committee and Ald. Suddaby be instructed to appear before the Board of Railway Commissioners and oppose said application.
An amendment was then put before the council as follows:
Moved by Ald. Hollinrake, seconded by Ald. Broadbent, that this council approve the route of the L. E. and N. Ry., except that part which goes in front of the Jubilee Terrace.
The amendment was lost, and the original motion passed. The council then adjourned.

TRUTH ABOUT BENNETT

ENGLISH AUTHOR HAS HAD A REMARKABLE CAREER.

His First Literary Success Was the Winning of a Prize in a Popular Weekly Competition and Since That Time He Has Gone on Steadily Winning Laurels in Every Branch of His Art.

About twenty-three years ago London was invaded by a young, unsophisticated provincial, who could not make up his mind what particular niche in the world he could most conveniently fill. He had tried decorative art, but did not make much progress beyond reducing to speechless professional house-decorators who inspected his designs for friezes and dados. He had dabbled in literature for local papers; wrote startling serials which no one would print, and paragraphs and articles which editors were pleased to publish, but not to pay for. He had also endeavored to follow in the footsteps of his father.

ARNOLD BENNETT.

A Hanley solicitor. Legal work brought him in enough to live on, so he decided to stick to the law, and at twenty-one was earning a modest competence of $325 a week as a shorthand clerk in a London solicitor's office.

A natural aptitude for certain phases of legal work, and an equally natural gift for advancing his own interests, as this young man has since confessed, ere long increased that salary to $1,000 a year.

He again, however, in spite of this admittedly good salary for the work he was doing, became infected with the literary germ, and that germ developed into a disease which is the most popular of all popular weeklies offered a prize of twenty guineas for the best humorous condensation, in 2,000 words, of a serial which had been published in its columns.

The serial story was Mr. Grant Allen's $5,000 prize novel, "What's Bred the Bone," and the young man who tried for and eventually carried off the twenty-guinea prize, was Mr. Arnold Bennett, now one of the world's most famous and the most popular of all popular weeklies offered a prize of twenty guineas for the best humorous condensation, in 2,000 words, of a serial which had been published in its columns.

That twenty guineas was Mr. Bennett's first pen money, and the prize brought to him visions of literary fame, although it was able to affirm that even in his wildest flights of fancy he never pictured himself attaining the reputation he possesses to-day. The prize which he won for his literary work. After some time in journalism, Mr. Bennett wrote his first novel, "A Man From the North," which brought in very little money.

By no means discouraged, however, he wrote, during the next eight years, a series of novels, among which were his masterpieces, "Anna of the Five Towns," "The Old Wives' Tale," and "Clayhanger."

The only objection some people have to Mr. Bennett's novels is that they are somewhat too long, and some of his admirers chaffed him unmercifully when they entertained him at dinner parties. A hundred or more literary celebrities and others sat down to dinner, and afterwards one of them got up and said:

"I have enjoyed trying to read your books, Mr. Bennett. I year ago I started 'Clayhanger,' and I propose to finish it."

While yet another literary celebrity spoke of the feelings in one's heart on finishing a "sprightly little novelette of 700,000 words, only to be informed at the close of the volume that this is but a preliminary chapter towards another novelette somewhat larger, that would deal with the descendants of the first book's characters. And there was no one in the gathering who enjoyed the chaff more than Mr. Bennett himself.

Miss, Mrs. and Mistress. "Miss" is an abbreviation of "mistress," which, as an English law dictionary explains is the proper style of the wife of an equine or a gentleman. By Dr. Johnson's time it had become "the term of honor to a young girl." In the earliest part of the eighteenth century, however, it was used respectfully of girls below the age of ten alone. After that age "miss" was rude, implying giddiness of behavior. In Smollett's writings an unmarried woman of mature years and in residence both "Mrs." It is certain that "miss" has grown older, so to speak, while "mistress" has become confined to boys.

India's Rice Crop. About 35 per cent. of the cultivated acreage in British India is under rice. The average crop exceeds 25,000,000 tons.

ARABIAN NIGHTS BAD.

Scene of Oriental Splendor Puts All Previous Efforts in Shade.

The Arabian Nights Ball, held not long ago at the Royal Opera House, in London, proved a magnificent spectacular entertainment. East meeting West in the barbaric splendor of rich Oriental robes, and in the overwhelming mad Carnival of the Farandole, danced for the first time in London.

Every quarter of Asia was represented in the kaleidoscopic scene. Ladies of the harem, fair beauties from Kashmir, contemporary belles of Bagdad, mingled with ancient warriors of the Samuraj, Maharajahs, Caliphs, Grand Viziers, numerous Mikadoes, Siamese merchants, and princes of old Japan.

It was established beyond a doubt that Englishwomen look well in any guise, for although well-known London beauties baffled identification in many cases, it was generally admitted that they wore Turkish dress with especial charm and elegance, and fascinations of the yashmak never appeared so tantalizing.

Moorish dress was the most popular and a glance from the high throne showed the fine effects of the judicious mingling of gold and black among bizarre colorings.

Some of the London-manufactured Eastern Princesses were not altogether put in the shade by the real Maharajah of Jhalawar, who wore his finest state robes encrusted with gems worth a king's ransom, the very brooches and underdress being identical with that which he wore at the Imperial Durbar a year ago. Turbans covered the heads of all but a few of the men, and, with the long robes, gave an appearance of increased height to the dancers.

Shortly after midnight the evening's entertainment culminated in the much-talked-of "Farandole," a rollicking old Spanish dance. To the tune of a thirteenth century air of Provence a procession of eight gorgeously attired Eastern maids and men led the way round the ball room headed by Espinosa, the sprightly Spanish dancer, who encouraged his followers by waving a ribbon-bunged baton.

Arriving at a second group of dancers they invited them to join the chain and so on, till everyone on the dancing floor became so infected with the spirit of jollity inspired by the gay tunes that, willy-nilly, they joined in the romp.

For romp indeed it was—around the promenades among the boxes, up and down the perilous staircases, the dancers wound their way—the pace increasing as the tunes changed—now more leisurely to the simple measured beats of the familiar old marsey rhymer, "Sur le Point d'Avignon," and furiously fast as the endless procession returned to the ballroom to the singing of "Everybody's doing it," the rag-time melody of the moment.

Exhausted and breathless, the chain broken in many places, the Farandole terminated in a graceful tableau, all the men dancers prostrating themselves on the ground at the feet of their fair partners.

Wandering Indian Acrobats.

The wandering acrobats of India are recruited from a caste of people called Dombanaras, who live by this profession alone. The children are trained from their earliest childhood and do not receive any education in schools.

They travel from village to town and give their performances, which are really wonderful, in the open air before crowds of onlookers. Their tricks are quaint and sometimes astonishingly clever.

Supported by one another, these men will balance themselves in a crazy kind of pyramid rising 15 or 20 feet from the ground, and one of the number will then climb this living pyramid with a heavy weight in his teeth.

Babies not yet able to walk are often seen being made use of in the most dangerous manner during these performances. Rajahs and rich Indians are very fond of the acrobatic displays and engage the best of them to perform before their guests at entertainments.

Winston's Joke.

The First Lord of the Admiralty was apprised that a very dear friend of his was suffering from appendicitis. Mr. Churchill was about to write a note of sympathy for despatch by messenger—straightaway, when word came that the attack had proved to be one of a ure idiosyncrasy only.

Greatly relieved, the "ruler of the King's Navy" worded his letter thus: "Dear— I am very sorry to learn that you are ill; that the trouble is with the table of contents rather than with the appendix."

Great Auk's Eggs Down.

The price of eggs of the Great Auk, despite their scarcity—there are but 73 in existence, and the Great Auk is extinct—is going down along with that of the barnyard product. Two Great Auk's eggs were recently sold in London. One went for about $800 and the other for 10 guineas less. The first one was sold in 1894 for considerably over $900.

The best price record ever made by an Auk egg appears to have been in 1888 by one belonging to Sir J. H. Greys-Smith, and now in the Bristol Museum. Some fanatic paid $1,125 for it.

Longest Straight Railway.

The longest stretch of railroad in the world without a curve is in New Zealand, where there is a line of railway, a part of which stretches for a distance of 136 miles in a perfectly straight line. This fact is remarkable when it is taken into consideration that New Zealand is one of the most difficult countries in the world for railway construction, as it is very mountainous, necessitating sharp curves and very heavy grades.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A DISAPPOINTED SHAR.

Queer Story of a Prizefighter in an English Royal Garden.

In his book of memories Major-General Owen Tudor tells a story of the first visit of a shah to Great Britain.

The shah wanted to see a prizefight, with blood. After much anxious thought and consultation with Lord Queensberry an innocent glove fight was arranged in the Buckingham Palace stables, to take place quietly half an hour before the shah was to receive Lord Shaftesbury and the archbishops and bishops with a memorial asking him to protect the interests of the Christians in Persia.

But the shah slept late. The prizefighters overlapped the prelates. A footman made a mistake in opening the door, Archbishop and bishop following the shah in a moment found themselves more or less in a ring round the two prizefighters.

The shah, angry at the interruption of his prizefight, turned round to Sir Henry Rawlinson and growled in Persian: "Hang the Christians in Persia! Tell them they're all right!" Rawlinson translated that into a long, eloquent, beautiful reply to the deputation, while doubts of the disappointed boxers were having a consolation sorap in the stables. Lord Shaftesbury did not denounce them, though their snarls and leaders lived in terror for some days.

The Lord Chamberlain blamed me, I blamed the shah, the shah blamed the equester, the equester blamed the footman, the footman blamed every one all round, and we gave the prizefighters $25 a piece, with a resolution written in blood that never would any shah again arrange a prizefight, even for a shah of shahs, in a royal palace garden.

Fortune's Darling.

This is how they style the Right Hon. George Wyndham, one of the most virile of the Opposition Front-benchers in the House of Commons. Handsome and conspicuously smart, though he has by no means been able to get all his own way in public life—Mr. Wyndham possesses a perfect mastery of the grand manner, and he is the dearest of the Duke of Westminster. Once he was Mr. Balfour's private secretary, and he has been Under-Secretary at the War Office and Chief Secretary for Ireland.

Whist holding the latter thorny post he piloted the Land Act of 1903 through the Commons, and boldly and bravely defied Macdonald, the Catholic Home Ruler, his Permanent Under-Secretary. He has been in the Coldstream, rides regularly to hounds and is a profound Shakespeare scholar. Still under fifty, Mr. George Wyndham married the Countess Grosvenor and got himself elected for Dover in 1899, and everybody expects that he will come in high office again when the Unionists revert to power. He has a seat on the board of the Channel and Dover Railway, and holds the burgesses of the chief of the Cinque Ports, so to speak, in the hollow of his elegant hand.

Jersey Lily's Mascot.

Lady De Bathe has a perfect passion for turquoise, and among her many jewels the charming actress-sportswoman possesses one particularly valued. It is a perfect circular turquoise. She has a very peculiar history indeed.

Some years ago—she was Lillie Langtry, then—Lady De Bathe was touring in Venice. Always particularly fond of swimming, she was enjoying a dip one morning in the Lido when she saw something on her feet which she took to be the clear depths of the blue water.

Down she dived deftly, and brought immediately thereafter to the surface an exquisite specimen of Persian turquoise. Thereupon she engraved an amatory message in the language of the sunny Eastern land.

She had a net, and has ever since worn it over her head, her neck suspended by a thin golden chain. Whatever luck has fallen to her in the theatre, on the turf, or otherwise, its fair owner attributes to her strangely found mascot.

Curious Perquisites of Royalty.

It appears that by a curious statute of the realm the King of Great Britain and Ireland is entitled to every straggling landed in the United Kingdom. The King has also the right to the head of every whale caught off the coasts of his kingdom.

The tail of the whale is the Queen's perquisite; the object of this curious division being that her majesty shall always be well supplied with whalebone, although singularly enough, the whalebone is the King's hat.

Among other strange perquisites of England's rulers are a pair of white doves, a pound of cummin seed, a pair of seal's hose, and a silver needle from his tailor.

Like a St. Bernard.

One of the happiest compliments ever paid to Gladstone was Lord Houghton's.

"I haven't seen you for ages. I live the life of a dog," said the hard worked statesman.

"Yes," said Lord Houghton, "of a St. Bernard, the savior of men."—London Chronicle.

Broke All the Rules, Too.

Mickey Smith, a basket maker and cattle drover, died in the poorhouse at Dunahugh, Ireland, recently at the age of 116. He drank heavily and smoked constantly. He was married three times.

Jersey City Club to be Sold. NEW-YORK, Feb. 11.—The magnates of the International League met this afternoon at the Victoria Hotel, and adopted the playing schedule drafted by President Barrow. There were two or three changes made in Saturday dates, but the club owners made these among themselves.

Toronto put up a fight for Labor Day, but lost out. However, President McCaffery was promised that date at home next season.

While Toronto would like to have another pitcher Manager Kelley says he can wait until the major league teams return from the training trips.

Buffalo bought Gouley from the Boston Nationals, and will use him as catcher.

The International League directors will meet at 11 o'clock to-day. In the future, all International League meetings will be held in New York.

It is believed the Jersey City Club will be sold within the week. There are men willing to buy, but President Lillis and Vice-President McBreen cannot agree on the price.

Rowdiness is no tolerated in Ingersoll.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 11.—Police court cases which grew out of the recent hockey match between Ingersoll and London juniors occupied the attention of Magistrate Paterson for several hours yesterday afternoon, and as a result the police court executive was enriched to the extent of $110 in fines alone.

In a mix-up that occurred after the game last Tuesday night Patrick Ryan, a London young man, was injured, and taken to the hospital, which however, he was able to leave the next morning. On his information warrants were issued for several local young men on a charge of assault. Since that time similar charges were laid against Ryan and a companion by the name of Frank Cowan. Considerable evidence was offered at the trial yesterday at which County Crown Attorney Ball presented. The upshot of the case was that six of those summoned were found guilty. The hearing of the cases created much interest, and the heavy fines imposed would indicate a determination on the part of the Magistrate to stop all forms of rowdiness.

Guelph Vics 8, Woodstock 7.

GUELPH, Feb. 10.—In the first of the home-and-home games in the series, round of the junior O. H. A. the Guelph Victorias defeated Woodstock seven here last night, in one of the fastest games ever seen in this city. The score at the finish was 8 to 7, and the Vics. got to Woodstock on Wednesday night with a one goal lead. The half time score was 3 to 3, but in the first half of the last period the visitors took the lead, and at one stage of the game the score was 7 to 4 against Guelph. A couple of players were hurt and at the finish both teams were playing five men aside. The Vics. put up a whirlwind finish, and simply played the tired Woodstock bunch off their feet. With only three minutes to go they scored three goals and won the game. There was about a thousand people present. The Woodstock players are a beautiful lot of stickhandlers, but have no

From a Man Who Knows

From the Magdalen Islands, away down among the fogs of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, comes a letter from a man who knows that Dr. Chase's Ointment is not only a relief but also a positive cure for protruding piles. Too many make the mistake of stopping this treatment when relief is obtained, when by persistence, they could be entirely cured.

Mr. Joseph Meuse, Grand Entry, Madalen Islands, writes: "After using Dr. Chase's Ointment as a treatment for piles I must say that it did not only relieve me but has effected a cure. I had protruding piles for a number of years. Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and I have had no return of the ailment. You may publish this statement, so that it may be the means of curing other sufferers."

Surgical operations, with all the pain and risk, are unnecessary, for Dr. Chase's Ointment is a proven cure for every form of piles.

Producing a Big Show

Not ten people in a thousand who go to the theatre to see the various attractions that come along ever stop to realize the great amount of care and labor necessary to produce a big musical farce comedy. Take for instance McFadden's Flats Company, which plays here at the Grand Tuesday, Feb. 11th.

Over one year ago the management commenced to work on this year's production. Hundreds of vaudeville acts had to be looked over to secure the ones that can play the various parts assigned them and at the same time please the patrons of the theatre. Then there is the casting; weeks are spent in selecting the beautiful gowns. A great amount of care must be given to color effects so that to the naked eye it appears on presentation a sight to be remembered. These are only a few of the many things to take into consideration and the greater reward the management gets is that the show has been the standard bearer of success for many years. That is a record no other show on the road to-day can lay claim to. Each season brings more laurels to the McFadden's Flats Company. It requires this season two special baggage cars to transport the company's new scenic and electrical equipments.

George W. Lederer, who gave this country its first theatrical revue when he produced The Passing Show and followed the innovation with the form of early musical comedy that established his first fame and that of the New York Casino, where he produced it during many successive seasons—a form that The Belle of New York and its successors instanced—has just projected still another kind of musical play, called "New York went mad over it. Described on the programme as a French vaudeville. Madame Sherry—the latest Lederer manifest—differs from the former Casino manager's output in that instead of playing the chorus up, it makes it a dominant element of the piece, he represents it in numbers, importance and action, until it is scarcely more consequential than an added bit of scenery. The success of the Lederer novelty will sweepingly affect the musical comedy of the country, for already three musical comedies modeled on its lines, have been instituted since Madame Sherry's tremendous hit.

Madame Sherry will be seen here at the Grand on Saturday, February 15th with the same excellent cast that has marked even its earliest presentations, and it is expected with such a piece as Madame Sherry.

HEADS HARBOR BOARD

W. G. ROSS IS AN OUTSTANDING FIGURE IN MONTREAL.

New Chief of Commission in Commercial Metropolis Used to Be a Star Bicycle Rider Before He Went Into Business—Passed Through Street Railway Offices Till He Reached the Top.

Greatest interest in the recent appointment of a new harbor commission for Montreal centred in the chairman, Mr. W. G. Ross. Until a few years ago he was known quite superiorly as "Billie" Ross, which title, as his position became more and more prominent, was dropped for the more formal "W. G."

I have a recollection of seeing photographs of W. G. Ross with enough medals on his chest to draw a man, says a writer in Toronto Saturday Night. These emblems of superiority relative to the athletic field, more especially, I think, to bicycle riding and perhaps running. At any rate, he was a star bicycle

W. G. ROSS.

W. G. Ross, who they say, could call all the guests by their first names. After some four years with the Windsor, he got into touch with Mr. James Ross—of another family altogether—who was interesting himself in the street railway system of the city of Montreal, and ere long was in the employ of the company.

In the street railway there was no end of opportunity to employ his capacities, and he rose from one post to another until he became chief executive of the system in 1895 and later on succeeded to the position of secretary-treasurer. Mr. F. L. Wanklyn was then general manager, and ere long W. G. Ross remained at the appointment. Mr. Ross then succeeded, as already stated, the head of the system.

It was along about this time that control of the railway passed out of the hands of Senator Forget and into the hands of Senator Forget and his friends. W. G. Ross remained at the head of the concern throughout Senator Forget's regime as president, and only retired about the close of 1910, shortly after the Robert McConwell affair, which had just put through the Canadian Light and Power deal, swept control of the Montreal Street Railway out of the hands of Senator Forget and went about the work of reorganization of the present Montreal Tramways Co., or the Montreal Tramways and Power.

After resigning his position, Mr. Ross took a trip abroad, remaining away many months. Since his return, he has not taken a very prominent part in any of the business deals being effected in Montreal, save that when the Amalgamated Asbestos fiasco got to its worst and a reorganization became necessary, he was asked to accept the presidency of the new concern, known as the Asbestos Corporation of Canada, Ltd. To this he has consented, and has been paying close attention to the affairs of the company in the hope of bringing it safely through after its many misadventures.

When the question of the new harbor board began to be discussed in Montreal circles, it was not long till the name of W. G. Ross was mentioned. It must have been no small satisfaction to him to note the manner in which the suggestion was received. He is said to be a first-class accountant, which involves the possession of powers of analysis, and in addition thereto to be possessed of first-rate executive ability. For all of these he will have much to do during the coming few years' work on the harbor board. Mr. Ross is in the prime of life, being now just fifty years of age.

Destiny of the Stuarts.

The figures "88" play a weird part in the rise and fall of the Stuarts. James III. was killed in flight near Sherry, so new line model that New York went mad over it. Described on the programme as a French vaudeville. Madame Sherry—the latest Lederer manifest—differs from the former Casino manager's output in that instead of playing the chorus up, it makes it a dominant element of the piece, he represents it in numbers, importance and action, until it is scarcely more consequential than an added bit of scenery. The success of the Lederer novelty will sweepingly affect the musical comedy of the country, for already three musical comedies modeled on its lines, have been instituted since Madame Sherry's tremendous hit.

Islands of Leisure.

Between the Island of Madagascar and the coast of India there are 16,000 islands, only 600 of which are inhabited. In most of these islands a man can live and support his family in luxury without working more than twenty-five days in the year, or at all, as nature provides the food, and no clothes are required.
