Look. Read. Realize!

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!! We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W H Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Overcoats, Made-to-Order-from... $30.00 to $48.00

Overcoats, Ready-to-Wear..... $15.00 to $36.00

Success Is a Habit

Our habits make us. We are creatures of habit. Whether we are a success or a failure is a question of how we do things without thinking. To Save is the only way to success

Gloves

We have just the kind of Gloves you need, lined and unlined. Also Wool Gloves for this time of year. Suedes and Tans—both combination. Price..... $1.00 to $4.00

MacLELLAN BROS.

Catholic Memorial To Poet, Dante

The sixth centenary of the death of Dante Alighieri will be celebrated at Ravenna, September 14, 1921. For several years preparations have been making in Italy to lend to the event a splendor commensurate with the influence of Dante on modern thought. It is proposed, in particular, to restore to its original beauty the Church of San Francesco, in which for six hundred years Ravenna has guarded with jealous love the remains of the great poet, writes Bishop Shahhan.

The World War has of course interfered with the plans of Italy's foremost scholars, but their ardor has not been cooled, and already from various parts of war-scarred and depressed Europe are coming assurances of hearty co-operation in the various features of the approaching event.

America ought not to appear empty-handed at the memorable feasts which will gather about the tomb of Dante, chosen representatives of many nations, races and literatures. It is hoped that a generous sum may be collected among the American admirers of Dante, irrespective of creed or nationality, as a small tribute to his mighty genius for all that mankind owes it, so that whenever an American visits the ancient city by the Adriatic he may feel proud that his native land contributed generously to the suitable restoration of the venerable church where the great poet of justice and liberty awaits their universal triumph.

Distinguished American names, Longfellow, Parsons, Norton, Fay, not to speak of other writers of merit, vouch for our interest in the great Florentine, and unite us inseparably with that Divine Compendy which has so profoundly affected Western thought in all its higher ranges, whose forces of inspiration, suggestion and illumination are by no means exhausted. Standing as it were on a great watershed of history, midway between the crusades, the scholastic and the empire on the one hand, and on the other a new mental temper and fresh interests, he is at once witness, interpreter and guardian of the past of Europe, and the herald of that new dawn of life and letters which men call the Renaissance. What Homer did for the spirit of the Roman Empire, and what much more Dante did for all the posterity of Europe when he fused into one imperishable record the long crepuscular waning of the Roman Empire, and the vigorous new growth of the Christian spirit and order as they radiated world-wide from its immemorial seat of power and authority. Indeed, he may be called the last of the Romans, "di quella Roma osida Cristo e romano." Similarly he may be called the prophet of the new order of life, since his great poem is so compact of unchanging human experience, so candid as history, so profoundly human in its incomparable pictures of joy and sorrow, of struggle and failure, of all life on one side and the other of the common grave. His great poem may be called the Bible of European mankind, so shot through it with the life of ten centuries, so prophetic are all its instincts, so lyrical its range of emotion, so wise its appreciations and judgments, so applicable in

RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY ILLS.

The restoration to its original beauty of the Church of St. Francesco, at Ravenna, seems a fitting tribute to the deeply religious genius of Dante. It was here that Dante prayed and was buried in the evening of his life, from here that he was buried, and close by his mortal remains have rested for six hundred years. Originally built in the fifth century, the venerable edifice has survived its many alterations, and will soon reproduce the early Christian basilica at which it entered on its long career. If every American who has suffered the magic spell of Dante Alighieri will make a modest contribution, a sum may be raised not unworthy of our place among the nations of our varied obligations to one of the world's foremost benefactors. Contributions may be sent to Bishop Shahhan, at the Catholic University of America.

New Interest For Os in Oceanica

Several letters have come of late from Dutch New Guinea, in which notice has been drawn by the appointment of Mgr. Aerts, M. S. H., who was formerly an Apostle in the Philippines. New Guinea, or Papua, was formerly divided among Holland, Germany and England, Holland possessing the larger part. The natives are extremely primitive, and the head hunters present a terrifying appearance. But the missionaries have gained a firm foothold there and would progress faster if well supplied with means.

A Noted Cardinal

Among the anniversaries which fall in March is that of the death of Hugh St. Cher, a noted Dominican Cardinal of the thirteenth century, who died at Orvieto, Italy, on March 19, 1268. He is looked upon as the first author of a verbal "Concordance" to Holy Writ.

He was born at St. Cher, near Vienne, in Dauphine, France, about the year 1200. He studied philosophy, theology and jurisprudence at Paris, and later he taught law there. In 1225 he entered the Order of St. Dominic, became Provincial in it, and later was Prior of the Dominican Monastery in Paris.

This famous churchman became the confidant and adviser of several Bishops, as well as the envoy of Gregory IX to Constantinople. Innocent IV made him Cardinal, and received valuable assistance from him at the Council of Lyons. He was selected for various important works by the same Pontiff. After the death of the Emperor, Frederick II, he went as legate to Germany.

Mainly through the work of Cardinal Hugh the Dominicans were provided with a new Biblical "Correctorium," and he was distinguished for his great industry as a compiler of explanations of the Sacred Text.

The work which he performed in the interest of concordance of the Bible is historic. He is rightly regarded as the first author of a verbal "Concordance" to Holy Writ, a work which became the model for all following publications of the kind. The Cardinal also composed many other works.

High tribute to the work being done among the Japanese children in Seattle has been paid by M. Hirota, Consul for Japan, in a letter sent to the Right Edward J. O'Dea, at whose request the Maryknoll Sisters established a kindergarten for the Japanese children. Mr. Hirota wrote in response to an invitation to attend the festivities for the Japanese children at the kindergarten, at which he was represented by Mr. Sato, the vice-consul. "I desire to convey to you," wrote the Consul, "my very great appreciation of the expression of good will extended to my people, which shows to me your great breadth of understanding and universal love."

Parliamentary proceedings, for the week ending, April 9th, so far as the House of Commons is concerned, were of a considerably strenuous nature. A number of important measures were up for consideration, but, possibly in consequence of the persistently obstructive tactics of the Opposition, as great progress in the important public business was not made as naturally should have been the case. However, the attitude of the Opposition is destined to bring them up with a sudden stop. They are preparing for themselves a castigation that will bring them to a more sane manner of conducting themselves, when the business of the country calls for immediate and attentive consideration. They will get very soon just what is coming to them in this connection. For the moment, generally speaking, we shall leave them at that.

Monday, the 4th, was the regular private members' day, and a considerable number of more or less important resolutions were discussed by different members, and, as usual, resolutions were withdrawn after the debate had run its course. On Tuesday, the 5th, Mr. A. K. McLean, member for Halifax, formerly a member of the Borden Government, but who this session sits on the Opposition side, introduced a resolution, of which he had formerly given notice, relative to the C. N.
R. operations. The resolution called for a committee from both sides of the House, whose functions would be to make inquiries and elicit all possible information relative to the status and operations of the C. N. R. and report to Parliament such conclusions, as in their opinion, would tend to improve the manner of conducting the operations of this great national utility. Before entering upon the discussion of his resolution Mr. McLean had arranged with the Prime Minister that, after the debate would spend itself, he would withdraw the resolution, as it was the intention of the Prime Minister to move in this direction himself.
The resolution was discussed at considerable length by a number of members of both sides of the House, and, as arranged for, was then withdrawn. Thereupon the Prime Minister immediately gave notice of a motion for the appointment on behalf of the Government of a select standing committee on national railways and shipping.

Wednesday, 6th, after the usual routine proceedings, Mr. Lapointe of Quebec, on the motion to go into committee of supply, engaged the attention of the House for about two hours and a half discussing a matter relative to labour organizations in the Province of Quebec. His grievance was the attitude assumed by the Minister of Labour towards the Quebec National Catholic Labour Union.
It appears that certain Labour Unions and employers of labour had arranged for a Convention at Ottawa. The Labour Unions invited to attend, by delegates, this Conference were all members of the International Union, embracing a very large number of organizations. After arrangements had been made for this Conference the Provincial Labour Union of Quebec, above referred to, made application to be represented at this Conference. When they presented their request to the Minister of Labour, he pointed out to them that it would be impossible for them to be represented at this Conference, as they did not belong to the International Labour Union, whose different units were to be represented at the Conference in question. The Quebec Labour Union it appears stands out by itself, and is peculiarly provincial and does not coalesce with the other labour organizations in question.

Consequently, it was considered that it would be very unreasonable for them to expect to participate in the discussions of a Conference with these organizations with whom they refuse to cooperate. The matter had got into the press and had assumed much larger proportions than the question deserved. This gave Mr.
Lapointe an opportunity of airing to his own satisfaction, the assumed grievance suffered by the labour organizations of his own Province. After he had completed his long tirade, the Prime Minister, Rt. Honourable Arthur Meighen, took up the subject and in a marvelous speech, characterized by the closest reasoning and clearness, proved to the satisfaction of anyone who wished to be convinced, that the complaint of Mr. Lapointe had not a scintilla of foundation or justification in fact. So completely did he sweep away the specious argument of the member for Quebec, that the whole debate, which looked at one time as though it might continue all night, fell to the ground after less than an hour's discussion by anyone else in the House.
It disappeared altogether, and no one referred to it again for that day.

After this had been disposed of, the motion to go into supply was carried. The committee considered railway estimates for a considerable portion of the evening. Of course when the estimates for railways and canals come before the House we may always expect that it will be a long drawn out debate. These estimates at this time are not only of the greatest possible importance, but they are so diversified and so spread over all the Dominion that there is scarcely a member of the House of Commons who has not some grievance or other to bring up. It was quite natural then on this occasion, when the Minister of Railways undertook to have the principal item of his estimated expenditure considered in committee, that dissent was manifested from many portions of the Chamber.
It was now well advanced in the evening, and this item, especially this year, when the deficit is so large, could not be considered to any great advantage at this stage. In consequence of this the Minister was quite willing that some other less contentious item of his estimates might be discussed, and therefore one or two votes, large indeed in themselves, but in comparison with the main estimate for this department were insignificant, were agreed upon in committee. Progress was reported and the House adjourned.

Thursday, the 7th, was a considerably strenuous day in the House of Commons. Supply was
National Catholic Labour Union.
had arranged for a Convention at

Opposition side of the House the Canadian Government Merchant Marine has nearly always been very severely and unreasonably criticized. The worst offenders in this particular have always been Mr. Duff of Lunenburg and Mr.
Sinclair of Antigonish and Gys-boro. It appears that Mr. Duff conducts some manner of shipping himself, and perhaps is rather desirous that as little competition as possible might be in his way. Mr. Sinclair, it appears, is also somewhat interested in shipping, and, therefore, it can scarcely be said that his opposition to the national enterprise is altogether unselfish. Reasonable criticism of a constructive nature is never objected to; as a matter of fact it is desired when the consideration of supplies for a large and important enterprise are under consideration, but Mr.
Duff's opposition could not be characterized as constructive criticism or as reasonable discussion.
As a matter of fact, it was the most outrageous, bitter, unreasonable and ignorant opposition to the voting of public money that could well be considered.
Were one disposed to characterize the attitude and conduct of Mr.
Duff in his onslaught in this connection, it might be said that he presented an exhibition of physical ponderosity, senseless verbosity and illogical monstrosity.
It was, in a word, a senseless rhodomontade, that occupied five hours of the valuable time of the House. He may have pleased himself in his onslaught, but certainly did not seem to please any one else, for he emptied the galleries and emptied the House on both sides. Only a sufficient number remained to maintain the quorum; but they changed as frequently as they could without running the risk of destroying the quorum. As a matter of fact it seemed almost a pity that the House was not permitted to count out, but of course that would only delay the matter, and sooner or later they would have to stand the infliction. After this had been kept up until midnight or later, the committee reported progress after having passed one small item by agreement. The House then adjourned.

Friday, the 8th, was a day of considerable importance in the House of Commons, and it was a day on which the Leader of the Official Opposition, Mr. Mac-Kenzie King, succeeded, once more, in placing himself in a most ridiculous and silly light before the House and before the public.
His tactics are such that he cannot be prevented from making a foolish exhibition of himself whenever the slightest opportunity presents itself. The matter under discussion on Friday was the resolution of the Prime Minister for appointing a special committee of the House of Commons, consisting of members from both sides, to consider matters relative to national railways and shipping, to which reference is made above. After the Prime Minister had introduced his resolution and discussed it at some length, explaining its provisions and the desire of the Government to secure for the purpose of parliament all the information that it would be considered proper to be made public, relative to the operation of these great national enterprises, the discussion went on. The Leader of the Opposition was not satisfied with the conditions of the resolution as it stood. As a matter of fact he is never satisfied with anything that is reasonable and sensible.
He always must spoil it by an endeavor to tack on to it something that emanates from his own silly brain. As the whole question had been discussed far into the night, about midnight the division was taken. It may be here stated that Friday night, above all, is not the best night for the Government to have under discussion, and especially to have a division on matters of great public importance; in as much as a number of members from Ontario almost invariably leave for home about ten o'clock on that night for the week end.

The Quebec members, to some considerable number, do likewise.
But it would appear that on this occasion they denied themselves the privilege of leaving for home in the hope that they might have a division and greatly reduce the Government's majority.
So it happened that when the division came, in consequence of what has just been said, the Government's majority was reduced to seventeen. That of course was sufficient, being considerable under the circumstances. After Mr. MacKenzie King's amendment had been disposed of by this division, Mr.
Cramer, leader of the progressive party, who had voted for the Opposition amendment, directly contrary to his speech and had voted a few days previously, rose and moved another slight amendment to the main motion. This was accepted by Mr. Cramer. When Mr. Speaker asked if the main motion, as thus amended, would be agreed to by the House, Mr.
MacKenzie King of course had to dissent, but his conduct in this particular showed how extremely short-sighted the man is. When the Speaker put the motion, instead of accepting the amendment as amended, without question, he decided to have the motion passed on division. That would mean that the vote would be the same as the one that had been previously given. But the members supporting the Government saw through this subterfuge and demanded that a record vote be taken. As a consequence the members were again called in and the vote counted. It was found that the Government had a majority of thirty-eight, instead of seventeen. The members of the progressive party followed their leader, voting with the Government. Thus once more Mr.
MacKenzie King manifested his absolute unfitness for the position he assumes to fill. The votes on both divisions were as follows: 1st, fifty-six for MacKenzie King's amendment and seventy-three against. On the next division, forty-two for Opposition and eighty for the Government.
This ended the business of the week, and, as all will admit, ended in a way most unsatisfactory to the Opposition.

Cardinal Gibbons'
Will Probated

Baltimore April 13.—In connection with the filing of the will of Cardinal Gibbons, a memorandum to Bishop Owen B. Corrigan, administrator of the archdiocese, left by the prelate, notified him how to dispose of the Cardinal's personal property. Most of the estate, it was stated, would be devoted to the training of young men to the Catholic priesthood, to the promotion of Catholic education and to the advance of charitable work in the Church.
By the terms of the will, which was filed Monday, the Cardinal named his executors, Bishop Corrigan, the Rev. L. H. Stickney, rector of the Cathedral, and the Rev. Eugene J. Connelly, chamberlain, heirs to all his estate, real and personal, and thus a legal formality was complied with to dispose of his property.
Except in a few minor instances, the money left to the priests of the Cardinal's household, will go to charitable purposes and to the cause of promoting the spiritual interests of the Church.

FOR OUR
January Carnival of Economy
The old year took away forever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.
The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.
2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.
We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.
Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES.
We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and
THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.]
No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.

The day has about arrived when the prospector up on the rim of the Canadian Arctic may incline an eye Southward to note the approach of the aeroplane coach, the mail plane, or the broad-winged freighter.

A Liberal M. P. took four hours to show that the Canadian Merchant Marine is not paying which reminds us of John Morley's description of a certain speech as a train of forty coaches with one passenger.

Sir Alfred Tristram Lawrence, judge of the High Court of Justice since 1904, has been appointed Lord Chief Justice of England in succession to the Earl of Reading, who is now Viceroy of India.

His Lordship, Bishop L. J. O'Leary, and Rev. Maurice MacDonald returned Saturday night from Montreal. His Lordship, who went away for special medical consultation and treatment, is pleased to report, returns in excellent health.

A resolution to memorialize Congress to remove the duty on lumber imported from Canada was introduced in the New York Legislature on the 12th by Senator L. W. H. Gibbs, Republican, of Erie. It was referred to a committee.

We acknowledge the receipt of a beautiful calendar, design "Delawana," from the well known manufacturers of the household remedy, Minard's Liniment. This celebrated medicine for all family ills has an immense sale in all parts of the Dominion and Newfoundland, and its merits are such that every family should have a bottle handy in case of sudden sickness.

"I am looking forward to returning to Canada, and renewing my many pleasant acquaintances made there during my tour through Canada. I expect to visit the ranch at High River, Alberta," said the Prince of Wales to A. B. Calder, who was summoned to Buckingham Palace for an interview with the Prince. Mr. Calder later chatted with members of the staff who accompanied the Prince on his Canadian tour, including Sir Lionel Halsey and Sir Godfrey Thomas.

Shipments of Canadian wheat and flour, sold to American dealers, are being rushed across the border in an endeavor to avoid the heavy duty that will follow in the event of the Fordney Tariff Bill becoming law in the United States, local railway officials stated in Winnipeg. On Monday evening a special Canadian National train left for the south and crossed the border before daylight. This was made up of scattered shipments that shippers requested to be rushed as soon as possible.

Noticing a farmhouse on fire and a child's face at the window, Engineer John Nelson, hauling a train from Cochrane to O'Brien, on the Transcontinental Railway, stopped his engine, and after whistling for the brakeman to protect his train in the rear, started across the fields with his fireman to the rescue. Arriving there the child jumped from an upstairs window into the arms of the fireman. The youngster indicated as plainly as possible in his broken English that his mother was inside the burning house. The men made a scaffolding of fence rails and with much difficulty got the woman out safely. She had been ill in bed.

Quick thinking, followed by quick action, on the part of fireman Fetterly, of the Canadian National Railways, saved an Indian trapper from being carried over the falls immediately below the railway bridge east of Kanuakasing recently. Fetterly, from his engine, saw the Indian, with a heavy pack-sack on his shoulder, struggling to cross the river on floating cakes of ice, and being carried toward the falls. Cutting 25 feet of ball rope from the engine, Fetterly leaped to the ground, ran to the middle of the bridge and lassoed the Indian just in time to save him from death. With the assistance of a section hand, he hauled the Indian to the bridge. As a reward, the fireman was given a black fox skin, which he sold for $480.

A Calgary woman has a black mince pie which has produced eggs that beat the records of the Kansas City, Regina or Westboro hens, as reported in despatches. The specimen submitted today weighed a fraction over five ounces and measured eight inches in circumference around the top.

When Justice Masten and his court reporter got back to Toronto from Port Arthur the other day, they had travelled 4000 miles at a cost of $400, to hold a court at which there was no business to be heard. At Kenora the Judge found one case settled out of court and decided that the other listed for him should properly go before the district judge.

The death took place at Miscouche on Saturday of Mr. Archibald F. Gillis. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters, viz: Sister Mary Regina, of the Congregation de Notre Dame, Chicago; Sister Helen Marie of the Order of St. Joseph, Peterborough, Ont., and Regina at home. The sons are Dr. John and Dr. Austin of Merritt, B. C., and Urban at home. Rev. Father Gillis of Indian River is a brother of the deceased.

Intelligence from Naples 6th, says that Mount Vesuvius was in active eruption and that this eruption was the most violent that has occurred in 15 years, accompanied by irregular rumblings. Many tourists were attracted by the spectacle presented by the immense smoke volumes which formed a majestic but alarming picture, but they were prevented from approaching the crater by the showers of hot ashes and cinders and the movement of molten lava.

Miners Strike Averted

London, April 15.—Great Britain will not suffer a strike of railway men and transport workers tonight, as was scheduled. J. H. Thomas, M. P., General Secretary of the National Union of Railways and one of the leading members of the executive of the Triple Alliance of Railwaymen, Transport Workers and Miners, announced shortly before four o'clock this afternoon that the sympathy strike had been called off. Mr. Thomas made it clear that this was not a mere postponement of the strike as was the case on Tuesday last, as far as the railwaymen and transport workers are concerned. The strike is cancelled. The sensational split in the ranks of the powerful Triple Alliance of Labor this afternoon today changed the complexion of the blackest industrial crisis Great Britain had ever faced. Events developed with such sudden and startling changes as to leave the public in a maze. The reason for this action by the Railway and Transport Unions, which with the Miners Union make up the Triple Alliance, was quickly developed. It appeared that the conferences throughout the day among the members of the Alliance had developed a heated controversy revolving about the peace proposals made by Frank Hodges last night. The miners condemned these with the assertion that Secretary Hodges had conceded too much in offering to discuss the question of wages with out raising indemnity, the controversial issue of a national pool, while the railroad men and the transport workers declared the proposition was reasonable and that the miners should renew their negotiations. The miners remained obdurate and the open breach resulted. The mine owners made public the following statement: "We want and again invite the miners' representatives to sit down with us, both national and in districts to see what may be done to improve the wage reduction under present conditions. We are ready to sacrifice all claims and returns on the industry and will be content with a monthly review of the situation until circumstances improve. Government control has left the industry bankrupt. We will do our best to make better terms for underpaid workers and publicly extend this invitation to the miners to meet us and talk things over. What else can the owners do?"

That Persistent Hacking, Racking Cough

Can Be Quickly Relieved By Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

The terrible, hacking, lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, is a great danger to your health, and the longer it sticks, the more serious the menace becomes.

Mr. J. W. F. Whately, Vernon, Alta., writes:

"I wish to express my thanks for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for me. For a number of weeks I had been suffering from a very severe hacking cough, and all the remedies I tried failed to relieve me. At last I secured a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's,' and after taking it I secured great relief. Needless to say it is now my intention to always keep a supply on hand."

Mr. J. W. F. Whately, Vernon, Alta., writes:

"Three years ago my heart and nerves began to bother me. I could not do my housework without being almost completely played out. After sweeping a small room I would have to sit down and rest, and would feel as if I could not get enough air."

Mr. J. W. F. Whately, Vernon, Alta., writes:

"I wish to express my thanks for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for me. For a number of weeks I had been suffering from a very severe hacking cough, and all the remedies I tried failed to relieve me. At last I secured a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's,' and after taking it I secured great relief. Needless to say it is now my intention to always keep a supply on hand."

Mr. J. W. F. Whately, Vernon, Alta., writes:

"Three years ago my heart and nerves began to bother me. I could not do my housework without being almost completely played out. After sweeping a small room I would have to sit down and rest, and would feel as if I could not get enough air."
