And Fit for Any Amount of Work as the Result of Using Dr. Chase's Nerue Food.

It is so easy to overlook the warning given by headaches, indigestion, failing memory, lack of power to concentrate the mind, irritability and worry over little things, that many a man does not realize his danger until on the verge of breakdown.

Like the writer of the letter quoted below, you can call a halt to the wasting process and restore vim and energy to the nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great food cure has a wonderful record of cures.

Mr. J. Hurlbert, 28 James street. Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I was very much run down in health and as a consequence my nervous system very much run down in health and as a consequence my nervous system was very much exhausted. Close confinement at my work, I think, brought on the trouble. I started using Dr Chase's Nerve Food and by the time I had used up one box I felt a great improvement. The continue, use of this preparation has thoroughly restored my system so that I feel strong and vigorous and fit for any amount of work. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment with spiendid satisfaction, and recommend them at every opportunity." During the stay of the ship on the West Coast, the Prince may have the opportunity of fishing on some of the rivers which afforded such good sport to his Royal Father, The King, on the occasion of His Majesty's visits to Newfoundland. The Prince does not make any official appearance during this cruise of the Cumberland the object of which is to befit His Royal Highness for the Naval Service of his country. Nor is Naval Service of his country. Nor is any distinction made between him and busy course of educational training on the Cumberland.

The Governor has, however, accept-ed, on behalf of Captain Aubrey Smith e thoughtful and kindly offer of the ice-President of the Reid Newfound-Company to place an engine and some private cars at the Captain's dis-osal while on the West Coast. This roposal will be a great convenience to ne Officers and Cadets in moving from oint to point along the Coast at such imes as the routine of work will allow them a chance of some fishing.
The Prince will be granted leave to go a-fishing under exactly the same regulations as any other Cadet.

As none of the Officers have visited he Coast before, Captain Douglas Beech, A.D.C., who is shortly leaving on a fishing expedition to St. George's Bay, will accompany those going fish ing to the best pools where sport may e obtained. On Saturday, the 28th instant, H. M. Cumberland will arrive at St. ohn's and will stay until Wednesday the 2nd of July, where the cruise terminates and the ship hurries home to ake part in the fleet manoeuvres in

The Prince's visit to our Capital absolutely unofficial, and His Royal acity of a Cadet in the Royal Navy No honors are paid nor may the Prince take part in any official func-tions. Moreover, the rules of the Ser-vice preclude Cadets from accepting invitations to evening entertainments, so a Ball at Government House which be postponed until a date later in that

Following the usual procedure captain Smith will pay an official cal on the Governor soon after the arrival of the "Cumberland" in harbor; and the Governor will return the captain's visit in person on the same day. It gia and all aches and pains. For the Governor soon after the arrival the "Cumberland" in harbor; and probable that the Prince will come shore later with the captain and up to Government House and the mous throughout the Empire for their devoted loyalty to the Royal House;

The Prince may be free to accept incheon at Government House or be present at an afternoon reception but, is Cadets are not permitted to sleep on shore, His Royal Highness will not on shore, His Royal Highness will not occupy the rooms which are known as the Prince of Wales' Rooms, and were occupied by Their Majesties the King and Queen and by His Majesty's revered father, the late King Edward VII. The Prince will, however, visit the rooms and will see the Bible which was specially placed there on the occasion of the first Royal Visit, and is treasured as a momento of that auspicious occasion.

The Bridge at Kane's Valley.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—As quite a number of le ters have appeared in the Press with regard to the Bridge at Kane's Valley, I would like to add a few more words with a view to hurrying along the

The season is now advancing, and of the past three weeks the residents of Topsail Road and others, have been or you will find your troubles placed at a great inconvenience (es-Bridge not being up.

In case of being misunderstood, hasten to say that this Bridge which has called forth such a lot of commer is not a $1,000 structure, but a matter of $15.00, and for that reason the residents are at a loss to know why the Dept. of Public Works is so dilatory in the performance of a manifest duty. I am sure, sir, the public as well the residents are tired and disgusted of hearning of this "blooming bridge," and I have been requested to ask the Dept. of Public Works through the medium of the "People's Paper" if it If exhaust is blue and smoky, is the intention to fix this Bridge the present season, and when? If such is not the intention, then in ordinary courtesy the public should be informed forthwith, so that the residents may deal with the matter as they see best, without further delay.

I regret to have to bring this matter up again, but, sir, when a paltry job like this "hanging fire" for a month that could be completed by two men in less than two days, there is really "something rotten in the State of Den-

Yours truly, TOPSAIL ROAD.

Taste for Gaiety Now.

In past great crisis in the history of the world when men seemed doomed to sudden and awful dissolution many were so affected that instead of becoming sad they became gay, and DeFoe tells us that when the great plague in London carried off its hundreds of thousands, the toscin with many was: "est drink and he gay for many was: "eat, drink and be gay for to-morrow we die." This little homily has a local application. Heretofore the Premier, Sir E. P. Morris, and his two colleagues were particularly noted. penchant for attending funerals. Strange to say this has palled on them of late and weddings are the latest. They realize that they have to attend one awful funeral in November and that is their own, after the voters are that is their own, after the voters are done with them, so now weddings are the vogue and "eat, drink and be merry for to-morrow we die" is the watchword. Tuesday night the three West End members attended the wedding festivities in an outport and had a bang up good time afforded by the kind, hospitable people and their friends. The "turkey trot" and "bunny bug" were not in it when Sir friends. The "turkey trot" and "bunny hug" were not in it when Sir Edward and Messrs. Bennett and Kennedy capered in the new terpsichorian creation known as the "git out" two step. This has been well practised for November's celebration before the funeral.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

When you want to start your engine And the blamed thing doesn't star There's no use in getting rattled, Nor in taking it apart;

Because she will not go, For there are many other things As I'll proceed to show.

ust turn your fly wheel over While you listen to the sound; But if there isn't any, nence to look around.

First look your battery over— Are all connections tight? Is your wiring all connected And everything just right?

Don't look for trouble there; But just take out your spark plugs And try them in the air If the spark is hot and lively

It will surely make a hit; Look at your carburetor— Does your mixture pass through

Are increasing more and more. Perhaps you've over primed her, So the mixture is too rich; ut off the gas and crank her, Keeping in the battery switch. f she starts just when you prime he Runs just while the priming lasts, Then your mixture isn't coming,

There's a place it can't get past. If she squeals and growls when turn

Oil her up, she's getting dry; Then cut down your oil supply.

If exhaust is black and sooty, Then she has more gasolene Than there's any need of using To work best in your machine.

When your engine's running fairly, Then bangs loudly in the base, Cures its troubles in this case.

So when it makes you wrathy, Go sit down and rest awhile; You can start it much more surely If you try it with a smile

MORAL.

If your engine's poor and trappy,
Don't swear until your hoarse;
Just dump it in the junk heap
And get a FAIRBANKS-MORSE.

Seamen Causing Anxiety.

Friends of seaman Butt are uneasy about him as they think he is missing. He was shipped to go on the brigantine Galatea but some say that he was not on deck when the vessel sailed on Friday last. Since then he has been absent from home. However, a man named Butler, brother-in-law to Butt, told the police that he saw the seaman told the police that he saw the seamal row off from the shore and board the vessel before she salled.

Mr. Billings Sued In $5,000,000 Case.

Chicago, June 6-Whether Corneliu C. G. Billings, New York and Chicago banker, is liable for approximately $5,000,000, due to the failure of the John R. Walsh institutions, the Chicago National Bank and the Home Savings Bank, which closed their door in 1905, is the question presented Judge Honore in the Circuit Court to-day.

The hearing is on two actions, one by A. G. Becker, a stockholder in the Home Bank, and the other by Becker and others, as minority stockholders in the second bank.

Many of God Bless You, my companions are greatly interested in Canada and they told me that they are anxious to see more such sights as Niagara Falls. There is one thing that did not appeal to me and that was the effort made by people everywhere I moved to catch a snapshot. If I turned to the right there were scores of people with their cameras focused on me, and every time I tried to evade them many nore would be in position in another direction. For that reason I tried as far as possible to keep aloof from camera artists, but that did not help " me to any extent, as they still persisted in snapping me no matter what position I was in."

The Ideal Home is first of all a comfortable home, with an inviting air of restfulness about it, cozy and cheerful. It is of course an artistically furnished home, showing taste and judgment, each article pleasing in itself and in harmony with its surroundings. But it requires a knowledge of stores as well as furniture in order to secure all these elements in the furnishing of one's home without its calling for an extensive outlay of cash. It is for this reason that the C. L. MARCH CO'S. STORE appeal particularly to that large portion of St. John's home-loving people who have excellent taste but are economical.

C. L. MARCH CO'S. GOODS are goods of character, original in conception, pleasing in design, and superior in construction. It's furniture that reflects good taste and judgment, and the prices are right-absolutely the lowest, quality con-

The Bell Island Miner continues thus: "Many Colonials, particularly Canadians, have achieved distinction as parliamentarians in the Motherland and few of them have at the beginning, been so well equipped both as regards experience and ability as the handsome leader of the Opposition. Newfoundlanders of all shades of political opinion will regret to lose Sir Robert, but all will unite in wishing him every success in England and will watch his career there with interest.'

As we pointed out when we denied a similar rumor about Sir Robert Bond selling out the Grange, which was circulated in the Daily News, on the eve of Sir Robert Bond's last visit to England, in February, the wish is father to the thought. The measure of the rejoicing of the People's Party over these rumors is a measure of the fear they feel at the prowess of Sir Robert Bond as Leader of the Liberal Party at the fall elections. The Tories throw up their hats in the hope that Sir Robert Bond will not fight them. Their rejoicings are premature and they are laying up for themselves a lot of disappointment. Russian Comedy Drama at Rossley's.

To-night there is an entire new grand comedy drama entitled "A Russian Honeymoon," with the Rossleys in the cast. Miss Lorraine Buchanan has arranged this beautiful little play and it is certainly the very best ye offered by that talented lady. Jac Rossley has the comedy role and o course that in itself will be funny, a we all know. Billy DeVan, will be heard in new songs; Bonnie Rossley new songs; and Harry Ingram also beautiful. It is a first-rate plot and new in every detail. The Lorraine Buchanan Co. has been the most successful company appearing at Ross ley's Theatre, as they had packet houses at each and every performance since their opening.

Answering a Call.

How a Labrador Doctor Went to the Missionary's Aid.

An urgent call in Labrador means not only inconvenience and hardship to the doctor and his sledge-drive, but actual danger. Nevertheless, no one ever flinches from his duty. Dr. G. K. Hutton, in "Among the Eskimos of Labrador," tells of one such call. On a bitterly cold and stormy night came the message from the missionary at Hebron, seventy-one miles away, "Come, my people are dying." It was an urgent call, and there must be no delay. Quickly the dogs were harnessed to the sledge, the Eskimo drivers were in place; everything was

"It was pitchy dark when we started. A raw air came moaning from the east; it chilled us through our sealskins, and made our cheeks and noses ache. When I tried to warm my stiffening toes by an occasional trot alongside the sledge, I kept stumbling over jagged points of ice, until one of the men shouted, 'Sit still, or we shall be losing you!'

"After that I sat still and hoped for morning. For two solid hours the agony went on, and then a faint glimmer of grey began to show in the east; it changed to a dull red, sullen and lurid in the morning haze, and we began to see the wide stretch of white ice heside us and a black and awful sea ahead of us. The ice in the bay had broken with the storm!

"Then we stopped our sledge and clustered together to consult about finding a road to Hebron. "'There is no road,' the men said.

'The ice is all broken there round the headland. Let us turn home-"I know a track over the headland,' said Johannes. 'Let me see if we can get to it.' "He walked along the ice at the foot of the rocks, now standing for a moment, now running a few steps;

he came back presently, and said, We can do it.' "I think that of all of my memories of Labrador the most vivid is the memory of that race along the fringe of ice at the foot of the cliffs. On the left the wall of rock rose steep; on the right the black water churned and tumbled and ground the boating ice-pans together; beneath us the thick ice rocked ad heaved, and here and there the water came swirling through.

"'Sit tight, sit tight!' said the drivers, and there we sat, bowling along over the heaving ice. Sometimes one of the men pushed out a leg to guide the sledge round a bend, or to check its speed. At the place where the guide led us on to the headland the ice was broken away from the rock, and was rising and falling with the swell. One moment it came groanng up to the level of the land; the next it sank away again. The dogs went scrambling over, glad to get on to something firm; but the drivers held the sledge back until the ice began to rise, and then with a vell they started the dogs again, and bumped across the crack just as it came up level. A second too soon or too late would have meant smashing the front of the sledge to splinters.

"It seemed a long way over the headlands, uphill and down, and always through soft snow, sometimes so deep that the dogs had virtually to swim, because they could get no footbold The cold air rendered Johannes frost-bound; the moisture of his breath had frozen his beard and moustache so firmly together that when lunch time came, he could not open his mouth until we thawed him

"As the afternoon wore on, the dogs began to tire. The rest of us sat on our sledges until the cold began to chill us, and then ran alongside until weariness made us sit down again. Finally, in the dark of night, we got to Hebron-seventy-one miles over sea-ice and snow-covered hills."

Milton's Table.

A very rich American went to London and met an Englishman, who, strangely enough, liked him and asked him to his house.

The Englishman was a great collector of antiques, curiosities, etc., and showed the American, among other things, a table and a chair, and, pointing to them, said: "That table and that chair once beonged to Milton."

"Really!" said the American, kneeling down and reverently kissing both table and chair. "And." continued the Englishman,

"that table was the very one on which that immortal classic. Paradise Lost,' was written." "What was written?" questioned the guest. "'Paradise Lost,'" was the reply. "Who wrote it?" again questioned the American.

"Milton," replied the host. "Who did you say owned that ta-"Milton," again answered the host.

"Gosh!" ejaculated the rich one, in a tone of disgust. "I thought you said Lipton."
