After a busy morning

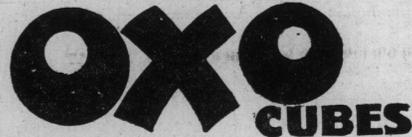

THE pleasure of shopping may cause you to forget that you are hungry and fatigued till you are on the point of reaching home. On such occasions, or, in fact, whenever you want food quickly, a cup of OXO is just the thing. It can be prepared in a moment.

It is a good plan to take a cup of OXO whenever you experience fatigue, or have to expose yourself to wet or cold. It is wonderfully refreshing, and fortifies against sudden changes of temperature.

Each OXO CUBE is enclosed in a neat dust-proof wrapper, and can be served as daintily as afternoon tea.

Love in a Flour Mill, OR, The Romance of Two Loyal Hearts!

CHAPTER XXVIII.

They carried the broken wretch to the carriage and took him to the cottage hospital at Port Dale, which was as quickly reached as the Hall would have been. A doctor and a capable local nurse were in instant attendance; and the four gentlemen waited for some kind of a report. It was some time before the doctor came out to them.

"The man is badly injured," he said, addressing Sir Reginald, who had told him how the accident had occurred; "it is a wonder that he has not broken every bone in his body—that he is still alive. At present he is unconscious. It was the act of a madman."

"I think he is mad," said Sir Reginald gravely.

"Judging by certain indications, I'm inclined to agree with you, Sir Reginald. I have sent to Sheldford for assistance, and, directly the man comes to, we will see what can be done for him. Of course, I will send up to the Hall and let you know the result of our examination; but I fear—" He shook his head as he left them.

The four men drove back to the Hall. Sir Reginald and Mr. Lexham discussed the extraordinary fact of the man's presence at the mill, and his more than possible identity with the murderer of Sir Mortimer. Vane did not join in the discussion, but leaned back, apparently lost in thought and glancing every now and then at Reece, who sat opposite him, as silent as himself, and with his arms tightly folded.

Dexter Reece's acute brain was very hard at work. The discovery of Raven, his appearance on the scene

Liquid Catarrh Remedies Useless. Only Relieve—Never Cure.

They go direct to the stomach, have very little effect on the linings of the nose and throat, and entirely fail to cure. Only by cleansing the air passages, by relieving the inflammation and killing the germs is cure possible. No combination of antiseptics is so successful as Catarrhoxone. In breathing it you send the richest pine balsams right to the seat of the

at this juncture, considerably upset Reece's plans. He saw that the sooner he exchanged the ruby for a cheque, and put a few thousand miles between himself and the Hall, the better. He fervently hoped that Raven might die before he recovered the power of speech; but if Raven recovered sufficiently to reveal Dexter Reece's complicity—he shuddered at the thought. After all, he told himself, he would not have done so badly after all for himself; five-and-twenty thousand pounds go a long way in, say, Mexico. But he might not even have to take flight; there was no evidence against him; and the Desboroughs and all concerned would certainly be desirous of keeping the whole business to themselves, of hushing it up.

He was quite calm as he followed the other three into the library; and he was not at all embarrassed when Mr. Lexham inquired gravely: "May we ask you to give us some explanation, to throw some light, on this tragic occurrence, Mr. Reece?"

"I'm afraid I cannot," he replied, with an air of reluctance. "As I have said, my lips are sealed. Indeed, I can take no further part in this sad business. I am not concerned in it; my share in it disappears the moment I have consigned the ruby to Sir Reginald's care."

He took the box from his pocket and placed it on the table. Mr. Lexham lifted out the stone, looked at it, and handed it to Sir Reginald, who merely glanced at it with an expression of distaste and was replacing it in the box when Vane said: "May I be permitted to look at it, Sir Reginald?"

"I beg your pardon," said Sir Reginald, and he handed him the box.

Vane held the stone in the palm of his hand and looked at it for quite a minute, then he laid it in its cotton-wool again, and restored the box to Sir Reginald.

"I wonder whether I might ask you gentlemen to delay this business for say, half an hour?" he said. "I am

For a permanent cure for Catarrh, nothing equals Catarrhoxone, get it to-day, but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhoxone. quite aware I ought to offer you some explanation for my request; but I will beg you to permit me to defer it until I return."

Sir Reginald looked surprised, but inclined his head and waved his hand.

"Certainly, we will wait," he said. "I will order some refreshment. Please do not be away longer than you can help."

Vane nodded and went out. Steele got an impromptu meal, and the three men went into the dining-room but, tired as they were, they were too excited, too agitated, to avail themselves of it; and they were still pretending to eat, when Steele announced that Mr. Vane had returned and was in the library. They went there quickly. Vane was sitting on the table, his hands in his pockets; they saw with amazement that he was in his shirt sleeves, and that his shirt and front of his waistcoat were soiled with dust. Dexter Reece gazed at him steadily with knit brows and tightened lips.

"What on earth does this mean?" demanded Sir Reginald.

"I will explain presently," said Vane. "I should like to ask Mr. Reece a question." He looked across at Reece. "I understand, sir, that you are disposing of the Giant Ruby, as it is called, for the sum of twenty-five thousand pounds?"

"That is so," assented Reece; "on behalf of another person."

"Quite so," said Vane drily. "Where is it?"

Reece took the box from his pocket again and placed it on the table.

"There it is," he said.

Vane turned the stone out on the table and flicked it with his finger and thumb.

"It is nothing of the kind!" he said. "That is not the ruby." They gazed at him in silent astonishment, as if they were dumfounded. "That isn't the ruby at all," he continued gravely. "It is a counterfeit; a remarkably clever one, but a counterfeit, all the same."

"What!" exclaimed Mr. Lexham; while Dexter Reece, flushing hotly, laughed incredulously.

"You surely don't expect me to believe that?" he said, with a sneer.

"Of course not," responded Vane. "In your place, I should be just as incredulous. You will consult an expert, of course. I'm not one; but I've taken an interest in precious stones, and I'm open to bet you—that is," he corrected himself in a tone which was like the cut of a whip, "if I cared to make a bet with you, which I don't—a thousand to one, that this thing is, as I say, a counterfeit of coloured crystal."

There was a pregnant silence for a moment; then Sir Reginald said, with suppressed agitation: "Are you sure, Vane? It is incredible—!"

Vane nodded confidently.

"I am quite sure, sir," he said; "so sure that I will ask you to tear up that little agreement, and return to Mr. Reece this pretty little sham, with your permission to do what he bally well likes with it."

Reece looked from one to the other with a half-defiant, half-confused air.

"If this is not the Giant Ruby—of course, I know that it is; I know how I came by it—I mean—he faltered for a moment—"if this is not it, where is it?"

"In my pocket," replied Vane quietly, almost casually.

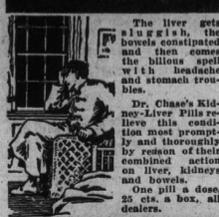

They all stared at him, far too overwhelmed to utter a word.

At last Dexter Reece gasped, with a laugh and a sneer: "Show—show it to us!"

"I will," said Vane; "if you will be good enough to take up that counterfeit and put it in your pocket. It is so like the real Simon Pure, that we don't want to run the risk of any—er—confusion."

As Dexter Reece, with trembling hands, took up the box, Vane withdrew his hand from his pocket, opened it, revealed a similar box, and slowly and deliberately turned out of it, on the table, a stone like, and yet unlike, that which was clenched in Dexter Reece's sweating palm. It was unlike, because, though it resembled the other in size and shape, it was of an indescribably rich colour, and gleamed and flashed as if it were a piece of molten fire.

Bilious Headache

No eye, resting on it for a moment, could doubt its genuineness, could fail to mark the difference between it and its counterfeit. Dexter Reece bent over it, as if he were fascinated; he tried to speak, but no sound proceeded from his livid lips. Unconsciously he stretched out his hand towards it; but Vane's strong hand closed over the priceless gem, and Dexter Reece shrank back and collapsed in a chair.

"Great heaven!" exclaimed Sir Reginald. "What does it mean? Where—where did you get it?"

"From under a stone in the old tower," said Vane quietly. "The first time I went there with Evelyn—yes, sir, I shall ask your permission to call Miss Desborough by that dear name—I let a hammer fall on one of the stone slabs; it sounded hollow. I did not think much of it at the time, but, when I saw that Mr. Reece's ruby was a counterfeit, it occurred to me that Sir Mortimer might have done the same kind of thing that other owners of priceless gems have done—that is, have a counterfeit made, and conceal the genuine gem."

"But—but—how did you find—?"

"Well, you see, for some time past I have been examining the rooms in which Sir Mortimer would have concealed the gem, if he had done so as I supposed; but I could find no hiding-place—excepting the hollow under this stone, I have just been and dug the stone up, and there, in its box, lay the ruby. I'd have taken you all with me; but I should have looked a pretty kind of fool if nothing had been there."

Reece raised his head and glared at Vane.

"I deny that that is the ruby," he said hoarsely. "It is not, but you will have to account for its being in your possession."

"You mean that I am lying?" said Vane quietly. "Fortunately for me, Sir Mortimer himself has accounted for it." He took a paper from his pocket, and handed it to Mr. Lexham.

"I found this inside the box. Perhaps you will read it."

Mr. Lexham took the paper, unfolded it, and read, in a shaky voice: (To be Continued.)

LONDON, Jan. 7. Headquarters in France report special artillery activity on the eastern front. British aeroplanes have bombed the Douai aerodrome. German aeroplane dropped bombs on Boulogne. No damage. Furious fighting continues north-east of Czeronowitz. Further portions of the enemy positions have been seized. Counter-attacks were repulsed with heavy losses. The enemy was also repulsed southwest of Ploeghe and the ground previously captured in the Middle Strip was consolidated. Joffre, in Army orders says: German army's effective and the resources are dwindling, and the Allies are ever becoming stronger.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.
LONDON, Jan. 7. The initial list of the American securities, which the treasury is prepared to buy or borrow under the mobilisation scheme was published yesterday. The list contains 54 issues, mostly American railway securities, includes also, however, American Telephone and Telegraph, General Electric, New York Telephone and United States steel shares. The list is represented only by Canadian certificates 6 per cent. notes.

LABOR PARTY MEMBERS RESIGNED.
LONDON, Jan. 7. Arthur Henderson, President of the Board of Education, and Leader of the Labor Party in the Commons, William Bryce, Parliamentary and Secretary for Home Affairs, and M. Roberts, Lord Commissioner of the Treasury, also Labor Party members, have resigned from the Ministry.

SIMON'S SUCCESSOR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 7. A despatch from London to the News Agency says that Postmaster General Herbert Samuel, Liberal, will succeed Sir John Simon as Home Secretary.

LABOR CONGRESS AND COMPULSORY BILL.
LONDON, Jan. 7. The Labor Congress to-day saw a record against the Bill introduced in the Commons yesterday for compulsory military service. It recommended the members of the Labor Party in Parliament to oppose the bill until its stages. By a vote of 1,900,000 against 780,000 the Congress decided to support the demand for a withdrawal of the Compulsory Bill from Parliament. Ramsay MacDonald, labor member in the Commons, opposed everything in the nature of support for the compulsory service bill.

AS THINGS LOOK IN LONDON.

While the battle on the borders of Bessarabia is apparently still far from decision, each day brings the Russians claiming occupation of additional enemy positions, and Petrograd believes that if this process continues a short time longer, a break somewhere in the lines of the Central Powers must come. The whole strategy of the Russian army is being directed towards making a gap between the German armies in the Baltic and the Russian front, and the Austro-Hungarian forces. The Austro-Hungarian attacks in the region of Kolki are designed to prevent this. Fighting must continue for a considerable time yet, but upon the result will depend in a large measure the strategy of both sides when the spring comes.

Other fronts continue to maintain a state of comparative quiet, for England the attitude that labor will take regarding conscription is a great conference to be held at London to-morrow is a matter of anxiety. Robert Williams, leader of the transport workers federation here to-day is practically assured that the

YOUR BRONCHIAL TUBES

When a cold settles in the bronchial tubes, with that weakening, irritating cough, immediate treatment is very important. The breath seems short because of mucous obstructions. Usually fever is present, your head aches, every cough and your chest may ache. This is no time for experiment or delay—you must get Scott's Emulsion at once to drive out the cold. It started the trouble, and it will stop the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membrane.

If you have any symptoms of bronchitis, or even a stubborn cold, remember that Scott's Emulsion has been relieving this trouble for forty years. It is free from harmful drugs. Refuse substitutes.

STEADY ADVANCE OF THE RUSSIANS.
PETROGRAD, Jan. 6.
It appears not improbable, according to advices from the front, that the Austro-German forces in the southern extremity of the fighting area, will be forced back on a line running through Kolmen and Hanislaw in Galicia, in the near future, as a result of the steady and continuous advance of the Russians between the upper reaches of the River Stripa and the Roumanian frontier.

YOUR BRONCHIAL TUBES.
When a cold settles in the bronchial tubes, with that weakening, tickling cough, immediate treatment is very important.

Drop in German Prestige.
LONDON, Jan. 6.
A despatch from the Daily Mail from Athens says: The last ten days have seen the biggest drop in German prestige since the war began, and this despite the Entente Allies' evacuation of a portion of the Gallipoli Peninsula. The causes of the German slump have been external and internal, namely the failure of the Teutonic forces to advance in Macedonia together with General Salmela's confidence in the strength of the Entente Allies' position at Salonika, and the impatience of the Greek troops to resist any attempt at a Bulgarian advance in Greek territory, which has compelled the Government to give the commanders on the border the necessary orders to be prepared for action against the Bulgarians if necessary.

Now As A Mother
don't you have the good of your family at heart? Don't you want to get for your family the very best? For internal ailments—the best medicine? For sores and skin diseases—the best ointment? If so, get Zam-Buk. Mothers who have used Zam-Buk say there is nothing else so soothing, healing, powerful in cases of skin diseases and injuries, and nothing so suitable for sensitive skins.

IN SALONIKA.
LONDON, Jan. 6.
The Austro-Germans are massing heavy artillery at Gevoigoli for an early drive on Salonika. A despatch to the Paris Temps from its Salonika correspondent last night, said that Allied aviators returning from reconnaissance over the German lines state that large numbers of 12 inch mortars are arriving at the Greek frontier from Nish. Field Marshal Von Mackensen will command the combined army of Austrians and Germans, Turks and Bulgarians in their campaign against the Allies.

GREECE'S NEW LOAN.
PARIS, Jan. 6.
An Athens despatch to the Havas Agency says: The French Government has informed the Greek Government that they had placed 10,000,000 francs at the disposal of Greece. This sum is an advance on a loan of forty million francs now being negotiated.

AUSTRIANS DROP BOMBS ON ALBANIAN TOWN.
CETTINJE, Jan. 6.
Five Austrian aeroplanes dropped seventeen bombs of large calibre today on Saint Jean de Medua in Albania, near the southern border of Montenegro. No damage was caused.

AVLONA SEEM TO BE THE OBJECTIVE.
PARIS, Jan. 6.
It seems more and more probable that for the present at least the Germans will undertake no movement against the Allies at Salonika, telegraphs the Athens correspondent of the Havas Agency. It has been observed that the Germans and Bulgarians are fortifying the line they hold, apparently with the intention of remaining on the defensive.

SHORT OF SUPPLIES.
PARIS, Jan. 6.
The Bulgarian army is in a lamentable condition for lack of supplies, according to information given by deserters who have arrived from Gievgezi, says a Havas despatch from Salonika, filed on Wednesday. The commissary service of the army is totally inadequate to bring up sufficient rations over the rough roads along the limited lines of communication.

BULGARS AND TURKS.
PARIS, Jan. 6.
The Havas correspondent at Athens says he is able to confirm reports of an important popular manifestation at Sofia. It was directed, he says, against the Turks, who are reported to have declared that never again would they leave Bulgarian Thrace.

ITALIAN ARMY IN ALBANIA.
PARIS, Jan. 6.
A despatch to the Temps from Rome says: The Italian military authorities, regardless of the impatience and the nervousness of the newspapers, continue to conceal the details of the operations of the Italian army in Albania. This reserve is justified by circumstances, yet the situation admits of some general information. The Italian expedition is encountering immense difficulties.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.
The United States Steel Corporation to-day decided to increase the wages of all its unskilled employees about ten per cent. It added that in addition to the new wages for common laborers, the employees of practically all departments of the Corporation will receive proportionate increases.

Heroic Captain Grenfell Left Medals to His Men.
London, Dec. 11.—The late Captain Francis Grenfell, of the Ninth Lancers, the first officer in the present war to win the Victoria Cross, was so grateful to his men that in his will, just admitted to probate, he leaves them all his medals. Captain Grenfell, who was a well known polo player, left unaltered property of the gross value of $209,848. His will reads: "I give to my regiment, to whom the honor of my gaining the Victoria Cross was entirely due, thanks to the splendid discipline and traditions which exist in this magnificent regiment, all my medals, including the V. C. "My pony, Pearl of Price, which was ridden by my brother, Capt. The Plebiscite Petition

In announcing the filing of a petition in the Supreme Court against the Plebiscite held in November last, we pointed out that the issues raised, mainly impugned the conduct of the Election by the Government. For instance the petitioner claims that the Writs issued are null and void. Now writs are issued from the Colonial Secretary's Department, attested by the Governor, and signed by the Colonial Secretary.

It is claimed that no Returning Officer was duly appointed; and that those who purported to act as Returning Officers were not Returning Officers according to law. Such appointments are administrative acts of the Governor. It is only reasonable then that the Attorney General should be instructed to answer the claims that these administrative acts were null and void. We are pleased to find that the Daily News expresses the opinion that the only position consistent with the honour and dignity of the Government is for the Attorney General to put in an appearance, and also expresses confidence that this duty will be assumed by the Government.

We cannot however agree with the Daily News in the advice given to the Prohibition Committee to take neither part nor lot in this matter, if "this matter" is meant to include all the counts of the petition. It will be found that in addition to the counts which impugn the conduct of the Government in this matter, there are included other counts, which call for no answer from the Government. Amongst these are the claims that persons voted who were not qualified to vote, and that unqualified persons acted as agents. These claims should be answered by counsel for electors interested in the Election and not by the counsel of the Government.

There is another matter, which should be taken into consideration and that is the desirability of an early trial of the issues raised, and as speedily a judgment as possible with right and justice. This matter has a particular bearing on the meeting and closing of the Legislature. If the Plebiscite stands, the Prohibition enforcing Prohibition must be issued to bring it into force on the First of January next. If the Election should be declared void, no such Proclamation can be issued under it and Legislation will be called for. In arranging for the despatch of business at the 1916 Session of the Legislature, the Government must govern themselves accordingly. The Legislature should not be closed until this matter is disposed of finally.

SEALERS GETTING READY.
All the wooden steamers are being put in condition for the sealing voyage. Most of them will go to North Sydney for their cargoes.

The depletion of the sealing fleet, caused by the almost complete removal of the steel ships will mean that upwards of fifteen hundred men less than last spring, will be unable to go to the ice. The majority of the fleet this year will hunt northward. The Seal of Halifax, is said to be the only steel ship to take part in the fishery. She will prosecute the Gulf.

"The Listening Post."

We have before us a copy of "The Listening Post" an interesting and amusing paper printed in the trenches in France. It was sent by a Newfoundland soldier to a friend in the city. It is printed by permission of the Lieut.-Colonel, commanding the 7th Canadian Infantry Battalion, and is endorsed by the chief censor of the 1st Canadian Division. The issue before us of 8 pages 12 x 8 inches, and is neatly printed. It is written and printed in the zone of shell fire, is full of breezy matter and sells for a penny a copy. A particular feature of the publication is the humor prevailing throughout every column which goes to show that the Canadian soldiers are certainly not "downhearted."

Rod and Gun.

The January issue of Rod and Gun in Canada is on the news-stands and a glance at the table of contents shows that the magazine is living up to its reputation as the leading exponent of outdoor life in Canada. Among the contributors noted are Edward T. Martin, R. J. Fraser, Jean Stevinson, P. V. Williams and Margaret Grant MacWhirter, while some of the articles are: Game Farming for Profit and Pleasure, Capacities, the Unwritten Law, Almost a Walkout, The Restigouche, etc. In addition the regular departments devoted to Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes are well maintained. Trap shooters will be interested in the account of the recent Grand International shoot held at St. Thomas and dog lovers in the new Kennel department. Rod and Gun is published at Woodstock by W. J. Taylor, Ltd.

LOSS OF APPETITE.

When Julia rang the dinner bell, I used to lift my voice and yell, and chortle and repeat; my feet went weaving like a loom, until I reached the dining room and settled down to eat. The victuals all looked good to me, the Lima bean, the spud, the pea, the fragrant raisin pie; oh, every mouthful tasted sweet, and I would sit and eat, and eat, and watch the buttons fly. But since I had that last attack of pink lumbago in the back, my appetite's destroyed; the music of the dinner bell has all the pathos of a knell, and life is aching void. The turnips taste just like the spuds; the coffee tastes like washday suds, the meat tastes like the greens; the rich imported Worcester sauce reminds me of a total loss, the prunes taste like the beans. The women rack their heads in vain to make up dishes safe and sane, to tempt my appetite; the finest products of their skill taste like the anti-bilious pill that I must take at night. If I could only eat again, like yonder lean and hungry men, no cares should daunt my heart; I'd laugh the ills of life to scorn, and blithely eat an ear of corn, a cabbage and a tart.

McMurdo's Store News

FRIDAY, JAN. 7, 1916.
If you have a cough from a cold—and such troubles are rather common just now, it would be well to try a bottle of our White Pine and Tar Syrup. This Syrup is particularly good for recent coughs. It is very pleasant to take and is not likely to derange the stomach. Taken strictly according to directions it generally gives prompt relief. Price 25c. a bottle.

For sore hands and face, and lips, Cream of Lilies is unequalled as an emollient. It is especially useful in winter time when mild weather is suddenly followed by frost, and calms by harsh, drying winds. Those who value their complexion—or their comfort—would do well to have a pot of this remarkably successful healing and soothing Cream near at hand for use when required. Price 25c. a pot.

Amusements.

"THE TATOOED HAND,"
At The Crescent.

"The Tatooed Hand," an episode in the girl detective series, is the headliner at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day. This exciting feature is produced in two reels by the Kalem Company. Tom Mix, the popular cowboy actor, features in "The Conversion of Smiling Tom." G. M. Anderson is presented in a fine society drama; "The Face at the Curtain" and Lloyd V. Hamilton, the funniest man in the movies, makes a lot of fun in "Lotta Coins Ghost," his partner Bud Duncan is on deck also and there is a laugh in every line of this clever comedy.

The usual extra pictures will be shown at the Saturday matinee. Send the children for a real afternoon's enjoyment; the Crescent staff will take care of them.

CHARLIE'S GREAT COMIC AT THE NICKEL.

"The Easterbrook Case," one of the finest dramas ever presented at the Nickel Theatre, will be shown to patrons to-day. It is a grand story in three reels by the Vitagraph artists and everyone should make an effort to see it. Julia Swayne, Gordon Cliss Fitzgerald, Roger Lytton and Garry McGarry are in the leading characters. "Her Film-Land Hero" is a comedy drama of the greatest merit. "A Deed of Daring" is a melo-drama such as St. John's likes. Then there is the great comic by the one and only Charlie Chaplin. It is entitled "Charlie and Mabel's Busy Day," and it will keep the audience in roars of laughter. There will be a special matinee for the children to-morrow afternoon with popular pictures.

MRS. ROSSLEY'S PUPILS AT GOVT. HOUSE.

The talented girls now appearing at the pantomime, gave a commendable performance at Government House, when His Excellency and Lady Davidson were the guests. Mrs. Rossley and her pupils had the Rossey Sunshine Girls to help to entertain their visitors. The children were delighted with the performance and Mr. Jack Rossley as the Rag Doll dancer with little Miss Daphne Davidson, while Bonnie Rossley as the Wax Doll, danced with Miss Dina Davidson. At the conclusion of the entertainment Mr. and Mrs. Rossley were called into the ball-room, and the delighted audience of little people, gave them a great receipt after which the members of the company were treated to a delightful tea.

BRITISH THEATRE.

Large audiences attended the performances last night at the above theatre. The "Black Box" has had a most enthusiastic reception and the ensuing chapters will be eagerly awaited and followed by those who have witnessed the beginning. The musical section of the programme are especially pleasing. The duet by Mr. McCarthy and Madame Timmons was splendidly rendered, and evoked rounds of applause. The accompaniment was played by Mr. Gordon Christian whose ability as an accompanist is too well known to need comment. Madame Timmons' solo "The Last Rose of Summer" was also a hit. The feature picture for to-day's show is a two-reel Key Bee production entitled "The Girl who might have been." The solo by Madame Timmons will be "From the Heart," by A. Von Ahn Carse, and "Come Out Mr. Sunshine" as a second number. On Monday a splendid drama, "Shattered Memories" will be presented.

STORMY AT ST. MARY'S.—A storm raged at St. Mary's yesterday and in consequence the coastal steamer Portia could not get in there to discharge her freight, having to remain at anchor in the harbor all day awaiting an abatement.

WHARF BREAKS DOWN.—The outer section of Bishop, Sons & Co.'s eastern wharf, on which was lying 200 barrels of herring, collapsed yesterday afternoon, and as a result a number of workmen were kept busy this morning clearing away the wreck and recovering the packages, but repairs to the wharf will take considerable time.

INVESTIGATING LARCENIES.—No arrest has yet been made in connection with the larceny of goats from a widow of the Battery, as previously noted. The police are also kept busy just now investigating other larcenies that occurred in the city recently.

PRESENTATION.—A presentation to Nurse Tuck who leaves shortly for the front, took place yesterday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of the Nfld. Nurses Association. Miss Bowden, on behalf of the Association, read the address which was accompanied by a purse of gold. Miss Tuck made a brief reply, in which she expressed her strong desire to be of some service to the Empire, and at the same time her sorrow at parting with her friends. Following the presentation tokens were served in the Current Events Club rooms, a large number of friends and former patients of Miss Tuck being present.

Cuba's Sugar Crop.

Every Evidence to Support Belief It is Largest Ever.
Washington, Dec. 30.—A report to the Department of Commerce from Consul-General Harris at Havana, states that grinding has begun on Cuba's sugar crop of 1915, and that there is every evidence to support the belief that it is the largest ever produced in the island. Where last year 176 cent to the cooler weather and excellent crop-ripening conditions. All Cuba was quickened into unprecedented trials made up the crop, this year there are 188, with 12 large, up-to-date mills entering on operations. The machinery for these new mills came from the United States and it is said to be the best installed in Cuba.

The cane is good this year owing business activity and prosperity with the news of the great crop of 1914-15, which sold for approximately $205,000,000, a return that gave every interest concerned with the sugar industry a handsome profit. It is now the general expectation that a similar year of prosperity lies ahead. The best estimates of the amount of the present crop put it at 3,175,000 tons, which, at current prices, would make the grand total received for the crop $250,000,000. What this means to the people of Cuba is indicated in the amount received for crops of recent years. The 1910-11 crop brought $84,000,000; that of 1911-12 brought $121,467,000; that of 1912-13, $115,000,000; that of 1913-14, $120,424,000, and that of 1914-15, $205,000,000. The average of the Cuban imports for five years past from the United States was $3.14 per cent, and with an exceptionally large sugar crop this promise strong for a large export trade to the island from this country during the coming winter and spring.

Gloomy Outlook at Panama Canal.

Washington Hears World's Traffic May Long Be Prevented Its Use.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Major-General Goethals has notified the War Department that he is still unable to make any prediction as to when the slides in the Gaillard Cut in the Panama Canal will be sufficiently removed to allow the traffic of the world to pass through the canal. Several small vessels have been allowed to pass through, but these drew fifteen and one-half feet of water and less. The depth of water in the locks and in the channel of the canal is to be forty feet, when the slides are removed.
The fact that General Goethals is not able to say when the canal will be ready for use by larger vessels and commerce generally was announced by the Washington office of the canal to-day, after messages had been sent to General Goethals seeking the facts. When his reply was received, this announcement was issued: "There have been several reports recently in the newspapers regarding the passage of vessels through the Panama Canal. A cablegram asking for information has been sent to the Isthmus and a reply has been received from which it would seem that a temporary opportunity to pass small craft drawing 15 1/2 feet or less was taken advantage of, and certain vessels which had been held since the canal closed were allowed to pass the slide. If a similar opportunity offers a few additional vessels of greater draught, which have also been held since the closure of the canal, will probably be passed through, but the Governor warns that conditions are very unstable, and it is impossible to estimate in advance what the probable available channel will be at any succeeding date."

Abyssinia.

It was reported recently that the King of Abyssinia had offered to send an army to the assistance of the Allies against the Turks should they threaten Egypt. The Globe (Toronto) has the following interesting notes on the matter:
The offer made by the King of Abyssinia to send to the aid of the Allies an army of two hundred thousand men will greatly intensify the interest of Europeans in that still obscure country.

It would not be cause for surprise if the offer should, in whole or in part, be accepted, because there has been in force for exactly nine years, between Abyssinia on the one hand and three of the allied powers—Italy, France and Great Britain—on the other, a comprehensive and beneficent treaty, the general effect of which is to make Abyssinia a quasi-protectorate of the three Allies.
Under that agreement the latter bind themselves to respect and try to preserve the territorial integrity of the kingdom, to act fairly by it and by each other in the matter of industrial concessions, to refrain from intruding into its domestic affairs, and to co-operate in railway construction and other problems of transit and traffic. By a separate convention of the same date the allied powers agree to regulate the importation of arms and ammunition into Abyssinia.

In theory, though not in practice, the Abyssinian army is made up exclusively of cavalry, and the regular forces amount to a total of a hundred and fifty thousand or more. Years ago the ancient weapons of war were discarded and modern rifles have been substituted. If the Allies accept any of the Abyssinian troops the latter will no doubt have their own wiry horses, but will be armed with the most effective weapons suited to mounted infantry. There are no harder fighters in the world than the Abyssinian mountaineers, as the Allies well know from frequent encounters with them as foemen. It is worthy of note that Abyssinia is entirely cut off from the Red Sea by Italian Eritrea on the north and northeast and from the Indian Ocean by French British and Italian Somaliland on the east. It has British East Africa on the south and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan on the west. A land so hedged about and so protected by its powerful neighbors under treaty stipulations is not at all likely to make any trouble for the Allies, even if it does not come to their aid.

A Club Motto.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"No lugs." That is the motto of a little neighborhood gathering. It is inelegant, I know, but I quote it for the spirit it expresses rather than as an examination of good English. The way it chanced to be taken for a motto was this:

When the little club, a fortnight gathering of young married people at the various homes of its members, was formed, one of the girls who was invited to join, said, "Yes, if you'll promise that we won't put any lugs on."

"Of course not," said the rest. (Did anyone ever admit such an intention?)

Trying To Outdo Each Other.

"Well," she explained, "where I lived before I was married, we girls started a little whist and sewing club. It was fun at first and then by-and-by we all began to put on lugs. Instead of trying to have a good time, we tried to outdo each other in clothes, the way our houses looked and the things we had to eat."

"After a while, two or three of the poorer girls dropped out because they couldn't wear something new every time and finally the whole club went to pieces. I said then I'd never belong to another club like that. There's too much heartburning, too much fussing and competition and too little real pleasure to make it worth while."

A Description Of A Tea Party.

When I heard of that woman's protest I wished that Stephen Crane might have met her. Did you ever read his description of a tea party in Whilomville? I haven't room to give it in full, but here are two characteristic paragraphs:

"There would be a fanfare of affectionate greetings, during which everybody would measure to an inch the importance of what everybody else was wearing. Those who wore old dresses would wish they had not come; and those who saw that in the company they were well clad, would be pleased or exalted or filled with the joys of cruelty.

And They Thought They Were Having a Good Time!

"The value and beauty or oddity of the tea cups was another element which entered largely into the spirit of these terrible enterprises. These collections so differed in style and the obvious amount paid for them that nobody could be happy. The poorer one envied; the richer ones feared; the poorer ones continually striving to overtake the leaders; the leaders with their heads always turned back to hear overtaking footsteps. And none of these things here written did they know. Instead of seeing that they were very stupid, they thought they were very fine. And they gave and took heart bruises—fierce, deep heart-bruises—under the clear impression that such kind of rubbish was of the kingdom of nice people."

A pretty accurate description of some of our social gatherings isn't it?

I wish we might have more gatherings with the "no-lugs" spirit instead of the Whilomville tea party spirit. There'd be that much more happiness in the world if we could.

PLUMBING.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slivash."

Plumbing is a modern affliction which makes our houses fit to live in and almost impossible to pay for. Plumbing consists mostly of pipes and pipe dreams. The pipes are used in the house and the pipe dreams are used in the bill. With the aid of the pipe and the pipe dream together, the plumber is able to convey the water to a bathtub in nineteen hours at 80 cents an hour, by means of a wrench which has been left in his shop four miles away.

Another ingredient in plumbing is the faucet. Faucets are pieces of jewelry, which are sold by karat weight, and which are very ornamental indeed when mounted in solid marble settings.

Plumbing is used to carry water into a house and sewage out of it, but most plumbing will willingly reverse the operation on the slightest pretext. When a house has been properly plumbed, it is congested with pipes which are cleverly concealed between the walls in such a manner that any little leak can be readily repaired by taking up the floors and removing the partitions. Plumbing is made of lead, brass, and iron, but it is as fragile as a baby's ear and must be protected from cold with the utmost caution. If a collection of high-strung and nervous plumbing is left alone in a house on a dark winter night, it will promptly freeze and burst. This allows the faithful and energetic water company to pump the house completely full of excellent drinking water, for which the owner of the house hasn't the slightest use.

Sometimes a pipe freezes, but does not burst. It is then possible for the owner to thaw it out, by crawling through a rat hole and pouring hot water on it and his thumb in equal doses. Sometimes the plumbing seems to be in great pain and thumps and groans in an uncanny manner. This can be remedied most inexpensively by shutting off the water and moving into another house fitted with non-hysterical pipes.

Plumbing has made marvelous progress in the past few years and is a great blessing to humanity, though not a high moral influence at all times. The Greeks wanted their marble on temples and statues, but we put ours into bathrooms and lavatories. Architects often draw beautiful house designs, and sell them to investors by figuring the cost, exclusive of plumbing, just as automobile makers sell a car for $1,000 exclusive of lamps, magnet, horn, top, engine, windshield and tires. Cautious house builders, however, install and pay for their plumbing first and then build their houses with what is left of their bank accounts.

Household Notes.

If hard-boiled eggs are plunged into cold water as soon as they are taken from the fire there will be no dark ring around the yolk.

There is nothing better for removing sticky and soiled places from the rugs than ammonia. If this fades the color, rub with chloroform.

Raisins will stone much more easily if they are placed in the oven until they are heated through. They can then be easily split and the stones removed.

Silver can be cleaned in the afternoon after the maid has finished the ironing. She can be sitting in a comfortable chair, and it will, in a great measure, be a rest.

When the chimney does not draw well, pry opening the windows in the room for a few minutes before starting the fire, and see if that will not help the draught.

Do not allow moths to breed in your house. It can be prevented by eliminating garments that have had them in and by keeping a watchful eye on all closets and chests.

When the weather is cold enough to make ice, reduce the ice bill by setting pails of water out to freeze.

The housekeeper can give the family extremely plain meals, but she should, once in a while, provide an unexpected dainty to prevent their becoming tired of the plain diet.

When washing delicate faces do not use starch; if a little stiffening is needed, dissolve two lumps of sugar in a basin of water. This will give all the stiffening that is needed.

A few drops of camphor on the toothbrush will give the mouth a fresh, clean feeling, and it will harden the gums and prevent anything like cold sores or affections of the tongue.

Sheets of tinfoil placed under dollies upon which glass pitchers or vases containing water are set will prevent the water from soaking through and marking the polished tables.

When cream is too thin to whip easily, place the dish containing the cream in a pan of cold water until it is thoroughly chilled, then put it into a pan of hot water and it will whip without difficulty.

The fourth annual Bean Tea and Concert under the auspices of the St. Bon's Ladies' Association was held at the Aula Maxima yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. A very interesting concert programme was given, the performers being Misses Sles, Strang and Ryan; Messrs. Halley and Bulley. During the evening, delicious teas and refreshments were served by the ladies of the Association. In order to augment the proceeds which were not quite up to expectations a bridge drive will be held to-night at the residence of the Treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Atkinson.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X-LAMP and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

The story of the fighting on the Peninsula from the beginning of May to the end of October. Probably the most important contribution to the present war has yet been made. The report throws light on the great landing at Anzac Cove, which has been the subject of strong criticism on the military administration of the Government, the whole of which is being reviewed. It is not surprising that the details failed in the past. The report shows that the plan to accomplish its object was partly because of the inexperience of the new war, partly through the lack of water supply. The report also shows that the operations up to the middle of the war, when he relinquished command.

AUSTRIAN REPLY PUBLISHED. WASHINGTON, To-day. The State Department late yesterday made public the official text of the Austro-Hungarian reply to the second American note regarding the sinking of the Ancona. It does not differ substantially from the press translation cabled via London.

OUTCOME OF LABOR CONGRESS. LONDON, To-day. Resignations of Henderson, Bruce and Roberts were the direct outcome of the Labor Congress held yesterday. There are now four vacancies in the Parliamentary Labor Members. At the close of the latter conference, the announcement was made of the withdrawal of the three Labor Members of the Coalition Ministry. It is understood that Henderson will take an early opportunity to explain the position to the Commons, probably at next Tuesday's session. There are now four vacancies in the Coalition Ministry, including that caused by the resignation of Sir John Simon, Home Secretary. Gossip is already busy over the probable successors of the outgoing Ministers.

THE GREEK SITUATION. PARIS, To-day. The Greek press is considering with some concern the situation which may arise in case the Allies find it necessary to send a reply to the Greek authorities at Saloniki, if an invasion should be attempted by the Teutonic Allies. The Athens correspondent of the Havas Agency says, it is explained such action would be only provisional, and in no way an encroachment on the sovereignty of Greece, nevertheless newspapers say it would complicate the situation for the Government, which is pressed by the Central Powers for a reply to their protest against the arrest of the German, Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish Consuls at Saloniki. The protest of Greece on this subject to the Entente Powers has not been answered. King Peter of Serbia, who is at Saloniki has sent King Constantine a telegram expressing his satisfaction at being able to enjoy hospitality of the country which is the friend and ally of Serbia.

IAN HAMILTON'S REPORT. LONDON, To-day. General Ian Hamilton's report of British operations on the Gallipoli Peninsula was published in the Official Gazette last night. It tells the story of the fighting on the Peninsula from the beginning of May to the middle of October. Probably no more important contribution to the history of the present war has yet been made. The report throws light upon the great landing at Anzac Cove and Suvla Bay, on August 7th, which have been the subject to strong attacks upon the military administration of the Government, the whole operations requiring the combined action of the army and navy. The handling of masses of troops within the limited area probably was the most complicated ever undertaken. Military men are not surprised that some important details failed in the work as planned. The Suvla Bay landing failed to accomplish its object. The report shows partly because the force consisted largely of untried troops under Generals inexperienced in the new warfare, partly through the failure of water supply. The sufferings of troops for lack of water makes the painful reading. General Hamilton bestows the highest possible praise upon the bravery of the men. He believes after the middle of August the Turks outnumbered the British and had plenty of fresh soldiers and munitions, while the British Government was unable to furnish him with the reinforcements he wanted. The General strongly opposed the abandonment of any bases held by British troops. General Hamilton's report was submitted to Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, Secretary of State for War, carries the story of the Dardanelles operations up to the middle of October, when he relinquished the command.

336 PERSONS LOST IN S. S. PERSEA. LONDON, To-day. Announcement to-night by the Peninsular Oriental S. S. Co. says the number of persons on board steamer Persea who have not been accounted for aggregates 336, of these 119 were passengers, 217 members of crew.

large that it is considered doubtful if the General Assembly which meets at Winnipeg next June will force the Union on 93,156 members who voted against it. The total vote was 230,398. The majority given by this vote on the Church Union question is considerably lower than that given in 1911. Majority then was 80,251, although 12,199 more votes were recorded.

THE LONDON BUDGET. LONDON, To-day. The area of the Russian successes over the Austro-Hungarian forces in the east continues to widen. Although the situation around Czernovitz has not yet been cleared up officially, it appears from advices from Russian sources that the Austrians are hard pressed over a long line of defence and are throwing huge reinforcements into the district. The Russians here are expected to strike at the Koloman-Stanislav-Halicz line, where powerful defensive works have been in preparation for some time by the Austro-Germans. Meanwhile the Russian position 250 miles further north in the middle of Stry River has been greatly strengthened by successful operations in the region of the great marshes, where the Russians are beginning to emerge from the marshes with prospects of being able to use the roads leading either to the west or southwest. Their advance here has not been the result of an isolated battle but of a series of engagements lasting over a considerable period. In the capitals of the Entente Allies the opinion is expressed that the Russian offensive completely upset the plans of the Central Powers for the invasion of Saloniki and Egypt.

In connection with yesterday's announcement of the defeat of the German war vessel on Lake Tanganyika in East Central Africa, a half mile above the sea level, it is announced the British ships which accomplished the surrender of the German vessel were especially constructed in England and transported to the heart of Africa. Until the arrival of these vessels the Germans dominated Lake Tanganyika, which is the centre of a large and important territory. The presence of British armed vessels on the Lake will reverse the situation.

there. This is considered here as most opportune in view of the forthcoming campaign in East Africa. Interest in the Serbian refugee army was shown by a question in the Commons yesterday—"Whether a considerable part of the Serbian army is in distress at Scutari, after having suffered great privations in the retreat through the mountains; whether His Majesty's Government will offer the Serbian army some suitable locality in the Mediterranean where the men may rest and recuperate?" In reply Lord Robert Cecil, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said there was a considerable body of the Serbian army at Scutari, where at first the men had been in great distress, but the situation, he added, had now been largely relieved. The Entente Allies, the Secretary said, had considered the matter raised in the latter part of the question, but he was unwilling to make any announcement concerning it. Telegrams from Athens say the number of Serbian refugees in Greek territory are now forty thousand, of whom six thousand are at Saloniki.

AERIAL ACTIVITY. LONDON, To-day. The official report of the British forces on the Continent says "additional raid on Aerodromes at Doullens-Other raid was carried out yesterday by eleven machines against the stores Depot Le Sars. This morning one of our patrols dispersed a party of German planes just north of the Somme, with hand grenades. Artillery activity on both sides yesterday was principally confined to the area east of Arras, between and south and northeast of Ypres.

THE LABOR CONGRESS. LONDON, To-day. The Organized Labor of Great Britain, sitting in Congress at London yesterday decided against the Government's Compulsion Bill by an overwhelming majority of 1,998,000 to 783,000. The hostility to the Government's measure was uncompromising and necessitated the resignation from the Coalition Ministry of all three Labor Members, Arthur Henderson, Wm. Bruce, and the former Cabinet member. A number of Labor Members also voted with the opposition. Balfour's closing speech was one of the notable features of the debate. He spoke with great earnestness, but with good nature and confidence, which kept the members between applause and laughter. This measure, he declared, was not designed to settle military policy of Britain. It was for the present occasion and for the present war. "I have never favored or organized, Wounded Russian officers report that the consequences of this battle already are being shown in certain sectors by the blowing in of the first line of German trenches, and the slow but irresistible progress of Russian forces. ADVISES APPEAL TO ELECTORATE. LONDON, To-day. The Daily Telegraph, which throughout the crisis had displayed the greatest moderation in its views says that some of the principal members of the Cabinet consider that the important minority against the Conscription Bill should be taken as a signal for the early appeal to the country, and that the difficulty about the votes of the men in the trenches could be overcome by collecting the votes at the front. Much is made of the fact that three Laborites connected with the Government, resigned, not because they opposed the bill, but because they accept it, and undoubtedly political leaders of the Labor Party seem to favor the Bill. The decision that the three members of the Coalition should resign, was carried at an executive meeting of the Parliamentary group of the Labor Party held in the House of Commons after the Labor Congress. The decision was taken by only thirteen votes to ten.

growing in intensity and assuming great ferocity, says the Petrograd correspondent of the Havas News Agency in a despatch filed on Wednesday. Despatches from Kiev declare that the noise of cannon can be heard along a distance of thirty miles, and that windows in all the villages in this region have been broken by the concussion. The battle is raging with great fury on the Tarnopol-Trembova front, where more than 800,000 men with 3,500 cannon are incessantly engaged. Our Soldiers & Sailors Entertained.

An entertainment consisting of a dinner and concert for the Volunteers and Naval Reservists was given at the Presbyterian Hall last night, and was attended by His Excellency the Governor, Lady Davidson, Miss Davidson and Capt. A. Goodridge. A. D. C. Amongst the other guests present were Private C. Frampton who has seen active service in France, and Corporal R. Hickey who was with the Newfoundland Regiment at Gallipoli. His Excellency read the following extract from Brigade orders by Brigadier General D. E. Cayley, C. M. G., dated 8th Nov. 1915, which was received with much applause:—"The G. O. C. wishes to place on record his appreciation of the excellent work of the Newfoundland Regiment during the operations of the last few days. By their conduct in this, their first important work, they have brought distinction to the Brigade and have proved themselves to be possessed of self-reliance, bravery and tenacity, the first qualities of a good soldier." He then announced the confirmation of the honours conferred on Lieut. Donnelly, Sergt. Greene and Private Hynes for their good work on Caribou Hill, and referred in glowing terms to the work of the Colony's sons in aid of the Motherland. His Excellency then proposed the toast of the King's Army and Navy, to which Commander MacDermott, of the H. M. S. Calypso, responded, paying a very high tribute to our men in the Navy. Following the dinner an excellent concert programme was given by Mrs. Overbridge, Misses Mare, Herd, Hayward; Messrs. T. H. Ayre and E. Dickinson who had the arduous task of preparing the dinner.

ESSENCE OF GINGER WINE. Having had considerable correspondence with parties in the Old Country, I have at last succeeded in obtaining the genuine and original recipe for the "Essence of Ginger Wine," which I now offer at 15 cents per bottle. This recipe has been safely guarded for a great many years. It was originally prepared by an old Squire in Lancashire, A.D. 1575. It is made from the purest ingredients, and is strictly non-alcoholic. It makes an ideal Christmas drink for the young and the old. The contents of one of these bottles, mixed with three quarts of hot water, in which there has been previously dissolved one and a quarter pounds of sugar, makes the Ginger Wine ready for use. I have much pleasure in introducing this old (but still new) preparation. PETER OMARA, The Druggist, dec30/15 46-48 Water St. West.

Hockey Notes. The Hockey League meets to-morrow night when the programme of the season's games will be outlined. The Fieldian Hockey Club and supporters will hold a meeting this evening to arrange about their team. The Victorias are expected to put forward a strong aggregation. Two of their new-comers here have fought in battles that were fought on Nova Scotia ice. Fred Brien is again going into harness. The St. Bon's will have also a strong representation this season and are hopeful of coming out on top. The teams will begin practising on Monday next. LEAVING THE ELEVENTH.—The S. S. THE KING.

The King has had his first outing in a bath-chair since the accident caused by his being thrown from his horse. I hear that His Majesty is well enough to walk a good deal about his room, and that now he will probably be free to move into his ordinary sitting-room. He goes to bed at eight and dines there. He sees very few people, but is in good spirits with his reviving health.

UNITY OF MUNITIONS CONTROL.

General satisfaction is expressed over the absorption by the Ministry of Munitions of the Ordnance Board of the War Office, which means that all authority over the manufacture and purchase of munitions in all parts of the Empire in which such are being made is to be concentrated in the new department. This already has been done in the case of Canada, and arrangements are being made whereby Australia, India, and a few of the smaller colonies will also be brought under the scheme. D. A. Thomas, as representative of the Minister of Munitions, who has now finished his mission in Canada and the United States, is understood to report that the estimated value of all the past and present orders placed in the Dominion for munitions and general war supplies is something like £100,000,000 or £12 per head of the population. The Shell Committee is doing an enormous business probably the largest in the British Empire to-day, having grown enormously since its inception twelve months ago. In these circumstances it has been reorganized and placed under the control of the Imperial Ministry of Munitions in London, and contracts will be made direct, on behalf of the Minister, with the Canadian manufacturers.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE AFTER THE WAR.

A movement is on foot in Parliament to elicit from the Government a statement as to its intentions on international trading after the war. The idea is to secure from the Cabinet a declaration that the commercial policies of our Empire and the Allies will be directed against the Central Powers.

Healthful Sleep

is necessary for the enjoyment and prolongation of life. During sleep Nature renews the vital forces of the body and restores the energy. Sleeplessness is one of the evil results of indigestion. To avoid it, keep the stomach well, the liver active and the bowels regular. The health of these organs

A REAL CHOPHOUSE.

The City of London will no longer be the City to many old-fashioned people when Baker's Chophouse in Change Alley is gone. Its lease has expired, and the old building, which dates from soon after the Fire, will be pulled down. It is a shy, steady, old place, unknown to Baedeker and Murray, although it is mentioned in the "Spectator" of 1711 and the London Missionary Society was founded at a meeting within its walls. It was almost sacrilege to take a tourist to such a place, for, unlike the two or three other chophouses that remain to London, Baker's led a quiet, unobtrusive life, and its heart was in its chops and steaks and not in its mementoes. It would have been scandalized if it had thought that it would never have come back. Its windows have a delicate bow, not the full aldermanic curve like the Ship at Greenwich, but just a suggestion of inner abundance. The lettering is almost indecipherable on its brass plates that have been burnished for a century. Its many-paned windows, which have old glass with different tinges, are always bright, and the whole front—woodwork, brass, glass, and old brick—is ripe and perfect and very comely. The interior, reached by a step down, justifies the promise of its front. It is a real chophouse of its front. It is a real chophouse of the last places to have pewter plates, which it only gave up about sixteen years ago. Even yet it has no bill of fare, and the waiter simply chants the items until you stop him when the right one comes round. Baker's has still a humour of its own. There is a portrait of an Early Victorian waiter, "James," in the lower room. I once asked the waiter who he is in limbo. "James" was the waiter, sir, as stood at the pay window twice." Soon Baker's will didn't pay twice. I suppose it can't be saved. It is a case of "pull devil, pull Baker," and the odds are sadly against Baker.

BOCOYA TRIBE'S BLACKMAIL.

The holding of ransom of survivors from the s. s. Woodford, wrecked off the north coast of Africa, raises an interesting point, which might be brought to the notice of Sir Edward Grey if he chooses to consider the expediency of paying the ransom, which is put at £200 a head. There is an existence what is known as the Hussey Trust, which when it was founded many years ago provided a few hundred pounds for the liberation of white men captured as slaves by the Barbary pirates. That money was left virtually untouched, so that it has enormously appreciated and now amounts to a considerable sum. The Trust has been permitted by the courts to make use of some of its funds for purposes connected with slavery, and if Sir Edward Grey can demonstrate that the unlucky men of the Woodford are in slavery he can no doubt obtain a grant from the Trust under its original scheme towards paying the ransom. Twelve of the crew are in the hands of the Bocoia tribe, and the Spanish authorities are interesting themselves in the matter.

BUSINESS DRESS.

A striking sartorial sign of the changes in deeply-seated social habits brought about by the war is furnished by the rapidly-lessening amount of evening dress now worn by men in West End Theatres. The appearance of a morning coat in the stalls of a fashionable house sixteen months ago was an unpardonable solecism by society; but so far from it being seriously heeded now, the practice is becoming so common as to excite no remark. Another development on the same lines is just as significant and interesting. Dinners of a kind likely to be attended mainly by City men are beginning to be held with the preliminary announcement "Business dress." The utmost advance towards such a common-sense arrangement hitherto adopted has been the notification, "Evening dress optional," but that always has been felt to be unsatisfactory, because no guest was quite certain as to whether, if he went in morning dress, he would look exceptional, and, therefore, evening wear was just as much used as before. The new announcement is so clear that there can be no mistake on that score, and the practice is of such convenience that it is likely to spread.

COUNTRY-HOUSE VISITING.

To a certain limited extent country-house visiting is still the fashion, for people need to see their friends even in the present circumstances, and many can only do so in the country. London houses and hotels are "out" for many even well-to-do people since the war. But a society correspondent writes to tell me that the country-house visit is scarcely recognisable to-day compared with its former estate, eighteen months ago. Modest luggage, it seems, replaces the stack of trunks, hat boxes, boot cases, and every other shape and size of case without which no one arrived for a

Acids in Stomach Sour the Food and Cause Indigestion

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless. It tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides it brings you to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery. Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

week-end, and a house party may number six or eight guests, or even less. They come in "any old things" very likely, and go as they came, without having changed their garb except of an evening, where they would have changed it five or six times a day, as I have known women contrive to do at big shoots. If any shooting goes on now it is for the hospitals or convalescent homes, where much game is sent. Of an evening a quiet game or so of auction at strictly limited points is the regulation thing, but as a rule there is no dancing or "ragging," unless it happen that the house party young men from the front and a friend or two of their own sex have been able to join the party. Even motoring has been given up by a good many people, while others have learnt to drive their own cars to release their chauffeurs.

Whale Battles Pacific Steamer.

Showing the effects of a desperate battle with a huge sperm whale while 10 miles south of Mount Edgecumbe, Krusof Island, near the entrance of Sitka Sound, on June 15, the whaling str. Stan III, Capt. L. P. Hallis, Gunner G. Earling, reached Eagle Harbor after a successful season, says a Seattle despatch.

While taking one of the big mammals, it charged the steamer, damaging the gunwale, second towing check on the starboard side and bending and crumpling a plate in the bulwarks for a considerable distance of 10 feet. The weight of the whale nearly swamped the little steamer.

A Child Hates Oil, Calomel, Pills For Liver and Bowels

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, sick, feverish, constipated.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "jose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company" your child's health with contempt.

At the Casino.

"WITHIN THE LAW." "Within the Law," to be played by the Klark-Urban Company at the Casino Theatre on next Monday evening is packed with thrills and running over with good humor. It is a melodrama of the latest pattern. A murder is committed in the most modern fashion by a revolver to which a Maxim-silencer is affixed. The revolver was specially constructed for the play (by special request, as Mr. Urban would say), and the public are warned that the ordinary revolver cannot be silenced by the maxim attachment. So you may safely see the play and yet feel no desire to kill your neighbor with a smokeless cartridge and a maxim silencer. The play is built on more thrills and it delivers the goods along with some very good common sense. Seats on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore.

A Trying Experience.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I took a load of lumber at Colinet from Messrs. Sims & Sons for Branch. We were two weeks waiting time to land. We left North Harbor Tuesday morning and arrived at Branch about 2 o'clock, the same evening. We had some of our deck load landed when the storm came on and we were forced to run our boat Lily Swift, on the Bar, in order to save our lives. It was then about 10 o'clock. We lay there all night while the seas were breaking over us. The oldest man of Branch said they never beheld such a storm. The sea broke in eight fathoms of water. They said no boat could live through such a storm. About 2 o'clock that night the brave men of Branch came and took us from the wreck; the boat was smashed to pieces and she became a total wreck. The people of Branch were very kind to us and helped us in every way. We had to remain at Branch for 8 days where the kind people there did all they could for us. We had to travel 12 miles from Branch to St. Brice's before we could get a horse. Mr. Roche couldn't do anything towards getting us a horse until we went to St. Brice's where we found one already awaiting us. Our members didn't seem to do much for us in our time of greatest need. But we hope to meet them on next fall's election.

Typists and Stenographers,

Have You Seen the LINE-A-TIME?

The little device which when attached to your Typewriter makes typewriting a pleasure.
 It serves the triple purpose of increasing the typist's capacity from 30 to 50 per cent daily, improving the quality of her work and saving her health.
 The LINE-A-TIME practically eliminates the making of errors in transcribing.
 It increases the output of the typewriter, because it enables the operator to utilize for transcribing the time she would otherwise spend bending over notebook or record sheet.
 The LINE-A-TIME is a simple device that may be quickly adapted for use with any typewriter or billing machine, and may be placed on any desk.
 It stands behind and close to the machine, and supports the "copy".
 Typists who have seen it are enthusiastic over it.
 Employers and office managers who are on the alert for devices that will enable their present office force and equipment to increase their daily output, with a decrease in the effort required of each person affected, will be equally enthusiastic over the LINE-A-TIME.
 Let us send you one on trial, no obligation to buy. We will take it away when you are tired of it.
 The cost is not a consideration.
