Last Arrival From the Sealfishery.

The S. S. Viking, Capt. William Bartlett, returned from the Gulf sealfishery last evening, having "closed the gates and brought home the key" of the voyage for 1917. She reports for ten thousand pelts, young and old. This brings the total catch up to approximately 196,000, a comparatively good voyage for twelve ships.

Appeal From Burin.

On Behalf of Widows and Orphans.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—May we ask for space in the columns of your esteemed journal, to lay before the General Public the loss of the "Susan Inkpen" and the "Mina Swim," and to enlist sympathy and help for the large number of widows and orphans whose only support has gone down with the ill-fated vessels.

The "Susan Inkpen" with a full cargo of fish sailed from Burin in October for Portugal. She never reached that port. In all probability she encountered the storms that sweep the Atlantic, and the vessel and crew went to bottom.

On February 6th the "Mina Swim" with her crew of twenty-one men set sail for the Western Fishing Grounds. Nothing more was heard of her till some wreckage found in the vicinity of Burgeo gave indications of the fate that had befallen the vessel and the crew.

In the sinking of the "Susan Inkpen" and the "Mina Swim" our village has been visited by the greatest calamity that has ever befallen our people, and as a consequence of the terrible catastrophe a large number of fatherless families have been thrown on the hard, cold world without any means of support.

Burin has lost in those two vessels, together with two men from the schr. "Ada Bishop," thirty of her hardy tollers of the deep, most of whom were married and left behind large families.

Within the radius of a few miles no less than twenty widows, sixty-three orphans and many dependents can be found, all of whom have lost their only means of support in this dreadful disaster.

Some of those families consist of eight, seven, six or four children, and in a couple of cases there are in the family hopeless invalids. The poverty and misery of their surroundings can better be imagined than described.

To feed, clothe and otherwise attend to this vast number of people is by no means an easy task. The people of this settlement—generous though they may be—cannot of themselves alleviate the sufferings and want of this large number of helpless women and children.

An effort is being put forward to establish the "Burin 1916-17 Disaster Fund" by the help of which the immediate necessities of those poor people shall be attended to, and provision made for them till such time as the families shall have grown up, and be able to look after themselves.

It has pleased the Almighty to make us dependent on others. The high rank which man occupies in the universe does not exempt him from the law of dependence, on the contrary it seems to subject him more to its control. Man it may be said is hopeless and helpless, unless some other of his fellow beings extend the hand of friendship, come to his assistance and render him aid.

At present among us there are many helpless and their case is hopeless unless kind friends exert their charity in their behalf. Think, then, of the poor widows and orphans of Burin, who have no means of support save through the generosity of those whom God has blessed more than themselves with the things of this life.

We all know, at least all householders know, how hard it is to support a family nowadays with the high cost of living. Even with the father working constantly and the mother being most economical, it is a difficult problem to "make the two ends meet" and one can scarcely provide the bare necessities of life.

Judge, then, of the task to provide for a large and helpless family, when the bread-winner has been snatched away. This is precisely what confronts the widows of the ill-fated vessels "Susan Inkpen" and "Mina Swim."

We appeal then to your charity for those who are so deserving of it, and we feel sure our appeal will not go unheeded. We plead for the relatives of those who have gone down to the sea in those ships.

No one visiting those families and seeing for himself the conditions that prevail, could turn away with heart unmoved to pity and compassion, or refuse to extend his hand in charity to those helpless widows and orphans.

No doubt many demands have been made upon our purses during the past twelve months, nevertheless we feel sure that no demand is more pressing, no appeal so urgent, no cause more deserving of our consideration and our assistance, than the cause of the widows and orphans for whom this appeal is made.

Let us then, dear friends, give of the world's goods which we may possess, and we can rest secure that He who said "a cup of cold water given in My name shall not go unrewarded" shall remember our charity to the grief-stricken families and reward us a hundredfold.

Signed on behalf of the widows and orphans of Burin: S. Avery, Chairman; F. J. D. Ryan, Parish Priest; H. G. Coppin, Methodist Minister; Andrew T. Tull, Rector Burin Parish; A. N. Jones, Methodist Minister; Thos. LeFevre, M. H. A.; W. H. Hollett, R. W. Collins, Geo. Penny, H. W. Sainthill, Albert E. Noel, M. F. Maloney, Geo. Beasley, John Beasley.

CO-OPERATION AGAINST THE SUBS.

LONDON, To-day.
The report of Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U.S.N., head of the American Naval Mission now in England, dealing with all the phases of the submarine problem, has been forwarded to Washington, where it is to be considered by President Wilson and the Naval Board, who will be guided by it in determining the manner in which the American fleet can best co-operate with the British Navy in combating the underwater craft. The report is the result of several days' conferences here between Rear Admiral Sims and the heads of the British Admiralty who have placed every facility at the disposal of the American Mission, in order that they might learn the true state of the sub. warfare. Just what form the co-operation between the American and British fleets will take will not of course be disclosed, but it can be stated that the Admiralty heads of both Governments are perfectly satisfied with the preliminary plans for reducing the effectiveness of the enemy's sub. warfare. "We don't expect to get all of the subs," said an Admiralty official, "but just enough to break the sub. campaign. In other words, we hope to defeat the subs. by destroying enough of them to weaken their morale in much the same manner that an army's morale is broken, through defeating a portion of it."

BRILLIANT FRENCH OPERATIONS.

PARIS, To-day.
Further details of yesterday's battle from Soissons to Aubervie show that the French infantry tactically out-classed the Germans. The first army, operating from Soissons to Craonne, had established itself on Monday night along a front running from the N. E. of Margialat and Vauxallion on S. of Craonne by Vregny, Chivres and Chavonne. Chivy and Ailles, north of the Chivres-Chivy line the enemy retained all the heights and a footing had to be won thereon before the operation so auspiciously begun could be properly completed. Two simultaneous attacks were decided upon. With Mantuell Lafosse on the left and right as the respective objectives. The attack succeeded perfectly, notwithstanding the determined resistance of the enemy, who had all the advantages of the ground. Driven out of Nanteuil and Braye the Germans nevertheless still cling to the intermediate positions, comprising Vally and an important bridge head on the Aisne by which they could threaten the French. The flank movement was then extended to the bridge-head which was soon carried, and the attacking troops scaled the slope of the plateau. North of Vally they advanced rapidly as far as Rouge Maison farm and country house to the right, gaining several hundred yards of ground on the summit of the plateau. Substantial progress was also made east of Nanteuil and by the afternoon only one narrow gap was left through which the Germans could withdraw troops. In the region of Conde Colles and Sancy these detachments are in serious danger of capture. The violence of the French attack threw the enemy into such disorder that he was unable to bring up reserves quickly enough and consequently lost several guns. Toward the end of the day the French made further progress between the plateau of Vally and Braye, all the villages south of the famous Chemin Des Dées being taken.

GERMAN MUNITION WORKERS STRIKE.

LONDON, To-day.
A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from the Hague says that according to frontier reports that the German munition factories at Isere-John, Krefeld are idle owing to strikes. About 75,000 workers of both sexes have ceased work as a protest against lack of food. There have been no serious disorders except at Bremen, where the strikers attempted to burn a factory. The police interfered and three men were wounded. Many persons were arrested.

NEW YORK, To-day.
The suggestion of the Government to train and equip as soon as possible one thousand aviators for war service in Europe was endorsed by a resolution adopted To-day by the Aero Club of America, and sent to President Wilson and the Council of National Defence. The resolution suggested building their machines for each of the proposed 1,000 airmen.

THE GERMAN VIEW OF THEM.

BERLIN, To-day.
The Cologne Gazette prints a despatch from Professor Wegener with reference to the battle of Arras, in which he says that the British tanks were used in masses. Nine of them, he says, were destroyed at Bullecourt. Professor Wegener admits that they are important weapons, but since such large numbers of them have been successfully disposed of, he adds, they have lost a great part of the impression they made on us.

GERMAN ADMISSIONS.

THE HAGUE, To-day.
The German papers comment at length on the Aisne battle. They express relief that the French did not break through the German lines on the first day, and confidence in Von Hindenburg's ability. They all acknowledge, however, the vast superiority of the French artillery. The Kolnische Volks Zeitung describes the use of the machines by the British and French as a crazy waste. It admits that the French have had a total success, but says that they won't have any more.

WAR REVIEW.
LONDON, To-day.
The great offensive of the French Army against the Germans from the bend in the line in France from Soissons eastward into champagne continues unabated. Numerous new points of vantage have been taken with heavy casualties. In three days of fighting more than 17,000 un wounded prisoners have fallen into the hands of the French together with 75 cannons. In Wednesday's battle in the forest of Ville-au-Bois an enveloping movement was carried out against the Germans and 1,300 of them threw down their arms and surrendered. In addition 150 machine guns were captured. Between Soissons and Rheims the village of Ostel and Braye-en-Laonnais were captured, together with the territory about them, the Germans in the latter region retiring in disorder and losing heavily. One French regiment alone took 200 prisoners belonging to seven different regiments. In the fight the Germans left behind much war material. Here the French captured 19 cannons. Between Juvin-court and the Aisne the Germans threw a counter-attack against the French line with about 4,000 men, but according to Paris, the artillery of General Nivelle's men repulsed the attack with sanguinary losses. South of St. Quentin during Wednesday the Germans also made an attack against the French east of Ganchy. This attack, which failed, was followed by the advanced French positions; but in a counter attack the French killed or made prisoners of them and regained their lost trenches. The British War Office reports that the forces of Field Marshal Haig have gained additional ground along the River Scarpe to the east of Pampoux, and captured the village of Villers Gai-sains. North of St. Quentin and north in the region of Loos the system of German front trenches was also taken. North east of Braila on the Danube River in Roumania the Germans delivered a violent attack against the Russians, but were repulsed, says the Petrograd War Office. The towns of Braila and Fokshani are reported to have been burned by the Germans; only minor engagements have taken place in Russia and Galicia. Berlin reports the capture of the French in Macedonia of a position extending over two-thirds of a mile along the Orvine-Signa. There have been no important developments of the campaigns in the Austro-Italian or Turkish theatres. Another Spanish ship, the Tom, was sunk without warning by a submarine; 18 persons perished

St. Mary's Parish Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of St. Mary's Parish took place last night and was largely attended. The pastor, Rev. H. Uphill, read his report and expressed his pleasure at the great success which had been achieved in all branches of the church's work during the past year. During that period two splendid institutions, the Men's Bible Class and the Botwood Club, had been organized and were now two powerful assets to the religious and social branches of St. Mary's Parish. The number of communicants was largely in excess of the previous year, while other branches showed a marked improvement. The financial report showed the Parish to be in an exceptionally strong condition, inasmuch as liberal increases were able to be added to the various allotments which in the opinion of the parishioners were badly needed.

Signs and Portents.

While the stirring events on the European battlefields must still engage our first attention, and must do so to the end, others of moment are occurring in every quarter of the globe, some light, some striking, but all signs of unrest and uneasiness, of a world in ferment and on the threshold of great changes. He would be a bold man who could interpret them and a bold one who would try, but there is no mistaking their general trend. It may be a truisim to say that the war is working up to a tremendous climax, but it is not so obvious that that climax is close at hand.

If it can be accepted at its face value, first importance must be allowed to the news that the Russian government, or rather Russia, has definitely refused to meet the overtures of the German socialists, and that there is no danger of a separate peace. It would be foolish to ignore the existence and magnitude of such a danger in these last fateful days. If those who knew of it only too well have kept silence, it has been because they knew it was the best thing to do. Every indication we have that their fears are ill-founded is a relief. Probably the saving factor in the situation is the general knowledge of the Russian people of the true character of those in Germany who profess ardor for their seeming antagonism to the class that rules them, and that as ready and capable of turning them to its own account as to use any other device. Russia, thank heaven, is in the way to a finish, and she will help to bring about that finish very soon.

In this connection, the announcement that the Germans are burning the Rumanian towns of Braila, and Fokshani may mean much. It reminds us that there is a new force and a new front in the East since a year ago. Fighting on the Russian front will probably break out first in Galicia and Bukovina, extending down into Rumania. The circumstances that allowed Germany to concentrate upon Rumania her reserve force no longer exist. It will soon be seen whether she is able, with Austria's and Bulgaria's assistance, to hold the lengthened front. Significantly, the latter countries have been putting out peace feelers of late, not in Switzerland as heretofore, but at Washington. Possibly they too have read the meaning of the Russian revolution.

It is as great a mistake to ignore as to exaggerate the unrest that seems to be developing ominously in Germany. The Berlin strikes have been hushed up by the usual censorship, but there is no news that they are over, and reports arrive of strikes elsewhere among munition workers. Germany can stand a lot, but not much of this sort of thing. Evidence accumulates at the front of her painful shortage of necessary war material, and these disturbances not only aggravate that condition but are due to the other vital condition on which so much depends, her food supply.

Surprisingly little is divulged of the very active work that we know is being pushed in America, but there are occasional hints. The suggested large contribution of aeroplanes and pilots would be of inestimable value this summer. The German army is already half blinded, to what good effect we can see, and such an increase in the aerial superiority of the Allies would be worth many regiments. Meantime the construction of hundreds of light craft for use against the submarines is being rushed, and the shipping losses published to-day show that there is need enough of them. An average loss of twenty-four ships a week is a serious matter, and it is to be noted that the losses have not been tending to decrease. The seriousness of the food situation in England is shown again to-day in the regulations prohibiting the sales of cakes and buns. It will be well for us, however, to recognize that all the seriousness does not consist in the submarine and transport difficulty but much of it in the even more important shortage of supply. That affects us as much as the United Kingdom. We are abnormally large consumers of flour. Let us persuade ourselves at once that this is a great danger, and that the introduction of rationing here is not only possible, but should be taken into consideration by the authorities at once and in time.

It is reported that General von Bissing is dead. We hope not. The earth would be the cleaner for it, and it would be impious to imagine that he will not obtain the just reward of his deeds; but it is greatly to be desired that he should obtain some part of it in this world, which his presence has done so much to transform into a hell. If a thousand other crimes did not mark him out for punishment, he was carefully reserved for British retribution as the murderer of Edith Cavell. But if he be gone and justice removed to a higher court, there will at least be no tears shed, unless it be by the apostles of Kultur in the loss of one of its most shining examples.

Methodist College Literary Institute

Hold Golden Jubilee Celebration.
Last night at the Methodist College Hall the M.C.L.I. marked the completion of its fiftieth year in a manner worthy of the occasion. More than two hundred guests sat down to dinner at nine tables in the spacious hall, which was draped with the flags of the Allies. On the platform stood a portrait of the Institute's founder, the late Hon. Stephen Rendell, and a gold-lettered honour-roll of members who had answered the call of Empire. The guests of the evening numbered many distinguished persons, including His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Horwood, Hon. J. R. Bennett, Capt. Riley, M.C., Hon. R. Watson, Hon. P. T. McGrath, Mayor Gosling, Dr. Lloyd, Dr. Burke, the local Bank Managers, Messrs. Paddon, Glenn, Mitchell, Logan and Marshall, the city clergymen of the Methodist Church and many others. Mr. William White, the retiring President, occupied the chair.

The guests being assembled and seated, a flashlight photograph was taken, after which dinner was served. Too high praise cannot be given to the Ladies of the College Aid Society, who not only provided the excellent fare but personally waited on their guests. Much of the brightness of the function was due to their work of preparation, which was everywhere in evidence, and to their presence. Their services were gratefully recognized by more than one speaker on the lengthy toast list.

It is impossible to make more than general reference to the speeches that followed and that filled some three or four hours with a sincere and varied eloquence such as is rarely heard in one evening. The toast list was perhaps a trifle long, but no longer than the occasion deserved, and if some of the speakers were led by their enthusiasm to exceed the time allotted to them their audience was ready in each case to forgive the transgression. As was to be expected, the war, and its connection with the Empire, Newfoundland, education and the work of the Institute, was the predominant theme, and the unusual seriousness, the patriotism and the earnestness that marked nearly every speech showed that by all our leaders of thought and action the lessons of the past few years had been well learned. Among many fine utterances, perhaps the finest, and that which touched the most responsive chord in all, was made by Dr. Bond, when, proposing the toast of Newfoundland, he said that she had been known abroad in former times chiefly by the products usually associated with her name, dogs and cod, but now and henceforth she is and would be known by the greatest product of all, Men. Frequent reference and tribute was made to the record and work of the Institute, which, as Sir William Horwood said, could boast a distinction almost unique among such bodies, that of living for fifty years; it would be false to its traditions, he said, if they did not prove the earnest of another fifty years to come.

The intervals between the speeches were filled in pleasing manner with songs by Messrs. King, Trappell, Williams, Slattery and Courtenay. Mr. William White and his assistants are to be congratulated on the arrangements and successful conduct of the function, which will long be remembered in St. John's. Following is the full toast list:

Accomplice in Theft Captured.

The lad Hutchings, who made away with $1,242.03 belonging to Parker & Monroe and was captured at Bell Island, as referred to yesterday, was arraigned before Judge Morris yesterday afternoon and remanded pending investigation by the authorities. Thomas Moore, aged 15, who figured as an accomplice in the escapade, was captured by the police last evening. After separating from Hutchings at Topsail, Moore felt lonesome and paid a hurried visit to town in search of a chamber. He secured one, a boy named Cosh, to whom he gave $155 out of the "wad" so generously handed him by his former pal. Moore and Cosh then left by Tuesday evening's train for the Southern Shore. On reaching their destination Cosh decided not to continue the game any longer and purchased a return ticket for town, after hearing from Moore that he was going on to Mobile to buy an outfit, meaning horse and carriage. Cosh arrived by the noon train yesterday and at once proceeded home and told the whole story to his father. The latter immediately sent for the detectives, who were given $151, which he had left out of the amount given him by Moore, having spent four dollars in train fares. Young Cosh informed the detectives of Moore's plans and where he had gone. While arrangements were being made for the capture of Moore on the Southern Shore, information reached the authorities that the young horse-dealer was seen driving towards town and an estimate of the time he would reach here also learned. The estimate was critically correct, as Detective Byrne, who was lying in ambush, saw Moore and his team approach "on time." Moore was then looking for stable accommodation for his new purchase. This was courteously provided for him by Tee Byrne and he (the thief) was accommodated under the town clock surrounded by stone walls and iron bars. Moore was not particular as to what he was asked to pay for a horse at Mobile. He paid $150 for the old outfit he procured, much more than it was worth. The party who received the money has been instructed to return it, to the police station and get his own property. Moore, we learn, had no money left on him when arrested. This morning he was arraigned before Mr. Hutchings, K.C., J.P., and remanded for 3 days. This young rascal is a notorious character, having been in the penal ten different times; he also has a record for assaulting his parents. All the cheques belonging to Parker & Monroe have been recovered. They were hid under a rock by Hutchings the day he stole them. When all the money for articles purchased by the culprit is turned in the amount Parker & Monroe will stand to lose will not exceed $50. We also understand that persons who sold the lad goods will be asked to explain themselves fully. As regards the lad Cosh, it is safe to say he will be brought in as a witness when the case comes off.

CORNER WATER AND SPRINGDALE STREETS.

- 1st—We are the only concern on Water Street that have factory connected, thus saving the middlemen's profits.
- 2nd—We have our Springs made by the only Weaver in use in the Country, right in our Building, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 3rd—We have our Mattress made by the only machine of its kind in the country, which can turn out fifty against ten by hand, and the Mattress is made, not stuffed, so that it comes out with absolutely uniform softness.
- 4th—We have the surface oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 5th—We have the celebrated Oxford, or Copper Spring, which is so well known.
- 6th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated IDEAL BEDS and SPRINGS, and sell at factory price.
- 7th—We have the COMBINATION LATH and SPRING BED, the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 8th—We have Parlour Suites made right in the Building, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 9th—Having the factory in the same building we can attend to all kinds of repairing. You can also choose your own coverings for Parlour Suites, Mattresses, etc., and have them made to order.
- 10th—Our Motto—Last but not least—is to sell at the Lowest Possible Price, consistent with quality. Despite the serious advance in prices all round, we are still selling near our old prices, which are known to be low, and should appeal to everyone requiring Furniture. A call will, we believe, convince you.
