BRAKEMAN KILLED.
A young man named Robert Mooney, brakeman on the W. G. & B. Railway, was killed at the Great Western Station here on Tuesday night. He was braked on number 1 passenger train from Fergus to Hamilton. The train reached Guelph about 7 o'clock, being two hours late. In shunting off two freight cars from the train, Mooney was in the act of uncoupling the car next the tender, when it is supposed his foot caught in the frog of the switch, and his boots being laced he could not free his foot in time.

Mr. Harris and the Herald.
We do not think that Mr. Harris can approve of the style of argument employed by the Herald in supporting him for the Mayoralty. It gets quite angry at Mr. Robertson because he has consented to run, talks in such a way as though that gentleman had no business to be a candidate, and boldly asserts that "he is being run in spite of himself by a few political and other fanatics, who care nothing for Mr. Robertson's wishes or feelings, and are intent only upon gratifying their own narrow prejudices, and heaping defeat and annoyance upon one of Guelph's oldest and best citizens, in the person of Mr. Harris." Now, this is a piece of impertinence which while it provokes a smile cannot fail to rouse the indignation and contempt of every sensible ratepayer. Because Mr. Robertson from the first was unwilling to run, is that any reason why he should be blamed for finally acceding to the wishes of his friends. We believe that we might truthfully say the same of Mr. Harris, but even though at the last moment he did consent to run, we would never dream of finding fault with him for doing what most candidates do—hesitate before accepting a nomination. As to the spiteful attack made on Mr. Robertson's friends, who are denounced as "political and other fanatics," we might with equal justice retaliate by branding Mr. Harris' friends with the same epithets, but we would scorn to make such a malignant charge. The Herald in doing this seeks to rouse the worst passions of our nature. Mr. Harris we are sure will never approve of such settlements, and we hope he will not allow the Herald to persist in the use of such language, or it may be all the worse for him on election day.

The Herald whines because Mr. Robertson's friends seek to heap "defeat and annoyance on Mr. Harris." This is a poor plea for Mr. Harris. Does the Herald suppose that no one but that gentleman has a right to run for Mayor? It would seem so from the way it speaks of him. We always supposed that every duly qualified ratepayer had a right to run for any office in the gift of the people, and that in doing so he had to stand his chance of being opposed, and even being beaten. This is exactly the case with Mr. Harris. He has been brought out by his friends, who will no doubt do their best to elect him. Mr. Robertson, on the other hand, has been brought out by his friends, who are also working hard to elect him. Both gentlemen have a right to be candidates, and it now rests with the citizens to say which of the two they prefer, and which of them has the strongest claims to the office. These are the grounds on which this and every other election should rest, and it is therefore foolish and wicked in the Herald to try and raise side issues which have no foundation in fact, and which in the end can only militate against its candidate. As far as we are concerned, we are determined to carry on the contest on its true and just grounds, and on these alone, and make the claims of the respective candidates the test of support. If Mr. Harris, the Herald or his friends do otherwise, the responsibility rests with them, not with Mr. Robertson or his supporters.

Harrison Correspondence.
ACCIDENTS.—When Wm. Preston, hostler at Mr. Collison's hotel was driving from the station on Thursday last, a dog ran out barking at his team. The horses became frightened, and Preston having lost command of one of the reins, became unmanageable and ran away. The sleigh was smashed to pieces, and Mr. Preston had one of his arms broken and sustained considerable injury otherwise. On Friday last, Mr. Frederick Boyer, Minto, while chopping, cut one of his feet very severely. The axe went through an iron protector on the tip of the boot, cut through the centre of the large toe, and only stayed its progress when it had reached the centre of the foot. Dr. Rutherford attended both cases. One evening last week, as Mr. Henry Rayson, of Minto, was driving home, his team was furiously driven into by another, the pole of the light entering his horse and killing him on the spot. It is well that Mr. Rutherford attended, and, as it is, the party violating the law—he having been on the wrong side of the road—will likely learn a lesson not to be forgotten.
Harrison, Dec. 24th, 1872.

In the Quebec Supplementary Estimates, the Local Government grant $3000 for a bridge over the Ottawa River, provided the adjacent townships and the Province of Ontario will each give an equal amount, and the Dominion Government will grant the sum of $4000, making a total of $15,000. It is understood that the bridge is to connect the two Provinces somewhere near Pembroke.

MAN EATERS.—A correspondent of the Delhi Gazette at Munson says: "There is a perfect reign of terror in these parts at present on account of the depredations of a family of tigers that seem to be slaying men and women indiscriminately. It is said that there have been emboldened to commit such havoc by the villagers at this season picketing their cattle in the open air. I hear that two men and one woman, within the last week, have been killed within a few miles of this, and now cows and buffaloes are falling a prey to the man eaters. It is to be hoped that the Government will do something to rid the country of these fiends. At present people are afraid to travel except in gangs."

Mr. Gladstone has thought it necessary some more to contradict the charge against him as to a change in his religious faith, and adds his regret that "it is not in his power to save the credulous from the annoyance caused by the impudent repetition of a falsehood."

CHAPTER XXXI. THE INN ON THE MOOR.

Resuming their course by the side of the wall, which ran eastward, the youths pressed forward hastily, with their eyes fixed on the light, which sometimes vanished for a few moments, but only to gleam out anew. At last when they had proceeded about half the distance towards it, it disappeared, and was seen no more. They marked well, however, the exact point at which they had beheld it, and were glad to see that the fence ran in the wished-for direction.

The next half-hour was spent amid great impatience and anxiety. The moor seemed interminable, and it appeared as if they were destined never to reach the high road. Suddenly and to their disappointment, the wall terminated, and they had now to wade among the deep snow of the open moor, with nothing to guide their course but the constellated sign of the Plough, under which the light had been seen.

All at once they were pulled by a ravine, which it was impossible to cross, and in making this discovery they stood gazing at each other in silent consternation.

"Why, we must have crossed the road without knowing it," cried George, as this thought suddenly struck him.

Nothing was more likely, and upon retracing their steps for about two hundred yards they found that such was indeed the case, the depth of the snow rendering the mistake one easy to make. There was no wheel-track, and almost nothing indicated that it was the road save a slightly raised ridge on either side.

The road being found, the next thing to determine was whether the inn was behind or before them, and this was a matter of no little importance, since by taking a wrong direction they would recede from rather than approach it. The point where the light was seen was to the north of where they, and on the strength of this fact they adopted their course, once more pressing eagerly forward, penetrating the darkness with their eager eyes in the hope of seeing the solitary building standing out against the sky, or the glimmer of a light from one of the windows.

At length, and simultaneously, they saw it at no great distance ahead, and an indescribable thrill shot through their bosoms at the sight, for the moment had nearly come when they should know if the terrible exertions of the night were to be crowned with success, or whether a bitter and crushing disappointment awaited them.

Wading and toiling on, often above the knees in the soft and yielding snow, they drew slowly nearer the inn, which now stood out sharply defined against the steel-like northern horizon.

For some distance round this place, the moor had undergone partial cultivation. An effort had been made to enclose two or three fields, to fence them, and to grow thereon thin crops of potatoes, turnips, oats, and barley. There was also on one side, and almost close to the road a peat moss, where stood several stacks of peats, which had been dug, and built the previous summer, and which now covered with snow, seemed so many white hillocks dotting the plain.

Shortly after coming into this semi-cultivated region, they perceived all at once marks on the snow as if it had recently been trodden upon.

"Why what can this mean?" cried Harry. "Where do these marks come from, and whither do they go?"

"They evidently go towards the inn," replied George, "and as evidently they come from the side of the road where that hillock of turf or something is standing."

"A hillock of turf," repeated Harry, moving across to the object which the other had thus designated. "This is not the shape of a hillock of a pile of turf, though what it may be I cannot think—ha! George, George!"

"What is it?" cried George, rushing after the other, on hearing this peculiar exclamation.

"'Tis the carriage—the Ardo van carriage." And so it was, fairly embedded among the snow, where it must have been for some time, since a snow-wreath had nearly drifted over it, covering it almost from view.

Frantically Harry pulled open the door, dislodging a mass of snow as he did so, and peered inside.

It was entirely empty, and the cushions taken out.

MARKET—EPPA'S COCOA— Unrivalled and Comprehensive—By a thorough knowledge of the material laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Eppa has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills.—Chief Sanitary Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet is labeled "James Eppa & Co., Homeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Eppa's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).

Over-excitation, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup (a protozoid of Iron), which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

Mansion House, Baltimore, Md., 26th October, 1871.—Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: I have just finished the tenth and last bottle of your estimable Syrup of the Hypophosphites. To its use I ascribe cessation of cough, of sharp pains in my back and chest, and of copious expectoration; also, return of appetite, buoyancy of spirits, increase of flesh and strength to perform my daily duties with a degree of pleasure unknown to me for a long time. The good I have experienced from it is beyond description, and I advise all persons afflicted with consumption not to delay a day in taking it. Feeling sure that were it not for your Hypophosphites, I would now be in my grave. Yours truly, Geo. C. Fournier.

IF You Have Been an Invalid for years with some Chronic Wasting Disease of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, or Kidneys, you need not flatter yourself that medicine is going to cure you immediately. Repair goes on slowly, and time is necessary to build up a broken down constitution. Do not take every nostrum you read about, nor follow the advice of every friend who has a specific to offer you. Proceed in a sensible and judicious manner, that is the result of experience, that has a large amount of evidence of sensible people in favor of its reliability, and persevere in its use until the whole system undergoes a radical improvement, and health is restored. DR. WHELAN'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAVA, a Chemical Food and Nutritive Tonic, will meet your most sanguine expectations, as it combines everything necessary to perfect digestion, nutrition, and the formation of Healthy Blood, and to vitalize all the organs and tissues of the body. Sold at $1.00 per bottle.

POSITIVELY A FACT.

Mustard's Catarrh Specific Cures Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Neuralgia, Toothache, Nervous and Sick Headache, Weak and Sore Eyes. The Specific is a new remedy, prepared from Medicinal Bark, Roots, Gums and Flowers. Free from poisonous drugs, it is harmless, novel, and philosophic in its operation. Try it if you are afflicted with the above diseases. It is also one of the best Cough and Croup Remedies extant. Mustard's Vegetable Pills should also be used in connection with the Specific for Sick Headache and Catarrh; and those who are afflicted with Rheumatism should try Mustard's King of Oils. Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN IRON SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protozoid of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and oxygenated blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of its wonderful success in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Bolls, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP down in the glass, Pamphlets Free.
