THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 5, 1922

LOCAL NEWS PARAGRAPHS

The special executive committee meets this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the city hall.

Major Bennett was in his office yesterday forenoon after his cruise.

The island park is attracting a good compliment of visitors every day.

James Whitcomb and William Lindsay, twenty-nine men, were arrested at the island last night for being drunk and disorderly.

L. O. L. No. 621 will hold a promenade concert and hop in the Adelaide street rink on July 12.

James Whitcomb and William Lindsay, twenty-nine men, were arrested at the island last night for being drunk and disorderly.

George Plumb, a bricklayer, died in the hospital on Tuesday evening from injuries sustained by a fall from a building in McCall street on Tuesday afternoon.

Licenses for collected for June: Auctioneers $35, billiards $10, cabs $19, dogs $236, groceries $12, hawkers $20, miscellaneous $4, victualling houses $40, total $400.

The spirit of the Dominion avenue Presbyterian church was considerably damaged by lightning yesterday afternoon. A chimney in St. Patrick street was also struck down.

In the court of appeal yesterday the petition against Mr. Avery, liberal member of the local legislative council, was dismissed with costs against the petitioner.

The body of Fred Lemp, who was drowned out of a boat on Monday day, was found near Gooderham's filtering basin yesterday afternoon. The remains were sent to Dufferin's Creek for burial.

The funeral of Frank Stanley, who was drowned on Monday in the bay, took place yesterday afternoon. His late schoolmates from Victoria street school prepared a handsome wreath of flowers to his memory. He was a great favorite among his companions.

Rev. A. C. Cross, who has been for the last year assistant to the editor of the Christian Guardian, left last week for Hamilton, where he is stationed for next year. During his stay in Toronto he supplied the pulpits of all the city Methodist churches occasionally, preaching more frequently in the Metropolitan and St. James streets.

Mr. W. J. Birks, son of Rev. W. Birks of London conference, formerly organist of Sherbourne street church, Toronto, has recently passed successfully his final examination, and has been elected a fellow in the international academy of music. Mr. Birks is returning to Canada, and has been appointed organist of the Dundas street church, London Ont.

Mr. Alfred Lee (better known as Alfredo) of the Western Canada Loan and Savings company, who was lately transferred to Winnipeg to take an important part in the branch in that city, was presented by his fellow-clerks here with a handsome silver watch, which he had not broken down he would have made a speech worthy of Demosthenes.

Little Mike McCarthy, aged 8, is a peculiar wisp of a fellow. His parents are in jail. The other day, Ald. Baxter sent him to the sawboys' lodging, and he was not there a slight token, etc. He replied in feeling terms, and if he had not broken down he would have made a speech worthy of Demosthenes.

The City Property Committee. Ald. Irvin presided yesterday afternoon when Ald. Steiner, Carlyle, Eblevin, Walker, Sunners and Leslie were present. A Mr. McGregor stated when he leased a lot on Huron street from the city it was to have been a certain size but when surveyed it was found to be narrower by several feet. The chairman, Ald. Baxter and the commissioners were appointed a sub-committee to look into the matter. Some discussion took place regarding the proposal of the city to change the size of the lot to dump the dirt wherever wished at the island if the corporation furnishes the scows and paid the cost of unloading. The contractor would do all the loading. The commissioner said the corporation was not in a position to do this, as they had but four scows, which were at present used to take street scrapings to the island park. The matter was then dropped. Mr. McWilliams said he would like to see the proposed bathing lots on the western end of the island near Hanlan's, under the terms of the lease, no liquor could be sold on the premises. The lots will be advertised by auction in a few days. The chairman, Ald. Walker, and the treasurer were appointed sub-committee to look into the matter. The petition of James Milloy, late caretaker of Clarence square, for compensation on the ground that he had not been dismissed by the city treasurer, was laid on the table. The commissioner was instructed to purchase two dozen extra seats for the Queen's park.

One hundred years' Old. The congratulations were heaped upon Mr. John M. Tinsley of 89 Agnes street on the occasion of his 100th birthday yesterday were numerous and happy. Mr. Tinsley says that he was born in Richmond, Va., on July 4, 1783, his father at the time of his birth being Capt. John Tinsley of the American army, who did good service in the war against the abolitionists and Lord Cornwallis. The centennarian settled in Toronto in 1842 and by his thrifty habits has amassed considerable property in St. John's ward. Mr. Tinsley has living 23 grand-children, 12 great-grand-children and five great-great-grand-children. Since his arrival in Toronto he has been closely identified with the colored Baptist church at Queen and Victoria streets, having held the office of deacon since its inception. His eight is remarkably good, and his hearing only slightly affected by his great age. When a World reporter called at the house last night to offer his congratulations a large circle of the colored citizens of Toronto were congregated there to celebrate the uncommon event. The very pleasant evening was spent. Among the callers during the reporter's stay were Col. Arthur and Mr. James E. Smith. Mr. Tinsley is grandfather to "Rube", the athletic companion of Mr. Richard Jackson of King street.

At the Foot of the Altar. At the church of the Redeemer in Canon street yesterday forenoon Mr. John Canavar, barrister, and Miss Virginia Carolyn Barber, daughter of Mr. W. H. Lester of the custom house, were married by Rev. Septimus Jones, the rector, assisted by Rev. H. Muesen of Aurora. The church was well filled with ladies. The bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret Estella Lester and Hattie Belle Lester, sisters of the bride, while H. E. Cason and C. L. Ferguson, barrister-at-law, acted as groomsmen. The church choir furnished some nice music and were each presented with a bouquet by the groom. After the wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's father, the happy couple left for Europe, via New York.

The Water Works Committee. Among the matters disposed of by the waterworks committee yesterday afternoon, not reported elsewhere, was the recommendation of a six-inch water pipe in Locust street at a cost of $225. Mr. C. Chamberlain was present and said he intended to erect eighteen brick-arched houses in that street as soon as the water was laid down.

The long standing account of $711 for the rubber valves supplied to the department by Mr. T. Molloy of the Gutta Percha and Rubber company was ordered to be paid. Ald. Maghan has repeatedly had this account referred back on the ground that there was an overcharge. Mr. Molloy wrote the committee that his company would positively make no reductions in their bill. The valves had been ordered by the department, and the price paid was the regular quotation. As a former meeting of the committee, superintendent of the pumping works, told the committee that the valves were the best the department ever had. The long delay in the payment of the account might have easily been dispensed with, for as a matter of fact, none of the members of the committee seemed to be able to take good valves from interlopers.

Burned by an Exploding Lamp. A lamp exploded in the house of Mr. Crawford at No. 82 Wellesley street last night. Mrs. Crawford was using the lamp to make some food for the baby, when it exploded, setting fire to her clothing and partially burning her person. The fire brigade was summoned, but their services were not required.

To Patrons of the World. Some book-peddler is doing business in Toronto under the style of "The World Publishing Co." All letters, communications, etc., in relation to the above should be addressed to The World, or The World Printing Co.

The Count de Chambord. PARIS, July 5.—A telegram from Frohndorf this morning says the Count de Chambord's death is momentarily expected.

China and France. SHANGHAI, July 4.—Li Hung Chang, Chinese commander, has definitely rejected the French proposal, and referred the French ambassador to the foreign board at Peking.

An Interview With the Leader of the Provisional Government. From the Winnipeg Times. In a few minutes the reporter found himself in the presence of the man who thirteen years ago created such a commotion throughout Canada. His appearance was something of a surprise to one who had expected to see a rather desperate looking character. He is a man of medium size and powerful build. His features are possessing and almost handsome—aquiline nose, large dark expressive eyes, and a high forehead—while his general expression is mild and thoughtful. His hair is thick, curly and brown, and he wears a full beard of a reddish brown hue. Throughout the whole interview his tone was subdued and the serious expression of his face was only occasionally relieved by a passing smile.

"How long have you been away from the province?" asked the reporter. "Ten years."

"And what have you been doing all the time?" "Trying to earn my living honestly," said Riel quietly, but with dignity. "I have been living in Montana and Dakota, and an iron road built in the north, earning my bread by hard manual labor."

"Do you intend to go back?" "Oh, yes. I am on my business and will return as soon as it is transacted. Then of course I am glad to have a chance to see my dear old mother and the family. There has been a great change in the province since I left it, and the reports which I have heard of its marvellous developments are not at all exaggerated."

"Have you any objection to saying what you think of the justice of your sentence of banishment?" Riel paused a moment, and then said, "Before entering on a discussion of this question I must say that I respect all the public men with whom I had to deal, and to their public acts I say that sentence of banishment was wrong—an injustice. And the amnesty which was granted did not come from the emperor, but from the secretary of state at Ottawa had no right to grant it. I do not think it should have come from the imperial government. The secretary of state at Ottawa had no right to grant it. I do not think it should have come from the imperial government. The secretary of state at Ottawa had no right to grant it. I do not think it should have come from the imperial government."

"What were your objections to being annexed to Canada at that time?" "When I came to Canada at that time I was a public man with whom I had to deal, and to their public acts I say that sentence of banishment was wrong—an injustice. And the amnesty which was granted did not come from the emperor, but from the secretary of state at Ottawa had no right to grant it. I do not think it should have come from the imperial government. The secretary of state at Ottawa had no right to grant it. I do not think it should have come from the imperial government."

"We believed our institutions and our rights to property were in danger, and we did not wish to be annexed to Canada without having secured to us our constitutional rights as British subjects. We had no fault to find with England, and the only aim of the provisional government was for peace here, and to enable us to treat with Canada on fair terms. I believe that annexation to the dominion would have been very advantageous to Manitoba, if Canada had remained faithful to the treaty of 1870. I admit that the Northwest under the new rule has been prosperous, but I do not believe the property will last."

"How is that?" "I think that emigration will cease before the revenue will be sufficient to sustain the national credit. You ask why will emigration cease? I answer, because before long the area of lands open for settlement will be exhausted. I think the grant to the syndicate too large, and that it was a great mistake to let twentieth of the lands to the H. B. C."

"What would you have proposed to do instead?" "I do not care to enter into that; in fact I do not like to speak about political matters at all, and only do so because I do not like to refuse to answer your questions."

"The Positive Cure." Devil's Alient's Anti-bilious mixture for biliousness, sick headaches, constipation, etc.

J. B. THOUGHT-READING. The Bishop and Labouchere Vest in St. James' Hall.

The Pall Mall Gazette gives the following report of the séance given by Mr. B. Wood the thought-reader, at the St. James, London: The easy chair set apart for Mr. Labouchere was unoccupied. The £1000 promised was not taken. But the experiment could be tried in Mr. Labouchere's absence, and Mr. Bishop was willing to stake £1000 with no other set-off than the promise, willingly given, that the sentence would demand that if he guessed the number right Mr. Labouchere should hand over the £1000 to the Victoria hospital for children.

Mr. Charles Russell here introduced a diversion which kept the meeting in an uproar for nearly an hour. He sent word from the body of the hall—for he had refused to join the committee—that he had enclosed a £5 note in an envelope and given it into the keeping of Prof. R. G. Langford, who was sitting at the table. Mr. Bishop alone knew its number. He challenged Mr. Bishop to read in the mind of the number of the note.
