ODDFELLOWS HOME FOR BRIDGETOWN

Crescent Lodge With Support of Many Others in Running For Location Here

The big feature of interest at the I.O.O.F. Grand Lodge which meets at Truro on August 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, will be the selection of a location for the Oddfellows' Home. It is expected that there will be a large delegation present from all over the jurisdiction which embraces the entire Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

The efforts of the brethren and sisters have now assured the selection of a suitable home for aged Oddfellows and it is of interest to note that the first practical move in this direction was made in 1910, when the then President of the Rebekah Assembly, Sister Peters, a member of Autumn Leaf Rebekah Lodge, Bridgetown, presented Grand Lodge, then meeting at St. John, with $1500 collected. From this small beginning the fund grew to its present proportions.

Of course there are several places in the running for location of the home. Among them being Amherst, Truro, and Pictou. From Halifax to Yarmouth we understand that the only town at present in the race is Bridgetown and Crescent Lodge of this place will no doubt receive considerable backing from Grand Lodge delegates in the Valley and western part of the Province towns as well as from many other lodge delegates in other parts of the jurisdiction.

The elements which enter into the selection are being carefully weighed by the Order to ensure a selection strictly on merit and outstanding advantages.

One of the very strongest claims which is being put forth for Bridgetown is the fact that the former property the selection of the local committee endorsed by Crescent Lodge will be self sustaining from the start and a property from which an ever increasing revenue can be obtained. The location is just outside the town limits on the main trunk road running through the Valley. The farm itself contains four hundred acres of land, fifty-four of which is under cultivation yielding from seventy-five to ninety tons of the best hay. There is seventy-five acres in pasture with never failing water supply. The orchard contains eighteen acres with nine hundred apple trees with an average yield of twelve hundred barrels of apples of the best flavor and best for export, such as Kings, Bishop Pippins, Golden Russets, Gravensteins, etc. As many of the trees are still quite young, each year should bring an increase in yield.

The house on the property is a two story one 20x40 with eight rooms on each floor, four on the lower and two on the upper, having open fire places, modern bath room, electric light, town water. The barn is also electrically lighted, has water supply and is equipped in the most modern way.

The Town Council, it is understood, are prepared to give free water and the county to give exemption from taxation if the home is located here.

The above present some of the most striking financial advantages. These of course are important, but by no means everything. The location is ideal, in the garden of Nova Scotia, with its beautiful and picturesque scenery varied with a mountain setting on either hand, amid a wealth of apple blossoms in the Spring and richly colored fruit in Autumn, a climate free from the east winds. What situation could be more pleasing for the declining years of aged brethren who require this home?

It has just become known that Windsor's recently appointed cop in the person of Kenneth Porter, has a head for size that is difficult for the hat dealers to fit. The Police Committee is securing a new uniform for Porter who is of unusual stature, and a Halifax dealer wrote "there must be some mistake for the largest size we have ever carried was 7 1/2, and this went to Cumberland C." Police-man Porter has been measured for an $12. Come now, Halifax, with your slogan of "First in Everything."

VISIT OF KENTVILLE BOARD OF TRADE

On Wednesday afternoon last Bridgetown enjoyed a pleasant visit from the members of the Kentville Board of Trade, wives and lady friends on their return from Annapolis. The party was made up of over two hundred persons and fifty cars were required for the trip and made a fine showing.

The town was gay with hunting and the visitors were welcomed by the Board of Trade and enjoyed while here the baseball match between Bridgetown and Kentville, which is described in another column. Refreshments were provided by the local Board of Trade. Musical selections played by the Kentville band at the conclusion of the ball game. Short speeches followed of a nature appropriate to the occasion, Mayor Chesley, of Kentville, a former Bridgetown leading off. Other speakers were Hon. H. H. Wickwire for Kentville, President E. A. Hicks, Bridgetown Board of Trade; Hon. O. T. Daniels; A. E. McMahon, President Kentville Board of Trade. The occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by both visitors and visited. Get together events such as these, even if of brief duration, help to cement good feeling and co-operative spirit. Mr. George E. Graham, General Manager; Prof. Saxby Blair, of the Gov't. Experimental Station, were present with the large number of business and professional men and other leaders of activities in the Kings County town. These, with the many ladies who accompanied the party, made up a gathering both pleasing and unique. Bridgetown enjoyed their presence and will be glad to see them all again on future occasions.

Among the visitors who joined the Kentville Board of Trade picnic at Annapolis Wednesday was Mr. F. G. J. Comeau, Gen. Passenger and Freight Agent, Halifax, accompanied by Major Osmoney, Assistant Industrial Commissioner of the C.P.R., Montreal; Lieut. Commander Turrell, the youngest commander in the British Navy, who has come out from England to look over fruit farms with an idea of purchase; and Mr. G. F. Humphrey, expert in the utilization of waste products in fruit and vegetables, and who during the war was in charge of hydrated fruit and vegetable plants for the British Government. He will look over prospects during his trip through the Province. These visitors to our Valley are much delighted with the magnificent scenery and the productivity on every hand. They state that they do not fully appreciate the great heritage which is ours. The fact is, we have become so accustomed to our fair Valley that it takes the visitor at times to point out beauties which we have overlooked.

Capt. John Crosskill R. N., Founder of Bridgetown

It was furnished by Mrs. Geo. E. Boak, of Halifax, daughter of late Judge James, of Halifax, and therefore a great grand daughter of our founder. It is taken from an old oil painting made previous to 1800 in her possession, and was lent work of the American Artist Copley and shows Capt. Crosskill to be a very dignified and intelligent looking man and worthy of our respect and honor.

His Early Life and His Coming to Annapolis County.

(By M. E. Armstrong, M. D.)

Captain John Crosskill, who was the founder of Bridgetown, was born in Norwich, England, in 1749. Nothing is known of his parents but a family tradition alleges that while quite young he and another brother was cared for by an aunt who after the two nephews had served terms in school and were able to take the required educational test for the officers in the army and navy this aunt secured positions by her influence for the two of them. John entered the navy and his brother the army. The latter was sent to India and was never heard of afterward by the branch of the family that came this way.

Young John seems to have made due progress in promotion in the navy, for in 1776 we learn he had been advanced to the position of

GRADE A WORK IN BRIDGETOWN

Proposal To Extend Local High School Course so as to Include Grade XII Subjects

There has been a strong request made upon the Board of School Commissioners here to extend the High School Curriculum locally so as to include Grade XII or "A" work and it now seems probable that this request will be acceded to.

Our excellent teaching staff is very modest regarding the educational standing and achievements of the High School so that it may not be generally known that Bridgetown has the largest High School enrolment of any town in the Valley not excepting Kentville. Some seventy-five or more pupils have been pursuing courses here for the past two years or so and attendances on the increase.

Those who have completed the "B" course have been obliged to go to college or to other institutions at a distance to further pursue their studies. It is now felt by many that the "A" work should be done in Bridgetown.

To do this an additional teacher will be required quite probably a man who is capable of instructing in Manual Training, a part time work, and who can also teach classes in grades IX and X so that relief thus furnished will enable Principal Archibald and Vice Principal Messenger to take up with pupils the "A" course.

A number of others made aggregate up to 400 and over but failed in one subject. 350 is pass mark aggregate on seven subjects. Others again made the required aggregate but fell down on a subject or so. All were well over three hundred.

Mr. Carlisle Wilkinson, of the Bank of Commerce staff, Halifax, spent the week-end in town, the guest of his uncle, Mr. John Wilkinson.

BRONZE TABLET CAPT. CROSSKILL

Memory of Founder of Town Will Be Suitably Perpetuated—Tablet Unveiled Centennial Week

The town of Bridgetown is very properly taking further steps to perpetuate the memory of its founder, Capt. John Crosskill, and to that end a handsome bronze tablet will be placed in position on a stone in Riverside Cemetery. This will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies during the Centennial Celebration. The tablet will bear the following:

To the memory of Capt. John Crosskill, R. N.
Who Founded the Town of
BRIDGETOWN in 1822.
Born 1749. Died 1826.

Erected by the Town of Bridgetown at the Centennial of the Founding 1922.

The Digby junior baseball team arrive here on Friday afternoon and will play the local boys at four o'clock. The game in Digby was won by Bridgetown, but not by a large margin, so a good contest is looked for on Friday afternoon.

MASONIC PICNIC AT LAWRENCETOWN

For a number of years the farmers of Annapolis County have held a Farmers' Picnic at Lawrencetown. This picnic has become an annual feature. The people of this pretty little town and surrounding country look forward to its return with great pleasure.

At first, this picnic was held at a beautiful little island in the Annapolis River called Hall's Island. Later an electric plant was installed at Lawrencetown and a dam thrown across the Annapolis River. This raised the water to such an extent that Hall's Island has ceased to be an attractive place for this picnic. One more instance where beauty and romance have been sacrificed to the onward march of progress.

However, with the assistance of the local government under the supervision of Dr. Cumming, the Farmers Association of Annapolis County erected a Government Demonstration Building at Lawrencetown. Beautiful and ample grounds were obtained and this building has become a community centre. For a number of years this picnic has been held here. It is proposed that this building and grounds will be the centre of interest for the picnic this year.

A little over a year ago, a dispensation was obtained for the formation of a Masonic Lodge at Lawrencetown. This lodge has had a successful year. Its membership is over forty and still candidates are asking for admission. The brethren felt, however, that their accommodations were altogether inadequate. In order to try to have a convenient and up-to-date place of meeting, it has been decided to make an attempt to raise a building fund. The Farmers Association has approached and permission obtained to hold their annual picnic under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge.

Evangeline Lodge, therefore, appeals to the Fraternity of the Valley and to the public generally to support them in this very worthy undertaking. Lawrencetown is one of the beauty spots of the famous Annapolis Valley and the Lodge is contemplating a program that will be very attractive. It is proposed to open the days' afternoon from two to four, the Farmers Association will entertain with some of the best speakers of the Province. At four o'clock there will be a ball game between two of the leading teams of the Valley. After the ball game, supper. The day's proceedings will be rounded out by a big concert in the Demonstration Building. An effort is being made to have a radio installed in connection with this concert. One of the leading theatres will give continuous reels from two to eleven p.m. Some very popular reels have been engaged. There will also be a large number of side attractions. Ice cream will be in abundance and every effort made to entertain.

Evangeline Lodge confidently solicits a very liberal patronage. It is the intention that this will be the largest and best Farmers Picnic yet. All roads will lead to Lawrencetown on that day. The ball teams have not as yet agreed on the exact day, so we cannot at time of writing name the exact date. However, the picnic will take place on some day between the 20th and 25th of August. Adds the 20th and 25th of the local papers and will appear in full details of the program and exact date will be posted everywhere. Give Evangeline Lodge a big start on its building fund.

NEWS NOTES OF LAWRENCETOWN

Tennis Booming—Farmers' Picnic—Projected Local Improvements—Sporting Notes

Many of our local people took advantage of the Wednesday half holiday of last week by attending the ball game at Bridgetown. Many of them remained to the Van Arman Minstrel show in the evening.

Considerable traffic was evidenced on Wednesday last when about forty or more cars went through the town following closely behind each other. The cars were all numbered and those that were so numbered were Board of Trade cars, and with their banners spread over the engine cover and at the rear as well, presented quite a pleasing sight to the many spectators.

Among the latest improvements in town we note that Mr. J. A. Whitman is refreshing his building at the corner with a coat of paint. Mr. Clarence Haynes, a local painter, is in charge of the work. Among others who are painting is Mr. John Hall.

On Wednesday last after the rainfall, the split log drag was making the rounds around the town, and helping to level up the road surface. We have in the town what many other towns have not, and that is a fairly good stretch of road throughout the entire length.

The Lawrencetown juniors who went to Berwick for games on Friday, July 21st, played in a little hard luck and lost out on a 5-3 score.

The Digby Tennis Club were unable to handle games with Lawrencetown for Thursday last owing to the absence of some of their players. Annapolis, however, who had been invited for the following day, arrived and a detailed account of the playing according to events is given elsewhere.

We noticed some old time tennis players who haven't had the racket in their hands for many years, down at the tennis courts quite early a few mornings past. Although not having wielded the fibre for some time they certainly made a remarkable showing. No doubt there are many people here in Lawrencetown who have discarded their tennis paraphernalia long ago in favor of a settled life, but who, at the same time, if they so chose to do, could make some of the more agile players of to-day step lively. That's the stuff. All you old timers don the sneakers, borrow a racket, and we'll supply the balls. So come along and show us a few of the many pointers that were in vogue twenty-five years ago.

With the through Owl service that has been established, we are now served with two eastern mails daily. The Owl only carries through mail, not picking any up after leaving Halifax. There is, however, quite a rush on at the local Post Office after the evening mail, although the amount of matter carried is not of such quantity as would assure very many of receiving letters.

Edison Burke, who plays on the Lawrencetown baseball team and who is at present conducting a sale at Bear River, was a passing visitor in town on Thursday last.

Plans are now under way for holding the annual farmers picnic here sometime in August. The committee in charge are exerting every means to assure a big event.

MELVERN SQUARE

Mrs. Clara McGibbon and little grandson Miles, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Baker, have returned to their home in Fredericton, N.B.

Dr. and Mrs. Provost, of New Bedford, Mass., spent a few weeks with the latter's sister, Mrs. F. East, have gone home.

Mr. Alfred Phinney is having his house repainted under the skilful touch of our village painter, Harry Phinney.

Messrs. Will Spurr, Fred Baker and Earl Palmer are spending the week in Bedford at target shooting.

Miss Grace McNeil, who underwent an operation for appendicitis last week is improving.

Miss Kathylene Sproule, of Springfield, is visiting Miss Ruth Puddington.

BRIDGETOWN JUNIORS SHUT OUT ST. PETERS JUNIORS

The Bridgetown juniors defeated St. Peters juniors of Halifax decisively on Saturday evening 6 to 0. The game was throughout well played. St. Peters in the afternoon defeated Annapolis juniors 9 to 6. In the game here the local boys showed to decided advantage and played one of the very best games of the season. It is regretted that the attendance was not larger. Our juniors here are a fine aggregation. They deserve and would appreciate a larger public patronage at their games. St. Peters boys are a good bunch of sports and created an excellent impression here.

Captain and his ship was engaged in bridging the Hessian troops to America to fight for Britain in the Revolutionary war.
It may have been while our young captain was moving these Hessians soldiers across the Atlantic and saw and learned how they had been sold to England by the German princes practically as slaves—these princelings receiving and pocketing the money for thousands of them that were used in this war, that he cursed these methods of traffic in human stock and the German princes who carried it on, and that then and there he formed an opinion regarding many customs of princes of German birth and heritage that later on cost him his position, as he emphatically protested against such violations of human and moral standards, but this we shall see a little further on.
At the close of the American war in 1781 he seems to have been sent to the West Indies and there had an active part in restoring order and keeping peace in the petty insurrections of these islands between various factions at this time.
Numerous outbreaks and rebellions were common there between 1784 and 1794 and in which the natives, colored peoples, and the American loyalists were mixed up with more or less. During these years he was stationed at New Providence, Bahamas, and at Barbadoes.
Probably it was while he was in the transport service between the Old County and the revolting colony that he first visited Halifax and met his wife and it must have been soon after this that he was married. His wife was Charlotte Phillips, daughter of John Phillips, merchant and member of the first Legislature of Nova Scotia and several terms thereafter and for many years a wealthy and influential man in that city.
The Phillips family came from Boston and very early in the history of Halifax John Phillips was a successful merchant and personage and our young naval officer must have had rank and influence to have won his daughter.
The Phillips name does not now appear in either Halifax or Boston, and I was not able to find it in the Genealogical registers of New England.
Captain Crosskill took his bride to Bridgetown Barbadoes where he resided for some years and where their three sons, James, Henry and Thomas were born.
For some reason not clear to-day Captain Crosskill left his position in the West Indies quite suddenly about 1790 and came to Halifax. Family tradition says that he owned a large estate there with well equipped sugar cane plantation and lots of slaves and that he gave his slaves their freedom and the estate, and that he never went back to claim his property after his sudden departure after 1790.
The suddenness of his leaving leads one to suspect that it was owing to the outbreak of one of the periodic revolutions that drove him from his station and estate there.
Between 1794 and 1798 Captain Crosskill is mentioned in Murdoch's History as Commander of the Armed Snow "Earl of Morla". His small armed craft was owned by the N. S. Government and in the service of the province as her name occurs frequently in connection with trips around our coasts by the Governors or other officials.
The above historian refers to Capt. Crosskill as "A Skilled Pilot", and as his vessel was of light draught he could chase privateers in shallow water and small harbors about the coasts of the provinces.
This small cruiser was called a SNOW, a nautical term that has become obsolete and not even known by many of our "skippers" of to-day and even an editor of a paper in this county in putting an item in his paper this summer re. Capt. Crosskill, referred to him as commanding the armed sloop, he think the manuscript or copy in error that was plainly written SNOW.
A SNOW was a small craft with two masts and square-rigged with a boom mainsail. The name seems to have come by corruption from the word snaw equal to our word snout.
The "Earl of Morla" was a craft of about 125 tons, with 14 mounted guns and navigated with 18 mariners, one sergeant and 14 soldiers of the Nova Scotia Regiment.
In 1796 Captain Crosskill was granted by Sir John Wentworth, then Lieut. Governor of N. S. and Commander-in-Chief in and over His Majesty's Province of Nova Scotia, Vice Admiral and Chancellor of the same and Surveyor General of H. M. woods in all H. M. Dominions in North America, etc., etc.
"Letters of Marque and reprisals against all His Majesty's enemies and giving him the King's share of all such ships and property which he may make prizes of conformable to special instructions herewith", were duly granted and our founder went forth to seek his fortune by capturing vessels belonging to France richly laden with goods belonging to His Majesty's enemies and thus by legal means making great fortunes or adding to those already made.
Murdoch adds that the "Earl of

Take "Fruit-a-lives" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

805 CARTIER ST., MONTREAL
"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headaches and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened.
At last, a friend advised me to take "Fruit-a-lives" and in a short time the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pain, headaches or dyspepsia, and now I am vigorous, strong and well."
Madam ARTHUR BEAUCHER.

Morla" was also used in the defensive service of our province as well as this other legal highway robbery that was quite common at that time and from which a good number of Halifax "Kiddies" of that age and that port. We do know that Captain Crosskill did not make a fortune so we feel that we can correctly say that this piracy was distasteful to him and that the standard of morals that he adopted for his family on shore was the code that governed him on the "ocean wide" and that his letters of marque were not used for so questionable money making pursuit. At this time a sudden change takes place in Capt. Crosskill's career and the letters of marque are no more referred to and the "Earl of Morla" receives a new commander.
A family tradition says that this sudden retiring from the sea by this skilled navigator was entirely due to a difference with H.R.H. Edward, Duke of Kent, at that time stationed at Halifax as Commander of North American forces for Great Britain and holding the rank of Major General.
The Duke of Kent, like his brothers, George IV and William IV, had been spoiled in the Courts of Royalty as carried on at that time or by heredity. These prodigal sons, four or five in number, princes, of George the 3rd, lived in a fashion and at a pace that would horrify society, either high or low of our day. The Georges brought these fashions and customs with them from Germany and they never scrupled, or even blushed.
Queens Caroline and Adelaide were Queens in name only to George and William, while King William's nine children by Mrs. Jordan, the actress, answered to the name of Fitz George and those of his brother King George IV were called Fitz something else. All of this jolly lot of boy princes were spendrifts and it kept George III busy to pay their debts, to say nothing of all parliament did to relieve them.
To one of these gay princes our Nova Scotia ladies were given in early days, and they were turned over to some of his creditors—London jewelers—to pay his bill for necklaces and etc., for some of his fast female companions. It took our Government many years to get rid of this tie up with the prince's jeweller.
Reared in this atmosphere, Edward, Duke of Kent the 4th, son of George III, was sent over here, it was said, to stop further increase in his liabilities, and when he left his gay friends behind, as he sailed away, he also left debts amounting to from seven to eight hundred thousand dollars with English creditors.

CAPT. JOHN CROSSKILL R. X. FOUNDER OF BRIDGETOWN

In America the Duke of Kent introduced Court social standards as the house of Hanover knew them, and at Quebec and at Halifax his equipment his residence and his whole social life and surrounding was as lavishly spread as it in one of the petty German states.

But all England did not approve of such gross laxness, socially and morally; and it seems to have remained for our English naval officer, Capt. John Crosskill, to play the part of John the Baptist in reproving Royalty for its waywardness in the new and plastic society of Halifax. Captain Crosskill knowing that H. R. H. household was presided over by Madame Saint Laurent, forbade Mrs. Crosskill attending social functions at the Royal residence or calling on this mistress of the Princes' Lodge.

The Duke learning of this officer's criticisms, rebuked him for his temerity in true German fashion and phasology and warned him if it did not cease he would take his commission from him. Our courageous captain as promptly replied that His Majesty should have his commission at once, as he would not act longer in his service or be intimidated, and he at once handed to His Royal Highness his resignation and left the service and very soon thereafter came to Granville, Annapolis County, where society was free of such blights and where the atmosphere was socially pure with its New England puritanical standards and where the ideals of the Hanoverian princes of Germany that were brought to England by George the 1st were not tolerated if indeed known by that generation.

How was it that Captain Crosskill happened to come to this part of the Province? As stated in a previous paper the lands reaching from Mr. Thies' place in the west to the Baptist Church in the east was owned by Peter Pineo between 1785 and 1790 and were mortgaged to John Phillips of Halifax. Peter Pineo was lost at sea on a voyage to West India and the mortgage foreclosed and the place bought in by Phillips.

Capt. Crosskill was married to Phillis daughter and through the death of the father-in-law in 1792 and his wife in 1794, Granville property seems to have been given to the Crosskill heirs. In 1800 the Crosskill family were living in Halifax and it is not clear just when the captain moved here for acres that came into his possession. Shortly after 1800 his wife, Charlotte, died, and it would seem that his children continued in Halifax for some years after this date, although the father was probably here on his property.

Mr. Colneek, writing thirty years ago, states that Capt. Crosskill built a vessel here, the first one launched from this part of the river, she being called the "Robert Burns". Between 1800 and 1815 he built a shop on the west side of the Creek that extended up Queen Street to near where Mrs. Fisher's tailor shop now stands, this was the first and for many years the only place of business in the vicinity. It was a general store, with hardware, dry goods, rum and molasses, etc., and its location near the water front made it a busy centre during the months when the river was open for navigation.

Capt. Crosskill also erected the first house on the hill side where E. R. Orlando now lives and from here in December, 1813, his only daughter, Ann Petty, was married to Thomas James, by Rev. John Milledge, Rector of Granville.

Mr. James at this time held an important position in the commissary department of the army at Halifax but a few years later came here to reside and was given the fine property on the hillside by his generous father-in-law. About the same time Capt. Crosskill was married a second time, his wife being Frances Gidney Morrison, widow of Capt. Angus Morrison and daughter of the old Loyalist, Joseph Gidney, of this locality.

The second wife had many real estate holdings of her own in this county and in Digby also, and was a woman of much business ability. Capt. Crosskill gave her a building lot at the head of Queen Street where the old hotel property now stands, to be exclusively her own and here she built a comfortable residence and

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Helping Sick Women to Health

The two letters which follow clearly show the broad field covered by this well-known medicine. Women from every section know some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for troubles women often have.

From Prince Edward's Island—East

Miscouche, P. E. I.—"I had female troubles for two years. I always had a headache and a pain in my side and sometimes I felt so weak that I could not do my work. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken six bottles of it. It has done me a lot of good and I am still taking it. I will tell my friends of your medicine and hope they will try it."—Mrs. CAMILLE DES ROCHES, Miscouche, P. E. I.

From Saskatchewan—West

Wadena, Saskatchewan—"A friend in Rose Valley recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and it has been a great help to me. I recommend it and you can use this letter as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. FETTER NOWOS, Wadena, Saskatchewan.

they lived happily there until the captain's death in April, 1823. The second wife survived him until 1841, making her home in Belleisle and in Sandy Cove after his death. Capt. Crosskill was buried in the field back of the Annapolis Valley Cider Manufacturing plant on a small hill side. In 1826 there was a large orchard of ten to fifteen acres in that part of his farm and it was at the west border of this orchard that the burial lot was placed.

At that time practically the whole town site, other than this, was in bushes and alder swamps or forest, but in the course of 100 years the rest of the town site has been cleared and used for building purposes, while this small area, used for this early burial lot has been neglected,—being now, no mans land and has become a jungle of briars and wild wood so that graves, stones and enclosures are hidden. Such seems to be the fate of private burial lots every where, as property is transferred, strangers come to occupy the homes of former residents and too often desecrate and obliterate the mounds containing the dust of former generations.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mothers best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

THE GOLD BUG

Buried treasure is said to be hidden away on Oak Island in Mahone Bay. Legend says the treasure is $50,000,000 worth of Spanish doubloons, pieces of eight, old-fashioned English crowns and bullion. Now, a party of searchers, said to be financed by a Chicago company, are on the island. Earlier legends connected with the search for this "treasure" are said to have inspired Edgar Allan Poe's famous story "The Gold Bug". Probably a dozen companies have been formed to recover this legendary treasure, and about a million dollars have been collected from credulous folk in New England and Nova Scotia, eager for the thrills of treasure seeking by proxy. The promoters of these companies did very well, but the shareholders never received dividends. One company, which worked on the theory that the famous Captain Kidd had buried on Oak Island the treasure he was supposed to have captured in the East Indies, purchased the dunnage of a ship from the East Indies and distributed it out on the shores of the island before they started operations and took the public into their confidence.

JOKES MADE IN BEER ARE PAID FOR IN CASH

Two colored gentlemen, Charlie Sims and Jim Owens, who had been embibing not wisely but too well, decided to amuse themselves at the expense of Wilbur McGill, of Williamston, when he left his meat cart on Bay Road to get some change. They commenced operations by throwing some of his meat and fish around the street. This amusement was secured at a cost in one case of $7.50 and in another of $13.00, for McGill had a warrant made out for the jokers. Sims stayed around after the trial and was becoming a nuisance, while his wiser comrade laid low. The former was put in for being drunk and disorderly. Hence the larger fine. Suitable assessment was made in the sentence by Mr. J. A. Irvin, K.C., to cover the value of soiled goods.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION FROM UNITED STATES

The following extracts from a letter received by The MONITOR from Mr. S. C. I could not afford to get along without the good old home paper, and quite frequently I meet those from dear old home, who take it, and feel the same as I do about The MONITOR. I assure you that I can see an improvement in each issue and feel sure that you will still go on improving and make it the paper of the Valley.

COMMENT ON COAL SITUATION

The return of Silby Barratt to Cape Breton from the United States where he was in conference with President J. L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America and with other labor leaders and his report on conditions attending the big American strike brings once more to the fore the possibility, if not probability of a strike on the part of the miners of this Province. Especially since being assured that American miners will be able to enforce their demands. In any case, however, there are only two logical moves for the miners to take as President Lewis pointed out. To either sign up the agreements offered or to strike. The present week to week drifting is unsettling to industry and for the good of all concerned a definite agreement should be made to cover a reasonable period of time.

Years ago three year agreements were in vogue, but present world conditions do not warrant arrangements on terms of such great length.

The coal mining situation generally is full of intricacies and it requires expert and particular knowledge to size it up fairly to all concerned. An idea prevails that miners as a whole make fabulous sums of money. Large pay, it is true, is made in the mines, but the greater percentage of workers do not receive big wages, costs of living and broken time considered. Nevertheless miners as a whole have fared better through the post war period than most other classes of workers.

The general public outside mining centres are not so much interested in the continual jangling and disputes between the coal companies and the men, as they are in the price of fuel. It is a part of human nature to see situations mainly and sometimes wholly as they affect ourselves.

For years back the public has seen new arrangements being made in wage scales at the collieries. The companies have after just the proper amount of resistance acceded largely to the demands of the men, and complacently shifted the whole burden on to the backs of a long suffering public. The landlord boosts his rent, and non producers generally raise prices. There is now more money going, why should we not get as much as we can of it, they say to themselves, and so the game goes on.

Coal has soared to such prices that now even the companies hesitate to raise prices further, and well they might. If they accede to the demands of the men they will make the public pay the piper, but the public is not amiable disposed to any more of this sort of thing, and there are limits which even great and strongly entrenched organizations cannot pass.

There is another phase to consider. Since the companies reduced the wages of the men, reductions have been made in the prices of coal, but the reductions to the buying public have not been equal to the cut taken off the men.

Strikes are to be reprehended, and are the best resort as a means of settlement of disputes. Still one may be necessary to clear the industrial atmosphere in the coal producing parts of the Province. Once cleared it will remain clear for some years to come.

CLEMENTSPORT

"THE QUEEN OF THE BASIN"

Richard Henry Dana, in his interesting tale "Two years before the Mast", after months of isolation from his homeland, says as he received copies of the Boston paper. After all, there is nothing in a strange land like a newspaper from home. Even a letter in many respects, is nothing in comparison with it. It carries you back to the spot better than anything else". This is true indeed and many residents of Clementsport would welcome our news notes and do so. The following letter from A. H. Armstrong, Assistant Educational Director of Education Dept. of the Twenty-Third Street, Young Men's Christian Association, New York, U. S. A., was received Saturday, 29th inst., by your correspondent:

Rev. A. W. L. Smith,
Dear Friend: I am always pleased to read your communications to THE MONITOR, as you generally say something to the point. Your article on road repairing is good. I think you wrote a piece of poetry on the Clementsport road last year. I was over it during the summer and could appreciate some what you said.

You are a good booster for the "Queen of the Basin" and she deserves it. Will not be down this summer, but hope to see you sometime while passing through to Granville. In the meantime keep up the good work and champion the cause of the people.

Your old friend,
ARMSTRONG.

Such letters must be a great encouragement to us all—Editor, people and correspondent, and shows we are before the eyes of Nova Scotians abroad. We thank Mr. Armstrong for his tribute and assure him we will endeavor to carry on the good work.

Last week we drew attention to a dangerous spot in the highway. Now there are two other bad places. One is a very deep drop just west of Mrs. S. Potter's bungalow, it is a wooden bridge and has no rail. If a car went over here only a miracle would save the lives of the occupants, then the eastern approach to the bridge going into the village on the Annapolis-Digby road, another big drop upon the foundations of an old grist mill. Both these need to be railled. Not gingerbread wooden rails, but substantial iron ones. This is true of the whole of the embankment now railled with wood. They should be iron. A few rotten poles will sometimes deceive a cow by making it think it is a veritable obstacle, but there is no deceiving an auto. If it backs a slight wooden rail, it crashes through. Councillor Rawling informs us the matter is in hand, but since we have had similar information from other sources for some years. We hope this time it will materialize as will the two aprons for our race ways which should have been put in two years ago.

The Bear River carnival drew many Clementsport people on Tuesday, 25th inst. The parade was the best for years. The floats, showing interest, taste, and inventive genius—several autos were most attractively decorated. The water sports lacked the interest they should have from the few entries. Why not interest Milford and get half a dozen canoes to enter. They would be attended by a large number of enthusiastic tackers. The log rolling was really a greased pole event. The old water logged mainmast was almost impossible to be mounted from the water, as several found to their cost, and hats off to—who was a marvel.

The Liverpool band furnished music during the day. Baseball in the afternoon showed the place the Bear River boys were climbing to. Every success to them. Good dinner served by the Oddfellows and refreshments from booths satisfied the inner man. The most cherries your correspondent say outside a few boxes in the Trading Co.'s store were those decorating an artistically designed car in the parade. Too late for cherries. All who went had a good time and look forward to next year's event. No better order or decorum could be wished for anywhere.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred on Friday night, 28th inst., a car was proceeding rather rapidly along the Virginia Road and at the turn where it enters the Princedale road, which is a very sharp one. The driver was unable to make it and crashed into the large rock on the opposite side of the road, badly smashing the car. Four danger signals should be posted, one on the Fraser road before the turn, one on the Virginia Road and two on the Princedale road. Some one must be responsible for this work, it is just as necessary as good roads, if not more so.

Trimpser and Jefferson made their first shipment of blueberries for the season on Tuesday and Wednesday, 24th and 25th July, when they sent three crates to the Boston market.

There are always ready hearts and hands to assist in all good work. A few days ago Mr. Joseph Gould, of the staff of the New York Herald, who is summering here, called us aside and presented us with four quatrains of verse for the decoration service in the old church on the 30th August. Mr. Gould is well versed in the Loyalist History of certain families here and sees and appreciates the value of the old church. We thank him heartily.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh, the new incumbent of the combined Presbyterian and Methodist Church was in Clementsport Thursday, July 27th, getting acquainted with his congregation here. Mr. C. F. Tupper accompanied him. He found a warm welcome on every side.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil DeAubin, of the General Accountant's office, D.A.R., Kentville, who are spending their vacation at Smith's Cove, motored to Clementsport Sunday, August 30th, and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Abbott.

Mr. Fritz Walters, D.A.R. detective and Mr. Wood, of the Claims Dept., while on a holiday auto tour, called on Mr. S. W. Abbott on Wednesday, 25th inst., and are delighted with the magnificent scenery of our village.

A letter from the Secretary of the Nova Scotia Historical Society informs the Editor that they will place a memorial tablet on the door of the old church. This will be unveiled at the aforementioned service.

Henry Birks & Sons, Ltd., Halifax, have just finished a handsome brass memorial tablet for W. G. Smith in memory of his father and mother which is to be erected in the parish Church at Chester, N. S.

Miss Shrieve, of Halifax, a former summer visitor of Clementsport, but who, this year, is spending some time at Digby, motored up on Wednesday, 27th, to call on her friends, who were delighted to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Porter and daughter, Lily, went Saturday, July 29th, to Granville, where Mrs. Porter and daughter will visit Mr. Richard Ray, while Mr. Porter returned on Sunday, July 30th.

The Rev. Canon W. S. H. Morris, Mrs. Morris and Miss Morris, of Middleton, N.S., and their son, Mr. Lawrence Morris, of Kingston Military College, are in summer residence at "The Chalet".

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Crowell, son and daughter, of Halifax, are here for their annual holiday, coming Saturday night, July 29th. Welcome back again. They are at "Riverside Cottage".

The annual garden party of St. Clements Parish will be postponed from the 9th August to Wednesday, the 16th August. Mark this date on your calendar.

The schooner Eskimo, Capt. W. Burrill, arrived here on Friday from East Boston. He had a good run home.

ENGLISH CROP PROSPECTS

The early reports of the English fruit crop are considered fair. Strawberries are quite light, owing to last year's drought. Apples will only be a fair crop. While the early apples are showing a good crop, they will mature late, and the fall and winter varieties will be only a moderate crop in many places very light. Plums and pears are reported to be an abundant crop.

THE REASON WHY ANAEMIA PREVAILS

The Strenuous Condition of Life Today Responsible

Mothers who remark that girls today are more prone to anaemia than the girls of a generation ago, should look back at the surroundings in which they and their companions lived. They would easily see the season in life's altered circumstances today.

Now the school girl's life is more strenuous; her more numerous studies are a severe tax upon the strength. Also, girls enter business soon after leaving school—at an age when they most need rest and outdoor life. Their womanly development is hampered by the stress of working hours, hurried and often scanty meals. Girls are more liable to bloodlessness today, but there is this consolation that this condition is now more easily remedied than in the years past. Such medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have helped thousands of weak, anaemic girls and women, simply because they contain the elements necessary to enrich the blood which means good health and vitality.

This is proved by the statement of Miss Elthora Acker, Lake Pleasant, N. S., who says—"I shall be glad to see some other ailing girl who profits by my experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was very much run down; my face was pale and there were dark circles around my eyes. My appetite was bad, and I had no ambition to do anything or go about. I had once before been helped by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them again. It proved a wise decision, for in less than two months I felt in every way better. I had a splendid appetite, the tired feeling disappeared, and I can work with any vigor. Naturally I think there is no better medicine for young girls than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent to you by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockton, Ont.

BRIDGETOWN

Our community was saddened on Saturday, July 15th, when the Angel of Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Solsman, taking their infant daughter, Pauline Elizabeth, aged 10 months. Little Pauline was a bright and promising baby, and with her sweet baby ways was loved by every one. She contracted whooping cough a few weeks ago while her mother was in the hospital undergoing a serious operation. Mrs. Solsman, on returning home, although still in a weak condition, did all that was possible for her little one, but pneumonia set in and all the tender care could not save her. Left to mourn for their loved one are her father, mother, two brothers: George and Maurice, and one sister, Margaret. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents in their great loss, but they know their little one is "safe in the Arms of Jesus" and beyond all suffering and pain.

The funeral was conducted at the house and grave by Rev. A. H. Whitman, of Lawrencetown, who spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing ones. Burial at Pine Grove cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them the following: cut flowers—family; pillow—Mrs. W. H. Beazanson; spray—Mrs. G. R. Haynes; wreath—Mrs. E. Perry; crescent—Mrs. F. Cairnes; bouquets—Mrs. F. Foster, Miss Laura Goncher, Mrs. D. W. Beazanson, Mrs. R. Eisenhauer, Mrs. A. Hodges, Mrs. H. Wentzell, and Mrs. R. D. Stevenson.

BRIDGETOWN WINS IN TENTH INNING

Game With Kentville Hard Fought and a Thriller to the Finish. Large Attendance

Bridgetown baseball team won out over Kentville here on Wednesday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2 in a ten innings game in one of the hardest fought contests which has ever taken place on the B.A.A.A. grounds. Twice the score was tied, once in the fourth innings and once in the sixth. Like many of the other matches the game was a pitchers test of skill and endurance and the doubtful issue of the contest kept the fans on tip toe with excitement right up to the very finish.

At the end of the ninth, with a 2--2 score, arrangements had been made to continue for twelve innings, if necessary. Kentville was retired in the tenth without a man reaching first. The climax came with startling suddenness in the tenth when Bridgetown had two men out and two on bases. Roy Donaghy went to bat with a splendid drive to centre field, brought home the winning run.

Malcolm was in excellent form throughout. Struck out twelve men and allowed seven scattered hits. This record was duplicated by Burrill who pitched classy ball right through. Both pitchers received splendid support but Bridgetown team figured up smaller on the error list. Malcolm walked three men and Burrill one. Hoyt, a junior player, was on the Bridgetown line up and did excellent work, an outstanding feature being a one hand stop in the ninth inning. In the batting for the local boys Grimshaw and Roy Donaghy starred, the former getting a two bagger in the fourth, scoring Donaghy. While as noted above Donaghy's hit in the tenth decided the issue of the game. A section of the Grand Stand was reserved for the visiting Kentville Board of Trade members, their wives and lady friends, and the attendance at the game was one of the largest of the season.

Kentville band furnished excellent music after the game and refreshments were served the visitors by the Bridgetown Board of Trade.

PROVINCIAL NOTES

The Windsor War Memorial Committee is getting down to business. On July 24th the final decision will be made as to the form the memorial will take. It has already been decided to spend not less than ten thousand dollars on the project. There is a difference of opinion as to whether the memorial should be something useful or ornamental. Those who favor the useful have in mind either a public gymnasium or a wing to the Hospital with an arch on which will be inscribed the names of the fallen heroes and a ward dedicated to the memory of the fallen may receive treatment at reduced rates wherever circumstances warrant and wherever needed treatment would be free.
