PATENAUDE RESIGNS POSITION

Representative of Montreal District Leaves the Cabinet. PREMIER ACCEPTS THE RESIGNATION. Action of Secretary of State Was Expected—Sevigny Will Stay.

Ottawa, June 10. (Leased wire)—Hon. M. L. Patenaude, secretary of state in the Borden government has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by Sir Robert Borden. Just when Mr. Patenaude's resignation was placed in the hands of the premier is not definitely known, but it was probably late on Saturday afternoon. It has been known since the announcement of the government's intention to introduce conscription that Mr. Patenaude has been vigorously opposed to it, and that he had "a number of occasions asserted that he would in all probability drop out of the government." It is understood that the reason is that he considered his present position untenable in view of the opposition to conscription in the province of Quebec. Mr. Patenaude has been the French-Canadian representative in the government for the Montreal district since October, 1915, when he became minister of inland revenue. It can be stated pretty definitely that Hon. P. E. Blondin does not intend to resign. Sevigny Will Stay. Quebec, June 10.—Hon. Albert Sevigny, minister of inland revenue declared here today that he intended to remain in the Borden government. "If the French-Canadian minister," he said, "listened without reflection to a certain portion of the

ITALIANS TAKE GREEK CITY

London, June 10.—The occupation by Italian troops of the city of Janina, in Northwestern Greece, is reported in a Reuters dispatch from Athens. On receipt of this information at Athens the cabinet assembled to formulate a protest. Janina is a town of about 25,000 inhabitants. Ten Thousand Missing. London, June 10.—Reuters correspondent at British headquarters in France says that up to Friday evening the number of men, of all ranks, who failed to respond to roll call on the British side was just about ten thousand. Judging from past experience, about sixty per cent. of these are men wounded slightly.

HON. MR. BAXTER PRESENTS VIEWS OF THE OPPOSITION IN STIRRING SPEECH IN HOUSE

(SPECIAL TO THE STANDARD.) Fredericton, June 10.—The Standard's special legislative correspondent today furnished the full text of Hon. Mr. Baxter's admirable address on the Budget in the House on Friday afternoon. Hon. Mr. Baxter's speech was a complete answer to the fallacious financial statement of the Opposition and it deserves the closest perusal of every thoughtful elector of the province. Provincial issues have never before been discussed more intelligently nor more fairly than did Hon. Mr. Baxter in the course of his able address. His remarks concerning the new Government's deficit afford food for thought for everyone interested in the economical and systematic management of the affairs of New Brunswick. Regarding the items comprising the increase of $3,000,000 in the public debt under the late government, Hon. Mr. Baxter showed that many of them were the direct result of liabilities and undertakings of the government which went out of office in 1905, while any items directly attributable to the late government went to defray the cost of the momentary permanent bridges which they had erected as well as to other public works, the necessity of which he challenged the new administration dare to question. Taking the government's own figures he showed that the new administration will have at least three quarters of a million dollars to expend on ordinary account during the portion of the current year that they will have held power. He came out with the strong statement that the audit of the provincial finances would show the financial integrity of the late administration and told the House that "the further the auditors go the greater

DESPERATE RUN DRIVE COLLAPSES

British Enter German Positions on Front of Two Miles. MORE THAN 7,000 HUNS TAKEN PRISONERS. Enemy Trenches Successfully Raided North of the Souchez River. London, June 9.—Reuters correspondent at British headquarters in France reports that Klein Zillebeke has been retaken by the British. London, June 10.—The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads: "The enemy made no further counter-attacks south of Ypres, but his artillery continued active in this region. We carried out successful raid today south of the Souchez river. The hostile artillery has been active in the neighborhood of Fontaine Les Croisilles." Gain Further Ground. London, June 10.—The British have gained further ground at a number of points on the battle-front to the southward of Ypres, it is announced officially. "We gained further ground during the night at a number of points on our battle front south of Ypres. Successful raids were carried out by us last night southeast of Epehy, south of Armentieres and northeast of Ypres. We captured seventeen prisoners. Hostile raiding parties were repulsed east of Le Verguis and southwest of La Bassée. The total number of prisoners taken by us Thursday morning now exceeds 7,000." Germans Repulsed. London, June 9.—The British official statement follows: "At seven p.m. yesterday evening, after heavy artillery preparation, the enemy launched a powerful counter-attack against nearly the whole of our new front south of Ypres, from St. Yves to the north of the Ypres-Somme Canal, a distance of about six miles. The attack was delivered with large forces, composed of fresh divisions brought up from the enemy's reserves, and pressed with determination. Under the destructive fire of our artillery and machine guns it was completely repulsed at all points. The fighting was particularly fierce east of Messines, and also in the neighborhood of Klein Zillebeke, north of the canal. "By midnight the enemy's attacks had broken down with great loss all along the line. Our troops retained possession of the whole ground captured by us since the commencement of the battle. "Operations were carried out by us with complete success last night, and their south on a wide front from the south of Lens to La Bassée. South of the Souchez river our troops entered the German positions on a front of over two miles, and penetrated to a depth of more than half a mile. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, and more than seventy prisoners and a number of machine guns were captured by us. Our own losses were light. "The enemy's trenches were also entered successfully north of the Souchez river, southeast of Loos and southwest of La Bassée. Large numbers of Germans were killed, and great damage was done the enemy's defences." Paris, June 10.—The French official statement follows: "Violent artillery actions occurred last night at various points on the front, especially in the vicinity of Craonne and Chevreux. German reconnoitering parties attempted to approach our lines near the Herteries monument, northeast of Prunay and on both banks of the Meuse, at Daudman Hill and in Courtes Wood. These efforts were without result. "We carried out a surprise attack on the left bank of the Moselle, in the region of the Thiessart railway. "A spirited action by our artillery carried out to the sector of Neufport-Bains, in Belgium, caused heavy damage to the German trenches. "On the Chemin Des Dames enemy detachments, who had gained a footing in the morning by a surprise attack in a small salient of our line west of Conry, were immediately driven back."

FIND MARVIN THOMAS WAS MURDERED

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict on Death of Fredericton Jct. Man. ATTACHES SUSPICION TO WIFE AND F. MOREY. Marvin's Remains Found in Ruins of Burned Home On May 12. Special to The Standard. Fredericton Junction, June 10.—As a result of a verdict yesterday given by the coroner's jury which investigated the mysterious death of Marvin Thomas near here, on the night of May 12, speedy action by Attorney General Byrne is possible. The jury returned a verdict that Thomas came to his death by the hand of some person or persons unknown. The verdict further stated that "suspicion rests upon Frank Morey and Mrs. Thomas." Coroner John Murphy of Blissville is forwarding the evidence in the case and the finding to the attorney general as is customary. The stomach of the dead man was analyzed at St. John but no evidence of poison was found. The remains of Thomas were found in the cellar of his home which had been destroyed by fire. At the time it was announced that Thomas quarreled with his wife and had driven his family from home, afterwards setting fire to his house. The dwelling, which was situated about two miles from here, and near Tracy Station, was burned about 11:30 at night, and nothing could be done by the nearest neighbors to save the contents. No Inquest at First. It was decided at first not to hold an inquest in this case, the supposition being that Thomas while temporarily demoralized had fired his own home. The residents of the district, however, were not satisfied to let the case drop and finally Coroner Murphy was instructed to hold an inquest by the attorney general's office. Evidence was taken on May 26. Mrs. Thomas is a woman beyond middle age and was formerly a Miss Lint. She has four boys, one of whom is a foreman on a Maine railroad, and one girl. Thomas was generally acknowledged to be a respectable man and some time before his death he had been jealous of Morey, who is only about twenty-one years of age. The next move in the case is expected to be made by the attorney general's office at Fredericton. No arrests have been made in connection with the case. Analysis Held. Coroner Murphy decided to adjourn the inquest for two weeks to permit an analysis of Thomas' stomach being made. P. J. Hughes represented the crown. Mrs. Thomas is a woman beyond middle age and was formerly a Miss Lint. She has four boys, one of whom is a foreman on a Maine railroad, and one girl. Thomas was generally acknowledged to be a respectable man and some time before his death he had been jealous of Morey, who is only about twenty-one years of age. He left there in his boyhood for Boston, but soon came to Montreal, first engaging in the commission business, and later turning his attention to the tobacco industry. ### KAISER HAD CLOSE CALL

London, June 9.—Emperor William was with Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, Prince Eitel Friedrich and other members of the German Emperor's staff inside the St. Peter's station at Ghent, Belgium, when it was bombarded by Entente Allied aircraft the other day, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from a Dutch frontier correspondent. The Emperor's party was unhurt, but three army officers nearby were killed. He entered politics in early life. He was member of parliament for Westford from 1883 to 1885 and for County Fermanagh from 1885 to 1892. Since the latter date he was member for East Clare, completing a continuous sitting in the House of Commons of 34 years. Shortly after the war broke out he took a company to the front. Last winter when the Irish party made a strong protest in the house over the delay in enacting Home Rule for Ireland Capt. Redmond, dressed in khaki made a notable speech which was recognized by all parties as a fair and temperate address. Capt. Redmond and the entire National party which follow John Redmond walked out of the chamber as a protest against the government's treatment of the Irish question. He had visited America on several occasions and spoke in public in behalf of the Irish cause. Died at Hospital. Caleb Mercereau, of Hoyt Station, passed away at the General Public Hospital yesterday morning. He was 69 years of age.

STILL ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE

Washington, June 10.—Observers at Georgetown University reported today that their seismograph had recorded an earthquake approximately 3,600 miles from here, and that it was not connected with the Salvadorean quake. Signs of the disturbance were first noted at 11:40 p. m. Saturday. They lasted until nearly one o'clock this morning.

CANADIAN TROOPS OCCUPY HUN FIRST LINE TRENCHES

Canadian headquarters in France, via London, June 10.—(By Stewart Lyon, special correspondent of the Canadian Press)—A trench raid upon a scale much larger than any hitherto undertaken by Canadian corps was most successfully carried out during the night in the neighborhood of the Souchez river. After occupying the enemy's first line and support trenches for two hours, in which time they were systematically wrecked, our men returned before dawn this morning to their former positions. The enemy losses were very heavy. The plan of the operations excluded the holding of any of the ground occupied, except some elements of trenches between the Bois De Rigaumont and the Souchez river attacked early in the evening. The desired ground here was obtained after a stiff fight. Damned By Enemy. At this point the Souchez river had been dammed by the enemy with the object of providing a strong defensive flank. The Canadians, attacking from the south of the river, after hand-to-hand encounters, took the German trenches immediately to the north. The troops to the north had a very stiff fight before they reached their objective, the enemy making full use of well-placed machine gun positions in the ruins of the houses and pits along the line of the advance. The cool determination of our men brought them victory and by ten o'clock the enemy trenches were firmly held. Heavy German Losses. The raid took place an hour and a

Well Known Brother of Nationalist Leader Dies of Wounds. WAS 34 YEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. Had Addressed Meetings in America in Behalf of Ireland. Dublin, June 9.—via London. (Continued from page 1)

Praises Mr. Robinson.

Hon. Mr. Baxter in opening expressed his appreciation of the address of Hon. Mr. Robinson, which he said was clear in expression and moderate in tone. It was not to be expected that the opposition would commend the presentation of his honorable friend.

It contained many things that it was necessary to discuss and it was his duty to put before the history of the country the views of the opposition with regard to some of the important questions involved. He thought he could assure the house and country that there was ample justification for every action of the late government and that investigation of conditions would find that the finances of the province had not suffered nor were the accounts imperfectly kept under the government which recently went out of office.

His honorable friend had taken his text from the seasonal debates. He thought that the ordinary revenue of the province should be kept within the ordinary revenue was quite appropriate for his monetary sermon. Before his honorable friend concluded his address however he managed to present estimates of the current revenues, practically as great as any previous year of the history of the province, but a table of estimated expenditures which could not be kept within the amount of the estimated revenues.

No Explanation Given.

He desired to direct the attention of the house to a statement of the ordinary receipts and expenditures from the close of the last fiscal year until May 10th last. That statement had been published in the press as a mass of figures without explanation but not without comment. In fact to judge from the newspaper reports he would say that persons with the least knowledge considered themselves the best commentators.

That statement places the ordinary receipts to May 10 at the amount of $512,860.28 and the ordinary expenditures up to that time at $759,597.51. From that supposed statement the deduction had been drawn by such persons as he had referred to who thought that it would advance the political cause they espoused that the administration under the old government had been had that they had spent more in proportion to their revenues. In fact that they had depleted the revenues for the year to such an extent as to make it impossible for the new administration to properly conduct the affairs of the province.

Case Fallacious.

But examination showed that their case was fallacious, abundantly fallacious, obviously fallacious, and that their criticisms were such as could only come from the pen of ignorance or the hand of misrepresentation. He desired to point out that the 10th of May did not exhaust the financial year of the province. There were other receipts to come in. The province had yet to receive one-half of the Dominion subsidy which would amount to $318,988.08. Again the province had only collected the sum of $70,000 in territorial revenues on an ordinary account. His honorable friend had laid estimates of the table to the amount of $540,000 as the total anticipated revenue for the full year which would mean that there is still $470,000 to come into the provincial treasury from that source. The province also had not as yet received the fees from railway taxation. The house had been informed that the railway tax was not to be changed and he was prepared to accept the government's estimate of this tax which amounted to $53,000 which amount was not payable until a later date.

Incorporated Companies.

The government had estimated the taxes on incorporated companies for the year at $65,000 and as yet only $6,155.22 had been received from this source, leaving a balance of $58,844.78 to come into the treasury. The fees from the provincial secretary's office had been estimated at $20,500 of which amount $8,939.72 was still to be paid. From succession duties the government expected to receive $50,000 and only $13,400 had already come in, leaving a balance to be paid to the amount of $36,600. From motor vehicles the government estimated the receipts at $55,000 of which amount $33,465 was yet to be received.

From these leading sources alone the revenue yet to come in to the treasury amounted to $980,528.58 and taking the total estimated revenue of $1,564,365.15 and deducting therefrom the revenue of $512,860.28 already received, Hon. Mr. Baxter said that there remained the sum of $1,051,504.87 yet to be paid in to the province. If the former government had spent $700,000 in round figures of the total revenue of one million and a half of dollars for the year his honorable friends of the government would have the opportunity of spending upwards of three quarters of the million dollars from May 10 until the close of the fiscal year on October 31 next. It was idle therefore to have statements published and commented upon with a desire to convince the people that the old government had been reckless in their expenditures and had left the finances in such a state that the new administration would be unable to maintain the public services of the country.

Spoke for Themselves.

He wanted to say that the items which went to make up the expenditures of $700,000 from the close of the last fiscal year under the old government spoke for themselves. The expenditures in connection with the administration of justice, for agriculture and for the auditor general, the same were about normal while the same were true with the expenses in connection with the executive government and education, while the expenditure on account of contingent account under the former government had been in proportion to the increasing demands. The expenditures in connection with the public works department might be an exception to the rule but no one could claim that they were in excess of the amount of work required though they might form a very little more than the normal amount.

The expenditures in connection with the provincial hospital, for school books and for stampage collections were also proportionate to the interest charges under the old government for the half year were placed at $194,000 half of the years estimated interest.

In view of these facts he felt satisfied that honorable members would feel that there was not disposition on the part of the late administration to pour out the money so that the new government would not enjoy it. The former administration did not think that the province would have new government and therefore there could be no possible motive in spending the revenues lavishly as had been charged.

His honorable friend had informed the house that the government had brought in representatives of the firm of Price, Waterhouse and Company to make an independent of the finances of the province.

"I am very glad that my hon. friends have thought in auditors to report on the finances of the province," said Hon. Mr. Baxter. "The circumstances were otherwise I would not be able to express myself in that way. But when we know as we do that we left the finances of the province in such an excellent condition and that there was no transaction during the years of the late government and its predecessors in political harmony with it that can cast a personal reflection on any member of the opposition I say we welcome the auditors' investigations. Their report will demonstrate the falsity of the canvases of the irresponsible newspapers against the late government. I do not say that there are possibly not some items the propriety of judgment of which might be questioned. That will happen in the case of my honorable friends of the government as well as we may reasonably differ on that score, but what I speak of is the integrity of the late government, and I say the further the auditors go the further the integrity of the late government will be shown."

When referring to the matter of audits, Hon. Mr. Baxter said that he might invite the attention of his honorable friend to other audits of the finances of the province. He might ask him to go back to the dying days of a former government in 1908 when the mantle of power and oppressive duties of office had been cast upon his shoulders when other tried to escape the odium. They had cast a burden on his honorable friend's shoulders which was not fairly cast. He wanted to say to the house that he regarded his honorable friend as a man of high principle and high character and he would be sorry if anything should fall from him to the contrary. But he (Robinson) had not been fairly treated on that occasion. There was no member of the Crown Land Department something for which he (Robinson) was not personally responsible but a state of affairs was not the fault of his honorable friend. When the government of which he (Baxter) was a member went from office there was no member of the ministry who had to send back to the province a letter back dated but the true date of which was disclosed on the day that Hon. Mr. Hazen had gone into power such course was rendered impossible by reason of the provisions of the splendid audit act which his honorable friend (Robinson) did not seem to understand if he did seem to seek to condemn.

Their Own System.

His honorable friends had quoted figures prepared by set of highly trained specialists who in finances, as was true of specialists in other lines had a score for any system of business that was not their own creation. He knew the various firms and he was satisfied that the province could not call in two firms who could agree on the technical questions. It was only natural therefore that the system of these accountants should differ from that pursued by the auditors. But he wanted to say to the house that under the former government the province had been given a plain open and clear statement of the technical questions. It was the province's duty to stand there and a second time to make sure that they would be there.

Liabilities Removed.

Hon. Mr. Baxter then referred to the fact that his hon. friend had kept in the accounts of the guaranteed securities the amount of $896,000 in respect to the International Railway. That was a liability which had been underwritten by the predecessors of the former government but he was pleased to know that the province was now clear of this undertaking as arrangements had been consummated by which these bonds were taken up. In view of the arrangements which had been made for relieving the province of this liability, why should his honorable friend now calculate it as part of the public debt? The removal of this liability would take nearly $1,000,000 of the amount of debt as compiled by his honorable friend. The contingent liability in connection with the New Brunswick Cold Storage Company he (Baxter) also viewed as very remote. This liability had been originally created by reason of the bonds guaranteed by his hon. friend's (Robinson's) predecessors and he believed that a portion of the bonds had been guaranteed by an order in council of the government of which his honorable friend (Robinson) was the leader. That undertaking of the predecessors of the late government had been carried out by Hon. Mr. Hazen when he assumed the reins of power when that gentleman had found that he could not without the violation of the fundamental principles of government handed down by the highest authorities refuse to carry out the lawful undertakings of his predecessors.

Wonderful Debt.

His honorable friend had made the debt increase in a wonderful way. He had watched him build it block by block and he wondered if he would ever reach the pinnacle. He also, viewed in view of his honorable friend's amazing figures whether the province would be able to induce financiers to loan them money in the future. At any rate his hon. friend had figured the debt to amount to $20,663,960.86. In making up that amount he had taken the provincial debentures which had been issued to the amount of $9,100,646.68 and he wanted to call his hon. friend's attention to the fact that there were several places in the accounts where he could have received his information. He (Robinson) had also taken the amount of $8,412.50 advanced from the consolidated revenue, as well as the amount of $1,700,000, the provincial debentures for the construction of the St. John Valley Railway, which amount his hon. friend had stated in his speech had been concealed. He would point out to his hon. friend that this indebtedness was clearly exhibited on page 49 of his provincial accounts which he thought were in proper shape and would clearly afford any man the knowledge of what was the public debt of the province. To these figures his honorable friend had added the guaranteed bonds of the Valley Railway to the amount of $4,350,000 as well as a contingent liability by guarantees to the amount of $2,013,000, making a total for the items he had mentioned of $17,073,650.16. But his hon. friend had gone further and had added the estimated increase in debt to provide for the construction of the valley railway to the amount of $1,000,000 and in this connection he thought that for the exhibition of the amount of debt it would be reasonable to figure only that existing at the present time.

Many Additions.

He (Baxter) might estimate the debt for some years in advance and it would approach a very considerable sum if the present administration continued at the pace it had commenced. Not content with adding the estimated debt for the completion of the Valley Railway his hon. friend had also added the amount of $500,000 for permanent bridges already contracted for, as well as $763,321.73, the amount of the estimated deficit on ordinary account. If his (Baxter's) addition was correct, taking his hon. friend's figures, the total debt would reach $19,335,380.89, but his hon. friend claimed that it amounted to $20,663,960.86, a difference of about $1,300,000.

He did not exactly know how his hon. friend had brought the amount up to the larger figures. However the best conclusion he could come to was that he (Robinson) had taken the figures of the rate difficulty with regard to the bonds already issued for the Valley Railway, that he put the amount of the statement once thinking it ought to have been there and a second time to make sure that they would be there.

Violated Recognized Principle.

But what did honorable member find today with respect to the administration being bound by the acts and engagements of its predecessors entered into without fraud or unfair dealing. Although the late government had entered into a contract with a responsible contractor for the erection of the Perry Point Bridge and although the order in council had the full assent of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and had been made in the utmost good faith and without fraud, the new government had rudely violated the sound principle he had stated to the house. Even before his honorable friend the leader of the opposition had been sworn in and before he had been able to find the gentlemen who would act with him in conducting the affairs of the province, he had written hasty instructions to the contractor that his contract was to be considered annulled. "I say that the contract for the erection of the Perry Point Bridge contract had gone on, it would have added to the debt of the province, but it would have been a most proper debt, as the bridge would have provided the province with the facilities that they honestly deserve. The fulfillment of the contract would have been the only proper course and he would have proceeded with it as it should have been because the government was saddled with the responsibility of the principle which should have guided their decision in the matter," said Hon. Mr. Baxter.

The Increase in Debt.

His honorable friend had pointed out that the increase in the public debt from October 31, 1908, to 1917 on account of the new bridge across the river falls at St. John. That represented the amount of approximately $2,500,000 out of $3,250,000 which went directly to defray the cost of permanent structures throughout the province, leaving approximately $750,000 to be accounted for in other directions.

It would be noted that much more than two thirds of the expenditure went into permanent structures, and he would ask the people of the province to judge whether or not these structures were needed. He would also ask the members of the new administration if they would say that the policy of the old government in building these structures was unwise. If they took that stand how could they justify the bond issues for permanent work already passed by the house?

Needed Public Services.

He trusted that the new government would go on and would give to the people of New Brunswick these much needed public services. Permanent bridges were preferable in some cases to the expediency of ferries which would not be running during a considerable part of the year.

Aside from the increase in the debt to provide for the construction of the necessary permanent bridges let us see what are the other items in the increase under the late government, in office. He (Baxter) had occasion to look into the law very carefully when the matter of carrying out the previous government's obligations with respect to the cold storage had occupied the attention of the Hazen government and he had found that the law was clear that the government was bound by the acts of its predecessors, provided they had been entered into in good faith and without fraud or unfair dealing in connection with the action of predecessors of late government in undertaking the obligation with respect to the cold storage company and the Hazen government had carried out its predecessors' obligations in this connection, although they deemed it unwise to do so from the standpoint of the interests of the people of the province. And so it would have been unwise had not the government had been unwise had not with its recognized business methods put new life into what was a failing institution and had made it a paying concern.

HON. J. B. M. BAXTER.

Mr. Robinson Was Wiser.

His hon. friend in computing the increase in the debt had shown fairness in commencing on October 31, 1908, in view of the fact that the late administration was only in power for a portion of the fiscal year which closed at that time. But he also showed considerable wisdom in starting at that date because if he went farther back he would find that earlier in 1908 the Hazen government was forced to bond the province to the amount of $215,781.40 for deficits on current account under its predecessors as well as to the amount of $13,383.02 to cover the deficit in connection with the surveyor general's department. Only two years previous to that the old government had provided for the over-expenditure on Provincial Hospital account to the amount of $22,593.21 and for over-expenditure on public works to the amount of $137,995.97.

Hon. gentlemen would thus notice that from 1906 to 1908 nearly $450,000 was added to the permanent debt of the province to make up for the incompetency of the government which went out of office in 1908.

That Alleged Deficit.

His honorable friend had said that the late government had failed to keep the ordinary expenditure within the ordinary revenue. He had said that the report of the auditors showed that there had been a deficit on ordinary account under the late government to the amount of $763,321.73. When his honorable friend said that he would ask him to refer back to the statement which he (Robinson) had presented on the bonded debt. He had given the house the items of the debt, including the bonds issued by the province, the bonds guaranteed by the province and he had added the amount of the deficit on ordinary account to the amount of $763,321.73.

Was there any other capital debt outstanding than the bonds included in the statement which his hon. friend had presented to the house? The $763,000 must be in one of two places. Either it must be part of the public debt already existing or it must be owing to some persons or corporations outside the province. Now, unless the government could bring forward the person or corporation to whom the money was owing, they must admit that it was included in the bonded debt, which his honorable friend had calculated. The amount was one place or the other and it was simply sheer absolute nonsense for his honorable friends to talk about their having to bond the province to wipe out this alleged deficit. "You can't poke that sort of stuff down a man's throat when he gets it plainly on paper and analyses it," said Hon. Mr. Baxter. "I don't care how many auditors you may bring forth, the facts are plain. If we had a deficit as my honorable friend charged, and our ordinary expenditures were more than our ordinary revenue, then the amount is either in the bonded debt or in the present time or it is owing to some person or corporations. If my honorable friends cannot produce the persons or corporations to whom this money is owing, then they got to admit that it is in the public debt already existing and it is folly for them to say that they will have to

said Hon. Mr. Baxter. The $213,000 in connection with the New Brunswick Cold Storage Company, which his honorable friend had included in the debt as having been made under the late administration was a direct result of the legislation of the predecessors of the late government. No one for a moment would contend that the late administration was in any way liable for that increase. The same was true of the increase of $175,000 for the subsidy for the International Railway—one of the many legacies of the old government which had to be paid after the Hazen administration had come into power. There was also the item of $15,000 for wharves and grain elevator at St. John for which the late administration was in no way directly or indirectly responsible. The creation of this obligation resulted from the policy inaugurated about 1892. What had the province to show for it in the shape of a tangible asset? The province could claim that it had given assistance to a worthy undertaking. The matter of having assistance given to the elevator at St. John was one of the early acts in which he (Baxter) had taken part, because he felt in common with many others that the future of the port of St. John depended to a great extent on the amount of assistance that could be secured. But how was the payment carried out? The government of Hon. Mr. Blair had not engaged to get any right title or interest in the structures. Their course had been similar to one's action in giving a man money to build a house and then neglecting to taken security for the loan in the shape of a mortgage. But what did the government do in order to give the financial assistance to the erection of the structures? From the time of Mr. Blair they had issued bonds. It was not good business methods when there was no asset to show for it in the shape of a tangible asset? The province could claim that it had given assistance to a worthy undertaking. The matter of having assistance given to the elevator at St. John was one of the early acts in which he (Baxter) had taken part, because he felt in common with many others that the future of the port of St. John depended to a great extent on the amount of assistance that could be secured. Their course had been similar to one's action in giving a man money to build a house and then neglecting to taken security for the loan in the shape of a mortgage.

The remaining items of the increase in the debt under the late government were: Jordan Memorial Sanitarium, $31,000; Bishop Scott's property, $12,000; Normal School annex, $66,998.25; Farm settlement Board, $150,000; the Imperial government and Belgian Relief Fund, $120,041.88 and discount on bond issues, $61,301. He would ask the house fairly if all the capital expenditures directly or indirectly attributable to the late government were not absolutely justified? If not, he would be glad to have the items pointed out.

Back in 1908.

Easton, Ill.—"I wish you would publish this letter for the benefit of young girls. My daughter suffered greatly from female trouble with cramps and headaches and backache most of the time. She never felt like working and it seemed as though she was sick all the time. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped her in every way, in fact it has really cured her, for she no longer has periodic pains, and no more headaches or backache, and I was all young girls who suffer as she did to know about it."

Another Girl's Experience.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. I now feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."

—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 322 South 15th St., Newcastle, Ind.

Girls who are troubled as these young women were, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

He Talks Cages to One of the Salesmen and Describes a Peculiar Animal Which He Tells Him No Scientist Has Been Able to Classify.

A bunch of people looking into one of the windows at T. McAvity's big store on King street drew my attention and when I had crowded in I observed that the attraction was a display of war paraphernalia. Entering the main part of the store I turned through a doorway into the adjacent department at my left. I thought I was observed already by two men standing at the counter. One of them was being shown an assortment of fishing tackle. The clerk was telling him the conditions under which certain kinds of flies were best used to get results. In fact I observed that all the clerks were busy and I would have to wait my turn. Strolling back and forth in the store was not a congenial task for I was drawing more or less attention to myself.

FOX THE FUGITIVE Often One is Identified by the Combing of Hair Over Ear.

Finally a tall clerk stopped for a moment in his hurry and I spoke of bird cages. Excusing himself he left me while he finished waiting on his customer. In the back end of the store an elderly man was planing the surface of part of the cabinet under the shelves and I fell into conversation with him. "Plenty of work?" I asked. "Well, not more than I can take care of," he replied pleasantly, raising himself to a leaning posture and looking at me with a smile. He was elegant spoken and seemed ready to make friends. "I suppose you are a carpenter by trade?" "Well, I do such work when it comes to me. I am not able to take all kinds of jobs, but there is work I can do readily. I am a stair-builder." "Then I suppose you are available for building stairs if I should want some one to do that work?" He agreed to that. "Then how may I reach you—what is your name and address?" "R. Dunlap, No. 75 Orange street," he replied. So Mr. Dunlap of Orange street is another of the snail-like I have now started on my trail. After a little more genial conversation we separated very good friends I hope—and I must be appreciative of the chance I gave him to meet the Fugitive so that he will know him the next time. Sauntering back up the store I caught the nod the clerk I had spoken to gave me. I can hardly describe the gentleman which is unnecessary since I procured his name. "I am looking for cages and I don't see the kind I want," turning my eyes toward the several bird cages that were suspended from the ceiling farther down the store. "Well, we have the usual assortment that is generally called for, as you can see," his eyes following mine. "What kind of a cage do you want?" "You see, it is something like this. The cage we can use is different from the ordinary cage and it isn't at all likely you will have any in stock." Like a salesman who is always on his job, even though the customer jumps to the conclusion that he hasn't the goods, this gentleman came from behind the counter and together we walked back—as he was saying,

"I'll get them down where you can see them." For a moment we stood with our heads thrown back looking them over. They were very pretty copper bird cages. "They are very nice; and if it were a bird I was wanting to put in a cage I would have no trouble in making a selection." This naturally turned his attention directly to me. If not a bird, really what does the man want to put into a cage? "I am sorry he was too wise to question customers, without first waiting to get their explanation. "I want a cage with a wheel in it," he said. "Oh, yes. Apparently he knew what I wanted. Who is there who has never seen the old style cages used for squirrels?" "I am sorry we have none in stock," he said. He knew what I wanted—or thought he did. "The cage must have a wheel," I repeated. "But not bars." "Well, then, really? A cage without bars? Yet this clerk, an experienced salesman as he certainly is, gave expression to no surprise at that statement. "Instead of bars it must have a closely woven wire mesh," I proceeded. "Have you any with wire mesh?" No, they had no cage of that sort, speaking as though such a cage was an ordinary thing. "What we've got for a cage will not be caged behind bars. It will beat itself to death." In explaining what I was looking for I purposely spoke in mystery of the "little thing" to be caged to see if he would respond with a desire to be enlightened. As I have said he was too experienced to be drawn into a direct inquiry. "What we always use is a cage with invisible wire mesh. It seems to hold all right—and quiet. I presume that bars arouse a sort of resentment. I suppose you could get a cage with invisible wire netting for me by sending to the manufacturer?" For a moment he gave some thought to it. "Supposing I give you the address of the manufacturer who makes those cages—then you could get one for us could you not?" "Yes, I suppose we could if you gave us the order. Possibly you could have wire netting put on one," he suggested. "Oh, it would be cheaper to get it ready made. I know its something of a nuisance to ask for an article that is not common," I said apologetically for putting him to this trouble. "It's no trouble, once we know where to get what you want," he replied. "Well, this firm is all business," I said to myself. "But then"—Proceeding to further explain—"when one has a pet so uncommon what can we do. The fact is that my wife will not part with it." Having got his attention so that he was undoubtedly impressing his mind with the man, he had no idea was Fox, I added: "This is a little tame animal we have got. It is very sensitive and has to be humored." "What sort of an animal," he asked. "A mite of a fellow. Long, low and rakish, about this size," indicating with my hands. "You see my wife's father was the master of a vessel and sailed to many foreign countries. It was a peculiar little fellow of unknown species that he picked up in one of the Caribbean Sea islands, and we think everything of it." "What is it?" "That we don't know. Scientists have failed to give it a name. But we call it—" "A Squee?" "Ah, had curious name?" "Yes, it's what the savages who captured it for the old gentleman call it. And that's all we know about it." Desiring to separate from him in a natural way I said I would find out when "I get home" where she got the other cage and let him know. That satisfied him of course. "Where do you live?" I asked. He looked up with some surprise. "I thought perhaps you would like to run in and see it; and you might live somewhere handy by." He told me he lives on Mecklenburg street and wrote down his name on a slip of paper which as near as I can make out reads: "J. LeLacheur."

KILTIES GET 225 RECRUITS

Col. Guthrie Makes Presentations to Baseball Managers and the Mighty Tyrus Cobb of Georgia.

Fredericton, June 10.—The New Brunswick Kilties have recruited 225 recruits in Boston and vicinity and there are indications that the number will be increased. Col. Guthrie and Capt. Goodenough have been addressing meetings in the city, East Boston, Charlestown, Chelsea and elsewhere. Recruiting parades, headed by the pipers have been held, and large crowds have flocked to Keith's Theatre to hear the musicians. At Friday's game between Boston and the Detroit Americans, Col. Guthrie presented silver mounted swagger sticks, bearing the regimental emblem to Managers Barry and Jennings, and engraved leather case to Ty Cobb after he had driven out a home run. Both teams paraded around the field, headed by the Kilties' pipers. The players of both clubs were introduced to Col. Guthrie and his hustling quartermaster, Capt. Douglas Black. Col. Guthrie had his little sons in kilties with him. The regimental officers and pipers made a great hit in Boston and practically owned the town. But the Red Sox were not jealous. The newspaper men used Capt. Black right. He is one himself.

C. G. R. ELEVATOR IS TAKING SHAPE

First Story of Water Street Wall Has Been Poured—Will be Working Full Blast in About Week.

The new elevator for the C. G. R. is beginning to take shape and already about four hundred yards of concrete have been poured. The Engineers and Foundations Ltd. have just about completed their contract and by next Monday the contractors for the structure itself expect to be working full blast. They have been delayed to some extent by the failure of the company building the foundation to finish their contract on time but will now rush the work along if they can get the number of men they want. The first or working story of the building is up now level with Prince William street on the Water street side and next week a start will be made on the Prince William street wall. At the present time in the vicinity of one hundred men are employed at the work but when they get the whole site the company expect to need twice that many and the time of finishing up the job depends to a large extent on the supply of labor available.

PROVINCIAL MACKEREL GLUT THE MARKET

Total of 385,000 Fish Handled at Boston in One Day—Big Drop in Prices Expected.

In consequence of the phenomenal catch of mackerel in the vicinity of Yarmouth and other sections of the Nova Scotia coast prices in Boston are expected to drop this week to the lowest in years. The shipments of mackerel to Boston from the provinces have been so heavy during the past five days that the regular Yarmouth steamer was unable to take all the fish awaiting shipments and two extra steamers were chartered to assist in moving the glut. Enormous schools of mackerel have been moving off the Cape shore and a fleet of 32 Boston and Gloucester vessels have been filled to capacity. Small steamers and power boats carry the catches to ports in Nova Scotia whence they are shipped to Boston. The big cold storage plant at the Hub is filled with frozen fish awaiting shipment to the Allies. Large quantities of mackerel are being salted. The arrivals of fresh mackerel in Boston on Friday alone totalled 385,000 fish. The wholesale price there was 6 1/2 cents per pound. Cheaper mackerel in St. John are expected.

PRESENTATION MADE TO SUPT. D. C. CLARK

Remembered Yesterday by Infant Class Teachers and Officers of Charlotte St. United Baptist Sunday School.

D. C. Clark, Sunday school superintendent of the Charlotte street United Baptist church, St. John West, completely taken by surprise yesterday afternoon, was made the recipient of a token of appreciation from the Sunday school scholars. Mr. Clark has adopted the unique method of keeping a record of the birthdays of the pupils of the school, and each boy or girl is remembered by him, upon their birthday. As his own birthday falls upon one day this week, the Sunday school scholars took occasion yesterday to remember him. After the regular afternoon session, the infant class, about eighty in number, filed into the vestry, where a presentation of a half dozen American beauty roses was made. The presentation address was read by Mrs. Norman McLeod. On behalf of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school, George Mott also presented the superintendent with a beautiful travelling outfit, on which was inscribed his monogram. The outfit was contained in a morocco leather case. Mr. Clark in appropriate words replied to both presentations, thanking the class and teachers for their kind and thoughtful remembrance.

Will Not Leave Capital Until Last of Week—Secured 250 Men in Boston—Recruiting Not Up to Standard—Local Military News.

HONOR ROLL

J. H. Paynter, Fredericton, N.B.
Divisional Signaller
J. S. Kane, St. Stephen, N. B.
Canadian Engineer.

Recruiting for the week was far from encouraging for the local recruiting officers. In addition to the names on the honor roll, other applications were made, but the applicants were unfit to pass the doctor.

One of the most energetic recruiting officers doing the rounds in search of men in St. John is Sergeant Monroe of the Canadian Engineers. He can be seen most any hour of the day or night personally canvassing apparently eligible young men in the streets. Measured by the number of men secured in the city for the engineers his method is effective.

The 236 Battalion.

It has been officially announced that the Killies Battalion will not leave Fredericton until Thursday or Friday of this week. The reason for the change is on account of the arrival in Fredericton of men recently enlisted in the United States for the 236. It is estimated that fully 250 men have been secured in Boston and surrounding communities, since the campaign opened.

The advance guard of the battalion has already left for Valcartier to make preparations for the arrival of the main body. The first party to reach the Killies from Fredericton, this week will likely arrive tonight. They will be fitted out with clothing and equipment as soon as they arrive.

British and Canadian Campaign.

By arrangement with the United States authorities names of British Canadian citizens registered in the draft will be at the disposal of the recruiting officers. This with the aid of the British Consulate is expected to supply virtually a complete record of all British subjects in the United States.

More over, it has been stated that the British mission would have the cooperation of the entire recruiting machinery of the United States Government. This means that Britons anywhere in this country may apply for enlistment at the nearest recruiting depot to be examined by American medical officers and forwarded either to New York or some designated point in Canada with no expense to the recruit.

Gen. White Wounded.

That her son, Gunner Walter C. White, had sustained a severe gunshot wound in the left shoulder on May 13 and had been admitted to No. 3 General Hospital in Yverdon, France was the news which Mrs. Hudson R. White, of 71 Millidge Avenue, received Saturday in an official telegram from Ottawa.

Gunner White left St. John with a well known seige battery unit and has been with the Canadian forces in France for many months. Prior to enlisting he was employed with Baird & Peters.

Yarmouth Boy Killed.

A. E. Allen of Yarmouth, N. S. received a letter on Saturday informing him that his son, Lieut. A. Spencer Allen, reported missing April 30th, had been killed on that date. Lieut. Allen went overseas with the infantry and for conspicuous bravery at Compeleto was awarded the military Cross—the first Yarmouth boy to receive this coveted honor. He afterwards took a course in aviation, which had been his ambition from the start and had returned to the firing line as a member of the Royal Flying Corps.

A Fighting Family

Col. W. A. D. Stevens, of Westmorland Co., is in receipt of an official cablegram from the Red Cross Hospital in Calais, France, stating that his fourth son, Lieut. L. A. W. Stevens, was severely wounded on May 25th, by shrapnel, that he had been struck in the right shoulder, right thigh and left groin. Col. Stevens' youngest son, Lieut. P. O. D. Stevens, is also in a hospital in London, suffering from trench fever. Lieut. R. O. W. Stevens, Col. Stevens' eldest son, who was in invalid home, is now in a hospital in Montreal undergoing treatment.

For Medical Treatment

Sergeant Major G. Pearl Black, of New Brunswick who was wounded and spent seven months in a hospital in England is back for further medical treatment. He was attached to machine gun section when wounded.

Expected Home Soon

Mrs. Walter Whipple of 47 Clarence street has received a letter from Thomas Spellman saying that he had been discharged on account of his heart and expects to be home soon. Gunner T. Spellman has been through some hard fighting for the last two years and six months. He went across with the remnants and joined in England after being discharged in Valenciennes, so he was indeed willing to do his bit when war broke out. A field post card from John Spellman of the first contingent, a brother, was received. He is well. Both boys made their home with Mrs. Whipple whose husband is also in the war.

Bishop Richardson Issues Pastoral Letter to 30,000 Churchmen of Diocese.

The high cost of living, the necessity of increased missionary contributions and the urgent need of advancing the stipends of the clergy are subjects of a pastoral address issued to the laity of the diocese by His Lordship Bishop Richardson. Regarding the necessity of increasing the missionary fund, Venerable Archbishop O. S. Newham of St. Stephen, Chas. Coster and Rowland Firth have issued a separate appeal to the laity of the diocese.

After referring to the missionary question Bishop Richardson says in his pastoral:

"I feel, too, that you ought to be reminded of the urgent need that undoubtedly exists of a more generous provision being made for the maintenance of the ministry in your midst. The war has been going on now for almost three years, and during that time the cost of living has enormously increased—an increase that is only too likely to be even more marked in the immediate future. Most of you must be feeling more or less severely the increase in the cost of the actual necessities of life, yet, generally speaking, there has been at least some corresponding increase in the standard of wages and salaries, whilst for the farmers there is compensation in the high prices that are being paid for most kinds of produce. Have you stopped to think how hardly this economic change is bearing upon the clergy? For them, there has been, with a very few exceptions, absolutely no compensation. Their stipends are just what they were before the war. It is impossible to look at the shamefully low average of giving without being convinced that very many members of the church are giving almost nothing. Some, of course, are doing their best, but there must be very many more who are not doing anything. I call upon the authorities in every part of the diocese to organize their financial forces of the church in their respective parishes. I call upon every member of the church to make an earnest effort to remedy this weakness in missionary giving.

"What is needed? A systematic effort in every parish to reach all the members of the church, who are in a position to subscribe anything at all. It is impossible to look at the shamefully low average of giving without being convinced that very many members of the church are giving almost nothing. Some, of course, are doing their best, but there must be very many more who are not doing anything. I call upon the authorities in every part of the diocese to organize their financial forces of the church in their respective parishes. I call upon every member of the church to make an earnest effort to remedy this weakness in missionary giving.

Faithfully your Bishop,
"JOHN FREDERICTON."

MRS. NELLIE M'KENNA DIED HERE YESTERDAY

Mrs. Nellie McKenna, wife of J. D. McKenna, editor of Kings Co. Record and Mayor of Sussex, died here on Saturday evening. Mrs. McKenna, who had been ill for some time, came to St. John about a month ago for treatment and was progressing favorably, but on Saturday morning was stricken with paralysis and passed away that evening. She was a woman of splendid attainments, and from the outbreak of the war, until the time of her health breaking, was untiring in her efforts to provide comforts for the soldiers and further patriotic work of every description. Outside of the family circle Mrs. McKenna's death will be learned of nowhere with deeper regret than by the many boys in the trenches for whom she had done some kind and motherly act to contribute toward their comfort during their stay at Camp Sussex, prior to going overseas.

The deceased organized the Allies Aid which is doing, and has done, such splendid work in providing comforts for the boys from Canada now at the front. Mrs. McKenna was a noble self-sacrificing woman, charitable to a fault, and always forward in every movement pertaining to the welfare of others. The news of her early passing will be learned with the deepest regret by her host of friends everywhere. The deceased who was 42 years of age, was the daughter of Jas. S. McGivern, 143 Princess street, and is survived by her husband and four children, Olive, Kathleen, Doris and

SHORTAGE OF LABOR IN MAINE SERIOUS PROBLEM

Gov. Milliken Wants Washington to Admit New Brunswick and Quebec Woodsmen.

The labor situation is so serious in Maine, especially in the lumber industry, that Governor Milliken has gone to Washington to urge that the literacy test of the immigration laws be suspended in order to admit laborers from New Brunswick and Quebec. It is admitted by the big lumber interests that it is impossible to secure timber for shipbuilding if Canadian labor is not provided for the work in Maine forests if the state is to do its part of the national shipbuilding programme.

It has been conservatively estimated that 75 per cent. of the men who primarily work in the woods of Northern Maine go from Canada, and with many unable to read and write English—were the literacy test applied—it is argued that this much needed source of supply of woods workers would be practically cut off and Maine's shipbuilding programme would be handicapped if not wholly broken up.

Nerves Weak Had Hysterics

Orilla Lady Tells of Her Pitiable Condition When the Nerve Gave Way and She Became Sleepless, Irritable and Excited.

Orilla, Ont., June 10.—There is an abundance of proof found right here in Orilla that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unrivalled as a means of forming new, rich blood and building up the exhausted nervous system. At this season almost everybody feels the need of restorative, tonic treatment to keep up vitality and ward off the tired, languid feelings. This letter will give you some idea of the splendid results to be obtained by using this great food cure:

"Some years ago my nerves got the better of me. I became so bad that on one occasion, during a thunderstorm, I had a severe attack of hysterics. Then I became anxious about my condition. It was sleeplessness and nervous debility that were my trouble. Some nights it would be 1 o'clock before I could get to sleep. Knowing the good results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I commenced a treatment. I took about seven boxes, and gradually I could sleep and my nerves became steady and my appetite returning. I could sleep well, and stay alone without any difficulty. Some little time ago I commenced losing in weight, and I began using the Nerve Food again as a tonic. I used only two boxes, and recovered the weight I had lost. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and when I see anyone looking ill or nervous I say, 'Get busy and use some Nerve Food.'"

Cutting Factory Costs on a Thousand Products

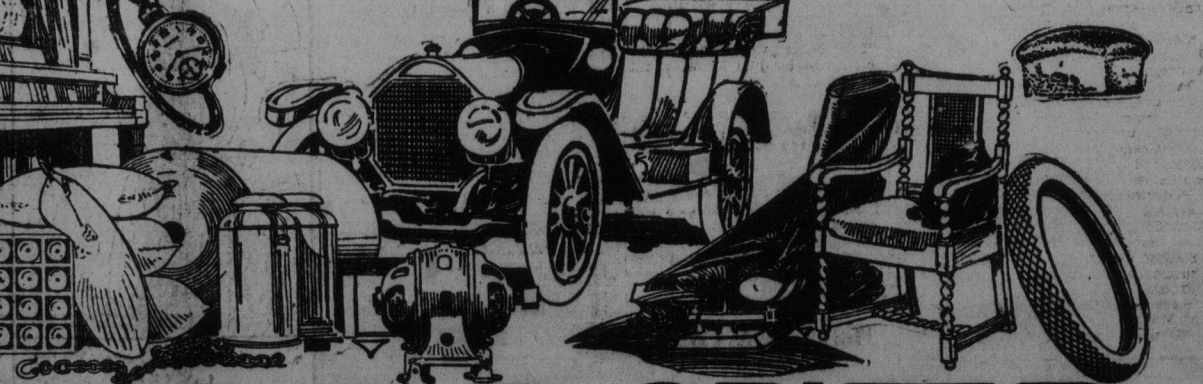

IN widely varying lines of industrial endeavour, in 'war and peace, Extra Power Belting is cutting down the cost of manufacture by speeding up production and saving belt-cost. On high speed axle belts of the power plant that lights sleeping cars and in the laundry that cleans your linen, the speeding pulleys are driven by Extra Power. Many of the things you wear, eat and use are made more quickly and at lower cost because of this better transmission belting. The articles illustrated here are only a few of these in the manufacture of which Extra Power plays a part.

Producing More—at Lower Belt-Cost

Turning the ponderous heater in a paper-mill or speeding up a light drill in a machine shop, 30 inch or 3 inch, Extra Power has exclusive superiorities that are important to every belt-user. The life of Extra Power Belting is unusually long, especially on hard drives. Special qualities of materials and special features of construction are responsible. Factory men know the relief of having a belt whose plies do not separate, whose seam remains tight. The plies of Extra Power are welded together by the fine rubber that is forced through and through every strand of the fabric. The seam is sealed tight by a cord of fine solid rubber.

A movement which is rapidly making progress in Canada... It was as Canadians heard so clearly the call to join in the great meeting of Allies in France...

"stump Quebec" if ever the Empire was endangered and that promise has been unfulfilled. If he "stumps Quebec" at all now it will be in opposition to compulsion and side by side with the agitators who have been endeavoring to induce that province even to open rebellion.

GOVERNMENT BY DEPUTY.

The Chatham World, formerly a favorite with the esteemed Telegraph, is not favorably impressed with the plan that the leader of the Carter government should have a secretary, or that Attorney-General Byrne should be provided with a deputy at the public expense.

Not only did he have that opportunity, but it was more than rumor that the then lieutenant-governor had said that if the leader of the opposition insisted that the bill should not go through he would have held it up.

A letter recently received in Canada from the president of all societies for prisoners of war in France... The program is out-rageous. An Attorney-General on crutches!

He (Baxter) did not think the time was opportune to jump into a discriminatory stampage rate until the report of the forestry surveyors had been completed.

It will be easily understood what an enormous task the feeding of her prisoners must be to France, so cruelly invaded in some of her richest territory. As for Russia we realize that she would not have the facilities for sending great quantities of food into Germany...

ed to be in the swim both for business and political reasons. Hon. Mr. Pugsley made several attempts to construct the railway with slips of paper that were handed through this house. Finally the agitation became so strong that it meant a good deal to the political success of any party.

But the day came when still another people's party had been admitted and the people of the valley deprived of the railway facilities they had been for so many years promised. When the discussion of the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway, he might state that one of the great blunders had been committed by the construction of the St. John Valley Railway," said Hon. Mr. Baxter.

The late government had risen to the occasion on this railway project. They had fulfilled their promise to construct the railway. And if it had been seen from the side government to make this expenditure, his honorable friend (Robinson) had had his opportunity to challenge its desirability when Hon. Mr. Hazen had brought down the legislation to provide for the railway's construction.

Not only did he have that opportunity, but it was more than rumor that the then lieutenant-governor had said that if the leader of the opposition insisted that the bill should not go through he would have held it up.

Members on his (Baxter's) side of the house concurred in the statement of his honorable friend that there were many things that the house could not understand, but that was not so in connection with the stampage rates on the Blue Bell tract, but rather with matters presented to them every day, not infrequently in the proposals emanating from honorable gentlemen opposite.

AMBULANCE

Don't Let Your Truss Make Operation Necessary

Operating for rupture would hardly ever be heard of if it weren't for the mischief done by elastic and spring trusses.

Mighty few people ever have to be operated on when first ruptured. But wearing makeshift trusses year after year it is sooner or later almost sure to make work for the surgeon. You know that from your own experience—you know you're worse now than a year ago—probably getting worse all the time.

If you keep on that way, how long will it be before you'll have to undergo a dangerous and expensive operation? Aren't you willing to let us prove—by a sixty-day demonstration—how you can save yourself from all that?

Especially when you can make this sixty-day test without having to risk a penny?

60 Days' Trial To Prove How Good It Is

Here is something—a guaranteed rupture holder—which has saved thousands of people from ever having to be operated on.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits that we are willing to send it on 60-days trial.

We'll make it especially for your case—make it to your measure—and practically lend it to you for a test.

If it cannot be made to keep your rupture from coming out or from bothering you in any way, then it won't cost you a single penny.

No Leg-Straps—No Belts

Simply write for our free book—that will tell you everything you want to know.

It shows how our guaranteed rupture-holder is made on an absolutely new principle. How it instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't possibly be forced out. And how in addition it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

The book tells how our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Clute—is so beneficial that physicians in all parts of America now recommend it instead of advising operation. How it has completely cured thousands of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless. How it does away with the curse of belts, leg-straps, and springs. How it is perspiration-proof and will hold in the bath. How you can try it sixty days and how little it costs if you keep it.

This Book Free Is Full of Facts Never Before Put in Print

This book sums up all we have learned about rupture during nearly half a century of experience.

Shows just why elastic and spring trusses are the ruptured man's worst enemies.

Exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," locks, etc.

Explains why operation is always dangerous—and why, even if you manage to live through it, you may have to keep on wearing a truss.

It shows why sixty-days trial is the only way to buy anything for rupture and how the famous Clute Automatic Massaging Truss is the only thing you can get on such a long trial because the only thing good enough to stand such a test.

Don't fail to get this book with a list of over 5,000 voluntary endorsements—Don't put it off. Just use the coupon below or simply say in a letter or postcard "Send me your book." The minute it takes you to write for it may free you from rupture troubles for the rest of your life.

THE BEACONSFIELD SCHOOL CONMEMORATIVE OBSERVANCE WAS CELEBRATED SATURDAY

Grand Master Daniel C. Clark of Masonic Fraternity Master of Ceremonies—Citizens Assemble in Large Numbers—School Children Take Part—Addresses by Grand Master and Others—Masons with Band Parade.

With fitting ceremonies the cornerstone of the Beaconsfield school was laid Saturday afternoon and with this event, a new era commenced in the educational history of the Lancaster district of the West Side. The weather was ideal and the service was conducted without a hitch to mar the proceedings. The corner stone was laid with the recital of the solemn, imposing ritual of the Masonic service for corner stone laying, by Grand Master D. C. Clark, F. and A. M., assisted by officers of the Grand Lodge.

It was a source of satisfaction to his many friends that Grand Master Clark was called upon to conduct the service. Mr. Clark is a successful son of Beaconsfield, and he is well known as a patron of learning through his generosity to Acadia University, and it was deemed fitting that he should be in a position to lead in the exercises which signalized a new period for more adequate educational facilities in the district in which he is one of the highest tax-payers.

The members of the Grand Lodge assembled at the hall of the Carleton Union Lodge No. 3 on Saturday morning, forming in line, they marched to the site of the new school to the inspiring music of the Temple Band. Just before they entered the building where the ceremonies were held, the pupils of the old Tower school, under the direction of Principal H. C. Reicker and the teachers, marched to the platform and massed themselves to the right of the corner stone. The Masons then grouped themselves on the left side of the corner stone, being taken up by the relatives and friends of the pupils.

After the singing of "O Canada" by the school children Dr. Henry S. Bridges, representing the school board, spoke a few words. He said that the people on that side of the harbor were interested in the progress of the new school, and he reminded his hearers that though New Brunswick may not be great in her mineral resources and timber lands, she was great in one thing, and that was her girls and boys. He said further that the West Side was to be congratulated on the fact that they had at the head of the building committee, F. W. Henderson.

After another song by the children, the Masonic ritual of the laying of the corner stone was recited by Grand Master D. C. Clark, supported by A. R. Campbell, Deputy Grand Master; William A. Dougherty, Grand Warden; Rev. G. P. Scovill, Grand Chaplain, and other officers. During the course of the service the Grand Master performed the usual Masonic ritual. Three silver goblets were handed to him, and from one he poured corn onto the corner stone, as an emblem of plenty; from the second, he poured wine, typifying joy and gladness, and from the last goblet oil, emblematic of peace.

The crowd used by Grand Master Clark in cementing the corner stone to its base, was beautifully engraved as follows: Presented to Daniel C. Clark, Grand Master, Free and Accepted Masons of N. B., on the laying of the corner stone of the Beaconsfield School, Lancaster, N. B., June 9, 1917. The crowd was presided over by Mr. Clark by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, the chairman of the meeting.

MARYSVILLE

Marysville, June 9.—The unsightly boards which have for some time been nailed over the windows of the late Alex. Gibson's property have been removed, and with their removal comes the solution of the question, who is going to run the stores? As far as can be learned the stores will re-open the latter part of the week, by the old company, under the management of Mr. Cowan of St. John, who will take up his residence in the old Gibson home. It is also stated that practically a new staff of clerks, will replace the old staff.

The Girl Scouts, of Marysville, held a very pleasant surprise party last evening at the home of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. H. Gray, in honor of their president, Miss Nettie Stephenson, who will be one of the principles in a very interesting event on the 20th of this month. The evening was very pleasantly spent by the young people in music, games, etc., refreshments were served during the evening, at the conclusion of the entertainment Miss Stephenson was presented with a handsome club bag by the members of the Scouts in token of the right esteem in which they held their president officer.

Miss Stephenson was taken altogether by surprise, but thanked her comrades for their beautiful gift in a few well chosen words, and stated that she hoped that they would continue to carry on the good work which they had been doing, and wished them all success. The party broke up at midnight with the singing of the National Anthem Miss Stephenson is one of our most popular young ladies, and will be much missed in church, and musical circles.

A great amount of seed planting has been accomplished during the brief interval of the weather of the past two days.

A Series of "BUY IN ST. JOHN" Editorials - No. 1

People of St. John

Whoever you are, whatever your requirements, you, the potential patrons of all St. John enterprises, hold the commercial success or failure of this city in your hands. Each and every one of you, represented by your daily needs, form collectively the structure upon which is builded the prosperity of this community. In the cold recital of dollars and cents is expressed your individual share in the sum total of mercantile exchange upon which rest the foundations of our business existence.

This Means Something to You

It means that every man and woman in St. John has a personal interest in every dollar spent in every store. It means that every dollar spent outside St. John—with mail-order houses, for example—is a loss to you—not only when you are the spender, but even when that individual is personally unknown to you. Every dollar your neighbor sends to Montreal, Toronto, Boston, New York or elsewhere, represents a certain definite loss which you must inevitably suffer through a weakening of our communal prosperity—through an unjust drain on our business resources. It means more than this. It means a lessening of the ability of St. John firms to meet your wishes in stocking such goods as you may require. You depend very largely on these firms to serve you. It is a duty to add your share to that financial strength which will give them the ability to do so.

If You Live in St. John District You Owe It to Yourself to Buy in St. John

It is not entirely a question of patronizing St. John firms. It comes right down to your personal interests—and your interests are inseparably linked up with those of every other man, woman and business firm in St. John. It is up to you to consider your own personal advantage or disadvantage in the question of buying wholly in St. John, or buying elsewhere.

And remember this, that no matter what your reason or excuse may be for desiring to buy this or that article from a mail order house, equal reason can be found for buying it in St. John. This is your city. You can take away its success, thereby reducing your own prosperity—or you can aid yourself if you will always

"WHAT O' TOMORROW?"
 Resolve to think—you will find it a profitable pastime.
 The industrial ambition of our city is but the sum of the individual ambitions of our people encouraging the individual ambitions of our manufacturers.
 What progress will our city make, to what degree of prosperity will it attain in ten years—in twenty years—in fifty years. Every loyal citizen who has the interest of his community at heart, who is sufficiently far sighted to plan for the future of his children, should give this question first consideration.
 The foundation of our industrial supremacy has been laid. Our many natural advantages give promise of better things. The rest lies with us—the future is in our hands. If we show our appreciation of the opportunities offered us—if we encourage the pioneers of industry who showed confidence in us by investing their money here and their perseverance and industry have built up establishments that merit our recognition and support, by properly patronizing them the biggest step toward our industrial supremacy and greatness will have been taken.
 The "Buy Home Products" rule is the wisest rule for you to follow.

NO FURTHER NEED OF ALARM
 The residents of Woodman's Point now feel assured that in the future there will be no fear of danger from flying rocks when a heavy blast is fired on the Valley Railway works at that place. Another big blast was fired on Thursday morning. There were no rocks flying and no damage to property.
 Charles H. McDonald, whose residence was badly damaged by a blast on Saturday last, went to Fredericton Thursday night, and stated yesterday that in future every precaution would be taken to see that damage would not result.
 He expressed himself as satisfied that there would not be a repetition of the damage caused by his residence. The contractors say that in future blasts will only occur once every few weeks, and greater precautions will be taken than before.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION IN LOCAL HOUSE
 Hon. Mr. Baxter Moves, Seconded by Mr. Magee, that Government Take Action Looking Towards Maritime Legislative Union.

The Provincial House will be called upon to express an opinion on the desirability of maritime legislative union. The following important resolution, moved by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, and seconded by Fred Magee, a government supporter, will be moved in the House on Thursday next:

Notice of Motion.
 For Thursday next. Moved—Mr. Baxter. Seconded—Mr. Magee. Whereas, the growth and development of the western provinces of Canada have been much greater in the past than that of the Maritime Provinces and are likely to be still greater after the war; And whereas, the representation of the Maritime Provinces in the Dominion Parliament is not likely to increase and possibly may be decreased if the population of such provinces shall not increase proportionately to that of Canada as a whole; And whereas, it is becoming more and more important that there shall be unity of aim and action among the representatives of the Maritime in the Dominion Parliament so that the said provinces may obtain from the development of Canada such advantages in commerce and transportation as will give them a fair share in the benefits accruing from the development of our country; And whereas, the assembling together of representative men of the Maritime Provinces in the transaction of public business would tend to promote community of aim, unity of action and a wider understanding of the needs of these communities; Therefore resolved, That this house would favorably regard any action which the government may be disposed to take for the purpose of ascertaining whether the Provinces of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island or either of them would be willing to consider the question of legislative union of the Maritime Provinces.

QUEEN WILHELMINA IN RAILROAD WRECK

Holland's Monarch Has Narrow Escape from Injury in Derailment.

London, June 10.—Queen Wilhelmina of Holland had a narrow escape from injury in a train wreck Thursday. Reuter's correspondent at the Hague reports: Four cars of the train... The Queen who was unhurt proceeded to the capital by an ordinary train soon afterwards.

In which the Queen was returning to the Hague were derailed at Houten.

UNITED WOMEN'S INSTITUTE. Albert—The regular meeting of the United Women's Institute which should have been held May 9th, was postponed to May 23rd, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

Communications were read from Miss Winter asking that there be raised money in some way on June 11th to celebrate the inception of the institute of the province. It has been decided to have a tag day on the 11th of June the proceeds to be divided between Belgian Relief Fund and Y.M.C.A. in England.

After the usual business of the evening was over the entertainment for the month was proceeded with. Miss Wier's excellent paper was enjoyed by all as it was instructive and interesting. She impressed each mother with the thought of how important it is that she should know what books her children are reading.

AUCTION OF PRINCESS LOUISE'S WARDROBE. Berlin, June 7 via London, June 6. Personal belongings of Princess Louise of Belgium, daughter of the late King Leopold, were disposed of at public auction in Munich in the presence of a large crowd of women bidders. Pawned articles placed on sale included 90 hats, 27 evening gowns, 25 theatre wraps, 58 parasols 95 veils of fantastic texture and 72 bottles of foreign perfume in addition to other articles required to complete the wardrobe of a Princess.

During the sale the police were frequently called on to restore order among the clamorous bidders. Princess Louise of Belgium was the eldest daughter of the late King Leopold. She is also the divorced wife of Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The Princess for many years has been occasionally before the public on account of her love affairs. Her quarrels with her family and her sensational extravaganzas. Shortly after the war broke out a dispatch from Vienna said she had been requested to leave that city.

"WHAT WOULD YOU DO?" Advice is something you can get for nothing. Like most things that have no selling price it is worth just what you pay for it.

When you meet a difficulty in your work or in your personal plans there is no one on earth so capable as yourself of getting you through that difficulty.

Instead of going to some one else who cannot possibly know or care as much as you do about the outcome and asking, "What would you do?" sit down quietly by yourself and say, "What shall I do?" There are scores of reasons why each of us is more capable of managing his or her own affairs than any other persons may be. A few of these reasons are: Because no one else can be so much interested in the result; Because no one else can know so much about our own problems as we ourselves do; Because each of us alone must stand the penalty of failure if our plans do not work out, or share the glory if success comes to us because of the advice of others.

Suffered With Heart For Ten Years Would Nearly Smother

There is nothing that brings with it such fear of impending death as to wake up in the night with that awful sense of smothering. The uncertain and irregular heart action causes the greatest distress of both mind and body.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the only remedy that can give prompt relief and effect a complete cure in cases of such severity. They strengthen and invigorate the heart, so that it beats strong and regular, and tone up the nervous system so that the cause of so much anxiety becomes a thing of the past.

Mrs. M. O. McCready, Wapella, Sask., writes: "I am not much of a believer in medicines, but I feel that it is only right for me to let you know what your wonderful remedy has done for me, and in a very short time, too. I had suffered terribly with my heart for nearly ten years, could scarcely do any work and would nearly smother at times. I had many remedies, some only relieving me for a time, got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and felt so much better that I kept on using them, and can truthfully say I feel like a new woman."

"I would advise anyone with heart trouble to use them." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by THE T. MILBURN CO., LIMITED, Toronto, Ont.

He had been ill fourteen weeks, beginning with septic pneumonia. For some time he thought he was on the road to recovery, but complications set in and caused death. Mr. Merseureu was 54 years of age and was known for his industrious habits, quiet, reserved manner and thoughtfulness for his family. He had been in the corn meal and feed business for the past ten years, and during that time he had made many friends among his business associates.

OPERA HOUSE PROGRAMME PLEASANT AND THRILLING.

My, but that is some show at the Opera House as we saw it Saturday, every act on the vaudeville programme a good one, with lots of good laughs, splendid singing, funny stunts and a few thrills contributed by the serial artists in the last number. And everybody liked it all, if one can judge by the comments of the audience as it left the house.

Mabel Parsons, a likeable Miss, with a good voice and charming personality sold some good dialect stories and sang charming songs that put the audience in good humor for what was to follow. Sylvia Scott and Co., the latter consisting of a good actor, a better actor in fact than one usually sees with vaudeville sketches, offered a dramatic playlet that was timely in theme and well acted. Miss Scott has versatility as her change in character during the progress of the sketch proved and both members of the act brought out the enunciation of the plot with cleverness. It is a good number and deserved the applause received.

The Clover Leaf Trio brought down the house with a good comedy singing number and could have been there yet if the audience had had their way. All three are good singers and evidently understand harmony—at any rate, music lovers will enjoy them immensely this week. Their imitation of the Millidgeville Cornet Band is a gem in itself.

George Hall, an old favorite here, must have been pleased with the reception he received, which proved that St. John folks never forget an old friend. Time has passed since George has appeared before on the Opera House stage—eight years since his last appearance, but like good wine, he has only mellowed with age and is still the same genial George and as entertaining as ever. He kept the audience in roars of laughter with his funny witticisms, sang some good songs and closed with a recitation that was well rendered as a writer ever heard. We were glad to see you again George, and theatre goers will be all the better for your visit this week. The closing act, Harry LaVall and Sister, perform some hair-raising stunts on the high bars and flying trapeze that are about the best of the kind we have seen and made a fitting ending to a well balanced entertainment.

The second chapter of "Gloria's Romance," with Billie Burke, which preceded the vaudeville, showed the charming heroine in the midst of the Florida Everglades, her capture by Seminole Indians and her thrilling rescue past in the nick of time by the handsome hero.

GEORGE HALL'S DOUBLE BIRTHDAY SATURDAY. That the theatre goers were pleased to once more look on the happy face of George Hall, and listen to his funny songs and stories, was plainly shown when this comedian made his bow to a St. John audience on Saturday. Before the big good natured "funny man" had a chance to speak he was greeted with a round after round of applause, and although it is his first appearance in St. John for eight or ten years, he must have been pleased at his warm reception, and it was plainly shown that the favorite "George" has not been forgotten.

There is one great mistake that Mr. Hall made, and that was to give away his age. For when he had not informed the mourn her loss. She leaves two brothers, Patrick of the 9th Siege Battery and Frederick of the North End.

Capt. John McNulty. At two o'clock yesterday morning Capt. John McNulty of Summer St., West End, passed to rest, leaving many relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Capt. McNulty was a resident of Trinidad for the last 10 years and was engaged as superintendent for the Trinidad Shipping and Trading Company. When the war broke out he went as pilot on a British naval vessel, and was captured by a German raider on the Venezuelan coast. His health broke down and he came home to St. John about two months ago where his wife and family had lived for the past four years. He leaves his father, John McNulty of Musquash, three brothers, James of the North End, Felix of Lunenburg and Joseph of Brookline, N. Y. Also one sister, Mrs. Joseph McCarthy of Musquash. The funeral arrangements will be decided on later.

Ambrose Bartheaux. The death is announced at Dalhousie West, N. S., of Ambrose Bartheaux, aged 80 years. Mr. Bartheaux was a native of Shediac. The interment took place at Annapolis.

PERSONALS. Dr. W. W. White left on Saturday evening for Ottawa to attend a meeting of the medical council of Canada, of which he is president.

Miss Elizabeth Peck of St. John has been visiting Mrs. C. C. Camp, Fredericton. Harold Cunningham and a party left on Saturday for a fishing trip near Westville.

Mr. Charles Richards of Greenwich Centre is spending some time in this city renewing old acquaintances.

The engagement is announced of Miss Eva Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hicks of Petticoat, to Mr. R. C. B. Kaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Kaye, Carlisle street. The wedding will take place on June 12.

people that he was a half century old they would have never known it, for he looks just as young as he used to be. After thanking his many friends in St. John for their reception, and stating that he hoped to live for fifty years more, and pay St. John a visit each year, he said that Saturday was his birthday, and that he was just fifty years of age. He was also just twenty-five years ago Saturday that he first made his appearance on a St. John stage, so therefore he was celebrating a double birthday. When he first came to St. John it was under the management of A. K. Sammen in a comedy company. He liked the east so well that it was only a few years when he arrived here with his own company, and for a long time after he paid St. John a visit every year and proved more popular every time he came.

Mr. Hall said that he has been round the world with James Corbett the champion of the world since he was last in St. John, and of all the cities that he has visited there is none which feels more like home to him than St. John and he is glad to be here again. Old St. John appears to be the same place, but he says he misses quite a large number of his old personal friends, who have died, or removed to other parts of the world.

IMPERIAL THEATRE TODAY "The Foolish Virgin"

The Tremendously Dramatic Story An All-Star Cast Headed By Clara Kimball Young and Conway Tearle. THE STORY OF "THE FOOLISH VIRGIN" is intensely dramatic in character and offers the popular and beautiful Miss Young unlimited opportunities to display every phase of her notable talents. In fact it is said that in this second Selznick-Picture Miss Young will be seen to even greater advantage than in "The Common Law," her first production at the head of her own company. Albert Capellani, the noted French master of screen-craft, who produced "The Common Law," also directed "The Foolish Virgin," and this fact is sufficient to guarantee a photographically perfect picture. The star is ably supported by a company of screen players of the first rank, headed by Conway Tearle.

FOOD SITUATION IS GRAVE DECLARES MINISTER OF MARINE. "The greatest economy and frugality must be exercised, and that condition will continue to exist between now and the next harvest. In order that the People of the British Isles may have sufficient food for their wants. As a matter of fact, the condition is so serious that for three or four weeks before we left Great Britain no potatoes at all were served at the hotels where we were staying or at any hotel in the city of London. Sugar was extremely scarce, and flour was scarce and had to be carefully husbanded. At the hotels, where we were staying, under the order of the director of food supply, Lord Davenport, only a small portion of bread was served to the guests at each meal, and we saw no such thing as white bread, because the wheat flour was being mixed with rye and with meal made from barley in order to make the wheat flour go as far as possible." The above statement was made by Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries in parliament upon his return from England where he attended the Imperial War Cabinet. They are serious words made in all seriousness by one who knows the bare of he is speaking. Every Canadian can do his part in the next six months—the vital ones of the war—in eliminating waste and in practicing real economy in food stuffs. B-1.

CANADA NEEDS HER FARMERS. The Empire is looking to Canada for food, and the farmer is the chief factor in its production. In these days of scarcity, every farmer must work his hardest, and every farmer knows from painful experience that it is his back that first feels the strain. Almost every movement, whether with the plow, the fork, the hoe or in the harvest field, tests the muscles of the back and kidneys. A pain in the small of the back is the warning that inflammation, although slight at first, but persistent, has started in the kidneys or surrounding tissue. Farmers, if you only know how quickly Gin Pills soothe and heal the overworked and strained kidneys and restore perfect harmony between the kidneys and the bladder, making both work as nature intended them to do and in the process also relieve you of rheumatism, painful urination, or other troubles incident to impaired kidneys, you would not delay a moment. Gin Pills are also a gentle laxative and are wonderful, not only in their effect on the kidneys and bladder, but they keep the bowels in perfect condition. We want every lame-backed farmer to try Gin Pills. Go to your dealer and buy a box. If you do not get relief, we will refund your money, or a free trial sample will be sent on request to National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

WOUNDED PERFORMING BRAVE ACT St. John Boy Holds Wires up to Allow Eight Motor Lorries to Escape and is Struck by a Piece of a "Jack Johnson."

Many of the younger people of St. John are acquainted with Edward McKinley who his most personal friends is called "Ned" and for some months before enlisting for overseas duty was connected with fire department as engineer of the Motor Engine, Corporal McKinley left St. John a year ago last December, and on arrival in England, being an expert on motors he was attached to a Mechanical Transport Company at the front, he was badly wounded, and at the time of writing a few weeks ago was in the Brynglasi Red Cross Hospital, Newport Mon, England.

CORPORAL EDWARD MCKINLEY.

As will be seen from the account of how he received his wounds, there is undoubtedly many a young soldier who performs brave deeds that warrant their receiving a medal for bravery but at the time these brave deeds were unnoticed by those in command and therefore a brave act goes by unnoticed like many other, and is taken as one of the matter of fact occurrences at the front.

Inclosed in his letter to his father James McKinley of the Customs Service, Corporal McKinley gives an idea of how he received his injuries. In part he says:—

"Well you have asked me for an account of the day," but I don't know what you mean, unless its the day I got mine, or at least the day that "Frits" got me, well if you want to know, here goes, so hold tight and put on your tin hat and goggles, and don't forget your gas helmet and water bottles, for you are going up the line in daylight on eight motor lorries. The roads are dry and dusty and if Frits sees the dust rising, well he gets a lorry with fifty shells on, well you will have as much chance as a snowball in Hades, so here goes.

"I was just having a shave about eleven o'clock in the morning when the sergeant comes over and says, "Mac" here are your orders, "I read them and I was commanded to take eight lorries and proceed to Ammunition Dump, and then take four hundred rounds to the Seign Battery immediately. Well I got ready, and sent one of the boys to tell the lorry to get ready and then we pulled out for the dump, eight lorries and sixteen men including myself. Well all went O.K. until we neared where there was a long drawn rushing whirling sound and then a crash, to the right of the road and then there was crashes all round and the column came to a stop. I jumped off my lorry and ran ahead to see what was the trouble and one of the boys said "What are we going to do Mac" and I said, "Get out of this, beat it," and away we went again.

Well as the second lorry was round a corner some wires fell down so I jumped down from my lorry (My Mate Driving), and I ran ahead and held up the wires so the column could pass under. As the last lorry passed under I dropped the wires and ran and jumped on the side of my lorry and started to climb up, when all of a sudden my leg went leary and off it came on my back into the road and as I turned over and looked to see where the lorry was and it was O.K. going up the road as if the devil was after it. I crawled into a hole dragging my bum leg after me and then started to try and find the place where I was hit. I won't try to tell you how I felt for words would not express it, but after while I found the hole and "see" it looked rotten. Well we all have field dressings so I got mine out and tried to bandage it up, and just as I would yet it tried to tie up along would come Liout. A. Bridges and Gunner Clarke and Baton of the 9th Siege Battery carried off the most honors at the athletic sports held Saturday afternoon at Monsepath. The track was not in the best of condition, which somewhat deterred the runners from making fast time in the running events. Thomas Murphy of the Y. M. C. I. won the half mile over Fred Doorman. Murphy took the lead at the crack of the pistol and retained it throughout the full distance. Gorman was unable to keep the pace up for the last hundred yards and was compelled to drop out.

In the hundred yard dash Clarke of the Siege Battery beat the tape a few feet. However for first place a coin was tossed and Clarke was successful. The 220 yard dash was won by Dalton against a strong field of competitors. The time for this event was 20 4-5 seconds. W. H. Orchard was a close second with the other competitors. The 440 yards was also captured by Clarke, who was not pushed very hard by the other competitors.

The high jump was closely contested and furnished a matter of considerable interest. Liout. Bridges and Gunner Clarke after clearing 5 ft. 2 in. were obliged to call it a draw at 5 ft. 4 in. However for first place a coin was tossed and Clarke was successful. Liout. Bridges also won the shot put, throwing 56 ft. 5 in. Perry won second place.

The juniors' half mile was won by Johnson of the Y. M. C. I. Williams, second and Gallagher third. In the boys' race (open) G. Ryan got first place, Fred Pace, 88 Paradise Row, second, and Peter Marr, third.

The three mile automobile race was won by Eldon Wilson, who had every one's attention. He covered the distance in 6 min. 33 4-5 seconds. As there were no entries for the other events with the exception of the Siege Battery boys they were called off. The prizes for the different events can be obtained from J. F. Winston at the Y. M. C. I.

The official program followed: George B. Magee, starter; J. P. Winston, clerk of the course; Thomas Sweeney and Ambrose Ryan, timers; John Jenkins, scorer; and W. E. McMonagle, announcer.

HEAVY FINE IMPOSED ON EDWARD WEBBER For Handling Liquor Contrary to Prohibition Act

A fine of $100 was imposed upon Edward Webber by Magistrate Ritchie in the police court on Saturday afternoon. The defendant was charged with handling liquor contrary to the Prohibition Act. On May 18th two men left the defendant's house at 127 Leinster street in a coach driven by Coachman Daley, taking with them a grip. At the depot the grip was handed to a porter on the Halifax train. Just inside of the car the porter was accosted by Alexander Crawford, the sub-inspector, and the valise taken from him. It was found to contain liquor.

After a trial which was adjourned twice at the request of the counsel the defendant was found guilty. The work of Inspector Crawford in this case has evoked admiration from the prohibitionists for the splendid manner in which he brought the guilty party to justice.

This afternoon argument will be heard regarding the matter of costs. The counsel for the prosecution has requested costs for the proceedings. Daniel Kullen, who is looking after the interests of the defendant, will oppose the granting of costs, while J. A. Sinclair will appear for the prosecution.

In delivering judgment Magistrate Ritchie dealt thoroughly with the provisions of the prohibitory act, laying stress on the sections under which the defendant was committed.

with the famous unit under Liout. Col. McAvity. From the time he reached France until the day he met his death he was in the thick of the fighting but never received a scratch. He was a loving son to his parents, a faithful member of his church and a faithful soldier of the King. He had given all he had to give, his life, and had set an example many others might well follow, and it was because of such men as he that we in Canada were living today in peace and safety instead of being in the same position as Belgium and the portions of France overrun by the German hordes.

At the conclusion of the address the benediction was pronounced and the last post was sounded by Serg. H. B. Sherman, a former member of the 116th battalion.

SERMON OF INTEREST IS PREACHED

Prof. Osborne of Manitoba University Occupied Century Pulpit Yesterday—Moral and Spiritual Aspects of America's Entry Into the War.

"Moral and Spiritual Aspects of America's Entry into the War" was the topic taken by Prof. W. F. Osborne, who spoke in Century church last night before a large congregation. Prof. Osborne is connected with Manitoba University and is one of the foremost western educationists. He is an attractive and eloquent speaker, and he held the attention of his audience to the last. In his address he first defined the difference between the old type of Christianity and the new, saying that while the old Christianity concerned itself with the soul only, the new Christianity concerned itself also with the body, as well as the soul. In this connection he said that the value of the individual man was not known in ancient times and lives were sacrificed needlessly, but now the value of the individual man is known and lives are being conserved instead of being destroyed.

In answering the question of what held America back from participating in the conflict so long, he stated that the reason was partly an account of the alien population in the States. As large sections of American cities were populated almost entirely by people of foreign birth, the nation had to grow so as not to cause internal strife within her borders. Prof. Osborne also referred to the west as another hindrance as the people living there did not as fully realize their responsibility in connection with the war as the people living near the ocean. But with the declaration of piracy by the Germans, America woke up and saw the struggle in its true light, a struggle between democracy and tyranny.

In closing he said that America was in the war for three reasons—in the name of democracy, humanity and Christianity.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DEAD HERO

Gunner Percy R. Allaby Died May 9 at Vimy Ridge—Main Street Church Filled Last Night to Honor Memory.

Main street church was crowded last night to pay honor to one of their members who had paid the supreme sacrifice in the troops at Vimy Ridge. Percy R. Allaby, who on May 9, was instantly killed by the explosion of a shell while carrying ammunition to the troops at Vimy Ridge. Special music was provided by the choir, the pastor, Dr. Hutchingson preaching a memorial sermon, and at the close the last post was sounded by Serg. H. B. Sherman, a former member of the 116th. The pulpit of the church was draped with flags of the Allies, and in front of the pulpit was draped a photo of the dead hero. The Boy Scouts of the church were present in a body in uniform and occupied seats in the centre of the church.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. D. Hutchinson, based his remarks on 2 Timothy 2:3: "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." He said they were come together to do honor to another member of the church who had given his life in defence of the Empire and the cause of righteousness. Since the beginning of the war 75 men belonging to the church and congregation had enlisted and gone overseas to fight for King and country, of this number 60 were still in active service, 6 had paid the supreme sacrifice and lay buried in soldier graves in the land of France.

Percy Allaby was a good soldier, a good soldier of Jesus Christ, and therefore a good soldier to King and Country. He had heard the call of Empire and responded willingly, for the firing line and met at the last a soldier's death with his face to the foe, doing his duty nobly to the end.
