BOOMBAY EXPLODED IN GOV'T CAMP

PARLIAMENT DISCUSSED A VARIETY OF SUBJECTS AT ITS SESSION YESTERDAY

Increased Pensions for Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Institution of Nickel Coinage and the Resignations of Some of the Ministers Were Among Them.

Ottawa, March 12.—A general discussion in the House today on pensions for the Northwest Mounted Police raised the question of superannuation for the civil service. In particular, a declaration by Hon. W. S. Fielding aroused interest. He referred to the change made by the Laurier government (of which he was a member) in the superannuation system then in force. By that change, superannuation remained with regard to old officials, but, in regard to subsequent appointments, it was abolished and a retirement fund established. The retirement fund, however, had been found to be "entirely insufficient," and he said that the government made a mistake, and I am willing to help the present government to correct that mistake.

There was a general feeling in the House in favor of fully adequate pensions for men in the Northwest Police, or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as they are now termed. A plea was also made by Captain Manion on behalf of dependents of men killed at the front. "These helpless people left by the men killed at the front or in some other branch of the country's service," he declared, "should be adequately looked after, given a good living wage." On the broad question of general superannuation for the civil service, Hon. T. W. Crothers, ex-minister of labor, differed. He agreed that the mounted police were underpaid, and that everything should be done for the dependents of returned men. But he thought that any man on a pension should be paid that he would be in the same line in private employment. If the government insured civil servants against old age, the civil servants should pay the premiums. Some discussion followed on the proposal to reduce the amount of silver in silver coins. Sir Henry Drayton, when questioned on the point, remarked that the government now had under consideration the coining of a nickel five cent piece. Sir Henry also observed that any man on a Cabinet Minister's salary was fully acquainted with the one cent piece.

Near East Tangle Develops Into Serious Affair

London, March 12.—(By the A. P.)—Earl Curzon's speech on the Turkish problem, made in the House of Lords yesterday, and other official and unofficial statements on the subject, are generally regarded as showing that the near-east tangle is quite serious and is causing the authorities some anxiety—an anxiety increased by complications threatened in connection with Syria and Mesopotamia. The shadow of Indian and Moslem opinion darkens the picture, it is believed, influences the councils of the Allies more than is immediately apparent. The suggestion that the employment of force against the Turks might excite general hostility in the Mussulman world is regarded as one that cannot safely be ignored. In some quarters the feeling prevails that there is danger if the Turks are pressed they may immediately be joined by the Arabs. Careful watch is being kept here on the outcome of the Syrian Congress at Damascus, and it is understood any decision or proposal by the peace conference regarding Syria would be purely tentative.

Reports are current that Bolshevik activities, directed against the Allies, have cropped out in co-operation with the Turkish Nationalists and in other areas. It is said that especially trained Bolshevik propagandists have installed printing presses at Afghanistan, where pamphlets are being distributed with a view to undermining British authority in India and stirring up trouble on the Afghan border, are being produced.

Canada And United States Get Together In Agreement

Washington, March 12.—Abrogation of an agreement between the immigration authorities of Canada and the United States for mutual return of military deserters was announced today by Secretary Wilson. The agreement was entirely a war measure, the announcement said, and its continuation during peace would operate to substitute deportation for the proper processes of extradition.

EXCHANGE QUESTION BROUGHT UP BEFORE NEW YORK COURTS

By a Suit in Which Postal Telegraph Company Claims Difference in Exchange on Payments Made by it on Behalf of the Canadian Pacific Railway—First Time Such a Question Has Arisen in Law.

New York, March 12.—An interesting question involving Canadian exchange is the subject of a suit which the Postal Telegraph Cable Company instituted in the United States District Court here today through its attorneys Charles E. Hughes and Wm. H. Cook, against the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Postal Company in its complaint claims that it paid out in Canadian money to American cable companies on behalf of the Canadian Pacific the sum of $45,000 for cable-

Moves An Amendment To The Address To Provide For This

The Course Adopted by the Leader of the Opposition So Took the Government Aback That Despite the Fact That the House Had Still Two Hours to Sit, Premier Foster Moved the Adjournment So That He Might Consult His Colleagues as to How They Were to Get Out of the Mess.

Fredericton, March 12. Stunned, bewildered and helpless, Premier Foster and the members of his Government found themselves, today, when Hon. J. A. Murray, Leader of the Opposition, fired a shell into their camp which exploded with telling effect. The shock to the sensibilities of the Government side of the House following the explosion was pitiful to behold. It turned a party of smiling, chuckling, joyous solons into a mournful looking one upon whose faces were depicted helplessness and despair.

It all came about when the Leader of the Opposition, after attacking the Government, showing up their mismanagement of Provincial affairs and shattering some of their absurd claims, introduced a resolution which strikes at the pocketbook of the class that put the present Government in power. It was a challenge to the sincerity of the Foster-Veniot combination. Whether they are to continue to cater to the lumber interests of New Brunswick while the farmer and the wage-earner are forced to carry the burdens must now be decided. It is put boldly up to them: Have they the courage to compel the lumber barons to pay into the Crown Land Department the same rate of stumpage they are obliged to pay on privately owned lands? That is the proposition they must face. Can they rise to the occasion?

THE RESOLUTION.

Mr. Murray moved the following amendment: "Resolved, That after the word 'consideration' in the proposed address in reply to the speech of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the following words be added: "But we regret that Your Honor's speech does not contain any intimation of the intention of the Government to overcome the serious deficit in the ordinary current account of the Province, amounting for the fiscal year ended 31st October last, to $327,686.22, by taking steps to increase the territorial revenue proportionate to the value of the lumber cut on the public domain, by an increase in the rate of stumpage, which, in the opinion of this House, should be advanced from the present rates of $3.00 and $3.50 per thousand feet to $7.00 per thousand feet."

The Government was taken by surprise. They showed it in every way. The Premier hurriedly consulted with his lieutenants. Action must be quickly taken: What is to be done? "Safety First" was evidently the Premier's consoling thought, and he moved for adjournment that he might have time to give the new turn in affairs prayerful, thoughtful consideration, as well as have an opportunity to consult his advisers.

The blow was delivered with cruel effectiveness. It was a wallop to the solar plexus. So stunned were Government members they failed to realize that the Speaker had declared the House adjourned, and remained in their seats.

Finally they woke up to the fact that something had happened. They gathered in groups and entered into animated consultation. The "Big Three," the lumber kings who are members of the Government, were drawn together as by magic. Their heads bobbed and their hands wavered. Here and there about the Council floor, in corridors and coat room they gathered to discuss the challenge. It was the only topic of conversation. Many of them went home talking to themselves.

ROBS GOVERNMENT OF GLORY.

The Opposition Leader was aggressive in his reply to the Speech. He robbed the Department of Agriculture of the glory it was taking to itself in the increased production of the farms. He called the Government's attention to the fact that the farmers had played some part in the work, and to them belongs the credit for the increased production. He also called attention to the outstanding fact that the present Minister was only following out the programme and plans laid down by the old Government, and they should not take credit to which they are not entitled.

Mr. Murray only consumed about twenty-five minutes of time. But in that short period he gave the public as well as the Government something to think about.

Official Report
Assembly Chamber, Fredericton, N. B., March 12.—The House met at 3 o'clock.

Hon. Mr. Foster, from the committee appointed to nominate all standing and select committees, submitted a report.

Hon. Mr. Murray introduced a bill to ratify and confirm the rate of interest on provincial debentures authorized by act of 1917.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT AMENDMENTS

Different Firms Engaged in Same Class of Industry May be Dealt With in Groups.

CONCILIATION BOARD TO ACT

Strike Must Not Take Place While Board of Conciliation Sitting and Before Report is Made by Them.

Ottawa, Ont., March 12.—(By Canadian Press).—Amendments to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act introduced in the Senate some days ago by the Minister of Labor, includes an important change to Clause Two, the interpretation clause of the bill. The amendment will make it possible for a board of conciliation to deal with a large number of firms engaged in a similar industry as a group instead of separate and distinct entities. This will be especially valuable in the case of coal mining companies.

Another amendment is intended to make it impossible for employees to go on strike after the sitting of a board of conciliation but before the findings have been delivered to the disputing parties. The amendment is to Clause 57 of the bill which provides that relations of the disputing parties must remain unchanged during the proceedings before the Board of Conciliation. The amendment provides that they must not only remain unchanged during the sitting of the board but also until the report has been placed in the hands of the disputing parties.

Section 63-A of the Act is amended so as to give the Minister of Labor the power to appoint a board of conciliation to deal with any disputes if he thinks that a strike or lock-out is imminent. The old amendment provided that he might appoint a board of his own volition when a strike or lock-out had occurred.

Another amendment provides for an allowance to witnesses attending hearings of boards of two dollars per day, and actual and reasonable cost of living and travelling expenses.

SPECIAL POLICE NOW TRAVEL WITH "WET" SHIPMENTS

Railways Find it Necessary to Have Special Guard to See it Safely Delivered.

Moncton, March 12.—The wholesale arrests and suspensions of C. N. R. employees along the National Transcontinental in connection with the numerous thefts of liquor and other freight in transit, has not convinced the railway officials that it is yet safe to entrust large consignments of wet goods to pass over the road without a special guard. Accordingly carloads of liquor in transit are accompanied by a special police officer, whose business it is to see it safely delivered at its destination. This system of "safety first" for liquor shipments over C. N. R. eastern lines has been in vogue the past few weeks.

ANNUITY SCHEME UNDER GOVERNMENT AUSPICES

Bill to Provide for Same Introduced in House Yesterday, After Some Little Argument—Members of Opposition Contend That Such Matters Should be Left to Insurance Companies Whose Proper Business it is.

Ottawa, March 12.—In the House of Commons this afternoon criticism of the government's annuity scheme proposals was voiced by Hon. W. S. Fielding and Dr. Michael Oakes. Sir Henry Drayton had stated that the proposal was to set up a government scheme that it would be more popular, and so that the Government could make a little money out of it. "If it is profitable for the private companies to go into this sort of thing I think the Government should also see that it pays the country," he said.

Hon. Mr. Fielding contended that in Canada, the minds of the originators of the scheme was not to make money for the country, but to help the annuitants. "It is simply proposed now," he said, "to put more money into the Treasury." He criticized the Government for dismissing in 1911 the men who had been appointed to educate the people on the benefits of the scheme. If the Finance Minister would re-establish some of these agents or lecturers he would not have to tell the House the scheme was a failure. The scheme was never intended to compete with insurance agencies, as it was now proposed to do, he said.

At a conservative estimate, more than fifteen million Gillette Safety Razors are in use throughout the world. It is stupendous—hard to realize! Such things, however, do not happen by chance.

First, naturally, there comes the continued facial satisfaction assured by Gillette shaving. That is taken for granted—no need to argue the point.

Next, comes the intrinsic value and merit of the Gillette sets, the carefully made cases, the mechanically perfect razors, the gleaming blades, 12 to a set, double-edged, super-keen.

Then, it is a mark of distinction to own a Gillette. It has a rightful place in the equipment of every man who prides himself on his appearance, whether the man be an artisan or artist, clerk or clubman, employee or employer.

Again, when the talk among men turns to razors, there is undoubted advantage in claiming ownership of a Gillette.

The final dictum in razor keenness is NO STROPPING—NO HONING and all devices calculated to bring other razor edges up to Gillette keenness only serve to compliment the razor that is Known the World Over.

While the speech from the Throne referred to many matters there were some omissions, one of which was the failure of the Government to fill the vacancy in Carleton County which had been open since early in the session of 1917. The Hon. Premier when replying to inquiries in the House on that subject surely did not expect to be taken seriously. In 1917 he had informed the Hon. Member for Carleton that owing to the busy agricultural season it would be wrong to bring on an election for one vacant seat. His justification of his position he had pointed out that the old administration had felt several seats vacant for a lengthy period. The old Government had been wrongly condemned for taking that course and the men who condemned them were now even greater or sinners. In 1918 his Hon. Friend (Stott) had been told that the matter of filling the vacancy was under consideration. The same question was put in 1919, and the reply was to the effect that owing to the Victory Loan Campaign, the Government would not be justified in issuing a writ. At St. John a short time ago the Hon. Premier had made the statement that he would assist in turning out Union Government in order that the people might have their proper representation. That was certainly a fine idea emanating from one who from political expediency had failed to give the county of Carleton proper representation. In connection with that vacancy the Government which claimed to be carrying on the public business in a careful manner, had displayed a narrow and partisan spirit. A similar spirit had been shown in connection with the appointment of commissioners for the Jordan Memorial Sanitarium. It was the intention that the act relating to that institution should be administered in a non-political manner. The old Government had selected the commissioners from both sides of the political divide. Two vacancies had recently occurred, one by the death of Mr. Sumner and the other by the resignation of Hon. Dr. Landry. The Government in the interim had not followed in the footsteps of the old administration but had selected two of their own supporters, one of them was a member of the executive. He (Murray) was clearly representative on the side of the House on the Commission and the Government probably was waiting for him to tender his resignation.

Public Works Department. He could only make reference to the department, conducted by his hon. friend the Minister of Public Works. In this connection he would repeat the statement made on a previous occasion that there were thousands and tens of thousands of dollars being spent on roads which, although classed as permanent, were nothing but ordinary roads. The Hon. Minister had borrowed for this purpose $499,000 in 1917, $700,000 in 1918, and $1,150,000 in 1919, and today the Province was paying interest on that money and had nothing but ordinary roads to show for it. "More durable roads" was the farthest his Honor was permitted to go in referring to the roads in his speech. On a former occasion they were called "permanent roads," and in all probability next season they will be referred to as "ordinary country roads." They had been told that the roads being constructed by the Government would outlive the life of the bond issue, but that would not be the case with some of the so-called permanent roads in his own County of Kings. It was his opinion that the Government expenditure on roads was the most wildly extravagant in the history of the Province.

Valley Railway. Referring to the Valley Railway, he was very glad to know that the road had been completed. There was a time last summer when the people thought that that might never happen. That was the occasion when there was a difference of opinion as to who had the authority to complete the arrangements for the running rights over the U. P. R. On several occasions passengers had gone to the Railway Station only to learn that no trains were running. He was glad to know that the road had been turned over to the U. P. R. and he believed it would eventually become a paying proposition. In this connection he would remind the Hon. Leader of the Government that a speech in the platform of his party adopted in 1917 called for the completion of the road from Grand Falls to St. John. That was the platform which, according to a Montreal paper,

MR. MURRAY'S AMENDMENT.

Supporters of the Provincial Opposition will read with much interest the report of Mr. Murray's speech yesterday afternoon. He certainly cannot be accused of extravagant criticism of the Government's policies; on the contrary he seemed to have been most moderate in his language. If ever there was a Government which laid itself open to the severest censure it is possible to frame, it is that which is presided over by the Hon. W. E. Foster. In dealing with their shortcomings, Mr. Murray seems to have tempered justice with a goodly dose of mercy.

It is only natural that Mr. Murray's most trenchant criticism should be directed against the administration of the Crown Lands, which at the present time are only producing little more than half the revenue they might produce, if the Government were not scared to death of offending the lumber interests. In view of the fact that operators are willing to pay, and are in fact paying as high as $9 stumpage for all they cut on private lands, it seems strange that the custodians of the public domain should be willing to let these operators off with one-third of that amount. It is not as though the Provincial Treasury did not need the money; though that, however, has nothing to do with it; whether the treasury chest is full or empty, the Province is entitled to receive the market value of all lumber cut from its lands. But when a greater revenue is so urgently needed it is little short of criminal negligence not to exact all that can fairly be asked.

How much simpler and more business-like it would be for the Government to boldly adopt the logical course of requiring the lumber operators to make an adequate return for the concessions they get, than to pay a fee of several hundred dollars to Rev. Mr. Kierstead, the ex-food controller, to try and think out some additional sources of revenue. Surely the Government is not so ignorant of its own business as not to know of itself what existing sources of revenue will stand further impost, and what other sources there are still untapped that can be exploited. Why have any special and exclusive knowledge of these matters that the Government officials are not cognizant of?

Under such circumstances, it is not surprising that Mr. Murray should feel called upon to move his amendment to the address, and it will be interesting to see how many supporters of the Government are willing to place themselves on record as preferring to bolster up the private and pecuniary interests of the lumber operators at the expense of the people at large.

A GILBERTIAN SITUATION.

According to a statement made in the House of Commons a way has been found to extend to a large extent the next British Ambassador at Washington from the heavy income tax which at the present time plagues King George's diplomats and public servants as much as it does stock brokers and other private citizens. It is possible, remarks a critic, to imagine the following conversation as having taken place between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, at Number 10 Downing Street:

"Mr. Lloyd George—As First Lord of the Treasury it is my duty of course to see that no source of revenue is cut off. Therefore I ought to increase the salary of the Ambassador to America and from him as you can. But, as Prime Minister, it is my duty to see that Sir Auckland Geddes is in a position to give an occasional state dinner in addition to paying his bills."

"Mr. Chamberlain—Sorry to lose the cash. But if you say so! Just come over here where the First Lord of the Treasury won't be able to hear you, and we can settle it."

So having sought a secluded spot they decided to make the salary £2,500 and the untaxable entertainment allowance £17,500.

Sir Auckland, who is a great Shakespeare expert, will be interested to note that incidentally the proportion between the two parts of his future expenditure suggests that which existed in the bill furnished to the late lamented Sir John Falstaff in relation to bread and sack, the one representing the necessary and the other the luxurious side of the then cost of living.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIOUSNESS.

The Provincial Government at its meeting on the 10th ult. passed an Order-in-Council appointing a new Clerk-Assistant for the Legislative Assembly. This was a great piece of presumption on the Government's part, as the appointment of all the Legislative officials, except the Clerk, is the sole privilege of the House itself. Notice of this appointment duly appeared in the Royal Gazette of the 18th February. In view of this, what was the object in the Clerk nominating his Assistant or submitting his name to the House? As a matter of fact the Clerk was quite correct in his course, and the Government in undertaking to appoint the Clerk Assistant was guilty of a gross breach of the privileges and prerogatives of the House, which it is strange no member of the Opposition felt it necessary to call attention to.

Mr. Magee says he feels the territorial revenue should increase substantially. "With lands at $16 and lumber at $40 per thousand, the operators on our Crown Lands can well pay for the lumber they cut." Everyone but the operators themselves will agree with this, as being sound politically and logically, but the Government unfortunately has not the courage to grapple with the matter. Any increase in the stumpage rates would cost them Northumberland and Queens, as well perhaps some other counties.

The Commercial Club is to be congratulated on having secured the services of Mr. H. R. McLellan as its secretary. Mr. McLellan is not only a business man of ability and wide experience, and as well versed in the needs of the City and County as any man, but he has that kind of a "hustle" about him which, if he puts it into operation, is calculated to make things hum. Under his management the Club should forge ahead, and become an instrument of great benefit to the community.

"The Agricultural Department, the Crown Lands Department, the Public Works and Public Health Department, can show a record of activity and well directed effort throughout 'the year,'" says the Times.

If this comment is intended to refer to their wasteful and extravagant expenditure of public money, we can cordially endorse our contemporary's sentiments. The Government's record in this respect shows an activity and effort unparalleled in the history of the Province.

Mail and Empire: Sir Thomas White's downrightness in saying what he thinks of the Western farmers' movement is characteristic of the strong personality which is his. It is one reason why Sir Thomas stands out as a man of individuality and power. No politician can rise very high in the estimation of Canadians now who has not the courage of his convictions on a great national question.

Hon. Mr. Robinson when out of office expressed the opinion that a stampage of $5 or $8 was only fair and reasonable. He will now have an opportunity of showing just how sincere he was in his remarks. Mr. Magee, too, can give practical effect to his expressed opinion that the rate will bear a considerable increase "with lands at $16 and lumber at $40."

Canada has all kinds of climate between latitude 49 and the Arctic. You have only to stay long enough in a given spot and you're bound to sample the whole supply.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

WHY NOT?

(Ottawa Journal) suggested that Great Britain might sell the British West Indies to the United States he was not aware that these outposts of the Empire are eternal springs of luxury, pleasure, and not for harem, Canada might buy the State of Maine. Will Mr. McAdoo name his price?

ONTARIO'S MINERAL OUTPUT. (Mail and Empire.)

In Ontario last year the output of silver, nickel and copper matter fell off considerably, while that of gold increased. This is a peculiar condition, because gold mining has had the most difficult conditions. The value of metals produced was about $25,000,000 less than in 1918. Ontario should have a $200,000,000 mining output, given sufficient labor and more normal market conditions. Even now our gold output is one of the highest on the Continent.

A REMINISCENCE.

One hundred years ago the peace that followed the Napoleonic wars witnessed a government, in England, under Lord Wellington, victor of Waterloo, and Castlereagh, plenipotentiary at the Congress of Vienna. It was England's darkest hour. Of her, Cobden said that she contained "the most miserable people that ever trod the earth." Charles Lamb, true to his humor, gets the state of affairs into a poetic epigram:

Two noble ears, whom, if I quote
Some folks might call me sinner,
The one invented half a coat,
The other half a dinner.
The plan was good, as some will say,
And fitted to coincide one,
Because in this poor starving day
Few can afford a whole one.

A BIT OF FUN

A REGULAR ONE.

He was looking for a good canine companion, and had answered an advertisement in the newspaper. The following conversation ensued:
"You advertise a sensible dog for sale?"
"Yes."
"What do you mean by a sensible dog?"
"This pup has never had a ribbon around his neck and has never ridden in a showman's show the day he was born. He's a happy-go-lucky, home-burrying cat-chasing, 100 per cent dog."

THE MODERN RUB.

"Say Cy, I just found out what a rub is."
"That an Hiram, what is it?"
"Why, it's one o' them 41-hour, 105-week labor guys that drink a farm or so to go to sell his food cheap."

A HUSTLING LAWYER.

The Young—Well, you got me, all right mister. I s'pose you're going to turn me over to the bulls.
The Bustling Counselor—Certainly not. In that case I'd only get a witness fee of a dollar. I'm going to be your attorney. My retaining fee will be the roll bills I found in your vest. Good night.

AND NOTHING MORE.

"Scribner is dabbling of another novel."
"How long does it take him to write a novel?"
"About six weeks."
"Good heavens! And what does he put into it?"

CARSON APPROVES HOME RULE BILL

Claims That if Bill Passes, Ulster Has Won Her Fight—His Views Don't Please All, However.

Belfast, Ireland, March, 10.—Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, during the course of a speech today, said that if the present Home Rule Bill passed, Ulster won. They would be lucky, he added in getting without a fight what they coveted to fight for. If the bill had included the whole of Ulster, said Sir Edward, they would have had to oppose it tooth and nail; then if it were rejected, the 1914 act would come into force and they would have a home rule parliament in Dublin.

The address was made at a meeting of the Ulster Unionist Council, which was attended by delegates from all parts of the province. Sir Edward Carson presided. Lord Farman of Ulster presided to the effect that the Council would abide by the covenant and refuse to accept any form of government which did not include the whole of the Province of Ulster. It called on the Parliamentary leaders to take steps to secure its inclusion in the present home rule bill. The resolution was adopted, reaffirming faith in the legislative union of Ireland and Great Britain adding—

"Inasmuch as the new bill is based on the principles of home rule and would deprive us of our equal citizenship in the Parliament of the United Kingdom, this Council cannot recommend that the parliamentary representatives of Ulster accept any responsibility for it. But, inasmuch as the bill is a substitution for the government of Ireland act of 1914, and it recognizes the right of the six counties of Ulster to separate from Ireland, for which Ulster tenaciously has striven, and offers a preferable alternative to the act of 1914; and inasmuch as there is no prospect of procuring a simple repeal of that act, this Council is of the opinion that Ulster representatives should not assume responsibility for attempting to defeat the bill but should press for such amendments as are necessary to render the terms of the Ulster franchise throughout the West and South of Ireland."

At a largely attended meeting of Ulster Unionist men held yesterday a resolution was unanimously adopted affirming the belief that the business interests of Ireland would best be served by legislative union with Great Britain.

"But," the resolution continued—Recognizing the grave risk that rejection of the present bill would lead to an all Ireland Parliament in which the vast commercial interests of the Northern provinces would be gravely imperilled; and inasmuch as the proposals contained in the government of Ireland 1919, bill reserve to the Imperial Parliament complete control of taxation levied through customs and excise, and to some extent through inland revenue, it is authorized that Sir Edward Carson take steps as he considers right and proper to secure a settlement which will permit Ulster to proceed on her course of peace and prosperity."

BY LEE PAPE

THINGS TO DRINK.
When a person gets thirsty the first thing they think of is something to drink. As soon as they drink it they start to think of other things again if they want to, proving that Nature never lets anybody die of thirst without them knowing it.

One of the most popular drinks to drink is lemonade, but just because you see some lemon skin floating on top of it, that don't say its full of lemon juice, which is generally absent. Lemonade that hasn't got enough lemons in it generally hasn't got enough sugar either, thus taking your mind off of the fact it ain't got enough lemons. The best lemonade is lemonade and cake.

Coffee makes peoples hat to best faster than wat the doctor wants them to, and they say they're going to stop drinking it and dont.

Tea was invented by the Chinese and still has Chinese writing on some of the packages. Children are allowed to drink tea but not milk, not being much of a privilege.

Cocoa is a pretty good of a drink if its not smuff coco in it, with it smuff, hansen. Some people call cocoa chockit to make it sound as if it tasted better.

Milk is supposed to be good for children, properly being the reason why they would rather drink smuffing eits instead. Milk comes from cows, but not cold milk, even if the cow is standing in snow at the time. Babies dont get anything to drink but milk and dont find out wat they missed till years afterwards.

Walter is one of the best drinks and would properly be match more famous if it wasn't so free.

OF COURSE THEY WOULD.
"You seem to have a deep-rooted aversion to writ switches." "You bet I have. Just suppose they should become so fashionable that we had to wear 'em. Every time a fellow pawns his watch the whole town would know it."

HIS QUIETUS.
Mrs. Knoff—Din't your husband rave when you showed him the dress-maker's bill?
Mrs. Spot—Rather.
Mrs. Knoff—And how did you quiet him?
Mrs. Spot—I showed him the milliner's and then he became simply speechless.—Tit-Bits.

Countess Markievicz "Wanted" Again — More Policemen and Soldiers, and Some Civilians Also Killed.

Dublin, March 12.—The police today raided the residence of Mrs. Eamonn De Valera, wife of the Sinn Fein leader, in search for Countess Markievicz, Sinn Fein member of Parliament for the St. Patrick's division of Dublin. They were unsuccessful however, in their quest.

It is stated that the police mistook a cousin of Mrs. De Valera from London for the Countess in disguise.

Countess Markievicz was sentenced in June of last year to four months imprisonment on charges growing out of disorders in Cork during May, when she was alleged to have incited tradesmen to boycott the police and to have participated in an unlawful assembly. She was released in October. As in the case with other Sinn Fein members of Parliament, elected in Ireland, she has never taken her seat in the House. There has been mention in recent advice on the Irish situation of any fresh charges against the Countess.

Mr. Veniot's Road Policy Benefits Party Parasites

St. Croix Courier Condemns Minister's Policy of Administering Road Monies — Political Favorites Chosen to Waste Public Funds.

The minister of public works has publicly announced that he has no objection of providing permanent roads, even while he sinks vast sums of money in what he describes as "semi-permanent" roads and while he complacently watches large sums diverted to the pockets of political favorites who have no professional knowledge of good road construction. It is because of this condition that not all of the supporters of the present government at the last election view with anything like sincere approval the announcement in the press of Hon. Mr. Veniot's intention to spend yet greater sums, in the present year, on the highways of the province. A bit of new road here and another bit there and a considerable bit of public money diverted to the pockets of political favorites for automobile hire and other delusions will never accomplish so much for good roads in the province as if the construction of the roads was left to the departmental engineers and the foremen employed under them. It is because of the realization of this fact that the people of the province would much prefer to see the needed work being done under some minister of public works competent to carry on public undertakings without the aid of middlemen who have conspired to bring about an unnecessary evil in every business undertaking. The present government seems unable to comprehend that money appropriated for road construction must be expended on the roads and not disbursed among political parasites with the possible result that it will reappear in an incarnate form as an election fund. The day for that sort of thing has passed. Even of Hon. Mr. Veniot does not realize it, the people do and huge deficits will no longer propitiate for neglected roads. —St. Croix Courier.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Hannah Thompson

The death of Mrs. Hannah, widow of Edward H. Thompson, occurred yesterday morning in the ninety-second year of her age, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John R. Coleman, 38 Gardens street. She was a daughter of the late Captain John H. Wright of Quispemis and had resided there until a few years ago, when she removed to this city and had since made her home with her daughter. Besides Mrs. Coleman she is survived by one son, John Thompson of Somerville, Miss. Mrs. Thompson was a member of the Church of England and was held in respect by many friends.

Michael White.

The announcement of the death of Michael White, formerly deputy collector of customs at Eastport, Me., was heard with regret by friends about the city yesterday. He had lived here in his younger days and for many years was on steamers running between here and Boston. He was one of the degree team of the Knights of Columbus which instituted the local council in this city in 1904. Besides being active in the Knights he was also a prominent member of the Order of Elks. Mr. White was seventy-seven years of age and was living at Portland for a while before his death. His wife died a few weeks ago and he then removed to Eastport.

PURE BRED-V'S SCRUB CATTLE

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The old question "would you advise me to start into the pure bred dairy business" is being asked as frequently these times as ever before and is receiving just as many negative replies as formerly. There are so many factors which enter into the problem that one has to study the question from every angle. Good pure bred cattle of either sex are selling for such good prices now that men who have proven themselves successful with grade stock, cannot afford to continue without pure breeds. We all know of certain grade herds making more money for the owners than some pure bred herds in the same locality, but every community has examples of men in the pure bred business who never should have invested money in live stock.

The most economical and the most satisfactory way for the average farmer to start into pure-breds is to purchase good females to start with. Care should be taken to see that they are good. They should be healthy, of the proper type, and either proven producers or with proven ancestors. It is better to have only one good cow than several medium quality animals. A comparatively small outlay is necessary when starting in this manner.

CHANGES PROPOSED IN SHIPPING ACT

Ottawa, March 11.—A resolution providing for amendments to the Canadian Shipping Act, was introduced in the House today. It stated that it was expedient to repeal certain sections of the act, substituting other sections which provide for the issuing of certificates, as master or mate to every British subject who served for a year in either of these capacities on a sea-going or coast sailing vessel. The applicant must produce satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability and general good conduct, and must also pass the eight test and the prescribed examination in signalling. The certificates qualified applicants for the position of master or mate in sailing vessels.

Mr. D. D. McKensie strongly opposed the resolution. It was dangerous to put the lives of men in the hands of incompetent masters or mates. The British Board of Trade would not accept such certificates. He questioned whether insurance companies would insure cargoes on vessels handled by such men.

After Hon. Mr. Balantyne had explained that the resolution applied to sailing vessels and certain other features, the resolution carried.

Two young Swedish students of geology, after an adventurous nine days' expedition in Iceland, have discovered what is believed to be the largest crater in the world, measuring eight kilometers long and five kilometers wide.

The distinction of being the highest place on earth is claimed for the village of Kartok, in Kaskmer, which is 14,946 feet above the sea level. The village contains a few wretched stone houses and a small Swedish mission.

Substitute For Reservation To Famous Article Ten
Possibilities of a Final Agreement on Treaty Are as Clouded as Ever.

Washington, March 12.—A substitute for the Lodge reservation to Article Ten which has stood unaltered for many weeks as the storm centre of the Peace Treaty controversy, was proposed in the Senate today by its author, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader.

The move described by the Republican managers as a step toward harmony and compromise at first led the Senate in exactly the opposite direction by starting a discussion as to whether the new draft was weaker in its terms than the old. The mild reservations, backed by most of the Republican membership, said it was not. The Republican (proceduralists) said it was and served notice they would not help adopt it, as they did the original. The discussion, keeping silent, studied the proposal with apparent suspicion and withheld any direction as to what they would do.

As a result, the possibilities of a final agreement remain as clouded as ever, and leaders revised their predictions of an early vote on Article Ten. It had been hoped to reach a railroad today, but tonight no one was predicting action before Monday or Tuesday.

The text of the new reservation follows: "The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country by employment of its military or naval forces, its resources or any form of economic discrimination, or to interfere in controversies between nations whether members of the League or not, under the provisions of Article Ten, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the Treaty for any purpose, unless, in any particular case, Congress, which, under the constitution, has the sole power to declare war, or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall in the exercise of full liberty of action, by act, or joint resolution so provided."

In presenting the substitute Senator Lodge declared it did not alter in any respect the substance of the reservation, or weaken the denial of the nation's obligation under Article Ten. He made the move, he said, because he did not feel justified in insisting on a mere matter of phrasing.

JACKIE AND JOCK AND THE JACKET
Jackie was five years old upon that day. Jack was not as old as that, and the jacket was a brand-new one, and had come wrapped in tissue-paper in a big white box a very little time before.

"I'm glad—I'm glad I'm five years old!" sang Jackie, and he danced all round the room, and Jack, who was the doggie, and his own great chum, went to the door, upon his hind legs, very neatly.

Jackie stopped beside the window, and looked out at all the house-tops, for he lived in London, and his nursery was high up, and he said:

"Jock, there are fifteen children coming to my birthday party; did you know?"

Jock stood beside the window too, and wagged his tail, and that meant he knew quite well.

"I wonder," said Jackie, "what they have for them to eat. I'd like to know—beside the birthday cake, and the ice-cream, I mean. It's not just tea, you see, Jock. It is supper too. It's almost quite a grown-up affair."

"Bow-wow-wow!" barked Jock.

"That's just what I think," Jackie said, "and so we'll go and see."

He understood Jock's bark to mean that he was very, very anxious to see what was in the pantry too.

Down the stairs they crept together, Jack and Jock. Nobody was about. They slipped into the kitchen, and cook was not there, but by the window was a lovely pudding in a big glass bowl. There were sponge-cakes in it, and little pieces of red cherry, and some bits of green, and almonds, and there was lots of cream, all thick, and white, and beautiful.

"Oh, look!" said Jackie, and he put his finger in it.

Now Jackie says that when once you have put your finger in a pudding, why, every one can see that you have put your finger in it, and that being the case, you might as well go on eating it.

Jackie looked at Jock sideways.

GERMANY HAS NOW BEGUN TO MAKE THREATS

Declares She Must See That Allied Subjects Are Punished for Offences Against German Subjects.

Berlin, March 12.—The German Change D'Affaires in London has handed to Premier Lloyd George a note regarding the Extradition List, it was announced today.

After asserting that the Imperial Court will be guided only by considerations of justice and will conduct an impartial inquiry, the note demands that the arrest of Germans in the occupied territories on charges similar to those enumerated in the extradition list shall cease, and that those arrested shall be delivered to German courts.

The release of Germans who for similar reasons have been detained in war prison camps also is asked for. The note finally demands that the Allies abandon the reservations regarding their right to try for crimes committed during the war any Germans not mentioned in the list if encountered on Allied territory, saying that incidents arising out of the war should be assigned to oblivion with the advent of peace.

Otherwise the note says a restoration of normal relations between the different nationalities is hardly conceivable and that the German Government on its part, will be obliged to take measures with a view to the extradition of punishable acts committed during the war against Germans by Allied subjects.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION

The Young Adams Company having proven their popularity the past week, will open their second week's engagement at the Queen Square Theatre on Monday night with a comedy drama new to our theatre patrons which is termed a story of Spying and Love Eternal and named "The Marriage Question." A most proper title which appeals to every girl or woman, irrespective of age. The plot is clean and moral and Miss Adams as Billie and Mr. Young as James Hudson, both have strong parts, while the rest of the parts are in capable hands.

With change of play Monday, Wednesday and Thursday a sumptuous revival of "East Lynne" will be made, with Miss Adams in the dual role of Lady Isabel and Madam Vine. New vaudeville will be presented at each production and both Mr. Young and Miss Adams will add to their many friends and patrons.

GERMAIN STREET PHILATHEA CLASS

Programme Last Night Was Devoted to Artists and Their Paintings—Program Was Most Interesting.

At the regular meeting of the Philathea Class of Germain Street Baptist Church, held last evening, the programme was devoted to Artists and Their Paintings. The pictures were divided into five groups—Portraits, Landscapes, Children's Pictures, Scenes, and Animals. Twelve girls each spoke on a painter and his works, illustrating their brief accounts with the pictures themselves, and telling the story of the paintings. Those contributing to the programme had given time and thought to their short talks, and each one was much appreciated by those present.

Miss Mabel Lewis presided, and at the business session the following sums were voted: $50 to the Church Building Fund, $30 to Mission, and $25 to the Gymnasium in connection with the Germain Street Baptist Church.

MONCTON LADY PASSES AWAY

Moncton, March 12.—The death of Mrs. Hector Dowd occurred this morning at the home of her son, William Dowd. Mrs. Dowd, who was 76 years of age was a native of the Parish of Moncton and had resided in Lewisville practically all her life. Since the death of her husband about three years ago she had been living with her son in Moncton. The deceased lady was well known and highly respected in the community in which she spent her life. Two sons, John, of the C. N. R. office, and William, C. N. R. mail clerk, Moncton, and three daughters, Sister Mary Frances, and Sister Mary Dorothy, of St. John, and Mrs. John Kusler, of Lmly City, Michigan, survive. She is also survived by four brothers, James and Thomas Mulrooney, Moncton; John Mulrooney, Harcourt, and Michael Mulrooney, Boston.

William Fraser who had his right arm torn off while at work in the Atlantic Underwear Factory a few days ago it is now confidently expected will recover from his shocking injuries.

MODERN ROMAN PALACE

A marble-columned hall hung with black and white silk draperies, having a Roman courtyard with rose-entwined pillars, and overlooking the Thames (which will be opened on March 11) will be one of the most beautiful dancing palaces in London.

This luxurious building has been built at Grosvenor-road by the son and daughter of Mr. Earl Hare, the portrait painter. The surroundings, the music, the dance, the rippling of the water, and the light of the moon on the river should carry the dancers in imagination to the dancing halls of dreams.

The classical idea has been carefully adhered to, and the chaste, cool design of a palace of ancient Rome, like the place high above the status of the ordinary dancing hall.

The dance club will be staffed entirely by ex-service men and women.

FOREIGN RATE KILLS QUEBEC CITY COUNCIL LOAN

Quebec, March 12.—The failure of the Quebec City Council to float a loan of $2,500,000 in the New York market, is said to be due to the present situation in foreign exchange and the consequent depreciation of the Canadian dollar on outside markets. The tenders submitted to the New York office of the Bank of Montreal for the debentures brought bids of only 85 cents the dollar.

A special meeting of the finance committee of the council will be called when the decision will probably be reached to float the loan in the city proper.

HEARTLESS SWINDLER
Cruel Frauds on Budapest Hospitals.

Budapest, Feb. 28.—The Hungarian police are searching for a man named Pride, who claims to be an American, and who is alleged to have perpetrated a number of successful swindles on Hungarian banks and hospitals.

Pride is said to have obtained by a trick the identity card and passport of the American author and Red Cross worker Richard Davis. With these he went the round of the hospitals by promising large supplies of medical necessities and foodstuffs, and persuaded the directors to advance him large sums of money. Pride also obtained money from the Austro-Hungarian Bank by presenting forged letters of credit from other banks.

In one case he made a bid to the daughter of a leading surgeon at a Budapest hospital, and then obtained from her father large sums belonging to the hospital. Altogether he obtained between $2,000 and $4,000 in two months.

UNDESIRABLES RETURN
Deported Men Disguised as Sailors.

Large numbers of alien undesirables who were deported during the war and since the armistice have returned to this country by devious and mysterious means, despite the vigilance of the police and port authorities.

It has been discovered that instead of using Continental passenger ports such as Dover, Folkestone, Newhaven and Harwich, these men have masqueraded as sailors and have worked their passage to northern English and Scottish ports which are frequented chiefly by trading vessels and tramp steamers, and in this way escaped detection. A small number are supposed to have found refuge in different industrial centres, but the majority are stated to be living in London.—London Times.

The girls have only been in this country since last August, having come from Antwerp, where they lived with their grandmother during the period of the war, and have told about the brutalities of the Germans they witnessed.

ALLIES KEEPING CLOSE WATCH ON TURKS' DOINGS

Constantinople, March 12.—(Associated Press)—Numerous despatches from London and Paris announcing that the Supreme Council has decided to take drastic action at Constantinople to prevent the killing of Christians and enforce peace terms more radical than were contemplated before the trouble at Mosul, have been received with apparent indifference by the Turks, the only effect being the designation of a slightly changed cabinet.

The Allied Naval detachments in the Bosphorus and the British and French Naval squadrons in the straits of Constantinople are watched indifferently by the public. The Black, Marmora and Aegean Seas are alive with Allied warships ready to co-operate with land forces in the defence of the straits and enforcement of a blockade should such action be taken.

Besides her mother she is survived by four sisters and two brothers. The sisters are Mr. William Johnston and Misses Ida, Margaret and Frances, while the brothers are Robert and John, all at home. Friends will sympathize with the family in their bereavement. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SOME OPERATION.
Yesterday a fatigue party, under the charge of Major Weeks, was busily engaged in the immediate vicinity of the Clifton House, clearing away some of the debris remaining from the sustained bombardment of snow and ice during the past three months, and incidentally endeavoring to make the sidewalk safe for democracy to pass along. Owing to the arduous and exhausting nature of the work, it was deemed advisable to have Surgeon-Major Thomas in attendance, but as the party worked in relays his services were not required. Although the operation was carried out under an incessant fire of caustic criticism from the press, it is satisfactory to learn that the morale of the party remained unshaken throughout.

COMMERCIAL CLUB APPOINTS H. R. McLELLAN ITS SECRETARY

Ex-Commissioner of Safety the Unanimous Choice of This Important Body and Will Prove Valuable Asset in His New Work—Has Accepted Position and Will Retire as Candidate for Mayoralty Honors.

H. R. McLellan, ex-Commissioner of Safety, has been selected for the position of Secretary of the St. John Commercial Club, and will give his whole time to the work of that organization, beginning next week. This means that Mr. McLellan will not be a candidate for mayor.

Quite a number of candidates were nominated for the secretaryship of the club, but it is said that the decision of the executive to appoint Mr. McLellan was unanimous.

The work of the Commercial Club has grown so extensive that it has been deemed necessary to appoint a permanent secretary to take charge of the various movements which are in progress for making St. John a better city to live in. Mr. McLellan's duties will not be confined to purely secretarial work; he will be sort of a business manager as well, acting under the executive as under a board of directors.

The executive has had the matter of the appointment of a secretary under consideration for some weeks. As the fees from the club's membership do not suffice to pay more than the running expenses the finance committee were asked to devise plans to raise funds to pay for a live permanent official and provide him with the

War Memorial Fund Is Growing

I. O. D. E. National Executive Met Recently in Toronto—Mrs. McDougald Told of Visit to N. B.

Very largely attended was the National Executive of the I. O. D. E. held recently in Toronto at which the important business was the reports of the War Memorial Fund, contributions for which are coming in most encouragingly and satisfactorily. In this connection Mrs. McDougald gave an interesting report on her trip to New Brunswick, where she addressed the Provincial Chapter of New Brunswick at St. John, and also held a meeting at Moncton. On account of storms and bad weather it was impossible for Mrs. McDougald to go to Prince Edward Island as she intended.

HONORED BY THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Lady Tilley, a few days ago received from the Canadian Red Cross Central Council a life membership certificate, and expression of appreciation of her untiring efforts during the strenuous years of the war. This membership certificate also has an interest all its own as a very beautiful example of the illuminating art. The British and Red Cross flags are draped about the Red Cross emblem on a shield with a crown above and beaver beneath, while surrounding the whole is a wonderful wreath of maple leaves in their autumnal tints. The workmanship and the lettering has attracted the admiration of all who have had the good fortune to see it. The certificate, signed by Lady Devonshire, President; Noel Marshall, chairman of the executive; and Adelaide M. Phungre, honorary secretary, expresses the Central Council's appreciation of the work done by Lady Tilley in New Brunswick, and is therefore to be regarded both as a personal tribute and an appreciation of New Brunswick's Red Cross effort. The letter accompanying the certificate was as follows:

PRESENTATION TO A. C. RAWLINGS

Rawlings was much surprised yesterday afternoon when at six o'clock he was called upon by the staff of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., in the men's furnishing department and presented with a very handsome leather travelling bag. The presentation was made by W. J. Sutherland, on behalf of the staff, who, in a neat speech, voiced the esteem in which Mr. Rawlings is held by his associates and their regret at his departure from their midst. Mr. Rawlings replied suitably.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC ABOUT ENDED

It is generally hoped that the recent epidemic of influenza has done its worst in this city and that the few remaining cases will be shortly ruled off the board of health books as cured.

Disbanding Staff Employed in Coping With the Disease.

The various machinery called in to cope with the disease is being wound up. The diet kitchen after a period of splendid work while the disease was in its worst stages, closed its doors Wednesday. The members of the St. John Ambulance dismantled the kitchen Thursday, and all equipment has been stored in the basement of the Board of Health building. Whilst in operation the diet kitchen supplied over sixty families, and sent out some 1,600 portions of food.

The Parliamentary Party Here Today

Arrive from Ottawa at 1.20 This Afternoon—Lunch on Minnedosa, View Harbor and Courtenay Bay Works, Dinner at Union Club Part of Programme.

The delegation of Federal M. P.'s from Ontario and the West, who are coming to inspect the harbor facilities, are due here at 1.20 p.m. this afternoon. They will be taken to the West Side in a special car provided by the N. S. Power Company, and will be given luncheon on the C. P. O. S. liner Minnedosa. After looking over the West Side facilities they will board a tug and proceed to Courtenay Bay, where they will land and inspect the dry dock. They will then be taken on a trip to the Severing Falls and delivered in the city.

In the evening the City will entertain them at dinner at the Union Club. They will be treated to impromptu speeches full of exhilarating information about the port of St. John and the growth of winter trade of Canada. On Sunday they will spend a quiet day visiting the scenery from the Bay of Fundy, and at noon on Monday the Rotary Club will give them a lunch to fortify them for the journey back to the scene of their arduous labors at Ottawa.

THE CANADIAN GIRLS IN TRAINING CLASS

The Centenary Canadian Girls in Training Class entertained the girls of the Golden Rule Club in the Church Parlors last evening. Miss Lilian Crocker chartered the Golden Rule Girls who met at the Marsh Bridge Mission, and a delightful evening was spent by guests and hostesses in games and songs. The respective presidents of the two clubs were given and no one could judge which was the better.

HOBBS AND SHORTY STORIES

By SEWELL FORD

Hobbs And The Golden Apples

Must have been six weeks or more back that Sadie calls after me, one mornin' as I'm makin' my usual dash for the B.T. express, about gettin' that dinin' room clock.

"I wish you'd stop in on your way to the station, Shorty," says she, "and see what Hobbs is doing with it. He's had it nearly a month."

"If you'll make it on my way home tonight," says I, "I'll give him a try. Better plan to have dinner a little late, too. You know Hobbs."

From which you might gather that Mr. Hobbs wasn't a party who could be rushed. And that only half states the case. I've seen people who wasn't much bothered by what they did with their time, from hoboes on a park bench to Johnnies in the club windows, but I don't think I ever ran across one that spent it as free and reckless as T. Hobbs. Seemed to me no more to him than water runnin' over a dam. Didn't do a bit of good to tell him you were in a hurry, had to catch a train, or get to a directors' meetin'. When he started in on one of his long-winded spels there was no stoppin' him until he was through.

Course you might back through the door and leave him talkin', but somehow you didn't feel like doing that. Not to Tobias Hobbs. No, I can't say just why, either. Unless maybe you know that was something he wouldn't do to you. And he was such a polite, gentle mannered gink that you'd feel sort of cheap pullin' any rough stuff on him. You wouldn't want to hurt his feelin'.

For Mr. T. Hobbs, jeweler, was an entirely different proposition from most of what Mrs. Boomer-Day always spoke of as "the village tradespeople." You couldn't class him in with Schwartz, the butcher; or Pratt & Miller, the grocers; or P. Ghita, the plumber; or even Phillips, who ran the stationery and book store and wore a shiny frock coat and was on the Board of Education.

Not that Mr. Hobbs tried to put on any highrow legs or made any stabs at being a social favorite. He lived quiet and modest in a little tenement over the store, always dressed kind of shabby, and never tried to break into public affairs. Kind of a thin, spindly little man, T. Hobbs, with weak eyes helped out by a pair of thick spectacles, and a skimpy Vandyk beard.

But in his way he was sort of dignified, even when he had one of them single-barreled magnifyin' glasses screwed into one eye as he inspected the inside of a nickel alarm clock. He'd have almost as much to tell you, with the Ansonia relic as an excuse, as he would if you'd brought in a thousand-dollar grandfather's clock. Talk! Say, that was his strong suit. He was a converser from Concord, N. H. No trouble for him to find a topic. He was a self-starter. From a simple request to put a new crystal in your watch, or to fit you to a new front collar button, he'd branch out into a monologue on the Great Wall of China, who built it, and why, and what effect it had on the Chinese of today; or else he'd tell you how in Jamaica they cut down their banana trees every year and raised new ones that produced only a single bunch.

Must have been a great reader, Mr. Hobbs, though I never could see where he found time. But I expect when he had nobody to talk to he went at it strong. Books and magazines about travels in foreign parts was his specialty, and he was better posted on how they gathered the rice crop in Japan than he was on what Long Island eggs was fetchin' or why the coal strike petered out. He was always sayin' how he'd like to take a trip to this place or that—Spain, or India, or Peru, or Madagascar, and why. He'd even go so far as to write for pamphlets of steamer trips and get rates on these 'round the world excursions.

And yet in his half a dozen or more years I've lived out here in Rockhurst-on-the-Sound I never knew of his gettin' as far away as Coney Island. Why, I don't believe he went into town more'n two or three times a year. Near as I could figure Hobbs was born in Rockhurst, had always lived there, and probably always would. His father had opened a clock and watch garage way back in the early days when Rockhurst was a real country village on the old Post road. So Tobias had been brought up in the business. They say he could linker up a timepiece, especially these old antiques with wooden works and ships painted on their faces. But you had to give him a month or so on every job and listen to him about so long when you took in the work and when you finally got it away from him.

Course, he had the reg'lar one-horse jeweler's stock out—line of plated cake baskets, gilt jewel boxes, cut glass vases, and so on, except he unloaded some of it on the Dago population and the tenement folks. But the trade couldn't have amounted to much. Then, too, he was always splurgin' on odd side-lines that looked out-of-place in a jeweler's store—gold fish in bowls, celluloid toilet articles, a new hand vacuum cleaner, patent dish drainers, potted plants. So you couldn't tell, from lookin' at his show window, what kind of a store it was. Not that Hobbs was 'specially enterprisin', or wanted to branch out, but the drummer found him easy. If they had patience enough to stick around and listen while he described a trip he'd like to take across the Andes mountains and down into the Argentine, or a cruise from Cairo up the Nile, they could sell him a bill of almost any kind of goods. One holiday season I remember findin' him loaded up with a whole showcase full of mouth organs that I expect he never did get rid of.

So you see his business couldn't have called for any phony bookkeepin' to conceal the excess profits. Yet he seemed to get along somehow. Even had the nerve to get married a second time after being a widower less'n a year. Sort of handed his carriage trade a jolt by that move, Mr. Hobbs announces Mrs. Boomer-Day. "He has found his proper level at last."

I expect he did lose some trade there for a while. In time though he got it back. It was too much of a nuisance to lug bulky clocks clear into town. And while they didn't forgive him exactly most of 'em overlooked his bad break. As for Hobbs, he actually put on a few pounds. It developed that Rosie was a swell cook. At least, she was some scrubber. The dingy show window of the store was polished like plate glass and kept so, the floor lost

"Bah, Mr. Hobbs!" says Rosie. "What's the use of keepin' this third rate junk shop open when we get hardly enough to live on out of it? And now with the rent raised and coal what it is, I don't see the sense. If you want to travel as much as you say you do, why not start I'm really."

"There you are, Hobbs!" says I, chucklin'. "Your bluff is called. Go after the gold apples."

Tobias, he stares astonished through his thick panes. "But—but was I really a—poetic longing, my dear," says he. "Where the golden apples grow? I'm sure I don't know just what Stevenson meant by—"

"I do," says Rosie. "Oranges. They grow in California and Florida. Don't could," says Tobias.

And when I left with the clock under my arm the two of 'em were bent over the counter while he sketched out the ground plan of a flivver sleepin' car.

Course, I'd seen Hobbs enthusiastic over these mind travels of his too often to take much stock in his really startin' anywhere. Maybe he'd talk about it for a week or so, and then switch to something else. Yet it wasn't more'n a few days later, as I was drivin' past, that I caught a glimpse of an old look in 'n' affair in the yard back of the jewelry store. So I stops for a look.

And sure enough I finds Hobbs in his shirt sleeves with a full outfit of carpenter's tools and a lot of lumber and stuff piled up. He has taken the tounge of a second-hand flivver and is hard at work toonatin' studding to a framework of two-by-fours that he's bolted to the chassis.

"What's the idea?" says I. "Buildin' a rollin' bungalow?"

"I suppose it will look something like that," admits Hobbs, "but I don't know as I shall care. If we are to travel we might as well be comfortable."

"Then you're actually goin' to start, are you?" says I.

"Looks like it," says he. "I've sold out the store. The new man takes possession next week. I think we'll be ready by then."

"You bet we will," says Rosie from the back steps.

Say, she must have kept him at it steady, for I never knew Tobias to finish a job on time before, but when I drops around the followin' Thursday blamed if I don't find 'em 'most ready to pull out.

"What do you think of our land cruiser?" asked Hobbs, wavin' at the finished product.

"It's all that," says I. "Why, these private Pullman people have nothing on you have they?"

"It's a fact. What he's erected on that flivver frame is a perfectly good house and lot. Uh-huh. He's sheathed it up on the outside just like a reg'lar cottage, with a door and windows, and bedroom and the floor covered neat with oil-cloth. On either side are foldin' bunks that can be let down at night, with wire, springs and mattresses. Then there's a table, with hinged legs so it can be stowed away, a two-burner oil stove, lockers for dishes and supplies and extra clothes, an electric light in the ceiling run by storage batteries, and even a little wash stand in one corner.

"Where's the bathtub and the refrigerator?" I asks.

"Had to leave those out," says Hobbs, "but I think we can manage. At least, we shall be independent of hotels. We plan to drive as far as we like every day, and then when we come to a good place in the country we shall stop, get our dinner, and spend the night. I've put in screens so that we shall not be bothered by mosquitoes when we get further South, and I figure that we can live in our car all winter, if necessary."

"And you expect to get to Florida in that?" says I.

"We are going to start, anyway," says Hobbs. "Rosie thinks we can get under way early Saturday morning and be down in South Carolina by the last of next week. Then for where the golden apples grow."

Honest, he acts like a kid startin' for his first trip to the country. Looks about ten years younger, too.

"Do you know, Shorty," he says, "I've wanted to do something like this all my life, but somehow I never got around to it. Can't say just why I haven't, either, or how it happens I'm really going now."

"I shouldn't wonder," says I, "but what Mrs. Hobbs might have had something to do with it. Anyway, I shall want to hear how you're coming along. Send me a post-card now and then, will you?"

He says he will, and he's been keepin' his word. The first bulletin comes from Washington, where they'd hung up for two or three days to take in the sights. Then came one from Richmond, and another from Charleston.

"We are living a regular gypsy life," thinking of going to Florida for the winter, if they can rent the right kind of a house, I has to chuckle.

"That's nothing," says I. "The Hobbses are there. They took their house with 'em."

Required for Health and Beauty.

It is surprising that it is necessary to repeat again and again that the health and beauty of the skin require that the blood shall be pure. If the arteries of the skin receive impure blood, pimples and blotches appear, and the individual suffers from humors. Powder and other external agents are sometimes used for these affections, but will never have the desired effect while the cause of impure blood remains.

The indications are very clear that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, removing pimples and blotches, and giving health and beauty to the skin. It gives tone to all the organs and builds up the whole system. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla when you ask for it. Don't take any thing else.

SOME OPERATION!

Yesterday a fatigue party, under the charge of Major Weeks, was busily engaged in the immediate vicinity of the Clifton House, clearing away some of the debris remaining from the sustained bombardment of snow and ice during the past three months, and the incidentally endeavoring to make the sidewalk safe for democracy to pass along. Owing to the arduous and exhausting nature of the work, it was deemed advisable to have Surgeon-Major Thomas in attendance, but as the party worked in relays his services were not required. Although the operation was carried out under an incessant fire of caustic criticism from the passers-by, it is satisfactory to learn that the morale of the party remained excellent throughout.

When he started in on one of his long-winded spels there was no stoppin' him until he was through.

did, and to hear the women folks talk you'd think he'd queried himself for good.

For the first Mrs. Tobias Hobbs was supposed to be quite a superior person, whatever they might mean by that. I'm givin' you Mrs. Purdy-Pell's description of her. I never thought much about her one way or the other, she was one of these large, blond females, that moved about kind of billowy, and majestic and got herself up in back number frills. She was always tellin' what a fine family she came from, how one of her sisters had married a bank president up in Connecticut and another was the wife of a leadin' lawyer out in some Pennsylvania town.

Anyway, she played the lady as well as she could, apologizin' for Tobias constant and for livin' over the store. She sang for a wale at the Presbyterian Church, and gave piano lessons. Also she had to have a maid to help her do the housework. So she was sort of included in most of the social-doin's, especially any church affairs. Kind of on the fringe, as you might say. I judged that the women folks made it more or less of a fad to keep her in the swim, callin' for her with their limousines, invitin' her to teas and that sort of thing. Never includin' Tobias, of course. I heard a good deal of sympathy spilled for him when she passed on sudden. They didn't know how he was goin' to get along without her.

But Mr. Hobbs seemed to bear up under the loss fairly well. Course, he wasn't represented in society any more, and he begun takin' his meals at the Acme Cafe and doin' his own bed makin' and sweepin'. Didn't get any thinner, though. Couldn't have, I expect. But he didn't complain any, and went on puttin' in odd side lines and plannin' wild travel trips that he never took.

And then one day it came out that he'd married this Rosie Millette person who'd been a waitress in the Acme. Some French Canadian girl who'd drifted down from Bridgeport where she'd been workin' in a brass factory. "How could he?" exclaims Mrs. Purdy-Pell. "Well, that's the end of Hobbs," an-his grimy coating of dirt, and the walls was cleaned up. Even Tobias showed the effects by keepin' his hair and beard trimmed.

Outside of that though we never got much of a line on the new Mrs. Hobbs. Oh, I got glimpses of her now and then when I'd drop in. She'd generally be dustin' or cleanin' round, but she always beat it out whenever any customers came. And Tobias never mentioned her; any more'n he ever did the first one. He had his own line of chat and stuck to it.

So when I calls for the clock that afternoon I'm kind of surprised to find 'em both out front indulgin' in some kind of debate. Rosie starts to leave, but when she sees who it is seems to think better of it and merely steps into the background.

"Well, what about that dinin' room clock, Hobbs?" says I. "Got it all made over like new?"

"Ah, yes! The clock," says Hobbs, strokin' his beard thoughtfully. "Let's see. M-m-m-m. Yes, it's all finished. New alpion, new balance wheel, and a thorough cleanin'. Really ought to be regulated a little longer, but—"

"I'll take a chance on it," says I, reachin' across the counter.

"If we were all willing to take a chance on it," says Hobbs. "The places we could go to! I was just reading something to Mrs. Hobbs, a little poem by Stevenson. Probably you know it. It begins—"

"I should like to rise and go Where the golden apples grow."

"And what I say," breaks in Rosie unexpected, "is why don't he?"

"That's the ask," says I, joshin'.

"Why don't you, Hobbs?"

"Eh?" says Hobbs, gawpin' from one to the other of us.

"Listen Mr. McCabe," says she. "I've been hearing him moon along like that for a year and a half, wanting to go here, wanting to go there. Didn't pay much attention to it at first, but I ask you, can you get that all the time and keep still? I can't. He's got me so I want to go too. And why not?"

"But—but Rosie!" protests Hobbs, startin' at her. "How could we? There—there's the store."

they? I'd like to go to either place. So let's."

Hobbs shrugs his shoulders hopelessly. "If we could!" says he.

"Well, we can," says Rosie, her black eyes snappin'. "What's more, we will."

"But—but how?" gasps Hobbs.

"The way lots of other folks go," says Rosie. "In a flivver. Yes, my brother-in-law went that way last winter; took his whole family and drove all the way from Norwalk to Florida. Got a good job down there too, and drove back again last May. I know where we can get a flivver cheap. My uncle works in a garage in Bridgeport and he'll buy one for us. I wrote him about it last week and he's got one all picked out. All we got to do is sell out here and start. There's clock tinkering to be done in Florida as well as here, ain't there? You could even do some on the way down."

"But—but I've never driven a car, Rosie," protests Hobbs.

"I have," says Rosie, "plenty of times. And you could learn. Anybody can run a flivver, and with your knack of tinkering you could keep it going."

"But travel is so expensive," says Hobbs. "Stoppin' at hotels and all that."

"Who wants to stop at hotels?" says Rosie. "Give me a fryin' pan and a coffee pot and I'll get up better meals than you'd find in the average hotel dining room. I've camped out with my brothers. I know how to make a stove out of two bricks. Whenever we get hungry we could pull up beside the road. You know my pancakes and sausages, and how I can scramble eggs. Well, I can do that outdoors just as well as I can in a kitchen, and things taste a heap better. You'll see."

"Them mild eyes of Hobbs begin to beam sort of excited. "That certainly sounds rather alluring, Rosie," says he. "Camping by the roadside down through a dozen states. But—but where would we sleep?"

"We could take a tent, couldn't we?" asks Rosie. "Or we might fix up the inside of the car so we could put cots across the seat or something. You're so handy that way you ought to be able to do it."

"Why—why, I don't know but I

"Bah, Mr. Hobbs!" says Rosie. "What's the use of keepin' this third rate junk shop open when we get hardly enough to live on out of it."

The Legislature of New Brunswick was opened at the Peace Pavilion, Fredericton, on Thursday afternoon, with the usual, rather than a festive, service provided the military display, for the first time since before the war. Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him—something is the matter. It is not the nature of little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulates the bowels and stomach; banishes constipation and indigestion; breaks up colds and simple fevers and relieves the other minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Oscar Bedard, St. Joseph, Que. Writes—Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy for constipation. They relieved my little one when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to all mothers. ### Apoahqui

Apoahqui, March 11.—The storm of the last week-end added to the great quantity of snow which had previously fallen, proved to be the "last straw" in blocking the highways for one day at least.

Clergymen who had preaching appointments in the village found it impossible to get here and for the first time in many years no service was held in any church of the village, since the pastors of the various churches was on the side several miles out, in the centre of their circuits.

The physicians too, who have been greatly taxed owing to much illness, have suffered the inconvenience and in some cases have of necessity made journeys on snowshoes.

No cases of influenza have developed in the past week, practically all who have been ill being sufficiently recovered to get out again and a general feeling of gratitude is evident among the residents who trust that the crisis is past and normal conditions again prevail.

Friday evening of last week proved to be one of enjoyment to a party of young people of this village, who enjoyed a sleigh-ride to Lower Millstream, where with a large party of Sussex friends they met and spent a very pleasant evening in the C. H. C. Hall, where they joined in the merry dance until a late hour when after partaking of a delicious supper they made the return journey. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Vickers.

The ladies of the Lower Millstream Women's Institute, gave their annual supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McAuley, Tuesday evening, the 11th, when as is their custom, they entertained their husbands and friends. These social banquets are always anticipated and realized with much pleasure and the one of this week was no exception to those on previous occasions. Not only was the inner man satisfied, but also a literary feast was in store for the guests, when in the early hours of the evening a varied program was well given. The company was graced by the presence of two clergymen, Rev. L. Johnson Leard and Mr. S. Young, who contributed in witty and fitting addresses. Among the excellent numbers on the program were readings from Mrs. Leard and Mr. James Smith who retained their previously won laurels for their efficiency in this form of entertaining. Mrs. Benjamin Lester prepared and read an admirable paper on "Work of Women's Institutes During the War," and Mrs. Fred T. Penwick was heard in a well given recitation. The musical part of the program was under the supervision of Mrs. H. C. Coy and Mrs. Howard Patterson, who were accompanists, this being sufficient to insure it a success. Mr. E. McAuley sang a solo, "I'm Off to Philadelphia," and as on many previous occasions his voice was greatly enjoyed. Miss Florence McAuley sang the solo, "There's very sweetly." A number of classic piano selections were played by Mrs. Howard Patterson, who with her sister, Mrs. J. M. McKnight favored the company with several piano duets. A very pleasing and well rendered piano duet was played by Mrs. H. C. Coy with her young son, Master Charles C. Coy, who at the early age of eleven is giving much promise of his musical ability. Other speakers to the evening were the host, Councillor, J. E. McAuley, and other gentlemen present. At the close of the program supper was served, and with toasts and round table converse, a very social hour concluded the pleasant evening.

George B. Jones, M.L.A., and Miss Muriel Jones left on Wednesday for the Capital to be present at the opening of the local legislature.

Mrs. I. P. Gambin, Miss Della and Master Murray Gambin spent Saturday in Bloomfield, guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cook.

Mrs. J. A. McArthur, Sussex, was a week-end guest with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wells.

Miss Vida V. Reid left on Saturday for Bathurst after spending a few days with Miss Greta P. Connelly.

Miss Leta Peterson, Tracy Mills, has returned to take charge of the millinery department of Jones' Bros., after a vacation spent at her home.

Miss Peterson is receiving a very warm welcome from her many friends. Mr. Hazen Kierstead of Westfield, Me., is spending this week with his aunt, Mrs. E. Erb.

Mrs. Wm. Locke and Miss Esther Cummings spent Friday last at Echelle, guest of their sister, Mrs. F. T. McQuinn and Mr. McQuinn.

Miss Pauline Erb spent the week-end at her home here, returning to St. John on Monday.

Miss Fowler and Miss Elizabeth Jones, Sussex, were calling on friends here on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leiper of Carletonville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Leiper on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hart of Newton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Gambin on Wednesday.

Mr. Edward Erb who is employed as contractor in Moncton, spent the week-end with his family here.

Miss Ella Heady, R. N., who has been professionally employed here for several weeks, left on Tuesday to continue her work elsewhere.

Master Murray Bell has been spending a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James McFarlane of Roachville.

Miss Cornelia Sharp has returned from a two week's visit with friends in Moncton.

Mrs. W. H. Stockton, Sussex, was a guest of Mrs. W. T. Little on Wednesday.

Mrs. Matilda Parlee and her brother, Mr. Melbourne Perkins of Parleeville, have taken up their residence in the village, having purchased a cozy home from Mr. George W. McLeod, who recently has removed to Hampton.

Mrs. M. McAlister, Lorneville; Mrs. S. Carroll, Mrs. Wm. Gray and Miss Miss Opal Gray of St. John, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bell.

Mrs. Wm. McDougall and children of Sussex, were week-end guests of Mrs. McDougall's mother, Mrs. Parlee.

Gagetown

Gagetown, March 10.—The Gagetown Red Cross Society has received from Colonel McLaren, an interesting account of its work during the war, in the name-plate which was put up over the bed of the late Mrs. McLaren, N. B., and was one of those received from the hospital when it was removed from Etaples to Trouville after the bombing in May, 1918. It calls to mind the many gallant men, who must have rested beneath it during the three years it occupied a place on the walls of this famous hospital, and will doubtless be one of the most interesting souvenirs which will be put up in the new Memorial Hall.

On Thursday evening the Women's Institute held their regular social meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. H. Bridges, when a large number of members and friends enjoyed an evening of fancy work and entertainment. Amusing stories and anecdotes were read, and a very entertaining as well as instructive feature was the collection of trade marks arranged by Miss Lucille Bridges, which were guessed by those present, Miss Snodgrass having the largest number. In the musical term content Miss Annie Dickie was the prize winner. Refreshments were served by Misses Eldred Bridges and Greta Rubin.

The Women's Auxiliary met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. C. Blythe, the meeting being a very well-attended one. Mrs. Blythe served tea to the members before they left for their homes.

The collections for the Forward Movement at the Baptist Church at Upper Hamstead were most successful, the congregation although a small one, practically doubling its objective of $125. The amount subscribed being $245. Fred C. Ebbett was the collector. The Church has been planning to hold an entertainment to purchase a new organ; but unfortunately owing to the bad weather, the affair which promises to be a very enjoyable one, has had to be postponed.

Ray Robinson, who has been very seriously ill during the past three days of Upper Hamstead, has been out too soon after his recent attack of flu, is somewhat better today, which is good news for his many friends.

Little Miss Mary Reid after her long illness of nearly six months was able to get out driving for the first time last week, and the occasion was a very happy one for her family and friends.

The influenza epidemic seems to be subsiding here, William F. Brooks being about the only new case within the past few days. G. P. Bigby who has been ill during the past week is improving slowly. Little Miss Marjorie Robinson, whose attack of flu was attended by a slight case of pneumonia, is now improving. Miss Minnie Osborne and Master Raymond Os-

Shediac

Shediac, March 11.—Many of our citizens who have recently been confined to the house through illness, are able to be out again.

In the surrounding districts of Cocagne, Barachois, Cape Haud and Aboucharon, there is a great deal of gripple. In many cases every member of a family is ill, and the doctors are busy travelling the country roads, night and day. Owing to recent storms we have quantities of snow on all sides.

Considerable interest has been shown here this winter, in the numerous hockey games, which have taken place. The Bearers of Shediac were recently defeated by a Sussex team in Sussex, 7 to 2.

Mr. Charles Crossdale of Moncton, spent Sunday in town.

Mrs. Robert Jardine is able to be out again, after her recent illness.

Mrs. R. Balloch and family are convalescent from a severe attack of gripple.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gillespie were visitors in town, during the week.

Mr. Albert Welling of Shediac Cape, has been summoned to Toronto owing to the illness from pleuro-pneumonia of her daughter, Mrs. Fisher, who is now in hospital in Shediac, hoping to hear that Mrs. Fisher may be restored to health.

Mrs. McQuarrie of Moncton, is a guest of her daughter, Mrs. James Stewart at the Weldon.

Mrs. A. J. Tait and Mrs. R. C. Tait are convalescent from illness.

The children and old people of Providence St. Joseph's Home, enjoyed a mid-winter treat at the institution on Tuesday evening. The occasion made happy the hearts of the young and old, who fully appreciated the generous donations which fell their way.

Miss Regina Savole of the T. Eaton Co., Moncton, spent the week-end at her old home in town.

The ladies of the W. A. of the Anglican Church, met at the home of Mrs. E. A. Smith on Tuesday.

Mr. Arthur Bray of Moncton, was among strangers this week in town.

Mrs. R. Louis Comeau of St. John, was a recent guest of friends in town.

Mrs. John Nickerson was in Moncton during the week, owing to the very serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Friess.

Mr. David Harnett and children of Moncton, spent the week-end in town.

Mrs. Thomas Gay is very ill at her home, Shediac, East End.

The hockey match in the Shediac Rink last evening was one of the most enthusiastic games of the season. The contestants comprised the Crescents, Moncton, and Beavers of Shediac, resulting in victory for the home team. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gillespie of Moncton, were in town during the week.

borne are also better, after being ill with the flu.

Miss Gladys Dickie went to St. John on Tuesday to spend the week.

Miss Mary Du V. Bowill, who has been at her home in Meadowlands for a month, has returned to St. John. There were no trains moving on the Valley Road here today, and yesterday's gale and wind have packed the entire again full of snow. The drifts are particularly hard owing to Sunday's driving wind; and no snow ploughs are available on this end of the line. The snow plough which ran off the track below the town during the last big storm is still roping out in the field. There was no mail today. Upper Gagetown is now being better in the way of mail service, as the mail-driver from Grand-Isle is now on the route again, and carrying a daily mail.

Miss Ruth Crawford was in Fredericton last week.

Its Lasting Freshness Brings Economy

IT ISN'T cake-making, it's cake waste that is extravagant. It is the cake you bake and don't entirely eat that is costly. Here again true kitchen thrift suggests the use of FIVE ROSES flour for all your baking. It prevents waste by keeping fresh. Long after ordinary cake is dry and tasteless and is wastefully thrown away, you can readily identify a FIVE ROSES cake by its rare freshness of flavor and a texture still soft and moist.

Left-overs are thriftily reduced by the new deliciousness that FIVE ROSES flour imparts. Eager consumption is encouraged by the bright, porous texture, the well-aerated crumb, and the thin, tender crust without cracks.

When you buy FIVE ROSES flour, it is pleasant to know that you are getting more than mere Eating Qualities. You are practicing genuine Economy.

How to make over 200 Cakes Without Waste

In the famous FIVE ROSES Cook Book, there are hundreds of cake recipes without eggs and with few ingredients for the economical cook, hints for left-overs, and savings that reduce expense. ## An English Custom Becoming Quite Common in Canada

Every country has its national customs and habits.

For instance, England has the custom of serving afternoon tea.

English homes, stores, offices, factories, work shops, hotels and tea rooms serve afternoon tea. It is part of the national life of England.

Our soldiers poked fun at it, but were not long in acquiring the habit.

And they are not giving it up now that they are back home.

They are influencing a more general adoption of afternoon tea in Canada.

To-day this English custom is quite common in Canadian homes.

It is spreading. New tea rooms are opening all over Canada. Hotels are making a specialty of afternoon tea. The habit is invading offices, stores and work shops.

A few minutes rest in the afternoon with a cup of good tea is a wonderful reviver, giving new zest to the busy business man, stenographer, clerk and worker.

Afternoon tea is a good business proposition.

Easily and quickly made. Very inexpensive.

Weekly Chat Answers To Letters

Dear Young Folks:—Do you remember this time last year we were in the midst of a contest called Signs of Spring, and all the signs were beginning to appear and make things seem to be coming out of our contest early in March. Well, would not this be a poor year for such a contest? It does not seem possible that Mother Nature could make such headway this year even within warm rays of the sun which we have felt lately. To offset that warmth in the day time, fancy Jack Frost still hovers about each night and fills the winds with so much of his personality that even they have not the courage to whither "wake up" to any of the "pleasant things or flowers."

Don't you imagine all those things asleep under the earth—the worms, insects, and roots—will become very weary in waiting and no doubt will decide that Mother Nature has forgotten them entirely, but Oh! my! if they could see the great banks which still cover them wouldn't they settle down for another whole winter's sleep, for it does seem as if it would take months to remove the great white blankets which are now upon them. How ever, we as well as they may get a great big surprise for once Mother Nature decides to scatter the coverings and wake things up there will be something doing. With warm winds, warm rains and best of all warm sun, things must be accomplished even in a few days and Spring may not be so far away as it now appears. Let us hope so anyway and even though we have no Signs of Spring Contest, I expect the kiddies who live in the country to keep the city folk informed of all their notices which suggest the coming of Spring. Let us know which tree or shrub is showing its buds, leaves or flowers. We like to know of these things we may not have a chance to see.

This coming week we celebrate St. Patrick's Day and in honor of a good man who lived a few hundred years ago we may wear a touch of green. It is good to honor the memory of those who did much good in the days gone by and to think some of their lives and the examples they left. All these memories may help us to live true to our own motto of doing kindly, if not for the sake of the world, at least for our own sake. Possibly some of our energetic and ambitious friends of the Brain Test Puzzles are still trying to solve No. 9. I admit kiddies that I am hoping even if you can only get the message the boy gave it will be worth something to you—let us say five points and then the stenographer's answer would be worth five points more—I am hoping to get part of it answered anyway. Of course No. 8 was easy and would appeal to the younger members. You are really splendid girls and boys to take such an interest and it is very evident that this kind of a contest is very popular with the majority. I know your mothers had loved all the health laws in our chat last week, and how pleased she will be if you are obeying them all, one little friend says she is anyway, and no doubt many others can say the same. Do try and see how healthy wealthy and wise you will become.

Lots of the best of all that is good to the kiddies. UNCLE DICK. Good-Bye. "You look pleased with yourself today, old man," said the cashier as he unlocked his desk. "I am," said the chief clerk. "You know I live in a flat. Well, never in my life have I been so pleased to hear my neighbor's piano going as I was this morning. "Oh!" exclaimed the cashier, "is there a good pianist staying there?" "No, I heard it going away in a moving van."—London Ideas. Our Progressive Era. The deceased was three years of age. He was married and leaves his widow and two children, one aged seven years and the other four months.—Mt. Carmel (Ill.) Republican-Register.

"Now Albert, I told you I'd ride you on my back but I shan't do it if you don't stop walking around up there." Aunt Eppie Hoop, the Fatlest Woman in Three Counties.

When The Snow Shoes Of The Lynx Failed Him

Once Wabasso, the hare, carried his long ears erect, not resting upon his back. His eyes did not bulge with terror, as now. The great enemy he had of winter, arrived. Upwekkis was a great lynx. For Upwekkis, the cruel one never missed an opportunity to injure Wabasso and his tribe. But one year Upwekkis came straggling down from the far North, and made his home right among the haunts of Wabasso and his tribe. Soon he began to make war upon the peaceful hare, and, in fact, would run down every creature he could capture. Even the dappled fawns he preyed upon until they were safe in the fold for the winter.

But very gradually the long hair began to thicken and pad his powerful feet, so that by the time Peboam, god of winter, arrived, Upwekkis was wearing a set of fine, matted snow shoes upon his four feet. The den of the lynx family was not inviting. But over in a dim corner were two little tawny lynx kittens, their soft fur faintly striped. As the lynx kittens grew larger, before they were able to hunt for themselves, many of the helpless wild creatures began to suffer. Most of all did the tribe of Wabasso have trouble, for Upwekkis liked nothing better than to carry a fine plump hare back to his tawny kittens.

So, gradually, during the winter months the tribe of Wabasso was destroyed by the crafty lynx, until the only one left of the great hare family was just poor old Wabasso himself, for many of his kindred were so terrorized by Upwekkis that they wandered off to another country. But not so Wabasso, the bravest hare of his tribe. He alone remained, determined to conquer his enemy. Finally a way to the northward traveled Peboam, but he left a white snow blanket behind him. Out came Upwekkis, his matted snowshoes carrying him swiftly over the snow crusts which the frost had hardened like glass. Upwekkis was hungry, but luck was against him. True, he spied the thin waddling form of Moween, the black bear, fishing through an air hole in the ice, but Upwekkis did not go too near her, for once she had given him a badly scratched nose, the scars of which he still carried. At last, to his delight, he came upon the wide, lagging trail of Wabasso, the hare. Few could outrun Wabasso in a long race, and this Wabasso himself well knew. So he had made a plan to outwit the lynx by leading him a long chase, and if his plan worked, he would leave him alone after.

Puzzles How Little Black Bear Saved Her Cubs

A Jackie returned from the North Sea, was illustrating the way they mine-planters waters between German bays and the Grand Fleet. The mines were anchored so as to admit of straight tacks through the fields, and those safety lanes were so narrow that without a chart there was not one chance in a thousand of a vessel escaping through. The sketch illustrates one of these mine streets, and we are asked to discover a route from top to bottom which would admit of a ship's passage in two straight runs. You see, the ship would make but one turn in passing through the mines. See if you can use the above drawing and put in the course which must be straight though it could be starting. Make sure you are right before drawing any lines as in this puzzle the picture must be sent to show your answer.

CONTEST REPORT. The answers to No. 7 of the Brain Test Contest have been most numerous, probably because it was such an easy one. As it was particularly for the younger members, age has been considered in awarding the points. For the benefit of those unable to solve the puzzle, as usual we will print the method of obtaining the answer. The first picture was a "scop" take away the second which was a "coop" leaving the letter "s" add to that "nail" and you have the word "SNAIL" which is the correct answer. Some little folks sent in the word "snail" without showing how they got it and that is what all were asked to do. The work should be shown in full. Owing to such a very large number of correct answers being received near the same time by so many of the younger members we are obliged to give points to more than three of the contestants. So that the winners are five points each for No. 7 Brain Test answer. Alice M. Keswick, Hartland. Stanley Cassidy, Sussex. Arnold DeBolis Best, Granville Centre, N. S. Eliza Macka, Amegano. Harold McMan, Newmarket Creek. Arthur C. Cox, Young's Cove. C. Wilbur Pallen, Dalhousie. John Mack, Hantsport. Marjorie Schriver, Smithtown. Clarence B. Searle, Chatham. Laura Fierwelling, Oak Point.

"BUCKLE MY SHOE." "One, two. Buckle my shoe." With this rhyme our great-grandparents helped to teach their children to count. And it refers to things with which they were familiar. Today nobody buckles shoes, though women wear the buckle as an ornament. It is a survival, like the button at the back of a frock coat, that once held up a sword-belt. "Three" four, Knock at the door." They had great big knockers fastened on the door, not for ornament but for use, though some of them were very beautiful, and the noise they made was loud and hollow and a little terrifying. Today we push the button, and the cave-dweller above jiggles the latch until we open the door and climb up. But in those days the dog barked and everybody rushed to the door to see who was coming. "Five, six. Pick up sticks." "Seven, eight. Lay them straight!" Imagine your grandfather as a little boy piling up the firewood and the kindling that he gathered near the chopping block—not merely chips, but larger pieces that could be piled—and the nice, tidy looks of things when he got through. "Nine, ten. A good fat hen." They kept chickens, too, and the children gathered eggs, and when company came the fowl they had was well selected. It was a hen not some crowing old rooster that came all dressed from cold storage. They plucked and singed it themselves, and used the feathers for quilts and pillows. "Eleven, twelve. Dig and delve." Gesticulate! Did the children have to study as hard as that? No, my dear. They did not dig into books, but into the garden with a spade and it tilled their backs, but they got all sorts of fine things to eat. And they did not delve into the history of the past, but with that same spade they made ditches and cellars and wells and nice, big caves or "root houses" where they could keep the turnips for the cattle and all the other "roots" that they didn't put in the cellar. What a life they had, but they did not bother about the H. C. I.

"Isn't Miss Boodelle a particular friend of yours?" "Yes, that's the trouble. She's too particular. She refused me last night." Hindenburg was the great figurehead of the war, and now it is proposed to make him President of Germany. Apparently the German people are determined to find out whether there is anything to him at all, except a screw.

NOVA SCOTIA FARMERS UP IN ARMS AT PROPOSED
CONFISCATION OF RIGHTS

Rich Deposits of Potash Salts Have Been Discovered in the Malagash Peninsula—N. S. Legislature Has Passed Act
Vesting All Mineral Rights in the Province, Regardless of the Vested Interests of the Owners of the Soil.

Amherst, N. S., March 12.—A gathering of farmers at Malagash Point, Cumberland County, put on record and have forwarded to the Premier of Nova Scotia and the members of the Assembly for the County a series of resolutions denouncing the government for interference with their mineral rights.
It was received, among other things, "that the Premier has taken the landowner's rights in minerals pertaining to the old grants... without notice, or discussion, is unjust, arbitrary and subversive of parliamentary practice and usage; calculated to diminish the confidence of the electorate in the integrity and functions of the body legislative and bring it into contempt."
The effect of the Cameron Act so called, is also declared to be "in the nature of confiscation, and interference with vested rights and an attempt to dispossess the landowners in the interests of others... doubtless advantaged by special knowledge of the enactment of May 17, 1919, as the landowners were not."
The legislation which led to the meeting and inspired the resolutions was passed on the last day of the session of the Nova Scotia Legislature in May, last year. It was introduced by Mr. D. A. Cameron, M. L. A., for Cape Breton. It vested in the Crown all minerals in this province, including those of the Old Grants which descended to landowners who were the heirs and assigns of the proprietors of Nova Scotia, since 1854, without a break; and before that with only an interval of dispossession when the royal prerogative put its all-powerful hand upon them.
The Malagash peninsula is underlain with salt, containing high percentages of potash. By the 1919 Cameron Act private ownership was wiped out. Options were set aside and negotiations for sale at big figures disbanded and interrupted.
Whereupon prospectors and miners rushed in and blanketed the territory, putting it under license and leases, disregarding the farmers by the government warrant. Before the farmers had awakened to the new conditions, under the new act, their proprietary rights in minerals had vanished. And now they are

The true state of affairs has just come fully to their knowledge. The value of the potash deposits is said to exceed that of the coal fields of Germany, while the geological conditions, similar in stratification are more easily overcome than in Europe.
There is but little doubt that the discovery even now ranks as one that will rivet the economic attention of the world on Nova Scotia, and provide potash fertilizer and other salt by-products on a scale that will rival Germany. So the geologists and assayers assert in unqualified language and with confidence.
The annual report of the Minister of Mines of Nova Scotia gives a tardy lifeless and bald official recognition of the fact that potash is present in the three hundred foot layer of salt, and the official comment is that this thing is "of great importance."
The area underlain with salt is supposed to extend from Salt Springs to Malagash Point, some forty-five miles in length, and perhaps fifteen in breadth, between six hundred and seven hundred square miles. This is exclusive of possible areas under the Northumberland Strait.
The Cameron Act applies generally to the whole of Nova Scotia. In Cumberland County and in the salt area the equities of several thousands of farmers are set aside. Millions of dollars are involved, having regard to prices per acre, and the values held where the salt actually has been struck.
The farmers at first were stupefied at the magnitude of their prospective losses under the new Act. Now they are beginning to wake up.
Those at Malagash called a public meeting last week and Mr. P. J. Miller, K. C., of Amherst was invited to present the matter in the light of the law, and the statutes. He spoke by the book, making a judicial presentation, during which he challenged the contradiction of his assertion that such legislation as the Cameron Act was without precedent in British enactment since Magna Charta. He clinched the statement by quoting English jurists to that end, such declaration having been made by them only in April last, in a cause celebre in London.
Besides the resolution passed a petition is now being circulated and signed in the Malagash district voicing the farmers strong protest and praying that reconsideration be not denied.

Only recently it has developed that the Cameron Law may still be ineffective. The lawyers have unearthed another section in the statutes of 1910, which they declare specially re-enacts the mineral law regarding pioneer ownership in the old grants. It is said the government will repeal this at the present session; that is the general expectation. Against this action there is loud clamor.
Falling all else, the farmers will call upon Ottawa for a disallowance of the Cameron Act. Meetings were held, petitions and resolutions are in prospect.
The Act mentioned was received at Ottawa on November 28th, 1919, and there remains until that date of this year in which it may be declared ineffective by the Federal authorities.
The whole matter will also be presented to the executive of the United Farmers at their next meeting by a Malagash delegation, who will ask for assistance in their fight.
Meanwhile the government authorities have not broken the silence since the clamor began some three weeks ago. The Legislature is now in session. The presentation of the Malagash petition next week will probably draw forth some official defence of what now appears to be an indefensible proceeding, according to all parliamentary practices and precedents.

FOR NORTH END.
Plans for the establishment of a playground in the North End have been prepared by the North End Improvement League. The site chosen is situated at the end of Lansdowne avenue, between Dufferin avenue and the Ride Range, and is 650 feet in length and 400 feet in width. There is provision for a baseball diamond, football gridiron, quoits, tennis court, volleyball, basketball and a skating rink. A blueprint of the area, on file in City Hall, shows that a splendid grounds ample for the needs of even so populous a section as the North End, is available and could be developed at a comparatively small cost.

Easy to Make This Fine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families suffer by the pains of cough, cold, influenza, and severe colds.
You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs.
The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.
Fine cough syrups are combinations of pine and sugar syrup.
To make this fine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pine (30 cents worth) in a 16-oz.
bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.
You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business.
The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the irritation of phlegm. In either case is the same—inflamed membrane—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness,
or any ordinary throat ailment.
Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pine with directions, and don't accept anything else, guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine

The "Maritime Farmer" Falls Foul of Programme of U. F. Organization

AS BEING FORMED IN PURELY SELFISH INTERESTS OF THE WESTERN PROVINCES

Calls Upon the Farmers of the Maritime Provinces to Repudiate All Connection With U. F. O. Unless Their Interests Are Given Equal Consideration With Those of the West, and Not to Allow Themselves to be "Catspaws for a Clique Who Are Out to Further Their Own Particular Ends."

(Maritime Farmer.)

The Maritime Farmer is about to utter heresy.

It believes that the farmers of the Maritime Provinces are being sold out by one of the most important newspapers that has ever been published in Canada.

For years the Maritime Farmer has been an organization among the farmers in the Maritime Provinces. It has been only recently that it has been taken in Canada.

There are in the Maritime Provinces thousands of farmers for whom the Maritime Farmer has saved thousands of dollars by putting in practice what it preached.

But the Maritime Farmer has in view a different kind of organization to that which is being presently attempted in the Maritime.

It has in view an organization whose freedom of speech will be guaranteed; an organization in which any man may be permitted to use the brains and the good common sense, with which Providence so generously endowed the people of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

It did not have in mind an organization in which the farmers of these three provinces were to dance to tunes composed in Winnipeg, and to hop to strings manipulated by the same artists.

The United Farmers of New Brunswick is an organization which pins its faith to a political constitution laid down absolutely in the interests of Western farmers. In its preparation no voice from the East was heard. It is a dictum, as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and the Persians, except insofar as the strong majority whose interests it was framed will permit of its amendment.

To become an associate in advancing the ideals of the United Farmers, one must absolutely accept the whole doctrine or none. There is no halfway.

If you think differently you must nevertheless do as the Romans do.

If a United Farmer member of parliament chooses to use his brains or to act in any other way, except as he may be directed, he is liable to a recall and told to about his business and give way to more servile menials.

This is somewhat different to the methods of Maritime Province practice. We have had men who "DARED" say what they thought. We have more of them. The Howes, Tappers, Johnstons, Blairs, and their like, met big issues and dared to oppose. And may we preserve that tradition of ours, and fail again to be led like sheep by every demagogue that chooses to prattle pretty promises, which up to the present have not been fulfilled in these parts.

The Maritime Farmer is a journal which believes in the east. It thinks rightly or wrongly that the interests of the east and west are not at all in keeping. Our farmers FARM. Most of the western farmers MINE. They not only want the earth, but they are reaching out for some of the planets.

At present they are insisting that the government again buy their wheat at fancy prices and force the rest of Canada to pay the bill. We say no. Not only do we say "no" to that, but we again urge the farmers of these provinces to protest against any such use of the monies of this country, unless the farmers of the Maritime Provinces are accorded like treatment. The United Farmers of the west are going to Ottawa to force that unholty proposition on the government of the Dominion. Just so surely will every farmer continue to pay exorbitant prices for his flour and feeds for the next year. The United States has decided to have no more price fixing. Then why should we continue to pay an unheard of tax to the United Farmers of the West? The men who are doing this thing are the same men who are professing brotherly love for the farmers of the east, but who at the same time are making an attempt to rifle their victims' pockets as have pockets never been rifled before.

It is against such absolutely contradictory methods that the Maritime Farmer protests. If wheat is to get special treatment, then let us have our potato growers looked after. Where is all the performance that was promised by the United Farmers in the marketing of potatoes? Has a single business-like effort been made to improve the condition of the farmers of the potato growing counties of this province? Has any person heard of any delegation being sent to Ottawa to urge the absence of the man who grow "spuds"?

Why the Big Stake?

Speaking at the United Farmers of New Brunswick convention at Woodstock, Mr. Pratt, of the Grain Growers' Guide, Winnipeg, was asked what would happen if the Maritime offshoot of the Grain Growers' Guide goes broke.

Mr. Pratt replied to the effect that "The paper would not be permitted to fall while there was a dollar behind the Grain Growers' Guide, as the management realized that the failure of the paper would mean the failure of the 'FURTHERANCE OF THE OBJECTS OF THE GRAIN GROWERS OF THE WEST'."

MAY WE ASK WHAT ARE THE OBJECTS WHICH INDUCES A PLEDGE OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS?

WHY ARE THE GRAIN GROWERS SO WILLING TO RISK HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN "FURTHERANCE OF THE OBJECTS OF THE GRAIN GROWERS OF THE WEST"?

IT MUST BE A BIG GAME.

every branch a profit on every purchase made. That is to say a branch United Farmer store, must not only pay the wholesale price ruling at the time of purchase, but it must pay a second wholesale profit to the head office at Woodstock. And for rendering "what service?" For rendering the same service that the Maritime Farmer has been giving to scores of farm organizations in this province and in Nova Scotia without charging a single cent for that service. And yet we are asked to view the United Farmer organization as at present constituted—as something purely charitable and philanthropic.

Gentle reader, the Maritime Farmer sold car after car of feed and flour this year to farmers in the Maritime Provinces just one hundred dollars per car cheaper than the United Farmers sold the same commodities from their stores. Did you get it? We said one hundred dollars per car cheaper?

It was because of his knowledge of these things that the Maritime Farmer refused the offer of Winnipeg to acquire this paper. The Maritime Farmer made up its mind that if there was to be a campaign of Big Promises, there would be at least one paper left with sufficient courage to say something about the hoax.

We believe that it is good for the farmers to organize, but we believe that the United Farmers of New Brunswick, or the United Farmers of Nova Scotia, or the United Farmers of Prince Edward Island should be the United Farmers of New Brunswick or the United Farmers of Nova Scotia or the United Farmers of Prince Edward Island. We do not believe that they should be that in name only, and be dictated to by Winnipeg and the West.

The recent meeting of the United farmers at Woodstock was attended by about 200 delegates. Some 2000 farmers were expected. The program was one calculated to make farmers believe that there was nothing left on earth for the farmer except what Winnipeg in due course will supply. (Probably the increased price for flour and feeds will be the most notable contribution to this section.) A resolution demanding a Canadian born Governor-General was widely debated. Yet when the question of forcing the Dominion government to provide abolition facilities for the Maritime Provinces was brought up, Mr. A. E. Trites, of Salsbury, and C. F. Alward, of Havelock, two of the sanest men in this province, were given about three minutes in which to lay the important facts in their possession before the meeting. Yet only a few short months ago the United Farmers were very insistent upon the inauguration of a scheme which they dismissed in three minutes. The rest of the time was spent in lining up schemes in accord with the program adopted at Winnipeg.

The Nova Scotia delegates to the convention were given a warm welcome as others. And let the maritime Farmer say right here, that the United Farmer delegates could have heard more to their advantage and profit from Mr. Trites and Mr. Alward than they would have from some of the visionary importations who addressed the various meetings.

It is in view of these things that we point out to the farmers of Eastern Canada the strong advisability of organizing in their own interests. The Grain Growers are establishing a paper to inflict upon farmers of the Maritime Provinces the views of Winnipeg. It is represented to the farmers as being "their paper." It isn't. It is controlled from Winnipeg, and it will say what Winnipeg wants it to say. The director of the paper will be Mr. O. F. Chipman, who is an employee of the Grain Growers' Guide. The Grain Growers' Guide is the mouth-piece of the very men who ask that the farmers in this part of Canada be attacked for their feeds and their flour. The Grain Growers' Guide also professes to be owned by farmers; it is owned by Hon. Mr. Crozier and one or two others. The farmers share is represented by his subscription. In the same way every reader of the Maritime Farmer is a part owner. Mr. Chipman will run the new paper as he is told to run it. He will advocate western ideas, properly coated for eastern consumption and will try and sell-back to a still greater extent the farmers of Eastern Canada.

The Maritime Farmer would like to see a purely Maritime Province organization, run in the interests of the farmers of the three provinces. It would like to see an organization which will be for the farmers, for the farmers and by the farmers; but we mean Eastern farmers.

We commend to the attention of Eastern farmers the views of Mr. Pratt, of the Grain Growers' Guide, which are published in a pamphlet on this page. What are the ideals which Mr. Pratt of the United Farmers of the West would impose on the farmers of the East?

He used strong language. Until the last dollar goes, he declared, the United Farmers of the west (not the east mind you), will see that their paper survives. There must be something big at stake to pledge so much. The Grain Growers Guide is in itself a very wealthy corporation. Back of it is the Grain Growers with a two million surplus. What is it that they would introduce into these provinces which makes it worth while to pledge such large funds? People do not risk fortunes for fun and the history of the western Grain Growers, as shown by their surplus, is not along the line of good fellowship. We ask again what has this organization in view? Is the Maritime Farmer not warranted in its "Beware?"

Get together. Not get together in our own interests (eastern interests), it is the warning the Maritime Farmer again issues.

And the Maritime Farmer is not the only doubter. President Wood, of the Alberta United Farmers, recently denounced their methods at the Convention of this year. He declared that he was told that he must say from the platform nothing but what he might be told to say by the political committee. Mr. Wood was a big enough man to refuse to swallow the dose. He was re-elected President.

On Thursday, February 12th, during the annual United Farmers' convention at Saskatoon, the Secretary, J. B. Muschman, declared point blank, changed the Association with being the catspaw for a clique who were out to further their own political ends, and warned them that their attitude was placing the Association in an absolute state of chaos.

These are charges by the President of the Alberta branch and the Secretary of the Saskatchewan branch. They are not remarks by the Maritime Farmer. If they won't stand for game in the west, why should the farmers of the Maritime Provinces tie up with a movement which is to their own disadvantage. Let us have all the United Farmers that may be, but let us run our own machinery. It is quite unnecessary, in quote Secretary Muschman, for Maritime Province farmers to be "catspaws for a clique who are out to further their own political ends."

INDIAN TOWN FERRY.

Ferry steamer E. Ross has been returned to the Bedford Construction Company and towed to East St. John, where repairs are being effected. Negotiations are being conducted by the county commissioners for the purchase of a new steamer for the Indian town ferry service, and a suitable vessel has been located at Yarmouth, N. S. Several prospects had been given attention, but for the most part the boats were found to be too large and the price asked considered prohibitive. There will be no ferry steamer put on the route until after the ice has cleared from the river, as with the ice running in quantities it is impossible to run a steamer successfully and to put a new boat on and then take her off while the ice run is on is considered impracticable. In the meantime, two rowboats with rowers are giving a satisfactory service for winter traffic.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says indigestion results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyperacidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sour in the stomach much like garbage sour in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity. Remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Loss of Strength Through Indigestion

The Stomach Can Only Do Its Work When the Blood is Rich and Red.

Indigestion means loss of strength to many people. Loss of strength, loss of time and loss of money follows indigestion and debility continues as long as the indigestion remains. Workers suffer from indigestion because their hours are long, and often they cannot give proper time to meals. Then the appetite becomes flabby, indigestion becomes feeble and the blood becomes impoverished. So the general health suffers; languor, nervous troubles and often sleeplessness follows. It is well to remember that the whole system relies upon good blood and that good blood is impossible unless the digestion is good. The stomach cannot do its work unless the blood is made rich and red, and so new blood alone can cure indigestion. It is for this reason that a remedy like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which makes new, rich blood, cures indigestion and builds up the whole system. The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is proven by the statement of Mr. R. E. Small, Wingham, Ont., who says: "The truthfulness of my statement can be proven by scores of my friends and acquaintances. I am a glove cutter by trade and for six long years have at times been a great sufferer from complications of illness chiefly due to indigestion. Gas would accumulate on the stomach causing me great pain: I would blot up at times and almost suffocate, and often when at work would be overcome by a drowsy oppression which was almost insupportable. Finally I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking seven boxes I feel like a new man. The transformation they have made in me is simply remarkable, and while using them I gained thirteen pounds in weight. I may add that I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a result of what they did for a niece, who underwent a critical operation, and who did not regain her strength until she started using the pills. In her case they fully restored her health, and this encouraged me to begin their use, with, as I have already said, a complete restoration of health in my own case." You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Burglars' Day In Police Court

Of Seven Cases Yesterday Five Were for Theft—Ranged from Theft of Hack Saw to Ocean Voyage.

It has become a custom of this morning to have special days for all manner of things, and yesterday was "Burglars' Day" in the Police Court. Of the seven cases heard, five were for theft, ranging from the theft of a hack saw to an ocean voyage. A charge of breaking and entering the steamer Madeste, in Indian town, and stealing tools and a pair of rubber boots, valued at $20, was preferred against Gilbert Milberry, aged 29; Harper Ross, aged 18, and Leo Lynch, also aged 18. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were remanded. The Hoffman case was resumed, with Detective Robert Crawford on the stand. J. A. Barry, one of the counsel for the three boys accused of the theft, cross-examined the witness, who said that Hoffman told him he wanted no prosecution, but merely his goods back. E. J. Hennessey also cross-examined the witness. Police man Gibbs was the only witness called in the case against Albert Ritchie, charged with stealing cloth from Dressick's tailor shop on Main street. His evidence closed the case for the prosecution, which was postponed till Monday at eleven. A stayaway from the S. S. Minnow was ordered sent back to England. Thomas Herbert, charged with being drunk on the ferry, and with assaulting James Mulochy, was remanded to jail. Owing to his condition, a man charged with drunkenness was unable to appear in court.

CANADA INTERDEPENDENT

Many bankers and business men in Canada were little concerned before the war with the happenings beyond our borders. They might take the interest any alert man felt in the human drama unfolding in all its bewildering variety before his eyes but it was a somewhat detached interest. Today we are perforce citizens of the world. War made the world one armed camp. Peace is binding all mankind in common tasks and common troubles. Little happens abroad that does not soon find an echo within our shores. Soviet demagogues stand on their glorified soap boxes in Moscow and their words take wing to every corner of the world. Toronto Y.M.C.A. Asking For Funds

Owing to the urgent need for proper housing and recreational facilities for girls and young women who must board in the city, the executives of the Young Women's Christian Association and the Dominion Council have decided to institute a joint campaign in Toronto on May 4, 5 and 6 of this year, for funds for this purpose. They aim to raise $60,000, to be known as the Blue Triangle Fund, thus making use of the well-known emblem of the association. The local Y. W. C. A. opened their first boarding houses for girls in June, 1873, and have gradually expanded until at present they have nearly a dozen cottages in Toronto where the young, homeless women of the city either board or meet for instruction or recreation. For nearly fifty years these institutions have been supported partly by fees, partly by private subscriptions. Now, to keep up with the demands upon them it is necessary to erect a large building with two floors of boarding houses, a recreational room and club rooms in recreational room and club rooms in the east end of the city. Plans are already begun for a similar building in West Toronto, and the very inadequate central building on McGill street must be replaced by a new one. To meet these demands the Y. W. C. A. is about to seek, for the first time, the financial co-operation of the citizens of Toronto.

The case of Goodwin vs Guthrie was before Mr. Justice Chandler in Chambers yesterday on an application by the defendant to have the affidavit to hold to bail and the arrest set aside. The defendant, a returned soldier, having been arrested on a specially endorsed writ of Capias the principal grounds of the application were: 1.—That there is no authority under the Judicature Act to specially endorse a writ of Capias. 2.—That the affidavit did not show that the debt claimed by the plaintiff was due and His Honor set aside the affidavit and arrest on the second grounds but held that though there is no authority for specially endorsing a writ of Capias, doing so does not render the writ void. Costs to be paid to the defendant in any event. William M. Ryan represented the plaintiff and H. W. Robertson, the defendant.

Since I discovered the Great Sweetener

"In the making of cakes, muffins and delicate tea biscuits, I find that the use of CROWN BRAND Syrup not only supplies the requisite sweetening, but it brings out the flavor of the blended ingredients, and, more than everything else, brings a lasting freshness of flavor. Since I discovered 'The Great Sweetener' my cakes are more palatable and digestible. They don't dry out so rapidly, don't crack nor get stale. And then, CROWN BRAND Syrup is so reasonably priced."

"The Great Sweetener," as I have learned to call CROWN BRAND Syrup, is a great help in the preparation of pie fillings, icings, etc. Mince meat, for instance, gains in mellowness, body and flavor, besides gaining in keeping qualities. Puddings are more palatable, lighter and more digestible—because Crown Syrup is already partially digested by its wonderful process of manufacture. Then, when you are icing a cake, think of the smoothness and the softness your icing receives by using CROWN BRAND, without the cloying sweetness and hardness from using sugar alone."

"The food value of candy is very high, but so is the price of sugar! CROWN BRAND Syrup is invaluable in making candy, and it is so reasonably priced! CROWN BRAND candies are softer; they can be better pulled, and because of this are more healthful. A candy that melts in the mouth is much more delightful than a hard, brittle piece of cloying sweetness. Think of soft, pliable, mouth-watering caramels, butter scotch or toffee, and you will need no further urging for using 'The Great Sweetener.'"
