CLARKE & CO.'S CLOTHING AD.

Our stock of "made to fit" clothing is very large, larger perhaps than we have ever had. The range of goods is so varied and comprehensive, with such a variety of prices, that no one need despair of getting suited.

We have serge suits, double breasted, heavy twill serge at $7.00. At $8.50 our Surprise Serge Suits, navy and black. We mean that the price surprises every one that sees them.

Better quality serge suits at $10.00 and $12.00. We have all the sizes 36 to 42. We do not confine ourselves to serge suits however, believing that in the cheapest grades, tweeds, are more serviceable and in the better grades more dressy, we have laid in an excellent stock of tweeds and all wool worsteds.

Our tweed suits start at $5.00, for a good strong serviceable suit. At $5.75, $6.50, $6.75 and $8.25 we have a very fine range of strong durable suits, that look well and will give good satisfaction.

But for real nobby dressy suits see ours at $10.00 to $12.50. No use to try and describe them, they speak for themselves.

The patterns have been selected with the present view of suiting the dressy young man. The tailoring is excellent.

The most of them are single breasted, but we have one line of black clay worsted, double breasted, silk faced at $12.50. A beauty. Youth suits in tweeds and serge. Boys suits all sizes 4 to 10 years.

It is only a few weeks since we got in our stock of small boys suits and already we have had to reorder to fill up the gaps which show that the public appreciate our prices and goods.

THE LOUNSBURY BLOCK.

A Magnificent Brick Building Recently Completed and now Occupied.

About two years ago when it was announced that the late G. A. Lounsbury, Esq., had succeeded in purchasing the site on which stood the old Waverley and the ruins of which had been an eye sore since its destruction some years ago the citizens would gladly have known that that corner would soon be graced by a building that would be a credit to the town and to the builder, but when last spring the foundation was laid and the work progressed they were astonished and delighted at the magnitude of the structure. The front, facing the public square is one hundred and two feet wide and facing Pleasant street has a frontage of seventy eight feet.

The foundation of the structure is of grey sandstone while the trimmings throughout the brickwork are of the same material, which adds much to the appearance of the block. On the corner facing the Post Office is a large slab of grey sandstone on which is carved "Lounsbury Block 1901." The building is three stories.

On the first floor are situated the handsome and spacious offices and show rooms of the Lounsbury Company, Limited, the Bank of Nova Scotia and the store of John Ferguson.

The second floor, front is divided off into handsome offices, and the Advocate was informed that they were all taken. Two large rooms on the corner by the Y. M. C. A., while T. W. Butler Esq. and Dr. Cairns occupy the next and Prof. Layton the latter two. These offices are large and airy, well lighted and are heated with hot water, hardwood floors and wainscoted. They all overlook the park which makes the situation a very pleasant one. Entrance is by a stairway facing the square. The rear part of the second floor is devoted to storing a part of the large stock of farm implements of the Lounsbury Company, Ltd. Mr. Ferguson also has a store room on this floor.

The third floor is the full size of the building and is already stocked with all manner of goods carried by the Lounsbury Co. Ltd. A freight elevator runs from the basement to the top floor facilitating the handling of heavy goods.

In the basement are the furnaces to heat the building, also the rooms for heavy farm machinery and under Mr. Ferguson's store he has a large ware room for the storage of heavy stock. At the time of the reporter's visit there were in the basement about six carloads of heavy farm machinery comprising two cars of mowers and binders, two cars of ploughs and cultivators, one car of rakes and a car of heavy truck wagons.

The first floor is worthy of more than passing notice. Herein are the offices of The Lounsbury Company, Ltd. These are situated to the rear, with entrance from Pleasant street, or from the square, through the show room. These offices are handsomely finished, the woodwork being of British Columbia cedar. The manager's office is cozy, having a mantle and grate and all modern office improvements. The large show room for the exhibition of carriages, buggies, pianos, etc., has two large plate glass windows facing the square which light the large room and show up to advantage the large variety of goods shown.

Here are exhibited the latest and the most up-to-date styles of buggies, light road wagons with rubber tires, piano body, etc., young men's buggies, campers, in fact every kind of vehicle now on the market, and it is worth a visit to see these things even if you do not care to purchase one.

On the corner is situated the office of the Bank of Nova Scotia. The mere statement that it is handsome fails to convey an adequate idea of the interior of this enterprising establishment. The fittings are of antique oak, hand polished, with trimmings of brass. The manager's private office is finished of the same material. The whole makes one of the handsomest banking offices in the province. The fittings were supplied and placed into position by the Ontario Furniture Co., Ltd.

The store which is shortly to be occupied by Mr. John Ferguson is being fitted up in the latest and most approved pattern. Mr. Ferguson sparing neither time nor expense to procure the best on the market and when he opens up in his new store we predict that he will have one of the finest stores in the Maritime provinces. In the front are two large plate glass display windows in which to display goods. The sides of the store have been shelved, the reception of goods, and the counter each a work of art in position. The counters are of the glass top variety of stone are a fine piece of workmanship, fully demonstrating that it is not necessary to put of town to get anything in this line while the firm of Anderson & Son is in instance. Mr. Norman, Anderson who the carving and under whose supervision they were constructed is to be complimented on their fine appearance.

About midway in the store and to the left side is situated the office which though small, is neat and white the store itself painted white, the office interior is a pure cream being finished in oak.

Mr. Ferguson is moving in and expects to be open for business in the course of a week.

The building was erected by Contract John McDonald of Chatham from plans and specification prepared by H. H. McDonald and it reflects great credit on them, the contractor for the manner in which he carried out the plans and specifications, the architect for the able manner in which he planned the structure.

The interior woodwork was done by Thos. Power and it is needless to say it is a fine piece of work, as reputation is well known.

Mr. Wm. Murray, of the finishing, oiling and graining manner which has brought his work of praise from one of such matters. Mr. Lounsbury, the founder, was fated to be called to rest before the completion of the block. This estate is being administered by the Lounsbury Company, Ltd. and the president and G. C. Hay of the company.

SERENADED.

T. W. G. Hay Honored by the Band.

Friday night the Newcastle Orange Band of which T. W. Hay was a member, serenaded him at the residence of Mrs. Anslow, Pleasant street.

About eight o'clock the band marched from their room, up Pleasant street playing one of their favorite marches and stopped at the above mentioned residence where they cut up a very pleasant evening was passed. The band played a number of their best selections, which were interspersed with songs, dances, etc. Mr. Hay in a few well chosen words thanked the band and his friends for the honor done him and hope that in Africa he would be able to stand the hardships which were ever a soldier's lot and at the end of a year come back to Newcastle to the pleasant associations he was having. This was replied to by the band song, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

T. W. Hay, left for Halifax Saturday morning. A large number of friends assembled at the station to bid him farewell and God speed.

FOUND DEAD.

Bad Case Reported From Moncton.

Moncton, N. B. April 28.—The lifeless body of Frank Brown, a well known young man was found in Mechanic street fire station this morning about 5.30. About that hour Curry McKinnon, son of Peter McKinnon, driver of the city team, who lives over the engine room, went into the stable and noticed young Brown lying in a sleeping attitude at the end of the stable. He thought that the young man was asleep. A few moments later Mrs. McKinnon passed through the stable to empty some ashes out the back door and also noticed the prostrate form lying behind the stable door. The position in which the young man lay aroused her fears and upon closer inspection she saw he was apparently dead. She at once notified her husband, who went down and ascertained that the unfortunate young man was beyond all human assistance. Deceased was 35 years old, and the son of Harvey Brown, blacksmith.

At the inquest this morning the verdict was that deceased came to his death from excessive drinking and falling from a box.

BOWSER'S QUEST.

He Goes Out to Dig Roots to Make Spring Beer.

It was a morning of glad sunshine and soft skies and singing birds, but Mr. Bowser got up feeling lousy. At breakfast he had little appetite, and he dragged his legs as he went upstairs, and Mrs. Bowser finally said:

"I think you ought to let up on smoking for a week or so, and get the nicotine out of your system."

What has smoking to do with it? he demanded.

"I think you smoke too much. It may be, however, that you have grown too fat again."

Too fat again? When was I ever too fat before? There isn't an ounce of extra fat on me, and you know it. You seem to want to pick a fuss this morning.

I don't want that, of course, but if I were you I'd get a tonic or something. I'm quite sure your blood is out of order.

Mr. Bowser looked at his tongue in the glass over the mantle, dalled with a pimple on his chin, and finally he turned and observed:

What's the matter with me is that spring is here, and I need an old-fashioned tonic made of roots. It's worth 40 times anything a doctor can prescribe. I used to always dig the roots for mother when I was a boy. She made a sort of beer of it, and it was the greatest thing for the blood you ever saw.

Well, you might engage a farmer to dig you some roots, suggested Mrs. Bowser, though feeling certain in advance of his answer.

Think I see myself! I don't go to die of poison just yet. What I want is to take the dirt and go out after my own sassafras, sweet scilla, spiceweed, and several other kinds, and walk will also do me good. I'll show the cook how to make beer, and I'll be the thing of the town.

Very well, but of course you'll be careful. It is many years since I saw a boy.

A thousand or more, he sarcastically replied after a glare at her. If you didn't take advantage of my possible occasion to call on me, I'd be happy. However, if I happen to know sassafras, spiceweed, I'll take the con-

Bowser had nothing further to say while the cat sat up with a look on her face, and Mr. Bowser donned an old suit of clothes and went on his trip. He looked happy as he got fairly started, and paid no attention to the three wicked boys who yelled and wanted to know what was going out to dig wood-

A yellow car was soon seen heading him countryward, and his lousy feeling was soon replaced by a picky one. He was a man working for $1.68 a day and consequently had no sentiment about him.

You don't expect to find clams out this way, do you? he asked as Mr. Bowser got off the car.

Who said I did? was the reply.

Nobody. I only judged so from your looks. You'll be disappointed old man. Used to be millions of em roosting in the trees, but an epidemic of whooping cough came along and choked em to death. You might run down a mud turtle, though, if you wind is good.

Mr. Bowser was hopping mad in a minute, and he put down his basket and spade, with the idea of punching the man's head. Then he suddenly realized that it was all Mrs. Bowser's fault, and that he'd make her pay for it when he got home, and he picked up his utensils and journeyed on. Spring was certainly at hand. He saw robins flitting, and he found mudholes 20 feet across. He saw lambs frisking and fell off a fence and split his coat up the back. The buds were bursting into blossom, and the meadows taking on a vivid green, but these things seemed somewhat offset by an old one-horned cow running him along the highway for a quarter of a mile and splashing him with mud from head to heel. It was only after an hour's walk that Mr. Bowser gained the primeval forest. It was primeval because there was as much as three acres of it, and the acres were under mortgage altogether and under water to a large extent. However, it was in the primeval forest that he used to dig roots when he was a bouncing boy, and he looked around him with expectancy. The mud dried on his eyebrows and the water squashed out of his shoes as he searched around, but he didn't permit those trifling incidents to come in harmony with the occasion. It was only when he paused before a milkweed plant that was getting ready for a spring bloom that he began to doubt his knowledge of rootology. He was digging it up to see whether it was sassafras or sweet flag when the old farmer who owned the primeval subject to mortgage, came that way looking for a stray hog.

What ye lookin' for? he queried, with suspicion in his tones.

Roots, brusquely replied Mr. Bowser, roots to make a spring beer for the blood.

And do ye want milkweed and skunk's cabbage to make yer tonic? Them's the only kind that grows around here. Who be ye anyhow? My name is Bowser.

I never heard of it before, but I don't like the sound of it. Sounds like the name of a man who'd steal hogs. I'd be much obliged to ye if ye'd root yerself out of this.

I want to find some spring roots, protested Mr. Bowser, as he choked his anger back; sassafras, spiceweed, sassafras and so forth. You must have heard of root beer. Our mothers used to make it for the blood, you know.

Yes, I may hev, replied the farmer, but I've also heard of hog thieves. I've missed a spotted hog an if ye've stole him I'll foller ye to state prison.

Say, you old puddin' head, do you mean to insult me? shouted the root seeker as he boiled over at last.

Git outter my woods or it will be the wuss for ye.

I won't do it.

Then I'll make ye.

There was a mortal combat. The farmer was the oldest and had a bow to his back, but Mr. Bowser was the fattest, and had less wind. It was an even thing for five minutes, and then Mr. Bowser got up and climbed the fence and went home, leaving spade and basket and the farmer behind. He had been rolled in the soft muck, and he had been rolled in the ponds of water, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon a dilapidated, dejected something appeared in the front hall of the Bowser mansion without having rung the bell. Mrs. Bowser looked at it, and the cat looked at it, and while they were still peering and wondering it suddenly uttered these words:

Woman, your murderous plot has been laid bare in all its wickedness and you and I will have a settlement this evening. Then it dragged itself upstairs, and the cat winked at Mrs. Bowser and she smiled in return.

HART'S RIVER FIGHT.

KLERKSDORP, April 3.—The commando under General Delarey sustained a serious reverse at our hands on Monday last. The engagement took place at Klerksdorp, on the Brakspruit, about sixty miles to the west of Klerksdorp, and resulted in perhaps the most decisive check that the Boer general has met with during the whole course of his remarkable military career.

General Walter Kitchener, who had left Klerksdorp at the head of a body of infantry and mounted troops, reached a camping ground forty miles to the westward on Monday morning and the 28th Mounted Infantry, the Artillery Mounted Rifles, and the 2nd Regiment of Kitchener's Fighting Scouts. Under the personal direction of Colonel Cookson were the 2nd Canadian Mounted Infantry, Damant's horse, and the guns that accompanied the force—namely, two sections of the 7th battery, Royal Field artillery, and three pom-poms. The supreme command, it should be again stated, was vested in Colonel Cookson.

The expedition, which was not encumbered by unnecessary baggage, covered the ground rapidly, and shortly after daybreak lighted upon the spoor of the enemy's convoy. The trail was closely followed up, and by about nine o'clock the clouds of dust stirred up by the column were clearly visible ahead. A report was brought in to the effect that the escort consisted of about 500 Boers. Shortly afterwards, the Mounted Infantry, who were moving at the head of the column, were ordered to advance at a gallop, and after covering eight miles a good speed came into touch with the enemy. They at once dismounted and entered into action. Both sides sustained a few casualties, but the Boers kept the convoy moving on steadily, and succeeded in getting it away over a ridge. The mounted Infantry were retrained from pursuit as the information had been obtained that a further force of over 2,000 Boers, who had been marching considerably ahead of their convoy, was hastening to the scene of the fighting.

THE BOER ATTACK.

Colonel Cookson had by this time arrived at the front with the whole of the column. Orders were given for the men to halt and encamp on the Brakspruit, while outposts were thrown out to guard against surprise. A few minutes later, however, a shell from one of the three Boer guns, which had been moved up to a long low ridge, 4,000 yards distant from the camp, dropped into the midst of our men. At the same time masses of Boers began to show on all sides, especially on the flanks of our column. A general engagement ensued. The disposition of Colonel Cookson's force was roughly, as follows: A mile and a half away from the camp, on the right flank, was a small body of men, composed of 24 Canadians and 45 Mounted Infantry. They were posted 500 yards in front of a belt of trees. On the left flank, about 1,000 yards from the camp, stood a farm house, which was held by two companies of the Artillery Mounted rifles. Along the line of the Brakspruit, in such a position that they could cover the farm house, were the remainder of the Artillery rifles. Next to them came the 28th Mounted Infantry.

DELAREY'S TACTICS.

As in his previous and more successful engagements, Delarey's object was to "rush" the British defence by a coup de main. Shortly after his heavier guns had opened fire on the camp, a pom-pom was trained on our men, who were lying down along the spruit. Simultaneously 500 Boers, riding in lines, and in widely-extended order, were launched from the farm house, which was undoubtedly the key of our position. The enemy came on at a headlong pace and did not draw rein until they were within 500 yards of the building. Volleys were directed at them from the house and its vicinity, and the Boer halted, and with the reins thrown loosely over their left arms, returned the fire from the saddle. The moment they came to a standstill, our guns in that corner of the camp opened fire on them at a range of 1,200 yards. Subjected to this cross shell fire, and to the steady volleys from the farm house, the Boers were compelled, after three or four minutes of a particularly warm time, to wheel about and gallop for cover under the ridge from which they had come.

In the meanwhile, the small band of Canadians and mounted infantry on the other flank found themselves opposed to a force seven times their own number. About 600 Boers advanced upon them, under cover of the belt of trees, and charged down upon the thin line, sailing upon them confidently to surrender.

"BACK, NO SURRENDER." Lieutenant Carruthers, of the Canadians, promptly sprang to his feet, and crying, "Back, no surrender!" shot down the foremost man with his revolver at a distance of fifteen paces. The men were not slow in emulating their gallant leader. There was absolutely no cover for them, except the short grass, but lying down in it at full length, they fired steadily and straight, and forced the Boers to bolt back to the screen of trees. The enemy, however, were determined to capture or annihilate the little band. While some of them climbed into the trees, and from that position of advantage, fired down on our men, the others extended their line, and quickly brought the defenders under a decimating cross-fire.

EVERY MAN A HERO.

But every man of the seventy proved himself a hero. For two hours until all but fifteen of their number had been killed or wounded, they kept the 600 Boers at bay. It was not until then that the enemy ventured to make another rush, and succeeded in capturing the handful of survivors. The Canadians had 21 men out of the 24 killed and wounded, and the mounted infantry lost 30 out of 45. Lieut. Carruthers was the only officer who was not either slain or seriously hurt. He had several flesh wounds, and his clothes were perforated in many places, but he stoutly refused to go to hospital. When he was taken prisoner, some of the Boers wanted to shoot him there and then; but they ultimately thought better of it, saying that he was "too brave a man to die in that way."

BEEN REPEATEDLY SHOT.

Every one of the dead had been shot repeatedly, and most of the wounded were struck more than once. Surgeon Hoops, for instance, was hit twice in the wrist, as well as in the heel and the thigh.

While the enemy had gained this small advantage on the right flank, they found it impossible to make headway elsewhere. The 500 men who charged down from the ridge at the beginning of the action worked round towards the end of the farmhouse, and made their way into a meadow patch. They, too, extended their line till it reached slightly to the rear of the farm, and tried to beat down the defence on that side by sheer marksmanship. On the other side a line of at least 1,000 Boers extended round from the belt of trees almost to that point on the ridge where the enemy's guns were still busy shelling the camp.

Our position was by this time practically surrounded. Generals Delarey and Kemp were directly the attack from a slight eminence close by, and were urging on the commandos to renew the charge. But our men were keeping up to active and spirited defence. One of the pom-poms was brought down by Colonel Keir near to the farmhouse, and raked the outer shelter of the meadow field, while the guns posted both in the southeastern and northwestern corners of the camp continued to shell the enemy's artillery and to throw shrapnel wherever the Boers ventured to show themselves in any number. The practice made by the enemy's gunners had at first been good enough, but by this time their firing had become rather wild and irregular. In order to Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. Address And Presentation.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Auxiliary Society met at the residence of Mrs. Stables on the evening of Monday the 21st. It was evidently a special meeting with a special object in view. To her surprise Mrs. Aitken soon learned that the meeting had reference to herself.

They had met to present her with a distinguished honor viz., a certificate of life membership in the W. F. M. Auxiliary Society.

The following is the address of presentation read by Mrs. Park:

My Dear Mrs. Aitken:

It affords me great pleasure to represent a committee who, in turn, represent the members of the W. F. M. S. of St. James' Church, and on their behalf, ask you to accept this certificate of life membership as a slight token of their love and appreciation of the admirable and praiseworthy manner in which you have discharged the onerous and responsible duties appertaining to your office as President of our Auxiliary.

It is with pleasure we shall remember the happy hours spent at your home from time to time and the hearty welcome ever recorded in our hearts and willingness to help in every good work is a lesson to each member.

We deeply regret the circumstances which caused your removal from the Manse, but are glad that you will be on with us in all our undertakings in the future as in the past.

Kindly accept our very best wishes for you, Mr. Aitken, and your family, it is our united hope that you may long be spared to one another, and that the interest you have ever evinced in the grand cause of Missions may inspire us to greater endeavor.

Our prayer is that in your life, in your home, in your every undertaking, Heaven's blessing may attend you.

Newcastle, April 21st.

Mrs. Aitken's reply to the W. F. M. Auxiliary Society.

Dear Friends:

Your last communication to me as a society has been of the most encouraging character.

How can I sufficiently thank you? Your words of kindness to me, I cannot too highly appreciate, but you go beyond words and present me with a certificate of life membership in the W. F. M. S. It is a gift most dear to me; an honor which I must ever appreciate, and hold with the warmest love. No favor could have been greater than the one bestowed.

Our Society is one that I have ever revered. It bears an interest that no other society can, and now that your great kindness has raised me to the high platform of life membership I feel that my zeal in the glorious cause ought to be redoubled. I feel that in my best efforts, I have been a poor helper. But you have spoken kindly to me and you have acted kindly towards me and my best and warmest thanks I tender you all most sincerely. Our associations in the past have been of the kindest nature, may they be equally so in the future. My fervent prayer is that we may work with earnest and ardent zeal toward the universal spread of Christ's Great and Glorious Kingdom.

OUTLON'S DEATH.

The Latest Facts and Surmises.

Since Saturday the police have been particularly active in the Outlon case.

The mystery, as the death of the old man has been termed, is being gradually unshrouded. The details of the finding of the dead body by Thomas Gillespie, his young son and the lad Marshall have been singled out and duly considered, but considerable yet remains to be brought to light before the authorities can be justified in arresting anybody in particular.

Evidence will be brought forth to show Isaac Outlon visited the Elm street dump on Sunday morning last, as early as 4 o'clock, and stayed at least until 10 in the forenoon. This was learned on Saturday.

As against this statement, the question might well be asked, why did not the old man call at the Gillespie home near the dump for his breakfast, as he was in the habit of doing, when he was so handy to the place?

Dr. J. H. Scammell, in his testimony, said the body when he first examined it, appeared as if it had been dead from six to eight hours. Life could have been extinct nearly twelve hours.

From 10.30 in the forenoon Wednesday, to ten o'clock in the evening, when the discovery was made, would just be eleven and a half hours.

From 7.30 in the evening, when Gillespie took the old man his supper, until the ghastly finding, would be but two and a half hours, so to agree with Dr. Scammell's opinion, Outlon met death either in the afternoon or forenoon.

Dr. Scammell came to his conclusions as to the fact and eight hours from the extent of rigor mortis, or stiffening of the limbs. It seems strange, many thing, if Outlon had been down on the Elm street dump Wednesday morning that he, with his bent-over appearance and shuffling gait would not have been noticed going up busy Main street and along Douglas avenue, by bus drivers and others, to his home in broad daylight. He was a conspicuous figure at all times; and especially with the North End people was he regarded as a character to be noted and referred to joyfully.

Nobody has yet been found who saw him proceed to his home, which will no doubt rather have the effect of slightly discounting the testimony of those who will claim to have seen the old fellow on the morning of the day he was found dead.

MORGAN SYNDICATE.

And Terms of its Agreement With German Steamship Lines.

HAMBURG, April 27.—An official statement of the terms German steamship lines and the syndicate formed by J. P. Morgan and the syndicate is published here. The agreement between the Hamburg-American Packet Co. and Mr. Morgan, it appears, was concluded last March.

Under the agreement, it is claimed the German lines have preserved their independence in every respect. The syndicate is bound not to any German harbour without permission of the German lines, which in turn bind themselves not to increase their present traffic from England to the United States beyond a certain fixed point. Many other clauses in the agreement aim at preventing competition between the syndicate and the German line. Neither may acquire shares in another, but they are to mutually support each other by chartering steamships or otherwise in fighting competing third parties. A committee is to be formed, consisting of two representatives of the syndicate and two representatives of the German lines, for the settlement of all questions concerning their mutual interests. This committee will have no active power and any difference in construing clauses of agreement must be submitted to arbitration.

The duration of the agreement is limited to 20 years, but either side may terminate it after ten years, or demand revision of the contract, and without revision is refused.

CASUALTY REPORTS.

London, April 22.—A casualty list made public tonight shows that the fighting in South Africa has not ceased. Last Sunday two British officers were killed near Ficksburg, in the southeastern part of the Orange River Colony. One was Captain Thomas Fowler, only son of the late lord mayor of London. Four men were killed and three officers and 14 men wounded in an engagement in the Eastern part of the Transvaal last Sunday.

Gen. Bruce Hamilton has concluded another big drive in which seven columns were engaged over a great area of territory. The result of the drive is not yet known.

Lord Milner is returning to Cape Town. He has been in conference with the Boer delegates at Pretoria.

Washington, April 21.—The report of Col. Crowder, sent to investigate the alleged British military station at Port Chalmers, has been made to the president, who holds it in confidence until after it has been submitted to the cabinet.

Col. Crowder finds that the allegation that a military station is being operated is partly borne out by the facts, as British military officers have carried on operations there.

Although they have not worn uniforms, they have acted in their military capacity in the purchase of horses, mules and supplies, and with the sole exception of not being in uniform, everything has been done by military men in a military way.

He ascertained that there has been disbursed $18,000,000 for the purchase of horses and mules and $15,000,000 for supplies.

All checks, contracts and other papers have been signed by these officers in their official capacity.

It is believed that the administration will hold that the facts as reported by Col. Crowder constitute a technical violation of the neutrality laws, and the attention of the British government will be called to the matter.

The traffic is not illegal, but the fact that British military officers are carrying it on is what constitutes a violation of the neutrality laws.

Col. Crowder was also directed to investigate the charges that the British government had violated the enlistment laws by enlisting men in this country to fight in South Africa.

He reports that there is not a single scrap of evidence to sustain this charge. The evidence taken by him shows that some men offered themselves for enlistment, some with the hope of making a case against the British authorities, and others because they sympathized with the Boers and hoped in this way to obtain free passage to South Africa and there join the Boer ranks.

But Col. Crowder reports that he is satisfied no men were enlisted in the United States for military purposes in South Africa.

London, April 22.—"I must advise you not to say too much attention to the extravagant expressions of friendship of a certain well meaning but discredited class called, in America, 'Anglo-manics'."

That was keynote of a speech made by John Hays Hammond, the American engineer, tonight, before a notable gathering, including Lord Grey, the Marquis of Graham, the Earl of Kintore, the Earl of Jersey and the Earl of Dudley and the Earl of Hardwicke, Lords Windsor and Harris and Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and others interested in Anglo-American and South African matters, at a dinner given in honor of Mr. Hammond's return to England. Mr. Hammond impressed his hearers with Great Britain's total lack of effort to counteract the pro-Boer sentiment in the United States. With equal frankness he urged that Great Britain be generous in her demands.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 22.—There are about 800 men at the concentration camp. To-day's arrivals included 71 New Brunswickers and about 150 from Toronto. Instructions have been received from headquarters to enlist as many shoeing smiths as possible.

OTTAWA, April 22.—Lord Minto has a cable from Hon. Jos. Chamberlain, dated London to-day, that Frederick Claus and Patrick McClinchey, of the South African Constabulary, have been reported missing from Klerksdorp on March 27. The next of kin are the fathers, T. Kraus, Palmerton, and P. McClinchey, 23 1/2 Valley street, Montreal.

Another cable from the casualty department at Cape Town states that Samuel J. Cairns of the S. A. C. is dangerously ill from enteric at Bloemfontein. Cairns' next of kin is Louis E. Cairns, 132 Gladstone avenue, Ottawa. This troop was in South Africa with the first Contingent of infantry and was laid up from enteric at Belmont. He almost died on that occasion. He was invalided home to England from Belmont.

This cable also announces that Corporal F. S. McL. Howard wounded at Hart's River is dangerously ill from a gun shot wound, at Klerksdorp. He comes from Montreal.

Joseph Drury, of Maple Creek, N. W. T., another of the C. M. R. is also reported dangerously ill from enteric.

OTTAWA, April 22.—A militia order issued tonight says that a certain number of the permanent force will be allowed to join the contingent and will be promoted in their corps if vacancies occur, as if present. The usual allowances will be made of the officers of the contingent for outfit.

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—The British steamer Atlantian cleared today for Cape Town with 1,015 horses for the British in South Africa.

South American Rheumatic Cure relieves in 6 hours and cures in 1 to 3 days.

South American Rheumatic Cure is the open door to a perfect cure—it goes directly to the seat of the trouble—drives out of the system the acid—the effect matter—the poisons which fester themselves in the joints and muscles—start circulation—induce inflammation and the intense suffering that follows such derangement. Relief from the first dose—marvellous cures have been made in from one to three days.

The Lone Jack Recorder, referring to our ambition to become, governor of Arizona, pathetically exclaimed: Great Scott, but is there no limit to this fellow's impudence? We are afraid there is not. Our vaulting ambition keeps right on vaulting, and it also seems to get there every time.

MESSRS. C. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Gentlemen,—After suffering for seven years of inflammatory rheumatism, so bad that I was eleven months confined to my room, and for two years could not dress myself without help. Your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT in May, 97, and asked me to try it, which I did, and was so well pleased with the results I procured more. Five bottles completely cured me and I have had no return of the pain for eighteen months.

The above facts are well known to everybody in this village and neighborhood.

Yours gratefully, A. DAIRY.

WHAT MAKES YOU COUGH.

Did you ever wonder just what it is that makes you cough? In a general way it is understood to be an involuntary effort of nature to eject something from the breath-pipe. As a matter of fact, merely a slight throat inflammation caused by a cold will cause a cough to start, and the more you cough, the more you want to cough. If you ally the inflammation in the throat your cough will stop. Don't hush the sensitivities of the throat with medicine containing a narcotic, but give it soothing and healing treatment. This is difficult, because the inflamed parts are in the way of the passage of food and drink. The true cough remedy is something that will protect the throat from the ill effects of catarrhal discharges and also from the irritation of swallowing food. Such a remedy is Adamson's Etonic Cough Balm, which for many years has been conquering the most obstinate coughs. It is a soothing compound prepared from herbs and gums. Its beneficent effect is quickly felt and the work of healing promptly begun. If you once take Adamson's Balm for cough, you will never be satisfied without some of it at hand for any new cough. A trial size of the Balm can be secured at any drugstore for 10c. The regular size is 25c. In asking for the Balm, be sure you get the genuine, which has "P. W. Kinsman & Co." blown in the bottle.

There's room for everybody in this big world, but we can't all have front rooms.

Frank Ryals was mounting the steps of his club when an imperious feminine voice started his steps. It was Mrs. Ryals, and her ordinarily gushing manner had entirely disappeared. "My dear boy, you don't want to stay at the club this afternoon. You really ought to run right up to the house. There's certainly something wrong with Bess. She's been treating me to a genuine case of hysterics. Imagine Bess in hysterics! And she won't go to California with us. Oh, she's altogether unreasonable! I left her in tears. You must have the doctor."

"Yes, I'll phone for him at once," Mrs. Ryals' voice and manner were calm, perfunctory. He raised his hat and mounted two more steps. Then he paused irresolutely. Mrs. Ryals was half way up the steps. A man addressed him lightly and entered the door, and still Ryals stood undecided, a strange light playing in his moody eyes. "She won't go to California. I left her in tears." Tears for what? For him, after all! Suddenly he turned on his heel and plunged down the steps. A hansom was drawn up at the curb. The driver knew him well and treated him not interrogatively. "Home!" exclaimed Ryals, and then as the hansom rattled over the asphalt he murmured to himself, "After to-night."

The road leading from the Northwest bridge to the main Northwest road, near the I. C. R. crossing is in a terrible condition and should be looked after. The road is full of holes and it is almost impossible to drive through. If it is not repaired it ought to be fenced off as the unsuspicious traveller often gets mired. This road is in the town limits and it is the road commissioner's duty to look after it.

A large number of seals sailed away from their northern home on ice cakes, "strange countries far to see," and landed on the coast of Gloucester county, some of them coming as far south as Miramichi. They sought congenial sleeping berths on the snow and were making themselves comfortable. And then the inhospitable residents of the land snatched between them, and the seals, cutting off their retreat, and killed or three hundred of them with clubs. A large quantity of oil was secured by the amateur seal hunters. Mr. Louis Affair, of Negus, secured a live seal, and has it as a great living curiosity at his hotel—World.

Mrs. McMannus, wife of J. R. McMannus, died very suddenly at her home at Memcook on Thursday morning. The great sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hadden left by the N. B. R. on a wedding trip to Boston. After their return they will reside at Chatham—St. John Star, Apr. 30.

SAUCE OF THE ALEXANDRA.—The M. S. Co.'s new boat, Alexandra, was launched at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. There was a large crowd present. The boat went off very smoothly, without a hitch of any kind, and the admiration of all beholders. Mr. Hadden and his daughter did not arrive until two minutes after the boat had been launched, and there was, therefore, no opening. A delay of five minutes didn't make much difference in the launch of the water, even though the vessel began to chafe. The boat will be ready to sail soon—World.

The "Alexandra" dimensions are, length 90 feet; over all 105 feet; breadth beam, 21 feet; depth of hold, 8 feet; keel is of birch, the frames of birch, spruce and spruce; the planking of birch, oak and spruce, 2 1/2 inches thick.

The engines are of the compound force shaft type, with cylinders 16 and 20 inches diameter respectively and stroke of 18 inches. The shaft is of steel, 6 inches in diameter and 12 feet long. It will carry 120 lbs. pressure. The propeller is 10 ft. in diameter, 84 inches in diameter.

The "Alexandra" will carry four hundred passengers, and she has also good capacity for freight. Being chartered for passengers, she was required to be better fastened than the ship designed as a freighter only, the through fastenings below the water line are of Mumt metal; all other fastenings whatever part are of galvanized iron.

There will be a free passage for the cabin on either side and the upper deck has also a free passage. There is a toilet room for ladies, gentlemen and the crew. The main deck has also a free passage leading to the upper deck will be near the entrance to the main deck.

The Bicycle repair shop of Hay & Follansbee is the best equipped and most up-to-date shop in town. They have a fine set of tools for this particular class of work, having the most approved attachments for the turning of cups, clocks, skis, etc., and the mounting of any special tire. This will be a great boon to bicycle riders as it will save them the trouble of ordering parts from outside the town. It may also be said that Hay & Follansbee can repair any part of your wheel while you wait.

After the sad death of Walter Crocker, of Milerton, who perished in the woods last winter, it was found that he had made a will leaving $50,000 of his life insurance to Miss Stella O'Connell of Chatham, to whom he was engaged. His aged mother and young sisters, who were largely dependent on him for support, were left only $1,000, this being an insurance policy that had been taken out in his mother's name. The will came up for probate before Judge Thomson, Newcastle, on Tuesday, and Mr. Lawlor, on behalf of the Crocker family, opposed it as irregular and void. The evidence showed that the will had not been properly executed. The two witnesses swore that they had signed it in the presence of the testator, but not in each others presence, and the court, decided against it. The will was no good. Mr. Geo. G. Gilbert of Bathurst, brother-in-law of Miss O'Connell, who had been consulted in regard to the will when it was executed, appeared on behalf of the legatees. The public take a deep interest in this matter, considerable feeling having been aroused when the terms of the will were whispered abroad. The legatees were offered $1,000, though not on Mr. Lawlor's advice, before the case got into court, to relinquish her claim to the estate, but refused to accept it.—World.

Prayer vs. Printers' Ink. After praying for forty years for a baby, a couple placed a small advertisement in a newspaper, and that same night a bouncing boy, was left on their doorstep. Prayer is all right if you are not in a hurry, but for quick results use printers' ink.—Broome County Herald.

The Elmleigh "At Home."

The Elmleigh, given by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hickson, at their beautiful residence, "Elmleigh," Newcastle, on Tuesday evening was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable social events that has taken place in the Shiretown for a long time. The guests had the pleasure of meeting Miss Agnes McNeill, daughter of Mr. Cecil Riopel, of Montreal, as well as Mr. J. W. Ross, of the same city, the marriage of Mr. Riopel and Miss McNeill being arranged for the following evening. Mr. Ross being groomsmen. The participants in Tuesday evening's function will have the most pleasurable recollections of it. There was fine orchestral music, dainty refreshments served by intimate social friends of the household and an absence of unnecessary formality which made everybody feel at home and regret when the time for saying good-bye came—Advance.

Mr. Riopel and Miss McNeill were married at Elmleigh Wednesday evening at eight o'clock by Rev. Wm. Aitken and left on their honeymoon trip by the north bound Maritime express, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends in Miramichi.
