FEEDING THE DAIRY COW

In his report for 1923 the Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Fredericton, N. B., gives an outline of the majority of some 175 projects that are underway at the Station under his supervision. These include 26 in animal husbandry, 11 in food husbandry, 25 in horticulture, 9 in cereals, 28 in forage plants, 7 in chemistry, 26 in poultry, 10 in apiculture and 3 in fibre plants. One of the tests in animal husbandry is to ascertain the value respectively of turnips, corn, and sunflower silage as succulent feed for dairy cows. The cows were divided into three groups and fed as follows:

Group 1—Feed turnips first period, corn silage second period and sunflower third period.

Group 2—Feed corn silage first period, sunflower silage second period, and turnips third period.

Group 3—Feed sunflower first period, turnips second period, and corn silage third period.

Details in tabular form are given in 1923, the deductions made from which are:

1—Mature corn silage has a greater value for milk production than sunflower silage.

2—Corn is better relished by cattle than sunflower silage.

3—The yields of corn per acre were smaller at the Fredericton Station than at the other two stations.

4—Cows fed corn silage will make larger gains in weight than those fed sunflower silage or turnips.

5—When cows eat sunflower silage readily they will make larger gains than on turnips.

SPRING CLEANING THE FURNACE

While spring cleaning is in progress, it is well to apply a little energy to cleaning the furnace and its tools and its immediate surroundings. The cleaning to be done in connection with the furnace may be divided into three parts; first, the inside of the heater itself. Beginning with the heating surface, the part to be given the first attention is the boiler. There is naturally much soot which has collected and which should be cleaned off, either with a cleaning rod, with a poker, with a brush or with all three in succession.

Grates and Doors

Next apply your attention to the grates. Look down the ashes of the last fire and examine the grates. Any broken places or weakness may be best repaired at this time with less trouble than in the winter when the furnace is in constant use. Examine the coaling door and the other doors. Fill any cracks with cement and apply cement to the joints. Remove the ashes from under the grates and brush out clean.

Painting the Outside

The outer surface of the furnace should be scraped, brushed and freed from all rust and dampness, and should be given a coat of black metal paint. This will protect it from rusting and will prolong the life of the furnace. The pipes, unless encased in asbestos, both smoke and heat pipes, will be greatly improved, at least in appearance, by the same treatment. Shovel up any remaining coal in a heap conveniently near the entrance to the bin. While the coal bin is nearly empty, you can whitewash its sides and the cellar walls.

The furnace should be hung on a nail on the side of the coal bin. The wood pile may be straightened up and put in order before the summer. The ash cans should be cleaned up and put away in the cellar to keep clean again next winter.

MRS. ADELAIDE MOSHER

DIED A MANCHESTER, N. H.

The funeral of Mrs. Adelaide Mosher was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Lyman Clow, 432 Merrimack St., Manchester, N. H. on Friday, April 17th at 2 p. m. Rev. P. W. Caswell officiated.

A brief but very beautiful service and tribute. Two appropriate hymns were finely sung by Mrs. Gertrude Burke and Rev. Mr. Caswell. Mrs. Mosher was born at Mt. Hanley, Nova Scotia, Nov. 8th, 1840. After her marriage to Mr. George Mosher they took up their residence at Mosher's Corner, living on the same farm for 45 years. After the death of her husband 15 years ago she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. Lyman Clow, until the end. A short time ago she accidentally fell and fractured her hip. Notwithstanding all the tender nursing and the best medical attention possible she gradually failed and the Grim Reaper could not be shut out. To the Church, she was most devoted, a member whose Christianity was a model of right living and devotion. Her remains were taken to Wolfeboro, N. H. for burial in the Lake View Cemetery. A beautiful Committal service was rendered by Rev. Archie Webb in the presence of many friends and acquaintances. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. D. Horne, Wolfeboro, N. H., Mrs. J. Lyman Clow, Manchester, N. H., Mrs. G. H. Kimball, Wolfeboro, N. H., two sons, Edward and Albert Mosher of Victoria, B. C., Nova Scotia, one brother, W. W. Cropley, Marblehead, Mass., one sister, Mrs. Amaret Hawksworth of Summit, New Jersey, and two grandsons, Harold and Charles Clow of Manchester, N. H. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

A candle that won't shine in one room is very unlikely to shine in another. ## New Health for Suffering Women

ACHING BACKS AND TIRED LIMBS NEED NOT BE ENDURED

Too many women endure suffering that casts a shadow over half her existence. An aching back, tired limbs, attacks of faintness, splitting headaches need not be a part of woman's life. Such trials indicate plainly that the blood is thin and watery and that the sufferer needs the help of a real tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Suffering women who have used this medicine speak of it in the highest terms. Among those who have been thus helped is Mrs. Ada L. Harman, Virden, Alta., who writes:—

"Following the birth of a still-born child a few years ago, I had a very serious time. I was so weak for months that I could not walk across the room without feeling a faintness. My face and lips were colorless. I had no appetite, and life did not seem worth living. A friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got six boxes. Before they were all gone I felt improved. My appetite improved, color came back into my face, and I was visibly stronger. I continued taking pills and fully regained my former good health."

"Blessing to weak women, and hope my experience will induce some other sufferer to try them."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ROD AND GUN

Featured in the May issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, the Special Quebec Tourist Number, are the delights and possibilities of this province for the tourist and sportsman.

An editorial message from the Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, introduced the province to the tourist and points out the many charms it holds for him.

"Remember the Time" Harwood Steele recalls in the account of one fishing trip the good times enjoyed in many such which may be enjoyed by any fisherman this summer.

"Dyals of the Spring," by Mason B. Woodward, depicts a delightful canoeing and "Daylight and Ducks" by A. R. Douglas is an entertaining account in the early morning hours of the morning. ## A Disc Clutch that never needs oil

THE new Chevrolet has a new, improved dry-plate disc clutch that needs no lubrication. It has no internal adjustment. It has a positive, smooth action that makes gear shifting easy. A light pedal pressure operates it, yet it has more than a thousand pounds pressure action delivering all the power to the rear axle without slippage. It is fully enclosed.

This is but one of the many quality features of the new Chevrolet that are daily making thousands of people ask: "How can they produce such fine cars to sell at such low prices?"

POST OFFICE SECRETS

ODD CONSIGNMENTS TRUSTED TO THE POST.

Snakes, Bees and Lizards, Explosives and Bacteria Are Found in Mail—Money Sent in Unsealed Packages—Crimes Foretold.

An Old Country writer deals with the odd consignments entrusted to the post, and also reveals that sometimes the detectives' department are called upon to examine some very gruesome parcels. He says:

In 1865 a human head was discovered in a parcel consigned through the post. It was held up by a sorter in the chief London office, and owing to the fact that the address was unrecognizable was passed on to the "blind" section, where all sorts of problems in calligraphy and illiteracy are solved by experts. However, as nothing could be made of it the parcel was opened, and the grisly secret was revealed. There began one of the most gruesome hunts for the murderer—a hue and cry, however, which was fruitless, for the mystery was not solved.

At a certain provincial post office in England, not more than twenty years ago, a large cardboard box arrived and was tossed carelessly down on a sorter's table. It opened at one end, and there was quickly pandemonium in the office. A lively bunch of assorted serpents wriggled out and commenced a tour of the room. Some more curious than the others went off exploring into other rooms. Suddenly a loud cry and a stampede announced that the wrigglers had reached the department occupied by a very exalted official. As a result it was not long before more stringent rules were made regarding "Snakes"—Transit of.

A queen bee is an odd object to consign in a matchbox, but it was done by an optimist. Thatfortnight she escaped, and a great deal of valuable time was expended in chasing her round the lofty room where the parcel sorting was done. But a capture was made, and carefully wrapped, a special delivery was made of her majesty, with also a special bill for the business.

Lizards come under the heading of reptiles in the regulations, and are to be guarded in transit with all reasonable care in packing, and the nature of the contents plainly stated. But a certain professor who was interested in snakes, lizards, etc., wish to send a parcel of lizards to a friend who lived in Cornwall.

The lizards were huddled into a small and frail cardboard box, hastily wrapped in one of the papers, and consigned from Oxford. They escaped en route in instalments, and soon the department at Oxford received frantic telegrams and telephone messages asking for instructions for dealing with escaped lizards.

High explosives passing through the post nearly led to loss of life in a provincial office. The irony of it was that they were live-saving rockets and detonators for use at coastguard station. A clerk employed at the office where these rockets were made thoughtlessly posted them instead of sending them through the proper channel. It was fortunate that they exploded in a rather desolate part of the office when no one happened to be near them.

The force of the explosion may be judged from the fact that the pieces picked up afterwards would have done some into the average envelope.

The implicit faith in the honesty of the Post Office is shown by the huge sums of money sent through this channel. Ordinary business letters, not stuck down, was found recently to contain a negotiable cheque for half a million.

Speaking generally, this department of the public service has not been utilized to any great extent for this nefarious purpose—not, for instance, as the cloak-room of the railway station.

However, it is but natural that a murderer should have the idea of disposing of the fragments of a body by this means, especially as he would not be likely to realize the minute fashion in which the movements of such a package can be traced from posting to delivery.

The classical case, of course, is that of the delivery to a high official at Scotland Yard of a small package which being opened disclosed a startling evidence of crime. It was a small portion of a diseased human kidney, and by this means it was possible to identify the second victim of that invisible assassin of Whitechapel women—"Jack the Ripper." It was proved that the woman had suffered from a disease of the kidneys, while a further examination of the package revealed a small slip of paper bearing the words, "With the Ripper's compliments."

In 1890 a human hand was delivered through the post to a man in business at Swansea. There was no clue to the sender, nor was the identity of the person from whose arm the hand had been severed ever established. It was a rough, ill-kept hand, and the police theory was that it belonged to a foreign seaman, and represented a relic of some terrible vendetta of seafaring life.

Thus it may be seen how varied, queer and sometimes grisly are the objects passing through the post. All are tended with the most scrupulous care, and if only the public realized how great are the precautions taken to guard against ill-treatment of parcels and packets, they would not grumble about lack of reasonable care.

Miss P. Carlisle, an English authoress of repute, who recently took up ranching near Calgary, has become so enthusiastic about the West that she is planning to bring out girls from the Old Country to follow her example. She found plenty of them willing to try out this plan. She herself harvested 7,000 bushels last year from the 250 acres under wheat on her 800 acre ranch.

At a recent meeting of the Royal Society of Canada a gold medal for outstanding achievement in science was awarded to Charles Saunders for his discovery and development of "Radium" wheat. It is claimed that this variety has raised the Dominion to its present position as a wheat-growing country and has added millions of dollars to the pockets of farmers here and in the United States.

Exiled from Hungary of which he had been president, after the Communist revolution of 1919, Count Michael Karolyi toured the United States in March and April but was forbidden to address meetings or explain his political views in that country. He returned to London where he now lives, with Countess Karolyi, passing through Montreal and sailing on the Canadian Pacific S.S. "Montclair" from St. John. Interviewed in Montreal he expressed a great admiration for Canada and said he had once been on the point of settling either in Montreal or Toronto.

Under the joint Canadian-British Government scheme, 3,000 families are being brought to Alberta this year and the first party of families will arrive in April. They will first be guaranteed employment and later will take up their own land.

Henry E. Suckling, Treasurer of the Canadian Pacific Railway since 1908, died recently at Atlantic City after an illness of several months. He was born at Gibraltar in 1851 and had been associated with railways in a treasury capacity since his early manhood.

J. C. Mitchell, of Dohinda, Sask., known as the "world's champion wheat grower" returned home recently from a lecture tour of the British Isles. "Go West, young man, go West," is his advice to all who wish to try their fortunes in the Dominion.

Speaking at Toronto, Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines for Ontario, said that the estimated output of the mines of the province this year will be around $75,000,000. In regard to gold he stated that by 1928 Ontario was expected to top the total production of the United States.

A new Silver Trophy donated by the English Football Association to the Dominion of Canada Football Association for annual competition among Canadian clubs has arrived in Canada and will be on exhibition at Canadian Pacific stations at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and right across the West.

Agricultural products in the Province of Manitoba during the year 1924 reached a total estimated value of $164,312,857, according to figures issued by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. This amount is nearly double that of the previous year and is accounted for largely by the big upturn in the price of wheat.

The shield which was taken from the gates of Old Quebec when the city was captured by General Wolfe, and now in the possession of the town of Hastings, will be returned to the Ancient Capital. Miss Ethel Loginska, temperamental pianist, gave another taste of her quality when she lectured a socially prominent audience for coughing in the middle of a concert at Englewood, N.J. "If you can't control yourselves, please don't stay here," she remarked. About fifteen disgruntled members of the audience left the hall indignantly.

Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies have developed the idea of using snow shoes for horses over the heavy snow tracks of that region. In this way great quantities of supplies are brought considerable distances across trails that would otherwise be impassable to heavy loads. Trail Riders are holding their second great Pow-Wow early in August next.

Devising a new kind of motion picture camera with a built-in motor that is almost noiseless in operation, Burton S. Moore, proprietor of the Nictau Camps in New Brunswick, has succeeded in taking about 4,000 feet of film of wild life in action which will be shown in due course on Canadian and United States screens. He has been particularly successful in depicting every motion in that special phenomenon, py partridges known as drumming.

HOW TO SUCCEED

The first thing to do is the right thing at the right time and in the right way. Secondly, we must do something better than we have done before; eliminate any errors and know both sides of the questions. Thirdly, we must be courteous and an example for others and work for the love of work. Fourthly, we must anticipate my requirements, develop resources and recognize no impediments whatsoever, but be master of circumstances no matter what they may be. Last, but not least, we must learn to act from reason rather than from rule and be satisfied with nothing short of perfection.

In travelling through life you will always find the who succeeds is the one who puts failures aside. If up the ladder of fame you would climb, be zealous and courteous, ambitious and kind.

Delicious Cheese Dishes For Emergency Service

Cheese dishes are always helpful, for they fill so many emergency needs. People are beginning to realize that cheese is healthy. Almost all cheeses are to be had nowadays in our market centres except those that are extremely local, and for various reasons unfit to travel even in the most modern containers, so that our list of recipes is not restricted to the use of one or two cheeses.

Now that the round red Edam cheese are back again they open the possibilities of dishes for which they are particularly suitable. There is no other cheese that gives quite the same flavor to a dish of baked macaroni as does this one, its melting richness blending perfectly with the cream used in preparing the dish.

Cheese Soup
Heat three cups of milk, take one cup of milk and blend with three tablespoons of flour, and when blended, strain into the hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, then add pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a teaspoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of minced celery leaves, and a cupful of grated cheese; stir constantly until the cheese is melted, then remove from the fire. Serve toast squares with the soup.

Cheese Fingers
Blend together a quarter of a pound each of butter and flour. When smooth, add a quarter of a pound of grated cheese, a saltspoonful of cayenne pepper, and a half saltspoonful of salt. Add just enough cold water to mix all into a stiff paste, then roll out on a floured board to a quarter of an inch thickness and cut into fingers three-quarters of an inch wide and three inches long. Place the fingers on a buttered baking sheet and bake in a medium oven until a delicate brown.

Cheese Biscuits
Make some very short pie crust, or puff paste, and roll it out not too thick. Fold three times, roll out again and repeat the sprinkling of more cheese, then roll again and cut into rounds, brush over with beaten yolk of an egg and bake in a medium oven until crisp and a delicate brown.

Cheese Custard
Beat two fresh eggs well, then add a pint of milk. Add a saltspoonful of paprika, half the amount of salt and a cupful of grated cheese. Pour the mixture into an oiled mould, cover with paper, place in a pan of water and bake in a medium oven until well set. When done, cool; then chill and serve in slices with a heart of lettuce salad dressed with French dressing.

Cheese Scramble
Beat six eggs lightly with a silver fork, adding a little pepper and salt and a half cupful of cream. When set, beat in a half cupful of grated sharp American cheese. Have ready a hot frying pan with a little butter melted in it, turn in the mixture and scramble with the fork as usual. Serve by tablespoons on hot toast rounds, garnish with slices of broiled bacon and sprays of parsley.

—GO—
A man to be a success in life must be of sound character, good mind, truly honest, and with clean, sober habits. We would like to see every boy in this town straighten up, quit the whiskey, the cards, the cigarettes and tobacco, and start out on manhood's journey good, clean men, and their character would be complete. Show us a boy in town that has none of these habits, and we will show you one who will make the model man of our town.

A NIGHT OUT

There have been some nights in your life that you will never forget. There was the night the first baby came and there was the night that mother died. There have been day-breaks that will live as long as memory lasts. That dawn after you had watched the rising flood climbing against the sides of the house in which you were imprisoned, or that break of day that ended your long vigil at the side of a dead friend. But did you ever spend a night in the great woods, alone? You ought to do that very thing for the benefit of your own soul. Let them leave you alone among the crags for one night. Alone! With the stars, the flapping waves, the howl of the timber wolf and the noses of the night that creep through the forest. You will find great comfort in your fire but the night will be long and the first streaks of dawn will be more beautiful than any stage effect you have ever looked upon. If night is the hour for reflection you will get more searching reflection during a single night in the woods, sitting by a fire, than you will get in a whole lifetime of nights looking about a hotel lobby. Try it! No man can come so close to the end of the earth — so close to a communion with himself — so close to a realization of his pitiful smallness — as the man who spends a night alone on the crags, under the stars, listening to the monotonous wash of the waves for one whole night. We humans of today cuddle too much. We herd in groups. We hold hands and cling to each other. It would do you a world of good to be alone for one night — with God with Nature. Trade the soft glow of man-made light for the sparkling glitter of the starry decked heavens. Look out over the dark water or as up into the measureless space and compare it with the gaudy interior of any public mansion. Breathe the deep of the chill air moist with the crest of the breakers and fragrant with the odor of balsam and pine and cuppage it with the cigarette-laden atmosphere of the public corridor. Civilization has given us much comfort but the glory of nature remains the same.

C.P.R. Annual Report, Guide to Canadian Development

Is clearly understandable presentation of conditions since it affects all phases Canada's industrial and commercial life

E. W. Beatty,
President

ment and necessarily entirely free from any touch of political influence is the more clearly understandable presentation of conditions and it is an equally reliable guide because there exists no phase of Canada's industrial and commercial life which is not touched upon and affected by the truly national institution of which it is an annual record.

The company's report for the year just issued, reflects the marked contraction the nation's business has experienced. Gross earnings for the year totalled $182,502,156, a decline of $13,334,938 from those of the previous year. Freight earnings alone decreased by $10,794,416. Working expenses, including all taxes totalled $145,274,214, a decrease of $12,035,165. Net earnings totalled $37,227,241, a decrease for the year of $2,611,682. The working expenses for the year, including all taxes, amount to 79.60 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 20.40 per cent., as compared with 80.58 per cent. and 19.41 per cent. respectively in 1923.

In his summary to the annual report Chairman and President E. W. Beatty points out that the decrease in freight earnings, which alone amounted to $10,794,416, is largely accounted for by the much smaller movement of grain and flour, particularly the former, owing to the slump in Western Canada. He instances also a substantial decrease in the movement of manufactured articles as a result of the general business situation. Notwithstanding this, he says, the result of the company's operations must be considered satisfactory.

Mr. Beatty pointed out that the company's land sales for the year totalled 96,755 acres, of which 67,741 acres were of irrigated land selling at $32.26 per acre, the average for the land sales being $30 per acre. The land sales were in excess of last year, but were still of moderate proportions. We partly to the fact that immigration was not extensive, especially of those financially able to purchase land holdings.

The wide-spread character of the company's operations, said the report, makes it necessary that substantial cash balances should be maintained and for that purpose the directors had authorized and maintained the creation and sale of securities totalling $52,000,000. Special attention was drawn to decreases in the company's income from subsidiary companies, particularly the Canadian Pacific steamships operating on the Atlantic where continued light freight business and smaller passenger traffic cut into earnings. Results in this connection were disappointing, says the report. In anticipation of a considerable increase in passenger and freight traffic the schedules for the season were arranged to provide for ten additional sailings during the St. Lawrence season. The schedules of sailings of other companies were also enlarged with the result that competition was increased, and this and the drastic immigration laws of the United States, together with the failure of Canadian immigration to reach the proportions expected by the Government and the transportation companies, were the principal causes of the unsatisfactory showing. The steamship companies, in order to assist in making effective the immigration policy of the country, allowed a rebate of fifteen dollars in the fare of each immigrant, but, notwithstanding this concession, the decrease in third-class westbound passengers was 15,000 and the cost to the Company of the rebates is $225,000, with a corresponding reduction in its net earnings. The total earnings westbound were $1,743,000 less than in 1923. The eastbound passenger carriages were somewhat greater than in 1923, owing largely to the attraction of the Wembley Exhibition. Freight traffic showed a very moderate increase, amounting to $2,000,000 and in tonnage to 125,000 tons. In the result, the operations of the Atlantic fleet and the revenue from the sale of all sources of $1,970,000 under 1923 and an increase of $617,000 in expenses owing to the increased number of voyages. An improvement in business to and from the Orient is expected because of the more stable commercial and political con-

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 5*What 'Orange Pekoe' Means

Many buyers of tea have come to ask for 'Orange Pekoe' believing that it signifies fine quality. This is not, however, necessarily the case. In the trade 'Orange Pekoe' is only a name given to the first leaf below the bud or tip on any Indian or Ceylon tea bush. An 'Orange Pekoe' leaf grown at a high elevation usually possesses a very fine flavour. If, however, the plant is grown at a low elevation, it may still be 'Orange Pekoe' but also be of very poor quality. The consumer's only safeguard is to buy a tea of recognized goodness. High grown 'Orange Pekoes' comprise a large part of every blend of 'SALADA' and give to 'SALADA' its unequalled flavour.

Mr. Wyatt's Exhibiton For New York.

Evangeline Lodge Elects New Officers.

An Hour Each Day. What Few Attain. Why Son Wants to Quit. Modern Race. Money Grows.

HONORS FOR MR. A. C. WYATT

THE MODERN RACE

Mr. Wyatt has received the unique honor of a special invitation to loan his collection of Paintings of Magnolia Gardens to the Southern Exposition, at Charleston, S. C.

The Exhibition will be held in the Grand Central Palace in New York, from May 11th to 23rd. The following is the official invitation:

April 17th, 1925

Mr. A. C. Wyatt,
 Francis Marion Hotel,
 Charleston, S. C.

My Dear Mr. Wyatt:—

The Bureau of Foreign Trade and Port Development, who is handling the Port of Charleston Exhibit at the Southern Exposition to be held at the Grand Central Palace in New York from May 11th to 23rd, 1925, is desirous of obtaining the loan of your most excellent pictures of Magnolia Gardens.

So much favorable comment has been made on these pictures as a result of your recent exhibit at the Francis Marion Hotel, that I feel they would be a valuable adjunct to the exhibit being prepared by this Bureau for the Exposition in question.

I will later acquaint you with the number of pictures that we can display to advantage.

Kindest personal regards.

Yours very truly,

R. S. MacLEWEE

Commissioner

TO CLOSE EXHIBIT OF MR. A. C. WYATT

Pictures to be Given Showing at Atlanta Biltmore

After having been on exhibit at the Francis Marion Hotel for the past several weeks, Mr. A. C. Wyatt will close his exhibit of pictures in which the glory of the Magnolia Gardens is so exquisitely expressed in water colors. Mr. Wyatt will reopen the exhibit at the Atlantic Biltmore Hotel, where it will be sponsored by the Garden Club and one of the leading newspapers of that city.

Though the collection consists of a number of pictures, the artist's interpretations of the gardens are outstanding and in a masterful way, through several years of studying the local subject, he has achieved the realistic beauty of Charleston's show place and in water colors has caught the blurring array of gale and wistaria, with their lights and shadows.

Among the recent visitors in the city who took the opportunity to visit the exhibit were Dr. William Payne Creswell, former attaché to the American embassy in London, and Assistant Secretary of State, Wilbur Starr. Both visitors were much impressed with Mr. Wyatt's work and spoke highly of his achievements. —News Courier, Charleston, April 13th.

One hour a day withdrawn from frivolous pursuits, and profitably employed, would enable any man of ordinary capacity to master a complete science. One hour a day would make an ignorant man a well informed man in ten years. One hour a day would earn enough to pay for two daily and two weekly papers, two leading magazines and a dozen good books. In an hour a day a boy or girl could read twenty pages thoughtfully—over seven thousand pages or eighteen large volumes in a year. An hour a day might make all the difference between bare existence and useful, happy living. An hour a day might make—may, has made an unknown man a famous one, a useless one a benefactor to his race. Consider, then, the mighty possibilities of two, four, six, eight hours a day that, on the average, thrown away by some of our young men and women in their desire for fun and diversion.

—000—

Very few men attain a wide reputation within the male circle of their acquaintance of being "good fellows" when the men themselves know that it is undesired and that the term "bad fellows" would more nearly fit their case. Of course there are hosts upon hosts of men—far more than the world at large knows of—who are in truth good fellows in every sense of the word, but it is a fact nevertheless, that in numerous instances, the designation applied to men whose only title thereto is won at the cost of disquiet and anxiety at home and among friends and possibly broken hearts and ruined lives. Blows from merely the selfish individualist a young man cannot afford to be known as a good fellow, as the term is commonly understood, much less to be one. In its proper sense of being an agreeable companion everyone should endeavor to be such and the first place in which to show this good fellowship is the home.

Some of our farmers wonder why their sons desire to quit the farm, preferring town or city life. The cause is with the farmer himself. With the boy on the farm it is perpetual toil in good weather, all through the busy season; and perpetual loneliness in bad weather and most of the winter season. The time when the farmer has leisure is at the very time when they cannot get away from home on account of their isolation and bad roads. The boy hungers for company and his heart revolts against this unendurable loneliness and to free himself from it, walks miles through the mud to spend a hour at the country store. We are glad to note that in some sections of our country the young people of both sexes, have broken through these barriers, and established farmers' clubs and little societies of one sort or another. This should be encouraged and will prove a great tonic to keep young people on the farm and make life to them worth the living.

We wonder why the world is so unsettled; why our youth don't seem to understand us or we them; why we cannot get laws to cope with crime, and all that sort of thing. Stop and think what changes have taken place in the past twenty years and then ask yourself the question, "What have we done about them?" Let us see. We have taken away the horse and buggy and put on the road speed-breeding machines that strike when no wrath provokes. We call this progress. It is, but often leaves in its path the tracks of sorrow by killing somebody besides the fool driver. The liberty of speed is too often transplanted into untrammelled license. We have invented talking machines and radios and sit passively in our overstuffed cushions listening to the artists broadcasting culture from a waxed plate or through the tatic atmosphere. Why learn to play music ourselves? It is so much easier to remain uneducated and get our culture by dropping a nickel in the slot. The result is a conglomeration of jazz performances and jazzminded, dizzy-minded nation of people. Jazz is all we know because jazz is all we hear. We have taken away the saloon, but in many instances we have failed to provide any substitute to appease a wholesome manner the loss of good fellowship which the flowing bowl implanted in the excitement loving multitudes of a decade or two ago. We have prohibited what is wrong, but we have been prone to stop there and have not gone a step further and provided the right thing to take its place. Here is the challenge to the church, the school and the home, and to the community's welfare workers. We have mobilized the what we think is wrong with the governments, when all we want is a little more domestic happiness, easily procured by more charity to our wives, children, relatives and humanity, and some pills to cure our indigestion. We have taken away classical learning from many of our schools; substituted for the fundamental "three R's" a host of strange doctrines which scarcely two educators agree upon, and then wonder why crime, in its moral and economic aspects, costs more than education itself. Everything is specialized. We hire the other fellow to do our working, our playing and our thinking. Our children seldom shine their shoes, and for the modern girl to "do up" her own hair is getting to be a lost art. Modernism and progress are a golden heritage, but we must watch it—keep abreast of it, and of ever changing conditions—or they will get away from us.

The Rev. Robert Miller, M. A., B. D., is here about to give a lecture on Charles Dickens, the great and popular novelist of the last century. His remarks will be illustrated by a few lantern slides made from some of the historic illustrations of Dickens' works. A point of great interest will be Dickens' visit to Halifax, N. S. Young man, get away from the crowd for a while, and think, stand on one side and let the world run by. While you get acquainted with your self and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself, hard questions and answer them. You are drifting aimlessly along with the stream or striving for a definite purpose. The surge along with the crowd requires no effort and will bring reward. Ask yourself if you are making progress, so that each tomorrow finds you farther than today.

Ice Cream will soon be manufactured again at McKenzie's Creamery. A new and fully modern equipment has been installed which will go a long way towards producing the kind of ice cream that "melts" in your mouth. Stewart McKenzie, brother of J. D.'s, arrived here from Toronto on Monday of this week, and will take charge of the ice cream department. He has been in the queen city for the past three years manufacturing ice cream. Guess city people know real ice cream and will buy only the best. We consider the people of Middleton and the Valley in general, who like good products of the frozen kind, very fortunate to have in their midst a cream plant under the management of a manufacturer who has been satisfying the wants of the most fastidious.

Nova Scotia got a nice bit of publicity in the Toronto Star Weekly, in the issue of Saturday, April 25th. Two large scenes were depicted in the photograph section showing to advantage Hillcrest Orchard and also an orchard at Starr's Point. These photos were taken in Apple blossom time and the pictures alone forth in all their glory giving a vivid impression of the famous Annapolis Valley when white and pink colors reign supreme. To those who love beautiful scenery, the pictures should create in them a desire to see the glories themselves, and it is more than likely that many who gaze upon the pictures will come to Nova Scotia this season. It pays to advertise.

After thirty five years of existence, the Enterprise of New Glasgow has ceased publication. Financial difficulties being responsible. It seems hard to think that a paper after 35 years of service must relinquish its hold and pass out. In many places business people are literally killing their very life-blood. Eliminate the home paper and the road is well paved for the big mail orders—the main obstacle has been taken to one side and eventually the local business concern will pass out the way the local paper went. A paper cannot live without patronage, but that patronage must be paid for. Truly these days are the hardest ones for the local newspaper—and as they cease so do the community enterprises. It's a truth. So realize your responsibility.

"WHITE COLLAR JOBS"

There is a rather unfortunate trend among the present-day young Canadians in favor of the "white-collar jobs." Some young fellow would rather take a small salary, and be able to dress well and keep their hands immaculate, than earn twice as much at a job which means greasy overalls and blackened nails.

not, but remember that the dirty job is one that leaves smut on your soul not the one that blackens your hands. If you go into any occupation in which you are required to misrepresent, in which you take advantage of the ignorance and inexperience of the public to make gains for somebody, you have a dirty job, even though you get about looking like a tailor's advertisement.

The white collar job is all right if it is your job, not otherwise. The young fellow who turns his back on the occupation for which he is best fitted because it means wearing overalls and getting grease on his hands, does not deserve to succeed.

Wouldn't you like to live in a place where there was no tax collector and no tax to pay? Canada really has one town in this over-taxed world where the people will have no taxes to pay in 1925. This statement is made on no less authority than the Provincial Government of Alberta. Sugar City municipality, in the district of Raymond, in Southern Alberta, is reported, in a statement recently issued, to be in such splendid financial condition that there will be no tax levy necessary for the coming year. That surely must be a sweet place to live in.

"WHERE THERE ARE BEES THERE IS HONEY"

And where there are homes there is money. This paper goes right into the best homes and is read thoroughly by every member of the family old enough to read at all. If you have something to sell that intelligent people will buy, there's no better way to reach them than by an advertisement in this journal.
