

HORWOOD IMPLICATES ROBLIN IN MANITOBA SCANDAL RUSSAINS SAVE LEMBERG BY DEFEATING AUSTRANS

SIR ROBLIN NOW SLATED AS A SINNER

Horwood Told to Let Contracts
Without Plans.

ADVISED NOT TO WORRY

Roblin Said Graft Investigation
Was Only Politics.

HON. DR. MONTAGUE, TOO

Witness Says Minister Ordered Destruction of Letters
About Contracts.

[Canadian Press.]
Minneapolis, Minn., June 11.—Continuing today his story before the royal commission, V. W. Horwood, formerly provincial architect of Manitoba, gave evidence which introduced the names of Rodmond Roblin and Hon. Dr. Montague, former minister of public works. Horwood said Roblin instructed him to recommend letting to Thomas Kelly & Sons before necessary plans were drawn, a steel contract for $302,550. Sir Rodmond also, he said, advised Horwood not to worry over the graft investigation. It was only politics and nothing would come of it.

Destroyed Letters.
Horwood then testified that Dr. Montague had him destroy all letters in the public works department relating to the Kelly contracts. He further said that Montague wanted him to sign certain letters which had been prepared for him, but he refused.

Horwood said he remembered a meeting with the Government at which Architect Simon was told they would allow him to leave of over half a million dollars above the estimate. However, then the provincial architect, kept instructing Horwood not to date his plans and not to keep a diary, as the Government did not want any such records. Horwood said he was opposed to pile foundations, and suggested caissons long before tenders were called.

No Check With Tender.
Horwood told about letting the contract for the Parliament buildings. Several days after July 2, 1912, the day by which the Government had advertised tenders must be in, Horwood heard that Kelly had put his tender in that day.

Dwyer, an employee of the works department, told him Kelly was the only tender. About July 6 or 7, Hon. George Caldwell handed him two tenders. Kelly's was to Horwood's house and discussed the absence of check with Kelly's tender. At this time Kelly, he said, thought Caldwell was going "to double cross" him, saying that he had considered a tender unaccompanied by a deposit. Horwood then thought the contract would probably go to Kelly.

It was Sir Rodmond Roblin, the witness testified, who instructed him to recommend a contract for $302,550 just before the last provincial election. There were no plans for it. The Premier asked Horwood to be very careful, so that no commission in ten or twenty years could find anything wrong.

Destroying Letters.
Just before the last session of the House, Dr. Montague asked witness to get from the premises all files all correspondence in connection with the Parliament buildings. There was a big batch of it, and Horwood had to re-act the evidence of abstracted letters. Montague told him to destroy all proof of them. Horwood remembered one day Dr. R. M. Simpson called him up by phone and said the Government had to have a campaign fund. For that reason it would be undesirable for him to record the evidence of the abstracted letters, or going to court, until after the fiscal year. This incident occurred when three or four of the caisson estimates had been put into the Government.

Horwood said he was not taking instructions from Dr. Simpson and referred the matter to Caldwell, but Caldwell told him anything Simpson said was all right. In fact, Caldwell intimated to him Kelly was to be allowed to make money out of the caissons in order to provide a campaign fund for the Government—$50,000 was the sum talked of at first, and afterwards $100,000.

The Big Graft.
Horwood said he knew of a big graft was just before last session, when he saw Salt's book. Previously his idea had been that the depths of the caissons was about 18 feet. Comparing these with applications for payment, he discovered a huge discrepancy, and spoke to Caldwell about the matter. The minister advised him to have Elliott or Salt go over the book.

The night before Horwood left Winnipeg for Rochester, Dr. Simpson paid him $10,000 to reimburse him for expenses to which he had been put in keeping Salt away from Winnipeg. Horwood said that on Monday, April 19, the Government held a Cabinet meeting. He was present, and it was suggested he should apply for leave of absence, pending the result of the commission. The suggestion he acted upon. Dr. J. H. Hughes had made up a [Continued On Page Three.]

NEWSPAPER PLANT WRECKED BY EXPLOSION

Butte Socialist Building Badly Damaged—Investigation Under Way.

[Canadian Press.]
Butte, Mont., June 11.—The plant of the Butte Socialist, a weekly newspaper, was wrecked by an explosion, presumably by dynamite, early today. While the nature of the explosion was not determined, a patrolman, who was one of the men on the scene, declared that the smallest of powder smoke. The building of the building was wrecked, and the front was hurled into the street. So far as is known no one was hurt. An investigation is in progress.

ILLUSTRATED WAR PHASES

AUSTRIANS THROWN BACK BY RUSSAINS ACROSS DNIESTER; 6,700 MEN TAKEN CAPTIVE

One Entire Company of Prussian Fusilier Guards Taken—Czar's Forces Also Bombard Positions From Stanislaw to Borknik, Says Dispatch.

Petrograd, June 11.—An official announcement from army headquarters, given out today, recites a Russian success on the River Dniester.

After hard fighting, the Russians yesterday took from their antagonists 17 cannon and 49 machine guns, and captured approximately 6,700 officers and men.

ENEMY REPULSED.
"By heroic efforts, our troops, repulsed on the right bank of the River Dniester great forces of the enemy who had crossed near Zuriawana, east of Stry. On the front, from Julakow to Siewik, the enemy sustained great losses. After a hard fight we captured 17 cannon and 49 machine guns and took prisoners 187 officers and 6,600 men. Among the prisoners is one entire company of the Prussian Fusilier Guards."

BEATEN AT ANOTHER POINT.
Geneva, June 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Innsbruck, in the Austrian Tyrol, purports to give details of Russian successes in the Galicia campaign. The dispatch says:

"The Russians bombarded the Austrian positions from Stanislaw to Borknik on the left bank of the Dniester. They have driven the Austrians across the river, making a large number of prisoners. The Austrians also have been obliged, to fall back across the Dniester at Bukaszowice. The Russians stopped the advance of an Austrian column marching on Kolesna. The action was fierce, and the losses heavy on both sides."

AUSTRIANS LOSE OVER 8,000 MEN

Italians Meet Strong Opposition in Their March on Gorizia.

NO DECISION ARRIVED AT

Enemy Claims Victory in First Big Engagement With Italy.

[Canadian Press.]
Geneva, via Paris, June 11.—Labach dispatch to the Tribune says:

"The Italians began their march against Gorizia on the morning of June 8. When the first detachments were near the city, Austrian artillery opened fire, and heavy masses of infantry were thrown forward forced the Italians to fall back several times.

"An artillery position east of the city opened a great gap in the Austrian line, and up to the morning of the 9th neither side had gained a decisive advantage. The Austrians lost from 8,000 to 10,000 men. Gorizia is overhanging with wounded, who are being sent for at private houses because of a lack of hospital space."

AUSTRIA CLAIMS VICTORY.
Cologne, Germany, June 11.—Via London, 12:30 p.m.—The correspondent of the Cologne Gazette attached to the Austrian army headquarters in the south says in a dispatch, that the first considerable battle of the war with Italy has been fought in the region of the Isonzo River, and that it resulted favorably to the Austrians.

The Italians attacked Gorizia, Gradisca and Monfalcone, supporting their advance with artillery fire from pieces of large and small calibre. The Italian advance, the correspondent says, was checked by the Austrians on their flanks.

CAPTURE PLOEKEN.
Innsbruck, June 11.—(By courier to the Swiss Frontier and Geneva, 10:45 a.m., and Paris, 2:55 p.m.)—Italian forces have captured Ploeken, in Austria, on the frontier. The possession of this location is important, as it endangers Austrian communications. Ploeken is 15 miles south of the main highway between Laibach and Innsbruck.

ADVANCE ON PREDIL PASS.
Udine, Italy, June 11.—Italian forces today are advancing through Predil Pass on the junction of the Laibach Railway at Tarvis, which lies about six miles on the Austrian side of the Italian border. Trains of Italian wounded soldiers are arriving at Udine.

WOULD HIDE GERMAN LOSSES FROM PEOPLE

Berlin Papers Forbidden to Print News Without Previous Orders.

[Canadian Press.]
Berlin, via London, June 11.—The military commander of Berlin has issued a renewal of the order prohibiting the publication of military information without a previously granted order. He says the stories of German losses, although based on official lists, "could lay no claim to correctness, and in part give greatly exaggerated figures. Publications of this nature are calculated to evoke groundless uneasiness among the people and also occasion incorrect ideas abroad concerning German losses."

The commandant therefore forbids the publication of all such articles.

LOST TWO HORSES IN THRILLING DASH WITH MESSAGE OF LONDON'S BATTERY

Sergt.-Major Latham Escapes
When One Animal's Head Is Blown Off and Again When
Second Mount Had Hind Legs Torn Off by Shells.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]
London, June 11.—A graphic story of "the hottest corner I ever was in" and how his horse which he brought with him from London, Ontario, was shot under him, is sent here today by Quartermaster-Sergeant Edward D. Latham of 12th Battery Canadian Artillery.

"I could have sent a man with the message," says Latham, "but I never asked a man to do what I would not do myself, so I started off myself."

BLEW HIS HEAD OFF.
"I had not gone far before a shell struck my horse in the neck and exploded, blowing his poor head clean off."

It was out clean through as if with an axe, and dropped a good twenty yards away. I lost the horse, but carried the saddle back and got another horse. I had almost reached my destination when another shell dropped just under this second horse blowing both his hind legs off and making a generally horrible mess.

FLEW THROUGH AIR.
"I was flying through the air without any alms, and came bump on the hard road. I picked myself up very gently because I was not sure whether there was all or just some of me there."

"I then completed my journey afoot, delivered my message and then collapsed."

"The next thing I knew, I was on a motor-car to the hospital. However, I will be back again next week when I hope to pay the beggars back."

Q. M. S. Latham left London as quartermaster of the 12th (London) Field Battery, and it is supposed that he is still with the unit under his new name of the 13th Field Battery.

For some time before leaving London he was employed at the "Signify" with Marley & Weekes. He boarded on Talbot street.

He was an unmarried man, and had seen imperial service, having been four years in the 21st Lancers, and served with them through the Egyptian campaign of 1882. He received the Egyptian medal, and was mentioned several times in dispatches during that campaign.

Severe Setbacks.
"In Galicia the enemy attacked with strong forces our positions protecting Moskiska (37 miles southwest of Lemberg). The attack was opened with an extremely active artillery fire at 5 p.m. of the 9th. Employing asphyxiating shells after a three-hour cannonade, the enemy sent masses of infantry to the assault. These troops reached our wire entanglements, but there their advance was arrested. The following morning, the enemy, suffering still heavier losses, was repulsed a distance of 2,000 paces from our trenches."

More Successes.
"An engagement favorable for us occurred on the Dniester on the 9th and morning of the 10th. On the right bank of the Dniester, from Ugartseburg to Zidaczew, we pressed the enemy back, capturing another 2,000 prisoners with fifty officers and eight machine guns."

"On the left bank of the Dniester, in the Jurawno region, the enemy was unable to deploy advantageously, and after a stubborn fight was driven back behind the railway. We seized several villages, taking at the village of Bukaczew 500 prisoners, including 20 officers."

Renewed Faith.
Here it is characterized as giving renewed faith to Great Britain and France in the recuperative powers of Russian arms."

Nothing new has been heard in London concerning the fighting in the Balkan provinces.

The Italians are now less than twenty miles from Trieste, the chief port of Austria.

On the western front the methodical French advance would appear for the moment to have ceased. But on the other hand the German counter-attacks do not seem to have been successful.

SERVIANS CAPTURE TOWN IN ALBANIA

Reported Marching Toward the Adriatic Sea After Taking Elbasan.

[Canadian Press.]
London, June 11.—Servian troops are reported to have captured the Albanian town of Elbasan, 64 miles south of London. The capture of this town is of great importance, as it is the chief port of the Adriatic coast.

This information was contained in a private message received at Berlin today from Athens and telegraphed to London by the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

INVITED BY PEOPLE.
Nish, Serbia, June 11.—Servian troops have occupied strategic positions in Albania. They entered the Albanian town of Elbasan at the response of the people, according to Servian Government officials, who say that the Albanians fear the Austrians and the Turks.

REPUBLIC PROCLAIMED.
London, June 11.—A dispatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the Servians have occupied Tirana, a town of Albania, twelve miles southwest of Croia, and are now marching on the Albanian seaport of Durazzo.

Albanian insurgents, the dispatch says, have proclaimed a republic.

NO WAR HINT EVEN IN NOTE FROM STATES

Press Agrees That Message

Threat.

NOTHING SAID IN ANGER

Some Will Consider It Weak,
Says the Philadelphia
Inquirer.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, June 11.—How American newspapers view President Wilson's latest note to Germany is shown by the following editorial comments:

PITTSBURG DISPATCH.
The reply to Germany is conceived in the same spirit of service to humanity and couched in the same tone of patience and firmness that marked the President's note of last month. The feeling of Americans after reading it, and having its predecessor in mind, will be summed up in this verdict: "Why, there's no war in this."

BALTIMORE AMERICAN.
If the people of the United States were insistent upon the issues between the United States and Germany being set forth in vigorous language, and with direct insistence upon the satisfaction asked being given, they will be disappointed in the note that the President has sent to Germany. There is only one conclusion to be drawn from the note and that is that the representations made through Ambassador Bernstorff and his special agent will not be insisted upon by Germany in the future. The note is being given the opportunity of retiring without chagrin from its submarine attacks.

BRITAIN CHEERED BY RUSSIAN BLOW

Checking of Austrians Renews

LEMBURG SAFE FOR TIME

Italians Creeping on Towards the Chief Seaport of Austria.

[Canadian Press.]
London, June 11.—British observers, forming their opinions on the latest dispatches from Russia, believe that the Austro-German forces threatening Lemberg from the south have been checked in their advance. Russia, they declare, has delivered a return blow, and a hard one. The great masses of Austrians from the south have been forced a passage of the Dniester River, near Zuriawana, have, according to the latest announcement of the Russian war office, been flung back with heavy losses in both men and material.

Lemberg Safe.
Thus for the moment Lemberg is thought to be safe, for nowhere else along the Galician front have the Teutonic allies been making progress recently, with the exception, of course, of their southern extension into Bukovina.

News was received yesterday that the Russian reinforcements were moving south along the Dniester River, from Mikolajew to Rohatyn, but it was hardly expected here that they would achieve such quick results. If this victory has been decisive, it is the first real check delivered by the Russians since the start of the Austro-German rush through Galicia.

Renewed Faith.
Here it is characterized as giving renewed faith to Great Britain and France in the recuperative powers of Russian arms."

Nothing new has been heard in London concerning the fighting in the Balkan provinces.

The Italians are now less than twenty miles from Trieste, the chief port of Austria.

On the western front the methodical French advance would appear for the moment to have ceased. But on the other hand the German counter-attacks do not seem to have been successful.

Only Ray of Sunshine.
It is this belief that is the only ray of sunshine in a very black international sky. Should the German Government take this view, the critical stage has been passed and a way can be found out of a position fraught with the gravest consequences for both nations.

Diplomats of pro-Ally sympathies declared the note, although expressed in beautiful phrases, skillfully concealed an iron hand in a velvet glove. It is known that former Secretary of State, Mr. Bryan, who retired from the Cabinet when confronted with the obligation of signing the note, entertains the same views. He considers the note the fulfilment of a policy of directness.

To his mind it typified "force that speaks with firmness and acts through the ultimatum."

This is the foundation of the American case: President Wilson's war aim is to discuss with Germany just what rules should be applied to submarine warfare. He is willing to act as mediator between Germany and her enemies in "anything that may bring about even a partial accommodation of interests, or in any way mitigate the terrors of the present distressing conflict."

The Alternative.
In doing so, however, he insists that the United States must be assured that its rights, under international law, are recognized and respected.

Until Berlin answers, the President and his Cabinet, and the officials who are aiding him in every way, will regard the German reply will be any responsible official and no steps taken toward a next move by the President.

It is accepted as a fact that if the German reply is evasive, or if refusal, there will be nothing left for the President to do but withdraw Ambassador Gerard and the American consular representatives from Germany, thus severing diplomatic relations.

A GRIM RELIC
Mrs. Wood, of Toronto, formerly a resident of this city, who is visiting friends here, received an unexpected surprise yesterday when on opening a small parcel post package she found therein a piece of shell with which her husband, who left here with the first contingent, had been wounded while fighting in the trenches around Ypres.

Wood, who for some years resided on Peel street, moved to Toronto a couple of years ago, but came back to this city at the outbreak of the European conflict and joined the first contingent, leaving for the front in 1914.

In a brief letter to his wife Wood stated that while fighting in a trench he was struck in the left leg below the knee with the piece of shell he was sending her, and that it was a week before the hospital authorities were able to extract it, on account of its striking a bone in his leg and running for some inches downward.

Wood, prior to his departure for Toronto, was well known to numerous north sides.

ALL MEN SHOULD LEARN TO SHOOT

THERE IS NEED FOR EVERY MAN TO UNDERSTAND RIFLE

Captain T. J. Murphy Declares Canadians Are Faced With Real Menace If United States
Is Involved in War—Service For Defence Compulsory.

That Canada is faced with a real menace provided the United States is drawn into the present war and that all male citizens of this country may be yet forced to shoulder arms and fight in the defence of the homeland, was the statement of Capt. T. J. Murphy, of the 7th Regiment, this morning. He said that as there are 20,000 Germans, or people of German descent, living across the border, the men among them would not doubt attempt, did the United States go to war with Germany, to make an invasion over the border in which eventually Canada, with the few men she has under arms and with the comparatively small number that know how to use a rifle, would be placed in the gravest danger.

EVERY MAN SHOULD KNOW HOW TO SHOOT.
"Every man in this country," stated the captain, "should have some military training and should be an expert in the use of a rifle. The men should learn when young how to shoot and shoot well. Each one should perfect himself in rifle use when young, because as he grows older he becomes valuable and cannot take the same amount of time in this work. Between the ages of 16 and 21 I would consider the best for this work. After this last age has been reached the young man enters civilian life, and in case trouble came would be in a position to serve his country and serve it well."

A CIVILIAN ARMY.
"If all our citizens had this military training, in the case of war we would have at our immediate disposal a civilian army which would cost the country nothing."

"A large proportion of the men in this country do not know that under the militia act every male between the age of 18 and 60 is a soldier by law, whether he likes it or not, and may be called upon to defend his country in her hour of need or peril. If the law says we are soldiers willingly, why not be soldiers in fact? Exceptions to this act there are, but the number excepted are very few and include judges, college professors, civil service employees and such like. But practically the entire male population of our country would come under the reading of the act. If Canada was attacked we would all be called out. For which reason we should know something of military life and especially should we be expert in the use of the rifle. Our lives and our homes may depend on it."

DEFENCE IS COMPULSORY.
"One man I was talking to not long ago in relation to enlisting or to aligning himself with some military organization where he could learn that which would benefit his country if his services were required, said: 'To what with it? The Government cannot compel me to fight if I don't want to.' But he was wrong. The Government can and may, and it is up to us all to be ready when the call comes."

The act which tells of liability to military service is in the Revised Statutes of Canada, volume 1, chapter 1, sections 10 and 11. Section 10 reads:

"All the male inhabitants of Canada, of the age of 18 years and upwards, shall be liable to be called into the militia, provided that the government-general may require the services of any male inhabitant of Canada, under the age of 18 years, enlisting as a bugler, trumpeter or drummer."

Section 11 reads: Those exempt from liability to service in the militia are: Members of the King's Privy Council for Canada; judges of all courts, deputy ministers of Federal and Provincial Governments; sergeants and ministers of religion; members of naval militia; graph clerks in actual employment; civil service employees, and all of the members of naval militia, members of police force, brigades permanently employed; professors in college and universities, and teachers in religious or secular schools; persons disabled by bodily and mental infirmity; only son of a widow, if he is her sole means of support; pilot; and apprentices, lads during the season of navigation; persons who from doctrines of their religion are averse to bearing arms or rendering personal military service.

MILLION DOLLARS WEEKLY WAGES OF NEW INDUSTRY

Two Hundred and Forty-Seven Canadian Factories Are Making Shells.

70,000 MEN EMPLOYED

General Bertram Explains Task Which Canada Has Undertaken.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

TORONTO, June 10.—At a luncheon given at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club today in connection with the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the principal guest was Brig-Gen. Alexander Bertram, formerly of Dundas, but now of Ottawa, chairman of the Dominion shell committee. By special request Gen. Bertram spoke on the work of the important organization over which he presides.

Mr. Bertram said:

A Subject Little Known.

"My chief object in addressing you today in my capacity as chairman of the shell committee is to let the people of Canada know what the Dominion is doing in the manufacture of munitions of war. It is a subject which the knowledge men have of our work; men of ordinary intelligence who, through the public press, should certainly be cognizant of the situation as it exists in this country. For instance, I read in an Ottawa newspaper last week a long editorial written by a gentleman in his office which is situated within two blocks of the headquarters of the shell committee, telling the Government what should be done to organize the manufacturers of Canada. Although we have been at work for several months, and so far have produced and shipped 650,000 shells, evidently it has not dawned upon this gentleman that the Government, as well as the manufacturers of the Dominion, were alive to the necessities of the situation, and were doing their respective parts loyally and enthusiastically.

Gen. Hughes a Pioneer.

"I am not here as an apologist for Major-General Hughes. He needs no apologist. To the Minister of Militia and to him alone belongs the credit of initiating the work for the organization of the manufacturers in Canada in a way that they were never organized before in any particular industry. Gen. Hughes is the pioneer of this work in the Dominion; the members of the shell committee are simply the means by which he is carrying out this effective and splendid service for the Empire. I say nothing of the zeal and enthusiasm with which he mobilized, equipped and dispatched 23,000 men from Canada in seven short weeks after the declaration of war, and since then has sent across the seas an equal number. That in itself is a magnificent achievement, and only in slightly lesser degree will the credit accrue to him for showing the way to the engineering firms of England, Ireland and Scotland, as well as other portions of the Empire, to the manufacture of those munitions without which no war can be successfully carried on. You all read the other day the stirring words of Lloyd George at Manchester. I am glad to know that the manufacturers of Britain are now being systematically organized for the production of ammunition, even after the lapse of so many months. Gen. Hughes was the first man in Canada to grasp this idea.

Engineering Factories Organized.

"Shortly after the outbreak of the war the Minister received an order from the British Government for supplies of arms and ammunition. Contracts were placed for these both in the Dominion and in the States, and then came the request for 200,000 shrapnel shells, unloaded, in equal numbers of 15 and 18-pounders. Canada possesses in the city of Quebec a modern plant for the manufacture of shells, but its capacity is limited, it can only produce 75 shells per day, which was quite inadequate to meet the demand. There was only one thing to do. The Minister of Militia conceived the idea of utilizing the engineering factories throughout the Dominion for shell manufacture, and to secure the co-operation of employers and employees in the engineering trades to take up this patriotic work. As a manufacturer myself I am free to confess that it was with some reluctance that we responded to Gen. Hughes' suggestion, even though at that time many factories were practically idle. Several manufacturers met with Mr. Bertram on the 2nd of September at this meeting there were also present Col. C. Greville Harston, chief inspector of arms and ammunition for the Dominion, and Col. F. D. Laflamme, superintendent of the Dominion arsenal at Quebec. We discussed the whole situation freely, and after hearing explanations by Col. Laflamme as to the manufacture of shells and their component parts, and the examination of drawings and specifications, which were fully explained by both these officers, we came to the conclusion that the manufacturers of Canada could and should engage in this work.

Committee Named.

"Accordingly the following week, at a meeting called by Gen. Hughes at the Dominion arsenal at Quebec, a committee was appointed to organize the movement throughout the Dominion. The members of this committee are Messrs. Thomas Cantley of New Glasgow, George W. Watts of Toronto, E. George of Welland, Gen. T. Benson, master-general of ordnance, Mr. J. W. Borden, chief accountant and paymaster-general, Col. Harston and Col. Laflamme, the latter four representing the department of militia and defence. I had the honor to be named chairman of this committee. I accepted the office, because I felt it to be my duty. I had the additional satisfaction of knowing that there were associated with me enthusiastic colleagues who would do their utmost to make the undertaking a success. In this I have not been disappointed. I cannot speak too highly of the splendid work of my associates.

Expert Adviser Secured.

"Col. Laflamme undertook the technical instruction of the manufacturers, while Col. Harston was allotted the equally important duty of superintending the examination and inspection. Before the end of the month we were fortunate to secure the services of Mr. David Carnegie of London, England, as an ordnance adviser. You may realize how fortunate we were in this respect when I tell you that Mr. Carnegie, who is one of the recognized authorities on steel and munitions of war, was for many years in charge of the shell factory at Woolwich arsenal. He is a fellow of the Royal Society, Edinburgh, and an active member of the most important engineering institutions in the Motherland. Col. Carnegie took up his duties immediately, and since September has been on the work day and night.

New Industries Established.

"General Hughes was careful to the utmost possible limit the component parts of the shells should be 'made in Canada'. This principle we have constantly kept in mind, and I am satisfied that when the war is over, and these establishments cease manufacturing munitions certain industries will be created in the Dominion of a lasting character, for which the country will receive permanent benefit. For instance, I may mention that the manufacture of copper refined and smelted is a mere bagatelle, although in 1914 the country exported approximately 30,000 tons of copper ore in matte form. Our own production of this metal annually imports 21,000 tons of the refined product. Why should not the work of smelting and refining our native copper be done in Canada? You will be pleased to learn that as a direct outcome of the work of the shell committee this will be made possible. Our experience in the past has demonstrated the fact that the development of this industry in the Dominion, while it would undoubtedly be a benefit to the Dominion, is above all things a military necessity. Canada will not have to remain long under the dependence of other countries for refined copper, and I can assure you of this, that within three or four months, we expect to be making in this country, from the native product, all the copper bands required in the production of shells.

Canadian Steel Used.

"At the outset our work was largely of a formative character. We wanted Canadian steel for Canadian shells. Heretofore none such has been forthcoming. Col. Cantley was entrusted with this work and the country is under deep obligation to him for having rapidly installed and equipped a plant for producing the first steel made in Canada for shell manufacture. It was agreed to supply free of charge to those manufacturers who would undertake the work of finishing and assembling the complete shells all the component parts entering into the construction of the shell. In this way many of the smaller manufacturers were relieved of the financial burden of carrying a heavy stock of the raw materials, and which very largely contributed to the success of this huge undertaking. It was further decided to eliminate unhealthy competition by paying uniform prices for the same article. An inspection company was chosen to deal with all shell components, thus relieving the assembling manufacturers of the responsibility of inspection, while at the same time satisfying the shell committee beyond question that the component parts of shells were correct in every particular before the finished article passed into the hands of the government inspector.

Orders for 9,000,000 Shells.

"Starting with the first order for 200,000 shrapnel we have since placed orders aggregating 9,000,000 shells, consisting of 15 and 18-pound shrapnel, 18-pounder, 4.5 and 6-pounder high explosive shells. In addition we have placed orders for 100,000 cartridge cases, 5,000,000 fuses, 2,000,000 primers, and 1,000,000 friction tubes.

"Before awarding a contract a careful investigation is made as to the ability of the firm to carry out the particular work assigned to it. If there is any doubt as to the plant being unsuitable, a competent inspector is sent to report upon the state of the factory. You will quite understand that in order to safeguard the interests of the country the committee had to stipulate that contracts placed would be subject to cancellation. Each manufacturer adjusts his own machinery to the particular work assigned to him, and is furnished with a set of inspection gauges as a guide in making the manufacturing gauges required. The preparation of the drawings for the various parts, and the preparation of the gauges and their distribution, have involved considerable labor, but we got it done and done well.

Many Inspectors Employed.

"To give you an idea of the certain feature of our work I may mention that the inspection of the various component parts, including the analyses of the material, and physical tests call for the employment of over 300 inspectors, besides several chief inspectors. Most of the inspectors are experienced machinists and tool-makers who are carried out by nearly 300 examiners and district inspectors under the direction of Col. Harston. Such an army of inspectors emphasizes the care which is being taken to produce satisfactory results, and which have been highly commended upon by the officials of the war office. Upon Col. Harston also devolves the actual proof tests, these being carried out at a certain place, the average number of shells fired daily being 300. As soon as the shells have passed examination, and have been packed ready for shipment, the manufacturer receives his check.

247 Factories Engaged.

"In one single establishment in Canada, except the Dominion arsenal at Quebec, is the complete shell made. One hundred and thirty firms from Halifax to Vancouver are engaged in the work of machining and assembling. Others are occupied in the manufacture of blanks, bullets, discs, cartridge cases, buckshot, primers, tubes, tin cups for shrapnel, grub screws, sockets and plugs, steel base plates and boxes. From an enumeration of these various lines it will be observed how extensive the several operations are. At the present time not less than 247 factories are engaged in this work in 73 cities and towns in the Dominion. In Montreal alone 35 factories are employed, Toronto has 28, Hamilton 17, and so on throughout the Dominion from coast to coast. Practically every province of Canada is participating in this enterprise.

Weekly Wages $1,000,000.

"The manufacture of shells in this country is giving employment to between 40,000 and 70,000 artisans, while the total weekly wage bill easily amounts to $1,000,000. From these figures you will see what the shell-making industry means to the workmen, as well as to the manufacturers of the Dominion. The changes which were necessary in the equipment of the various factories by adding new machinery, or in the readjustment of existing plants, were made by the manufacturers themselves and at their own expense. These changes gave employment to many other factories which were not directly engaged in making ammunition. In the course of a very short time now we shall be producing from between 40,000 and 50,000 shells per day. For the contracts already placed it may interest you to know that 100,000 tons of steel, about 30,000 tons of lead, and several thousand tons of other materials are required.

High Explosive Manufactured.

"In referring to the various industries covered by the sphere of operations of the shell committee, I cannot but make allusion to the investigations conducted at the instance of the Minister of Militia in connection with the supply of propellants and high explosives. In addition to the manufacture of several thousand tons of cordite and powder in connection with the present contract, through his instrumentality an important new industry has been initiated in the Dominion, viz., the manufacture of the high explosive, trinitro-toluene. The revenue alone from the contract placed with this company will be nearly $500,000. I mention this so as to give the gentlemen present an idea of what has been accomplished in one direction only, but I think you will agree with me that the value of having such an industry in Canada far outweighs any monetary consideration which may be named.

All eager to Assist.

"We have endeavored to discover the ability of the various manufacturers to undertake the work, and it has been most gratifying to find not only a readiness to produce ammunition, but an eager desire amongst all to assist the committee in carrying out its duties. The cordial co-operation of both employer and employee has been one of the finest features throughout the strenuous times in which we are now involved. I wish to emphasize here in particular that the backbone of the whole situation is the mechanical ability of our workmen, who have done wonders in developing methods of manufacture which have hastened the production of the finished material.

No Politics.

"I could speak upon this subject for a much longer period, but I do not wish to weary you. I am sure you will give the shell committee credit for having done its best in this national crisis. I will say this, and I am sure every one of my colleagues of the committee will concur, that in our work politics have no place, and we have been given an absolutely free hand. This is a time of national emergency, in which every true Briton must do his part, according to the ability with which he has been endowed. In the patriotic work in which we are engaged I am sure that all those associated with us, the manufacturers, as well as the workmen of Canada, will do their part loyally and enthusiastically, until victory has been achieved. I close, as I began, with Lord Kitchener's words: 'Those who are engaged on the production of war material of any kind should not leave their work. It is to men who are not performing this duty that I appeal.'

CRUISER TRAINS GUNS

ON DANGEROUS DERELICT

Vessel Believed To Be Schoner Abandoned May 28.

HALIFAX, June 10.—Training her six inch guns on a derelict which she sighted yesterday many miles off the southwest coast of Nova Scotia, one of the cruisers belonging to the Halifax Naval Station attempted to destroy the abandoned vessel, but was unable to sink her.

This morning Marine Agent Harvey received a message from the cruiser saying that she had passed a derelict, dangerous to navigation, in 42°44 north, 65°00 west, and had fired on it, but without success. It is believed that this derelict is the three-masted schooner Harry, which was abandoned May 28, and the crew landed at Shelbourne. The Harry has since been reported south of that position by passing steamers.

GRAMPAN IN ENGLAND

OTTAWA, June 10.—The militia department was advised tonight of the safe arrival of the Grampian in an English port. She carried 1,038 officers and men from the 48th Battalion Winnipeg, 500 from Winnipeg and Brandon as reinforcements to the 75th Cameron Highlanders, and a party of 33 doctors.

Seized With Paralysis Could Not Walk

Most Extraordinary Cure Effected by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

To have the nervous system paralyzed, to be unable to walk and scarcely able to talk, and then to be completely cured, is not a usual experience, but Mr. Hyatt tells in this letter what he passed through. Doctors told him his case was hopeless, and when they gave up he turned to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and obtained complete cure.

Mr. Avery Hyatt, blacksmith, St. Anna, Lincoln County, Ont., writes: "I am a blacksmith by trade, and some years ago became afflicted with paralysis. I could not walk or read, or write, and could talk with difficulty, so that it was a hard matter to understand anything I would say. Being only a young man, I was nearly discouraged. Two doctors told me it was brought on by overwork, and that my case was hopeless.

"One day my father read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and advised me to try it. I bought 12 boxes, and when the fifth was used I saw that I was getting better. By the time the 12 boxes were used I was cured. I am well and working every day, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

This statement is certified to by Mr. Elmon J. Hodgkins, J. P.

No ailment is more dreaded than paralysis. And yet how few people realize that paralysis of the nerves is only a natural result of neglected nervous troubles.

At first you do not sleep well, have nervous headaches or indigestion, and yourself easily irritated and annoyed, can hear noises which in good health you would never notice. You begin to consider yourself sick, and yet you lack the usual energy and vigor and feel out of sorts.

Restore the nerves by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Six Men Buried In Mine Cave-in

All Believed Killed in Joplin, Mo., Disaster.

—[Canadian Press.]

Joplin, Mo., June 11.—Six men were buried beneath tons of water, earth and rocks in the Longacre-Chapman mine near here late last night, when they cut into a drift of an abandoned mine. A seventh man was rescued after being picked up and hurried nearly 700 feet by the force of the cave-in. The six are believed to have been instantly killed.

B. C. MAY BECOME MANUFACTURING PROVINCE

C. M. A. President Predicts Trade Agreement at End of War.

—[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, June 11.—J. P. Sherrard, of Montreal, president of the C. M. A., made an important statement at a luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. Commenting on future trade opportunities in Canada, he said:

"There are good reasons for expecting that at the close of the war a trade agreement will be arranged between the Allies that will include Canada, and if things done we will have a possible customer in Russia alone that will greatly benefit Canadian industry, and that should make British Columbia a manufacturing province of the first rank."

They Look Alike But—

The average cup of tea or coffee contains from 1 1/2 to 3 grains of caffeine, a subtle, poisonous drug.

Caffeine is cumulative, and day by day pounds away at nerves, heart and other organs, finally showing in biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, heart flutter, nervous prostration, etc.

A cup of

has a delicious, snappy flavor and fine color, but contains no tea, coffee, caffeine, nor other harmful substance.

Postum—made of whole wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses—is a pure food-drink and is taking the place of coffee with thousands of people who appreciate health and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—requires the rough boiling to bring out its flavor and food value. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—the soluble form—is prepared in the cup instantly with hot water. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious—cost per cup about the same—sold by grocers everywhere.

GETS HUSH MONEY; ROBBED IN FLIGHT

Manitoba Government Agent Soon Loses $10,000 Given to Him.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE

"Missing Witness" and Architect Horwood Give Startling Testimony.

—[Canadian Press.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 10.—V. W. Horwood, formerly Manitoba's provincial architect, gave evidence before a royal commission here this afternoon. His testimony was so sensational that William Salt, the missing witness, who was produced before the commission, A. J. Andrews, senior counsel for the Manitoba government, before Mr. Horwood began his evidence, stated that outside of Manitoba the commission had no power to administer an oath. Chief Justice Mathers said he thought the oath should be administered, as the moral effect, no doubt, would be of considerable effect, but he extended the witness immunity from the effects of his statements in any possible action. Horwood stated that Hon. Mr. Caldwell told him that Salt's books containing a report of the depths and dimensions of the caissons, would not work out right with Kelly's application for payments. Acting on the advice of W. A. Elliott, inspector of the buildings, and Caldwell, Horwood called Salt into the office and got him to make a copy of the book. Horwood went to see Caldwell, and told the ex-minister that the book would not tally with the applications. He was then told by Mr. Caldwell he had better have the book fixed.

Asked to Adjust Figures.

"I went to Salt and asked him to re-write it and adjust the figures. I told him the depths shown would not tally with the figures we had put into our estimates," said Horwood. He told Caldwell that he "did not think it would go down with the committee" (public accounts), and he was advised to go right with Kelly's applications for Horwood also testified that Caldwell said Elliott would have to sign the three applications for payment which did not bear his signature.

He then told of getting in touch with Salt after he had gone away, and of the agreement to the aliases in order to enable them to correspond without anyone detecting their moves. It was planned, he said, that Salt should come back and stand by his figures. Salt was to go over his figures with Elliott in Minneapolis and Elliott was to find out what it would cost to get the testimony destroyed. "Witness corroborated Elliott's story in the matter of the $500. Horwood said he told Caldwell about the $500 and what it was for, and he expected that Caldwell would refund it. Caldwell instructed him to endeavor to keep Salt away and Horwood therefore got in touch with M. G. Hook and arranged for a trip to Chicago. On Caldwell's instructions Horwood called at Dr. Simpson's office and was given a parcel which was said to contain $500. This parcel was sent to Salt. Witness said he frequently saw Mr. Kelly in the parliament buildings while the public accounts committee was in session, and had a number of conversations with him on Salt's absence. Kelly's opinion was that it was poor policy to keep Salt away.

Salt Gets $10,000.

After telling of the return of Elliott, Horwood, said Salt, was contemplating a trip to New York, so he again sent Hook to Minneapolis, who just caught Salt. Horwood, said Salt, wanted more money and Caldwell gave him $500, which he sent to him. Hook had a third interview with Salt, and this time Salt was anxious to return to Winnipeg. On learning of the fact Horwood reported it to Caldwell and received instructions to find out how much Salt wanted to keep away. Salt's price was $10,000. At first Caldwell said the price was ridiculous, but he thought he could raise $5,000. Salt, however, stuck out and finally Caldwell said he and Horwood would raise the money. It was done and Horwood got the money from Caldwell in bills, and gave it to M. G. Hook.

Robbed of His Money.

"Hook was going to Denver with it, but in Omaha he was attacked and robbed, and he lost all the money," Mr. Salt was called as a witness. He was shown and remembered the famous black book. He had a conversation with Mr. Horwood about it before he left Winnipeg, when Horwood asked him to make the quantities fit with the amounts paid. Salt said he worked at a new book and Horwood at the old one, until Horwood realized the new book was not deep enough. So Horwood then asked him to make a new one. In reply to a question the witness stated Horwood was erasing figures. Salt said Horwood asked him to make every caisson shown as resting on hardpan look as though it rested on rock. Witness identified alterations in the black book as the work of Horwood. On Friday, March 13, Horwood told witness he had better take a holiday, handing him $300. He had not seen Horwood since. He stayed in Minneapolis some days, then went to Madison and Chicago. By appointment at La Salle Hotel, Chicago, Elliott visited him, saying he was special representative of the Government. "Things were in bad shape in Winnipeg," Elliott said.

Refuses to Commit Perjury.

Elliott told him to fix his price for giving false evidence about the caissons to be afraid, but to name one, two or three thousand. Salt said he would not commit perjury for a hundred thousand, but would come back and say as little as he could. Elliott sent off the wire saying everything could be made "O. K." for two or three thousand. Elliott had given him $500 in $20 American bills and when Hook came he gave him $300 more. After a little longer, witness went back to Minneapolis, where he learned the Royal Commission had been appointed. He received more money, and Hook suggested his going to New York, but he went to Denver instead. He heard nothing from Hook further, except that he had had a bad accident in Omaha which obliged Hook's return to Winnipeg. Salt then went to Idaho Springs for a few days.

A month elapsed with no word from Hook, so he wired Elliott saying he was coming home. At St. Paul he reserved accommodations to Winnipeg, but a gentleman, introducing himself as Mr. Holwood, an attorney, came to see him, and said he had been instructed from Winnipeg to advise Salt not to return. If he did the Government would turn on him. He advised witness to accept more money and extend his holiday. This was May 26. Holwood introduced a man he did not know, who paid him $5,000 in American bills.

Witness was asked why he was paid that amount. "To leave, I suppose, and stay away," answered Salt.

WINGHAM FARMERS REPLANTING CORN

Some Early Crops Killed Out by Frost—Caterpillars Busy Again.

—[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, June 11.—Alderman F. L. Binkley and other officers of the sport and amusement committee here have about completed arrangements for a Dominion Day program, which will be given here on Victoria Park. Baseball and lacrosse against outside teams will be played, two balloon ascensions will be made, and a good program of music by the Citizens' Band will be rendered. The recent rains have been of great benefit to the crops. Fall wheat has started to fill, and timothy and clover are looking well.

Some farmers who lost corn planted early and killed off by the frost, have now got the land in shape and started to plant it over again.

There are no signs of the army worm at present, but the caterpillar is still doing the work of destroying trees in spite of the trees being sprayed. It is thought that rains had washed the liquid, and that the worms now doing the work have recently been hatched.

Sewer work is still under way, and the council met recently in order to have more work done to keep the men employed.

Heavy shipments of hogs, cattle and eggs are being sent out of town these days at fair prices.

A. H. Wilford, who recently bought out Gunt's store, has had it renovated and equipped with the latest fire-fighting apparatus.

John Hughes, mail clerk, who has recently been on the sick list, has again resumed his duties.

Farmers are making additions to their barns and sheds as they have cultivated more land than usual and expect to have larger crops.

OFFICIALS FAIL TO SEE WHAT CAUSED BRYAN TO RESIGN

Nearly All Disagree With Him and Consider Note Friendly.

GIVES GERMANY CHANCE

Can Back Down With Certain Appearance of Keeping Dignity.

—[Canadian Press.]

Washington, June 11.—With the publication today of the latest American note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania, officials of the United States Government and diplomats generally discussed among themselves the probable character of the German Government's answer. While there was no definite information, the feeling in German quarters was that a favorable response was likely, as the note seemed to open the door to a solution compatible alike with the interests of both Germany and the United States.

The note, it was said, was purposely phrased so that it would give Germany an opportunity to meet the wishes of the United States with dignity and in conformity with German public opinion.

Many officials wondered why Secretary Bryan declined to sign the note, which they regarded as friendly in tone and carrying many expressions of good-will. They claimed its friendliness was the very means that had been suggested—persuasion to accomplish the American purpose. Almost everybody in official circles disagreed with Mr. Bryan that the note might lead to war.

Officials today settled down to await Germany's answer, which was not looked for for ten days or two weeks.

Official advice received here said the note, which had been considerably delayed in transmission, had been received by the United States in Berlin.

It was to be presented today to Herr Von Jagow, the German foreign secretary. It is expected here, however, that Germany will await the arrival of Meyer Gerhard, personal representative of Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who now is en route to Berlin, to outline the attitude of the American Government, before making response.

The note which brought on the crisis in President Wilson's cabinet and culminated in the resignation of William J. Bryan as secretary of state, although friendly in character, firmly renews previous demands that the German Government give assurances that American lives and vessels shall hereafter be safeguarded.

What action the United States will take in the event that Germany refuses to give such assurances is not indicated in the note.

All irrelevant.

The note further declares that in the view of the United States Government the contention that the Lusitania was carrying contraband of war, or that these munitions were exploded by the torpedo, "are irrelevant to the question of the legality of the methods used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel."

"It is upon this principle of humanity," the note adds, "as well as upon the law founded on this principle, that the United States must stand."

The note informs Germany that it must have been misinformed when it assumed that the Lusitania carried guns, but the opportunity is given to Germany to submit any evidence that American officials did not execute their tasks thoroughly in inspecting the Lusitania before sailing.

SHOOTS HIS FIANCEE; THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Terrible Act of Swede, Supposed To Be of Noble Family.

—[Canadian Press.]

New York, June 11.—Frederick J. Hussenius, said to be a member of a Swedish noble family, but estranged from his relatives, today fired two bullets from an automatic pistol into the heart of his fiancée, Anna Malmquist, a young music teacher, and then sent one into his own brain.

A Central Park policeman heard the three shots while he was passing a point near Sixty-fourth street. He found the couple clasped in each other's arms. The pistol was in Hussenius' hand.

Russians Clear the Van Region of Turk Troops

Khalil Bey's Original Corps Annihilated—Turk Offensive Ends.

—[Canadian Press.]

PETROGRAD, via London, June 10.—8:41 p.m.—Concluding a long statement on the Russian operations in the Caucasus, the general staff says:

"By the 6th of June we had captured the vast region of Van and part of the Sanjak of Mouss. We had annihilated Khalil Bey's original corps, and we had cleared of Turk troops the whole region between Lake Van and Ouza."

"On the right wing we occupied Turkish territory between the old frontier and the line of the Rivers Chorok and Tortun, and the mountain range of Tchakir Baba. An offensive which the Turks undertook in the province of Aserbaïdjan ended in a definite debacle."

ST. THOMAS.
Pte. Samuel Knowles, 95 Hughes street (wounded by shrapnel).
PARIS.
Pte. Frederick A. Greentree, 5th
Battalion, formerly with 15th Battalion (previously reported missing).

Owen Sound has two sons dead in the casualty list issued last night. Pte. Arthur Markle is reported killed in action and Pte. Fred R. Andrews is reported to have died from wounds. The latter, though when he received his injury was with the 15th Battalion, was formerly with the Princess Patricia's reinforcement section. Two more men who enlisted in Galt, though one is a Preston man, are wounded and more than ever are the people of the town of Owen Sound convinced that few, if any of the boys who left from there have escaped unscathed.

St. Thomas, through private sources, has learned that Pte. Samuel Knowles is held by the Germans and is wounded. A Paris, Ont. man who was previously reported missing had also turned up in the enemy's hands. Yesterday a parcel was forwarded from Guelph to an address in Germany where a local boy is held.

ST. THOMAS PRIVATE WOUNDED; PRISONER.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, June 10.—Mrs. G. Knowles, 95 Hughes street, is in receipt of a letter from her son, Pte. Sam Knowles, of the first contingent. The communication is dated Gefrichen, Germany, May 7, and states that he is a prisoner of war. The letter reads as follows: "I am wounded in the left shoulder by shrapnel, and was lucky to get out alive, for there were hundreds of my fellows killed. I am in the hospital. They are very good to us; of course I am a prisoner. There are eleven of us here. I will send you my address when I move. I expect the people in Canada will be in a fine way about the great work of the Canadians. It is impossible to describe what it was like."

Pte. Sam Knowles was in the employ of the Michigan Central Railway. He enlisted at St. Thomas immediately after the outbreak of the war. He was transferred to the 45th Highlanders while training at Valcartier. The letter was the first intimation his folks had that he was in the hands of the enemy.

TWO MORE WOUNDED; OF GALT ENLISTMENT.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
GALT, June 10.—In the casualty list appearing in this morning's papers the names of two more men who enlisted at Galt, appear. Pte. Roland Summerfield, London, Ontario, and Pte. Arthur Edward Jewell, Warworth, Eng., slightly wounded.

Pte. Summerfield is a Preston man, living on King street in that town, and working at his trade of a finisher at the works of the Canadian Office & School Furniture Company. He is a single man, 35 years of age, and was born in Woolwich, Eng.

Pte. Jewell lived in Galt at 39 Rose street, and was employed as a laborer by Lockhart & Company. He was born in London, Eng., and is 25 years of age. He was very well known here.

GUELPH SOLDIER'S
ADDRESS IN GERMANY.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
GUELPH, June 10.—The first parcel to leave this city for some time addressed to Germany was sent by Mrs. J. Coleman, 60 Crimmins street, to her son Vincent, who was a member of the 48th Highlanders of Toronto and is now a prisoner in a German camp. The parcel was addressed to her son at Göttingen, Hanover, Germany.

Told That Fever and Smallpox Are Common in Mexico.

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 10.—Instructions to be prepared to take the field with a moment's notice, with the warning that fever and smallpox were received here today by the Arizona militia from the war department at Washington.

OREGON LOSES ARM.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Gen. Oregon, Carranza's commander in the fighting against Villa at Leon, lost his right arm and narrowly escaped death by a shell while directing operations on the firing line. Consult.

NERLICH TESTIFIES
IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Says He Gave Zirkow Money Merely To Help Pay His Debts.

TORONTO, June 10.—Emil Nerlich, on trial for high treason, today took the stand in his own behalf, after Mr. Justice Sutherland had given his decision against the motion of defence counsel, that the case should be taken from the jury.

Mr. Nerlich testified that he was on the committee to find employment for the comrade Zirkow, who was sent to him to find work, never told him that he was going back to Germany, but to New York to look for work. His invitation to him to take lunch was on account of the fact that Zirkow had had no breakfast. He paid several small accounts for Zirkow, at the latter was hard up. He told him he was going to New York to get work and on the strength of that witness gave some of his creditors $10 to pay the debts owed by Zirkow.

Cross-examined, witness said he gave the money to be sure that the creditors would get what was owing.

"Is this man to hang because he bought that alien a 50-cent dinner?" said Mr. Hellmuth, counsel for defence. The judge will deliver his charge to the jury tomorrow.

WINDSOR, June 10.—For more than 60 years a British soldier, and with four brilliant campaigns behind him the possessor of more than half a dozen medals, one of them for distinguished conduct on the field in India, Sergt. Fred Fenton, broken in health, penniless and practically homeless, died at the Home for the Friendless here today. He was 78 years old.

Joining a British line regiment in England as a drummer boy when he was but twelve, Fenton served as a marine in the navy, as a soldier under Lord Roberts in Cabul and Kandahar, and in Abyssinia under Lord Napier. He came to Canada in 1885, and under General William Otter, was a member of the Northwest field force when the battle of Cut Knife was fought.

Unless other arrangements are made Fenton's body will go to a pauper's grave tomorrow.

At the closing meeting in the evening Rev. H. E. Stillwell of India addressed the association on the work of foreign missions, and Rev. P. W. Philpott gave the closing address on the subject, "Strengthening the Hands for the Work."

The meetings were among the best in the history of the association, the attendance large, and the speaking up to the high water mark.

GERMANS ARE PREPARING FOR MORE VANDALISM

Look for an Excuse to Bombard Historic Italian Cathedrals.

ROME (via Paris), June 10.—11:15 p.m.—An official note issued today categorically denounces a statement attributed to the Berlin Vossische Zeitung stating that wireless plants had been erected and anti-aeroplane guns mounted on the roof of the cathedral of St. Peter's in Venice.

The note adds: "The announcement seems to have been made to prepare public opinion for attacks similar to those at Rheims and Louvain, but such attacks will be absolutely unjustifiable and alike contrary to the laws of war concerning bombardments and the most elementary principles of civilization."

GERMAN ATTITUDE INSULT, SAYS ROUMANIA MINISTER

LONDON, June 10, 8:15 p.m., via Paris, June 11.—1:15 a.m.—The Tribune's Bucharest correspondent sends the following interview with M. Paisescu, former Roumanian Minister of War:

"Some weeks ago it was in our power to eliminate all our difficulties and place ourselves on the map as greater Roumania. I hope it may be so tomorrow, but I have serious fears."

Today 95 per cent of our demands are contested. In these latter demands some concessions have been made to us, but to gain everything we ask it is necessary to negotiate and not to proceed to the ultimatum. The prolongation of the present situation is an insult to us. Our success depends on most rapid action."

ALLIES FIND BENZINE MEANT FOR FOE'S SUBS

ROME (via Paris), June 10.—11:55 p.m.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Athens says:

"The Allies have discovered at a lonely part of the coast near Kalimo (an island off the southwest coast of Asia Minor), 1,500 cases and 95 barrels of benzine, with which it was intended to replenish the tanks of German submarines operating in the Dardanelles region. It is supposed the benzine was shipped from Saloniki to Piraeus as kerosene and sent from there to Kalimo."

THE AMERICAN NOTE.

The Government of the United States deems it reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will adopt the measures necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done.

PRESIDENT WILSON does not belch threats of war in his second note to Germany, but there is a tone of calm decision that will reflect great credit upon his statesmanship.

Today sees the democratic ideal in the arena with the autocratic ideal. Not only is the United States the champion of the former ideal, but Britain has already asserted herself. It is a fight for existence between the two chief theories of national existence. The President is ruled by his people, and the Kaiser rules his people. How far an autocrat may force his doctrines is displayed in the present attitude of the German people, gone mad through evil teaching and the mistaken idea of force means justice. President Wilson has challenged this brutal force of Prussianism, following the murder of many of his people. Greater still, he is rising above the national appeal and above confined patriotism, just as Britain rose to the most supreme self-sacrifice in the history of the world. Like Premier Asquith and Lloyd George, he sees the bloodthirsty assassin springing upon his victim on the free highway of the world. He looks down upon the crime with a troubled mind. Then a deed that impresses him as the most cruel of cruelties occurs. One of his own is struck down. He poises himself upon the edge of the wall of neutrality and delivers his judgment.

The brute who has done so many evil deeds seeks to cloud the issue, but Wilson reasserts his intention of having protection for his people, whatever the cost. Aroused, he sees that his duty all along has been to face the brute, and to fight as Britain is fighting; that is the duty of all who love their fellow-men, to stand against the super-murderer.

And so the second note has gone forth. It is not belligerent in tone, but in intention it promises that the American people have taken up the cause of humanity. There must be no more foul fighting at the expense of innocent women and children, Germany's quibbles are given the lie by a self-respecting nation. The United States places itself on record against all the barbarities inflicted upon civilization. In one clear note it says:

"The Government of the United States is contending for something much greater than the mere rights of property or the privileges of property. It is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity which every government honors itself in respecting, and which no government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority."

"The rights of humanity" have been violated on every hand by Germany. Seizure is still fighting, with Britain by her side, for the recovery of the sea. The United States has cast the die, and is with the allied cause. It is not in practical politics, Germany's only course is to withdraw her most precious atrocities, and next act in this new drama of the world at war? Who knows!

KITCHENER'S CRITICS.

THOUGH nothing can justify the motives, manner and animus of the Northcliffe attack on Lord Kitchener, it would appear that the British press is now pretty generally agreed that military conditions needed a shake-up.

For one thing, the hero of Khartoum was given too much to do, and some of the work not suited to him. An army had to be created and trained; for this Kitchener was the only man, and he has performed a miracle. But, as the Times says, it is a solid fact that there exists a "deplorable shortcoming in munitions of war, and especially in high explosive shells," and the new coalition Government has assigned to its most brilliant and powerful member, Mr. Lloyd George, the task of "so ordering matters at the war office that there shall be no question henceforth of engaging the most powerful enemy in the world with weapons less numerous and less effective than his own."

The Manchester Guardian agrees that the best man in the new government should "Take full control of an undivided responsibility for the whole of the department of the war office which has to do with the production of war material, but not with the clothing or provisioning of the troops. It is a purely industrial business, and can only be effectively performed if placed under civilian control. Lord Kitchener failed to recognize its magnitude or the impossibility of carrying it out effectively on the old lines."

The New Statesman goes so far as to say:

"It is now apparent that the appointment of a professional soldier to a political office was a mistake, and that an experienced administrator like Lord Haldane had gone to the War Office last August, our military forces would have been better equipped than they are to face their tremendous task."

When the Manchester Guardian speaks of Kitchener's managing the munition production "on the old lines," the allusion is probably to the Northcliffe charge that shrapnel was sent to the front when the instant call was for high explosive. Says the Observer: "To deal with the new system of German defences in Flanders—with barbed wire placed low, and with trenches and shelters reinforced by steel and concrete—we need far more high explosive. We need it in vast and ever-increasing and almost unimaginable quantities."

The New Statesman says: "The message charging that the War Office disregarded Sir John French's appeals for a larger supply of high-explosive shells was Colonel Repington's military correspondent of the Times, but it appeared to have behind it the authority of Sir John French, with whom Colonel Repington was staying, and by whose censor it was passed. It seems to have been, in fact, true."

Apparently Lord Kitchener's idea was to kill Germans with shrapnel. Certainly German shrapnel has been effective enough against our troops in the trenches. But French's idea is to make a swift and irresistible advance by dynamiting a way through the German trenches and entanglements. It is to be a hundred Neuve Chapelle power rush, and Lloyd George is the man of the hour who is to make the dynamite forthcoming, while Kitchener will continue his herculean labors in the organization of more and more troops to follow up the dynamite with the bayonet and finish the last German reserves.

THE LATE MR. JUSTICE MACLENNAN.

THE death of Mr. Justice MacleNNAN will be sincerely regretted by the bench and bar of the Province of Ontario. He was, when in practice, a member of the firm of Mowat, MacleNNAN, Downey & Ewart, one of the leading firms in Toronto. He was one of the best equity lawyers in the province and took that advantage with him to the bench. He was a member of the court of appeal for Ontario for some years, and afterwards until his retirement, in 1909, a member of the supreme court at Ottawa.

The respect which the people of Canada have for the administration of justice is due to such men as the late Mr. Justice MacleNNAN. Always courteous as a lawyer and as a judge, and with the knowledge gained by long and active experience and a mind continually improving by the conscientious exercise of the principles of equity, he was one of the most satisfactory judges in Canada.

There are few equity lawyers remaining on the bench. The chancellor, Sir John Boyd, is the most prominent. The administration of justice suffers a distinct loss each time one of them retires, and it is doubtful if his place is ever filled quite so well.

AN UNFAIR CRITIC.

THE Dayton News accuses Italy of deliberately waiting until she thought she saw a positive result of the war before deciding to get into the game, and declares that in the event of Germany dictating the terms, it will mean an awful blow to Italy. The facts are that when Italy handed the Austrian minister his passports, the great Teutonic drive was sweeping everything before it in Germany. At no stage of the conflict were the signs so favorable for the enemy as when Italy definitely joined up with the Allies. If Rome's motives were entirely selfish, it seems as if her cue would have been to remain inactive, if not to link up with the Teutons. The charge that Italy cold-bloodedly bargained for the best terms before plunging into the war is unfair. Until the historians give us the details of the great conflict the world will probably not know just what was offered Italy by the Allies and the Teutons, but it is clear that nothing however big that Germany or Austria could have offered would have brought Italy into the struggle against the Allies. The temper of the Italian people was against active participation with the Huns. The concession of everything demanded might have kept Italy on the fence, but even that would not have been a popular solution. The blinding enthusiasm of the Italian people just before and when war was declared, was not due solely to the prospects of regaining the lost provinces. Italy had been deeply impressed by the Belgian outrage, and the many forms of the "frightfulness" that the Huns brought into the war. With Great Britain and France, Italy realized the necessity of democratic Europe presenting a united front to the Kultur.

It would be foolish to pretend that Italy is not making her money the sun shine by grasping the opportunity made by Austria's adversity, to take back that of which she was brutally looted, but she would never have gone to war against Great Britain and France to secure it. However selfish Italy's motives may have been when the war opened, she has since learned that the vital thing for the world in general and Europe in particular is to ward off the Kaiser's savage stroke at freedom. That is the main reason why Italy cast in her lot with the Allies.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

NOT infrequently we refer to the dead in the words of the caption to this article. "A good man gone," makes a fine epitaph—none finer, and never has it been more accurately applied than in reference to the late Edward G. Cissold, for many years a member of The Advertiser editorial staff. Edward Cissold was a good man in the large sense that includes citizenship, workmanship and all the other sides of the daily life. He was "clean." That is the impression he made the moment one came in contact with him. It was impossible to associate with him anything mean or underhanded. In his every relationship he was straightforward, sincere, sensible. It is in his daily occupation that the weakness and strength in a man crops out, and the stress of "getting out the paper" is one of the acid tests. Mr. Cissold passed with flying colors. He was patient, thorough, wonderfully accurate under the most trying conditions. But he never made it objectionable. Edward Cissold took his religion seriously. He carried it into his daily work, but there was nothing "preachy" about it. He lived his religion, and he had the broadest sympathy and respect for the beliefs of others. Widely read and travelled, and possessed of an exceptionally retentive mind, to be intimate with him was a great mental pleasure. Unselfishness, gentleness, intellectuality, a wholesome humor, were outstanding characteristics of Edward Cissold. He was truly a gentleman. With his death a good man has gone.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Russians are winning in the Baltic district. Once more it looks as if the grand duke would come up smiling.

Ten thousand employees of moving picture houses have gone to the front. Evidently tired of the faked battle pictures.

When Berlin refers to a success of the enemy as a "minor," just look up the Paris dispatches and get the major facts.

Mrs. Pankhurst might help Lloyd George by surrendering that store of bombs and explosives that Scotland Yard could never locate.

A member of the first contingent writes that he has just been through a "sweet bit of fighting." Must have been the battle around the La Souchez sugar refinery.

Not the least important part of Great Britain's "blitz" is her supplying of the "sinews of war." British gold will be found to have played a mighty part in the triumph of freedom when the facts of this war are made public.

If Bryan carries out his intention of taking the lecture platform to prevent war with Germany, he had better confine his circuit to Cincinnati, St. Louis and Milwaukee, where his hyperbated friends of the Kaiser.

New York man stood idly by watching a boy beaten to death by thugs, believing the scene was posed for the movies. Had he not been accustomed to that sort of film, he might have saved the boy's life. Here is work for the censor.

If Mr. Bryan "threw down" President Wilson as the first move in a campaign to secure the presidential nomination, he used poor judgment. Never were the people of the United States more united behind a President than they are behind Dr. Wilson. His later attitude towards both Germany and Mexico is approved.

A GREAT SEND-OFF.

[Exchange.] "I understood you gave the bride and groom a great send off."

"Great! We almost blinded the bride with rice, and one of the old shoes and threw his the groom back of the ear and knocked him cold for about ten minutes."

LITTLE SISTER.

[New York Times.] The advance maiden was out rowing with a possible suitor, and had taken her little sister along, who was exhibiting much fear at the waves.

"Why, Martha, if you are so nervous now, what will you be at my age?"

"Thirty-nine, I suppose," meekly replied little sister.

DECLARING HIMSELF.

[Exchange.] "When you asked her father for permission to marry his daughter, what did he say?"

"He said he supposed it would be all right, but he wanted me to distinctly understand that if any trouble arose after we were married he intended to remain strictly neutral."

ENGLISH PRESS ON THE WAR

WHAT LIES AHEAD. [London Times.] Germany is fighting now with every ounce of strength she possesses, but the Allies have large reserves of strength. They can only bring their reserves of strength into operation by degrees, because they will have to be less prepared to meet the Russian withdrawal in Galicia, a serious check, but it has happened once before, and it means no permanent impairment of the fighting resources of our ally. Both France and Great Britain have enormous reserves of men who have never yet been near the firing line, but await the chosen moment.

THE SECOND CALL.

[Belfast Weekly News.] We say advisedly that the responsibility for recruiting just now lies solely upon the Government, and that that responsibility must be borne by it in full. If compulsion, direct or indirect, has to come, it should come from it alone, for with the Government alone lies the power of instituting system and discrimination. Lord Haldane said last week that the Government was ready to consider the whole question of recruiting. The country, he believes, is in advance of the Government; it wants a better organization of our resources, so that every man fit to serve just now may be put to the best possible use according to his qualifications.

THE ITALIAN CAMPAIGN.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.] In the landing of the Italian troops at Rhodes and in the co-operation of Italy in the Dardanelles movement, however, another kind of an "On-to-Vienna" campaign is also entered upon. But even with the aid of Italy the Constantinople campaign, it is clear, will eat into time, and at heavy losses, though, in the opinion of many strategists, the capture of the Balkan states into the mesh of this great historic and spectacular event will be the first big decisive thing in the war, to hasten which Italy will give, and is already giving, as much thought and aid as to the supposed shorter advance throughout Istria and Croatia, or to its counter-aggressions in the Trentino.

TEN MINUTES With the Short-Story Writers

[Copyright, The Frank A. Munsey Co.] CUPID & CO.

[By Thomas L. Mason.] When Springton sauntered out of the breakfast room with his morning cigar in his mouth, there was a man waiting for him in the hall.

Although he was late, Springton was in good humor. On the evening before he had made the somewhat intimate acquaintance of one of earth's fairest—a lovely girl whom he had met only a few weeks before, and on whom he had called for the first time, in response to an invitation. A rather unusual thing, this; for to this well-known and well-to-do bachelor love had hitherto been unattractive. He was too much absorbed in his business affairs.

The man bowed. "I beg pardon, sir, but I represent the Globe Tourist Agency. Should be glad to go over with you some of our most popular honeymoon routes."

"Yes, sir. Even if you don't buy your tickets through us, it will be all right. It's a matter of business with us to furnish information. None of these have one or two specialties—out-of-the-way jaunts, never before put on the market, and—"

Springton stared, at him in astonishment. "What made you think," he asked, "that I was interested in honeymoon?"

The man smiled. "It's our business to know," he said, significantly. "Quite an easy matter, I assure you. We have our lists of eligibles, and know pretty well what they are doing. Hope I haven't intruded. Here's my card. You can reach me over the telephone at any time. Pray don't make any arrangement without consulting me. I assure you I can make it worth your while."

Springton marvelled as he made his way down to his office. It was, however, rather flattering.

He entered his office at 11 o'clock. His chief clerk, with unusually solemn face, approached him.

"There's quite a mob outside to see you, sir."

"What do they want?"

"Personal business, they say."

"Well, show the first one in. May as well get them off my mind."

In a moment a dapper young man entered the office.

"Mr. Springton? Ah, good-morning, sir! Are you interested in building lots in the suburbs? During the first year of married life, you know, you will want to be quiet. Now, here's a choice bit of land—a wonder. Why, sir, in a year it will triple in value. Three minutes from station. Or, if you want to remain in town, I have some really choice locations. Here's my card. Any time—"

He was ushered out, and the next man was shown in. He was a trifle coarser in structure.

"I came to solicit your market-bill, sir. We take the place of the house-keeper, you know. I have a list of all responsibility. Guarantee choice cuts all year around. Don't have to call and select anything. We do it all. Takes away natural embarrassment."

Springton waved them all off.

"Leave your cards, gentlemen," he said. "Leave your cards, and I will communicate with you later."

A distressing thought had struck him. In thirty minutes more he was ringing the bell of the mansion which he had visited the evening before. He noticed several men waiting in the hall, and on the table was piled the morning's mail, together with a goodly lot of samples.

After some difficulty he was passed through the line and shown upstairs.

young wife feels during the first year. Will furnish bond, if necessary. Bills weekly. Pay when you please. Won't you give us a trial order?"

Springton promised to put his name on file, and the third man was ushered in.

"I want to call your attention to our banking facilities," he said. "I represent the Sixteenth National. We make a specialty of young married ladies. It's the only way to do, you know, to let them have a separate account. We keep you posted just how the account stands. You'll find this indispensable. Just put the name of your business down and give you details at any time."

He was succeeded by an interior decorator.

"We make a specialty of young married ladies," he said. "I represent a hundred different layouts, all calculated to give the right atmosphere. You know, sir, we have made a study of young married couples. I got married myself a couple of years ago, just to get the feel of the business down fine. It's a fact that during the first year there is always a process of readjustment going on. Your surroundings are everything. They have a subtle and powerful influence. Why, sir, we can guarantee that, with our number forty-seven, your wife won't have a particle of homesickness."

Springton was mechanically opening his mail, in which he had already found the cards of three ministers. He then he rang his bell for his clerk.

"Jasper," he said, "how many of these men still remain?"

"All of them, sir."

"Well, show them all in."

"The whole lot, sir?"

"Yes—all!"

The door opened, and eleven spruce men solemnly marched forward in single file. Each man, true to his instincts, had his hand in his breast-pocket, prepared to snatch out a card and leave it on the table in case anything happened.

"Gentlemen," said Springton, "I thank you, one and all, for your attentions, but there is one thing that I don't understand. How in the world did you know that—"

A quiet, refined man, who had evidently been chosen the spokesman, now stepped forward.

"Quite simply, sir," he said. "We belong to the Young Married Man's Trade Combination. We employ a detective bureau and a medical staff, to say nothing of a trained psychologist. Last night, at midnight, all the members of our organization were notified that you had spent three hours with a young lady who was your physical opposite, and therefore likely to inspire your love. All the circumstances of your meeting here were known; and the probabilities having been calculated by our statistical department, the chances of your being a good business customer were calculated to be about seventy-five out of a possible hundred. Word was sent around, and here we are, the servants' agency ever incorporated. We guarantee every cook sent out, and—"

Springton waved them all off.

"Leave your cards, gentlemen," he said. "Leave your cards, and I will communicate with you later."

A distressing thought had struck him. In thirty minutes more he was ringing the bell of the mansion which he had visited the evening before. He noticed several men waiting in the hall, and on the table was piled the morning's mail, together with a goodly lot of samples.

After some difficulty he was passed through the line and shown upstairs.

"And who are they?"

"A diamond-merchant, a bishop, and a Farisian baby-carriage maker."

FROM SONGS OF THE NORTH. [Florence Stollard Brown.]

Comrade—the Summer calls—
Her charm is flung
O'er all—the orchard rears her purple spire;
Ere yet the bitter sweet has kindled fire,
While o'er the fields the early freshness falls.

Come—while the 'year is young!
Come—while the days are long—
Upon the beach
The white sand shimmers in the glow of June,
The waves entire with rippling, silvery tune,
And summer waits us here—her claim is strong,
Her joys within our reach.

HER OWN IDEA. [Tit-Bits.]

A certain little girl was discovered by her mother engaged in a spirited counter with her small friend who had got considerably worse in the engagement.

"Don't you know, dear," said the mother, "that it is very wicked to be having so? It was Satan that put it into your head to put Elsie's hair."

"Well, perhaps it was," the child admitted, "but kicking her shins was entirely my own idea."

FRANK KUBAT IS SAME OLD JONAH TO REISLING'S TEAM

Ottawa Southpaw Holds Locals to Five Hits and One Run, While Senators Get Four Runs Off Joe LaBate on Eleven Hits—Fuller Shows Speed.

WHENEVER Manager Shaughnessy of the Ottawa Senators wants a game from London, he sends Pitcher Frank Kubat, out to the firing line and the official scorer credits the southpaw with a victory as soon as the umpire announces the batter. Manager Shaughnessy believed one was coming to him today from Reising's crowd, so warned Kubat up. The score was 4 to 1, the only unusual feature about the game being the fact that the Senators were the official scorers. This is, morally, a victory for the London team, but they will show their season get better than a costing of paint when Kubat is on the mound.

Reising had announced Hammond as his pitcher for the day, but changed his mind after the first man was retired. The Senators picked the little fellow for a run in the opener and a brace in the second round, when he was rapped hard. After that, the champion went easy till the eighth, when he pitched three more hits for a fourth run. London's only run came in the fourth when two were out. Kubat hit the fourth when two were out. Kubat hit the fourth when two were out. Kubat hit the fourth when two were out.

Fuller Stars on Base. Fast work on the bases in addition to good hitting made the victory possible for the Senators. The champions are credited with three base hits, but credited with all singles stretched to them. In the first inning, Fuller missed one on a bunt, but he went all the way from first to third on a drive and beat it out. He then went all the way from first to third on a drive and beat it out. He then went all the way from first to third on a drive and beat it out.

Timely Wallup Was Missing. In four innings London got the first man on, but the runner got around on a double by Merritt in the seventh. In the eighth, Fuller hit a home run, but he was out on a sacrifice. Fuller hit a home run, but he was out on a sacrifice. Fuller hit a home run, but he was out on a sacrifice.

Frank Doyle Will Referee Lacrosse Game

Toronto Man Is Coming to Handle Contest Between St. Marys and London.

Frank Doyle will referee the St. Marys-London lacrosse game Saturday afternoon, despite the fact that the teams had previously arranged for Alvin Kinder of Preston, President Hynes, to come here, so the teams will have to consent to this arrangement, although neither of them favor Doyle as a referee.

Despite the rain last night Manager Slatery had several players in uniform out practicing. Spalding, the former Guelph senior player, is showing up in the box and looking pretty good. The other boys are showing up well also and the visitors will be met on Saturday.

BRANTS, WITH NEW LEADER, WIN GAME FROM SAINTS

Pitcher Warner Does Trick, Saints Beating Unable to Hit in the Pinches—Score Was 3 to 1.

[Special to The Advertiser.] BRANTFORD, June 10.—Ons tonight the best exhibition seen behind the dike end with the Brants hugging the line and promising to be a star. The other boys are showing up well also and the visitors will be met on Saturday.

A double steal and Foran's homer were responsible for Brants taking the lead in the sixth.

The railwaymen rallied in the ninth, but Warner, the new manager, was put in and struck out Kopp when he threw the ball and that was taken error was by the Brants.

Warner was cool and rallied his men together in great shape. With Lamond he formed a faultless battery. At the same time the line-up and lots of pep was displayed.

Score by innings: Brants 3, Saints 1. By hits—Brants 10, Saints 7. By errors—Brants 1, Saints 3. Batteries—Warner and Lamond, Hughes and Harris.

TWO LACROSSE PLAYERS ARE KILLED IN ACTION

Montreal, June 11.—The names of two well-known lacrosse players of Montreal, Jerome B. Kenna and John P. Leach, figured in yesterday's list of casualties. Both men had been listed as missing after a brief stay at St. Charles, to the 2nd Toronto Battalion, in action shortly after reaching the city.

Kenna played with Montreal and Leach with the Nationals.

HARRISTON TEAM LOST BALL GAME TO CLIFFORD

HARRISTON, June 10.—The first scheduled game in the North Wellington Baseball League was played here tonight between Harriston and Clifford. The score: Clifford 7, Harriston 6. Batteries—Graf and Brown; Davidson and Nash. Umpire—Hope Sullivan.

"Doc" Reising Gives Talk to Ottawa Dentists

Manager of London Team Describes the Painless System.

OTTAWA, June 10.—When "Doc" Reising, the popular manager of the London ball team, is not teaching young ball players to be champions, or near champions, he carries on a toothache relieving business down in Ohio. "Doc" Reising knows as much about molars as he does about baseball and this morning he gave some of his experience to the Eastern Ontario Dental Association, the members of the Grand Union Hotel.

Dr. Reising gave his experiences with dental material, etc., which concerns that branch of dentistry having to do with drugs and the application of pain killer and nerve deadener, and other preparations to the malodorous of the teeth.

It appears that Doc Reising has used a certain preparation with which he keeps the nerve, which the dentist call the pulp, instead of devastating or removing the same, and in the process of this morning he expounded the virtues of a preparation he called "Anesthetine."

The London manager also told of an anesthetic he uses when using an extracting offending teeth.

School Teachers Beat Trustees in Bowling Matches

Latter Challenged Former, But Lost by Several Points in Three Games.

The bowling tournament between the school trustees, arranged as a result of a challenge made by the former on the occasion of the annual picnic last week, was played on the Elmwood greens yesterday afternoon and resulted in a win for the teachers, with an aggregate score of 70 points to 40. Principals Rogers of the Collegiate, Beal of the Technical School, and Inspector Edwards of the Board of Education, were played for the trustees.

Three rinks of 20 ends each were played on each rink, by 8, 9 and 11 points, respectively. A considerable crowd witnessed the match, which was concluded just before the rain came.

Lunch was served at the end of the tenth end.

The scores by rinks and the personnel of the teams were as follows:

No. 1 Trustees. Teachers. Young, Bryant, McQueen, Rogers, McVicar.

No. 2 Trustees. Teachers. Laferriere, skip, 13. Melgrove, skip, 21. Black, Walker, Teachers. Black, Silverwood, Teachers. Beal, Cameron, Teachers. Edwards, skip, 12. Blumel, skip, 21. Rowe, Coupland, Teachers. Hayman, McKellar, Fifth. Hunt, skip, 15. Fair, skip, 25.

Goderich Team Is Now Included in Lacrosse Group

Revised Schedule Issued Giving That Club a Single Series of Games.

Goderich has been taken into O. A. L. A. group No. 3, which includes St. Marys, Wingham and London. The Goderich Club was not represented at the first schedule meeting of this group, and it was understood that no team from that town would be entered. Goderich, however, had a team, and it has now been admitted, although it will only play a single schedule with the other clubs while the other three teams have a double schedule.

The first game in this city on June 23. The revised schedule is as follows:

June 12—St. Marys at London.
June 18—Wingham at St. Marys.
June 22—Goderich at London.
June 22—St. Marys at Wingham.
July 1—London at St. Marys.
July 2—Wingham at London.
July 7—Wingham at St. Marys.
July 14—Goderich at Wingham.
July 21—St. Marys at Goderich.
July 21—London at Wingham.
July 28—Wingham at Goderich.
July 28—London at St. Marys.
August 4—Goderich at St. Marys.
August 7—Wingham at London.
August 11—St. Marys at Wingham.
August 18—London at Wingham.

RED SOX BEAT TIGERS

Nearly Every Pitcher In Game Was In Game—Short-stop Sprains Ankle.

BOSTON, June 10.—Boston bested Detroit, 6 to 5 today in a game which called out nearly every element of regular season in each team. Hits came frequently from the bats of Tigers and Red Sox, and pitchers changed often as a result. Hoblit was ordered to a decision by Umpire Evans, after a dispute by Umpire Evans, who by white Leonard was charged with a balk. Scott, Boston's shortstop, who had felled without an error in more than a month, sprained an ankle in practice today.

BLACK BROOM WON THE CONNAUGHT CUP

Defeated Hearts of Oak and Fountain Fay.

ONLY FOUR STARTED

Winner, Owned By A. Newell of Toronto Was An Outsider.

MONTREAL, June 10.—Black Broom, owned by A. Newell, Toronto, and ridden by Jockey Schuttlinger, won the Connaught cup at Bluebonnets this afternoon by a narrow margin. Out of fourteen original nominations only four horses went to the post in this event. Hearts of Oak, the Canadian-bred horse, which won the stake a year ago, was the choice of the favorite, and Black Broom was an outsider. Hearts of Oak gave Fountain Fay a brush for second place and lost by only a nose. The fourth horse in the contest for the cup was Sir John Hendrie's Priwet.

First race, maiden 3-year-olds and up, foaled in Canada, 6 furlongs—Gartley, 119 (Schuttlinger) $3.50, $4.50, $3.40; 1, Linger, 107 (McAtee) $4.40, $3.50, 2, Ravenhurst, 107 (Overt) $3.50, 3, Time, 1:15 3-5. STRATFORD SOCCER TEAM WON AT TAVISTOCK

TAVISTOCK, June 10.—In one of the fastest and most interesting games of football seen here for some time the Stratford senior eleven defeated our Marlborough to the tune of 3 to 2. Tavistock as per usual lost the toss and therefore had to kick against a strong side. With this in the favor the visitors managed to score two goals in the first half, one of them being an off-side, which escaped the notice of Referee Sam Law of Galt. The second half opened up with Tavistock pushing the play to Stratford territory and Reynolds and Clarke and the Stratford goal-keeper were working overtime. It was not followed by another right on the goal and only through the fact that the Stratford defence had the possession that Harris boys in green and white did not score. The game was becoming too strenuous for Stratford and they began roughing it up. Jackson tripped Croft right in front of the Stratford goal on a sure one. Tavistock was awarded a penalty and on which Krupke scored. Soon Tavistock scored again, the game now being 3 to 2. Stratford leading. For the remainder of the game Tavistock held the ball out to put in time and managed to hold the score, 3 to 2.

The following is the Tavistock line-up: Goal, Bert Wettlaufer; backs, Loh and Ratz; half forwards, Duval, Pearson and Quelt; forwards, Krupke, Ratz, Matthews, Croft and Kaufman.

CHARGE AGAINST KELLY HARRIS WAS DROPPED

GUELPH, June 10.—The case against Kelly Harris of the Hamilton baseball team was not called on this morning, as was expected. ITALIANS IN SIGHT OF TRIESTE CITY

From Heights Near Monfalcone They See Into Desired Town.

[Canadian Press.] UDINE, Italy, June 10.—(Via Paris, 3:45 p.m.)—Italian troops are within sight of the city of Trieste. From the heights near Monfalcone they can see the city, the capture of which is one of the main objectives of the Italian campaign.

The occupation of Monfalcone is regarded by the Italians as of great importance. Less than a score of miles from Trieste, the possession gives the Italians control of the chief railway junction of that region. It prevents the Austrians from transporting troops or ammunition between Trieste and Tolmino and Gradisca. Monfalcone is the centre of electrical supply for Trieste and has large shipbuilding yards.

On taking possession of Monfalcone the Italians ran up their flag on the ruins of an ancient tower held by the Venetians. The capture of the town is being celebrated today by the Italian troops.

Austrians Try Floods. The Austrians have attempted to transform the lower region of the Isonzo river into a flooded country, duplicating the feat of the Allies in Belgium, for the purpose of halting the Italian advance. Dykes were opened, banks of the river were broken down, and several canals were tapped. The results achieved were insignificant, however, as most of the water was either absorbed by the earth or carried off by ditches. No serious inconvenience for the invading Italians was occasioned.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT. ROME, June 10.—(Via London, June 11.—1:37 a.m.)—The following official communication was issued this evening:

"Nothing of importance has occurred on the frontiers of Tyrol and Trentino except the occupation of Podestagno, to the north of Cortina."

"During the night of June 9-10 the Austrians renewed their attack on Fretz, but they were repulsed with serious losses."

"Along the Isonzo the struggle continues. To overcome the enemy's stubborn resistance we have occupied the citadel and heights dominating Monfalcone."

WILLIAM BUCKINGHAM DIES AT STRATFORD

Formerly Deputy Minister of Interior and Widely Noted Editor.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Stratford, June 11.—William Buckingham, at one time private secretary to Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, prime minister of Canada from 1873 to 1878, and former deputy minister of interior in the Liberal administration, passed away at his residence here today, aged 83 years. He has been living retired for the past two years, having been up to that time manager of the British Mortgage and Loan Company.

Mr. Buckingham entered his newspaper career as a shorthand writer upon the North of England Press. He came to Canada in 1857 and joined the Toronto Globe staff, but went West in 1859 and established the Nor' Wester at the Red River settlement, now Winnipeg, the first newspaper in that part of Canada.

He was editor and proprietor of the Norfolk Reformer, and in 1882 became editor and proprietor of the Stratford Beacon. He wrote "Recollections of Canadian Statesmen," and conjointly with Hon. G. W. Ross, the author of "Hon. Alex. Mackenzie: His Life and Times."

Mr. Buckingham was a Liberal of unflinching fealty all his life.

CAPTAIN OF EMDEN HAS REACHED VIENNA

Escaped When Raider Was Sunk—Says Dardanelles Cannot Be Forced.

[Canadian Press.] Vienna, via London, June 11.—An interview with Capt. Von Muecke, formerly of the German cruiser Emden in which he says the forcing of the Dardanelles and the taking of Constantinople are impossible, is published by the newspapers here. He declares submarines are likely to cut off the water supply of allied troops on the Gallipoli Peninsula, which would compel them to surrender, as they would be unable to return to their transports.

Capt. Von Muecke apparently has arrived at Vienna, after having piloted the landing party which was under his command when the Emden was sunk from Cocos Island to safety at Damascus, whence it was not difficult for them to reach Constantinople.

THE CONGESTION FROM A BAD COLD LOOSE NED UP IN ONE HOUR

If Rubbed on at Night You're Well Next Morning.

Nerviline Never Fails.

When that cold comes, how is it to be cured? This method is simplicity itself. Rub the chest and throat vigorously with "Nerviline." Rub it in good and deep. Lots of rubbing can't do any harm. Then put some Nerviline in the water and use it as a gargle; this will ease the cough, cut out the phlegm, assist in breaking up the cold quickly. There is no telling how quickly Nerviline breaks up a hard, racking cough, eases a tight chest, relieves a pleuritic pain. Why, there isn't another liniment with half the power, the penetrative qualities, the honest merit that has made Nerviline the most popular American household liniment.

A large, 50-cent bottle of Nerviline cures ills of the whole family, and makes doctor's bill small. Get it today. The large size is more economical than the 25-cent, trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere, or direct from the Catarthozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

"THE ADVERTISERS OF FACTS"

SAILOR ON KENT VISITING IN CITY TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF SINKING GERMAN CRUISERS

Seaman Fred Wood Gives First-Hand Account of Destruction of Fleet Off Falklands—Part Played by Kent Described by Member of Crew.

Burning every available scrap of wood on board, when the coal in her bunkers ran low, in the last thrilling hour of the 400-mile pursuit of the German cruiser Nürnberg, the British armored cruiser Kent gradually overhauled the fleeing foe, and with murderous broadsides from her guns sent the enemy to the bottom, blazing from stem to stern. This, briefly, is the tale of the sinking of the German raider on December 3, as told by Seaman Fred E. Wood of the Kent, to a reporter for The Advertiser, last night. Mr. Wood is spending a week's furlough at the home of his brother, Sydney Wood, 21 Elmery street, who is a member of the 7th C. M. R. Following her towing work on the seas, the Kent put into the harbor at Esquimaut for coal and repairs. Mr. Wood's leave of absence extends until June 20, when he will return to the ship.

Seaman Wood was also in the fish when the Dresden, after successfully eluding the vigilant British, was cornered and sunk off Juan Fernandez, in the Pacific.

"Our fleet, under the command of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee, was in Port William and Port Stanley, near by, coaling up when the enemy's vessel was first sighted," said Seaman Wood. "My vessel, the Kent, had been detailed off for guard duty. That is, while the coal bunkers were being filled we were on watch for the enemy."

Two Dreadnoughts in Squadron. "Our squadron was made up of two dreadnoughts, the Invincible, which was the flagship, and the Inflexible; also the armored cruisers Cornwall, Kent, Glasgow, Bristol and several smaller vessels. "Scarcely had the Germans sighted us when they turned tail and fled. They seemed to have no desire to fight. The sight of those two imposing dreadnoughts, I guess, was too much for them. No one knew that such vessels were in that part of the world, and the Germans must have met with the surprise of their lives."

British Take Up Chase. "One after another, our ships cleared the harbor and started in hot pursuit of the foe. The Germans were crowding on all steam and gradually drew away into the ocean. The chase began about 6 o'clock in the morning.

"Naturally, our dreadnoughts soon led and by 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Invincible opened fire on the Dresden, which was the last in the line. At once, the raider turned at nearly right angles to the line of flight in an endeavor to escape. A few moments later and the Nürnberg followed suit.

"When this move was perceived there was a rapid exchange of signals in our squadron. The result was soon apparent. The Kent, the Cornwall and the Glasgow left the main pursuit and started on a chase, but we had no time to speculate on the success of our companion ships. We had our work cut out."

A Fine Raking. "The Glasgow picked up the Leipzig and when the Kent, which was slightly behind, came up, was given the enemy a fine raking. Soon after, the Cornwall, crowding all steam, came up and assisted with her heavy guns.

"Our captain saw that the Leipzig was being well looked after and we raced ahead to close in with the Nürnberg, which was making good time. However, as we passed the Leipzig, we emptied a broadside into her, just to show what we were good for.

"Throughout the water, while the miles between the pursuer and pursued gradually were cut down, Seaman Wood continued. It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the gunners on the Kent got the range at 11,000 yards and the big six-inch guns began to roar out messages of death.

German Aim Wild. "Within a few minutes the German gunners started to reply. Their fire was much faster than that of the Britishers. Mr. Wood stated, but their aim was wild. Most of the shots went by their mark. The first shell that found a billet aboard the Kent pierced a funnel, but went clean through, failing to hit the sea.

"Length by length the Kent gained on the raider. The range was better now and the voice of the big guns was followed by terrific crashings and booming. As well-aimed shells struck home, one shell hit a funnel amidships and sent it crashing to the deck, a mass of debris. A moment later a gap loomed in the side of the raider, where one of her biggest guns had stood.

Fire Breaks Out. "Then fire broke out on the Leipzig, where the big machines of war had been pouring out incessantly their missiles of death, a blaze leapt upward suddenly and caught in the upperworks. Amidships another fire was raging, driving the gunners from their guns to the stern, the only place where the seething mass of flames had not reached. Yet there was no sign of surrender and broadside after broadside was poured into the vessel till it seemed that no human being could survive that awful sweep of shell.

Within a remarkably short interval, Seaman Wood declared, the German was ablaze from stem to stern. Then

PIMPLES Appeared On His Face and Hands

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in a good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they make you appear unsightly both to your friends, and yourself. What you need, when these pimples break out, is to get a real good blood purifying medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters. One that will build up the system by cleansing the blood of all the impurities and poisons which cause the skin to break out in these eruptions.

Mr. F. A. McKenna, Portage la Paire, Minn., writes: "Last summer I was all run down and unfit for work of any kind. All kinds of food seemed distasteful to me. Pimples appeared on my face and hands, and I seemed to grow worse every day. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. Half-heartedly I did so, and the results obtained were marvellous. In a short time the pimples and skin eruptions disappeared entirely, thanks to the healing powers of B. B. B. I freely recommend it to all sufferers."

B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

stated Seaman Woods, speaking of the remarkable chase, "but at least 25 knots were crowded out of her boilers. We were low on coal at the start, and towards the finish we were forced to burn targets and every available piece of wood aboard to keep steam up."

For months the Kent scouted in the Pacific for the Dresden, which escaped from the fight off the Falkland Islands. Once the raider was sighted, but escaped when the Kent ran short of coal and was forced to give up the chase.

Later the Kent was joined by the Glasgow and the auxiliary cruiser Orma, and the hunt was resumed.

Explosion Sunk Dresden. "On March 14, about 9 o'clock, the raider was suddenly sighted off Fernandez Island. Although the odds were three to one, the German opened fire on the Kent, which was leading the advance. The reply was a terrific hail of shot from the British warships. The German stood the ordeal for about five minutes. She was ablaze from stem to stern, and was listing badly. Scarcely had the white flag been run up when a tremendous explosion shattered the vessel to pieces. It sank immediately.

The Germans stood by their guns until the last, according to Seaman Wood. "As she went down we could hear the crew singing 'Die Wacht Am Rhein,' he said. "The raider sunk easily, although riddled terribly. It is a pity that the crew were not picked up. There were at least twenty killed and as many injured. The remainder of the crew escaped in small boats before the explosion occurred."

While at the Falkland Islands Seaman Wood met a cousin, John Walsh, who was a member of the crew of the Irishman, whom he had not seen for many years.

Mr. Wood states that the German ships of war have been cleared from the seas, and he is probably, he says, the last vessel to be ordered to join the Allies in the Dardanelles, where the indefatigable navy is doing good work against the Turk fortifications with her big guns.

Magazines Blow Up.

A moment later there was a terrific explosion. The fire had reached the magazines and with a mighty roar the ship blew up. Her upperworks were almost entirely blown away. Swiftly the vessel listed badly to port, then down, sinking unresistably, sank, proud first. The Kent ceased firing at 6:10 o'clock.

The Kent also suffered in the fight. A gun crew of eight was wiped out by the bursting of a German shell. The lifeboats were splintered and damaged beyond repair. This was discovered when the British attempted to pick up the survivors. No boats were available, and of the crew of 375 men only five were saved. The remainder went to their deaths in the explosion, when the cruiser took its last plunge beneath the surface.

At the beginning of the chase the sea had been smooth. About noon the water became choppy, while at the time when the Nürnberg pulled down her flag both vessels were rolling heavily.

A Record Burst of Speed. "The Kent has a speed of 23 knots,"

SECURES SPECIAL ORDER TO SERVE KING ONCE MORE

Barred From Mounted Rifles
Veteran Enlists in 34th.

16 YEARS IN THE ARMY
Bandsman Smethurst Is Proud
Possessor of Many Medals.

Pte. Edward Albert Smethurst, one of the cornet players of the 34th Overseas Battalion Band, is an imperial service veteran, who has been smelling powder since he was 15 years of age. He has 16 years' service to his credit, and has fought for the flag in India, Crete, Africa and Egypt. He is the proud possessor of four war medals—King's Sudan medal, and Kitchener's Sudan medal, both of 1898.

When the present war broke out, Pte. Smethurst enlisted in the Mounted Rifles at Toronto. A broken arm that had not knitted properly prevented him from passing the medical examination. He was determined to fight for King and Empire once more, and made a personal appeal to Major-General. Sam Hughes, with the result that a special order was made by the militia department to allow him to enlist in the 34th Battalion.

OFFICERS OF 33RD TURN THE TABLES

Defeat Those of 34th in Last Night's Baseball Game.

Officers of the 33rd Overseas Battalion last night turned the tables on those of the 34th by defeating them in a return baseball game by a score of 4-3. The last game was won by the 34th 10-9, and now it is proposed to have a final championship game to decide the military championship of the officers' messes on Carling's Heights.

The 33rd came from behind last night in the last two innings, winning out after the score had been 2-2 against them.

The batting order of the teams follows:

33rd:
Capt. Jay, centre fielder.
Lieut. Grant, catcher.
Capt. Nelles, pitcher.
Capt. Dowling, right field.
Lieut. Taylor, third base.
Lieut. Henderson, left field.
Lieut. Waldron, shortstop.
Lieut. McQueen, first base.
Capt. Willoughby, second base.
34th:
McRae.
Coleman.
Scruton.
Savage.
McLaughlin.
McKay.
Williams.
Mitchell.
Hart.

Lieut. Savage, who caught the first part of the game injured his fingers and had to retire, his place behind the bat being taken by Lieut. Hart.

IN NEW QUARTERS

33rd Canteen Enlarged and Recreation Room Added.

The canteen of the 33rd Battalion has been transferred to new and larger quarters. The old canteen tent, and the stretcher bearers' marquee were torn down last night and the assembly tent of the 33rd Huron Regiment, which was Lieut.-Col. Wilson's command, erected in their place.

The canteen proper is occupying the front of the tent, while in the rear a commodious hall has been provided for a recreation and reading room.

The new canteen quarters are not only much larger, but will allow the presentation of concerts and entertainments.

CHANGING CAMP LINES

More Tents Being Erected to Accommodate 33rd Recruits.

It's moving day in the lines of the 33rd Overseas Battalion today. Additional accommodation for the many new recruits that have been taken on the strength of the battalion in the past few weeks has made necessary the enlargement of the battalion lines. The result has been that considerable shifting of tents is in order to secure the needed canvas homes for the overseas soldiers.

GOSSIP OF THE CAMP

In order that moving pictures may be shown in the recreation and canteen tent, the 34th Battalion, the canteen floor has been constructed in regular theatre style. Two feet has been dug from the back of the tent and placed in the front in order that there may be a graduated fall for the rows of seats.

The Band of the 34th has returned from its leave of absence, and is getting in its daily practice work once more. There is a daily improvement in the band's work.

Pioneer sections of the different battalions and fatigue parties are working under the direction of the engineers to construct the tent floors that are to be put in all tents.

New recruits of the 33rd are: Charles Danby to A. Frank E. McKellar to D. Harry Tarrar to D. Victor Faulkner to D. Robert Harmon to D. George Dean to C. Daniel Coogan to C. John Jenken to Machine Gun Section. A. E. Copeland to C. John Darling to C. G. Norton to C.

Although the wind this morning was nothing like the storm of earlier in the week, it was sufficient to snap off a tent pole and cause the collapse of one of the "bells" in the lines of the 33rd.

Work was started today on the stringing of the lights for the camp of the 33rd. Four big lights are to be put up, as well as service to the tents of the officers and the hospital tents.

Capt. Percy Cowell, of the 33rd, has been granted leave of absence from 1 o'clock Saturday until 2 p.m. Monday, leaving in left field.

American Ambassador, Berlin:

"You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs:

"In compliance with Your Excellency's request I did not fail to transmit to my Government immediately upon their receipt your note of May 28 in reply to my note of May 15, and your supplementary note of June 1, setting forth the conclusions, so far as reached by the Imperial German Government, concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Gulfight. I am now instructed by my Government to communicate the following in reply:

"The Government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the Imperial German Government, in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Gulfight, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships, and the frank willingness of the Imperial German Government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships, which have not been guilty of any hostile act, by aircraft or vessels of war is satisfactorily established; and the Government of the United States will in due course lay before the Imperial German Government, as it requests, full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

ONLY THE PRINCIPLES OF HUMANITY.

"With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba, by which an American citizen lost his life, the Government of the United States is surprised to find the Imperial German Government contending that an effort on the part of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect of the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel has ceased her attempt to escape when torpedoed. THESE ARE NOT NEW CIRCUMSTANCES. THEY HAVE BEEN IN THE MINDS OF STATESMEN AND OF INTERNATIONAL JURISTS THROUGHOUT THE DEVELOPMENT OF NAVAL WARFARE, AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES DOES NOT UNDERSTAND THAT THEY HAVE EVER BEEN HELD TO ALTER THE PRINCIPLES OF HUMANITY UPON WHICH IT HAS INSISTED. Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers or crew. The Government of the United States, however, does not understand that the Imperial German Government is seeking in this case to relieve itself of liability, but only intends to set forth the circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to allow himself to be hurried into the course which he took.

THE LUSITANIA'S CARGO.

"Your Excellency's note, in discussing the loss of the American lives resulting from the sinking of the steamship Lusitania adverts at some length to certain information which the Imperial German Government has received with regard to the character and outfit of that vessel and Your Excellency expresses the fear that this information may not have been brought to the attention of the United States. It is stated that the Lusitania was undoubtedly equipped with masked guns, supplied with trained gunners and special ammunition, transporting troops from Canada, carrying a cargo not permitted under the laws of the United States to a vessel also carrying passengers, and serving in virtual effect, as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain.

"Fortunately these are matters concerning which the Government of the United States is in a position to give the Imperial German Government official information. Of the facts alleged in Your Excellency's note, if true, the Government of the United States would have been bound to take official cognizance in performing its national duty as a neutral power and in enforcing its national laws. IT WAS ITS DUTY TO SEE TO IT THAT THE LUSITANIA WAS NOT ARMED FOR OFFENSIVE ACTION; THAT SHE WAS NOT SERVING AS A TRANSPORT; THAT SHE DID NOT CARRY A CARGO PROHIBITED BY THE STATUTES OF THE UNITED STATES AND THAT, IF IN FACT SHE WAS A NAVAL VESSEL OF GREAT BRITAIN, SHE SHOULD NOT RECEIVE CLEARANCE AS A MERCHANTMAN; AND IT PERFORMED THAT DUTY AND ENFORCED ITS STATUTES WITH SCRUPULOUS VIGILANCE THROUGH ITS REGULARLY CONSTITUTED OFFICIALS. IT IS ABLE, THEREFORE, TO ASSURE THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT THAT IT HAS BEEN MISINFORMED. If the Imperial German Government should deem itself to be in possession of convincing evidence that the officials of the Government of the United States did not perform these duties with thoroughness the Government of the United States sincerely hopes that it will submit that evidence for consideration.

IRRELEVANT CONTENTIONS.

"Whatever may be the contentions of the Imperial German Government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania, or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, IT NEED ONLY BE SAID THAT IN VIEW OF THIS GOVERNMENT THESE CONTENTIONS ARE IRRELEVANT TO THE QUESTION OF THE LEGALITY OF THE METHODS USED BY THE GERMAN NAVAL AUTHORITIES IN SINKING THE VESSEL.

"But the sinking of passenger ships involves principles of humanity which throw into the background any special circumstances of detail that may be thought to affect the cases, principles which lift it, as the Imperial German Government will no doubt be quick to recognize and acknowledge, out of the class of ordinary subjects of diplomatic discussion or of international controversy.

"Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, THE PRINCIPAL FACT IS THAT A GREAT STEAMER, PRIMARILY AND CHIEFLY A CONVEYANCE FOR PASSENGERS, AND CARRYING MORE THAN A THOUSAND SOULS WHO HAD NO PART OR LOT IN THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR, WAS TORPEDOED AND SUNK, WITHOUT SO MUCH AS A CHALLENGE OR WARNING, AND THAT MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN WERE SENT TO THEIR DEATH IN CIRCUMSTANCES UNPARALLELED IN MODERN WARFARE. The fact that more than one hundred American citizens were among those who perished made it the duty of the Government of the United States to speak of these things, and once more, with solemn emphasis, to call the attention of the Imperial German Government to the grave responsibility which the Government of the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests.

SACRED RIGHTS OF HUMANITY.

"THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES IS CONTENDING FOR SOMETHING MUCH GREATER THAN MERE RIGHTS OF PROPERTY OR PRIVILEGES OF COMMERCE. IT IS CONTENDING FOR NOTHING LESS HIGH AND SACRED THAN THE RIGHTS OF HUMANITY, WHICH EVERY GOVERNMENT HONORS ITSELF IN RESPECTING AND WHICH NO GOVERNMENT IS JUSTIFIED IN RESIGNING ON BEHALF OF THOSE UNDER ITS CARE AND AUTHORITY. Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to stop when ordered to do so for the purpose of visit could have afforded the commander of the submarine any justification for so much as putting the lives of those on board the ship in jeopardy.

"This principle the Government of the United States understands the explicit instructions issued on August 3, 1914, by the Imperial German Admiralty to its commanders at sea to have recognized and embodied, as do the naval codes of all other nations, and upon it every traveller and seaman had a right to depend. It is upon this principle of humanity, as well as upon the law founded upon this principle, that the United States must stand.

WILLING TO MEDiate.

"The Government of the United States is happy to observe that Your Excellency's note closes with the intimation that the Imperial German Government it willing, now as before, to accept the good offices of the United States in an attempt to come to an understanding with the Government of Great Britain by which the character and conditions of war upon the sea may be changed. The Government of the United States would consider it a privilege thus to serve its friends and the world. It stands ready at any time to convey to either Government any intimation or suggestion the other may be willing to have it convey and cordially invites the Imperial German Government to make use of its services in this way at its convenience. The whole world is concerned in anything that may bring about even a partial accommodation of interests or in any way mitigate the terrors of the present distressing conflict.

"In the meantime, whatever arrangement may happily be made between the parties to the war and whatever may in the opinion of the Imperial German Government have been the provocation or the circumstantial justification for the past acts of its commanders at sea, the Government of the United States confidently looks to see the justice and humanity of the Government of Germany vindicated in all cases where Americans have been wronged or their rights as neutrals invaded.

RENEWING ITS REPRESENTATIONS.

"The Government of the United States therefore very earnestly and very solemnly renews the representations of its note transmitted to the Imperial German Government on the 15th of May and relies in these representations upon the principles of humanity, the universally recognized understandings of international law, and the ancient friendship of the German nation.

"The Government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights either of American ship masters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality. It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights. It understands it, also, to accept as established beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is of fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

"The Government of the United States deems it reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will adopt the measures necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done.

(Signed) "ROBERT LANSING,

"Secretary of State, ad interim."

GERMAN WHO SAID LINER WAS ARMED ARRESTED—PERJURY

Repeats Story Before Federal Grand Jury—Deceit Probed Is Begun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A federal grand jury investigation to determine whether there was a conspiracy "to defraud the United States" in connection with the affidavit submitted by the German Embassy to the State Department to prove that there were guns aboard the steamship Lusitania, was begun here today by the federal grand jury. It is specifically directed against Paul Koenig, also known as Stemler, who, according to the federal authorities, is head of a secret service department maintained by the Hamburg-American S. S. Line.

The first result of the investigation was the arrest today for perjury of Gustave Stahl, a German reservist, who made one of the affidavits submitted by the embassy, and who is alleged to be closely associated with Koenig. The warrant on which he was arrested alleges that he committed perjury in an investigation by the jury against "Paul Koenig, alias Stemler, and others" under that section of the penal code covering conspiracy to defraud the United States. He was taken into custody immediately on the conclusion of his testimony and sent to the Tombs for lack of the $10,000 bail demanded by the Government.

Says He Saw Guns. Stahl, in his affidavit, which was made before a city notary public, swore that he visited the Lusitania on April 30, the day before she sailed, and saw four guns on her deck concealed by leather covers. The repetition of this story, when he was called as a witness in the investigation of Koenig's activities, was the basis of the perjury charge.

In addition to the statement by Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port, and by officials of the Cunard Line that the Lusitania was unarmed, the Government authorities said tonight that they had evidence by which they would prove that Stahl was not on board the Lusitania either on April 30 or any other day before the departure of the Lusitania on her fatal trip.

A SLENDID RECITAL

Artistic Students Appear in Regular Conservatory Series.

Another recital of excellence was given last night by students of the advanced classes of the London Conservatory of Music.

The pianoforte numbers were given by Miss Grace Harvey and Miss Bartlett.

Both ladies played with excellent technical ability and musically interpretation. Amongst the works performed were the famous Rhapsody No. 11, by Liszt, and the Ballade in A Flat, by Chopin, compositions calling for unusual ability.

Miss Gertrude Anderson sang a group of songs with splendid enunciation, in excellent voice. Miss McKinnon gave vocal numbers with good expression and vocal effect.

The violin numbers were performed by Miss Rowena Weld and Mr. Bartlett, who rendered their respective solos with good tone and respective interpretation.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the players.

FALL FAIRS HELPING AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

County Council Hears Benefits of Exhibitions to District.

Tremendous applause from the Middlesex County Council at last night's session showed its endorsement of the sentiments contained in addresses by David Evans, of Strathroy, of the Middlesex Agriculture Association, and William Young, of the Middlesex County Fairs Association, appearing as a deputation to ask the usual grant to the Middlesex fall fairs, of which there are about twelve in the county.

Increased production and education along this line was the great necessity specially urgent at the present time.

Mr. Evans said, "Ontario is the richest agricultural province in the world, and Middlesex is the cream of the province," and declared "that agriculture must be fostered by Canada to make the country great." Agriculture is the basis of all wealth, and is the one thing which at all times can be depended upon to yield a complete return in increased production. The small farms are to the great exhibitions what the public schools are to the universities, in education. Mr. Evans declared, "Through these fairs the young men of the farms are able to set a standard for progress."

Mr. Young said that the contests held by the fall fairs had resulted in the production of double the amount of potatoes in one township, and probably a corresponding increase throughout the whole country. The usual grant of $50 was asked by the deputation.

PLEASING RECITAL.

Many Londoners Hear Pupils of Parnell Morris.

A large audience of music lovers heard a recital given last night in the Dundas Centre Church Hall by pupils of Parnell Morris.

The program was an exceedingly choice one of great variety, and the recital reflected much credit upon Mr. Morris and his pupils, among whom were many fine voices.

The various numbers were sung with rare distinction of interpretation, finish, and the artist, Misses Edith Line and Lily Francis and Master James Morrison rendered piano solos which were much enjoyed.

Those who presented vocal numbers were: Misses Edna Brownlee, Anna Cochrill, Edna Weston, Vivian Ferguson, Eva Wells, Gwendolen Ware, Margaret McGregory, Bernice Anderson, Messrs. James Gay, Thomas H. Cooper, A. W. Chalcraft, Wilfred McCormick.

The recital was concluded with a vocal sextet from Lucia De Lamur, sung by Douglas, by Misses Strathroy and Ware, and Messrs. McCormick, Gay, Chalcraft and Cooper.

COUNTRY LAYS OVER

TROOPS' INSURANCE

UNTIL DECEMBER

Special Committee Will Investigate Question Thoroughly.

REPORT IS PRESENTED

Provides $500 for Widow and $100 to Children Under Fifteen Years.

The report of the special committee appointed last December by the Middlesex County Council to decide what action the county should take in the insurance of soldiers' families and dependents in the county, was presented at last night's session by the chairman, R. T. Baycraft.

Discussion of the methods to be adopted regarding the insurance problem, which is the biggest question with which the county has to deal, was carried on during almost the entire session. The report was referred back to the committee by the council, and the chairman, Mr. Baycraft, declared that the matter will be thoroughly investigated and reported next December.

The provisions of the report presented last night are as follows:

"That $500 be paid to widow, mother or sister of the deceased, and $100 to children under 15. In case of total disability, from accident, sickness, or otherwise, in active service, $500 to be paid to the one disabled. Insurance be paid only to those who have lived in the county for one year prior to enlistment. The amount to be paid to the beneficiary, whether death is caused by disease or accident, in active service. All claims made to the council must be certified to by the officer commanding the battalion in which the person insured was serving at the time of his death or disability, and the amount be paid by the chairman of the finance committee with no further action of the council. The committee recommended that the county borrow money for this by the date of issue."

Discussion Over Insurance.

In the discussion following the reading of the report, councillors brought up the questions as to whether dependent father or mother, or more than one sister, or more than one brother, not mentioned in the report should receive the insurance. Councillor Stuart explained that the Government rate called for only $132 to be granted to a widow or mother, and that that county insurance be given in addition.

Many of the townships have separately insured their residents who have enlisted. These would undoubtedly be covered by the county insurance, and the problem of the townships living in England, and those who have since the enlistment of the county moved to the city, should receive insurance grants, was discussed.

Warden Morgan advised that the grants to only families resident in Middlesex, as the British Government was caring for families in the old country, and a relief committee be formed to report at a council session, and discuss the relief in money grants to families in the original district. We cannot draw a line on a question of the wealth of the dependents' families. A man's life must be taken as a value, as large as possible make it, and all families should benefit, whether in actual distress or not.

The warden explained that the Middlesex and London Patriotic War Relief Association, still has on hand $30,203, which will safely last until the final report of the committee appointed by the council, is made in December.

High School Accounts.

The report of the high schools accounts committee which was adopted, moved that the treasurer be authorized to pay to the following high schools these sums: Wardsville, $15.37; St. Mary's, $58.50; Watford, $225.35; Winged Victory, $22.54; Stratford, $25.00; Strathroy, $1,402.31; Lucan, $1,656.38; Parkhill, $914.35; London, $5,514.72; Ingersoll, $1,461.23; Ingersoll still owes the county $28.

The board of road directors recommended in their second report, that they be appointed to deal with the matter of the "suburban highways," and the legislative scheme of the provincial government, whereby construction of main roads from the city and towns to a distance of seven miles, will be covered to the extent of 40 per cent by the provincial fund, and 20 per cent each by the city and county.

The board recommended the payment of $2,000 to Parkhill, for completion of improvements on Mill street. They recommended that the grant of $200 be paid to Metcalfe township, the a bridge over Steer Creek. The motion of John Stuart and Duncan Gordon, who moved that the last of the Gies site bridge in Caradoc be built, was adopted by the board.

The following councillors conferred with the Oxford County Council yesterday afternoon at the site of the Dorchester bridge. John Stuart, Frank Boyes, D. Smith, Duncan Gordon, W. F. Hill, R. J. J. Smith, Charles Gordon, James Gordon, John Gordon, Robinson and B. C. Brooks.

Councillor S. Oakes of Strathroy announced the annual celebration which will take place at Strathroy, on July 1. Parades and a variety of festivities will be features of the affair, and the main attraction will be the flight of an aeroplane.

The city and county councillors accepted an invitation from Strathroy with applause.

RED CROSS LINEN SHOWER

A SUCCESS IN GODERICH

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GODERICH, June 10.—The ladies of the local Red Cross Society held a linen shower at the Odette's Hall this afternoon. The following list of goods was donated: 116 sheets, 235 pillow slips, 545 towels, a large quantity of handkerchiefs, handbags, mouth wash and gauze, etc.

The children of the central school collected 222 coppers, which they handed in. Tea and lunch was served by the ladies which netted a sum of over $30.

The Red Cross will hold a jam shower later on.

CHILDREN GIVEN

AREAL "JOY RIDE"

BY MOTOR LEAGUE

Members Place Cars At Disposal of Orphan Kiddies of City.

RUN TO SPRINGBANK PARK

Eyes of Children Glow As Ice Cream and Cake Are Uncovered.

The orphan children of London had their big day of the year yesterday, when members of the Ontario Motor League in London placed their cars at the disposal of the kiddies and took them through-out the city, then to Springbank. There a luncheon was enjoyed, and the delighted youngsters came back to the city, and all were in ecstasies over their afternoon's run.

Every year the members of the motor club take the little ones whose parents have gone away forever, to Springbank, and every year the children look forward to the outing with pleasurable anticipation.

The men who drive the cars are as great children as the smaller bodies they carry with them, and although the boys and girls yesterday afternoon tooted toy horns and waved flags and naturally acted just as one would expect children to act on such an occasion, the big boys at the steering wheels did their best to outdo the youngsters in tooting their own horns.

Although the result was not a melody of sound altogether that citizens were treated to as the cars took their leisurely way through thoroughfares into the broader highway that led to the big park on the Thames, yet the faces of all who stopped to witness the parade felt a glow at their hearts, and must in the end, have felt a smile come unbidden to the lips and into the eyes, as the joyous little boys and girls waved their hunting and blew into their horns and laughed and made right merry. Bless their dear hearts!

Nothing Too Good for Kiddies.

Nothing is too good for the kiddies—nothing and the men who placed their motors at the disposition of the children yesterday must have felt, when they saw the youngsters brought back to the institutions they call home by the delighted thanks tendered so unobtrusively by the children.

After going through the main city streets the cars went to Springbank, where the youngsters came to a stop, and a huge freezer of ice cream was seen by dozens of pairs of bright eyes, and cakes and bananas, too. Needless to say, the youngsters did not wait for any invitation to come and eat. When this feast had been partaken of, the youngsters clambered into the waiting motor cars, where the bananas were ready, and although many little hearts were sorely tempted to eat the bananas, yet the youngsters gave another stretch, and the fruit was safely tucked away.

Sisters Accompany Children.

Members of the Mount Hope Orphanage and school of Mount St. Joseph accompanied the children, as did also other officials. George A. Reid, president of the local Motor Club Association, rode at the head of the procession in his own motor car, with boys and girls about him, and appeared to be as happy as the youngsters.

His way was not as warm as might have been, but the children enjoyed the outing just as much, no doubt, as the temperature had registered a higher degree of heat and Old Sol had shown himself all afternoon.

TO REPLACE OLD

PUMPS WITH NEW

Modern Electric Equipment

for Springbank Plant.

ESTIMATED COST $19,000

System Proposed By Buchanan Will Develop 500 Horsepower.

At the regular meeting of the utilities board yesterday afternoon, a recommendation of General Manager E. V. Buchanan that no money be spent on repairs to the old pumps at Springbank but that new electrically operated turbines be installed at an approximate cost of $19,000 was adopted. Mr. Buchanan pointed out that it would be unsatisfactory to spend $10,000 repairing old pumps, which at best would give an uncertain service when for a little more the most up-to-date equipment could be secured. A system such as he proposes will develop 500-horse power.

The commissioners decided to grant a petition for water mains and services in the Hillcrest district and will lay mains probably on Rattle, Conso and Salisbury streets.

Commissioner Mitchell brought up the matter of the parks board going ahead and ordering supplies without the matter being reported to the commissioners. Drinking fountains and drains have been installed in the park recently and the commissioners did not know anything about it until after the work was done. In the future all work to be done will be recommended by the parks board and then carried out by the commission.

MANY WELLS DRY UP

AROUND KINTORE

It Has Been Found Necessary to Extend Waterworks to Market School.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KINCARDINE, June 10.—The water system has been added to by a two-inch main to Elgin market school, Queen street. This school has been supplied by a pump from a 25-foot well, till last fall, when the water ceased to come, and there was a supply throughout the winter and this spring. So excessive dry was the weather that many wells the past year became useless in the rural districts.

Chancellor McCrimmon of McMaster University has been calling on a number of his Baptist friends, and gave an able lecture on present conditions, dwelling upon the war and its effects.
