Price of Milk to Consumers, Starting Wednesday, Will Be 12 Cents a Quart.

The executive committee of the Mid-dlesex Milk Producers' Association which met on Monday afternoon, decided to reduce the price of milk from $2.45 to $2.25 per 100 pounds for the month of May. The meeting was at-tended by representatives of the distributors. Prices to the consumer wil also be reduced one cent a quart, starting Wednesday.

E. Stonehouse, president of the Dairy Council of Canada, was present, and in an address told of the conditions in the dairy industry at the present time. Mr. Stonehouse gave a brief outline of the success of the "drink more milk" campaign, which was recently held in connection with the announce ment of the cut in milk prices, Mr. Stonehouse pointed out that the reduction was only due to the competition of the market, and that when con ditions get back to normal the price would likely be raised. One per cent of the June milk checks

Majority of Farmer Legislators Had Returned to Homes.

Toronto, May 3.—Canadian Press.— Most of the Farmer members of the Ontario Legislature found the call of the land too strong for them, and there was a scant representation of the Provincial Legislature today when the House was formally prorogued by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor Lionel, H. Clark. The necessity for plowing and seeding drew the members away from the more or less formal function at the Provincial Parliament Buildings.

There was a big crowd of ladies city folks, however, and there were the Royal Canadian Dragoons formed the escort and Canadian Field Artillery fired the salute. Most of the soldiers participating were great war service men. The lieutenant-governor assented to 99 bills, making a total of 143 passed by the House and give i royal approval. In his speech from the throne the King's representative reviewed the work of the session and out-lined the objects of the more important, legislation put through the Legislature Prorogation of the Legislature was ounced by Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary.

Although her income tax would have amounted to only four cents if she had not procrastinated, a young woman residing in London neglected to make her returns before the stipulated time had returned to only four cents if she had not procrastinated, a young woman residues the collectors were unable to bank much of the money. However, a great bulk of the taxes will be deposited toreturns before the stipulated time had expired on Saturday night. Considering that such a trifle was hardly worth bothering about she did not tu n up at the district federal tax of ade until Monday. Then to her horror she discovered that the insignificant four cents had increased to $5.05.

After she laboriously had filled the multitudinous puzzling blanks of the income form, she estimated her salary at $1.001, or in other words just 100 cents more than the maximum exempted salary of an unmarried person. Four percent of $1 figured out to four cents, FOURTEEN HURT IN IRISH FIGHT

Seed Blown From Ground By Western Windstorm

Regina, Sask., May 3.-From Assiniboia to Saskatoon and from Swift Current to Regina, Saskatchewan, was yesterday visited with one of the most violent windstorms of years. The fifty-mile-an-hour gale commenced early in the morning, and practically stopped all seeding in the province and did not subside until night. Agriculture experts express the fear that where soil is light and well worked seed would be blown out of the ground.

Serious damage to summer fallow was caused by the storm in Assiniboia district. Seeding has been about 50 per cent completed in that district and the full extent of the damage will not be known until the soil settles. In the Regina district but little damage is expected because of the moisture in the soil. In Regina, several fences, chimneys and many signs were blown down.

The storm reached violent proportions in Moose Jav; and construction work was suspended for the day. Much of the seeding will have to be done over again in this district.

Mother of Man Condemned To Die On June 2 Secures 1.500 Signatures to Petition Circulated in Woodstock and Oxford County-Prisoner Spends Time Smoking and Reading-Visited Daily by Wife.

Woodstock, May 3.—The mother of Norman Garfield has returned to her home in Toronto, following a three weeks canvass of the people of Woodstock and Oxford County, securing signatures to a petition praying that the sentence of death imposed on her son for the murder of Ben Johnson nere on January 20, be commuted to life imprisonment. That the Toronto woman has been quite successful in the murder of the death that she secured over prisonment. That the Toronto woman has been quite successful in her mission may be gleaned from the fact that she secured over 1.500 signatures to her petition. In her canvass Mrs. Garfield endeavored to secure a list representative of business, professional and prominent citizens, and in this she has been quite successful. Mrs. Garfield traveled much through the county, and was assisted by the spiritual adviser of the condemned man. In her travels she encountered the majority of the jurymen who brought in the verdict of guilty against her son. That her mission bore fruit is strongly emphasized from the fact that nine out of the twelve jurymen signed the petition. Just what reasons they gave for signing the petition the petition. Just what reasons they gave for signing the petition are not known, but this will likely be brought out at the proper time. In the meantime Garfield, whose date of execution is set for June 2, is giving no trouble at the jail. He has no visitors excepting his wife, who visits him for an hour twice daily, and his spiritual adviser who has only missed two days since Garfield has been contined. Garfield is a great reader, and with the solace of his pipe, spends most of his time reading books, papers and magazines.

COUNCIL VOTES TO CONTINUE PRESENT GARBAGE SYSTEM

Motion of Ald. W. A. Wilson For Itemized Account Approved.

PAVING ISSUE RAISED

Decision To Ask Street Railway Once More For Its Assent.

Continuation of the present system of garbage collection was indorsed by the city council last night. The matter was referred to No. 2 committee at a previous meeting on motion of Ald. Watkinson. He wanted tenders called to see if the collection could be made more cheaply than at present. The majority of the committee voted that no action be taken, and the council ustained this attitude. A motion by Ald. W. A. Wilson that the city engineer give an itemized ac-count of the cost of the city system with all salaries and wages was ap-

The question of paving Stanley street was to the fore again. Ald. Wenige asked if the street railway company had been approached on the matter, as it was because they would not pay the share of the cost that the work was being held up. City Engineer Brazier said that he had tried to get in touch with the president of the company, but that he had not come to the city. Ald. Wenige suggested that as it was fairly certain that the company would no consent to pay its share that the council should go ahead with the paving Mayor Little pointed out that this could not be done without an attempt being suggested that the engineer write the president for a definite answer.

In Hands of Solicitor.
Ald. Wenige also asked what had been done regarding the collection from the street railway of the account for Rectory street paving. He understood that City Solicitor T. G. Meredith had been instructed to issue a writ. The mayor replied that the matter was still in the hands of the solicitor.

Ald. Watkinson asked what progress was being made in opening Ashland avenue across the G. T. R. tracks. The city engineer stated that he had had no definite instructions since submitting estimates of the cost of the work. He will present the estimates again to No. committee at its next meeting. Ald Watkinson also inquired if York street between Oakland avenue and Highbury avenue could be opened up. The engineer replied that he did not think it ld be advisable until a storm sewer had been laid, as the ground was A third question from Ald. Watkinson was whether the city could levy a special tax on real estate dealers.

BIRD NOTES

The Great Blue Heron is one of our largest birds, standing three feet high, and with a wing spread of five feet, is exceeded only by the Eagle. The breeding adult is very handsome with crown, chin and most of the sides of the head pure white, a heavy black stripe over each eye uniting in a crest eight or nine inches in length. The rest of the plumage, as seen from a distance, is largely slaty blue, although part of the body as well as the primaries are black. This, however, is not noticeable unless the bird is quite close.

Several have been reported from London in winter, their appearance along the river amidst ice and snow being an congruous sight. They usually arrive communities, placing their bulky rests of sticks and twigs on the highest branches of swamp trees, often selecting hose which are dead.

RETIRING OFFICIAL

Thomas G. Davis, Inland Revenue Department, Receives Fine Umbrella.

Thomas G. Davis, retiring collector of he local inland revenue department, was resented with a gold-headed silk umbrella and address by the members of his department last Saturday. Mr. Davis has been connected with this department for 48 years. W. H. Hicks, representing the staff, made the presentation. The address read as fol-

the staff of the inland revenue department, London, have learned that you are about to retire, after an uninterrupted service in the department of 48 years as officer, deputy collector, and collector.

We take this occasion to convey to you our sincere regard and to assure you that you have in your long tenure of office gained the esteem and respect of all with whom you have been associated. Memory and words alike fail us in the attempt to set out the many ways in which you have helped and guided the members of your staff, an now that the parting has come we want you to know the high appreciation which we hold your constant an faithful exercise of the many admirable qualities in the service of the depart ment, and the very pleasant relation which has been maintained towards our subordinates.

Please accept this small gift as a reminder of those with whom you have been so long associated. With it go our very best wishes for many happy years yet to come, in which you will well-earned rest.

NATURAL GAS HERE OF FINE QUALITY

Commissioner Estlin Convinced Valuable Field Lies East of City.

Although E. S. Estlin, commissioner of natural gas and oil for the Provincial Government, could make only a partial examination and survey of the natural gas wells on the Saul farm immediately east of the city on Monday afternoon, he is quite pleased with the prospects for a successful field. When interviewed by The Advertiser on Monday Mr. Estlin stated that he was quite convinced that a field of excellent gas lay near the wells, but that he would be unable to determine its extent until he had made a further examination Mr. Estlin was disappointed by the Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 vears has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists May Find "Skeleton Committee" a Veritable Family Skeleton - Proposal To Take Certain Classes From Control of Civil Service Commission Strongly Opposed by the Liberal Leader and His Followers.

OTTAWA, May 2.-The planks upon nto power in 1917 are gradually driftthe political raft of Sir Robert Bor den which was labeled "Abolition of Patronage." With an election pending, the followers of the new Meighen Govrnment believe that pious platitudes can be very well dispensed with, and that it is time to go back to the loaves

Hard to Get Workers. It has been hard to secure workers candidates there have been people plenty willing to exert their energies oward the overthrow of a government hich they believe to be incapable, exravagant and inefficient

But for the candidates of the Gov ernment there were few found who would risk reputation and endanger self-respect without at least the hope f some future reward in the remote event of the Government not being re-elected at the next general election. Go Back on Pledges.

So it has been decided to reverse the no-patronage policy of 1918, to go back on the pledges of Sir Robert Borden, and to give back to the Government the right of making certain appoint-ments both in the inside and outside

Such appointments include manua laborers, rural postmasters and profes-sional and technical employees. The category covers a large field, and it is hard to see what work is left to the civil service commission under the merit system. The principle of promo-

By Devious Paths. The means employed by the Govern-ment in bringing about this change were devious in the extreme. A "skeleton" measure was prepared, and the man chosen to sponsor it was E. K. Spinney, minister without portfolio. Mr. when he entered the Meighen cabinet, declared that his purpose in do-ing so was to 'look after Liberal inor words to that effect.

When, therefore, D. D. MacKenzie, M.P. for South Cape Breton, expressed regret that Mr. Spinney, once a good Liberal, had been induced "to grind bark at the mills of the Philistines, there was a general laugh, in which Mr. Spinney did not join. Mr. Spinney the platform of which the abolition of patronage was a plank, so was Premier Meighen; so was Hon. J. A. Calder; so was Hon. Hugh Guthrie; so were all the Liberal-Unionists who today sit while that plank is being relegated to the category of driftwood.

Having chosen Mr. Spinney as "the coat," the Government undertook to till further shift responsibility to all bill should not be sent to the committee. parties in the House by appointing a select committee to consider and reupon the skeleton measure. Reversal of Policy. The bill. he characterized as a complete reversal of the policy to which Sir Robert Borden had pledged himself n 1917, which he had put into effect n 1918, and which had been in effect ever since. The Meighen administration had no right to change that policy without an appeal to the people. Hon.
W. L. Mackenzie King and other Liberals looked upon the action of the Government as a tricky performance.

I have been in public life for twelve years, and know that our public men have been hounded day in and day out by the job-seekers and grafters looking for some special privi-lege to which they are not entitled."

Sir Robert Borden was in the House when the new measure for the restoration of patronage was moved this afternoon. He witnessed a "Government which dared to bring it back," but he said nothing.

LACK OF CANDOR.

OTTAWA, May 2.-When the bill to amend the civil service act came up for second reading in the House this afternoon, Hon. A. K. MacLean (Hallfax) criticized the Government for its absolute lack of candor and frankness in presenting the bill. As far as he in presenting the bill. As an account see everything had been done to prevent a proper understanding of the measure, and the whole procedure adopted was open to serious criticism. The appointment of a special commit-tee to deal with the bill before the Spinney did not join. Mr. Spinney second reading had been given to it one of those elected in 1917 on was most unusual and unfair.

The bill could only be characterized as a reversion to the practice of political patronage. It was a reversal of of 1918, and also a reversal of the Gov ernment policy indorsed at the polls in the election of 1917. The civil service act of 1918, passed three years ago after bill should not be sent to the committee before its princple had been adopted by the House. He felt that the motion constituting the committee should be rescinded as a matter of respect to the

A New Principle.

The present bill introduced a new Hon. Charles Murphy opposed this sug-restion at the outset, and refused to permit second reading to the bill with-templated only a silght modification of templated only a silght mo tout full discussion in the House. Where at this afternoon, Hon. A. K. MacLean, former member without portfolio in the Union Government, and to whom had been intrusted the task of attending to civil service matters under the act of 1918, rose in his seat from the Incomplete the commission to carry on its work. Prior to the election of 1917 Sir Robert and characterized the Borden, then premier, had pledged the elimination of patronage in his plat-form. This pledge was carried out and Canada advanced further along this line than any other country in the world. Parliament unanimously accepted the civil service act in 1948, and there should be no attempt to refer the amending measure to a special committee by "subterranean passages" with-out the House knowing what the bill contained

Strange, Very Strange.

Mr. Calder toured the country last fall patronage, and no government will dare to bring it back. Second, the civil service act has been made applicable to the had been made to destroy that measure without an appeal to the country. The Government was elected on an elimination of patronage platform, and did not ave the right "brazenly and openly" revert to the conditions which existed prior to 1918. The civil service was showing a vast improvement under the act, and it was understood that several hundred persons would be let out of the department of customs and inland revenue and the postoffice department without impairing their efficiency.

The argument had been advanced that Griffenhagen and associates and the civil service commission were not coordinating bodies when, as a matter of fact, Griffenhagen and associates were engaged by the commission, and not by Would Destroy Economy

Mr. MacLean quoted from the report of the special committee of publishers the had investigated conditions at the printing bureau. The secretary of that committee, A. L. Lewis, had reported that there would be a saving of some 35 per cent, or from $425.000 to $475,000 n the course of a year.

If this bill became law the economy effected in the printing bureau and other departments during the last fiscal year would be lost and the country ould quickly revert to the old conditions where it cost some half a milion dollars more to run a department Government operation of the railways

Government operation of the railways would have been almost a tragedy under patronage. If the civil service act were amended, as suggested in the bill now before the House, railroads would become largely machines in the hands of political parties, and the Government might as well decide at once to get rid of them and give them a chance to exist under other auspices. Preferential treatment to returned soldiers which was at present provided for under the act and orders in council, would be impossible if the proposed bill were allowed to pass. Ex-soldiers could only be given preference if competitive examination were continued.

Commission Has Powers.

Commission Has Powers Replying to Col. J. A. Currie (North limcoe) Mr. MacLean said he could not

ments to permanent positions made by the commission. Under a clause in the existing act, if the commission decided it was unwise to apply the ordinary provisions of the act to a certain class of employees, it had power, with the approval of the governor-in-council, to make regulations regarding the withdrawal of this class.

Personally, Mr. MacLean felt that there were strong reasons which could be given for the removal of these classes, but he thought the time had not come for such action. His first reasons which could be given for the removal of these classes, but he thought the time had not come for such action. Mr. Doherty replied that the attitude of the civil service commission was very possibly analogous to that of Mr. MacLean, that no unholy hand should be laid upon the civil service act. But, however perfect in the opinion of its authors the legislation may have been when enacted, there was at the present time in the minds of a large proportion of the people of Canada the opinion that certain provisions of the civil service act were not working out as had been expected—in fact, there was a definite degree of public opinion that the civil service act had overshot the

F. Pardee (West Lambton) urged that the bill meant simply going back patronage, and that the civil service mmission had not had a fair chance

o get going. Sir George Foster thought the mat-ter could well go to a special commit-tee and thus a chance would be given for those who misjudged the commis-sion. No one would expect the com-mission successfully to appoint upwards to appoint similar manual labor. After two years and working under great difficulties, the commission had done good work in the matter of classifigood work in the matter of classifi-cation, and the adverse criticism in regard to this branch of its work had been almost, if not entirely, overcome Means Constant Conflict.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, who took up the debate after the dinner recess, said that one of the most diffithings to get rid of in Canada was party patronage. The civil service commission was created in 1908 by the then Liberal Government under Sir for pyorrhoea, Dr. Clark said: "The mouth was as innocent of pyorrhoea as any mouth could possibly be." Wilfrid Laurier. From that time down to 1911 there had been no move for lessening the powers of the commission, but, on the other hand, the principle was so approved that the present Brooks were elected to the board of Government increased its powers. Mr. King had heard that recently appointments in the postoffices of some of the cities had been made through that any patient was entitled to find in his dentist an unhurried and an unworried mind. "If you can do your work in an unhurried and an unworried way," Dr. Clapp said, "you will be an what amounted to patronage. It was pressure, like this that was the real cause for the bill. Its adoption would cause for the bill. Its adoption would bring the Government and the commission into constant conflict. The bill gave the governor-in-council power to undo all the work accomplished by the civil service commission and by the recent reorganization.

Hon. Mr. King was followed by J. A. Currie (North Simcoe) who pictured the civil service commission as making appointments "by feeling the bumps" of candidates and testing them in differential calculus.

BRITISH HOUSE RETAINS TAXES ON LUXURIES

Efforts of Free Traders To Get Them Removed Failed.

In the course of the debate free trade members tried hard to get the Government to remove the war duties of seven pence on tea and the one-third ad valorem duty on motor cars, clocks. watches and musical instruments. The ground taken by the free traders was that the duties were imposed in order to effect economy in tonnage and discourage spending money for luxuries, and that this no longer was necessary. The Government resisted all the appeals, contending there was urgent need for revenue, and that it still was advisable to prevent expenditures for loxuries. All amendments proposing the removal of these duties were re-

PEACE-TIME POLICY

The rest of the day stretched out before her, interminably boring.

"If this dreary northern town were only New York, then I could 'phone on and ask him to take me out to dinner," reflected April pettishy; that is interminably boring. The passes Time Work.

"The young man paused and shoots her hand.

"Why, if it isn't Dr. Armstrong."

April was beaming on him. "This is an unexpected pleasure—"

"The young man paused and shoots her hand.

"Miss Gordon—I'm lucky in running into you fike this! And I've some good news for you, too!"

The smile deepened on April's pretty face. Was he going to offer to take her out to dinner? There must be some decent restaurants even in this benighted spot! Perhaps he was even thinking of a theatre?

"What is it, doctor?" she cooed up at him, expectant.

"Your fiance is a little better—and it do believe we'll pull him through!" askid Dr. Armstrong.

The eager, coquettish smile died on the girl's lips. To have received this information in lieu of a dinner invitation was like a douche of ice-cold water. But she pulled herself together—although she could have slapped the young man opposite her for his stup-idity.

Torourse, if was a good thing that Jack Trevor was recovering—if he proved amenable to coercion and to her prictular management.

"The delighted at your good news, doctor." April stammered, "You—you; almost took my breath away for a moment."

Dear Cynthia Grey and Boxites,-Crowd over and make room for the Prodigal, for after such a long absence I just wished to step in and wish everybody bon jour. Especially might say this to the older or rather to the Boxites of less recent date, among whom I see the name of Aunt Nannie nce more appearing.

Whether it is this or the strange fream I just had, which accounts for my presence I scarcely know, but I feel more like a stranger than one who has written before. But now for the dream, the interpretation of which I am most anxious to know. Methought I was returning from the field and as I homeward plod my weary way. I heard a scream, a signal of distress and there stood Ugly Duckling and Lil' Chick Un, crying as if their little hearts would break. glanced around to find the cause, when to my utmost horror I spied Sly Fox crouching for a spring. I grabbed a stick, but he was gone, and unharmed as I thought. But not so, for a bullet from Lourie's rifle sent him rolling.

"In the Dust." Up he got, however. and I wish you could have seen him go down the road marching through "Georgia" as his feet kept time to the tune "Back Home in Tennessee."

he went ever following "Star That Guides" and "Star of the East," regardless of Heart of the North Wind, he finally arrived in sight of the Little Eyes in the doorway ringing a "Silver Bell" for supper. However, his wound was hurting too much for such re-freshment, but under the skilful hands of Dominion Maid and Scotch Lass who bound up the gash with blue silk he was soon narrating his close shave and miraculous escape. Here I burst out laughing, only to hear father shouting upstairs: "Boy

In choosing your new "Brantford" Kitchen, there certainly is a wide range from which to make selection-both in Refrigerators and Kitchen Cabinets-the largest under the British flag, in fact. "Brantfords" may be found in most stores throughout entire Canada.

"BRANTFORD" REFRIGERATORS. The entirely free, unobstructed circulation of pure, cold, dry air is really the keynote of ideal refrigeration. Insulation is another important factor,

"Brantfords" have satisfied thousands of "Brantfords" have satisfied thousands of thrifty Canadians for 30 years. A style to suit every home, with the same commonsense principle of refrigeration embedied in even the most moderately-priced models, Many prefer those refrigerators having interior lining of snowy-white porcelain. "BRANTFORD" KITCHEN CABINETS.

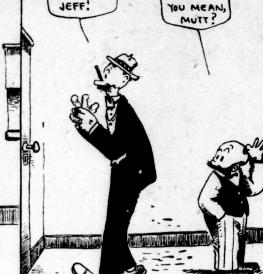

The mere fact of having the half-dozen or so glass bottles for spices, together with container for tea, coffee or salt, attracts many to the several advantages of the "Brantford" Kitchen Cabinet, with its multiplicity of laborsaving features. Then, again, the sliding top of snowy-white porcelain, the flour-bin, or the metal-covered bread-box, interest other ladies. In all, you can scarcely do without one, for it works for you from morn to night.

CHANGES RUMORED

Kent, Denies Any Knowledge of Alleged Reconstruction.

CHATHAM, May 2 .- Rumors are rife in political circles in the East and West ridings of Kent to the effect that the county may shortly have another member in the Ontarlo cabinet, owing to a shake-up" which is predicted by those in the "know." The rumors are to the effect that new faces will fill the offices of attorney-general, minister of mines, and minister of lands and forests, and that the changes will become effective. that the changes will become effective on about the last day of this month or perhaps sooner. The rift in the lute of the U. F. O. may mean that the new attorney-general may be R. L. Brackin, M.P.P. for West Kent. Asked if there was any truth in this report this morning, Mr. Brackin stated that so far as he knew personally no changes in the Ontario cabinet were contemplated. "While there is a lot of talk in outside circles regarding this matter I very much doubt whether any changes will take place in the near future," he declared.

ecke does hit the earth amidships and the chances are 1,000 to 1 against it—the only result will be a wonderful pyrotechnical display. He says: "Pons-Winnecke resembles comet in that it is very tenuous. We may have to pass through the tip of Halley's comet, and we may have to pass through the tip of the tail of Pons-Winnecke. But if we do we will never know it. By that, I don't mean that it will destroy us instantly. It will have absolutely no effect on us. "The earth is much larger and more stable than Pons-Winnecke. A colli-sion between the two would be very much like a collision between the Rock of Gibraltar and a zephyr. Astronomers would welcome the collision because of the opportunity for research it would

five and three-quarter years.

"Pons-Winnecke is different from the usual comet in that instead of having the usual 'tail' it has a trail of meteors five or six hundred miles long. This will dor. The sight will be so brilliant that telescopes will be superfluous to view its progress.

For centuries people have feared a collision with a comet. The advance of astronomy has robbed the advent of a comet of its fearful effect on the public mind. There cannot be cited a single case of a comet having ever harmed any Professor Harold P. Jacoby, head of the department of astronomy of Conumbia University, says that if Ponsthe comets, in spite of their suspicious appearance, are quite harmless fellows.

Full of Hot Air.

A comet's tail consists of gases rare fied to such a degree that with a thickness of several thousands of kilometres they are more tenuous than water and equally transparent. The light of a comet is not glowing or burning in the common sense, but a sort of phosphorescence or fluorescence in the ether, caused by the refraction of the electromagnetic rays of the sun. Here no rain of fire need be apprehended.

Nor is there any fear of the earth being destroyed by a collision with a comet's head or some of its fragments. Numbers of times already we have traersed clouds of meteors that must be considered parts or fragments of comets, as in 1872 and 1858, when crossing the emains of Biela's comets. Nothing happened but a beautiful rain of meteors. Since men have been writing historythat is, for more than 5,000 years—a comet or meteor has never caused considerable damage. There are only a few instances in which human beings have been killed by any form of cosmic

Chicago, May 3.—Fresh advances in the price of wheat took place today, owing largely to continued indications of a scarcity of supplies. Special difficulty to find wheat for export was noted and advices from all sections of the west told of only a light movement from farms and of bad condition of country roads. Orange rust was said to be increasing in Southern Kansas. Opening quotations, which ranged from 4c to 1%c up, were followed by material gains all around.

DOOR TO WASHINGTON

uncil of ambassadors meeting regularly in Paris, and the reparations commission. It has been thought wise not to urge the Washington Government to these bodies until after May 12, when the results of the present decision of the supreme council have been seen. No formal action in this regard has been taken by the council, but informally the representatives of the various governnents have interchanged this view.

Marshal Foch, who participated in to-day's meeting, said he could encircle the Ruhr region with troops in one day, and that only six or seven divisions The occupation would be necessary. The occupation could be completed on the second day, he declared, by sending patrols into the interior to take railway centres and strate-

GERMANY DISPATCHES INTERPRETATION NOTE

Berlin, May 3 .-- The German Govern ment, according to the Lokal Anzeiger today, op Saturday last dispatched to the United States Government an interpretation of the recent German pro-posals sent to Washington concerning the amount of reparations Germany was willing to pay, the sum of the annuities and the mode of discounting them.

The United States state department in Washington announced Monday that no further communication dealing with reparations had been received from Germany since the recent German note con-taining the counter-proposals of that

LABOR FEDERATION DEMANDS REOPENING OF NEGOTIATIONS

Amsterdam, May 3.—The Internationa rederation of Labor today published a statement demanding the immediate reppening of negotiations between Gernany and the Allies on the basis of the latest German proposal concerning rearations.

The German proposals, the statement labor unions, which would do everything possible to carry out any agreement signed by the Government. The federation insists that no further measures of occupation be taken and demands any promises it may make.

GERMANS PROTEST AGAINST FRENCH TROOPS IN SARRE

Geneva, May 3 .- The German Govern ment has protested through the secretariat of the League of Nations against the presence of French troops in the Sarre region and the exercise there of rench military jurisdiction.

The present Sarre Government com mission has sent a note to the secretariat explaining that the existing polic force in the Sarre is insufficient to insure order and that to bring it up to the recessary standard it would have to be increased to 3,000 or 4,000 men, which would prove a heavy burden on the rea force of occupation, but a garrison placed at the disposal of the commission to enable it to fulfill the duties impose on the Government by the treaty of arrange for the part France will play in the naval demonstration against Germany, should Berlin reject the allied terms.

The Echo de Paris declared this morning that plans for the blockade of Hamburg, Bremen, Lubeck and Stettin, had already been prepared. The French warships chosen to participate in the operation will, the newspaper said, be ommanded by Vice-Admiral Saget Duvauroux, commandant of the port of Foulon, who has been summoned to this city to confer with M. Guiethau minister of marine. "If the Fehrenbach cabinet resigns," said the Figaro, "and is replaced by a ministry simply charged with the duty of avoiding penalties, the Allies will find themselves, as at the moment the Versailles treaty was signed, confronted with politicians of the type of Hermann Mueller and Dr. Bell, who will not engage Germany seriously. The whole question remains, what pledges and what security will assure the execution of the undertakings entered into by the German Government."

SUPREME COUNCIL.

LONDON, May 2 .- Germany will have antil May 12 to accept the ultimatum of the Allies respecting payment of reparations and guarantees binding her to fulfill her obligations; otherwise the Ruhr district will be occupied by allied troops.

The Supreme Council today decided upon the action to be taken against Germany should she fail to accept, but decision was not reached on nature of the guarantee she will be required to give. To List Germany's Broken Promises

The preamble of the agreement will recite that Germany having failed to fulfill the treaty of Versailles, with respect to reparations, disarmament and punishment of the war criminals, and having violated various other articles of the treaty-which will be cited by num ber-the Allied Governments have decided to occupy the Ruhr.

British, French and Belgians. In this event British and Belgian forces on the Rhine will join with the French in their march on the district Reports of the mobilization of the 1919 class were dispatched to Paris tonight.
A joint Anglo-French council has been called to meet in London tomorrow, in says, are supported by the German which Admiral Beatty, for the British, working classes, and all the German will participate. The French admiral was summoned to London tonight.

> Without Reservations. The reparations commission will notify Germany within four days of the sums payable and the conditions of payment. Germany's reply must be accentance without reservation. If such May 12, the occupation will begin with out further notice. The question of council was engaged for four hours in trying to harmonize the views on the precise form of guarantees which will include the establishment of a commission of debt on the same general lines as the Turkish debt control mission will be charged with observa tion of the German revenues. The Allies will also ask for participation in the profits of German industry.

The result of today's meeting are argued by the French delegation as measurably satisfactory. They would have rather occupied the Ruhr first and minimum terms, but in deference to Mr. Lloyd George's conviction that British public opinion would not willingly occupy until Germany had been given another chance, M. Briend yielded the point, to which the French people and parliament attach great importance But he probably obtained British nava co-operation to the extent of a demonstration before Hamburg, though not MOBILIZATION ORDERED.

PARIS, May 2 .- Minister of War Barthou this evening issued an order call ing the class of 1919 to the colors, with the exception of men who have served in the Orient and in Morocco and men belonging to the auxiliary services.

Every human being is continually in-mental importance that every child should imitate worthy actions, that his instinct should find expression in imitating the good and the beautiful, for what he imitates he at last becomes. Children in bad surroundings play at the pursuits of their elders with startling realism. It is, even in a good home, a lucky mother who has never had to feel ashamed of the chance inflection of er child's voice, or his gesture, exact y reproducing her own.

Children's play gives a wonderful opportunity for training of the best kind. The splendid stories of history and fiction can be put before them; they can play the ports of heroes, and develop in themselves thus the love and understanding of heroic qualities. What they read, what they see and hear, they will try to imitate. We must see to vill try to imitate. We must see to that they see and hear, they will try to imitate. THORNDALE

THORNDALE, May 2.-In Harding's Hall, Thorndale, Wednesday evening. April 27, a very large and enthusiastic audience listened to a three-act play entitled, "My Old New Brunswick Home," presented by eleven members of the A.Y.P.A. of St. George's Church, Thorndale. It proved to be one of the best local talent plays ever presented in the village, and great credit is due each player for the way the parts were The receipts of the evening were $150. This year's work of the society has been one of the most successful in the history of the church.

Little "Half-a-Chance" Kiddies To Be Aided By Your Generosity

Somewhere something's gone wrong, or they wouldn't be there-these little eager tots of humanity that come under the guardianship of the Children's Aid Society. In many cases it was death that left them without support-oftentimes it is sickness that makes home life impossible, and then some are offsprings of the don't-care type of persons who are never intended for parents. It isn't to question how they came there—that doesn't matter! But it DOES matter that they are there-and they are "kiddies"-average little Canadians that need just a little help to raise them to the plane of future good citizenship.

It is the cry of the young-the plaintive cry for the right to live, the right to grow up and take the part God intended them to take in the world-that should ring in the ear of every citizen of London in the week of May 9 to 14.

The Children's Aid Society is one of the fourteen welfare organizations that will be sustained during 1921 by the funds collected in the United Welfare Fund drive.

AT THE ALLEN

One of the most delicate of all prob-lems, that of religious differences be-tween two people bound together by the bonds of marriage, is the basis of an all-engrossing play called "The Oath," the feature picture appearing at the Allen during the first half of this week,

On this theme, aided by some startling developments, some of the most dra-matic scenes ever portrayed on a motion picture screen have been built. Rarely has anything more intensely dramatic ever been enacted than the murder trial scene of this production.

The excellent technique of the scene is supplemented by some very outstanding acting with Meriam Cooper and Conway

"The Oath" is the dramatization of William J. Locke's popular novel, "Idols." It has a daring subject, for the author allowed a Jewess to love a

Gentile, and after they had taken the irrevocable step in marriage, he bound them to secrecy by "the oath," the keynote of the play. It is this oath that made possible the great scenes which marked the play as one of the outstanding productions of the year. Although the subject was unusual, it was handled with the utmost delicacy
