LORD NORTHCLIFFE PASSES AFTER PROLONGED ILLNESS

Was Victim of Heart Attack Followed by Blood Poisoning.

SWAYED PUBLIC OPINION

Elevated to Peerage for Great Services to Empire

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Viscount Northcliffe died at 10:12 o'clock. The end was perfectly peaceful.

The death of Lord Northcliffe, a man whose personality could have made a deeper impression in England than that of Lord Northcliffe. The news was not a surprise, as the bulletins issued by the doctors for the last week plainly indicated that their patient was dying.

Lord Northcliffe was by far the greatest figure in British journalism and the first question on everyone's lips was as to what effect his death would have on the policies of The Times and his other newspapers, which, since the end of the war, have strongly opposed the Lloyd George administration and its principles, with the notable exception of its dealings with Ireland, which the Northcliffe press supported throughout. The medical terms used in giving Lord Northcliffe's death were ulcerative endocarditis, streptococcal septicemia and terminal syncope.

Causes of Death.

Later it was stated that the cause of Lord Northcliffe's death was supposition, of the production, of which the last was followed by acute blood poisoning.

Viscount Northcliffe was born July 15, 1865. He was the son of an Irish barrister, became an editor at 17 years, owner and publisher of the London Times and Daily Mail, the mold of public opinion, a man of powerful influence in the making and unmaking of British cabinets, and, who with David Lloyd George, contributed in a great measure to arousing England to more vigorous action in the war.

Created Baron in 1905.

He was created Baron of the Isle of Thanet in 1905 and made a viscount in 1917, after he had served with distinction as head of the British Mission to the United States to consolidate British interests here during the war.

To Viscount Northcliffe is ascribed the arousing of the British public to a knowledge of the fact that the British army in France was actually fighting with high explosive shells, that British guns on the French front were short of ammunition, and that Lord Kitchener, then secretary of state for war, was sending the British gunners shrapnel, while Sir John French, as commander, was appealing for the same kind of high explosives that Germany was hurling over the lines in vast quantities.

This exposure has been characterized as one of the outstanding journalistic feats of the war. It resulted in the appointment of David Lloyd George as the first British minister of munitions and put him on the road to become prime minister.

Owing, it is said, to the rigid censorship which the then Baron Northcliffe bitterly assailed, the British people knew little about the conduct of the war at that time. They were told of the victories and advances, but it is claimed that the disasters and defeats were not fully revealed. Official England is said to have known for months that the wrong kind of shells were being furnished. Lord Northcliffe knew these conditions, because he had visited the front on several occasions. He sent the military correspondent of the London Times, Col. Repington, to France, and Repington sent and the Times published a dispatch exposing the situation and attributing the failure of

Wood of Calgary, has definitely refused the chairmanship of the wheat board was made by Premier Herbert Greenfield, of Alberta, late last night, when he announced that John McFarlane, president of the Alberta Pacific Elevator Company, Calgary, had been offered the chairmanship. Britain's Busy Premier Finds Time To Engage In Game of Golf

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Regardless of the crisis facing him today in the Allied conference on German reparations, Great Britain's versatile prime minister has the satisfaction of having passed a fairly successful week-end. Although he had to cancel his annual pilgrimage to the Welsh National Eisteddfod, Mr. Lloyd George on Saturday enjoyed a round of golf, and closed a $100,000 deal for two volumes of memoirs to be published in the United States next spring. Then, during a quiet Sunday at Chequers Court, he received congratulations for the success of his entries in the West Surrey goat show at Farnham, four of his goats being awarded "highly recommended" honors in the open class for nannies. Mr. Lloyd George is a member of the Surrey Goat Society, and maintains a large herd on his estate in Churt.

MOURNERS PASS GRIFFITH'S BIER

Pay Last Respects to Head of Irish Free State.

Collins Terms Leader's Death Calamity for Ireland.

Dublin, Aug. 14.—The body of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, lay in state today in Dublin city hall. Thousands of mourners streamed by the bier, around which was stationed a guard of honor chosen from the troops of the national army.

The body will lay in state until tomorrow night, when it will be removed to the pro-cathedral. Archbishop Byrne will preside at solemn requiem mass at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, the funeral and burial at Glasnevin, Dublin's northern suburb, immediately following.

In the Protestant churches yesterday remarkable tributes were paid to Mr. Griffith, the trend of which was that the Free State had lost in him a pillar of strength.

Michael Collins, interviewed today at the field headquarters of the national army, termed Arthur Griffith's death a calamity for Ireland, and said it was not too late for Eamon De Valera and his followers to honor the passing of a great patriot by accepting the terms the free state government had offered to achieve the unity of Ireland.

The commander-in-chief added that he would continue his military work until the trouble was ended. Commenting on Griffith's death, the Irish Times says: "They respected him as a brave man who forgot at once in peace the injuries of war. They admired his strength of character. They knew that he looked always beyond the mere fact of freedom to the duties and responsibilities which freedom brings."

"We do not doubt for a moment that Griffith's colleagues who were parties to his pledges will honor them when the time comes. Yet the Ireland of the near future will be poorer for lack of his calm vision and catholic patriotism, and every southern loyalist not only will share the loss, but feel that he shares it in a peculiar degree."

Says the Freeman's Journal: "His opponents would have been the treaty was signed because Griffith lacked courage. When all the facts are made public his act, which has been solidly indorsed by the nation, will be universally recognized as one of the finest acts in Irish history."

He is beyond the reach of earthly rewards which a grateful nation would have showered with lavish hand, but there is one tribute which it is in our power to pay. It is the only tribute he would have desired. The work that he has dropped from his hands must be carried to a successful conclusion.

"Ireland must emerge from her trials the Ireland of his dreams—an Ireland valuing freedom so highly that she will permit no tyranny, foreign or domestic, to infringe on the rights of the least of her children. Could the dead lips of Griffith speak, they would ask no other memorial."

Burglars Steal Law Books, In Mistake For Liquor

QUENCH THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE.

IT may have been some person with a persistent and remarkable thirst for legal knowledge who removed a box of law books from the cellar of 24 Grosvenor street west over the past week-end.

Members of the local detective squad, however, who were not notified of the occurrence until Monday morning, express the opinion of having without going over the ground, that the job was undertaken by thieves who believed that they were removing a stock of good liquor.

Their astonishment and chagrin can well be imagined when they find that their swag consists entirely of a series of dry and uninteresting publications dealing with such subjects as "master and servant," "employer and employee," "the origin of law," etc., etc.

H. B. Nealey of Dorchester, the owner of the missing property, explained to the police Monday that, in view of a contemplated trip to British Columbia, his goods and chattels were securely packed in boxes and placed in the basement, from where the one box was removed.

OWNERS OFFER TO END STRIKE

Will Pay Men at Old Scale Pending Investigation.

Suggest Conference Be Held in Philadelphia on Wednesday.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—An offer to end the anthracite strike by agreeing to wage scale in force when the strike was called, was received today by President John L. Lewis of the miners. It came from S. D. Warriner, heading the anthracite operators' scale committee. Mr. Warriner notified Mr. Lewis that the mine owners were willing to resume operations in the hard coal fields at the old wage scale pending the appointment of a commission to investigate the situation. Mr. Warriner suggested that a conference of anthracite operators and representatives of the miners be held in Philadelphia Wednesday.

Accompanying Mr. Warriner's invitation to meet the operators in conference, Mr. Lewis said: "The broad premise upon which you have based your invitation is commendable, and augurs well for the success of the conference."

Mr. Warriner, in his telegram to Mr. Lewis, said that the operators had been moved to extend the invitation for a conference, "not more by their own desires, but because the president of the United States has communicated an expression both of his wish that we should do, and of his hope that you will accept." The telegram said: "On behalf of the anthracite operators I extend to you a cordial invitation to meet us in conference with a view to an early resumption of production in the anthracite field. I suggest Philadelphia as a suitable place for conference and Aug. 16 as a convenient time."

"Our conception of the conference is that we should meet for the friendly discussion of the whole situation, including such specific proposals as either of us may desire to submit. We are glad, however, to express in advance our confident expectation that we can devise in conference a method of wage adjustment, such as that upon our agreeing to it, we shall be able then to take the men back at the old wage scale until such adjustment actually takes place."

"Let me assure you that our invitation is sent without any underlying reservations or conditions, and in full assurance that when we meet we can work out a result at once protective of the public interest and satisfactory to the mine workers. We bespeak your acceptance in the same spirit."

BELIEVES OTTAWA HAS ENOUGH COAL

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—"If the people of Ottawa will only recognize the situation existing and not get panicky, there should not be the slightest difficulty in supplying households with enough coal to meet their requirements this winter," was the optimistic view expressed by J. A. Ellis, recently appointed coal controller for Ontario, here yesterday.

TO DECIDE FUEL SUPPLY FOR CANADIAN RAILWAYS

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Representatives of Canadian railways will meet with members of the federal advisory fuel committee here tomorrow to discuss the needs of the railways for American soft coal and to decide on steps for satisfying this need. As stated in the report of the fuel committee issued some days ago, the railways being interprovincial in their character will deal direct with the central fuel organization. The Canadian roads are dependent largely on Canadian mines for their supply of coal, but in the central sections and at lake ports they use considerable of the United States product.

Claims Canada's "Broadcasting" Too Weak To Get English Market

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—By Canadian Press.—"The broadcasting apparatus of Canadian manufacturers is too weak to reach, or retain the attention of customers in the overseas trade; the 'receiving sets' of the latter being attuned to the shorter wave lengths of local operators, either as commission agents or import distributors, and it is to the employment of such local operators, rather than to the Canadian export trade, that the Canadian government must look for business." This is the summing up of Canada's overseas trade difficulties contained in a report to the department of trade and commerce by Trade Commissioner Gordon B. Johnson. Canadian firms are too far away to keep in direct touch with overseas markets, in the opinion of Mr. Johnson, and require, as a rule, a resident agent for that purpose. The trade commissioner thinks that the feature of international trade is not sufficiently recognized in Canada.

Favor Sir A. Currie as Head of Canada's Railways.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14.—Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, was mentioned as a possibility, favored in some quarters, for the presidency of the Canadian National Railways by S. W. Jacobs, M. P. for Georges Etienne Cartier division of Montreal, here yesterday, on his way to Vancouver to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Jacobs said the same quarters favored Howard G. Kelley for general manager. Regarding Sir Arthur, he said it was thought the national system needed some man who had the talent for leadership, and who was worthy of the confidence of the public.

STRIKE AFFECTS FRUIT GROWERS

California Left Without Fast Freight Transportation to East.

Lives of Passengers Endangered by Action of Rail Strikers.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Further paralysis of rail transportation in the far west and at least two instances of serious violence against railroad property marked the opening hours of the seventh week of the rail strike. Northern and Central California today were without fast freight transportation east. Upwards of 1,700 passengers were marooned in nine trains abandoned in Arizona, New Mexico and California deserts by members of the operating brotherhoods.

Many cities of California's San Joaquin Valley were without mail service as a result of cessation of transportation and eastern mail, halted in Southern California Thursday, still unmoved. Fruit growers estimated their accruing losses at a million dollars a day, and one shipper professed his loss reached $500,000 daily.

Lives of passengers were endangered, and ten persons were injured when a passenger train loaded principally with week-end excursionists was bombed at Grant Junction, N. J. Steel coaches, which were marked visibly by the explosions, served as veritable bombproofs in protecting the passengers.

At Ash Grove, Mo., the St. Louis and San Francisco's 400-foot bridge over the Sac River was dynamited. The north abutment was destroyed, according to early and fragmentary reports, and for quite a distance the tracks were raised a foot.

BLAST DAMAGES RAILWAY BRIDGE

Springfield, Miss., Aug. 14.—A dynamite explosion late last night damaged 400-foot St. Louis and San Francisco railroad bridge across the Sac river at Ash Grove, 15 miles northwest of here.

Reports received at the local offices of the railroad were that the north abutment of the structure had been destroyed and that the tracks had been raised more than a foot for a considerable distance. No estimate of the loss caused by the explosion could be made.

KILLED STRINGING TELEGRAPH WIRES

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—Adrian Rousseau, Baudrieu, Que., was electrocuted this morning while stringing telegraph wires for the Canadian National Telegraphs here. A charge of 2,200 volts passed through him, killing him almost instantly.

G.T.R. WORKERS CLAIM PLEDGE WAS BROKEN

Clerks, Linemen, Inspectors and Baggage Men Are Affected.

CITE SPECIFIC CASE

Declare Company Dealt Separately With Telegraph Operators.

Determined that they will not accept the proposed wage cut recently enforced by the Canadian Railways Association, between 700 and 800 clerks, baggage and parcel room employees, linemen, inspectors and lampmen employed on the London division of the Grand Trunk Railway will take drastic action if the pay checks on the last of the month show a decrease in the standard rate of wages. This information was given out by a prominent union official in the city Monday morning. The reduced rates as affecting each employee are:

Group 1.

(a) Chief clerks, foremen, sub-foremen and other clerical supervisory forces.... 3 cents per hour

(b) Clerks with an experience of two or more years in railroad clerical work, or clerical work of a similar nature in other industries, or where their cumulative experience in such work is not less than two years..... 3 cents per hour

(c) Baggage and parcel room employees other than clerks..... 3 cents per hour

Group 2.

Linemen and inspectors..... 7 cents per hour

Lampmen..... 5 cents per hour

Group 3.

Lampmen..... 5 cents per hour

Group 4.

All others..... 4 cents per hour

The above employees affected by the cut claim that the railroads are breaking an agreement with the union by dealing with the men separately, and not cutting the wages of telegraphers and dispatchers, and for this reason take the stand that the wage cut will not be accepted, and that a strike will be resorted to if other means fail.

According to the schedule mutually adopted by the railroad and the union some time ago, the railways agreed not to deal with each body separately in such a case as a reduction in wages. And in cutting the wages of the chief clerks, foremen, sub-foremen, clerks, baggage and parcel room employees, linemen and inspectors and lampmen, and not making a similar reduction in the pay of the telegraphers and dispatchers, the men claim a direct violation of the schedule is being made.

IS WILLING TO BE CALLED QUEBEC'S HEAD BARKEEP

Buckingham, Que., Aug. 14.—"The leader of the opposition, Arthur Sauve, believes he does me injury when he calls me the head bartender of the province of Quebec. He is mistaken. I am willing to assume the title of head bartender of Quebec provided the Quebec liquor act continues to act satisfactorily and the revenues derived by the government from its operation are applied as now to further the cause of education, combat tuberculosis, promote colonization, aid agriculture and give added impetus to the good roads in this province."

The above was the statement of Hon. L. A. Taschereau, premier of Quebec, in the course of an address here last night in support of the Liberal candidate, Desire Lahaie, who is contesting the forthcoming by-election for Labelle County.

ENJOY ANNUAL FROLIC AT PORT

Employees of Public Utilities Commission Picnic on Heights.

The Playgrounds' Supervisor Keeps Spectators and Contestants on Toes.

Invererie Heights, Port Stanley, was enlivened Saturday afternoon by the presence of more than 500 employees of the Public Utilities Commission, with families and friends, who staged their third annual picnic, when the last prize was presented and the final speech made the consensus of opinion of the merry-makers was that this outing was the most successful in the history of these employees.

The weather man assisted materially in contributing to the fun, being his best behavior for the day. A special train, leaving London at 1:20 p.m., carried the happy throng to the seaside, and upon arrival at Invererie Heights the sports program was soon under way.

Mr. Mel Brock, chief playgrounds supervisor, kept the spectators and contestants on their toes throughout the afternoon by his capable management of the events, assisted by Murray, clerk of the course.

Unique Program. Features of the sports program, which was arranged in an unique manner, were the contests open to children's Embroidery, "Earl Break," Peart's Peppy Prattlers, Alfred's Athletic, Ellwood's Elegant Exports and Brock's Bosses. Other novel events included Paddy's Con-tinental Contest, Graham's Grab, Middlebrook's Melon Match, Birmingham's Bilibulous Bust, Charlton's Charge, Bailey's Bun Gorge and Bentley's Biscuit Bite.

The premier feature of the afternoon was the contest of the big event to lady employees and wives of employees. The contestants were required to line up in single file, and a pair of ladies' latest model pumps was produced. Announcement was then made that the first lady whose shoe fit perfectly would be presented with them, and Mrs. Gilbert, fourth candidate to try them on, was adjudged the lucky winner.

Before a prize could be awarded to the 100-yard dash, two heats were necessary. This event being keenly contested. At 4:15 p.m. a baseball game between teams representing the public utilities men and the playgrounds' supervisors was played on the beach, resulting in a win for the latter nine, by a score of 14 to 9. Mel Brock hurried for the winners, and roamed deceptively to the public utilities team. The victory was completed by the victorious battery, and the heavy hitting of both teams added to the interest of the game.

Snappy Fielding Wins.

Snappy fielding by the playgrounds' supervisors assisted them in coming out on top. At the conclusion of the sports program, approximately 600 people sat down to supper at four long tables on Invererie Heights, which had been decorated previously with good things to eat by the staff of the London and Port Stanley Railway Tea Room.

When this important item of the day had been consummated, the picnic adjourned to wait opposite the platform, from whence prizes were presented to the winners of the afternoon. Speeches were made by Philip Pocock, a member of the public utilities commission, and E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the commission, the latter taking the opportunity of voicing his pleasure in being back with his fellow-workers after a three months' holiday in England and Scotland.

Music for the occasion was provided by Line Foreman James Hamilton and his pipe band of nine players, who also entertained with Scotch dancing. During the afternoon a refreshment booth was operated adjacent to the tea-house, where the merry-makers were provided with cold drinks and ice cream cones.

Wore Green Tags.

All those present wore green tags, with name inscribed thereon, and by means everybody soon became friends. The prizes presented to the winners were all of exceptional value, and the majority were electrical devices. Donors of these prizes included several London merchants, a wholesale electrical apparatus company of Weston, Toronto, and Montreal.

To the following officials is due much commendation for the success of the picnic: J. Middlebrook, president; J. P. Johnstone, secretary-treasurer; T. E. Charlton, prize committee; G. Mel Brock, sports committee; A. L. Greene, transportation committee; R. W. Swayze, refreshment committee, and James Bell, and William V. K. Green, and E. V. Buchanan, judges of sports.

"A sound business administration at the city hall. That will be my platform, just like last year." Such was the explanation by ex-Ald. "I believe that I can give the citizens the sort of service that they desire," the ex-alderman added. Mr. Wenige represented Ward 1 in the city council in 1921, and at the completion of his term finished second in a three-cornered mayoralty contest.

SUCCESS MARKS M'CLARY OUTING

Approximately 1,000 People Attend Annual Picnic at Springbank.

Success in the highest possible measure featured the annual outing of the members of the McClary Welfare Fund Association, held at Springbank Saturday.

Approximately one thousand people were in attendance to participate in the sports, and the capable committees which were in charge of the picnic saw to it that arrangements were such that enjoyment was provided for every one who made the trip.

A huge refreshment tent on the grounds was a great source of pleasure for the youngsters and fathers and mothers as well were not loath to bestow their patronage upon it. One of the "big features" was the ball game between the married ladies and the single, in which after a long and strenuous struggle the single ladies emerged victorious with a score of 14 to 4. The winning team were captained by Miss Susie Harris.

The record for the day in the ball-throwing contest was established by Miss Alice Noble, who was an easy victor over all-comers, with a distance of 120 feet.

A chicken apiece to the winners was the result of a novel "chicken race," which was a feature of the racing events. Mrs. Tagg, Mrs. P. Swan and Mrs. Mathers were the three lucky participants.

In other sporting events, the following were the results: Boys, 7 to 8 years—Willie Trehuba, Jack Oates, Cliff Sinclair.
Girls, 7 to 8 years—Ellen Reid, Alice Brash, Joan Hickman.

Boys, 9 to 10 years—Jimmie Brash, Cecil Prince, Clayton Matthews.

Expect Debate on Cost of Bricks For London's Collegiate Institute

What might be well termed, as another observant ratepayer ventures to suggest, a modern version of that absorbing little play, "Much Ado About Nothing," is that controversy raging back and forth at frequent intervals, pertaining to a certain building which faces on Waterloo street, between Dufferin and Princess avenues—London's new Central Collegiate Institute.

As the casual observer remarks, it seems quite the correct thing, when two or three are gathered together, and when conversation lags, to adopt for general debate, the current rumor of the day respecting this structure.

Unhappily, it might be added, as the members of the board of education have not met in regular convention for several weeks, it is obviously proving somewhat of a task for the critics to select any brand new topic for discussion. As a natural sequence then it is imperative that one of the old favorites be dragged from concealment, given a rub down and started around the stretch.

"What is the matter with the floors?" is an old "gag" that never seems to be answered to the entire satisfaction of everybody, the con- cealed and otherwise. This is more than often a star attraction for a lively debate in city hall circles and elsewhere, and always guaranteed to "start something" for a while at least.

Another popular theme recommended for controversial purposes is "What is the matter with the plumbing at the new school?" and the critics rise together and shout in unison. "Let us have the true facts about this, as the health of our children is threatened."

Now for the latest. "Why were bricks used that cost $300 per 1,000 copies?" This question has not been answered as yet. It may be that there is no answer forthcoming, and more than likely no answer is deemed expedient. In any event the argument is young yet, and the next regular parley of school trustees is several weeks off, leaving the course open for an exhaustive yet interesting debate upon the subject pro and con.

FINED FOR DRIVING ACROSS SIDEWALK

Joseph Doyle Attempts to Cross-Examine Complaining Witness.

Sidewalks cost money, and this money must be furnished out of the pockets of the taxpayers. It is but natural, then, the police state, that every care be taken that the walks are not wilfully or negligently damaged. Pleading guilty in the city police court Monday morning to the charge that he had driven across and damaged a sidewalk in South London, Joseph Doyle, a truck driver employed by a local construction firm, was assessed $5 and costs by Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, who commented strongly upon the circumstance.

"This is a more serious offense than it would perhaps appear," the latter declared. "The city engineer's department complains to us time and again about sidewalks being damaged in this manner, necessitating expensive repairs. These sidewalks cost money and the people have to pay this money. This practice must cease. It should not be difficult to place planks down."

Appearing as complaining witness, ex-Ald. George Wenige testified that the sidewalk was damaged near his place of residence, and while he spoke to the defendant about the matter, he was told by him that he had a right to drive where he so desired. First pleading not guilty, Doyle undertook to cross-examine Wenige, hurling a series of queries relating to his business and other private affairs, which the court ruled out of order as being irrelevant to the case at hand.

CONVINCED SCOTS HAVE NO HUMOR

E. V. Buchanan Fails to Get Laugh From Scottish Rotarians.

E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, who has just returned from vacationing in Scotland, was the speaker at the Monday luncheon of the Rotary Club. "I am convinced," Mr. Buchanan told the club, "that the Scotsman has no sense of humor, for I told them many London Rotary Club jokes and they didn't laugh." During his stay in Great Britain, he visited two clubs of Rotarians, one at Glasgow and one at Edinburgh. In each he was received hospitably. Unemployment conditions are still bad in the mother country, although they are improving, income tax is

Police Find Liquor Seized in Still "Real Stuff."

NOT all the home-brew whiskey that is made in London is of the "bootleg" variety, guaranteed for fighting policemen or bulldozers. Police officials report that a quantity seized not long since, when a certain competent still was raided not so many blocks from the police station, was of such a high grade standard that it was not poured down a handy drain but sealed up tight and sent to the hospital.

It was the "real stuff" the police say. That is, they explain, judging from the official report submitted by the analysts, much better than some of the liquid that may be legally purchased, it is reason-high, and many of the great estates are being sold. Mr. Buchanan stated. While attending a convention of engineers overseas, Mr. Buchanan related he had heard a paper given by Thomas Adams, town planning expert, who was recently employed by the London Chamber of Commerce to prepare a sketch of what was needed in the way of town planning in London. In the paper which Mr. Adams gave to the engineers' convention, he referred to London, noting it as a city were 80 per cent of the people owned their own homes, and others were opposed to it," said Mr. Buchanan.

SENTENCES TWO TO JAIL FARM

Bench Puts Brown and Pearse Away for Six Months.

Blase Offenders and Court Spectators Much Surprised at Term.

As a preliminary move in a campaign for a better London, Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, presiding in the city police court Monday morning, sentenced John Brown and James Pearse, self-admitted vagrants, to six months' imprisonment. Both men, the police records reveal, are old offenders under the provisions of the Ontario temperance and other acts.

"I intend to rid the town of men of your type," Magistrate Graydon asserted, as he imposed a sentence that astonished, not only the recipients thereof, but the usual quota of hardened and blase court spectators.

"I am starting with these men," he continued. "There are a half dozen or so like you that are a decided menace to the community, since the Ontario temperance act came into force. None of you will work, only long enough to get money to buy whiskey. If you can't get whiskey, you will drink Jamaica ginger, eau de cologne, or anything that you can obtain. You'll be picked up dead one of these days. Six months."

"But that will let us out in bad weather," objected Brown, in a startled tone.

"Well, we'll have to send you back again that is all," rejoined the magistrate who expressed the subsequent opinion that the term at the jail farm would be more of a blessing than a hardship for the prisoners who have, according to the police, been drinking steadily for months past.

Both men have appeared in police court more times than he can remember, declares the magistrate, and while John Brown argued strenuously that he was making a real effort to secure suitable employment the court remarked: "You have been trying now for 20 years without much success."

James Pearse related that he had just left his rooming house when he met Brown and the pair were journeying to a nearby chop house for lunch when intercepted by P. C. Louis McCaughy. The police held a contrary opinion as to Pearse's movements, however, explaining that he was on his way to the corner drug store for a portion of alcohol for drinking purposes.

Pearse and the police magistrate united in the statement that they did not know definitely just how many times the former (Pearse) had been in court during the past two years.

TAMLIN SAYS LONDON IS GETTING HIGH-GRADE MILK

Dr. C. S. Tamlin, veterinary inspector for the London board of health, reports that results of milk inspections, recently conducted, show that citizens are obtaining high grade milk from district dairies.

"I received the best report I ever had on milk this morning," declared Dr. Tamlin Monday. "In some cases with very high bacteria counts every one was due to carelessness on the part of the producers. I drove fifty miles last week to see one producer whose bacterial count was high, determined to close up his dairy. However, I learned that the cooling was not being properly carried out, owing to illness, and this accounted for the high count."

"The next sample from that dairy showed much better milk. I am going after careless milk producers, and it is a credit to our city that the milk should be so pure in midsummer," concluded the inspector.

Looking Over Hospitals.

DEPLORING the fact that hospitals of Ontario have not reached the standards of efficiency and service attained by similar institutions of other provinces, Dr. M. T. MacEachern, director of hospital standardization for Canada, attributes this fact to lack of effort on the part of those operating them.

However, London's hospital escapes this criticism, because Dr. MacEachern, in an interview with THE ADVERTISER following an inspection conducted last week, pronounced Victoria Hospital as one possessing the best-known case recording system, and a model in all respects.

He further states that he will urge other Ontario hospitals to stimulate their operating methods to reach that goal of efficiency which he found at London.

Regarding the hospital situation in Canada, Dr. MacEachern, whose statement is self-explanatory, says: "Generally speaking, there has been a marvellous advance made in the hospitals of Canada during the past two or three years to improve the service to the sick, and the program as laid down by the hospital standardization movement is being generally accepted and carried out in all the provinces with the exception of Ontario.

"Last year inspections showed that only about 35 per cent of the hospitals of Ontario of 100 beds and over were standard institutions. This year, from my survey to date, I do not believe the showing will be much better. In 1921 Ontario stood second lowest in per cent of standard hospitals on this continent.

"This is most regrettable when we all regard Ontario as the banner province of Canada, and I regard it with feeling and regret because it is my native province. Such a condition is not due always to lack of good facilities and equipment, but due to lack of effort on the part of those running hospitals and the doctors attending.

"Any hospital not entering the approved list on October 23 of this year can hardly hold up its head with the full confidence of the public, who are now reading the published list in the Hospital Blue Book."

Victoria Hospital is on the approved list for 1921, graded by the American College of Surgeons, as represented by Dr. MacEachern in his inspections, and he has intimated that this institution will remain on that list for at least another year.

Dr. MacEachern has enjoyed eleven years' experience as a hospital superintendent, at present being superintendent of Vancouver General Hospital, and director-general in Canada for the Victorian Order of Nurses. He knows whereof he speaks, and has pointed out the lamentable state of affairs in hospitals in Ontario.

His criticism is constructive, because he has indicated a remedy. It is now up to the objects of his criticism to get busy and, accepting the solution in good part, place Ontario in the ranks where she belongs, with hospital efficiency as a criterion.

Is Romance Dead?

THE ARABIAN desert is the latest victim of "the age of machinery," the steam-roller that crushes romance wherever it invades.

From the land of the caliphs comes a printed circular, announcing that motor buses now are running regularly between Baghdad and Aleppo. The route is 560 miles, the trip five days, along the historic Euphrates valley.

Desert bandits, who raid camel caravans? The shrewd general manager of the motor lines has taken care of them. The raiding parties have been bought off. In consideration of "a lump sum down," they guarantee not to molest the gasoline caravan.

Who wants to take a trip through the desert under such conditions, no chance of danger, no thrills?

A tourist to the Philippine Islands writes that he penetrated the jungles of Mindanao to see the head-hunters in their natural state.

Alas and alack, he found the head-hunters selling picture postcards of their trophies. The young bucks have stopped carrying their enemies' heads on poles. The old men sit in the council house, and, observing the change, lament that the world is going to the dogs.

Campers returning from fishing trips in points well north report that most of the Indians they met used safety razors.

One of the "Hercule Redmen" confessed that he had lost $400 in a bucketshop crash.

We are being disillusioned. Next summer we will find the Indians exchanging home-brew recipes and manhandling their nails.

Even STEPHANSON, invading the land of perpetual ice, found that one of his greatest problems was agreeing on the wage to be paid his two Eskimo guides.

It is not so many years since romance and adventure abounded in the average Canadian only a few hundred feet behind his cabin in the forest clearing.

Something is lacking in life now, and that something is the natural setting for romance. Industry has killed it. The popular craving for departed romance probably explains the phenomenal sale of such books as "Outline of History," "The Story of Mankind" and "Outline of Science." The readers are after embalmers' thrills rather than knowledge.

Oust the Agitators.

A POLISH radical, JOSEPH KOWALSKI, was ordered deported from United States because he was considered a nuisance and a menace. His idea was that they should have the same form of government in United States that they had in Russia.

Later on he was arrested for not having stayed out of the country, and his explanation was: "He was sick and tired of Russia."

In Canada we have radicals and nation-smashers who want to tag bolshevism on this country. They are not content to come and live here and work here.

They make a better living as agitators than they can as laborers, hence their role as agitators.

Canada tries to grant freedom of thought to the people of the Dominion, but there are well-defined limits past which we have no license to go.

The Canadian people are satisfied with the form of government in this country—it has its defects, of course, but that can be said of any system.

Outsiders who come here are not called upon or requested to preach the doctrines of LENING and TROTSKY. When they persist in so doing it might be excellent business to head them back to Russia, where in 24 hours they can have a stomach full of the stuff they want to dump on us.

Making Folks Beautiful.

HOW BUSINESS does change. An old harnessmaker was relating to us a few days ago how his trade had been shot to pieces by the coming of the car, the tractor and the truck. Every farmer used to have a good driver, a rubber-tired buggy and a set of harness in keeping. Then there was harness for all the other horses that never got a chance at the fancy outfit. But this is gone and the demand for harness has fallen away below par.

One critic claims that the business of making women beautiful has come right up to the front on this continent. United States leads Canada, of course, but even in this country it is getting to be a business of no small proportions. The quantity of rouge sold every year would tint the Atlantic Ocean a deep pink clear out to the three-mile limit. The powder used in a single season would give a creamy effect to the face of nature for an area of 1,327 square knots. For the first time in the nation's history there are more beauty shops than saloons. It has become so that a dame does not feel dolled up until she has been marcelled, rouged and manicured. If her hair, her complexion and her hands have had full attention a certain serenity and satisfaction comes over her.

There are plastic surgeons where a woman can spend a month in having her face remodeled. She can have all the kinks and wrinkles taken out and she can take on the lines and complexion of a chicken. After grandma has been through a course of sprouts she looks like a flapper. Some of the work they turn out is wonderful.

The beautifiers have a general association, and they have conventions and meetings for the purpose of exchanging ideas and gathering information. The section known as the National School of Cosmeticians is now assembled in convention in Chicago, and there are representatives from various countries. There are delegates from South America, Panama and Hawaii. There are experts from the capitals of Europe. One of them is PROF. FRANCOIS MARCEL, inventor of the way coiffure which bears his name.

The dome specialists threaten to marcel the world. They are marcelling the thatches of merchant princes and kings of finance, as well as of debutantes. Likewise, little children are being marcelled. The wave can be made to endure a long time, and may be the simplest way of disposing of the kid's hair. There is so much of this going on that they may yet get around to marcelling the dog. A bald-headed guy is missing a whole lot. At that, he can get a ready-made marcel hood.

The convention of specialists is also deciding on next season's complexion. The peroxide blonde is entirely out of the running just now. She may not think so, but the professor insists.

So don't worry, if perchance, they stuck a little knob on the end of your nose you can have it changed into an honest-to-goodness Grecian sniffer. If you are of the pug-nose type, a short course will make you have a snout as true as a straight edge. Forget the old habit of wearing a clothespin on your nose to make it small—that's slow and away out of date. If your ears stick out as though they had been pelted at your head, you can have them set back a few degrees in a half hour. And, speaking of ears, they're starting to appear again on the side of the ladies' heads after an absence of three or four years. We've never taken to wearing rings in our nose yet, but why not?

Vapidity of vanities—all is vanity—pass the powder puff!

LITTLE 'TISERS

It is a fact a man who leads a double life gets through twice as quick.

These are stirring times, the only trouble being that some of us don't stir hard enough.

It's too bad some person doesn't invent a curry-comb with a handle a little longer than a cat's hind leg.

New York says fall styles follow the Grecian lines. And this winter we may be following the Eskimo lines.

Some of the girls coming back from summer resorts have a far-away look and a picture postcard every day.

We suppose the woman who used to horsewhip her rival will now have to hit her on the head with an auto crank.

Editorial writers and paragraphers don't go on strike because they know there's too many people who could do the job better.

Germany wants a moratorium declared on her war debts. After elections successful candidates want the same thing on their promises.

They are talking of making the Toronto-Hamilton highway wider. If they made it a mile wide some of the drivers would still be making head-ons or ditches.

A Windsor man won $25 in a court action, and complained that his award would no more than pay his lawyer. Said man didn't know how lucky he really was.

One writer has called the ex-kaiser's memoirs a joke, and he is being sued for libel. The man who wrote them is no joke. He is the world's greatest tragedy.

In a Spokane court a man charged with theft claimed he stole to get money to have his fiancée's appendix removed. And yet some say the days of chivalry are all gone.

Edmonton has a lot of poor, hungry cattle, because that district has no feed for them. Too bad it's so far to the green pastures of Ontario. Yes, Mr. Westerner, green in the middle of August.

The rain is falling somewhere in Kansas. After a week's steady down-pour a local paper says: "It not only rained on the just and unjust alike, but after it got through with them it rained just any old place."

The coal strike at Sudbury is declared to be anthracite. Well, that's getting closer to anthracite. At least, they've got the first six and the last three letters right. Some day we'll fix up the middle and have anthracite of our own.

France is determined to make Germany pay. France is now more heavily taxed than the nation that lost the war. What would have happened had Germany won? Would there be talk of cancellation? Positively no.

An Arkansas woman left $16,000 for the keep of her three dogs. On the death of the dogs the money is to go to an orphan asylum. It should be a simple matter for the court to arrange the death of the dogs in the interest of the children.

There's something strange about all these stalwart westerners refusing to have anything to do with the wheat board. H. W. Woon, president of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, and JAMES STUART of Winnipeg, have both refused to touch it, despite the fact that they appeared at Ottawa for days in favor of such a board. It's within their reach, and they claim they want it. Why, then, are they so tardy about wading in?

NOAH'S POETRY

CLINKERS.

I went to clean my furnace room, the dirt in there was one foot through, the whole surroundings of the joint was touched and toned in spider hue.

Yes, there was rubbish on the grate, and there were ashes on the floor, and there was stuff around as well that I had chucked three months before.

Some clinkers still was'nt restin' there, with careful hand they're stowed away, quite unaware of all the fuss they'd make out in the world today.

Oh, come, you clinkers, gather round, and in my coal bin make your nest, and holler out in such a way you'll gather 'round you all the rest.

Last winter we would hardly think, not you nor I nor any man, to bend our backs a notch or two to save 'em from the garbage can.

But now, oh, clinker, come with us, and in our humble hut abide, pick any room around the joint, and them will vacate what's inside.

And unto thee we'll sing a song, and unto thee we'll spin a rhyme, if you, oh, clinker, stick around and keep the frost from off our spine.

TODAY'S word is—DECALOGUE. It's pronounced —dek-a-log, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—the Ten Commandments, given by God to Moses (Exodus 20:1-18) on Mount Sinai.

It came from—two Greek words, meaning, respectively, "ten" and "speech, to speak, to say."

It's used like this—"Considering how many things there are to do that the Decalogue doesn't mention, it's surprising what a preference most people show for the acts this famous code prohibits."

Cheaper Power

DURING the war there were to be seen in Great Britain a number of motor wagons carrying enormous gas bags on the roof. These bags were filled with ordinary town gas, which was used as a source of power in place of petrol—then exceedingly scarce. The results were so far successful that experiments were made afterwards in the storing of town gas under pressure of cylinders, but apparently these experiments have not led to any very satisfactory result. At any rate the only substitute for petrol to which serious attention is now being given is suction gas, which is produced by drawing air and steam through heated fuel such as anthracite, coke, charcoal, wood refuse, brown coal or peat.

Petrol, benzol and alcohol fuels are still high enough in price to encourage suction gas development, and a leading British firm has put on the market a very well constructed three-ton lorry driven by suction gas. The steam for the suction gas produced is made in a separate generator heated by the exhaust gas from the engine. The producer itself forms part of the chassis and is neatly accommodated in a light steel box at the side of the driver's cab, where it is easily accessible for inspection. Its weight has been reduced to the lowest possible limit.

After being generated, the gas passes along a pipe to the scrubber, becoming cool on the way. The scrubber removes the tar, and the gas then passes direct to the engine, where it mixes with air and drives the engine in the usual way. Tests made with this three-ton lorry show that when using anthracite it ran at an average speed of 12 miles per hour at a working cost a little below one-third that of petrol. This vehicle is specially designed for use in countries where petrol is scarce, but where various types of solid fuel are available at a reasonable price.

GERM A PLANT—NO BUG

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

SK the average person what a germ is. If he attempts to answer at all he probably will say it's a little animal that will make you sick if he gets into your system.

Germs are not little animals. They are tiny plants, the smallest living things known. They are sometimes called bacteria, or microbes. You might have some idea of the size of a germ if you could take a grain of sand and split it into a million pieces. Of course, some germs are larger than others, but the largest cannot be seen without the aid of a powerful microscope.

Millions of germs can exist in a drop of water without even crowding.

NO. 295—SELECTING CALMNESS.

Calmness is a characteristic which may be regarded from several different angles. To some extent it is a natural characteristic; and again it is in greater or less degree the logical outgrowth of other conditions. The naturally calm or placid temperament is indicated by the rounded handwriting couples, in most cases, when the attribute is pronounced, by vertical or backward writing.

Calmness, however, is often in large measure the result of self-restraint, and in such cases you will note that the subject writes a small hand.

There is also a kind of calmness and assurance which comes from a feeling of self-reliance, the kind of calmness which marks the naturally capable person. In this case you will find that the person in question writes a vertical, angular hand.

And again you have the kind of calmness which is the result of nothing but a lazy disposition, and a mentality that is not geared to high speed. In such cases as these you will find that one of the signs of the calmness is the tendency of the person to dot the letter "i" to the left.

ASK PREMIER KING TO ATTEND IRISH PICNIC

More Attractions Being Added For Big Event at Port Stanley on August 17.

President E. S. Little of the Irish Benevolent Society has extended an invitation to Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, to attend the banquet of the society in the L. and P. S. Cafeteria at Port Stanley Thursday evening next, when the annual picnic is held, and there is a strong probability that the premier will be able to accept.

Today special committees of the I. B. S. have been canvassing the city for new members, it being the ambition of the officers to this year have the largest membership in the history of the organization. A membership ticket entitles the holder to a ticket for the banquet, badges, etc.

Secretary Coughlin has reported to President Little that every committee has practically completed its part of the arrangements for the Irish picnic, and that the greatest crowd ever seen at the port is to be expected if the weather is fine.

An added feature this year will be an Irish sing-song at the free movies at night. There the people will join with well-known vocalists in all the old-time Irish favorites, as well as a number of the latest and most popular Irish songs. Come down and hear them sing: "Come Back to Erin," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Dear Little

The Natural Wealth of Canada

Grain

THE Northwest was a barren waste only forty-odd years ago. Today, in a thousand-mile belt across the three prairie provinces, is one of the greatest grain-producing areas in the world. Everyone Is Welcome at Any of These Churches On the Sabbath Day

Rev. Burgess Avers Many Not Holding Fast to Profession of True Faith

Taking his text from Hebrews x. 20-24, Rev. A. Burgess, who recently became pastor of Egerton Street Baptist Church, delivered a well-reasoned sermon to his congregation on Sunday morning.

Approaching the subject from the idea of the "Threefold Exhortation," the speaker first took the words "Let us draw near with a true heart." The Christian life is full of difficulties that it is well for us to suffer the word of exhortation. The apostle at this time was calling upon the people to stand fast for the old-time religion that had stood the test. The same call should go forth to the Christian people of today.

There is no suffering in the idea of the word of exhortation, because it is not for tearing down, but rather for building up. It was what gave strength to the apostles and sustained martyrs in the Middle Ages when they died at the stake. Men asked their lives "to suffer the word of exhortation."

The pastor declared his belief that Hebrews had been written by Paul, and the message is just as binding now as it was at the time it was first penned.

Peter followed the Master afar off. Today there is a chance and a danger of the church doing this very thing. Unless we stand united for Christ, the devil will come in and separate our forces. Stand in the undimmed light of God; stand in the pure light of heaven; let men see that you are a member of

SCORES EXTREMES IN AMUSEMENT

Rev. John Richardson Believes Many Unreasonable in Pleasure Seeking.

Scoring the extremes to which many people go in search of amusement, Rev. John Richardson, B.A., informed his congregation at Chalmers Presbyterian Church Sunday morning that it is not the question of pleasure which is puzzling Christianity today, but "those amusements which are absurd or 'carried too far'."

Speaking on "Conscience and What Amusements Are Right," Mr. Richardson pronounced legitimate amusements as one of life's blessings, and he declared that those solemn-faced persons who never countenanced amusements at all were almost in the same category as those who worked pleasure to death.

Conscience too often fails to act as the guide in selecting amusements, according to the minister, who explained this statement on the ground that it suffers a paralysis of insensibility or may be perverted easily. He urged his congregation to put forth an effort to stem the aimless drifting of the world into the channels of pleasure, which, he asserted, were becoming excessive and unreasonable.

Pleasure Craze Excessive. "The craze for pleasure and the demand for amusement today is excessive, and sometimes unreasonable," said Mr. Richardson in explaining his topic. "Moreover it is resulting in many young people having no mental curiosity of any kind—literary, scientific or mechanical."

Continuing, Mr. Richardson deplored the fact that this craze is sapping the spiritual life of the churches, but qualified his statement by saying that he was not condemning amusement, nor branding it as an infringement of religion.

"The trouble today is the extremes to which we go," he explained, "and a question of real concern today is: 'Where is the old-fashioned, serious young person?'"

"Earnest, young-minded people are

Now Looks After Home, Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Meaford, Ontario—"I was so weak I could hardly do anything and my back seemed the worst. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound for women that I thought I would try it. I feel that it did help me for I am looking after my own home now and seem quite strong again. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to quite a few friends and you can use my name if you wish to do so."—Mrs. H. FORTER, Box 440, Meaford, Ont.

the kingdom, and that you have seen the heavenly vision. In this vision criticism is so ripe, we must draw nearer to Him. Christian means Christ, and if we are to spend our time criticizing Christ, then we have caught the wrong conception of the Master.

Then the words "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith." Many are not holding fast; they are letting things slip—they have lost their grip—many of them go back into the world. It is time Christian people got the idea that they have nothing to apologize for in their belief, and they should have such a firm hold on the teachings of Christ that the world cannot move us. John wrote to those who had lost their grip, "If we come and confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us."

Then again the words, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee."

Then, in the last place, let us consider one another. How often do we stop to consider the other fellow? Too many of us have the spirit that drives out happiness. Search down in the human heart for something worth trying to develop. Fully one-half of the misery in the world is caused by selfishness. Let us provoke each other to good works. The pastor made a strong plea that no person should make a failure of the Christian life—past mistakes should be stepping-stones. Seek to make your Christianity a workable thing, and point unsaved men to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.

Consumed by Dayies. "But in this summer of 1922 are not many happy-go-lucky, thoughtless, aimless, unconcentrated drifters infatuated with the good times of the passing days and consumed by current dayies?" asked Mr. Richardson. "As one writer said recently, 'The rule most favored by the youth of today is, enjoy today, and let everything later take care of itself. What's the use of living now or later if you cannot have fun?'"

"Men and women who choose pleasure wholly and forget duty and that the world is fraught with very serious purposes, are only a shell of manliness and scarcely the shadow of true womanhood," declared Mr. Richardson. "We can have pleasures, but we must be serious, too. With regard to popular amusements, it is impossible to lay down specific rules that will cover all cases."

"The principles of Jesus, if clearly understood and faithfully applied, will settle all doubtful and disputed questions of duty. In its own place, recreation is a necessary factor in a well-ordered life. Every man and woman should have some reserve, some outlet, some escape or relaxation from toil. Legitimate amusements constitute one of life's good blessings. But like every blessing, amusements are capable of abuse and are often abused."

See Nothing Serious. "There are people so solemn that they see absolutely no place in life for pleasure or recreation, and there are people so frivolous that they conceive in life nothing really serious. I do not wish to belong to either class."

Concluding his sermon, Mr. Richardson pointed out that the criterion of the rightness of amusement should be: "Do my amusements add to the wholeness of my life? Do my recreations restore elements of effective personality, which the grind of other things has been wearing away? Do our pleasures make new men and women of us, and do they reinforce our mental and physical energies and send us back with fresh zest to the strenuous business of life. Are my amusements such as leave me better fitted to serve my God? If the amusements are merely such as leave me better fitted to serve my God? If the amusements are merely of the pastime nature, while the precious hours, then they are wrong," reiterated Mr. Richardson.

WARNS AGAINST STATISTICAL LIFE

Rev. Denny Bright Says Christianity Means Overflowing Love of God.

That Christian life is not a mere matter of cold statistics, the number of services attended or the number of philanthropies enacted, but rather a question of a full and overflowing love of Christ, which embraces and produces all these things, was the point strongly emphasized in the sermon delivered at St. Paul's Cathedral by Rev. Denny Bright Sunday night.

Using, for example, the census of the city of London, which represents the city in black and white, a mere mass of figures, which makes no account of the aims and ideals of the citizens, or ambitions for the city's future, Mr. Bright compared the religious life which consists merely in attending services and perfunctory performance of good deeds with the real essence of Christianity, which is a love and friendship for all mankind, inspired by the example of Christ himself.

"Statistics," Mr. Bright declared, "consider the brain and its working, but take no thought of the great mysterious gift of thought, which is the all-important feature in connection with the brain. They know the construction of the heart and its functioning, but to the emotions they pay no regard. Analysts know an immense amount of detail concerning the body, but of that, without which the body is mere clay, the soul and life itself, they can tell us nothing."

"Making our religion a matter of statistics, something which may be measured in the terms of earth, is the one thing to be guarded against. Christianity must mean to us something which is boundless in its extent, and inspired by a full and overflowing love of God."

URGES PEOPLE TO OBSERVE SABBATH

Rev. R. B. Stevenson Preaches Inspiring Sermon at Hyatt Ave. Church.

The importance not only to the individual, but to the nation in Sunday observance was the theme of the morning sermon delivered at Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church yesterday by Rev. R. B. Stevenson, of the Lord's Day Alliance. During the course of his address the speaker referred to the work and methods of the organization with which he is associated.

Well of Refreshment. The speaker referred the Sabbath the great well of refreshment, the great central blessing of humanity. It was the day above all other days which gave an opportunity of praise and prayer to God.

A strong plea against the introduction into Canada of the continental Sunday was made by Mr. Stevenson. He placed the direct responsibility of the Great War on the loss by Germany of God and the Sabbath. He declared that one German generation, untaught in the ways of God, had brought that country down into the depths of hell in their striving for national greatness.

"If in ancient times they needed the great central spring of righteousness, surely in the rush of modern times we of today should glory in the Sabbath," declared the speaker.

Pointing to an honor roll of those who fell in the Great War, Mr. Stevenson declared that while that was a fine memorial of those who died for the principles of Jesus Christ, the greatest monument that could be set up to these men was the building up of a God-loving, God-fearing people.

Points Way to Peace. Sunday observance, the speaker declared pointed the way to peace. If nations would think peace and brotherhood as strenuously for 40 years as Germany had thought war for the same time, there was hope of world peace. It was not possible to say yet, however, that the last great war had been fought.

Failure to observe the Sabbath, Mr. Stevenson declared in closing, would mean the loss not only of the individual soul, but the soul of the nation.

At the conclusion of his sermon, Mr. Stevenson made a strong plea for assistance in the work which the alliance is doing to retain the strict observance of Sunday. He had enveloped passed amongst the congregation in which offerings to the cause might be made or pledges of support given.

SEES PRIDE AS VICE, AND SOURCE OF EVIL IN WORLD

Declaring that pride is a vice, and is the root and source of every evil, Rev. Weber admonished his hearers at St. Mary's Church Sunday morning to pray earnestly for the virtue of humility and to endeavor to practice that sterling virtue as much as possible in their daily lives.

Taking as his text, "Because everyone that exalteth himself shall be humbled, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted," the speaker cited the example of the publican and the Pharisee going to the temple to pray.

The Pharisee declaimed at some length, and in loud tones, the various reasons why he should be thankful for not being "like the rest of men."

He fasted three times a week, gave money to aid the poor, and besides did many other good deeds. On the other hand, however, the poor, sinful publican betook himself to the farthest corner of the temple, and striking his breast, murmured: "Oh Lord, have mercy upon me, a sinner."

"The Pharisees were reputed to be a proud people," said Father Weber, "while the publicans were emblematic of the lowest type of vice. They were extortioners, and oppressed the poor, yet the publican in the parable was a beautiful example of humility."

"The parable points out how much God loves the opposite of pride, the virtue of humility, for has not Our Divine Savior said: 'Everyone that exalteth himself shall be humbled, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.'"

"The innermost desire of the proud person is to make known to the world his own excellence. He desires to make himself esteemed by others, perhaps on account of his wealth, his beauty, or his wisdom."

"The first sin of pride resulted in millions of angels being cast out of Heaven, and it was for these fallen angels that Hell was created. And today, as always, pride is the root of every evil. Pride is soon followed by other sins; vainglory, boasting of one's own accomplishments. Then hypocrisy follows—pretending to be virtuous, when one is really wicked, and false ambition, a desire for power and glory, which is often striven after by dishonest means."

"Revenge, anger, self-conceit, insubordination, can all be traced to the sin of pride."

"Humility is knowing what we are, that we came from God, and that we owe everything and all our success in life to His divine goodness. Humility is the foundation of all virtues and of character."

"The humble person is conscious of his own excellence and good qualities, but unlike the Pharisee, attributes them to God. And even though our vices may be numerous, with the virtue of humility it is possible to redeem ourselves once more in the sight of God, even as the publican did in the Scriptures."

"God gives grace to the humble person and not to the proud, for has he not commanded us to be meek and humble of heart. Pride carries with it its own downfall, but the humble person is rewarded with many blessings."

SAYS BEST THINGS COME INDIRECTLY

Rev. T. A. Symington Claims Goodness Comes by Striving to Do God's Will.

"Many of the finest things of life come to us, not when we are aiming at them or seeking them, but as by-products," said Rev. T. A. Symington, preaching to the combined congregations of Wortley Road Baptist and Knox Presbyterian Churches in the latter church Sunday night.

"The wisdom of the world," said the minister, "says 'Choose your goal and go straight for it.' This is wisely said in most cases, but there are some outstanding exceptions."

"The road to some of the best things in life is indirect. Some things of worth are only reached when we aim at something else."

The minister then related several instances from history and literature to show that his contention proved true of health, beauty, happiness, influence and greatness.

"Above all, real goodness and knowledge of God comes indirectly to those who honestly face life and seek to do God's will."

"The man who makes it his aim to be a saint usually ends in being a self-righteous Pharisee."

"It is not really wise advice to say 'be good.' If you would have the world arrive at true saintliness and

"Some people worry themselves tremendously over the truth about God, about doctrine and dogma. They would do well to dwell upon the truth, 'He that doeth the will shall know the doctrine,' Carlyle said,

Urges Hearers to Spend More Time In Private Prayer With Almighty

At the union services held in the Horton Street Congregational Church last evening, Rev. M. Kelly took as his text I. Thess., 5:17: "Pray without ceasing."

In discussing the subject, Mr. Kelly pointed out that the apostle was not writing this for ministers or those who had the responsibility of conducting public religious services.

"Extended public prayer is certainly not what is in the apostle's mind, as he writes this verse," said the pastor. "He is not thinking of public prayer at all. He is thinking of private devotions. We learn the same lesson from the teaching of Jesus."

"That men are always to pray is clearly stated in Luke xviii:1; but in Matt. vi:7 we are told 'We shall not be heard for our much speaking.' The important truth seems to be that if we would follow our Lord's example in the greatest of all prayers, our public devotions should be conducted with a due regard to brevity; whereas our private devotions, when we are alone with God, may be extended as long as we please."

"To lengthen out our public and shorten up or private devotions is imitate the example of the heathen who lived in the days of

"Doubts of any sort cannot be removed except by action." "The temper of the true Christian life is surrender of self to Christ, Jesus said, 'He that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.'"

Jesus, and to whom he refers in the Sermon on the Mount.

"Is it possible to carry out St. Paul's injunction given in the text? Many people believe it is impossible. They say one has to use one's mind on so many things that it is not possible to concentrate continuously on God."

The pastor pointed out that one does not need to exclude every other subject from the mind if he would carry out the spirit of the text.

"There may be such a thing as unappropriated privileges in prayer. In the parable of the Prodigal Son, the elder brother complains of how little his father had given him, but in the next verse the father says, 'All that I have is thine.' There were good things at the disposal of the elder son that he had never appropriated. May this not be the case of multitudes of Christians with regard to prayer?"

"The thought of the apostle seems to be that religion is such a deep thing, that it touches man at depths nothing else will reach, and that while man has a multiplicity of interests that demand his attention, the redemptive relationships which connect the soul with God are not interrupted by the lighter concerns of life."

"God needs us as we need God. Our prayers satisfy the paternal yearning of God for fellowship with the beings that He made, and for us prayer clarifies the soul and enables us to realize a higher form of moral and spiritual life that would otherwise be possible for us."

In the afternoon Rev. Mr. Kelly conducted a service for the inmates of the Home for Incurables on Grand avenue.

Enter, the Sports Frock!

TWO SELF-TRIMMED STRIPED SPORTS-FROCKS WORN BY GLORIA SWANSON

ENTER the sports frock. We have had the sports suit for some seasons—and now the sports frock!

And just what is the sports frock? A dress of light material—summers, gay in coloring, and—tailored. A perfect example of all this is seen in the illustration above. It is a blue and white tailored crepe de chine model come straight from Paris to Gloria Swanson, the Paramount star, who wears it in her latest picture, "Her Gilded Cage."

This chic costume belongs to the chemise type of dress. It has five panels of self material, with the stripes running horizontally, and hanging, jabot-like, to the bottom of the skirt.

A pair of panels is on each side. The fifth panel, longer than the others, runs clear down the front, starting almost at the neckline. The sleeves are short, and set in; they have a new and attractive note in the fact that they are slit on the underside—the slit running from the lowest point of the arm hole out to the edge of the sleeve. A narrow band of self material forms a belt, and finishes the line of the neck.

Miss Swanson wears a very smart hat, also from Paris, with this costume. It is of tailored blue and white organdy. Tailored organdy is the drier cri in the millinery world.

Another sports costume is shown in the sketch at the right. It is of striped silk and is trimmed with looped panels. An organdy hat is likewise worn with this frock, and it has a large velvet rosette of black as trimming. A touch of velvet on the mid-summer hat is very popular.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

Corn was down and butter was up. See any connection? Notice the way butter has vanished the past few weeks? Of course, you have been wondering if that very superior butter you always insist upon getting would hold out till regular Saturday butter day.

Wonderful the way the delicious corn on the cob does run away with the butter!

Corn was selling Saturday, either at the grocery store or on the week-end market at 20 cents a dozen cobs, white sweet corn and Golden Bantams. Some were even asking 42 cents a pound for butter, 2 cents more than the highest price for some weeks past.

Is the old Convent Garden Market aesthetic and taking to sacrificing steak for hyacinths?

"Have you any potatoes?" Aunt Maria asked of a starry-eyed young woman, who was staring among baskets of red gold plums and masses of flowers.

"No," she said sweetly, "but I can sell you gladioli or asters," and she pointed to the clusters of gay blossoms, 16 cents a bunch for asters, three for 25, and gladioli at 25 cents a dozen.

Everywhere there were flowers, vivid gladioli, sold by school boys for 20 cents a dozen, heavy-headed, green, waxy white and gold water lilies, Shasta daisies, flowers for numerous to name, even if the names were known. But the spuds were few and far between at $1 a bushel, and very difficult to get delivered. Market gardeners and farmers went north, south, east and west, every way but the direction they are limited to the strength and carrying capacity, even of the most confirmed marketeer.

Japanese plums had given place to Burbanks. A country home-maker in the basement offered an overflowing peck measure of the plums for 25 cents.

"I'd want to keep them in the measure just to look at," said a woman passing, as she pointed to the pleasing color effect of the ruddy plums, shot with faint green and deep gold, as they nestled in the shiny black container.

Outdoors, similar plums were sold at 35 and 40 cents a six-quart basket. One gardener asked 75 cents for eleven quart baskets, amongst these yellow plums and hazy blue, as well as the Burbanks.

"Are those Damson plums?" a woman with a huge shopping bag wanted to know, indicating the blue plums.

"Call 'em anything you like," he answered carelessly. "They have told me the names of those plums, but I always forget it."

Scurry for Egg Plant.

Shiny egg plant, a whole load of it, at 15 cents, two for a quarter, and 20 cents, two for 35, brought the marketeers scurrying who appreciate its possibilities. "I know how it should taste," said a novice at housekeeping, who was among the customers, "but I am not sure how to prepare it."

Another customer very obligingly related her own method. "I peel it, slice it, and parboil it," she said, "and when the slices are almost cooked I dip them in egg and bread-crumbs, and fry them in deep fat. It is delicious. Tastes just like mushrooms."

Very fresh, green and spring-like cabbages, good solid ones, too, were generous in proportions for the same price, though a more usual one asked was $1.25.

One auctioneer had an exceptionally large audience of women Saturday. The reason was hats, respectable looking hats, really quite smart and wearable hats, and well worth double the money for the material.

A debutant auctioneer with a button-hole bouquet held high a couple of hats, managing an expression of deep admiration.

"Ladies," he said, "think of it, hats to do you every season in the year, a pair of them, one made of felt or velvet, and the other setting, no (triumphantly), chiffon, that's it, chiffon. Do you for any occasion. How much am I bid?"

He struck attitudes, he talked glibly of styles and trimmings, but all he could extort from the closest mob was 15 cents for the two. And it was a man at that who bought them. Wouldn't he just have something worth while to take home Saturday afternoon?

The auctioneer next chose from his varied assortment of goods a dark box with a hinged lid, perhaps eighteen inches square.

"Hat box," he said enthusiastically. "Look at it, neat, well made, practical. Very thing to keep your hats in, and (sizing up his audience), you don't want to keep your hats in it, why it would be good to keep anything in. The very thing for bread, cakes and pies!"

Dear Miss Grey,—I haven't written to you for a long time. I read in August 2 paper that Geranium has offered double pet-unias. I would like to get a slip or two of each, pink and white, purple and white, also all white.

I wonder if any of the Boxites have double hollyhocks to spare, either seeds or roots. If seeds, they can be planted this fall and get a good start, then they flower next year; and can any one supply me with a peppermint Geranium slip. I don't mean the sweet scented kind. I will pay postage on all favors. Please find inclosed a self-addressed envelope for Geraniums. Address also Dixie No. 2, as I have a girl her age. Am sending mite for S. C. H. Must close now.

KING'S DAUGHTER

Geranium's address is already on the way to you, King's Daughter, and I sincerely hope that she will send you the slips you are asking for. We have a great number of flower lovers in the Mail-box, haven't we? I am also forwarding Dixie No. 2's recently I saw a low bowl filled with rose colored double holly-hocks, used for table decorations, which were very effective, at first I did not recognize the old-fashioned flower.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Who has shot and killed the never-do-well ROBERT ABLETT, within two minutes after his arrival at The Red House, the country estate of his wealthy bachelor brother, MARK ABLETT? Robert's body was on the floor of the locked office, Mark was missing and, in the opinion of Inspector Birch, it was clear that Robert's return from Australia with annoyance, had shot him and disappeared.

But there were mysterious circumstances. The shot was fired a few moments before ANTONY GILLINGHAM, gentleman adventurer and friend of BILL BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, had entered the hall where he found

MATT CAYLEY, Mark's constant companion, pounding on the door and demanding admittance. The two men enter the room through a window and find the body. Antony and Bill continue investigations and become convinced that Cayley knows something about the crime. They discover a secret passage leading from The Red House to the bowling green and then Antony questions the maid, Elsie, who overheard Mark speaking to Robert in the office.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"It was you who heard Mr. Mark yesterday, wasn't it?" Antony asked the maid.

"Yes, sir."

"It's my turn now. You wait," murmured Antony to himself.

"Yes, sir. Nasty-like. Meaning to say his chance had come."

"I wonder."

"Well, that's what I heard, sir. Truly."

Antony looked at her thoughtfully and nodded.

"Yes, I wonder. I wonder why."

"Why what, sir? Meaning to say his chance had come?"

"Oh, lots of things, Elsie."

He had found his pipe and went downstairs again.

Antony was glad to have spoken to her, because he had recognized at once the immense importance of her evidence. To the inspector no doubt it had seemed only of importance in that it had shown Mark to have adopted something of a threatening attitude toward his brother. To Antony it had much more significance. It was the only trustworthy evidence that Mark had been in the office at all that afternoon.

For who saw Mark go into the office? Only Cayley. And if Cayley had been hiding the truth about the keys, why should he not be hiding the truth about Mark's entry into the office? Obviously all Cayley's evidence went for nothing. Some of it no doubt was true; but he was giving it, both truth and falsehood, with a purpose. What the purpose was Antony did not know as yet; to shield Mark, to shield himself, even to betray Mark—it might be any of these.

Elsie's evidence, however, seemed to settle the point. Mark had gone into the office to see his brother; Elsie had heard them both talking; and then Antony and Cayley had found the body of Robert. . . . and the inspector was going to drag the pond.

But certainly Elsie's evidence did not prove anything more than the mere presence of Mark in the room. "It's my turn now; you wait." That was not an immediate threat; it was a threat for the future. If Mark had shot his brother immediately afterward it must have been an accident, the result of a struggle, say, provoked by that "nasty-like" tone of voice. Nobody would say "You wait, and see what's going to happen to you later on."

The conversation Elsie had overheard couldn't have meant murder. Anyway not murder of Robert by Mark.

"It's a funny business," thought Antony. "The one obvious solution is so easy and yet so wrong."

He found Bill in the hall and proposed a stroll. Bill was only too ready.

"Where do you want to go?" he asked.

"I don't mind much. Show me the park."

"Righto."

They walked out together.

"Watson, old man," said Antony, as soon as they were away from the house, "you really mustn't talk so loudly indoors. There was a gentleman outside, just behind you, all the time."

"Oh, I say," said Bill, going pink. "I'm awfully sorry. So that's why you were talking such rot."

"Partly, yes. And partly because I do feel rather bright this morning. We're going to have a busy day."

"Are we really? What are we going to do?"

"They're going to drag the pond—beg its pardon, the lake."

"We're on the way to it now, if you'd like to see it. What are they dragging it for?"

"Mark."

"Oh, rot," said Bill uneasily. He was silent for a little, and then, eagerly, "I say, when are we going to look for that passage?"

"We can't do very much while Cayley's in the house."

"What about this afternoon when they're dragging the pond? He's sure to be there."

"Antony shook his head.

"There's something I must do this afternoon," he said. "Of course, we might have time for both."

"Has Cayley got to be out of the house for the other thing too?"

"Well, I think he ought to be."

"I say, is it anything rather exciting?"

"I don't know. It might be rather interesting. I dare say I could do it at some other time, but I rather fancy it at 3 o'clock, somehow. I've been specially keeping it back for then."

They had come to the pond. Mark's lake—and they walked steadily round it. When they had made

Fall Dresses Show New Colors

THESE are the colors you'll wear in your new fall frocks: Toast and nut brown as well as several wood tones. Flax and royal are the two most fashionable blues.

Green is the newest color and will be popular, especially in almond, which is a grayer shade. Bright emerald and light empire are two other shades well spoken of.

Rosewood and bright red will also be used by way of contrast. Day-time dresses of all kinds will, of course, be of staple colors—tan, black, silver, navy, brown and navy.

The tailored model sketched is of navy pique twill and shows the dignified, simple lines that are expected to predominate this autumn.

mean breaking open the box, and letting Cayley know that we've done it."

"THERE'S one thing, which we have got to realize at once," said Antony, "and that is that if we don't find it easily, we sha'n't find it at all."

"You mean that we sha'n't have time?"

"Neither time nor opportunity. Which is rather a consoling thought to a lady person like me."

"You can wash out the kitchen and all that part of the house," said Bill, after some thought. "We can't go there."

"No. What we want to consider is which is the most likely place of the few places in which we can look safely. The library for choice."

Bill got up eagerly. "Let's try the library. If Cayley comes in, we can always pretend we're choosing a book."

Antony got up slowly, took his arm and walked back to the house with him.

The library was worth going into, passages or no passages. Antony could never resist another person's bookshelves. As soon as he went into the room, he found himself wandering round it to see what books the owner read, or (more likely) did not read, but kept for the air which they lent to the house. Mark had prided himself on his library. It was a mixed collection of books. Old editions, new editions, expensive books, cheap books—a library in which everybody, whatever his taste, could be sure of finding something to suit him.

"And which is your particular fancy, Bill?" said Antony, looking from one shelf to another. "Or are you always playing billiards?"

"I have a look at 'Badminton' sometimes," said Bill. "It's over in that corner there." He waved a

"HE'S GOT SUCH A FRIGHTFUL LOT, HASN'T HE?"

which she could do it, and she wormed the secret out of him somehow.

"But this was two or three days before Robert turned up."

"Exactly. I am not suggesting that there was anything sinister about the passage in the first place. It was just a little private bit of romance and adventure for Mark three days ago. He didn't even know that Robert was coming. But somehow the passage has been used since, in connection with Robert. Perhaps Mark escaped that way; perhaps he's hiding there now. And if so, then the only person who could give him away was Miss Norris. And she of course would only do it innocently—not knowing that the passage had anything to do with it."

"So it was safer to have her out of the way?"

"Yes."

"But, look here, Tony, why do you want to bother about this end of it? We can always get in at the bowling-green end."

"I know, but if we do that we shall have to do it openly. It will

BEEES, GIANT AND ELEPHANT FAIL TO SCARE TWINS

(By Olive Roberts Barten.)

And what did he do but change into a pink elephant and charge at them.

THE next place the Twins came to was the Tinky-Winkle Star was a giant's house.

"Boo!" yelled the giant out of the window.

"Boo yourself!" answered Nick. "We're not afraid of you. We're not afraid of anything."

"I'll bet you are," answered the giant. "Just you wait."

Pretty soon he reappeared in the doorway. And what did he do but change into a pink elephant and rush at them!

But Nancy and Nick bravely stood their ground. Even when the pink elephant took his trunk and lifted them on his back, they weren't afraid.

"Oh, shucks!" said the elephant. "Aren't you afraid of anything?"

"Only bees!" answered Nancy. "Ah, ha! I thought there was something!" cried the elephant, and then he disappeared so suddenly that the Twins lit on the ground with a thump. And hand.

"Over here!" said Antony, going to it.

"Yes." He corrected himself suddenly. "Oh, no, it's not. Mark had a grand re-arrangement of his library about a year ago. It took him more than a week, he told us. He's got such a frightful lot, hasn't he?"

"Now that's very interesting," said Antony, and he sat down and filled his pipe again.

There was indeed a "frightful lot" of books. The four walls of the library were plastered with them from floor to ceiling, save only where the door and the two windows insisted on living their own life, even though an illiterate one. To Bill it seemed the most hopeless room of any in which to look for a secret opening.

Scalloped Fresh Tomatoes

THERE are certain meats which seem to need always a vegetable like tomato, and fish is especially good in combination with tomatoes, cooked or raw.

Scalloped tomatoes, like scalloped oysters, may be good, or equally poor, due to a careless use of the bread crumbs and too little seasoning. The following recipe is good:

6 tomatoes peeled and cut into thin slices 3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup fine bread crumbs (soft stale bread is better than the over-dry) 3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
1 tablespoon sugar 1 tablespoon salt
A little pepper

Fry the onion in the butter or bacon fat for five minutes, but do not let it brown. Add crumbs and mix until crumbs are well coated with fat.

In a buttered baking dish place a layer of tomatoes, sprinkle with sugar, salt and pepper. Cover with crumbs and repeat until material is used, having crumbs on top.

Bake twenty minutes.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

GETTING oscillations out of a vacuum tube is one of the mysteries of radio which is forever puzzling the amateurs.

Yet it is easily explained. Any phenomenon which recurs regularly is described as being oscillatory in character. The pendulum of a clock oscillates.

It is necessary to apply energy to start this oscillation. This energy is applied by the hand and stored in the spring, from which sufficient force is released once during each swing of the pendulum to keep it in motion.

Figure 1 shows how an electrical pendulum may be set in motion and kept swinging.

The only apparatus needed for the experiment is the desk telephone, and this need not be taken apart.

Lift the receiver from the hook, and quickly place it directly in front of the transmitter. Speed of action is suggested in order that the experiment may be completed before Central comes in on the line.

Next tap the transmitter. In tapping this you have pushed the pendulum with the hand. In so doing you have caused some energy from the battery (spring).

This energy causes the receiver to emit a sound wave. This passes into the mouthpiece of the receiver and administers a second tap. The system is then in oscillation, and will continue so until the battery runs down. The rate of oscillation will be evidenced by the high-pitched and very loud squeal which the instrument will emit.

In the vacuum tube circuit of Figure 2 the combination of the filament and plate of the lamp may be likened to the transmitter of Figure 1, and the grid to the receiver.

Radio Circuit.

If the currents flowing in the plate circuit are disturbed, the disturbance will be repeated into the grid circuit.

THE "ELECTRICAL PENDULUM."

The grid will receive a charge and again disturb the current flow in the plate circuit, for any charge which the grid receives affects the flow of the current through the vacuum between the filament and the plate.

Electrons are thrown off the filament and attracted to the plate. Each carries a small quantity of electricity. A negative charge upon the grid will prevent these electrons from ever reaching the plate. The negative charge drives them back into the filament. Thus the charges on the grid received from the plate.

AN OSCILLATION CIRCUIT. Tubes arranged in this way may be caused to generate several kilo-watts of energy at very high frequencies. The oscillations may occur as rapidly as 3,000,000 times a second.

RADIO PRIMER.

WAVE METER.—An instrument which measures the frequency at which a radio circuit should be in resonance. It consists essentially of a series circuit, which includes an inductance and a capacity, both of which are of known values.

8,000 Fans See Calgary Beat Ulster For the Dominion Soccer Title

WIN ON 2-1 SCORE OF FIRST GAME

Two Ulster Players Suffer Fractured Legs.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Calgary Hillhursts carry back the Dominion soccer title as a result of holding Ulster United to a scoreless draw here Saturday afternoon in the final game of the series, having won the first 2 to 1.

Hunt and King, Ulster players, had their legs fractured early in the game, and this weakened the Redheanders considerably.

Eight thousand people saw the teams take to the field and Ulster take most of the play in the first half. The heat slowed up the play considerably.

Ulster continued to press in the second half, and P. Lavery having made a good opening for King, the latter was about to shoot on an open net when checked by Foster. Both fell to the ground, and medical examination proved King's leg fractured.

The game grew rough, and Ulster, despite two men short, made a determined effort to gain points by changing their whole team up forward. The Laverys, for Ulster, led the van of their attack.

The line-ups:

Calgary Hillhursts—Wilson, Foster, Stephens, Astin, Mitchell, Scott, Duce, Gough, Wakely, Cartwright, Wright.

Ulster—United—McDonald, Hunt, Johnson, Dierden, St. Andrews, Martin, Sims, McAvoy, R. Lavery, P. Lavery, King.

Referee—W. A. G. Adams.

Linesmen—Garnett and Gray, all of Hamilton.

Little DRIBBLES

The G. T. R. were handicapped by the absence of some of their star players on Saturday, but managed to have a fair share of the game. St. Johns scored twice in the first half, while the G. T. R. scored once in the second half both teams scored, and the result was in favor of the Rovers. Robertson, Marr and the only score made by the Grand Trunks was through a penalty taken by Hazelwood.

The return game in this league is expected to be a good one, and will be played at Carling Heights on Monday, Aug. 14, with kick-off at 6:15 p.m.

The G. T. R. Seniors will play three games next week. Monday night they play St. Thomas league game with St. John's Rovers. Wednesday, a City League game with the R. C. R. and on Saturday they will play an exhibition game with St. Andrews for the benefit of M. W. Parker, who recently resigned as manager of the G. T. R. team owing to ill-health. St. Andrews team has generously offered to play this game, which will be a good attraction for all soccer fans. The kick-off will be at 8:30, instead of 8:20, as stated on tickets already circulated.

The Army and Navy will hold a meeting tonight at the usual time and place. The business to be transacted is very important and every player is urged to be on hand.

Danforth Explains His Delivery Before He Goes To Bushes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13.—Bidding the fans of this city farewell, Dave Danforth, pitcher of the local Americans, upon whom the management had obtained waivers, last night explained how he delivered the ball, which had frequently given cause for the charge that the former American Association star was "doctoring" the ball.

In explanation of his method of holding the ball, Danforth asserted he, unlike other pitchers, would run the ball with his bare hand on the side and would, in delivering the ball, hold the side which he had rubbed to the front. He denied, however, that he ever used any foreign substance to load the seams or roughen the ball, and would, "I cannot change the situation, but I want the public to know that I am not guilty of any illegal style of delivery," said Danforth.

Feigert Does Iron-Man Stunt For Flint.

PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 13.—Raiph Judd and Jack Glasier pitched the Saints to a double victory over the Flint Vehts today, 2 to 1 and 2 to 0. Lefty Feigert pitched and lost both games for Flint.

Over 2,000 people were in the park in honor of Judd Day, and the Rochester star won his 16th game of the season in the fifth inning, when the usually reliable Harry Brown, who had been hit in the chest, muffed an easy fly.

Two runs followed the misplay. In the second game, Lefty Feigert lost his second game of the day when he allowed the Saints to bunch hits in the fifth and sixth innings for the only runs of the game.

Glasier won his own battle with a timely single in the fifth. The Vehts hammered out only one hit off Feigert, but coming in the fourth inning. The scores:

RANGERS BEAT OWEN SOUND

Carry 2-Goal Lead to North in W. F. A. Finals.

KITCHENER, Aug. 13.—Kitchener Rangers carry a two-goal lead to Owen Sound Saturday for the final game in the intermediate W. F. A. series, they having beaten the Owen Sound aggregation here last night 2 to 0. It was a fast, clean game with the locals having the best of the argument, particularly in the first half, and only the poor shooting of the Kitchener forwards saved the visitors from a real trimming.

In the second half the Owen Sound team played much better, but even at that the Kitchener team had an edge in the play. Over 1,300 people saw the contest, but it was not so exciting as some other games witnessed here this year. It was the largest soccer crowd in many years here. Nine minutes after play had commenced Barnes centered, and a scorable Kitchener shot, and Mason netted the rebound. Two minutes had elapsed of the second half before the Rangers again tallied. Then Landronid the trick on a free kick, giving the visiting goalers no chance to save. It was the great game in Owen Sound. The teams:

PUZZLED OVER CHITICK'S CASE

Magistrate Graydon in Quindary As to Who Would Fill Job.

Declares Raney Order Did Not Specify Particular Person.

The Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general for Ontario, has "suggested" to Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon that he withdraw any authority that he may have conferred upon any justices of the peace throughout the county of Middlesex.

Explaining Monday morning that he had received a communication to this effect, Police Magistrate Graydon declared "I am giving the matter my earnest consideration."

The magistrate declined to state definitely whether he would, or would not, immediately, if ever, withdraw such authority as had been conferred upon Squire W. H. Chitick, following the recent demand emanating from Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for London, who submitted the issue last week before the attorney-general.

Magistrate Graydon admitted that at this moment he is frankly puzzled as to what action to pursue. He does not know, he explains, who he can place in Squire Chitick's position, in the event that the latter was removed. "If I assume these duties myself, I am leaving myself open to the same criticism and abuse that is now directed at him," he comments, in a more or less jocular attitude.

He explained further that Attorney-General Raney in his dispatch did not specify Squire Chitick or anyone else as the person to whom the commission was referred to, he states.

TOWN TOPICS.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye.—Psalm xxxiii:8.

WE need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by lowly listening we shall hear the right word.—R. W. Emerson.

MEMBERS OF THE Town Planning Commission will hold a regular meeting in the city hall on Tuesday at 4 p.m.

D. MCCALLUM HAS TAKEN OUT a building permit to erect a 1 1/2-story brick-garage dwelling on Public Lot 20, at an estimated cost of $2,200. Building permits issued this month number 44, and the total cost of the work involved is $59,915.

WHILE alighting from a Ridout street car at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets Saturday evening last Miss Mary Webb, of Ridout street south, fell to the pavement sustaining a broken hip. She was removed immediately to her home and attended by Dr. W. A. Thomson. She is reported to be resting as comfortably as would be expected under the circumstances.

THERE ARE NO bicycles, motorcycles or old automobiles for sale at the Dundas street garage. This was the emphatic declaration by police officials Monday morning, who explained that during the past few days there has been a steady stream of prospective customers and claimants for lost wheels, attracted by a notice that the police had certain of these articles that would be sold.

PENDING RECEIPT of advice from J. E. Ellis, recently appointed fuel controller for Ontario, Mayor J. C. Wilson informed The Advertiser Monday that no action will be taken on ordering 10,000 tons of Welsh anthracite coal, as authorized by the city council at its last meeting. "I am waiting for advice from Mr. Ellis," said the mayor, "and as soon as he deems it advisable the coal will be ordered from Wales for London homes this winter."

THE ANNUAL GLADIOLI and Flower Show of the London Horticultural Society, to be held at Hyman Hall Thursday and Friday of this week, promises to be the largest ever held, as entries up to date are far larger than in former years and more are coming in daily. Three beautiful cups are being awarded for gladioli seedlings, besides the ribbons for other classes. W. E. Saunders is president of the society and W. McCaughy is chairman of the show committee.

DEFINITE ASSURANCE THAT there will be no general election to the legislative assembly this year was given Monday by Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for London, who attended the government caucus at Toronto last Friday. "When a man gives me his assurance on his word of honor, I accept it," stated Dr. Stevenson. Premier Drury assured me on his word of honor that there will be no provincial election this year. That is all there is to it, and I in turn give you my word of honor that there will be no election until 1923. Why should there be, as the government's term is not up until then?"

It would seem strange if statesmen with such brilliant prospects as those of Mr. Stevenson and Sir Robert Horne were willing to thus sacrifice their political careers, but Sir Robert's friends suggest that his real ambitions are judicial, not political. Premier Lloyd George, however, will probably do his best to retain the services of so capable a colleague.

Right Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, is mentioned as likely to be the next chancellor of the exchequer, should Sir Robert Horne go. In the meantime there are signs that the Tory element in the coalition is anxious to obtain more posts in the ministry. The Sunday Times, which has friendly connections with the premier, hints that if his pressure continues Lloyd George himself may resign.

Highway was remanded until Wednesday morning next, pending his father's return to the city, and a full report as to the condition of G. Shaw-Wood, another youth and a companion of the accused, who was accidentally shot, the police state, when the weapon was discharged.

Shaw-Wood's escape from a more serious wound or possible death is considered remarkable. As it is, however, a bullet, it is reported, struck him in the side, the face just penetrating the skin but missing the bone or other vital spot.

"This is a serious thing," Magistrate Graydon declared. "You say it is an accident, but you might have killed your companion. There is no earthly excuse for this carelessness. The other boy might have been a corpse this morning, and you would then be here facing a charge of manslaughter."

The defendant related that his companion had expressed a desire to see the sun, and to accede to this request he had taken it over to his place.

Inspector of Police Lucas explained that when a telephone message had reached the police department an officer was dispatched to the scene of the shooting, following which Highway came to the police station very apt to participate in the case.

The latter's father is expected to return to the city Monday night from Warton.

AUGUST 14. The governing sign of this date is Leo, the Lion, and the governing planet is the Sun. This is the only sign in the Zodiac to be under the governing of the Sun, and this accounts for the passion and impulsiveness of these people. The stone is a diamond and should be worn always to insure good health and good luck.

Without a strong hand and proper education, children of this date are liable to become the victims of many evils and evils which lead to untimely ends. A great responsibility rests upon the parents of these infants, and they must exercise their influence with care and tenderness.

The selfishness of this sign must be overcome in these children while they are young, before there can be any true progress. These people should overcome their own faults and weaknesses, and in this way learn charity for others.

1,000 LEAVE TO HARVEST GRAIN EGGS PLENTIFUL ON CITY MARKET

Western Ontario Farm Laborers Depart for Prairies Monday.

Latest Colonist Cars Insure More Comfortable Accommodation.

Numbering more than 1,000 strong, the first contribution of farm laborers from London and the surrounding district to the harvest fields of the prairie provinces left from various points of Western Ontario on Grand Trunk trains Monday morning for Toronto.

Practically all the eastbound trains leaving the city Monday had extra coaches to handle the crowds. More than 500 passed through London on the following trains, the boat train leaving shortly after 12 o'clock, No. 6 leaving at 12:15, No. 12 leaving at 10:35 and on No. 18, seven coaches were needed to carry the laborers eastward.

It is said that this year those making the trip west will have a far more comfortable journey than in previous years. Colonist cars of the latest design have been put into the services with special cars for women. The latest colonist coaches have comfortable berths, one of the latest improvements.

The special trains also have restaurant cars for the entire journey. On arrival at Winnipeg the trains will be met by booking agencies, where those who have not already secured positions will be made sure of work before proceeding farther. In order to take advantage of the special harvest rates from Winnipeg westward, the laborers must have a certificate stating where, and for whom they are going to work.

At the city market, the demand was good for six loads of hay, and the prevailing prices were $12 @ $13, although one load brought $14. Dressed hogs were steady at $17 @ $18 per cwt.

DEATH TOLL IN TRAIN WRECK 10

40 Hurt in Minnesota When Passenger Coaches Plow Into Freight Engine.

Truck Hurlled Against Switch Stand Opens Siding For Second Crash.

ANNANDALE, Minn., Aug. 13.—Ten persons dead and more than two score injured was the toll of the wreck on the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad here late yesterday, when a westbound passenger train crashed into a truck and then plowed into a freight train standing on a side track.

The wreck occurred when Fred Lamar, driver of the truck, failed to heed warnings of members of the freight crew and drove on to the track in front of the passenger train.
The truck was hit squarely and hurlled against the freight engine on a side track. A switch stand was knocked down and three coaches of the passenger train swung over to the siding into the freight train. The baggage car crashed over the overturned freight engine. Several other passenger cars were derailed.

Most of the dead and injured were in the smoker, which reared up into the air and toppled over. Part of the wreckage caught fire, but the blaze was soon extinguished.

Homes in the neighborhood were opened and the most seriously injured were taken there.

According to a telegram, there was no inquest. Lamar and a man who asked him for a ride were killed instantly. Eric Wallace, engineer of the freight train, was scalded so severely that he died.

Emil Myllangie, 14, of Annandale, was caught under the wreckage of the smoking car. Both his legs were crushed and he died today.

Wrecking crews working were still working on one overturned coach, but railroad officials did not believe any additional bodies would be found.
They stated.

CLAIMS UNEMPLOYMENT VERY ACUTE IN ENGLAND

Sir Barton Chadwick Surprised at Industrial Activity in Canada.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—"It was an eye-opener to an Englishman to see in a Montreal paper yesterday an advertisement calling for labor stating that there is employment for everyone," remarked Sir Barton Chadwick, who is here representing British coal interests, in an interview this morning.

It is such a striking contrast to conditions in England at the present time. Our employment problem over there is very serious. There are signs of improvement apparent, however, and I believe that the crisis through which England is passing will do the country good. I feel that the country will yet come out on a pinch of fame and prestige it has never known before.

French Expel Fifteen Hundred Germans From Alsace-Lorraine

STRASBOURG, Aug. 12.—The expulsion from Alsace-Lorraine of 1,500 Germans, including the wives and children of the married men, began today, in compliance with the order issued yesterday by the commissary general.
The married men were each allowed to take sixty-five pounds of baggage and 10,000 marks, and single men were allowed one-half of this sum.
The list of 500 Germans who were served with expulsion notices yesterday comprises persons known to have been outspoken in their anti-French attitude, agitators and other "undesirables," it was announced today. They have been permitted to dispose of their property or transfer it to other persons.
Simultaneously, the sequestration of the accounts of Germans in Alsace-Lorraine banks went into effect today.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 13.—One million dollars damages is fore Justice Henry V. Borst in September term here today.

FINDS FEW LISTED REALLY NEED AID

Dr. Hastings Investigates 200
Cases of Distress Reported by "General" Riley.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—When "General" Riley, chief of the hikers' army, publicly charged that there were a great many men in need of relief who could not secure it, the city authorities demanded that he produce their names. Each of the cases turned in, 200 in all, has been carefully investigated by the public welfare department under Dr. C. J. O. Hastings, with remarkable results.

Dr. Hastings reports that out of the whole 200, only 4 were in need of assistance of relief. In numerous cases the addresses on the list were found not to exist. In several cases the persons whose names were on the list were very indignant when the public welfare workers called and asked if they were in need of help.
They stated emphatically that they were not.

Some of the persons whose names were on the list said they had written them after being told it was a petition supporting the cause of the hikers.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY TAKES OWN LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Body of Malcolm Reid Discovered Lying Under Barn By His Father.

EAST MADISON, Me., Aug. 13.—
Fear that he had injured his younger brother, whom he had hit with a wrench, caused Malcolm Reid, 11 years old, to commit suicide here yesterday. The body of the boy was found under a barn near his home
by his father, Ruel Reid, shortly after a shot was heard by the boy's mother.
Investigation showed that the boy had taken a 12-gauge shotgun from the house and a stove scraper.
Crawling under the barn, he placed the muzzle of the gun to his head, and pushing the trigger with one end of the scraper, blew the top of his head off.

SOVIET CHURCH REMOVES MARRIAGE RESTRICTIONS

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—All restrictions of marriage for bishops and clergymen have been removed by the "Livare working to have the new church take the place of the old orthodox church. Among the "red clergy" and the clergy of the new church are called, the Orthodox Church is referred to as the "red church."

Regarding monks, the congress decided that the higher monks may disregard their vows and marry, still retaining their positions.

WILL OPPOSE ACTION OF TOWN PLANNING BOARD

HAMILTON, Aug. 13.—Hamilton will oppose legislation being requested by the town-planning board,
which, according to Mayor Coppley, will give them the power of an independent board.

His worship is strongly opposed to such independence, and claims that the body will then dictate to the city in matter of improvements and not suggest them. Under the present scheme the planners would have greater power than the city council, and would undertake work regardless of the wishes of the electors, according to the mayor.

PRODUCERS VOTE TO STOP OIL-DRILLING OPERATIONS

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 13.—Approx-venting further declines in the price

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 13.—Fifteen locomotives of the Maine Central, Boston

The damage is estimated at $1,000,000. The police suspected incendiaries.
Just before the fire was discovered by guards, two explosions were heard. No one was injured.

DUBLIN MOURNS LEADER'S DEATH

Thousands Follow As Body of Arthur Griffith Placed in State.

President of Dail Dies Suddenly At Home From Influenza.

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—A great crowd followed the cortege which today conveyed the body of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, to the city hall, where it will lie in state under a guard of Free State troopers. The funeral is expected to take place next Wednesday.

DIES SUDDENLY.

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—Dublin was shocked early yesterday to learn of the sudden death of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, and everywhere it was announced as a tragic and wholly unexpected event in troubled Ireland.

Death came at a nursing home, apparently from a heart attack following an operation a few days ago for tonsillitis. Few people in Dublin even knew that the ardent worker for the Free State cause had been ill.
Immediately signs of mourning were displayed; flags were set at half-mast on buildings and ships in the harbor.

The first question on all sides was what effect the death of the leader would have on the solution of the problems before the provisional government. His colleague, Michael Collins, recently has devoted his attention most entirely to the military operations against the irregulars, while the country looked to Mr. Griffith to manage the civil affairs until the rebellion was suppressed.

Held No Portfolio.
Though president of the Dail Eireann, Mr. Griffith held no ministerial portfolio. William Cosgrove, minister of local government, acted as head of the Irish executive during
Mr. Griffith's illness.

His president's assistants were astounded by the news of his death.
Not one of them was prepared to discuss its effect. All agreed that Ireland has sustained a great loss.

Numerous expressions of sympathy have been received by Mrs. Griffith, among them one from King George.
After tendering his sympathy, the message of King George added:

"In spite of his untimely death I pray that Ireland may soon receive the peace for which he labored."
The Irish government has issued a statement expressing its firm determination to carry on the life work of Mr. Griffith, to the "achievement which he so nearly reached." Contrary to previous statement, the theatres will not close, the opening of the horse show will not be delayed and the Leopoldstown race meetings will begin tomorrow.

Appeared Well.
Mr. Cosgrove said today it was the distinct wish of the government that nothing be allowed to interfere with events that had been planned.
Mr. Griffith appeared quite well Saturday morning, as prior to leaving for his office, just before 10 o'clock, he cheerfully bade good morning to the nursing staff. He stooped to tie a shoelace which had become undone, when he suddenly fell forward unconscious.

The members of the staff rushed to assist him. He regained consciousness, but soon after collapsed again, when blood was seen coming from his mouth. Three physicians rendered all aid possible, but without success.
Father John Lee, of the Marist Fathers, administered extreme unction, and Mr. Griffith expired as the priest was reciting the concluding prayer.

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY.
LONDON, Aug. 13.—The premier,
Lloyd George, has telegraphed Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, expressing his deep regret upon learning of the death of Arthur Griffith. Mr. Lloyd George's telegram said:

"My admiration for his single-minded patriotism, his ability, sincerity and courage, has grown steadily since I met him first, less than a year ago. His character made a deep impression upon the British ministers who shared with him in these unremitting labors in which he was called upon to play such a testing and difficult part. His loss will fall heavily upon Ireland, but I trust his work will go on to complete success."

The prime minister also telegraphed his condolence to Mrs. Griffith, saying:

"I am certain Ireland will always revere his memory as one of her most loyal, gifted and courageous sons."

DUBLIN, Aug. 12.—The sudden death of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, which occurred here early today, followed a gradual weakening of his physical reserve, believed to have been caused by the strain of his experi-

Believed Captive Jerked Hunter
Overboard and Drew Craft
Beyond Reach.

HALIFAX, Aug. 13.—An empty boat, towed by a giant swordfish, was brought to tell of the death of a hunter of these vindictive habits of northern waters, when it was found off Prospect, Halifax County, about a mile to sea. The occupant of the boat had harpooned the fish and it is thought the captive jerked the man overboard and then towed the boat out of his reach. The swordfish had a play of 50 fathoms of line when found.
The 20-foot flat-bottomed boat was moving through the water without apparent motive power when sighted about 6 o'clock by William and John Hardman, fishermen of Prospect.
