

MAJOR SEIZES WATER DEPARTMENT PAY LISTS

Boys Make Big Gain In Advertiser's City Spelling Match

INVADES WATER OFFICE TO GET LISTS HE WANTS FOR CITY'S YEAR BOOK

"This Is 1923," Says Mayor Wenige, as He Sweeps Aside Convention and Commandeers Armful of Documents to Which He Claims He Is Entitled, But Could Not Get in the Regular Way.

NOW FOR THE L. AND P. S. LIST NEXT

"This is 1923," declared Mayor Wenige at 11:45 a.m. today, as he swooped down on the waterworks department, seized the pay list—an armful of documents—and departed for the city clerk's office.

Mayor Wenige.

The fight for the L. and P. S. Railway pay list continues. After several attempts this morning to secure this document from Manager Richards of that department, Mayor Wenige conferred with Commissioner Harley, seeking his approval of a special session to reconsider the entire proposition.

PLACE 2 WINDOWS OF GREAT BEAUTY IN THE CATHEDRAL

Greatly Add to Beauty—Placed on Either Side of the Church.

Two exquisite plate glass stained windows, purchased from Tiffany, New York City, have just been put in the north and south sides of St. Paul's Cathedral.

They were endowed by members of the Meredith family, this city, and are in memory of the late Anne Cook Meredith and John Stanley Meredith, who died within recent years.

The windows are beautiful works of art in glass. Large and delicately finished, they throw lustrous beams through the spacious cathedral whenever the sun sparkles over their multi-colored surfaces.

North Side Glass. The north side glass just put in place is above it in memory of the late Anne Cook Meredith. It depicts a young woman in snow-white garb of the Biblical period looking toward the sun, which pours out luminous rays upon her uplifted head.

South Side Glass. The south window is a really magnificent piece of glass-work. It faces side by side with another window erected in memory of Walsingham Meredith, who died in December, 1916.

The other window recently purchased and erected this week is in commemoration of John Stanley Meredith, who died on the 25th of May, 1923, three years ago this Wednesday. Below is engraved the words "I stand at the door and knock," and in the centre is the Meredith family motto.

WOODSMAN GETS NOTE WRITTEN BY DEAD TRAPPERS

George Burns of Port Arthur Knew Two Old French-Canadians.

HAS BEEN IN WOODS

Finds Letter From "Joe" and "Dave" on His Return Home Yesterday.

Special to The Advertiser. Fort William, April 24.—That the mystery of the death of the two French-Canadian trappers, near Val-Jona, on the G. T. P., will not be unravelled until the completion of the investigation by Provincial Constable Jingo and Assistant Coroner Vaughan, and perhaps not even then, seems to be a likely conclusion.

George Burns of Port Arthur, a well-known trapper and woodsman, stated this morning that he knew the two old men. "I notice," he said, "that their names are given as Frank Dulpisto and Orellia Morsette, but I do not think that is correct. At least I always knew them as Joe and Dave. I would judge that the older man would be about 77, and the younger man 66. I have been out in the woods for some time, and on return to Port Arthur yesterday found a letter at my house from these two old fellows.

The letter is as follows: "Port William, March 2.—I am writing a few lines to inquire if you could locate a trapping ground on the Arrow River. You know old Joe and Dave, the two French trappers from the Arrow. Our trapping grounds are pretty well spent, so if you could locate a good place for us, and let us know, I would write you a few lines. I don't think we can get out there for the fall. I heard you were out trapping last fall, so that maybe you would know the ground pretty well, and might put us in line. My address is Jos. Juncas, Tannin, via Fort William, C. N. R., Ontario. I would be very much obliged if you would write this for us. But please answer this letter any way." "JOS. JONCAS."

Boys, 21; Girls, 19; Is Spelling Score

South-East Group, Aberdeen, Chesley and Ealing, Pick Forty Best Spellers and Boys Gain—Names on Page 4

If you're a man—hurray! The boys are coming back strong. Today's results in The Advertiser's big spelling match give a score of 21 to 19 in favor of the boys.

All last week, in the preliminary round, the girls were far ahead of the boys, some classes reporting lists of best spellers in which the boys were outnumbered by two to one.

It looked as though the city's champion speller would be a girl. It may turn out that way yet, of course, but the boys have at least an even chance now if today's results are an average. The Southeast Group, comprising Aberdeen, Chesley and Ealing schools, has completed the second round of The Advertiser's match. The best spellers picked by the three schools last week all tried the same test to choose from the whole group the ten best spellers in Grade 5, Grade 6, Grade 7 and Grade 8. And this is the way the forty winners are divided:

- Grade V.—Girls, 5; boys, 5. Grade VI.—Girls, 5; boys, 5. Grade VII.—Girls, 4; boys, 6. Grade VIII.—Girls, 5; boys, 5. Total—Girls, 19; boys, 21.

The names of the forty best spellers from the Southeast Group are listed on page four, with pictures of other winners. The forty best spellers from the Southeast Group are ready now to meet the forty best spellers from the other four groups. From this meeting of all the city's twenty-five schools will be picked the ten best spellers in each grade, and after that the single champions of the whole city.

SEE THE NAMES OF THE CHAMPIONS ON PAGE 4, AND WATCH FOR RESULTS FROM THE OTHER GROUPS DURING THE WEEK.

CITIES TO PROTEST TAX FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Guelph City Clerk Receives Many Letters Promising Co-operation.

Canadian Press Despatch. Guelph, April 24.—A number of replies had been received at the city clerk's office up to noon today to the telegrams sent out to various Ontario municipalities on Saturday asking that they join with Guelph in sending representatives on a deputation to protest to the Ontario government against taxing the municipalities such a high figure for suburban highway construction work.

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, April 24.—Notwithstanding published announcements to the contrary, A. T. Walker, M. P. P. for South Oxford, is willing to allow his name to go before the U. F. O. convention to be held at Mount Elgin on April 26.

DECLARES "CRIME TRUST" FORMED IN PHILADELPHIA

Associated Press Despatch. Philadelphia, April 24.—Banditry is becoming as lucrative in Philadelphia as it is in Chicago, according to a report that a crime trust for the protection of criminals has been organized. Superintendent of Police Wm. B. Mills said today.

"By banding together," said Mills, "and aiding each other in case of trouble by obtaining lawyers, and advancing funds, the criminal element has strengthened its position. The ringleaders in the movement are old offenders, and from their former experiences have a wider knowledge of the law than many policemen."

SLOWLY IMPROVING. Charles T. HARDING BATTLES FOR ENTRY OF U.S. TO WORLD'S COURT

Launches Campaign Today by Announcing He Is Committed to the Proposal.

WILL EXPLAIN PLAN

President Means To Enlist the Whole of American People Behind Him.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, April 24.—President Harding opens his campaign for American adherence to the world court of the League of Nations here today by serving notice on members of his own party, who have lined in opposition to the proposal, that he is irrevocably committed to it.

In the first speech he has made on the court plan since he submitted it to congress early this year, Mr. Harding intended to carry out a three-fold purpose.

1. To explain the plan to the country; clear away the fogs of suspicion and doubt from the public mind, and enlist the whole people behind him and his plan, which he believes is a step towards war prevention.

2. To answer and silence the man, high in the Republican party who, either because of hostility to Secretary of State Hughes, whom they suspect of wanting to get the United States into the League of Nations—or for any other reason are opposing the court plan, since he has made on the court plan since he submitted it to congress early this year, Mr. Harding intended to carry out a three-fold purpose.

3. To enlist the great agencies of publicity in the country as day-to-day advocates of the court plan. Mr. Harding came, both as president and as newspaper editor, to the country and his hostile Republican colleagues. He spoke as a newspaper editor, who adequately appraises and values the tremendous power and influence of publicity, on great public questions.

Mr. Harding said in his mind when he left Washington last night to deliver an A. B. C. explanation to the country and the Republican "Doubting Thomases" of just how he contemplates American adherence to the world court would work towards war prevention; how the reservations drafted by Secretary Hughes and approved by Mr. Harding, when he held the court protocol before the senate, will safeguard the United States against entanglement in the political management of Europe; how Great Britain will not have the United States at a disadvantage in the election of judges of the court, because of the six votes the British empire casts in the assembly of the League of Nations.

Harding's Address. New York, April 24.—Participation by the U. S. in the world court, as proposed by the United States administration, President Harding today declared at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, would be "in harmony with party pledges, candidatorial promises and American aspirations," and would turn to Page 2, Column 5.

MANY LIVES LOST IN ARCTIC DURING BIG EARTHQUAKE

Several Buildings Carried Into the Sea at Petropavlovsk.

RADIO DESTROYED

Earth Tremblings Occur Every Six Minutes, According to Reports.

Associated Press Despatch. Moscow, April 24.—Tremendous earth and sea disturbances have taken place recently in the Arctic, and many still are continuing, according to Chita, despatches today, giving details of the earthquake recently reported at Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, which carried several buildings into the sea. The total casualties are not known, but the loss of twenty-one lives is already definitely established.

When the last word was received, Petropavlovsk, on April 14, the earthquake were continuing every six minutes on the average in that region, the advices stated. The radio station was destroyed and news of the occurrences is trickling in slowly. The sparse population is homeless and famine-stricken, all the warehouses, with their provisions, having been swept into the ocean.

STATES MINISTER SAID COAL WOULD COST $10

Dr. Hugh Stevenson Believed London Bill Will Be Passed Friday.

"The last time I was in Toronto the minister of mines, the Hon. H. Mills, told me that this Alberta coal could quite well be delivered and sold in Ontario at $10 a ton," said Dr. Hugh Stevenson to The Advertiser last night.

"When is the city of London going to pass its third reading?" he was asked.

"Well," he replied, "there is a great deal of obstruction down there just at present, too many fellows just getting up and talking for the sake of talking, you know, but we hope to have the bill up for the third reading by Friday, and that will allow the Western Fair board to go ahead with their new building and have it ready for the fair this year."

WANTS THE BRITISH NAVY MUST NOT BE REDUCED

HEAD OF LEAGUE ASKS THAT NAVY BE MAINTAINED

Sam Harris Claims That Britain Should Keep Title "Mistress of Seas."

WANTS BOYS TRAINED Asserts Vocations For Naval Life Should Be Encouraged.

Speaking with all the conviction of a man whose very soul is in his work, Sam Harris, president of the Navy League of Canada, declared in an interview with "The Advertiser" last night, that "the British Navy must not be reduced." Mr. Harris is in London, together with a number of officials of the organization, for the annual meeting of the Ontario section of the Navy League in the Tecumseh House tonight.

"The Navy League stands for the Empire," he stated in explaining his point, "and ever since the battle of Trafalgar—100 years ago—the empire has controlled the seas and policed them so that she has nothing to fear except the elements; and mind you, she has not abused the power she has held throughout that long period; that being the case why should she not be still 'Mistress of the Seas'?"

Mr. Harris has just returned from a three months' tour of Great Britain in the interest of the Navy League of Canada and strengthening the already strong ties that bind Canada with the Motherland. During his trip he visited the continent and traveled over the war-scarred fields of France and Belgium. While in Belgium he learned that the grave of Edith Cavell at Brussels as a tribute from the league.

"Coming through France," he narrated, "I went down the Hindenburg line and every step I took I felt that I was leveling it, not nearly so, it is unforgettable. And as I stood dazzled with the burning beams of the mid-day sun, the thought uppermost in my mind was this: 'The British Navy must not be reduced.'"

Two reasons were behind the organization of the Navy League in Canada, Mr. Harris pointed out. Those reasons were: First, to create a morale among Canadian seamen and, second, to raise money to help the merchant service. A certain portion of the United States press stated that Canada was only awaiting an opportunity to break away from the Motherland, by the means of a navy to counteract those false statements and to prove that Canada's feeling toward England is daily becoming stronger than the Navy League was formed.

"When the war ended the Navy League was the only organization to care for the widows and children of those of the navy who had sacrificed their lives for Canada," he declared. "The government considered them neither soldiers nor sailors and were not for the Navy League children of the navy who had sacrificed their lives for Canada—yes and would want for the next seven or eight years."

Germany To Make New Offer To Settle Debt To Entente

Berlin Government Will Reply Direct To Lord Curzon's Overture—Industrial Leaders Believe Settlement Now In Sight.

By SEYMOUR B. CONGER. Special Cable to The London Advertiser and The Philadelphia Public Ledger. Berlin, April 24.—Germany will in all probability respond to Lord Curzon's speech by making direct proposals to the Entente for a reparations settlement, if press reports are correct in crediting Curzon with the statement that the French and Belgian Governments are ready to consider a German offer to pay a sum fixed by authorities and accompanied by definite guarantees for a continuance of the payments.

This statement is the result of inquiries in high government circles. Although these circles are still without a full and authoritative version of Lord Curzon's highly important announcement and though the cabinet has not yet assembled, it is declared that if the British foreign minister is correctly quoted in newspaper despatches as to the receptive attitude of the French and Belgian Governments, Germany must clearly indicate its intention to accept the terms of the settlement. The German representative, who has been investigating the Ruhr situation, brought to Berlin in the news that General Degoutte has agreed to release Essen's deputy mayor, Herr Schaerer, who is serving a sentence for refusing to obey French orders, and to permit the aged invalid to join his family in a hotel or sanatorium, and also to commute the penitentiary sentence of Essen's lord mayor, Herr Bauer, to expulsion from the occupied territory. General Degoutte has also promised to alleviate the treatment of German political prisoners confined in the penitentiary at Zwickau.

If Maidens Fair Aspire To Beauty Eating Spinach Will Be Their Duty

New York, April 24.—Eat spinach and become a "perfect 34." That was the advice given in an interview yesterday by Miss Martha Gonzales, who has been chosen the new American Venus.

Her beauty and form, the experts say, have driven Venus of old from the ring. Venus will have to lose more than her arms to compete with Miss Gonzales. It is not only the time at which one gets it, but the amount of it which gets it that is important.

CHATHAM MAN FINED FOR SUNDAY GAMBLING

Magistrate Regrets Inability To Impose Heavier Penalty On Edward Mallet.

Chatham, April 24.—"If I could fine you more I would do so," stated Police Magistrate Arnold in the city police court yesterday morning in fining Edward Mallet forty dollars and costs for gambling on the Lord's Day. The charge against Mallet arose out of a complaint to the effect that five local boys, together with his own two sons, had gambled the greater part of Sunday, April 15th, in his home at 105 King street east. All the boys were under sixteen years of age.

Germany To Make New Offer To Settle Debt To Entente

meine Zeitung, is one of the important exceptions. It insists Germany already has gone far enough in this direction by assenting to the Hughes plan, which the French rejected and that a new offer would meet the same fate.

Industrial leaders also share the prevailing view that Lord Curzon's speech marks a big advance toward negotiations. A representative of the German manufacturers' league took that view, a statement today, but insisted that any settlement must involve immediate evacuation of the Ruhr.

ASKS FOR FUNDS TO AID IN WORK OF NAVY LEAGUE

Forcible Address by President Sam Harris at Convention Opening This Morning.

OPPOSES HEARSTISM

Urges Taking of Steps To Keep Anti-British Hearst Papers Out of Canada.

The address of the president, Sam Harris of Toronto, was the outstanding feature of the opening session of the Navy League convention which was held in the parlor of the Telemachus House this morning.

Lieut.-Col. Cecil Williams, secretary, read the minutes of last year's convention at St. Catharines and gave a summary of the work of the league since that time. He pointed out that this year's convention was held in a more favorable position than that of the previous year, and that the financial position of the league was such that it was possible to carry on its work in a more efficient manner than ever before.

Among other important matters in his address was his reference to the resolution or motion which Hugh A. Stevenson had placed before the provincial house in an endeavor to have delinquent boys sent to merchant training ships rather than to reformatories. He regretted that this had been introduced too late to bring any decided action before the end of the session.

Keep Out Hearst Papers. In reference to the resolutions passed at the 1922 convention he drew attention to the strong feeling of the delegates at that convention in their resolution dealing with some measure to prevent the circulation of Hearst anti-British publications in Canada. He pointed out that this should be again put forward as being one of the essential duties of a league which was formed to promote greater solidarity within our Empire.

Continuing, he said, "National greatness is achieved by national expansion of our resources and this expansion can best be maintained by the building up a strong mercantile marine and an adequate navy to safeguard both our mercantile marine and our ocean boundaries." He said when viewing the acres and acres of white crosses marking the graves of our troops in France, he was struck with wonder at just what might have happened had our navy faltered in the battle of Jutland.

Navy League's Field. "Our mercantile navy is just as important as our high seas fleet and it is in creating suitable conditions for the transient merchant sailor ashore in our ocean ports that the Navy League is able to do its greatest work." In explaining what the league was able to do he told of the case of a sailor in the navy during the late war who was declared unfit for further service in naval ships. He was pensioned off but could not stay ashore with a war in progress so had joined a merchant ship and in doing so forfeited his pension. He was torpedoed twice after this and eventually drowned. Owing to the fact that he had rendered his pension void his family had been reduced to acute want and had it not been for the intervention of the Navy League would have been in dire straits. Last winter's gales and losses on the Atlantic ocean had increased the call on the league's finances and today the league's pension fund was inadequate.

He regretted, he stated, that the interest in this fund had waned and that people were not responding as freely as when the war brought the needs of the merchant marine more vividly to the attention of the public. In spite of their reduced funds, brought about by the unusually severe winter of last year, he was glad to state that the league had not had to refuse one deserving application for assistance, and stressed the point that rather than risk refusing a deserving case they had occasionally been imposed on.

She Wants All Other Sufferers To Know That Dodd's Kidney Pills Will Help Relieve Them of Aching Backs.

Mrs. Hemson Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sandy Point, N. S., April 23. (Special)—Mrs. I. Hemson, who lives in this place, is another of that great army of Canadian women who are always ready to say a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Every one of them has a reason. This is what Mrs. Hemson says: "I had a very weak back, which caused me great pain. After taking several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, it improved very much, and now I am hardly ever troubled at all. I should like other people who suffer with their kidneys to know this." Dodd's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys, and put them in shape to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. They have relieved thousands of sufferers all over Canada. There is no reason why anyone should continue to suffer from kidney complaints, when Dodd's Kidney Pills can be obtained from druggists everywhere, at 50c per box.—Adv.

New League Ready to Help Bachelors Requiring Wives

"Useful Women," Organized in Manchester, Promises To Be Society of Fairy Godmothers. Canadian Press Despatch. Manchester, Eng., April 24.—The Useful League, an organization which is a sort of league of fairy godmothers, has started operations here. Under its guidance, bachelors requiring wives, elderly gentlemen looking for someone with whom to discuss politics, brides needing advice about the trousseau or hostesses seeking "aillers" at a dinner party, will all be assisted. Miss Lillie, the daughter of a former lord mayor of Manchester, who is starting the scheme, explains that in addition to the duties mentioned above, her "useful women" will be willing to mend bachelors' clothes and darn their socks, look after children, act as guides to country visitors, who want to see Manchester, exercise dogs, provide players for bridge parties in emergencies, search for missing relatives, do family shopping, find, or try to find, vacant houses, teach languages and read books in almost every tongue, arrange tours and do the packing.

City Hall Briefs

There are those who are making a big roar about a mysterious darkness for the Ward Four by-election. Why all this fuss, when everybody knows that it is "Hank" Archer? Ald. Drake bullied the street railway until that corporation howled "comrade" yesterday, and switched five big cars to the Hamilton road. Homeowners along the Richmond north line are wondering what great big alderman is going to rise up and demand at least one rapid transit vehicle on their route. Everyone is forced to acknowledge that Gordon Drake deserves a whole flock of cars on his way. He talked long and loud. The way is clear for Ald. John T. May to get up on the band wagon for a spell. We understand that they lifted these cars from the Ridout street route. This is an open week in the well-known "civic circles." Let's all get together and have a shake-up somewhere.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Restored to Health By Taking "Fruit-a-lives" Made of Fruit Juices and Tonics. The most convincing proof of the true worth of "Fruit-a-lives" as a medicine for women is found in the letters written by them to "Fruit-a-lives." For instance: "I suffered with all the symptoms of female trouble, pains low down in the back and sides, constipation and constant headache. A doctor advised an operation. I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives,' and this fruit medicine completely relieved me of all my misery." MRS. M. J. GORSE, 50c a box, six for $2.50, trial size 25c. SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair. You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur As Told When Your Skin Breaks Out. Face breaking out of the skin on nose, neck, arm or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist. Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask your druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

WILL PERMIT J. LARKIN TO ENTER BRITISH ISLES

London, April 24.—W. C. Bridgman, the home secretary, declared in the House of Commons today that James Larkin, the head of the Bridge Workers' Union, who was recently pardoned from prison by Governor Smith of New York, was privileged to come to Great Britain if he so desired. The secretary made this statement in reply to a request urging that he forbid Larkin's landing, declaring that as Larkin was a British subject he could not be denied admittance.

MEAT HOUSE OF CHICAGO SUFFERS DAMAGE BY FIRE

Chicago, April 24.—Fire in the meat house of Morris & Co. within the stockyards, which did damage estimated at $100,000 late last night, broke out anew early today and increased the loss to an estimated value of $500,000. The meat house was the former office building of Morris & Co., and was one of the stockyards landmarks.

RED RASH ON HANDS AND BODY

Itching and Burning Terrible. Cuticura Heals. "I was troubled with eczema on my hands and body. It broke out in a red rash and later formed sore eruptions containing water. The itching and burning were terrible. My hands had to be bandaged, and my clothing aggravated the breaking out on my body. The trouble lasted about three months. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did and found they helped me, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Russell Hensbee, Sand Point, Nova Scotia. Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are all you need for every-day toilet and nursery purposes. Sample each free by mail. for over fifty years ENO'S has maintained its superiority

All through the long years of its well-doing the pure quality and careful preparation of ENO'S "Fruit Salt" have never varied. Today it is known and appreciated by countless millions of happy folk in Canada and throughout the rest of the world. Imitations and so-called "similar" preparations have come—and gone—and a few still linger—but ENO goes on for ever fulfilling its mission as the greatest health-giver of the age. You can place ever confidence in this famous British product—because time and experience have proved it to be the best.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

There is no household that is not healthier and happier for the morning glass of ENO. It cleanses and retires internally just as soap and water removes all impurities externally. It keeps people fit and able to ward off illness—it makes people fit who suffer from faulty digestion and other internal disorders. Ask your druggist for ENO'S "Fruit Salt"—and always keep it handy.

Cheaper Fares, But Where To?

A news item in the Toronto Globe says: "Prohibitive street car fares given as one of the main reasons for congestion and distressing living conditions in Toronto's 'Ward.'"

But where are these people to go? The mention of cheaper street car fares means that they would go farther out if they could.

But let us take those that would if they could. They take a day off and look around the outskirts of Toronto. In some directions they will find that the district has been covered with little houses on small lots.

The speculators knew there would come a time when people would want to move out from the city, and they laid their plans and waited for them to come.

Toronto is not the only city that has made this mistake. There are streets in some of the smaller cities in Western Ontario where lots have been carved out 25 feet wide by 120 feet deep.

Cheaper transportation and better routed transportation would no doubt help in any city, but the larger question is: Where are the people to go after they get on the street cars?

The Report on Victoria Hospital.

The report of the experts who were inquiring into affairs at Victoria Hospital has been presented, and the Hospital Trust has passed the essential features on to the public through the press.

Members of the Hospital Trust have realized for some time that the institution had outgrown the system that was used to operate it. It is not the first time such a thing has happened—it takes place in business and industry that is developing.

The next step will be the carrying out of the recommendations in the report. The public expect, and they have a right to expect, that this will be done, otherwise the report is of no use, and the system of operating the hospital will be no better than before.

Much has been said about $80,000 in uncollected accounts; this goes back to 1913, a period of ten years. Some of this amount, perhaps much of it, there was never a chance to collect.

The report says plainly that there must be more co-operation between heads of departments; that it is necessary to have a superintendent in charge with full authority, and that this authority must be recognized.

The work of the nurses and doctors is not seriously commented on, with the exception of stressing the need for sterilizing certain instruments, and the keeping of utensils used in contagious wards separate from all others.

It is the business administration of Victoria Hospital that is criticized. This should be reorganized according to the needs of a hospital of that size. It is the plain duty of the Hospital Trust to place officials in places of relative and proper authority, centralizing all such in the superintendent.

The Hospital Trust is to be commended for making the necessary investigation, and for getting competent people to do it. They will not have accomplished their full purpose, though, until they apply the recommendations in actual practice.

The World's Best Is a Canadian.

Edward Johnson, the world's greatest tenor. It is not very hard to repeat that phrase, but it is quite a job to let the imagination work along and try to fancy what it has meant for that Guelph boy, Johnson, to put himself in that place, where it can be said without fear of successful contradiction that the critics of the world consider him the best, in competition with all the tenors from this continent and from the music-loving nations of Europe or elsewhere.

Mr. Johnson was in London this week, and during his visit with fellow Rotarians here gave a little talk on the business side of his profession. It was in this that he gave some idea of the barriers that had to be overcome—barriers of speech, of national jealousy, barriers in United States that no one but a foreigner, with "iski" or an "ini" on the end of his name, could be a great singer; barriers in Milan that none but an Italian could sing the songs or interpret the roles in opera that the people there loved and knew.

So it has meant not simply studying music and learning songs: Edward Johnson's success has called for the learning and complete mastery of Italian, French and German; it meant a long struggle to have a chance to sing before the people he finally wanted to reach. He felt for years that, in his own words, "he had the goods, if he only had a chance to deliver them." It has taken years of hard work, application to a hundred and one things that were never thought of at the start, all the time preparing for the climax when he was called to take the premier tenor roles in the Metropolitan Opera at New York, the successor to the greatest of all tenors, Enrico Caruso.

Guelph can well feel proud of Edward Johnson. No doubt they refer to him as "Eddie," and well they might, for success has not spoiled him. When he was in London it was "Hello, Bob," when he met R. H. Dowler, of London, a former Guelphite, and conversation turned at once to days when Johnson was not so great nor Dowler as prosperous as today finds them.

No Marathon Dancing Here.

Three contestants in a long-distance dance collapsed and were rushed off to the hospital in Washington. And there are signs of this craze breaking out in Canada. The chief of police of London says there is no law to prevent such a contest taking place.

The law of common sense will do many things, and public opinion will see it through on that basis. Canadian law showed how quickly Harry K. Thaw could be chased out of this country and handed back to the authorities of United States, and Canadian law did a healthy day's work when it moved quickly in that case.

Canadian law can handle this marathon dancing craze in the same speedy way if necessary. The thing is so ridiculous that there is not even a chance for a good argument about it.

The Late Philip H. Bartlett.

Philip H. Bartlett died at a comparatively early age, about 60. He was a man of fine physique, and a much longer life could have been reasonably expected.

He obtained his education at the Strathroy Collegiate Institute, and very early in life gave evidence that he had all the requisites of a good public speaker. He taught school for about five years and after that studied law. He spent some time in the eastern states and at Chattanooga, Tennessee, but returned to Canada and spent the remainder of his days in London in the practice of his profession.

He was engaged in many important cases, and gave them his best attention. He was much more than an average lawyer. During the past twelve years he practiced in connection with Mr. Thomas W. Scandrett. He was a companionable man. The late Edmund Meredith, K.C., and he were close personal friends and companions and spent many hours together. He valued his friendships very much; one could easily understand him saying:

"Toll not the bell for me When I am dead; Strew not the flowery wreath o'er me On my cold bed. Let friendship's sacred tear On my fresh grave appear, Gemming with pearls my bier When I am dead."

Even in his everyday intercourse in practice, friendship actuated his conduct to a great extent.

He was appointed deputy police magistrate about five years ago, and relieved Police Magistrate Graydon very much. His appointment was received with favor. He was a good associate with the magistrates of the past. London has had exceptionally good police magistrates, from Lawrence Lawrason to the present time. They have all been men of sound legal knowledge, men of head and heart, and Mr. Bartlett was no exception. There should be more power given to magistrates. Only within recent years could suspended sentence be given. This is a small concession. The discretion of any one of the magistrates of London would have been wisely exercised and in the best interests of justice.

Deputy Police Magistrate Bartlett was best liked by those who knew him best. He has crossed the silent river to the land of the dead after an active life which produced good results.

Note and Comment.

Now that courtesy week is over, we can open fire on the Tory politicians again.

They are building rubber streets in England. The debentures for these will no doubt stretch over a term of years.

Boycotting sugar is advocated in United States to bring down the price. Taking down the tariff and filling the country with cheaper sugar would remedy the matter in short order.

Some papers are commenting on the shooting in St. Catharines a few days ago, whereby one child with a revolver killed a playmate. Some are inclined to blame moving pictures. The one positive fact is that if there had been no revolver in the house there could have been no shooting.

Toronto Transportation Commission has not yet made enough money to reduce the fares on the street railway, but it has the business on a good basis. It has also achieved in about a year and six months what it was predicted would be a four-year job, viz., to put the system in shape to give good service. Toronto is making a thorough job of its street car service, and has demonstrated that private companies have no monopoly on that splendid characteristic called action.

PRISON FOR THE PRICE FIXERS.

(From the New York Herald.) The Sherman law is still on the books and still has teeth. Some of the price fixing manufacturers may be awoken to that fact when they read this morning's sentences imposed by Judge Van Fleet, of the United States District Court, in the pottery trust cases.

Ten months in prison for one manufacturer convicted of conspiring to fix prices; six months each for his principal companions in the offence—these are sentences that mean something. The fines imposed upon the 20 individuals and 23 corporations found guilty aggregate $178,000; but in cases of this sort fines are terms.

The price fixers may realize that the ball which Sam Untermyer started rolling has not stopped. These pottery manufacturers were in a business essential to house building. They made articles necessary in modern sanitation. They would not be satisfied to let the law of supply and demand regulate their price lists. To fill their own pockets fuller they helped to pluck the house owner and the tenant.

The contractors' ring was joyful when the Legislature killed the Untermyer bill providing prison sentences for conspirators of this kind. They will now see that the Sherman law is working and that there are judges who realize that fines mean little to rich malefactors.

The way to cure a price fixer is to put him in jail.

TO THE EDITOR

U. F. O. I. L. P. PLANS.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—I notice in yesterday's Advertiser a statement that Peter G. Cameron's candidature had been endorsed by the Independent Labor party of St. Thomas some time ago. I will not dwell on the singularity of this procedure, but will call the attention of I. L. P. to the U. F. O. I. L. P. agreement of 1919. At a joint meeting of these two organizations at Dutton it was agreed that the U. F. O. should select the provincial candidate and be endorsed by the I. L. P., and that the federal candidate should be selected by the I. L. P. and endorsed by the U. F. O. In view of this agreement, it is unthinkable that the Independent Labor party should so far overstep their limitations as to endorse a candidate before he had been selected by the U. F. O.

FINANCING A HOME.

Sir,—Am a Canadian woman, born, bred and dyed in the wool. Where, oh, where, do you get that stuff? If your expenses for keeping a family of four runs above $21.23 per week, you are extravagant. I, for one, housewife, say it cannot be done here in London living on bare necessities, let alone any luxuries, and I do all of my own work, including the laundry and sewing, and we do not live out of paper bags either for I bake and cook and try to save in every way I can.

If whoever is responsible for that article will let send along his expense account itemized for one week, including his menus, I am sure a bunch of us will be more than thankful. My family consists of two lusty lads attending school, my husband and myself, all of us with real appetites. We lived in Pennsylvania, U. S. A., for three years, and out of $24 a week we lived well and saved enough cash to move back here to our home town. Now, ask us "Why don't you go back there?" Answer: Because out of $30 per week here in London, I never expect to save enough to go farther than a 5 cent ride on the trolleys, the only cheap thing I see now in London.

HOW TO STOP WAR.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—Allow me a little space in your paper. Now, we are hearing so much of how to stop war in the Yankee and Canadian papers.

Here goes for my subject: In the first place, let's get at the children in the schools. Don't teach them the nonsense such as glorious charges made, and one man killing a dozen or more of the enemy. Don't erect statues to so-called war heroes, generals, etc.

Tell them how the troops existed among dead bodies in shell-holes and filth, etc., also troops poisoned and blinded by gas by the hundreds. Tell them about the amount of men thrown aside on the labor market, shell-shocked and mentally weak, through the horrors of war.

A DISGUSTED VETERAN.

Dad's idea of it. "Pa, what is domestic science?" asked Clarence. "It's knowing how to open a can, son," replied his dad. He surveyed the salmon and canned vegetables and fruit that made up the evening meal.

Your Health

DO YOU EVER GIVE THOUGHT TO YOUR DOCTOR'S HEALTH?

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City. The average age at death was 45 years.

I have a habit of reading the histories of doctors, as printed in the Journal of the American Medical Association. My life has been such as to give me a wide acquaintance among physicians and in this account reading the death column is melancholy business. But just as one is keen to know how the folks back home are getting on, I am always anxious to see if evil days have fallen on any of my old friends. It is with a feeling of relief that I find no record relating to one of my immediate acquaintances.

Why do doctors die so young? Why should influenza and pneumonia remove so many of the best? Twenty doctors died last week because of some form of heart disease. Paralysis and brain hemorrhage took a number.

Last night a friend of mine, a prominent judge, told me he always leaned toward the profession of medicine, but gave up his inclination because of a few ill days he spent in a club in Denver. The lawyers were able to eat their meals in peace, to play a game of dominoes and even to take a snooze. But the doctor? Not one of them could stay in the club half an hour without a telephone message to go to see a patient, or at least to advise some anxious person.

So the judge studied law instead of medicine. He did not care to be a slave. The only person you know whom you feel free to call from his dinner, his bath or his bed is your doctor. Somehow or other it is always when he is in the deepest, the rain the wettest and the sleet the coldest that the doctor is demanded. As Herodotus said of the despatch-bearer, "neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night" can stay these calls on the doctor.

I always liked the story of the old lady who telephoned at 2 a.m., insisting that the doctor come at once, saying:

"I cannot stand this pain a single moment longer." "How long have you had it?" asked the doctor. "Twenty-eight years!" I know that pain, physical or mental, is always worse at night. Things seem terribly black and unbearable in the middle of the night. They are not half so bad in daylight. The doctor is your friend. You lean on him and cannot get on without his encouraging words. But why not consider his health and his powers of endurance?

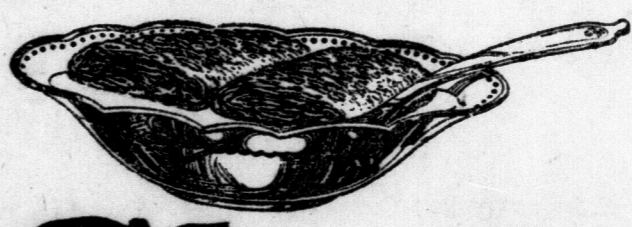

Think of those young men, thirteen of them, dying of diseases which gained their foothold because of lowered resistance. Deaths from influenza and pneumonia are due to lowered vitality. If you are fit you will not have one of these diseases, and certainly will not die if you do have it.

Heart disease is due to neglect of some sort, to overwork, to overlooked and unsuspected causes. The physician has no time to consider his own body. Dear doctor, please think of yourself!

Pear reader, please regard the physical needs of your family physician! Unless the need is terribly urgent, wait for daylight before you send your message. Respect the meal times and sleeping hours of your doctor. Don't get impatient if he runs away for a few days of rest—mark my words, half his little vacation will be spent in hospitals learning new things for your benefit. Help your doctor to live to be 80! Answers to Health Questions. K. C. Q.—I am a young man 24 years of age, 5 feet 10 1/2 inches tall. Will you kindly tell me what my cor-

The cost of food folly

The cost of your food mistakes is not in dollars and cents alone, but in years of suffering from indigestion—and that means low vitality with little strength to resist disease. Cut down the high protein foods, avoid potatoes and sweets for awhile, and get down to a simple diet of Shredded Wheat Biscuit with green vegetables and fruits, and see how much better you feel. Shredded Wheat is all food. It is the whole wheat in a digestible form. Two Biscuits with milk or cream make a complete, nourishing meal, that costs but a few cents.

TRISCUIT is the Shredded Wheat crack-crisp—a real whole wheat toast—eaten with butter, soft cheese or marmalades.

Table with columns for Stock Name, Price, and Change. Includes entries for 150 Brazilian, 150 Canadian, 150 Montreal, etc.

By STUART P. WISST. Special to the Advertiser. Wall Street was very much impressed today by the ease with which stocks that had been most under pressure on Monday rebounded.

Leaders in the Baldwin Locomotive, American Locomotive, Bethlehem Steel and United States Steel came back with a little effort, and a considerable quantity of trading. This strengthened the impression that the market was rather than the downward turn that began on Monday.

Railway shares were firmer under the lead of Canadian Pacific and Southern Railway, but interest in the latter was in the hands of pockets. While Fleischmann stock, which was a favorite for the downward turn that began on Monday, was not particularly active.

Prospects of a rise in the dividend on the stock of the new issue of the company, which was kept in mind, with the stock rising a few points above 42.

Woodworth—Renewal of activity in W. Woodworth has brought to light the report that something favorable from the stockholders' point of view in the exchange of the latest figures of the British board of trade. These show a decrease in the value of exports of 2.2 per cent, while the value of imports increased 2.2 per cent.

Wall Street Gossip. As for Livermore's unwelcome comment on the banking point, which was made in a lesson, and intended to teach the bankers who were gathered around him a lesson, and intended to teach the stockholders in behalf of that market.

Wall Street appeared to be greatly interested in the opposition to New York Central's construction of the Chicago Junction Railway and other roads. The Chicago Junction Railway is a project which has been discussed for some time, and the opposition to it is being made by the Pennsylvania and other roads.

"THE STRANGER" A Gripping Story of Love Triumphant Over the Plots of a Master Criminal BY JOHN GOODWIN

Philip Insists On Paying Joan's Debt To Protect Her Honor—Package of Money Mysteriously Arrives.

Five days passed there, uneventful but pleasant days for Joan. Philip spent nearly all his time with her; twice he was away for several hours; she guessed he was at the Temple, but felt that he did not wish to be questioned, and she was quite content, for, to all appearances, he was in the best of spirits.

It was not long, however, before Joan's watchful eye detected that something was troubling Philip. He was fonder and more considerate than with her, and apparently cheerful, yet he had grown markedly pale during the last few days.

Presently she stole into the little room at the back where Philip did his writing. His table littered with legal papers, his head on his hand, Joan, who had entered very quietly, glanced at the documents and changed color.

"Philip!" she said. "I have been quiet too long. Tell me, dear, what is the matter?" He started, and slid a newspaper as if casually over the documents.

"How much is it?" gasped Joan. "As far as I can see from this it is about £40,000," he said. Joan became deadly white.

"The-Missing Twenty Thousand." Philip shrugged his shoulders, his lips tightened.

"I am a member of the Bar, I utterly refuse to consent to that. We have the money. It shall be paid."

THE MARRIAGE GAME As Played to a Decision Every Day By Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hatton

THE WIFE AS ACTRESS. His Play: A woman deliberately assumes so many roles that it is a wonder she can keep up with them.

Bara stuff. . . Let's see, that's got about the time when a new spring bonnet is due, isn't it? Her Counter-Play: But you men expect it. If the modern wife did not count at least twenty different roles in her repertoire she would never be able to hold her own.

For I feel that I do not know the truth. . . "Who am I that I should judge? Let those without sin cast the first stone."

There was a ring at the front door bell. . . "The truth—the facts!" said Joan, a breaking voice.

"No name?" said Philip in surprise. The parcel was addressed to him. "What was he like?"

THE ETERNAL QUESTION by Felice Davis

THE SIGHT-SEEING BUS. Gerlie—How'd you like being on the street-neck wagon? Better than the rubber car at home, ain't it?

Gerlie—Why, yes—Oh, them's the best of hours he says. . . "That's a fresh guy! Can't he keep his mouth shut? Listen to me. You're the only girl for me!"

Gerlie—Sure, I am—the megaphone fella says we're coming to the slums! . . . "If I ever get my hands on that 'Aunt Nannie'—say, how'd you like it if we was to marry?"

That's what I'd do, I'd plant a garden for Johnny and Polly Chuck. . . "I wouldn't Johnny and Polly Chuck have been tickled had they known what Farmer Brown's Boy was planning to do?"

So he quietly got together some seeds and waited for planting time. . . "It will be the first garden they have ever had plants just for them."

Dear Cynthia Grey and Mail-Box Friends—Here I am, bolstered up in bed with pillows, writing to you. . . "I have to go to bed with pillows, writing to you. I have just put up 100 packages of Nannie Lily seeds to send you in this mail."

What a treat it is for the Mail-Box to hear from Aunt Nannie again! . . . "I have to go to bed with pillows, writing to you. I have just put up 100 packages of Nannie Lily seeds to send you in this mail."

FARMER BROWN'S BOY PLANS FOR THE CHUCKS.

There is no joy that's greater than in aid of other folks to plan. . . "Of course," said Farmer Brown's Boy to himself, "I can trap those two Chucks and carry them off and let them go where they will do no harm."

For several days Farmer Brown's Boy kept thinking about Johnny and Polly Chuck, and trying to think of some way of keeping them from being disturbed. . . "I will be the first garden they have ever had plants just for them."

So he quietly got together some seeds and waited for planting time. . . "It will be the first garden they have ever had plants just for them."

That's what I'd do, I'd plant a garden for Johnny and Polly Chuck. . . "I wouldn't Johnny and Polly Chuck have been tickled had they known what Farmer Brown's Boy was planning to do?"

So he quietly got together some seeds and waited for planting time. . . "It will be the first garden they have ever had plants just for them."

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

GIRLS—FIVE MINUTES. BY JANE OSBORN. Jim Fuller and his roommate, George Osborn, were eating in accustomed silence at the corner taurant, frequented by students—that is, students who, like Jim and George, were definite and sure in their acquire a certain degree of knowledge in the least possible time, and with the least expense of money.

Usually they ate in silence because each found it an advantage to read a daily paper, and dinner and breakfast time seemed the most convenient time to do it. As they waited for their prune pudding with lemon sauce—the order for the day—Jim regarded intently the paper folded at the right of his place.

"I'm blessed!" he commented, to emphasize his blessedness, took a pocket pencil and with it opened the most convenient time to do it. As they waited for their prune pudding with lemon sauce—the order for the day—Jim regarded intently the paper folded at the right of his place.

"I don't spend an average of five minutes a day on girls," boasted George. "Not now, maybe," conceded Jim. "But there have been times when you've got to see to it that you don't miss any of them."

George regarded the matter as a joke, but Jim's thoughts kept going back to the little clipping. He was quite sure that the students who had given the estimate of their time spent with girls had minimized the matter, but still he had to jokingly encourage himself to read the inevitable record.

"I never thought of it in that way," said Jim, then took Jane, unresisting, into his arms and wondered why he had been so foolish before.

He had his hand on the clipping as soon as he had made his greetings, and with the aid of it and his own explanations Jane was inclined to forgive him for what had seemed the rudeness of his short case.

"You see, I didn't want to make a lady's man of myself. I knew you wouldn't want me to. That clipping made me begin to think that maybe I'd been spending too much time just calling."

"Of course, if you would play cards, with me or go to college evening events, even the movies, then, according to that tabulation, we'd have lots more time to spend together."

"I don't want you to misunderstand about that rule of mine," said Jane, rather pensively. "You see, I went with the college boys for four years and nothing came of it. If I go on as of course, I might, it would look like I was just a college boy, amusing myself with them. And so father says that he'd rather not have me seen out with any man—that is, with a fellow who isn't engaged to him." Jane was blushing, and she went on. "Then, of course, it wouldn't matter if people did notice and begin to talk."

Jim did some rather rapid thinking. "Unless you were engaged to him, Jane," he said awkwardly. "Let's change the subject. Of course she really didn't want to in the least. If you should," Jim began, and paused, then with a difficulty resumed, "I'm engaged to her—she won't be willing to go to games and movies and things?"

Jim nodded and looked away. "I never thought of it in that way," said Jim, then took Jane, unresisting, into his arms and wondered why he had been so foolish before.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other Laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the confidence of the people. ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

There are thousands of elderly people, young men and women who have never in all their lives taken any other laxative for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Their parents were given it by their parents; the grandparents are using it today.

Headaches Are Usually Due to Constipation. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

John A. Nash Is Donor of Cup Which Will Inspire Good Competition.

By BILLY BISSETT.

Immediately after Harry Turner's injury on Saturday London junior soccerites, realizing the great need of an injured players' fund for the purpose of meeting all medical bills in connection with players injured on the field of play, put their thinking caps on and for the purpose of creating such a fund got busy on the trophy question.

The juniors were successful in securing a cup the first crack out of the box. John A. Nash, Mr. Jeweler, kindly consented to donate a handsome silver mug for the series.

Workout On Wednesday Is Billed For 4 o'Clock To 6, and New Manager, Who Is Rumored Will Be Pleasant Surprise, Will Be On Hand.

The sub-committee of the L. A. A. A. meets tonight, with the appointment of a manager as a paramount issue, too, in amateur ball, taking equal importance with the appointment of a coach. Several names have been bandied about by rumor, but when it comes to giving out real information on the subject of who will act in this capacity, the sub-committee makes the well-known Sphinx talkative by comparison.

PIRATES' SECOND STRAIGHT.

M.O. LEAGUE ALL SET FOR SEASON GETAWAY

Decide To Devote Day's Receipts To New Writers' Organization.

The Mint League magnates broke up their session yesterday. Posting of $1,500 certified checks by each club was the main business of the gathering, and when each club kicked in with all sorts of collateral, ranging from Liberty bonds to certified checks, there was little else to do in a business way.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

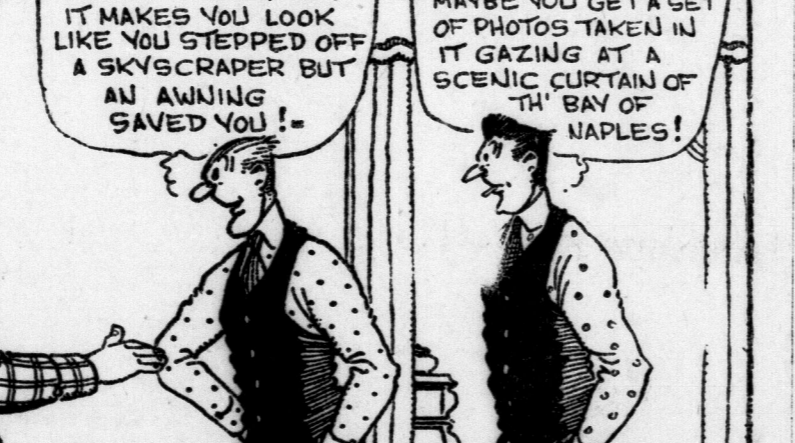

Senior Rafael Quintana, the Cuban flash of the New York Yankee infield, will remain with the team for a while. Ira Thomas, manager of the St. Petersburg team, tried to make a deal with the little Cuban, but Manager Huggins turned a deaf ear to the bargaining. He told Thomas that he had decided to retain Quintana for a while at least. He declared the Cuban to be the flashiest young fielder he had seen in many a day and made the statement that if Quintana can hit .225 he will be a sensation. Since the boy is only 18 years of age he has a great chance.

W. F. A. EXTENDS TIME LIMIT FOR ENTRIES

Next Saturday Last Day—Arrange Groupings On Monday.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, April 23.—Secretary-Treasurer David Forsyth of the Western Ontario Football Association announced today that the time limit for entering entries to the championship series had been extended from today to Saturday, April 28. This has been done owing to the fact that the season has been unusually backward, and the clubs have thus been slow in organizing.

Down the Line In All Sports

Thistles and Shamrocks have at last come to terms. Regardless of the merits of the controversy which has lasted over the two teams, the fans on both sides apparently are glad that the matter is settled in a way that is more convincing than "trial by fire" in the more partisan supporters of the two teams.

Carpentier Will Meet McTigue

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, April 23.—Promoter Ted Rickard today announced that he had matched Mike McTigue, Irish-American conqueror of Battling Siki, and Georges Carpentier, for the world's light-heavyweight championship on July 1, either at the Yankee Stadium or Boyl's Thirty Acres. Rickard completed negotiations for the match after receipt of a telegram from Carpentier, accepting terms for the Frenchman. Joe Jacobs, McTigue's manager, signed with Rickard several days ago on behalf of the titleholder, who is now in Ireland.
