PLAN TO WRECK KING'S TRAIN

Daring Plot of Italians—23 Supposed Anarchists are Under Arrest

Victor Emmanuel on His Way to Berlin—Welcome in Switzerland

London, Aug. 27.—In a despatch from Geneva the correspondent of the Daily Mail reports the arrest of 23 Italians, supposed to be anarchists, in connection with an alleged plot to derail the train bearing King Victor Emmanuel to Berlin.

Rome, Aug. 27.—King Victor Emmanuel left Racconigi this morning for Berlin. He was given a hearty farewell by the crowds. Signor Prinetti, the minister of foreign affairs, will join the king later on.

Gschonen, Switzerland, Aug. 26.—The train bearing the King of Italy and his suite emerged from the St. Gotthard tunnel and arrived here at 5 o'clock this evening. The railway station was decorated in honor of the king's arrival and he was greeted by the playing of the Italian national anthem and salute fired from heights surrounding the town. His Majesty was welcomed to Switzerland by President Zemp of that country, and the federal councillors. After addresses by the president and the king expressive of friendship between their countries, the king's train proceeded to Berlin.

REFUSED TAXES

British and Americans, it Says, View Events in France With Disdainful Pity.

London, August 26.—A Paris correspondent says Libre Parole publishes an article appealing to Frenchmen to refuse to pay direct taxes by way of a protest against the government's measure regarding Chinese schools. The paper says that peoples like the British and Americans, possessing habits of liberty, contemplate what is going on in France, with disdainful pity.

This, says the correspondent, is rather amusing, coming, as it does, from men who abuse Dreyfusards for appealing to the opinions of foreigners. The correspondent predicts a good thing there is no intention to refuse to pay indirect taxes, because Coppee and Lemaitre, who are prominent Nationalists, are great smokers, and either have to leave France or give up cigarettes, as well as tea, coffee and alcohol.

CHATHAM GIRL

Young Nurse Braved Smallpox Contagion and fell a Victim—Now Recovered.

The Toledo Bee says of Miss Marie Mount daughter of John Mount, of this city:—

"Another young nurse has offered her services to the sorely pressed smallpox hospital staff, and her offer has been accepted. Again it is a graduate of the St. Vincent's hospital training school for nurses who braves contagion of the most dreaded character in the pursuit of her profession and the service of the sick and helpless. Miss Marie Mount, of this city, a graduate of June, 1901, has joined Miss Eloise Bailey at the contagious disease hospital. Miss Mount is a relative of Wm. Schwartz, city meat inspector, a friend of Health Officer Brand, and when the latter found himself handicapped for lack of help the young nurse volunteered her services for the dangerous task. Miss Bailey, it will be remembered, again it is a graduate of the St. Vincent's hospital training school for nurses who braves contagion of the most dreaded character in the pursuit of her profession and the service of the sick and helpless. Both young women are comely, and as one of the curses of the disease is commonly disfigurement, the unselfishness of their action is nothing the less."

A later issue says:—
Miss Marie Mount, who contracted smallpox, while acting as nurse at the pest house, has recovered entirely and will be released from that institution this afternoon. This will leave but four patients in the hospital and all are getting along nicely."

BELLICOSE EX-SEO.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Mr. Reitz, former Secretary of State in the Transvaal Government, has handed to Col. J. Mc Bride, who served as an officer in the Boer army during the war, a Transvaal flag, wrapped in a parcel on the outside of which the former Minister had written the following lines:—

"Though many a sigh and tear it cost,
For those who rose at freedom's call,
'Tis better to have fought and lost,
Than never to have fought at all."

Mr. Reitz at the same time told his friend that he would never return to South Africa unless he did so with a rifle in his hand. He characterized as "damnable" Lord Milner's treatment of the people confined in the concentration camps.

MEN ALL PICKED UP ON ARRIVAL

Big Demand for Harvesters at Winnipeg—Full Complement of 2,000 Wanted.

Agents will have to do Some Great Hustling—Big Wages—Ideal Weather

Toronto, Aug. 26.—"Harvest on with a rush; men all picked up on arrival Friday; party all away by this morning's train; will want full complement of 2,000, as announced."

The above telegram was received from Hugh McKellar, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Winnipeg, to-day, by James Hartney, Manitoba immigration agent in this city.

As not more than 11,000 men have arrived at Winnipeg so far agents will have to do some great hustling to get the necessary additional 9,000 for the excursions on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

BIG WAGES BEING OFFERED.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Up to this morning 10,000 eastern harvest hands had arrived in the city, and fully 9,500 had been sent to distant harvest fields. There is general disappointment that more have not come. Fully 20,000 men are required to cope with the harvest and they are not in sight yet. Farmers are getting nervous and appeals for help are coming in from many quarters. In some instances in the rush to get men farmers have offered as high as $55 per month and board. Dakota farmers are offering $2.50 per day and board, and quite a number of the young men from Ontario are said to have crossed the boundary line. They will probably be sorry, for the C. P. R. announce that the reduced return rate will be given only to those who can prove that they have worked in Canada. Warrants are out for a number of the harvesters who got drunk on the way up and looted the station restaurants.

IDEAL WEATHER.

Winnipeg, Man., August 26.—The weather still continues to be ideal from the farmers standpoint, and all reports are favorable, many additional places report harvesting well under way to-day.

GRAIN BLOCKADE PREDICTED.

Winnipeg, Man., August 26.—Some papers through the west predict a grain blockade this fall, claiming that there is not sufficient rolling stock to take care of the harvest product. The railway companies, however, have some hundreds of box cars under construction and are making big efforts to be ready for the rush.

SOLD AT BARGAIN

Canadian Arch, Which Cost over £1,000, Sold for £20—Used for Building.

London, August 26.—The Canadian arch in Whitehall, which cost over £1,000 to erect, has been dismantled and sold for £20 to an Ealing merchant, who will use the material for building purposes. The timber used in the construction of the arch weighed forty tons.

DUKE WILL WED

His Choice is a Charming German Duchess, Now Just Seventeen Years Old.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—It is reported the Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, known outside his own country as the Tsarvitch, is engaged to marry the second daughter of the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the Duchess Cecile Augustine Marie, who is just as charming and of the same refined, delicate type of beauty as her sister, who married Prince Christian of Denmark. The Grand Duke is 24, the Duchess 17.

CON. GAME

St. Catharines Farmer Thought He Bought $1,000,000 Building very Cheap.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—Gordon Pearsall, a farmer living near St. Catharines, Ont., has purchased the mammoth Elliott square building for $1,200, the fake deal being put through by a confidence man, who secured $800 down and then lit out, while the unsuspecting farmer went home to get the balance of the money. The swindle was perpetrated on Monday last. Pearsall came to Buffalo to deposit $600 and wandered into the Elliott square, where he met the confidence man, who introduced himself as J. Milton McCormick, who gave orders to the employees and had the air of a man of wealth. Pearsall confided in him and finally a bargain was struck.

To accept the inevitable quietly and introduced himself as J. Milton McCormick, who gave orders to the employees and had the air of a man of wealth. Pearsall confided in him and finally a bargain was struck.

DOES NOT SEEM LIKE INVASION

Increased Demand from the United States for British Iron, Prices go up.

Effect of United States Trust is not Dreaded as it was Last Year

London, Aug. 26.—The increased demand for British iron from Chicago, New York and Philadelphia has sent up prices here. A report that orders have been received for 80,000 tons has not been confirmed with authority, but the American demand for manufactured iron and steel has sufficed to stiffen prices and to compensate for declining trade with India and Australia and the stagnant conditions in South Africa.

When the United States steel combination was formed, there was a general conviction among British ironmasters that there must be a defensive movement among manufacturers here, and in Germany and Belgium. The exports of iron and steel from these countries has been increasing steadily since December, and the effect of the United States trust is not dreaded as it was last year. The British market has not been converted into a dumping ground for United States iron and steel, and prices have risen with the increased demand for export to the United States.

LONG LIVE KING

Shah of Persia's Good Wishes for British Sovereign—Prays for Prosperity.

London, Aug. 26.—The Times publishes the text of a valedictory message from the Shah of Persia to King Edward. It was sent from Calcutta as follows:— "On landing at Calcutta, I desire once more to express to your Majesty my sincere thanks for the kind and sympathetic welcome which was accorded me during my enjoyable stay in London, equally through your Majesty, her Majesty the Queen and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and for the pleasant company of His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught. Your Majesty may be certain I carry away a pleasant and never-to-be-effaced remembrance of my visit to England. I pray God for the continuance of your reign, the happiness of your august family and the prosperity of your dominions."

TORMENT GIRLS

Boys see to it that new Chicago Messengers lead strenuous lives.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26.—The girl messengers have not been let go by the Western Union and Illinois Telegraph companies. On the contrary, they are a big factor in the juvenile strike now going on. They are leading strenuous lives, as everybody down town had an opportunity to observe this morning. A band of boys kept things lively all day. Wherever they were found rushing like a tribe of Comanche Indians, a daintily dressed messenger girl could be found in front, doing the liveliest sprint possible with skirts. The girls were surrounded by the youngsters in front of the billboard on the Adams street side of the new postoffice. Policemen made their way to the maidens and beat off their tormentors. Shouts of derision followed the procession of policemen as they marched the girls into a big department store nearby, where they mingled with the crowd and got away.

The steple will last no longer than the foundation.

When at Rome he will Discuss a Commercial Agreement with Italian Government

Paris, Aug. 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is expected, when at Rome will discuss with the Italian Government a commercial agreement with Canada. He will also endeavor to arrive at an understanding with regard to Italian immigrants sent to the Dominion.

The Canadian Premier lunched with President Loubet to-day at Rambouillet, and will be entertained to-night at dinner by M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27.

A POLICY FOR ALL CANADIANS.

Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party, speaking at the banquet of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, held at Halifax last week, spoke in unhesitating and certain terms in his advocacy of the building up of Canada. He expressed his confidence in the future national life of this great country, and called for the adoption of a policy best suited to the attainment of the greatest good. Mr. Borden fails to see why Canada should continue to be the third best customer of the United States, when our patronage, which amounted to $120,000,000 during 1902, is extended at the expense of our own manufacturers. Neither can he see any reason for permitting United States manufacturers to make a slaughter market of Canada, and his declaration, that our industries should have full and adequate protection, will commend itself to thoughtful Canadians.

On another great issue now before the Canadian public—preferential trade—Mr. Borden stood on strong ground. He urged that a factory in Canada contributed quite as much to the welfare of the empire, as a similar institution in Yorkshire; with the additional advantage to this country, that home industry guaranteed home prosperity. Mr. Borden, in striking this keynote of "Canada for Canadians," has raised himself above the mere shallow feelings of a leader speaking for effect, and has shown that his heart and the hearts of his followers are with the welfare of their native land, as well as the empire.

Underlying Mr. Borden's dictums is the consciousness that Canada can furnish homes for the millions, who, living in the United States and other countries, produce the commodities which we so generously purchase. All that is needed to secure to ourselves the profits of this great foreign output is adequate protection. Then, instead of having our wants provided for on alien soil, the artisan so employed would be forced to transfer his domicile to Canada. That would mean the introduction of a redundant stimulant to Canadian trade, and instead of ranking as a great consumer, we would become a great source of supply for the wants of other nations.

Once we had established our right to consideration as a producing centre, our home markets would furnish our great agricultural sections with an almost unlimited outlet for their commodities. Adequate protection would secure for the farmer the same privileges at home, as it would open up to the manufacturer and his employees. It is a give and take proposition, elementary in its simplicity. Instead of sending his wheat to the textile worker in Great Britain, the farmer would find the Britisher who now consumes our farm produce miles away from its source, comfortably settled in Canada, and paying a comparatively better price for food-stuffs. There would be no ocean freight charges, no duties, no insurance, no forwarding charges for the agriculturist to meet, and there would be the additional advantage of a market almost at hand, where trade conditions could be more readily observed and taken advantage of. The fallacious argument that the farmer "pays the piper," under protection, will not stand intelligent analysis. The "adequate protection" advocated by Mr. Borden is a broad and comprehensive system of encouragement to all classes of Canadian producers—of which perhaps the farmers is to be the most envied.

BRINGING IT INTO CONTEMPT.

Toronto Telegram.
Some Canadian judges are making it rather difficult for Canadians to maintain respect for the bench.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales.
Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

The Monitor, of Fort Scott, Kansas, is calling the attention of the world to the fact that a man named Henry Norman, just over the border in the state of Missouri, is about to celebrate his 104th birthday. A lesson to the young is taught in the fact that the gentleman does not chew, smoke or use tobacco in any form. He gave it up on his 100th birthday.

Springfield Republican.
The example of the Illinois newspaper which has begun the issue of the Bible as a serial (a process that will require about fifty years) recalls the Texas editor who came across the ten commandments somewhere and was so struck with their excellence that he clipped the passage and ran it under the head of "Gems of Current Thought."

A SAFE AGE.

London Business Illustrated.
The insuring of one's life is one of those things which one is most apt to put off. There are few, however, who postpone what ought to be the inevitable until so late a period in life as did the tough old smack owner of Grimsby. When he presented himself at the insurance office he was naturally asked his age. His reply was "ninety-four." "Why, my good man,

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Barrie Advance.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Wilfrid Mullock, Hon. W. S. Fielding, and other cabinet ministers who have been in England, are going to make an extensive tour of Europe before returning home. While absent they have succeeded in attending more social functions than any other body of Canadian ministers. In the matter of business they have failed dismally. They are defraying their expenses out of the $20,000 voted by themselves last session. Not that this sum will pay all the bills, but another vote in 1903 will be put through. And the incident reminds us that while probably $50,000 is being thus spent in pleasure, the Laurier government can only spare $7,000 per annum for the encouragement of Canadian agricultural societies.

BRER GRAHAM IS WILLIN'.

Brockville Recorder.
In St. Louis a young lady attempted to kiss a young gentleman and he actually hit her with his fist. He was fined $20 and Judge Snyder said: "A woman has a right to kiss a man at all times. This is a privilege we owe to the opposite sex." Hold up a bit. In this particular case no doubt the lady was kissable and the judge's remarks would apply, but on behalf of O. U. on the terms indicated by the judge, but suppose the fat woman in a circus, or say Carrie Nation, decided to collect the account, then what? If the judge will let us select the creditors he can make the accounts as numerous as he chooses, provided they do not call during business hours.

TURNING THE TABLES.

Harper's Monthly.
A minister in a country town once instituted a series of reform measures against the local organization analogous to Tammany. He began his political campaign by sending to the chief boss of the district a card upon which were written the number and chapter of a verse in the Bible. When the boss and his associates looked up the text they found it to be a "Yire-breathing threat against evil doers." The minister had hoped to awe them by the use of scripture. The worst resort in the town was a so-called hotel known as The First. The First was the headquarters of the "gang" and the minister preached badly against it for two months preceding election, making "The First" a household word synonymous with evil. The evil doers, however, not only refused to tremble but they won the election.

Some months afterwards, when all was going at the lively pace of old, the minister received a postal card which read thus: "Dear Sir,—We respectfully refer you to the 14th chapter of Isaiah, 8th verse.—'The First.'"

BANDITS FOILED.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 26.—A west-bound Northern Pacific passenger train was held up at Sand Point, Idaho, 65 miles east of here, last night. The robbers, of whom there were seven, forced the engineer to stop the train, after which they uncoupled the baggage car. Then they compelled the engineer at the muzzle of a revolver to pull up the track about three miles further, where they tried to wreck the baggage car with dynamite. The explosives failed to work, and after spending 15 minutes with the robbers decamped, allowing the engineer to go back to the train with his engine. Two other bandits

"More haste, less speed," and "hasten slowly," are proverbs born of experience that some things can't be hurried without loss or waste. That is specially true of eating. The railway lunch habit, "five minutes for refreshments," is a habit most disastrous to the health. You may hurry your eating. You can't hurry your digestion, and the neglect to allow proper time for this important function is the beginning of sorrows to many a busy man. When the tongue is foul, the head aches, when there are sour or bitter risings, undue fullness after eating, hot flushes, irritability, nervousness, irresolution, cold extremities, and other annoying symptoms, be sure the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition have "broken down." THE WONDERS OF THE SOO

An Interesting Letter From a Young Chathamite who Visited There.

The Splendid Development of Business There—Expect Additional Increase.

The following interesting letter from Will Stevens, son of Mr. N. H. Stevens, has been kindly loaned to The Planet for publication:

Potosky, Mich., Aug. 23, '92.
My Dear Father—I arrived here last night from the Soo and will leave for Traverse City at 9:10 this morning. We left Sarnia Tuesday on the Huron and had a fine sail up. My fellow traveler, Harrison, knew one of the Chatham hatters, while another was a Chatham fellow whom I knew, so we had the best there was. There were about two hundred and fifty passengers on board. We enjoyed the scenery very much and the time was passed pleasantly enough. We stayed with H. A. Harrison, a cousin of Frank's, at the American Soo the two days we sojourned there. Mr. H. has a large jewelry store, besides owning a business block. Our first afternoon there we did not do much as it rained all the time, but this gave us a chance to become acquainted with the Harrisons, who made it very pleasant for us. On Thursday Mr. Harrison took us over to the Canadian Soo, where we spent all day going through the several Clergue industries. We drove down to the steel works. All along the way we passed new houses just being put up, and counted thirteen brick stores on the main street that were either built or not occupied yet or the excavations made for them. They expect hundreds of people in there this summer. Mr. Harrison knew the manager of the steel plant so that we were shown everything from the melting of the pig iron to the finished rail. The rails are made in a long building of brick and steel, so that there is no possibility of a fire. Part of it has a second floor of steel, where the molten iron is put from one receptacle to another. This building is a pivot which allowed it to work freely and by machines they poured the iron into it from the first one. They have a building near the one the rails were made in in which the blowing machines. These machines pass a stream of air into the cylindrical part in the rail building, blowing the dirt from the iron out through a big stack. The iron is left here about ten minutes and all the time a glaring flame passes over the stack, which can be seen for miles around at night. After all the dirt is blown out, which is known by the flame gradually getting clearer and brighter, the molten mixture of something (rather indefinite, but I couldn't find out what it was) is run on a carrier and poured into the iron. The mixture was now called steel. They have a small railway in the building with small donkey engines. These run the moulds on flat cars about eight feet long under the second vat. The vat is then turned on its pivot and the steel goes down into the moulds, about two and a half moulds being tilted from one vat full. One flat car holds two moulds. The steel is allowed to cool enough to stand itself and then a travelling crane is brought down over the flat car. This crane raises the end of the building to the other, doing all manner of lifting. Lifts the heavy mould off the steel, leaving a glowing ingot on the car. The mould is placed on another car and then the tongs come down again and pick up the ingot same as a piece of ice and deposit it in another heater. The heat comes from gas supplied from their own gas works. After it is heated again to just the point of melting the crane is again brought into requisition. It picks up the ingot and deposits it on the rolls, which are kept cool by running water, and it is run through and through the rolls until it is twice its own length. Then it is run down farther by means of revolving rollers, and placed under the cutting machine, which cuts it into two lengths. These pieces are transferred to carriers which run them to another part of the building, where there is another travelling crane. This crane picks up the glowing pieces and puts them into a third heater, and they are heated as before and afterwards rolled into steel rails. The rails are allowed to cool, and two men, with the assistance of a heavy derrick hammer, straighten them out. They use their eye only in proving the straightness of the rails, as they are experts at it and do not need instruments. After straightening the necessary holes are bored through the rail and then it is transferred to the flat car ready for shipment. All the rails are 80 pounds to the yard. There is a small piece, about six feet, taken off every twentieth rail, to be tested. This is put on two concrete supports and then a large weight is allowed to fall from about twenty-two feet on the centre of the rail. Sometimes the rail breaks, but generally it just bends. A man takes the curvature of the bend and puts it down in a little book for reference. All bad rails are sent back to be recast. The weights of all the iron and steel are kept as well as the waste material, so they know just what it costs to make a rail. The heat is stamped on the end, which is usually about 4,000. They know just what they use for each ingot. The highest number of rails produced in one day so far is 537. The wages run from $2.00 to $7.00 a day of twelve hours, but the men are idle a great part of the time. From the steel plant we went to the pulp mills and were shown all through that. You have seen them

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of Golden Medical Discovery. I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers for I know it cured me."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath.

before, however, so I won't weary you with a description of the two electric railways, one in the Canadian and one in the American Soo. He contemplates running electric cars across the river on a ferry, making a regular fare from any part of one Soo to any part of the other. The Soo Ferry Co. are not very obliging, and Clergue tried to buy them out or get concessions from them, but they would not sell out nor would they concede anything. Clergue immediately went to Detroit and purchased the ferry boat. Fortunes from the ferry people there, and now runs it for himself between the two Soos, and it looks as though the other company will be frozen out. The big water-power-house on the American Soo side is nearing completion, and when finished, will develop about one hundred and sixty-five thousand horse-power. It has 81 turbines. Clergue owns about two miles of country down the river from the water power, which he is holding to sell to industries he expects to bring here. The people expect to have a city with a population of 50,000 in five years. Every second house seems to be a new one, so if the boom keeps up, they won't be disappointed. The first industry to come is an immense paper mill concern. The wages are $1.75 a day in both Soos, and men are scarce at that.

We drove down to the Country Club, of which Mr. Harrison is a member, yesterday morning, where we spent a very enjoyable time. I had the pleasure of seeing Mark Hanna's daughter, who is staying there for the summer. Before my train left for the afternoon we went down to the fish hatcheries and the rapids. We got a couple of Indians to take us over them in a canoe. It was very exciting, and once or twice I felt as though I would rather be on land. The Indians show marvelous skill in guiding the canoe out and in among the rocks, with the water dashing up into their faces. We were provided with rubber cloths to enable us to keep dry, but we got soaked just the same.

Well, I must close, as my train leaves in twenty minutes. I expect to get home Wednesday night.

Yours affectionately, WILL.

DR. PITCHER HELPS AN OLD MAN

The Kidney Weakness, Irritability, and Frequent Rising at Night, All Cured by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

People advanced in years are so prone to kidney trouble. The filters of the body become clogged up and out of order after years of incessant work keeping the blood pure. There is too frequent urination, disturbing the rest at night, pain or scalding, weakness of the back, and retention of the urine, and severe pain in the back, making stooping or rising a painful operation. For these conditions there is no remedy so effective as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They make old people rejoice in renewed strength and vigor of the whole urinary system, take the pain and stiffness out of the back, and permit undisturbed rest at night. Mr. Joseph Rippon, 503 Dundas street, Woodstock, Ont., who has been in the book and stationery business for over thirty-five years, says: "With people reaching my age, sixty-seven years, more or less backache and kidney trouble is not uncommon. For over a year I have had more or less trouble and irritation in that direction, which I lay to the long hours on my feet of years past. Wishing to put an end to a trouble that was growing progressively worse, I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and am pleased to say they are satisfactory in every respect. I did not quite finish the one bottle I got, yet all pain and irritation are completely gone. I am pleased to recommend them to others."

SILK COATS AND HATS.

Dust Coats Have Become Very Elegant and Elaborate.

Dust coats are now so elegant and elaborate that they form quite a smart toilet. To show the prevalence of gay colors a pink alpaca cloak seen at the races was trimmed with tinted lace and black satin and had large enamel buttons in black and pink touched on the same occasion had quaint trimmings of bronze silk edged with floral embroideries in blue and yellow.

Another smart dust cloak of biscuit colored mohair was decorated with Russian embroidery in shades of red and pink, and the tucked collar was edged with an applique of embroidered poppies cut out in taffeta and shaded with crevel silk.

Many of the newer summer hats are trimmed with fruit and foliage. One shape seen recently had for sole trimming a big wreath of red and white currants which fell over the brim while the foliage formed a wreath around the crown. Tiny pearls nestle in folds of blue tulle, and their foliage is almost exact to nature.

The pretty little garden party dress shown is of tucked white silk mull trimmed with wide bands of black chantilly lace. The waist has a bolero of the lace, with three narrow velvet ribbons for shoulder straps. The front is of the white mull softly draped. The sleeve ruffles are also of the mull. The sleeves as well as the skirt are tucked perpendicularly. There is a full gathered ruffle around the bottom of the skirt.

The hat is of velvet leaves and black velvet.

FASHION NOTES.

Length of Skirts, Picture Hats, Long Veils.

Two items are indispensable to the up-to-date toilet, the cape ruffle and corsage bouquet.

Parasols are in delicate coloring or in white decorated with black or even lace. The chine sunshade has a Dresden china ball for a handle and gold wires. The duffy type of parasol, on the other hand, is lined with puffed or drawn chiffon and rows of soft lace.

Skirts for country wear should be quite short. In Paris they are wearing their morning gowns to clear the ground. All the dressy gowns, however, are usually long and trailing.

Picture hats are being worn to a large extent, particularly black ones trimmed with a single large ostrich feather.

Veils are being worn even longer than ever, the ends in some cases reaching to the waist line. Du Barry veils of black net trimmed with a wide lace edge are very popular. A pretty child's gown for cool summer days is here shown. The material is white veiling made over taffeta and trimmed with narrow insertion. The belt ribbon is of pale blue lousine.

Especially suitable to those who do not like strong whisky. Being light and easily assimilable, it is highly recommended by physicians, to persons of sedentary habits, weak digestion, bilious temperament or troubled with disease of the urinary organs or bladder.

Mixed with Soda it makes a very refreshing and invigorating beverage.

HEALTH RESORTS AND ATTRACTIONS

There is no region in America richer in mineral springs than Colorado, while throughout the state there are pleasure resorts and splendid places of attraction of various kinds in great numbers. It has been truly said that all of Colorado is a health resort, and this statement is sustained by the most eminent physicians of the country. What with its beautiful cities on the plains, its gorgeous mountain peaks and lovely valleys, its awful canyons and their rushing torrents, its forests and streams, its broad green parks, and charming crystal lakes amid the mountains, what more could nature provide or man desire for his welfare or his delights. Not only the health-giving mineral and thermal springs, which gush spontaneously from the mountain sides, but in all the rest of these charms of nature is found a panacea for the ills and cares of body and mind diseased.

To enable persons to reach these favored localities without unnecessary expenditure of time or money, the Union Pacific has put in effect very low rates and splendid train service, three trains leaving Missouri River daily for Denver, one of which is "The Colorado Special," which is the finest train in the West. Accommodations are provided for all classes of passengers, the equipment including free reclining chair cars, dining cars, buffet, smoking cars, drawing room sleepers and day coaches.

CHARGE MAY BE MORE SERIOUS

Condition of Monck, Victim of Yesterday's Assault, Continues Critical.

His Assaultant Confined in Castle Mercer—Bail Has Been Refused.

Clarence Tickner, the young man who assaulted William Monck at Drader's mill yesterday afternoon, was arrested yesterday at five o'clock by Chief Constable Major Coogan and is now confined in the cells at Castle Mercer.

Tickner was arrested on the charge of assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm, but the authorities are at present waiting to see if Monck will recover from the assault. If he does not, Tickner will come up on a far more serious charge.

Rumors were in circulation in the streets this morning to the effect that Monck was dead. These, however, are untrue, although the unfortunate victim of the assault is in a very precarious condition and but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

At 2.30 this afternoon Dr. Tye had visited his patient and reported that he was no better and was in a very bad shape.

An attempt has been made to procure bail for Tickner, but this will not be granted until Dr. Tye makes a favorable report on Monck's condition.

TRAMP'S JUMP

It Landed him Finally in the Public General Hospital—Genuine Knight of Road.

A man named Murphy, residence everywhere, profession tramp, was brought into Chatham yesterday morning on Conductor Pierce's train from Wallaceburg, suffering from a severely broken leg.

Murphy has been meeting with hard luck lately and his broken leg is the result of an unfortunate jump from a Lake Erie freight in the glass town. Murphy attempted to steal a ride between the bumpers from Wallaceburg to Sarnia. He got on all right at Wallaceburg station and the wiley tramp was just commencing to enjoy a pleasant ride when the train stopped at the pumping house station. Now Murphy had given no orders to the conductor to stop between stations and he was impatient to reach the end of his journey, he thought he would quietly drop off, investigate the matter and find out the cause of the delay. His intentions were good but alas when he jumped off he landed in the wrong place and his leg went down in a deep hole. He was found by the trainmen and was taken back to Wallaceburg. He is now in the General Hospital with prospects of remaining there for some time.

Murphy is a tall, healthy, well built man weighing about 180 pounds and has followed the life on the rail for some time.

HANDSOME BLOCK

The present Northway building is about to be transformed into one of the finest pieces of architectural beauty in the city.

This building was purchased some time ago, by A. I. McCall & Co., the Northway Co., having decided to move into the new store in the McKeeough block. The contract for rebuilding the old store for Mr. McCall has been given to Robertson & McKim, who will commence work as soon as the Northway people move out.

A. I. McCall will occupy the ground floor which will be divided into two departments, one for drugs, and the other for optical work. These departments will be kept separate. He will also put in a large soda-water fountain, for the summer trade. The whole store will be fitted up with new quarter cut oak fittings and silent salesmen which are now being made by the S. Hadley Co. There will also be two offices on the ground floor at the back, opening off 5th street. One of these will be occupied by Banker Merritt, and the other by S. B. Arnold, barrister. The door opening to the drug store will be situated on the corner. A stairway will be put in where the present door is on King street, and will lead to the second and third stories.

The second floor will be newly fitted up with offices for Dr. A. W. Thornton, dentist, Dr. Charles Bell and a studio for Misses Webster and Pratt. The third floor will be divided into two departments. One will be fitted up as a photograph gallery for N. C. Gibson, and the other will be used by Mr. McCall for a manufacturing room.

Everything will be ready in the new building by the middle of October. Mrs. Weldon will conduct her Weldon's exchange in A. I. McCall's old stand.

Everything in the new building will be entirely new and up-to-date, and when it is completed Mr. McCall will have one of the finest buildings in the city.

THE INTERNATIONAL MATCH.
Toronto, Aug. 26.—Secretary John E. Hall to-day issued a call for a meeting of the Canadian Cricket Association, to be held at the Walker House on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22.

The chief object of the meeting will be to discuss the international match with the United States and to choose the eleven to represent Canada.

In the meantime Secretary Hall has sent notices to over sixty first class cricketers in Canada, asking them if they will be able to take a place on the international team in case they are chosen. Answers are expected before the meeting next week.

The players included are from Halifax, Quebec, Montreal and all the prominent Ontario clubs. Although nothing official has been received, it is suggested that the match be played in Philadelphia on either Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12 and 13, or a week later, on the 19th and 20th. The earlier dates will probably be chosen.

Practises of the cricket club are being held every evening between 4 and 6 o'clock, but a better attendance is called for the remainder of the week so as to be in shape for the Pittsburgh game on Monday next.

LETTER BOX

A WARM SUBJECT.

To the Editor of The Planet.

Dear Sir,—In the issue of The Planet of the 14th inst., appears what purports to be an answer to my remarks on the coal question, by Mr. J. L. Scott. I should not have paid any more attention to it as it matters very little to me why coal is $8 on $10 for that matter, but Mr. Scott's letter and also a letter from Mr. E. J. Corbett leaves the impression that I had either made a false statement or else I did not know what I was talking about. Now as to any questions I simply asked Detroit at $5.50 per ton for winter delivery he simply refers you to a letter from Mr. Corbett, and in answer to that I will simply state the facts as I know them to be, and as I stated to your reporter, a friend of mine went to Pitman & Dean, one of the largest coal firms in Detroit, on August 7th and ordered his coal at $5.50 per ton to be delivered any time before Christmas, and the firm said they would deliver before December. Mr. Corbett says one or two dealers had not advanced the price above $6.50, but they had no coal to deliver. And he also said he had not heard of any dealer accepting orders for future delivery. Well, all I have to say to that is that Mr. Corbett had better make some enquiry before he undertakes to enlighten Chathamites on the coal business in Detroit.

There is another thing that strikes me as rather an unusual way to treat customers. I was told by one of our city coal dealers that the supply on hand in Chatham at present was not purchased at any higher price than most of the coal purchased last year, and why should consumers pay $8 per ton just because the dealers have the chance to charge what they like. If we got our coal last year 50 cents below value, those unfortunate enough to have to buy now, are paying it back with usury. For my part I don't think coal will be above $7 this winter at the most, and I think, Mr. Editor, you could apply those beautiful adjectives, "Blue Ruin John," to more of our citizens than my good friend, the M. P. P. for East Kent.

Thanking you for occupying so much of your valuable space, I am

Yours truly,

J. W. HUMPHREY.

William E. H. Lecky, the historian, Unionist member of the House of Commons from Dublin University, will retire from Parliament at the end of October.

ON THE OTHER SIDE

A HOME WOMAN HAS SOMETHING TO SAY FOR WOMEN DOCTORS.

Dr. Stowe-Gullen's Rebuttal Her Prophecy and Its Realization—The Wider Sphere Does Not Render Woman Less Tender, Less Feminine—Toronto Woman Doctors Acquit Themselves Well—Work and Womanliness.

There was a time, not so long ago, when the woman doctor had not been heard of, nor dreamed of, in our fair land. There are those with strong enough prejudices to wish she had never been heard of, nor dreamed of, to this day. But she is here, and, to judge from the way she is progressing, she is here to stay. It is a good thing for the home woman to come in touch with her sisters of a wider, though not a higher, sphere. It teaches her lessons, helps to do away with her prejudices, and quickens her sympathy. Until I was a guest at the annual banquet of the Woman's Medical College of late, I had really no knowledge of what the pioneer in this profession was called on to pass through, or how man had impeded her way.

The woman doctor has had no royal road of learning. One easily gathered this from the experiences told. When Dr. Stowe-Gullen, whose long held sacred to the male persuasion! Not only would the whole system of education be upset, but the very foundation of social life jeopardized. It would never do, never do!

"Then," said the girl, "those people who sit in darkness are not so far astray when they destroy" all the girl babies. The custom might as well prevail in this land of boasted civilization, for if we are not allowed to grow to our full stature intellectually we have no business being alive. And remember this, the day is approaching when you will have to open your doors. Good-bye, was it? And prophetic as well. For exactly seven years later the doors of Toronto University opened to admit women.

It is to the honor of women doctors that they have acquitted themselves so well. At this annual banquet we who were among them, but not of them, could not but note that they were a body of workers, at once sincere, earnest and intelligent. These women, with strength and knowledge on their side, and the best of life before them, are bound to wield a potent influence. They are in love with their profession, not afraid of work, and there is no self behind the men doctors. They have come through the arduous years of preparation, the tax on brain and body, just as their big brothers have. The profession have come, and with more to their credit, since their big brothers never had confronting them, barring their way and hindering their progress, the accumulated prejudices of centuries.

The woman doctor has had her own time. Things are easier for her now, though there are still a large number who think medicine an impossible task for women. The Adam of the medical world evidently had no longing for Eve to enter his Eden. He kept her out as long as he could. But in the end she entered, and very soon was making herself quite at home there. She has a way of getting things. We hear the expression at times, "Women have no staying powers." Let this be as it may. There are no longer let them get their powers. Once let them feel that they have the right to a certain place, or privilege, and 'tis a strong hand will hold them back from attaining it.

But the very unwillingness of men to have women enter certain professions is perhaps the best compliment that could be paid, for it shows they are esteemed formidable rivals, and feared as such. This fear is rooted in the old time when the chief end of woman was to inspire man is past. An inspiration she is, and always will be, but this is not all. She has found her worth. She has her own life work to do, and if she be a true woman her aim is to do it thoroughly and well.

He did not look convinced. Our prejudices die hard. Education, culture, travel, these do not put an end to them; nothing does but experience, and then the process is a lengthy one.

A good woman is about the best thing this old world holds, and it seems to me she ought to be allowed to be as wise as she wishes, and as useful as she can be in any walk of life. Men should have enough confidence in her to give her the right hand of fellowship and the advantage due to a beginner. It is all she asks. No fear of her being less tender, less feminine, because of her calling. Work never flied an atom of womanliness from anyone. It is the one who knows the most, and does the most, who is womanly to her finger-tips. She has learned the worth of a soul and realizes that humanity and divinity are near akin. When goodness and truth are hers they are hers for any walk of life. So, when objections are raised to our women doctors let it be on some other ground than the old worn one of the work unbecoming them. They have not lost either feminine virtues—or feminine failings—by the years of preparation and of practice. And let it be on some other ground than the old worn one of the work being too hard for them, for a healthier, cheerier lot of women than the women doctors of Toronto it would be hard to find. They maintain that there is pressing need of a woman's hospital, and are most anxious to secure one. Many of the leading women of the city are taking a warm interest in the matter, and a few years hence Toronto will likely boast of a well-equipped and well-managed woman's hospital.

The doctors practising in our midst are: Dr. Skinner, President of the association; Dr. Lelia Davis, President-elect; Dr. Stowe-Gullen, Dr. Bertha Dymond, Secretary College Hospital Board; Dr. Ida Lyne, Dr. Gray, Dr. Borden, Dr. McCallum, Dr. Julia Thomas, Dr. Greenway, Dr. Hume and Dr. Jean Wilson. A cleveland lady, Dr. Helen MacMurchy, is at present taking a post-graduate course at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. Many of the graduates of the Woman's Medical College hold important positions in the States and in other countries. Among the guests of the evening was Miss Clara Brett Martin whose bright response to a toast was listened to with great attention. She enjoys the distinction of being the one woman lawyer, and one easily gathered from her remarks that she had to meet and overcome difficulties innumerable.

Success to you, pioneers in the different professions! The world is God's big workshop and we are all the profession have come, and with more to their credit, since their big brothers never had confronting them, barring their way and hindering their progress, the accumulated prejudices of centuries.

JAPANESE JOTTINGS.

Chrysanthemums served as a salad are a favorite article of diet among the Japanese.

At a Japanese banquet it is considered a compliment to exchange cups with a friend.

Japanese cooks are the most cruel in the world. They cut every atom of flesh off a living fish piece meal without first causing death.

The lower class of the Japanese employ hardly any other material than paper for their clothing. Where wages are exceedingly low, cloth is an impossible extravagance.

Every hotel in Japan has a fan, special to itself, containing a view of the hotel and a blessing from the writings of Confucius. One of these is always given to the departing guest.

Many Japanese women are undergoing the slight surgical operation necessary to straighten the slant of the eyelid, which distinguishes them so unmistakably from Caucasian women.

The Japanese eat more fish than any other people in the world. With them meat eating is a foreign innovation, confined to the rich, or, rather, to those rich people who prefer it to the national diet.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are also utterly worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

For these reasons we announce that our proprietors are the principal shareholders in

THE YANADIS OF INDIA.

Some of the Peculiar Customs of This Queer Tribe.

In the Nellore district of the Madras presidency live the Yanadis, a strange tribe, as may be seen from a report which has been issued by the authorities of the Madras government museum. They live in forests and that they are little removed from savagery is indicated by the absence of implements or monumental material, the primitive hunting and fishing methods followed by many of the tribe and the habit of eating the almost raw flesh of the game they kill after slightly heating or scorching it. They are fearless in catching cobras, which they draw out of their holes without any fear of their fangs, and it is supposed that they protect themselves against the effects of snake bites by swallowing the poison sacs of the snakes. Especially singular is the manner in which they produce fire by friction. For this purpose they prepare two sticks, one short, the other long. In the former a square cavity is made, and it is held firmly in the ground while the long stick is twirled rapidly to and fro in the hole. Instead of charcoal powder they use rags or even dried leaves, which they find little difficulty in lighting.

The Origin of Many Names.

The popular terminations of pet names in earlier times were in, on, et, kin, cock and others. Emma was shortened to Em, and for love's sake it became Emmott or Emmet. Matilda was first Till, then Tillot. Bartholomew was Bart, then Little Bart or Bartlett. The popularity of these pet names is seen in the great number of them which eventually became family names.

The Tillotsons, the Emmetts and the Bartletts are numerous in England and America, although few dream that their names were originally pet and not surnames. Before the use of diminutive forms from the fact that the same name was not infrequently given to two or three children of the same family. The original of the surname Robinson is the pet name of Robin or Little Robert.

As Germans of today add then to children's names as a term of endearment, making Anna Ammen, Elizabeth Lischen, so our English ancestry used the equivalent kin. Watkin was Little Walter, Simkin Little Simon, Perkin Little Peter. Terminations in kin and cock were in use among the lower orders—that is, among the Anglo-Saxons—while the diminutives in, on and et were more aristocratic and used by families of Norman blood.

Ran Away From Doctor.

The family hope and pride, five years of age, was out of sorts. He didn't eat well, and he had a slight cold. Mamma thought the doctor should be sent for, and papa concurred. The doctor looked at the little chap's tongue, felt his pulse and left some little pills. The next day he came again. The boy's cold hung on, and so did the doctor. At the end of the sixth visit, however, the father thought the patient well enough, so he paid the doctor off with the understanding that he need not come again. Nevertheless, the next day saw the doctor arrive, and the day following. Not wishing to offend the family thereupon bundled up the boy and went away for a visit. The doctor could not charge for a visit to a locked up house, and that was an easy way to escape his attentions and his bill.

Hope Springs Eternal.

The patience of fishermen who really love the sport is the theme of many stories. One is told by a man who, travelling on foot through part of England, came upon a solitary fisherman who looked as if time and the world might pass away without disturbing his content.

"Have you fished long in this stream?" asked the traveler.

"Eighteen year," was the calm response.

"Get many bites?" was the next question.

The fisherman scarcely turned his gaze from the rod in his hands.

"Five year ago in this very spot I had a fine bite," he answered hopefully.

He Was Only the Master.

"George," exclaimed Mrs. Ferguson, with flashing eyes, "am I the mistress of this house or am I not?"

"You certainly are," replied Mr. Ferguson, with alacrity. "What's the matter now?"

"I've discharged that impudent hired girl, and she refuses to leave. I want you to go to the kitchen and bundle her out, neck and crop!"

"Settle it between yourselves, Laura," said Mr. Ferguson weakly. "I won't have anything to do with it. I'm only the master of the house."

An Apt Suggestion.

The Rev. Samuel Longfellow was a poet, as well as was his more eminent brother. He was the compiler of a hymnbook for churches, in which work he was assisted by a fellow-clergyman of the same Christian name. On applying to a third member of the profession to give the book a title the latter suggested that it be called the Sam book.

Symptoms Dangerous.

Mrs. Baldwin—That husband of mine is a most careless man. I expect he'll lose his head one of these days.

Mrs. Bunn—I see he's lost the next thing to it—his hair.

It is a pity the baldheaded man can't transplant the unnecessary beard on his chin to the smooth spot on his pate.

AN EASTER DISCORD

By GRACE G. KINCAID

Copyright, 1921, by T. C. McClure

The coolness between Mrs. Wentworth and Mrs. Drewelowe was beginning to occasion remark. They met frequently, for Mrs. Drewelowe was the gracious mistress of a beautiful Euclid avenue home, while just around the corner, upon a short and unpretentious side street, stood the smaller house rented by Professor and Mrs. Wentworth.

Years ago they had been girls together in the little village of Mayville, when she of the stately mansion and been only Maria Dusenbury, daughter of the most shiftless man in the village.

In those days Mrs. Wentworth had lived on no side street, but in the stately white pillared mansion which crowned the highest hill in Mayville and which was pointed to with pride as the home of Judge Titus. Fate plays strange tricks! After the death of the judge, when the lawyers were quite thorough, somehow there was little or nothing left for the daughter, although one of the lawyers took his entire family abroad within the year and the other built himself a new house.

The trouble began at the Culture club. Mrs. Wentworth had felt sure she had detected a most peculiar smile upon Mrs. Drewelowe's face at the precise moment when she stood up to read her paper on "Egyptian Architecture." Then, later in the afternoon, Mrs. Roberts, also of Euclid avenue, had leaned over and said laughingly: "Mrs. Wentworth, Mrs. Drewelowe says she doesn't believe you ever wrote that paper. It was so good she thinks your husband must have written it."

Any clubwoman knows this is a most grievous insult. Mrs. Wentworth gave charming little teas in a modest, side street fashion, and the bitterness rankled in her heart to such an extent that she left Mrs. Drewelowe off her list the next week. Then there was an elaborate social function at the Euclid avenue mansion, and Mrs. Wentworth did not receive cards.

But the climax was reserved for Easter morning in the vestibule of the Euclid avenue church. Mrs. Drewelowe and Mrs. Wentworth met, and remembering the sacred threshold, bowed less coldly than usual, then gasped and stood transfixed. Taking in every frown and knot of lace, they realized that their beautiful new Easter bonnets were exactly alike.

Their husbands, balancing their hats carefully in one hand and with the other holding each a vestibule door, were courteously awaiting them. They had cordially shaken hands, for it had become dignified men to notice women's small quarrels.

Mrs. Drewelowe was first to recover. "A beautiful morning," she said in her sweet, even tones, and a bar of purple and yellow flashed from the window across the violets in her bonnet as she turned and swept after her husband.

Mrs. Wentworth bowed in silence, biting her lips in vexation, and raised a delicately gloved hand up to see if her bonnet, that had cost her so many economies, was really upon her head or upon that of rich Maria Drewelowe. She felt that now, as ever since they had lived in the city, Mrs. Drewelowe had the best of her.

A little path had opened through the garden of spring millinery across the congregation, and through it she saw Mrs. Drewelowe turn and stare directly back at her, smile in a superior way, then whisper something to Mrs. Roberts in the pew just behind, whereupon Mrs. Roberts laughed most immoderately, considering the time and place. The hot blood rushed to Mrs. Wentworth's face in such force as to make her quite dizzy. She knew what Mrs. Drewelowe had said as well as though she had heard every word.

Annie Wentworth, a clever content with running after me, has managed in some way to copy my bonnet, and don't you think, Mrs. Roberts, it is an outrage?"

Alas! Annie Wentworth, daughter of Judge Titus, to be thus openly doubted by a Dusenbury!

It was bad enough to be reduced to living on a side street, to watching her in the lead of the most exclusive set in the city, but to be accused of copying her clothes—that was the last straw. More! Indeed they'd move the lot of May! She would resign from the Culture club! They would go where she might never meet this regal, queenly daughter of aimless, shiftless old Dusenbury or her husband, who had made his fortune in kerosene, who had made his fortune in kerosene.

The minister soared away in magnificent flights of oratory, but Mrs. Wentworth's mind constantly returned to the problems of how the bonnets came to be alike and what Mrs. Drewelowe had discovered her treasure, the little milliner who made it possible for her, the wife of Professor Wentworth, to appear for $10 in bonnets which looked as though they had cost $30, the poor little relic of better days who lived in the old tumble-down brick building behind the cathedral and who had a wonderful knack for copying expensive bonnets. To place her oldest customer in such a humiliating position! Mrs. Wentworth turned cold all over with the remembrance of the whisper. Oh, the letter she would send with the bonnet straight back to that traitress!

She was quite hysterical by the time the last amen was pronounced and uttered the last amen pronounced home at a rapid pace. Patiently he listened to the time worn complaints—the wreck of her father's estate, the bitterness of seeing Maria Drewelowe in her beautiful home while she must live in an obscure corner.

Tenderly he soothed her and bathed her throbbing temples. Years of wedded life had taught him the futility of argument when his wife's mind was made up. He remembered, too, that for love of him she had refused Henry Drewelowe back in the old sunny days at Mayville.

Unable to be up the next morning, nevertheless she managed to induce a bitterly accusing note to the little milliner and dispatch it with the bonnet by a messenger boy. Several days elapsed, and no answer came. Finally in desperation she gathered her strength and, boarding a downtown car, was soon mounting the steps of the old brick building behind the cathedral.

There was no answer to her first knock, so she rapped again. A faint moan came through the open transom. Then she turned the knob and entered. The room was in disorder; most of the little furniture it had contained had mysteriously disappeared. Only a bed, a chair and a table remained. Upon the table lay two opened letters, and beside them sat a bonnet box securely tied. Upon the bed lay the frail figure of the milliner, her face hot with fever. At this sight Mrs. Wentworth's wrath vanished, and she stood by the bedside only a sweet, helpful woman, her heart wrung with pity.

There was a rustle of silk lined garments outside in the hall, then an impetuous knock, and when Mrs. Wentworth opened the door she beheld a second Nemesis in the form of Mrs. Drewelowe. The latter bestowed a curt nod upon Mrs. Wentworth, and that softened and already repentant woman stepped aside and allowed her to advance to the bedside. Mrs. Drewelowe heard her own name and Mrs. Wentworth's name, falling incoherently from the parched lips. After a moment she turned and faced Mrs. Wentworth.

"Annie Wentworth, this is our work. I wrote her a very harsh note Monday morning, accusing her of copying my new bonnet, which I bought in New York three weeks ago. She was in the house doing some work, and I felt sure she must have seen it through the treachery of the maids."

"And I," sobbed Mrs. Wentworth, "sent back my bonnet Monday morning with a scandalous note—perfectly scandalous!"

Then they sought the landlady and demanded an explanation of her neglect. She surveyed the two ladies with rising anger. "Sure, ma'am," she said, "an' I'm a lorn widder myself with five children to support, an' she's back on her rent three months. It's all along of her havin' to go on to New York an' get her hat fixed out of in an' she's sold her furniture an' clothes an' gone without fire an' enough to eat to make up. Then, on top of that, two women—foine ladies in sassies—writ her two of the meanest letters you ever see in your life, an' then she went clean out on her head. They was all about a bonnet she see when she was in New York an' copied for one an' an' she said the other one must have been on an' bought the identical bonnet, for it had just come over from Paris, an' nobody'd had a chance at it."

"Then letters done it. Mighty mean women, if they are sassies women, as would let loose an' abuse!" "There! You have explained sufficiently," jeeringly interrupted Mrs. Drewelowe, her face quite crimson. "We will pay the rent due you and take charge of your roomer at once." And she drew out her purse.

When the little milliner had been safely tucked in the white hospital bed and Mrs. Wentworth was seated in the Drewelowe carriage rolling home, she suddenly exclaimed, "Maria, what did you say?"

"When? What do you mean?" queried that astonished lady.

"Why, Sunday in church, when you leaned back and whispered to Mrs. Roberts?"

Mrs. Drewelowe was lost in thought for some time and then said: "Oh, I know. I told her that, after all her instructions, the night before I had forgotten to make the mustard plaster for Henry's chest as she advised, and the poor man was blistered so dreadfully that if it hadn't been Easter morning he would not have tried to come to church."

It was a fashionable hour, everybody was abroad, and the dignified Drewelowe coachman felt quite humiliated by the peals of merry laughter which applied from the aristocratic Drewelowe equipage.

An Unofficial Order.

Thomas, tenth earl of Dundonald, at his death vice admiral in the English navy, tells in his "Autobiography of a Seaman" of an incident on board the Hind, on which he served as midshipman. The pet of the ship was a parrot, the aversment of the boatwain, whose whistle the bird learned to imitate exactly.

"One day a party of ladies paid us a visit aboard. By the usual means of a 'whip' on the yardarm several had been hoisted on deck. The chain had descended for another. Scarcely had its fair freight been lifted out of the boat alongside when the parrot piped, 'Let go!'"

"The order was instantly obeyed, and the unfortunate lady, instead of being comfortably seated on deck, was soured in the sea."

"Luckily for her, the men were on the watch and quickly pulled her out, and lucky for the parrot the boatwain was on shore, or this unseasonable assumption of the boatwain's functions might have ended tragically for the bird."

Preaching Monkeys.
The author of "The History of Brazil" tells of a species of monkey called "preachers." Every morning and evening these monkeys assemble in the woods. One takes a higher position than the rest and makes a signal with his fore paw. At this signal the others sit around him and listen. When they are all seated, he begins to utter a series of sounds. When he stops these cries, he makes another signal with his paw, and the others cry out until he makes a third signal, upon which they become silent again. This author, Mr. Macgrove, asserts that he was a witness to these preachings.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS

How Mrs. Bruce, a Noted Opera Singer, Escaped an Operation. Proof That Many Operations for Ovarian Troubles are Unnecessary.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Travelling for years on the road, with irregular meals and sleep and damp beds, broke down my health so completely two years ago that the physician advised a complete rest, and when I had gained sufficient vitality, an operation for ovarian troubles. Not a very cheerful prospect, to be sure. I, however, was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash; I did so, fortunately for me. Before a month had passed I felt that my general health had improved; in three months more I was cured, and I have been in perfect health since. I did not lose an engagement or miss a meal."

"Your Vegetable Compound" is certainly wonderful, and well worthy the praise your admiring friends who have been cured are ready to give you. I always speak highly of it, and you will admit I have good reason to do so."—Mrs. G. Bruce, Lansing, Mich. $50.00 full price. The Sunday Horse.
A correspondent writing from Germany says one sees there many wagons designed for two horses, but drawn by one. It gives the vehicle the appearance of being cut on the bias. "I inquired once why they did not have two horses, or else use shafts, and was charmed to learn that as keep-log two horses was naturally more expensive people generally drove but one during the week and rented another horse on Sunday, when the entire family could drive out in style. It was a touching thought to keep the Sunday horse's place for him all week, but reminded one sadly of the vacant chair."

Catarrhal Poisons and Their Remedy
The poisonous secretions from Catarrh are dangerous because they affect the stomach and bowels, giving rise to an unhealthy condition of these organs. Catarrh is the source of much ill health and was considered practically incurable until it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of the medical profession that by the use of Catarrhazone any case of nasal or throat trouble can be permanently and quickly cured. Catarrhazone by this unusual merit has enlisted the support and endorsement of the most prominent medical authorities, who freely state that any one giving it a trial is sure to receive permanent benefit. Sold for $1. Small size 25c. At Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Out on a Foul.
"You have asked me to be your wife," remarked the wealthy "maiden lady." "Before I answer you please let me one thing. Are you in favor of woman suffrage?" "I am," he answered, thinking thus to win her. "Then I cannot be yours," she said. "My husband must regard me not as his equal, but as a tender child whom he has taken to love and to cherish."

A True Nervine
acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundant formation of rich red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvelous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative functions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. In a short time you have health. Use Ferrozone. Sold by McCall & Co., Druggists, Chatham.

Birds' Eggs Too Much For Science.
It is not often that science acknowledges herself at fault in an apparently simple matter, but she frankly does so in regard to the color and marking of a large proportion of birds' eggs. A reason there must be for their infinite diversity; it cannot be an aesthetic one, and all we can say with any confidence is that the ever pervading instinct of distrust is probably exhibited in eggshells as in more important things, and the main idea of their scheme of coloration has been the securing of safety from many enemies by harmonizing them with their surroundings. But it is a scheme full of perplexing exceptions, which any one can study for himself.

Weak Back and Spinal Pains

Pains in the back number their victims in thousands. Only very powerful and penetrating remedies will reach these distressing complaints, but Polson's Nervine is as sure to cure them as anything in this world can be sure. Rub Nervine over the sore parts night and morning, and see how quickly it drives out the pain. Five times stronger than any other. Good for internal and external use. Large bottles 25c.

CONFESSION OF FRED LEE RICE

Murderer who was Recently Hanged Admitted he Killed Boyd.

Condemned Man had a Lancet in his cell and Could have Cheated the Gallows.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Fred Lee Rice, who paid the death penalty on July 18 for the murder of County Constable Boyd, admitted his guilt the day after Frank Rutledge suicided. This statement was given out by Crown Attorney Cugie yesterday.
After Rutledge's sensational leap to death from the upper balcony at the jail, the day after the murder, Sheriff Mowat, Detective Forrest and Crown Attorney Curry visited Rice in his cell. Rice was the only one of the notorious trio of bank robbers left, Ryan, alias Jones, having died as the result of being shot by Constable Walter Stewart as the three were fleeing from the cab after Boyd had been shot. Rice was asked if he could furnish any reason for the suicide. He replied that he had heard none. The prisoner was then asked if he had anything to say in regard to it. "What do you mean?" asked Rice. Mr. Curry then told Rice that Constable Walter Stewart had sworn that Rice had fired the shot that killed Boyd. The crown attorney assured the prisoner that what he might say would not be used against him at the trial. Rice then confessed in this statement: "When Stewart said that I fired the shot that killed Boyd he told the truth."

HAD MEANT TO KILL HIMSELF.

In spite of the extraordinary precautions exercised by those in whose custody the desperate fellow was confined, and the repeated search of his person and his cell, Rice possessed a small surgeon's lancet with a razor edge, capable of taking his own life or the life of his guard. How long this dangerous weapon had been in his possession is unknown. He never divulged from what source it came or his reasons for surrendering it. The keen blade was handed to the governor of the prison by Rice the morning prior to his execution, without comment. He took it from his vest pocket at the time. The condemned man evidently carried it in his contentment position during his last few hours either with the intention of using it if a single chance was offered for an escape however desperate or desired to keep it with him to be certain of being able to cheat the gallows. The murderer boasted repeatedly that he would never hang. Apparently he knew of possible aid in his extreme hour, but the authorities are unable to determine the manner in which he was supplied with the bit of steel. After his condemnation, Rice was stripped and minutely searched, in view of his alarming threats. Nothing was found at that time. His cell was searched when he was placed in it, and each week thereafter. A guard was constantly with him, and how it would have been possible for any person from the outside to have supplied the lancet is a mystery. Still, the fact remains that the desperate fellow had the knife up to within 24 hours of his death. His lawyer, religious adviser, brother-in-law and the regular officials were the only people permitted to see the prisoner after he was placed in the death cell. Not one of these persons would have supplied the weapon even, if they had been given an opportunity, and they were not, as a guard was present at all interviews. The most plausible theory is that Rice found the weapon in his cell, concealed in some ingenious manner by some previous occupant, and discovered by the caged desperado with the aid of that cunning that it exercised by crooks in unearthing things hidden by their kind of people.

INTENDED TO CHEAT GALLOWES.

There is every reason to believe that the convicted man intended to conclude the dreary drama of his life by helming the Rutledge gang by cutting his throat or opening his veins. Just why he should have failed to cheat the gallows, as he frequently said he would, is uncertain, but it is believed that his religious devotion and thoughts of his mother finally contributed to the outcome of his decision to pass through the death trap instead of committing suicide.
Constable Brown, who had been a great deal with Rice, was indirectly the means of having the lancet surrendered by Rice. The constable noticed that Rice's fingers were abnormally long during the last few days, and suggested to the governor of the prison that he have the barber trim them, for fear the convict would use them in cutting open a vein, in spite of the presence of the death watch.
"He could have done this easily," explained Constable Brown, "any night. Using his nails, he could have cut into his wrist veins, thrust his hand under the cover of his coat, and the guard would have been ignorant of his act until he found him dead in the morning. The day before the execution Rice asked to be shaved. We always hand-cuffed him during this operation, for fear he would secure the razor and do himself or the guard harm. The governor remarked to him that he had better have his nails trimmed.
"I don't need anybody to trim my nails for me, for I can do it myself," observed the prisoner with a smile.
"He was asked what he would do it with."
"With this," he replied, and at the same time he thrust his fingers into his vest pocket, drew forth a keen piece of steel, such as veterinarians use to bleed horses with, about as long as my finger, and handed it to the governor. I was not present at that particular time, but the governor informed me of the details. Why he did not use the knife to kill himself I don't know. He was certainly desperate enough to undertake anything."

One of the guards asked Rice the following question where he got the blade

Swinging Toward September

Already you can feel in fancy the stir and glow of the coming month—the month when all the wheels of business begin to whirl again.

But we shouldn't experience much stir in September if our wheels weren't whirling through the dog days. Weeks ago the live pulse of Autumn started to beat in our factory. Fabrics and style-plates came from headquarters—we have to wait for them and then came the quickened hum of the big machines as we plunged into that stirring old battle of "better than ever". Each man finds his excitement in his own way. For us we compete with our record in the making of clothes, and find it keen, engrossing work.

Men and boys, the factory is doing for you the best it has done in fourteen years and over of progressive history. With the opening of Autumn there shall greet you here a clothing stock that sets a new pace in all-round values.

Enthusiastic? Yes, but you sir, are asked to judge only by the facts as you find them.
