CHICAGO TO NEW YORK BY AIR
Journey Undertaken by Aviator Victor Carlstrom
By Courier Leased Wire.
Chicago, Nov. 3.—Victor Carlstrom, aviator, left Chicago at 6:59 this morning on an air journey to New York, announcing his intention to have dinner in that city. The start was made from the flying field of the Aero Club of Illinois, and Carlstrom immediately launched upon a route due east, following the right of way of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad. The aviator expects to make the trip without stop. He is carrying a sack of mail, made up of letters from city officials of Chicago to officials at New York. Included are several communications said to be destined for the Deutschland at New London, Conn.

Carlstrom has a special appointment as aerial letter carrier. His trip is being made under the auspices of a New York newspaper in a 200 horsepower biplane.
Toledo, O., Nov. 3.—Victor Carlstrom flying from Chicago to New York, passed Maumee village, eight miles south of Toledo at 8:22 a.m.

Strive to Secure Coal Supplies
By Courier Leased Wire.
Pittsburg, Oct. 3.—Frantic efforts are being made by a number of important manufacturing interests in the district to secure emergency coal supplies before navigation closes on the Monongahela River by buying the production of independent mines that are connected with their plants by water transportation. Many of the mills have their own coal mines and in ordinary times they are able to meet all requirements, but with the car shortage already amounting almost to a famine and nothing better in sight for perhaps months, the companies are piling up all the coal they can secure. This situation is further complicated by the determination of natural gas companies to cut off all factories should the fuel be needed to supply domestic consumers. Railroads also are endeavoring to increase their reserve of fuel, some of them shipping coal into the district from southern and western points.

A munitions worker, John Patterson, was killed by a C. P. R. train at Owen Sound.
Owen Sound council decided to dispense with call men on the fire brigade, and add to the permanent staff.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

DRAFTING BELGIANS
By Courier Leased Wire.
Brussels, Nov. 1.—Via Berlin to London, Nov. 2.—The compulsory transfer of unemployed Belgian men this week, starting in the Mons district. No untoward incidents have occurred.
A dispatch from Berlin, October 29, said the measures taken by Gen. Von Bissing, military governor in the occupied portion of Belgium to employ the working population of the country were not in the interest of the German administration, but for the workers themselves and for the future of Belgian finances. General Von Bissing's purpose, it was added, was to encourage the enlistment of laborers in agricultural and non-military industries, but the German newspapers intimated plainly that those refusing to work would no longer be fed in idleness.

FREE CUT SERVICE
For Advertisers

The Courier is now in a position to furnish its present and prospective advertisers with the free use of advertising cuts. The illustrations are all of modern fashioned articles offered for sale by general merchants and retail stores. The cuts are purposely made, by artists in the business, for newspaper work and produce clear and distinct pictures. Proofs of the sheets may be seen at any time at the Business Office of The Courier, or in response to a telephone call. Phone 139.

TWELVE

Prince Rupert

Prince Rupert had captured the little green men who guarded the Glow-worm Glen in which she dwelt to get her back.

Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! they went, twanging fairy bow and arrow. They never looked back. They never stopped. They marched straight forward until they found the Prince hiding in the hollow of a tree.

"Come forth!" cried the little green men. "And if you will surrender the Princess you may have your life."

But the Prince drew his fairy sword and fought and fought until he fell exhausted. But when he came to himself again, the queer little green men and the fiery princess were gone. Over him leaned a little old man with twisted toes and twisted nose. His beard was longer than his legs. And he looked very wise. When he heard the tale of the fiery princess and the little green men, he rubbed his nose.

"Humph!" said he. "That's pretty easy. They're queer fairies, those fiery fairies. Sparks from their wings and they wear gauzy robes of silver fire. I know the Glow-storm Glen, too. I've been there!"

"But," cried Prince Rupert, "the little green men guard it against all fairies but the fireflies and the glow-worms."

"Pooh!" said the little old man. "I turned myself into a little green man and they never knew the difference."

"Turn me into a green man, too!" cried the prince.

"Better still," said the little old man. "I'll turn you into a glow-worm!"

And he did. That night as usual the fire fairies trooped to the border of the fairy glen, a witch turned them into fireflies and glow-worms to light the world of men, and with them, though they knew it not, flew Prince Rupert, turned into a glow-worm by the magic of the little old man.

You didn't know a glow-worm could fly? Oh, my, my! I'm sure you did, for a glow-worm is a beetle. Mr. Glow-worm always has wings. It's Mrs. Glow-worm who hasn't.

So into mortal forests flashing his light went Prince Rupert, and when it was time for fireflies and beetles to fly back to the fairy glen and turn into fairies, back went Prince Rupert with them.

There were the little green men at the border. There was the glen. Flash! flash! flash! fireflies and glow-worms turned into shining fairies in robes of silver fire. They went fitting down the glen on sparkling wings and with them went Prince Rupert, in princely armour of silver fire, launching at the way he had out-witted the green men.

"Now," cried the Prince, "I shall win the Princess Glow-and-Glimmer for my bride."

To-morrow—The Glow Worm Winking.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities in the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like your folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

INHALED FUMES OF CHEMICALS

Three Carpenters Are Dead As Result of Strange Accident

By Courier Leased Wire.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—Three carpenters lost their lives to-day after inhaling fumes from chemicals with which the Levland Line Steamship Devonian was fumigated yesterday, in an effort to exterminate rats. Three others, members of the same working squad, who went to their rescue were overcome. Hospital physicians said their condition was serious.

William E. Sterling and Daniel Dempsey, first to enter the hold, died on the deck of the steamer, after being brought out by members of the Devonian's crew, wearing improvised gas masks. William L. Sterling, foreman of the gang, and father of one of the victims, died later at a hospital.

DRAMA IN REAL LIFE REVEALED

Alberta Member of Legislature Makes Startling Confession.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Stettin, Alberta, Nov. 3.—The dying statement of Frank H. Whiteside, member of the legislature for Coronation, dictated in the presence of witnesses, was produced yesterday in the trial of Thomas Helmbolt charged with Whiteside's murder. In the statement Whiteside said he was called to the telephone office by Helmbolt on the night of the shooting and confronted by accused with the statement that he (the accused) knew all about his infamy, accused's wife had told him, and Whiteside would be given an opportunity to make a signed confession and then blow his own brains out. Whiteside tried to get away, but according to the statement, three shots were fired at him, two of which took effect. This completed the Crown's case.

For the defense, Mrs. Thomas Helmbolt was on the stand at the adjournment. Letters between Mrs. Helmbolt and Whiteside were admitted as evidence for the defense, but not read. The case is proceeding.

THREE KILLED.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Two women and a man were killed and two young women were seriously burned in a fire which destroyed the third floor of a three story brick apartment building on Norris street early to-day. The dead are: Charles Meeney, 50 years old; his mother, Mrs. Mary Meeney, 73, and Mrs. Nellie Howard, 60.

BANK STATEMENT.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes:
Gold on hand, increased, 70,040,000 francs; silver in hand, decreased, 1,952,000 francs; notes in circulation, decreased, 460,884,000 francs; treasury deposits, decreased, 60,989,000 francs; general deposits, decreased, 987,545,000 francs; bills discounted, increased, 96,584,000 francs; advances, increased, 194,949,000 francs.

Lajoie May be Through

Larry Lajoie's baseball career probably ended with the last season. The big Frenchman has been drawing $9,000 a season for the last three years, but with the close of the 1916 season this agreement expires.

Connie Mack paid only half of the amount mentioned, the Cleveland club standing for the other half.

It is certain that Mack will not retain Lajoie, for he intends to build up a team with youngsters.

Lajoie came into the National League in 1896. He was a member of the Fall River team at the time. The Philadelphia National League club sent a scout there to look over Phil Geier, a Washington boy, and Lajoie was thrown in for good measure in the deal for Geier.

In due time Lajoie became one of the most famous of players. George Stallings, who managed the Phillies, at one time, was responsible for the placing of Lajoie at second base, where he became famous because of his graceful fielding and his terrific batting.

It is not likely that Lajoie will be picked up by any other major league club, now that he is a free agent, and he is not apt to go to any minor league, for his salary demands would be too high, though he could play and manage a team.

Lajoie is a man of wealth. He has drawn big salaries for many years, and he has been of a saving disposition, and is reported to have a lot of his money well invested.

Seventeen board of conciliation and investigation were appointed last year. Two had to do with the operation of coal mines, four with railroads, four with street railways, one with shipping companies, two with municipal work, and four with other lines of employment. Only the Toronto Hydro employees struck.

The 34th annual convention of the Ontario W.C.T.U. is in session at Hamilton.

RIPPLING RHYMES

Dull Campaign

I wonder what's the matter? The statesmen rant and chatter, and yell and scream and toot; but no one seems affrighted, and no one gets excited, and no one cares a hoot. We poor, down-trodden voters are busy with our motors, now for the roads we haven't time to harken to statesmen and their barkin' of perils in this land. The weather's most enchanting, so we go gallivanting, in "sixes," "eights" or "fours"; oh, who would list to yapping, when autumn leaves are dropping, and dandy, the good tin car is tinkling, and sunshine's out of doors? and so we drive away.

Who cares about the issues? Let statesmen sprain the tissues of larynx, lung and throat; we will not linger near them, for here's our choicest choicest. Who cares a prune or prism for this or t'other ism, since autumn zephyrs blow? Our problems may be deeper—but gasoline is cheaper than 'twas a month ago. The statesmen talk and twitter, but where is the critter who'll list to what they say? The roads are tinkling, and dandy, the good tin car is tinkling, and sunshine's out of doors? and so we drive away.

Valuable Suggestions for the Handy Homemaker—Order Any Pattern Through the Courier.

LADY'S APRON.
By Anabel Worthington.

In "Just aprons" there is just as much care taken by the modern housekeeper in making a selection as in the choice of the dress that such garment may cover and protect; and, justly so, for in putting her house in order one wants to be in order in her dressing.

The serviceable garment in the illustration is made attractive with a yoke facing. The front is starched and finished for lacing, as the apron slips on over the head. An elastic at the waistline takes care of the fullness and evenly distributes it in the skirt section.裉裉 is employed as a finish for the neck, sleeves, and to trim the envelope pocket in each front.

It is now customary to wear an apron without a dress when it has sleeves and completely covers the wearer; this design is one that will serve as a dress, if your work demands a large part of the morning hours.

Linen, dotted percale, zingham and like fabrics are appropriate for such garment. It requires no effort to copy such a simple design.

The apron pattern, No. 8,006, is cut in one size only. To make it will require 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.
