Do You Perspire Freely?

Many people are acutely sensitive to the odors arising from excessive perspiration, and yet under no circumstances is it wise to completely check perspiration for it is essential to health—many of the impurities of the body are gotten rid of by perspiration.

O'MARA'S

PERSPIRATION DEODORANT does not unduly check perspiration, but when properly applied it keeps the body comfortable and sweet—its counteracts only odors.

Happiness Secured AT A Heavy Cost!

CHAPTER III
"Excuse me, ladies, but there is a gentleman making inquiries about you," exclaims our hostess, popping her head rather unexpectedly into the room. "It is Mr. Warden, the lawyer, and he wishes to know whether you are not some young ladies from London? Fenwick, or Kendrick, I think he said the name was!"

"Oh, yes, that is our name. Will you show him in, if you please?" Addie replies. "Really, Lesley, it is good of Mr. Warden to call. Who would have expected so much attention from a stranger?"

"A lawyer in particular!" I return. "I wonder what he is like? Dreadfully old and humdrum, I dare say! Lawyers generally are, I believe; and I shouldn't wonder if he isn't bald and addicted to snuff!" I add, with a grimace and a sudden lowering of tone, as the door opens and our visitor stands before us.

According to Lord Beaconsfield, it is always the unexpected that happens; and of all the people in existence, the man who walks into our little sitting room at the Red Lion this afternoon to introduce himself as our unknown correspondent, Mr. Ernest Warden, is as little like my preconceived idea of a country lawyer as it is possible to imagine.

"The stranger of the railway station!" is the first idea in my mind, as, setting down the ugly little china teapot, from which she is in the act of pouring a cup of tea, Addie rises from her seat and holds out her hand in a greeting that is full of pleased surprise. My second thought, as those dark eyes smile down into my own, that he is even more handsome and fascinating than I thought.

"I very much regret that I did not know the exact time of your arrival, or I would have met you at the station," Mr. Warden remarks, as he accepts the cup of tea which the easy good nature of his manner emboldens me to offer him; and in a few minutes he is chatting away as freely as if we had known him for years. Not that he has very much to say to me; it is Adelaide who engrosses his attention—Addie on whom his eyes seem always to rest.

He makes no special allusion to the subject, but in the course of that quiet little tea-table chat we gather that our visitor is unmarried, and that, having neither mother nor sister, he lives alone in a large, gloomy old house in Hanbury, over which an old housekeeper holds sole feminine sway.

"So you see how little I am able to offer you in the way of ladies' society," he proceeds, a world of admiration that is as flattering as it is dangerous. "I am afraid you will find Despedena rather dull after London; but we must see what can be done to make it pleasant for you."

"We did not come to Devonshire in the pursuit of pleasure," I return. A trifle stiffly. "Fresh air and economy are the chief attractions that brought us here, and if we find those we shall be fully content."

"You don't know what you may find at Despedena, my dear Miss Kendrick," he returns, as amused smiles lightening up the striking beauty of his dark face. "The very atmosphere of that old place of yours is full of mystery. It is one of those queer, romantic old houses one so often meets with in novels—so seldom in real life. Those old walls have witnessed many a tragedy in their time, I fancy—the last was Mrs. Erroll's strange death—and let us hope that it may never witness another."

"Did mamma's great-aunt die at Despedena, Mr. Warden?" Addie asks, in surprise.

"She was found dead in one of the upper rooms of the lonely, deserted house," is the reply. "For some time previous it had been whispered about that a great change had come over the elder Mrs. Erroll—a change that dated back to the time of the squire's death. Her hair, once so black and glossy, had turned white as snow; while her manner became so strange, her looks so wan and haggard that people began to indulge in mysterious hints about a 'mind disease.' The slightest allusion to her altered appearance seemed to anger and irritate her beyond all reason. But at last came a day when, to the consternation of the inhabitants of the Priory, Mrs. Erroll was found to have mysteriously disappeared."

"It was a cheerless morning in early winter, with a dismal wind moaning through the skeleton trees, and a steady hopeless rain beating in stormy gusts against the windows. Therefore the supposition of her having gone for an early walk, particularly as her health had long been such as to render out-of-doors exercise almost impossible, was scarcely to be entertained."

"It was quite impossible, Captain Erroll insisted, but that she must be somewhere in the house, though the strictest search failed to reveal any trace of her. Slowly and anxiously the long, dull day wore away, and then, in the midst of their alarm, some one suggested a search of the old house at Despedena."

"Could it be that she had gone there, all as she was, in such weather and at such a time? But failing to find any trace of her elsewhere, Mr. Erroll, attended by a servant, drove over to Despedena to institute a search. On reaching the lonely, tenanted old house, no sight or sound of human presence was anywhere visible. The shutters were all closed; the grass-grown paths showed no sign of recent tread or disturbance; yet, on forcing an entrance, after knocking in vain for admittance, a bonnet and jacket belonging to the missing lady were found on the hall table; and on ascending to one of the upper rooms, Mr. Erroll was horrified to behold his mother lying prostrate on the floor, dead."

"Why she should have come here in the night, as it was quite evident that she must have done, no one could surmise; but on lifting her up, a pencil, together with a scrap of paper on which a few words were traced, were found fast clutched in the cold, stiff fingers, though what it was she had intended to write could never be known, for the sentence, 'Search for the lost will in—' was left unfinished."

"For family reasons the story of that half-finished communication was hushed as speedily as possible. Perhaps it would have done no good to publish the fact to the world, seeing that the dead hand which, in a fit of remorse perhaps, had begun to write it could never complete the too tardy reparation. Had that sentence only been finished, who can say what a story of sin and wrong it might have revealed?"

to be definitely obliged to Mr. Warden. Addie remarks, on the departure of our visitor, a strange new light in her eyes, and the pretty, bronze-brown head just touched by the golden radiance of the dying sunlight, as she stands at the window watching Mr. Warden's tall, broad-shouldered figure disappearing down the street. "Had we been the most profitable, instead of surely the most profitless, of clients, the young lawyer could hardly have shown us more attention. So good and kind of him to take so much trouble on our account, is it not?"

"Very!" I reply, laconically. Somehow a grave doubt has arisen in my mind as to whether this new-found friend of ours is quite the pattern of disinterested generosity Addie seems to consider him.

Would he have bestowed all this attention on the impecunious owners of Despedena, I wonder, had he not somehow discovered that the fair and graceful figure that caught his eye at the railway station belonged to one of Leonard Kendrick's sisters?

"Don't you think it a little strange that he has never married?" I ask, in the course of the evening, looking suddenly up into the face of my sister, who, with her slim white hands clasped idly in her lap, lies back in an opposite chair, lost in a train of evidently not altogether unpleasant reflection.

"That who has not married, Lesley?"

"Mr. Warden, of course," I reply, with a steady glance into the questioning gray eyes on the opposite side of the fire. "That's the way it strikes me, at all events."

"But why should it be strange?"

"Oh, I don't know! Only people generally do marry before they get as old as Mr. Warden, do they not?" I reply evasively. "How old should you take him to be, Addie?"

"I have not thought; over thirty—perhaps several years over. But, for all that, he may never yet have met his fate."

"Or he may have met her, and found his idol merely clay," I return sarcastically. "Now, Addie, you are always imagining all sorts of unsuspected histories for people. Even poor, dear, matter-of-fact Doctor Fuller could not quite escape your suspicions of a buried romance in his past; and for once I am going to try my hand at that sort of thing. Depend upon it, there is a romance of some sort underlying that strange shadow of sorrow that falls like a cloud on Mr. Warden's darkly fascinating face at times; and those handsome lips of his look as if they could kiss very bitterly if they chose."

"Perhaps," she replies, with a wistful expression in her eyes. "There is a story in most lives, if we had but the power to read it; but you don't intend to pierce Mr. Ernest Warden and Doctor Fuller in the same category, surely?"

"No," I reply, a little ironically. "Mr. Ernest Warden, it strikes me, is rather a different man from the doctor." I add, my thoughts going back, as they often do of late, to a face and form that has somehow taken to haunting me with a persistency from which I would give the world to escape.

One bitter day during the winter just past business of an urgent nature took my brother a long distance from home, and long before he was able to return all the principal thoroughfares of London were blocked by the snow that had been driving over the great city from morning till night. Everywhere traffic was partly or entirely suspended, and like many another luckless wayfarer in the streets of London that day, poor Len was compelled to plow his way home through the clinging snow and driving sleet as best he could, reaching it in such a condition that he hurriedly went to bed with chattering teeth.

GALLIPIOLI VETERANS TO BE DECORATED.
LONDON, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)

The Commander, Mr. Macpherson, Under Secretary for War, announced that the King had approved of the award of a decoration to the Anzac and Newfoundland troops. The decoration will be issued by the War Office to the Governments of Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland would determine to whom it should be granted. The decoration will not be issued to Imperial troops, because it is deemed to meet the desire of the Government mentioned to mark the bravery of these troops for the first time in a European war. If any Dominion Government should desire a similar decoration for its troops the question will doubtless be settled.

SIGNS OF FURTHER RETREAT.
PARIS, July 31. French aerial observers, says the Matin, report that there are signs behind the present German battle line of preparations for a continuation of the retirement northward. The enemy is destroying much material, and big fires have been seen. The newspapers generally point out that the fighting on Tuesday was marked by brisk but vain enemy reactions, although the Allies were able to make additional gains. Several military experts do not believe that the Germans have yet reached the end of their retreating movement.

AMERICANS PUSH FORWARD.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 30. (By the A.P.)—Through a barrage as deadly as any the Germans have laid down on any sector for months, the American soldiers, comprising men from the Middle West and Eastern States, pushed their way forward a little more to-day, and tonight it forms the apex of the long Allied line. The progress was considerable, though less than two miles, but it is regarded as a brilliant operation, in view of the determined counter-attack by the Germans.

GERMAN EFFORTS FRUITLESS.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE FRONT, July 31. (By the A.P.)—The efforts made by the Germans to advance their lines against the Americans on this front last night and this forenoon were fruitless. The Americans for their part were content to hold their positions along their slightly advanced line. The German line, however, is reported gradually giving way, both to the right and left. There was hard fighting through the night, but no concentrated attacks in force on either side. During the night the Americans made a pretense of retreating from a part of the town of Serinnes. The Germans advanced into the town on observing the supposed evacuation. The Americans then closed in and enveloped the German force, killing or capturing every man of it. Both high explosives and gas shells were sprayed by the Germans over a wide area. The air forces on both sides were busy this morning.

GALLIOLI VETERANS TO BE DECORATED.

LONDON, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—In the Commons, Mr. Macpherson, Under Secretary for War, announced that the King had approved of the issue of a decoration to the Anzac and Newfoundland troops. The decoration will be issued by the War Office, but the Governments of Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland would determine to whom it should be granted. The decoration will not be issued to Imperial troops, because it is determined to meet the desire of the Government mentioned to mark the entry of their troops for the first time into a European war. If any other Dominion Government should desire a similar decoration for its troops, the question will doubtless be settled.

SIGNS OF FURTHER RETREAT.

PARIS, July 31. French aerial observers, says the Matin, report that there are signs behind the present German battlefield of preparations for a continuation of the retreat northward. The enemy is destroying much material, and big fires have been seen. The newspapers generally point out that the fighting on Tuesday was marked by brisk but vain enemy reactions, although the Allies were able to make additional gains. Several military experts do not believe that the Germans have yet reached the ends of their retreating movement.

AMERICANS PUSH FORWARD.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 30. (By the A.P.)—Through a barrage as deadly as any the Germans have had laid down on any sector for months, the American soldiers, comprising men from the Middle West and Eastern States, pushed their line forward a little more to-day, and to-night it forms the apex of the long Allied line. The progress was considerable, though less than two miles, but it is regarded as a brilliant operation, in view of the determined countering by the Germans.

GERMAN EFFORTS FRUITLESS.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE FRONT, July 31. (By the A.P.)—The efforts made by the Germans to advance their lines against the Americans on this front last night and this forenoon were fruitless. The Americans for their part were content to hold their positions along their slightly advanced line. The German line, however, is reported gradually giving way, both to the right and left. There was hard fighting through the night, but no concentrated attacks in force by either side. During the night the Americans made a pretense of retreating from a part of the town of Serignes. The Germans advanced into the town on observing the supposed evacuation. The Americans then closed in and enveloped the German force, killing or capturing every man of it. positions in the region of Serignes at Nesles which they carried after violent fighting, according to an official statement from the war office to-day. The Germans made four attacks against the new French positions east of Oulchy-le-Chateau. They were repulsed, and the French line held intact. The French carried out raids at a number of other points in the sectors east and west of the Marne salient, but there was no change in the general situation of those points.

REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS.

WASHINGTON, July 31. Repulse of enemy counter-attacks on the line of the Ourcq, after severe fighting, and improvement of the American positions there, were reported in General Pershing's communication for yesterday, at the War Department.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, July 31. (Official.) After a heavy bombardment, the Germans attacked the new French positions east of Oulchy-le-Chateau. Our troops repulsed four enemy assaults and maintained their lines intact. On the right bank of the Ourcq there were lively combats northeast of Fere-en-Tardenois. The village of Serignes-et-Verberie passed from hand to hand, but was finally taken by the American troops in a counter-attack. A number of raids were made by the Germans near Mesnil-et-Georges west of Mont Didier, in La-Prete, Wood on the right bank of the Meuse, and in the Vosges. They were repulsed without result. Our troops made successful incursions into the German lines northeast of Perthes-lès-Heris, in Champagne, and brought back prisoners. The night was quiet on the remainder of the front.

NEARING THE END.

LONDON, July 31. Information reaching Stockholm, says the correspondent of the Times there, shows that the Bolshevik regime has come to the end of its tether and that the Russian masses, workmen and peasants are about to rise in arms against Bolshevik. Many official representatives of social democracy parties in Russia have arrived in Stockholm, says the correspondent, and have issued a remarkable appeal to the Socialists of Europe. They call upon the Socialists to form an international commission representing all Socialist parties, to visit and ascertain by direct investigation whether the Russian Socialists are not right in declaring that the Bolsheviks have brought widespread evils on Russia, destroying industry, causing universal starvation, despotically oppressed the people and are now concerned only in retaining power at all costs.

THE GERMAN VERSION.

AMSTERDAM, July 31. The entire German Press, the Socialists included, is obediently toying the line laid down by the German official communications regarding the retreat from the Marne. This line substantially is that General Foch's formidable attack to pinch off the whole of the Marne salient was in vain, that his great sacrifices in men have been fruitless, and that the initiative remains with the Germans. To this is added that the German concentration on a "shortened chord" means a stronger front.

THE EMPIRE'S WAR WORK.

LONDON, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Hon. W. A. Massey, Prime Minister of New Zealand, in a speech at Kew emphasizing Great Britain's share in the war, pointed out that seven and one-half million men has been contributed by the Empire, of which the British islands had given seventy-five per cent. including four and one-half millions from England alone, while the Dominions and Colonies had given twelve per cent., and India and other Dependencies had given the remainder. Regarding the air service, he said that British airmen had accounted for considerably over four thousand airmen in the last twelve months. British airmen had made 74 air raids into Germany in June and during the year had dropped over eight hundred tons of explosives on enemy forces on the enemy coast.

Unquestionably the British were supreme in the air. Their air force was very much larger, their machines better and their men more daring and more resourceful than those of the enemy. The tonnage of the British navy was now over six million as compared with four million at the outbreak of the war and the personnel 420,000 as compared with 145,000. There were 567 steamers continually employed carrying troops and stores to the armies in France and in the East. The idea that the German submarine was going to win the war has been dispelled by steps taken to deal with the submarines. The submarine peril was not yet passed but was being dealt with much more successfully than was the case a year ago. The navy was now able to sink submarines more rapidly than they were replaceable and the torpedoes could not now affect the final result of the war, the hunter was becoming the hunted, and the hunter would continue until there was not a submarine left. The Navy has done marvellous work in the war, declared Mr. Massey, and if it got the opportunity of dealing with the Kaiser's fleet he had not the faintest doubt of the result. The next time the German fleet would not get away so easily as it did at Jutland. Great Britain's war expenditure to the end of March was £7,014,000,000 sterling, of which 5,170,000,000 sterling was in loans, and 1,844,000,000 sterling in revenue. It was noteworthy that 25 per cent. of the war expenditure was raised by taxation. Loans to the Allies and Dominions amounted to 1,526,000,000. It was quite certain we could outlast the enemy financially, said Mr. Massey. Our position was still sound, and our assets far exceeded our liabilities. If the Kaiser thought we were going to stop before he was knocked out, he never made a bigger mistake.

KEEPING BACK FACTS.

PARIS, July 31. Information reaching Paris from Swiss sources tends to show that the Germans are still trying to keep from the German people the fact that American troops are now engaged in battle with the Germans on the Soissons-Rheims sector. These advices say that the Germans recently stripped the uniforms from a number of Americans they had made prisoners and gave them other clothing to wear.

A BAD OMEN.

AMSTERDAM, July 31. (By the A.P.)—The famous "Hungerstone" in the River Elbe, near Tetachen, which, according to popular belief in Germany, predicts a famine when seen, is now visible for the first time since the beginning of the war. The stone lies in the bed of the river and has never been visible save at exceptionally low tide. On the stone is chiselled in old German, "when ye see me ye will weep."

AERIAL ACTIVITY.

LONDON, July 31. The following official communication was issued last evening by the Air Ministry: On the night of the 28th-29th our machines attacked the railway station at Offenbourg-Rastatt and Baden, Stuttgart and Solingen also were attacked. Three hostile aeroplanes and numerous targets, also were bombed and subjected to machine gun fire. All our machines returned. On the morning of the 30th inst., our squadrons successfully bombarded the railway station at Offenbourg. Good results were obtained in the course of the combat. Three enemy machines were shot down and one other was driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

LONDON, July 31. British casualties reported during the month of July totalled 27,231. This compares with the total casualties reported during June of 141,147. Losses for July are divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, officers, 521; men, 8,474; wounded or missing, officers, 1,537; men, 56,759.

GERMAN PRISONERS.

LONDON, July 31. Since March of this year the British have taken 14,500 prisoners on the western front, James Ian Macpherson, Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office, informed the House of Commons to-day.

WILL PUT VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, July 31. (Havas Agency.)—Premier Clemenceau will put the question of confidence in the Government in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, according to the Echo de Paris. The question will be brought forward in the discussion of the bill relative to the census and the call to the colors of the class of 1920, which the Government desires to have passed.

NO MORE NEUTRAL WORKMEN.

LONDON, July 31. Women at Essen are determined that no more neutral workmen shall be employed at Krupp during the war, because for every neutral who comes to work there is a German workman sent to the fighting front. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express says he learned the facts from the Dutch workmen who have just returned from Essen. When the last batch of Dutchmen arrived at Essen stones were thrown at them by thousands of women, who denounced them as "neutral job stealers". The women are resolved to give a similar reception in future to all Dutchmen. The police force is powerless because of the great reduction in its strength.

FIGHT WITH SUBMARINE.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, July 31. A tanker arrived here to-night after a five-hour fight with a German sub, six hundred miles off the New Jersey coast Friday last. The ship's cook was wounded in one leg by shrapnel during the engagement. The U-boat was sighted when eight miles away.

WOULD JUSTIFY MURDER. LONDON, July 31. In addition to a question in the House of Commons, James Ian Macpherson, said he was aware that the German Government were attempting to justify the bombing of the hospitals at Etaples, France, on the night of May 19, by alleging that the Red Cross was not displayed at the hospital. Mr. Macpherson had seen in the German newspapers, photographs which were published with the intention of proving that the Red Cross sign at the hospital was not shown on May 21, but existed in large numbers on May 27. German photographs of this nature are never conclusive, he said. In any case the hospital was again bombed on the night of May 31, in spite of the Red Cross signals, which German evidence shows to have been in existence on May 27th.

Make It Known.

The Military Service Board disposed of the Lawyer-Priest canon with commendable promptitude, and their finding, made public, is in remarkable contrast to the hesitancy of the Finance Minister to give the text of the Auditor General's Report concerning that alleged shortage of six thousand dollars in the Cashier's branch of the Customs Department. Concealment of the fact will not have the effect of turning aside discussion of this matter. The public is becoming more and more impatient and manifestations of indignation are being shown in all quarters. Also opinions are being openly expressed that there must be somebody to shield or something to hide, hence the reluctance to give publicity to the Audit Report.

The moral courage of the Finance Minister cannot be so strong as we have been led to believe, otherwise his whole truth would have been laid bare, and those who were implicated in the speculation, punished. Whilst a clear statement from the responsible Minister is withheld, suspicion naturally attaches to innocent officials, and in justice to those authorized (not inspired) declaration of the whole circumstances surrounding the defalcation should be made. Six thousand dollars may appear an insignificant sum to people who think in millions, but six thousand dollars represents an amount a great deal in advance of the total revenue collections of many a port of entry outside St. John's. Common decency and a regard for public opinion, if nothing else, should be factors in hastening the publication of the inside information in possession of the Departmental Head.

Notes and Comments

The child afraid of the dark may grow up to be a politician, afraid of the light.

The musical editor says it is easier to compose the air to a war song, than to compose a howling baby. The office boy adds that some of the airs are worse than the squalling baby.

Do you think it would incline a soldier of the Allies to be lenient to have a filthy Hun call him Kamerad. To be called the comrade of any German is a gross insult.

After a controversy that lasted ten years French scientists have decided that the use of old corks in wine bottles is not detrimental to health. We presume not. No person wants to drink out of an empty bottle.

The Quebec Telegraph says "the Huns are getting Marine they wanted, and the Sydney Record likes to remark that they'll be some 'Schwerin' in Finland over the brand new King which Germany is Schwerin they must have. And that's the Finnish of it."

Old Hindenburg is not dead yet but reported to be very sick. This time it is Franco-Americanophobia from which he is suffering. There's only one remedy for that—death in earnest. Hindy has more lives than a cat.

Add the wanton bombing of the American Red Cross hospital at Joux, says the Boston Herald, to the list of outrages to be settled for by Germany, when the great day of settlement comes.

German airmen mistaking a prison camp in France for a Red Cross hospital, dropped bombs of it killing 94 Hun prisoners and wounding 74 others. No French guards were killed and but two injured. The joke was on the Boches but it is doubtful if they appreciate the humor of it—(Hamilton Herald.)

Canadian Food Controller to Visit Here Shortly.

We hear that the Canadian Food Controller, Mr. H. B. Thompson, will arrive in St. John's about ten days hence, to confer with our own Food Control Board and the importers of foodstuffs in regard to the providing of an adequate supply of all necessary materials of this class for the coming fall and winter. Mr. Thompson will, it is understood, visit Halifax next week and take part in the Fishery Conference there, after which he will come on to St. John's and remain here a few days.

Victory Loan

Reaches Three and a Half Million Dollars. We understand that the figures reported to date by the Finance Department with reference to subscriptions in the city and outports for the Victory Loan indicate that when all the returns from remote localities are received the total will be about three and a half million dollars, as against two million originally offered. This is a remarkably successful result, and a very welcome evidence of the patriotism of the people.

Obituary.

MR. MICHAEL MEANEY.

There passed away at Avondale on last Wednesday, 14th inst., one of the best known residents of the place in the person of Mr. Michael Meaney, of the comparatively early age of fifty-seven years. Mr. Meaney had been ill but a short time and his death came as a shock to his many friends. He was a most respected and popular member of the community, and a man whose many sterling traits of character made him a well liked citizen all through Harbour Main district. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow, 4 sons, five daughters and nine grandchildren. Mrs. Robert Hennessy, of Prescott Street, is a sister, and Mr. J. T. Meaney, of the Postal Telegraphs, is a cousin of the deceased. Mr. M. J. James, of this city, is a brother of the bereaved widow. A sad feature of his passing is that one of his sons, Joseph, arrived home last night from Sydney a couple of days too late to be present at his father's funeral, having been detained in hospital with a broken arm. The other three sons, are also away from home. Thomas being at Montreal, William in Alberta and Michael at Halifax. To the sorrowing relatives we extend sympathy.

Personal.

His Excellency the Governor and Miss Armorer Harris will receive callers at Government House this afternoon between 4 and 5.30.

Mr. Joe. Ryan, of the Sherwin Williams Paint Co., is at present in the city.

Hon. Justice Johnson left by yesterday's express for Curling where he will proceed to Bonne Bay to preside over the Supreme Court on Circuit along the West coast.

From Cape Race.

CAPE RACE, Yesterday. Wind west, fresh, with dense fog; nothing heard passing to-day. Two large whales have been thrown ashore one at Long Beach, near here, and one at Portugal Cove. Bar. 29.49; ther. 60.

BAND CONCERT.—The C.C.C. Band will give a concert to-morrow night at Victoria Park in aid of their new Hall. An enjoyable evening is assured.

August 4th.

"REMEMBRANCE DAY."

As a result of the Patriotic Association's decision to commemorate the fourth anniversary of the Declaration of War, the Committee in charge have arranged with the heads of the various Denominations for special Services on Sunday next, in the city Churches and throughout the Dominion.

In the City these services will be followed by a general meeting of citizens to be held in front of the Colonial Building at 12.30. His Excellency the Governor will open the proceedings and a Resolution will be submitted to the meeting for adoption. It will be proposed by Hon. M. P. Cashin, Acting Prime Minister, and seconded by Mr. Gosling, Mayor of St. John's. It is identical in its terms with Resolutions which will be similarly submitted at meetings in every town and settlement throughout the Empire. It will be to the effect that on this, the fourth anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, the citizens record their inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle for the maintenance of those ideals of Liberty and Justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies.

The singing of the National Anthem will bring the proceedings to a close and it is expected that the meeting will be over within half an hour.

It is hoped and expected that every citizen will make an effort to be present and that people generally will fly their flags during the day.

The Cable Case.

In August, 1906, an Agreement was made between the Commercial Cable Company and the Government of Newfoundland for the maintenance and operation of the Submarine Telegraphic Cable between Port aux Basques and Canoe, and for the interchange of telegraphic traffic between the Government telegraphs and other telegraphic systems. It was provided that the term of this Agreement should be for ten years from the date thereof, and until the expiration of six months previous notice in writing. This notice was given by the Government six months ago, and last night the cable to Canoe was grounded at Port aux Basques, and all interchange of traffic between the Government Telegraphic System and the Commercial Cable Company ceased. An arrangement for the interchange of cable traffic has been made with the Anglo-American Telegraph Company.

In June, 1906, an Act was passed to impose taxes on every Company carrying on any telegraphic or telephone business in or from this Colony. In 1909 the Commercial Cable Company landed cables at Cuckold's Cove, and in 1910 an action was taken by the Government to recover one year's taxes. By a judgment of the Privy Council, delivered on the 10th of July, 1912, it was declared that the Company was not liable for this tax, as it was not doing business "in" the Colony, but only via the Colony. In the last session of the Assembly an Act was passed declaring that the tax provided for by the Act of 1905 applied to every Company owning or operating any cable landed on this Colony, and this was made applicable for such year since the year used in the case decided by the Privy Council. An action for $112,000 was commenced in June last, in the name of the Attorney General, against the Commercial Cable Company, and is now proceeding. Morine, K.C., acts for the Attorney General, Howley, K.C., for the Company.

Claims against the Direct-United States Co., and the Western Union Telegraph Co., amounting to $40,000 and $32,000 respectively, depend upon the decision in the Commercial Cable Company's case.

They're the Drinks, Boys, for Me and You.

Air: "The Bells of Shandon." In retrospection and with affection we often think on the days gone by. When to make us frisky we'd sip good whiskey, but we can't get enough now to wet one's eye; Oh, how we'd gather in the summer weather e're prohibition had come in force. When at Pleasantville we would sip our fill at a cricket match near the good Slice Club. On this we ponder 'ere e'r we wander but to-day we're longing for drinks that's new. They're from Toronto, to them we're "on to," oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you.

There's nothing finer than our Port Wine, or the sparkling, sherry called "London Dock." And Black Sherry Brandy it is a dandy, it will make you fat and "strong as a rock." We will have most plenty nice Creme de Menthe or in plain old English the good Slice Club. And P. E. O. is the "boy" you know, who possessed the courage to bring them drinks in. So give up your worry and your grief and hurry, for no drinks can hold a candle to.

The drinks we're "on to" that's from Toronto, oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you. Both to poor and wealthy those drinks are healthy, and you need to purchase no doctor's "scrip." And when you say them "you all may try them, you need not hide them upon your hip. We won't "deceive ye" by sayin' that He-be had never served in the o-gone days. Such drinks more pure, more safe and surer than the drinks we sell which there's thousands praise. To fill your order that is our border, and when we do so you'll say "tis true. That from Toronto the drinks we're "on to," oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you."—adv. 11 P. E. OUFERRIDGE, Sole Agent for Nfld.

Exorbitant Charges.

We are asked to draw the attention of those whose business it is to regulate the charges of the cabmen, to a case which occurred yesterday afternoon. A well known shoe-maker of the higher levels hired a cabman on Circular Road to drive him to Mount Cashel Garden Party. On reaching the grounds and asking the fare, he was greatly surprised when cabby informed him it was $2.00. On making comment thereon he was told that it was the charge for that day. Later in the evening he hired another cab to return to town, and on reaching his destination was charged only $1.00, which he thought more than reasonable considering the distance.

MARRIED.

DIED.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at her brother's home, Winter Avenue, Emma House. Funeral at 11.30 Friday morning, to the Railway Station.

Mt. Cashel Garden Party.

A large number of people attended yesterday's Garden Party at Mount Cashel, and all thoroughly enjoyed the splendid performances of the different participants. His Excellency the Governor and Miss Harris, accompanied by Lt.-Col. Knox-Niven and Capt. Campbell, His Grace Archbishop Hochs, and Rt. Rev. Mons. McDermott, V.G., Revs. Dr. Carter, Fra. E. O'Brien, Sheehan and Ashby, and many distinguished citizens were present. The grounds, which were all decorated, presented a very pretty sight, and the sports programme prepared by Messrs. W. J. Higgins and C. J. Ellis, was carried out perfectly. The St. Patrick's Hall baseball team, under Capt. A. Walsh, won the bat and ball so kindly donated by Mr. J. O. Havermat. The boys race, in which 24 boys took part, was run in heats, and was won by Masters Raymond Halley and Gerard Halley, his brother, with Peter Duffy a close third. In the football five the Stars defeated the C. E. I. by 2 goals and 2 corners to 2 goals and 1 corner. The victors, who were: W. Duggan, Bell, W. Hart, Evans and Kavanagh, will receive their medals later.

The baseball game for the H. D. Reid Cup, between the B. I. S. and Cubs, was won by the latter by 5 runs to 3. The players were:

Thus the Cubs for the first time possess the H. D. Reid Cup.
The pony race was won by Mr. Matt. Kelly's pacer, Hon. J. C. Crosbie's being second, and Mr. D. Furlong's third. The jockeys were Quick and Bassett. The dancing by the Mt. Cashel boys, music by the C. C. C. and T. A. Bands, drills by squads from the Regiment, handball, etc. were thoroughly enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the sports, Hon. M. P. Cashel presented the prizes, being cheered for doing so. Following the presentation of prizes, the gentlemen who had assisted in carrying out the day's enjoyment all assembled to finalize matters, and Mr. J. L. Slatery, who presided, announced that the gate receipts were about equal to those of last year, while the total proceeds would be well up to the average. Rev. Bro. Cashman spoke next, and thanked Hon. Mr. Cashel for his kind remarks, and went on to point out that since last year, the Regiment had earned the title "Royal," and that the old boys of Mt. Cashel who have entered the Regiment had well helped to win the distinction. He referred to Mr. N. J. Murphy, who, despite the fact that he had recently suffered a bereavement, had looked after the gate, simply to help out the Orphanage. Speeches were made by Mr. W. J. Carroll, Rev. Bro. Evans and Messrs. C. Hutton, W. J. Higgins, C. J. Ellis, N. J. Vinnicombe and J. Buckingham, expressing in heartfelt terms their appreciation of the work being carried on at Mt. Cashel, the generous assistance given by the public, the work of the ladies, the kindness of Major Montgomerie, in granting leave to the soldiers to assist in the events, the kindness of the judges at the different sports, the generosity of the prize donors, the Press, but particularly the Sports Committee who had contributed so largely in the success of the day.

The Used to Be You.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Do you ever meet the used-to-be-you?
If you say "no" to that question that proves something about you. You can't possibly be over thirty.
For I do not think there lives a person over thirty who does not now and then catch a glimpse of that alter ego, that other personality so strangely like and unlike his own, which I call the used-to-be-you.
He lurks in the Old Album.
A favorite haunt of this alter ego is the old photograph album or, if your youth is of later vintage, the book of snap shots. You are turning over the pages at random when suddenly he looks out at you. Perhaps he is laughing with his companions over some rare jest,—how many rare jests one finds every day at twenty! Perhaps he looks seriously out at you with the pleasant melancholy of youth! Very likely the picture would be commonplace to others but not to you. Your eyes see behind it the Youth who still "by the vision splendid is on his way attended," and no matter how happy you may be to-day you are sure before you turn the page, to pay him and his vision the tribute of a sigh.
New Year's Eve a Fit Time for Such Reunions.
Charles Lamb was wont to meet his used-to-be-you on New Year's Eve and there is no tenderer passage in all his essays than that wherein he tells of the meeting. "If I know ought of myself. . . . No one can have less respect for his present identity than I have for the man Elia. But for the child Elia, that other me, there in the background, I must take leave to cherish the remembrance of that young master with as little reference, I protest, to this stupid chattering of five and forty as if it had been a child of some other house. . . . I can cry over its patient smallpox at five and rougher medicaments. . . . I know how it shrank from the least color of falsehood, God help thee, Elia, how art thou changed! I know how honest, how courageous (for a weakling) it was—how religious, how imaginative, how hopeful. From what have I not fallen if the child I remember was indeed myself!"

Could He Have Been Like That?
Perhaps you meet the used-to-be-you on a visit to the school or the town of your youth. As you watch the boys and girls of his age intensely preoccupied with their small concerns you wonder at him? Could he ever have been like that? Could he ever have thought that a class office, the difference between an A or a B, the politics of his secret society, were matters of such vital import. And the you of to-day smiles at the used-to-be-you with the tolerant superiority of the holder brother.
I wonder if someday on the other side of a barrier far higher than the passage of a few years, we shall look back on the used-to-be-you of this life and smile likewise.

Lady's Boudoir.

Walking is as much a misunderstood word. It does not mean the dragging over the ground of unwilling feet, nor a dawdling along apparently objectless. It means to square the shoulders and expand the lungs and go along as if you were somewhere and were glad of it, to get something which you really wanted to have. It means breathing deep and full and regularly.
It means energizing every muscle in the body and concentrating the mind on the work at hand. When one first learns to walk, like the child who can only toddle, one has to put the mind on each step, in order to get the easy swinging stride, with the body balanced in such a way that each foot, as it strikes the ground, becomes the center of gravity. It will not be long before the swing will become rhythmically and mechanically. Then will come the beginning of the joy of walking.
You will feel a delicious sense of lightness and exhilaration. You will forget the means of locomotion, as the distance are covered and fatigue becomes unknown. Tired, nerves relax, and burdens roll away. Problems grow hopeless and sleep is waiting for you when you lay your head on your pillow.
Perhaps when you take your first few tramps, there will be lameness in your feet and joints, so when you prepare for bed add to the foot bath equal parts of alum, rock salt and

THE LITTLE ARMY.

With drum and sword they march along, the soldiers brave of five and six.
And down the street goes childhood's lightness and exhilaration. You will forget the means of locomotion, as the distance are covered and fatigue becomes unknown. Tired, nerves relax, and burdens roll away. Problems grow hopeless and sleep is waiting for you when you lay your head on your pillow.
Perhaps when you take your first few tramps, there will be lameness in your feet and joints, so when you prepare for bed add to the foot bath equal parts of alum, rock salt and War-Activities Building Erected in One Day.

Practically every person in Hammond, Ind., had some part in the construction of Liberty Hall recently, which was built in a day by volunteer labour, says the June Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article. Work began according to schedule at seven o'clock, but during the rest of the day the schedule was discarded—it was too slow. Before five o'clock the work was so nearly completed that the work of clearing up was in progress, and at night the young people of the town held a dance, where 12 hours before the ground had been bare.
The building will be used for war purposes only. It contains offices for the Red Cross, for the Liberty Loan sales forces, for the American Alliance, and for other war-time organizations. The big auditorium, seating 1,800 and capable of holding 3,000, is intended for holding patriotic meetings of all kinds. The large foreign element in Hammond will be catered, instructed in their duties and obligations, and otherwise lined up and held in line to carry on the war vigorously.

This is to verify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other Liniments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it.

Through the Night.

The hour is dark, but we have lived through years
Of deeper gloom, and we have kept our way
Through desperate straits, through sacrifice and tears,
Through blood and sweat, to the triumphant day.
And so shall it be now; our faith is sure
That in the stubborn spirit that has won
Such splendours in the past, we shall endure
Until our eyes behold the rising sun.
In days of sloth when it seemed good to live
Upon the things for which our fathers wrought,
The peace they died to win, and nothing give,
Yet paid we homage to the men who fought,
Who kept our Flag supreme upon the seas,
Who strove against all odds in fate's despite,
Through hungry decades till, by slow degrees,
They scaled the tipping crags and reached the light.
'Tis ours to pay the price that these have paid.
They stood alone, but we at either hand,
Have gallant comrades eager to our aid.
The manhood of each freedom-loving land
And though the grey food rise in overwhelming might
And surge against our ranks, we shall not fall.
But, as we strike for liberty and right,
Shall hold against the tyrant and prevail.

Raising Goats in Honolulu.

The island of Kahoolawe is to be devoted to lowering the cost of living—if production of 10,000 goats for marketing will do it. The board of agriculture and forestry has authorized Chairman Arthur H. Rice to confer with the governor and land commissioner on a plan to withdraw the island from the forest reserve and offer it for lease. This has been done and Chairman Rice has placed in the hands of Deputy Attorney General Smith the duty of drawing up the necessary papers. Kahoolawe now produces goats and sand. It is believed that thousands of goats of marketable quality can be exported from the island and a chance is to be given for some enterprising rancher to become the goat king of the territory.

The Tie That Binds

London Daily Telegraph: Instead of domination, instead of an Imperium in the Roman sense, what we have aimed at is a vast confederation. We have not asked our Colonies to subordinate their wills to ours. On the contrary, we have respected the love of liberty and independence which we recognize to be the master passion of the English mind, and we have granted to the full responsible government—the free chance to our Colonists of making their own mistakes and correcting their errors by experience gained in actual legislation. In one sense, of course, a confederacy of sovereign States represents the weakest of links; in another sense it is the strongest, because it is not dependent on material means, but is based on spiritual elements and the inspiring influence of similar ideals. That principle was finely expressed by Mr. Lloyd George when he said that "in life the most enduring ties are the invisible ones."

HYMN OF HATE.

Last night I sat
Up pretty late indulging in a lot of hate. I hated all our Teuton foes, their hearts, their whistles, their toes; I hated Hindenburg and Bill, and Ludendorff, with right good will. From 10 o'clock till half past one I hated every beastly Hun, and hoped his name might yet be mud; I ground my teeth and sweated blood. And so to-day I'm feeling punk; there's lassitude throughout my trunk; my head aches in a horrid way. I have no appetite for hay; and a shooting pain is in my leg, and I have moods upon my tongue, the grips disturb my ample waist, my mouth is full of dark green taste. I don't suppose I imagined a Teuton by hating half the night or so. I don't suppose a Teuton knew that I was hating, long hours through. And so I realize to-day that all my hate was thrown away; alas, to waste a hundredweight of all-wool-and-a-yard wide hate! The Teutons have for many years soaked in hatred to their years; they lapped up hatred from their birth; it fattened them, increased their girth; their kultur has fit for a base, it thrives in every Prussian place. So they can hate the hours away, and not be crumpled up next day. But hatred here seems coarse and rude; for kindness was our infant food; it makes us pliant, sick and sore, and life becomes a dreary bore.

To-Day's Messages. REUTER'S SERVICE. London, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The Canadian Journalists in an interview given upon their return to London, said that they were most impressed by the wonderful spirit of the men along the whole front amongst all ranks from General to Private. There is absolute confidence in victory, said Mr. A. G. Penney, of the Quebec Chronicle, and there is no sign of faltering, no depression, no doubt whatever as to the result. Another member of the party said the organization behind the lines is almost miraculous; everywhere there are signs of coming victory and the optimism of the men is wonderfully stimulating. Whilst they are yearning for home, they show everywhere determination to see it through, whatever the time or cost. Mr. W. R. Givan, of the Kingston Daily Standard, describing an interview with Premier Clemenceau, said that he paid high tribute to the Canadians. He said they have proved themselves amongst the finest fighters in the world. The outstanding impression of the party in the war-devastated area was the cheerfulness and hope of the French communities.

London, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter is informed that the object of Allied action in Russia is to assist the Czech-Slovak armies to prevent any danger there from Germany, and also to prevent at all costs the Germanization of that portion of Russia. The Allies have not the slightest intention of doing anything tending to their territorial aggrandisement. Their main purpose is the maintenance of the Russian sovereignty. Not a single Allied soldier will remain in Russia when these objects have been attained.

London, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—At a luncheon just before the Canadian editors left Paris, Hon. Philippe Roy, agent-general for Canada, concluded a stirring speech by saying: "Canada entered the war from the first day and intends to remain in it until the end." Mr. W. A. Buchanan, M.P., of Lethbridge, Alta., thanked Lord Beaverbrook, a Canadian, whom all Canadians honor and admire, for his happy thought in inviting friends from overseas to come and see the war close at hand, so as to be able to go back and tell their fellow-countrymen what this great struggle really means. "The sight of Vimy Ridge," said Mr. Buchanan, "showed us what Canadians had done. Verdun taught us what France had suffered and form that hell she had come out triumphant. Since I had the opportunity of seeing the sacrifices to which France has willingly consented, I have vowed to her all my respect and all my homage." M. Andre Tardieu, French High Commissioner to the United States, speaking first in English and then in French, drew upon the Anglo-French co-operation at the front in munition factories and in connection with the question of transport and provisioning. He spoke of the loyal entry of Canada into the war at the first day of the war, the heroic fighting of the Canadians at Vimy Ridge, and at other points of the front. Lord Curzon greeted the concluding sentence of M. Tardieu's address when he stated it is because we are united that we shall be victorious. M. R. Renfrey, of Le Canada, Montreal, said he found it difficult to restrain his emotions when he thought of the work accomplished by the women of France in the cause of the war, especially in the regions the Canadian Journalists had visited. After a further tribute of respect to the work done by the French soldiers, agricultural laborers and factory hands, M. Renfrey, concluded by referring to the pleasure caused in Canada by the Allied new advance to the Marne River. All will hold on until France and her wounds are healed of the atrocities which the Germans have committed in France and also committed in Canada. We shall return to Canada and say we must make a peace which may not be a peace for France and Europe but for the whole world.

Cape Town, South Africa, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Capt. Carmichael, ex-Minister of education for New South Wales, has arrived from Pretoria and Durban where it is understood he submitted a proposal addressed to the South African and Australian Governments for a permanent system of exchange of ideas between representatives of political, commercial farming and journalistic interests.

London, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Speaking at a luncheon given in his honor by Sir Robert J. Perks, to-day, Sir Robert Borden, Canadian Premier, in referring to the deliberations of the Imperial War Conference, divided the results into three classes. One class of resolutions, he said, dealt definitely with matters of great moment; another class commended to the attention of the various governments, questions requiring fuller consideration as well as the executive and parliamentary action of each. The third class comprised resolutions which set up standing committees representing the United Kingdom and the Dominions for the purpose of investigating and reporting to the governments concerned. This last class included demobilization, regulation of ocean freight rates, and control of the raw materials of the Empire. On the whole, said Sir Robert, the deliberation of the conference have been attended with important results. Moreover a more perfect understanding has been attained by discussion between representatives from all parts of the Empire. It would be of inestimable value if the Imperial War Cabinet took up that urgent and that vital work. These deliberations were necessarily secret, as vast and complicated problems arising from the world war, had to be considered and determined. When the Ministers from the Dominions arrived in London, they were confronted by an enormous mass of documents partly covering the deliberations of the War Cabinet and its conclusions since May, 1917. Many developments had taken place since, and fresh problems had arisen; further determination regarding future action was required on very grave questions, some of which he intimated concerned the Dominions' interest in the disposition of the troops and the future conduct of the war are still demanding and receiving consideration and attention. The part played by the Ministers of the Dominions in the deliberations, has been very real and by no means nominal. Being jealous of their autonomy they necessarily refrained from participation in Britain's Domestic Affairs. The Imperial Cabinet has been constituted to deal with matters of common imperial concern and its deliberations were confined to that purpose. The British War Cabinet continued to exercise its functions with respect to matters of domestic concern within the United Kingdom. Thus the line of demarcation was established with sufficient clearness to prevent any unfortunate misunderstanding. "In this connection," said Premier Borden, "it should be clearly stated that neither the Imperial War Cabinet nor the Imperial War Conference have had any consideration this year the question of preference. The recent announcement on that subject was made on behalf of the British Government as a statement of domestic policy of the United Kingdom."

London, July 31. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Representatives of the Russian Social Democratic party, who were present prior to the proceedings in England and France, have issued an appeal to the Socialists of Europe in which they emphatically denounce the Bolsheviks as despotic reactionaries. The appeal declares that the overwhelming mass of the Russian peasants and workmen are not only anti-Bolshevik, but against "tyranny." They propose the creation of an international Commission representative of all social parties in Russia and inquire fully into Bolshevism.

CANADIAN PRESS. Paris, Aug. 1.—The Germans this morning attacked the French positions in the region of Bilgny southwest of Rheims. The attack was repulsed, says the war office statement to-day. The statement follows: Southwest of Rheims the Germans made an attack against the heights of Bilgny and were repulsed after a sharp combat. The enemy carried out a number of surprise attacks in the region of Fere-de-la-Meuse sector and upon the right bank of the Meuse without obtaining any advantage. The French inflicted losses on the enemy and captured prisoners.

With the American Army on the Alsace-Marne front, July 31. (By the Associated Press.)—American and French troops launched an attack on Wednesday afternoon from Seringies to Clergues on the centre of the Marne front for the purpose of straightening the line and demolishing barbed wire entanglements which the Germans have placed through the hills, forests and open places. The Germans Wednesday used a "new gas," having a white flame and smoke. The purpose of the American and French attack which is in a northeasterly direction probably is for the purpose of outflanking the Meunier Wood, and in getting off the blunt-edged salient in the line between Romagny and Clergues. This salient was made more acute by the American advance north from Clergues to Aseringues.

London, Aug. 1.—The German guns were active last night in the Somme region in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux. To-day's war office announcement shows activity was also displayed by the enemy artillery further north near Poucy and in Flanders in the Merris-Mestreen sector.

With the American Army on the Alsace-Marne front, Aug. 1. (By the Associated Press.)—The Franco-American forces on the Marne-battlefront continued yesterday the process of straightening out the line. They scored advances in this effort, the Americans pushing beyond Serzy to within two kilometres of Chamery. The Allied forces effected their progress against stubborn German resistance.

To Attend Conference. In an interview with M. J. G. Stone, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, this morning the Telegram representative was told that Messrs. Stone and A. E. Hickman were leaving on Saturday to attend the Fish Conference to be held in Halifax on August 2nd. Mr. Stone states that he received and accepted an invitation from the promoters of the conference to attend on July 11th. It seems probable that he will not be attending the Government's apathy in not sending some one there. Mr. Stone should keep silent, knowing all the time that he was going. Yesterday we again advised the Government to send a representative from here, and it is rather remarkable that it should be today that Mr. Stone makes known his intention of attending.

Police Court. A young man for damaging plants at Bowring Park was fined $1 and costs, while his mother had to furnish bonds for $50. Three others were also up, one a man, who had been drunk in the street, and two young lads for loose and disorderly conduct. They were each sentenced to $5 or 10 days.

Wedding Bells. Capt. Amosen, Manager of the Shipbuilding Co., of Hr. Grace, was married on Saturday last, at North River, to Miss Mary Genevieve Haubahn, by Rev. Dr. Whelan. After the ceremony the couple drove to Holywood, where they remained until last evening, when they came to the city. The Telegram extends congratulations and wishes them many years of happiness and wedded life.

Irish Not So Bitter About Naval Service. Dublin, (By Correspondence.)—Lieutenant Percy, Director of Naval Recruiting, in Ireland, declares that recruiting for the British Navy was never more brisk in Ireland than it is at present. There are Irishmen in every department from the Admirals down, and the recruiters in the towns and villages throughout Ireland are always warmly received. Dublin has just given a cordial send off to a number of recruits of the trawler section of the Royal Naval Reserve. This branch appeals particularly to Irish fisher boys who have experienced in the past few months around the Irish coasts the cruelty with which the German submarine campaign is conducted. The recruits paraded the streets of Dublin accompanied by bluejackets and marines and the band of the Berkshire Regiment. Among the inscriptions on the banners, in the procession were: "The Germans are sinking Irish ships and murdering Irishmen. Join us and avenge these crimes." "We are Beatty's boys, brother Irishmen, come along."

The accident happened a few minutes after the East bound express passed through. First aid was rendered by mailman Coady, and on arrival at Placentia the injured man was attended by a doctor. It is likely that Power will lose the use of two fingers.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

Yesterday, at Mount Cashel, the B.I.S. went down to defeat before the Cubs. Five innings were played and the score was five to three. The Irish seemed to have got back into their old groove of fumbling and wild throwing. Both Hall and Carey pitched wonderful ball, having seven strikeouts each and allowing but two walks. Features of the game were the three-bagger by Grace and some really good catching by O'Reilly and Doyle.

On the whole the game was rather a good one and the thousands of spectators enjoyed themselves thoroughly. This gives the Cubs the H. D. Reid Cup for one year. The Umpires were Messrs. Chesman and Montgomerie and the scorers Messrs. Channing and Mullings.

The score by innings was:
Cubs 0 1 0 2 2-5
B. I. S. 2 0 1 0 0-3

In the junior game the St. Patrick's Hall boys won from the City by a score of seven to five. The game was an exciting one and we noticed the eagle eyes of the League Managers trained on the lads throughout the whole game. Moore pitching for the S. P. H. did very good work having eight strike-outs to his credit. McCormack pitched for the City and did equally well but did not get as good support from his team. Some very good catching, throwing and base-stealing was in evidence. The game lasted about three-quarters of an hour, and afforded much amusement to the crowd of spectators. The prize of a bat and ball offered by Vice-President Harvornale goes to Capt. Delaney and his crew.

The score by innings was:
City 0 0 1 2 2-5
S. P. H. 1 3 1 3 x-7

THIS EVENING.

If the weather man is willing and our American visitors are still in port, a return game between them and the regular City nine has been arranged for this evening. This should prove an exciting contest as both teams have a win to their credit.

In the event of their departure the regular League game between the Red Lions and B.I.S. will take place.

By looking in the advertising columns of this paper readers will see just what teams will compete. You are sure to have a game of baseball this evening anyhow, should the weather man prove friendly, so just come along and throw in your dime for the W.P.A.

"CUBS."

From present indications it looks as if the Cubs are going to carry off both trophies this season. They won the H. D. Reid Cup at Mount Cashel yesterday, and they have been out after the regular League trophy from the start of the season. They are so far ahead of the other teams that unless a miracle happens (and baseball sees miracles every day) they will cop this one also. Well here's hoping.

The Bilious Habit

Some people have bilious spells about every so often until they get to be a habit. The liver is at fault. Get the liver right by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the bile will not collect in the blood until it poisons you.

There is no one organ in the human body which has so great a control of health as the liver. Hence the far-reaching effect of this treatment.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Brander, 81st Ave., Edmonton, Alta., Wednesday, June 12th, 1918, at 10 p.m., when Ella Abigail Bethune, of St. John's, Newfoundland, and Duncan James Bethune, of Avonmore, Ontario, were united in marriage, Rev. D. G. McQueen, D.D., performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bethune left on the midnight train for Vancouver, visiting Calgary and Banff. On their return they will make their home in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, where Mr. Bethune is employed, as despatcher, in the Canadian Northern Railway office.—Com.

COLOSSAL WAR COST.

OTTAWA, July 31. The war is costing the people of Great Britain the gigantic sum of $35,930,000 per day, or $1,485,000 every hour, or nearly $26,000 a minute, according to advices received from the British Ministry of Information by the Director of Public Information here. The British national debt increased during the year from $2,225,000,000 to $39,800,000,000, or an excess of twelve times over, and yet she is paying all and much more than all her debt charges out of current taxation. Before the war the people of Great Britain paid taxes amounting to approximately $1,000,000,000 a year; to-day they are paying taxes to the tune of $3,270,000,000 annually. In spite of this Great Britain raised her third war loan of $5,000,000,000.

Miraculous Escape.

CHILD FALLS TWENTY-FIVE FEET. NOW IN HOSPITAL.

A scene that might be portrayed as a miraculous escape from an awful death was witnessed at Salmonier at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning when Sadie, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. Michael McDonald, fell from a fish flake onto a boulder, a drop of exactly 25 feet, and as a result of injuries received now lies in a critical condition at the General Hospital. It happened that the injured child in company with some others was playing on a flake and while running near the edge, Sadie tripped and fell over, her face and shoulder striking the jagged surface of the rock. The father who was spreading fish nearby heard the children cry out that his daughter had fallen over the flake. Rushing to the scene the bewildered parent lifted the battered and blood-besmeared form of his little daughter to his arms and carried her to his home where it was thought that at any moment the child would succumb to her injuries. A telegraph message was despatched to Dr. Hogan, at St. Mary's, who hurried to the scene and attended to the little sufferer. On examination it was found that the child's left shoulder-bone was injured and the left side of the face and head badly cut and bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. Dr. Hogan, on being shown the place from which the child fell expressed surprise at the child's most wonderful escape from instant death. Yesterday morning Mr. McDonald took the injured child in a carriage and drove to Holyrood where they joined the incoming train and reached the city last night. While enroute to the city the child suffered greatly on account of the jolting of the train. Miss Scott, Head Nurse, and Sister Oakley, of the General Hospital staff, who were returning to the city kindly offered to attend to the little sufferer.

A strange coincidence in connection with the McDonald family is that some time ago Mr. McDonald was seriously injured and his mother killed when a horse bolted and both were thrown from the carriage down a steep cliff. As a result of injuries received on that occasion Mr. McDonald cannot see out of his right eye.

The First Cup of Tea.

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and how it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates back from 2,000 years before the coming of Christ. A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman, whose humble birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her. One day in the palace garden the lovers met, and the young man endeavoured to give her a few flowers, but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and towards evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves, and the stalks. Every day afterwards she had bunches of the tea-tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the Court tried the experiment, and with pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom, and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.

As It Will Be in 1925.

Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And I will toast with mine;
For all the land is dry as dust,
And we can't ask for wine.
Don't leave a kiss within the cup
Of Miss Intoxicates,
Inebriation is a crime
In these United States.

Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And don't use them too much,
Or you would make me drunk with bills,
And I would know the clutch
Of legal hands upon my sleeve
And languish in my cell,
Because I drank your loving glance
Not wisely but too well.

Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And do that on the sly,
Lest those who guard our morals
note
You have a liquid eye.
Let not your smile be one to snare
My spirit rise at all,
For those who make the laws might think
That spirit Alcohol!

Her Last Fight.

(John S. Margerison)

The huge liner drew slowly alongside the jetty, and almost immediately a huge crane swung over her decks. In her cargo were millions of rounds of ammunition and not a few pieces of heavy artillery; yet the thing she sent ashore first was a disreputable battered mass of machinery and scrapped matchwood which, not many weeks ago, had been a most efficient motor patrol-boat.

A slim young man in the uniform of a Lieutenant, R.N.V.R., and five others in the rig of the Motor Boat Reserve, stepped down the gangway, and gathered reverently around the remains of what had lately been their own vessel. A passer-by, having little knowledge, stopped to wonder, and presently ventured to ask the reason why these rough men handled such obvious rubbish as though it were the most precious thing on earth.

"And it is," retorted the Lieutenant. "That boat was mine—a racing boat that won me heaps of silver cups and shields and things, and which was offered to the Admiralty when war first commenced. Let me tell you, my lad, she's a marvel."

"She's been a messenger between different sections of the Fleet, carrying dispatches; she's hauled food and fuel to the outlying submarines in the North Sea; she's fished up mines off the Belgian coast with a dinky little one-boat drag; she's carried her gun through the canals of Northern Flanders, and, acting as a monitor, has helped the Army to beat back the Hun rush towards Calais."

"She's scored one or two of the Central Lakes of Africa, and there smashed the power of the Boche for good and all; she's taken part in the amphibious warfare up the Tigris and Euphrates in Mesopotamia, and made good all her fighting life."

"And now she's finished; but she died as she wanted to die—with her maxim gun going full blast ticking off the crew of a U-boat whose gun was matched against her own three-pounder and with her very last shell she sunk that U-boat, and would have herself fundered if this big liner hadn't come along and lifted her out of the water on to her own deck."

And the passer-by, possessing a new idea of what the pigmy little motor-boats of the Navy are doing in this war, lifted his cap in reverent salute to the mass of matchwood and machinery, and passed on.

A Pawn Never to Be Played.

(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

So Germany falls back on the hope of using Belgium as a "pawn." She will trade it for something she otherwise cannot get. The most obvious trade would be for her late colonies, it is Great Britain chiefly who must have the Germans out of Belgium as a matter of military security; and it is Great Britain chiefly who holds the captured German colonies. What could be a more obvious chance for a "swap"? The German theory is that, when the war closes, Great Britain will hold the sea, but Germany will hold Belgium. Neither can break the grip of the other, except by mutual consent. But there are two little things that this theory omits from its calculation. One is that, even Great Britain herself would have difficulty in obtaining a return of the German colonies. The Boers of South Africa have not shed their blood and treasure to rid themselves of so dangerous a neighbor as hungry and unscrupulous German imperialism, to welcome that neighbor back again, with a grin on his face. Australia and New Zealand would protest mightily against seeing the Germans again in the South Pacific. Then some of the islands have fallen to Japan. Another little thing omitted from the calculations of the German theorists is that the Allies propose to drive the Germans out of Belgium before the war closes. They will not buy them out. If it takes ten years they will bargain them out.

Help to Win the War by Using Less Flour

Oaten Bread Recipe:

TAKE

1 sifter full of Ogilvie's "STANDARD" Flour and 1 sifter full of Ogilvie's ROLLED OATS

THEN

Scald the Rolled Oats with 2 cupfuls of boiling water. Make sponge with 1/2 yeast cake and one cup of Ogilvie's "Standard" Flour; then add the Rolled Oats—after allowing sufficient time for them to cool.

ADD

1 tablespoonful of Butter,
2 teaspoonfuls of Salt,
1 1/2 tablespoonfuls of Sugar.

Knead well, adding Ogilvie's "STANDARD" as required to give it the proper texture before proceeding to bake.

The above recipe will make a Wholesome and Delicious Bread.
