INCORPORATION SHOOTING AFFRAY GIRLS
WOULDED; TWO UNDER SURVILLANCE

Shooting Is Said to Have Occurred Sunday and Has Been Kept Quiet on Account of the Prominence of the Business Men Involved.

Word of a sensational shooting af-fay which occurred in Coronation on Monday night, but which, owing to the prominence of the people involved, has been kept secret, filtered through to Calgary last night and mounted police officials are now investigating the occurrence.

As a result of the affray Edna Harris, a young girl inmate of a house of questionable character, is lying in the house at Coronation with a bullet wound in her shoulder, and two prominent business men are under surveillance pending the outcome of her injuries which are said to be serious. Both men are married with families reside at Coronation, and it is for this reason that the affair has been kept secret.

According to the story which came to Calgary the shooting was accidental, but whiskey caused one of the men to

ANDREW MACK, BOSTON THEATRE MANAGER
LOOKING FOR THEATRE IN CALGARY

Is Negotiating With Col. James Walker for the Walker Theatre
When It Is Completed; Predicts Splendid Future for the West.

So taken with Calgary from what he has read and heard of this city, Andrew Mack, the famous Irish tenor, who is the headliner at the Orpheum theatre this week, is now endeavoring to make arrangements whereby he can take over a theatre in this city.

Mr. Mack is making Calgary one of the five places in America at which he is appearing on his tour and he has come to this city to look over the situation for himself. As far back as last May he was told of the possibilities of a theatre here, and he is endeavoring to make arrangements with Col. James Walker, whereby that capitalist completes the theatre building on Seventh avenue, the basement of which is already constructed.

Mr. Mack is a large shareholder in the P.R. company and keeps very closely in touch with the extensions of that road and all its enterprises, and says that the $50,000,000 to be spent by the C.P.R. in the west will take place in Alberta in the next five years.

Mr. Mack is in a position to give out the plan for building the theatre with able other necessary articles for use in a construction camp, left the Canadian Northern yards last night for the west.

Work on the line has been going on for two years, but these will be employed beyond Le Pas on the main line.

MILITARY CAMP, WHICH OPENS IN JUNE, WILL MEAN THE DISBURSEMENT OF $100,000 IN CALGARY

Will Be One of the Largest Military Camps Ever Held in Western Canada at Which More Than 2,000 Officers and Men Will Mobilize.

Will Comprise Artillery, Infantry, Cavalry, Signalling Sections, Ordnance Corps, Postal Detachments and Corps of Guides.

Following the Military Camp a Cadet Camp Will Be Held for Six Days and Which Will Be Attended by Cadets from All Over Province.

Calgary's military camp, which will start on June 17 next and continue until June 25, will be one of the largest military camps ever held in Western Canada. During the two weeks the citizen soldiers of Alberta are under canvas Calgary will resemble a garrison city, as over 2,000 officers and men of the various corps will be in training here and it is estimated that the total cost of the camp this year will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.
This is outside the amount of money which will be required to run the camp from outside points, and all in all it is estimated that the holding of the camp in Calgary this year will mean a disbursement of about $100,000 to Calgary.

Then a Big Cadet Camp.
Following the military camp a cadet camp will be held for six days at which cadets from every part of Alberta will be present. It is estimated that about 1,000 strong, and will mean an additional expenditure in this city of about $25,000.

In addition to the large number of men who will be under canvas, it is estimated that about 450 tons of hay will have to be purchased as well as about 450 tons of oats. The tenders are yet to be received for several hundred tons of potatoes, thousands of pounds of beef, sugar, garden produce, etc.

Another Edmonton detachment will be the 10th Edmonton Fusiliers, who will be into infantry training with the 10th Light Horse located at 103rd Calgary rifles under Lt. Col.
Arnos. Of this city, the Fusiliers will be commanded by Lt. Col.
Stairs, who was for many years mastery officer of the brigade camps held at Calgary.

From High River and Calgary an intermediate points will come detachments of the 15th Light Horse, while squadrons of Light Horse located at Pine Lake, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin
will be under canvas at the 35th Central Alberta Horse.

All the baking, killing and the com-missionary points will come detachments of the 15th Light Horse, while squadrons of Light Horse located at Pine Lake, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin
will be under canvas at the 35th Central Alberta Horse.

The signalling section will go into a special course of training under regular Canadian Army training with the 15th Light Horse, while postal clerks of the Corps of Guides, postal detachments, ambulance corps,
and corps of guides.

Bylaw for Power Plant Extensions

Commissioner Graves Fears That Unless Arrangements Are Hastened, City May Be in Darkness
Next Winter.

Estimates of $320,000 for 5,000 k.w. Extension by Gas Fired, Steam Turbines Will Be Verified by

A bylaw authorizing the expenditure of $320,000 for the extension of the city's power plant in Victoria park, by the addition of gas-fired system turbines with a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts, was submitted to a special meeting of the city council yesterday.

Commissioner Graves is very dubious as to the power situation. Unless the work can be got under way and machinery purchased immediately he is afraid
the city may be in darkness next winter.

THE RULE OR RUIN PRESS

During the recent election contest an inestimable amount of harm was undoubtedly done to the province by the calamity howling of the opposition press in regard to its financial standing and the unfounded attacks upon and cowardly insinuations regarding its public men.

To illustrate the harmful effects of the Tory Hammer Brigade the following incident may be quoted. Sitting at a dinner table in a hotel in a country town in the centre of the province during the campaign was a former American who had been a resident of the province for five years—a progressive, successful farmer and a splendid booster for Alberta. Beside him sat an Ontario, also a good farmer and a good citizen. The Ontario brought up the subject of politics and referred to the elections and said to the American: "I suppose you will support the Conservative party this time." "No," replied the American, "I will not."

"Why?" asked the other. "I have heard you criticise the administration," "Yes," was the answer. "I have criticised it and it does not come up to my ideal in all respects, but it is far superior to your party and if I was disposed to vote Conservative the attitude of the Conservative press would deter me." "You think the Conservative press is antagonistic to the American settler?" "No," was the reply, "the American settler can take care of himself. But let me tell you something: I brought eight families into this province. I could bring in fifty more, and need not stretch the truth regarding Alberta in doing it, but I dare not send a Conservative paper back among my neighbors, friends and relatives in the state from whence I came. Your press says the province is bankrupt, which I know isn't true, and says our public men are crooks and thieves and thugs. I know that these statements are false and only used for election purposes, but my neighbors back home don't know and I am not going to ask them to come to a province which the Conservative press says is bankrupt, and is in debt and is governed by a gang of road agents." My friend, it is a dirty bird that fouls its own nest and I am sure not going to vote Conservative. This is not an imaginary dialogue but one that actually took place and it is more than significant of the real injury that the Rule or Ruin Tory Press has done and is doing the province.

During the same week in which the incident recited above occurred, a well read, intelligent and observant Englishman was heard to say that if he were to believe the Conservative press in this province he must come to the conclusion that Canada was the worst governed country in the civilized world and one in which the direction of immigration was a fraud and a crime. "Why," he said, "you complain about the aspersions cast upon Western Canada by Mr. Bottemy in John Bull and others. Man, dear, if John Bull were to say one half the nasty things about you that your own Conservative press says, that same Conservative press would search the language for more words to denounce it."

Ever since Canada was Canada, the Tory press and the Tory party have with Phalaris unctious considered itself the ruling class and when it cannot rule as in 1841 it will at once proceed to destroy. The Tory is the same in Alberta as elsewhere. With him it is Dominion or dynamite; rule or ruin. Give him power or he will down the parliament house in a twinkling. Elect his incompetent party to power or he will blackguard the province, for is he not the only true loyal citizen?

THE CRADLE OF JOURNALISM.

The Flowery Land is as much to be considered the cradle of journalism as she is the cradle of printing, when we recall the fact that The Pekin Gazette, to which all other newspapers look up with befitting reverence, was established as long ago as 1490 B. C., or thereabouts, and is still running! "Eato perpetua!" And the new press which has risen with the new China is an important element of that reborn nation. A Pekin correspondent writes that that metropolis is credited with something like 70 journals, and other centres boast newspapers by the score. Even far up country there are few cities that do not produce a daily or weekly print. Constant exhortations to virtue and the leading of the better life in a country devoted to the maxims of the sages are necessarily a feature of their pages. Criticism of the authorities, great and small, and corruption of official life, constitute perpetual sermons, which are accepted apparently with the same equanimity that is displayed by Christian congregations under denunciations from the pulpit. As a vehicle of public opinion, among a people distinguished for morality and worshipping correct behavior, doubtless the Chinese press does good work. It throws the light of publicity on evil doing, and praises merit in all its forms. As a social institution its influence cannot but be for good. And no doubt it tends to awaken in the people an interest in politics, and stimulates the desire to obtain an understanding of the affairs of the country. It is helping the people to qualify for a vote in the government, an end which all the world maintains to be desirable.

Nevertheless, the Chinese press has a great fault. There is little exactitude in its information, the news it publishes is frequently preposterously wide of the mark, while its views upon foreign affairs are almost invariably wrong, and its editing leaves everything to be desired. In view of the desirability of proportion in dealing with things foreign, it is astonishing that the Young Chinese who edit the press do not show more discrimination in their treatment of foreign questions. In one page of a newspaper may be found an article lauding, say, British institutions and the high character of British people. On another page Great Britain is stigmatized as a thief and a robber, and no better in her behavior about Tibet than Russia might be—the worst possible comparison at the moment, when suspicion of Japan is temporarily forgotten in rage against Russia. Such imbalances are based on the most amazing lies, baselessly ludicrous if they were not so disconcerting because of the stimulus given to the growth of anti-foreign feeling. Whether the absurdities that constantly appear in native newspapers are of snowball origin, beginning with a thoughtless observation and gradually acquiring shape and form until tangible enough to be seized upon by some agile reporter, or whether they are malicious inventions by young men steeped in bitterness and jealousy, cannot be said; but the fact remains that false statements, calculated to breed distrust and foment hatred of foreigners, are far daily provided in the newspapers for the consumption of their readers.

HASTY CRITICISM. It is a very easy matter for any small coterie of citizens to bear the unenviable task in an afternoon of noisy convulsion. The board of trade was comparatively deliberate when it slipped up the four months' work of the city council in the space of an hour at the Wednesday meeting. To thoughtful electors the spectacle of a roomful of men rushing through a resolution of condemnation of civic business, entailing an expenditure of between six and seven million dollars with a bare thirty minutes of deliberation is not one to inspire confidence in the board of trade, nor to add to the prestige of that body. However well merited the criticism of the work of the city council might have been, the hasty and somewhat reckless manner in which it was made would have a tendency to discount its influence.

Apparently the board of trade had only a sheet or two of typewritten data at hand, and on the strength of the oratory of one or two members and a very condensed report obtained from the city hall, they put themselves on record in matters which have been under serious discussion for months at the city hall. On similar advice, the board of trade apparently took it for granted that the city had committed itself to the provision of "a coal mine, a washing house and an auditorium," whereas these things have not yet evolved into definite possibilities, and the city council has not committed itself in any detail. The ownership of a coal mine has been tentatively discussed, and the council has authorized the power and development committee to investigate, but beyond this nothing has been done. The washing house and auditorium propositions are the merest corridor gossip. Had the board of trade proceeded with its usual deliberation it is likely that this blunder would have been avoided. A careful perusal of the tentative estimates, covering an expenditure of over $4,000,000, which was submitted to the manager of the Bank of Montreal six or eight weeks ago, would have convinced the board that very little, if any, of this sum is to be expended on anything not in the nature of a public utility. The largest items include a million dollars for paving, and for water mains and extensions which are absolutely essential, about half a million for sewers, etc.; a large sum for street railway extensions and concrete sub-base, and another large account for supplies for the city stores department, including 150,000 barrels of cement, grants of $100,000 to hospital, $100,000 for a tuberculosis hospital, $50,000 for a Children's Shelter, and various smaller grants to other institutions, including the board of trade; fifty thousand for preparatory work on bridges, and appropriations for interests and sinking fund. The list does not even include any appropriation for permanent work on the three Bow river bridges, nor on the new waterworks system.

The board apparently drew its conclusions from a list of suggestions made by the aldermen and the public from time to time this year, drawn up, and passed on to them by Commissioner Graves. The city council has made several mistakes this year—it may even be said that there has been a flagrant deviation from the policy promised by the aldermen before election—in one or two cases, and although the administration has been very fair on the whole, there is undoubtedly ground for some criticism. Sane and reasonable criticism is justifiable, but criticism based on a half hour survey of four months' work and an inaccurate and unauthorized report is likely to do more harm than good.

Editorial Notes

The editorial highbrow of an evening paper takes on awfully over the fact that Hon. Walter Scott, premier of Saskatchewan, in an interview in Washington, D.C., expressed the opinion that his province is still in favor of the Conservatives, and wishes the Hon. Walter with a large portion of unpickled English. Related reports are to the effect that Hon. Walter is bearing up as well as could be expected under the circumstances. The citizens are behind Dr. Mahood, medical health officer, in his crusade for pure food. Several months ago the Albertan ventured the opinion that no other city of the size and importance of Calgary on the continent would submit to the fraud, jugglery and danger in regard to its food that this city has done. Let the council take heed of the health officer and the citizens will support the council.

The Tory press both pure bred and grade is fearfully alarmed over the result of the election in Medicine Hat, despite the fact that the matter has been referred to the district judge. It is hardly to be expected that newspapers that had no confidence in a judge's fitness to decide on the reasonableness of a machinery contract could give an unbiased opinion in an election contest unless that opinion should be in favor of the Conservative candidate.

Some people in the city hall are unkind enough to draw comparisons between the late lamented parks board and the very critical board of trade. The fact that Mr. Valiquette was the chairman of the parks board, which terminated its administration with a deficit of many thousands of dollars to be met by the council of 1912, and very little in the way of parks improvements to show for a colossal expenditure, is no reason why he should refrain from criticism of the city council. This is a land of free speech, and every taxpayer has a right to discuss the note in his brother's eye whenever he notices it. In this western country dead hopes and buried plans are forgotten, and every man should have an opportunity to get his second wind.

WOMEN OF CANADA FOREGATHER IN COUNCIL

N. C. W. C. Meeting at Montreal Causes Influx of Delegates, and Today Sees Opening of Session of Greatest Importance

Montreal, April 30.—The first contingent of delegates to the twentieth annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, which opens tomorrow at St. James' Methodist church, arrived tonight.

One of the most interesting addresses to be delivered during the course of the meeting will be that given at the luncheon by the Rev. Canon on Thursday by Mrs. J. Owen Phillips of England.

After the business meeting a delightful program open to visitors was given. Mrs. Mitchell gave some excellent songs, finely rendered.

The flight that failed. Compiegne, France, April 30.—Eugene Gilbert, a French aviator, attempted to fly in an aeroblanco from Ambrion, in the department of the Ain, across France, over the English channel.

NOTICE Will the young lady who wrote the president of the Local Council of Women, April 21, please contribute to the fund? Appointment necessary. Absolute secrecy.

Disappointment awaited him. The firm failed to fulfil their obligations and though able to pick up some jobs there was little to send home to his wife and family.

Ontario's Secretary Admits Receiving $500 For Expenses During Election

Liberal Members Desert Committee in Protest Against Unfair Ruling of the Chairman; Counsel for Proud-Foot Not Permitted to Examine Taylor

Toronto, April 30.—The committee of the legislature on privileges and elections continued its investigation of the charges against Hon. W. J. Hanna and Sir James Whitney, although the Liberal members all absented themselves as a protest against the ruling of G. H. Ferguson, the chairman, that H. H. Dewar, counsel for Mr. Proud-foot, who made the charge, should not be permitted to examine George C. Taylor as to the circumstances under which he had contributed $500 to Mr. Hanna's campaign fund.

Mr. Hanna's counsel, had admitted the receipt of this money, and the chairman held that any further investigation of the circumstances was unnecessary. Mr. Taylor was giving his evidence at the time this incident occurred, but he had continued his evidence in answer to Mr. Neibitt's questions. He said that the settlement of his claim, instead of being an improvement from the government's point of view, had been unfair to him, that any other arbitrator would allow him $500 more, that if this did not return out to be true he would be willing to pay the expenses of the arbitration. With the exception of the $500 contribution, anything else he had spoken of having against Mr. Hanna, he said, was not of his personal knowledge.

In Montgomery, Taylor's solicitor, supposed that gentlemen's statements. Instead of getting too much, Mr. Taylor had got the small end of the bargain. W. K. McNaught said that he had been interested in the matter because he had heard that it was intended to settle the claim by prolonging the contract. He had objected to the contract in the first place, and called on the premier to object to the contract before it was made.

Mr. Hanna himself took the stand, and although he admitted having accepted $500 from Mr. Taylor for election expenses, repudiated all the other charges against him. The money received from Taylor had been spent in legitimate ways, and had not influenced him in any way in dealing with Mr. Taylor's claims. Questioned as to Mr. Thorne's statement that he had said that if these charges were made public he would have to retire from public life, Mr. Hanna said that at the time he was asked to sign the statement that if he had been guilty of pilfering in his department he would not be fit to be in public life. He did not remember having used the word "resign," but might have done so. Mr. Hanna also insisted in making a statement in regard to the charges in relation of any kind. Mr. Hanna stressed the original records on file would show that there had been no manipulation of any kind. Mr. Hanna stressed the origin of the charges to Harry Masonville, who was formerly secretary to Dr. Rheame, and has been dismissed from the civil service. Masonville, he said, bore him a grudge arising from out of the trouble which had ended in Masonville's dismissal from the service and in two communications Masonville had threatened to drive him out of public life. Hon. J. J. Foy, however, in writing them had been under pressure brought to bear to secure the flat for Taylor and with that the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

Pope Pius X. Much Better

Rome, April 30.—The Pope today sat in an arm chair at his desk in the large library of the state department. This was the first time since his recent illness that the pontiff has been able to leave his department for the floor below. During the past week he has gained much in strength, and the removal of the restrictions placed upon him by his physicians had cheered him greatly.

The Pope sent for Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state to surprise him, but the Cardinal, although professing his warm congratulations, urged the utmost caution. The pope remarked that he could not be more prudent and he hoped to be at the reception of several personages on important affairs.

Mr. Hanna himself took the stand, and although he admitted having accepted $500 from Mr. Taylor for election expenses, repudiated all the other charges against him. The money received from Taylor had been spent in legitimate ways, and had not influenced him in any way in dealing with Mr. Taylor's claims. Questioned as to Mr. Thorne's statement that he had said that if these charges were made public he would have to retire from public life, Mr. Hanna said that at the time he was asked to sign the statement that if he had been guilty of pilfering in his department he would not be fit to be in public life. GRATIFYING NEWS OF THE GRAIN

Seeding Well on Way to Completion in Prairie West, Say 200 Wire, and Coming Season's Outlook is Very Good

Winnipeg, May 1.—According to reports received from over 200 points in the Canadian prairie west, seeding is well on the way to completion. At 114 points over 75 per cent. of the wheat area is reported seeded. Taking into account the acreage sown in 1912, points which report a less amount seeded, it is reasonably safe to assume that fully 75 per cent. of the land intended for wheat this year has already been sown to that cereal.

Fifty-five points report the acreage to be seeded same as 1912; 75 points reported the acreage as less than that in 1912, while 44 points report an increase of acreage running from five per cent. to as high as 20 per cent. though the last figure occurred but seldom, thus indicating that there probably is no increase in wheat acreage this year and possibly a fractional decrease.

With reference to the seeding on stubble land without re-plowing, the figures would indicate that from 25 to 30 per cent. of the wheat crop had gone in on land in this condition. Very many points reported that ground as too soft for the use of motor tractors. These reports almost en masse declare that while seeding is on the whole, considerably later than in 1912, the condition of the ground is so good that there has been very few drawbacks, that the seeding is actually far in advance than it was on the corresponding date last year, with a better general outlook for the season. Taken as a whole, the report is a very satisfactory one, the fact that the acreage in wheat is not materially increased is really a very healthy and satisfactory sign, as it shows that farmers are slowly but surely awakening to the danger of seeding wheat late and have confined themselves largely to land that was prepared last season. Only three points report an actual need of rain. Wet snow has fallen, very generally in the prairie provinces, about the only section where additional moisture was needed.

Mr. Lloyd George's New Taxes--Is the Chancellor Becoming a Tariff Reformer

(By John Foster Fraser.)

London, April 30.—No, I am not going to write this article about the chancellor of the exchequer's investments in an American company in order to provide for his old age. The budget which he has put forward with the way he is likely to raise the necessary millions in order that the United Kingdom may meet the budget statement next Thursday. This is a mistake, for it will result in the following Tuesday that he will reveal what he proposes to do.

During the year which closed at the end of March the national expenditure was $248,199,550 and the income amounted to $248,000,000. The expenditure in the coming year is calculated at $272,630,000, so that there will be a deficit of something like $24,630,000. To be quite fair, it can be assumed that the contributions of the various departments of the government will be provided for, and the question is: From where is the rest to be got?

Now, I make no pretence to possess to any of the budget secrets. Occasionally there is a little leakage about what is decided at cabinet meetings, but later silence is the order concerning the budget, and any statements which appear in the press are no more than shrewd outside anticipations.

A considerable portion of the Liberal party, having taken fright at the withdrawal of their support of the budget, has taken as a part of their policy at the next election, and being somewhat uncomfortable at the result, have decided between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 sterling have been imposed by way of taxes on food since the Liberal cabinet was formed seven years ago. I have been anxious to put themselves right with their constituents by having the existing food taxes considerably reduced. A few weeks ago I presented a motion in the House of Commons urging that he should reduce the present taxes on food. The reply they got was by no means satisfactory, for being in much need of money, the chancellor of the exchequer can not cut off a source of revenue which yields a considerable number of millions. On the other hand, he dare not impose further taxation on food.

In some quarters it has been anticipated that Mr. Lloyd George will endeavor to make the necessary wind by placing heavier taxes on the owners of land. Land owners, as a class, are not very popular, and they are supposed to be better off than the rest of the community. It is a matter of course that Mr. Lloyd George's present ambition is to make the square "set" and not to be a mere reformer. He has an academic interest in the single tax, which means making the land bear the whole of the burden of national expenditure. As land grows food, taxation of land is taxation of the raw material, and this is the natural representative of rural constituencies are beginning to realize. However good a case there may be for the reduction of the tax on food, no one who has studied the question fully realizes that the incidence of taxation is a matter of course, and that the Radical members who have farmers as constituents are not anxious that anything further should be done to increase their support.

Besides, it is not forgotten that Mr. Lloyd George's endeavors under the 1910 budget to raise millions by land value taxes have been a fiasco. Excessive sums have been spent by an army of valuers making investigation and the return has not been profitable. For instance, in the financial year which has just closed he reckoned to get from these duties $2,750,000, but the income has fallen short of that amount by $12,000,000. Indeed there has been a drop of $150,000,000 on house duty, and $100,000,000 on land tax, and well over a half million in customs, excise and estate duties. Had it not been that there was an increase of nearly $3,000,000 in the telephone service the chancellor of the exchequer would have been in a worse predicament than he finds himself. For the two reasons, then, extra taxation on land would not bring forth anything like the millions which Mr. Lloyd George needs unless there was a complete revolution in taxation, and because Liberal natural members are afraid of losing their seats, we may make the assumption that further land taxation will not take place.

Still that doesn't bring us any nearer to the solution of the problem. How is the chancellor to provide for at least another $20,000,000 which is wanted in the present year? The only thing of which we are sure is that there must be extra taxation somewhere. Are those of us who have watched Mr. Lloyd George's financial career have long been acquainted with the fact that he has no settled financial convictions. He is a brilliant political protagonist, but he has never given any evidence that his views on national finance are the result of definite conclusions after careful study.

Ignoring principles, the need always justifies the means with him. For the last twenty years I have heard of most of Lloyd George's speeches delivered in the House of Commons, and especially during the last half-dozen years, I have been gradually forced to the conclusion that without really knowing it, he is a tariff reformer at heart. Keen partisan though he is, and untrammelled by convictions and financial dogma, he has the kind of mind which quickly recognizes anomalies, and makes a dash at rectifying them, without being at all clear about the road on which he is travelling. When he was on the board of trade he was responsible for carrying the Patents Act through which foreign firms have been obliged to set up factories here and employ British workmen. Mr. Lloyd George has boasted of the benefits of the Patents Act, without apparently stopping to think that its operation has resulted in a large number of jobs being lost to British subjects.

If I say that the chancellor of the exchequer is unscrupulous I do not wish to be misunderstood. He is unscrupulous in the sense that when he wants to accomplish a particular object he does not at all mind the means which he uses. For a long time there has been a subconscious feeling among Unionists that Mr. Lloyd George would not be at all above appropriating the main plank in their program—the Tariff Reform—and putting it into practice if it served his purpose. Whether in writing the budget, or in the part of the working classes, the taxation which would increase the cost of living, there is a rapidly growing feeling, and the feeling is better than the chancellor of the exchequer that there is something unfair in the present situation, whereby the foreigner has free access to our markets while he erects a tariff barrier to prevent our goods competing on level terms with his goods in his own market. Following this, it is the British temper that if the foreigner hits us we would be within our rights in hitting him.

No man in public life can so quickly gauge the popular feeling of the crowd than Mr. Lloyd George. Therefore, I would not be at all surprised if in his budget statement of next Thursday he provided us with a sensation and if, having to get $20,000,000 from some-where, he introduced a tariff reform, and the principle of Tariff Reform and plumped taxes on imported motor cars, on silk, and increased the duties on the number of manufactured articles. Of course, he would deny that he was a protectionist; he would repudiate that he was a Tariff Reformer; he would blame his action by leading that he imposed the taxation for revenue purposes only.

That something like this is in the air is believed by a good many members of parliament. The other night there was a debate on tariffs. Party passion was rather high, and the two sides were firing the customary taunts at each other. There was a point when the whole ministerial party cheered against the imposition of taxes on imported manufactured goods. "Then," said a Unionist member quickly, "you are committed that never under any circumstances will you put taxes on foreign-made articles." There was dead silence at this. For many Liberal members had heard the whisper that has been going the rounds as to how Mr. Lloyd George will find the extra $20,000,000.

Friedmann's Movements Doubtful

Montreal, April 30.—The authorities of the Royal Edward Institute received a wire tonight from Dr. F. F. Friedmann, stating that he would arrive here at 7.30 o'clock tomorrow morning for the purpose of giving a second inoculation of his serum to tuberculosis patients whom he treated on his former visit.

Dr. Friedmann's future plans were not revealed in the telegram sent to Dr. Adams, and whether the German physician will visit Toronto and London, during his stay in Canada, could not be ascertained.

MICKEY MINTYRE GETS DECISION OVER BILLY GRIFFITH WELTER CHAMPION

Canadian Defeats Conqueror of Ray Bronson After Twelve Fast Rounds—Bout the Best Ever Held in Western Canada.

Arthur Pelkey Decisively Beats Andy Morris, Referee Stopping the Bout in the Eighth Round to Save Bostonian from Knockout.

(By JOE F. PRICE)

Calgary boxing fans last night witnessed the best fight program ever staged in Canada and quite on the par with any staged in the world. Every minute of the bill was a thriller, and the fans were kept on tenterhooks throughout. Mickey McIntyre, welterweight champion of Western Canada, defeated Billy Griffith, star of the welterweight championship of America, after twelve close rounds. The decision was very close. Arthur Pelkey lived up to the expectations of the fans, and easily defeated Andy Morris of Boston. He had the better of the argument all the way, and in the eighth round Tommy Burns stopped the bout, and awarded it to Pelkey to save Morris from a knockout.

The crowd in attendance was rather small, less than two thousand being present, but those who were there got the biggest run for their money that they ever got.

As a result of his win over Morris last night, Pelkey puts himself in line for the elimination series for the heavyweight championship of the world. He will meet Luck McCarty on May 24, and the winner of this affair will be matched with some of the other top fighters of the program.

McIntyre Now in Line Light

Mickey McIntyre now springs into the limelight as a welter, who will have to be considered when the world's title is decided. Griffith is almost the undisputed welterweight champion of the world, his victory over Ray Bronson two weeks ago establishing his right to claim the title. In justice to Griffith it must be said that he was traveling under a big handicap. He only arrived in Calgary two days before the bout through a misunderstanding as to the date of the bout. Rather than disappoint the Calgary fans he agreed to carry out his part of the program. The high altitude caught him in the wind, and he was unable to give the best account of himself. He realized his condition when he went into the ring. He played a waiting game throughout with the hope of landing a haymaker. But his judge of distance was poor, and he was unable to cover up. Tommy saw that Morris was beaten, so he stepped in and hoisted Pelkey's gloved hand.

"I gave Pelkey the decision to save a possible knockout," megaphoned Burns to the crowd when the tumult occasioned by his action died away.

That Morris was in a bad way was shown when he seemed unable to understand what had happened. For several minutes he walked around the ring, arguing with his seconds and with Tommy, expressing a strong desire to continue the battle. He was apparently groggy for a while, but suddenly it dawned on him that, notwithstanding his determination to stay on his feet before Pelkey as long as he could, it had been best to put an end to the affair.

Tommy Burns had left the ring and Morris called him back. When Tommy reached the ropes Morris extended his hand and shook. The crowd cheered their appreciation of a good loser and a game fighter.

one with Tommy Burns. He showed he had a powerful left and a useful right and that he could guard well. Morris did not seem to be able to land anything outside of kidney punches, which were frequent enough to do damage.

It is safe to prophesy that Pelkey should make a good showing against Luther McCarty.

Pelkey in Earnest

Pelkey started off the last round fought as if he had a desire to put Morris out. That he landed a nice long left to the jaw, dodging Morris' attempted come-back. They jumped around for a few seconds and Pelkey made a walk Morris cover up and backed towards the ropes. Pelkey slugging in rights and lefts, every one fearing the recipient. While Morris was backing up toward the ropes, making feeble attempts to stop Pelkey's rush, the latter got in three strong rights to the jaw. As Morris had had considerable punishment he was rendered groggy by these wallops and could do nothing but cover up and lean against the ropes. Then Tommy Burns stepped in and whisked Pelkey off.

Pelkey had the advantage in the way of weight, being 204 at the ring side, while Morris was only 185 pounds. Clinches were frequent throughout the bout, but outside of kidney punches little damage was done in them.

About the only kind of blow Morris seemed able to land was the kidney punch. This tries for Pelkey's prominent jaw were easily avoided by the big fellow. Most of Morris' blows went wild. Pelkey seemingly having the happy ability of not being in the place he was when Morris started to swing.

First Preliminary

The first preliminary was between Tommy Hanson of Boston, and Kid Haynes of Swift Current. The Boston lad was introduced as weighing 122 pounds and Kid Haynes 112. It was a clever, fast exhibition of plenty action. The verdict of a draw was a popular one.

Tommy Haxton of Philadelphia, and Buster Brown of Calgary, were introduced for the second preliminary. This was another featherweight contest. It was a very good battle but both men appeared to hesitate about landing the bout was declared a draw.

Morris showed great gameness throughout, but he was not a match for big Pelkey, and the latter played with him much of the time. However, during the last two or three of the rounds fought Pelkey rained in the blows. Then, towards the end of the eighth, after severe punishment, he landed a right to the head and covered up. Tommy saw that Morris was beaten, so he stepped in and hoisted Pelkey's gloved hand.

"I gave Pelkey the decision to save a possible knockout," megaphoned Burns to the crowd when the tumult occasioned by his action died away.

That Morris was in a bad way was shown when he seemed unable to understand what had happened. For several minutes he walked around the ring, arguing with his seconds and with Tommy, expressing a strong desire to continue the battle. He was apparently groggy for a while, but suddenly it dawned on him that, notwithstanding his determination to stay on his feet before Pelkey as long as he could, it had been best to put an end to the affair.

HILLHURST FINALLY RESIGNS FROM LEAGUE

The result of last night's meeting of the Calgary City and District League was that Hillhurst has been hanging fire during the past week or two, in regard to paying in the league. He has finally decided to withdraw. The decision was made by Alec Melville after Mr. Riley had made a long statement in connection with the question, and had said before going out that anything he would do would have his endorsement.

All the clubs were represented, and Mr. Robertson was in the chair. The Lancers club, which has been accompanying Hillhurst in their protests at the last two meetings, agreed with the motion which was made by Mr. Matheon to play all the games in Victoria Park. The motion was carried unanimously. Mr. Riley in his statement said that the league was right in securing every ground that was possible. The members all regretted the withdrawal of Hillhurst, but there was no other course open. The league will open on Saturday, May 10.

COBB IS FORMALLY REINSTATED

Detroit Club and the Famous Ty Are Condemned by Ball Commissioners.

Chicago, May 1.—Ty Cobb today was formally reinstated in organized baseball and fined $50 by the national baseball commission. A decision by the commission, given out in answer to the Detroit player's appeal for reinstatement, condemned Cobb severely for his actions while "holding out." The Detroit club was censured for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy regarding Cobb. Notice was served on other clubs that in case of their failure to discipline players whose actions were detrimental to the game, the commission itself will act.

The commission reserved news of any other action it may have taken and if the proposed congressional investigation into the alleged baseball trust was discussed at all, as reported, it was ignored so far as a formal report is concerned.

Traveller and Measured Suits

I Take Off My Hat to My Staff

TWENTY-FIVE MEN AND WOMEN WHO SERVED YOU LAST SATURDAY WILL BE READY TO SERVE YOU AGAIN TOMORROW AS NO OTHER STORE IN CALGARY CAN.

WHAT IS IT?

NOT A PRETENTIOUS BUILDING; NO EXTRAVAGANT INTERIOR DECORATIONS; NO ART GALLERIES; NO CABARETS; NO FOL-DE-ROL OF ANY KIND. "JUST VALUE AND CIVILITY!"

Put Aside Your Prejudice and See These Great $15 Suits of Ours

---the values will amaze you

DON'T BE A "DOUBTING THOMAS." DON'T SAY IT CAN'T BE DONE MERELY BECAUSE IT HAS NEVER BEEN DONE BEFORE. WHEN WE SAY THAT EVERY $15.00 SUIT IN OUR STORE IS WORTH AT LEAST $25.00, WE ARE MAKING A PRETTY BROAD ASSERTION. WE ARE LAYING OURSELVES OPEN TO VERY SEVERE CRITICISM UNLESS WE CAN BACK UP THIS CLAIM WITH THE GOODS.

WE WANT YOU TO SET ASIDE YOUR PREJUDICE AGAINST $15.00 SUITS. WE WANT YOU TO COME TO US WITH AN OPEN MIND, READY TO BE SHOWN. AND WE WILL SHOW YOU. IT DOES NOT TAKE A CLOTHING EXPERT TO REALIZE AT A GLANCE THAT THE SUITS WE HANDLE ARE NOT ORDINARY $15.00 VALUES. YOU HAVE TO SEARCH THE $25.00 LINES OF OTHER STORES TO FIND THEIR EQUAL.

What a Busy Store this Will Be Tomorrow! READ WHY!

SON OF T. J. S. SKINNER HONORED GRADUATE

Among the graduates of Dalhousie university at its recent convocation with the degree of bachelor of laws is W. J. Skinner, son of T. J. S. Skinner of this city. Mr. Skinner is a Calgary boy, and the foundation of his education was laid in the public schools here.
He was born in this city 23 years ago and after attending the public and high schools in this city, he entered Acadia college. After spending some time in that well-known seat of learning he remained here one year, after which he entered Dalhousie in the department of law from which he took his degree last week.
The Halifax Herald thus reports the jubilee convocation: "Dalhousie university yesterday afternoon capped 51 graduates from her different faculties. The convocation, though somewhat more quiet than in previous years, was marked, however, with a dignity and spirit that was impressive. An academy of music was filled with students and spectators. The students conducted themselves well, and their smiles at various graduates were a marked feature of the proceedings.
The occasion was significant. Exactly 50 years ago the college received new lease of life, 1863 standing the date of Dalhousie's second birth. President McKenzie, Professor H. R. McIntosh and Canon Llewellyn, delivered eloquent and thoughtful addresses. Mr. Skinner is spending a month in the maritime provinces holidaying after his strenuous academic course.

CAN NEW ZEALAND DEPEND ON CANADA?

N. Z. Minister of Defence Makes An Impressive Allocation Before Canadian Club at Montreal
Montreal, April 30.—In an impressive speech, delivered before the Canadian club today, Colonel Allen, minister of defence, and member of the New Zealand government, dealt with the broad issue of imperial defence, making more special reference to the requirements in his own country in that direction. The speech was very warmly received.
To himself, as a New Zealander passing through Canada, and the speaker, it seemed strange that Canadians should be divided into Easterners and Westerners, and when national problems faced the country they would find distinctions between the two.
"I am speaking," he said, "from a non-partisan point of view, and it would be wrong of me to do otherwise.
"I do not know what is in your minds, and I shall not try to make you so concerned with a much larger question, if one day you will stand by us. Can we gentlemen of Canada, depend on you? Can you give you and the empire as a whole this assurance, that we shall be prepared to stand by the empire? We already have taken one step in that direction, and we shall be ready to do it again, if the Mother Country finds it necessary to take for further help."
Colonel Allen went on to speak of the importance of preserving the British supremacy in the Pacific and to protect ourselves against the possibility of a standstill. "In New Zealand and Australia, protect the Pacific. The trade routes must be kept open. The empire is to stand. They are the bonds of empire, and we are determined, so far as possible, to make the necessary sacrifices to keep them open."

PRIEST IS DISCHARGED FROM PENITENTIARY

Camorrist Prisoner Kisses Guards at Release, and Adjoining to Church To Offer Up Prayers
Rome, May 1.—The Camorrist priest, Vittozzi, who at the Viterbo trial was sentenced to six years' hard labor, was released from prison today. Counting the five years spent in jail awaiting trial, he had served his sentence.
Vittozzi, who had been confined in the Florence penitentiary, kissed the guard when he was discharged, and loudly proclaimed his innocence. He drove at once to a church, where he prayed a long time. Afterward he was escorted to the station and took the first train for Naples.
One of the Camorrista convicted, Viterbo, Matteo, who is serving a sentence of 20 years, has gone mad, and will probably be transferred to an insane asylum.

MILLION AND A HALF IN BUILDING PERMITS

April Record for Building in Calgary Passes All Previous Marks; Big Season Now at Hand
The value of the building permits taken out in the city of Calgary during the month of April was $1,565,489. This makes an easy record for the month of April and with the building season just opening the expectation is that the records of last year will be easily beaten during the year and the total permits for the year will be far in excess of those for the year of last year. So far no big buildings have been recorded to swell the total for the year and the main portion of the permits taken out have been for ordinary houses of which a huge number are being built at present in Calgary.
The permits taken out yesterday totaled $110,000, and are as follows:
J. A. Symes, Rideau Park, dwelling, $3,600
John Ebral, 214 18th ave. west, dwelling, 3,000
Albert Noel, Elbow Park, dwelling, 3,076
N. Toomey, South Calgary, dwelling, 2,500
George Wilson, Balmoral, addition, 100
James Brown, Tweedo Park, dwelling, 2,500
J. Drummond, Grandview, bungalow, 200
McDonald, Grandview, bungalow, 200

CUSTOMS SHOW A STEADY INCREASE

Returns for April Exceed Those of Last Year, Both in Number and Value
The custom returns for the port of Calgary for the month of April shows a steady increase, as has been experienced in the past.
The returns, with the corresponding month last year are as follows:
