It reads as follows:

"That we view with dismay and disapproval the betrayal by the British Government of the loyal inhabitants of Ireland under the Free State treaty, and reluctantly record the fact that such an act of base desertion is inimical to the best interests of the empire, and tends to weaken the confidence of the self-governing dominions in the central authority and in its capacity to maintain the honor and prestige of British subjects.

"That we extend our sympathy to the loyalists of Ireland of every creed and station, and pledge ourselves to render them all assistance within our power in the splendid fight to maintain their position within the empire."

BASEBALL

WATFORD POUNDS BRIGDEN HARD—12-1

The locals did not worry over the game in Brigden on Monday evening; half the regular line-up stayed home and gave the substitutes a chance to get in on the sport. It was a slugging exhibition from start to finish.

However, all efforts are being put forth to handle Oil Springs here on Friday night. Although Oil Springs have previously worked a little black magic and lodged terror in the hearts of the locals, they are confidently expecting a win on Friday.

Then on Monday the most spectacular game of the season will develop here when we meet Forest for the third round. Although we trimmed Forest the first two games, they crowded us out in the last game on the bottom end of a 4-2 score. As this is the game all the fans of the county have been looking forward to with great interest, representatives from every town in the League will no doubt be present to watch both teams in action. This is your chance to see the biggest game this year in Lambton County. Don't miss it.

Each game called at 5.30 p.m. Admission 25c.

Forecast—Fine and warm.

Forecast—Both good wins for Watford!

NOTE AND COMMENT

Radium is quoted at $4,500,000 an ounce. Pay no more.—Pueblo, Col., Star-Journal.

The Farmers' Sun suggests milk booths as a desirable addition to the fall fairs and farmers' picnics.

A bride's mother weeps at the wedding because she has a good idea of what is going to happen to the groom.

If the London newspapers keep booming Mark Billings he will soon be as well known as Josh of the same surname.

It might help some if the Stop-look-and-listen signs were replaced by small models of the Pearly Gates.—Stratford Beacon.

The British Court of Appeals is even less easily moved than a British jury, and has ruled that Horatio Bottomley must serve seven years in prison.

It is reported that Cabinet Ministers are violating the eight-hour day law and sometimes work ten hours or over. Considering the salary they receive they are not likely to charge overtime.

$20,983 is the amount women gamblers bet on the 4th July at the Windsor races. There is evidently no shortage of pin money among the ladies who attend these sporting events.

Some people think that the noise of a lawn mower is a good imitation of jazz music. There is one satisfaction, the lawn mower is doing some good and just as pleasant to listen to.

Dr. Skeezem of Beech Park certified to the wonderful mud cure for paralysis made at that place last week. The marvellous doings at that burg keep people guessing. The doctor's other name is Mud so he should know what he is talking about.

Many preachers are taking their holidays just now. It has not yet been announced when the devil will take his. He usually works 24 hours a day all the year round. No union 8 hours a day for his Satanic Majesty. It would be a good thing if he would take a holiday once, in a while like others do.

Provincial officers are going through the country making convictions for violations of the Motor Vehicles' Act. Fifteen convictions were secured in one Ontario town last week against motorists who persist in using the "cutout" of the cars. This annoying nuisance deserve the punishment being meted out.—Acton Free Press.

Brantford Expositor—Chief of Police Dickson of Toronto declared that in Canada the pool rooms are the greatest school for young criminals in existence. This is a pretty sweeping accusation, and if it be true the only corrective is to make sure that young men can play billiards and pool in an environment unquestionably wholesome, for play they will.

Winnebago Enterprise—The annual chautauqua will soon be with us. We believe in the chautauqua. No other institution gives us so much for so little money. The chautauqua brings us inspiration. It gives us a breath of the great outside world, and we learn much. We hope that the chautauqua this season will be largely attended. You will most assuredly get the worth of your money.

"The hour has arrived for the opening of our convention. Will all rise and join in singing the Doxology 'Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow,' after which Rev. Mr. _____ will lead us in the Lord's Prayer." What religious convention was this which opened, acknowledging Almighty God as the giver of all good things and the Father and Protector of all mankind? It was not a religious convention at all. It was a business gathering, 2,000 strong, the great annual convention of the Organized Farmers of Saskatchewan.—Exchange.

The St. Thomas Times-Journal says: "No good excuse can exist for any parliament or Legislature increasing its own pay. If any body of representatives after election and service feel that the pay attached to their job is unfair, they have a fair and feasible way of trying to remedy the injustice, namely, by recording a vote that the next Parliament or Legislature should have an increase. Then when the next general election comes on, the people can, if they choose, attend to the matter by expressing their views to candidates and getting the candidates' views."

The school examinations are now over and members of young people will shortly graduate. They will, of necessity be obliged to decide upon the future of life's activities. These young people deserve to be given a chance to make good. "All I want is to be given a chance," said a college graduate recently and the sentiment did him credit. The right sort of young folks do not demand special favors, privileges. They do not ask that they be given an advantage over some one else. But they do ask and have a right to expect that they shall be given a chance.

Kingston Standard—Taxes can have a humorous side if they are regarded as a kind of game. The Governments try to catch the people with them, and the people endeavor to dodge them. Thus it is said that the advice is given to pay accounts so far as possible by cheque, and then let the cheque act as a receipt, thus avoiding the tax on receipts. It is very generally considered that as a cheque can be taken as a receipt and in a great many cases it probably can, but it is so far as our information goes, not a safe one to depend upon. A cheque upon the very face of it is not a receipt and was never intended to be one, even though it be proof that a certain amount of money was paid and received. What is to prevent a man saying that a cheque was paid for something else than that for which the maker of it claimed? A cheque proves money passed which has to be taken into account. The safer plan is to get proper receipts—and keep them carefully.

APPRECIATED THEIR EDITOR

Here is a story published in an exchange, which shows how greatly the people of a community in Kansas appreciated their editor: "In appreciation of the work of a Kansas editor for their community, a bunch of citizens recently presented him with a bouquet. On the same occasion a quartette from a local church sang a few sweet songs and a minister made a little talk. After the minister's talk six husky men carried the popular editor from the house and placed him tenderly in a model 1921 plumed sedan, and the whole town formed in a parade behind the editor's expensive car. After the parade the appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in the thought of having provided one bright day in the life of their local news purveyor, even if they did wait until he was dead to do it."

OH; YES THEY ARE VERY SLOW IN THE OLD LAND

They are very slow and conservative and all that sort of thing in the Old Country, you know.

When the Derby was run at Epsom, near London, audiences at Glasgow, Edinburgh and Aberdeen, five hundred miles away saw the race on the screen that very night. The Derby was not run until three o'clock in the afternoon so some one must have done a bit of hustling.

To accomplish this feat of showing Derby films throughout the country on Derby Day seven aeroplanes were used. One was stationed at Epsom to carry the film negatives to the cinema Company's works at Barnet; six machines at the De Havilland Aircraft Company's aerodrome at Edgeware were standing by, and the moment the finished films were ready these aeroplanes set out on their long journeys.

All these machines carried specially devised parachutes with a novel sort of range-finder, for dropping the films at intermediate stations, so that there was no interruption of flight until each long journey was completed. Films dropped by parachutes were conveyed to their destination by special motor cars and motor cycles.

In this way nearly $250,000 people hundreds of miles away from the course were enabled to see more of the race than could be visible to the vast majority of spectators at Epsom, for the film showed the parade, preliminary canter, the start, and then the progress of the horses at the Bushes, at Tottenham Corner and at the finish.

WHEN OUT PICNICKING
(The Elmira Signet)

Now that the picnic season has arrived and many in this locality are heading them to woodlands green, perhaps a little sermon is in order.

Do you know that 1921, in the near vicinity of picnic spots, there were left scattered tin cans, paper plates and paper cups amounting to the billions, to say nothing of pop bottles, water-melon rinds and other equally charming additions to the landscape.

The story is told of one man, however, who appreciates nature as she is and should be, for after a picnic, he carefully picked up all the scraps and burned them, then buried the tin cans, leaving the place as beautiful when the party left as when they had arrived. Another member of the party joshed him about being "finicky." His reply is worth repeating: "I don't like to throw garbage on God's front lawn."

Think it over the next time you go picnicking.

One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

Mrs. Ransom A. Campbell, Sarnia, will receive $4,400 from an industrial accident insurance company as the result of her husband's death when the boiler of the ferry Omar D. Conger exploded March 26. Mr. Campbell was the engineer on the ferry. His body was not recovered until three weeks ago when it came to the surface near the dock where the ship sank after the explosion.

Muscular Rheumatism Subdued.—When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he cannot do better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

DON'T

- DON'T take any chances with fire in Ontario's forests.
- DON'T throw away cigarette or cigar butts, pipe "heels" or burnt matches until you are dead sure they are out.
- DON'T neglect to drown out your camp fire thoroughly with lots of water. Stir up the ashes and throw on more water.
- DON'T build your camp fire against a rotten log or stump — nor on high exposed windy points; nor near moss patches; nor at the base of a tree.
- Build it in a former fire place, if any at hand, or on a flat rock, or on a spot cleared down to the true soil below, preferably by the edge of the water.
- DON'T forget that the upper layer of ground in the forest consists of partially rotted wood which holds fire and slowly burns. The only real soil which will not burn is beneath.

The deceased was in his 73rd year. The remains were brought to Strathroy and laid at rest in West Adelaide cemetery on Tuesday.

It is rumored in Windsor that Walter Boug, retired merchant, will be the Conservative candidate to contest the Windsor seat in the Ontario Legislature. Rumors that Major J. C. Tolmie, Liberal member for the Windsor constituency, will retire from the Legislature at the end of his four-year term, are strengthened by the fact that the major has left Windsor to live in Southampton, his old home.

Children from London, St. Thomas, Strathroy, Adirondack, Wyoming, Watford, Glasgow, Tilsonburg and Aylmer occupied the stage Thursday evening at Strathroy when Prof. Gordon's children's orchestra of 60 performers gave their first performance. Their work was remarkable for the participants had but one practice together. The program was well selected and consisted of selections from hymnology and simple classics.

Many people in London, Eng., are demanding that the London County Council allow the playing of cricket, tennis and other games in the parks on Sundays. The movement has the support of most of the newspapers, and not a few of the clergy. They say that if people go to church in the morning, they ought to be allowed to play games in the afternoon.

The County Highway from St. Thomas to Port Stanley is being treated with an application of calcium chloride in an effort to obviate the dust menace that has prevailed on that much travelled road for weeks. Acting on the recommendation of the Ontario Department of Highways, Good Roads Superintendent G. F. Pineo experienced with a short strip of road near St. Thomas last month, and was so well pleased with the results that he recommended the use of the preparation on the entire stretch.

In order to set at rest any rumor current in the province to the effect that the Government will be likely to change its policy with regard to the Adolescent School Attendance Act, Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, has handed out a statement declaring: "There is no intention on the part of the Department to change in any particular the manner of bringing into force the Adolescent School Attendance Act, the stages by which it will become operative, or the duties and obligations of local school boards in providing accommodation and instruction for young persons affected by the Act."

His Honor Judge Lennox of Toronto will preside at the supreme court assizes which commence in Sarnia on September 25, which will according to present indications, be featured by the trials of John Tohn and George Anderson and the retrial of Edward McMullen, alleged robbers of the Bank of Toronto, Wyoming. It is understood that no definite move on the part of counsel for the prisoners to have the trials take place in Middlesex county has been made as yet. The prisoners it is said, have the right of election for trial at the September assizes, or at the December sessions of the peace, but the crown attorney also has some right in the matter and the probability is that some arrangement will be reached with defending counsel for the trial to take place at the September assizes.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

G. G. Bramhill formerly of Petrolia with a party of thirty Norfolk farmers passed through Lambton County a few days ago enroute to Windsor and Simcoe. The party consisted of men chiefly interested in market gardening and small fruits and considerable time had been spent in the Leamington district. The party travelled from Port Lambton to Sarnia, and thence to London, Mr. Bramhill says the Norfolk farmers were delighted with the scenery along the St. Clair river and regret was general that more time could not have been spent in Lambton. It is the intention of the Norfolk farmers to make this an annual outing and another year some time will be spent in the Sarnia, Forest and Thedford districts.

The amusement of the people who attend London's Exhibition this year has been well looked after. One of the best programmes ever presented will be seen twice daily before the Grand Stand, starting on Monday, Sept. 11th, for the entire week. Several Speed events each day, and on Saturday, the 16th, there will be Automobile Races, when the very best drivers in America will take part. Fireworks—the very best—will be given every night, concluding with Saturday night. The Wortham Shows will be on the Midway all week with a high class lot of shows and rides and there will be something doing all the time. See programmes or write the Secretary for any information. The dates are September 9th to 16th.

School officials throughout the province are giving considerable attention to the Adolescent Act of 1919. A certain portion of this act came into effect in 1921, but few people are apparently aware that when the fall term opens, next September, it is absolutely necessary, under the new act, to provide accommodation for the schooling, by part-time courses, of all children between the ages of 14 and 18 years of age. The act also provides that on and after September, 1921, all persons between the ages of 14 and 16 years must attend school for the full time during which the schools are open each year, unless excused for a number of reasons. This is already being complied with and has added greatly to the difficulties of solving the overcrowded conditions in city schools. With the approach of this year's fall term, however, matters will be even worse, with the added ages referred to.

WORRIED WOMEN NEED RICH BLOOD

If the Blood is Not Kept Pure Health Will Break Down

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. To do so is to ask the almost impossible. But, at the same time, it is the duty of every woman to save her strength to meet any unusual demands. It is a duty she owes herself and family, for her future health may depend upon it.

To guard against a complete break down in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. No other medicine does this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite and keeps every organ healthily toned up. Women cannot rest when they should, but they can keep their strength by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among those who have found benefit from this medicine is Mrs. Cora Conrad, Broad Cove, N.S., who says: "My system was very much run down and my blood poor and watery. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizziness; my appetite was poor, and I tired easily. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have every reason to be glad that I did so. Soon I felt better, and under the continued use of the pills the headaches and dizziness were gone, and my blood seemed in a better condition than before. For this reason I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is a standard remedy, and years of use have enhanced its reputation.

pride of ownership

Now-a-days a man wants, in a low priced car, more than four wheels and an engine and a place to sit. He wants something to be proud of. He wants handsome appearance, high class finish, comfortable seats, easy riding springs and up-to-date equipment.

And he wants all these things to be included in the first cost—not to be classed as extras.

AN APPRECIATION
Editor, Guide-Advocate,
Dear Editor:—May I take this opportunity through the kindness of the local paper, to state to my many former friends in Watford and in North Warwick, how much I have appreciated the many kindnesses and favors contributed, that have done so much to make my visit among you pleasant, and we trust profitable in the best things of life. I will carry back to my home in California many remembrances of friendships renewed and kind words spoken, and a mental picture of many faces, whom I expect to meet again at the great reunion in the skies. May your homes and lives be under sheltering wings of the "King of Kings" while you keep faith's windows open, letting love keep shining through.

LET LOVE SHINE THROUGH
Though the days are dark and dreary, And the skies are overcast, And perhaps we grow impatient, 'Till the leaden clouds are past, But 'tis well for us to ponder, And to ask if this is true, Do we keep faith's windows open, Letting love keep shining through? Prone we are when skies are dreary To forget; sun's golden rays Flood the great expanse above us, And there are no cloudy days, Just a mile or two up yonder, Arched by Heaven's ethereal blue, There's a wealth of golden sunshine Ready, waiting to shine through. So the love of our Great Father Fills eternities of space, And to those who seek to know him, There's a welcome on his face, There, there's infinite compassion, Reserved for us—if we are true, Let us keep faith's windows open, Letting love keep shining through. —GEO. D. LEE, Yucapia, Calif.

APPRECIATED THEIR EDITOR

Here is a story published in an exchange, which shows how greatly the people of a community in Kansas appreciated their editor: "In appreciation of the work of a Kansas editor for their community, a bunch of citizens recently presented him with a bouquet. On the same occasion a quartette from a local church sang a few sweet songs and a minister made a little talk. After the minister's talk six husky men carried the popular editor from the house and placed him tenderly in a model 1921 plumed sedan, and the whole town formed in a parade behind the editor's expensive car. After the parade the appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in the thought of having provided one bright day in the life of their local news purveyor, even if they did wait until he was dead to do it."

He has four teeth out in front, has a scar at the corner of his right eye, and his tail is cut off about six inches from his body. When flies light upon his head he will frighten them away by striking repeatedly with his right paw. When asleep he always lies flat on his stomach with his hind legs stretched straight out. He has a very heavy growth of hair over his eyes and around his forehead, and a coon has bit a piece out of his left ear. If you find him with his front paws stretched forward, take warning and do not advance further; but if he should be lying quietly with his front paws touching, then you may advance with perfect safety. If, however, he should be resting his right paw over his left, then it would be dangerous to approach him. He generally lies with his front paws folded together. Left-Overs

By LILY WANDELL

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The usual series of parties for an engaged couple began, Cam generally in the background watching Deborah out of the corner of his eye. How she basked in the continual sunshine of admiration! It thrilled him to think that he had won her. She was new in town and immensely popular, and he had always been too engrossed in following his vocation of a professor to bother about social affairs. But Deborah, with her brilliance of a woman in full bloom, had shaken him out of his retirement.

A very young girl, too short for Cam's taste, had seated herself on the other end of the sofa. Cam glanced at her and decided he did not like her. She was too small, her hair too straight and black, her skin too dark and her eyes, slanting like an Oriental's, black and large, and her lips being small and painted very red. She smiled faintly, almost timidly.

"I'm your neighbor," she ventured. He did not like her voice either. It was low-pitched and throaty. Deborah's was clear and distinct.

"Neighbors?" then smiling at the setting. "Oh, I see."

"That was not what I meant. I am visiting Mrs. Ingram, who lives next door to you. I've seen you leads of times."

It sounded slightly reproachful, and Cameron Daw, being of a sensitive nature, felt then and there called to make up for his seeming incivility.

Later, before the party was over, when she expressed a desire to go home, Cam accompanied her the short way, simply as a courtesy to Mrs. Ingram, to whom he felt indebted for many little neighborly kindnesses. Somehow or other he got talking about stars to the girl, and when he returned to the scene of festivity the guests had left, including Deborah. He was amazed; he had had no idea that he had stood more than an hour explaining the solar system to a slant-eyed girl. At any rate he went home congratulating himself that he was engaged to Deborah and not to Mrs. Ingram's young visitor, poor little thing. He felt sorry for her, she seemed so forsaken, a little different from other girls. Even her name, Vashiti, had a heathenish sound, quite in tune with those dark almond-shaped eyes and painted lips.

The next day he lingered near the party fence. This had nothing to do with his neighbor's guest; he was interested in a vine growing there, a troublesome vine that needed no end of tending and adjusting. And after he had fussed with it for quite a while, Vashiti did appear and came over to see what he was doing. She might have been a hardy little brown plant herself, as she stood there in wood-colored skirt and sweater, adorned by a single splash of red, a ripe berry, her painted lips.

He explained the vine to her, all about its botanical family, and similar wild vines that grew in nearby woodlands. He suggested that after his classes they might look for some.

It was not on this walk, but during their second or third jaunt, that he learned about Bobbie. Vashiti in confiding whispers told him all about the quarrel that had occurred the day before with his sister's party. Bobbie, it proved, was a senior, and from Vashiti's description, very hard-hearted and unforgiving. He was not taking any steps to make up; he seemed to take a malicious enjoyment seeing her lonely and forsaken. Vashiti wanted to know what to do about it.

"Let's stir him up to action," suggested Cam boyishly, "make him see the green-eyed monster—frighten him and then—" he stopped a moment and added slowly: "I'm sure Deborah won't mind." It did not sound very positive.

"Who on earth is Deborah?" giving the name a funny little twist.

"Why, surely you know. Miss Heath? I'm engaged to be married—"

Vashiti interrupted with a delicious laugh. "I'll not be fooled! I don't believe for a moment that you would marry a left-over!"

"Vashiti!" cried Cam in a shocked voice, "really you don't realize what you're saying! Left-over! Deborah's not more than thirty-two or three, quite a bit younger than I!"

"But quite a bit too old for you!" mimicked the girl, laughing, and then, with appealing sweetness, "I'm sorry though!" And Cam did not know whether she meant that she was sorry for him or for her rude remark about left-overs.

He explained to his fiancée over the telephone about his obligations to Mrs. Ingram and the very nice opportunity he had of reciprocating by helping her to entertain her guest. He hoped Deborah would understand. She said she did perfectly, and reminded him of one or two dinner dates and about making a list for the wedding invitations.

Cam found himself squirming out of different social engagements. His fiancée was very sweet about his seeming neglect; he almost wished she would be a little huffy and more exacting. But she was very busy herself with dressmakers and shopping, and all sorts of showers and luncheons. Nevertheless Deborah was bound to notice how things stood; she was clever, though, and refrained from nagging, and went on with gay preparations.

As for Cam, he wondered why he had ever insisted upon so short an engagement period. Here was his wedding coming off in less than two weeks! He could not believe it; it could not be possible. He did not like being hurried like this; he wanted time to think. Think about what?

Then and there he determined to fight the thing out. Why be a coward and lie to himself? Why procrastinate? He was wildly in love with little Vashiti and, what was more, he was ready to admit it—to the world, if necessary. Deborah was so sensible—he thanked God for that—he could talk the thing over with her. Tonight was a dinner date; he could talk to her then. He could not bear to meet her and act the hypocrite. So he wrote her a letter releasing her from her engagement to marry him and sent it over to the Heath home by a special messenger. Then, feeling wonderfully relieved and light-hearted, he hurried out to the garden and robbed all the June bushes of their floral offerings and took them next door.

Vashiti, in old blue and gold, her lips unpainted and her cheeks aglow, met him in the big Ingram library. "I'm so glad you've come," motioning a place for him on the davenport; "I've had a wonderful yet difficult afternoon. I've been fighting with myself! Struggling with my mean little self—"

"Vashiti!" he interrupted, taking one warm little brown hand within his own. "I've been doing the same—and everything is all right, darling—"

She nodded, smiling. "I'm so glad, for myself I mean. You see, I just couldn't stop thinking of Bobbie one minute, and I'm afraid making him jealous did not work at all. So I just stopped lying to myself and fought it all out this afternoon, and I decided that the silly old quarrel was all my fault, and that I would sit down and write Bobbie and tell him so, and say I was sorry! And I did, too, and sent it to him by special messenger. Don't you think that was the best and bravest way?"

Cam clutched the little hand tighter for a second, then he got to his feet. After mumbling a few sentences he left without saying what he had come to tell her. Vashiti did not notice anything amiss; she was too occupied planning her own happiness.

In September, just before the fall term, Professor Davy returned from an extended tour of the Canadian Rockies. He looked and felt very fit. Fresh glacier breezes had blown all mental inebriation from his mind, leaving a flow of thought as clear and fine as a mountain stream.

Very briskly he walked the avenue to the Heath place. He had not bothered to telephone.

The maid at the door shook her head to his question in astonishment. "I thought everybody knew, sir, that they left yesterday."

Cam was terribly disappointed. "Did she leave an address?" he asked hopefully.

The girl smiled. "Not that I know of, sir. Honeymoon couples don't as a rule."

"Honeymoon! Married!" Then wildly distracted: "To whom, to whom?"

"Mr. Bralthers, sir. Some people called him Mr. Bobbie."

In this university town the Ladies' Civic society has placed neat green cans for rubbish at certain corners. Before one of these receptacles Cam stopped, drew from his pocket an unopened letter addressed to himself in large blackhand characters, and on the back of which was a large monogram, the most prominent letter "V" standing out boldly. He tore the envelope carefully in strips and threw it into the depository. He did not care for left-overs.

Unkind Wish.
The wife of a celebrated poet once complained to him that he was always reading, and took little notice of her. "I wish," she said, "I was a book, for then I would probably enjoy more of your company." "I sincerely wish to Heaven you were a book—an almanac, I mean," replied the great man, "for then I could change you every year!"

I HANDLE the Toronto Hip Roof Silo because I want to give my customers the biggest value. You can't have good ensilage unless you have a good silo. And Toronto Silos are good silos. Made of wood—the best non-conductor of heat and cold. Sturdily built from double tongued and grooved staves of selected spruce impregnated with creosote, they give adequate protection against air and frost. Their special Hip Roof provides more space for filling. I can show you where a Toronto Silo will mean more productive cattle, bigger profits, a more valuable farm—dollars in your pocket. Let's talk it over.

Talcum Powder Healthful
Scientists have discovered that Talcum Powder has a beneficial effect upon the skin, particularly when properly borated. It is antiseptic, soothing and healing to sunburned or chafed skin, and is an excellent protection to the face and exposed portions of the body.
It is recommended that Talcum should be used freely by motorists and others who expose themselves to the sun, and as an application to the entire body after the bath, to prevent chafing, prickly heat, etc.
We recommend Nyal Talcum Powders because we know them to be absolutely pure, well borated and delightfully perfumed. We have them in a great variety of odors.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adlerika, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adlerika is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. J. W. McLaren, druggist, Watford.

RESCUE BABE FROM BURNING BUILDING

Petrolia, July 10—A daring rescue of their child was made by Mr. and Mrs. J. Mattox, about 12 o'clock last night. A fire started from some unknown cause in the rear of their store, over which they live. It made such rapid advance on the main building that their descent down stairs was cut off by flames, and they were compelled to make an exit from the front windows by ladders. In the excitement, and through some misunderstanding of each other the baby was left up in the burning building. Realizing their terrible mistake Mr. and Mrs. Mattox made simultaneous ascents up the ladders back into the flame-swept building. The mother returned first, bearing the child in her arms, followed by the father. Mrs. Mattox was badly burned about arms and hands. The building, stock of groceries and all household furniture were totally destroyed. Mr. Mattox's loss is partially covered by insurance.

PETROLIA

Petrolia will pay $6,757.03 county taxes this year.

George will be associated in the management of the firm's business there. The store closed here on Saturday and the remaining stock has been taken to Sarnia.

Dr. Brayden of Toronto, who happened to be on the beach dressed the wound and stated that an artery was only missed by a small margin.

Fine weather brought out one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a race met in Forest. The large purses offered saw a fine set of horses face the starter, and as a result some good racing was witnessed. In the 2.17 trot or pace Jimmy Moore was 1st; Odean L, 2nd Della Unko, 3rd; and Emblem 4th. The fastest heat was made in 2.17 1/2. The 2.25 pace or trot was won by Dr. B., 2nd Pilot Unko; 3rd Flashlight; 4th Jessie Bars. The fastest heat was 2.19 1/4. The 3.00 pace went to Dobbin; 2nd, Tommieo; 3rd, Danie B., 4th, Della G. THE FODDER CROP

There will be wide variation in the quality of hay harvested in Ontario this year. Much that was stored before the end of June was in prime condition on going into the barn, but the exceptionally heavy rainfall which came with the first of the present month caused serious injury to that still lying in the field. The total hay crop of the province is, however, so large that, taking quantity and quality together, the general hay situation can safely be stated as being up to the average at least. Moreover, the injury sustained by hay as a result of this week's downpour has been more than counterbalanced by the beneficial effects on other crops. Pastures have been given, as the result of the recent abundant supply of moisture, all the freshness of early June; the filling of fall wheat has been assured; spring grains have received needed stimulus and the potato, root and fruit crops greatly helped.

Nor are the bounties of nature being confined to Ontario. Quebec, badly hit last season, is promised abundance this year, while in the Western Provinces memories of the rich harvest of 1915 are recalled by the promise of 1922. The present market situation, with live stock above last year's figures and wheat holding fairly firm, justifies the belief, too, that there will be a remunerative demand for all that is produced. Already there may be heard the beginning of that renewed hum of industrial activity before which the remaining unrest and discontent of the present will quickly disappear.

WATCH POTATO PLANTS FOR SIGN OF TIP-BURN

The tip-burn disease is first seen on potato plants about the latter part of July, with the most severe effects from the middle of August to the first week in September. The leaves exhibit a burning at their tips and margins, later the whole top withers and the plant dies prematurely. This condition is most noticeable in hot, dry, windy weather and sunny weather following rain.

With regard to the cause of this disease, there is much difference of opinion, and several agencies have been suggested as responsible for the burning of the leaves. The effect of excessive evaporation of water from the surface of leaves in extreme heat and sunshine, with the consequent death of certain cells in the leaf, has been suggested as the cause of tip burn. Other authorities claim to have definitely demonstrated that the potato leaf hopper is the cause of tip burn; thus the name "hopper-burn" which is also applied to this disease. More recent investigators associate the leaf hopper with the disease, but claim that there is some "specific" either normal or extraneous, which is transmitted by the leaf hopper and is the direct cause of the burning of the potato leaves. This was shown by the fact that tip-burn could be produced by inoculating macerated leaf hoppers into potato leaves.

The regular Bordeaux mixture spray has been found to be beneficial in the control of this disease. Those believing in extreme heat and sunshine as the principal causal agency, associate this control with the layer of Bordeaux mixture on the leaf acting as a protection from severe evaporation. Others claim that it destroys the hoppers and again the spray is also supposed to act as a deterrent for the hoppers.

In any case the Bordeaux mixture has been demonstrated as capable of arresting the development of the burning, and this is but further proof of the importance of careful and systematic spraying of potato plants.

WARWICK

Mr. Harry Cooper, 4th line, whose brother was killed in action, as next of kin, lately received a large bronze plaque with his brother's name, "Albert Gordon Cooper" inset, and the words "He died for Freedom and Liberty" encircling the raised statue of Liberty with the lion at its base.

The following tribute, along with others appeared in the home town English papers. "Barnsley Solicitor's Death in Action." The death in action is officially reported of Private Albert Gordon Cooper, Solicitor, the third son of Mrs. and the late Mr. John Cooper, 8 Cavendish road, Barnsley, and a young gentleman well known and highly esteemed especially in the parish of St. Marys. The deceased who was in his 30th year and single was with Mr. Chas. McNaughton, Solicitor, Regent st., in whose office he had served ever since leaving school. He was an old St. Mary's scholar and parish church choir boy, and up to the time of joining the forces was an ardent worker at St. Paul's Mission, Old Town. His loss to that church will be greatly felt as he was a staunch helper in all its work and had the admiration and respect of all. In cricket circles he also had a host of friends and was captain and a keen supporter of the Craik's cricket team. In his profession as solicitor he showed every promise of a successful career, having on several occasions appeared as advocate at the local police courts and his death will be received with deep regret by all who knew him. He had been with the forces about a year joining as a private, the Royal Fusiliers (Bankers) and went to France the beginning of May." The following message was received from King George:—"I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War.—George R. L." Mr. Cooper had another brother who

MADAM SLOAT

PERRY JUNCTION, N.B., Jan. 22nd, 1920 "For many years, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion, Constipation and Rheumatism. My Stomach was weak and gave me constant distress, while Rheumatism in my joints made me almost a cripple. was treated by two different doctors but their medicine did me no good.

Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and at once that fruit medicine helped me. Soon the Constipation and Indigestion were relieved and the Rheumatism began to go away, and in a few months entirely disappeared. For twelve years now, my health has been first class, and I attribute it to the use of "Fruit-a-tives" which I take regularly.
