WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH 1902.

TELL YOUR NEIGHBOR.

From now until January 1903, the MONITOR will be sent to New Subscribers till the end of 1903, for $1.00 in advance.

It is suggested that the holding of County Agricultural Fairs will, if persistently pursued, be either the undoing or the salvation of the annual exhibition at the provincial capital. The idea of a single subsidized exhibition in a fixed location has never commended itself to the popular judgment, as even if the above plan were carried out in the piling up of an annual edifice the conditions were such that general agricultural interests could never be fairly represented. The expense to the exhibitors and only a few men who are specialists in their departments and can afford to make extensive exhibits have shared, to any extent in the generous price list. From a truly representative standpoint it has failed in its object to promote the general industrial condition and it must necessarily be considered as not the most effective means to the end for which it was established. The old county or inter-county exhibitions were variously popular affairs and almost always successful from a financial standpoint. The cost to the exhibitor was slight and a keen rivalry was always manifested. The exhibitions held at Kentville in the days gone by were splendid illustrations of the successful fair and the recent show was a very practical reminder that the old spirit is not dead. The county fairs may prove effective feeders for an occasional provincial exhibition and in due time the last named institution may again become an annual fixture with an assurance of success. The country is not ripe for the central exhibition yet. It is calling to the average provincial taxpayer to know that the profits of the centralization are mainly confined to the capital, and the profit loss is largely divided among exhibitors who need little encouragement and help from the public purse.

The proposition to hold a county exhibition in Bridgetown is a good one. Even if Annapolis, Middleton or Lawrencetown were selected as the favored location, it would still have our sanction, but we know of no better place in the county to gather the multitude than Bridgetown. The celebrations of public holidays have brought to Bridgetown larger crowds of people than have gathered in any other county centre on similar occasions and the experience of the past contains a strong promise of the public presence when the call is next made.

BRIDGETOWN'S SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY.

Mayor Shaffer has leased his ship-building plant, for the period of one year, to Capt. N. W. Munro, who will retain Mayor Shaffer's crew of ship-carpenters and at once commence the construction of a model 200 ton register, 120 foot keel. Nine schooners have been constructed in Bridgetown for Mr. Shaffer during the past twelve years. Following is the list: Omara, 145 tons register, in 1890. Rita, 280 tons register, in 1891. Shaffer Bros, 147 tons register, in 1893. Nugget, 195 tons register, in 1895. Helen Shaffer, 150 tons register, in 1899. Ida M. Shaffer, 190 tons register, in 1900. Clarence A. Shaffer, 150 tons register, in 1901. Havoc, 200 tons register, in 1901. F. W. Pickels, 400 tons register, in 1902. The first five were built under the supervision of Mr. John Wagstaff, the last four under Mr. M. L. De Veau. On an average a crew of thirty ship carpenters have been employed, and the industry has been a valuable one to the town.

N. S. PROVINCIAL S. S. CONVENTION.

The eighteenth session of the Provincial Sunday School Association held at Wolfville last week by far the most successful in the history of that movement. The attendance was large, there being about 300 registered delegates and the audience round the Baptist church was crowded to its utmost capacity at the public meetings. Prof. E. W. Sawyer was president and many earnest Sabbath school workers were present, including Sturges Macleod, field secretary; Dr. Frank Woodburn of Halifax, Rev. A. B. Higgins of Middleton, Principal Kennedy and E. D. King of Halifax. The chief attraction of the meetings was in this end of the county, although Marion Lawrence of Toledo, Ohio, International Secretary, was here Wednesday p. m. Mrs. Potter, superintendent of temperance, gave her report, from which it appeared that 15,686 scholars are pledged against 7,828 against profane language. The report of the field secretary shows 22 county associations and 1,241 schools in the province with 48,649 scholars and 6,349 teachers. The schools by denominations are as follows: Advent, 4; Baptist, 17; Free Baptist, 49; Christian, 17; Church of England, 18; Congregational, 9; Lutheran, 14; Methodist, 23; Presbyterian, 399; Union, 67.

Sturges, who has been visiting his daughters and other friends in Boston and vicinity, returns today. Mrs. William Woodill who has been visiting her friend, Mrs. J. Ervin left her home in Melrose, Mass., for Saturday last. The Hants Journal states that Mrs. G. Galdert is out again after several weeks, the result of an accident. Mr. William Taylor and Miss Bertha Taylor, mother and sister of Mrs. H. Ruggles, left for Los Angeles, California, on Saturday, to spend the winter in that city. MEETING OF THE BRIDGETOWN AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. The meeting of the Bridgetown Agricultural Society held in the Division hall, last evening, was well attended and an interest was manifested that gave promise of future usefulness for the society. The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year: President—A. O. Upry. Vice-President—H. I. Munro. Secretary—O. S. Miller. Treasurer—D. S. Shaffer. Directors—H. A. Everett, Harry Abbott, R. J. Messinger, W. Miller, Stanley Marshall, J. H. Shaffer. Motions relative to stock interests of the society were passed, after which came up for discussion the question of the county exhibition. On motion of Dr. Armstrong, seconded by W. L. Calder, the following resolution was offered: "In the opinion of this society it is desirable to hold an exhibition in this county in the fall of 1903, similar to the one held in Kentville this year." The resolution, after being fully discussed, was unanimously adopted.

DEATH OF NEA ALBANY.

At the home of her son, New Albany, Oct. 29th, Mrs. Eliza Oakes, widow of the late Lovitt Oakes, aged eighty-eight years. She leaves three sons and five daughters (four of whom reside in Lynn, Mass.) to mourn the loss of a fond and intellectual mother. The last six years of her life she was confined to her bed, suffering severely as the god drew near. Death to her was a happy exchange from the sorrows of earth to the joys of the "Home-land." The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Joseph Gatz, who preached very acceptably from Second Kings, second chapter and sixth verse.—Com.

AGRICULTURAL MEETINGS.

WEEKLY MONITOR

MIDDLETON. The Middleton Board of Trade had a very enthusiastic meeting on Thursday evening last. One particular question discussed was the lighting of the town, which is very much needed and without doubt will be accomplished in the very near future.

ANAPOLIS ROYAL. (Specialist.) Mr Lenfest Ruggles, of Bear River, spent Sunday in Annapolis with his mother, who is very dangerously ill. Mrs Malcolm and daughter Rita left on Saturday for a short visit to Boston.

ANOTHER TRAGIC DEATH OF A NOVA SCOTIA GIRL. Miss Clara Morton, a native of Halifax, employed at the McLean asylum for the insane, a handsome girl of 22, was struck down with a heavy weapon, in a dark and gloomy portion of the walk near the convalescents home upon the grounds on Saturday evening. Two male nurses, on their way to their quarters, saw the assault and the girl falling, and ran to her aid.

Editor Monitor.—Complying with your request that I give my views as to the advantages and benefits a county exhibition would bring to the farmers and people of the County of Annapolis, I believe it would be of great benefit in getting the farmers together in competition and exciting a friendly rivalry, which would have the effect of stimulating them to greater effort and develop the farming interest, by making the fact more clear that the business of farming requires good organization, as well as any other business, to make it successful.

Practical Talks and Plain Precepts for Farmers.

Edited for the Farmer readers of the MONITOR by an Anna Valley Agriculturist

We are giving this week in the hope that it may not be too late for this year's root pulling, the methods of some readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star.

The pulling and storing of the roots with many farmers is far more laborious than it should be, and at this season when time is better than money any short cut in our work should be appreciated. Some of these methods of root harvesting are certainly expensive, and we found no doubt that some of our readers are not to be faulted for some readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star.

We give the letters as they appear in the Star.

HARVESTING ROOTS.

Turnips make their most rapid development after the first frost has given the tops a check. While this is true it is not well to delay the harvesting until the weather has become so heavy as to make it difficult to handle the roots by pulling them out of the ground in the usual way.

Our method of harvesting turnips is to pull them by hand, or by means of a root puller, and to store them in a cellar. We use a root puller which is made of a wooden frame with a handle and a hook for pulling the roots out of the ground.

We usually pull our turnips by hand. We pull the roots with the left hand and top them with a knife in the right hand. We use a root puller which is made of a wooden frame with a handle and a hook for pulling the roots out of the ground.

When turnips are housed dry and clean, the labor of caring for them is not as great as when they are stored in a cellar. The turnips should be kept in a cellar where they will be protected from frost and from the action of the sun.

When the ground is very wet or we are to store a few roots for use in the spring, we pull the roots by hand and top and tail them with a knife as we go along.

I always store turnips in a cellar and take great care to allow ample ventilation. It is very important to pick a hole down to the bottom of the cellar where the roots are stored.

For hauling I use slatted bottoms in my wagons. These are made especially for the purpose. We take off the bottoms of the common wagon and use these under and raise the box sides and ends about 4 inches.

She was pretty, and as she entered the comfortably filled car at Broad Street Station in Philadelphia...

"Excuse me," she hesitatingly said, "may I share this seat with you?"

The man looked startled, lifted his hat and blushing replied: "Certainly, I beg your pardon."

In two minutes they were conversing pleasantly, and in five she had gently insinuated her hand into his, and fairly beamed on him.

"Stamming girl!" exclaimed the woman, "you got next, hurry up, old man, and that, too, without an effort."

The courtier only smiled complacently. "How do you manage it?" persisted the inquisitive father.

"Well, you see," drawled the other, "we stooled together before a Southern minister about two weeks ago, and he said something kind to us that we have never forgotten."

There was no! In six seconds there was only one man in that seat.

FOR YOUNG DOCTORS.

During my second year at the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, said a prominent professor, I had a classmate whom it would not be uncharitable to call a dullard.

"How much is a dose of?" giving the technical name of croton oil.

The professor made no comment, and the fellow who realized that he had made a mistake.

"It's too late, Mr.—," responded the professor, "I want to change my answer to that question."

"Your patient's been dead fourteen minutes."

DOGGING A PROMISE.

The youthful attorney secured a verdict in favor of the Irishman charged with murder on the count of temporary insanity.

NERVE TELERGRAPHY.

"The dangers of nervous breakdown," said a London physician, "lie in the fact that people are heedless of the warnings which they have flashed to them from the tired-out nervous system."

Open air exercise is a great preventive of nervous sickness. "Above all, exercise—not with bells or pulleys, but in the open air, with deep breathing, and the sun on your face, and running if possible."

What five cents did. A few years ago Miss Rosa Weiss was poor, but also ambitious; now she is an M. D. and has a lucrative practice, says Success.

Deafness and impaired hearing are almost entirely to cerebral inflection. The brain is the seat of the hearing, and the hearing is the seat of the brain.
