MEXICAN REBELS LED INTO TRAP AND MOWED DOWN BY THE HUNDRED PREMIER ASQUITH ISSUES ORDER REVOKING THE SPECIAL PRIVILEGES OF OFFICERS IN THE BRITISH ARMY

CARSON'S ACTS CONDEMNED BY KING GEORGE

His Majesty, While Maintaining Proper Impartiality in Conferences With Ministers, is Stated to Have Shown Personal Leanings Toward Home Rule.

LONDON, March 29.—The king's actions and attitude during the political crisis are gradually becoming known. The attacks of the radicals and laborites on the King for his alleged interference in politics have subsided. The Unionists are criticizing His Majesty, but quietly, among themselves, and the Unionists have the most reason to complain of the King's policy, as would appear from the most trustworthy accounts of the happenings at Buckingham Palace during the frequent conferences which the King had with the cabinet ministers and army officers.

The King followed his ministers' advice from the beginning of the home rule controversy. While maintaining impartiality, apparently he had a personal leaning toward home rule. The King and the members of his court were outspoken in their condemnation of Sir Edward Carson in organizing the Ulster volunteer army and renegeing his act in reviewing the volunteers. Such an offence, as Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell discovered when he placed his portrait on postage stamps during the siege of Mafeking, is an unpardonable sin in the eyes of the court.

Ultimatum of Officers. While Premier Asquith and Col. Seely were closeted with the King recently, Maj. Gen. Sir William Robertson, director of military training at the war office, accompanied by a colleague, visited the palace, according to reliable information, and asked to be admitted to the conference on urgent business. The request was granted and the officers announced that they and a majority of the staff officers would resign immediately unless the government made its peace with the Curragh officers.

Premier Asquith's conciliatory statement to The Times, the first interview which the premier has granted in office, was the result of the impression that this ultimatum had been delivered.

VILLA'S ARMY LED INTO TRAP HEAVY FIRE CAUSED CARNAGE TORREON STILL HOLDING OUT

Generals Still Obstinate

LONDON, March 29.—The Conservative morning papers assert that Field Marshal Sir John French and Gen. Ewart have decided not to withdraw their resignations, but no official announcement has been made or is expected until parliament reassembles today. Brig. Gen. Hubert Gough, commander of the third cavalry brigade, has left Curragh for some unknown place.

CONFERENCE ON GEORGIAN CANAL

Decision Reached That Proceedings of Commission Will Be Open to the Public.

OTTAWA, March 29.—Chairman Sanford Evans and Col. Frank S. Meighen of the Georgian Bay Canal Commission had a long conference with Hon. Robert Rogers on Saturday regarding the prosecution of the enquiry. After the conference Mr. Evans stated that the proceedings of the commission would be open to the public at all times, and that the material collected would be made public so far as possible. A full meeting of the board will be held as soon as Edward Gohier, the third member of the commission, returns from Europe.

J. D. Hepburn, who is well-known in connection with inland water transportation in Canada, will act as chairman of the commission. Offices will be opened in Ottawa.

FEDERAL DEFEAT REPORTED

MEXICO CITY, March 29.—Four hundred federalists have been defeated in an engagement north of San Luis Potosi, according to consular advices, which add that traffic north of San Luis Potosi has been suspended. The occupation of Chilpancingo, capital of the State of Guerrero, by the rebels is officially admitted.

German Military Observer Reports That Attack on Gomez Palacio Was Costly Mistake—Hundreds of Wounded—Attest Sanguinary Nature of Conflict.

Canadian Press Despatch. JUAREZ, Mex. March 29.—An official message from the front tonight states that fighting is still going on for the possession of Torreón. The telegram says that the rebels now hold all positions except the main barracks and two smaller barracks. In the last 24 hours it is reported that Gen. Villa took Cerro de la Cruz and the Torreón foundry. Another telegram admits a rebel loss in the last six days of 900 killed and wounded, and places the federal loss at 2,000.

Canadian Press Despatch. CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, March 29.—Such news as reached here from the front today was unfavorable to the rebels. Wounded rebel soldiers continued to arrive by train, bringing the number now here to 588. Several hundred other wounded were being provided for at Jimenez, and batches of wounded were being distributed at Parral and Santa Rosalia. This evidence of the sanguinary conflict at Torreón, with the suggestion that the list of the rebel dead, necessarily would have a great tendency to make headquarters reticent about the progress of the battle. The officers admitted they have received despatches from the front, but they declined to reveal the contents.

The reports originated from one of the hospitals after more men came in. Gen. Francisco Villa had been wounded slightly and compelled to retire from the front. The report was based merely on the word of a wounded soldier, who, however, insisted he had seen Villa wounded. He declared for moral effect the news was withheld from the rank of the rebel army.

Led Into Trap. A German military observer who arrived from the front said: "The federalists are being led into a trap."

BUILDINGS SAVED BY GOOD WORK OF FIREMEN

Flames in Boathouse Confined to One Building and Destruction of Valuable Boats Prevented by Daring Work in Darkness and Dense Smoke.

DAMAGE to the extent of about $5,000 was done to the boathouse of the Marine Construction Company, at the foot of York street, by fire which broke out about 7:30 last night. That the loss was not much greater was due only to the good work of the firemen. The loss to the building, which was of light and inflammable material, will probably amount to about $2,000, while that to contents will make up the balance of the $5,000.

Bruce McKenzie was sent by his mother to take some medicine to the night watchman of the Marine Construction Company, who was suffering from lumbago, and arrived at the boathouse at about 7:35. As he was passing along the wharf he noticed a small tongue of flame shooting under the door of the first room in the boathouse. Looking thru the keyhole he saw that the entire room was a mass of flames. Running to the foot of the York street bridge, he turned in the alarm and in a few minutes the department was on hand. By this time the flames, which had spread along the left, burst thru the roof in some places, and fanned by a stiff breeze were lapping the side of the Marine Construction plant, about five feet to the west.

Six lines of hose were quickly laid along the wharf and a stop of the ice, which was too frail to hold a man, and despite the fact that they were obliged to work in darkness and dense smoke, with only about five feet on either side of the burning structure to move around in, the firemen from their perilous positions not only succeeded in preventing the blaze from catching the larger building to the west, but also brought it under control before it could spread to the west.

BRITISH OFFICER AND SOLDIER ARE EQUAL IN CHARTER RIGHTS ORDER ANNOUNCED BY ASQUITH

John Burns Looming Up as Most Likely Successor to Seely—Party Leaders Show Feverish Activity in Preparing for Resumption of Struggle Today.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, March 29.—What has been pronounced "the greatest crisis for statesmanship in three hundred years" is simmering over Sunday. Both houses of parliament will train their heaviest guns upon the whole complicated affair on Monday. Passions are running high and country houses, where the politicians customarily spend the week ends, are deserted. The party leaders are conferring in London, and urgent summonses have been sent to all members to attend. If the outcome of the crisis is to be a general election in the near future, the Radical wing of the Liberal party will form a close alliance with the Labor party, the coalition crystallizing its platform into the battery "Aristocrats against the people." Whatever may be the merits of the coalition it seems to hold possibilities of vote-getting, which the Conservatives shy at.

Seely Must Go. The army order which Premier Asquith announced today is generally considered to have been intended as a sort of charter on which Field Marshal French and Gen. Ewart might be induced to remain in their positions. Col. Seely's tenure in the office of the war ministry seems destined to be of short continuance.

The Westminster Gazette and The Daily Chronicle, foremost among the Liberal papers, are saying that Col. Seely must resign his portfolio. The name of John Burns is most discussed as his probable successor. Making Army Democratic. That a democratic government could be carried to such lengths, as to give supervision of the army into the hands of the sturdy character, who came into the ministry as a labor agitator, would have been unthinkable a decade ago. Yet the recognition of the soldier as on the same plane with the officer, in the charter rights and duties which the government proclaimed today, is a long step towards the same leveling of the scales.

The Panama debate at Washington, which ordinarily would have been read here with equal interest to that which it excites in the United States, is passing almost unnoticed in the excitement over the crisis, and the suffragettes are being wholly ignored.

HAD THREE FIRES IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Firemen Down at Truro, N.S., Spent a Busy Sunday. TRURO, N. S., March 29.—Three fires within 24 hours caused considerable property loss to a number of owners today. W. M. Lawrence's residence was damaged to the extent of $1,600 and the content $500. Fire in M. A. Ward's drygoods store caused a loss of $2,000. This morning early the firemen were again called out by an alarm for a more serious conflagration in the west end of the town. Part of the building was a boarding house and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting all the sleepers out.

C. N. R. GUARANTEE ANNOUNCEMENT IS PROBABLE WITHIN A FEW DAYS

Bond Issue of Forty-Five Million to Have Government Backing, It is Stated—"Imperial" Despatches From Ottawa Will Pave the Way.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, March 29.—That the Canadian Northern negotiations are rapidly approaching a conclusion satisfactory to the company will be evidenced this week, probably beginning tomorrow, by the inspired despatches from Ottawa to the government press thru-out the country. Government correspondents, it is believed, have been instructed to pave the way for the announcement that cannot now be long delayed respecting the forthcoming legislation. The government is said to be definitely committed to assisting the Canadian Northern to complete its Transcontinental Railway by a guarantee of the company bonds to the amount of $45,000,000.

The details of the agreement by which the company is to indemnify the country against loss upon its guarantee are, however, largely a matter of speculation. Some collateral will no doubt be exacted, and some control over the application of the proceeds of the new issue will be provided. Beyond this little is definitely known. Onus on Government. There seems to be some uncertainty as to whether the proposals of the government will be submitted to the Conservative caucus before being laid before parliament. Many private members believe that the government should accept the full responsibility and announce its policy as quickly as possible. Indeed, they declare that any appearance of timidity would be most unfortunate. In any event it is difficult to see how Hon. Mr. White can deal with the budget a week from Monday without disclosing the policy of the government. But the announcement may come even more quickly, for it is said that the report of the government auditor will be in the hands of the finance minister tomorrow.

CONFESSED THAT ENDORSEMENT WAS FORGED

Percival Morris, Arrested for Attempt to Defraud Union Trust of Eleven Hundred Dollars, Makes No Attempt at Denial—Sunday Police News.

Three months ago Percival S. Morris, a Calgary ex-accountant, came east to Toronto and deposited with the Union Trust Company a cheque for $1,177, endorsed by an Edmonton bank. Within three days, before the Trust Company had communicated with the western bank, Morris had made purchases on the account totaling over $1,100, and on the fourth day the trust concern received a wire that the endorsement on the cheque was a forgery, and Morris had no funds.

After effecting his big coup Morris fled the country, and up till a week ago, traveled in the United States. True to the old adage, however, he came back, and Saturday evening was arrested in the Arlington Hotel by Detectives Mitchell and Guthrie. He confessed to the fraud, and stated that when he deposited the cheque there was not a cent to cover in the Edmonton bank.

Search Warrant Of No Use There

Late Saturday evening, when the police of No. 4 division entered 184 Sherbourne street armed with a search warrant, Constable Allan (184) was stopped in his search of the premises by the burly form of William Burns, who declared that warrant or no warrant no policeman should enter his room. When Allan attempted to pass Burns dealt him a smashing blow on the face, knocking the officer down. Allan got up, overpowered him, and arrested him on a charge of assaulting the police.

Had Big Roll But Little Pity

With nearly $60 cash in his pockets, Jan Sryn, a Russian Jew, refused 10c for a meal for his friend Augier Tymcumour, at No. 4 police station Sunday afternoon, where both had been taken for feeding tobacco to the monkeys in the Riverdale Zoo. After a series of weird movements of the hands and body, the desk sergeant had conveyed the idea to Sryn that if he put up $50 of his roll as bail he could go to his home at 10 Chestnut street for the night. Sryn agreed, but when the sergeant suggested he leave 10c with which to purchase a light lunch for his friend, who had no money, and consequently must spend the night in the cells and go to court with no breakfast, the Jew vigorously shook his head and shuffled out of the station.

Easy Marks On Indian Road

Just released from jail, where he had served ten days for vagrancy and begging in the Indian road district, William Larmouth, no address, was again arrested last evening by the same officer, in the same locality, and on the same charge.

Two weeks ago No. 6 station received complaints from residents on Indian road that Lermouth was calling at doors soliciting meals. Officer 92 was dispatched to the scene and sighted Lermouth just as he was stopping a pedestrian and asking for money. But Lermouth saw the officer as soon as the officer saw him, and it was not until Officer 92 had chased the fleeing "vag" for over a mile around the city streets that he was arrested.

Last night, too, evidently in remembrance of the constable's running ability, Lermouth made no attempt to run. Asked by Sergeant Bogart at the police station why he made for the selfsame spot where he was previously arrested, Lermouth said the Indian road people were easy marks, and that before his arrest he had made a fine living off the district.

Fractured His Nose. While attempting to board a car at the corner of Wilton avenue and Ontario street, Saturday evening, Henry Boyd, 15 Geneva avenue, fell to the pavement, fracturing his nose. Dr. Maybes of Sherbourne street, attended him, and he was taken home in a cab. Frank Murphy, 122 Parkway avenue, fell from the rear platform of a Queen street car at the corner of George street, Saturday evening, and was picked up unconscious by a police constable. He was removed to the General Hospital in the police ambulance, where it is reported that beyond a bad cut in the back of his head he is uninjured.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS OF TORONTO

DON ROAD FARMERS MET ON SATURDAY

To Discuss New High Level Bridge Over Don—Petition Signed.

TOWNLINE IS BLOCKED

C. P. R. and Highway Commission Denounced—Resolutions Passed.

A meeting of the farmers of the Don section of the Township of York was held at the school-house on the Don Road, north of Donlands station, on Saturday night.

The first matter taken up was the proposed high level bridge across the West Don at Eglinton Avenue, two and a half miles east of Yonge Street, and which, if erected, would by a short road connect up with Donlands and the Don road and thence up thru York Township and across into Scarborough into the city by way of Leaside and Rosedale.

After full discussion a petition was signed and taken to the township council praying the reeve and the council to have all the facts in connection with the plan of the bridge as recently prepared by Frank Barber, C.E. to be further taken up and communications opened with other municipalities, with the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Toronto and Eastern Railway Line and any other parties with a view of securing co-operation in the construction of the bridge, and also of ascertaining what proportion of the cost should be paid in the way of a specific tax by the residents of the township in the immediate vicinity, who would be the most benefited.

The meeting then passed a resolution concerning the conduct of the Highways Commission and their engineers, Mr. E. J. Zarnke, for the way in which the commission had undertaken last fall to widen De Grass Hill on the Don Road and had got $2900 for that purpose from the York Township Council, but had neglected to get the work completed in proper time that the cold weather of December set in, closed down the work, and consequently when the frost came about ten days ago the whole centre of the road was washed out and the gravel-carried down the hill and caused a breakdown in all traffic. It seems that the engineer sent a man out for a few hours to mark the wash-outs with brush, but that is all. The farmers are very indignant, and a copy of the resolution is to be sent to the Highways Commission, to the township council, to the Good Roads Commission and to the Hon. Dr. Reame, minister of public works.

Denounced C. P. R. They passed a similar resolution in regard to the Canadian Pacific Railway, which last fall took down the bridge on the township when it widened its cut at Wexford, and at that time promised the farmers and the township that it would be replaced by a couple of weeks before the bridge would be replaced. As a matter of fact they had no intention of putting up the bridge last fall, but once they got the council's consent they had a mile thru a farmer's field and made a clay crossing over the railway, and for four months now farmers have been inconvenienced in trying to get to the city, and a number of rigs have been broken and a loss that aggregates thousands of dollars has been sustained by those who use the road. The engineer in charge, whose name is Charles, has his headquarters at Agincourt, and he laughs at the farmers and says he hopes to start putting up the bridge some weeks hence. In the meantime he has not spent five cents in making a substitute road for the farmers, but has forced them to make a detour of half a mile; also, the councils of Scarborough and York think it not worth bothering about. As a consequence a letter to be sent to Mr. Arundel, the general superintendent of the railway, with headquarters at Toronto, to see if he can effect a remedy. One of the farmers suggested that the township send collectors to Ottawa to the railway commission, and not only would they succeed in getting an order for the bridge, but they would be able to collect damages on behalf of the township and the citizens from the railway.

DRIVER'S NARROW ESCAPE NEWS OF TODMORDEN

Dogs are causing a lot of trouble in Todmorden of late and Samuel Morrison, the mail driver for the district, narrowly escaped a serious injury today when a dog barked in front of his horse and causing it to run away.

The man was just returning home with his rig down Pape Avenue, near Torrens Avenue, when the dog started barking. The horse bolted down Pape, and when near St. Andrew's Church, jumped a four foot ditch, throwing the driver out on his head. As it happened he landed in a pool of mud and received only a bad shaking up. The horse and rig became entangled between two trees, and the shafts were broken to pieces.

The Todmorden Conservative Association will hold their last business meeting of the season in St. Andrew's Hall, Pape Avenue, on Wednesday night.

On Wednesday, April 15, a grand euchre party will be held, to which ladies and gentlemen are invited.

George Moses, Jr., the president of the association, has returned from Bermuda.

MARKHAM The Markham branch of the E. Y. W. I. will meet at the home of Mrs. Hassard on Wednesday afternoon, April 1. There will be a debate on "Should a Woman Continue Her Vocation After Marriage?"

DEER PARK There was a very large attendance at the confirmation service in Christ Church, Deer Park, yesterday, when the Right Rev. Bishop Swettenham received twenty-seven candidates. He was assisted by the Rev. T. W. Patterson and the Rev. Joseph Gibson, formerly of Thornhill.

THE NEW NORTH EARLS COURT PUBLIC SCHOOL

The Trustees—Messrs. A. Watt, J. O. Wilcox, Wm. Deacoff and B. T. Parsons.

BIG NEW SCHOOL FOR NORTHEAST

Building Planned to Take the Place of Coleman School.

Another large school is to be erected in the northeast part of the city. It will take the place of the present Coleman school, which did service for a number of years for East Toronto before annexation.

A special committee from the adjoining township of York Township and a subcommittee of the Toronto Board of Education Property Committee are negotiating respecting terms. The school attendance from the Coleman school section and the adjoining school section in the township is in excess of the Coleman school capacity, and portable buildings have to be used. The shortage of school class rooms will increase during the next few months, owing to the opening up of the Massey estate.

Providing For Future. It is regarded as a certainty that the southern portion of York Township will soon be annexed to the city and the joint committee are making their plans from that viewpoint. A report will be made regarding the proposals to the board of education on Thursday night. With the Pape Avenue and Greenwood Avenue public schools and Eastern Technical school, the new Coleman building will make four city school buildings to be erected north of Danforth Avenue.

BOY'S BODY FOUND IN THE HUMBER

Remains of Harold Mathers Who Disappeared Two Weeks Ago.

The body of eight-year-old Harold W. Mathers, who disappeared some time ago, was found in the Humber River yesterday morning at 9.30. Some boys, who were walking along the banks, noticed the body caught in the ice, about 200 yards below Bloor Street bridge. A one-ton school bus, on the North Dufferin Street, had been driven into the river in the fall of the year 1911, which was known as the green school house.

When opened the one-room was found altogether too small to accommodate the number of children applying for admission and in the early part of the year 1912 the school board had to appeal to the City of Toronto for school accommodation, offering to rent one room in the new Hughes school on McRoberts Avenue, and the city complied with the request of the township school board.

The situation was somewhat relieved, but the influx of residents into the district was so large that this summer of the year an additional room in Hughes school was applied for and granted, but the population continued to grow and more children were yet to be provided for and the third and last room in the Hughes school was rented to the Fairbank school.

Still Overcrowded. C. T. Lacey, who was elected to the school board in December, 1912, found that the three rooms were overcrowded, as many as sixty children being in one room and seventy-five children in charge of one teacher. This state of affairs continued until March, 1913, when the school was applied for and granted, but the population continued to grow and more children were yet to be provided for and the third and last room in the Hughes school was rented to the Fairbank school.

Meeting Called. An appeal was made to the school board to call a general meeting of the ratepayers for the purpose of taking some steps towards providing school accommodation for the children, and after considerable delay a meeting was held, and a proposal for one room school was put forward, which met with considerable opposition from the northern ratepayers, but the southern section being the largest in numbers carried the day. A one-room school was built, on North Dufferin Street, and the children were accommodated in the fall of the year 1911, which was known as the green school house.

MUCH GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY FAIRBANK SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Phenomenal Growth of Population Has Kept Them Hustling to Provide School Accommodation—New School Completed This Year is Already Overcrowded and Big Addition Must Be Built.

While the erection of most of our public buildings is dictated by necessity they are always the result more or less of the activity of a few public-spirited citizens who realize the necessity for them and initiate ceaselessly for a new school, a new hall or church or whatever is needed in their district. Few better examples of what two or three active citizens can do for a district could be found than the fine new public school in North Earls Court, which is a credit to the school section and to York Township.

In June, 1911, residents of North Earls Court and Fairbank felt that they were without sufficient school accommodation, and in order to find out the exact state of affairs C. T. Lacey, president of the Ratepayers' Association, with the assistance of H. J. Hill, George Fryer, J. Williams and others, canvassed the neighborhood and took a census. They discovered that 250 children were attending any school in the district, and that the Northern Railroad tracks, and embraced about one-third of the school section.

Meeting Called. An appeal was made to the school board to call a general meeting of the ratepayers for the purpose of taking some steps towards providing school accommodation for the children, and after considerable delay a meeting was held, and a proposal for one room school was put forward, which met with considerable opposition from the northern ratepayers, but the southern section being the largest in numbers carried the day. MAIL VAN STUCK IN MUD TWO HOURS

Outfit Mired in Slough on Morrison Avenue—Horses Exhausted.

NEWS OF EARLS COURT

Many Meetings This Week—B. I. A. to Discuss Life on the Farm.

The bad state of the roads in Earls Court was the cause of delaying mail for two hours on Saturday last. About 10 o'clock in the morning G. Edwards was proceeding in a mail van to collect the mails from the sub stations and post boxes around Earls Court, and when crossing the road at Morrison and Nairn avenues the horse suddenly sank in the soft earth, being completely covered by the mud, while the mail van was imbedded up to the hubs.

After two hours' hard work with the assistance of some workmen the van was extricated and the horse pulled out in an exhausted condition.

B. I. A. Meeting. The regular meeting of the Oakwood Branch, B. I. A., will be held next Friday evening at the election of officers and executive committee will take place, after which there will be an open debate on some points brought out in the speeches at the recent "Back to the Land" lecture given by Mr. Frait in Oakwood High School. One aspect of the matter which will be discussed is, why men went to work on farms in a great many cases, and the reasons why it should be done to improve farm life with a view to giving the small wage-earner of the cities a chance of the country.

L.O.O.F. will hold a social entertainment at Oakwood Hall, Oakwood, tomorrow, Tuesday evening. A meeting of the B. I. A. horticultural committee will be held on Wednesday evening at the residence of W. Furnival, 44 Earlsdale Avenue. W. J. Cole will preside.

Conservative Meeting. A meeting of the Oakwood District Conservative Association will be held in Oakwood Hall, Oakwood, this evening at eight o'clock, when Controller Church, Dr. B. J. A. and others will address the meeting. President Caswell will occupy the chair.

Meeting of the executive committee of the Toronto High School Club will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) evening, at the residence of the chairman, T. Lewis, Enderbury Street. The business of the meeting will be the completion of the clubhouse and the arrangements for the opening on Monday, May 25.

The regular meeting of the North Earls Court and Fairbank Ratepayers' Association will be held in Vaughan Road Public School, Fairbank, on next Friday evening, April 3. President Badams will occupy the chair.

Will Appoint Delegates. Secretary H. Swabey of the township ratepayers' central body, in receipt of a communication from the Cedarvale Ratepayers' Association, in which they state they will appoint delegates to the central body at their next meeting. Secretary Swabey is also getting in touch with the ratepayers' central body, with regard to the appointment of these delegates.

Sanitary sewers will be started on Earls Court, Bloor and Nairn avenues in the course of next week, and work is in progress on Day and Sellers avenues.

An agitation is again being raised in the Earls Court district for an underground public lavatory. York Township officials recently completed the numbering of Vaughan road.

Special Services. Yesterday the services at St. Chad's Church were largely attended, the preacher in the morning being the Rev. A. J. Reid, and in the evening the Ven. Archdeacon Barrett, at which service the Rev. H. Smart assisted.

The Right Rev. Bishop Reeve was the special preacher at St. Mark's Church, Ford Street, and a lantern service was held in the parish hall as an overflow, both being well attended.

NEWS FROM THE CITY HALL

CALLS CEDARVALE SECOND TOP HAT

Alderman Robbins Not Hopeful That Forest Hill Will Be Annexed.

DRAINAGE PROBLEMS

Will Become Acute Should Property Owners Decide to Hold Out.

Ald. Robbins, chairman of the parks and exhibition committee, feels very doubtful over the annexation of the Forest Hill and Upper Canada College districts. He anticipates that a majority petition for the annexation of those districts will not be presented to the council in the near future, there being some large property-owners who object to coming in on the terms of the property paying all the cost of local improvements.

"North Toronto is one top hat on Toronto," he puts it, "and we have clapped on another top hat in taking in Forest Hill and Upper Canada College districts. Of course, we would have to pay the top price for an easement. It looks to me as if the city will not provide an outlet for a sewerage system in Cedarvale until the Forest Hill district agrees to annexation. Of course, the Upper Canada College district would then come in automatically, for it otherwise would be pocketed in the city limits."

As the situation now is, we cannot drain Cedarvale district without running an outlet thru the Forest Hill district. Of course, we would have to pay the top price for an easement. It looks to me as if the city will not provide an outlet for a sewerage system in Cedarvale until the Forest Hill district agrees to annexation. Of course, the Upper Canada College district would then come in automatically, for it otherwise would be pocketed in the city limits."

DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST HUERTA

Students Fired Upon in Mexico City for Showing Hostility.

Canadian Press Despatch. MEXICO CITY, March 28.—Already small demonstrations against President Huerta have occurred in the streets of the capital. The police tonight fired upon a small crowd of students who were marching and shouting "Huertas" for Huerta and making remarks derogatory to the government. Emboldened by the growing popular movement, the people of Toronto are well aware, is the undoubted leader of his profession, and therefore it seems only natural that he should be selected for this position. That Pavlowa Academy has instantly jumped into popularity was again shown, when on Saturday night even a larger crowd was present than on the opening evening. A great many who attended the opening were again present on Saturday, and they were all in the praise of this beautiful academy.

Every indication points strongly that Pavlowa, like the Detroit academy, will rise to the prominence of the society people of this city.

LARGEST ATTENDANCE WITHIN MANY YEARS

Gerrard Street Methodist Church Has Thrived Under Institutional Methods.

Gerrard Street Methodist Church has had the largest attendance for many years at the Sunday School anniversary services yesterday. The church opened thirty-six years ago. The removal north of many of the leading families rendered a reorganization of the church methods necessary to build up the congregation. Rev. A. P. Brace, who took charge last June, has been very successful by organizing a number of institutional church societies and the Sunday School has become so popular that the anniversary concert will have to be held twice on Tuesday and Thursday, to meet the demand for tickets.

Dr. E. A. Hardy preached yesterday morning, Rev. E. B. Scott in the afternoon and Prof. W. G. Smith at night. Prof. Smith gave a symbolic sermon illustrated by lighted candles. The excellent singing was led by Joseph G. Dale, associate superintendent.

Rev. A. P. Brace and G. A. Seabrook, superintendent, participated in the services.

SIR DONALD HERE, BUT SIR WILLIAM REMAINS Sir Donald Mann arrived in Toronto from Ottawa yesterday morning by special train over the Canadian Northern, and made the distance in a matter of eight hours. On Sunday forenoon another special train was run over the same line from Toronto to Ottawa, carrying Lady Mackenzie, Mrs. D. E. Hannay, the president, and a number of other officials.

The World was informed that Sir William Mackenzie is still in Ottawa.

SALARY QUESTION WILL BE DEBATED

At Special Meeting of City Council Called for Friday Morning.

MCCARTHY'S BUDGET

Is to Be Presented—Maigne Counted on to Provide Opposition.

The city council will meet next Friday, instead of Thursday, to hear Controller McCarthy deliver the budget speech and to debate final action upon the estimates. It is probable the meeting will commence in the morning.

The feature of the budget speech will be the presentation by Controller McCarthy of facts that show that the sales of Toronto securities during last year were made at as good prices as were secured by any other city in Canada. Average adjustments have been made, and the cost of marketing the securities Toronto really did better than any other city in Canada. All Maguire's present proposals for the sale of securities are based on the securities sold last year.

From the way the members of council are handing out opinions upon the recommended increase in salaries to officials, and from the expressions of discontent by those who were given a small raise of pay and want more and from those who were not mentioned for an increase in pay, there will be much said in council about salaries. After the matter is threshed out and the necessary adjustments have been made, there are likely to be many converts to the proposed policy of appointing a salary board to deal hereafter with the question of salaries. It is now generally known that salaries of civic employees do not conform to a businesslike policy by any means, and that the present adjustments have become most desirable. To accomplish this a salary board, working in touch with the heads of departments, is felt to be necessary. This would reduce lobbying to an undisturbing quantity.

The indications are that the tax rate will not be advanced beyond 1914 mills.

BODLEY AT PAVLOWA

Commencing This Evening, Charles Bodley, Who Has Just Returned From a Trip to New York, Will Furnish the Music at the Pavlowa Academy.

There could be no better indication of the high-class manner in which Pavlowa Academy is being conducted than the announcement that Mr. Charles Bodley will furnish the music at the opening evening. A great many who attended the opening were again present on Saturday, and they were all in the praise of this beautiful academy.

Every indication points strongly that Pavlowa, like the Detroit academy, will rise to the prominence of the society people of this city.

FEDERAL VOLUNTEERS WERE REPORTED DRIVEN BACK WITH SEVERE LOSS.

Canadian Press Despatch. JUAREZ, Mexico, March 28.—A report was received at Gen. Chao's headquarters tonight that the force of federal volunteers, or former federal volunteers, attempted to cut their way out of Torreón today, but were driven back with great loss. Gen. Villa gave notice that no quarter would be given any federal volunteers found under arms, and it is pronounced that those in the ranks of Velasco's army at Torreón to fight with desperation. They may be killed in battle, but they know they surely will be killed if captured.

It is believed Velasco has taken advantage of this situation to force the federal volunteers into the position of the greatest danger in the defence of Torreón.

CARRANZA AT JUAREZ.

JUAREZ, March 28.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza arrived here this evening. Absence of advice from General Villa was taken to indicate to a certainty that if he has not been repulsed, at least he has not yet taken Torreón.

Crossed the Bay. Navigation was opened in Toronto harbor on Saturday by the tug Geary, which made the trip to and from the island several times.

Captain Goodwin stated to The World that he would today put the tug Nellie Bly into service, and that other craft were soon to follow.

The first passenger steamer to be put into commission this season will be the Toronto-Hamilton steamer Macassa, which, if the ice in Hamilton Bay is broken up sufficiently to permit, will be put in service between Toronto and Hamilton for the season on Wednesday.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

WAS INTERESTED IN SOCIAL WORK Late Mrs. Andrew Wilson Served in Many Social Service Groups. HER FUNERAL TODAY Marks the Passing of One of Toronto's Most Public-Spirited Women.

The late Mrs. Andrew Wilson, whose funeral will take place today from her husband's home at 5 Beaumont road, will be remembered by a host of Toronto women as one who was active in many organizations aiding at social betterment. Although rarely an officer and seldom appearing in the published accounts of social service work, she will be missed greatly and her place in the ranks will be found hard to fill.

Before the civic health board had arrived at its present efficiency Mrs. Wilson was one of the members of the Household Economic Association most interested in the fight for cleanliness, and it was largely thru her instrumentality that milk depots were established where pasteurized milk might be obtained for the children of the poor.

A King's Daughter. The badge of the King's Daughters is pinned upon her breast as she lies ready for burial. Mrs. Wilson, as a member of that organization, did more than her share toward the establishment of a rest room in the downtown district. The Toronto Mission Union, too, was numbered among her interests.

Mrs. Wilson was a life member of both the Local Council of Women and the National Council. For many years she has served as convener of the circulating economic literature for both the local and national organization.

Her death on Friday at the age of 88, followed upon a illness of several months duration. Her husband and one son, Ross, survive her. She was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Neill will conduct the funeral service today.

FRENCH WOMEN ASK FOR VOTES Rally in Paris Yesterday Was Easily Controlled by Police.

PARIS, March 29.—French suffragettes today made their first attempt to hold an outdoor meeting on a street of the boulevards. The meeting had been frowned upon by the principal women suffrage associations and consequently there were few women who responded to the call for the rally.

A compact throng of male spectators was on hand for the proposed demonstration, however. On a big board which hung from the balcony of one of the buildings, was the following inscription: "We want votes for women. We want to collaborate in making the laws we obey to denounce with indignation the legal sham which gives us the quality of French women without the rights of citizens."

Several women made speeches, after which an attempt was made to march to the boulevards, but the demonstrators were politely dispersed by a small body of police.

MRS. EDDY LEAVES THREE MILLIONS Final Settlement by Administrator of Estate of Christian Scientist Head.

CONCORD, N.H., March 29.—J. E. Fernand, the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, made a final settlement of his account in the probate court. He turned over to the trustees appointed by the court the sum of $2,550,000. The sum of $20,000 was set aside to defray a suit brought by Geo. W. Glover and D. E. M. Foster Eddy to recover legacies of $10,000 and $5000, respectively. At the time the will was filed there was a suit pending in probate court a statement showing that both persons received money prior to Mrs. Eddy's death, in lieu of the inheritance fixed in the will.

The figures given out are the first official figures as to the total value of Mrs. Eddy's estate. It is believed that a few personal bequests, giving the bulk of her property to the directors of the mother church. She bequeathed $175,000 to the second church in New York to help pay off an indebtedness.

MME. CAILLAUX REGAINING NERVE With Return of Serenity, She Criticizes Conditions in Prison.

PARIS, March 29.—Mme. Caillaux has been greatly benefited by her two days' rest in Saint Lazare prison, while M. Boucard, the investigating magistrate, has been examining witnesses at the preliminary enquiry into the killing of Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro. She has regained much of her habitual serenity, and, it is said, has expressed some strong criticism of the prison arrangements.

The director of the prison, in his own behalf, says he has not had a minute's rest since Mme. Caillaux was brought to the prison. His telephone, he declares, rings ceaselessly, and an endless file of messengers delivers telegrams to Mme. Caillaux all day long.

Her husband M. Caillaux, the ex-minister of finance, and her daughter were among Mme. Caillaux's visitors today, but they remained only a short time. A few curious spectators gathered around the entrance to the prison.

GUESTS WERE HONORED AT HELICONIAN CLUB Seventy Members Greeted Mrs. Sanford Evans and Miss Marshall Saunders.

Seventy members of the Heliconian Society were present at the March meeting of the society, which took place at the King Edward on Saturday evening. Mrs. A. G. Garrison presided and with her were the guests of the evening, Mrs. Sanford Evans and Miss Marshall Saunders. Roses and mosses in the center were placed at every place, and the health of the chief guests was proposed by the president and responded to by Mrs. Evans and Miss Saunders.

Afterwards a "Who's Who," which had been prepared by the members, was read, much amusement being given by the many clever and oftentimes humorous statements made.

Mrs. Parker gave two vocal solos and an original sketch, "Interpreting the Primrose," by some of the members, concluded the most successful evening in the history of the society.

CHINA, AWAKENED, NEEDS TEACHERS Rev. Dr. Murdoch Mackenzie Tells University Men of Their Opportunity. A PLENTIFUL HARVEST But Laborers Are Few—Temples Now Used as Education Centres.

The changeless China which existed for 2,600 years, the China which awakened only two years ago, and the future which lies before that country, with the responsibility which that future implies to the Christian nations of the world, was the subject dealt with by Rev. Dr. Murdoch Mackenzie, moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly, in his sermon to Varsity students in Convocation Hall yesterday morning. "The Chinese are a peculiar people," said Dr. Mackenzie, "and they are following up their ideas in a peculiar way. In the twentieth century we see a changing China. In October, 1911, the Manchu-Tartar dynasty was overthrown, and the Chinese revolution was brought about by a comparatively small loss of life and money. It was a change from a Manchu ruler to a Chinese ruler, but whether it was a change from a tyrant ruler to a democratic one time alone will tell."

"A change of customs has been brought about," the examinations which have tested the knowledge of Chinese scholars for many centuries have been abolished, and the old system of education has been done away with. China has not enough men of letters to instruct the educational needs of her people, and has to look to the old world to supply these. The custom of foot-binding is going, as all that tends to injustice and cruelty is doomed to go. The manner of dress and the methods of education will be brought into harmony with modern life.

Their Own Land. Referring to Isaiah 49, and particularly to the passage which states that the Jews will return to their own land from all the countries of the world and from Sidon, Dr. Mackenzie said that authorities had not been slow to look after the country of that name could be. Neither had the last word been spoken of China and what that country would become.

Glories in the Past. China, a changeless country, found her glory in the past. She was geographically a country of isolation, and worked out her own destiny, had put together her own peculiar language and had developed her own civilization. She has not yet indicated that she has been proved over and over again that purple flowers do best on the north side of a house, where even deep red flowers will not bloom profusely.

China and the Chinese presented many questions difficult to answer. Among these were the queries as to why the Chinese left their own country and how the original inhabitants of the China that now is came to be driven out of their homes. "China is still waiting for the coming of an interpreter who is kindly and sympathetic, whose cosmopolitanism will enable him to interpret Chinese history to the life of the people as they now exist. They owe the best interpretation of their history and literature not to their own people, but to the scholars of foreign nations."

Schools Where Temples Were. "Along with the change in customs and education there was also being evolved a change in ideals. They who used to live in the glory of their past have at last come to realize that patriotism and filial piety are not confined to China. There is much in China which ought to be destroyed, just as there is much that ought to be preserved. Their temples are now being turned into schools, and the places where formerly they worshipped idols are now the centres of the spread of learning. Their attitude to foreign nations has changed within the last century, and they have at last come to realize that the foreigner has many things which they themselves need to possess, included in which are religion, education and a sense of the value of material things."

China's need was forced home to the students by Dr. Mackenzie, who said that one-quarter of the world's inhabitants were dying as they lived, ignorant that Christ had died for them. The opportunity was open to hundreds and thousands of men and women, and the greatest field in which educators could expend their lives was said to be in China. The problem which was presented to the world by China was said to be stupendous. We had given much to China which was not for her good, and we owed it to her to present the knowledge of Christ. The speaker concluded his message by an appeal to labor where "the harvest truly is plentiful and the laborers are few."

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

Compressed Foods MEN look with fear toward the day when food will be compressed into tablets and drink will be administered in capsule form, when the delights of dining will be only fond memories. Not so with women, for with tablet foods there would be no dishes to wash, cooks to pacify or stoves to clean. Hours of freedom would be left for embroidering, calling and shopping. Whist clubs would flourish, kitchens be abolished and food would be ordered from the druggist; grocers and their troublesome accounts would soon be extinct.

Malted milk and milk tablets have given place to powdered milk/tablespoon of which mixed in cold water makes milk that raises real cream, if we believe all we hear. Another novel tid-bit is egg powder. Of course you cannot have it soft boiled or medium, but it does make a lovely light, fluffy egg mixture and it has been approved by the pure food folks. This is made of whole white of eggs or of either one separately and from it to ready prepared meringue is a short step. This last, however, contains too much gelatine to admit of its being served delicately on a lemon pie or being used in a delicious egg-kiss.

The most practical of all the tablet food articles yet offered is powdered coffee that needs only hot water added to make a royal beverage and tablet tea. This last is cheaper than bulk tea for the little tin boxes contain ten tablets and each tablet makes a cup of strong tea. This sells at twenty-five cents a box while really fine, open tea is one dollar a pound.

BROTHER OF KAISER IS NOW AT BUENOS AYRES Prince and Princess Were Given Cordial Welcome—No Official Receptions. Canadian Press Despatch. BUENOS AYRES, March 29.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the German Emperor, and the Princess Henry of Prussia, arrived here today from Rio Janeiro, on board the steamship Cap Trafalgar. They came ashore this evening. The prince and princess were warmly greeted by the representatives of the various governmental departments, the German minister and the various German societies. The press extends to them also a cordial welcome to the Argentine Republic. The prince's mission is in the nature of a private visit to the South American Republic, and he has expressed a desire that official receptions be dispensed with.

When the Wild Flowers Bloom in the Springtime

By WINIFRED BLACK

(Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

Winifred Black

They're in the windows again—the anemones. The prettiest things in the world, almost aren't they? With their little fur jackets on, like pretty Canadian girls out for a toboggan—all in blue and purple and pink and rose. Such a shimmer of soft coloring!

They grow them in the conservatories, of course, but somehow even so grown they look like spring, don't they? Don't you remember them, the old-fashioned anemones?

They came about a week or ten days after the Spring Beauties; some people called 'em Painted Ladies; but we always called them Spring Beauties. They always sprang up in the night down in a certain little hole.

When Wild Flowers Bloomed.

And in the morning the Barnard girls came to school with their hands full of Spring Beauties, pink and white and striped and delicate and frail—so pretty and so short-lived as the little girl of all who picked them, as if she had died on before to send them after her.

Let's see, did the May Apples come before or after the Spring Beauties? After, I think it was that they raised their little green umbrellas all along the roadside, and then, ah, then, the anemones and the hepatics and the blood-root. How white the flowers of the blood-root were, gleaming there in the green of the moss; and then the violets, blue and pied and yellow, just a few of them. Then the boys and girls, and then the wood sorrel—did you always pretend to like the taste of that and really hate it, and have to swallow it fast to keep from making faces when it was sour in your mouth?

And the shooting stars and then the Dutchman's breeches and the honey-suckle—ah—when did the blue flags come and the wild blue and white morning glories, and oh, and oh, the wild, wild rose—and the wild cucumber vine—how it foamed into lacy beauty over every old stump in fields and at the edge of the forest!

But of all the flowers that grew and gave us of their fragrant beauty—for me, the anemone, the little, wild, shy anemone, hiding always in the moss at the foot of some stalwart tree; pink they were with the soft rose of a spring dawn and white as the robes of vestal virgins—and faint blue—and oh, and oh—the perfume of them.

We didn't call them anemones—we called them "wild flowers," and it was years before I ever knew that there was any other kind of blossoms ever called "wild flowers" except the anemones and the hepatics that always grew so close together.

Memories of Other Days.

Alice, tell me this—how did you always manage to keep your shoes so neat and your little skirts so prim even when we went to pick the "wild flowers"?

Julia, what was your secret—how did you always manage to carry your flowers home fresh and blooming, and why was it that Grace and I never could make the posies we picked last unwithered till we got them home?

Do your boys go down in the woods after slippery "slum," Grace—and "wild flowers" as you did, I wonder?

Oh, Alice, sweet Alice, whose eyes were so bright and whose hair was so black—come and ask me to go with you down to Barnard's woods for "wild flowers" this spring, when the frogs begin to croak in the low marsh around the little stream we called the river in those days, long ago.

Dear brother of mine, you who have been gone so long, many years, do they grow "violets" where you are, I wonder, and do you ever pick them and hold them close to your smiling face—and remember?

Hepatics—blood-root—spring beauties—anemones—how you brought them all back to me today—your proud beauties there in the florist's window.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I have been your friends galore, but have not yet picked out a steady one—one who is likely to be my future husband.

Now a boy I like very much and who says he could love me has a steady girl. Now, should I really be WINSOME with him?

WELL, Winsome, you're in trouble, aren't you—deep, dark, terrible trouble? I don't see how you can sleep nights thinking about it.

I couldn't, I'm sure. Now let's talk about it.

Beaux—why, of course you ought to have beaux. Every girl ought to have beaux, a whole string of them, the more the merrier—and the less dangerous.

What do you want with a man who would break another girl's heart?

Don't you realize that he'll treat you just exactly as he has treated her? A man who flirts with one girl will flirt with another. It isn't the girl he cares about, it's himself. Can't you get that into your consciousness?

Let the chap with the other sweet-heart go, and if he doesn't go of his own accord you send him about his business and let some other girl break her heart over him, if she's goose enough to do it.

You will meet Mr. Right some day, and then there'll be no problem at all.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her care this office.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

MANY a housekeeper who has priceless rugs and bric-a-brac has a sadly impoverished kitchen when the tools of her trade are considered.

There is no excuse for this condition, for the shops are full of overworking with work-lighteners.

Brushes, for example, are needed all most every hour of the day, and yet too many housewives have only one poor old ragged whisk broom and a dilapidated old handled brush for their stairs. And there seems to be a panic started in the minds of many housekeepers when they have to buy a new broom.

There should always be at least two good brooms in every house. One, the lighter, is to be used for the kitchen and similar rooms, and the other kept for the heavy work and the rugs of the various upstairs rooms.

Then there is need for a soft brush with a long handle to remove the dust from the polished floors. This should have long, pliable bristles, and such brushes may be obtained in various grades and sizes. It pays to buy a good grade, for with care it will last a long time.

For the corners and stairs one brush may be made to do. It should be of shorter and stiffer bristles, so as to hold the dust. A little broom, such as children use, will be found most useful in every house. There are several styles of brushes that come expressly for brushing the dust out of upholstered furniture. Another brush, a medium which may be used, should be kept for the draperies.

Besides the brush for the polished floors, there is need for a mop. There are some excellent ones offered at reasonable prices. They are of varying sizes and shapes, and are intended to polish as well as wipe up the dust. They all have padded sides so the wood-speaking of paper, most expert housewives declare a preference for a sort, long-handled brush to use on the side walls, instead of wiping them with a cloth. If one does not wish to buy a brush expressly for the purpose, a generous square of canton flannel or cheesecloth, must be kept perfectly clean, fastened over the broom and drawn lightly down the side walls.

For the housekeeper who does not feel that she can afford to purchase a mop, a good idea is to buy a mop made by stitching stockings together to sufficient thickness and fastening them to a padded piece of wood nailed to the end of a broomstick. This solves the problem of what to do with worn hose.

An old whisk broom is useful to clean out the oven and to brush out the corners of a gas range.

PYGMALION

By Michelson

YOU remember the story of the sculptor Pygmalion, who, after finishing a perfectly lovely statue, fell in love with it and was amazed and thrilled to see it come to life.

Well, the modern Pygmalion, with yards and yards of filmy stuff, bends his artistic energies to creating the most wonderful "creations" called clothes. He drapes and fuses over wax figures and over living figures. And he FORGETS sometimes which is which, or that a real living, thinking woman is actually to wear the things.

Then comes the time when the tailor man, "ze artees" of clothes, the wizard of gowns, and frocks, and ruffles, and fringes, and panniers, and new bustles sees this triumph move off into an astonished and delighted world—for somehow the world manages to be delighted with this man's funny dreams when some woman makes them come true!

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Beauty as a Bait.

I SUPPOSE most suburbanites know what tag day is. It was an excellent notion, I thought, before some benevolent and over-enthusiastic woman began to inject into it unnecessary ramifications.

But out of work or paper money, the case of the tag donation depends somewhat upon the badinage of the smile with which it is requested.

This year Mary decided to scurry about on tag day for charity's sake. I watched her dress in her trim white linen gown with some misgivings. I'm a little conservative about turning girls loose in the public streets to beg for money no matter what the cause. A distracting little nurse-cap crowned Mary's lovely hair and I fancied the little wife looked piously interested in charity. In reality I'm afraid she liked the excitement of chasing about and having people smile down into that pretty flushed face of hers.

"And this year, Peter," she exclaimed joyously, "they have still another wonderful scheme to make even more money. Last year, you know, they kept it strictly within the limits of the town, but this year, as I said, they've made different arrangements. The girls are going to board all the trolleys and trains and ask everybody on them to contribute whether he belongs here or not."

flushed and sparkling face with some misgiving. Why not use boys to collect this hospital fund?

So Mary went forth upon her tag day mission and it was twilight before I saw her again.

"Well, said I pleasantly, "how did you make out?"

"Pretty well," said Mary, in a very small voice.

"Did you keep to the avenue?" I asked. That had been Mary's province in the morning.

"No," said Mary, greatly fussed. "No, Peter—I didn't. I wish I had. They asked me to get on the train and ride back and forth—and ask the commuters to contribute—and—and oh, Peter!"—Mary flushed and began to cry—"some of the men were so horrid—they said disgusting things—and—and one man kissed me!"

What rotten some men are! There is absolutely nothing to be said for the man who will insult a girl soliciting contributions for a hospital—yet I know full well that pretty air of coquetry with which Mary had begged donations in the morning. In our town where every one knew her—it was all right—sorts to misunderstand—I ground my teeth and swore. Women have no sense of proportion. Why should they seek to force outsiders to contribute to their hospital at the expense of unspeakable insults?

Was it William Locke who said that Sex was Nature's fundamental error? We're a queer world, I'm wondering if those women deliberately used Mary's

Beauty as a Bait.

When the hospital needs money—or, let us say, once a year, for the hospital always needs money—tag day is announced. This means that upon the fatal day in question one may purchase a badge of immunity from further annoyance by the payment of any sum he deems consistent with his means or lack of them.

Usually the town takes on a gala appearance. There are autos dashing busily about with fluttering flags and the streets are patrolled from morning to night by young girls in white gowns and nurse-caps who are bold or shy, appealing ing or not according to their respective temperaments or the taste of the beholders. They carry boxes of tags and waylay every individual who looks as if he had a stray penny in his jeans. I may be cynical, but I've noticed that the pleader makes considerable difference. The pretty girl gets lots more money than the ugly one and the size of the tag donation depends somewhat upon the badinage of the smile with which it is requested.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Sciatica Now Relieved By Electric Treatment

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

HAVE you ever ham-stringed a frog? Frogs are even more dependent upon their calves and hamstring muscles than you are. When a frog is hungry it does not sing like a Caruso. He bends his knees like a bow-legged floor-walker. Then he springs up and away he goes. You are just like a frog, as far as your anatomy is concerned. You have these same hamstring muscles and that same sort of a thick white cord buried deeply in the flesh of the back of your lower limbs.

When you have anything pressing inside of your abdomen or pelvis against a web of nervous tissue, it often irritates the biggest of these white bundles. These white bundles are to the white cord in your legs as the Adirondack mountain streams are to the big Hudson river.

If you dry up all of the little tributary streams, you make the river look sickly and low. If you hurt or interfere with the "lumbar plexus," as the bunch of white nerve fable in your back is called, then you injure the sciatic nerve, as the white hamstring which goes down the legs is called.

Slight Irritations Dangerous. Sometimes a little irritation, which is only of a day or an hour's duration, may cause a "hink" in your legs, a limp, or a momentary sort of pain, which passes away no matter what you take.

Often, however, these troubles inside, especially in women, injure the source of the sciatic nerve enough to cause an agonizing soreness, which lasts days and days and even months and months.

This is sciatica. It is a demoralizing malady, difficult to control or to alleviate. The pain is fearful and keeps the victim sleepless for many, many nights.

In the past doctors have given herbs, applied hot iron, jammed tappings into the nerve, blistered the poor skin, massaged the leg, used an alternating electric current and used all of the drugs in the Pharmacopoeia.

But to no avail! Sciatica, like the smallpox, must run its course, with a few methods of temporary relief such as mustard plasters, occasional doses of dangerous coal-tar drugs and the internal stamina derived from prayer or stoicism.

Relief is, however, now at hand. Dr. John J. Grace, fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, chief assistant in the X-ray department, St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, and an investigator of distinction, has just offered his results upon the treatment of a series of victims, men and women, who suffered with sciatica many months.

New Treatment Success. After observing the increase of sciatica in recent years and, finding that all internal treatment was most disappointing, he used "static" or friction machine made electricity together with a powerful 500-candle-power lamp as a cure for the disorder.

Dr. Grace advises that the victim of sciatica continue his work. He must not go to bed, but visit the X-ray department of a hospital or dispensary. There the tender parts of the ham-

S. F. O.—How can I blacken a puff or switch? Sulphur and castor oil with crude oil will do this.

E. R. H., Brantford, Ont.—We hope to be blessed with a child next month. Since you are opposed to all substitutes for mother's milk, how can Mrs. H.—be assured of plentiful nourishment for the new life that is to come? She must have plenty of exercise, take lots of milk, cream, sweets, gravies, oils, butter, fats, fruits, vegetables, water and laxative foods. Meat once a day is an abundance. Beware of too many purgatives.

Exercise, rest and sleep and absolutely no worry, nervousness or irritation are necessary. Avoid salts and all severe laxatives. Castor oil is all right. She must drink lots of fluid, especially milk.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

"Hi look, look!" exclaimed Jack Rabbit one morning, as he peered out of the window. "It's snowing and we can make a snow man."

"It's too cold out there for me," answered Billy. "I don't want to go to school and I don't want to go outside. Let's stay in doors and tell each other stories."

They spoke to their mother and she told them to stay at home and tell stories if they wanted to.

Soon there was a knocking at the door and Sammy Squirrel came in. "How in the world did you get over here on a day like this?" asked Mrs. Rabbit.

"I am light and I skip over the snow," said Sammy.

"Well," answered Mrs. Rabbit, "come right in and keep my boys company, for they are going to stay at home."

Jack, Billy and Sammy were soon curled up on the window seat and Jack began telling a story.

"We will take turns," he said. "First I will tell a story and then Sammy and Billy may tell the last." Then Jack told this story:

"Once upon a time, a long while ago, there was no moon, only the sun and stars. At night time it was very dark and the stars felt lonesome. They wanted something to make it light, so they went to the North Wind and said: 'Want you arrange to have the sunshine during the night as well as the day?'"

"No," said the North Wind, "but I will ask the King of the North what to do."

"Well, the King of the North was very tired of being where it was so cold, so he agreed to fly up in the sky, all covered with ice and snow.

"Now," he said, "the sun will shine on me from the other side of the world and I will shine at night."

"The King of the North became the Man-in-the-Moon and you can see him any night."

Worth Holding. To hold her hand! Oh, blissful thought! It is a delight that I long have sought. She sits by my side. At her hand I glance And wonder if ever I'll have the chance To hold her hand. She plays the hand like a farmer's son. And she wins not a tenth what she should. To such hands I've drawn but I've never caught. Which is why the wish to my mind is brought. To hold her hand. W. BOB HOLLAND.

Should Be Prepared. "The waves," said the traveller who was telling of a shipwreck, "were mountain high." "Now that proves my contention," interrupted Wheeler. "I insist that most tourist ride machines geared too high. When they strike a mountain they have to dismount."

The Toronto World

FOUNDED 1880. A morning newspaper published every day in the year by The World Newspaper Company of Toronto, Limited; H. J. Maclean, Managing Director.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 30

THE IRISH ISSUE. We had the temerity on last Saturday week to comment on the charge made by The Telegram of "the misrepresentation of Irish Nationalists and the support of Irish Unionists that riots in the organ of Donlands Democracy."

"No complaint of misrepresentation has reached The World from any Irish Unionist, and if the Irish Nationalist has been accorded a little fairer treatment in The World than he gets in the Telegram we have yet to learn that the Irish Nationalist object to fair play."

"The whole trouble in Ireland arises from the action of brawlers like The Telegram editor, who are not concerned in the least about fair play, but only want their own side to win, right or wrong. The Irish question is an exceedingly complicated question, and there are rights and wrongs on both sides. But these rights and wrongs are never going to be settled by warfare or bloodshed of any description, such as The Telegram editor thrives for gore. If the English political element had not been mixed up with the Irish question a settlement would have been much more readily arrived at. This is the point which The World has enunciated several times and considers important. The Telegram regards this as 'a sort of misrepresentation.' We are heart and soul with the recent resolution passed by the Orange body, which pledged itself to see that Ireland was not separated from the empire. Does The Telegram want us to do more than that? Was it not Dr. Kane, the Ulsterman, who threatened to kick Queen Victoria's crown into the Boyne if the Irish Church were disestablished? People of hot blood and excitable temperament like the editor of The Telegram are apt to say picturesque things like that, and while the editor of The Telegram may not be a typical Ulsterman he undoubtedly gives expression to the kind of things he thinks Ulstermen would say. The real Ulsterman is not so glib as his actual sentiments."

In response to this The Telegram has spent columns in abusing The World—'for doing what? For slandering Dr. Kane. Not a word about the meddling brawlers who have tried to disturb rather than arrive at a settlement of the Irish situation. Not a word about the fair play for both sides which both sides we believe, deem essential. Not a word about our recognition of the right of Ulster to equal footing in the empire. The Telegram never does face an issue. Its method is to go behind a hedge and shoot, or go up a dark lane and slug, or send emissaries into the byways to plot. If we slandered Dr. Kane it was in using his name in connection with The Telegram and its 'hot blood and excitable temperament.' 'Did you ever hear Dr. Kane speak?' The World asked an Orange man this week. 'Many's the time.' Would he describe him as excitable? 'Well,' was the characteristic reply, 'he was enthusiastic.' We all know Dr. Kane. His 'wild speeches' are referred to in such a moderate account as one finds in Cassell's Illustrated History of England, volume 3, page 472. Dr. Kane was a notable man in his time and whatever The Telegram may think, the statement, 'mistaken or misrepresented,' as The Telegram's latest version states, which we print elsewhere, 'by friend and foe alike,' it is to Dr. Kane more generally than to anyone else that the 'kicking the crown' speech is attributed. We have followed up all The Telegram versions and analyzed The Telegram contradictions and inconsistencies. This, The Telegram, as usual evading the main point, is pleased to call 'wringing and squinting.' There is no need to subject ourselves to those painful processes. We shall merely quote the summary of Rev. John Flanagan's speech, as now reported by The Telegram's St. Catharines correspondent:

During the course of his speech he said James the II. had violated his coronation oath and his crown had been 'kicked into the Boyne,' but he felt sure that her gracious majesty would not sign the bill. The spirit of the remark is very evident, and the popular instinct was quite correct in assuming that if Queen Victoria violated her coronation oath, her crown would have similar treatment. The Telegram declares we slander the dead and do other fearful indignities in placing this perfectly natural interpretation on the whole incident. If King George violates his coronation oath it will be the same for him. This is the meaning of the Ulster covenant. The Telegram may shriek and howl as it pleases, but this cold fact underlies the gravity, the extreme gravity, of the whole situation in England today. The World was almost the first paper in Canada, in 1912, to point out the seriousness of the drilling movement in Ulster, and the determination of Ulstermen not to yield a point beyond what was subsequently embodied in the 'Ulster covenant.' The spirit of that covenant is the spirit that kicked King James' crown into the Boyne. BUT, as The Telegram would have it, Ulstermen feel sure King George will not sign the bill.

That is the whole question. King George must abide by his parliament. At present it appears that there is an understanding that the home rule bill, the Welsh disestablishment bill, and the plurality voting bill, will first be passed, and then a general election will be called. If the Liberal government should again be returned the situation will in no way be changed for Ulster. If, on the other hand, the Conservative party should come to power, it would be either too weak without the Irish Nationalist vote, or else independent of that vote. In the former case home rule would become law after a compromise on the customs and postoffice clauses. In the latter case, the home rule bill would be repealed and the Irish parliamentary agitation would begin all over again. The British electorate is not ignorant of these contingencies, and the recent army incidents tend to consolidate the supporters of the present government.

TO DELAY THE VOTE. We do not suppose that anyone, and least of all Mr. Gooderham, will deny that his bill to prevent Toronto voting on money bylaws at any time but on Jan. 1 is for any other purpose than to prevent a vote on the street railway purchase question before next New Year's Day. The Telegram openly acknowledges this point, and regards the bill as intended 'to save Toronto from the experience of being debauched with a by-election on the Mackenzie offer, as doubtful constituencies have been debauched at by-elections on federal or provincial issues.' It immediately cancels its own point by declaring that Toronto is not a doubtful constituency on the purchase question. If it is not doubtful, the pretext of wholesale bribery, corruption and peroration at a vote on a purchase bylaw is simply absurd. It is all the more absurd when it is remembered that it is a taxpayers' vote, and not a vote of electors, that is to be taken. Property-owners are not going to be bribed one way or another to vote against their property interests. If any attempt at peroration were made, it could be much more easily detected at a special vote on a day set apart for the purpose than during the turmoil of a general civic election. All that is needed is to guard the polls. Friends of purchase do not need any illicit assistance to pass the bylaw. The isolated interests that seek to defeat it are much less likely to desire the publicity of a special vote than the comparative obscurity of a New Year's Day election.

The bill, then, is merely intended to delay the vote on the question of street railway purchase, and should so be regarded by the legislature. If Toronto wants to vote on any question, there is no reason why the city's business should be delayed for months to please The Telegram.

ST. FRANCIS GRADUATE SLAIN IN NEW YORK

Arthur Slevin Whose Body Was Found, Was Educated in Montreal.

Canadian Press Despatch. NEW YORK, March 29.—Arthur J. Slevin, said to be a graduate of St. Francis College, Montreal, was found murdered in the cellar of a Sixth avenue saloon, where he was employed, today. He had been choked to death with a belt, and his skull cleft with an axe. The pockets of the clothes were inside out, but the police said that as Slevin was without money they did not believe robbery was the motive for the crime. An employe of the saloon is being sought for.

Slevin, 25 years old and formerly a salesman for a Chicago packing house, was said to be the son of the owner of a chain of barber shops in Boston. Letters and postal cards from a young woman living up state were found in Slevin's pockets.

Women will find more news of interest to them in The World's magazine page every morning than in any other paper.

DR. KANE, MR. FLANAGAN AND THE TELEGRAM. Still another version of the 'crown-kicking' incident has been published by The Telegram, from the pen of a St. Catharines correspondent, who signs himself 'The Crown-kicking Reporter.' We would be pleased to publish this gentleman's name and address. The letter is as follows: To the Editor of The Telegram: Sir,—A former acquaintance of mine, in your city, has sent me clippings on some matters in your paper. It is not my business to enter, it so happens, however, that I am the only living person directly, or indirectly, connected with the famous 'Crown-kicking' incident, certainly, the only one, that can speak with authority on the subject. The facts are simple enough, but I greatly doubt if you can find anywhere an incident that has been subject to such an amount of geographical and biographical twisting. Years ago, I made a correction in The Dublin Daily Express, when that paper was in existence, and in every possible way sought to place the facts in their correct light. This expression was supposed to have been made at a great Orange meeting in the Botanic Gardens, Belfast. It was next heard of in Armagh, where a Mr. Peck who was present at the Armagh meeting, promptly contradicted it. Friend and foe alike have mistaken or misrepresented the facts, so that the Rev. John Flanagan lived I had no responsibility in the matter; but upon his death, I felt it my duty to state the facts accurately, so that future historians might avoid the absurd mistakes into which so many contemporary historians, with less excuse, have fallen. The facts, as I have said, are simple enough.

During the Church Disestablishment agitation, it formed the main topic of discussion and speech-making in the early part of 1888 or '89 there was an Orange soiree held in the village of Newbliss. It was composed mainly of young people, and probably at this time, there were not 60 present. It is safe to say that there wasn't anyone present having any serious intention of interfering with the speaker, or of doing anything to disturb the speaker. As these soirees were simply local social events, they attracted but little attention, and had it not been for the disestablishment agitation, the one would have passed off without attracting attention, like hundreds of others which are held all over Ulster. The Rev. John Flanagan, a crown-kicker of the parish, and on the occasion he was present as a matter of duty, and the subject of his speech was the fate of the Irish Church in Mr. Gladstone's Down and Ulster Bill. Gladstone, holding the Disestablishment bill in his hand, had been burnt in effigy, and it goes without saying that the atmosphere was full of inflammatory matter. Mr. Flanagan was probably one of the best platform speakers in Ireland, and a very distinguished graduate of Trinity College, Dublin.

During the course of his speech he said James II. had violated his coronation oath and his crown had been 'kicked into the Boyne,' but he felt sure that her gracious majesty would not sign the bill. The substance of his speech, I was then connected with a new press organization, the Central News, and I took a shorthand report of his speech and sent manifolds of it to Dublin and Belfast. The Freeman's Journal dealt with the speech editorially, and was responsible for giving prominence to the version that Mr. Flanagan had said that they would 'kick the Queen's crown into the Boyne.' The London Times called Mr. Flanagan a 'clever firebrand' and refused insertion of his letter contradicting the interpretation that had been put on his speech. McCarthy Downing, an English journalist, was then member for Cork and he brought the matter up in the house of commons, and the Irish attorney-general was unable to say if the reverend gentleman had been correctly reported, and for many days I lived in expectation of hearing from him, but the matter appeared to have been forgotten in some way, except in the press, and ever since it has been a fruitful topic for reference.

In a personal conversation afterwards with the Rev. Mr. Flanagan, he complained that only the disjecta membra of his address had been given, and that his reference to the kicking of the crown of James II. into the Boyne would have been seriously modified if a more extended report of his speech. There was of course nothing to justify giving a verbatim report, as I pointed out and I explained my own expressions on the speech. Mr. Flanagan wrote a letter to her majesty the queen, strongly repudiating every sentiment of disloyalty. Mr. Flanagan also published a letter on the same lines in The Belfast News-Letter. So the matter ended. But of all the literature of the disestablishment agitation, the crown kicking incident alone remains and appears fresh in every decade; and as for Dr. Kane, he had just as much to do with it as the man in the moon. I had only the pleasure of meeting Dr. Kane once, and that was in his own church in Belfast in 1895. I now give you an accurate statement of the circumstances connected with the crown kicking incident. Of the two or three score persons present at that memorable soiree except myself there probably not one of them living today. Many of them that I had the pleasure of knowing have long since joined the majority, and I have no right to have my name linger on the stage, but like others, I must remain in camp until the bugle sounds 'Lights Out.' The Crown Kicking Reporter. St. Catharines, March 28, 1914.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., March 29.—The commercial feature is not sufficiently prominent or continuous to support any considerable number of smaller streams, quantities of which are taken by the farmers in the winter days of exploiting the schools of smelts which seek yearly the waters in the river. Many of these make money at fishing, and one of them recently received a cheque for $400 for smelts from a Charlottetown fish dealer, for fish he had caught during the season in the west river that runs by his farm. Besides the rivers that converge in Charlottetown harbor, smelts also are to be found at the east end of the Murray, in the Montague, Cardigan and Island rivers; on the north in the Mousell, and on the south in the rivers, Richmond and Cascumpee bays, and on the south in the Dunk and Wilnot rivers, Bedouque and Edmonde bays, and many other large and smaller streams, quantities of these excellent fish are taken every year, affording a profitable side line to many who would otherwise be idle during the winter months. The quantity of smelts taken this year was considerably greater than in former years, altho the season commenced later than usual on account of the mildness of the early winter.

TRIED TO KILL ZELAYA BUT SHOT WENT WIDE Former President of Nicaragua Escaped From Would-Be Avenger. Canadian Press Despatch. MADRID, March 29.—A despatch received here from Barcelona says that an attempt was made today to assassinate Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, at Casa Torres, where Zelaya resides. A man who said his name was Rosas, and who declared that he was a Nicaraguan, entered the residence of Zelaya, drew a revolver and fired at the astonished ex-president. Zelaya was not hit by the bullet. Rosas was immediately overpowered and arrested. Replying to questions put to him by the police Rosas said Zelaya when president of Nicaragua was responsible for the death of his uncle, and that he has been pursuing him ever since in order to avenge his dead kinsman. RAILROAD TRAVEL MADE DANGEROUS Laying Off of Men Causes Protest From Head of Employees' Organization.

Canadian Press Despatch. ALTOONA, Pa., March 29.—Because of the action of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in laying off many shopmen and trainmen here and in other points in Pennsylvania, W. H. Pierce, president of the Brotherhood of Federated Railway Employees, announced tonight that he will bring the matter to the attention of the interstate commerce commission for investigation. Pierce declared that the removal of so many car inspectors and the retention of inexperienced employees is jeopardizing the safety of the public. In a statement Mr. Pierce says that all the brotherhoods controlling train movements will join with his organization in bringing the situation before the interstate commerce commission.

KATHLEEN MACDONELL AND CLAIRE COSTE AT THE ALEXANDRA

MARCELINE MONTAGUE AT THE STAR

ETHEL BARRYMORE AND E. HENRY EDWARDS AT THE PRINCESS

Ethel Barrymore in Tante
TONIGHT at the Princess Theatre, Ethel Barrymore will commence her week's engagement in "Tante," the play made by C. Haddon Chambers from the widely-read novel by Mrs. Anne Douglas Sedgwick, and in which Miss Barrymore has been appearing for the past three months at the Empire Theatre, New York. In this role Ethel Barrymore has achieved nothing less than a triumph, and with it she places herself at once, emphatically and deservedly, in the front rank of those American actresses whose efforts are to be taken seriously, and on whose work depends the future of dramatic art in the American theatre.

WINIFRED FRANCIS AT THE GAYETY

Bought and Paid For
W. M. A. Brady, Limited, will offer George Broadhurst's master drama, "Bought and Paid For," at the Alexandra Theatre for the week beginning this evening, with popular matinees on Thursday and Saturday. "Bought and Paid For" is a play of a husband and wife. It is fashioned for an American audience. Its characters are flesh and blood types. It is especially attractive to women. Nothing so frank, so realistic, has ever been staged, likewise, nothing so artistic and perfect in the way of a performance. The role of Robert Stafford is masterfully handled by Frank Mills, and that of Virginia Blaine is in the charming hands of Kathleen Macdonell. The humor of the play is supplied by Jimmy Gilroy, the "young man of small salary, but great ideas." Grace Von Atker is the Fanny Blaine; Allan Atwell the Japanese servant, and Claire Coste the French maid.

Shea's Good Bill
COMMENCING this afternoon Manager Shea promises his patrons one of the best vaudeville bills of many weeks. Sharing the honors are Bert Clark and Mabel Hamilton and Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne. Clark and Hamilton are English musical-comedy artists, and their offering, "A Wayward Concert," has a list of dialog introducing a number of original songs with special costuming and scenic changes. Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne are well-known vaudeville artists. They are appearing on this visit in Mr. Cressy's latest and best one-act play "The Man Who Remembered." The special attractions for this week are Ben Ryan and Harriette Lee in the comedy skit "You've Spoiled It," and Chief Caulophon, the Araucano Indian, who is creating a furore on the vaudeville stage. Other special features included in this week's bill are the Barber Girls, Hopkins and Axtell, Three Showy Boys, Carries Thompson and the Kinetograph.

VIOLA DUVAL AT LOEW'S

Broadway Belles
THE Broadway Belles and their great big company of comedians, singers and dancers will appear at the Star this week in two very funny burlesques. All the scenery used in the production is carried by the company, and many new and original mechanical and electric effects of a novel nature will be introduced. The wardrobe worn by the lady members of the company is said to be the most elaborate seen this season and was designed by a well-known creator of fashions of one of the famous escalinements, whose ideas are copied all over the world.

Clara Butt, world's greatest contralto, at Massey Hall on Friday night.

Butt-Rumford Program
MRS. CLARA BUTT, the celebrated English contralto, and Mr. Kennerley Rumford, baritone, assisted by Mr. William Murdoch, solo pianist, and Mr. Harold Craxton, accompanist, will receive one of the biggest welcomes of the season when they appear at Massey Hall on Friday night. Mrs. Butt and her associates, since last appearing in Toronto, have traversed both the United States and Australia on tour, and this season they are back again in America, attracting even larger audiences than they did last winter. The party comes to Toronto in the private car "Washington," and arrives on Thursday. The program for Friday night follows: Piano solo—Prelude..... Frank Williams Murdoch. "Wie bist du meine Konigin"..... Brahms. "Ständchen"..... Brahms. "Mädchen mit dem rothen Mundchen"..... Franz Barbieri de Siviglia..... Rossini. "O Don Fatale"..... Verdi. "L'Angelus"..... The Quaker Girl
LOVERS of clean, wholesome musical comedy will have another opportunity of seeing their favorite production, "The Quaker Girl," when it returns to the Princess Theatre next week. This will be the third engagement of the production in Toronto, and, judging from the interest already manifested this engagement, will be fully as successful as its former ones. There has been no change in the cast since it was seen here earlier in the season. Victor Morley, Dixie Girard, Connie Mack, William Blaisdell, Bernice McCabe, Phil J. Moore, Mlle. Andree Corning, Murray Stephen, Charlotte Manning, Harry St. Clair and Margaret Comand, and all the old favorites will be seen in their same roles. The chorus and ballet remains the same in each individual case. A special feature of the production is the orchestra, which is also a feature of the performance. In addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees a special holiday matinee will be given on Good Friday.

Forbes-Robertson's Farewell
SIR JOHNSTON FORBES-ROBERTSON, the greatest English-speaking actor, will make his farewell visit to Toronto at the Royal Alexandra Theatre on Monday, April 6, with his wife, Gertrude Elliott, and London company, in repertoire. Forbes-Robertson's engagement will continue for two weeks. Mail orders are now being received, and the sale of seats will open Wednesday morning. The program for the first week of Forbes-Robertson's visit opens with "Hamlet" on Monday night. "The Light That Failed" will be given on Tuesday and Saturday nights, and "Mice and Men" on Wednesday. "Hamlet" will be repeated at the Thursday matinee, and "Passing of the Third Floor Back" Thursday night, while "The Merchant of Venice" will be presented on Friday night and Saturday matinee. The plays to be seen during the second week are: Monday and Tuesday nights, Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra"; Wednesday, "Mice and Men"; Thursday matinee, "Hamlet"; Thursday night and Saturday matinee, "Passing of the Third Floor Back"; and Friday, "The Light That Failed." On Saturday night, April 19, Forbes-Robertson makes his final appearance in Toronto, and for this occasion he has decided to present a mixed bill, comprising acts from some of his most popular plays. At the end of the performance on Saturday night, Forbes-Robertson will make his farewell speech.

Philharmonic Concert
THE greatest interest has been aroused in musical circles by the concert of the Philharmonic Society of New York, to be held in Massey Hall on the evening of April 4. The Philharmonic visits Toronto at the close of its seventy-second and most successful New York season, and the program announced by the society's famous director, Stranisky, is of exceptional charm. Adding to the enjoyment of the evening is the announcement that the assisting soloist at this performance will be Mme. Ottilie Metzger, the beautiful contralto of the Hamburg Opera. Mme. Metzger was first induced to come to America by the Philharmonic just a year ago. So widely enthusiastic was her reception here that she was prevailed upon to cross the ocean again this season, and Toronto is ex-

The Round Up
FOR one week, beginning tonight, Klaw and Erlanger's massive production of "The Round Up," will be presented at the Grand Opera House. This play was first produced in Chicago where it ran an entire summer after which it was taken to the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York for a limited engagement of four months. At the expiration of the time allotted at this famous playhouse, the interest in the extraordinary play continued so keen that it was moved to the Broadway Theatre, where it enjoyed a most prosperous run of three months. Its tense story, astonishing novelty, wonderful realization of western scenes and incident, and the way in which it is done, combine in a marvelous entertainment that holds the attention of the auditors from the opening scene until the final curtain falls. The dramatic incident of twenty mounted Indians riding along a ledge of a cliff in the third act, and the marvellously realistic battle, adds an element of realism to the play which has rarely been equaled in the history of the American stage. There will be an auxiliary organization of over one hundred people, representing soldiers, scouts, cowboys, Mexican vaqueros, Arizona girls and Apache Indians. A feature of the play is made of the Indian fight in the third act, the scene of which is the lava beds of Southwestern Arizona.

Loew's Winter Garden
AN unusually bright comedy offering is announced as the principal feature of the bill at Loew's Winter Garden this week, when Frank Rue, Miss Brochette and company will appear in their popular sketch of home life, entitled "Bottle 6-10-3." As a laugh-maker this present can be said to be among the topnotchers, and both Mr. Rue and Miss Brochette are finished artists as purveyors of good wholesome fun. "Bottle 6-10-3" assures one long laugh from start to finish. Another big number on the program will be the Oliver Arnando Troupe, the attention of which is secured in a startling exhibition of agility that stands without a peer. A third headliner that Mr. Loew has been fortunate in securing is Nell McKinley, billed as "the raving nut comedian," who scored heavily at the American Theatre in New York last week. Mr. McKinley has a style all his own in entertaining his audience and is bound to be popular during his engagement here. A big novelty will be offered by the Frye Twins and Frey, known for years in vaudeville houses as the premier exponents of physical culture. In their act, the Fryes will offer their whirlwind

CORNWALL RECTOR TO ACCEPT OTTAWA CHARGE
Rev. T. J. Stiles Resigns to Accept Incumbency of St. Alban's
Special to The Toronto World.
CORNWALL, March 29.—The announcement was made in Trinity Church this morning that the Rev. T. J. Stiles, who has been rector of that church for the past eight years, has resigned at the request of the archbishop of the diocese to accept the incumbency of St. Alban's Church, Ottawa, to which he has been appointed. He will be succeeded in Trinity parish by Rev. Wm. Netten, at present rector of Pembroke.
The announcement was received with great regret.

CAUSE OF PEACE MAKES ADVANCE

Wilson's Policy in Mexico Evidence of Change in Public Sentiment.

Special to The Toronto World. KINGSTON, March 28.—A foreigner, whose name is unknown, was killed this morning at the plant of the Kingston Floor Walk Tile Company, Kingston Junction, as a result of receiving an electric shock when using an electric lamp in working around an engine.

Dr. A. E. Ross, coroner, called an inquest on Monday night to investigate. The coroner was on the scene shortly afterwards and could find nothing wrong. All the wires were inspected, and everything found to be all right. The victim was a recent arrival, and leaves a widow and daughter. Officials at the plant when asked for particulars of the accident refused to say anything.

A NEW WIRELESS WONDER.

PARIS, March 28.—Communication by wireless telephone between Laeken a suburb of Brussels, and Eiffel Tower, was established tonight, and the voice of a tenor singing at Laeken could be heard. The feat made possible through a new and powerful microphone invented by an Italian engineer.

HOUSE BURNED WHILE FAMILY WERE ALL AT CHURCH.

Residence of Martin McGillis, Cornwall, destroyed on Saturday.

Special to The Toronto World.

CORNWALL, Ont., March 29.—While Martin McGillis and family were attending early service at St. Andrew's Church, St. Andrew's, on Saturday morning their home and contents were destroyed by fire, as well as $150 in money. The cause of the fire is unknown. The property is insured for $1000 in the Western Assurance Company. The loss on house and contents is estimated at $9000.

Random Notes on Mining Matters

A report from the north says: "The startling gold strike made some days ago in Malsonville township, Seckinago and Alex, Young, surveyor, and Sandy McInnes into the region to investigate the report. They returned Friday last highly satisfied with what they saw. A number of prospectors are in the neighborhood staking claims and a few claims in the neighborhood."
