LINDLEY MURRAY,aUTHOR OF "AN ENGLISH GRAMMAR," &c., &c.

QUEBEC:

PRINTED BY WILLIAN NEILSON, NO. 19, MOUNTAIN ITREET.
1841.

INTRODUCTION.

This little volume, in its enlarged and improved form, is intended to prepare the learner for the author's English Spelling-book; and is particularly calculated to assist mothers, in the instruction of their young children.

It is proper to observe, that each appropriate Reading Lesson is an exercise on the section to which it belongs: and that the Reading Lessons, through the book, contain no words, (except a very few derivatives,) that are not in the previous columns of spelling. The child will, therefore, find all his Reading Lessons both easy and pleasant.

Though some of the lessons contained in this work, will be found again in the Spellingbook, they will be studied there a second time, with more interest and advantage, as they are connected with other exercises and information. These first elements of language are of so much importance, that a renewed attention to them, with the judgment improved, will not fail to confirm the learner, and establish a habit of accurate pronunciation.

CHAPTER XI.

Section 1.

BREAKFAST.
The sun shines.
It is time to get up.
Jane, come and dress Charles.
Wash his face and neck, and make him quite clean.

Comb his hair. Tie his frock.
Now, Charles, we will go down stairs.
Fetch that stool. Sit down.
Here is some milk; and here is a piece of bread.

Do not spill the milk,

Hold the spoon in the right hand.
This is the right hand.
The crust is hard. .Do not leave it. Sop it in the milk.

Do not throw the bread on the floor.
We should eat bread and not waste it.
There is a poor fly in the milk.
Take it out. Put it on this dry cloth.
Peor thing! It is not quite dead. It moves and shakes its wings. It wants to dry them.

See how it wipes them with its feet.
Put the fly on the floor, where the sun shines.

Then it will be dry and warm.
Poor fly! I am glad it was not dead.
I hope it will soon be well.

Section 2.

puss.

Where is puss?
There she is.
Do not pull her by the tail-that will hurt her.

Charles does not like to be hurt-and puss does not like to be hurt.

I saw a boy hurt a poor cat. He took hold of her tail: so she put out her sharp claws, and made his hand bleed.

Stroke poor puss.
Give her some milk.
Puss likes milk.
Now that Charles is so kind to her, she will not scratch nor bite him.

She purrs and looks glad.

Section 3.

READING.

Come to me, Charles: come and read.
Here is a new book.
Take care not to tear it.
Good boys do not spoil their books. Speak plain.
Take pains, and try to read weil. Stand still.

Do not read so fast.
Mind the stops.
What stop is that?
It is a full stop.
Charles has read a whole page now.
This is a page. This is a leaf.
A page is one side of a leaf.

Shut the book.
Put it by.
Now, give me a kiss.

Section 4.
RAIN.

Shall we walk?
No-not now. I think it will soon rain.
Look how black the sky is.
Now it rains!
How fast it rains !
Rain comes from the clouds.
The ducks love rain.
Ducks swim and geese swim.
Can Charles swim?

No! Charles is not a duck, nor a goose: so he must take care not to go near the pond, lest he should fall in. I do not know that we could get him out. If we could not, he would die.

When Charles is as big as James he shall learn to swim.

Section 5.

A WALK.

It does not rain now.
The sky is blue.
Let us take a walk in the fields, and see the sheep, and the lambs, and the cows, and trees, and birds.

Call Tray. He shall go with us.

He wags his tail. He is glad to see us and to go with us.

Stroke poor Tray.

Tray likes those who stroke him and feed him, and are kind to him.

Do not walk in the grass now. It is too high and is quite wet.

Walk on this smooth dry path.
There is a worm. Do not tread on it.
Can Charles climb that high stile?
O, what a large field!
This is not green. It is not grass.
No: it is corn. It will be ripe soon.
Bread is made of corn. I dare say Charles does not know how bread is made. We some time I will tell him.

Shall we look at the bees in their glass hive?

Will the bees sting us?
No: they will not sting us, if we do not tease nor hurt them.

Wasps will not sting us, if we do not hurt them.

There is a wasp on my arm.
Now it is gone.
It has not stung me.

Section 6.

DINNER.

The clock strikes.
It is time to go in, and dine.
Is the cloth laid?

Where are the knives, and forks, and plates?
Call Ann.
Are your hands clean?
Sit down.
Do not take the broth yet, it is too hot; thurt wait till it is cool.

Will you have some lamb and some peas?
Do not smack your lips, or make a noise when you eat.

Take some bread. Break the bread; do not bite it.

I do not put the knife in my mouth, for fear I should hurt my lips. Knives are sharp; they are to cut with, and not to put in one's mouth, or to play with.

Jane must shake the cloth out of doors.

The birds will pick up the crumbs.
Now, let us go and play with George.

Section *.

THE POOR BLIND MAN.

There is a poor blind man at the door.
He is quite blind. He does not see the sky, nor the ground, nor the trees, nor men.

He does not see us, though we are so near him.

A boy leads him from door to door.
Poor man!
$O$, it is a sad thing to be blind!
We will give the blind man some bread and cheese.

Now he is gone.
He is a great way off.
Poor blind man!
Come in Charles. Shut the door.
I wish the poor blind man had a warm house to live in, and kind friends to take care of him, and to teach him to work. Then he would not beg from door to door.

Section 8.

THE KIND LITTLE BOY.

" What a good boy George is! we all love him; and he loves us, and does not try to vex and tease his friends, as some boys do; and how he loves Ann! She is a sweet child and he gives her all his toys, when she points at them.

She will speak soon, and then she may tell what she wants.

He sits by her while she sleeps; and takes care not to wake her; and when he hears the maid on the stairs, he steps to tell her, that Ann sleeps, and that she must not make a noise.

When he gets fruit, or cakes, he will not eat, till he has first put some by for his dear Ann: and he buys toys for her at the fair; and he likes to please her more than to have things for his own use.

When she is two or three years old, she will thank him: and she will say: "George the little boy that was lost in his way home.

" When Charles came home, he told his friends where he had been, and what he had done. I met an old man (said he) on the heath, with a bag on his back. He was weak, and the bag was full, and it made him bend and lean on his staff.

I was glad to meet him, for I could help him; if I had not, he would not have got home; he would have been all night on the heath; and it was cold and the snow fell.

When we came to his house, his wife ran out to meet us. She was glad to see him come, for she thought he had lost his way, and could not find his home.

She said I was a good boy for what I had done, and that God would bless me, and that I must (if I would have his love) be kind to the old and weak, who could not work, and were in want of bread.

I had a mind to help them, but I had not much in my purse. I gave them what I could spare, and left them glad.

In my way home, I lost the path on the heath. It was dark; I fell down, and found I was in a pit. The ground was soft, and I was not hurt; but I could not get out; and

But there did come by a poor man, who heard me and took me out. He told me he had been to look for his cow; she had got out of the field, and could not be found. I went with him to seek for her; and when we had found her, he made me go home with him to his house, to dry my clothes.

The house was nice and clean, and there was a good brisk fire; which I was glad to get near to, and so was the poor man. His wife put on more wood, and we were soon dry and warm. They gave me some bread and cheese, and some drink; and I came home gay and well.

My heart was glad; for I had been in time to save the poor old man; and when I was in the pit, I soon had help to get me out. I hope I shall think of it as long as I live."

ass, and pierce his sides to make him go faster.

He carries greens to market, and turnips, and fruit; and sometimes he carries a great load of pans, and mugs, and pots, with which his back is almost broken. He gets nothing for his dinner, but a few thorny thistles, or some plantain, or some coarse grass from off the common. He has no stable to go into, as a horse has; he lies out in the fields, in the snow, and in the rain; but he is content, he does not complain.

The ass gives milk as well as the cow; and the milk is very good for people that are sick, to make them well again.

Some people say that asses are stupid and BS stubborn; but they know their master, and the places where he stops, and the roads which he passes; and when they are treated kindly, they behave well, and are fond of their masters.

Section 2.

THE CHARITABLE Lititle GIRL.

A little girl about four years old, had a great desire to taste a hot muffin. When she heard the muffin man go by her mother's door, crying: "Muffins! Muffins! hot Muffins! Ho !" she asked her mother to give her a penny to buy one.

The mother gave her a penny; and the child ran down stairs, and bought a muffin.

At the door, she saw a very poor woman, who asked her to give her a penny, to get something to eat, for she was very hungry. The child said, she had no pennies of her own, but would go and ask her mother for some.

She ran up stairs, and soon came back, and said to the poor woman, " my mother has no more pennies to give me. But here is a muffin for you; and it is hot too."

The little ${ }^{\text {girl}}$ never told any body that she had given away her muffin. And though she heard the man call muffins! two or three times that night, she did not ask her mother again to buy one for her.

The little birds sing praises to God, when they warble sweetly in the green shadc. I will praise him with my voice; for I may praise him though I am but a child.

A few years ago, I was a little infant, and I could not speak at all: and I did not know the great name of God, for my reason was not come to me. But now I can speak, and I will praise him ; I can think of all his kindness, and my heart shall love him.

Let him call me and I will come to him; let him command, and I will obey him.

When I am older I will praise him better ; and I will never forget God, as long as my life remains in me.

The mother loves her little child; she

But who is the parent of the mother? Who feeds her with good things and watches over her with tender love, and thinks of her always? Whose arms are about her to guard her from harm? and if she is sick, who shall heal her?

God is the parent of the mother; he is the parent of all, for he made all. All the men and all the women, who are alive in the wide world, are his children : he loves all: he is good to all.

The king governs lis people: he has a golden crown upen his head, and the royal sceptre is in his hand: he sits upon a throne, and sends forth his commands; his subjects fear before him; if they do well, he protects them from danger; and if they do evil, he makes them suffer.

But who is the king of the king? who commands him what he must do? whose hand protects him from danger? and if he does evil, who shall punish him?

God is the king of the king! his crown is of rays of light, and his throne is among the stars. He is King of Kings, and Lord of Lords; if he bids us live, we live; and if he bids us die, we die; his power is over all worlds, and he beholds all the works he has made.

God is our Shepherd, therefore we will follow him: God is our Father, therefore we will love him: God is our king, therefore we will obey him."

* 'The proprietors of Mr. Murray's works think it is no small recommendation of them, that the whole of these publications, from " The Fixst Book for Children" to the "Power of Religion on the Mind" may be properly considered, as foming a little code of important elementary instruction. They are stictly subservient to one another ; and most intimately connected. Their pecular and acknowledged excellence is, that, in every part of them, the purest principles of phety and virtue are very happiiy blended with the elements of literaturc. They may, therefore, with perfect confidence, be put into the hands of young persons, as books, which (to use the langnage of a Reviewer respecting them) " will eminently conduce to pure religion and morality, and to the acquisition of a correct and elegant style."
