Special to The Toronto World. Ottawa, Jan. 25.—The appointment of Hon. OLD ELMSELEY HOME SOLD TO COLLEGE

St. Michael's Authorities Purchase the Property for $85,000.

The Elmseley homestead, known as "Barnstable," adjoining Queen's Park on the east and lying between St. Joseph and St. Mary's street, has been sold by the Elmseley estate to St. Michael's College. The piece contains about four acres and was sold for about $85,000. Mrs. Bemy Elmseley, mother of Major-General Elmseley, now occupies the house on the property, which was built within the last 50 years, but the land involved in the sale is part of the original crown grant to Chief Justice Elmseley, great grandfather of Major-General Elmseley. The old Elmseley farm originally extended from College to Bloor and from Yonge westward to the corner of Park, containing 100 acres. The piece involved in the present sale fronts 237 feet on St. Mary street and 635 feet on a lane along the east side. The southern limit is at the head of Elmseley place and the property extends to Queen's Park at the northwest corner. There are 12 leased lots north of St. Joseph street and fronting on both sides of Elmseley place still held by the Elmseley family, which is the last of the Elmseley farm. The owners of the houses on these lots hold 21-year leases.

Most of the site of St. Michael's College was a donation from the Elmseley family, who also built and presented to the community St. Basil's Church. The chief justice in his day also gave away large pieces of his estate for worthy purposes. Speaking to the Sunday World a representative of St. Michael's College said they had no immediate plans for a building on the property, but had merely purchased it to provide for future expansion of the college. The proposed Traulsky street extension will provide an improved entrance to St. Michael's College property. The eastern limit of the college will front on the new thoroughfare. The college will also have entrance to the property just purchased by way of Elmseley place.

A GRATUITY "BIVVY"

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

"The Sweetheart Shop."

"The Sweetheart Shop," which will be shown at the Princess tonight and during the week, is a new musical comedy by Anne Caldwell, who wrote "Chin Chin," "The Lady of the Slipper," "Jack o' Lantern," and other popular and entertaining plays, with music. Dr. Hugo Felix, composer of the score for the new play, has provided, it is said, a tuneful and colorful musical setting for Miss Caldwell's novel and humorous story, and the combination is confidently expected to show most pleasing results. The production is made by Edgar J. MacGregor and William Moore Patch, who have given personal direction to every detail. The story is a farcical one, but has been built upon this idea, and is told in sumptuous surroundings and to the accompaniment of delightful music. The songs and dances, which are a feature of the entertainment, have been composed by Edgar J. MacGregor, Howard Albert Brown, Zella Russell, Robert MacCallan, Harry Harper, Sam Weston, Estelle McNeil, Una Fleming, Irma Irving and Teddy Hudson. The young ladies of the chorus have been chosen by an expert in pulchritude.

"Winnipeg Kiddies" Are Great.

Are they children or lilliputians? Are they kiddies or dwarfs? These are the questions people often ask before they see the Original Winnipeg Kiddies, who are making their first visit to Toronto in the original production. Here is the answer: They are real children—clever, bright, good-looking, witty and possessing of mighty healthy appetites. Each one is the owner of a remarkable personality. Each one is able to entertain an audience which is ably handled by Dan Coleman and Phil Peters, playing the leading roles. Coleman is back again in his well-known Irish role, which has made him famous in burlesque and from which he derives a great deal of fun. He is funny and works mighty hard to please thru the entire performance. Peters is doing a gothic role with tight trousers and odd make-up, and is very good in his part also. William Wainwright, doing the "straight" part, and "The Comedy" is a quick, pleasing manner.

At the Gayety.

Harry Hastings' big show, featuring Dan Coleman at the Gayety Theatre this week, is an offering that more than pleases the public. The book is called the second edition of "After the First of July," and is in two acts and ten scenes. There is plenty of comedy in this show, which is ably handled by Dan Coleman and Phil Peters, playing the leading roles. Coleman is back again in his well-known Irish role, which has made him famous in burlesque and from which he derives a great deal of fun. He is funny and works mighty hard to please thru the entire performance. Peters is doing a gothic role with tight trousers and odd make-up, and is very good in his part also. William Wainwright, doing the "straight" part, and "The Comedy" is a quick, pleasing manner.

J. Pickford at Madison.

Jack Pickford in "Murder By Proxy" will be the attraction at the Madison Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The theme of the story is the joining of hands between a society youth and an underworld yegman as a means of winning a girl's hand.

"Monte Cristo, Jr."

Heralded as the greatest laughing show ever produced by the celebrated New York Winter Garden, "Monte Cristo, Jr.," is as big a hit as "Monte Cristo, Sr." was sent on tour by the Messrs. Shubert, begins its engagement of one week at the Royal Alexandra Theatre tonight with the unqualified endorsement of enthusiastic theatregoers and newspaper critics of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. These three cities are the only ones in which this big success has yet appeared, as its runs in all of them were prolonged far longer than the average large entertainments of its class.

A veritable deluge of girls and entertaining stars contribute to its success. Included in the latter list are such favorites of the stage as Lew Hoad, William and Gordon Dooley, the Watson Sisters, Robert Galloway, George Baldwin, Virginia Francis, John Squires, Katherine Wylie, James Moore, Ethel Gray, Tim Dickey, Roger Little, Arthur Cardinal, Jack Kearns and Edna Altemus. There will be matinees on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"This Week at Shea's."

"Seeley's Synopsized Studio," presenting Blossom Seeley and her own selected company, will headline one of the best vaudeville bills offered this season at the Victoria street theatre. Miss Seeley herself has an international reputation with her own company. Here is the answer: They are real children—clever, bright, good-looking, witty and possessing of mighty healthy appetites. Each one is the owner of a remarkable personality. Each one is able to entertain an audience which is ably handled by Dan Coleman and Phil Peters, playing the leading roles. Coleman is back again in his well-known Irish role, which has made him famous in burlesque and from which he derives a great deal of fun. At the Allen This Week.

"Toby's Bow," starring Tom Moore, will be seen at the Allen Theatre, beginning today. This comedy picture has been adapted from the stage play by John Tainter Poote and ran for five months in New York City. The story shows the folly of resting on laurels won by one clever piece of work. Tom Blake (Tom Moore) has written a very good book and success has followed him, for he becomes indolent and spools his frivolous fads of the Greenwich Village Bohemian set in New York. His friends and publisher become disgusted with his shabby life and refuse to finance him further until he promises to leave the city. He finally consents to rest up on a dilapidated estate in Virginia, and here the hero is given an opportunity to see the struggles of Eugene Vardaman (Doris Fawn), an ambitious, but un-talented author. The man has genius, but is too lazy to work hard, but when his deepest sympathies are touched, his entire life is reconstructed and he and the girl together find a way out of their difficulties. How they do it furnishes the conflict in "Toby's Bow," in which Tom Moore and Doris Fawn have the sterling support of Arthur Housman, Augusta Phillips, Macey Harlam, Nick Cogley, Catherine Wallace, Violet Schram, Ruby LaFayette and George Kuwa.

"The False Code" at Hippodrome.

"The False Code," with Frank Keenan, will be the feature of a good, all-around bill at the Hippodrome this week. It is as big a hit as "Monte Cristo, Jr." in Toronto, and his latest picture is said to be a result of finished character work by clever star of the screen. Keenan is supported by an all-star cast, and the picture should be the drawing-card for the week. It consists of clever bits of comedy, "Around the Map" is a pleasing musical revue, with a company of seven. Redding and Grant, tumbler; Harris and Manion are two fun-makers with reputations for producing laughs. Nora Jane and Yalto, dancers, and Harris and Manion complete the vaudeville number. In addition to the feature picture, several of the latest comedy releases will be shown.

"The Cabaret Girls."

Realization of the fact that, with the war ended, the United States and Canada were prepared to support theatricals as never before. Messrs. Herk, Kelly and Dumst, producers of musical comedy and burlesque attractions, have launched their most marked success in the form of the Cabaret Girls Company, which will open a week's engagement at the Star Theatre today. Such prominent vaudeville, burlesque and musical comedy stars as Dot Barnette, Leona Fox, Bertha Startzman, Earl Sheehan, Ben Holmes, Manny King and Fred Hackett are to be seen at their best in the two-act attraction, entitled "Let's Go." There are six magnificent songs and no end of comedy and music. Ben Holmes is responsible for the book, which was produced in stage version under his personal direction.

At Loew's This Week.

"Crooked Straight," featuring Charles Ray, at Loew's Yonge Street Theatre and Winter Garden this week, depicts the star as an innocent country boy who goes to the city and falls into evil ways, but later his regeneration is complete in a most dramatic way. The vaudeville features embrace Willard, a Queen, in a song and dance revue; Zohn and Dretz, "Just Two Plain Nuts"; Gordon and Delmar, in a pianologue; Hall and Gulda, presenting novelty dances; "The Butters," daring aerialists; Loew's Timely Topics, and "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons, will also be shown.

Dooleys to the Fore.

Finley Peter Dunne, Chicago's master humorist, has confessed that the question most frequently asked him since he introduced "Mr. Dooley" to an appreciative world of readers, is where he got his original of that whimsically delightful philosopher of "Archie Topical." There will be no impulse to press the question on the part of anyone who reads the roster of the Lee and J. J. Shubert Company presenting "Monte Cristo, Jr.," this season. Right up at the front he will find the Dooleys—Francis and William and Gordon. The first-named and Mrs. Dooley (known to stage-famous as Corinne Selsey) are beloved old friends of Toronto playgoers, a number of whom surprised them with a little informal reception on their arrival at the King Edward yesterday. Manager and Mrs. L. S. Muldoon of that hotel being among those of the inner circle of local acquaintances. Dooley and Selsey have several times appeared as headliners at Shea's. They are this season scoring heavily with a more pretentious comedy vehicle on the "legitimate" stage.

Mary Pickford at Regent.

A most capable and well-balanced cast including some of the best established players in the industry supports Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," her greatest production, which is presented at the Regent Theatre this week. The story by Eleanor H. Porter is well-known, and Miss Pickford's great ability to portray a character such as "Pollyanna" insures the fact that this week's entertainment will be one of the most noteworthy of the year at the Regent Theatre. The story deals with the life of a little girl who made it her business to spread the spirit of gladness wherever her pathway led. The deftness with which the story has been handled stamps it as a cinema masterpiece. The famous Regent Orchestra will render appropriate music, and there will be other attractive features.

The Alhambra Theatre.

Bloor and Bathurst, presents today and Tuesday and Wednesday a vivid story of "L'Apache." The plot is so interesting that one dares not let his eyes rove elsewhere. They are attracted to the screen and nowhere else. This is a Paramount-Artcraft picture and has for its star the well-known Dorothy Dalton. In result, "L'Apache" the management has brought to its patrons one of the most alluring dramas of the time. It is with society detective play and well acted. The Alhambra Concert Orchestra will play special music.

Dear Balmesfarer Tonight.

Tonight, in Massey Hall, Capt. Bruce Balmesfarer, the noted cartoonist and humorist, will give his cheery talk, "Old Bill and Me," to a capacity audience. Capt. Balmesfarer will illustrate his remarks with drawings which he will draw upon the stage, and in addition some of his famous drawings will be shown on the screen. Since the war ended, Balmesfarer has given most attention to his cartoons and humorous writings, and those who have heard him speak in England are convinced that his tour here will prove exceedingly popular. Rush seats will be placed on sale at 7.15 this evening.

Shilsky and Gagna.

"Tomorrow's Great," Shilsky, tenor, and Max Gagna, cellist, will be heard in Massey Hall, and an exceptionally fine musical evening is anticipated. Shilsky has been heard in Toronto before and has already been the subject of favorable comment on the part of Toronto's musical critics. He possesses a rare quality of voice that has been noted to resemble that of Caruso's in some respects. There is a mellowness about it that is very pleasing and at the same time it is vibrant and effective in soft or robust passages. The cellist has had a remarkable career and has been recognized in the large musical centres of America. His first won distinction abroad and comes to Toronto with laurels already won. Rush seats will be placed on sale at 7.15.

Irene Castle at the Strand.

Irene Castle is great and growing talents are an emotional actress, revealing the keen brain and fine depth of feeling possessed by this popular favorite world-famous as a dancer and as "the woman who sets the fashions for America." These remarkable talents of hers are strikingly displayed in the beautiful and dramatic new Paramount-Artcraft picture, "The Invisible Bond," in which she appears today and all this week at the Strand Theatre. It deals with the great, vital problems of a woman's love, marriage, and divorce, with an amazing climax following a grim tragedy. The husband's "personal liberty" and a vampire's cunning do their best to break a good woman's heart. Mrs. Castle wears remarkable advance styles in gowns.

"The Royal Vagabond."

Mail orders are now being received for "The Royal Vagabond," Cohan & Harris' greatest musical triumph, which comes to the Princess Theatre the week commencing February 9. It is the biggest musical hit since the days of "The Marriage Witness" and comes here direct from one solid year at the Cohan & Harris Theatre in New York. The large organization with the identical cast of principals who have appeared during the twelve months' run in the metropolis and the same superb production, complete in every detail, precisely as presented in New York, will be seen here complete in every particular.

"Twin Beds."

"Twin Beds," Margaret Mayo's highly amusing comedy, will return to the Princess the week beginning Monday, Feb. 2, with the usual cast. The story is built upon the attempted escape from too much neighborliness made by six people in a fashionable apartment house, who all solemnly meet, in great secrecy, to another, precisely similar apartment house in another part of the town, and then their troubles begin all over again.

Dainty Lois Bolton will again head the special cast, assisted by an exceptional company of farceurs, including E. M. D'Angelo, Virginia Fairfax, Thomas J. Evans, Kathryn Mills and others.

Basil King is probably the outstanding Canadian author of today. He has written a number of books that have ranked among the "best sellers" in Canada and in the States, but probably none has attracted more attention than "The Street Called Straight." This has just been made into a motion picture and will be shown at the Allen Theatre next week. When one remembers the success that was scored by the cinema presentation of "The City Comrades," and with the producers promise that this is a far more interesting offering, one may imagine the treat that is in store. "The Street Called Straight," is described as being an intensely human picture of real people. We are confronted with a man who has robbed his clients and an utterly selfish girl who wishes to marry a wealthy man of the Victoria Cross. We have a man from this side of the water showing a rare self-sacrifice, under the guidance of a wonderful philosopher of life. We are told in the main title that the street called straight will be a picture of the house beautiful, and we are assured that we do find it in this picture.

It is a film without a star, the many actors of note appear. It is being offered by the Allen as an example of the class of pictures to be seen at that theatre in the future.

Lauder's Great Comings.

Every visit of the inimitable Harry Lauder to Toronto is the occasion for introducing a new program of characteristic Scotch songs. Among the comedian's new offerings when he appears at the Royal Alexandra next week, opening Monday evening, Feb. 2, are a number of new songs.

TIME FOR ADOPTING POLICY OF SCIENCE

Prof. McLennan Opposes Spending Money on Obsolete Battleships.

Speaking in the Physics Building Saturday afternoon, Professor J. C. McLennan, of the University of Toronto, declared that it was high time the government of Canada adopted a sound policy of science, instead of spending money on obsolete battleships in an endeavor to build up a Canadian navy.

Prof. McLennan, who, during the war, was in charge of scientific operations in the British admiralty, recently returned to Toronto, where he took up his duties in the University of Toronto as professor of physics. In his address, which was illustrated by lantern slides, the professor dealt almost exclusively with scientific devices developed during the war to combat the submarine, and according to him, if these are applied, then the submarine menace need never be considered serious again. The noted speaker feared that the country had gone back to where it was before the war with regard to scientific research. He said that these things were practically at a standstill and "as a great effort of scientific men the thing was over."

PLUMBERS ASK RAISE.

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Journeymen plumbers here have submitted a demand for an increase from 75 cents to a dollar an hour, to take effect May 1.

ber written for his Australian tour, from which he returns in October, and which he will also utilize in South Africa, where he goes after his present brief season. Despite Lauder's experiences in the world war, which won for him the title of Sir Harry, and the intimate loss he suffered at the hands of thousands of others, was compelled to bear, his sweetest melodies express the joy and sweetness of life. There will be a matinee daily beginning Tuesday.

"Let's Go" Coming.

"Let's Go," a farce comedy with music, with a company headed by the popular operatic star, Gertrude Hutchinson, will be the offering at the Grand Opera House next week. This organization has been receiving flattering criticism in the eastern cities and comes recommended as a delightful entertainment with many catchy song hits and tuneful numbers.

"The Royal Vagabond."

Cohan & Harris will present at the Princess Theatre the week of Feb. 9 their big musical comedy success, "The Royal Vagabond," direct from a run of one solid year in New York, and mail orders for all performances are now being received.

Teraulay Street and the Tube.

It is stated that the continuation of Teraulay street from College to Devonport Road is to be proceeded with at once at a cost estimated with that proposed before the war. A report on the project prepared by the city officials makes no changes in former estimates of cost. We doubt that wages and the cost of material required will be as low as six years ago, but this may depend on when the project is put in hand.

One thing is certain, however, and that is the double cost that will be laid upon the city if the new street is constructed, and then all torn to pieces again for the construction of the underground railway or tube that every year becomes more of a necessity to the city.

There is not the slightest doubt that a tube will have to be constructed before the city is much older. The present congestion is bad for the people, bad for the city, bad for business, bad for real estate, bad for every interest that depends on the growth and prosperity of the city. The matter has heretofore been decided by gentlemen who have ridden in carriages, or more recently in motor cars, and the tastes and convenience of the common people have not been consulted. A man who rides in a motor habitually has no conception of what Toronto people suffer in street cars. What they now suffer is as nothing compared with what they will suffer five years hence without a radical change in the system.

Much is hoped from the transformation of the street car system into a civic enterprise, and something, of course, can be done in giving thru journeys to the suburbs. But after all, any street car line can only accommodate so many cars, and the rate of speed lessens as the number of cars is increased. Passengers have a five-mile radius from King and Yonge streets to the outskirts, east, north and west. Yonge street is the worst, because it is the only northern artery. There are several ways of going east or west, but only one of going north. This is the reason why the first tube must be built north, although eastern and western tubes will follow.

If Teraulay street is to be extended the construction of a tube system north should be coincident with the making of the new street. The saving to both projects would be immense. All the underground services of the street, gas, electricity, sewers, telephones, could be built underground in conjunction with the tube.

If anyone doubts that the tube is required just as certainly as the street, it is only necessary to ask the people who use the street cars and the ordinary means of getting to and from work.

Making Navigation Safe.

Prof. McLennan spoke out on a matter of national importance on Saturday afternoon in discussing the various applications of modern physical science to the marine problems of the war. The astounding success achieved in meeting naval problems by the developments of scientific principles, as the result of work of which was done by young men from the Toronto department of physics and school of science, is as notable in its way as the accomplishments of their brethren in arms on the field of battle. Prof. McLennan had a commanding share in the work done and is entitled to be heard.

His account of the directional methods for locating vessels at a distance or in fog, or submarines, or icebergs, was not only an interesting memory of the war, but a prophecy of the future for marine commerce. He said he was not a politician, but that the older he grew the more inclined he became to speak out. He had heard a great deal about a Canadian navy and how it should be built, but he thought it would be of far greater importance if those in authority realized that they had the men in Canada who could do the work, and set them to making the approach to Canada by sea as safe as it had been demonstrated during the war it could be. He told how the most tortuous passages were threaded by the fleet following a cable carrying an alternating electric current laid at the bottom of a safe channel, the direction being indicated to the commander by an instrument which enabled him to follow the cable as certainly as the trolley car followed its wire. Soundings were now taken by explosions which echoed from the bottom and indicated the depth. Ships could similarly be located by wireless and their position calculated.

Prof. McLennan was plainly of the opinion that by the application of these modern methods the navigation of the St. Lawrence from the Atlantic up wards could be made as safe as a canal. The question is will the government or the marine insurance companies get to it first?

One-Fourteenth of Self-Government.

What answer would a referendum taken throughout Canada give to this question?

"Are you in favor of the development of the mineral resources of Canada, in the public interest, by a board of fourteen governors, on which Canada would be represented by one member?"

There is no opportunity for such a referendum. Canada already has one representative on the board of governors of the Imperial Mineral Resources Bureau, whose president is Earl Curzon, the foreign secretary. Each of five dominions has one governor, India has one, the secretary for the colonies named one, and Earl Curzon chose six for the United Kingdom. The Times, in an interview with Sir Richard Redmayne, chairman of the board of fourteen, says:

The central idea which inspired the formation of the bureau was that while the mineral resources of the empire are sufficient to supply all the raw materials it needs, machinery for co-ordinating and controlling their development was wanting.

The bureau was fathered by the imperial war conference of 1917, and was matured by royal charter in June, 1919. It will be financed by annual contributions of £10,000 by the government in London, and £10,000 by the dominions and India, "for three or four years." The more money spent on the bureau, the more will the business of "co-ordinating and controlling" the mineral resources of Canada be conducted in London, with Canada having one voice in fourteen in decisions. This, apparently, is one of the reasons by which effect will be given to declarations in high places that a more centralized government of the empire is an impracticable dream.

Where does Ontario participate in this co-ordination and control of her mineral resources? Presumably, provincial rights are to be honored by one-ninth of one-fourteenth of the co-ordinating and controlling power resting ultimately in this province. Or has Ontario ceded her right absolutely to control her mineral resources to the Dominion cabinet's nominees on the board of fourteen governors?

Self-government has been subjected to many and various shocks during the last five years. Whether politicians in office will say that the people of Canada would answer "Yes" or "No" to the question of the first paragraph hereof, they surely owe it to the people to announce exactly what they mean by appointing a governor whose duty it is to assist in establishing the co-ordination and control of Canadian mines in London.

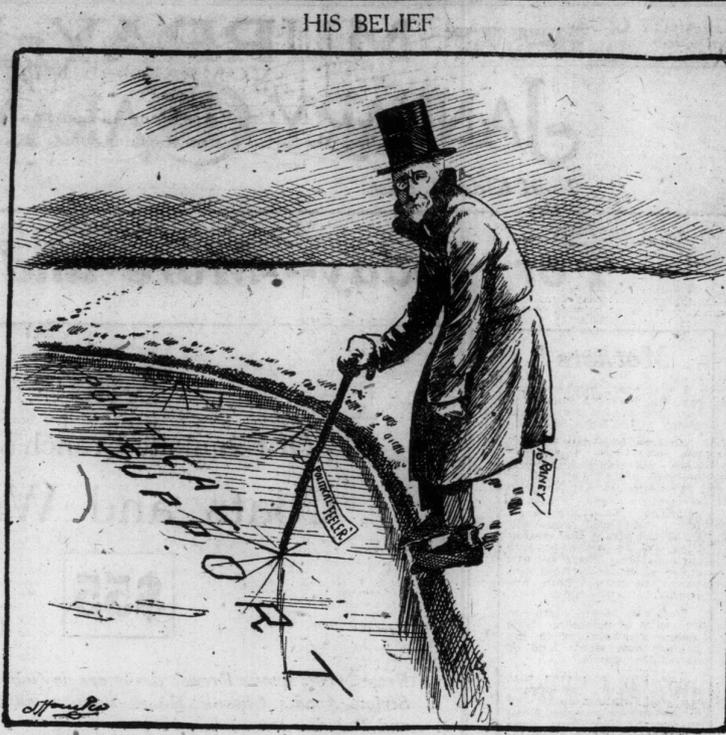

Fundamental For the North.

Howard Ferguson notwithstanding, the Kapuskasing experiment in a northern settlement for soldiers is a wretched fall-down. Col. Carmichael's report to the cabinet can eventuate wisely only in a revision of the clay-belt colonization policy. Immigration has never been scientifically or systematically applied to Canadian land settlement. The lure of unlimited free land, easily cultivated, succeeded in partially populating the prairie country. But even there, the way in which ill-prepared thousands were dumped into the country during many years was often a social scandal and a ghastly economic extravagance. Thirty years ago British people were told that seven hundred and fifty dollars was sufficient to create a prosperous farm. But they were given practically no lead as to how to go about their pioneering. Looking back, those who worried thru can see how a comparatively small amount of practical advice would have enabled them to make their capital and labor yield five times the results they obtained in the first five years.

The conversion of Northern Ontario to agriculture is a far more difficult job than the founding of prosperous communities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, because of the time and labor required to clear the land of bush, and the severe climatic handicap. It is true that a market for pulpwood may ameliorate the settler's hardships. But, in too many cases, it has been scarcely possible to strike a profitable balance between the axe and the plow, and the speed at which land has been brought into cultivation has been pitifully slow.

Two main faults have distinguished governmental handling of the north. They have both arisen from a failure to appreciate fully that the fundamental to permanent prosperity is land settlement—that a truly great state must be rooted in its people's attachment to the soil. Clearing of the forest, instead of being directed so that settlement would advance steadily, prosperously from wide bases, has been left to the rather haphazard choices of individuals. Then there has been no statesmanlike co-ordination of policy as between the needs of settlement and the profits of mineral and pulpwood exploitation. Of this immense fault the prolonged refusal to tax nickel profits furnishes the most salutory illustration.

Discovery of great mineral wealth or a vast unsubdivided territory as big as the German empire, should be specially turned to two public accounts. Thru sound taxation it should yield a revenue to be applied to the immediate expansion of land settlement, and it should contribute adequately to the general revenue of the province, with provision for Dominion service, for which the requirements and risks of the great war furnish the example.

These same policies require the best co-ordination that profound and bold statesmanship can devise. The Drury government has an unexampled opportunity at its hand. Three ministers—of lands and forests, of mines and of agriculture—could compose the most beneficent triumvirate that ever evolved within a Canadian government—if they will, and if they can.

NEW COLONIZATION SCHEME REQUIRED

Carmichael's Kapuskasing Story Means Big Changes In North Country.

An old pioneer, just in from the north, talked in the Walker House to The World on Saturday about agricultural colonization in New Ontario, as affected by Col. Carmichael's gloomy report on the soldiers' settlement at Kapuskasing. Up there $300,000 of public money has been spent since 1917, with the result that the soldiers that whole thing is a fiasco, and some of the settlers are qualifying for entry to lunatic asylums, finding it impossible to succeed in clearing ground of bush and deep deposits of moss, in climate subject to severe summer frosts.

Failure Was Certain.

"Col. Carmichael is telling the truth," said the old pioneer, who has also been engaged in promoting governmental and other colonization, in other provinces besides Ontario. "Anybody with eyes in his head knew Kapuskasing would fail, because politicians can't resist the temptation to make a spurge. There's enough foolishness talked about settlement in this north country to fill a wagon, and more foolishness done by politicians in other provinces. They've got to be warned, but Queen's Park has never before shown inclination to take advantage of them. Col. Carmichael has taken the first step towards a conversion to sanity by telling the truth about a failure. It is the government's business to turn that truth into action.

"And what is the action?" The Sunday World asked.

"The action is to advance settlement like a tank, and not think you can bomb it. There are no soldiers out of the north at aeroplane speed."

"You speak in parables."

"Not Parables But Experience"

"Parables be hanged. I speak from hard experience. You notice Col. Carmichael says that where the Dominion government has cleared a thousand acres, by interned prison labor of course, there are no summer frosts, but in the little clearing of the soldier farmers they have had frost every month in the year. If you've ever been thru the country between Cobalt and Cochrane, you'll have been struck by the scattered nature of the settlement, generally speaking. Any quantity of land is held as the result of grants to South African veterans, who sold their rights for small money.

"Before spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on Kapuskasing, the government should have resolutely tackled the proper settlement of districts where there is no doubt of agricultural success, when properly labor of course. Look at the roads that have been built over unsettled land, simply because the government hasn't had sense enough to make a proper job of colonization.

Unfair to Soldiers

"The individual has been allowed to stumble thru the bush with a bag of flour on his back, and in his hand and about eighty-five cents in his pocket. The folly of that sort of colonization has cried aloud to every listening ear. But eight hundred thousand dollars has gone into Kapuskasing, which is over thirty miles north of Cochrane itself. Soldiers, only half recovered from the horrors of war, should not have been put up there anyway. Right there is the second folly, and it's as big as the first."

"In what way? Do you say the returned soldier shouldn't be helped to become a farmer?"

"My son, he should be helped to become anything he truly wants to become. But you wouldn't send him to a theological college, would you, unless you were pretty sure that he had some capacity for preaching? Mighty few soldiers have received the divine call to conquer the north with axe and plow. The pioneer for a coun-

RANEY IN CONTROVERSY WITH LIBERTY LEAGUE

The protest of the Liberty League against the government method of shelving its understanding for a referendum recout in Northwest Toronto and Manitoulin has brought Hon. W. E. Raney personally into action. He handed out a lengthy statement Saturday, concluding with the following declaration:

The government has not taken any final attitude in the matter. All the attorney-general did was to transmit Mr. Bayly's opinion to the solicitor of the Liberty League, and to say to him that if he differed from Mr. Bayly's conclusions he, the attorney-general, would be glad to hear from him again. No further attitude has been received from the solicitor for the Liberty League. If the Liberty League presses the point and makes a further application to the government the matter will be further considered."

Omission of "Military" Marks Rapid Demobilization

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—(By Canadian Press).—Further indication of the approach of complete demobilization is shown by a change of name of a number of Canadian military hospitals. With the exception of such institutions as will be required for the permanent forces, those which were not required by the department, all except five of the hospitals hitherto directed by the Canadian army medical corps have been transferred to the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, and, with the change of management, the word "military" has been deleted from each title, showing that they have become civilian institutions.

TERAULAY STREET EXTENSION

The assessment commissioner's department has prepared a report for council on the cost of extending Teraulay street to Devonport road, and providing an 8-foot thoroughfare. It is placed at $1,250,000, which is the same as the estimate prepared in 1914. The city is to purchase a new street from College to Grenville streets, and between Bloor and Davenport road.

BUTLER TAKES A HAND

Had Louise followed certain of the activities of her father's friend, Murray Butler, she would have been very much surprised. For during the time that she was at the shore resting over a period of hot weather, Murray Butler laid out a certain plan, and in his usual calm and methodical manner, started to work it out.

He wrote, first, to South America. After a few paragraphs about a business venture in which he was interested with Mr. Driscoll, he said: "Since you are Louise's father and since you have appointed me a sort of temporary guardian over that young lady's interests, I suppose I'd better tell you that I intend to interfere a little in concerns that, properly, I have nothing to do with."

"You could do this better than I, since you have a more intimate interest in, and knowledge of her affairs. She has told me a little of why she would like to be asked to make more of them excellent reasons for not having married as hastily as she did, and leaving him, for a time. But I don't think they apply to her this, but she would not listen. She is making a fair little income herself now, enough to be independent in a modest way—and what I want to know more than I, any knowledge as to how the chap—Henry Morton—is getting on? I've tried to look him up casually, but find no less than three Henry Mortons in the directory, all in one way or another connected with the same sort of business. Queen's Scored First, But McGill Won, Three to One

Montreal, Jan. 25.— McGill defeated Queen's by a score of three to one Saturday night at the Mount Royal arena, in the first intercollegiate match here of the season. The game opened with a Queen's rush from center ice and Ferguson caught the puck in one corner of the rink and fired it into the rubber past Clarke before the players had warmed up to their work. Flushed with their success, the McGill men had little or no trouble in holding their opponents in the first period when they scored several sensational saves to his credit, and it was his work that prevented the McGill boys from getting a good hold on the game. Queen's shooting on the other hand, was true, but their shots for the most part were long and easy to handle. Clarke made some good saves. There was a slight turn of luck in the first period when a high shot struck the upper corner of the McGill nets and the goal umpire raised his arm, calling it a goal. It was clearly not a point, however, and the referee reversed the decision and another goal umpire was placed in the case. The referee was strict and marked by close checking, but at no time was the hockey displayed of a rough nature. The referee was strict and several penalties were handed out.

WILLIE LEWIS SHOT.

New York, Jan. 25.—Willie Lewis, former middleweight pugilist, accreditied with having brought Georges Carpentier, the French champion, to the fore, was shot three times by an unknown man in a cabaret here tonight. He was taken to a hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

VARSITY SWIMMERS CLEAN UP AT WEST END Y. M. C. A. MEET

Winning Four Out of the Five Races From All-Corners and Defeating the Home Team at Water Polo Three to One.

A few more such swimming meets, like the one held last night at the West End Y.M.C.A., will bring this sport to a place where the public will be clamoring for tickets. Most of the fastest swimmers in the city participated, and the way the meet was conducted speaks a great deal for Director J. A. Walker, who is swimming instructor of the West End club from Port Hope and Belleville.

The 200 yards race started the sport of the evening and the capacity house from the commencement to the end was a win for Belleville by eight shots. The score: Belleville 8, Port Hope 0.

1. Lowmes of Central, Coles of West End, Time 2:35 sec. 2. Merton of Varsity, Hawley of West End, Time 3 sec. 3. Harrison of Varsity, Coles of West End, Time 3:35 sec.

4. Lowmes of Central, Hedges of West End, Time 1:45 sec. 5. Merton of Varsity, 3. Merton of Varsity, Time 2:15 sec.

The performance of the Varsity swimmer Stevenson, in the 100 yards event, was of the Class A grade. He has now the honor of having won the Hunter Cup, for 100-metre race, and with a little more practice will be less than a minute man in the 100-yard event. 1. Stevenson of Varsity; Lindsay of Varsity and Merton of Varsity, Time 1:45 sec.

In the 300 yards event, the honors were more evenly divided as to clubs, but Varsity's human fish had them all at the finish. 1. Stevenson of Varsity; 2. Mendelson of Toronto Swimming Club; 3. Jones of West End, Time 4:32.

The ladies' 400 yards race was a close handicap, and, as usual, the handicapper did not put over him at credit, for swimmers on scratch gave a little too much to the others, resulting in their being unplaced, but better luck next time is the slogan. Of course, the race was very interesting and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The winner, Miss Pickard, is a fast swimmer and should make all the ladies go the limit in this city championship. 1. Miss Pickard; 2. Miss Furuseth; 3. Miss Kennedy, Time 5:15 sec.

Fancy diving is taking a great hold with the boys, and also the public, if one is to judge from the interest last night. Three set dives are given of the judges and two voluntary; an added event from the high board was decided by the judges. Hedges of West End landed in first place, followed by Hendry and C. Cronin, his team-mates.

The long-looked-for water polo match between Varsity and West End gave great satisfaction to the Varsity rowers, and they were glad to have a feeling that they would like another match, for they feel that with a little more training they will be able to turn the tables. The match was, no doubt, the fastest seen in the city in many a day, and the combination play would do credit to any championship team. If the Varsity players perform as they did last night they will, no doubt, be the victors when they play McGill in the near future. The score: Varsity 2, West End 1.

Officials: Judges of race—Wintburn of Varsity, Gosh and Kennedy of West End. Timekeepers—Young and Barlow of Central, Nichol of Broadview, Diving Judge—H. Deane, Toronto Swimming Club; Wintburn, Varsity, and Kennedy, West End. Director of meet—J. Walker, West End.

EVERY CHILD BORN A LEGITIMATE ONE

F. N. Stapleton Recommends Radical Changes in Social Legislation.

F. N. Stapleton of the Neighborhood Workers' Association delivered an interesting address on the subject of "What Can Be Accomplished by Social Legislation" before a large number of people in Foresters' Hall, College street, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Stapleton, who has spent a great deal of time in investigating conditions among the poor in connection with the work of the association, made an analysis of the immediate causes of poverty. These, he said, are low wages, unemployment, physical defects, desertion, character defects, old age and widowhood.

DULCE ET DECORUM PRO PATRIA MORI

Heroes of St. James Held in Memory by Two Tablets.

Two tablets were unveiled yesterday morning at St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, one in honor of 110 members of the congregation who served in the war, and the other to perpetuate the memory of sixteen of these who gave up their lives.

During the service that followed there were many moist eyes as the thoughts of friends and relatives dwelt on those who had made the supreme sacrifice. The lament—"Flowers of the Forest"—was played by Pipe-Major J. B. Fraser, after which the Dead March "In F Major" was played by the organist and the last post sounded by Bagpipers W. K. Toozie. "The Reveille"—the rite of resurrection—was sounded by Bugler Toozie.

When asked why he did this he said that those twelve stones were a memorial of what the children of Israel had done thru, that all who saw the stones might know and fear God for all time. "When our children and our children's children," he continued, "ask what these tablets are for we will be able to proudly relate Canada's part in the war."

In concluding his address Mr. Morden presented the appeal of the dying soldiers—"to you from falling hands we throw the torch. Be yours to hold it high, if ye break faith with us who lie we shall not sleep the poppies blow in Flanders fields."

CIVIC EMPLOYEES WAGES.

City hall employees are asking for increases which if granted will add $15,200 a week to the payroll. A general increase of $6 a week is asked and the employees' association ask also that further increases for merit be granted.

The Madonna of the Curb by Christopher Morley

From a Photograph

"For of such as these."

IN the curb of a city pavement, By the ash and garbage cans, In the stench and rolling thunder Of motor trucks and vans, There sits my little lady, With brave but troubled eyes, And in her arms a baby That cries, and cries, and cries.

She cannot be more than seven, But years go fast in the slums, And hard on the pains of winter The pitiless summer comes. The wail of sickly children, She knows, she understands, The pangs of puny bodies, The clutch of small, hot hands.

In the deadly blaze of summer, That turns men faint and mad, She quiets the peevish urchins By telling a dream she had--- A heaven with marble counters, And ice, and a singing fan, And a God in white, so friendly--- Just like the drug-store man.

Her ragged dress is dearer Than the perfect robe of a queen. Poor little lass, who knows not The blessing of being clean, And when you are giving millions To Armenian, Pole, Serb, Remember my pitiful lady--- Madonna of the Curb!

$500,000 in Three Days

The Federation for Community Service—representing nearly fifty of Toronto's federated charitable and social welfare institutions—has to raise this amount in order that the poor, unfortunate children, the needy, the aged and the stricken of our city may be helped during this year. You know what you should give.

Please send us your cheque for that amount, or give it to the canvasser when he calls. Persons at home should not wait for a canvasser, as there will not be a general house-to-house canvass in this campaign. Decide for yourself earnestly, prayerfully, what your heart tells you you should give to help and send your cheque.

Give once---but give enough! Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this Week

CITY HALL NOTES

An appeal has been received from St. Michael's Hospital by the board of control for a city donation of $100,000 towards the cost of their proposed addition with a nurses' home, which it is estimated will total about $375,000. The letter says the new buildings will be seven storeys high, of brick and stone construction. There will be accommodation for 150 nurses, with diet kitchen, lecture class and library rooms. Another story is to be added to the hospital to afford the needed extra space for the medical department. The trustees have only $10,000 on hand and expect to raise $100,000 by mortgage and the balance from the city and public subscriptions. The assessment commissioner having given warning to the public to file statements of income, reports are coming in at the rate of 1000 a day. Thirty-

A Connoisseur's Choice

You will delight in inspecting a little series of four mezzotint color prints, which have recently been received in the Art Department. These are reproductions from the work of G. Morland, who achieved his maximum skill in the early part of the 18th century.

This series of four deals with "The Hunt." The first depicts the riders going out, the burly landlord, all officious, the clamorous hounds, and a typical setting for a "run." The others deal successively with "Going Into Cover," "The Check" and "The Death."

This series might be utilized to advantage in small wall-spaces. It is a rare bit of artistry. Price 50.00

Charming Doulton Service Plates

In a Delicacy of Color Treatment

The liquid lustre of the china upon which each exquisite bit of colorful design finds a brilliant setting, the intricacy and exquisite artistry of the designs themselves, and the delicacy of color-treatment, proclaim the work of the master-potter. Moreover, the durability of English China is already a tradition in homes where beautiful China has long been appreciated.

To attempt even the slightest description of the designs would be useless where such infinite variety is concerned. But one notes a decided absence of gold upon these newest arrivals, except where white and gold treatments alone are used (these in exquisite raised paste effects of pure coin gold)—and a predominance of wonderful jade green, rose pinks, French enamel blues and violet.

Conventional vies with floral in design, or they are combined with wonderful effectiveness.

It will be particularly interesting to home-keepers to know that these plates are procurable in exclusive dozen lots, with, in many cases, dessert and bread and butter plates to match. Also, that their prices, $13.50 to $120.00 dozen, are one-third less than present market values.

In Which a Man Decides

On Two Very Important Things

He came in alone. His wife was down South and the house was to be renovated a little during her absence. She had left instructions (with some personal latitude in choice), but these, of course, he had mislaid.

"I know pretty well what she wishes," he said, "and if everything is harmonious and artistic, there will be no complaints."

He explained to the Simpson decorator that the house was not large, although there were some comparatively large rooms in it. Together they discussed the matter of sunlight, color preferences, velours, damasks, and various chintzes and fabrics.

To Give Airiness

"Damask or silk gloss effects in portieres or hangings are usually used to give airiness and spaciousness to comparatively small houses," suggested the decorator, "whereas in large open rooms, one feels the need of warmth, both actually and by visual impression. This is gained by the use of rich, heavy velvet effects."

"That's awfully interesting," exclaimed the man. "I have often experienced what you describe, but have never analyzed it. I suppose you lay out many interiors."

"For hundreds of homes," said the Simpson representative, "and it works in so well with the Home-Lovers' Club, through which one can secure a host of things in furniture and home furnishing on a convenient payment basis."

"Then there are two things I would like you to do," said the visitor, "introduce me to the Club and take charge of my furnishing problem." Both were done satisfactorily for him. Both will be done satisfactorily for you. The Home-Lovers' Club offers many special advantages.

To Aid the Laundress

In this age of labor-saving devices, the housekeeper seems to have always had a distinct place in the inventor's mind. It is wisdom today to note the various ways in which the labor of the laundress may be lightened. We would direct you to the Climax Water Power Washing Machine, which has been proven reliable and satisfactory.

Simple Mechanism.

The mechanism is simplicity itself, and we know of cases where it is operating after five years of service. Place the washing solution in the tub, attach the motor hose to the cold water faucet, turn the tap, and the clothes are automatically, yet thoroughly cleaned. The cold water supplies power only, none of it entering the tub.

You will be glad to know that today this washer is marked down to $21.95. It merits inspection.

Suits for Little Boy Blue

And All Who Would Like a Blue Suit

Ever since Eugene Field wrote his appealing lines on Little Boy Blue, mothers have enjoyed seeing suits of navy on their young hopefuls. But sentiment is not the great factor, the wearing quality of a good serge, and the "dressed" appearance of the boy have, perhaps, the greatest influence. Simpson's Boys' Clothing Department, Second Floor, extends some exceptional values in this connection.

The Norfolk Model

At $18.50—A regulation "Norfolk Model," in good quality "rough serge," with pleats, all-around loose belt, yoke at back, and plain covered pockets. Strongly lined throughout.

Bloomers are full cut, having belt loops, side and hip pockets, Governor fasteners, and are substantially lined. Sizes 25 to 30—7 to 12 years.

At $21.00—A well tailored suit in an all-wool finished serge. Belfer model, having the all-around loose belt, slash pockets, single-breasted front, well-lined with twill.

Bloomers full-fashioned, with side, hip and watch pockets, belt loops, Governor fasteners. Sizes 31 to 34—13 to 16 years.

An All-Wool Serge

At $11.50—A pleasing design in a junior combination waistline and belter model. All-wool blue serge, single-breasted, two-button front, slash pockets, 3/4-belt, lined throughout. Knicker pants, side and hip pockets, finished to fasten at waist. Sizes 22 to 26—4 to 8 years.

At $9.50—A Junior Russian Model, fashioned from a serviceable blue chevot.

Has close-fitting collar, all-around loose belt, pleats at back and front, slash pockets, well-lined throughout, fancy cord at throat. Knicker pants, well-lined, side and hip pockets, finished to fasten at waist. Sizes 22 to 26—4 to 8 years.
