It now appears that insanity probably played a large part in the near tragedy of Friday night, for in police court Saturday morning, when Haggett was arraigned upon charges of shooting with intent to kill Policeman Turner, Tezeneatyk, the Pole, and Charles Turff, both he and Colin Wright, charged with threatening to shoot Policeman Turner, were remanded a week in order that they might be examined by a doctor to as-

A Tangled Story.

The statement made by Policeman Turner Saturday morning throws additional light on the tangled tale, to wnich it adds dramatic action. Turner declares that he heard screams within forced the door, only to be confronted by Haggett, who presented his revolver and told him to throw up his hands. Just then Wright, who was in-

It was after this that the shooting of the Pole and Street took place, Haggett, having gained possession of the two gunz, furned his own, the smaller, weapon, upon the Pole, as he fled from the house. The first bullet struck took effect upon the Pole.

iceman Turner has made a written report of the affair, explaining how he came to have his revolver taken from him, and this is now in the hands of Chief Grasett.

Need for More Police. There is a disquieting increase in crimes of violence in the city and durlar acts of desperate character which have hereofore been practically unknown in the city has aroused much public comment. Many do not hesitate to lay much of this to the known underpoliced condition of the city. The salient feature of the annual report of Chief Constable Grasett preented to the board of police com sioners during the past week call for more mer. Superintendent McCullough, when spoken to by The World, promised a full investigation into the case. He stated that if the facts were correct, it was up to the car crew. He explained that the company had sympathy with that line of conduct on the part of their employes.

HORSE PLUNGES THRU PLATE GLASS WINDOWS TAXICAB SHAREHOLDERS

Startling Occurrence on Queen West in Which Drug Clerk Shews Rr our ge.

One badly frightened horse, hitched to a cutter, in which sat two frightened women and a couple of equally scared men, turned West Queen'street in the neighborhood of the Crown Drug in the neighborhood of the Crown Drug Company's store into a bedlam of broken glass and scattered jewelry, pills and neckwear Saturday afternoon, until the terrified and mortally wounded animal was subdued by John Yule. The horse which was driven by an old jockey who has more than once won out on the Woodbine track, became unmanageable, and, dashing across the street. Plunged thru the 8 x10-foot plate glass window of the drug store at 560 West Queen-street. There a slaughter sale was in progress, and the horse, either joining in the spirit of this, or yearning for liver pills, with which the window was filled, created a scene of adequate disaster.

Backing from there, the terrified brute dove thru the window of Walter Murch, 558 Vest Queen-street, jeweler and artificial limbs, and there created like devastation. From there is again backed, bleeding profusely from deep gashes in the neck from the heavy falling glass, and strove to enter John Brass' gents' furnishing shop at 556.

The women had been screaming with fright, but managed to cling to the rocking cutter until John Yule, a clerk in the Crowa Drug Store, with fine courage, seized the horse by the head and pulled it flown. None of the occupants of the dutter were hurt, but the torse, which was led away, dropped shortly afterward som loss of blood, and was despatched. It belonged to P. R. Farland.

A PATRIE TELLS STORY PLANS TO BLOW UP STRATHCONA'S PALACE

Supposed to Have Been Hatched in the East End of Toronto---To Happen During the Eucharist Congress.

STORY ORIGINATED IN TORONTO

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 .- (Special.) - The Montreal La Patrie announces to-day that, altho the entente cordiale is accepted as a fait accompli, there is nevertheless powder in the air, and that paper prints a letter signed "Occident," dated Toronto, Feb. 3, announcing that Lord Strathcona's residence in this city will be blown up next summer by dynamite, and for cause. The Toronto correspondent of Mr. Tarte's paper says that he overheard in the east end of the Queen City several men discussing the fact of the Canadian high commissioner having placed his princely residence at the disposition of the Archbishop of Montreal for his guests at the Eucharistic Congress next fall. One of the men stated that the work could be easily done, as the house was come-atable from three sides.

Why not Judge Gaynor as candidate of the Democratic party in the next presidential elec-tion? asks The New York Herald. There are indications that when Colonel Roosevelt returns from Elba the Republican party will be smashed into smithereens. positive currents of satisfaction over momentous street railway questions.

Why is this psychological change? The answer is simply, the radials.

Sprang Up Suddenly.
Toronto has been so busy grappling with its problems of surface transportation and so firmly established in the delusion that private interests were not concerning themselves with such things as tube railways, that the present situation seemed to spring up suddenly out of nothingness and strike the city fairly and squarely between the eyes The impact was severe, but now that the first painful shock of surprise is over, the city is preparing to gird itself for the fray. It would feel more cheerful about its prospects of landing a stiff blow in return but for an uneasy sus-picion that its arms are tied. However, it has wakened up and is aware that a real battle is on, which is some-

Never was a castie in mediaeval tmies beleaguered more persistently than is Toronto to-day by the radials. The attack is on the three assailable forces of the Hamilton, Waterloo and Guelph Company; on the east the Toronto and Eastern and on the north the Monarch. Why is it that these forces are making simultaneous siege, following hard upon the plans, fortunately frustrated, of the Central Terninal Company? Is the Toronto Street Railway a real, live octopus with these more or less shadowy radial companies as its tentacles? Does the Hamilton, Waterloo and Guelph Company intend at the next session of the Dominion Parliament to ask the right to amaigamate with the Hamilton Radiai. which has already extended it tracks from Hamilton to Oakville, but has been unable to finance the remainder. of the line to Toronto? If investors were chary of buying the bonds of the Hamilton Radial because of the heavy expense of tunneling three miles from Sunnyside to the centre of Toronti, why are these same cautious individunis more likely to dig down into their wallets to furnish the funds for the Waterloo and Guelph Railway with the same proposition staring it in the face? Has the recent campaign for tubes made outside financiers, aware of the practical possibilities of subway transportation as well as Toronto's citizens" These are a few of the queries to which ime will give the answer. Of Course We Want Em, But-Of course Toronto wants the radials. The advantages of such connection with the outside world are plain. But the city would naturally prefer to have same say in making the terms. The Metropolitan Railway would now be bringing produce to the city market if the company didn't insist on a franchise extending beyond the expiration reco-Turkish difficulties.

(4) The street railway could make an arrangement with the radial com-pany for transferring passengers with the object of influencing the public mind and, possibly, succeed in preventing the acquiring by the city the street railway plant when the franchise expires.

These are the perils which the board of control has in view in fighting the radials' application before the railway committee at Otsawa, and with the uncertainty of the outcome, the issue overshadows all others.

At the same time the labor of yesterday was not to be wasted and there

Despite the reticence of the members

It is now believed, however, that no positive action will result from the present session, but that with the tenta-tive plan of changes now being mapped out in hand, the rule makers will take time to consult with the college authorities in their various sections. Out of these conferences is expected to come another meeting in March for definite action.

 Walter Camp, the Yale football authority, voiced the prevalent feeling of the day. He said: "No definite change had a said: "No in the rules will be made at this meeting, I feel certain."

One member of the committee said that indications pointed to the abolitions of the tandem play. This would mean lining up the back field parallel to the line of scrimmage. The tandem, especially as worked out by Harvard, is considered by some of the rule-makers to be a dangerous play, bearing particularly hard upon the unsupported in the Two-Man League competition is tackles as the game was played last amply indicated by the averages as com-

The committee began its second session to-day at 2 p.m. with the under-standing that an adjournment should be taken this evening till March 25, when the delegates will again meet in this city for final action.

day Afternoon. It was a jolly crowd which flocked to High Park on Saturday, both to participate in and enjay watching the king of winter sports, tobogganing.

All the Cellege and Queen cars were filled with people, carrying everything in the winter sport line, from skates to skyes, and the railway company had to put on an extra car on the High Park stub line to accommodate the extra crowd, and even these two cars were inadequate. At the park everybody was having a fine time, and snow shoes were enoff the car till one left the park. The bobs are using the "half mile" hill as .112 the bob slide across the pond is rendered dangerous, owing to its proximity to the open water caused by the ice cutting. The toboggan slides were very fast, but not serious accidents

Throwing One of the Prettiest Plays

By Billy Evans.

Perhaps the prettiest features of basepall, the throwing end of the game, exlites less comment than any other branch

Perhaps the pretition features of all, the throwing end of the game, exities less comment than any other branch of the sport.

When one carefully considers how fast when one carefully considers how fast to be made to be all must be handled for the successful to bill must be handled for the successful to be must be baseful must be handled for the successful they can hurl the baseball under any and all conditions is truly marvelous. One who has never played hase had by the first the distribution of carefully appreciate the diwho has ever played baseful to then for some reason of fully appreciate the stuation and soon realize how hand it is to get back to old time form. Accurate throwing, as test of the eye, just as much as the arms playing baseball to-day who have to good results because of their inability to good results of their inability to good results because of their inability to good results and their increase of their inability to good results of t

"Spit" Ball Fools English. Quite a number of the foreigners were regarded as crackerjacks at the cricket game, and while they could see that the ball had a peculiar break to it, still a few ball had a peculiar break to it, still a few of them were confident that it would be feel to hit the ball about as easily as any other curve. Those desirous of trying to connect with one of Dygert's "spitters" were given the privilege, the largest bat in the Philadelphia collection being given them. If I remember correctly one fellow made a foul. One of them expressed a desire to try and catch Dygert, and he was supplied with mask, glove and protector. He managed to catch about every other ball, but the ones he failed to capture hit him either on the protector or wrist, so that at the conclusion of the experiment he was satisfied that he had never been cut out for a catcher.

Do Not Appreciate Fine Throws.

People in the grandstand or bleachers do not appreciate the feat when Wagner, Bridwelf, Lajole, Lord, Bush or any of the other star infielders stop a difficult drive, throw the ball without recovering their polse, and successfully retire men like Cobb, Speaker, Collins, or in fact any other player possessing enough class to secure a berth in the major leagues. Prac-like Cobb, Speaker, Collins, or in fact any other player possessing enough class to secure a berth in the major leagues. Practically nine out of every ten men in the majors run the distance their home to first, 90 feet in the neighborhood of fone seconds. This means that the infielded hardling a drive from the batter must get the ball, often hurl it twice the distance the batter has to run and get it there in advance of the runner in order to complete the out.

Ever since the inauguration of the "spit" half there has been a continual cry against its use, because of the decrease, in batting and the fact that it slowed the game up considerably. Little has been said about the relation between the use of the "spitter" and the throwing end of the game. Ask any infielder in any league what is the hardest thing he has to contend with, and a majority of them will tell you without the slightest hesitation that nothing is so difficult as the accurate throwing of a ball that is covered with saliva.

WINDSOR RECORD DRAWS

World Man Replies That High Praise of Mendelssohn Chair Was Deserved.

Saliva for More Break.

A great many of the pitchers using the expectorator put a great deal of saliva on the ball to make the break all the more deceptive. Often such a ball comes to the infielder on the first bound in very wet or slippery condition. Ordinarily he has not sufficient time to look the ball over and select a dry place, so if he happens to be unfortunate enough to get hold of a wet spot on the ball there is no telling what the direction of the throw will be; it's simply a matter of luck. It may hit some distance in front of the player to whom it has been thrown, or may soar ten feet or more over his head.

Few infielders are more accurate than Bobby Wallace of the St. Louis Browns, yet I saw Wallace make a heave that is just about the record for the New York American League grounds. Howell was working for the Browns that day, and he was more than using the saliva. The game was close, as both pitchers were practically unhittable, the Browns leading by a run. Late in the game, with two down and two on the bases, one of the New Yorkers hit a slow bounding grounder to Wallace. Retirement of the batter practically meant the winning of the game, and as he was quite a fast man Wallace was compelled to hurry the ball. Unfortunately for him and the Browns, he got hold of the "spit" and the ball went on a line into first base bleachers, about half-way up. The game was over, the Browns had lost, but Mr. Spit Ball, not Wallace, should have been credited with the error.

Birmingham One of the Best. that the Mendelssohn Choir criticisms were the result of a reaction from The Sheffield Choir performances of two years ago. If the Sheffield Choir is all that the Windsor ptople have had an opportunity of hearing in the way of high-class music, one is not surprised that they should rank it so highly, and even take it as a standard of merit. But all stndards are liable to be superseded, and to attribute to "(narrow jeal-over," the recognition that the Mendelsher is the standard of the standard of the superseded that the standard of the superseded that the standard of the standard of the superseded that the standard of the standard of the superseded that the standard of the standard of the standard of the standard of the superseded that the standard of the s ed, and to attribute to "(narrow jeal-ousy" the recognition that the Men-delssohn Choir has obtained, not only in Toronto, but in Buffalo, New York Birmingham One of the Best.

It's very questionable if there is any man playing ball to-day who has anything on Joe Birmingham of the Cleveland team as to throwing. Birmingham has a wonderfully strong throwing arm, and even better, combines marvelous accuracy with distance. It is not an uncommon thing for base-runners to stand flat-footed on the bases when the pill is driven in the direction of Birmingham. During his career in the American League he has performed feaux of throwing that cannot be appreciated by the telling, but must be seen.

delssohn Choir has obtained, not only in Toronto, but in Buffalo, New York and Chicago, is surely only possible to a lonely English exile in Windsor. The World has avoided comparisons between musical organizations, because they usually differ more in aims and ideals than in execution, and all are good in their class. When the Sheffield Choir came to Toronto, it was judged by The World on its merits and be appreciated by the telling, but must be given the high praise it deserved. Alpine Perils. The death-roll attendinf Alpine limbing this season threatens eclipse the mournful records of all preceding years. If it is the fact that many as 150 lives have been lost in 300 accidents this season, then the figures of preceding periods are exceeded already. Between 1903 and 1910 the deaths numbered 305. The death-rate unfortunately is progressive, for last year the total reached 119. This compares badly with earlier years. In 1895 19 people lost their lives, while the following year there were 24 victims. Again, in 1896, the number increased to 34, to 37 in 1898, to 47 in 1899, reaching 48 in 1900. Representatives of the Aeolian Company, New York, manufacturers of the Pianola, the Weber, Steck, Wheelock and Stuyvesant Pianola Pianos, desire to announce a New Musical Instrument

The Steinway Pianola Piano

By mutual arrangement between the houses of Steinway & Sons and The Aeolian Company, the famous Steinway Piano will hereafter be obtainable with the Pianola built into it. This new instrument will be known as the Steinway Pianola Piano.

HE house of Steinway has for three generations maintained a prestige and reputation for superiority of manufacture that needs no advertisement. Similarly, in the field of Piano-players, the Pianola, ever since its introduction, has held a position of unquestioned leadership. Therefore, the union of these instruments is properly regarded as one of the most significant developments that the musical industry has ever known. By selecting the Pianola as the one Pianoplayer worthy of being united with the Steinway Piano, this distinguished firm of piano manufacturers once more justifies the confidence reposed in it by the musical world.

In a Player-plano, the Player is fundamental. It is a serious mistake to select an instrument of this type solely on the reputation of the piano alone. No matter how high the standing of a piano, no matter how excellent its tone, the moment it becomes inseparably united with an inferior Player, the value of the instrument as a whole is depreciated.

The Messrs. Steinway fully appreciated these facts, and they accordingly made a most careful and thorough investigation of the comparative merits of the various Piano-players now before the public, including those of European as well as those of American manu-

Their conclusion was that the Pianola, and the Pianola alone, should be used in combination with their pianos. The decision was based not only on the higher order of musical and artistic effects for which the Pianola is celebrated, but also on its constructional superiority and the better grade of workmanship and material that it represents.

Price of the Steinway Pianola Piano, $1,500. Exactly the same Pianola in the Weber, Steck, Stuyvesant and Wheelock Pianos from $650 to $1,150.

Few opportunities are offered in these days of substitution and imitation of hearing a genuine Stradivarius violin, such as Gisela Weber performs upon at her recitals.

This instrument is one of the famous collection of four made for the Spanish Court in 1712 in the best epoch of Stradivarius's career.

Jacques Thibaud, the well-known violinist, after hearing Gisela Weber play, said it was the greatest violing he had ever heard, and requested he to let him try it. So impressed wa he with its wonderful quality that h played upon it for an hour and a quarter before he would relinquish it.

Williams' Anniversary Piano Club

A Great Club of 500 Members to participate in the greatest piano deal ever made in the piano business

On Wednesday, Feb. 9th, we will inaugurate the biggest event that has ever taken place in the Piano trade. Incidently we will have reached our sixty-first Anniversary in the piano business in this country, the business having been established in 1849. In other words, the big Williams Club with its 500 members participating in the big purchase—is intended to really celebrate our 61st Anniversary in a business way, and to impress the importance and significance of this sixtyone years of continuous business upon the public mind.

THE DEAL AND THE PIANO

The deal is a straight out purchase of 500 pianos. The instruments are of a most reliable and trustworthy character—a good, substantial piano, in which the real value is put on the inside, rather than in fancy cases with a whole lot of "Jim Cracks" on them. We have known the piano for years. We know it to be as reliable a piano as was ever put in a home, It is made by good, sturdy Canadian labor in one of the best manufactories in the world, by men, many of whom have been working in the same shop for twenty to twenty-five years.

The Value of Each of these Pianos is $350 Hundreds of these same instruments have been sold right here in Ontario

The Williams Club Terms

These 500 pianos will be sold, $5.00 cash, then $1.25 a week. The $5.00 just about covers the cartage and delivering-yet the $5.00 payment made when you join the club is credited to your account.

The piano is delivered immediately. You do not have to wait until the club is filled. You get your piano when you join. The remainder is payable every week. Club members do not have to pay more than $1.25 a week if they wish. This gives them 202 weeks in which to pay for the piano, and still get it at the club price of $257.50.

The Club Price of $257.50 Can Be Lessened

We said above, that $257.50 includes everything. So it does. As it includes everything -- so can the price be reduced. The Club Member's Agreement has 202 Coupons attached to it-much like a bond. A Coupon represents a week. Two Hundred and Two Coupons represent 202 weeks, or the life of the agreement. Every time a payment is made, one of these Coupons is stamped "Paid." It payments are made in advance—that is, before they are due, a rebate of 15c for each and every

You can therefore see that the price ($257.50) can be reduced just as many times Fifteen Cents, as you will pay weekly payments in advance, or before they are due. Special Advantages of the Williams Club

Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for five years. There are no "ifs" or 'ands" in the guarantee—just a straight-Read every word of this.

that we sell-(and we sell over ten different representative makes). If a Club Member dies during the life of his contract we immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument. A beautiful stool to match the piano is included without extra cost.

The piano will be tuned twice without charge. Club Members have an opportunity to still turther reduce the cost of their piano by procuring other Club Members.

at $350. Hundreds more are being sold every month all over the Dominion of Canada at $350. They are worth $350. Measured by any standard of value you wish, they are worth $350. They are worth it on our floors, or on the floors of any reputable piano dealer in the country. The Williams Club price is $257.50. The price includes everything. There are no extras of any kind. No interest to be added. Nothing to be added for dravage, freight, stool

The Actual Figures of the Club

The retail value of these 500 pianos is $175,000. They will sell for $128,750. The minimum saving to the club is $46,250.

It will take 32 solid car loads to deliver this order-or nearly two train loads.

The freight will amount to about $2,000, or approximately $62.12 a car load,

The club is given a grand total of 30,500 weeks or 600 years longer in which to pay for their instruments than if each member was to buy independently upon usual terms.

The saving to each Club Member-$92.50 - will pay for the musical education of one child for 2 years and 5 months at 75c a lesson.

Membership Books in the Williams' Club Will Open Wednesday

The Club books open Wednesday. In other words Wednesday will be the first day you can join the Club. The Pianos, however, are now on display in our warerooms, where you can see and hear them. You are cordially invited. The Pianos will be delivered immediately upon your becoming a member and making the initial payment of $5.00, During the first week of the Club's Possibility of Putting T. & N. O. Railway Thru Gold Fields Considered.

Upon all the talk about the richness of the new mining carip of Porcupine and the speculation as to the possibility of the biniding of a spur of the T. M. N.O. Railway into the district, the fellowing order-in-council, dated Jan. 13, comes to show that the government has at least been thinging about it:

The committee of council have had under consideration the report of the hanorable the minister of lands, forests and mines, dated Jan. 10, 1910, wherein he states that a new mining section has opened up in the vicinity of Porcupine lake in the Townships of Whitney and tiseles and adjoining cownships, and it is possible that in the future if this usining section develops it may be necessary to construct a branch line from some point on the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway between the Town of Matheson and mileage 222 in said townships. Under the circumstances the committee advise that the surface rights over a right of way 99 feet in perpendicular width be reserved for a branch line of the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway from all mining claims stazed out and reconded and from all lands which may hereafter be located, sold, leased, or patched, or otherwise Gisposed of, except for town lots, in those portions of the districts of Nipissing and Sudbury hereinafter described. All that part of the Township of Howman lying north of the Inne between the 4th and 5th concessions and west of the right of way of the Tamiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway; all that part of the Township of Taylor, lying west of the Township of Cleigue, lying west of the said right of way; all that part of the Township of Cleigue, lying west of the right of way.

List of Appointments Noted in the Official Gazette.

The following provincial appointments were gazetted: George Oscar Alcorn, K. C., of Picton, to be master-incidingly for Ontario instead of Thomas Hodgins, deceased: William Patterson of Faris to be olice magistrate; Edward Justus Purcell of Athens to be police magistrate; John McL. Deacon of North Bay to be registrar of deeds for the district of Nipissing; Robert J. Teetes, M.D., of Villading, Robert J. Teetes, M.D., of Fort William, A. W. Ford of St. Mary's and Frederick Watt or Guelph to be netaries public; Sidney L. Bradley and L. Boutin of Cochrane to be clerk and balliff respectively of the eighth division court of the district of Nipissing. The following new ricease boards have been appointed:

Halton—John F. Atchardson, Harry A. Grabam, John Williams.

West Kent—Henry Wilson, Thomas Drew, Archibald G. Campbell.

West Northumberland—James Roberts, John L. Grosjean, Alexander R. Eggisson.

Many times has the Chinese Government ordered a census made of the population of that country, but there never been one which is accepted as anywhere near accurate. In their totals, these computations have varied greatly, so that they are not deemed of any more value than as estimates on which to base other estimates. Figures given by geographers have fixed the total population at a figure as high as 450,000,000, while the more conservative figures of the different censuses vary from 1000,000,000 to 200,000,000. A census is now under way which is being con-ducted on such lines as to warrant the belief that it will be of value in arriving at the population and resources of the country. The difficulties in the way of this work are stupendous but a systematic effort is being made by the government to secure the correct

MR. ASQUITH WILL NOT FLINCH, WILL ASSUME THE REIGNS OF OFFICE

He Will Impress Lloyd-George and Churchill With Need of More Moderation of Expression.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.-(Special.)-Sidney Whitney cables The Herald: Mr. Asquith is credited with being engaged at Cannes with the reconstruction of the Liberal cabinet. It is asserted in Liberal circles that he will unflinchingly assume the reins of of-fice, dominate the situation and choose his own time and opportunity for any further appeal to the country.

So long as there is a fighting section within the Liberal cabinet ready to go much further than the more moderate body is willing to follow, the situation must remain full of strain. For, whereas the whole cabinet supports the policy embodied in Lloyd-George's budge nobody who moves among politician can shut his eyes to the fact that the extreme language in which the chan-cellor of the exchequer has all along

A vivid idea of what militarism means and the huge financial burden it involves is had from a statement which was published in a local newspaper at the time of the Tsar's appeal for disarrmament. Figures give but a partial idea of the power of give but a partial idea of the power of the European armies, for it is hard to grasp the real meaning of a million soldiers. It is easy to say that Russia can put 7,000,000 men in the field in time of war, but an enumeration would be difficult, the work of several months. As giving some idea of the meaning of these immense numbers, hing and prospects were never months. As giving some idea of the her are ack spots on the horizon, and mation would cover a distance of some 325 miles, that of Germany 318% miles Austria-Hungary 287½ miles, and Italy 143¾ miles. Europe is, in short, a vast camp, and every European spends of part of his life in barracks. The combined forces of the five chief powers would occupy twice the acreage of London's open spaces, and eight times those of Paris. The permanent forces of Europe number 4,250,000, on mobilization 16,410,000; or, with all reserves, 32,000,000. In column of line this colossal army would stretch from this city to Paris, and would represent ten per cent. of the aggregate, or twenty per cent. of the combined male popula-tion of the Continent.

New Spirit Abroad. Happily a new spirit is abroad. Men are yearning for a social order which an attempt will be made realize the elementary principles Christianity. Words of French Actress Generally How Red Tape Has Tied Up Pri- Asteunding Story of Brutality In Denounced As Decidedly Improper.

German prudishness is outraged by the report published in the French press of a witty lecture on love, delivered by Mme. Jeanne Granier, the French actress, before the kaiser at in question is Ernest Acquarone, imthe castle of Prince Donnersmarck in at Clairvaux,

Mme. Granier pleaded that, as acquaintance with the human heart is the most difficult and the most necessary of all arts for a ruler to acquire, all kings ought to learn the joys and the sorrows of love at the feet of a Parisienne. Mrs. Grundy, over the signature of "A German Mother," denounces in a letter to the press Mme. Granier's little joke as an outburst of Gallic arogance and vulgarity. The indignant terman matron declares that Mme. Granier's language is an insult to German women and "should not have dared to penetrate the ears of Ger-language." They gravely ask the prince if it would not have been advisable for serious-minded men to leave. the room on hearing such words. 550 HORSES

To this the prince has made reply that the monologue was once delivered by Mme. Granier before the King and Queen of England, that its text is well-known, and that it "was, of course, examined here before it was delivered." A Paris newspaper's account of what Mme. Granier recited before the kaiser is described as "an invention from beginning to end," and as having not the slightest resemblance to the text or contents of the actual monologue.

Madam Becomes Furious. Meanwhile a Paris dispatch to a Berlin newspaper says that Mme. Granier is furious at certain German press comments on her lecture. Clenching her fists and her voice trembling with anger and her cheeks stained with tears, Mme. Granier cried, "It is dis-graceful, it is abominable, that I should come back to France to find such a number of atroclous and ignoble comments about me. I am held up to he public as a sort of professoress of ove, and the most scandalous insinuations are made about me. Czigani gypsies, he said. There were three classes of gypsies. The first were the Nomads, who were the dirtiest people he had ever met. The second were the village blacksmiths. The third were musicians in the village or chestras. Some of the finest music he had ever heard was by the gypsy band in Kassa. Some time ago he visited the interior of Corsica. It is, therefore, certain that unless the suspensory idea is modi fied, and the house of lords is parties or the bulk of them can unite, "I am sure the dear children will the King will in future be in a most objectionable position, since he may have to decide between the lords and

> The Position of the Prince. The position of the Wales is therefore watched with increasing interest. The strong personality of the King is sufficient substantially to safeguard him during his tenure of the throne, tho it is by no means certain that even he may not be very awkwardly situated, more particularly since the socialists, Mr. Keir Hardie, have intimated that their acquiescence in the idea of a monarchy at all will only hold good so long as the occupant of the throne is a nonentity. While, to suppose that the King in this country can ever be a mere figurehead; he will not interfere in politics unless he is dragged into them,

Many are wondering why Mrs. Pankhurst and the Woman's Social and Political Union lined up against the Liberal Government in England. Simply because the Liberal Government had it assay within his preparative to cond reading, and, yet Mr. Asquith blocked the third reading and has persistently refused to receive a deputation of women, either from militant suffragets or the constitutional suffragists. Over 450 women have been imprisoned and brutally treated for patty offeness, and all women have petty offences, and all women have been shut out of political meetings. No wonder that clever satirist and dramatist Bernard Shaw is writing with caustic pen the ridiculous story that Mr. Asquith is unwise enough to let go on the pages of English his-

Back in the early 60's of the las century, Susan B. Anthony was fighting for woman's suffrage. She had able supporters in such men as Wendel Phillips William Theorem as Wendel Phillips del Phillips, William Lloyd Garrison and Henry Ward Beecher. When war was declared on the south, these men strongly advised Miss Anthony to drop the woman's suffrage question stump the country for the freedom of the negro, telling her that as sure as the slave was freed the white woman would come into her rights. The negro was freed, but the white woman was not.

Then each teaching ten years more she would receive $14900, while he would receive $14900, while he would receive $25,000. If the men were better teachers and rendered better service to the city there might be some reason for their being better paid but such is not the case. Women are pre-eminently better teachers, what then the process in the case who were the continuities. This was the only year in Miss Anthony'h long life that she did not work for woman's suffrage, and she often never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

many of the constitutional societies, begging of her to issue orders to her en not to embarrass the government, and that, if the budget passed, oman's suffrage would be sure to receive consideration. But the gov-ernment had already lied—(Yes, that's the proper word)-and Mrs. Pankhurst was against a government that did not enfranchise the women.

A letter from Montreal tells us that a suffrage society has been organized, with Mrs. Harriet H. Bullock as president and Mrs. Anna D. Dalley as secretary. As many groups of Montrea women have been agitating, we hope several more societies will be formed

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Liverpool cables were lower on Saturday, and the Chicago pit experienced another day of flat trading, the market closing at a small loss from previous session. The only outstanding feature of the situation is the continued maintenance of cash premiums over the futures, and this is accepted as the only factor of any bullish import at the moment.

Winnipeg was generally dull and closed slightly below previous day's close.

No change was made in local quotations for either wheat or oats, prices maintaining at $1.11% and $1.10 for Manitobas.

Local grain dealers' quotations are as follows:

The only conspicuous lack of buoyancy in the Cobalt securities has been in the higher priced issues. BIG INCREASE IN OUTPUT In Face of Outside Weakness

From a bulletin just issued by the United States Geological Survey it appears that the output of gold in that ountry last year was about $99,000,000 gain of fully $4,500,000 over the output of 1908. California and Colorado each continued to contribute a plump fifth to the total supply, tho the former state reported an increase of almost $2,000,000 in her yield in 1909, while the latter showed a decrease amounting to nearly $1,000,000. The largest increase, a trifle more than $3,000,000, was effected by Nevada, her entire production closely approaching $15,000,000. In a measure this exceptional output Is due to the fact that at one leading mine in Nevada the ore taken out in 1908 was stored for treatment on the completion of a mill which went into operation last year. Should there be no untoward experience like the labor strike which cut down South Dakota's yield in 1909 about $900,000 the Geological Survey expects that during the current year the hundred million dollar line will for the first time be passed. due to the fact that at one leading Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. mated at 53,849,000 ounces, an increase of 1,400,000 ounces over that of 1908, but a decrease of nearly 3,000,000 compared with 1907. Moreover, in spite of the gain in quantity in 1909, there was a diminution in actual value, for sliver brought 53 cents an ounce in 1908 and only 52 cents last year. Indeed the value of that metal in 1909 deed, the value of that metal in 1909 was fully $10,000,000 less than the average for the previous thirty years. The low price was undoubtedly attributable to the astonishing production in the Cobalt region.

Government statistics, it will be observed, show that on the whole the gold industry of the United States enjoys the same moderate prosperity which now attends the production of most of the baser metals. The silver miners have been less fortunate. Their of the Otisse mine. experience, which has probably been helpful to the manufacturers of plate, furnishes fresh occasion for congratu-lation over the fact that the country's currency does not rest on metal basis.

LITTLE NIPISSING SHIPS Interest in connection with the general run of mining shares. It was announced late in the week that J. S. Bradley, who unsuccessfully endeavored to wrest control of the Cobait Central Company from the Nevins interests, had secured an actual majority of the 5,000,000 issued shares, and that a formal demand had been made on the board of directors, which is largely in the hands of the Nevins faction, for a special meeting as provided for in the by-laws of the company. It is also reported that the Nevins interests sought to procrastinate, and a meetsought to procrastinate and a meetsought to procrastinate and a meetsought to procrastinate and a meetsought to procrastinate, and a meetsought to procrastinate and a meetsought CAR OF HIGH-GRADE ORE ing of opposing stockholders was then held, at which it was decided that unless the special meeting requested was granted inside of a week, an appeal would be made to the Maine courts for an order ainthorizing a stockholders meeting, at which Mr. Bradley asserts meeting, at which Mr. Bradley asserts the Nevins management will be voted out of control of the company. Further developments in this relation will be watched with interest, for it is expected that if the Nevins faction is once ousted, an interesting state of affairs will be revealed.

There has been nothing of interest in regard to the other securities during the week. The annual meetings of several of the mining companies are slated for this month, but there is nothing promised beyond the ordinary routine of business. Ore shipments from the Cobalt camp for the month of January were rather disappointing, aggregating but 1896 tons, against 2319 for the same month of 1909. This discrepancy was occasioned by a falling off of some 380 tons in the last week's consignment, compared with that of on exhibition where the citizens congregate. This company has shipped 30 tons of high grade ore, and it is understood that a further shipment will be made in the near future.

First Annual Meeting of Elk Lake Property Shows Good Year's Results.

The annual meeting of the Otisse

The principal item presented was the report of Frank C. Loring, M.E., which was looked upon as a most conserva-tive estimate of the present standing

Mr. Loring's statement was a careful analysis of the Otisse property and showed conclusively that the company has been doing actual mining from which they have not yet received the results which will come from the labor and expense which has been made on the property.

Frank C. Loring, mining engineer, reported as follows: To the directors of the Otisse Mining Co., Limited, Gentlemen: The first three or four months after incorporation were em-ployed in installation of machinery, erecting buildings and preparing for Mining.

Since machinery started, mining ha been carried on continuously without interruption to the present time.

There are a number of parallel veins exposed on the property and running easterly and westerly, on five of which silver was exposed at the surface. Some of these exposures were remark-further development, if continued suf-ficiently, will encounter ore which will yield profits. As to when or with what expenditure the mine will develop into a steady and profitable producer, it is impossible for anyone, no matter how experienced, to say. The great number of veins would warrant an additional outlay of many thousand dollars with still thereafter sufficient reason for continuing, but no one can predict what expenditure is necessary to reach the profit-yielding period.

One question having an important bearing, not only on this mine, but on all of the mines of that district, has been solved. This question is: Are the rich native silver and high grade co-balt ore found at the surface merely superficial conditions, or do they continue to depth? In the Otisse Mine as rich ore has been found underground as was found at the surface. It simply varies in quantity.

The fact that any of this rich ore at al: exists in the underground workings is of the utmost importance, and warrants one engaged in mining to continue exploration to the utmost limit of his financial abilities. The mine has been entirely cleared if timber and is fully protected from danger from forest fires. Arrange-ments have been made for securing cordwood from outside territory. All buildings and machinery, well as mine workings, are in excellent shape, and present a most businesslike appearance. Entire credit for this condition is due to Charles G. Williams, the company's superintendto the Otisse mine. Such a prelimin-ary history is common to most mines. I have learned nothing to change my views as formerly expressed. The report of the directors was as

The company of course defended the action, and on the 24th day of Novemate cash reserve as compared with last ber, 1909, at the conclusion of the trial, the action was dismissed with costs, conspired to defraud him out of the right to purchase the mine.

It should be stated that Stow has not conducted his case with any anxiety for a trial, and it was only after a very strenuous contest, in which his efforts for continuous adjournments were defeated, that the defendants got the case tried.

Stow has appealed from the trial judgment to the divisional court. Most eminent counsel for all the defendants have advised that the Stow action cannot be maintained, and your directors disregard the litigation as affecting the company injuriously now or hereafter, except in the depression of the price of the company's stock on the market, While stow protongs the proceedings, quote live cattle (American) lower, at this appeal is just now stayed by an order of the stown pelling him to give sufficient security for the heavy costs to which he has put the defendants in this action. Your directors and others interested answered all enquirers, but regret that they have not een able to ward off the consequences of the course adopted.

While the directors regret that the operations of the company have not yet esulted in the production of shipme of ore, they desire to say that their general manager has carried on mine operations to their satisfaction, and they agree with the opinion he expresses that eventually the company's mine will prove quite as rich a property as was expected.

After the reports had been presented, the following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year: ren, Frank C. Loring, W. F. Currie and F. W. Campbell. The two latter take the places of Messrs. James Robinson and R. T. Shillington, M.L.A., who were J.,

MANY CANDIDATES FOR SENATORIAL VACANCY

Speculation as to Who Will Gain Seat Made Vacant by Death of Sir George Drummond.

Q.O.R. ENGLISH TRIP NOT FOR PLEASURE ONLY

Plenty of Hard Soldiering Lies Ahead of Toronto Corps at Aldershot Manoeuvres,

When the Queen's Own Rifles embark on Aug. 20, on the SS. Majestic of the White Star Line, ahead of them will lie some four weeks of good, hard soldiering in that sternest of all milithat the regiment will benefit ! by the experience, is more than

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, mindful discomforts inseparable to li board a troopship, has placed the taboo on hammocks, and in place of these precarious sleeping shifts, the men will be allotted in fours to cabins. This is an improvement which will appeal readily to all old soldiers who know what sleeping in a ship's hammock means.

Preliminary Training. It has not yet been definitely decided whether the preliminary training will take place in Quebec or Toronto, but present opinion seems to favor the latter city. Aldershot, the destination of the Q.O.R., is the premier miltary camp of the empire. There are permanently stationed in that command some twenty to thirty thousand troops of all arms. Moreover, it is the headquarters of the Army Service Corps, the R.A.M.C., and the school of army ballooning, and at all times of the year instruction in various military subjects is carried out in "The Shot," as the famous camp is popularly call-

Who the Queen's Own will be brigaded with is an open question at pre-sent, but it is more than probable that f a light infantry or rifle brigade is formed, they will find a place in it. The standard of the men will give the British "Tommy" a fair idea of the physique of young Canada, no member of the regiment being under 5 feet 8 inches in height. The announcement that in place of the old familiar uniform of rifle green, khaki will be worn has given universal satisfaction.

No Picnic Conditions. Aldershot is no easy place to soldier in, and picnic conditions will be conspicuous by their absence. On the other hand there will be plenty of hard marching and field operations, which will enable the Q. O. R. to testify to the fact that after all, even in time of peace, the soldier's life is not one of luxurious ease.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Rogers are now quite complete. His Majesty will leave this country about the third week in February, and will be absent altogether for about six weeks. Before his departure the King will, of course, open the new parliament, and a court will be held at Buckingham Palace, and a levee at St. James' Palace. The announcement in the papers re cently, to the effect that Lady Affleck, wife of Sir Robert Affleck, has been engaged for six or seven months past as a saleswoman at a big Oxford-st. emporium recalls the fact that Dal-ham Hall, the old seat of the family in Suffolk, is one of those places which have a "curse" upon them. In these matter-of-fact days, superstitious beliefs receive little credence; but fact is beyond dispute that the Dal-ham Hall estate has always brought sudden death or misfortune to its owners. Misfortune dogged the steps of the Afflecks, and the ers of Dalham all died suddenly. Ill-luck which apparently attaches to the property is attributed to the fact that the mansion is built on the site of a monastery which was looted and plundered at the time of the Reform-

Mrs. George Burn, wife of the general manager of the Bank of Ottawa, was the hostess of a bright house dance on Wednesday evening, which was very enjoyable. The second large dance given by Her Excellency Lady Grey since the beginning of the year came off on Thursday night, February 3, and was even more enjoyable than its predecessor of a week or so ago. The younger set com-prised the majority of the guests, and therefore dancing was more general. The same perfect arrangements were in evidence everywhere.

ary court of law the promoters of the bill would lose their case." His opinion also was that the select committee, members of parliament and the reading public would be deeply impressed by the sworn testimony of the Dominion live stock commissioner and veterinary director general and of the experts of eminence who had placed before the Dominion an array of facts and figures demonstrating the scale and importance of the horse industry. This evidence, he thought, would have a steadying influence on parliament and avert hasty legislation. H. G. Bedwell is coming up from Juarez in the spring with the biggest string he has ever raced on the Canadian circuit. He will put in the in-terval between the Mexico closing and the Woodbine opening at the Ken-ion.

In some quarters the belief is expressed that if any modification of the present law is made this session it will be in the direction of regulation by delegalizing street handbook making, and possibly by placing a limitation on the duration of race meetings. The evidence has clearly established that thorobred blood is absolutely essential to the breefig interests; that racing is required to maintain the high standard of the light horse, which would not flourish under hostile legislation of the drastic character: NEW TRACK RECORDS. Juarez and Moncrief Park tracks fulfil high speed expectations.

The fast time recorded recently at Jucrez and Jacksonville demonstrates that the new Mexican and the Moncrief Park tracks, will meet the highest speed expectations. At Juarez the mile record 1.37 4-5 was made by H. G. Bedwell's Knight Deck (111.) C. H. NEW YORK PROSPECTS.

Amendments to Hughes' Law of Doubtful Constitutionality.

New York prospects are bright for the spring meetings except for proposed adverse amendments to the state law. The amendments aimed against oral speculation are, however, of doubtful constitutionality, and are so drastic that they are likely to succumb to their own weight. Among the metropolitan horsemen exhibiting enterprising zeal, George Odom is in the front rank. He has Trance, Traveller, Bonnie Kelso, Nimbus and Prince Gal sound and lively. TWO ENGLISH CRACKS. Two Thousand Guineas-Lord Durham's Rock Sand Colt Rochester.

The British elections, with all their excitement, failed to allure the entire attention of lovers of the sport of kings, and cross-country meetings went merrily on at Manchester and Newbury. Interest in future classic races centered largely in the Two A Thousand Guineas. Newmarket folks are especially sweet on Lord Durham's Rochester, a bay son of Rock Sand and Caparison, who will never be handicapped as his sire was by lack of size, for he is built on bigger lines altogether than the triple-crowned good little horse who got him, and who has always been rather a victim of prejudice, mainly owing to his small stature. Rochester is altho he had the redoubtable Maher in the saddle when stripped for the Rous Memorial Stakes, he was not at all fancied; but, backward as he was, stopped-up feeling that all caarrh he gave the odds-layers—2 to 1 was sufferers have. It heals the diseased betted on Lemberg—a fright, for he got to the neck of the Manton crack so that you will not be constantly may easily prove Rock Sand's best progeny. His dam, Caparison, is quite a young mare. Caparison is by Sir Visto, out of Tinsel, who was by Bend Or, out of Frivolous, by Friponnier, and I quite expect that when the end of the coming season is reached Rochester's doings will have tended to chester's doi suffering from a cold. How to Get Rid of Catarrh Simple, Safe, Reliable Way, and it Costs Nothing to Try.

Those who suffer from catarrh know its miseries. There is no need of this suffering. You can get rid of it by a simple, safe, inexpensive, home treatment discovered by Dr. Blosser, who, for over thirty-five years, has growing into a real good-looking horse, but was too big and backward last season to be hurried in his preparation. Result of Evidence Heard. Legal proceedings having now bed entered upon, a large amount of evi-dence was collected and heard in the Superior Court at Montreal. This evidence, we understand, proved conclusively that there was not the slightest justification for the complaint that the antimony shipped from Japan was inferior in quality, and further it was shown that the zinc which the smelters complained of in their alloys was not ntained in the antimony sent from Kobe. The evidence also disclosed the interesting fact that the smelters had actually sold the antimony in question, and had made a considerable profit on the transaction. The case was heard in February 1907, when a written statement was made for the judge by plaintiff's advocates. In May defendant's counsel was not ready to argue the case, and applied to be allowed to put in a written statement similar to that Wheels of Justice Clogged In February 1908 advice was received in Kobe from plaintiff's advocates stating that the case had been under advisement since the preceding 'september, but that the courts had been very much blocked with business for the past two or three years, and that the judges were utterly unable to overtake their work. At the time this letter was written from Montreal, Judge Tellier had no fewer than fortyeight cases in the Court of Review under advisement. This was in February 1908; twelve months elapsed without any further progress being reported, and now-almost three years after the first hearing of the case, and nearly six years after the refusal to pay for consignments of antimony which gave rise to this action—the Kobe have not endured this outrageous delay without making some protest. The attention of the Registrar of the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa was called to "the gross injustice we e suffered thru what seems to us unaccountable and indeed, whe have suffered thru what and fought out a strenuous finish. Ro-chester is thriving amazingly, and he at the same time it does not poison ering judgment after our case had ering judgment after our case had been tried in court. The whole proceedings seem to us a pure travesty of justice." The reply to this justly in-digrant lever of protest was a brief communication to the effect that the preme court at Ottawa had nothing to do with the provincial courts. Eventually Became Insolvent.

Meanwhile, as already stated, the Canadian smelters had disposed of the antimony about which all this litiga-tion had arisen, and taking advantage of the law's delays and perhaps anticipating an adverse judgment in the fulness of time, had dissolved and changed to another name. In 1908 this

Metrakos Bros., of Montreal Pay Damages for Having Sold a Substitute for Bovril

To protect consumers against inferior substitutes for Bovril, which is a standardized product recommended by the Medical Profession the world over, the Bovril Co. took action recently against the above-named firm, who had sold other products when Bovril was called for.

His Honor Justice Chas. DeLorimier, in the Superior Court, granted an injunction restraining Metrakos Bros. from any further substitution, and condemning them to pay damages to the Boyril Co. and also all the costs.

The evidence in favor of the prospect of the invitation and that New York not only converted by the prospect of plaintiffs was very strong, and had judgment been given in their favor within a reasonable time, they could have distrained upon the defendants and recovered part, if not the whole, of their loss. In the circumstances, the plainting have now no interest in the judgment, for if the Canadian court does eventually decide in their favor, they will be unable to recover, since the defendants are now non est inventus. It is scandalous that such delays in the administration of justice. delays in the administration of justice allow men who are not very scrupu-lous in their business dealings to avoid meeting their responsibilities, and merchants in Japan doing business in Canada will probably, after reading this epitome of the experiences of a Kobe firm in the Canadian courts, take the necessary precautions in opening transactions with new clients.

THE ART OF MAKING FINE CIGARS

In order to make a perfect cigar, you must have something besides good tobacco. You must have the knowledge that can be gained only by years of experience in blending fine tobaccos.

You must have the highest degree of expert workmanship.

In making "NOBLEMEN" Cigars we start right with the choicest Cuban tobaccos. These are blended by men who have half a century of practical experience to guide them.

The cigars are made by the most expert Cuban and Spanish workmen.

It is only natural that "NOBLE-MEN" Cigars should be, and are, the equals of any imported brands at double the price.

"NOBLEMEN" size, two for a quarter. "PANETELA" size, 10c straight. "CONCHA FINA" size, 8 for 25c.

FOR MUSICAL CULTURE.

An elequent and convincing plea for more widespread musical culture than is to be found in this country at present is made by Lester B. Jones, of the University of Chicago, in an article entitled "Music as a "Social Force," published in the January number of The World of To-Day: Music is a form of entertainment. contends Mr. Jones, and no one can deny the pecessity of entertainment as such. Entertainment differs, of course, for different people. One matter is certain. Entertainment differs, of course, for different people. One matter is certain, however—in a large city, with the intense strain of daily life, there is constant necessity for the exercise of the emotions. "Without emotional activity the human mind becomes dull and dejected, visionless and hopeless," observes the writer—an idea similar to the one formulated by Aristotle.

an idea similar to the one formulated by Aristotle.

In this country the demand is constantly for structure that will thrill. Were the sense of musical appreciation developed, this quality might be found in the masterpieces of music. Music is generally admitted to be a source of general pleasure, but none except the genuine music lover can know of the delights of being moved to the depths by the works of the masters. There exists an unhappy tendency to neglect the musical education of the majority of children simply because their abilities do not seem to promise more than mediocre performers. Were advantage taken of this innate appreciation the result would tend to the decrease of sensationalism in other forms. Surely there would be more practical value in a musical education at college than there nusical education at cellege than there in the intricate mathematical courses at are prescribed as indispensable.

"Not mere impressionism, but 'pointlilisme,' in music its Maurice Ravel's 'Spanish Rhapsouy,' played by Mr. Colonne's orchestra, which once before performed the work last year, Even Claude Debussy's musical poem, 'La Mer,' is painted in broader strokes. Mr. Ravel throws thy ilttle dabs of color in showers upon his canvas. There is not an outline not an expanse in the sketch; everything is in spots. Some of them are ingenious and happly descriptive, as in the first part, a 'Prelude to the Night,' followed by a 'Malaguena,' or Serenade, which has picture queness and real numor in the description, for instance, of buriesque serenaders, but other playful touches are unlucky, as in the first violins, literally mewing like a rather deep-volced tom-cat, brought laughs from the audience. The composer has humor, but should avoid unconscious humor, if he can. The single continuous musical idea in his so.netimes successful and sometimes infelicitous pointillisme,' is a theme of four descending notes (in intervals of a semitone, a tone and a second semi-tone), which become a trifle monotonous."

MAKERS OF THE R/M3LER

Finds country thorofares are bad in this country-Comparisons on technical matters

LONDON, Feb. 5 .- (Special.) - Canadian automobilists will be interested in what S. F. Edge, the widely known English motor expert, has been telling the Coventry Engineering Society (Eng.) of his impressions of automobilism in the States and Canada,gained by him during a recent visit.

The first thing that struck Mr. Edge was that much younger men purchased cars than in England. They drove the cars themselves and so learned a good dral about them. In most of the cities they had an automobile club garage, where cars could be left and kept in good condition, always ready for use, , that with the exception of small repairs the driver had very lit-attention to give to the car.. He ced the cars were mostly of the it type, such as were more in use England five years ago.

Becoming of General Use. Another thing was that the taxi-abs were of rather a poor descrip-tion, altho the drivers were careful and handled their cars effectively. Another point of distinct disadvantage relating to the taxis was that, according to their rating, or license ulations, they were only free to for hire in certain districts and not thruout the city generally. He was of the distinct opinion that Europe was in advance of America in regard use of the taxi, but there was growing tendency on the part of the Americans to employ this class of veciany for city traveling, in preference to their trolley car, overhead and underground railway systems.

Dividing the classes of people who used motor cars into those who wanted them for pleasure and those who wanted them for business, he found that the first mentioned class mostly used a powerful car of some 40 h.p. The second class used them mostly in outlying districts, such as farmers for getting their goods to the neighboring towns quickly, and others as a useful means of keeping in touch with civilization. This class was buying 2000 cars per year, which were mostly made assembled parts. There were many factories in America making various component parts of a mofor car and other firms were buying these parts and simply assembling them. He did not think this was the type of car which was going to take of which he could recommend English manufacturers to follow. If this type fect used in Europe, it would brobably break down after being driven 20 or 30 miles, because the steering gear was of very poor design and often

Autos Popular in America. Mr. Edge quoted figures showing there were five times as many people in America, in proportion to the population, using motor cars as there were in this country. This meant that the Americans had an enormous market, and it presented a very serious menace to British trade, because, after the Americans had supplied their own demand, they would send over 25 per cent. of their output, in fact, several firms included this in their schedule. Without a doubt this country and its motor car market presented the best opportunity for dumping all this sur-

The car that seemed to be in favor in the States was the Packard, and, altho the change speed gear of this car was carried on the live back axle, this seemingly bad design did not show itself on the road, and to all intents and purposes was in no way detrimental to the good-running of the car. He had the pleasure of looking over the factory at Buffalo of the makers of the Pearce-Arrow car, where their distributed over three types. He was struck by the inclusion in the bodies of large aluminium castings of enormous strength, and, upon asking the casen, he was assured that the American people expected, if anything hap-tened to the car and it should turn over, that when the car was righted it would be found that the body had not been smashed. It was one of those things which the customer seemed to expect, and, therefore, it was advisable to meet it. At this factory last December their 1910 output was already sold. They were also opening out to make in the next season 1200 com-mercial trucks, and it was expected that the market would quickly absorb these. It was evident the Americans were in for a motor boom, and from the way manufacturers were rushing into the business there would come a time when the supply would overreach the demand, and many cars would e left on their hands, which would have to be sold at very close prices in other markets.

Prejudice Exists in England. motor boats, this was purely an American business, and he did not the lowest point.

S. F. Edge, an English mo-S. F. Edge, an English motor expert, who was in Canada last season, has given his impressions to a London society and among them is the opinion that there are few good roads in the Dominion. The same thing has been said by other observers. There must be some truth in it. The World has been long campaign-World has been long campaign-ing for better roads. With the increasing number of automoincreasing number of automobiles that are coming into use, should not an effort be made to build better roads thruout Canada? Let motorists help pay for the advantage, but above all get the roads. see any hope of British manufacturers getting any opening in this trade. Another point was that there was not the same prejudice in the States against the motor car as there was in England. There were more people in a position to buy cars, and the older men seemed to be younger minded. To prove to what an extent the business had developed in the States, he handed round the show numbers of three American motor journals, and said that anyone looking thru them said that anyone looking thru them could not fail to be impressed by the great number of manufacturers in the ousiness. At question time, Mr. Edge said the taxi fares in New York were, generally speaking, about twice as high as they were in London, due largely the enormous waste of mileage drivers having to return to a particular rank before being able to take up the next passenger.

He saw very few air-cooled motors in America but fore in Canada.

He did not think there was any possibility of the single-cylinder engine being brought over to England, as it was not suitable for the country.

The universal American wheeltrack of 56 inches, English manufacturers did not seem to appreciate, and many output was equal to six cars per day, made cars with large variations in th track: this was certainly a great disadvantage to the English manufac-turer, but it was a point made much of by the Americans.

FORD BUILDING 25,000 CARS

In Canada.

Few people have any conception of cars in twelve months-what it means from the manufacturer's standpoint. It means for the Ford Motor Company a going inventory of parts and materials for cars of over $5,000,000.

It means new material coming in at the rate of a million dollars worth a

Do you wonder then that there has been a car shortage every year and will be next? Few manufacturers can happen that water will work into the afford or are in position financially to build for stock—the average dealer cannot or will not finance his business to the extent of ordering cars in advance of sales, so that most manufacturers have to shut down in winter and open up in spring. Then the effort to build in four months a twelve months' output proves absolutely impossible and

Well, I don't like to try to estimate the speed, but later I heard the chauffeur telephone police got it all. I laughed until the tears ran as layer after layer of black was laid on Dick's face, and then I was sorry I let the tears run, for they made two startlingly white streaks down my otherwise black face. It was also exciting. When the touring care also exciting. When the touring car slacked up for an unexpected bump we never could tell just how hard we would bang into it. We wrecked both our lamps within the first five miles, and there were several occasions when one or the other of us just missed being catapulted into the other car. Something of the automobile spirit that I had caught at Winnipeg seemed to die out at Saskatoon.

At Edmonton, Dick and I had the back seat of a touring car. This car had a nice top with iron crossbars. know they were iron because one of them stopped my skyward flight, inci-Saskatoon, however, I began to get an idea of what an automobile can up in the way of giving variety to life. I was assigned to a little car with a about a foot taller than I am, had less was assigned to a little car with a double seat in front and a single one behind—runabout, I think they called it. This one ran about thirty-five miles out into the country, and then quit. The sparker wouldn't spark or the clutch wouldn't clutch or the gasoline wouldn't gas or something of that line wouldn't gas or something of that anyway the runabout wouldn't clutch or the gasoline wouldn't gas or something of that which I reached just as we took answer that the state of the seat that I am, had less distance in which to get up speed when we both started upward, so he suffered less damage. About a mile farther on the auto-mobile quit. A little honking halted the car ahead, and we were transferred to that. The direction of Edmonton began to look pretty good to us now, and we were within ten miles of the place when the second car quit. Don't ask me what the trouble was . I don't know anything about automobile complaints; I only know that these two guit work without warning. We walk.

At Calgary, Dick refused to ride with me, and it was necessary to call for volunteers. Herbert, a brave young man, volunteered. Then the chauffeur was instructed to keep within easy walking distance of the railway station. He laughed scornfully, but one of his back tires exploded with a sharp report within fifteen minutes. Then he began to wonder audibly what kind of

At Medicine Hat no one would rid with me. They got a little one-seat machine for me and warned the chauf-feur of the fate in store for him. He was as scornfully skeptical as the ma at Calgary had been. That sittle machine, he said, was the most relia-ble thing of its kind in existence; it ble thing of its kind in existence, never had broken down, and it never would break down. It did very well too. It lasted until we were hustling for the train, and then quit only two the train, and then quit only two the station. I never did blocks from the station. I never did learn whether a plug blew out or the induction coil wouldn't induct, for I jumped out and ran for the car amid the hooting of those who had refused to ride with me.

We had horses at Regina, and horses never before looked so good to me. I am not a supertitious man, not at all, but I can't help thinking it means something when five out of six auto-mobiles break down and one of them Besides, uncertainty as to how I am going to get back always detract from the pleasure of a ride for me.

Calcutta is a Poor Auto City.
Calcutta was the next stop. This city is certainly a wonder to all visitors, especially one from America. No street cleaners are necessary here, as all the scavenger work is done by crows and vultures and a few other birds that live on what they pick up on the streets. Mr. McGregor was surprised to see such a large city as Calcutta, with so few true indexes of modern civilization, the automobile. The city has a population of over a million, and only boasts of three auto dealers. The natives are very indoient and business is at a standstill at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The motor shows held thruout America and the continent during the last two years have proved that for sometime to come there will be very little change in the design and construction of the modern automobile chassis. The power plant, transmission and running gear have reached a high state of efficiency and manufacturers are beginning to give their time and attention to the improvements of the body of the car.

The torpedo body as shown in the illustration is one of the most striking of the new designs and it has been of the people in the front seats and in winter made it impossible for the driver and his companion to keep their feet warm.

The torpedo body entirely eliminates these disadvantages. It also greatly minimizes the dust nuisance, and offers less resistance to the wind. RACING IN A BLAZING CAR.

Of the surmounting of hazards other ian those presented in speed battles, here can be no better illustration than there can be no better illustration than the bravado and nerve displayed by Foxhall Keene in the 1908 race whene with his car a mass of flames, he rushed down the track near Locust Grove in a vain effort to overfake the ear ahead. Several miles down the track from the point named, while he was whirling along at a furious pace, his machine took fire and the flames, fanned by the flight of the car, increased in literality as the automobile sped alors.

A mile and a half farther on, the rear of the car was enveloped in flames and the machine resembled nothing so much as a blazing torch shot thru space. The driver and his mechanic could not be discerned in the flying fireball by persons alongside the track. The heat must have been maddening. And yet Keene kept on.

The names lapped closer and closer to his seat until they blew across his head and hands and forced him to stop, a short distance beyond Locust Grove,

All the Year Motoring.

A fast disappearing myth is the one in regard to our not being able to motor in Toronto in winter. As a matter of fact Toronto is an all-the-year-round motoring city, and what is more to the point it has more high-class enclosed motors for its size

Toronto is an all-the-year-round motoring city, and what is more to the point it has more high-class enclosed motors for its size than any other city in America. These go all the time.

There has not been a day this winter when the automobiles of the city could not run and were not running. Still more remarkable is the fact that the ordinary roads in winter, once the snow is packed, make the best possible wheeling, even petter than asphalt pavement. The downtown stores will also tell you that ladies who have the good fortune to own limousties are able to shop any day now no matter how bad the weather is, as their machines not only take them about in comfort, but there is no exposure of driver or horses, as in the case of the ordinary carriage. As for night engagements for ladies who are in evening dress, nothing known heretofore can equal the closed-in motor for quick transportation without discomfort of any kind. The importance of these two facts—the comfort of the enclosed car, and the knowledge that Toronto is an all-the-year-round motor city, has given a great stimulus to the business, and this has been further helped along by the gradual tendency of the factories to reduce the price of their machines; so that the day is near at hand when the ordinary citizen will be able to get a good car at a reasonable price, and run it all the year round in Toronto in spite of bad weather—a thing heretofore impossible with ordinary horse carriages.

In speaking of the matter of roads, the more the winter motoring is taken up the easier it will be to have the roads even in the country improved. A system may yet be devised for bedding down the snow with some kind of a special roller for the purpose, so that machines will go faster and easier than in summer. We have heard of several roads leading out of Toronto where there has not been the slightest trouble in going 20 miles an hour as easily and conveniently as on the city streets in winter.

This gauze is soaked in disinfectant, and then interposed between the kisser and then—well, then follows the kiss robbed of all its terrors and but few of its delights, so the inventor says. There can be no exchange of disease germs in the kissing when this device is used—the disinfected gauze prevents that absolutely. Infected gauze prevents that absolutely. Of course, this kiss hygienic isn't quite the old-time kiss. For instance, the disinfectant isn't particularly agreeable to thetaste, even when its flavor has been concealed by perfumes, as the inventor advises. Then, too, the interposition of the device may seem something like the presence of a third party. Also, the device raises a question that is highly embarrarsing to 'the modest young womanshall she presume to provide herself with the contrivance in anticipation of the visit of the young man who is attentive to ber, but who as yet is nothing more? Then, too, something of the spontaneity of the old-fashloned kiss is likely to be lost, and also something of the meeting of lip with lip.

Just as simple is marriage in Korea. The bridegroom does not set eyes upon his bride until the wedding day. On that day he rides to her home on a twite pony, and, having been introduced to her, produces for her acceptance a goose-emblem of fidelity. The couple then bow to each other three or fcur times, and the ceremony is complete.

In Tibet when a young man desires to wed a maiden he goes, accompanied by his parents, to the tent where the object of his affections resides. When the usual salutations are over, the suitor's father asks on behalf of his son for the young lady's hand. If the reply is favorable the young man piaces a lump of butter on her forehead. She returns the compliment, and the buttered couple are man and wife.

"Marriage," it has been said, "Is the | There was a certain rising young mail other of the world." Quaint customs accompany it in many foreign ands.

One wonders how many people in this country have heard of "the bride box." In Morocco the term is quite familiar. There the bride, arrayed in her beautiful wedding garments, is placed in a rough wooden cake. Usplaced in a rough wooden the bride is taken in procession thruther the bride is taken in procession thruther the bride is taken in procession thruther the bride generally finds it a trying ordeal. Often many shrines are visited en route, and, should the "bearers" be more than ordinarily demonstrative, the lot of the prisoner is not an altogether happy one. Musicians accompany the cortege, and play lively airs in tune to this real wedding march. When the party reach the bridegroom's dwelling the bride emerges from the cage and straightens out her crumpled clothes.

After a honeymoon lasting a couple of days the box is hoisted on to the roof of the house, and there displayed in a prominent position. This is an intimation that the happy couple are ready to receive visitors. During the reception, strangely enough, the bride does not trouble herself at all about her guests; she is suffered to doze all her guests; she is suffered to doze all the time. On the other hand, her hus-band and his friends enter heartily into the spirit of the joyous occasion. There are many queer marriage cus-oms among the islands of the Pacific. PUBLIC PORTRAITS.

It is the custom of banks, hospitals, universities, schools of medicine and public buildings, such as city halls, state houses and federal halls, to collect portraits of their representative leaders. Would not these buildings gain in dignity and beauty if the portraits were given a mural setting that traits were given a mural setting that contributed to the enrichment of the halls and chambers of the structures? English country houses, guild halls, college buildings at Oxford and elsewhere, as well as many places on the continent, have successfully employed this kind of decoration. The country is particularly rich in portraits. These are preserved with much care and become in some cases a feature of decoration in great homes, pointed to with ration in great homes, pointed to with pride. There are collections of portraits owned by municipal and state buildings in this country which could readily be made available for really handsome decoration by removing their frames, which are often ugly objects in themselves, and with an architec tural purpose arranging these pictures as a frieze above a high wainscotting. An acquaintance who is planning a country house tells me that he is really building his house around the por-trait, which he highly prizes, of his father. It is placed, set in, over the dining-room fireplace and may be approached thru a suite of rooms and seen at a distance of 90 or 100 fect.—

Dear Mrs. Currah.—I wish to tell you that Orange Lily is doing me a great deal of good. Those ulcers come away one or two every week, and I have less pain and fewer headaches. I feel sure I will be perfectly cured in a little longer time.

The explanation of the wonderful cures performed by ORANGE LILY is very simple. It is a scientific remedy, based on the discoveries of Pasteur and Lister. The conditions existing in all female troubles are alike in character, differing in degree and development only, so that a positive remedy, as ORANGE LILY is, acts with all the certainty of a chemical experiment. In order to convince every suffering woman that ORANGE LILY will cure her. I make the following

FLORIDA

Why is it? The reason is simple. Because we were familiar with Florida lands and bought this property after fourteen years' experience, knowing it met every requirement of the orange and grape fruit grower as well as the truck farmer; because we side step no issues and tell the people the whole truth about Florida, whether for or against us; because the people we send down write their friends that our land is much better than we represent it and that our statements are reliable.

To Investors and Homeseekers

You still have opportunity of securing some of this land, the very cream of the orange blossom state, if you will act quickly. Don't wait until it is all sold and regret it afterwards. Our location is ideal.

Our Proposition Consists 10,000 Acres

Around Davenport, situated on the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, about 8,000 acres sandy loam with yellow clay sub-soil, pronounced by experts to be the best orange and grape fruit land in Florida; 2,000 acres of black muck land suitable for celery, the very same soil that is worth around Sanford to-day from $500 to $5,000 per acre. We have subdivided these tracts into five-acre ots, laid out so as to give roadway to each tract. We are offering hem at $25.00 per acre or $125 per tract, payable $5.00 down and $10.00 monthly until paid. We give you a bond when first payment is made, agreeing to make deed on completion of payments, with fishing and hunting privileges on our game preserves for you and your family in fee simple. We pay all taxes for you until 1911 and further agree, after that date, to look after your property for you and pay the taxes (without giving you any trouble or anxiety) at the actual cost, plus ten per cent. You can take immediate possession of this land if you so desire after making the first payment. If you do not wish to do this, however, we will look after it for you until such time as you arrange for cultivation.

Our Ironclad Guarantee

is that every acre of our land is tillable and just as represented. We do not limit you to time for investigation, but if you EVER find that we have misrepresented it in any particular, we will refund you every dollar you have paid us. We do this because we know whereof we speak. We know we have a clean, straight, business proposition to offer you in the way of real estate investment in Florida. We employ no catch-penny scheme, nor do we attempt to paint imaginary pictures. We base every statement upon facts. Our company is preparing to build a nice comfortable hotel close to the depot for the benefit of our customers who visit this property. For the further benefit of those who go there with their families to locate, we will make special rates to such parties while inspecting the property or arranging to build homes.

Our Planting Proposition

We will sell you a tract of land, clear it for you; secure the best orange, grape fruit, lemon or other citrus crops you propose to plant; set them out for you, and keep it in first-class condition until bearing begins. We have procured a competent man for this purpose who is thoroughly honest and fully understands the business. (He will plant fifty acres for our company this winter.) We will render you a bill of each item, of expense separately so that you can

Dear Mr. Peeler:

Mr. Wheeler arrived Sunday night. Thank you very much for what you did for him. I will fix things all right when I see you next week. I think I have the finest ten acres on the ground. Part of it is high and I shall use this for fruit trees, oranges and other citrus fruits and the rest of the land, about two acres, runs down to one of the most beautiful lakes I have ever seen—I call it Lake Geneva.

Talk about the sunny blue skies of Italy—Florida has just as blue as any, and I tell Mr. Wheeler that if a man cannot make a good living here and be happy, he ought to be sent out of the country. But the place must be seen to be appreciated—it is grand!

My daughter, whom you know is suffering from consumption, is improving every day. It is wonderful; she sits out doors in the sunshine all day.

We need no fire through the day, but in the morning and after supper a fire in the wide open fire-place is very enjoyable, but even then we must leave the doors open or it would be too warm.

I could fill a hundred sheets of paper and then some more writing about this wonderful place, but I am too busy getting settled, so must not write a long letter.

My house will be finished to-morrow. It is 12x24 with a wide porch on the west. I will enclose one end of the porch for a kitchen,

The story is that of a young Irishman whose wealthy grandfather disinherits him because of his determination to wed Nora Donavan; the grandfather having selected another wife for him: Complications arise which threaten Nora's father, charging him with a crime of which he is innocent. Circumstances point to him as the guilty man and he has submitted to blackmail in fear of a public charge being made against him by the villain. Nora and Phil, her lover, find it necessary to raise five hundred pounds, and within four days. Phil's voice in the meantime has attracted the attention of the celebrated Irish manager, Connelly, of the Dublin "Music Hall of Harmony" who gives Philip (Mr. O'Hara) a chance to fill the place of Ireland's tenor-O'Ragen. Manager leading Connelly had quarrelled with O'Ragen. Phil's grandfather discredits the report that Phil is to take the place of the noted singer and laughs at his presumption. STAGE NOTES

Mr. Theodore Roberts, who is playing the role of John Gale in "The Barrier," which Klaw & Erlanger brought their New Amsterdam Theatre in New York on January 10th, has this to say of his early experiences:

"My father wanted me to be a sailer. My mother didn't want me to be an actor. Mother sent me to an elocution teacher when I was about sixteen, telling me that she did not want me to think it meant her approval of the stage, and telling the teacher not to suggest the stage to me.

"I met James O'Neill. He let me read a few things to him from Shakspere and "Richelieu"—I knew them all—and then told my mother I ought to go on the stage. 'He'll be at the top in a year or two,' he told mother, 'and you ought to let him go.' He was wrong in his prediction, but mother gave her consent.

"After I had been bumping around the country for a few years I got fired of the life and went to my father-ho never had approved—and I told him I'd try the sea just to please him. "Two years was enough to convince me that I didn't want any more of it. I didn't know enough of the business end to make expenses, so I gave it up and came back to the stage."

Marie Tempest in "Penelope"

Miss Marie Tempest, the most accomplished comedienne on the English stage, supported by the London Comedy Theatre Company, in "Penelope," a whimsical comedy by W. Somerset Maughan, will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre for the week begin.

Sharing stellar honors with Sir Charles Wyndham, in "The Mollusc," is Miss Mary Moore, one of the most prominent English actresses. Miss Moore's tareer has been so closely associated with Sir Charles' that to recite to one is to tell the other—for 30 years these two players have appeared almost continually together.

Like Sir Charles she has played in every civilized country in the world, and been commanded to appear before most of the crowned heads. King Edward, Emperor William, the Czar Her wise old father, however, dissuades her from this course and points out to her how she can win her husband back and keep him, once he is back. VIOLA ALLEN

My! I was scared when I approached Viola Allen's manager, for I had heard that Miss Allen hated interviewers, and I did so want to meet her, and, at the same time, I did not want to be hated for it.

He looked so stern and businessy. I elt sure my pie was burnt before making, but he relented, and said I might see her the next night between acts. Honestly, I believed I could have hugged that man. Well, the next night, the 'between acts' came one act before I expected, and I hadn't thought of a single, solitary thing to say. However, I trusted to the Fates or something for inspiration, and first thing I knew I was in Miss Allen's dressing-room

Shakspere took pride in his man hood. His reasoning faculties, his selfconsciousness, his knowledge of good and evil, were to him godlike attributes. Man in his physical nature is the "paragon of animals." The nighest tribute Shakspere pays any of his creations is that bestowed on the dead Brutus by his enemy Marc Antony:

"The elements
So mixed in him that nature might And say to all the world, This was man!"

In "Hamlet" he gives an epigralic natical discourse on man that has be dignity to human character. No man can read the following words without having noble aspirations: "What a piece of work is man! No man can afford to forget that he is in a society whose stability depends on the active co-operation of its members. If he has wealth it is not his own, it belongs to humanity. He has it merely in trust. He is guilty of crime if he squanders it solely to satisfy his own desires. He should be actively at work doing his duty in the present and building for the future, It is the men who are stringing railways across the continents, erecting factories, opening up wheatfields, who are doing the work their Creator intended them to do. It is the poor man cannot do this, but all men can work. "It is work that gives flavor to life."

It is work, work for eternity which raises man above the beast. It is work which shapes character. Idleness is the mother of extravagance and vice. An idle man is a curse to himself and a burden to humanity. In the human hive there is no room for drones. Some say, "Let us eat, drink and be merry to the morrow we die." We to-morrow we die." We do but our deeds live dust, Every man, no matter what humble position he may occupy, has it in his power to make the world better and brighter for his presence. Her work ranks with that of Mr. Krutz of the Albreight Gallery, with Mr. Arthur M. Dows head of design at Columbia and with that of Frank Brygwym of London, England.

I have enjoyed the friendship of Miss Mason for many years and considered her one of the most conservative of women, possibly more because of her southern birth and manner than her expressed sentiments.

During my last visit to New York I stopped at her studio and was able to intimately study her character and I now feel that she is one of the most public-spirited women I have known.

It is encouraging that there is such a renaissance in ceramics in America and before long we should have collections to compare favorably with the wares of Rouen, those wonderful pieces in the Cluny Museum in Paris.. We venture to prophesy that when a collection is made the work of Miss Mason will be among the very best.

May most of the handpainted china be relegated to the attic along with hair wreaths, waxed flowers, plaster-of-paris cats and white starched lace curtains and in their place put just ne bit of ware artistically decorated.

A Fo'c'sle Aft.

Perhaps nothing more revolutionary of steple maritime ideas has ever been done than the putting of the crew's quarters in the stern of the ship, as is now the case in the new steamers of the United Fruit Company. Imagine a "fo'c'sle" square aft, yet that is exactly what has happened, and strange as it may seem, the evolution has been somewhat gradual also. In the old sailing days the place of authority was, of course, the quarter-deck, which generally included all the space abaft the mizzenmast, and woe to the man found thereabouts without permissicn. The crew were "before the mast," the forecastle being invariably forward of the foremast, sometimes a "topgallant forecastle," right in the eyes of the ship, while the carpenter and petty officers steple maritime ideas has ever been done

Aftermath of Our January Sales

THE supreme daintiness, the surpassing quality of the garments themselves and above all the moderation of the prices made our January Whitewear Sale a pronounced success, and after the tremendous selling that we had there are as a consequence many lines that are soiled and broken so that we have reduced the prices to a point that will clear these garments very quickly. We cannot go into details as the varieties are so numerous, but would suggest your calling in and examining the values for yourself.

Appeals to the Editor.

Charles Dickens, speaking from a full heart, somewhere mentions the profoundly unreasonable grounds on which an editor is often urged to accept unsuitable articles, such as "having been at school with the writer's husband's brother-in-law, or having lent an alpenstock in Switzerland to the writer's wife's nephew, when that interesting stranger had broken his own."

Thackeray resigned the editorship of The Cornhill Magazine on account of what he endured from the inevitable necessity of unheeding prayers for the purchase of unsuitable MS. — Olive Logan in The Era.

The Stern Moral Law.

The Stern Moral Law.

Dr. Gladden's Recollections.

We shall get it hammered into our heads one of these days that this is a moral universe; not that it is going to be, by and by, but that it is moral now, moral all thru, in tissue and fibre, n gristle and bone, in muscle and brain, in sensation and thought; and that no injustice fails to get its recompense, now and here. The moral law admonsishes us not to make our fellow man our tool, our tributary. "Thou shall treat humanity"—it is Kant's great saying—"ever as an enc., "ever as a means to thine own selfish end." Disobey that law, and the consequence falls. Evade it no man ever does for so long as the winking of an eyelld, Its penalty strikes him with lightning stroke; he is instantly degraded, beclouded, weakened by his disobedience. Virtue has gone out of him; the slow decay is at, work by which his manhood is despoiled.

FISKE O'HARA AND THE BUTTER-

An amusing incident is told of Mr. Fiske O'Hara who comes to the Grand this week in "The Wearing of the Green." which happened to him not so many years ago. When at home Mr. O'Hara lived in a New England town or city not far from Faston. Mr. O'Hara lived in a New England town or city not far from Poston. He enjoys nothing better than a long walk or drive thru the New England hills and valleys, and on one of his jaunts he stopped at a farm house to get a drink of buttermilk, if they had any that was fresh and if not, then sweet milk. O'Hara noticed quite a citified air about the verandah and a number of young people about, not farm hands nor "Belles of the Kitchem" thought they must be summer boarders. To his inquiry for the lady of the house, a matronly New England wo-man appeared and O'Hara made his wants known.

"Yes young man, you can have all you can drink, freshed churned this morning," and she helped Fiske bountifully. After quenching his thirst, he thank-ed her, put his hands into his pocket

O'Hara's infectious laugh brought several of the ladies from the veran-da to see what was doing and as the funny side of O'Hara's nature was uppermost, he thought he would "push it along;" so he said: "My good lady I thank you very much. Buttermilk is a wenderful tonic and stimulant to the voice. Didn't you ever notice the musical squeal your pigs give after drinking buttermilk."
