LONDON, Nov. 22, 5 a. m .- The an- | presented to the Transvaal council of nouncement from Durban that com-munication with Estcourt is interrupted seems to confirm the belief that a Boer commando has established itself at Willow Grange or near the Mooi river, and has cut the telegraph wires. It is certain that, owing to the heavy work of debarkation and entraining at Durban, the preparations for the adrance of the relief force are in nowise o advanced as had been supposed On the other hand, the celerity with which troops are being pushed forward from Cape Tewn daily tends to show that all such preparations aggregating forage and provisions were already well advanced before the troops ar-

GUARD YOURSELF.

AS the soldier guards his country in the hour of danger, so will the prudent person—whether man or woman—guard health. This is a trying season; the transition from autumn to winter, with sudden and extreme changes, and raw, damp atmosphere, carries with it many dangers to health. There are twinges of rheumatism or sciatica, or a cold that may develop later into consumption. Perhaps you feel tired and out of sorts, and imagine the feeling will soon pass away. If you are prudent you will guard yourself against the possibility of disease.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

is the only medicine you need. They act promptly and effectively, making rich, red blood and strengthening the nerves. In this way they not only cure disease, but prevent it. If you are at all depressed or unwell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will make you bright, active and strong.

GOOD IN CONSUMPTION.

The Sisters of L'Assomption, Onion Lake, N.W.T., who are doing a noble work among the Indians of that section, write:-"It affords us great pleasure to bear public testimony to the beneficial effects of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Several of the Indian children in our care being menaced by consumption, we gave them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in each case a cure resulted. We distribute a great many boxes to cure scrofula, consumption and anæmia, and always with the happiest results. We recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as the best preventive for consumption we know."

DIZZY AND SLEEPLESS.

Miss Martha Ivey, Norwich, Ont., says:- "I am much pleased with the results obtained from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can cheerfully recommend them. I was troubled with dizziness, headache and sleeplessness. My nerves were unstrung, and my blood poor and and watery. This went on until I was unable to do any work. I procured two boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before I had completely finished them there was a great improvement in my health. I do not know of any better medicine than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can warmly recommend them to others.

Tenth Inter-Collegiate Convention of Maritime Y. M. C. A.

Interesting and Profitable Sessions Closin With Specia Services on Sunday.

SACKVILLE, N. B., Nov. 17 .- The tenth inter-collegiate convention of Maritime Y. M. C. A. holds its sessions in this town, the opening meeting being held last evening in Lingley hall. After a service of prayers and given by Dr. Allison and H. C. Rice, president of the Mount Allison Y. M. C. A. Replies were given by the presidents of the other college associations present; G. F. McNally of U. N. B.; Mr. Glendenning of Acadia, and Mr. Ramsey of Dalhousie, who took the place of Mr. Myers, who was unable to be present. There was a short address from H. W. Hicks, travelling secretary across the border and a graduate of Cornell. The speeches were all bright and interesting, and were pleasantly varied with a vocas solo from Miss Harrison and quartette Messrs. Swenerton, Rice, Ross and Thomas. The hymns were led by united choirs of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of Mount Allison.

Mr. Rice, who acted as chairman, stated that the football match between Dalhousie and Mount Allison, an nounced for Saturday, was postponed the Halifax team not being able to get away at that date, and he then extended a cordial invitation to all who could to attend the meetings of the convention. The meeting closed with benediction from Prof. Paisley. The visitors are being entertaine chiefly by the citizens, as without the Mount Allison accommoda tions are limited.

FRIDAY'S SESSIONS.

Prof. Andrews gave one of his vigrous and inspiring addresses on The Aristian Student in the College, in which he spoke of the rapid growth of character, for good or evil, which a lad experiences during college life. A quartette by two of the young men and two young ladies was very acceptably rendered, after which F. G. Marshall was called on for a few remarks. He said this convention was being held at a .nost suitable time, this week being the week of prayer for young men all over the world. There was a very telling address from H. W. Hicks, who knows well how to command his audience. Mr. Hicks touched chiefly on the great influence one student has on a fellow student. The meeting closed with singing and prayer.

SATURDAY'S PROCEEDINGS. SACKVILLE, Nov. 18 .- This morning the last session of the convention was held in college chapel. A leading feature of the programme was the extremely scholarly address of Prof. Paisley on Leading Truths of the Epistle to the Colossians. This was followed by an address, To What Ex-Bible Study? IN THE PHILIPPINES. Cumberland Co. Man Writes a Shor Letter Home

The Parrsboro Record publishes the following letter from Egbert W.Brown, a Cumberland Co. boy now in the Philippine Islands: "Undoubtedly your paper, the Record, has a history which no other Cumberland paper can boast of that of being on the firing line under a heavy fire of bullets from Mauser and Remington rifles. I received on of your papers, which was sent me by my parents, who reside in Advocato. Cum. Co. It was brought me by an orderly out into the trenches just out- Africa. side of San Fernando, a town about 40 miles from Manila. We were awaiting orders to move forward on the insurgent trenches at the time I got the pa per. I got down behind the trench and began looking it over, and while doing so the insurgents opened upon us with a deadly fire. I folded up the paper and we started the advance at once. We were under a heavy fire and possibly effort toward armed rewhile crossing a sugar can field one thousand yards in width. There came suddenly upon their trenches, and after a fierce charge, we drove the insurgents, who fled to a bamboo grove and opened fire on us again. After advancing a mile further and driving the enemy from there, we rested. I again took the paper out of my pocket and read it. We advanced on a small town, held by the insurgents, the same day, and had quite a hot time before we drove the enemy, put got there afper over again, as it was the first paper I had received from Nova Scotia since I came here to the Philippines. I received another bundle of Records last evening, and the reading of them made me feel a little home-sick, seeing how the boys were having a good time at the picnics, while I am sleeping in trenches and bamboo shacks. We expect to make an advance on Aguin-aldo's stronghold soon and I hope to come out as lucky as I have in the scraps I have been in."

PARNELL HOME SAVED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The mission of Lord Mayor Daniel Tallon of Dublin and John E. Redmond, M. P., to this country in the interest of preserving the Parnell homestead in county Wicklow, Ireland, has been successful. In the Hoffman house tonight Thos. F. Smith, private secretary to Richard Croker, and general secretary of Tam-many hall, presented the lord mayor in the name of Tammany hall with a certifled check for three thousand pounds sterling to save the Parnell homestead. This was $5,000 in excess of the amount needed. Mr. Smith, in presenting the check, expressed his and Mr. Croker's 000 to help the construction of the Crow's Nest railway, not mentioning be so niggardly towards its own rail-

Idmiral Dewey's Son Now the Owner o the Property in Washington, Presented to the People's Hero.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—George Goodwin Dewey, Admiral Dewey's only son, is now the owner of the residence presented to the admiral by the American people.

Today Mrs. Admiral McLean Dewey

made the transfer of the property which yesterday Admiral I ewey transferred to her.
In explanation of the transaction, a relative of the Dewey family made this statement to the Associated Press: The property in question will continue to be the home of the Admiral and Mrs. Dewey so long as they may live. It was the wish of both the Admiral and Mrs. Dewey to provide for a pro-per succession to the property. By all those interested in the matter the method of transfer adopted was considered the best and safest that could have been adopted. It was Mrs. Dewey's desire that she should release any claims she might have to the property through her marriage to the admiral, and to do this the transfer was made through her to the admiral's son as soon as was practicable. Through the method adopted, no dispute ever can arise over the disposition of the pro-

The letter, dated Johannesburg. October 1, is addressed to Representative James S. Sherman of New York, an old schoolmate. In it Mr. Bradford says:

"No sane man questions the ultimate result of the war. If England undertakes to fight the Transvaal she must conquer or lose the whole of South Africa. I do not for a moment believe that England desires to destroy the republican form of government of the Transvaal. It is stated from many sources that the war will be one of conquest, dictated by Great Britain's lust for land, and that the wealth of the Transvaal is at the bottom of the whole thing.

"In my opinion there is a deeper eason. Great Britain is unquestionably the paramount power in South Africa: Cape Town is one of her most important strategical points; she is suzerain of the Transvaal by the London convention; for years the Transvaal has been trying to repudiate that suzerainty and to establish itself as an absolutely independent power.

"In this endeavor the Dutch element in Cape Colony as well as in the Or-erge Free State and Natal has strongly sympathized; and at the present time British sovereignty in South Africa is seriously n.enaced. It is not now a question of seizing territory, but one of maintaining the prestige of "The money of the secret service fund of the Transvaal has been freely used to influence Cape Colony elec tions, to secure the return of Boers in sympathy with the ambition of the Transvaal. Encimous quantities of arms have been imported into this country, ostensibly for the use of the Boers, but the number is so far in excess of any possible burgher requirements that the only conclusion one can draw is that the government contemplates arming its sympathizers in the British colonies.

"The organization known as the Afrikander Bund, which has its ramifications all over South Africa, is made up of the Dutch element, and it is well known that the leaders of this organization, especially Mr. Hoffmier, have long been dreaming—and possibly con-spiring—for the United States of South

"There is in the country a very large foreign population, outnumbering the Boers three to one. They are denied all political rights and are compelled to pay the bulk of the taxes of the country; they represent the wealth and intelligence of the Transvaal; and so long as political rights are denied them here is bound to be constant intrigue volution.

"If Great Britain can secure for her subjects equal political rights, such as will enable them to exercise an appreciable share in the government of the country, the leaven will gradually leaven the whole loaf and the danger of the Transvaal stirring up the rest of South Africa against England will disappear.

"This is the British position and it s one with which I heartily sympa-

"I came here with the belief that the Boers were a sturdy, honest, pioneer people, who deserved the entire control of their own country and to be pro-tected from the foreign population that had settled in their midst, but I have lived here long enough to change that opinion.
"I do not desire to see the indepen ence of the country destroyed, and in this I share the views of many Eng-lishmen here, but the political condi-tion that exists is intolerable. A large majority of the Boers do not trouble themselves with political affairs, they live on their farms and accept mandates of their field cornets as gos-pel; but the governing classes, those who have partaken of the loaves and fishes of office and who are res for the burdens laid upon the foreign population, are, in my opinion, rotten and corrupt."

ABOUT THE WINTER PORT Letter Received by Mayor Sears from General Agent C. A. Duff Miller,

Mayor Sears yesterday received from C. A. Duff Miller, agent general of New Brunswick in London, a copy of a letter he had written Elder-Demspter & Co., Montreal, urging the necessity of the government or city providing large barges to carry freight from the I. C. R. wharves to the C. P. R. wharves at Carleton. In further explanation of his scheme, Mr. Miller wrote Mayor Sears as follows:

It Leather Market, London,

10th November, 1899.

His Worship the Mayor of St. John, N. B.:

Sir—I beg to confirm my letter of the 3rd inst. I have just returned from Liverpool, where I had the pleasure of meeting again Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co., and they were much interested in the suggestions I made in regard to the government or city providing large barges that could take several railway cars from the I. C. R. wharves on the east side to the C. P. R. wharves on the east side to the C. P. R. wharves on the east side to the C. P. R. wharves on the west side, so that their vessels could, while taking in their cargo from the C. P. R. wharves, take in I. C. R. or St. John city cargoes from the other. H sufficiently large barges to carry railroad cars are too expensive to be contemplated, though I do not think this should stand in the way, perhaps the city or the government could provide barges, carrying goods across at a hominal charge, or would include this in the railway rates. For instance, in the case of our extract coming from the Miramichi to St. John, it increases the expense of freight to the steamer between thirty and forty per cent. simply for the short transport from the I. C. R. terminus round the harbor to the export steamer. This gives Halifax a great pull over St. John. For instance, in a late letter I received from Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co., I notice the following:

"The boats will be running to the C. P. R. terminus at St. John. However, they will be calling at Halifax also, so there will be an outlet for the I. C. R. there."

Of course if shippers cannot get these facilities at St. John, Halifax forms the best shipping point for all the North Shore of stevedoring. Which costs the cath. 17 Leather Market, London, 10th November, 1899.

best shipping point for all the North Shore points.

There is also the very important matter of stev-doring, which costs the ship considerably more in St. John than it does in Halifax. I took this matter up very fully with George Robertson when he was over here and again by letter since his return, and he has promised that St. John will not for long be at a disadvantage to Halifax in this respect, but, as a matter of fact, the steamship companies who have been hither-to running to St. John will actually quote a lower rate from Halifax than from St. John, or if, as they generally do, they insist upon raking the merchandise either from St. John or Halifax, they invariably give the preference to Halifax. Now, this is not a pleasant thing for the agent general for New to the great future port of St. John, N. B., in this respect.

I also beg to acquaint you with the fact that I am delivering a lecture here before the Imperial Institute in January next on "St. John as a Winter Port of Canada," and hope to bring out forcibly all the advantages of this city as at least the chief commercial and winter port of Canada, so that I am anxious between this and then to point out any increased facilities that may be arranged or offered.

I have the honor to be, sir,

Your most obedient servan C. A. DUFF-MILLER. Agent General for New Brunswick.

If the readers of this paper could only investigate the evidence which comes to these offices in the form of letters of gratitude, they could not but have the utmost confidence in the great curative powers of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Here is a plain, modest statement from Mr. Thos. T. Blair, St. Marys, York Co., N. GOLDEN WEDDING

Geo. W White and Mrs. White of Centreville.

Relatives and Friends Join in Congratula tions-A Loyalist Family-Gifts and an Address Presented.

On the 17th November, 1849, the late Rev. Abram Wood united in the bonds of matrimony, at Waterborough, Queens county, Geo. W. White and Mary Wiggins, daughter of the late Eben Wiggins. The bride has reached the three score and ten, while the groom is her senior by three years. They both still are very active, enjoy good health, and retain many impres sions of the early part of the 19th cen-

One of the most interesting family ratherings was held at their home in Centreville on the 17th inst., to celeorate their golden wedding, with their hildren, grandchildren and friends, who all joined in making the occasion one of particular pleasure to the worthy couple. One hundred persons were present from Michigan, Houlton and rarious other places.

Among the invited guests were: L. A. and G. N. White, A. C. Gibson and wife, G. L. White and wife, Dr. Peppers, J. A. Humble and wife, Miss May and Minnie White, Mrs. H. T. Parlee, Arthur Hatfield and wife, E. A. Hoyt and wife, Hon. R. W. Shaw and wife, W. Burtt and wife, W. W. White, D., Mrs. Payson, W. Burtt and wife, Mrs. Henry Bradley, Frank and Fred Gibson, Clinton, Helen and Mollie Cody, Gwendolyn White, and seventy-

Many congratulations in letters were received by the bride and groom from those who were unable to attend, together with many valuable gold presents, including a gold-headed cane and a valuable brooch to the bride, presented by their eight children, upon which were inscribed the recipients' name and the initials of the children's names, as tokens expressing their best wishes for an extension of the many years of happiness that Mr. and Mrs. White have enjoyed.

Both the interested parties were born in Queens county, and removed to Carleton 38 years ago, where many important incidents of their life have transpired, but yet their capacity for enjoyment, judged by the evening's entertainment, has increased as the years have gone by.

Mr. and Mrs. White are descendants of Levalists, who came to this country after the American revolution, the former being the grandson of the late William White, who first settled in St. John, afterward removing to Queens Co., where he became a prosperous farmer, he and his wife attaining the age of 97 years at the

The husband and wife of fifty years were kept largely in ignorance of the evening's arrangements, and were therefore surprised as well as delighted at the honor done them. After the invited company had done ample jus-tice to the bountiful repast provided, the house was taken possession of by a surprise party, composed of their friends and neighbors, who entered and took part in the evening's entertainment, and who, in view of the large number present by special invitation, in picnic style came supplied with an abundance of refreshments, which at the close was partaken of by all pres-nt.

At 9 o'clock the company were called to order by their eldest living son, L. A. White, who with his brother, G. N. White, and daughter, came from Michigan to attend the golden anniversary of their parents.

After an able address by the chairman, reviewing events of the past 50 years, and a remark that although widely separated, yet his love for the old home, and remembrance of the scenes of childhood were strengthening as the years go by. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Spargo. Hon. R. W. Shaw of Houlton responded to a call from the chairman, and for half an hour held the undivided attention of the large audience. He reviewed the progress of the last 50 years in the world and then referred to his boyhood days when, having but little of this world's goods, he was assisted and liberally entertained by the bride and groom, whose kindness and benevolence was worthy of imitation. He expressed the great pleasure he and his wife felt in being permitted to take part in so worthy an entertainment, where the interested parties were celebrating an event which few are permitted to enjoy. In response to an invitation by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Spargo interested the company with an address full of spiritual counsel, alike beneficial to old and young. He also complimented the bride and groom on their good health,

In the name and on behalf of the surprise party, Mrs. R. W. Balloch, in a graceful and neatly worded speech, presented the bride with a candelabrum, as a token of good feeling which exists towards the family.

At the conclusion of the speeches the following address was presented:

To Mr. and Mrs. George W. White on the occasion of their golden wedding:

It is given to but few to celebrate the fittieth anniversary of their married life, and we have assembled here tonight from widely separated points to felicitate you on an important event that took place fifty years ago, in which you were the principal actors and which united you for life. During this half century you have seen many changes, much advancement in arts and sciences as well as great improvement in the physical and spiritual advancement of the people. You have experienced the usual vicissitudes of life with its joys and sorrows, its pleasures and its pains; but we are rappy to know that the sunshine has greatly exceded the shadow and that the lines have fallen to you in pleasant places; that a kind Providence has blessed you with health and strength to enable you with us, at this time, to offer neartfelt thanks to God for His loving kindness and His tender mercy for His watchfulness over and care for you so long.

We have assembled as relatives, friends for His watchfulness over and care for you so long.

We have assembled as relatives, friends and neighbors to make this a loyous anniversary to you and to express also in a tangible way the high regard and esteem in which you are held by us as relatives, friends and neighbors, as well as by all wherever you are known. Your doors have ever been opened and your table spread for friends and strangers alike; and your acts of kindness in all the walks of life deserve more than passing notice. You have always taken an active interest in everything that tends to the general good, and the spread of the Master's gospel has been your constant care, and we believe in giving honor to whom honor is due.

We regret to be informed that of the many who were present at your marriage but one person besides yourselves is now living, as a result of the changes of the passing years.

We kindly ask you to accept these gifts as a small token of the respect and genuine friendship and good feeling that we have for you.

You have our heartiest congratulations on having reached your fiftieth matrimonial anniversary, and we sincerely hope that the remainder of your journey along life's pathway may be as bright and happy as the past has been, and that after a well spent life you will go out from us in the blessed hope of a glorious immortality.

This address was signed by all those whose names appear on the former part of this letter.

This was replied to by the groom, who reviewed the passing events of 50 yours, noting the many changes and advancement made, not only for the comfort, and benefit of the people, the people of the people. financially, morally and spiritually, but as well the changes and inroads made by death, which are calculated to impress upon our minds the necessity of preparing for a better life beyond the Refreshments were then handed round, of which all were partakers. It now being midnight, separation followed, with best wishes for the bride and groom of 50 years.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Nov. 22.-One of the most distressing accidents which has ever been recorded in this county occurred at an early hour this morning at Lockhart's Mills, a place four miles from Woodstock. Charles Lockhart, aged 17 years, son of F. A. Lockhart, was fixing something at the bottom of the flume. The gate swung to, catching the young man's foot. He vainly endeavored to extricate himself. His father, who was about, caught hold of his hand, but the water rushed in with tremendous force, and the unfortunate young man was drowned with his hand in that of his father's. The latter is completely unnerved and heartbroken.

THE DOHERTY CASE.

On Tuesday morning an application was made to Judge McLecd by A. I. Trueman, Q. C., and James MacIntyre acting on behalf of Patrick Doherty, for an order to stay execution against him pending an appeal. The supreme court at this time decided that his conviction must stand, and referred the application back to Judge McLeod to refuse it. Accordingly the present application was made to delay the exe-oution of the sentence. Judge McLeod said he had simply obeyed the direc-tions of the supreme court, and could ment of Mr. Doherty. The later walked out of court and about the streets. It was said, later in the day, that A A. Wilson, Q. C., who appeared in support of the conviction, had given directions for the defendant's arrest.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Nov. 17.— Sunday's storm wrought great havoc in this province. About fifty oyster boats, left at anchor on the shore at Richmond Bay, were totally destroyed. The Vice-President of the United States Passes Peacefully Away.

PATTERSON, N. J., Nov. 21.-Vice-President Hobart died at 8.30 a. m. today. He had been failing rapidly since yesterday afternoon, although the re-ports given out at the house were that he was holding his own. At midnight he became unconscious and at 7 o'clock this morning he had an attack of aegina pectoris, from which he never rallied. His death followed at 8.30 o'-

Garret A. Hobart was eminently eccessful both in business and in politics. His reputation as a man of affairs and as one of the shrewdest business men in the country was perhaps greater than his reputation as a politiuntil his election to the vice-presidency three years ago. Mr. Hobart was born in 1844, at Long Branch, N. J. His ancestors on his father's side were English, and on his mother's side, Dutch. Thirty-three years ago he was graduated from Rutgers College, and began teaching school. Three months later he entered upon the study of law. In 1869 he was admitted to the bar, and the same year he married the daughter of Mr. Tuttle. Mr. Robart made his way rapidly at the bar of his native state, and his bent led him early into politics. Through his business connections and his law practice he built up a large fortune.

The law applicable to the vice-presidency was enacted Jan. 19, 1886, by the forty-ninth congress, first session. The main features are as follows: "Be it enacted, etc., that in case removal, death, resignation or inabil-ity of both the president and vice-president of the United States, the secre tary of state, or the secretary of the treasury, or the secretary of war, or the attorney general or the post master general, or the secretary of the ravy, or the secretary of the interior, shall act as president until the disability of the president of vice-president is removed or a president appoin-

The effect of the law is not to provide a succession to the vice-presi-dency, but merely to secure a succession to the presidency.

By the death of Mr. Hobart, Senator William H. Frye of Maine, becomes president pro tempore of the senate and will discharge all the duties of the vice-president as presiding officer of that body. The senate rules specifi-cally provide that no election is necessary at the beginning of the session Senator Frye accordingly will continue as presiding officer till the end of Fre-sident McKinley's administration, unless he chooses to resign, or the senate wishes to elect another senator to the

A curious coincidence is found in the fact that of the six vice-presidents who have died in office, four died in the same month of the year and on days of the month that are not far apart, the date of Mr. Hobart's death being the 21st of November, 1899; that of Mr. Wilson, the 22nd of Nov., 1875; that of Elbridge Gerry, Nov. 23, 1814, and that of Hendricks, Nov. 24, 1885. The other two vice-presidents who died in office were Clinton and King. The former died April 20, 1812, and the latter April 17, 1853.

nnual Wage Agitation in Cotton Mili Towns to the Front-Interesting Items About Provincialists at the Hub and Vicinity.

Thanksgiving day this year falls on Nov. 30, only about three weeks from Christmas, so that for the next month the country trade is expected to be The market men are looking around orisk. Prices of all kinds of market stuff are generally high, as the housekeeper learns when an attempt is made to supply a Sunday table for scarce, many manufacturers find themselves short, and prices are moving upward. The unusually large consumption, scarcity of vessels and lack of cars are the principal causes of the shortage. The low water in New England streams all summer and in the early fall compelled many manufacturing plants to fall back on their coal supply in lieu of the cheaper power, and as a result their sheds are by no means full. Practically every cotton mill and most of the woollen mills are running on full time, thereby consuming an enormous amount of fuel. Soft coal seems to be scarcer than the anthracite. Stove coal at retail here is worth $6. This year, thus far, 127,705 tons of provincial coal have been received here. The annual wage agitation in New England cotton mill towns is again to the front, and it would be a surprise, indeed, if the year closed without a strike in some big manufacturing centre. Representatives of the 28,-000 operatives in Fall River have notified the mill owners that all hands will stop work unless an advance of 10 per cent. is given. A strike at this time of year, and when business is rushing, would be a serious thing for all concerned, and it is believed that the manufacturers will decide to make concessions. Similar demands have een made in New Bedford, the scene of the last great strike, Lowell, Rhode Island and elsewhere. If the Fall River mill owners refuse to give their employes any encouragement, a general strike will be ordered, and a day in December has already been set for that event. A big upheaval in cotton mill centres this winter would well nigh paralyze business in New England. Willard H. Fraser of Summerside and Mary A. Each claims the same fund, which is on deposit in the bank in the name of a deceased relative. The bank considers Willard H. Fraser's claim the Heavier receipts from the provinces, high prices and a sudden falling off in building operations hereabouts, have imparted an easier tone to the spruce lumber trade here. While the market is still in a satisfactory condition, yet the demand has lessened and the ward march of prices has been che ed. The agreement prices decided upon in October by millmen still pre-vail, but in some cases lumber has sold below the quotations. A quiet market during the winter months is looked for. less than carloads, $1 to 1.58 more. The fish market has been relegated to a back seat and business will be light except for favorite kinds until the Thanksgiving season is over. Mack-erel and cod are steady and unchanged in price. Barrel herring are in short supply, with prices higher. Nova Scotia split are quoted at $6.50 to 7; medium, $5.50 to 6, and Mancy Scatteri at $8. Sardines are firmer at $3.50 to 3.70 for quarter oils and $3.75 to 3.95 for three-quarter mustards. Canned lobeters continue scarce and firm at $3,25 for flats and $3 to 3.10 for talls. Fresh fish are cheaper by reason of heavy receipts. Eastern smelts are worth 10c and natives, 15c. Live lobsters are in good demand at 16c. and boiled at 18c.

LADY SALISBURY DEAD. Mad Been in Poor Health for a Long

Timer. LONDON, Nov. 20.-Lady Salisbury, wife of the premier, who suffered a second stroke of paralysis in July last, died today. The Marchioness of Salisbury was a Hall Alderson, Baron of the Court of Exchequer. Baron Alderson was one of the most distinguished judges of the day, who, after passing through the usual scholastic career at Etcn and Cambridge, worked his way steadily better, and, upon its application to the from a barrister sighing for better, and, upon its application to the from a barrister sighing for better, and, upon its application to the from a barrister sighing for better, and, upon its application to the better, and upon its application to the better to be better to be a be from a barrister sighing for briefs to dersons were a well known Norfolk family, and Edward grandfather of Lady Salisbury, was for many years recorder of Norwich, while one of her great-uncles was Dr. Alderson, whose only child was the famous Mrs. Opie, the well known poet and writer. Lady Salisbury's mother was the daughter of Rev. Edward

Drew of Broadenbury, Devon.

Baron Alderson died in 1857, but it was not, however, before the romance, for romance it was, of his daughter's life, had begun. Lord Robert Cecil, second son of the then Marquis of Salisbury, when he declared to his father his attachment for Baron Alderson's daughter, met with a distinct discouragement. For the space of a year, at the request of his father, he refrained from visiting Miss Alderson, but at the expiration of that period he found that his attachment had in no wise abated. His father thereupon told him that he might marry if he liked, but that he should receive no marrying allowance. The son married and for eight years supported himself and his wife mainly by journalistic and his wife mainly by journalistic work. He was at that time member of parliament for Stamford, a town which he continued to represent until his re-moval to the house of lords. Lady Cecil was a great help to her husband during this period, and acted as his amanuensis. In 1865, by the death of the eldest son of the Marquis, Lord Robert Cecil became Viscount Cranborne, and a few years later, on the death of his father, succeeded to the marquisate. As Viscount Cranborne, Lord Salisbury was created secretary of state for India, and his wife found of state fer India, and his wife found her position changed to the more responsible one of a cabinet minister's wife. About a year later she found herself Lady Salisbury and mistress of Hatfield, in itself no mean distinction. As such the world has since seen her, the wife of a distinguished peer, who has four times been foreign minister, and-who, upon the death of Lord Beaconsfield, became the recognized leader of the conservative party. She has viewed each step of her husband's carser with tender regard, and until recently her face, with its strongly marked features, was to be seen inmarked features, was to be seen in

THE SHAM PREFERENCE.

The Globe makes answer to the nts of the Sun respecting the sham preference to Great Britain by quoting the following from the Financial News of London:

Canadians are coming there for fight purchases. It is said that the Yankess are abandoning this class of trade with Canada, Owing to so much business elsewhere. This no doubt, is largely true; but it is essential to remember that it is the difference in duty which makes the trade comparatively less profitable to the Kankes, and prompts them to forego it.

Perhaps the London organ of banking, commerce and large finance may be excused for supposing that Canadians are importers of farm machinery from England. But the Globe ough: to know better. An English mowing machine, or harvester, or hoe or rake or plough is a curiosity in this country. From the trade and navigation table for the fiscal year 1898, the following table has been prepared. The first column gives the numbers of each article imported under the general tariff. The second gives the numbers imported from Great Britain and other countries at that time entitled to tariff

It may be worth while to explain that the one farm wagen which came in un-der preference was imported from France; that the 15 preferential harvesters had a declared value of $137, or an average of $9 each, whereas the regular article averages more than ten times as much: of the 7 preference ploughs 5 came from France, and Germany furnished the 24 preference rakes first men-tioned in the table. A STATESMAN'S GRIEF. At a time when the responsibilities of his great office lie as a heavy bur-den upon the premier of the Empire, there comes to him a personal grief. The love for which young Secil withstood the influence of his family and risked his worldly prospects has found abundant fruition in a singularly happy domestic life. Even the stern struggle for a livelinood which followed this marriage and the consequent loss of his income was itself a blessing, for it doubtless called out powers which otherwise might never have been developed. Mr. Blair has not yet ac-pted the latest nomination, and this solitation introduces a new element of accretainty into the situation in the riding he now represents. If it were known that Mr. Blair would remain at his post and contest Sunbury and Queens, the informal invitation to Mr. coster would probably be confirmed at an early date by a convention, and Mr. Foster would naturally be strongly tempted to accept it. But there would be no point in Mr. Foster's leaving a constituency like York to meet Mr. Blair is his own constituency, if Mr. Blair is about to take the excellent advice of Mr. Hetherington and "move on to another county."

AFTER FIVE WEEKS' WAR. The Boers have succeeded in surounding and isolating four camps of British soldiers. These camps or garrisons at Ladysmith, Estcourt, Kimberley and Mafeking, probably include 000 men. If as a result of the isolation the Boers had been able to attack and capture these positions in detail, and to put the several forces out of action, the war at this stage would General Joubert and his associates. But this is exactly what has not been done. Every one of these garrisons is doing good defensive work where it is. The troops were there not as armies of invasion, but as defensive bodies. It was their work to hold the Boers in check. Now it is believed that each garrison has about it a superior force of Boers. That is to say, every British soldier where he is requires more than one Boer to watch him. He is therefore to that extent fulfilling his

The Boers who, according to their own plan of campaign, should now be at Durban dictating terms to England, with their roads open behind them to Pretoria, are still hovering around Northern Natal not having as yet possessed themselves of one place of great strategical imperiance. It is they and not the British who are destroying the bridges between the Transvaal and the capital of Natal, showing that they fear the British advance more than Gen. Pref. they hope to make many further conquests. An army does not destroy bridges in a country which it expects

> It is a little over a month since hard fighting began with the battle of Talana Fill, near Dundee: If the Boers had carried out their strategic plan, which was a good one, they might inded have been at Durban. Five weeks ago General Symons occupied a weak position, with insufficient provision and ammunition to stand a He was cut off from General by a long march and a Boer ilth, and was without suitable artillery. His force was weak relatively to the Boer army, and his communicatercepted from the Free State. At the time of the first attack, Symons and White together had a force probably less than half that of the Boer army converging upon them, and the arrangement of the Boer force was such that nearly the whole of it could be used in detail, first against Symons

> The first thing was to destroy Symons. For the purpose of making a thorough job of it, the Boer force operated in three divisions. Two were to fall upon Symons from different ns. The third was to get between him and Ladysmith, cut off his retreat, and thus complete the work

We know what happened. Erasmus did not get there in time with his division, and Meyer, instead of driving Symons into the arms of Viljoen, was himself beaten back. Still the British troops did have to fall back on Lady smith, and if nothing had happene to Viljoen they might have been destroyed between him and their pursuers. But the battle of Talana gave Yule, who succeeded Symons, time to delay his retreat, and before he reached Viljoen French had driven the latter from the field of Elandslaagte. The course was further cleared for the function of the two forces by the battle of Reitfontein. Thus the force which was first to be destroyed was saved and added to the one which was next to be cut off. The re-united army is still at Ladysmith, and but for the intact. In fact it has gained more than it lost, for between the attack on Dun-dee and the beginning of the siege the garrison was strengthened from Natal

Four weeks ago today the invest-ment of Lady-mith may be said to have egun. But so far as is known it is not now so close an investment as it was at the beginning, and it is said that the place is still provisioned for six weeks. The occupation of Colenso, the isolation of Estcourt, and the advance to the Mooi River would be important and dangerous events were it not for the fact that the invaders have failed to clear up the ground as they went. They must leave behind them more than man for man with the garrisons. They are themselves compelled to exercise vigilance lest they get caught between two divisions of the

On the west the five weeks' war eaves the Boers much as they were at the beginning. They had invested forty days ago. They are still sur-rounding Mafeking and still trying to get in. They have had Kimberley sur-rounded almost ever since the issue of the manifesto. Four or five thousand Boers have been exerting themselves to get possession of Kimberley and of tohodes. They have not got within rifle shot of Kimberley, and the Honorable

Cecil is apparently safe. The Boers have been aggressive, and their plans have been good. If they could fight as well as the British at close range they would some time ago have had nearly the whole of Natal at they were not able to stand before a British charge. If they had been equal to the British, man for man, Yule have been destroyed by the sault of justly superior force, and Jou-bert would have been at Pletermaritz-burg before the army corps began to arrive at Durban.

(From Friday's Daily Sun.) ANOTHER BATTLE.

The battle of Belmont is the first important action of this war in which it can be said that the British were acting on the offensive. Lord Methuen did not attack the Boers at Belmont to protect himself, but because the Boer force stood in the way of his march toward Kimberley. Here again the Boers had the choice of position, but as at Talana Hill and Elandslaagte. they could not withstand the British charge. Three positions were taken in succession, 40 prisoners fell into the hands of the British, and the way was cleared for further advance. Belmont on the north side of the Orange River, near the main line of railway from Cape Town to Kimberley. It is nearly 100 miles north of the base of nearly 100 miles north of the base of operations at De Aar, nearly 600 miles from Cape Town, and probably about 50 miles from Kimberley. Previous despatches have not told us much of what Lord Methuen was doing, but we see now that he has moved at least eight battalions to the front. He seems to have had with him two battalions of Grenadier Guards, two of Coldstream Guards, one of Scotch Guards, and one each of three other regiments. These may perhaps not have been complete battalions, but it is certain that if the soers numbered only 2,000 or 3,000 they were greatly outnumbered. Lord Methuen has the pick of the British army in his division, if indeed there is choice among regiments none of which fail on a charge. The loss of some 60 killed and 80 wounded is not large considering the number of men engaged and the nature of the engagement, and the number of officers killed is less in proportion than at Talana or Elandslaagte.

To the east of Methuen's advance, General French, who sems to be, in advance of Gatacre's force, moving toward the Free State capital, has come in contact with the enemy. This is not a difficult thing to do, seeing that the Boers are well distributed over that part of Cape Colony which lies south of the Free State. The advance of the two western divisions has apparently caused some alarm among the Free State Boers, who have invaded Natal. They are reported to be sending out columns toward Bloemfentein, where they may soon be needed. From Naauwpoort to the Free State capital is 200 miles.

In Natal there are now three shut-in garrisons, and the Brers are moving on to enclose Pietermaritzberg. They seem to succeed admirably in the work of separating British, forces from each other. But their trouble comes when they try to do anything with the imprisoned enemy, Whatever uplifts, com-forts, enlarges man is adapted to the Sabbath. There are times when this law of help is larger than the law of rest, as in the cases Jesus referred to With such exception, the rule is that since the Sabbath was made for man, i. e., for all men, we must keep the Sabbath as not to take away its blessing from others. One of the first es sentials of true humanity and brother-hood and true Sabbath keeping is to give others as well as ourselves the benefit of the Sabbath. Works of mercy are peculiarly fitting on the Sabbath. Seven of the recorded mirac of Jesus were performed on that day.

HAMPTON, Kings Co., Nov. 20 .-Notwithstanding the rather unpleas ant state of the weather yesterday, a large congregation assembled in the parish church, known as St. Paul's, in the parish of Hampton, to witness the ceremonies in connection with the induction of the new rector, Rev. Charles Deveber Schofield, son of George Schofield, manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, St. John. The regular service of the Episcopal church was conducted by Bishop Kingdon, Rev. Canon Deveber and Rev. Mr. Warneford, the bishop delivering the address or ser-mon, in which he explained the significance of the ritual in regard to this office, and formally instituted the new incumbent by transferring to him the spiritual power and responsibility, which had rested upon himself sin the retirement of the late rector. The bishop's counsel and advice to both "shepherd" and "flock" were fitty chosen and aptly expressed. The induction proper, which is the conferring of the temporalities, falls to the duty of the church-wardens, and in the present case consisted of a brief addres of welcome, and the handing over of the keys of the building to the new rector, who at once proceeded to indicate his acceptance of possession and the legal status thereby assumed, by locking and unlocking the church the significance of the latter being that the times and seasons of public wor-ship in connection with that edifice were in his hands and under his sole far ahead and are thought to be in sore straits for the raw material.

H. B. Claffin Co. Credited with Cleaning Up the Market Cotton goods are soaring skyward in

Sohn Claffin, of the H. B. Claffin company, is reported to have made a fine business coup by prophetically viewing the situation as it now prevails. It is well known in Wall street that the Claffins have not only secured large sums of money through ordinary means, but have realized loans on securities held ordinarily for emergencies, and have been heavy contractors for cotton goods.

They are credited with sweeping the market of all the goods in sight and of all that can be produced by the big mills for some time to come. They have already made actual paynents of more than $1,500,000, accord-

BLAIR THEIR CHOICE.

Restigouche County Liberal ssoc iation Offer the Minister of Railways the Nomination.

Meeting at Campbellton Last Night A dressed by Mr. Lemieux, M. P., and Hon. Mr. Blair-Tarte and the Transvaal Contingent.

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Nov. 21.—The nominating committee of the Restigouche County Liberal association met at two o'clock today at the court house, Dalhousie William Murray, ex-M. P. P. and George Haddow, ex-M. P., the two local men who were spoken of as probable candidates, stated they would prefer that the minister of railways were offered the nomination, and it was decided to request him to become the party candidate.

it was decided to request him to become the party candidate.

At three o'clock the county association met at the same place, and the nomination was tendered to Mr. Blair, who in reply thanked them for the offer, but said that he would have to take time to confer with his friends in other counties before giving a definite answer.

The association then presented Mr. Blair with a complimentary address, to which he relied, making particular reference to the railroad policy of the administration. There were also speches by R. Lemieux, M. P. C. J. Milligan, and a few remarks from some local members of the party. At five o'clock the whole party came here by special train.

A large audience assembled in the Campbellton rink tonlight under the chairmanship of George Haddow, ex-M. P., to hear the liberal orators.

R. Lemieux, M. P., opened by announcing that Mr. Blair had brought him here to play ship of George Haddow, ex-M. P., to hear the liberal orators.

R. Lemieux, M. P., opened by announcing that Mr. Blair had brought him here to play the French air in English. He said that at the time of the last election we were on the verge of a civil war, a religious war, but Sir Wilfrid had brought peace and harmony, solving the Manitoba school question in a satisfactory if not constitutional manner. He then dealt with prosperity and surpluses, and claimed that all French-Canadians were loyal. Then speaking herench he eloquently appealed for support for Mr. Blair as a friend of the French and for Premier Laurier for settling the school question. He then took up the Transvaal question.

for Premier Laurier for settling the school question. He then took up the Transvaal question.

Hon. A. G. Blair spoke next. He said the only policy of the conservative party is an insurance policy upon certain conditions upon the lives of the Canadian contingent, and it was founded by the publishers of the Montreal Star. He challenged discussion of the pledges made by his party and not kept. The promises of the Ottawa convention were not what they would do, but that they would try to do. He defended increased expenditure, stating that in the house the opposition only criticized four or five items not exceeding thirty-five thousand dollars in the whole out of the fifty-five millions asked for. There is a balance coming to the treasury from the great outlay on railways and the Yukon. Taxation had been largely reduced, and the preferential tariff is beneficial. He then devoted considerable time to the viciousness of the Montreal Star in connection with charges of corruption. The only parallel to the failure of the bridge charges in the legislature. The opposition proposal to have the Yukon charges tried by a commission instead of a parliamentary committee was too ridiculous for consideration. The whole talk about the government and the Transval is a political design to gain power, and is not prompted by patriotism. It would be too serious a matter to support a regiment in the Transval without parliamentary sanction, and Mr. Tarte had a right to his opinion on the matter, but it did not prevail. Without a reference to the plebiscite the meeting closed.

NEW IDEAS.

All progress, of course, is of new ideas, and often of ideas that the great mass of people deem impracticable and cranky. The people who have made our present brilliant civiliz ation were those who thought better and better than the millions thought They conceived something novel, some thing that the plodders never conceived, and gave us the application of steam and electricity, the telegraph and telephone, our improved broods of stock and all the modern implements and machinery that we have upon our farms. Fulton, Watt, Morse, McCor mick, and the whole line of inventors were simply original thinkers. But in considering these great inventors and their great achievements, the humble inventor of small things should not be overlooked. His efforts have cleared from the pathway of invention ir.numerable difficulties, and have ren dered easy a task that a few year since would have been impossible. The mind cannot conceive of the possibilities that might have been within the grasp of the eminent inventors men tioned above, were they to begin their work under the mechanical and scientific condition of today.

AN IMMIGRANT'S OPINION. English People in South Africa Have Long Known the Boers Have Been Preparing for War.

The first batch of immigrants this ason, some thirty-six in number, mostly Germans, passed through the city yesterday on a tourist car attached to the C. P. R. express. They came to Halifax on the Cambroman and are bound for Vancouver, B. C. Among the number is W. J. Jackson who, with his wife and three children left Durban, South Africa, last March and are on their way to the Pacific

Mr. Jackson is a native of Austra lia, but for many years lived in South Africa, and latterly has been settled in Durban, where he was in the pro duce business. In regard to the Bo war, he told a reporter that the Eng-lish people living in South Africa felt that the Boers have been preparing for war for the last six years, and espe cially since the Jameson raid. As the length of time that the war would take, he would not hazard an opinion, but believed that the Boers, fighting with the idea that they were doing so for their homes and firesides, an idea insistently instilled into their minds by Kruger, would make a stubborn resistance.

At the close of the struggle, Mr Jackson gave it as his opinion that the country would simply be Kimber ley on a large scale, controlled by capitalists, and ro place for a poor man.

SERVED 38 LEGISLATIVE TERMS

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 20.-A special from Fort Kent to the Journal, today, announced the death of Major William Dickey of that town, in his 90th year. He enjoyed the honor of having served 33 years in the state legislature, since 1842, representing a long stretch of country in the upper St. John valley. He was the principal mover in introducing the improved public school system into that region, assisted more than anyone else to establish the Madawaska Training School at Fort Kent, for the purpose of supplying teachers for the section, and during his service in the legislature regularly secured large appropriations for highways and bridges in that corner of the state.

FREE CURE FOR BALDNESS

Trial Package of a Remarkable Remedy to Convince People it Actually Grows Hair.

Prevents Hair Falling Cut, Removes Dandruff, Stops Itching and Restores Luxurian: Growth to Shining Scalps.

(Before Sending for a Free Trial Pack- (After Using the Free Trial and Following age.)

Those who are losing their hair or have parted with their locks can have it restored by a remedy that is sent free to all. A Cincinnati firm has concluded that the best way to convince people that hair can be grown on any head is to let them try it, and see for themselvos. All sorts of theories have been advanced to account for falling hair, but after all, it is the remedy we are after and not the theory. People who need more hair, or are anxious to save what they have, or from sickness, dandruff or other causes have lost their hair, should at once send their name and address to the Altenheim Medical Dispensary, 170 Butterfield Building, Cincinnati. O., and they will forward prepaid by mail a sufficient free trial package of their remedy to fully prove its remarkable action in quickly removing all trace of dandruff and scalp diseases and forcing a new growth of hair. The remedy is not a new experiment, and no one need fear that it is harmful. It cured John Bruner, Postmaster, of Millville, Henry Co., Ind., and he strongly urges everyone to try it. A Methodist preacher, Victor A. Falgaux, of Tracy Gity, Tenn., was perfectly baild on his forehead for many years, but has now a fine growth. Mrs. C. W. Castleman, 843 Main St., Riverside, Cal., reports her husband's shiny head now covered with soft fine hair, and she, too, has derived wonderful benefit. Among others who have used the remedy are Geo. Dienfenbach, Genl. Agt. of the Big Four R. R. of Dayton, Ohio, whose wife was entirely cured of baldness.

ton, Onio, whose wife was entirely cured of baldness

The president of Fairmount College, Sulphur, Ky., Prof. B. F. Turner, was bald for thirty years and now has a splendid growth of hair from having tried this remarkable remedy. Write today for a free trial package, it will be mailed securely sealed in a plain wrapper, so that it may be tried privately at home.

(London Telegraph.)

The persevering way in which most continental newspapers misstate the acts of our government, distort its aims, and falsify its policy surpasses belief. In France and Russia, in particular, the grotesqueness of their caricatures verges on the impossible. As for the "facts" with which they satiate the curiosity of their readers, they sound to us who know them like the ravings of a patient in the second stage of typhus. Here is an instance taken from the most popular paper in France, the Petit Journal. Describing the "horrors" perpetrated by the 'treacherous English," this pillar of fire thus throws light on our crimes for the edification of its countrymen: "The English paralyzed the Sultan by means of the Armenian troubles, which they engineered, and by means of the war with Greece, which was likewise their handiwork. In France, where we were on the lookout for English tricks, they actually got up the whole Dreyfus affair, as well as several of its side issues. . . In Abyssinia they first cajoled Menelik and then egged on Ras Mangascia to march against him. In Uganda these English hypocrites went the length of provoking the massacre of their own missionaries in order to acquire thereby the right of annihilat ing the whole aboriginal race and making themselves the masters of Mat-abeleland. And those are but a few of the horrors perpetrated by these civilizing shopkeepers!" Such are the stories which are repeated day after day by most of the journals in France. The wonder is that a crusade against this 'criminal among nations" has not been preached and organized. The Patrie, the very name of which is rapidly acquiring a second meaning, seeks to persuade its readers that British foreign policy is but systematized assassination. Anybody, anywhere, who against England is, it appears, spirited away from this life. "Tsar Paul I. talked over with Napoleon a plan for invading India. He died by the hand of an assassin. Radama, King of Madagascar, asked for the protectors of France. He was assassinated. Lambert, consul of France at ssinated. wished to found a French settlement on the coast of Arabia, on the route to India. He was assassinated; and when the infamous natives, his assassins, were searched, their pockets were found to be full of English guineas!

According to the best-informed journals of the French nationalist press the latest of the nasty tricks played by this country on unsuspecting France was the getting-up of the revolt of the officers Voulet and Chanoine and the assassination of Colonel Klobb in the Soudan. But this crime, having been more ingeniously planned than the preceding ones, there were no guineas found in the pockets of the men who killed their superior officer. No wonder the two most eminent French journalists of the national party, M. Rochefort and M. Drument, have become honorary presidents of the committee for sending volunteers South Africa to fight against the

The portraits of Miss Emma Emond show what a striking difference is made in a person when the bald head is covered with hair. Miss Emond was totally bald, the hair follicles not only upon her head but upon her eyebrows being completely contracted, not the sign of a hair being found. Of course she was the object of many experiments, all of which failed, and the offer of a well known dispensary to send a free trial of their remedy was peculiarly alluring to her. She sent for the free trial, followed all directions faithfully and soon she was rewarded by a growth of hair, which for thickness, quality and luxuriance was as remarkable as the result was gratifying. Miss Emond lives in Salem, Mass., at 276 Washington Street, and naturally feels very much elated to recover from total baldness. An itching scalp to people who are blessed with hair is a sign of coming baldness and should be attended to at once. The remedy that caused Miss Emond's hair to grow also cures all scalp itching and diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the hair and scalp healthy and vigorous. Trial packages are mailed free to all who write to the Altendeim Medical Dispensary, 196 Butterfield Building, Cincinnati, O. FOREIGN PRESS AGAINST ENG- so. Public opinion, in the sense which we attach to the word, is utterly unknown in Russia. Russians are as a rule the least hypocritical people in Europe. They sometimes lapse into cynicism, but scarcely ever fall into the besetting sin of the Pharisee. Their "nationalist" newspapers, how ever, frequently do, and the effect is lugubrious. For instance, the Novove Vremva writes (Oct. 16-28, 1899): "Russia's sympathies have ever been on the side of the weak and oppress To stand up for such is ever the historic mission of our fatherland. Hence it is nowise strange that Russians should express their sympathy for the Boers, and that subscriptions for medical aid to the Boers should flow in from all classes of society." And this is written at the very moment that the Finns are being robbed of their autonomy, and are flying off to foreign lands in thousands. It has also appeared at the very moment that millions of Russians are suffering the pangs of hunger, this being one of the years of the periodic golsdovka, or the "little hunger." The money that might alleviate the distress of thousands of Russian families is going off to the Poers, the popular press applauding. This seems biting off one's nose to spite one's face with a venegance. The Novoye Vremya, which called for the persecution of Protestants in the Baltic provinces, and of the Quakers. cr "Dukhobortsy," in the Caucasus. drags religion into the Transvaal question as follows: "The honest, religious farmers who are minded to shed their life-blood in the defence of their country will ever be nearer the heart of holy Russia than our secular foe-cold, selfish England. To help them is a noble—aye, a holy—deed. wounds, and for this purpose shall not grudge our hard-earned money.'

When the Hon. Mr. Blair was addressing a public meeting in Sarnia the other day, he undertook to explain to the audience that the reason Mr. Tarte was coming in for so much newspaper criticism was that Mr. Tarte was a great man, a good man. Then said Mr. Blair, "When a public man is abused right and left by the newspapers and speakers of the other side it is a great compliment to the man."
"What's the matter with Tupper," cried a stentorian voice. The quick repartee caught the crowd and brought forth rounds of applause. The joke was on Blair, and he had little more to say.

*How He Thinks Religious Truths Should Be Presented

Ministers Should Preach the Living Christ Not Didactic Technicalities.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—In this dis course Dr. Talmage addresses all Christian workers, and describes what he thinks will be the modes of preaching the gospel in the future; text, Romans xii., 7, "Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering

While I was seated on the piazza a hotel at Lexington, Ky., one summer evening, a gentleman asked me, "What do you think of the coming sermon I supposed he was asking me in regard to some new discourse of Dr. Our have not seen it." But I found afterward that he meant to ask w I thought would be the cha of the coming sermon of the world, the sermons of the future, the world "Cumming" as a noun pronounced the same as the word "coming" as an ad-jective. But my mistake suggested to me a very important and practical theme, "The Coming Sermon."

Before the world is converted style of religious discourse will have to be converted. You might as well go into the modern Sedan or Gettys-burg with bows and arrows, instead of rifles and bombshells and parks of artillery, as to expect to conquer the world for God by the old styles of exhortation and sermonology. Jonathan Edwards preached the sermons most adapted to the age in which he lived, but if those sermons were preached now they would divide an audience into two classes those sound asleep and those wanting to go home.

But there is a discourse of the fu-Who will preach it I have ho idea. In which denomination of Christians it will be delivered I cannot guess. That discourse of exhortation may be born in the country meeting horse on the banks of the St. Lawrence or the Oregon or the Ohio or the Tombogbee or the Alabama. The person who shall deliver it may this moment be in a cradle under the shadow of the Sierra Nevadas or in a New England farmhouse or amid the rice fields of southern Savannas, or moment there may be some young man in one of our theological seminaries in the junior or middle or senior class shaping that weapon of power, or there may be comirg some new baptism of the Holy Ghost on the churches, so that some of us who now stand in the watch towers of Zion, waking to a realization of our present inefficiency, ing discourse may not be 50 years off. And let us pray God that its arrival you what I think will be the chief characteristic of that discource or ex-hortation when it does arrive, and I want to make my remarks appropriate and suggestive to all classes of Chris-

THE LIVING CHRIST.

First of all, I remark that that future raligious discourse will be full of a living Christ in contradistinction to didactic technicalities. A discourse may be full of Christ though ha dly mentioning his name, and a ser ion may be empty of Christ while overy sentence is repititious of His t The world wants a living Christ not a Christ standing at the head of a ormal system of theology, but a Cirist who means pardon and sympath; and condolence and brotherhood and life and heaven, a poor man's Christ, a rich man's Christ, an overworked man's Christ, an invalid's Christ, a farmer's Christ, a merchant's Christ, an artisan's Christ and every man's

A symmetrical and fine worded sys-tem of theology is well-enough for the-ological classes, but it has no more pusiness in a pulpit than have the echnical phrases of an anatomist or psychologist or a physician in the sickroom of a patient. The world wants help, immediate and world uplifting, and it will come through a discourse in which Christ shall walk right down into the immortal soul and take everlasting possession of it, filling it as full as is this noonday firmament.

future will not deal with men in the threadbare illustrations of Jesus Christ. In that coming address there will be instances of vicarious suffer ing taken right out of everyday life, for there is not a day when somebody is not dying for others—as the phy-sician saving his diphtheritic patient by sacrificing his own life; as the ship captain going down with his vessel while he is getting his passengers into the lifeboat; as the fireman consuming in the burning building while he is taking a child out of a fourth story Branch or Cape May or Lake George himself perished trying to rescue the drowning; as the newspaper boy one have fainted and starved had summer, supporting his mother for Christ performed a miracle and some years, his invalid mother, when them. Why did not many people take offered by a gentleman 50 cents to get the truth at Christ's hands? Because rushed up in his anxiety to deliver it his subject by a hen and her chicke only strength enough left to say, "Oh, what will become of my poor, sick mo-ther now?' Vicarious suffering—the world is full of it. An engineer said to me on a locomotive in Dakota: "We men seem to be coming to better appreciation than we used to. Did you see that account the other day of an who to save his passe stuck to his place, and when he was found dead in he locomotive, which was upside down, he was found still miling, his hand on the air-brake?" And as the engineer said it to me he put his hand on the air-brake to illustrate his meaning, and I looked at him and thought. "You would be just as

taken out from everyday life of vicarious suffering—illustrations that will bring to mind the ghastlier sacrifice of him who in the high places of the field, on the cross, fought our battles and endured our struggle and died our

THE LOVING CHRIST. A German sculptor inade an image of Christ, and he asked his little child, two years old, who it was, and she "That must be some very great said: The sculptor was displeased with the criticism, so he got another block of marble and chiseled away on it two or three years, and then he brought in his little child, 4 or 5 years brought in his little child, 4 or 5 years of age, and said to her, "Who do you think that is?" She said, "That must be the one who took little children in His arms and blessed them." Then the sculptor was satisfied. Oh, my friends, what the world wants is not cold Christ, not an intellectual Christ, but a loving Christ, spreading out His arms of sympathy to press the whole world to His loving heart! But I remark again that the religious discourse of the future will have to be short. Condensation is demanded by the age in which we live. No more need of long introductions and ong applications and so many divisons to a discourse that it may be said to be hydra headed. In other days men got all their information from the pulpit. There were few books, and there were no newspapers, and there was little travel from place to place, and people would sit and listen two and a half hours to a religious discourse, and "seventeenthly" would find them fresh and chipper. In those days there was enough time for a mar to take an hour to warm himself up to the subject and an hour to cool off. But what was a necessity then is a superfluity now. Congregations are full of knowledge from books, from newspapers, from rapid and continu-ous intercommunication and long disquisitions of what they know already will not be abided. If a religious teacher cannot compress what wishes to say to the people in space of 45 minutes, better adjourn it to some other day. The trouble is we preach audiences into a Christian frame, and then we preach them out of it. We forget that every auditor has so much capacity of attention, and when that is exhausted he is restless. That accident on the Long Island railroad years ago came from the fact that the brakes were out of order, and when they wanted to stop the train they could not stop, and hence the casualty was terrific. In all religious discoure we want locomotive power and propulsion. We want at the same time stout brakes to let down at the right instant. It is a dismal thing, after a hearer has comprehended the whole subject, to hear a man say, 'Now to recapitulate," and "A few words by way of application" and "Once more," and "Finally," and "Now to conclude."

Paul preached until midnight, and Eutychus got sound asleep and fell out of a window and broke his neck. Some would say: "Good for him." I would rather be sympathetic, like Paul, and resuscitate him. That accident is afa warning against somnolence in church. It is just as much a warning to ministers against prolixity. Euty-chus was wrong in his somnolence, but Paul made a mistake when he kept on until midnight. He ought to have stopped at 11 o'clock, and there would have been no accident. If Paul night have gone on to too great length let all those of us who are now preaching the gospel remember that there is a limit to religious discourse, or ought to be, and that in our time we have no apostolic power of miracles. Napoleon in an addres sof seven minutes thrilled his army and thrilled Europe Christ's sermon on the mount, the model sermon, was less than 18 min utes long at ordinary mode of delivery. It is not electricity scattered all over the sky that strikes, but electric ity gathered into a thunderbolt and hurled, and it is not religious truth scattered over and stread out over a vast reach of time, but religious truth projected in compact form that flashes light upon the soul and rives its in-

THE POPULAR SERMON. When the religious discourse of the future arrives in this land and in the Christian church the discourse which is to arouse the world and startle the nations and usher in the kingdom, it will be a brief discourse, Hear it, all theological students, all ye just entering upon religious work, all ye mer and women who in Sabbath schools and other departments are toiling for Christ and the salvation of immortals

-brevity, brevity. But I remark also that the religious discourse of the future of which I speak will be a popular discourse.
There are those in these times who speak of a popular sermon as though thes mother of Timothy, and Mary, the there must be something wrong about mother of Christ, and those women it. As these critics are dull themselves, the world gets the impression that a sermon is good in proportion as it is stupid. Christ was the most popular preacher the world ever saw and, considering the small number of the world's population, had the largest audience ever gathered. He never preached anywhere, without making a great sensation. People rushed out in window; as in summer the strong the wilderness to hear him reckless of swimmer at East Hampton or Long their physical necessities. So great was their anxiety to hear Christ that, taking no food with them, they would have fainted and starved had fed some special paper and he got it, and they all understood it. He illustrated and was crushed under the wheels of by a bushel measure, by a handful of train and lay on the grass with salt, by a bird's flight and by a lily's aroma. All the people knew what He meant, and they flocked to Him. And when the religious discourse of the future appears it will not be Frincetonian, not Rochesterian, not Andoverian, not Middletoman, but Olivetic - plain practical, unique, earnest, compreiensive of all the woes, wants, sins and sorrows of an auditory.

But when that exhortation or discourse does come there will be a thousand gleaming scimiters to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men irg how, and I am told that if a young man in some of our theological seminmuch a hero in the same crisis." Oh, aries says anything quaint or thrilling ents and young ministers, but upon in that religious discourse of the fu- or unique faculty and students fly at all who preach the gospel and all who ture there will be living illustrations him and set him right and straighten exhort in meetings, and all of you if ed troops made a sortie. The morning chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the future religious discourse of the Christian church arrives all the churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged! The world wants spiritual help. Al! who have buried their dead want comtort. All know themselves to be mortal and to be imnortal, and they want to hear about the great future. I tell you, my friends, if the people of our great cities who have had trouble only thought they could get practical and sympathetic help in the Christian church, there would not be a street in Washington or New York or any other city which would be passable on the Sab-bath day if there were a church on it, for all the people would press to that asylum of mercy, that great house of comfort and consolation.

THE WORLD'S SORROWS. A mother with a dead babe in her arms came to the god Siva and asked to have her child restored to life. The od Siva said to her, "You go and get handful of mustard seed from a nouse in which there has been no sorrow and in which there has been no death, and I will restore your child to death, and I will restore your child to life." So the mother went out, and she went from house to house and from home to home looking for a place where there had been no sorrow and where there had been no death, but she found none. She went back to the god Siva and said: "My mission is a failure. You see, I haven't brought the mustard seed. I can't find a place where there has been no sorrow no death.' "Oh!" says the god Siva, "Understand your sorrows are no worse than the sorrows of others. We all have our griefs, and all have our heartbreaks.

augh, and the world laughs with you; Weep, and you weep alone; For the sad old earth must borrow its But has trouble enough of its own.

We hear a great deal of discussion now all over the land about why people do not go to church. Some say it s because Christianity is dying out and because people do not believe in the truth of God's word, and all that. They are false reasons. The reason is because our sermons and exhorta-tions are not interesting and practical and helpful. Some one might as well tell the whole truth on this subject, and so I will tell it. The religious discourse of the future, the gospel sermon to come forth and shake the nations and lift people out of dark-ness, will be a popular sermon, just for the simple reason that it will meet the woes and the wants and the anxieties of the people.

There are in all our denominations ecclesiastical mummics sitting around to frown upon the fresh young pulpits of America to try to awe them down to cry out, "Tut, tut, tut! Sensation They stand today preaching in churches that hold a thousand people, and there are a hundred persons present, and if they cannot have the world saved in their way it seems as I do not know but the old way of making ministers of the gospel is bet-ter—a collegiate education and an apprenticeship under the care and home ttention of some earnest, aged Christian minister, the young man getting the patriarch's spirit and assisting him in his religious service. Young law-yers study with old lawyers, young physicians with old physicians, and I believe it would be a great help if every young man studying for the gospel ministry could put himself in the home and heart and sympathy and under the benediction and perpetual presence of a Christian minister. But, I remark again, the religious discourse of the future will be an awakening sermon. From altar rail to the front doorstep, under that sermon, an audience will get up and start for heaven. There will be in it many a staccato passage. It will not be a lullaby. It will be a battle charge. Men will drop their sine, for they will be sympathetic with all the physical distress as well as the spiritual distresses of the world. Christ not only reached, but He healed paralysis, and He healed epilepsy, and He healed the dumb and the blind and the lepers.

EVERYDAY PREACHING. That religious discourse of the future will be an everyday sermon, ing right down into every man's life, and it will teach him how to vote, how to bargain, how to plow, how to do any work he is called to do, how to wield trowel and pen and pencil and yardstick and plane. And it will teach women how to preside over their households and how to educate their children and how to imitate Miriam and Esther and Vashti and Eurice. who on northern and southern battle-fields were mistaken by the wounded for angels of mercy, fresh from th Yes, I have to tell you, the religious discourse of the future will be a rerorted sermon. If you have any idea that printing was invented simply to print secular books and stenography and phonography were contrived merethe wilderness to hear him reckless of ly to set forth secular ideas you are mistaken. The printing press is to be the great agency of gospel proclama-tion. It is high time that good men, instead of denouncing the press, employ it to scatter forth the gospel of Jesus Christ. The vast majority of people in our cities do not come to church and nothing but the printed ermons can reach them and call them to pardon and life and peace and hea-

> So I cannot understand the nervous ness of some of my brethren of the ministry. When they see a news man coming in, they say, "Alas, there is a reporter!" Every added reporter is 10,000, 50,000, 1,000,000 immortal souls added to the auditory. The time will ome when all the village, town and city newspapers will reproduce the gospel of Jesus Christ, and sermons preached on the Salbbath will rever erate all around the world, and, some by type and some by voice, all nations will be evangelized. The practical bearing of this is upon those who are ergaged in Christian work, not only upon theological stud-

him out and smooth him down and you are doing your duty. Do you exhort in prayer meeting? Be short and spirited. Do you teach in Bible class? Though you have to study every night be interesting. Do you accost people on the subject of religion in their mes or in public places? Study adroitness and use common sense. The most graceful and most beautiful thing on earth is the religion of Jesus Christ and if you awkwardly present it it is defamation. We must do our work rapidly, and we must do it effectively. soon our time for work will be gone.

THE END OF TIME. A dying Christian took out his watch and gave it to a friend and sald: "Take that watch. I have no more use for it. Time is at an end for me and eternity begins." Oh, my friends, when our watch has ticked away for us the last moment, and our clock has struck for us the last hour, may it be found we did our work well, that we did it in the very best way, and whether we preached the gospel in pulpits, or taught Sabbath classes, or administered to the sick as physician, or bar gained as merchants, or pleaded the law as attorneys, or were busy as ndmen or as mechanartisans or hus ics, or were, like Martha, called to give a meal to a hungry Christ, or like lannah, to make a coat for a prophet, or like Deborah, to rouse the courage of some timid Barak in the Lord's conflict, we did our work in such a way that it will stand the test of the judgnt! And in the long proces the redeemed that march around the throne may it be found that there are many there brought to God through instrumentality, and in whose rescue we exult. But let none of us who are still unsaved wait for that religious discourse of the future, It may come after our obsequies. It may come after the stonecutter has chiseled our name on the slap 50 years before. Do not wait for a great steamer of the Cunard or White Star line to take you off the wreck, but hail the first craft, with however low a mast and however small a hulk and however poor a rudder and however weak a captain. Better a disabled schooner that comes up in time than a full rigged brig that omes up after you have sunk. Instead of waiting for that religious discourse of the future (it may be 40, 50 years off), take this plain invitation of a man who to have given you spiritual eyesight would be glad to be called the spittle by the hand of Christ put on he eyes of a blind man, and who would consider the highest compliment of this service if, at the close, 500 men should start from these doors crying, "Whether he be a sinner or no, know not. This one thing I knowhereas I was blind, now I see."

Swifter than shadows over the plain, quicker than birds in their autumnal light, hastier than eagles to their prey, hie you to a sympathetic Christ. The orchestras of heaven have strung their instruments to celebrate your
