The Company's Organ "Ventures in."

The Company's organ begins an article on the street railway dispute, descanting on the beauties of London in the leafy month of June, the presence of the camp, and the pity that everything so lovely should be marred by the strained relations of the Street Railway Company and their employes. This may be called our contemporary's preamble. The preamble is all right. The Advertiser would like to add that it is only another argument for our contention that the strain referred to should be removed as soon as possible by mutual approach and arbitration. Preamble, therefore, agreed to.

The Company's organ then says: "Into the merits of the question or questions at issue in the strike the Free Press has not dared to venture." That is true. Into discussion, editorially, of a matter of which everybody has been talking, our contemporary has not dared to venture But it had no delicacy about venturing into the arena to the extent of loading up public opinion against the men by means of ready-made interviews in its

Says the company's organ, further: "The Free Press reported their (the men's) meetings with reasonable full-ness, with perfect fairness, and entire impartiality.

The report of the great Opera House meeting, as given by our contemporary, was neither full, fair nor impartial. One correspondent who wrote us complaining of the report of the Free Press, had been a subscriber to that journal for 25 years.

The company's organ then goes on to "Judge, then, the surprise with which we have heard it bruited about the city that the Free Press has fallen from grace so far as to have become opposed to the cause of laboring men. Who are the persons engaged in spreading this falsehood about? We are told that it originated in the office of The Advertiser, and that emissaries of that journal are going from house to house buzzing the lie among our friends in the hope of improving its business at our expense."

The foregoing is what is usually termed a "squeal." The Advertiser management is not in the business of meddling with its contemporary's affairs. If our contemporary will pull A Johannesburg Sensation-Sir Julian its intellects together, it will recognize that, whatever the conditions that justify its "squeal," they have been of its own, and not of The Advertiser's,

The Free Press should take its medicine without grimace. If it displeases organized labor, it has the substantial good-will of the Company. The Advertiser has to stand its own brunt, too. There are a few retail merchants today who notoriously have refused to advertise in our columns, solely on the ground that we are too friendly to organized labor, and have even raised objection to our publishing the labor column headed "The Mechanic and

The Company's organ then tries a new tack, and lectures the members of the labor unions of London for choosing The Advertiser "as their special organ and mouthpiece." But The Advertiser, during its 35 years of existence, has never been anybody's "organ." It is not even a political "organ." In this dispute it makes no secret of the trend of its general sympathy; but it has not displayed the slightest disposition, as dur readers can bear witness, to treat the pending dispute in the spirit either of an "organ" or of a demagogue. It would be a thousand shames if, among the newspapers of London, there was not one willing, voluntarily, and without money and without price, to endeavor to give a fair exposition to the side of organized labor!

The Company's organ next endeavors to play what it probably considers the card most likely to create division among the men, by complaining that any Conservatives should seem to lend aid or encouragement to their political adversaries by being in the same boat as The Advertiser in this dispute. The object of this allusion is obvious. It was an ancient proverb of tactics, "divide, and rule." If the company could get organized labor to begin reference to the late plebiscite camfighting among themselves over issues that have nothing to do with labor, or with the present dispute, it would suit the Company admirably. But there is another ancient proverb, 'Surely in vain the net is spread in the sight of any bird."

But the Company's organ discovers another mare's nest, namely, that The Advertiser seeks to displace in the affections of organized labor its paper. The Industrial Banner, or to put it in the limpid language of the Free Press, "to usurp at one cunning swoop the position occupied by the Banner." It is sufficient to say in reply, that the Free Press is barking up the wrong tree. So far from The Industrial Banner being displaced or discontinued, we learn, on inquiry, that steps are likelier to be taken to add to its efficiency and usefulness.

The Company's organ makes a passing hit at Ald. Plant, as being connected with The Advertiser Printing Establishment. It is not Ald. Plant who is just now on the defensive; if he were, he is quite capable of taking care of himself. Man and boy, he has been connected with The Advertiser for 22 years, and The Advertiser has never had occasion to be ashamed of its graduate.

may find dangerous ground, in its poses to continue to be.

paign. Though no single individual in Canada, with one Montreal exception, had ever made or is making equal personal sacrifices for an opinion, the conductor of The Advertiser thought it only justice and common sense to give both sides a hearing during the plebiscite campaign. But he laid it down as he has done in this street railway controversy, that whatever was printed on either side would be printed disinterestedly, without money and without price. We are aware that the reading matter against prohibition that appeared in the Free Press and other papers in this city during the plebiscite campaign was paid for as advertising at so much per line; just as the ready-made interviews put out in the other newspapers to load up opinion against organized labor, were paid for at so much per line. We are also aware that persons of a certain sort consider the founder and conductor of The Advertiser a fool for not doing likewise. The conductor of The Advertiser may be the poorer, as the Free Press sneeringly and snobbishly suggests, by adhering to principles, regardless of their commercial value and Pauncefote To Be Made a Peer.

The Hague, June 2.-The American mediation scheme was unanimously adopted by the sub-committee, which embodied as article 7 the scheme prepared by the sub-committee, with few alterations. The first commission, by a vote of 18 to 3, adopted a resolution prohibiting the use of dumdum (or flattened) bullets. Italy, Austria and Great Britain formed the minority. It was also resolved to prohibit the use of explosives from balloons and explosive bullets. An agreement was found to be impossible on all the important proposals, and the conviction is growmore than ever that the work of the first commission is doomed to fail-

The second section of the Red Cross committee is also encountering difficulties, as the American and British members are opposing the proposed regulations, as being too stringent. TEXT OF ARBITRATION PROPO-SALS. The text of the American arbitration proposals is as follows: Resolved, that in order to aid in the prevention of armed conflicts by pacific means, the representatives of the sovereign powers assembled together in this conference be, and they hereby are, requested to propose to their respective governments a series of negotiations and the adoption of a general treaty, having for its object the following plan, with such modifications as may be assential to secure the adhesion of at least nine sovereign powers, four of whom least shall have been signators of the declaration of Paris, the German Empire being for this purpose the successor of Prussia, and the Kingdom of Italy the successor of Sardinia. Article 1. The tribunal shall be composed of persons nominated on account of their personal integrity and learning in international law by a majority of the members of the highest court at the time existing in each of the adhering states, one from each sovereign state participating in the treaty, and shall hold office until their successors are nominated by the same body and duly appointed.

MARCHAND THE IDOL OF THE HOUR.

Paris, June 2.-Marchand is here. There is great enthusiasm, but no noisy demonstrations. A few flags have been unfurled in his honor. Everyone he sees is favorably impressed by him. He attended the state luncheon at the ministry of marine, where he received a gold medal and a sword of honor. The Nile is prominently symbolized on the sword handle by a crocodile and a palm tree.

The company at luncheon was chiefly official. Many admirals, generals and Mercier, former minister of war, and other naval and military commanders other officers. attended, and they were all in full dress uniform. Marchand, who was the chief guest, took Madame Lockroy, the wife of the marine minister, into banqueting-room. The gracious and still most attractive daughter-inlaw of Victor Hugo wore a heliotrope satin gown, shot with green. daughter, now Madame Hugo-Charcot, was in a light blue flowered foulard, with a corsage of Venice guipure. At luncheon Marchand pleaded with Madame Lockroy for his Senegalese sharpshooters to have an opportunity to visit Paris. He told her that the dofan, but efforts will be made to exertion in the march across Africa. Whenever their courage flagged, Marchand cried to them: "Boys, another strong effort to make sure of seeing Paris!" This electrified them. This electrified them. Marchand looks a hero after Victor Hugo's heart. He is silent, thoughtful, modest, without bashfulness.

A dramatic scene occurred at the Military Club in the course of the evening. Major Marchand, in response to loud cheering, appeared upon the balcony with the minister of marine, M. Lockroy, and the minister of war, M. Krantz, on either side of him, and shouted: "Vive le France!" and "Vive la Republique!" The throngs went wild with excitement.

The demonstration in the Place de l'Opera was not surpassed by anything of the kind during the Boulanger agitation. Fully 30.000 people congregated there, and when the mail coach returned from Versailles and was obliged to run into the excited crowd. It had a narrow escape, and was saluted with hostile cries. The people made an ugly rush for the vehicle, but the police executed two energetic charges and enabled the passengers to alight safely.

FATAL DUEL. Budapest, June 2.- A fatal duel with pistols was fought at Klausenburg between Prof. Oberschall, of the Press burg Law Academy, and Herr Putuoky. The latter was shot through the head. The quarrel which led to the duel was caused by a jesting remark made by

Prof. Oberschall. NOT MISS O'NEIL. London, June 2 .- Miss Louisa d'Arche

(not Miss O'Neil, as cabled), the Canadian nurse who shot herself with a pistol at the Hotel Metropole, died yesterday morning. She was 40 years of age, and resided at Yonkers, N. Y. Over-study is said to have unbalanced her mind. Miss d'Arche was formerly president of the New York Nursing ssociation. Her brother is editor of the Winnipeg Free Press. Miss O'Neil, her companion, came from New York to take her back, owing to the mental trouble from which Miss d'Arche was suffering.

PAUNCEFOTE TO BE A PEER. London, June 2.-It has been definitely ascertained by the Associated Press that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador to the United States and head of the British delegation at the peace conference, will be elevated to the peerage and that the announcement will be made in the list of the Queen's birthday honors. A JOHANNESBURG SENSATION. Johannesburg, June 2.-One of the leading financiers here, a man named Eckstein, has been assaulted at the Standard Bank by Thomas Regan, an American, who struck him in the face with a whip and with his bare fist, smashed his eyeglasses and threw him to the ground. Regan, before he was overpowered, resisted desperately, and again struck Eckstein after being arrested. The affair has caused a great sensation here. RUMORS FROM PARIS.

Paris, June 2.-The Echo de Paris this morning says that General Zurlinden, military governor of Paris, has consented to the provisional release of Col. Picquart, who is in prison on the charge or revealing documents concerning the national defense on the demand of General Marquis De Gallifet. The Petit Republique has a report that Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam, who was arrested and sent to the Cherche Midi prison last night, has attempted to commit suicide in prison. Several papers announce that proceedings will be taken against General

ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMISSION. London, June 1.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, the parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. William St. John Broderick, said the Anglo-American commission had adjourned until August, and that the negotiations are proceeding. But, he added, it was impossible to make any further statement on the subject.

GERMAN ANTI-STRIKE BILL. Berlin, June 1.-It was learned this afternoon that the reichstag today received, contrary to expectations, the anti-strike bill. Its provisions are now less stringent than the emperor at first intended. The measure provides that whoever threatens to forcibly prevent persons from going to work will be sentenced to a maximum of a year's imprisonment. Where there are extenuating circumstances a fine of 1.000 marks will be imposed. The same punishment will be meted out to those who threaten a boycott to compel employers or employes to desist from work, or who, during a lock-out, try to force employers or employes to yield to their demands, or whoever threatens to maltreat or othertwise molest non-strikers. The bill is not likely to pass before the adojurnment of the reichstag, and is not likely to pass at all in its present

KILLED ON

Young Fellow Falls a Victim to a Foul Tip.

An Insane Mother's Terrible Deed-Young Man Drowned.

Lawrence, Mass., June 2.-Edward Connors, catcher of the Monmouth baseball team, was struck by a foul tip in the game with the Riverside team Tuesday afternoon and died in a few minutes. It was the second half of the first inning, and Connors was standing close to the batsman. The ball struck him in the vicinity of the heart. Raising one hand to the place of contact he stooped to pick up the ball with the other, and as he did so he dropped unconscious. Players and spectators rushed to his side. They carried him to a dwelling near, but he died before the house was reached. He was about 20 years of age. DROWNED.

A MOTHER'S TERRIBLE DEED. Newmarket, Ont., June 2. — Mrs. S. Jewett, of West Toronto Junction, has been in bad health for a length of time, and with her three children has visiting with her brother, Mr. Bert Starr, about five miles east of Newmarket. Yesterday morning the sister, Miss Starr, went to the cellar for a short time, and left Mrs. Jewett washing her baby. When Miss Starr came out of the cellar and went into the woodshed, she was horrified to find the body of the child, which was 6 months old, lying with its head crushed. The blow had evidently been given by an axe. Miss Starr immediately ran to her brother in the barn, and found that Mrs. Jewett had sent the two older children to the barn to hunt eggs, saying that she would soon follow them. Search was then made for the mother, but it was not until noon that her body was found under a bridge that spans a small creek behind the barn. She had drowned herself in a few inches of water. - Temporary insanity is supposed to be the cause of the tragedy.

KICKED BY A HORSE Aylmer, Ont., June 2.—Mr. Kellog, a young man employed by Mr. J. S. Moore, of the 9th con., Bayham, met with a bad accident recently. While taking care of a horse in the stable the animal became restive and kicked him full in the face, striking him on the bridge of the nose and between the The nose was crushed, and for two hours Kellog lay unconscious. The accident was a very serious one. PROBABLE MURDER IN MON-

Montreal, June 2.-What is believed to be a case of murder was reported to the police Wednesday hight. Herbert, a middle-aged woman, was found dead at her residence, 338 St. Timothee street. Two Children Treated by Christian Scientists.

Chicago Health Officers Propose to Make Medical Attendance Compulsory-"Divine Healers" in Trouble

Chicago, June 2.—The Tribune says: Two cases of death from diphtheria, in which the patients were treated by Christian Science methods only, have come within the last few days to the notice of the coroner's office, and the health department has decided, it is stated, to take steps to compel those having charge of cases of contagious disease to provide medical attendance.

In the case of Edna Holle, 4 years old, of 755 West Chicago avenue, who died from diphtheria, the coroner's jury returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, censure the said Mrs. Smith for treating the said Edna Holle in the said Christian Science faith, thereby jeopardizing her own health and that of others."

The attention of the coroner was called during the day to a similar case at 711 West Adams street, where Na-thaniel True, 4 years old, died from diphtheria after having been treated by Christian Science methods. A jury was empaneled in the case.

DIVINE HEALERS IN TROUBLE. Lexington, Ky., June 2.—H. C. Blanford and W. S. Gilbert, of London, England, who called themselves divine England, who called themselves divine healers, and who have been here a week practicing healing by faith and laying on of hands, started yesterday for Paris, Ky., after one of their patients, F. B. Mann, had died, and another, Miss Lettle Baker, had become a maniac. More than 500 people were treated by the healers, and they stated treated by the healers, and they stated they collected over $600 here. Mann, who was 70 years old, had been suffering from the effects of the grip. He went to the healers last week, and again on Sunday. He allowed them to treat him, and was so elated over the hopes they held out to him that he became much excited, and Wednesday afternoon he told friends what wonderful things the healers would do for him. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning he was dead from apoplexy. Miss Baker became a lunatic Wednesday night, and wanted to collect money for the healers. She walked the street bareheaded in imitation of the healers, and yesterday went into sa-loons and hotels asking for money for She believed they were called of God, and that they were assisted by

The West Middlesex Teachers' Association held its annual meeting in the basement of the Front Street Methodist Church, Strathroy, on Thursday and Friday, May 25 and 26. In the absence of the president, John Cowie took the chair and delivered a strong, thoughtful address. Papers were given by Miss McIntyre, Miss Thirlwall, Mr. Dawson, Mr. Boal, Mr. er, Keyser, dealt with last year's P. S. L. bookkeeping paper, which he considered too long and too difficult. Jones, Ekfrid, dealt with "Ventila-tion," giving a description of the system in use in his school. The discussion on home work discovered the fact that the teachers were a unit as to the value of a moderate amount of home work for the senior classes of the public schools. Inspector Barnes, of East Lambton, expressed himself strongly in favor of home work, as he considered no case had been made out against it. Mr. Bishop, teacher in the Indian Institute, gave a brief account of the working of that institution, and of the potent influence of the strap over the untrained minds of its inmates. Greetings from the W. C. T. U. County Association were received, expressing appreciation of the teaching of temperance in the public schools of West Middlesex. After the usual votes of thanks, the officers were elected: President, John Cowie, Adelaide; vice-president. Miss Kate McLeod, Parkhill: secretary-treasurer, L. W. Cuddy, Strathroy; auditors, Melvin Payne, Caradoc; Alex. Rose, Fernhill; executive committee, Inspector Johnson, T. Dunsmore, Miss McIntyre, Nairn, together with the president, vice-president and secretary of the association.

Grand Orange Lodge Passes a Temperance Resolution.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British America, at its last session, decided, after a warm debate and upon a pretty close vote, that for the future no per son engaged in the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquor may become a member of the Orange Order. The proposal was first put forward ten or twelve years ago, and was then very promptly and decisively voted down. In the meantime it has been allowed to remain in abeyance, but the agitation was kept up. The resolution was moved by Bro. Pitts, of Fredericton, N. B., and seconded by Frank Schultz, grand master of Manitoba. Rev. W. F. Wilson and Rev. Mr. Perry were among its chief supporters. It will not affect the standing or any present members. Widely varied opinions were expressed on the question, and the statement was freely made that the subordinate lodges would demand the repeal of the resolution.

Mr. Subw canite Suggests an Expansion Policy in Regard to the Ball.

Mr. Suburbanite left a Gladstone bag containing a large shad, a package of grass seed, a dozen awning screws, a new blade for the lawn mower and a bicycle pump in the cloak room, and as he settled down in a big chair in the cafe, very cautiously he said that if the Scotch hadn't been changed since his last excursion to the club he might try a little well dampened with soda.

"There are some men," he went on, "who play golf that they may enjoy Scotch wnisky, but I am inclined to think that it might be well to reverse the order. Play your Scotch whisky straight and hard first and then you may enjoy your golf."

The last time you were shedding wisdom," said Brown, "you were demonstrating how easy it was to play

"That was theory, nothing but theory," said Suburbanite, sadly, "and the difference between theory and practice in golf is the making of the game. It is very wide. I demonstrated that fact yesterday. A large gang of workmen is now busy rearranging the landscape and returing the trail that I blazed over the Woppinghamon-the-Tottingham links, while the caddies are probably even now warming themselves by a bonfire of my broken clubs. As I viewed the wreck after kicking the ball into the last hole and my eye followed the line of uptorn sod, it seemed to me that I had made my mark on Westchester country. It is one thing to sit here and demonstrate how easy it is to whack a gutta-percha ball around a hundred acre lot, and it is another thing to do it. The Anti-Profanity League might well bend its energies to re-forming the royal game of golf, and if I may make a suggestion, I should advise beginning with the ball. Expand it. Make it as large as a football and give the piayer a chance. Such a change would save profanity and give the grass a chance to grow." Mr Subi nite proved that the same Scotch, and then club served 1. r, let me publicly re-ient that there is not tract the sta m golf. I am as lame much exerci as if I had playing football. "When I did turn up yesterday morning Jones' friends were all there, just by chance, he said; but Jones wouldn't know the truth if it met him in the street with a flag in its hand. Jones put a ball on a little pat of sand, hit it a swinging stroke and sent it over the first breastworks a hundred yards away. That looked easy. A ball was mounted for me in the same fashion, and after getting a good position I swung my club and whacked away with tremendous energy. When I had cleared the sand out of my eyes I saw a broad grin on every face.

"Where did it go?" said I. "'It is right at your feet," said Jones, and for once he told the truth. There was the ball, looking several sizes smaller.
"Didn't I hit it?"

"'No,' said Jones. 'Just try it again.' My club broke on the next stroke, and after two more trials with another club, I started the ball on a gentle roll down the hill, and it didn't stop until it rolled into a ditch.
"I told you this was a sporty course, remarked Jones, solemnly. "'Isn't it, though!' said I, and then, relying on my caddie to select the proper clubs for me to use, I began to follow that ball around the links. I got my eye full of sand again in the ditch, and when the caddle wasn't looking I kicked the ball over the bunker. Jones saw it land on the other and he advanced the opinion that if my stroke had been a little bit cleaner it would have been a dandy. I was on the turf now and I gave the sod a raising exhibition, such as the Woppingham-on-the-Tottingham links had never seen, even if it was a sporty course. I broke two more clubs, and just as I was waiting an opportunity to kick the ball unnoticed, happened to tap it fairly, and away it went fully a hundred yards, landing right on the green near the first hole.

"'That was a dandy," said Jones.

"'Pretty fair," said I. 'I am just getting on to my clubs and the turf has bothered me some.'

"'Bothered you more than the man who follows you,' said Jones, as if he were making a joke. I jollied the ball into the hole with one stroke of the putter. The caddle ceased smiling, and I felt that I had the game so well in hand that I might criticise Jones' play. " 'You should waggle a bit more, my boy,' said I, 'if you want to make an accurate swing with your club.' "'Just drive off ahead of me,' said Jones, and then I won't be in your

"This time I hit the ball an inshoot and it skated away over to the side. The caddie's smile reappeared, and when I said sternly, 'Boy, what are you laughing at?' he replied, 'Nothing, sir, nothing, sir—er—that is, I was thinking, I was a-thinking how funny that fence was over there.'

"When I began to assault that ball with various kinds of clubs and just one kind of luck, I didn't blame the boy. There was the sound of a strong man blaspheming on the green, but no click of the well-struck ball. It is so easy in theory, you know, and so difficult in practice. I saw three people on the club house piazza with fieldglasses, directed toward me, and every time I raised an unusually large sod, if the wind was right, I heard sounds of mirth. The more determined I grew the less progress I made. I bunted and kicked that ball around, making a good stroke about every fortieth Whenever I got near Jones he would say:

"'Sporty course, old man, isn't it?'
"'Fine,' I would say.

"The longer I followed that ball the smaller it seemed to get, and I could swear that at times it dodged my club just as I was about to strike it. It rolled into every ditch, and it clung to the turf like a thing of life. There is no use of going into the harrowing details of the trip of that ball around the links, and anyone who chooses to follow my course may easily do so. At the end of three hours I brought up at the clubhouse, with only one club left and no temper to speak about. "'Didn't I tell you it was a sporty course?' said Jones. 'You will soon get on to the game, and then you will enjoy it more.'

Chatham, June 1.-The Cockneys had no difficulty today in administering a dose of whitewash to the crippled aggregation representing the Reds. Ziegler, the Chatham shortstop, who was injured yesterday, is still seriously ill, and was unable to take part in the contest. This necessitated several changes. Snyder went to short, and Second Baseman Nordyke to third, Rightfielder Reed coming in to the keystone sack, and Hagerman playing in he field. In the fifth inning Catcher Sanders split the third finger of his right hand, but pluckily went out to center field, and afterwards made a difficult catch. Conklin was brought in to short, and Manager Snyder himself ent behind the bat.

The changes somewhat demoralized the Reds, and none of the Londons' runs were earned, but the shut-out was well earned by the visitors. The Chathams could not hit Pitcher Selver safely, and only entered the base-hit column after two were out in the ninth. Bnyder and Crawford singling in succession. This was the only time the Reds saw second. The Londoners field-Babbitt's error was an excusable momentary fumble of a scorching groun-der from Sanders, which enabled the runner to beat the ball out. Dailey umpired a good game, and not once was a decision questioned. The score:

TWO STOMACHS.

The Upper for the Proteids and the Lower for the Greater Part of the Food.

It is an interesting study to observe how the digestion of food is accomplished. The greater part of vegetable food is starch, and this is never digested in the stomach proper, nor is it ef-fected by the pepsin in the upper stomach.

Starch (a Carbo-hydrate) is passed out of the stomach into the duodenum or second stomach and there treated by the pancreatic juices, when in time a microscopic fungi is grown from a part of the grain, if that has been eaten, and these elements with moisture, heat and time transform the starch into grape-sugar, which is the first act of digestion.

The processes are duplicated in an artificial or mechanical way in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts, the new breakfast food made by the Postum Cereal Company, Limited, of Battle

The liver is sluggish, the bowels inelined to be constipated, the blood impure, and the entire organism is in need of a thorough cleansing.

Of all "Spring Medicines," Burdock Blood Bitters is the best.

It stimulates the sluggish liver to activity, improves the appetite, acts on the bowels and kidneys, purifies and enriches the blood, removes all poisonous products, and imparts new life and vigor to those who are weak and debilitated. Mr. Wm. J. Hepburn writes from Centralia, Ont.: "I can sincerely say that Burdock Blood Bitters is the best spring medicine on the market. Last spring my blood got out of order, and I had seven or eight good sized boils come out on my body, and the one on my leg was much larger than an egg. I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and inside of six days, when only half the bottle was taken, there wasn't a boil to be seen. I have recommended B.B.B. to different people in our village, and all derived benefit from it. I wish B.B.B. every success, as it is indeed a great medicine for the blood. #### New Method of Taxing Public Franchises.

Senator John Ford's franchise tax bill, which has passed the New York State Legislature, is a reflection of the growing idea that the value of public franchises should accrue to the public who create that value. The bill is ingeniously devised to tax the peculiar value which inheres in a public franchise, as distinguished from the actual tangible investment of the corporation holding such a franchise. The measure not aimed at ordinary corporate spirit of hostility to vested inter- be destroyed. The Methodist Church is ests. What it aims at, to quote Senator Ford, is the very valuable rights which transportation corporations possess and enjoy in the public streets. The author of the bill explains the method of taxation clearly and simply,

"For example: The total assets of the company's investment in its railways and other appurtenances—in other words, the cost of reproducing their entire plant. That is all tangible property and represents every dollar that the company has put into the railroad. Second, there is the value of the public franchise. Now, the aggregate market value of the stock of the company plus the aggregate market value of its indebtedness is equivalent to the total value of all the assets, tangible and intangible, the investment of the company and the public franchise possessed by the company. This is easily demonstrated. The bonds are secured by a mortgage on the assets of the company. They constitute a lien prior to the stock; the stock, therefore, cannot be worth one single cent until after the company possesses assets to secure the debts of the company and earning capacity sufficient to pay the interest thereon. When the stock sells in the open market for any price, it is evident that there are assets over and above the indebtedness equivalent to the market price of the bonds. The value of the debt and the value of the stock added together, therefore, represents exactly the total value of all the assets possessed by the company.

"Under the law as it stands, it is the duty of the assessors to appraise and place a valuation upon all tangible assets of the company—that is, all the entire investment of the company in the railway. The assessors can also easily find, from quotations on the Stock Exchange daily, the price of the securities of the company, and, therefore, the total value of its assets, deducting the value of the tangible property, and there remains the value of the intangible, or a public franchise."

The Ford bill will add many hundreds of millions of dollars to the assessed valuation of property in Greater New York alone. Take for example four of the most important corporations owning public franchises in that city-the Metropolitan Street Railway, the Third Avenue Railroad Company, Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company and the Consolidated Gas Company. The actual investment of the average corporation which is covered by its bonds and the value of the stock is, roughly speaking, the value of the franchise. The franchise is even worth more than the value of the stock, but very rarely less. Upon this basis, then, these four companies would be assessed upon $138,000,000 of property, now exempted, which, at this year's tax rate of 2.07 would produce $3,726,000.

The Ontario Government may well consider the principles of the Ford bill. We can easily see how it would redress a public wrong in the case of the London Street Railway Company. The company hold a charter which gives them practically a monopoly of the city streets for 27 years to come. The public got nothing for that charter when it was granted, and they have received nothing for it since. It was given away a whole generation ago, when little or no value was attached to public franchises. Today the street railway charter is worth a fortune-a fortune created by but not shared by the present generation of Londoners. An Ontario Ford bill would enable the public to levy taxes on the value of the street railway franchise, which at present they cannot touch. The company are now assessed on the scrap iron basis for local purposes and pay a mileage tax to the Provincial Legislature. They are not taxed as they should be, but no one can blame a corporation for taking full advantage of the statute.

We repeat that the Ford bill is worth #### studying. Knocking Off the Bounties.

The Minister of Finance has given notice of a resolution proposing a gradual reduction in the steel and iron bounties until 1907, when they shall cease altogether. By the act of 1897, the bounties on steel ingots were fixed at $3, and on pig-iron at $3 and $2 per ton for the product of Canadian and foreign ore respectively, the bounties to remain in force until the 23rd of April, 1902. What is now proposed is to reduce them to 90 per cent of those figures for 1903, to 75 per cent, 55 per cent, 35 per cent, 25 per cent, and 20 per cent the year following, the bounties to discontinue altogether in 1907.

The resolution is good sound economy. We have always held that the iron bountles were defensible only as temporary expedients, though preferable to a high tariff as a means of encouraging the iron industry. In addition to these bounties there is at present a customs duty of $2 50 per ton on pig-iron and $2 per ton on steel ingots. It will be seen that the public | tion. pay an exorbitant price toward this particular form of enterprise. It should be sufficiently established by this time to survive the very gradual withdrawal of state aid proposed in Mr. Fielding's resolution. If not the taxpayers will know they have been engaged in a losing venture. It will warn them against other experiments of the same kind. In the meantime there should be no kick coming from the great iron-using and steel-using industries. The reduction of the bounties means the cheapening of the raw material of these institutions, which are vastly more important than the few blast furnaces we have.

Dr. Austin's Deposition.

We do not think Christian opinion will quarrel with the verdict of the London Conference in deposing Rev. Dr. Austin from the Methodist ministry. There is nothing in the action which savors of persecution. Dr. Austin preached and published views which his ministerial brethren considered to be contrary to Methodist doctrine. While the spirit of liberality should pervade a Christian denomination, there must be agreement franchises, nor is it conceived in a in fundamentals, or its integrity will based on certain tenets, to which its members must cohere, or they cease to become Methodists in reality, if not in name. The conference, as the legitimate court of the church, having decided that Dr. Austin's opinions are contradictory of Methodist precepts, that gentleman is detached from the Metropolitan Street Railway Company Methodist body, whether he will or consists of: First, the value of the

Our esteemed contemporary, the Acadian Recorder, complains of the luxuriousness of the Senate. There is one form of luxury we hope the Senate will some day acquire—the luxury of doing good.

The pay of the working miners in Rossland, B. C., for the month of April was $117,798 54. This does not include the office expenditure, which would bring the total up to $175,000 or $200,000. And the surface of that auriferous region has only been scratched yet. It has a great future.

"Get any old interview with me, put a new head on it, and it will do just as well as a fresh one," said Mr. Depew to a reporter who undertook to get a few farewell remarks from Chauncey as he was about sailing away for Europe last week. Here's a hint for the London Street Railway Company in case their inventive faculty is unequal to the task of producing more ready-made interviews.

The enterprising people of Buffalo cordially invite Canadians to their Pan-American Exposition in that city in 1901. As the exhibition will be held in the summer months, Canadian women will be privileged to visit Buffalo without being stripped of their jackets by the customs officials. We haven't forgotten the insult to the Hamilton ladies, who were forced to throw off their sealskin sacques in that city last winter. If they wish Canadian patronage, Buffalonians should see that De Barryism is wiped off the frontier before the fair.

What Others Say.

Bystander on the Senate.

[Goldwin Smith in the Weekly Sun.] It is to be hoped that the Conservative party will not be led by the passionate advice of their leader to resist all reform of the Senate. If they are, the end, instead of reform, may be abolition. The principle of our constitution is responsibility. The Senate at present is irresponsible, and few will contend that it is a body to which irresponsible power can properly be entrusted. Sir Charles Tupper says that Government has only, is case of collision, to appeal from the Senate to the people; and that if the people support the Government the Senate will have to give way. But is the country, as often as the Senate blocks legislation, to be plunged into all the turmoil and expense of a general election? Besides. it is impossible, in a general election, to submit a clear issue; questions of all sorts, national, local, and even personal, are mingled together. The plan of a fusion of the two Houses in case of collision is open to objection, as has been already said, both because it is subversive of the object of having two chambers, which is the revision of the acts of one chamber by another differ-ent in its composition and point of view; and because if a question were decided by a majortiy of the Senate, combined with a minority of the Commons, the cause for dissatisfaction would recur. If as often as the two chambers disagree they are to fuse, why have two chambers at all? To empower the Commons by a certain majority to pass a measure over the veto of the Senate is surely the most obvious, the simplest, and the best The Commons represent the course. people and their vote would be upon the clear issue.

THREE SHOT!

Terrible Tragedy at a Michigan Farmer's Home.

Mayville, Mich., June 2.- A terrible tragedy was enacted at the home of George Stalker, one mile west of May-ville, Wednesday afternoon. George Stalker, jun., shot his father twice in the head, shot his mother in the back. and then placed the revolver to his own forehead and fired a bullet into his brain. Young Stalker lived half an hour. The shot which struck his mother glanced off, inflicting a slight wound. Doctors removed one bullet from the father's neck, and he will recover.

The dead man was 23 years old, and had always lived at home. He had just returned home after having quarreled with a neighbor, of which his parents did not approve. Some words followed, when he drew a revolver and shot his father as he was leaving the room. He then turned and shot his mother as she ran from the house Following them outdoors, he fired another shot at his father and then shot himself. He had threatened before to kill his father, but they little thought he would carry his threats into execu-

THE MINISTRY

Rev. Dr. Austin's Case Before the London Conference.

The Heresy Charges Declared Proven -Only Two Dissenting Votes-Believes in Modern So-Called Spirit-

Windsor, June 2.—The trial of Rev. B. F. Austin, D.D., late principal of Alma Ladies' College, St. Thomas, charged by Rev. A. H. Going, of Port Stanley, with preaching heresy, was taken up by the London Methodist conference yesterday.

On May 15 last, Dr. Austin was tried by his district, found guilty and suspended till this meeting of the

THE CHARGES. The alleged heretical statements were made in Parkdale Methodist Church, Toronto, Jan. 8, 1899. Four charges were preferred on passages of the aforesaid sermon: 1. Touching the doctrine of eternal punishment. 2. Implication of the divinity of Christ and disparagement of the atonement.

3. Finality of revelation through Jesus Christ. 4. Spiritualism which is contrary to the teachings of the Methodist Church. The district meeting found him guilty of the three last THE TESTIMONY.

The most important testimony was the reading of certain portions of Dr. Austin's own book, called "Glimpses of the Unseen," and which, it is claimed, is widely quoted by Spiritualists, and in which Dr. Austin referred to certain "well-known" incidents where revelations had been made through the spirits. In this book Dr. Austin says: "The old prejudice against psychological research is rapidly disappearing. Truth is great wherever found," and in that way refers to his dition an article was read from the Arena, which was written by Dr. Austin. In it Dr. Austin said that in June, 1893, while he was passing through Detroit, he heard of a celebrated mind-reader. He called on the mind-reader, who gave him a "sitting," but who finally said that on that day investigation of spiritualism. In adbut who finally said that on that day the conditions to him were not favorable. Then he referred Dr. Austin to a woman, who, he said, was remarkably well advanced.

"I called on this lady," Dr. Austin says, in this article, "and she said she would do what she could. She seated herself opposite to me and took my hand. Then she fell into what from all appearances was a deep sleep. 'I see you surrounded by a crowd of young people.' At that time I was principal of Alma College. Then I asked her to give me the name of asked her to give me the name of some person. Then she suddenly uttered "Prof. W., Prof. W." Then she said there was a heavy load upon my shoulders. Prof. W. was a friend of mine, and when she said I was beset with troubles the was right. I connect with troubles she was right. I cannot imagine any better proof of the mental phenomena that exists. I had carefully phenomena that exists. I had carefully refrained from giving this woman any information about myself, and no person knew that I would be in Detroit that day, as I was going through to the west and the train did not make proper connections."

The reading of this article complete

The reading of this article completed the testimony against Dr. Austin, and then the brief reply he made to the committee at the time was read. In it Dr. Austin said that he had not been guilty of anything that was an untruth, unmethodistic or unscriptural. The defense was short, and then Dr. Austin announced that if he was so convicted he would appear at

REV. DR. AUSTIN'S DEFENSE. Dr. Austin took between two and three hours in his reply, which was directed to a defense of spiritualism, taking the ground that spirit return is neither unmethodistic nor unscriptural. He dismissed with a few words the minor charges brought against him, and proceeded with an elaborate explanation and defense of modern spiritualism. He quoted authority after authority in support of his plea that spiritualism is sanctioned by Bible teaching. He gave a number of his own personal experiences, which he claimed had converted him to the doctrine. He had, he said, visited a woman mind-reader in Detroit, and the information she gave him concerning himself convinced him that the seance was not to be lightly treated. "You may say that spiritualism is the work of the devil," said Dr. Austin. "That's an easy disposition to make of the matter, but it does not prove anything." His concluding words were: I may fail in this fight, I may have to abandon the old religion for a broader one, but the truth that I advocate will soon be recognized by the world."

When he had finished, one or two ministers, personal friends of Dr. Austried to applaud, but were met with loud hisses and cries of "Shame!" from all over the building.

Rev. A. H. Going made a reply in defense of his charges, claiming spiritualism to be a fraudulent system. After some deliberation, the conference, with but two dissenting votes, passed the following resolution: That the charges preferred against Dr. Austin having been sustained and proven, he be deposed from the min-istry of the Methodist Church."

Dr. Austin made a brief address, in which he said he had but voiced his convictions as an honest man. He deplared that he had no enmity against any member of the conference, and wished Methodism every success.

OTHER BUSINESS

J. R. Westman, having his examinations satisfactorily, it was recommended that he be received into full connexion and ordained. The case of W. E. Willson was laid over on account of not having passed two subjects in his final examination on account of sickness. Amos Thomas, Clayton Moorehouse, Anson Moorehouse, John Harmon Beer were received as candidates for the ministry.

Canadian Tobacco.

Ottawa, June 1.—In reply to Mr. Gau-thier's motion, Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere presented a return showing the number of factories established since 1890 for the manufacture of Canadian tobacco, or Canadian and foreign tobacco mixed. The statement showed that from July, 1891, to February, 1898, 23 factories had been established for the manufacture of Canadian tobacco, of which number 15 had been discontinued before June, 1898. Since July, 1898, four factories had been established for the manufacture of mixed tobacco, one of which had been discontinued up to the present. The total Canadian to-bacco manufactured last year 2,004,808 pounds, compared with 768,512 pounds the previous year.

ON EPSOM DOWNS-WINNER OF THE OAKS.

London, June 2.-The 121st renewal of the Oaks stakes was won by Dr. Douglas Baird's Musa, by Martagon-Palmflower. Tod Sloan finished second on Mr. P. Lorillard's Sibola, and Lord Rosebery's Corposant was third. Twelve horses ran. The conditions of the race are as follows: The Oaks stakes, of 4, 500 sovereigns, or $22,500, by subscription of 50 sovereigns each, half forfeit; or five sovereigns only if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1898; for 3-year-old fillies; the nominator of the winner to receive 400 sovereigns, the owner of the second 200 sovereigns, and the owner of the third, 100 sovereigns, out of the stakes; distance, about 11/2 miles; 222 subscribers, 67 of whom declared forfeit. Previous to the start, Musa, ridden by Madden, was quoted at 20 to 1 aganist. The odds on Sibola was 7 to 4, and 40 to 1 against Corposant was quoted. With the continued fine weather there were great crowds to witness the Oaks. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and a host of notabilities, including Lord Dunraven, were present. There was a tremendous upset when Sloan, for whom the race was regarded as a certainty, lost to an outsider. Corposant led until in the line for home, when Musa drew to the front, offstalling Sibola's challenge, and won by a head. Time, 2:44. A length and a half separated second and third

SUNDAY LABOR

Opponents Defeated in the Court of Appeals at Toronto.

Toronto, June 2 .- At Osgoode Hall yesterday, in the court of appeal, before Judges Osler, Maclennan, Moss and Lister, in Regina vs. Reid, A. E. O'Meara, for prosecutor, appealed from order of a division court quashing conviction of defendant by three justices for breach of the Lord's Day Act. The defendant, an employe of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, was convicted under the act for pursuing his or-dinary calling, that of shoveling grain, on Sunday. The divisional court held that the act does not apply to servants in such a case as this, that the servants of persons or corporations were not aimed at the statute, and were not more liable than their employers, and that the railway company not being liable, their employe was not. In view of the facts of the case, and especially the fact that the prosecutor received half the penalty, the conviction was quashed with costs. J. R. Cartwright, Q.C., for attorney-general for Ontario. Du Vernet, for defendant, opposed appeal. Appeal quashed on the ground that it did not lie, the order appealed from not involving a question of the construction of the British North America Act. Costs reserved.

Almost in Despair. "My wife suffered with pain and distress from an affection of the throat, caused by impure blood. She was almost in despair of ever obtaining a cure, but finally procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking six bottles of this medicine she was completely cured." John Wecknar, Galt, Ont.

That distress after eating is prevented by one or two of Hood's Pills. They don't gripe.

A COMPLETE CURE. "Of what did the faith curers cure you?" said the skeptic.

If you neglect that Cough-Have It Cured by Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

"It's only a slight Cold, only a little, Cough," you say-but it hangs on and on and won't leave. Better wake up to the fact before it's too late that you're on the highway to Consumption. Better have the Cough cured now, when you can -than wait a while longer when, perhaps, you can't. A bottle or two of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will promptly cure that Cough, and heal up the lungs so that not a trace of its effects will remain.

Mrs. Grace Lynch of Blackville, N.B. writes: "I have been troubled with Coughs, Colds and weakness of the lungs for a long time, and could get no relief until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which made a complete cure in my case."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere at 250. and 50c. a bottle.

The Intercolonial to Use G. T. R. Terminals at Montreal.

Will Have Through Coaches From Ottawa to Halifax.

Grand Trunk Deny Importing Alien

Labor-The House of Commons. Ottawa, June 2.-The House of Commons yesterday went into committee upon the agreement with the G. T. R., under which an entrance into Mon-treal is obtained for the Intercolonial Railway. The minister of railways spoke at considerable length, explaining the advantages which would accrue to the government's railway from the acquirement of the splendid facilities of the transaction and extension of its business which the agreement gives. He pointed out the inconvenience and loss which would result to the business of the road if the terminus of the Intercolonial Railway was situated in some other portion of the city, necessitating the use of cabs and teams for the transfer of passengers and freight from one railway to the other, and declared he would not be a party to any agreement which, by providing for independent terminal facilities, would cause such inconveni-ence. The agreement gave the Intercolonial Railway the unlimited use of the best set of terminals that he knew of, not only in Canada, but on the continent. These terminals had cost the Grand Trunk $20,000,000, and had been perfected after long years of gradual improvement. Referring to the financial part of the agreement. He said that the Grand Trunk Railway wanted $150,000 per annum, and held out for that figure for some time, but the government would not give more than $140,000. The agreement must be taken as a whole, and he contended that $140,000 was a very reasonable price to pay for the facilities obtained. He dwelt at some length also upon the importance of getting the use of a central station, and as an illustration of the advantages to the Intercolonial Railway which would result, he made the announcement which was received with cheers, that he is now endeavoring to make an arrangement by which a coach will be attached to the train leaving Ottawa, so that passengers might run through to Halifax without changing.

Mr. Haggart, ex-minister of railways, in a brief speech, condemned the transaction as a poor bargain, which bore a stamp worse than rascality, that of stupidity. He was followed by Mr. Powell (Conservative), Westmoreland, who also questioned the advantages of the proposed extension. Mr. McMullen (North Wellington) and Mr. Gibson (Lincoln and Niagara) supported the agreement in vigorous speeches, and the committee adopted the resolution, the next stage of which will probably be proceeded with today.

NO FOREIGN LABOR IMPORTED. In the course of his speech Mr. Gibson incidentally mention that in May and June last he had Canadians working on the American side of the bridge, and then the alien labor law was not enforced against them.

Mr. E. F. Clarke asked him why, if this was the case, he did not use his influence with the Grand Trunk to induce them to stop bringing in aliens to take the places of the striking track-

Sir Wilfrid Laurier then rose and eign labor."

Col. Domville (King's, N.B.) introduced a bill to amend the militia act of Canada, which asserts as a principle the capacity of Canadians to command the militia force of Canada.

Mr. Maclean made the inquiry: Has the special mileage on hay, straw and grain, B No. 307, at present in force on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, been approved of by the governor in council and published in The Canada Gazette, as required by section 227 of the railway act? If so, in what nember of The Gazette has said tariff been published? If not, is it the intention of the government to require the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to comply with said section as regards

Mr. Blair in reply stated that the tariff referred to has not been approved by order in council. Only the maximum rates, when based on an approved classification, are approved.

FIREMEN HURT

A Dest uctive Blaze in Hamilton-Sev. eral Stores Gutted-Loss Heavy. Hamilton, Ont., June 2 .- At 12:40 this morning a disastrous fire started in the stables of Charles Swenzer, on the market square, and spread to the premises of the Model Restaurant, Cannon's flour and feed store, and Burkholders' auction rooms. The stables the three last mentioned houses were gutted. At 2 o'clock the fire was still in progress, but was pretty well under control. While endeavoring to cope with the blaze, five firemen fell from the second story of the stable-which is a three-storied structure—to the ground floor. Their names are John Woods, Sam Brewster, T. Glover, Hilyard Walsh and Theodore Smith. Brewster's right eye was gouged out and his head badly cut. The others were more or less injured, some of them badly. The injured firemen, when they fell, were promptly dragged out of danger by their comrades.

Memorial Church Congregation Warmly Greets the New Rector.

Bishop of Huron Tells of Mr. Owen's Noble Work in Winnipeg-A Delightful Social Evening.

The congregation of the Memorial Church held a reception last evening in the Sunday school room for their new rector, the Rev. Cecil C. Owen. The reception was largely attended was marked by a warmth and heartiness that augur well for the future relationship of the rector and his congregation. Already the intense loving earnestness and powerful personal magnetism which have endeared the Rev. Mr. Owen to the people where ever he has labored in the past, seem to have taken hold of the hearts of his present congregation. The former pastor, the Rev. Canon Richardson, occupied the chair, and welcomed Mr. Owen. On the platform were His Lordship the Bishop of Huron, Archdeacon Davis, Canon Dann, Canon Smith, Rev. Mr. English, Rev. G. B. Sage, Rev. Dr. Beaumont, Mr. Moorhouse and Judge William

Rev. Canon Richardson then introduced Mr. Owen, handing him the keys of the rectory with an amiable pleasantry.

Mr. Owen's rising to speak was the signal for a demonstration of welcome by the audience that lasted several minutes. Mr. Owen responded simply. He thanked those present for the very kind reception given him, and kind words for himself and Mrs. Owen, and regretted very much that Mrs. Owen was not with him. He felt the responsibility of the new duties devolving upon him, and asked for the assistance of the congregation in the work.

Judge Wm. Elliot said he did not know of a case where a new pastor had been received by a congregation with such delight as Mr. Owen. has a magnetism about him which has were destroyed, and the upper story of drawn the congregation. He voiced the feeling of the congregation in saying they welcomed him among them, and was certain he would receive their warm support and co-operation in Christ's work in the parish. Refreshments were served by the ladies, and an enjoyable evening was spent in a social manner. Mr. J. W. Fetherston presided at the piano, and Mr. McDonald gave two solos in excellent voice. The Bishop of Huron told the audience how on his recent visit to Winnipeg he had talked with members of Holy Trinity Church, and with citizens of Winnipeg, and had heard on every side stories of Mr. Owens' noble work in that city, and had seen evidences of love and devotion impossible to describe. The love, esteem and affection and ties centered around him in Winnipeg, which he had severed at the call of his Master, Christ, would, he felt sure, secure for him the hearty co-operation, sympathy and prayers of the people in this parish, and his labors would be blessed of God.

Archdeacon Davis referred to the former pastors, Rev. Mr. Tilley and Canon Richardson, and the early days of the Memorial Church. He spoke of the grand work, of which he had knowledge, done by Mr. Owen in Toronto. On behalf of the clergy of the city he welcomed him to London, and their sympathy and good-will and support he would at all times receive. Rev. Mr. Sage also extended to Mr. Owen a hearty welcome.

WAS MURDERED WHILE ASLEEP

The Killing of Widow Herbert, Montreal, a Mystery.

Montreal, June 2.- The Montreal police have a first-class murder myster on their hands, owing to the killing of the woman Sophie Hebert in the east end of the city on Wednesday evening The woman, who was the widow of Edward Rochon, a French-Canadian workingman, was 57 years old, and earned her living by keeping a small grocery store on St. Timothie street.

She was last seen alive by a breadcarrier, about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. A couple of hours afterwards, when some of the neighbors went to the house, her body was found lying on a sofa in a back room, and there were bloodstains all around. At the foot of the sofa there was a bottle of cider covered with bloodstains. There were no signs of a struggle, and it was evident that the murder had been carefully planned. It is presumed that the murderer found the woman asleep on the sofa and killed her with the cider bottle.

Robbery may have been at the bottom of the murder, as the cash drawer was found opened, and marked with what are supposed to be bloodstains. The police have been working energetically on the case, but so far there is no clew as to the murderer.

Mrs. Steele gave a very pleasing solo, entitled, "What Can I Do?" Mrs. Earle gave a very instructive reading, and several ladies conducted a missionary question drawer. Miss Doty also read a paper on systematic giving. At the close Mrs. Toon served a delightful tea, after which the ladies dispersed, feeling that they had attended a most enjoyable and profitable meeting. IT IS NOT OBSCURE.

In The Daily Advertiser of June 1 an esteemed correspondent suggests this conundrum: In an obscure village in the north side of the county of Mid-dlesex of less than 400 inhabit-ants, I find 15 men and women, whose united ages sum up 1,237 years, an average of 82½. I cannot answer this conundrum, but I make this statement, which I can vouch for, that in the village of Granton, which is not obscure, of about 300, we can name 15 men and women, whose united ages reach 1,237 years, the average being 82½ years. #### AT THE POLICE COURT Street Railway Trouble Fills the Police Court Docket.

John Standfield, an east end youth, was charged at the police court this morning with having struck Provincial Constable Thomas Flynn on the head with a stone, inflicting a severe cut and bruise. Mr. Flynn was accompanying a non-union employe to his home when the alleged assault took place on Adelaide street south. Standfield pleaded not guilty. He was remanded for trial. Ernest Patton, another youth, was spectator in court, when he was sud-denly spotted by the constable, who stated that Patton was along with Standfield on the night of the assault. Patton denied being with Standfield. He was discharged.

Mr. McCullough, milkman, of East London, was charged by Richard Poulton, an employe of the street rail-way company, with having called him a "scab" and a liar, and using other abusive language. Mr. Poulton went to McCullough's for milk, which the latter refused to sell him, and ordered him off the premises. A large crowd gathered and hooted Mr. Poulton. A number of witnesses were called on both sides. The case was dismissed. One drunk was discharged.

TEACHERS'

Address by Rev. C. C. Owen-Interesting Papers Read.

Pupils Have More Theoretical and Less Practical Morality Than Those of 20 Years Ago, Says Mr Liddicoatt

The regular meeting of the Teachers' Association of the city was held at the Collegiate Institute today. The morning session was opened by Rev. C. C. Owen, who delivered an interesting address. He dealt in a general way with the duties of the school teacher, and while he considered himself not very well posted as to school work in Ontario, he congratulated the teachers upon their kindergarten and public school so far as he knew it.

The roll call, which showed that few of the teachers were absent, was fol-lowed by reports from committees. President Merchant gave an entertaining account of his visit to the meeting of the Ontario Educational Association, Toronto. He reviewed the important points dealt with or discussed by the association. Miss M. Skelton, who also was a delegate to Toronto, reported upon the attitude of the association on matters of interest to public school teachers par-ticularly. The association had decided to ask the department of education not to issue certificates to teachers under 21 years of age, to require of teachers Normal School training, and to fix the Model School session at one year. "Equipment of a Teacher" was the subject of an excellent paper by Mr. C. A. Barnes, public school inspector, for West Lambton. He emphasized the following requisites: Knowledge, aptitude to teach, sympathy, knowledge of psychology, an understanding of childnature, and a disposition to follow as nearly as possible the example set by the Great Teacher.

At the close of the session a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Barnes. A decidedly thoughtful, pointed and interesting paper on "Moral Training" was read by Principal S. J. Latta. He gave a comprehensive definition of honesty. To be honest, he said, one must do the right, expose the wrong, see that the doer of the wrong is punished, and try to prevent a recurrence of the wrong. Mr. Latta's paper rence of the wrong. Mr. Latta's paper gave rise to an important discussion on the question as to whether or not the pupils of the public and high schools had deteriorated in recent years with regard to honesty. Messrs. Althouse, Kirk, Edwards, Little and Liddicatt Mrs. Gahan and Miss Liddicoatt, Mrs. Gahan and Miss Geeson took part in the discussion. A number of concrete illustrations were given of pupils' willingness to shield others from punishment, and also to show that unfair means of getting through examinations were more lightly thought of than formerly. No general opinion on the subject was expressed except by Mr. Liddicoatt, who said that he had been teaching for twenty years, and believed that the pupils of today were greater moralists, theoretically, but not such practical moralists as pupils of twenty years

At noon the association adjourned, to meet in sections this afternoon.

Manila, June 2-11:10 a.m.-The United States Philippine commission last night gave one of the most brilliant balls Manila has ever seen. It was one of a series of entertainments intended to foster friendship between the Americans and the natives, The commission has the handsomest residence in Manila, overlooking the harbor. The grounds surrounding it were illuminated, while the house itself was decorated with the American colors. The newly appointed judges, Gen. Otis, a number of other American officers and many wealthy natives were present. There was a display of gorgeous native toilets and many jewels were worn, and the array of handsome women surprised the Americans. There was a long programme of American and Filipino dances.

A GLOOMY PICTURE. San Francisco, Cali., June 2.-Brigadier-General Charles King, who re-turned home from Manila on the transport City of Peubla because of ill-health, in an interview, says: "The situation in the Philippines is most serious. The people of those islands will keep up a guerilla warfare, and there is no telling when hostilities cease. When they are whipped they retire to the jungles, subsisting on practically nothing, they have no need for a base of supplies. It will necessitate a large force of men to subjugate them completely. The war in the Philippines is by no means ended."

SITUATION

G. T. R. Trackmen's Strike Shows No Material Change.

Hamilton Garment-Makers' Trouble Settled- A Servant Girl Union.

Montreal, June 2.-There have been no developments in the Grand Trunk trackmen's situation, beyond the issuing of an affidavit at the instance of the strikers' committee declaring the road to be unsafe.

The Grand Trunk officials refuse to discuss the situation, simply saying that there is nothing to discuss. They say the system is running as usual, and the officials who have charge of the matter are getting all the men they need to replace the strikers.

The engineers had their usual conference with Mr. Morse, the locomotive superintendent and master mechanic, which has become a daily affair, at Point St. Charles, but in response inquiries they "have nothing to say."

The drivers say they are acting according to orders in all they are doing, but they will not be drawn into any discussion on the questions that are exercising their minds. The meeting with the Point St. Charles authorities may continue for some time yet. MR. LOWE'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Lowe, the organizer of the Trackmen's Union, reiterates his statement that the strike is still on as firm as ever, and that the prospects of suc-cess were never brighter. Practically all the old men are out, he says, and offers of $250 a day for foremen and $150 for trackmen find no takers. "To show our sincerity," said Mr. Lowe, "I will say this, that if we thought the men were weakening, if we found that they were going back, we would be the first to acknowledge failure and go to the Grand Trunk to ask that the remainder be taken back upon the old terms or upon any terms, conscious, of course, that those who took an active part in the work of organization would be done for. I say that candidly. But the fact is the other way. There is not a man weakening."

HOW FARMERS FEEL.

The farmers along the line of the Grand Trunk are showing their sympathy with the striking trackmen refusing to board the men who are hired to take their places, and the company has had to send boarding-house cars. A circular has been issued from headquarters urging the men to be peaceable and not to interfere with the tracks, but to wait till public opinion has had time to express itself.

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT. Sir Wilfrid Laurier made this announcement in the House of Commons last night: "I am in a position to state, by authority of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, that they are not importing and do not intend to import any foreign labor." THE GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE SETTLED. Hamilton, June 2.-Negotiations have been going on between Calder & Co. and their employes, and the strike has been settled by a friendly agreement.

SERVANT GIRL UNION. Calumet, Mich., June 2.-The Calumet housewife is in a predicament on account of the formation of an organization known as the Servant Girls' Union. The girls got together a short time ago and a union was formed. This was the nucleus of a larger organization, which fully three-fourths of the servant girls employed in the city have joined. At 200 homes the girls made a strike at the same time. The women laughed at the matter at first, but it is no joke, and in most cases the demand for the increase was

STRIKE AT DULUTH. Duluth, Jan. 2.- Employes of the Inman Tug Line struck to have their wages restored to what they were two years ago. The tugmen of the Singer Line have also asked increases. Firemen have secured the advance, but the others have not, and will go out.

"Yes! Not my foot," seeing him look at it. "I have a desperate heartache! I shall never be good and wise enough for you, Roy, I fear! And more than this I am afraid you will all the strength of the strength this, I am afraid you will discover this for yourself, one day."

"That is the only really foolish thing I have ever heard you say!" returned he, in fond raillery. "I am tormented, without intermission, by the conviction that I am unworthy of your regard, so we will let the one fear neutralize the other. Love is a powerful solvent, dear. It will melt these stubborn doubts—these flint-stones of fancied incompatibility, that fret your heart when you meditate upon the chances that we shall make one another happy."

"But if I were sedate and discreet: cautions as to what I say, and to whom I say it—more learned and beautiful-more like the blessed old Euna over there. You see"-in real mortification—"I cannot express the wish to reform without falling into my non-sensical tricks of speech!"

Roy could not preserve his gravity.

"I am not laughing at you," he whispered, as he flung his arm over her eyes. "What has moved you to sensitiveness—and with me? could but liken my sentiments in the imaginary survey of the pattern bride you would give to those of Jacob who was put off with the demure Leah, when he had bargained for witching, wicked Rachel."

The comparison is an insult to Euna!" interrupted Jessie, warmly. "I said you ought to marry a woman like her—pure as a pearl, true as steel—in principle like adamant. Leah!
Bah! I always detested her! She was heartless traitor—a smoothtongued hypocrite, who cozened the pretty young sister whom she envied -becoming, as she did, a willing party to her father's fraud. She deserved all the unhappiness she got!"

"We shall not differ there. 'tender-eyed' Jewess is no favorite of mine. But, even supposing that I were to sacrifies inclination to a sense of what you consider the fitness of things, Eunice or one like her would never elect to marry me. It is dissimilarity in certain characteristics that provides the best sauce for courtship. Your sister, for instance, would be well-mated with a man like Mr. Wyllys, the caliant points of his character are those which she has not."

"In other words, you think the interests of the drama demand that I should do the light comedy as a counterphise to your heavy tragedy?" said Jessie, appeased. "I am sure I could never like your cousin-or, in-deed, anyone like him-well enough to think of marrying him."

playfully. "But do not on that ount shut your eyes to his real excellence. He is to be your brother, comember—for I have no other. His father was my guardian, and while he lived, I scarcely felt the early loss of my parents. To Orrin, personally, I owe much. He is four years my senior, and when we were at school, he fought many a battle in my behalf with boys bigger than either of us. Then we were separated for seven years, seeing one another only in vacations and casual furloughs from business. He is one of the trustees of our college, and, although he will not admit it, I am persuaded that I am indebted to his influence, seconded as it was by my dear old friend. Dr. Baxter's advocacy of my cause—for my professorship. You will like and esteem him when you come to know him. I hope you will be great friends in time. As a preliminary to your better understanding, and consequently your admiration for him-I am going to ask him for some music.'

Orrin obeyed the call but not with alacrity. He seemed altogether con-tent with his location and his companions, and quitted his place at the window with apparent reluctance.

'Please do not order lights," he said to Eunice, who rose with him. "No silumination can be preferable to the mountain moonlight. It is radiance clarified to purity."

It revealed to him from his seat upon the music-stool, a picture he was artist enough to enjoy. Jessie's white dress and pillows were flecked by the trregular tracery of vine shadows, but through an opening in the leafy lattice, the moon poured a stream of light upon her face and bust, revealing even gleam of the betrothal ring upon the hand supporting her cheek. Roy had opened the piano, and now stood at her feet in the shade, leaning against the wall—a dark, motionless sentinel, with folded arms and bowed head, listening to the music, or watch-fingers and keys. He began with a moonlight sonata, the original theme of which might have been wrung by fairy hands upon the jessamine bells, "giving their delicious secrets out" under the weight of summer dew "giving their delicious secrets out" under the weight of summer dew.

From this he strayed into the "Midsummer Night's Dream,"—thence to the most beautiful of the musical paradoxes, Mendelssohn's charming "Lieder ohne Worte," or "Songs witnout Words," and there rested.

"More, please," entreated Jessie, in dreamy delight.

Both hands were folded upon her cheek now, and she had not moved since he finished the fairy sonata.

"This is Elysium!" she added softly.

"But sing, Orrin-won't you?" asked

So long as his cousin's music brought his darling more pleasure than did conversation with himself, the gener-ous fellow would contribute in his way to her gratification.

'You wouldn't have wondered at or blamed me if you had ever heard him sing," said a broken-hearted wife to me once, in reviewing the circum-stances of her early acquaintance with the man who had married, neglected, brutally ill-used, and finally deserted her. He was bully, ruffian, liar, cheat, and drunkard, but he sang like an angel, giving to words and music a depth and delicacy of expression that sounded to the listeners like heavenly inspiration. With the visage of a Caliban and the appetite of a satyr, he yet moved others to smiles, tears.
high and holy aspirations, to solemn or wild enthusiasm, religious or patriotic. His musical genius was the talisman by which he made himself popular, courted, envied, passionately beloved. Orrin Wyllys' voice had exquisite taste in it, and knowledge of music would have won him social dis-tinction had he been awkward in carriage, boorish in manner, and an ignoramus. There was not another amateur performer in his circle who could ever hope to equal him in ef-fective and scientific execution, and many a professional might have envied his taste and power. In the keeping of some-of many-the gift would have been a joy and a beneficence. He had none whatever that was more dangerous than this, and he knew it, lightly as he effected to esteem it.

If his first selection on this occasion harmonized less perfectly with the hush and chastened lustre of the evening than his unsyllabled melodies had done, he was excusable since it developed the best tones of his voice. It was Mrs. Norton's sea lyric, "The Outward Bound." His auditors felt the rush of the favoring wind that had sprung up at dawn; heard the flap of the sails as they filled, and the creak of the line that strained at the anchor; saw the knot of parting friends; the close, tight hand-clasp, that helped force back the tears from eyes that would fain smile farewell.

"It is a fine old song," said Mr.
Kirke, who was the first to speak when the voice of the singer and concluding notes of the melody were no longer audible. "I heard it many years ago. I thank you, Mr. Wyllys, for reviving the memory."

"This generation has nothing that can compare worthily with the music of other days," replied Orrin's voice from his shaded corner. "The true lover of the art must turn from the potpourri of the modern opera, the unflavored whey of fashionable ballads, with the craving of him who, having tasted the mellow wine, refuses the new-for he saith, 'the old is better.

Jessie moved like one awaking from a trance—spoke with feigned light-

"'To weep is a woman's part!' I don't like that line of your song, Mr. Wyllys. If your 'Outward Bound' had admitted mothers, sisters and wives don't ask you to de it," rejoined to the parting banquet, they would have borne themselves as bravely a did their masculine comrades, and without the aid of the 'sparkling brimmer.' which is, I suppose, poetical name for a potion known hereabouts as 'mountain dew' or 'Dutch courage.' But if poets of the stronger sex are to be believed, Niobe was the prototype woman."

Your quarrel is with one of your own sex, Miss Jessie; not with me or mine," was the cool rejoinder. Mrs. Norton wrote the offensive

"There is something very like it in Kingsley's "Three Fishers." said Roy, to cover Jessie's trifling discomfiture. "Let us have that next."

Mr. Wyllys sang it, giving to the refrain a weary sadness, exceeding pathos. He knew how effective this was when he saw Jessie's hand steal up to her eyes. She did not plead for "more," or cavil at "Men must work and women must weep," when he left the instrument, and went back to the moonlit recess of the window where Eunice and her father were still sit-

"If you and your father are not afraid of the dew, I should like to see the mountain in this light," he said, persuasively. "Dare you wa little while upon the porch?" "Dare you walk for a from exercising common sense? You can't do it. As the old rayme runs: "The man's a fool who tries by force or skill To turn the current of a wonke's will

For if she will, she will, you may depend on't
And if she won't she won't, so there's an end on't."

Common sense tells a woman that when she's sick she needs a doctor. Common sense tells a weman that in disease the first question is not of man or woman, but of recognized medical ability. Common sense applied to advertisements which invite women to "write to a woman because she is a woman and understands women," will show the women so appealed to, that it's no use to write to any woman about disease unless that woman is a physician. Common sense used in the reading of advertisements will discover that no claim is made in them to a physician's knowledge or diploma. And that is not because the claim would be morally culpable as a lie, but because it would be legally punishable as a fraud. The law permits you to masquerade as a doctor in an advertise-ment, just so long as you don't actually claim to be a doctor, or put M. D. after your name. That's why the advertisement is worded "write to a woman" instead of write to a doctor.

Common sense has brought more than half-a-million women, afflicted with some form of female disease, to Dr. R. V. Pierce as one of the most expert physicians in the United States in the treatment of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is a specialist. He has given more than thirty years of active practice to the treatment of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is not a "physician" by courtesy. He is a physician regularly graduated by the second to a physician and nated, legally empowered to practice and with thirty years of experience in the treatment of diseases of women, which he has made his specialty.

The offer of free consultation by letter made by Dr. Pierce is a real offer, an honest offer. It is an offer backed by a medical institution, with a world-wide reputation, a staff of nearly a score of regularly graduated of the staff of nearly a score of regularly graduated. a staff of nearly a score of regularly grad-uated physicians, a practice which reaches every state in the Union and a record of more than half-a-million women treated and ninety-eight out of every hundred perfectly cured.

Write to a doctor. That's the first thing.
Write to the doctor. That's the next thing. The woman's doctor, is Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. V.

ie. "The view must be fine tonight. It is not fair that you should be tied to my side all the time. I feel as if I were actually defrauding your cousin of his share of your society."

"You must continue to upbraid your-self with the theft, then," answered Roy, reseating himself upon the ottoman, and drawing her head to his shoulder. "Or, rather, my pet, you must cease to imagine that I could prefer any society to yours, any scene to the delightful seclusion of this, our hetrothal neek Orrin knows all He betrothal nook. Orrin knows all. He has fine tact, and comprehends how precious to me is every hour passed with you."

This was a plausible solution of the reserve which puzzled and pained her. Jessie tried to receive it in full faith, and forgot to watch the forms strol-ling back and forth between the two windows which opened upon the piazza. When the party broke up for the night, and Roy and his friend were preparing to return to their hotel, she extended her hand to Orrin in cousin-ly freedom. 'I mean to make my trial effort in sitting up, tomorrow," she said, blithely. "And we will have some music. Euna doens't sing, but she will willingly play our accompaniments, since Mr. Fordham disdains the piano." "I threw a number of instrumental duets into my trunk yesterday," said Orrin to Miss Kirke. "I did not then know why I did it. I understand now that I had some intuition of coming enjoyment. May I bring them up tomorrow?

TWICE WRECKED

Danish Steamer Foundared Near Cape Race-Had 20 Shipwrecked Men as Passengers-All Hands Saved.

St. Johns, Nfld., June 2.-The Danish steamer Orion, from New York, May 27, for Copenhagen, with a crew of 45 men and 20 shipwrecked men going as passengers by her, went ashore yesterday morning at daybreak at Fresh Water Point, seven miles west of Cape Race, and became a total wreck. A dense fog was prevailing at the time, and the ship struck while going at full speed, crushing in her fore compartment and tearing out her bottom.

The crew and passengers escaped with great difficulty, but without serious injury, being hoisted up the cliffs by coast fishermen. The Orion was filled with water to her second cargo. What is above water is likely to be

WON MILLIONS

And Now the Second-Hand Dealer May Roll in Wealth.

Victoria, B. C., June 2.-By the allowance of the appeal in the case of Hobbs vs. the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company, by the supreme court of Canada, E. V. Hobbs, a second-hand dealer of Douglas street, this city, becomes a millionaire. Several years ago Hobbs bought 160 acres of land in the Esquimalt and Nanalmo grant. When the deed was completed the company included reservation of all coal and other minerals. Hobbs re-fused to accept this, and also refused the return of his purchase money, suing for specific performance of con-tract. The highest tribunal of Canada has now affirmed Hobbs' right to the vast coal deposits that are being worked beneath his property.

Sir Wilfrid in his answer stated that the high commission had consented to a suspension of the alien laws of the two countries pending a settlement of the various questions before it. Could A in case of the death of B remove the house, under an agreement with B to that effect, or could the heirs force A to remove it before the term would be up. Ans.—Upon the facts stated, A could not remove the house after the death of B, and the heirs could not force him to remove it before her death. They should be parties to the agreement if A is to have any right to remove the building after the death of B.

Measure Introduced by Hon. David Mills

Mode of Investment Specified -No Loan Company to Invest in Stock of Another Loan Company.

Ottawa, June 2.—In the Dominion Senate on Wednesday, Hon. David Mills introduced a bill respecting loan companies. This bill, he explained, was much the same as the one introduced last session, and gives the governor in council power to incorporate loan companies by letters patent on the application of five persons. The bill provides that there must be a provisional board of directors, three of whom must be mentioned. It pro-vides that a company may be formed by the amalgamation of one or more companies in existence, and in all cases where sufficient capital has been subscribed the company shall organize and elect or appoint a permanent board of directors. It specifies the mode in which loan companies may invest, giv-ing them great latitude, but providing that no one loan company shall invest in stock of another loan company. It provides that loan companies may issue preference stock, but if so the stock must be charged as debentures; and contains provisions for the amaigamation of two or more loan companies established under the act, and for an increase or decrease of the capital of the companies. There had, he said, some improvements suggested since last session in the bill, and the provincial authorities had objected that their rights might be interfered with by the legislation. He had altered the bill in this connection. It was a proper thing to incorporate loan companies, as they were allied to the banks on the one hand, and to trade and commerce on the other. If the bill be-came law, he thought it would lessen the necessity for application for individual acts of incorporation. Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked if the proposed bill would affect companies now in existence, or only those to be incorporated.

Hon. David Mills said the bill would affect companies incorporated under it, and those already in existence which chose to come under its operation. Sir Mackenzie Bowell pointed out that several loan companies took deposits. How would that be affected by this act? Would the claims of depositors take preference?

Hon. David Mills said that the bill did not interfere with that. Sir Mackenzie Bowell judged from what the minister had said that it was provided in the bill for the amalgamation of several companies without their coming to parliament. This, he believed, was a power claimed by the provinces. No doubt the government had considered the matter well.

Keene, N. H., June 1.-Mrs. Louis Castor, a French-Canadian, was shot and killed yesterday forenoon at the residence of Mrs. William Van Ness. The police are searching the woods in the vicinity of the murder for Mrs. Castor's husband, who is charged with committing the deed.

Another Conquest for Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. G. A. Coulson, of the Empire Furniture Company, Brockville, Ont., says: "For years I have been troubled with my kidneys. The disease gradually grew worse until I had terrible pains across my back and shoulders, dizziness, headaches, etc. My feet would swell. The urine was of a thick consistency and muddy color, and the desire to urinate very frequent. I suffered intense pain both from my back North Bay, and from the retention of urine, and for weeks at a time could not do any work. "The doctors who attended me did all they could, and I took every kind of medicine advertised to cure kidney sundrid troubles, but none seemed to do me any good until I tried Doan's Kidney

"The doctors stated that I had diabetes. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and got a box at Curry's drug store. I commenced to get better right away, and the improvement continued constantly. I have only taken four boxes, and my weight has increased 28 pounds. My back is all right, the dizziness and headache are all gone and the urine is perfectly natural and clear. "When I started to take the pills I could not stoop or lift as much as ten pounds. In fact, I was unable to lift anything. Now I can lay carpets, do upholstering and work right along all day, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. "I have told a great many people in Brockville of their wonderful powers, which cured me when all else had failed. I highly recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble in any

I read with pleasure evening's issue from Mr. Frank Hol-man, relating to the advisability of securing more playgrounds and parks for London. I was in Chatham for a few hours on Tuesday last, and was much pleased to see their Tecumseh I do not know the number of acres it contains. The river and the creek bound it on the south and west, and a footbridge across the creek connects it with the center of the city, only a few steps away. The banks, paths and streets around it are lined with fine maple trees. During the afternoon, and all at the same time, a number of men and boys were playing baseball, cricket, football and bowling, and between 7 and 8 in the evening hundreds were enjoying these games. I wished that London had not one only, but several such places.

It is only necessary to notice the number who try to play in the streets to be convinced of the necessity for such places in London, and the number who use them wherever they exist thow how much they are appreciated. T. H. PURDOM.

SHORT-LIVED ASPHALT.

Detroit Free Press: It is believed that the cause of the premature wearing away of the asphalt paving has been discovered. Recently the Barber Asphalt Paving Company sent to a New York chemist a piece of asphalt taken from a pavement, with the request to examine it throughly, and ascertain the destructive agency. chemist notified the company that the piece of asphalt showed unmistakable signs that water was working its way into the asphalt from beneath. On Jefferson avenue, between St. Aubin avenue and Dubois street, the company is laying a tile drain each side of the street car tracks as an experiment. If the drain succeeds in carrying off the water which soaks through the brick pavement between the tracks, the drains will be put beneath all pavements hereafter.

Unable to Decide About the Right to Spend $3,000.

The Balance of Last Year's Appropriation From the Sewer Fund-Expenditure to Date-New Sidewalks.

Some of the members of the board of works would very much like to spend the $3.000 balance of last year's $7,500 appropriation from sewer funds, but others object. The matter was discussed at last night's meeting, but no action was taken. Ald. Parnell said the original appropriation was illegally made. The contractors were obliged to put the road in good shape. Military Tattoo by All the Bands in Aldershot Style.

Thursday passed off on Carling's farm without any happenings of a sensational nature, and quietness and hard work kept one another company. Old Sol shone out in all his glory, lighting up the faces of the thousands of infantry that overspread the green field. There was a balmy breeze now and again, but nothing like sufficient to temper the heat. Three men, overcome by the heat, dropped and were carried from the parade ground to the hospital. The little "service" caps which "ornament" the heads of officers are a miserable excuse for a covering, and the result is that many officers' faces were so blistered with the sun that to see out of their eyes was almost impossible. The young man from the office, who left home three days ago with a milky white complexion, is now a copper color. The work is irksome, and Col. Buchan, of the Second Brigade, has set the ball rolling, in order that all engaged in it may have a good

About Thursday evening of next week the combined bands of the bat-"talions in camp will give a military "tattoo," after the pattern of the "Queen's tattoo" at Aldershot, and this will be well worth coming a long way to hear, as the Twenty-fifth and the celebrated Seventh Band will then be in camp. Tomorrow evening the combined bands of the Second Brigade will give a concert from 7:30 to 9:30, to which all are invited. On Wednesday afternoon next the First Hussars will carry out a programme of sports. REVIEW FOR FRIDAY.

According to the present arrange-ments, the two brigades in camp will be given a field day on Thursday next, the north branch of the river, and committee agreed to this and the work on Friday it is purposed to have a rewiew on Carling's Heights, and this will practically break up the camp, as the men leave for home early on the following Saturday morning. ON THE FIELD.

All day yesterday Gen. Hutton busied himself on the field. He in-spected the First Hussars, and his comments upon the movements of the men should be a source of gratification to Lieut.-Col. Gartshore, who commands the cavalry. In the morning considerable time was devoted to the Boer drill, the same as used by the Boers of South Africa. In the after-noon Surgeon-Major Merrison made the medical inspection and found all in remarkably healthy and vigorous condition. Veterinary Lieut. J. H.

Wilson inspected the horses today. While the Hussars were busy down the hill, the battalions or the Second Brigade were going through battalion drill. The Thirtieth Wellington Rifles,
