A VIOLENT SCENE!

Between Wilhelmina and Prince Henry the Cause of the Queen's Serious Illness.

New York, Nov. 25.—In connection with Queen Wilhelmina's illness, the following particulars have been published, says the Amsterdam correspondent of the Journal and Advertiser:

"It seems that before his marriage Prince Henry lived for a time at a pace beyond his means, and as a consequence fell into the hands of moneylenders. The debts he contracted in those days were to be settled after his marriage with the rich young queen, and quite recently Henry made a clean breast of the matter to her. Upon learning all the particulars, Queen Wilhelmina declined pointblank to pay her consort's debts, the result being that a very violent scene took place between them, which ended in Henry rushing away to Germany and Wilhelmina being taken ill. It is said that only the most imploring telegrams sent to him by the queen's mother, Queen Emma, induced Henry to return to Holland. The queen's mother is anxious to preserve appearances at least. Since his return to Holland Henry has not been once to the palace where his queen is. As a proof of the serious character of the queen's illness, in spite of all reassuring reports to the contrary, may be mentioned the fact that the recent official Gazette did not contain a single royal command, which is an unprecedented state of things.

THE STORY IS A FALSEHOOD!

That the British Used Boer Women as Shields in the Graspan Fight.

Commando Attacked and Routed by a Patrol Under Col. Elliott---Clearing the High Veldt.

London, Nov. 25.—With reference to the story that the British placed Boer women and children in front during the fighting at Graspan June 6, when Gen. Dewet's convoy was captured—a story which has been spread broadcast as an example of British barbarity—the London Daily Mail sent a dispatch of inquiry to Lord Kitchener, who replied as follows: "The statement is and devoid of all foundation. One child was killed, and one woman and one child were wounded by the Boers."

As the story has been prominent in the recent anti-Chamberlain campaign in Germany, the Daily Mail has telegraphed Lord Kitchener's reply to all the leading German papers.

STEAD THANKS GOD FOR DEFEAT.

Wm. T. Stead, lecturing in London yesterday, said he thanked God that Germany and Europe were bold enough to call baby murder crime. "Compared with England's conduct," he exclaimed, "Herod's slaughter of the innocents was saintlike. Great Britain ought to be beaten in this unjust war. In the American war we employed redskins, just as we have loosed Kaffirs against the Boers, and, thank God, we were beaten."

A SERIOUS AFFAIR.

Late dispatches from South Africa show that the recent fighting near Villiersdorp, southwest of Standerton, as to which Lord Kitchener reported nothing beyond the fact that Commandant Buys had been captured after attacking a patrol of 100 railway pioneers, was really a serious affair. It seems that Grobelaar's commando succeeded in surrounding and capturing a British force of 100 British Cape railway pioneers. Subsequently Col. Rimington came up with reinforcements, and after heavy fighting compelled the Boers to retire and to release their prisoners. The British losses included Major Fisher killed, and three officers wounded. The casualties among the men have not yet been reported.

CLEARING THE HIGH VELDT.

Pretoria, Nov. 23.—There is considerable improvement in the military situation. The lines of blockhouses are pushing back the Boers from the railways. A large area, covering about one-third of the high velt, with Johannesburg as a center, has finally been completely cleared. The British columns are working on forces they see outside the blockhouse lines, and they are gradually pushing forward. Their progress recently has been very rapid. The time is approaching when the high veldt will be clear of Boers. Similar work is being carried out in the Orange River Colony, and is proving successful in the scheme of bringing the war to a close. This will enable the reduction of the transport as well as the lines of the bases for the columns in Cape Colony. The eastern provinces are almost clear of the Boers. Gen. French's columns have driven them about and attritioned the commandoes of Fouche and Lyburgh until they have almost disappeared, and the whole center of the colony is clear. In the western provinces the invading bands are also diminishing.

GOVERNMENT DEFENDED.

The secretary of the Evangelical Free Church has received a letter from Lord George Hamilton, the secretary for India, defending the conduct of the government in regard to the Boer concentration camps. He writes: "The mortality has been a source of great concern to myself and my colleagues. Everything that sanitary science can suggest will be done. Our officials are greatly hampered by the callousness to all hygiene of many of the women in the camps, and of their tendency to have recourse to remedies of the most detrimental and dangerous character."

44,000 REFUGEES.

Major Lotbiniere's scheme in regard to providing work for the native refugees is coming out admirably. There are now 44,000 of them in twenty-five camps in the Orange River Colony, and a 5 per cent monthly increase is expected within the next six months. Besides their agricultural work, they are being used at the camps and recruiting grounds, and are employed as workmen for the army. They are also ocupied in fencing the railway, which is now completed, and act as night watchmen for the line. They also work for the government departments, in the blockhouses, and in securing remounts. They are now receiving vegetables, in addition to the regular allowances. A census will shortly be taken to facilitate the old claims of the kraals after the war is over, and the claims for compensations have been sustained for everything that has been commandeered. Special truckage allowance has been made for the supply of luxuries to those who are destitute.

FURNISHED KHAKI TO BOERS.

Brussels, Nov. 24.—With regard to the departure from Pretoria of the Dutch consul-general, it is stated that he was chairman of a committee formed for supplying burghers on parole with clothes. This committee, as was proved at the Broeksma trial, furnished burghers on parole with khaki uniforms, thus enabling them to pass the British lines. It was not proved that the consul had any knowledge of this, but the military authorities urged the home government to ask the Dutch Government to instruct its representative to be more careful in future.

On the other hand, complaints have been made by a Dutchman alleging that the consul did not sufficiently support his claims. Also the officials of the Netherlands Railway Company are annoyed with the consul, as his advice to his government is supposed to be not too favorable for them, and it is said that the consul's reported recall emanates from them.

Deaths of a Day.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Rev. Dr. O. H. Warren, regent of the university of the State of New York and for eighteen years editor of the Northern Christian Advocate, published in this city, died on Saturday, aged 67 years. He was a descendant of Gen. Warren, of revolutionary fame.

Samuel J. Doyle, formerly an employe of the Massey-Harris Company, and an ex-member of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, died of peritonitis, at Canton, China, on Oct. 30, in his 24th year. He was a son of Joseph Doyle, Pickering, Ont.

Sheriff Clement, a pioneer resident of Brandon, Man., died of jaundice on Friday, aged 70.

TORONTO POLICE EXONERATED.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The investigation into the charge that the police were standing in with the gamblers was concluded Saturday evening, after several witnesses had been examined. In the view of what transpired at the inquiry C. C. Hocken, who made the charges, withdrew them, and practically admitted that he had been misled. Judge McDougall and Magistrate Denison conceded that there was plenty of gambling going on in the city, but both said that after listening to the testimony at the investigation, they were bound to find that there was no tittle of evidence to back up the charges of collusion between the police and the gamblers.

HE BLAMES VACCINATION.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 25.—Benjamin Lachapelle, a Bell telephone lineman here, suffered paralysis two days after being vaccinated. He is getting somewhat better, but today, five weeks after being vaccinated, he had to be carried from his bed to a chair. He is inclined to blame the vaccination, but Dr. Chabot, who attended him, says vaccination is not to blame, but likely a spinal trouble. Lachappelle is 56 years of age.

GERMANS GOING FOR CHAMBERLAIN

Terribly Worked Up About the Secretary's Speech.

A Steamer With 200 Passengers Believed To Be Lost.

Lynch Warned That He Will Be Tried For Treason If He Goes to England—Rioting in Galway.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Germany continues to ring with the protests against the reference which Mr. Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary, made to the German army in his speech at Edinburgh. Meetings are being held every day, and there is no sign of abatement of the agitation. The following towns held meetings of protest last week: Gotha, Heidelberg, Zwelbruecken, Augsburg, Nuremburg, Worms, Stendal, Thorn, Osnabrueck and Gladbach is circulating a protest which has already received the signatures of 680 pastors. The Wuarburg Veterans' Society has issued a warning against attaching too great importance to one man's utterance.

WONT BE MOLLIFIED.

The press discussions of Anglo-German relations have been multiplied through the publication of a letter from Mr. Chamberlain's secretary, the North German Gazette's declaration regarding this incident, and the British press expressions on the subject. The letter is pronounced here to be quite unsatisfactory. The papers note that Mr. Chamberlain takes nothing back. The Cologne Volks Zeitung says the letter is another insult, and the papers generally reject the assumption that the anti-British movement is artificial. The Cologne Volks Zeitung points out that the movement is as spontaneous as it is possible to imagine, adding that the government has tried by every means to suppress it, but has failed to do so. Other papers describe the movement as being the most remarkable of its kind ever witnessed. The Liberal organs like the Tageblatt and Vossische Zeitung try to prove that the movement is directed exclusively against Mr. Chamberlain and not against Great Britain. But the Frankfurter Zeitung admits that German patriotic feeling has been inflamed in an unmistakable manner against Great Britain.

ONE CAUSE OF FRICTION.

The paper asserts that it was unstatesmanlike on the part of Mr. Chamberlain to give fresh nourishment to this feeling, and says Mr. Chamberlain was not wise in reasserting his error. Nevertheless, the Frankfurter Zeitung admits that part of the cause of this friction is to be found on German soil. It says the movement here expresses the general want of confidence in the management of Germany's foreign policy, which is looked upon as being lacking in steadiness and power, and as acting by fits and starts. It regrets that public opinion regards itself as the corrector of the government's policy, saying that if the government had rightly gauged the movement at the start it could have forestalled it by a timely utterance. Nevertheless, the paper concludes that the Chamberlain matter has made too much noise in Germany.

CHAMBERLAIN NOT WORRIED.

The storm now raging in Germany over Chamberlain's animadversions on the Prussian army has had a powerful reflex in Great Britain, where, regardless of party ties, Mr. Chamberlain has been severely criticised for uselessly "putting his foot into it." On all sides may be heard irritated expressions of opinion by English business men and politicians, who, while they perhaps believe Mr. Chamberlain was correct in what he said, denounce the uttering of such sentiments. It is recalled that Mr. Chamberlain's utterances regarding the czar and the Anglo-American German alliance has been the causes of the only serious outbreaks of anti-British feeling on the continent in recent times. It is no exaggeration to say that the financial world of England would be delighted to see Mr. Chamberlain muzzled when intending to speak on England's foreign relations. Mr. Chamberlain takes the whole affair with his usual cynical indifference. He is staying quietly at Birmingham, and is not exhibiting any particular interest in this storm which he has raised.

There is no doubt, however, that by this latest break Mr. Chamberlain has seriously, perhaps irreparably, damaged his reputation with the better classes in England.

COL. LYNCH'S FUTURE.

London, Nov. 25.—Col. Arthur Lynch, the newly-elected member of parliament for Galway, has been informed that if he comes to England he will be tried forthwith for treason.

Serious rioting followed the illuminations at Galway in honor of the election of Lynch.

The election of Col. Arthur Lynch is attracting considerable attention in Paris, where the colonel is residing. The newspapers publish his portrait as a Boer colonel. Col. Lynch informed the correspondent of the Associated Press today that he did not expect to be molested when he should go to England at the opening of parliament. He thinks his election is significant, as showing that the Irish party is united, and he has reasons to believe Ireland is on the eve of obtaining a satisfactory home rule measure. Regarding South Africa, Lynch said he had received information which convinced him that the war would end within three months by a settlement securing to the Boers autonomy on the Australian model.

A FRENCH ARGUMENT.

Mentone, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the municipal council of Roque-Brune last night, M. Orsini, one of the councilors, after a heated discussion, drew a revolver and shot dead M. Sigaut, the deputy mayor, dangerously wound-

Think Twice

Don't let experience teach you the extravagance of using an inferior dentifrice. Take our word for it, and always use Odontine (Cairncross & Lawrence). It is the best, the cheapest and the nicest preparation for the Teeth.

Odontine (C. & L.) is an ideal dentifrice. Cleanses, whitens and beautifies the teeth, preserves the enamel, keeps the gums sound and healthy; sweetens and purifies the breath. Only 25c.

ing also the mayor and the mayor's brother, who had tried to arrest Orsini.

PRINCESS DYING IN POVERTY.

Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 25.—Donna Elvira, princess, daughter of Don Carlos, the pretender to the Spanish throne, who disowned her when she eloped with Signor Folchi, the artist, a married man, is dying here of starvation.

Although she took her jewels, worth $60,000, at the time of her elopement, in November, 1896, she is said to be utterly destitute now. Signor Folchi is with her. Infanta Donna Elvira is the second of four daughters of Don Carlos.

TERRIBLE PROBABILITY.

Manila, Nov. 24.—The local steamer Alerta, with 200 passengers, including some discharged American soldiers from Olongapo, Subig Bay, to Manila, is believed to have been lost.

DISORDERS IN SPAIN.

Barcelona, Nov. 25.—The disorders are increasing and the government is stopping telegrams and taking comprehensive military measures to maintain order. Serious conflicts, in which many were injured, occurred last night and this morning between students and soldiers, and between Castilian and Catalan students.

TOLSTOI'S ILLNESS.

London, Nov. 25.—There is nothing serious the matter with Count Tolstoi. He had a relapse of malarial fever, but is in no danger.

BRIGANDS THREATEN.

"Mr. Dickinson has received no reply from the brigands to his ultimatum," says a dispatch from Sofia to the Daily Telegraph. "The brigands threaten to kill Miss Stone unless the full ransom is paid by January 1."

CABLE NOTES.

It is believed in London that the movement to secure the immediate release of Miss Eastwick, the American woman who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for forging stock certificates, will be successful.

London Statist suggests that the large business centers throughout Britain, whose interests are injured by a continuance of the war in South Africa, should raise and equip a mounted volunteer corps for service, and that the wealthy classes should subscribe the necessary funds.

General Buller has not lost time in obtaining a London house, where he can watch the business of parliament. It is in Lowdes Square, where Lady Audrey will entertain on a large scale.

TWO BIG FIRES

One at Montreal, the Other at Sault Ste. Marie.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The central portion of the city was the scene of another serious conflagration at about 2 o'clock this morning. While patrolling St. Paul street a policeman discovered that the top flats of the extensive shirt factory of M. H. Harrow, No. 136 McGill street, which extended along to the corner of Longueil Lane, was ablaze. Inside of five minutes the entire brigade was on the scene, and fifteen solid streams were being thrown on the building. Gradually the fire worked its way through the three top flats, and these were badly gutted. The damage to the remainder was entirely from smoke and water, and is fully covered by insurance. The stock was very valuable, and consisted chiefly of paper, which will be either destroyed or badly soaked. The premises of the Redmond, Greenlees Company (limited), and Messrs. W. & F. P. Currie & Co., on McGill street, suffered a good deal of damage through smoke and water. The aggregate damage will amount to $100,000.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 24.—The bleaching chambers of the Canadian Electro Chemical Company were destroyed by fire this evening. They were frame, 250x50, near the allied companies' works, and part of the alkali works, which manufactured bleaching powder and caustic soda. Loss not known, but will be over $25,000. Managing Director Rhodin is in Philadelphia. The works employed about 50 men, and may close down. The cause is unknown. The town fire brigade and the allied companies' brigade were assisted by Americans and steamers in the canal in fighting the flames. It is the greatest loss of any fire ever in the Soo.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 23.—The elevator at Beresford, Man., owned by W. J. Lindsay, and 30,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed by fire. It is understood that Lindsay is fully insured. The mill and its contents are covered by a $60,000 blanket insurance.

How One Million is Spent.

Not less than one million dollars is annually spent by people seeking an absolute cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption. Numerous are the remedies, but the one standing pre-eminently above all others is Catarrhozone. It cures these diseases because it is sure to reach them. Catarrhozone is inhaled into the lungs, throat and nasal passages, and bathes every part of the diseased membrane with its germ-killing, healing vapor. You simply breathe Catarrhozone and it cures. Price 25 cents and $1, at druggists' or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

FOUR SISTERS WERE BURNED TO DEATH!

In a Fire Caused by Explosion of an Oil Can —Father and Mother Injured.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.—The residence of J. G. Miller, on Zara sctreet, Knoxville, was destroyed by fire early this morning, and four sisters, ranging from 18 to 25 years, were burned to death.

Mr. Miller and his wife were also badly burned in trying to rescue their children.

The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil-can.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway

Many people acquainted with the geography of the west imagine that because the names "Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul" are used in the corporate title of the railway owning the short line between Chicago and Omaha, they must go via the cities of Milwaukee and St. Paul to reach their destination—and if it be Omaha or west thereof. This is a mistaken idea. On a map the line running directly east and west would look like this:

Omaha——————————Chicago.

—There is nothing more simple than that, and it is less than 500 miles between Chicago and Omaha. Two through trains daily in each direction with the best Sleeping Car and Dining Car Service, and all regular travelers know and appreciate the merits of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway's Short Line between the east and the west.

OBSERVING ANNIVERSARY

Services in Dundas Center and St. John the Evangelist.

Rev. G. H. Cobbledick Preached in the Former and Rev. Provost Macklem in the Latter.

The 31st anniversary of the Dundas Center Methodist Sunday school was observed yesterday by special services, which were more interesting because it was also the world's temperance day. In the afternoon, bright addresses upon temperance subjects were given in the schoolroom, and the old-time custom of pledge-signing was revived, and many of the scholars signified their intention of refraining from intemperance.

The morning service was especially for the children. It was led by the pastor, Superintendent McDermid and Revs. G. H. Cobbledick, who preached a particularly happy children's sermon.

During the morning service, Rev. Mr. Scott, the pastor, spoke of the great sorrow that had come to the congregation because of the lamentable accident that had befallen Miss Keenleyside. She had been one of the most active and esteemed members of the church, he said—one who was valued as pure gold. He prayed for comfort to the grief-stricken family and said he hoped that the beauty of her life would be an inspiration to all members of the congregation.

CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.

The special services yesterday which marked the anniversary of the Church of St. John the Evangelist were conducted by Rev. Provost Macklem, of Trinity University, Toronto, who preached of the hold that sin has upon the world today; and in asking how society might escape from its dominion, he said that before the first act of that long, sad history of human sin was enacted, before ever a human sin was committed in this world, the heart of God was consumed with pity for mankind, the Lamb of God was fore-ordained to be the deliverance from sin, to be the means by which men might find deliverance from the tyranny and all the consequences sin brought upon mankind. The objection was sometimes made that if God was so consumed with pity for mankind under bondage of sin, because of all the sufferings sin entailed, why did he not prevent sin? He said it was too large a question to go into at length, but suffering was often a necessary pathway to ultimate good. It seemed impossible that God should bestow upon man that priceless gift of free-will, and yet not subject it to every form of temptation that existed in the universe, else how could man become untried, a free, willing servant of God.

MEN'S MEETING.

Yesterday's meeting for men at the Auditorium was addressed by Rev. C. C. Owen. His subject was the life of Moses, of whom he spoke as a character of history. He said that the higher critics had desired to treat the Bible like any other book, and had taken the Bible lives and put them in the every day life of history, and shown how they compared with other lives. After all history had been reviewed, they had come to the conclusion that with the exception of our Lord Jesus Christ, Moses was the greatest man that ever lived. As a lawgiver he stood alone; as an emancipator, he delivered up a nation. Compared with Alexander the Great and all other great names of ancient and modern history, the name of Moses was larger and greater than any other. In Pharoah's time Egypt was the greatest nation in the world, and of all its conspicuous figures Moses was the most conspicuous. The story of his life gave many wayside lessons. His early life, and the way in which God took care of him, was an interesting thing for us, and should make us recognize the sacred possibilities that might be enveloped in our lives.

Mr. Owen applied the crisis of Moses' life to those of today. He had to choose between the seen and the unseen. He was brought face to face with a question of decision. He knew the sin of the court, and his was a choice between afflictions and pleasures. Moses, however, had faith, which was the secret of all God's characteristic men and women. He had such faith that when he heard the message he chose God. It was upon such a decision that the futures of all lives depended upon.

KNOX CHURCH.

Anniversary services were conducted yesterday at Knox Church by Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Westminster, and were largely attended. Dr. McCrae's sermons were, as usual, carefully prepared, thoughtful and well delivered. The music for the day was of a special character and very appropriate. At the morning service the anthem was "Blessed Are the Merciful" (Hales), and during the offertory Mr. George Black sang "The New-Born King" (L'Espoir) in splendid voice. The evening anthem was Marmatt's "Deus Miserateur," quartet and chorus, the soloists being Misses Walker and Kemp and Messrs. Givins and Poure. Miss Elizabeth Walker, during the offertory rendered "Sun of My Soul" (Read), which was specially dedicated to Miss Walker by the composer, in a very feeling manner, and with excellent voice. Mr. Fred L. Evans, the organist and choirmaster, was in charge. A noticeable feature in the Knox Church services is the hearty congregational singing. The special collections were in aid of the ordinary church funds.

COLBORNE STREET METHODIST.

The Colborne Street Methodist Sunday school held interesting anniversary services yesterday, which were largely attended. The morning and evening services were of a special character, and in the afternoon addresses were delivered by Mr. F. Matthews and Rev. G. J. Bishop. The song service was more pretentious than usual, the music being supplied by the following orchestra: Messrs. Winslade, violin; William Corbin, flute; Frank Tilbury, clarionet, and Graves, trombone. Tomorrow night the annual entertainment, for which an excellent programme has been provided, will be held.

So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen, that often in a few weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough, there is always danger in delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

CONDITIONS SATISFACTORY!

London's Workmen More Fortunate Than Many Others.

All Available Hands Are Employed in the Building Trade of the City —Other Lines.

Mr. A. Woonton, London correspondent of the Labor Gazette, writes as follows to that journal concerning present conditions in this city:

The conditions existing among skilled and unskilled workmen of this city continue to be satisfactory, as has been the case since last spring. The foundries, factories and railroads have been unusually busy. In the building trades up to the end of the month all hands have been employed, though a rise in the price of brick from $6 to $7 and $7 50 is expected to cause a cessation in building for this year, thereby throwing the workers at these trades out of employment earlier this fall than usual.

Boilermakers are busier than for some time. One of the local shops was closed for two weeks, but is open again.

Brassworkers are very busy, one of the shops working till 10 p.m. several evenings each week.

Brush and broom makers are unusually busy, and have work enough ahead to keep them going for some time.

Bricklayers report that brick is being used up as quickly as it is made, and a shortage of it occurred during the month causing them a loss of two weeks' time. They are all at work again now. Twelve of their number have taken traveling cards and gone elsewhere; all big jobs are about completed.

Building laborers are all working, but are subject to the same conditions as bricklayers.

Carriage and wagon workers report business as brisk, the different firms being busy making up their winter stock.

Cigarmakers report their business in a flourishing condition; about fifteen jobs are open, some being for hand work and some mold.

Coal employes are busy, the winter staff having been engaged by the different yards. A shortage of cars is delaying the import of wood to the city.

Garment workers are all working, and business is good.

Local linemen are engaged outside of the city. One gang is stringing a metallic wire between Goderich and Kincardine.

Painters are all working, and report business as better than usual at this time of the year.

Polishers and buffers report business as fair, with all working.

Printers have had a more busy month than for some time, the supply not being equal to the demand. Most of the job firms are doing considerable overtime.

Railroad employes continue as busy as ever.

Stonecutters are very busy. A large amount of this work is done here for the surrounding towns.

Tailors are working overtime every night, and enough men cannot be had to get out the work. Overcoats are the main cause of the rush, and orders are being filled two and three weeks late.

Owing to a fire, which completely destroyed the plant and stock of the London Tobacco Company, on the night of Oct. 25, all the tobacco workers in the city are out of employment. The firm was very busy at the time of the fire.

The hours at the carshops have been reduced from 55 to 50 hours per week, which is usual at this time of the year.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"From Scotland Yard."

"From Scotland Yard," the melodrama, which was given two performances at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, is of the ordinary, or common garden kind of detective "thriller," with the exception that the company presenting it is of a more capable stamp than the generality of its kind. When the villain is not shooting, knifing or choking someone, the detective hero is rescuing everybody and himself from situations where escape seems morally impossible. As Abraham Lincoln, since deceased, used to remark: "For people that like that sort of thing, that's the sort of thing they like." The audience present was evidently satisfied with the efforts of the performers. Leander de Cordova, remembered by local comedy-lovers as Bigbee in "What Happened to Jones," did good work in double roles. Excellent character parts were taken by Herbert Jones, as Hebrew Crowley; Charles Hildersley as Mrs. Timmons, and Ada Hawthorne as Nancy. Among the numbers given by the orchestra was an excellently executed cornet solo by Master Clarence Robinson, of this city.

"Bonnie Brier Bush" Tonight.

"Touchstone" (Mr. H. C. Charlesworth), in last Saturday's Mail and Empire, says of Mr. J. H. Stoddart, who comes to the New Grand tonight:

"It seems to me that it was an error to call this drama "The Bonnie Brier Bush." The title is thoroughly insipid and had no significance when Ian Maclaren appended it to his book. And it has been done to death by lecturers and elocutionists and givers of picture plays. The author's title for the sketch on which the plot is founded, 'The Transformation of Lachlan Campbell,' would, it seems to me, be a more significant and impressive title. Then, perhaps, some of the regular play-going community might be willing to take an interest in one of the most beautiful exhibitions of dramatic art that the present generation has witnessed, or is likely to witness. The production is an admirable one; anything more beautiful than the scene of the Glen of Drumtochty in the third act could hardly be imagined; the company is well drilled and competent. The drollery and charm of Mr. Fax are in themselves rare enjoyment. Mr. Stoddart may not pay for pictures of himself in Munsey's Magazine and the Sunday Telegraph, but our intelligent young people who follow the theaters so closely that they can tell you about the latest cut-star that has loomed on the New York horison, need not doubt his genius on that account. He does not wear a satin coat or have pictures taken of his legs, but he really can act, and that is what only about one-tenth of the modern stars, male or female, can do."

"A BRACE OF PARTRIDGES."

Mr. Reeves-Smith, who will tomorrow night play a return engagement of his delightful comedy, "A Brace of Partridges," at the New Grand Opera House, has had a most successful stage career. In London, England, where Mr. Reeves-Smith has played for the past eighteen years, he has a reputation second to none, and New York has given him one of the foremost positions. Among the undoubted successes in which Mr. Reeves-Smith took leading parts for long terms in London or New York have been: "Charley's Aunt," a four-years' run; "Our Boys," a three-years' run; "Betsy," 22 months; "Sweet Lavender," 18 months; "The Private Secretary," 17 months; "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," 250 nights in New York, and other well-known attractions.

"THE LITTLE RED SCHOOL-HOUSE."

F. C. Whitney's latest production at the New Grand on Thanksgiving Day will be "The Little Red Schoolhouse," Hal Reid's latest play. Theatergoers have had many chances to see the former dramatizations from the pen of this gifted young author, but few have had the pleasure of witnessing his ability as an actor. He will interpret the leading role in this presentation in conjunction with Bertha Belle Westbrooke and a company especially suitable to the characters assigned. The first presentation of "The Little Red Schoolhouse" will be seen at the New Grand next Thursday—Thanksgiving Day—and a special holiday matinee is announced. This attraction is under Mr. F. C. Whitney's personal supervision, and a full carload of scenery is carried.

FOUND HER LOST FORTUNE

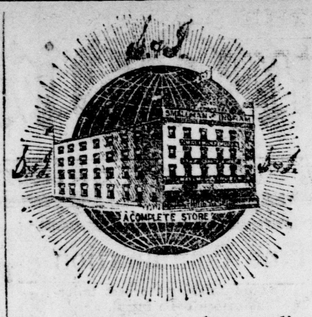

Of health through believing what she read—tested the claim—proved the truth. South American Kidney Cure cured a violent type of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Norman Cooke, of Delhi, Ont., doctored for Kidney disease until she was tired—tried plasters and a dozen remedies before she tried South American Kidney Cure. When she had used one bottle she had derived great benefit. After taking six bottles she was cured. She was so great a sufferer at times that she couldn't lie down—was totally unfit for household duties. South American Kidney Cure gives relief in six hours. 54

PURCHASED THE "PAN"

Chicagoans Bought Buffalo's Exposition as It Stands for $132,000.

Chicago, Nov. 25. — The Chicago House-Wrecking Company has bought the Pan-American Exposition, as it stands, for $132,000. Secretary S. H. Harris, of the company, was informed Saturday night that the offer of the Chicago concern had been accepted, and that the company would be put in possession today. The same firm had the contract for wrecking the World's Fair and the Chicago postoffice.

The demolition of the exposition will be begun at once. The company will employ 2,000 men on the work, and it is expected that it will require eight or nine months to level the structures.

"The material we have purchased cost over $8,000,000 to put in shape originally," said Secretary Harris. "There are 33,000,000 feet of lumber in the buildings, 2,000,000 pounds of pipe, 200,000 incandescent lights, 20,000 flagpoles and 30,000 flags. More than 1,000 freight cars will be needed to bring the material to Chicago."

Thos. Halliday, of Ohio, a passenger on the steamer Cymric, tried to kill his wife while the vessel was at Queenstown, and then committed suicide.

FREIGHT HANDLERS' STRIKE CALLED OFF.

The N. Y., N. H. and Hartford Men Go Back to Work On the Old Terms.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 25.—The strike of the freight handlers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, at Harlem River, has been declared off. The officials say the following is the proposition made by the company to the committee of the strikers, and accepted by them: "We will reinstate all the men that went out so far and as fast as we can use them, but cannot in fairness relieve men who are now in our service who are competent to discharge the duties of their respective positions. All vacancies will be filled with the old men until all are provided for. This is to apply to all who report for duty before 10 a.m. tomorrow, provided the strike is declared off before 9:15 o'clock tonight. All complaints of unfair treatment in filling the aforesaid vacancies will be promptly investigated."

At 11 o'clock Saturday night it was announced that the strike had been settled and that the men had agreed to return to work without having gained any concession.

Paris, Nov. 25. — The partial strike of coal miners in the department of the Nord has been ended by a resolution to resume work today and to wait general action, a decision regarding which has been deferred to the congress of the federation, which will probably be held in January.

ENGLISH LABOR DELEGATES.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Frank Chandler, of Manchester, England, and Ben Tillet, of London, England, fraternal delegates from the British Trades Union Congress to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor at Scranton, Pa., which opens Dec. 5, have arrived here. Before going to Scranton, Delegate Chandler will visit Buffalo and Chicago, and Mr. Tillet will go to Philadelphia. Between 200 and 300 delegates are expected at the Scranton convention. President Gompers, of the federation, in his annual report, will announce that the membership of the order has increased by half a million persons during the year, and will urge vigorously the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion law, which expires May 5, 1902, and extending the eight-hour law to all workmen engaged on all government work, whether by contract or not.

Help your children to grow strong and robust by counteracting anything that causes ill-health. One great cause of disease in children is worms. Remove them with Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It never fails.

A mathematician who was curious to know about it has figured out that the weight of the air which encircles the earth is equal to that of 581,000 cubes of copper, each 1,093 yards square.

IT IS KNOWN EVERYWHERE.—There is not a city, town or hamlet in Canada where Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not known—wherever introduced it made a foothold for itself and maintained it. Some merchants may suggest some other remedy as equally beneficial. Such recommendations should be received with doubt. There is only one Eclectric Oil, and that is Dr. Thomas'. Take nothing else.

Don't Wake the Baby.

Did you know you could give medicine to your children while they were soundly sleeping? You certainly can. It is called Vapo-Cresolene. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp, and place near the bed. The children quietly breathe in the vapor. There is nothing equal to it for whooping cough, croup, colds, cough, sore throat, and all other troubles of the throat and chest. It is economical, pleasant, safe. 22

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Ola Cream...

A Popular Cure for Chapped Hands, Chafing, Sunburn, Frosted Face, Salt Rheum and Tender Face After Shaving.

OLA CREAM is a scientific skin food and a most agreeable preparation for the prompt cure of any roughness of the skin.

Unlike Glycerine, Cold Cream, etc., it does not irritate the skin, but soothes, softens and heals.

The peculiar advantages of OLA CREAM consist of its being entirely absorbed at once, leaving no external evidence of its having been used.

It is entirely harmless, and safe to use on the youngest babe or the most delicate skin.

Its power of healing is due to the fact that it becomes absorbed and is assimilated with the fatty layers, fibres and tissues, building them up and giving action to the muscles and tone to the nerves.

THE 'PINO WAR

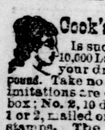

Gallant Capture of a Fort by the Nineteenth United States Infantry.

Manila, Nov. 24.—Capt. Edward R. Lawton's company of the 19th Infantry has attacked and captured an insurgent fort on Bohol Island, south of Cebu, in the Visayan group.

This fort was surrounded on all sides by a precipice and the only entrance to the higher ground was guarded by a stockade, with a line of entrenchments behind it. Capt. Lawton sent Sergt. McMahon and twenty men to climb the precipice and attack the fort in the rear. Sergt. McMahon's party accomplished their task after three hours' climbing through the thick undergrowth of bush and vines that covered the almost perpendicular cliff. They took the enemy by surprise and drove them from the fort. As the insurgents escaped they had to pass the remainder of Capt. Lawton's company at a distance of 150 yards. Here the enemy suffered terrible losses.

The insurgents defended themselves with both cannon and rifles. The cannon were captured. The smaller ones were removed, while the larger ones were buried. Capt. Lawton, in his report, makes special mention for bravery of Sergts. List and McMahon.

THE RAILWAYS

Outcry Against Pass Cut-Off—Ten Thousand Traveling Passenger Agents Will Be Put Out of Business.

The Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central have received protests from small connecting lines in the west and the south against the enforcement of the order cutting off all exchange passes for free transportation on and after Jan. 1, 1902. This suspension of free transportation, it is declared, will put 10,000 traveling passenger agents out of business.

Small roads which have been in the habit of sending traveling agents throughout the country on passes obtained from connecting lines, for the purpose of drumming up traffic, represent that they cannot afford to pay regular fares for these agents. The small roads are willing to reciprocate in the exchange of passes, but the big roads can see no advantage in such reciprocity.

A GREAT COLLAPSE.

Tipton, Ind., Nov. 25.—A fifty million-foot gas well caved in on Friday on the Hobbs farm, four miles south of this city. The well is equal to the celebrated Wallace well, which was discovered near Fostoria, Ohio, seven years ago.

CELEBRATED HIS 102ND BIRTHDAY.

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 24. — Mr. Jacob Shoemaker today celebrated at the home of his son, Alex. Shoemaker, his 102nd birthday. Mr. Shoemaker was born in Pennsylvania and came here in 1827 and had resided here ever since.

BILIOUSNESS BURDENS LIFE.—The bilious man is never a companionable man because his ailment renders him morose and gloomy. The complaint is not so dangerous as it is disagreeable. Yet no one need suffer from it who can procure Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. By regulating the liver and obviating the effects of bile in the stomach they restore men to cheerfulness and full vigor of action.

EIGHT MEN PERISHED!

Horrible Fate of an Official Exploring Party in Pocahontas Mine.

Man Dropped Dead While Laughing at a Friend's Joke — Boy Burned to Death.

Bluefield, W. Va., Nov. 23.—At 11 o'clock Friday morning Supt. Walter O'Malley, of the Pocahontas Collieries Company, along with State Mine Inspector William Priest, A. S. Hurst, chief coal inspector for the Castner, Curran and Bullit Company, of Philadelphia; Robert St. Clair, chief coal inspector; Morris St. Clair and William Oldham, substitute coal inspectors; Frazier G. Bell, mining engineer, and Joseph Cardwell, manager of the Shamokin Coal and Coak Company, of Maybury, W. Va., composing a party of eight, entered the west main of the Southwest Virginia Improvement Company's collieries for the purpose of examining the true situation in regard to the recent explosion and fire in the Baby mine, and up to midnight, had not been heard from.

At 6 p.m. a party consisting of experienced miners led by Assistant Superintendent King entered the mine to rescue the lost party of eight, but at 6:45 they returned, having encountered such quantities of black damp as to make it impossible to enter any distance into the mine. Assistant Superintendent King was completely overcome by the gas.

THE DEAD BODIES FOUND.

Bluefield, Nov. 24.—The dead bodies of the lost party of eight men who entered the west mine of the Pocahontas Collieries Company on Friday morning were recovered at 12:45 o'clock today. At 7 o'clock this morning a rescuing party, numbering 40 persons, entered at the main entrance, brattleing the mine as they went, in order to improve the circulation of the air. They had reached a distance of 3,000 feet from the entrance when they encountered such quantities of white damp that it was impossible to proceed further. Retracing their steps they decided to make another attempt from the Tug River entrance, some six miles across the Flat Top mountain.

They went in this entrance about 10:30 o'clock, and after going a distance of 600 feet, found the dead bodies of A. S. Hurst, chief inspector; Bob Odham, sub-inspector, and Frazier G. Bell, mining engineer, all huddled together. From their positions they must have met death suddenly and without pain. All of them were lying face down with no signs of a struggle. Hurst had made a pillow of his coat, on which his head rested. The bodies of other members of the party—Supt. of Mines Walter O'Malley, Joseph Cardwell, superintendent of the Shamokin Coal and Coak Company; R. E. St. Clair, second assistant inspector, were found several hundred feet back in the mine, three of the bodies lying some little distance apart. Bob St. Clair and Jos. Cardwell were lying with arms clasped around each other, cold in death. The bodies of O'Malley, Maurice St. Clair and Price were discolored and bruised about the face, showing signs of a struggle, it being very plain to see they made a desperate attempt at retracing their steps to better air, but already had advanced too far into the deadly white damp to escape alive.

TOO MUCH HEART.

London, Nov. 25.—At Malling, Kent, a man named Andrew King dropped dead recently while laughing at a friend's joke. An autopsy showed that his heart was five times the size of the normal human heart, and twice the size of that of an ox.

BLEW HIS BRAINS OUT.

Halifax, Nov. 25.—On Saturday evening the dead body of an unknown man was found in the woods, two miles from Dartmouth, N. S., with a bullet hole in his head. He was well dressed, but nothing was found on him which would lead to his identity. He placed a revolver in his mouth and blew his brains out. The case is surrounded in the deepest mystery.

Monticello, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Robert J. Schoonmaker, aged 50, proprietor of the Hunters' Home, a resort for New York sportsmen on the shores of Black Lake, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. Schoonmaker was one of the best-known guides and hunters in the state.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Frankford, Ont., Nov. 25.—The remains of what appears to have been a small boy were found in the ruins of A. E. F. Turley's barn here, which was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. It is supposed the person had gone to the barn to sleep for the night, and in some way had dropped fire.

CASUALTIES IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 25.—Suicide, fatal accident and attempted murder figured strikingly in the history of the news in Greater New York Saturday. Ella Devine, aged 21, killed herself with paris green. Rosie Goldberg, 22, died of arsenical poisoning. Etelma Dworba, a Polish girl of 16, was asphyxiated with gas. Albert Reinhardt, 27, met a similar fate. Mrs. Annie Darian, 28, and Michael Moore, a baby, fell to death through stairways. Henry Williams, 35, died from the mangling he got under a steam engine. The knife was used twice in anger—Elveretta Thomas, 30, being badly wounded by her husband, Henry Thomas, and Thomasin Agulsta, 55, being stabbed twice by Frank Millaggo.

Queenstown, Nov. 25.—As the White Star Line steamer Cymric, from Liverpool, for New York, was coming down the channel Saturday morning, Thos. Halliday, of Ohio, one of her passengers, attempted to kill his wife, and then committed suicide, cutting his throat.

HON. DAVID MILLS ON LORDS' DECISION

A Growing Tendency to Uphold Provincial Jurisdiction—Goldwin Smith's Views.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The Toronto Mail's Ottawa special says:

The minister of justice was asked what he thought of the decision of the judicial committee. He said he was satisfied that the judgment, reversing that of the court of King's bench of Manitoba, established the principle of provincial jurisdiction. Mr. Mills remarked: "The first decision of the judicial committee was in the case of Russell vs. the Queen, and that upheld Dominion jurisdiction. Since then the decisions have gradually been getting farther and farther away from the decision in Russell vs. the Queen, and I think it now is pretty clear that the power in the provinces to prohibit is pretty well established, and that Russell vs. the Queen can no longer be regarded as good law.

"I have not read over, with care, the Manitoba statue, and I have not a very distinct recollection of the points submitted to the judicial committee of the Privy Council. I was present during much of the argument before the committee, and my impression was that the chief provision of the Manitoba law would be upheld, but it would be necessary to examine with care the Manitoba statue, the points submitted for adjudication, and to read the judgment of the judicial committee before one could say how far the whole question is disposed of by that judgment."

GOLDWIN SMITH.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, when interviewed regarding the important decision rendered by the judicial committee of the Privy Council on the Manitoba liquor act, said he had no doubt as to the correctness of the decision. The judicial committee of the Privy Council is a tribunal of undoubted eminence, and its finding could be accepted without reserve. Then Dr. Smith referred to the part the politicians have played. "It is a warning to the politicians of this country," he said. "They have played fast and loose with the question. The decision of the judicial committee of the Privy Council has left them in a scrape. Now they are in a dilemma, and they deserve it all. It may prove a lesson to the politicians not to trifle with such questions."

The Hamilton liquor men are decidedly uneasy as a result of the decision of the Privy Council in the Manitoba liquor case, and say that the effect of the decision decreases the value of their property considerably. They are afraid the rural members of the legislature will vote in favor of a prohibitory measure without taking into consideration the amount of money that is involved in the business.

WOUNDS LIKE M'KINLEY'S

The Negro Who Was Shot the Same Day Died After Leaving the Hospital.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Henson Smith, a negro, whose sole claim to fame is that he was shot in the abdomen about the same time as President McKinley, his wounds being almost exactly like those which caused the death of the late president, died Friday at his home near Gaithersburg, Md. His case attracted much interest, as it was thought he would recover. Smith sustained four punctures of the intestines and went six hours without treatment. He was brought to the Emergency Hospital in this city and an operation performed. He recovered so far that he was able to walk when he left the hospital a few days ago, and the physicians say that had he remained there ten days longer he would have completely recovered. Moving around reopened his wounds and he died. Chas. Morris, who shot him, has been indicted for murder at Rockville, Md.

DR. HARBOTTLE BAILED.

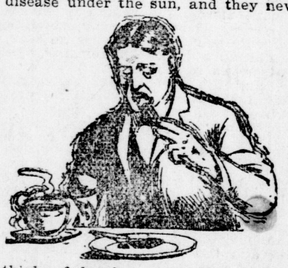

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 25.—Dr. Harbottle, of Burford, who is charged with shooting Alexander Stewart, with intent to do him bodily harm, was released from jail on Saturday. He appeared before Judge Hardy on furnished $1,000 bail. The date of the trial has not yet been set.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure-All Nor a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun, and they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic, and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a RADICAL CURE. They go no farther than this, and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial, will find nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will DIGEST WHATEVER WHOLESOME FOOD IS TAKEN INTO THE STOMACH, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It RESTS the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper ASSIMILATION of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly NOURISHED. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

TRICKED OF JEWELS IN COURT!

Lawyer Cajoles Senora Abru Out of Her $8,000 Earrings.

She Wears Gems on Witness Stand —"Real Pearls?" "Certainly." "Will You Let Them be Examined?" "Surely" — Hands Them Over; Sheriff Attaches.

New York, Nov. 25.—Senora Rosalia Abru, a wealthy Cuban, whose pet monkey was stolen at Long Branch last summer, was beguiled of a pair of pearl earrings, said to be worth $8,000, while giving testimony in Jersey City in a suit brought by Warren Dixon, of Jersey City, and John and Francis Gregory, of Long Branch, lawyers, to recover $1,500 for legal services and expenses. She considered the bill exorbitant and refused to pay, whereupon they obtained a writ of attachment in Monmouth county. The sheriff seized a diamond bracelet valued at $10,000, and Senora Abru, through ex-Mayor Morris, of Long Branch, tried to have the attachment set aside.

Senora Abru attended a hearing on the return of the rule in Supreme Court Commissioner McDermott's office, Jersey City. She was richly dressed and wore the pearl earrings. Lawyer Dixon gazed at her ears anxiously as he called her to the stand and asked:

"Are those earrings your property, madam?"

"Yes, sir."

"What are they worth?"

"Eight thousand dollars."

"Are they real pearls?"

"Certainly, sir. If they were not real they wouldn't be worth $8,000, would they?"

"Have you any objections to submitting them to a gentleman for examination?" asked Mr. Dixon, in his sweetest voice.

"None whatever," she replied, as she took the jewels from her ears and handed them to the lawyer. Dixon gave them to Constable Frederick Budden and asked what value he would place upon them. For an answer the constable fished a writ of attachment out of his coat pocket and read it to the astonished woman. Then he formally attached the earrings and placed them in an envelope.

Senora Abru was out of her chair in a moment, and demanded to know if the constable had any right to appropriate her jewelry in that manner. She was assured by ex-Mayor Morris that the proceedings were legal, but rather unusual.

The envelope was sealed in the presence of Willard Fisk, who wrote his name on it. Senora Abru, suspicious that some new game was to be played, said she wanted the envelope opened, so that she could see if the earrings were inside. The constable didn't oblige her, and started for the sheriff's office with the jewels, after assuring her that no harm would come to them. Senora Abru then leaned back in her chair and glared at Lawyer Dixon. He had no more questions to ask and said: "That's all."

"I should think it was enough!" was her indignant reply.

Senora Abru can recover her earrings by giving a bond covering the amount involved in the suit. Lawyer Dixon explained that the Monmouth county suit had been discontinued and new proceeding begun against the woman as a non-resident debtor. Madame Abru left Long Branch soon after her $10,000 bracelet was attached, and is now at the Hoffman House in this city.

EXECUTION OF THE BIDDLE BROTHERS

Their Request For Separate Days of Execution Granted—To Be Hanged in January.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 25.—The fate of three murderers was settled at Harrisburg last week. George W. McMurray will end his days in the penitentiary for the killing of Jas. Rudge, a mine foreman, at Noblestown. This ends one of the most sensational cases that has been before the pardon board for years.

The Biddle brothers, John and Edward, of St. Thomas, Ont., will be hanged within two months for the murder of Grocer Thomas D. Kahney. John Biddle will die Jan. 14 and Edward will follow him to the scaffold two days later, on Jan. 16.

The McMurray case has been before the board of pardons at every session since last June, and several times it has been considered at special meetings.

The aged parents of McMurray spent a fortune to save their son, and just when their resources were exhausted oil was struck on their farm, which gave them fresh funds. When told that his sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life, the condemned man expressed gratitude.

The cases of the Biddle brothers also excited great interest. They made a fight in the supreme court and lost. Then they petitioned Governor Stone to set separate days for their execution. This was granted. The case of Walter Dorman, their confederate, who became a witness for the state, now remains to be disposed of. He entered a plea of guilty, and the court fixed his crime as murder in the first degree. He was not sentenced. The idea was to hold him until the Biddles were disposed of, in order to prevent complications in case of emergency.

PNEUMONIA

or any inflammation of the internal organs or mucous membranes, after exposure to cold, wet, etc., lose no time, but apply Radway's Ready Relief on a piece of flannel over the part affected with congestion or inflammation, which will in nearly every case check the inflammation and cure the patient by its action of counter-irritation and by equalizing the circulation in the part. For further instructions see our directions wrapped around the bottle.

HOUSEHOLD NECESSITIES.

"I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicine. Some time ago my husband was taken down with lung fever. It came on him with a chill in the night. It happened I had a supply of the medicine in the house at the time. I rubbed his chest and back with the Radway's Ready Relief. I gave him a teaspoonful in a little hot water to drink, to help warm and stimulate him, and in about half an hour three of the Radway's Pills. By the time the doctor came the next morning he was much better. The doctor wanted to know what I had been doing. I told him. He said that was good; that they were good medicines. Another case I had was with my little nephew. He was taken with the croup. I rubbed his chest, throat and back with the Ready Relief, gave him doses about an hour apart, followed it by a dose of pills. By the next day he was about all right. I have been using this medicine with my family and my neighbors for about thirty years, and never knew it to fail. I would feel gratefully obliged to you to please forward to me "False and True," for which I inclose stamp. You are at liberty to make use of this testimony as you may think proper. Yours respectfully,

MRS. ELIZA DUNN,
"Jacksonville, Morgan Co., Illinois."

ACHES AND PAINS.

For headache (whether sick or nervous), toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and weakness in the back, spine or kidneys, pain around the liver, pleurisy, swelling of the joints and pains of all kinds, the application of Radway's Ready Relief will afford immediate ease, and its continued use for a few days effect a permanent cure.

First Painless Night in 8 Months.

"I received the Ready Relief on Friday, the 11th inst., by night express; used some at 9 o'clock, and had a painless night for the first time in three months. Used the Ready again on Saturday and Sunday morning and night, with the same result. I had a broken arm and a shoulder out of joint, or dislocated; was set all right by Dr. Bloom in Schenevus, but remained painful until I used your remedy. Thanks for your prompt attention. Yours respectfully,

"G. G. DOSE,
"Maryland, Ostego Co., N. Y."

THE GOSPEL IN MODERN GREEK

Translation Arranged For By Queen Olga For Family Use Exclusively---The Greek Premier's Explanation During Debate Over Recent Rioting in Athens---Resignation of Greek Cabinet---Literary London Scandalized---Strong Anti-German Feeling Growing in England.

London, Nov. 25.—The Greek premier, M. Theotokis, taking part Saturday in an excited debate in the Chamber of Deputies over the recent disturbances in Athens, arising from the objection of the students to the translation of the gospels into modern Greek, quoted from certain letters of the Holy Synod, addressed to Queen Olga in 1899, in which the synod's reasons against the translation of the gospels were explained. The premier blamed the metropolitan of Athens, Procopius Oeconimidis, for the disturbances. He said the metropolitan, owing to the weakness of his character, had not the courage to support the synod upon the occasion of the metropolitan's audience with the queen.

A PIOUS SOVEREIGN.

Referring to Queen Olga, the premier said her piety, Christian sentiments and nobility of character were the admiration of the whole world. During the war she was everywhere told by wounded soldiers that they had not read the gospels because they did not understand the text. The queen then arranged, continued the premier, for the publication of a translation of the gospels into modern Greek, exclusively for family use.

The recent disorders had been caused, M. Theotokis explained, by the demonstrators assailing the troops with stones and revolvers. The troops only fired in the air. That was proven by the wounds of the victims being from revolver and not from rifle bullets.

PREMIER OVERCOME BY EMOTION.

Speaking of the dead, tears ran down the premier's cheeks, and the sitting of the chamber was suspended for some minutes in order to allow him to regain his composure. The opposition was led by M. Delyannis, who accused the ministry of weakness and of being responsible for murder.

Vast and noisy crowds surrounded the Chamber of Deputies while the debate was going on. The troops, however, were disposed in force and overawed the assemblage.

THE CABINET RESIGNS.

As a result of the demonstrations against the proposed translation of the gospels into modern Greek, the Grecian Cabinet has resigned. This action was taken in spite of King George's efforts to induce the cabinet and M. Theotokis, the premier, to remain in office. M. Theotokis considers the responsibility of a judicial inquiry into the recent riots should be left to another cabinet, in order that the truth may be established beyond suspicion. The party of M. Theotokis will support the new cabinet.

MORE RIOTING.

There was a renewal of the rioting last night, though not on a large scale, with demonstrations against the retiring cabinet. The residences of the ministers were stoned. The crowd were finally dispersed by cavalry. The students continue to occupy the university buildings.

After an audience of King George, M. Zaimis, former premier, completed a cabinet, made up as follows: Premier and minister of foreign affairs, M. Zaimis; minister of the interior, M. Trianda-Fyllakos; minister of marine, M. Topalis; minister of public worship, M. Monferrato; minister of finance, M. Negris; minister of war, Col. Korpas. Until an official inquiry into the causes of the riots has been concluded, M. Zaimis will also hold the portfolio of justice.

LONDON SCANDALIZED.

Literary London is stirred to its depths by a remarkable criticism of the late Robert Louis Stevenson contributed by W. E. Henley to the Christmas number of a periodical. "Blazing indiscretion," "ill-judged screed" and "lampoon," are samples of the terms applied to the article by indignant and surprised admirers of the author of "Treasure Island." Even those attempting to defend the justice of the criticism, find that it lays Mr. Henley open to charges of disloyalty and bad taste. The Daily News is emphatic in its protest. It says:

AN ILL-JUDGED SCREED.

"We are not surprised that the literary world is scandalized. It is astonishing that any man of ordinary feeling should have written in such terms of a dead friend. One thing is made quite clear by the article. Stevenson has a genuine hold on the affections of his countrymen, and that affection will last long after Mr. Henley's ill-judged screed is forgotten."

A writer on the Star affects to regard the article as a literary hoax. He says:

A LITERARY HOAX?

"Henley was Stevenson's friend of friends. Therefore he could not have written this lampoon. It is unthinkable and incredible. The article is surely the work of an enemy cunning enough to imitate Henley's style, in order to misinterpret his mind and heart. Doubtless Henley deems the imposture unworthy of the honor of exposure."

Miss Eva Blantyre Simpson, author of "Stevenson's Edinburgh Days," says: "Mr. Henley has not been afraid to speak out the truth and draw a true image of his companion of bygone days. Balfour's volumes form a discreet official biography. Mr. Henley is the only living man who could write his unofficial life."

THE GERMANS PLEASED.

The assurance given by Dr. von Holleben, the German ambassador at Washington, to President Roosevelt, regarding the attitude of Emperor William and the German people towards the United States, have been warmly received at Berlin. All the papers express the hope that there will be an improvement in the relations between Germany and the United States, through this clearing of the aimosphere.

DISAVOWAL OF PAN-GERMANS.

The Berliner Zeitung calls Dr. von Holleben's assurances a disavowal of the pan-Germans. The paper admits that the pan-Germans advocated foreign conquests in a manner which necessarily caused vexation abroad. It shows from the Pan-German Association's printed matter that the pan-Germans wanted to annex Chile, Argentina, South Brazil and West Indian Island, the Netherlands, Turkey, etc., and goes on to show that the German Fleet Society, which enjoys high government protection, follows similar ideas. It quotes the following from a recent article published in the society's organ:

"Upon whether we succeeded in winning back to Germanism at least part of the German emigrants, particularly those in South America, and possibly in Queensland and South Africa, depends chiefly the degree we expand as a power during the coming century."

DISTRUST JUSTIFIED.

The Berliner Zeitung asks: "What does this mean but that when our navy is strong enough we shall begin wars of conquest in all lands where the German element is numerous."

Continuing, the article says it can readily be understood that such expressions from a government protected society awaken distrust abroad, and this distrust is all the more justified since in foreign countries, under the system of German ministers and consuls an agitation has been begun, aiming to represent the Germans as being oppressed there and as needing help from home.

The Berliner Zeitung further says: "This is especially the case in South America, where German clubs have been organized in all the large seaports in order to send cries of distress to the fatherland."

The paper claims that the result of this agitation has been to arouse the suspicions of the natives against the German settlers, whom they had hitherto regarded as bearers of civilization. Hence, cool-headed Germans in Rio Janeiro, Bahia, Pernambuco and Santos have adopted measures against the pan-Germans, who are now rooted out of these cities.

TURKEY HARD UP FOR MONEY.

Never has the Turkish Government been in such financial straits as at the present time. It is impossible to see how the expenses of the Ramazan and Bairam, due in December and January, and involving £360,000, can be met. The Ottoman bank utterly refuses to make any more advances, and the penury is so acute that even the troops in many of the provinces are unpaid. The consequence is that there have been mutinies in several districts. Hostile demonstrations in Constantinople recently have only been quieted by the authorities hastily scraping together a few thousand piasters as something on account. The discontent in the army forms the real danger in the situation.

In England there is a perceptible hardening of public feeling against Germany. The remark is heard on every side that the German agitators may succeed in making Mr. Chamberlain prime minister if they persevere in distorting the obvious meaning of a harmless phrase and in holding him up to ridicule in indecent cartoons. Those behind the scenes smile grimly over the fatuity with which German agitators have run against the English statesman responsible in a large measure for the recent entente cordiale between the two countries. Singularly enough, Mr. Chamberlain was a strenuous advocate of the dual agreement in China and of closer relations with Germany, and is now singled out for attack for an alleged deliberate affront to the fatherland.

A singular feature of the German outbreak against England is the neglect of the government at Berlin to bring pressure to bear upon the press and public meetings. This points to cooler relations between the British and German Governments, caused by the recent Mitylene incident or some other passage of secret diplomatic history. There are two natural effects of the German agitation which happily appear to be subsiding. One is a sympathetic movement in England toward France and Russia and away from Germany. The other is the promotion of cordial relations between England and the United States.

THE LATE CONSPIRACY.

The Johannesburg conspiracy is the most important disclosure of the South African dispatches. It involves another series of military trials and executions, and does not encourage hope of a speedy settlement of the race war. The censorship allows the passage of little news from the land. Private letters from men in the employ of mining companies report a stagnant state of that industry and a general feeling that the war may last another year.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

There are no leads of open water beyond the ice pack in which both political ships are drifting. All the officers of the Liberal craft are agreed in denouncing the incompetence of the ministry in the various stages of war, and the futility of the concentration camps, the devastation of the country and the proclamations for bringing hostilities to an end. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Sir Wm. Harcourt and Mr. Morley go further, and advocate specific terms of peace and the dismissal of Mr. Chamberlain, but Mr. Asquith, Sir Henry Fowler and Sir Edward Grey do not acquiesce. The National Liberal Federation may pass a resolution in favor of the removal of Mr. Chamberlain as a first step toward peace, but the country is not prepared to desert the colonial minister, especially when under foreign fire. Otherwise the Liberals are without a definite policy, and at the mercy of the drifting pack.

SLOW DRIFT OF THE WAR.

The ministers themselves are making little progress under the grinding pressure of the endless warfare. They are united in respecting the precedent offered by Lord Canning's proclamation of amnesty during the Indian mutiny, but are without resource for accelerating the slow processes of the war or reducing the cost of the campaign which is staggering British taxpayers, if not humanity. The only practical method of getting Mr. Chamberlain out of the colonial office is the one employed when Lord Lansdowne was conducted with pomp from the war office to the foreign office. No associate aspires to succeed him in the colonial office, and the vacancy is not yet in sight in the treasury. If Sir Michael Hicks-Beach succeeds in producing financial proposals which his colleagues can accept there will be no cabinet changes, and the slow drift will continue with weekly surrenders reported by Lord Kitchener.

FINANCIAL NEEDS.

As a means of financing the war, the sugar duties will be doubled and countervailing duties against bounties added unless the ministers are alarmed by the anti-English agitation in Germany, which is seriously embarrassing the government at Berlin. Otherwise all surmises are guesses in the dark. The borrowing powers are still ample, although the Boer war has sent down consols from 112 to 92, but a large proportion of the military expenses falls upon a limited class of income taxpayers which cannot endure increased burdens.

FOR THE CORONATION.

American millionaires may buy up steamship lines, provide London with an electric transit system or organize the iron and steel industry into gigantic combinations and capture an occasional Hobbema or Gainsborough, but society draws the line at traffic in coronation seats. Not even the era of good feeling has prevented acrid strictures on the reports that American women are having coronation robes made, their husbands having bought seats from British peers. The social fiat has already gone out that no American woman shall enter the abbey unless they have previously married peers. The suggestion has been made that the attendance at the abbey shall not exceed ten thousand, but nobody has seen the plans by which so large a number can be accommodated. Many erroneous accounts have been published of alteration in the consecration service. The order followed in 1838 will be adhered to closely. It is set forth in an illuminated missal of the fourteenth century, preserved in the library of the abbey. The question of incense has not been settled, but an evangelical paper is certainly wrong in the statement that anointing oil will be dispensed with, and the Holy Communion omitted. Precedents for both go back to the Saxon kings.

The British Museum has been besieged by those who are searching for notes of the dresses and regulations of previous coronations. Queen Alexandra has ordered from Delhi a quantity of the finest embroidery, for which the former capital of India is famous, which will adorn her majesty's robes at the coronation ceremonies. This action, which has produced the greatest satisfaction in India, is due to the good offices of the vicereine, who, when recently in England, showed the Queen some priceless Delhi embroideries, and so stimulated royal interest as to cause the present order to be given.

UNDER THE WAR CLOUD.

English country life remains under the war cloud. There are few large parties and many houses are closed, the absentees taking refuge at Nice and Southern Italy. Society writers made the most of men's shooting parties and house parties for marrying off girls, but it is a dull record. The bulk of the entertaining is done by ambitious smart people and men of great wealth. The real centers of social life and refinement are either closed or lack animation. There can be no merrie England when an army of 220,000 remains on the veldt, with serious mortality week after week and the end not in sight. Town life is equally clouded. There is little private entertaining and the fashionable restaurants are only half filled after the theaters are emptied. Picture dealers complain of slow sales. The Christies' holiday auctions are sluggish. The prosperous theaters are the exception, proving the rule that the public is not in the mood to be entertained and has no money to spend.

"THE KARTELL"

German Sugar Combine Controls the Prices of the World—Immensely Powerful Secret Organization.

London, Nov. 25.—The British sugar magnates assert that their investigations have revealed the existence in Germany of a great trust, called the "Kartell," which has been in existence about a year, and that it is chiefly owing to its agency that the price of sugar has been forced down to the lowest point in the history of the industry, and that Germany today is enabled to dictate to the world the price of that commodity. The exact extent of the "Kartell" was discovered, they say, only recently. The magnitude of its operations supplies the missing factors in the present alarming condition of the sugar market. The abolition of their organization will be one of the chief objects of the nations other than Germany attending the forthcoming Brussels conference. Already British firms have entered into negotiations with leading American sugar interests, and tables are now being drawn up showing the transactions of the "Kartell" with a view of submitting them to the authorities at Washington. The British Government will be urged to empower its representatives at the Brussels conference to threaten retaliatory countervailing measures unless the "Kartell" is broken up or at least midified.

The latest figures available in London show that Germany now produces one-third of the world's supply of beet sugar, of which she exports no less than 1,250,000 tons, after completely supplying her own population. These exports, which are almost all of the world's available supply, are sent out at a loss to German manufacturers, but thanks to the "Kartell," plus the bounty, they are able not only to make up for this, but to reap a handsome profit, in addition to gaining absolute control of the sugar market.

The "Kartell" is run very secretly, but from confidential reports snown to a press representative in London, it is learned that it consists of an ironclad combination of almost all producers and refiners to keep up the price of sugar in Germany. This is done so successfully that the German consumer today pays thrice as much for sugar as the Briton does for the same article imported from Germany. The members of the "Kartell" bind themselves to buy from and sell to only those affiliated with the combine. This has worked so satisfactorily that the "Kartell" now includes practically every factor of the sugar interests in Germany, from the agricultural producer to the refiner. The latter agrees always to pay the raw article, though natural conditions might ordinarily allow him to buy three marks cheaper. This, however, insures a permanently high price to the consumer. The enormous profits consequent upon these methods are pooled in the "Kartell," and are divided upon an elaborate and ingenious scale, and the surplus product is disposed of at a slight loss in other European and American markets, though even this deficit is often made up by the bounty that Germany provides. British sugar authorities are quoted as saying that the German "Kartell" and bounty combined will within two years ruin the beet and cane industry in other countries, especially in Cuba and the other West Indies.

WORK OF THE STORM!

Great Damage Done in the Vicinity of New York

By Wind and Flood—Vessels Driven Ashore — Sewers and Cellars Flooded — Docks and Bathing Houses Demolished.

New York, Nov. 24.—The storm of last night and today did considerable damage. Windows in the upper part of the city were blown in and a few roofs taken off. The greatest damage was along the West street, fronting the North River, where numberless cellars were flooded. The Rapid Transit tunnel was flooded in many places.

The Western Union Telegraph Company reports having suffered most in the Poconomo Mountain district, near Stroudsburg, Pa. Sleet had broken down poles and wires for nearly a mile. Some of the Long Island wires were broken. The Postal Company reports its heavy damage across the river between Suffern and Cuttenburg.

WIND FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

The wind here blew from 36 to 40 miles an hour this afternoon. The gale sent shipping scurrying to shelter. In spite of the dropping of anchors and the putting out of additional hawsers many small boats and other craft were damaged or driven ashore. The wind blew over the river and bay with great fury, and to add t the trouble there was an unusually high tide, which caused the flooding of numberless cellars along the water front and great damage to merchandise.

Down on the north shore of Staten Island the storm did considerable damage, and the wreckage from a pile-driver blocked travel on the electric road. So great was the damage and the fear that the Staten Island ferry landing might be carried away, that the ferry boat Robert Garrett, which was tied up there, was brought up to the city and tied up in the North River.

UNUSUALLY HIGH TIDE.

In the East River the tide rose to a height not remembered by the "oldest inhabitant." Great damage was done on all the islands lying in the river off the Harlem shore, piers being carried away, bathing pavilions washed off their foundations, outhouses swept into the flood and smashed to pieces in the waters of Hell Gate. One of the strangest sights was that of the lighthouse standing off the north end of Blackwell's Island. Ordinarily standing away out of tide water, the lighthouse this morning was in the midst of a raging flood. The waves, covered with white caps, dashed about the structure, the platform of the house being but a short distance from the water surface. The entire north end of the island was submerged at 9 o'clock.

VESSES WRECKED.

The full-rigged ship Flottbek, which went ashore at Monument Beach during last night's gale, is tonight resting on the sands, apparently little the worse for her experience, and her crew are being cared for by the life-savers of station No. 4.

The tug Robert Haddon is a wreck, but her crew was saved. One man, unknown, probably a resident of Long Branch, was swept away when the big iron pier at that place was for the most part wrecked by the terrific waves.

Much property damage resulted from the storm all along that portion of the Jersey coast.

The Haddon picked up the Flottbek yesterday afternoon after dark. The ship, under command of Commander Singler, was bound for New York, from Plymouth, England, with a cargo of white clay and minerals. The tug was commanded by Capt. Stark. She had a crew of seven men, and the ship had 24 men all told.

AT ASBURY PARK.

The storm struck Asbury Park, N. J., with more force than any in recent years. The wind during the night attained a velocity of 70 miles an hour, and did much damage to cottages. The great waves rolled across Ocean avenue, and the surf rolled across the beach and into Wesley Lake, overflowing it, something that never occurred since Asbury Park was located. The water of the lake flooded cellars, and made the streets in that vicinity almost impassable. The waves, boring under the floor of the Asbury avenue pavilion, started the flooring and beams under it. The Metropolitan Hotel, one of the largest at Asbury Park, was swept of its roof, and the rain soaked down into the rooms, causing much damage.

IMMENSE DAMAGE DONE.

Driven by the terrific northeast gale the highest tide ever known along the north shore of Long Island swept inland, leaving a ribbon of wreckage that girds the shore front from Astoria, in Lond Island City, out of Green Port, on the extreme end of the island. Thousands of dollars of damage was done. Docks, boat and bathing houses were wrecked, and fleets of yachts, which had been drawn up in supposedly safe winter quarters, were floated off by the high tide and left stranded in many instances more than half a mile inland.

Washouts occurred on two branches of the railway and trolley roads. Probably the greatest damage was done at North Beach, on Flushing and Bowery Bays, where more than $20,000 worth of docks, paved walks, pavilions, places of amusement, and other property was destroyed. The entire fleet of the Williamsburg Yacht Club was floated off by the tide and wrecked. In Flushing Bay, docks were damaged, boats battered to pieces and the Flushing meadows entirely submerged.. The same state of affairs obtained at Jamaica Bay, Roslyn and other points.

Loss of Flesh and Weight

An Indication of Wasting Disease, of Exhausting Nerve Force and Declining S.. ength and Vitality.

Note Your Weight and Test the Flesh-Forming, Tissue Building Effects of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food—The Results Will Surprise You

Can you imagine a more severe test of any preparation than that of adding firm flesh and increasing the weight of the body? It is possible, of course, to add fat by the use of fish oils, but the tissues created by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are firm and natural. The blood is thoroughly enriched, and the nerve force replenished. Pallor and weakness give place to a healthy complexion and the strength of mind and body. Languor and discouragement are driven out to make way for vigor, new hope, and confidence.

It might be worth your while to make a test of this great food cure as a builder of flesh and muscle. Note your weight when beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and watch the gradual increase week by week. At first the increase may be slight owing to the wasting process, which must be stopped. Then, naturally and certainly, the whole system is built up and perfect health and vitality restored to every part of the body.

Mr. A. R. Fawcett, the well-known editor and proprietor of the Leader and Recorder, Toronto Junction, writes: "It is very seldom that I need medicine of any description, but this spring I got so badly run down and out of sorts generally that I became somewhat alarmed. Chancing to read a testimonial about the results derived from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, from a gentleman whose case seemed to be identical with my own, I purchased a box and commenced using it.

"The result was simply marvelous. I was benefited from the first, and soon restored to my usual good health. I never felt better in my life than I do now. To tell the simple truth, I did not have any great faith in any medicine until I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but now I have no hesitation in strongly recommending this great remedy to others as a valuable and effective remedy."

$20,000 STOLEN.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 25.—The fact that 112 bars of gold and silver bullion, valued at over $20,000, were stolen six months ago in transit from the smelters here to eastern refineries, has just come to light. The shipment was made over the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway under heavy bond. It was not missed until the car reached New Orleans. It has since been learned that the bullion had been thrown from the car near this city and that it now lies buried in Western Texas. The thieves have been traced from place to place, and a few bars have been unearthed. Detectives have a clew to the hidden treasure.

At a mass meeting held at Vancouver (B.C.) on Friday evening, a resolution was passed expressing want of confidence in the Dunsmuir Government.

Salt Rheum

It may become chronic.

It may cover the body with large, inflamed, burning, itching, scaling patches and cause intense suffering. It has been known to do so.

Do not delay treatment.

Thoroughly cleanse the system of the humors on which this ailment depends and prevent their return.

The medicine taken by Mrs. Ida E. Ward, Cove Point, Md., was Hood's Sarsaparilla. She writes: "I had a disagreeable itching on my arms which I concluded was salt rheum. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and in two days felt better. It was not long before I was cured and I have never had any skin disease since."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. It is positively unequaled for all cutaneous eruptions. Take it.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Strength in the coarse grains helped all markets today, and December wheat closed ¼c higher, December corn 1c up, and December oats 1½c advanced; provisions closed 2½c to 10c advanced. Wheat trading was dull and narrow; December opened a shade to ⅛c to ¼c higher, at 72⅛c to 72¼c, on better cables than had been expected, but fluctuated between these prices until just before the close. Receipts liberal, particularly in the northwest. Late reports stated that the rains in the southwest had not brought relief from the drought; but clearances were light, and the probability of large world's shipments to be reported on Monday, steadied the market. The corn bulge, as much as anything, perhaps, brought the slight advance. Toward the end of the session covering by shorts brought a slight advance, and December closed firm and ¼c higher, at 72¼c to 72⅝c. Local receipts were 53 cars, 1 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 884 cars, making a total for the three points of 937 cars, against last week's 923, and 640 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,018,000 bu, compared with 666,000 bu last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 256,000 bu. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 70 cars; corn, 105 cars; oats, 150 cars; hogs, 50,000 head.

The leading futures closed: Wheat—Nov., 72c; Dec., 72¼c to 72⅝c; May, 75¾c to 76c. Corn—Nov., 61⅜c; Dec., 61½c; May, 63¾c to 63⅞c. Oats—Dec., 42½c; May, 42¾c. Mess pork—Jan., $15 45; May, $15 77½. Lard—Dec., $8 77½; Jan., $8 80; May, $8 97½. Short ribs—Jan., $7 87½; May, $8 05.

Cash quotations: Flour firm; winter patents, $3 50 to $3 60; straights, $3 to $3 40; clears, $2 70 to $3 20; spring specials, $4 to $4 10; patents, $3 25 to $3 70. No. 3 spring wheat, 70c to 71¼c; No. 2 red, 74c to 75c. No. 2 oats, 42½c to 43c; No. 2 white, 44¾c to 45c; No. 3 white, 44¼c to 45c. No. 2 rye, 60¾c to 61c. Fair to choice malting barley, 58c to 61c. No. 1 flaxseed, $1 45; No. 1 northwestern, $1 45. Prime timothy seed, $6 15 to $6 25. Mess pork, $14 30 to $14 35; lard, $8 77½ to $8 80; short ribs sides, $7 85 to $8; dry salted shoulders, 7¾c to 7½c; short clear sides, $8 25 to $8 35. Eggs steady; fresh, 23½c.

Receipts—Flour, 29,000 bbls; wheat, 133,000 bu; corn, 143,000 bu; oats, 294,000 bu; rye, 8,000 bu; barley, 92,000 bu.

Shipments—Flour, 23,600 bbls; wheat, 161,000 bu; corn, 238,000 bu; oats, 407,000 bu; barley, 9,000 bu.

BYLAW WILL BE BEINFICIAL

Effect of the Proposed Regulation for Sanitary Plumbing.

Will Insure Good Work and Material for the Property-Owner—The Law's Good Points.

After three years of endeavor, Dr. Cl. T. Campbell has succeeded in having the plumbing bylaw pass its first reading, and it will likely become effective in the near future. The bylaw has gone through the course of revision to which are subjected many questions that the aldermen, for reasons that they best understand, do not bring to an issue.

When the city's sewage system was submitted to the provincial board of health for approval, that approval was granted, subject to this condition—that the city should pass a proper plumbing bylaw. In preparing this bylaw the best features of the model bylaw of the provincial board of health, the New York bylaw, and a bylaw prepared by the Ontario Plumbers' Association were combined. It was then revised by the city engineer and the engineer of the waterworks, and ought to contain all the points that are essential. It was then submitted to the council by Dr. Campbell, but at the beginning of each year it was referred to committee and buried with other business that the aldermen did not wish to tackle.

The reason has been that it was thought by some desirable to have a plumbing inspector to enforce the bylaw; and there were difficulties in the way of appointing such an officer.

The regulations of the bylaw are twofold. They provide the material and method of construction, so as to produce the best sanitary results; and at the same time insure for the property-holder good material and work for his money. For example, it determines what kind of pipes shall be used for drains, and how they shall be laid, with the style of traps best suited; the minimum size of soil pipes and material of which they are to be made; character of water closets in houses and how they should be ventilated; the manner of making connections in plumbing; the proper ratio of size to weight in different kinds of pipe used; the manner of jointing pipes, and other particulars.

In order to insure the enforcement of the bylaw, it is provided that when a plumber has a job to do, he shall apply to the city engineer for a permit, and shall submit the plans and specifications of his work. If they conform to the regulations, the permit is granted. The architect should see to it that the plans are carried out. Of course, if there is no architect it might be said the property-owner would be at the mercy of the plumber, because there could be no official inspector. But the danger will not be great. Any plumber will be willing to live up to the regulations when he knows that they apply to everyone; and if he should not, he becomes subject to the penalties of the bylaw as soon as his defects are discovered. It might be better to have an inspector; but even without that official, it is well to have the rules laid down and the defaulting plumber made subject to law.

BAYLEY'S

REVEALS A ROMANCE

Daughter of the "Last of the Dandies" Discovered in a Workhouse.

London, Nov. 25.—There is at least one person in London not connected with Her Majesty's Theater who is deeply interested in the duration of the run of "The Last of the Dandies."

Early last week an elderly lady called on Mr. Beerbohm Tree and told him that she was a daughter of Count D'Orsay. This daughter produced a certificate of birth and other documents proving her statement, which inquiries also substantiated. She is a skillful pianist, speaks English and French well, but has fallen on evil days, and is now in a London workhouse. Mr. Tree is making her a comfortable weekly allowance during the run of the piece.

STILL THEY GO

Two More Canadian Soldiers "Mustered Out" by Death.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 25.—The casualty department at Cape Town cables, under date of Nov. 22, that Trooper Arthur Timelick, New Westminster, B. C., is in a precarious condition from wounds at Krugersdorp. There has evidently been some fighting at this point. Timelick's father resides at New Westminster, B. C.

Another cable from the same department reports that Rudolph Saeur, of Quebec, died from enteric fever at Pietermaritzburg on Nov. 22. He was with the South African Light Horse. His father resides in Quebec.

MONKEY'S TAIL BOA

Englishwoman Startles Monte Carlo With an Ouistiti on Her Shoulder.

Monte Carlo, Nov. 25.—Yesterday morning I saw something entirely new in the way of boas.

A very fashionably dressed English woman, out for her morning walk, was the originator of this new style.

On her shoulder was seated a beautiful little black and white "ouistiti," and his long bushy tail, which was twice the size of the little monkey, was twisted around the lady's neck.

It must have been delightfully warm and, were it not for the fact that accidents will happen even to the best mannered little monkeys, the fashion might spread.

WON'T PRINT BESANT'S STORY.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 25.—Because a beautiful young white woman, the heroine in Sir Walter Besant's serial story, "No Other Way," is forced to marry a negro criminal, The Sunny South, the leading literary weekly of the south, this morning announces the discontinuance of the publication of the story.

The Sunny South handles the matter with gloves off and declares the story passes the dead line of southern sentiment.

It appears that the story was selected after a synopsis had been submitted, and not until the fourth installment was the objectionable feature discovered. The editors declare the plot of the story to be "an obscession the result of mental indigestion, from which we shall endeavor to save our readers."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. PICKING THE NOSE is a common symptom of worms. Mothers who suspect their child is troubled with worms should administer Dr. Low's Worm Syrup. It is pleasant, safe and effectual. z

FRANCE WANTS MORE BABIES!

Government Takes Up the Question of Repopulation.

Talk of Changes in the British Coronation Ceremonies—Queen Wilhelmina's Condition Much Improved.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Anxiety over the depopulation of France resulted in an interesting debate in the senate Saturday when M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the premier, accepted, in the name of the government, a proposal for the nomination of an extra parliamentary commission to seek means of increasing the birth rate and diminishing mortality. The proposal was countersigned by 133 senators.

Senator Bernard, in proposing the inquiry, compared the peopling of France with that of other nations throughout the 19th century. At the beginning of that century France had 26,000,000 inhabitants, Germany 15,000,000 inhabitants, and England 12,000,000 inhabitants. Now France has 38,000,000 inhabitants, Germany 56,000,000 inhabitants, and England 41,000,000 inhabitants.

He combatted the theory that in population quality is better than quantity. His remedies were the adoption of fiscal measures in favor of large families, and, above all, legislation to check the terrible mortality among infants.

Another speaker declared that it was well known that the baby farming system in France resulted in the death of 80 per cent of the infants so reared.

THE CORONATION CEREMONIES.

New York, Nov. 25.—Keen interest has been excited by a report, for which a ritualistic paper is responsible, that the ceremonies of doing homage and anointing with oil, and the celebration of the holy communion will be omitted from the coronation service, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. It seems improbable, however, that the statement is well founded. Nothing is known at Westminster Abbey of such changes, and the English people generally would view with regret the abrogation of the service in any way.

The homage is a survival of the old recognition of the sovereigns of the people, and, although it is no longer necessary to kiss the King's foot, this was done certainly as late as the coronation of Edward VI. The ceremony of anointing dates back to a very remote past. Every English monarch, with the exception of James II., has partaken of holy communion at the coronation services.

WILHELMINA BETTER.

The Hague, Nov. 25.—Queen Wilhelmina is improving so satisfactorily that Prince Henry will leave Het-Loo tomorrow on a short visit to Prussia.

ALL QUIET AT ATHENS.

Athens, Nov. 25.—The king has issued a decree suspending the chamber for 40 days. The city is fairly tranquil. The armed occupation of the university is still in contemplation.

ABOUT 21,000

Yukon Census Returns Complete With Exception of Three Districts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 25.—Major Woodside, the census commissioner for the Yukon, handed in returns for the Yukon to Mr. Blue today. The major estimates the population at 21,000.

Of these 8,500 are in Dawson, 500 at White Horse, 6,000 at The Creeks; Indians 1,000 and 300 Eskimos.

He has got all the returns except those of three districts, and when these are in the total population will be about 21,000.

Letters to the Editor

RE VICTORIA HOSPITAL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I arrived here from Komoka upon the 1st of the present month, with my leg broken, and at the present rate of progress I will soon be able to leave the hospital all right. I would add that I cannot speak too highly of the treatment I have received at the hands of the staff and nurses. Please insert the above.

Yours, DUNCAN McKELLAR.

YUKON FROZEN OVER.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 25. — The steamer City of Seattle, from Skaguay, reports that when she left Skaguay last Monday the Yukon was frozen over for 30 miles. The river, where it was open, was not navigable for even small boats, on account of the dangerous condition of floating ice, which at points had been formed into immense jams.

TWELVE HORSES GORED AT BULL FIGHT.

Mexico City, Nov. 25.—The bull-fighting season in Mexico opened yesterday afternoon, with Mazzantini, the famous Spanish matador, in the arena. Many prominent people in the social and political world of Mexico, including cabinet ministers, were present. Two boxes were occupied by some of the members of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference, and parties of Mexican friends. Gen. Rafael Reyes, the Colombian delegate, and the so-called peace commissioners of his country, occupied a box together. The fight was remarkable for the slaughter of horses, twelve being gored to death.

ATTACK ON COLON

Preparations Making to Bombard the Town—Instructions Cabled From Washington to the U. S. Naval Commander at That Place.

Colon, Columbia, Nov. 25—9 a.m.—No evening train left Panama yesterday. The government troops are attacking the Liberals at Culebra. The government gunboat, General Pinzson, left her anchorage close to the other warships last night and is now reported to be landing troops on the north end of Colon. There is much commotion in the streets. People are seeking refuge on board the United States gunboats Marietta and Machias, and along the railroad and on the piers.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The United States Government has taken charge of the Isthmian transit. A dispatch received at the navy department today from Capt. Perry, of the battleship Iowa, at Panama, reports that fact. Capt. Perry says that General Alban, with 600 men, is fighting the Liberals in the line near Empire. Transit is in danger of interruption. Captain Perry has landed with a detachment of men from the Iowa and has started with a train to clear the transit and also to establish a detachment of men to keep it so.

Commander McCrea, of the Machias, at Colon, has cabled the navy department, notifying the department of the approaching bombardment of that town and asking for instructions. He has been instructed to take such steps as he deems necessary for the protection of American interests at Colon.

REBELS DEFEATED.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Mr. Hererra, charge d'affairs of the Colombia legation, today received the following cablegram:

"Panama, Nov. 25.—Rebel army completely defeated at Culebra and Emperador. The governor marched last night upon Colon. Traffic interrupted yesterday, but will be re-established today. (Signed) Arjona, Acting Governor."

THE BONINE TRIAL

Testimony of Policeman Drew and Also of the Man Who Saw a Woman Go Down the Fire Escape.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The trial of Mrs. Bonine for the murder of Jas. A. Ayres, jun., last May, was resumed this morning.

Frank Drew, the Capitol policeman, who was on the stand last Friday when the court adjourned, resumed his testimony. He swore that he had several times seen the defendant come out of Ayres' room. The last occasion was about a week before the tragedy. It was night, about 9 o'clock.

Thomas M. Baker, an employe of the fish commission, who resided in the building adjoining the Kenmore, testified that on the night of the tragedy he had been awakened by the report of pistol shots. He jumped out of bed, went to the window and heard a voice from above inquiring what was wrong below. He replied that he had heard pistol shots. Then, while standing at his window, he saw a figure on the fire escape, just outside Ayres' window. The figure walked the length of the fire escape in his direction and then descended two flights to the floor of the veranda, where it disappeared into a window. It was the figure of a small woman, clad in dark, tight-fitting clothing. The woman wore no hat, and, as he did not hear footsteps, he judged she was in her stocking feet. He said her manner had been very deliberate.

HAS A KINDLY HEART

King Edward Cares for His Old and Faithful Servants.

King Edward VII. of England has a heart as kindly and tender as ever beat in a human breast. Other faults he may have, but he never forgets one who has done him or his family a long and loyal service. One of the most efficient and faithful officers, Captain E——, on a certain royal yacht, is or has been a man of very moderate means. To hold a commission in the British navy is an expensive proposition, which calls for an independent income many times in excess of the actual pay. Especially is this so in the case of the royal craft, on which during the season there is one continuous round of entertainments. The officer in question had a growing family, a home that befitted his social station and little more than his pay. For some years he battled with the situation, but at last, worn out and heart sick, determined to resign and enter the merchant marine. In some way or another the King heard of his resolve. Less than a couple of months ago, Captain E—— was surprised and even alarmed to receive a peremptory command from the King ordering him to report at Buckingham Palace forthwith.

Although he knew that his skirts were clean, he felt perturbed nevertheless. But his reception by his majesty was of a most cordial nature. After some preliminary, the King said: "I think you are entitled to a holiday in return for your years of work on the ——. So that you had better take this." The astounded officer was handed an admiralty order granting him a year's leave of absence on captain's full pay. "You can renew that at the end of the year if you so desire," added Edward VII., with a significant laugh. "And, by the way, this may interest you." Captain E—— was here given a letter offering him command of a superb and newly built liner, one of several running between London and an English colony. The letter was to the effect that the personal recommendation of the King was the cause of its being written. The overwhelmed captain never quite remembered how he got out of the palace. But he is now the monarch of an ocean liner.

ROOSEVELT UNDERSTANDS.

New York, Nov. 25.—At the seventh annual banquet of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, in Delmonico's, Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina, said: "There are only two men in our history who fully understood the south—Lincoln and McKinley. If Lincoln had lived there would have been an end of carpet-baggism, and if McKinley had lived he would have reunited the discordant sections of the south, for more than any other man, he understood them."

HAD GOOD LUCK.

Tody—Jennie tells me young Woodby proposed to her last night.

Viola—I don't think I know him. Is he well off?

Tody—He certainly is. She refused him.

Thanksgiving.

[Farmer's Advocate.]

The recurrence of our annual national Thanksgiving Day, fixed this year for Nov. 28, recalls to the farmer, as to us all, our obligations to a beneficent Providence for the many mercies and blessings which as a people have been ours to enjoy during the year now drawing to a close. The cycling seasons have completed their processes in harmony with nature in producing the supplies necessary to the sustenance of man and beast. The sower, great exemplar of faith, has again been rewarded for his labor and trust by the appearance of the blade, the leaf, the full corn in the ear, and the bountiful harvest, yielding enough and to spare. Canada has been favored through nearly the whole of its history with harvests more than sufficient for the wants of its people. Famine has been to its people an unknown experience, while with scarcely an exception the years have brought generous surpluses for export and revenue. The vast extent of our national heritage and the richness of its resources, which we are but just commencing to realize, when rightly viewed, inspires to acknowledgment of wisdom, forethought and benevolence more than human, and points to a destiny of distinction greater than we can imagine. The variety of soil and difference in climatic conditions prevailing in the various provinces of the Dominion are such that failure of any one or more of the staple food products in one section is generally compensated by an overplus in others, thus making the country, under Providence, practically self-sustaining, while the records of our trade returns show a constantly expanding volume of exports, bringing to the people the means whereby, with industry and reasonable economy and prudence, practically all may enjoy the comforts of the highest civilization. And it is probably safe to say that in no country in the world do the masses more generally experience the comfort that comes with being well fed and well clothed, and in no country do a larger proportion of the people live in comparative luxury.

The grain crop of the present year, though a variable one in the provinces, will yet average well on the whole. In the Eastern Provinces the shortage in the wheat crop is being compensated for by a fair yield of coarse grains which command a good price, while the supplies of feed for stock in the form of hay, roots and corn, are quite above the average, and have been secured in fine condition. The abundance of rough fodder for the feeding of live stock is, we believe, a prominent feature of the situation throughout the Dominion, and one that augurs well for future years, as it will enable farmers to keep their breeding stock intact and to raise a larger proportion than usual of the young things in order to replenish their herds and flocks, which have been reduced in numbers by the active demand and improved prices of the last few years. And although the high price of coarse grain may make the feeding of fat stock and dairy cows somewhat expensive, the prospect for good prices in these lines will doubtless make the outcome satisfactory to those who venture to feed liberally and do it with good judgment.

The proceeds from the bountiful wheat crop of Manitoba and the Northwest Provinces will go far towards enabling the farmers to square themselves with the situation following the light crop of last year, and despite the exceptional disabilities experienced in the threshing this year, owing to excessive rainfall since the harvest, the enormous shipments of grain that are going out, averaging over 250,000 bushels daily over one railway, beside the various other outlets, must go far towards placing the farmers in comfortable circumstances, while their provision for stock feeding is probably better than at any former period.

British Columbia has had a good year in all lines of agriculture, the crops of grain and fruit having been well up to the standard in yield and quality and the trade in live stock better than ever before. The ranchmen of all the west have had a prosperous year in the sale of horses and cattle, and the trade in pure-bred stock (as well as in commercial animals) has been buoyant to a high degree, and the outlook is full of the promise of a continuance of the good times we have enjoyed in the last few years. The success of the farmer in the future will more than ever depend upon his studying the trend of the times, adapting himself to the changing conditions, and adopting the means and methods found to best fit the prevailing conditions.

WHERE TENNYSON WASN'T POPULAR.

A poetical traveler, stopping at a Georgia inn, dismounted from his horse and called to the landlord, who was lounging on the veranda:

"Wrinkled ostler, grim and thin,
Here is custom coming your way;
Take my brute and lead him in—
Stuff his ribs with moldy hay."

"Ef you say that agin'," said the landlord, "I'll lamm you side the head with this hickory. That's a nigger here to look after the horses."

"My good man," explained the traveler, "I meant no offense. I was only quoting Tennyson."

"Hang Tennyson!" exclaimed the landlord, "an' tell him I said so. Neither him nor you kin make a stable boy o' me."—Atlanta Constitution.

IT IS AN OFFICER OF THE LAW OF HEALTH.—When called in to attend a disturbance it searches out the hiding-place of pain, and like a guardian of the peace, lays hands upon it and says: "I arrest you." Resistance is useless, as the law of health imposes a sentence of perpetual banishment on pain and Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was originated to enforce that sentence.

Lots of people give advice freely because it doesn't cost them anything.

TORONTO PRODUCE MARKET.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Wheat—The offerings are liberal; millers would be badly handicapped if the export demand for flour were small; prices of wheat are 1c higher for winter grades than a week ago, millers bidding 70c for red and white, middle freights, and holders asking 71c; goose wheat is steady, at 65c for No. 2 east and 64c middle freights; spring wheat is steady, at 69c to 70c for No. 1 east; Manitoba steady, at 85c for No. 1 hard, 82c for No. 1 northern, and 79c for No. 2 northern, grinding in transit, and 2c less for local delivery. Toronto and west; No. 1 hard is quoted at 79c at Goderich and Midland. Flour—Fair demand for export, and the market for ordinary 90 per cent patents, export grade, is steady, at $2 67½ to $2 70 in buyers' bags, middle freights, and choice brands are held 15c to 20c higher; Manitoba flour is steady at $3 70 for strong bakers and $4 for Hungarian patents, in car lots, bags included, Toronto. Millfeed is in demand and firm, at $17 to $18 for shorts, and $14 to $15 for bran in car lots west; Manitoba millfeed is firmer this week, at $21 for shorts and $19 for bran in car lots, sacks included, Toronto freights. Barley—The demand is mostly for feeding, and the market is firm, at 50c for No. 1 east; middle freights, the quotations are, 55c for No. 1, 53c for No. 2, 50c for No. 3 extra, and 47c for No. 3. Buckwheat—Better demand and firm, at 53c east and 52c middle freights. Rye—Active demand for feeding, but the distillers are not buying much; the market is firmer, at 53c east and west. Corn—Good demand and strong, at 55c for Canadian yellow and mixed west. Oats—Active demand; there are some shorts in the market who have found it difficult to cover their contracts, owing to small supply and the big demand for shipment to the Province of Quebec, and the high prices; No. 2 white are selling at 46c east and 45c middle freights. Peas—Active demand; scarce and firm; No. 2 sold a day or two ago at 80c east, and at 77c and 78c middle freights. Butter—Receipts of dairies are fair; the offerings of low grades are liberal; there is a good demand for the best descriptions, and prices are steady for them; low grades slow and easy; creamery prints, 20c to 22c; solids, 19c to 20c; dairy pound rolls, 16c to 17c; large rolls, 16c; tubs, 15c; medium and low grades, 10c to 12½c. Eggs—The offerings of strictly fresh-gathered are light; there is a good demand for them, at 18c; ordinary fresh are steady, at 16c to 17c, and limed at 15c to 16c. Poultry—The receipts have been large the past week, and owing to the mild weather the demand has been small and prices are lower, at 7c to 9c for turkeys, 6c to 6½c for geese, 40c to 75c for ducks, and 30c to 50c for dressed chickens. Potatoes—Five cents higher than they were a week ago; cars on the track here are quoted at 55c; potatoes out of store bring 70c. Live hogs—The receipts the past week were fair; there is a good demand and the market is firmer; choice bacon hogs will, it is understood, be offered here tomorrow at $6 per cwt. Dressed hogs—Cars on the track at Toronto are higher today, at $7 25 to $7 40.

FORECASTS.

Today—Fresh to strong northerly to northwesterly winds; light snowfalls or flurries; turning a little colder.

Tuesday—Mostly fair and moderately cold.

WEATHER NOTES.

The storm which was developing in the Southern States on Saturday has now reached the Maritime Provinces, attended by heavy rains and gales. A little colder weather is indicated for Ontario and Quebec, but nothing very pronounced. Storm signals have been flying at all St. Lawrence and ocean ports since Saturday.

Notice to Advertisers.

It is urgently requested that advertisers have their changes of advertisements handed into the counting-room by 4 p.m. the day previous to insertion. We will not guarantee changes if handed in later than that hour.

LATE LOCAL ITEMS

—Mr. Charles E. Wheeler returned on Saturday from a trip to Montreal and New York.

—Mr. Reuben Fax, of "The Bonnie Brier Bush," is visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. Fax, Hope street.

—A fire occurred at Gillies' mill on Adelaide street on Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock. One of the boxings on some machinery had taken fire. The damage done was slight.

—Mr. Joseph Hetherington, the unfortunate man whose back was broken Saturday, was resting easily this afternoon about 3 o'clock. Little hope is entertained for his recovery.

—George Hansenn was brought before Judge Edward Elliott this morning, charged with appropriating an overcoat which he had barrowed from R. E. Graham, of Ilderton. He was acquitted.

—The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home very gratefully acknowledge the kind donation of the Orangemen's Society of $3 63, being collection taken in St. Paul's Cathedral in July last and forwarded by Mr. S. Rimmel.

—Persons living in the vicinity of an old frame house on the corner of William and King streets were disturbed in their peaceful slumbers about 11 o'clock on Saturday night by its occupants, for whom they finally called the patrol. The police, however, found nothing save broken crockery and a general "rough house." The names of the disturbers even could not be obtained.

—Eleanor Campbell Hunter died on Saturday at the residence of Mr. John Anderson, 446 King street. Mrs. Hunter was the wife of the late Hamilton Hunter, inspector of public schools, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) Low, of Wingham, and Mrs. (Rev.) Morgan, of Fredonia, New York State. Mrs. Hunter succumbed to heart failure, with which she had been ailing for some time. The funeral takes place from the residence of her niece, Mrs. John Anderson, of 446 King street, on Tuesday.

DON'T LIKE REVISED LEASE.

The Port Stanley board meets this afternoon to go into the lease question with representatives of the Walkerville people. It is understood that they object seriously to the revised lease. They want it left more as the old one was, while the local board are determined to secure concessions.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MISS KEENLEYSIDE.

The funeral of the late Miss Nettie Keenleyside took place, privately, this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. C. T. Scott, of the Dundas Center Church, of which Miss Keenleyside had been a devoted member, conducted most impressive services. Four brothers acted as pallbearers.

"THAT DAINTY WIDOW."

The management of the London Opera House have procured a strong holiday attraction in "That Dainty Widow," which comes to the London on Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night. This company has received flattering press notices from both American and Canadian cities, wherever presented, and patrons who witness the performance are assured a treat, as the company, headed by the vivacious and pleasing soubrette, Miss Nellie Franklyn, present a programme full of clever lines, latest songs, choruses and dances, giving two and a half hours of solid fun.

GOOD-BY ETO OLD CHIMES ST. PAUL'S!

Their Farewell Notes Rang Out Last Evening.

They Are To Be Replaced Soon by More Modern Bells.

Eventful History of the Old Bits of Metal Recalled — Have Rung Nearly Fifty Years.

People passing in the vicinity of St. Paul's Cathedral last evening paused to hear the half-plaintive, half-glad notes of the chimes in the belfry. For a moment they listened as the sounds came swelling through the dismal night, then passed on, wondering at the unusually prolonged intonations.

It was the farewell message of the old chimes, and who shall smile at the verger of old St. Paul's, Mr. Lawrence Pinnell, because he lingered over the old bits of metal, reluctant to hear the last note reverberate through the belfry. It is expected that by Christmas a vastly superior set will fill their places.

What a tale could these old chimes tell—what tales have they told! For nearly 50 long years have they sung the old songs that humanity still hungers for; on nearly 50 successive thanksgiving days have they voiced in glad notes the general thanksgiving; on nearly 50 Christmas eves have they sounded loud the welcome tidings, "Peace on earth, good will to men."

They ushered in a new century, did those old chimes, with their buoyant, hopeful peals, and it is within the memory of many still living within the sound of them, that they heralded the advent of the first locomotive which puffed into London over the tracks of the Great Western Railway.

They clanged a merry, loyal welcome to the present King of England, did these old chimes; and only a few weeks ago they repeated it to his son.

Do you wonder that the verger lingered carressingly over the sounds that will never be heard again?

For the old chimes are to be replaced by more modern and more expensive ones. In the new chimes, which will arrive from New York before the end of the week, there are no fewer than 141 changes, besides many very familiar hymn tunes. Mr. R. Batchelor of Croydon and London, England, is here, and will superintend the work of placing them in position. He also put completed the work of placing a similar set in St. George's Church, Montreal. He also placed the bells in the new city hall at Toronto.

The capacity of the new set of chimes will be better understood by a glance through the list of hymns ad tunes which they will play, as at present arranged, while many more may be added on the same bells, from time to time, as may be desired:

HYMNS.

Barrel No. 1 — "While Shepherds Watched," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," "O, Come, All Ye Faithful," "Hark! Hark! My Soul," "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Abide with Me," and "Forever with the Lord."

Barrel No. 2—"Spanish Chant," "Now the Day Is Over," "All Through the Night," "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand," "Depths of Mercy," and "Saviour, Again to Thy Dear Name."

Barrel No. 3—"Art Thou Weary," "Holy, Holy, Holy," "I Am a Stranger Here," "Lead, Kindly Light," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "Rock of Ages," and "The Church's One Foundation."

SONGS.

Barrel No. 4—"God Save the King," "The Last Rose of Summer," "Rule, Britannia," "The Harp That Once," "Robin Adair," "Song Without Words," "Home, Sweet Home."

THE CHIMES.

In the chimes alone there are 141 changes in the numerous mechanical barrels, all of which may be used in rotation.

The Westminster chimes will also ring out at every quarter of the hour.

The new chimes are the gift of members of the Meredith family.

WILL MANAGE THE KINGSTON BRANCH

At New Years Mr. John M. Carson Assumes Control of Woods' Fair at Kingston.

Mr. John M. Carson, of Spittal, Sabine & Co., has accepted the position of manager of the Kingston branch of Wood's Fair and will assume his duties at the Limestone City at New Years. Mr. J. C. Woods is fortunate in securing Mr. Carson to manage this important branch of his immense business. Though still a young man, he has had quite a lengthy and varied experience in commercial life, and those who best know him are most confident that this change will be the beginning of a successful business career.

AN HONORED VETERAN OF THE STAGE

Interesting Interview With J. H. Stoddart.

Sturdy Old Player Talks to an Advertiser Representative.

Mr. Reub Fax, Successful Canadian Actor, Also Grants Scribe an Audience.

An Advertiser representative sent his card up to Mr. Reub Fax's room in the Tecumseh House at noon today, and a few minutes later was ushered into that gentleman's presence. Mr. Fax, as all those interested in theatrical matters will remember, is the clever actor who has won such praise for his work as Posty, in "The Bonnie Brier Bush," that his role ranks second in interest to that of Mr. J. H. Stoddart himself, the sturdy old actor who will tonight appear for the first time on a local stage in his rendition of a character which seems likely to go down in stage history as one of the most artistic and convincing presentations ever witnessed. The interest attaching to such an event led the scribe to seek interviews with these two representative members of the organization. Somewhat of a local touch was added to Mr. Fax's visit, by the fact that his brother, the late Sim Fax, was a well-known citizen of this city for years, and his widow and family are now resident on Hope street.

After introducing himself, the man with the pencil started in on Mr. Fax thusly:

"You have played London before, Mr. Fax?"

"Yes, once before, about eight years ago. I was here with Elsie de Wolfe and George Giddens in the popular comedy, 'Joseph.' I was known here previously, having appeared here as a comic singer, a line which I was the first in our family to adopt, being followed in it by my brothers, James and George, of Toronto, and Sim, now dead. We are Canadians, you know. I was born in Brantford."

"How long have you been on the stage?"

"I started in 1888. Since then I have been in New Zealand, Australia, Honolulu, and in every city in America. I have been fourteen times across the continent."

"In what productions and parts have you appeared, Mr. Fax?" asked the interviewer.

"In a wide range of parts," answered the interviewed. "I was eight years with the Palmer Stock Company, playing in 'Jim, the Penman,' 'Alabama,' 'Saints and Sinners,' 'The Pharisee,' 'A Pair of Spectacles,' and Palmer's many other productions. During that time I was constantly associated with Mr. J. H. Stoddart, whom I esteem it a privilege to call my best friend. Then, I was the original Svengali in the production of 'Trilby' in Australia. Later, I was for two years with William Gillette, playing the associate detective in 'Sherlock Holmes.' I was also Gillette's understudy, and have played the part when he was ill. I had a letter from him last week and he is doing magnificent business in Old London."

"That is the extent of your experience, Mr. Fax?"

"Well, I managed two theaters on Broadway, and I also toured with my own company in a piece called 'That Man,'" said the actor, "and I have had other experiences, not always successful ones," he added.

"What is your opinion of the stage as an opening for young people?" was the reporter's last question.

"It's a bad life for a man and no life for a woman," answered Mr. Fax. "Talent counts for little if opportunity is denied. Not one in twenty who go on the stage ever succeed. Why, there are thousands of players out of work in New York—as good, capable people as are on the stage, but there is no room for them. There are twenty applicants for every vacancy. I myself have been exceptionally fortunate, and have never wanted for an engagement, but that does not alter my opinion of the crowded state of the profession. Now, come and meet Mr. Stoddart."

The reporter was conducted to Mr. Stoddart's apartment, finding him in company with his daughter, who accompanies him on his tour. Miss Stoddart was transacting some correspondence, while the sturdy old actor was resting. His rugged face, which will require little making-up to counterfeit the presentment of Lachlan Campbell on the bill-boards, lighted up genially as the newspaper man entered. The introduction over, the interviewer inquired of Mr. Stoddart if this was not his first visit to this city.

"It is," replied Mr. Stoddart. "My whole Canadian experience, in fact, has been limited. Eight years ago I played a week in Toronto with the Palmer Stock Company, that being my only appearance there until last week's engagement. Then, just after coming from England in 1854, and joining Wallack's company in New York, we used to play the season of ten months there, and then go up to Montreal for a few weeks' engagement. I played there two or three years in succession. Mr. and Mrs. John Buckland had the theater. There were Charles Fisher, myself and other members of the company who used to go up; and Charles Mathews, the English comedian, also played with us there. That is the extent of my Canadian experience."

"You have been on the stage many years, Mr. Stoddart?"

"I was 74 years old on Oct. 13 last, and I was on the stage before I was 5 years old. That was in Glasgow, when I played child parts with my brother. After attending school I went again on the stage, playing in the north of Scotland, afterwards coming to America. I knew that I was not fitted by nature to play romantic and lover parts, so I clapped a gray wig on my head when I was 16, and have played old men and character parts ever since."

"I have had a pleasant, happy career," Mr. Stoddart continued. "For twenty years I played with Palmer's company at the Union Square Theater, and then at the close of the New York season we would go on tour, generally to Chicago, and sometimes as far as San Francisco. I have been across America thirteen times."

"Is it true, as announced, that the part of Lachlan Campbell is your farewell to the stage?"

"You may say," answered Mr. Stoddart, "that if 'The Bonnie Brier Bush,' in which I find my role a congenial one, has a successful run for say three seasons, I will not take any new part, but will then leave the stage, after taking a benefit in New York, where I have served the stage so many years. I'm an old man, and I do not take kindly to studying new parts."

"I have often been urged by my friends," said the veteran player, "to follow the example of Joseph Jefferson and others of my old friends, and go out as a star. They said I'd make more money. Well, perhaps I would; but I've had my little farm near New York; I've had my wife and children, and my circle of dear friends, and I think that what they've made in money, I have enjoyed in comfort and happiness. I am almost alone now as a representative of the New York stage as I knew it first. J. H. Wallack, Lester Wallack, Laura Keene and all the others are gone now."

Mr. Stoddart spoke appreciatively of the manner in which he had always been treated by the press men of New York, and spoke amusedly of some interviews which they had had with him. He deplored the present condition of things on the stage, which allows actors and actresses, after making a success of one or two parts, to go out as stars, when in reality they have not been grounded in the mere rudiments of their art. "It was not so in the old days," said Mr. Stoddart. "Then, like the soldier, a man began at the bottom and rose from the ranks."

"The public and press have been quite appreciative of 'The Bonnie Brier Bush,' have they not?" asked the reporter, as he prepared to take his leave.

"Yes," said Mr. Stoddart, "and as it becomes better known it will be more and more successful. It is a fine production. You will be there tonight, I hope?" Mr. Stoddart asked.

"I wouldn't miss it," said the interviewer, as he bade Mr. Stoddart farewell and left, feeling it a privilege to have held the hand and enjoyed the company, if only for a few minutes, of the fine old player who is loved by every lover of the drama who has ever witnessed his exhibition of his art.

AFTER THE STORM.

New York, Nov. 25.—The great storm which came speeding up from the south on Saturday night has spent its force around the New York zone of the Atlantic coast, and the waters driven up on lowland and beach are subsiding. A more careful survey of the storm-swept coast indicates that the aggregate damage will be at least $1,000,000.

Two rather embarrassing gifts have just been brought from Abyssinia for King Edward VII. by British officers. From Emperor Menelek comes a tame zebra and from the commander of the Abyssinian army a pet lion cub.

Watch Coffee

Watch Carefully Its Effect on You.

Any brain worker who depends on thought for his success in life, uses up daily, by brain work, a varying amount of the delicate particles of potash and albumen, of which the brain and nerve centers are composed.

This breaking down of the little cells each day, from brain work, is a natural process, and the cells can readily be rebuilt from the right sort of food, if the system is not interfered with by drugs. If brain fag or nervous prostration sets in, the evidence is plain that nature is not rebuilding as fast as work is tearing down. There is some reason. What is it? Look first to the coffee cup, for coffee is known to interfere with and prevent the proper nourishment of the nerves in highly organized people.

Frequently the trouble first shows in dyspepsia, lack of power of the bowels to operate properly or palpitation of the heart or some other lack of vitality and healthy vigor. Then comes brain fag and that tremendous collapse called nervous prostration. There is but one thing for a sensible man or woman to do,—quit coffee absolutely. "Hard to do," you say. Take up Postum Food Coffee, use it regularly, have it well made, so it tastes good. You will find a well-defined, unmistakable change in your health, and there is a reason for it.

You will have become free from the breaking down force of coffee, and, on the other hand, you will be taking a powerful, nourishing liquid food which quickly rebuilds the new cells. These are facts,—profound facts, ready for any one to prove to their own satisfaction by actual use. Postum Food Coffee is made at the famous pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., and is used by brain workers all over the world. Don't call it a "substitute" for coffee; leave out the coffee proposition altogether. Postum is a liquid food and a true food drink.

CHAPTER I.

Some of the details of the folowing story may appear to many to be strange—perhaps, to a few, even verging upon the incredible; and of the incredible, people are not fond nowadays, except in the columns of their daily paper. I can only urge, in reply, that, not being fiction, it is necessarily strange. Those who wish to indulge their taste for that which this narrative is not, I refer at once to historians and journalists, whose trade it is to cater for them. For my own part, I make it a rule, and find the rule a safe one, to believe everything that is contrary to experience, and nothing that is in accordance with it. He was a wise man, who said, "Credo quia incredible"—"I believe it just because it is incredible." As to the truth of those parts of this story which, being probable in themselves, trespass, therefore, upon the realms of fiction, I offer no opinion. They, being probable, are probably not true. But upon the truth of those parts which are manifestly incredible, I willingly stake fortune, reputation, all that I possess in this world of lies. It is true that my reputation is not particularly worth the having, while my fortune has yet to be made. But that is my affair. Were I Rothschild himself, I would still say to all cavillers, "There lies my glove!" And if they should reply that my glove is not the only thing about me that lies—why, that is their affair, not mine.

Perhaps this, too, will be called incredible!

Once upon a time a certain philosopher of Gotham wishing, one sunshiny morning, to know what o'clock it was, took his lantern, lighted it, and paid a visit to the sundial that stood in the market place of that ancient and famous town. Now, the fact of his taking a lantern for such a purpose was not in itself remarkable, for his fellow-townsmen had been in the habit of doing so at night and in cloudy weather for generations—which was the reason why no two of them were ever known to agree about the time of day. But to use a lantern in full sunshine!—that was too much even for their philosophy. And so it was no matter for wonder that even the least wise in that city of wise men were impolite enough to call our philosopher a fool for his pains.

Gotham is, of course, no more. Its site has, of course, been swept away by that flood of modern progress which sweeps away all things, and reduces all mankind to one terrible dead level of perfect wisdom. But, even as when the Cornish had long become a dead language, there yet survived one old woman who spoke it still, so, when Gotham was no more, there were left at least three of its townsmen, who survived even to our own day. Their names were Peter Grode, Nathan Levi and Arthur Crangstoun.

CHAPTER II.

There stood, and still stands, a certain house in a broad and essentially respectable street leading out of Russell Square, in which all the houses were, and are, of so precisely the same comfortable and solid pattern that there is no external reason whatever why one of the half hundred should call for notice more than any other, except in so far that a little more or less attention to outside painting might give it a little more individual character than that passessed by its neighbors. That of the house in question was gained from the less care that had been bestowed upon the whitening of the sepulchre; in fact, the time at which its tenant was bound by the terms of his lease to give it at least two coats of paint must either have been on the very eve of arriving, or else must have just elapsed without the covenant having been fulfilled. Otherwise there was absolutely nothing remarkable about it one way or another, except that its number, painted in dirty white letters upon the dirtier green door, was 32, and that at a proper distance below the number was a dingy brass plate, bearing the name of Mr. Grode. In spite, however, of this symptom of surgery, the absence of colored lantern and night-bell saved Mr. Grode, whoever he might be, from being aroused by impatient patients at unreasonable hours.

But there is nothing gained by standing outside a door. Where, in that case, would be any story, from the days of the Bachelor of Salamanca to our own? Without, all looked dull and uncomfortable; but within, all was sufficiently comfortable, though still sufficiently dull. It is true that the remembrance of November fogs never quite vanished from the hall and staircase—both rather handsome in their way—even in the spring; but otherwise, no one could deny that the neighborhood had been turned from open fields into streets in days when people built houses to be lived in—not merely to be let. The most satisfactory room in the house, at all events in the morning, was the dining room at the back, looking into a small gravel yard that was called a garden; no so much because it was furnished for absolute comfort, as because it showed most signs of being really used—because convenience, and not an exigent eye for symmetrical arrangement, had dictated the position of the chairs, and because the articles that lay upon the table were there for use, and not for show—because the workbox was open, and lying in a nest of nondescript needlework that had just been laid down. It is true that on a damp and raw December day there might with advantage have been a better fire in the stove; but then, coals are not things to be wasted, and the day, though in December, was not exactly cold. On the whole, the room—in spite of its shabby green leather chairs, its dingy carpet and its faded window curtains—might pass, supposing its occupants to have sufficient animal spirits within them not to mind a little outside depressivenes about their surroundings.

But an habitual inhabitant of the front parlor must have required a natural insensibility to his surroundings quite abnormal. It had been furnished once upon a time, no doubt; but the once upon a time must have been a very long time ago indeed. They say it takes a hundred years for dust to gather an inch deep. If so, one or two of the articles of furniture must have been invaluable to antiquarians who measure the value of a thing by its age. That cabinet, in spite of its modern build, must have been contemporary with Julius Caesar; that solitary armchair, of King Lear. In fact, dust was wherever dust may be, excepting—so far as the accumulation of darkness in a room into which the sun never shone enabled one to see—upon a portion of the leather-topped central table, upon one chair that stood before it, and upon a man who was stooping over the table and sitting in the chair.

It was difficult to account for the raison-d'etre of the room at all, except upon the celebrated principle of lucus a non lucendo. On that principle, however, it was easy. It might, for instance, be a library, for it did not contain a single book; it might be the cabinet of a collector, for nothing was collected in it but dust and darkness; it might be a studio, for there were no signs of the pursuit of art in it, any more than of the pursuit of anything else, unless in the shape of three pictures that leaned against the wall, with their faces inwards, and of which, therefore, the tarnished gilt frames were alone visible.

He who sat busily at the table making memoranda with a gold pencil-case on a scrap of paper, did not look altogether out of place in the room, for he somehow looked as though, if not gifted with an excess of animal spirits, he was of a temperament that was able to dispense with them. There are some men, whom it is easy to recognize at first sight, who do not, like most, take their tone from the surrounding atmosphere, but who, whatever may be their surroundings, live and move in an atmosphere that, as it were, exhales from themselves. The dust and the gloom seemed somehow to be natural accessories of the man; and yet he was himself neither dusty nor gloomy, at least in appearance. Soap and water, the laundress and the clothes brush had done their work upon him well. For the rest he was about fifty years old, rather less, perhaps, than more, was well preserved for his age, full, broad-shouldered, muscular and inclining to corpulence. His full face was fresh-complexioned and rosy; his hair dark and coarse, but growing grizzled and bald; his eyes dark and large; his teeth large and white; and the expression of his full and heavy mouth was made up of many things—of a little sensuality, a little obstinacy, a little selfishness, and a great deal of hard, self-reliant, unsympathetic energy; not an altogether agreeable expression, but certainly not that of a weak man nor of a fool. What was his habitual calling or occupation would be difficult to decide. At present he was absorbed in his memoranda. At last he laid the paper down upon the table, placed the pencil-case in his waistcoat pocket, and rang the bell sharply.

It was answered almost immediately by a rather pretty girl, about whose French birth there could be no mistake, any more than about a greater tendency on her part to ribbons and bright colors than would have been allowed to a maid-servant in that terribly respectable neighborhood under strict feminine rule.

"Elise, tell Miss Felicia to come to me immediately," he said, in a loud and despotic voice, that at once harmonized the expression of his whole person to an unmistakable key of coarseness and vulgarity. Like many others, he was passable enough as long as he held his tongue.

He rose from his seat and stood bolt upright on the hearthrug, with his back to the fire and his hands behind him, in the favorite attitude of Englishmen, while his full lips pressed tightly together, and with a frown, or, rather, an incipient scowl, on his forehead, until, after the expiration of a few minutes, a gentle tap was heard at the door, and the voice of a girl, clear though timid, asked, "May I come in?"

"Well," he said, as the door opened, "I can't say you've hurried yourself. Do you think everybody's time's as cheap as yours? It's just seven minutes since I sent Elise after you."

It is to be hoped that Miss Felicia liked being bullied; at all events, his tone was that of one who liked to bully. She only said, quietly, "I was as quick as I could, papa," and then, closing the door gently behind her, she stood and waited for what he had to say.

A MICHIGAN ENOCH ARDEN

Surprised His Family After Fifteen Years' Absence.

Just Dropped In at Dinner Time—His Return Not Altogether Welcome.

Midland, Mich., Nov. 25.—About 15 years ago John McCormick, a Porter township farmer, then about 50 years old, took his hoe after dinner and went out to work in his potato field. At supper time he failed to appear, and diligent search was made for him, but no tidings or trace of him could be found. Years rolled by and his family, composed of wife and six children, tilled the farm, and he was given up for dead.

One day last week, as the family were preparing to sit down to midday meal, an old gray-haired man walked into the house and sat down to the table, remarking that he guessed he would eat with them. Mrs. McCormick, after a little, recognized him, and, with a scream, informed the children, now grown to men and women, that the stranger was their father. One daughter fainted.

The family have improved the farm, and it is understood that the old man's return is not altogether welcomed, as it is reported that he had a way of sitting on the edge of the bed, sharpening a butcher-knife while his wife cowed on the extreme left side of the bed, before his unceremonious departure fifteen years ago. He had been in Washington Territory the past few years.

He is an old salt water sailor.

FOOTBALL.

'VARSITY TEAM CHAMPIONS.

The final game of Association football in the City League was played on Saturday afternoon on St. John's Athletic grounds between 'Varsity and the Normal and Model schools. The two teams were tied for first place, and in a most exciting contest the tie was broken on Saturday afternoon. The game was by far the best exhibition of football this season, and was filled with many brilliant plays. From the kick-off of the ball until time was called the game was in doubt, and the closeness of the score shows how evenly matched the teams were. By this game 'Varsity wins the championship and the cup donated by Mr. McCutcheon. Mr. Little, of the Collegiate Institute, made a very satisfactory and impartial referee. The game was witnessed by a large number of cheering enthusiasts. The teams lined up as follows: 'Varsity—Goal, J. McKay; backs, F. Bryant, H. Turner; half-backs, C. Sanders, A. Bice, W. Richards; center, A. McMillan; forwards, J. Gunn, W. H. Snelgrove, W. Babb, J. Armstrong. Normals—Goal, A. Baker; backs, J. Bluett, A. McIntyre; half-backs, H. Gillies, F. Morrison, T. Mason; center, E. McLaughlin; forwards, T. Kelly, C. Galbraith, W. Beatty, A. McDougall.

ENDED IN A DRAW.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—There will be no championship of Canada in Rugby football unless the Argonauts accede to Ottawa College's offer to play off the draw on Thanksgiving Day in this city. For when time was called on Saturday the score stood 12 to 12, each side having scored two tries, three rouges and one touch-in-goal. And the ball was within a few inches of the college goal line. Nevertheless, the Argos refused either to play on, five minutes each way, or to guarantee to play on Thanksgiving Day, for the champions of the much-despised Quebec Union had given the stars of the Ontario Union a surprise that was not palatable. It was only when the college was playing short three of their best men that the Argos piled up 5 points of their score. They were never able to score against the wind, which college did, and had Eddie Gleason started punting earlier in the second half, and not trusted to bucking a strong, aggressive line, college might have won a decisive victory.

'VARSITY BEATS GALT.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The return Association football match between 'Varsity and Galt, played here on Saturday afternoon, was won by the students by 2 to 1, but this was not enough to overcome Galt's lead of 2 goals from last Saturday. The match was for the Ontario senior championship, and was a great exhibition of Association football. In the first half the visitors had all the best of the play, and scored their only goal. The second half was all 'Varsity's, and they scored 2 goals to Galt's nil.

GALT BEATS HAMILTON.

Galt, Ont., Nov. 25.—The football match in the Ontario Association intermediate championship was played here Saturday afternoon between Hamilton and Galt, and resulted in favor of Galt by a score of 5 goals to 1.

MUST BE PLAYED OVER.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The draw match between Ottawa College and the Argonauts for the Canadian football championship will have to be played over on Thanksgiving Day. That is the decision reached by the Canadian Rugby Union, and President Clayton, of Montreal, has notified the two teams accordingly. It is doubtful whether the Argos will accept. The Argo players are anxious enough, but Manager Thomson will not hear of another match. He has decided to give an answer today. Mr. Clayton says that in the event of the Argos refusing to play he will award the championship to Ottawa College.

HARVARD 22, YALE 0.

Soldiers' Field, Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—Vengeance never sweeter and victory never more decisive came to Harvard on Saturday afternoon, when her eleven defeated Yale by 22 to 0.

THE OAR.

THE ARGONAUTS TO THE HENLEY REGATTA STEWARDS.

London, Nov. 25.—The Times publishes a long letter from Mr. Barker, secretary of the Argonaut Club, of Toronto, urging the stewards of the Henley regatta not to change their conditions regarding foreign or colonial entries, which he describes as "fully sufficient to keep the standard of amateurism high enough to satisfy the most pessimistic." Mr. Barker declares that the American and Canadian crews go simply to row at Henley, and for no other reason, and that until an American crew can win it can hardly be expected that a British crew will visit America—an event that would do much to raise the standard of rowing in the new world.

RULES REMAIN UNCHANGED.

London, Nov. 25.—A meeting of the stewards of the Henley regatta on Saturday defeated, by a vote of 19 to 5, the motion of W. H. Grenfell, the well-known oarsman and member of parliament, to exclude foreigners. This was the expected sequel to the opinion already expressed by the London, Thames, Kingston and other rowing clubs who are the backbone of the meeting. The rules remain unchanged.

TURF.

RACES AT BENNINGS.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Notwithstanding a steady downpour of rain on Saturday, which made the track at Bennings a sea of mud, an exceedingly large crowd turned out to witness the sport. Three favorites, Self Protection, Carbuncle and McMeekin, all of which were odds-on, won. The hunters' champion steeplechase was an easy affair for Self Protection, he having only one contender, Yellow Jacket, at any stage. Swamplands, a 60 to 1 and out, took the maiden 2-year-old event. Summaries:

First race, 7 furlongs, purse $400—Guesswork (Henderson) 1, Jerry Hunt (H. Cochran) 2, Lofter (Seaton) 3. Time, 1:30½.

Second race, 5½ furlongs, purse $300—Swamplands (Miles) 1, Lady Teasle (Dangman) 2, Missile (H. Michaels) 3. Time, 1:10½.

Third race, steeplechase, about three miles, purse $1,000—Self Protection (Mr. Page) 1, Yellow Jacket (J. Johnson) 2, Higbe (Mara) 3. Time, 6:18.

Fourth race, 1¼ miles, purse $700—Carbuncle (H. Cochran) 1, Raffaello (Walker) 2, Surmise (Redfern) 3. Time, 2:41.

Fifth race, 6 furlongs, purse $400—Col. Bill (Redfern) 1, Anak (Walker) 2, Trump (Miles) 3. Time, 1:16⅝.

Sixth race, 1 mile and 100 yards, purse $400—McMeekin (Stack) 1, Barouche (Redfern) 2, Lady of the Valley (G. Thompson) 3. Time, 1:52. Three starters.

AMERICAN JOCKEYS ON ENGLISH TRACKS.

London, Nov. 25.—This year's sport under the Jockey Club rules was concluded on Saturday at Manchester, where the races were run in such a dense fog that the judge had difficulty in distinguishing the winners. The Americans failed to score, but Maher ends the season second in the list of winning jockeys, with 24 wins, against Madden's 130. Maher's percentage of wins, however, is 23, to Madden's 17. J. Reiff is fourth on the list, with 80; L. Reiff, in spite of his suspension, is seventh, with 75; Martin has 43 wins, Jenkins 42, and Thorpe 14.

GLENMORE A WINNER.

New York, Nov. 25.—The wind-up of the horse show on Saturday night was a brilliant one. Five championships were called, and this made the ring spectacle brilliant. On the promenade, in the boxes and orchestra seats in the rear, all the leaders of society were present. Glenmore, a Canadian horse, was picked as best of the class for animals suitable for cavalry.

THE RIFLE.

A NEW RULE FOR SHOOTERS.

New York, Nov. 25.—According to the Times, the Amateur Athletic Union has just passed a resolution to the effect that a trap shooter who shoots for a sweepstake prize shall be declared a professional athlete.

FIGHTING SMALLPOX

Another Case in Toronto—An Entire Michigan Village Vaccinated.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The health authorities fear a serious outbreak of smallpox in Elizabethtown township, in Leeds county. The present victim of the disease was a threshing hand in Manitoba up till a few weeks ago.

On Monday a man came here on a visit from Manitoulin. He was taken ill on the train, and was taken to St. Michael's Hospital. Later he was removed by Dr. Sheard to the smallpox hospital. The provincial authorities state that a hundred cases exist in Ontario in 22 municipalities.

At Three Rivers, Quebec, in a family named Hernier, a son 11 years old was vaccinated, and a very bad arm was the result. The place became so troublesome that the father called in Dr. Darch, who diagnosed tetanus. Two physicians did all that science could suggest, but the boy died.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 25.—Another case of smallpox has been discovered in the city. The patient had just returned from a trip through the province.

MORTALITY IN ONTARIO.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The report of the provincial board of health for October shows the highest number of deaths for two years, except December, 1900. The total number of deaths was 2,081, of which 165 were from consumption, 65 from typhoid and 63 from diphtheria. While the number of deaths is greater than in October, 1900, the deaths from consumption show a decrease of five, and those of typhoid a decrease of 55. Those from diphtheria show an increase of 19.

SMALLPOX IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Manila, Nov. 25.—Smallpox is raging in the southern islands of the archipelago. The United States Philippine commission is preparing an act to compel everybody to be vaccinated.

WHOLE VILLAGE QUARANTINED.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 25.—Station Agent Rothman, at Floodwood, this county, has smallpox. The town is quarantined, and trains do not stop there. All roads to the village are watched, to prevent people leaving. Communication with the village is entirely shut off.

SMALLPOX AMONG INDIANS.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 23.—A Washington special says: The increase in the number of cases of smallpox among the Indians on the Northwest reservations is becoming alarming, as the disease is rapidly spreading among the whites. The Indians refuse to obey the quarantine regulations, and a great many of them decline to submit to vaccination. The death rate among the afflicted has been 60 per cent. The same conditions exist in a smaller degree at all of the southern reservations. The Indians even refuse medicine from white men.

HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. No one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life when his digestive and nutritive organs are diseased is equally handicapped. In the one case his strength is overweighted, in the other it is undermined. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When this is done food is perfectly digested and assimilated and the body receives strength in the only way in which strength can be given—by the nutrition derived from digested and assimilated food.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 1265¼ Mifflin Street, Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken with what our physicians here said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out, and I did so, and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped, being cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

BOY PUT IN PILLORY.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—An old-fashioned pillory system of punishment which, it is claimed, has the sanction of a board of directors of which Bishop Fallows is president, has been unearthed at the Pontiac, Ill., state reformatory. The pillory is a door with two holes in the upper panel. Through these holes the prisoner puts his hands, and a chain is attached to the wrists to keep them in place. The arms are thus extended on a level with the shoulder, and can be moved in no direction because the holes in the door are not large enough to permit it. In this trying position Charles Miller, a 10-year-old boy, asserts he was forced to stand for twenty-four hours at a stretch. He was taken down for ten minutes at noon, when bread and water were furnished him. Supt. Mallory, of the reformatory, is quoted as corroborating the statement. Young Miller's offense was whispering in school.

DISAPPOINTED HER.

Pretty Girl—Did you see the way that man looked at me. It was positively insulting.

Big Brother—Did he stare?

Pretty Girl—Stare? Why, no. He ran his eyes over me and then glanced off at someone else just as if I wasn't worth a second thought.

Doctor Said He Could Do Nothing.

Then the life-giving food, Granose, was ordered, and today Mrs. Welburn is a well and happy woman.

So many dyspeptics are annually cured of their ailments by adopting Granose as an article of diet that it is small wonder that hundreds of people regard it as a medicine. This is an erroneous idea, for Granose is simply a food, scientifically prepared, so that it agrees with the weakest stomach, and so rich in nutriment that it cannot fail to produce strength and good health.

Thousands of Canadians and Americans, who have been doped and drugged for years with no permanent benefit, have as a last resort cast away their medicine bottles and relied upon Granose to bring them back to good health. Granose invariably does what the medicine fails to do. Mrs. Edward Welburn, of 633 Dufferin avenue, London, Ont., is a case in point. Her doctor told her he could do nothing for her, and advised her to go to the hospital. Then a good friend recommended Granose. How well they did their work is best told in Mrs. Welburn's own words:

"London, Ont., Oct. 23, 1901.

"I have suffered from acute indigestion for many years, and have tried many medicines without obtaining any relief. My doctor told me he could do nothing for me, and that I had better go to the hospital. Having small children, this I could not well do. One day a lady recommended me to try Granose Flakes, and although I had failed to obtain relief from the use of other so-called health foods, I bought a package, and to my surprise I was able to eat them without any of the distresses and painful effects which I had suffered after eating other foods. I have lived upon them almost entirely for the last eighth months, and have gained in weight, have more blood and am much stronger than I have been for years. I am pleased to recommend to others a food which has saved my life. These foods and Caramel Cereal (a delicious health beverage) are all that they are claimed to be. (Signed),

"MRS. EDWARD WELBURN,

—Fireman George Gray, who was so unfortunately injured some weeks ago, is now laid up with a very serious illness.

—Mr. William Houston, son of C. P. R. Station Master Houston, city, is out again, after suffering from sciatic rheumatism for the past three months.

—Mrs. G. B. Patrick, of Ilderton, was very seriously injured at her home the other day, by falling down a flight of stairs. She is said to be improving.

—Mr. W. J. Spence preached a memorial service in All Saints' Church, Hamilton road, last evening touching the death of the late Herbert Steer, who was a valued member of the church. The chancel was draped in black and music befitting the occasion was given by the choir.

—Mr. Harry Talbot, aged 22 years, died at Victoria Hospital on Saturday night. Deceased was a native of England and had only liyed in the city three months, most of which time he spent in Victoria Hospital. The funeral will take place to Woodland Cemetery on Tuesday. Rev. Canon Dann will conduct the services.

—Special thanksgiving services were held in Emmanuel Church, London township, yesterday. In the morning Mr. W. J. Spence, of All Saints' Church, preached to a large congregation, and another large assembly greeted the rector, Rev. Canon Richardson, in the evening. Special music was rendered by the choir at both services.

—Mr. G. L. Reed, of the Wellington road, died yesterday at the home of Mr. Nixon, a friend. Deceased had been burned out a week ago, and together with his wife and child had been living with Mr. Nixon. No doubt the loss of his property hastened death's hand, as he was 75 years of age. The funeral will leave W. Harrison's undertaking establishment for Boston, Ont., today.

—Mr. A. S. Begg, superintendent of the Grand Trunk at the tunnel, formerly of this city, said on Friday: "Over 200,000 barrels of apples are standing on the platforms of the Grand Trunk depots in Canada this morning awaiting shipment on account of the scarcity of cars."

—The Centennial Methodist Church was reopened yesterday after having undergone extensive repairing. Rev. George W. Henderson, formerly pastor of the church, assisted by the present pastor, Rev. George Jackson, preached interesting sermons both morning and evening. A number of addresses were given in the Sunday school in the afternoon.

THROWN FROM HIS HORSE.

Dr. H. R. Abbott was injured slightly yesterday by his horse falling with him at the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets. The animal, which is a spirited one, shied while on the stone crossing, and fell, bringing the rider down with him. The doctor will be laid up for several days.

SERVICES OF PRAISE.

At the Wellington Street Methodist Church yesterday special services of praise were held and drew large congregations. Rev. R. D. Hamilton took Philip Doodrige's hymn for the theme of his sermon. The praise service rendered by the choir consisted of a chant, the 23rd Psalm; a Te Deum, by Haydn, and "Watchman, What of the Night?" by Sullivan, and was worthy of special mention. The latter was unaccompanied. Mrs. Calder Stock's solo, "The Ninety and Nine," rendered in excellent voice, was very much enjoyed by all present. The choir leader, Mr. J. W. Fetherston, deserves credit for his success and masterly direction of the choir.

MARRIAGE OF REV. T. B. HOWARD

Referring to the marriage of Rev. T. B. Howard, formerly of this city, the Milverton Sun says: Rev. T. B. Howard and his bride arrived home Monday evening, and were tendered a welcome and reception upon their arrival by the combined congregations of Christ Church, Milverton, and Trinity Church, Elma, of whom about forty or fifty were present. A number of useful and ornamental presents, among them being a beautifully carved oak hall rack, a luxuriously-cushioned couch, and several handsomely upholstered chairs, attested to the esteem in which Mr. Howard is held by his people. The evening was pleasantly whiled away in conversation and games, after which the good ladies served a splendidly prepared luncheon. The guests then retired, wishing the happy couple a blissful future.

DEATH OF NATIVE OF LONDON.

Chicago British-American: Robert F. Bullen, secretary of the Charles Moe Company, died on Thursday morning, Nov. 14, at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. J. Wilson, 3,639 Rhodes avenue. For the past 30 years Mr. Bullen had been actively identified with the business life of Chicago. In addition to his connection with the Charles Moe Company, he was a director in the Shipping and Receipt Book Company, and treasurer of the Harris Jewelry Company. He was born in London, Ont., 54 years ago. When a young man he moved to Chicago, and took a course at Rush Medical College, from which he graduated. Business life had more attraction for him, however, than the practice of medicine, and he did not follow his profession for any great length of time. A few years ago Mr. Bullen became a sufferer from heart disease. He went to Germany for treatment, and only recently returned home. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Cornelia M. Bullen. The funeral was held on Nov. 16, from the residence of Mrs. Wilson, and was private. Interment was at Rosehill cemetery.

CANCER DEFIES SURGERY!

But Readily Yields to the New Constitutional Treatment.

Cancer is one of the severest and most malignant diseases. It has heretofore defied the skill of the best surgeons and physicians. Modern science has now shed new light on the disease and demonstrated it to be of germ origin. The new constitutional remedy cures cancer, by killing the germs. There is no pain or suffering attendant on this new treatment. It is a simple, pleasant remedy you can take at home. For full particulars send 2 stamps to Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

LONDON AS THE MECCA OF ARTISTS

Miss Florence Carlyle Chats on the Subject.

Importance of Cultivating a Love for the Beautiful.

How a Portrait With Romantic Possibilities Became a Prosaic Bit of Canvas.

Miss Florence Carlyle, A. B. C. A., who has set up her easel and paintbrushes in a charming new studio in the Masonic Temple, gave a housewarming, and was at home to her friends Thursday afternoon, from three until five.

That the hearts of the people of London have been fairly won by the talented and charming young artist, Miss Carlyle, was self-evident, as the elevator boy of the Masonic Temple can testify—his young arms still ache from load after load of fair passengers whom he lifted to the top floor, in a short two hours. Nearly everybody who came, came for two reasons: To see Miss Carlyle and her pictures, and incidentally the new studio—and nobody was disappointed, for all three were looking their best. Another unexpected pleasure was the presence of Miss Carlyle's mother, whom some visitors had not met before. While Miss Carlyle received her guests, Mrs. Macbeth, Miss Minhinnick, Miss Jeffries and others dispensed most delicious tea and cakes; and when "how-d'y'u-do's" had been spoken, and everybody thawed out, all the attention, of course, was for the pictures, and the beautiful new studio, the latter a long, well-lighted room, artistically arranged with screens and rugs, and decorated for the afternoon with chrysanthemums, Chinese lanterns and wax candles.

First, colonization, and then the amenities of civilization, including art!

Fifty years ago, our grandmothers, with wasp-waists and low-necked dresses, lifted their crinolines, as they gingerly picked their ways along the cow-paths and straggling streets of the village of London. Their destination was some feminine friend's house, where a pleasant afternoon would be spent in making wax-flowers and hair-wreaths!

In 1901 the grand-daughters of these prunella-boot and crinoline wearers tread the broad pavements, in extension soles and Delsarte waists, on their way to exhibitions of pictures, where they talk learnedly of "half-tones and values."

Thirty years ago, if Grandma had come across a brass kettle and some red apples sitting on the edge of a table, I am afraid what she would have said would have been this:

"Somebody's going to have sauce for supper—I'll get the apple-corer out and put 'em on right away!"

GRANDMA WAS A REALIST.

And Grandma was all right; she belonged to the realistic school, that was all. It surely cannot be laid up against her that she did not know the impressionist's style of treating a good, ripe, cooking apple!—plenty of sugar and a dash of spice would, in her opinion, make all the impression that was necessary; and I incline to the opinion that she would have thought the proper framing for a juicy apple was the hungry human stomach. Little did she know, poor Grandma! It remained for her fin de siecle grand-daughter to tell her that apples were made first of all to be painted, and then framed in a plain gold frame!

Gone are the good, old days of the Newfoundland dog, in black and white crayon. Mother, with her hair parted in the center, in a lace collar and a gold brooch, is needing a new frame; and steel engravings of "Susan" and "Mary" now stand with their face to the garret walls. Old things are passing away, and the new has come to stay.

Miss Florence Carlyle is an enthusiastic prophetess of a new era in Canadian art, and her hopes are infinite.

"Why should not London become the art center of the west?" said Miss Carlyle, in her enthusiastic, decided way, when a reporter visited her in her studio a couple of days ago. "It is the dearest wish of my heart, that a feeling for art should grow up about us. I wish I could make them love it so that they could not live without it."

"There is plenty of material in London," Miss Carlyle continued earnestly. "Many women are artistic, only they don't realize it; and have to be awakened to the fact. Then they will demand the beautiful in their homes.

"My idea in connection with this new studio is to have a place they will love to come to, and bring their work. I hope to be able to take the best art magazines of the day, and to make it as bright and attractive as possible."

Miss Carlyle, it may be remarked in passing, is exactly the personality to arouse the interest of women and hold them together; for enthusiasm is contagious. It is to be hoped that London will not be robbed through any unforeseen accident of a bright, hopeful spirit, which can do much to lend interest to the lives of its women. The least Miss Carlyle can do is to prepare one of her most promising pupils, so that in case she should decide to marry or go abroad again, her mantle will fall upon a worthy successor.

A DISAPPOINTING REVELATION.

Miss Carlyle, while she was answering the reporter's questions, was engaged in revarnishing the portrait of a very handsome young man; and as she gave him a tender dab in the eye, or put an extra touch of glossiness on his left ear, romantic possibilities between painter and sitter suggested themselves to the reporter, who asked hopefully who the original might be.

"My brother, Edwin Carlyle," answered Miss Carlyle briskly, touching up a boutonniere of violets; "you will notice that the picture is not quite finished. He left for Montreal when I had only worked on it three days. The likeness, however, is thought to be striking, I believe."

Whether a finished piece of work or not, Miss Carlyle has certainly succeeded in producing a very spirited portrait. The action of the figure is good, and the coloring harmonious. Flesh tints are known to be dangerous, but Miss Carlyle has handled a difficult subject with a great deal of delicacy and skill.

One of the most striking pictures of the exhibition is "The Lover's Quarrel." The figures in this picture are life size, and represent a girl and boy seated on either side of a table, and sulking at one another. The girl, to be strictly truthful, seems to be doing most of the sulking, and the boy is leaning his head on his hand, in a rather grieved sort of fashion. The pose of both is very unconscious, and the sentiment of youth pervading the whole picture absolutely charming. The picture is painted in a subdued half light, the only touch of daylight being thrown across the lower portion of the girl's dress. The dress is an excellent bit of painting, for it suggests the anatomy of the figure, which is very good.

THE REALITY OF THE ARTIST'S WORK.

In commenting on the look of the spoiled child in the face of the girl, Miss Carlyle said, laughingly:

"I just felt like slapping her when I got through painting her, she looked so naughty!" And "naughty" is just the word that describes her. One may add that the little spit-fire is also distractingly pretty; and it is to be hoped that the boy on the other side of the table will not be long in realizing that "Old Time is still a-flying."

Another picture, which the reporter liked much, was a girl hanging out clothes on a windy day. Miss Carlyle, when asked what it was called, answered, "'Our Back Yard,' I suppose—treated after the French method!"

One of Miss Carlyle's most decided charms is her piquant wit, which flashes out every now and again, in her conversation. She takes her work most seriously; but she is also one of these happy people, to whom God gives the gift to see the humorous side of things. A picture of herself in tam and jacket, which was not, I think, originally intended for a portrait, carries out well the picturesque, debonnaire side of her character.

Heads seem to be Miss Carlyle's forte, and the head of a beautiful southern girl, called "My Lady Ann," is sure to attract a great deal of attention. We can only hope that Miss Carlyle will not be in too great a hurry to take these many charming specimens of her work back to Woodstock. We don't know how well off Woodstock is in this respect; but we need all the good pictures we can buy, beg or steal, right here in London. If you care to see this charming collection, I take the responsibility upon myself of saying that Miss Carlyle will be very happy to see visitors Friday mornings and Saturday afternoons.

A NEWFOUNDLAND MAN

Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Doing Their Usual Good Work on the Island.

Southern Harbor, Nfld., Nov. 25.—For over six years Maurice Best has suffered greatly with Kidney and Stomach trouble. He has been gradually growing worse, although he has been under the doctor's treatment all the time.

At last he read in an advertisement how Dodd's Kidney Pills were curing men and women all over the island of trouble similar to his own, and he commenced to use them.

They have cured him completely, and restored to him his old-time strength and vigor. He says he will always recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in proof of his earnestness he has already got his brother and several others to use them, and all with the most happy results.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or Dropsy.

PRESSED FOR TIME.

"Always think before you speak," said the prudent man.

"I can't possibly arrange it," answered the young politician. "I'd have to disappoint too many audiences."

Nervous and Sleepless.

Two horrors crowded into one life, the product of poor digestion, and the poisons that are thereby formed within the body. There's just one method of cure for this terrible condition—plenty of food, but mind, food properly digested. That's the difficulty—the digestive power of the stomach must be improved. Rich, red blood formed, strength given to the organs to drive out poisons; then comes strength; vigor and endurance. Ferrozone does all this and more; it makes sick people well; weak people strong. Sow Ferrozone and you reap health. Sold by Strong.

GOOD HEALTH IS IMPOSSIBLE without regular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills regulate the bowels, cure constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness and sick headache. s
