AT THE THEATRE.

COMING THIS WEEK.

The Fenberg Stock company which opens a three days engagement at the Grand next Thursday evening, April 11, is considered one of the strongest repertoires shown travelling through the United States. The cast numbers 20 people, picked from the various New York theatres, and give an excellent performance. They carry their special baggage car for the transportation of the enormous amount of scenery carried by them. The opening play Thursday evening will be the famous New York success, "Rosencranch," with all the original scenic and mechanical effects. There will be in addition to this six big New York specialties, giving really a grand double bill. The prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents for the performance should catch the fancy of our theatre-goers. For Thursday evening's performance ladies' tickets will be sold at 15 cents, but must be reserved at the Central Drug Store before 5 p. m. Thursday.

To-day's London Free Press says concerning the Fenberg which opens at the Grand Thursday night:

"The Fenberg Stock Company opened at the opera house last night for a three nights' return engagement in the pretty Southern play of the 'Knobs of Tennessee.' They played here a week in February last, presenting a repertoire of excellent pieces at popular prices of admission, and met with such success in pleasing their patrons that this return engagement is the consequence. In the interim they have visited other cities and towns in Ontario, and in Hamilton were received with great favor. It is a fine, all-round organization, in dramatic talent, dressing and scenic equipment, and nothing is spared in order to please the public. Between the acts various specialties in singing, dancing and character personations are given, presenting a continuous performance, far above the average of popular priced entertainments. Special ladies' tickets for Thursday night at 15c. Seats on sale now.

SEABROOKE AT THE GRAND.

If, as has been said, an actor can make his living on newspaper notoriety, Thomas Q. Seabrooke should fare well; and, if the fact that the abuse he has received has done him no harm, he should develop a liberal complacency. Seabrooke ran up against the press critics in Detroit in some unaccountable way and they met with a regular old-time jolt and "stayed."

So far as the opinion of last evening's liberal patronage of the Grand was concerned the cause of the mix-up could not be put down to the comedian or his show. Both "made good" and the presentation generally was most enjoyable. Seabrooke has gathered around him a clever coterie of artists, and in the Rounders they bill a really capital comic opera, bright, pleasing, and decidedly entertaining. Seabrooke was called before the curtain at the close of the second act and expressed his appreciation of the cordial reception tendered the company.

The announcement issued in the morning by Manager Cairns in reference to the Detroit criticism was heartily endorsed by the audience. It has been a pleasant feature of this season's theatrical business that they can rely upon the personal announcement of the manager. Mr. Cairns said of last evening's production and he struck the nail on the head:—

"No comic opera has ever appeared in Chatham, or ever will, with six cleverer or more capable principals than Messrs. Seabrooke, Mandeville, and Stuart, and Misses Gloss, Lowrie and Lynch.

"The music is very pretty and exceedingly well rendered. There are a dozen catchy songs.

"The show, as a whole, is clever and funny, the last two acts being exceptionally bright."

YOUNG MAN UNDER ARREST TELLS OF MANY CRIMES

Incarcerated for Jumping a Board Bill he Opens his Heart and Makes Disclosures.

Columbus, O., April 8.—A young man giving the name of D. M. Depew, arrested at the Chittenden hotel to-day on a charge of attempting to beat the proprietors out of a board bill, made a remarkable confession to the chief of police. He stated that his right name was M. R. Depuy, and that his home is at Minneapolis. While at Minneapolis he was employed by the Minneapolis Elevator Company. In that capacity he claims he stole $200 from the safe and fled. A few months later he returned to Minneapolis and, as he had taken one of the front door keys with him, he let himself in, and stole goods to the value of $100. He then collected a lot of old letters and set fire to them, the fire destroying the entire block. He made his escape again from the city and shortly afterwards he was met by his parents in another place. He informed them of the crimes he had committed in Minneapolis, and they aided him in escaping. His parents, whom he claims are respectable and wealthy, did this in order that he might escape prosecution and not disgrace them. He promised to reform, and he is supposed to be leading an exemplary life. Depuy said he had gone to Chicago and thence to Dayton where he had a Pinkerton badge made and forged the names of Allan and Wm. Pinkerton to a certificate that he was in their employ. From Dayton he came to Columbus and, he says, he intended to rob a number of persons by pretending that he desired to employ a stenographer and to secure what money he could from applicants and then leave the city.

ham upon an undisputed plane as an ideal health resort. The promoters of the present company have realized these possibilities and others, and the success of their project will be instrumental in practically metropolitanizing our city.

Further than that, it is an enterprise which will prove a valuable investment for the company. Stock sheets are now open, and every citizen looking for the welfare of his town and, in addition, desiring to place his money in a profitable and growing industry, should avail himself of the opportunity offered by this investment.

BRIGHT SERVICES IN CHRIST CHURCH

On Easter Sunday—Good Sermons and Excellent Music.

Christ Church, Sunday, was attended by large numbers, both morning and evening, when Rev. R. McCosh preached both sermons. He was assisted in both services by Rev. W. H. G. Colles. The edifice was appropriately decorated in honor of the joyous easter tide, and had a pleasing effect.

The music was particularly fine, the selections being of a very high order. Miss Colles' solo, "On the Cross," being artistically given, Mrs. Walker's singing of Rodney's "Resurrection Morn," and Concom's "Thou that Remittest," was most enjoyable. As a soloist in sacred music Mrs. Walker occupies an enviable position in this city. Seldom has more beautiful effect been obtained in our churches than was heard in the trio of violin (Dr. De Cow) flute, (E. Coleman), and organ. Owing to severe throat trouble Miss Maud Oliver was unable to render "I know that my Redeemer liveth" at the evening service.

BOLDLY DEFIES HIS BISHOP

Father Geoghegan, of Hamilton, Administers the Rite of Confirmation Himself.

Hamilton, April 9.—Rev. Father Geoghegan, of St. Peter's Church, carried out his threat Sunday, and admitted a class of young people who had had been confirmed into full membership in the church. Some time ago he asked Bishop DuMoulin to hold a confirmation service in the church. His request was refused, the bishop informing him that he would confirm the candidates in any other church, but not in St. Peter's. Father Geoghegan would not consent to have any of his parishioners confirmed in another church, and threatened to admit the candidates to membership without their being confirmed if the bishop stuck to his decision.

BOTHA WILL SEEK TO RE-OPEN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Boers are now Tired of War—Gallant Charge by Canadian Rough Riders Carried Strong Position.

London, April 9.—"It is declared in Transvaal quarters in this city," says the Brussels correspondent of the Morning Post, "that Gen. Botha will shortly renew the peace negotiations."

A WARNING.

Cape Town, April 8.—It is understood that the Gazette to-morrow will warn the colonists that acts of rebellion after April 12 will not be tried under the special law of the last session, but by the old common law under which rebels are punished with death or any terms of imprisonment the court may desire to impose.

CARRIED BY CANADIANS.

Durban, Natal, April 8.—Details which are arriving here of Gen. French's successful operations in the Eastern Transvaal show that in one engagement the Canadians charged a Boer position in Buffalo Bill style, firing as they galloped along. The Boers were in a position where they could not have been flanked, and where it was almost impossible to dislodge them, but by the forward charge of the Canadians, they were forced to yield.

SCORES OF BOERS, with their families, have surrendered at Melmoth, Zululand, and others are following their example at different places. The people who are coming in say they have never heard of the British proclamations in respect to those who surrender, and, furthermore, that they have been misled in regard to the Boer position.

WANT BOTHA TO YIELD.

Pretoria, April 8.—A rumor is in circulation here that the burghers have given Commander-in-Chief Botha until April 10 to accept Gen. Kitchen's terms of surrender, and that if he does not accept on that date they will leave the commandos and come in themselves. A general surrender of the Boers is not expected here, however, until the northern mountainous districts of the Transvaal have been subdued.

LITTLE FISHING THIS SEASON.

Fred. Stephens Gives Some Interesting Data Concerning the River Captures.

Fred. Stephens returned to the city yesterday from his fishing ground, nine miles down the river. Mr. Stephens says that he has lived for 23 years along side the river and he never knew it to be so low as it is just now.

An inspector in the employ of Mr. Bastedo, deputy minister of fisheries, has been down the river inspecting the fish boxes of the fishermen, looking for bass. It is reported that he found one green bass that had been caught and not returned to the water.

Mr. Stephens says that in accordance with the law seine fishing will stop next Saturday. The fishing this year has been poor. Pickeral and red tail mullets comprised the most of the catch. At Mr. Stephens' grounds his men haven't caught two barrels of carp all season. Press have dropped. Dealers are paying 5c for pickeral, 4c for pike and 1c for soft fish.

ASSIST NATURE.

You have been told to "hitch your wagon to a star"—that Nature will assist you. That's all right. There are times, however, when you should assist Nature, and the spring is one of these times.

Nature is now undertaking to cleanse your system—if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla the undertaking will be successful, and your complexion bright and clear.

The Planet.

S. STEPHENSON, Proprietor.

FISHING ON SUNDAY.

It is perhaps not generally known that the Act respecting the observance of the Lord's Day, which is in force in all parts of the Province, expressly states that it is not lawful for any person on the Lord's Day to go out fishing or to take, kill or destroy any fish, or to use any gun, fishing rod, net or other engine for that purpose.

A TRAGEDY OF THE WAR.

The despatches from the Transvaal announce that Gen. Botha has shot a peace envoy, Mr. De Kock, of Belfast, who was sent out by General Smith-Dorrien to induce the Boer forces in that district to surrender. To Canadian soldiers who were stationed for a considerable time at Belfast and know something of the inside history throwing light on the affair, the circumstances will appear particularly hard.

A PALE-FACE GIRL

may be almost safely set down as wanting red in her blood.

If subject to dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath on slight exertion, no doubt remains.

To want red in the blood is to fail of the good of one's food.

Her food is not nourishing her. She needs a change.

The easiest change she can get, and one of the best, is Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

It gives her the upper hand in the contest—her food has the upper hand now—she is pale no more.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Canada.

The first was an old one, the pioneer, perhaps, with which most of our readers are no doubt familiar, as it went the rounds of the Canadian press some years ago:

Boy, Gun, Joy, Fun, Gun, Burst, Boy, Dust.

The second one in the series is quite up to date and is daring in theme and sensation:

Boy, Pliers, Electric Wires, Blue flashes, Boy ashes.

The third probably contains as much horror per word as any of them: "Cook Maria, Kitchen fire; Wood green, Kerosene; Kitchen fire, Splendid light, Cook Maria, Angel bright."

AGUINALDO AT THE TIN-PAN.

Aguinaldo has been caught just in time to form the chief attraction at the Pan-American show, says the Toronto Star. Wait and see. He will probably be retained as a prisoner and given into the custody of Buffalo, or they will talk solemnly of bringing him there along with as many representative Filipinos as can be got together, in order to impress him and them with the futility of resisting so great a nation as the United States, and the wickedness of resisting so beneficial a civilization as will show itself at Buffalo.

ALIEN LABOUR.

The Alien Labour Act of 1897 has been on the whole a dead letter and the amending Act which was in committee of the Commons last week shows why the Act has been a dead letter. The Government did not put it in force. It could not be put in operation except by the Minister of Justice. Now it is proposed that the Attorney-General of the Province may give anybody his consent to action being taken, or that the consent of a Judge of the Court in which it is proposed to proceed will enable any person to sue, the penalty to be not more than one thousand dollars and not less than fifty dollars. It is perfectly clear that this amendment will not improve the Act, because in most parts of the Dominion only the Superior Courts have jurisdiction over matters involving a thousand dollars, and private individuals will be afraid to incur heavy costs. The Government was urged to make it clear that a prosecutor could take action in an inferior court, but would not do this, preferring to leave it doubtful and thus play into the hands of those they have catered to for the past three years.

When the Boers have no further use for their big guns they bury them. In more democratic countries they fire 'em.

The Americans are going to spend $25,000,000 in improving that one-mile strait of navigation called the Erie canal. And $25,000,000 spent on the Georgian Bay canal would make Canada the arbiter of grain rates for half a continent.

The Ottawa Citizen observes that one S. C. Biggs, K. C., has been engaged by the Ontario Government to act as prosecutor in the assize courts. Can this be the Hon. Mr. Biggs who was doing the swearing in the Cook investigation? Echo answers, Yep!

A Western Ontario man who was divorced and married again is alleged to have eloped, if that is the proper term, with wife No. 1. Wife No. 2 has issued a writ for $25,000 damages against Wife No. 1 for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. Here is another terrible example of the desirability of being off with the old love before you are on with the new.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces. For sales should be used. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by E. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's family Pills are the best.

Harrowing.

The villain glared her by the wrist cruelly. His eyes gazed at the trembling woman's face. For hours she had pleaded with him—for hours she had used upon him unsuccessfully all those usually potent wiles of which she was past master. Now she saw by the look in his eyes that her efforts had been futile—she was doomed. "You must die!" His eyes surveyed her coldly, critically. "Yes," he took a step toward her—"you part in the next play demands black hair, and yours is blond—yes, you must die!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Almost a Fatal Blunder.

"Here," said the city editor, after he had read the new reporter's account of the death of the prominent citizen, "this won't do. You say 'it was an honor to know him' and 'his death came as a shock to his large circle of friends'—all right, but there is one important omission in your story."

"What's that?" the new man anxiously inquired.

"You haven't said he was one of nature's noblemen. Don't ever exhibit such carelessness again."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Trapped.

"Females seem to be the same the world over," remarked Bruin, glancing up from the fragment of paper he had been reading. "Here's an account of a woman badly crushed at a spring opening." "Yes?" replied the fox languidly. "Yes. A spring opening was the death of my first wife. She put her foot in it, and it closed on her."—Philadelphia Press.

Observing the Proprietress.

Mrs. Chugwater—Josiah, that niece of mine down in Aurora has married the slim legged young fellow from St. Louis who used to come and see her now and then. She sends me her wedding cards. I suppose we ought to make some reply. Mr. Chugwater—Certainly. Send her our regrets or something of that kind.—Chicago Tribune.

Couldn't Miss It.

Mother (coming swiftly)—Why, Willie! Striking your little sister! Willie (doggedly)—Auntie made me a Maiden Aunt—Why, Willie! I said if you did strike her I would never kiss you again. Willie (still doggedly)—Well, I couldn't let no chance like that slip.—Tit-Bits.

Extreme Conclusions.

They were looking at their first baby. "With such a massive head as that," said the adoring mother, "he will be a statesman!" "With such massive feet," said the more practical father, "he is pretty sure to be a policeman."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE ELEVATOR BOY.

HE TRIES TO BE A BROTHER TO HIS SISTER EVA.

Incidentally Brings Upon Himself Not Only Her Vengeance, but the Wrath of One of the Most Dignified Men in the Skyscraper.

(Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.)

The first I knew about Miss Murdock, the stenographer and typewriter, moving into our skyscraper was when she sent for me to call at room 23. I found her to be a woman of 40, and I couldn't say that she was a dream of loveliness. She was tall and thin and scrawny, and her hair would have been gray if she hadn't bleached it. She put on a sweet smile as she greeted me, and of course I smiled back.

"Sammy," she began, "I have sent for you to say that I am all alone—all alone in this big world."

"Yes'm."

"Which is a sad thing for a young girl, you know. I like the frank, honest look of your face, and I hear good reports of you, and I have sent for you to ask if you wouldn't be my little brother. I once had a brother about your age, and I thought of the world of him, but he died in my arms. Shall we be brother and sister, Sammie?"

I told her I was willing. I think that every elevator boy who has the interest of his employer at heart is always willing to be a son or brother to any lonely hearted tenant.

"You are so good!" she said as she kissed me on the ear and then stood off and tried to blush and look coy. "I shall call you Brother Sammie, and you can call me Sister Eva, and we will both have more to live for. Brother Sammie, do you think your sister a bad looking girl?"

"You are a dream!" I replied.

"And how old would you say I was?"

"About 20."

"Ah, you young rogue, you must not flatter me. I am almost 23. And how's my walk, Sammie?"

She rose up and wriggled and tipped back and forth and smiled and simpered, and I told her it was the gait of a 16-year-old maiden. She kissed me on the other ear for that, and then she told me in sisterly confidence that if any one sent her bouquets or invited her out to lunch I mustn't say anything about it. If any one asked her age, I was to put it at 23, and I was to be very, very discreet in case of little notes or theater tickets. Sister Eva and I had a thorough understanding before I left, but I can't say I was highly delighted to have found her. She didn't offer me a cent extra to help pay off that mortgage on the widow's home, and it seemed as if all the benefits were to go her way. A week passed, and no one inquired her age, sent her bouquets or invited her to lunch.

She sent for me to know the reason why, and I felt obliged to lie to her. It is no harm for a boy to lie to his sister. I told her that Mr. Jumper, on the floor above, was casting sheep's eyes at her; that Mr. Johnson, on the floor below, had praised her walk; that the gentleman in room 48 said that her face had reminded him of a Grecian goddess, and the cotton buyer in room 54 was dying to ask her out to lunch. She kissed me on the forehead and patted my shoulder and blushed, and the family conference broke up in great good feeling.

Now and then "Sister Eva" had a caller who wanted some work done, but the days passed, and the bouquets didn't show up. I kept lying to her in a brotherly way, as it seemed my duty to do, but there came a day when I saw that something must be done or there would be a family row. I bought her a big bouquet and wrote the name of Mr. Saunders on a card and handed it in to her. Mr. Saunders was the gas engine man on the same floor. He was 60 years old, as dignified as a knot on a log, and few men dared to speak to him. "Sister Eva" was delighted. When I told her that an invitation to lunch would speedily follow, she blushed and simpered and looked so coy and shy that I was really proud of her. I hoped to get out of it with the bouquet, but she wanted more every day if Mr. Saunders had said anything more, and I was finally driven to say that he would call very soon and ask her to honor him with her company to lunch. I was wondering how many more lies I would have to tell to get out of the scrape when a sudden climax came. At noon one day Mr. Saunders called at her room with some work he wanted done at once. She had her Sunday clothes on, and as he entered she simpered and tiptoed around and put on her hat and said she felt so honored. He wasn't over two minutes destroying that poor girl's illusion. What he said or how he said it I don't know. I saw him go in, and knowing that all was lost, I hid under the stairs. I heard him talking about light headed women and she answering back about fool headed men, and three minutes later I was a discovered elevator boy. "Sister Eva" bawled me out of my hiding place, and the way she did thump me around left me an almost helpless wreck. She hauled me into her room by the hair of the head and said I was no brother. She boxed my head from side to side and said the family had been disgraced. She led me about by the ear and cast me out into the cold world without a sister, and three hours later she had moved out of the room and disappeared. I hoped that was the end of it, but it wasn't. Next day Mr. Saunders called me up to his room, and, after giving me a shake which loosened my teeth, he said:

"Boy, you play another trick like that on me, and I won't leave a whole bone in your body!"

SAMMIE, the Elevator Boy.

LOVE

Lives only in the present. Nature throws a glamor around youth and maiden, so that although they saw misery and marriage walking hand in hand in every home in the world they would fondly believe that they could marry and defy misery.

Young women should be taught to prepare for marriage. They should understand how to preserve their womanly health through the functional changes of maturity. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most effective medicine for the preservation of womanly health and the cure of womanly diseases. It regulates the periods, enriches the blood, drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It prepares the womanly organism for maternity and makes the birth hour practically painless.

Dr. Pierce's Prescription contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"My wife was afflicted with uterine trouble for several years," writes Mr. J. C. Day, of Little Britain, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and in November, 1892, the doctor said she had a miscarriage. He treated her for about two weeks, but there was but little improvement. I wrote you after she had commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' and you told us to get 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took six or seven bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and got out of bed and was able to attend to her household work."

"Nearer, My God, to Thee."

As a writer, as a poet, there were few in the literary world of London (in the '40's) who had not heard of Sarah Flower Adams, the gifted woman to whom all Christendom today pays homage in its love for her immortal hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

It was written in 1840, and had subsequently been set to music by Eliza Flower, and included in a collection of hymns written and composed by the two sisters. Only within that year had their book of "Hymns and Anthems" been published, and the hymn that was destined to inspire the world had then been heard but once or twice, and within the walls of a single church—South Palace Chapel, London. In 1860 sympathetic music quickened it into glorious life and brought it within the reach of every congregation and every Christian soul. But this was long after the author of the hymn had passed away. She died in 1848, without knowing of the triumph and glory that awaited her work. Her grave in the little village of her birth is unmarked by any monument to her fame.

Fought for Greek Independence.

An interesting ceremony took place in the English Chapel at Athens recently at the conclusion of a special religious service. Commemorative tablets were unveiled to two Englishmen who fell in the cause of the Greek independence—Frank Hastings, who perished in the revolution of 1828 in the Island Zante, and young Clement Gilbert Harris, who was killed by the Turks upon the frontiers of Epirus in the last Greco-Turkish war. The Crown Prince and Princess, Prince Nicholas, the British Minister and Consul, representatives of the Government and many other notables were present.

The newspapers are full of eulogistic articles expressing gratitude to the two Englishmen who came to fight for the liberty of a country in which Byrones and Cannings are still heroic figures.

Never lose an opportunity of seeing anything beautiful. Welcome it in every fair face, every fair sky, every sunset, every sunrise. Him for it, who is the fountain of all loveliness, and drink it simply and earnestly with all your eyes; it is a charmed draught, a cup of blessing.—Charles

HOIST WITH HIS OWN PETARD.

How a Reporter Evaded Up Matters With a Captious Editor.

"In one of our western cities some years ago," said a Kansas City man, "a friend of mine was employed as a reporter on one of the local papers. The next man above him was constantly taking him to task for alleged derelictions in duty and especially for mistakes in grammar, punctuation and similar things. The editor who was forever quarrelling with my friend, while a man of force and able to write in a virile manner, was nevertheless deficient in education, and his grammar was occasionally as bad as some of that Charles Dickens. One day he had been particularly vicious in his criticisms of my friend. The following morning there appeared an editorial from his pen, in which the following sentence occurred: 'To be a true American one should visit the Rocky mountains and contemplate its beauty and grandeur.'"

"There was the chance my friend had been waiting for, and so he cut the quotation out and sent it to the owner of the paper, to whom both men were responsible, with the following comments: 'The first thought suggested by this strange statement is that its author should visit a school of grammar and contemplate its beauty and grandeur. This originality in the use of a singular criticism standing for a plural antecedent might be used to advantage in a revision of the style, like the following, for example: 'To be a true American one should visit the editor of The Blank and contemplate their beauty and grandeur.' Aside from the offense to English in this addition to the American people, will the sentiment itself stand analysis? If the editor be true that to be a true American one should visit the Rocky mountains and contemplate its beauty and grandeur, what is to become of the following: 'The man who cannot afford to indulge in this visit and contemplation? 'The busy man who cannot find time to go on a mountain gazing tour? 'The many good citizens who are blind? 'The attention of the owner was arrested, and he made inquiries which resulted in the straightening out matters between the two men. While this drastic criticism perhaps did not improve the editor's grammar, it certainly did improve my friend's position while on the paper.'"

ON WHOM WAS THE LAUGH!

An Artist's Attempt to Have Fun With a Picture Dealer.

The following good joke on a party of artists for who it on the picture dealer? It was told by George Bogert, who was one of the party, as an actual occurrence: "One day," said Mr. Bogert, "Frederick Kost, Carleton Wiggins and myself were down town and for a stark stoppage in one of those cheap picture shops where they sell oil paintings for about $1.22. After looking about a bit Kost selected one, supposed to represent a deer. Said he to the dealer: 'Beg pardon, sir, but I am green at this business. Will you mind explaining this picture? The deer appears to have a melancholy, hungry look on his face. Am I right?'"

"Quite correct," replied the dealer. "Step over here. This is better."

"You see, it's this way," continued Kost confidentially: "My wife and I are in the city for a few days to buy some for the party of our new house in Indiana. I have to get a few hundred dollars' worth, and I reckon I had as well get them all right here."

"The dealer nearly dropped in his tracks, but was equal to the emergency. 'Yes, sir,' he said briskly, 'you have come to the best place in town, but before we begin business, gentlemen, come over to the Astor House and have lunch with me.'"

"Thanks," replied Kost without the ghost of a smile, "we had a late breakfast at the Waldorf-Astoria and really don't care for anything just yet. By the way, have you any pictures by a man named Carleton Wiggins?"

"No; we had one by Wiggins, but couldn't sell it. We don't handle his pictures."

"Anything by a fellow named Bogert?"

"No. Never expect to either. His are not worth having."

"Ahem! Have you any works of the celebrated artist Frederick Kost?"

"Kost!" said the dealer, scratching his head meditatively. "Kost? I don't think I ever heard of him."

"We were nearly choking with laughter before, but this last was too much, and the laugh we gave Kost put the dealer on, as the saying is. Without a word he put on his hat and, leaving his assistant in charge, marched out of the store, bearing a very pained expression on his face."

Queer New Year Superstitions.

"Don't take a light out of the house before one has been brought in," is the solemn injunction on New Year's night of the peasantry of Lincolnshire, England. Death is certain to result if this advice is not followed.

To permit a woman to enter the house first on New Year's day is said to be a sure forerunner of evil. The same results are said to follow the throwing out of dirty water, ashes or any kind of refuse.

In sweeping the house the dust must be swept from the door to the hearth; or death will be the consequence. A custom largely observed at present is after making the fire in the morning to spread the ashes over the threshold. If in the morning there is an impression of a foot leading from the house, a death in that family is so firmly believed in that preparations are made for it, but if the footmark leads toward the house a birth during the year is sure, and preparations are made accordingly.

Bright Stars Not the Largest.

The amount of light we receive from any star depends upon its distance, its size and the brilliancy of its surface. A faint star far away may therefore be much larger than one which appears brighter to us because it is nearer, and—as a matter of fact it is known that some faint stars have a much larger mass—that is, weigh more—than Sirius, the brightest star in the heavens, although this latter star is three times heavier than our sun.

THE WHEAT CROP DEMANDS RAIN

Interesting Interview With N. H. Stevens Concerning the Crop Outlook.

"This is nice weather but it is hard on winter wheat," said N. H. Stevens this morning. "These high winds, that are blowing, dry up the earth about the roots of the grain and then the earth is carried away by the force of the breeze. You have seen a wheat field after the frost has come out of the ground and you have noticed how the roots of the wheat are lying raised above the ground; and the field much resembles a huge honeycomb. Well a wind like that blowing to-day will dry up the earth and carry away the soil from the roots."

"I will venture to say that on sandy land the wheat is nearly dead now."

"One year I had a field planted with wheat below Blenheim. The soil was heavy loam. Well, in the early part of May the weather was warm and dry winds blowing and as a result the earth in that field became dried out. The acreage planted in wheat looked as if it had been fire-swept. Just by dragging your foot along you could scrape up the roots and all. The crop was ruined and I had to plant the field in corn."

"I fear that much of the wheat should this dry weather continue. We need rain and need it badly if the wheat crop is to be saved."

The Pall of Rheumatic Pains.

"When a sufferer finds permanent relief in such a meritorious medicine as South American Rheumatic Cure, how glad he is to tell it. C. W. Mayhew, of Thamesville, Ont., couldn't walk or feed himself for months—four years ago three bottles of this great remedy cured him—not a pain since—isn't that encouragement for rheumatic sufferers?—82

Carpet Department

One of the Surprises

Of everyone who has visited this store during the last few days, is the stock in our Carpet Department, and well might it be so, for our purchases for this spring have been on an extensive scale as regards size, quality and assortment. No one can make a mistake in purchasing Carpets here, but all "miss the mark" who neglect to know this store and its prices. We confidently assert that we are showing a larger assortment of High-grade Carpets than has ever been shown in Chatham.

Wiltons

Are beyond doubt the drawing room carpet, par excellence. Our showing comprises Oriental, Conventional and Floral designs, in all desirable colorings, $1.40 per yard.

Brussels

Carpets—five frame best, some of them made expressly to our order, from American designs, $1.25 per yd. A better Brussels is not made.

Velvet

Carpets come next to Wilton's in richness of appearance and durability, and will give the purchaser every satisfaction, we sell them at $1.00 and $1.15 per yard.

English

Four frame Brussels, and full four frame, by long odds the best carpet for $1.00 a yard which we have ever seen, patterns as choice and colorings as good as any made and laid.

All-Wool

Carpets have no equal for some requirements; what we show this season is far ahead of anything in former years, both as to color, pattern and quality, from 50c to $1.00 per yard.

Tapestry

Carpets at all prices from 25c to 75c the yard. What you can buy here for 40c is as good as any you have before seen for 50c. As 60c, 65c, 70c and 75c they have borders to match.

Union

Carpets have been rapidly increasing in popularity, due to the improvement which manufacturers have made in the color-keeping quality of these carpets. For 25c a yd. you can to-day (here) buy a carpet equal to that for which you paid in past years 40c and 50c. This is the verdict of experienced householders who have seen our Union Carpets.

China

and Japan Mattings for this spring are already here, vying with much more expensive floor coverings in beauty and utility. What we have are well bought, and you will find even better qualities for as little or less money than usually asked for mattings elsewhere.

Rugs

Are artistic necessities in any house. We aim to gather only such as have the merit of quality to a high degree. Wiltons, Smyrnes and American Administrators are among those we show. In many sizes. Small enough for the doorway, or large enough to cover a whole floor. Prices from 15c to $35.

Art

Squares, all-wool, or the less expensive Union Ingrains, in sizes 2x2, 2½x2, 3x3, 3½x3 and 4x3 yards, as low in price as $3 and best for $10, all reversible, plain and small pattern centres with fancy borders.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases known by other names are really catarrh. Formerly catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is a mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The nasal remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than a temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large, pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, eucalyptol, guaiac, sanguinaria, hydrastin and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Anstee in speaking of the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkable satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly ever seen, and, although they are what is called a patent medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety.

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder, will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

"THE WILL TO LOVE."

PROF. G. D. HERRON'S THOUGHTS ON A POWERFUL MODERN FORCE.

Men Must Work Together, He Declares, Not Merely for Defense, But for Their Good—What Love in Politics is According to This Lecturer—The Struggle in Nature.

Prof. George D. Herron's recent lecture on "The Will to Love," contained these paragraphs:

"Every power or force, or energy, when analyzed through and back again, when reduced from what it seems to be to what it is, turns out to be a love power. In physics, love is the law of attraction, finding the affinities of things, and so creating a planet or flower. In conscious life, love is the adhesive and creative property, uniting beast to beast, holding man to man, bringing forth a lion, a child, a state, a religion; bringing forth the deeds we call good and the deeds we call evil.

"In politics, love is democracy; democracy is the love dream of common life, yet to be realized through the whole range of our activities and relations. In terms of social philosophy, love is association; the power of association has always lain in its aspiration and effort toward a life embracing unity, in which the full blossoming of each individual would be freely willed and inherent spiritual necessity. In economic terms, love is co-operation; the elemental ideal of socialism is that of a world love-organized. In essential religion, love is the fellowship of each man as a lover with the whole round of human experience. There is, indeed, no other kind of power than love power for either the individual or the collective man to have.

"Viewed from its right side, nature seems to have conditioned man's existence on a program of struggle and hate, of greed and blood. The survival of the strongest in selfish might and cunning was the story the older evolutionists had to tell us. But the newer evolutionists are telling us the love story of nature and of social development. Within the evolution which looks like an endless orgy of blood and devouring struggle, within the natural and human monsters that have made the earth a scene of anguish and waste, the will of love is seen to have been steadily working toward self-realization in a world without struggle.

"The things that are red in tooth and claw devour on another kind, that come to power by the sword perish by the sword; the competitors build the monopolies that destroy their competition; the monopolies retreat before the co-operation secret which they unwittingly divulge.

"When history is seen from within and its whole perspective surveyed from the centre of some world crisis, the will to love may be seen as its source, and the ever-increasing leader of the centuries to their goal. Tyranny is but misused force. Despotism has always had to misuse the love forces of the common life in order to be. No despotism can stand without finding an authority of service with those it oppressed and crushed. Caesar, Cromwell and Napoleon each began as a friend and deliverer of the people; the railway magnate must haul you over his railway; the industrial monopolist must furnish you with products; the church must make you think of your soul. The moment the most despotic power or altogether refuses to be responsible, the moment it no longer listens to a single whisper of the soul of service somewhere within it, that moment it ceases to be. Whenever the will to love has gone clean out of the throne or centre of any kind of power, then the power itself has melted away with the shadows. A pure despotism is but an impure imagination—the like of it could not exist.

"In reality, love has always been law, and no other law has ever been at work; by no other law has the world ever been governed or judged. But our ignorance and lack of co-operation has compelled love to govern us retroactively. The tragedies of history are the collisions of the blind will to have with the love will everywhere at work. Indeed, nothing so fully stares men in the face as the fact that selfishness cannot permanently or worthily build anything, no matter how honored or ancient its institutions and customs. Our institutions and systems will continue to be turned and overturned until they become the perpetually fluid expression of the cosmic love-will.

"When all is said history and nature present to the common life but one problem, and that is the problem of how to liberate the love energy at the heart of things and organize it for the leadership of the whole human advance. To consciously and purposely outline a human evolution and history for the will to love to work by; to so liberate and motor the love energy that it may run the whole world machinery; to effect an economy that shall make love the sole producer and distributor; to renounce every gain or good or glory that love does not bring; to take love as the true religion and sure faith; to follow love as the only safe guide to truth; to abandon the world to love as its sole authority and complete liberty—to all of this is the common life summoned by the principle of its being—the principle of its economic and social development.

"A program for leading all nations under the yoke of tenderness to those that are in need or in wrong; a program for fitting all, even unto the least, to worthily survive by nobly serving; a program for putting on the strong the infirmities of the weak, until there shall be no more weak; a program for surrounding every child, from the moment of its appearing, with all the fullness of the centuries; their resources for loving and for making man free; a program for a civilization which shall make every man to inherit the earth and to count the serving of his comrades as its own reward and joy—this is the program which the will to love offers to every man as its thought of its infinite worth and power.

"There is no class-conscious movement in history as that which Jesus initiated. First and last and all the time the disciples and friends of His idea were told to stand together; to be true to one another with a love that would never be beaten and a loyalty that would never fail. By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another, even as I have loved you."

"The early Christians were bidden never to forget that they were the poor, the disinherited and the despised; that they were the oppressed, the enslaved and the outcast; that they would be hated of all men and persecuted, and slain by all institutions as the cost of their daring to be men in the image of God. Against the rich and the powerful, the capitalized and governing class, the vested interests of institutions, they were to stand as against the destroyers of the world; the despoilers and slayers of soul and bodies. Only by the power and joy of their class-conscious unity could they truly love one another and form a common defense against treason and lovelessness."

PLEASANT PRISONS.

THE SPECIAL ONES IN THE ENGLISH PARLIAMENT.

They Are Intended Particularly For Members and Other Persons Who Violate Parliament's Own Dignity, Rules and Customs.

Few persons are aware that England's parliament has its own special prisons within its own precincts which are intended particularly for its own members and persons who violate its own dignity, rules and customs. Of course these prisons seldom are used now, but they have been in the past, and not so very long ago, and may be again.

The house of commons has one set and the house of lords another. The commons house is a little way up in the Clock Tower. Here are two sets of prisons, intended only for the accommodation of one prisoner each, one set being a little higher up in the tower than the other. Each set consists of a sitting room and two bedrooms, the former being a nice, comfortable room about three by five yards, with a neat carpet and chairs good enough for anybody. The extra bedroom is not intended for the prisoner or for any friends whom he might desire to put up for the night, but is the sleeping apartment of the official who looks after him during his incarceration. This man is usually the supervisor of badge messengers and, besides looking after his man, he is also his servant for the time being, and waits upon him just like any other. He never need worry himself much upon the question of the possibilities of the prisoner's escape, for the sergeant-at-arms is responsible, and inasmuch as the only way of getting to and from the prison is by way of this sergeant's house and through it, the risk of such a thing ever happening is practically prohibitive.

While he is there the prisoner really has a good time. No restrictions as to hours are placed upon him, and he may rouse himself from his slumbers just when he feels most inclined and return to them in the same way. Practically the only thing he cannot do is to walk about outside just as he pleases, but he is permitted to take an hour and a half's exercise each morning and an hour in the afternoon on the terrace of the house, and the terrace, broad and long and with its splendid outlook upon the river, is by no means a bad place to take exercise. If he were left entirely unguarded, the prisoner might dive into the river and swim away, or, what would be simpler, hail a passing boat. So, just for precaution's sake, a couple of officers accompany him while he takes these breaths of fresh air.

He goes on Sunday to the church in Vincent square, and on these occasions also he has a couple of innocent looking attendants.

Moreover, there is no question of so many ounces of bread and meat, but if he has the money to pay for it he may feed himself upon the choicest viands that the most cultured palate could suggest. The house of commons has a first class restaurant, where the hungry M. P. may dine as well as he could anywhere in London. Each day the dishes which the kitchen has prepared are indicated on a menu which is brought up to the prisoner, and he ticks off anything for which he feels a fancy, and it is brought to him. The only drawback from his point of view is that the bill is presented to him just as it would be anywhere else, and in the event of his refusing to pay he would eventually be served with a court summons.

Among the occupants of the Clock Tower have been the late Charles Bradlaugh, who found himself consigned thither on account of a little difference with Mr. Speaker on the subject of the parliamentary oath. When Northampton returned Mr. Bradlaugh to parliament, he was not allowed to take the oath nor the substituted process known as affirmation. Mr. Bradlaugh, however, secured a New Testament and took a self administered oath, after which he proceeded to the next step of signing the roll. He refused to withdraw when the speaker requested him to do so, and consequently the sergeant-at-arms took charge of him, and to the Clock Tower prison he went.

When the erection of the Tower bridge was being considered, a statement was made that the Tower bridge bill committee was subject to bribery and corruption—a serious charge. Two men responsible for it were pronounced to have committed a breach of privilege, for the house is very sensitive upon such matters, and the speaker issued a summons for their appearance. One of them, Mr. Ward, gave himself up without delay, and he got seven days in the Clock Tower prison. The other offender, after a little delay, was captured and was for a brief period housed at Newgate.

The first M. P. imprisoned in the present house of commons was W. Smith O'Brien. One day in 1846 he committed contempt of the house by declining to sit upon a certain committee. Consequently he was sent to prison during the few weeks that the committee deliberated. This time, however, he was not sent to the Clock Tower prison, which was not finished, but did his durance in the cellar of the house.

A Scotch Custom. In many parts of Scotland it used to be the custom to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Thus a sugar cane would decorate the grave of a grocer; an axe and saw, with hammer and nails, would be found on that of a carpenter; an awl and a hammer on a shoemaker's grave, and so on.

The sorrow of yesterday is as nothing; that of today is bearable; but that of tomorrow is gigantic, because in distinct.

MOUNTAIN FALLS INTO SEA.

A Great Mass of Stone Released by an Earthquake.

A Vancouver, B. C., special says: The whole crest of a mountain over a mile in circumference slipped into Loughborough inlet, 100 miles from Vancouver, a few days ago.

The great slide was the result of an earthquake and the resulting shock of the falling mountain top was felt for a long distance. At this part of the coast the mountains rise almost perpendicularly from the water for 700 or 800 feet. The mountain which fell was composed of a crag which overhung the shore, and a great slice of it sheered off into the bay.

The break extended back over 500 feet from the shore. Giant trees and rocks were swept away as if they had been toothpicks. Instead of crumbling as it fell, the huge mass of rock and earth turned over and hung itself far out into the bay, forming a small tidal wave.

Burying a Snake Alive.

It would not seem a very easy thing to bury a snake alive, but that is what a traveler through Western India Territory saw some priests doing. The story is told from Forest and Stream.

The traveler was resting under a tree when he noticed a commotion among some dogs near him. They would run up to a certain spot, peep at something and then scamper back. Looking more closely, he saw 15 or 20 dogs about a rattlesnake, which presently went into one of the dog's holes.

No sooner had it disappeared than the little fellows began to push in dirt evidently to fill up the hole. By the time they had pretty well covered the fragile snake stuck his head up through the dirt, and every dog scampered off to a safe distance, all the time barking.

The snake slowly crawled to another hole about a rod distant and went in. This done, they proceeded to beat the earth down, using their noses to pound it with. When it was quite hard, they went away. The traveler examined their work and was surprised to find that they had packed the earth in solid with their noses and had sealed the snake inside.

When the erection of the Tower bridge was being considered, a statement was made that the Tower bridge bill committee was subject to bribery and corruption—a serious charge. Two men responsible for it were pronounced to have committed a breach of privilege, for the house is very sensitive upon such matters, and the speaker issued a summons for their appearance. NAMES OF OUR RAILROADS.

Curious Changes in Titles Brought About by the Public.

The fashion of naming railroads has changed considerably in the last quarter of a century. The three and four word titles have about gone out of style, and one word names succeed them. For instance, the Santa Fe is no longer referred to as the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, although this is the corporation title. The old Chicago, Burlington and Quincy has been contracted to simply Burlington by the public decree, and the title Rock Island has replaced the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific.

Many towns otherwise practically unknown are kept before the public because they had the luck to be worked into a railroad title. For instance, who knows the real name of the Monon railway? As a matter of fact it was organized as the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville road. The little town of Monon, Ind., gave it its popular name. The Wabash system does not take its name from the river, but from a station of this name on the line.

One of the most sensible railroad names was selected for the combination of railroads organized in the south and now known as the Southern railway. The Southern is very fitting, as it enters nearly every southern state. It is also an economical name.

Another name that strikes you is the Cotton Belt. This is how the St. Louis Southwestern railroad has been modernized. As it passes through one of the largest cotton producing regions of the United States it is very appropriate.

Because a little road up in Nova Scotia with the ponderous title of the Dominion and Atlantic reached the land made famous in Longfellow's poem tourists have given it the title of the Evangeline road, and perhaps this is more appropriate than the other. It is certainly more picturesque.

A change which must have shocked the directors was in the case of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis. This was altogether too much for its patrons and the railway men, and some one thought of the size of the cities named and called it the Big Four.

Down in Texas and the neighboring states they have a habit of handling the railroads without giving them names. A favorite plan is to take the principal initials of a road and spell them out. Only a native of the southwestern ranches would know the Gee stands for the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railroad. Another Texas road, the Kansas City, Beaumont and Gulf, is merely called Kaysee, cutting off the last part of it. Sap is short and sweet. It has been contracted from St. A. P., meaning San Antonio and Aransas Pass, one of the principal lines in Texas. The New York capitalists who built another road thought that Missouri, Kansas and Texas would be a suitable name, but the Texas people reduced it to Katy.

Including nicknames, the shortest name of any railroad in the United States is the Sap, which has already been referred to. It is 637 miles in length. A little road in Mississippi, the Chester, Ferrville, Sainte Genevieve and Farmington, has the longest title of any in America. This contains no fewer than 43 letters, but two other lines are close to it, the Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville and the Southwestern Arkansas and Indian Territory. The Chester line is only 27 miles long.

LONDON COSTERS.

Itinerant Street Vendors Who Make Fairly Good Income.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to calculate with any degree of accuracy the amount of money turned over collectively in the course of a year by the costers, but interesting figures may be collected by placing on record the gross receipts of some street traders.

Many will be surprised to learn that a coster in the fruit or vegetable line will make a turnover of anything between £8 and £12 per week, a full third of this being profit. The figures vary much, naturally, with the season of the year and the state of the markets, but he is reckoned a poor fruit coster who cannot make an average of £2 10s. to £3 weekly profit. Despite this income, which many a clerk would envy, tales of distress are frequent among them, owing to their unwise improvidence. Fish is not so profitable a line of business, partly owing to the more perishable nature of the stock, and a fish coster who is a "£2 man" after reckoning up on Saturday night has no cause to grumble at his week's work.

The profits of vendors of penny toys, puzzles and other articles so familiar in the Strand and elsewhere vary according to their cost, which ranges from 4d. to 7d. per dozen. A pound to 25s. is reckoned a good weekly earning, but during the recent button craze energetic workers had no difficulty in clearing double this amount in some instances.

The gutter oilcloth merchant calculates upon a profit of 6d. to 1s. a piece, according to size, and can dispose of 40 or 50 pieces in the course of a Saturday evening alone, to say nothing of the business done during the rest of the week. A street bookseller recently admitted that he had "never cleared less than £2 a week," and on further inquiry that does not appear to be much above the average. The proprietors of those miscellaneous stands to be found chiefly in the East End, where everything from a violin bow to a saucepan lid may be purchased, have a difficulty in telling their profits, as, owing to the nature of their stock, some things sell rapidly while other articles lie on hand for months. That there is money to be made at this trade is evident from the fact that many of its followers are pointed out by their less fortunate brethren as being the owners of the houses in which they live.—London Mail.

Elizabeth Resented It.

The reign of Victoria has often been compared to and contrasted with that of Elizabeth, and it is one of the curious coincidences of history, as well as another illustration of the continuity of life in England, that each great sovereign at an interval of 300 years had for her chief minister of state at the close of her reign a Robert Cecil, Lord Salisbury.

When Queen Elizabeth had sunk into her melancholy stage, refusing food and sitting up day and night, supported by pillows on a stool, Burleigh's son returned to tell her she must go to bed.

"Must!" she cried. "Is 'must' a word to be addressed to princes? Little man, little man! Thy father, if he had been alive, durst not have used that word. Thou art so presumptuous because thou knowest I shall die."

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

Goes Directly to the Root of Your Trouble

A Mother's Life Saved by the Great Spring Medicine.

In cases of severe rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous complaints and sleeplessness, Paine's Celery Compound is the only remedy that goes directly to the root of the trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound in all parts of our dominion is regarded as a godsend.—The only cleansing, strengthening and health-restoring spring medicine that relieves and suffering can place confidence in.

The toiling, nervous wife and mother, the weary and confined shop girl, the weakly school children, ailing mechanics and workmen and overworked and worried business men can be made strong, vigorous and happy by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. J. R. G. Seaman, Man. tells of the wonders done for her by Paine's Celery Compound.

"I am very pleased to be able to tell you of the great good your Paine's Celery Compound. Before using your valuable compound I was so crippled with rheumatism that I had to crawl on hands and knees from one place to another. I also suffered from neuralgia and dreadful headaches, and could not get more than one or two hours of sleep each night. I often thought it would be better to die than live and endure my terrible agony."

"I was happily advised to use Paine's Celery Compound, and after use of six bottles, the rheumatism and neuralgia are banished, and I now eat, rest and sleep well. My present improved state of health is due entirely to the health-giving and health-restoring properties of your Paine's Celery Compound, which has done wonders for me. My husband is now using it for dyspepsia, and it is doing wonders for him. My neighbors to whom I have recommended Paine's Celery Compound have been greatly benefited."

MORE THAN HE BARGAINED FOR.

Penelope—I've been a bride so long; tell me whom did you marry? Gladys—He married Maude Jones, her mother, father, a maiden aunt, and a maltress cat.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years, ten years out of thirty! One third of the best part of a woman's life, sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. Ten years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They wrinkle the forehead, create a crease and wrinkle. What a boon then to woman, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, relieves debilitating drains, builds up the system, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what this does. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

DRUGGING WILL NOT CURE CATARRH.

Doctors say so. Victims of snuffs, ointments and tablets tell the same story. Catarrh is a germ disease. The germs excite disease in the lungs, throat, nasal passages, and bronchial tubes. Germs are hard to get at, but destroy them and you cure the disease. How can it be done? By carrying powerful medicine with the air you breathe direct to the diseased parts. You must be sure, also, that the medication will kill the disease germs. Catarrh is guaranteed to do this, that is why it has created such a sensation in the medical world. You simply breathe Catarrhazine; it destroys germs—it heals—in 10 word it cures. Now you know everything about Catarrhazine, except what you can learn by using it. Catarrhazine never disappoints, and is guaranteed to cure Catarrh. Price $1.00; Small size 25 cents, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Whitewashed.

An amusing joke was once played on a post commandant in Cuba who like all other post commandants, was not popular. He had two fads. He believed in whitewash and plenty of it, asserting it to be the most effective preventive of tropical diseases ever discovered, and he was equally attached to a pet flamingo who resented being kept in captivity and showed his resentment by nipping at every soldier who passed his way. On the part of the soldier there was nothing to do but swear under his breath and wait for revenge.

On a certain Monday morning an order was issued from headquarters that all articles pertaining to camp which were not sheltered from the weather should be whitewashed. The post commandant's wrath can be imagined when he next gazed on his pet flamingo, who had suddenly become as white as the driven snow. To the sorrow of the soldiers the bird survived the operation.

Opportunities.

If you want to succeed in the world, you must make your own opportunities as you go on. The man who waits for some seventh wave to toss him on dry land will find that the seventh wave is a long time coming. You can commit no greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or ruin.

FEAST OF HORSES.

Very Old Festival Still Celebrated in Hindustan.

Dosera, or the "feast of horses," is a very old festival in India. The Hindoos say that on a time long ago the god Rama went to war with the king of Ceylon and was victorious because his army had better horses than the king's army. So yearly, at the time of a new moon, the Hindoos worship the horses and bullocks.

I had never heard of this festival, and on the morning of Dosera I was surprised to find my Arab pony Raja all trimmed with bright yellow flowers. He had a wreath around his neck, long pendants of flowers hung about his ears, and the same bright flowers were tied around his legs just above the hoofs and again above the knees, and tiny bouquets were tied to the harness in many places and on the reins too. Rev. Arthur Murphy, formerly of Chatham, has commenced a series of lectures at St. Mark's Church, East London. At both services on Sunday and Monday evening Mr. Murphy delivered earnest addresses to large congregations. He is being assisted by Rev. George Cox, the rector, and the church choir.

THEATRE BURNED AT THE CAPITAL

A Big Blaze That Kept the Firemen Fighting Flames Till Morning.

Ottawa, April 9, 2 a. m.-The Russell Theatre, generally admitted to be among the most beautiful buildings of the kind in Canada, has been burning for half an hour and is certain to be a total loss. The Russell House, immediately adjoining the theatre, is in imminent peril.

The guests are hastily removing in cabs to other hotels. The City Hall, directly opposite the theatre, is being covered with sparks and cinders and may catch at any time. The firemen have withdrawn their ladders from between the theatre and City Hall, as there is danger of the theatre falling. Fortunately everything is thoroughly soaked with the rain that has prevailed here for the past week, and the danger of the fire spreading to crowded houses this afternoon is slight.

Later-The fire is under control, and the Russell House Hotel is saved.

Parisian Tipples That Play Havoc With One's Constitution.

It would seem from the latest medical reports that absinthe, which is the national appetizer, is a baby by the side of the vulnereaire which is one of the favorite drinks with French ladies, writes a Paris correspondent of London Sketch. It contains no less than seventeen poisons.

Save ten to fifteen, five lead to stupefaction and complete loss of the powers of the legs and arms and the other five to a pronounced stage of coma.

What is even more curious to read is that absinthe no longer exists. The original basis of absinthe was wormwood; to-day it seems that it is a mix-up of the essence of stinging nettles, spinach-pickled in alcohol, indigo dye and a dozen other drugs that, on injection, have killed a dog in twelve hours. Even vermouth is violently attacked. It is a difficult city to live in.

The Municipal Council decorates the walls with posters announcing that you are as good as dead, if you drink Seine water, and now that the doctors have started out to prove that you should drink nothing, the "Gay City" seems dry-and not humorously dry.

A Champion of the Worm.

The recent session of the British Parliament furnished an amusing illustration of the occasional power of satire to bring about results which sober argument has failed to accomplish.

A bill designed to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity had been presented, and was opposed by a number of members on the ground that if passed it would endanger certain kinds of legitimate sports.

The Earl of Kimberley arose and gravely admitted the force of this argument.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "the bill would put an end to fishing with worms as bait. It is a bill," he continued, "to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity; the schedule says the word 'animal' shall be held to include reptile; a worm may be held to be a reptile; a worm impaled on a hook must be held to be held in captivity; therefore the angler who uses a live worm for bait would be guilty of cruelty to an animal in captivity."

The laugh which this argument raised at the expense of the solicitous sportsman robbed the opposition of whatever force it had, and carried the bill to a successful issue.

The Kaiser as an Orator.

In spite of the fact that Emperor William often has occasion to regret his words of a previous evening he is a brilliant orator. He speaks in abrupt sentences, which he punctuates regularly with a gesture of his right arm-a gesture which is graceful or elegant, but jerky and energetic. His left hand invariably remains riveted on the hilt of his sword, and his arm-not fully developed-is slowly pressed to his side.

When the Emperor is going to speak his physiognomy reflects a succession of impressions curious to watch. His features, immobile and even rigid at first, relax immediately he opens his mouth. Lightning, as it were, plays over his energetic face, his eyes sparkle with a fascinating radiance, and his upper lip, so beautifully formed, reveals every other moment a gleaming white fang.

Everything he says has such a profound sense of conviction, and breathes such zeal, that his listeners are worked upon completely. Taken possession of, and no longer dream of being critical. If he had not been Emperor, William I. might have become a popular tribune, capable of moving "the masses" by the effect of his word alone.

How Much a Baby Weighs.

The baby of normal weight tips down at birth the tiny scales at the seven-pound mark. If he or she is much heavier or much lighter, he or she is at war with the avoirdupois peculiar feature of baby weight is that, during the first days of its life, the youngster-that is, the perfectly normal youngster-loses one pound.

This diminution made on the second and fourth days will show a weight of six pounds only. But after the first week, at the end of which time the lost pound should be regained, there is a steady advance in the infant avoirdupois.

Ten pounds should have been reached by the time the baby is eight weeks old, and when it is 20 weeks the weight should be fourteen pounds.

And so the future citizen and citizeness goes on building up, until, at the age of 2 years, it is able to point with pride to a record of twenty-seven pounds.

When the Bees Clean House.

The honey bee, like every good housekeeper, begins cleaning house in the spring, as early as the weather will permit. They may be seen at the hive entrance bringing out the bees that have died in the winter.

bits of comb, and everything that may be accumulated in the hive as waste material. They are not content to drop this at the edge of the bottom board, or near the hive, but cart it all to some distance away, and it looks strange to see a bee flying off with the body of a dead comrade as large as itself. This work is done before they begin to gather pollen or honey, and any colony that does not attend to this as soon as they can take a good flight needs looking after, as it is probably very weak, or perhaps queenless.

After they have completed this work, they are ready to go to rearing brood, and they may need feeding-Rural World.

The Bible in Many Tongues.

During the last century the Bible was translated into 250 languages, and it is now accessible to nine-tenths of the world's population.

THE WHIRL OF FASHION.

The new embroidered india mulls are wrought in designs as fine and delicate as real lace.

Crape de paris will form one of the very fashionable textiles for the making of empire and other picturesque evening toilets for the summer.

Handsome venetian cloths, silky English serges, Borneo and Saxony chevrets and diagonals are among the stylish woolls used for spring tailor suits.

The tucked or plaited skirts as now worn and as designed for summer dresses are a very satisfactory compromise between the kilted styles of other days and the very flat habit effect so extremely trying to every figure.

Merceerized satens, which very closely resemble satin foulards, and soft silk and linen mixtures in dainty colorings-striped, dotted and plain of surface-are among the favored materials for shirt waists for morning wear this spring.

Finely tucked or shirred yokes, with matching bodice yokes, are features of many of the Paris gowns of batiste, india muslin, French organdie, Belfast dimity and china silk. The long sleeves or portions of the sleeve are similarly arranged.

Gored or circular skirts of opal gray or white wool will be more than ever the vogue this summer, both with matching Etou jackets or, during the extreme heat, with only the shirt waist of silk, linen lawn, the very pretty merceerized mulls or of satin foulard.

The smartest of the new bolero jackets for "dress" uses are formed of gulle pure lace cut low and rounding in the neck, curving up slightly on the back, above the corselet or circle and also under the arms, enough to show a little of the silk or satin blouse beneath, and reaching below the waist in a point on the front.

THE ROYAL BOX.

Princess Frederick Leopold, sister of the German empress, is an almost tireless skater.

Recently the king of the Belgians ordered a motor gypsy van to cost $6,000. It will contain three rooms-a parlor, a bedroom and a servants' room-and will develop a speed of 45 miles an hour.

It is announced that though King Edward VII will hold no drawing rooms this year there will be held some courts for which invitations will be issued. The ordinary drawing rooms and levees will be resumed in 1902.

Many people imagine that the Duke of Cornwall and York's children have been royal highnesses from their birth. The idea is erroneous. As a matter of fact, it is only since the death of Queen Victoria that they are entitled to be so called.

Prince Frederick William of Germany, upon whom King Edward recently conferred the Order of the Garter, is the heir apparent to the German imperial throne and the eldest son of the emperor.

He will be 20 years old on May 4 and is a manly youth with brusque, soldierly ways and a sturdy frame. He is already taller than his father and is the idol of the German regiment in which he is an officer.

BRAKES AND COUPLINGS.

The Bukhara branch of the Central Asia railway will be opened for traffic in May. The cost of construction is placed at 600,000 rubles, an expense borne by the ameer of Afghanistan.

The new president of the Burlington system was an office boy originally, and so was the prospective general manager. The Burlington has elevated many office boys to executive positions.

A Parisian engineer has recently finished a plan according to which the Spanish railroads terminating in Gibraltar will be connected, by means of a tunnel crossing under the strait of Gibraltar, with the future railroad lines of Morocco.

Recently a company has been organized to build a railroad from Vancouver eastward through the Kootenai mining district. The government of British Columbia will probably give a subsidy of $4,000 per mile for 330 miles. The country to be opened by the new road is one of the richest in mineral wealth in British Columbia.

Mrs. Nation now wants to run a newspaper. This may be accepted as proof that her indifference to trouble is absolutely genuine.

An Edinburgh astronomer has discovered a new star in the constellation Perseus. Before night Mr. Tevis will doubtless announce that he has communicated with it.

The Duke of Manchester's "welcome home" took the form of a summons and complaint in a suit for breach of promise. Papa Zimmerman may find that even bull pups are comparatively cheap luxuries.

THE COOKBOOK.

Fruites are greatly improved by being cooked in a little cider.

Mix ginger cookies with cold coffee instead of water. It will improve them.

When peeling apples, drop them into cold water as they are done, and they will not turn brown.

Meat is subject to so much dust settling on it that this process is imperative.

Shirred eggs are easily prepared in the chafin dish. Better the blazer, turn in the eggs and cook them over boiling water. Sprinkle them with salt and paprika.

POLITICAL QUIPS.

According to Professor Hadley of Yale, legislators now swap votes instead of exchanging opinions.

As everybody wants United States senators elected by the people we will proceed not to do it for another hundred years.

Proposing to increase the salaries of senators and representatives to $7,500 may be based on the idea that something might be left in the treasury.-Philadelphia Times.
